Lubbock school children will be joining the millions of others over the U. S. in the trek to school Monday.

American Boys And Girls To Go To School In Everything From Boats To Dog Sleds

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 — American boys and girls will go to school this winter in everything from motor boat and dog sleds to baskets skinging across a steep canyon.

Some live in such remote places that school houses will be taken to them and parked for the term.

The National Education association said today that going to school does not always mean taking a bus or walking a few city blocks with a couple of safety patrol boys to help at street corners.

Children Use Boats

One hundred and seventy-four pupils of Coos River school in Oregon and many at Solomon's island school in Maryland use boats for transportation. Children from several islands in the Gulf of Mexico are carried to school in Lee county, Florida, by motor boats.

A large truck with sled runners for front wheels, called a snowmobile, pulls a 40-place sled full of children to a school in Bancroft, Idaho.

In Lemhi county, Idaho, several pupils cross the Salmon river gorge twice a day in a basket which hangs by a pulley from a heavy cable.

Live In Dormitory

Crane school in southeastern Oregon serves a district in which some of the homes are almost 200 miles apart. So the children don't go to school daily. They move there for the term and live in a dormitory.

Children in the isolated woodcutting camps and ranchers of Lincoln county, Montana, got to a trailer school house. The building is mounted on an auto chassis and transported in early fall to an accessible spot. There it stays for the winter.

Man Plunges To His Death

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Sept. 9 — Ernest Borg, 46, of Chicago, efficiency expert for a national ink concern, early today plunged to death from the window of his fifteenth story room of a 22-story hotel.

The body struck the sidewalk. "It sounded exactly like a shotgun blast," F. M. Francis, hotel cab starter said.

Borg had been in Fort Worth two days on business. A justice of the peace returned a verdict of suicide.

Mrs. Lake Still Critical In Hospital; Probe Is Planned

MATTOON, Ill., Sept. 9 (AP) — Mrs. Maxine Lake, a young bride who dropped from a fourth story hotel window a few minutes before her wealthy husband plunged to his death, remained in a critical condition today.

Attendants at Memorial hospital, to which she was taken yesterday unconscious and suffering from a broken back, said her condition was unchanged.

Her husband, M. E. Lake, vice president of the Coast Line Oil cor-

Retail Sales Higher During Past Week

Salaries Of Filmland Directors Made Public At Own Requests

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9. (AP)—Salaries of Hollywood's ace directors were of public record today—introduced at their own behest in an effort to win the right to bargain collectively with motion picture studios under the Wagner act.

John Ford topped the list with $6,250 a week. Others include Wesley Ruggles, $4,025 and George Marshall, $1,500.

Directors seek to show that they and their assistants are "salaried employes" rather than "contract workers" as the studios contend.

Students Get Mixed Up In Opening Date

Fall Registration Not To Start Until Sept. 19 But Many Already In City

Simultaneous with an announcement designed to correct a false impression concerning the opening date of the fall semester at Texas Technological college, prediction of an enrollment increase of from 8 to 10 per cent was made this morning by Registrar W. P. Clement.

Basing his prediction upon inquiries received relative to the approaching session and upon the enrollment increases each of the last several years, Registrar Clement said he anticipated approximately that percentage in increase but that any prediction is purely speculative. Enrollment for last session was 3,154.

Many Queries Received

Many queries relative to the opening date of the fall semester have been received by the registrar and others at the college.

Registration for the semester will be conducted Sept. 19-20 and not next week as is thought by some students. The false impression was attributed to the fact that the 1936-37 catalogue published Sept. 13-14 as the dates for registration for the first semester of the 1938-39 session. Some adjustments were made this summer, however, partially due to the death of the college president. A series of staff meetings will open next Monday.

Registration Opens Monday

Registration of junior, senior and graduate students is scheduled for Sept. 19, with sophomores registering the afternoon of that day. Registration of freshmen is scheduled for Sept. 20. Classes will open at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning, Sept. 21.

An enormous number of inquiries have been received in the registrar's office from students planning to enroll for next session.

Many students have arrived to seek jobs before opening of the semester. Some doubtless will not enroll unless they find employment, however. Some students have arrived because they expected to register next week.

More Transcripts Received

The registrar said far more transcrips of college and high school credits had been received than in former years.

Housing officials are working on problems of finding places for students to live. That each year is a mammoth job at Tech, where there are only two major dormitories housing only approximately 640 students. That number was equal to only approximately one-fifth of the total enrollment last session.

Queried this morning concerning

Teachers To Meet Saturday Morning

A musical program given by teachers will open the first general meeting of the faculty of Lubbock Public schools Saturday morning. The meeting to be held in the auditorium of Senior High school at 10 o'clock, will give teachers instructions for the opening of all city schools on Monday.

The musical program will open with a sing song, led by Mrs. Elois Elliott, with Charles Pike playing the accompaniments. Kary Mathis will sing, accompanied by Mics Lois Mangum. Miss Margaret Prewitt, a new teacher, will give a vocal number, accompanied by Miss Jane Wilson. Miss Wilson will also play a piano solo.

One other new teacher has been added to the thirteen new faculty members who will be introduced Saturday morning. She is Miss Faye Norton of San Antonio. Miss Norton will be the Junior High school librarian. She has a librarian's degree from the University of Oklahoma, and has worked in libraries in San Antonio and in the University of Oklahoma.

Following the general meeting teachers will meet with the principals of the various schools to receive instructions for Monday.

Evangelists Charged Employed To Combat CIO In The South

(By The Associated Press)

PENN YAN, N. Y., Sept. 9.—A Tennessee mountain school official asserted before a national religious education conference here last night that evangelists are employed in combating Southern union organization.

Dr. James Dombrowski, treasurer of Highland Folk school at Monteagle, Tenn., addressing the National Council on Religion in higher education, said:

"Organized religion in the South, instead of being identified with the oppressed and exploited groups, has been used as an instrument to frustrate the struggle of workers for bread and better conditions."

When the C. I. O.'s textile organizing committee launched a membership campaign last April, he said, "almost immediately there was an epidemic of evangelists throughout the area, equipped with expensive tents and trailers.

"Through daily sermons and radio talks they denounced the union, and the C. I. O. in particular, as 'the mark of the beast.'"

Oddities In The News

Hope It's The Last One

BOSTON, Sept. 9. (AP) — Firemen were hoping today that seven-year-old James Abdon wouldn't have any more nightmares for a while.

He dreamed last night that his home was afire, walked out of the house, sounded an alarm across the street, and brought several pieces of apparatus clanging to his door.

He directed firemen to his father's room, astounded the head of the family by insisting there was a fire—and then, under a little pressure, woke up.

Has More Trouble

ELKINS, W. Va., Sept. 9. (AP)—Hartsell S. Talbott, 58, returned to work after laying off three years because of a leg fracture that mended slowly.

Two days later his car rammed another and he broke — you guessed—the same leg!

Wants Prompt Payment

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9. (AP) — Frank Curran, of Atlantic City, N. J., figures 17 years is long enough to wait for his pay. He asked city council to pay him $1,776 for 60 horse collars, six horses and four wagons he sold the city in 1921. He sent numerous bills, he said, but received no reply.

Prisoners Locked Out

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9. (AP) —Police had to pick a lock today to get two prisoners.

The door of a "Black Maria" in which the prisoners were brought to city hall wouldn't open.

Woman's Intuition

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9. (AP)—A woman's intuition? For two days Mrs. Mary McCarthy, 37, would not enter her home, except to sleep, because she feared nearby wrecking operations would cause it to collapse. Yesterday, she sat on a neighbor's steps across the street and saw a wall cave in.

Chicken Pays Her Way

SHELTON, Conn., Sept. 9. (AP) —A chicken hitch-hiked three miles under the hood of Mrs. Sheldon Brownson's automobile, causing failure of horn, headlights and parking lights.

Removed and placed on the front seat, the fine feathered fowl laid an egg as the car turned into the Brownson driveway.

Hoover Plans Series Of Campaign Talks

OGDEN, Utah, Sept. 9 (AP) — America may find the "New Deal" more "bedlamic than liberal," Herbert Hoover declared in an interview here today.

Enroute East by train to deliver two of three "campaign" speeches, the former president said, "Mr Roosevelt has proposed that the New Deal be converted into a major political party.

"He states that it is to be liberal. I propose to explore this idea in a series of speeches.

"We may find this new party more bedlamic than liberal. We will find that like all other political parties it has some good objectives. Fortunately for the American people they do not have to take his new party on trust. After six years of experience with it, we can soberly apply the test given us by the greatest teacher of mankind.

"'Ye shall know them by their fruits. Do men gather grapes from thorns or figs from thistles?'

"I shall not omit the other part of that lesson, which mentions false prophets in sheep's clothing."

FRENCH RUSH WAR PLANS

Troops Ready For Action On Border

Entire Region Along German Border Is Alive With Fresh Troops; Atmosphere Tense

BY CHARLES S. FOLTZ, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

HUMINGUE, On the Southern End of the French-German Frontier, Sept. 9—French military authorities, prepared for action on a wartime basis, intermittently blocked traffic today on a pontoon bridge across the Rhine into Germany.

Soldiers stationed on the bridge moved three pontoons out from a roadway from time to time to maintain strict control of vehicles across the river.

BRITISH STATEMENT SOUGHT

PARIS, Sept. 9 (AP) — With French nervousness regarding Britain's position in the German-Czech crisis increasing, diplomatic circles reported today that Charles Corbin, French ambassador to London, had been instructed to ask the British government to proclaim publicly that it would defend the territorial integrity of Czechoslovakia.

A high foreign office official said he was unable "either to conform or deny" this report.

The entire region guarding the Burgundian gateway into France from Germany was alive with soldiers. Machine-gun emplacements on the French side of the Rhine have been occupied by troops.

Coming southward past Colmar, I saw troops scattered in open fields. Each little group was cen-

Rails Management Pat On Wage Slash

CHICAGO, Sept. 9. (AP)—Railroad management still stood pat today on demands for a general wage cut despite a strike ballot being taken among the workers.

H. A. Enochs, chairman of the carriers' joint conference committee, said the wage scale was out of proportion with income "and the roads just don't have the money to continue."

Enochs' committee is preparing its case for presentation to a fact finding committee, in event the workers vote to strike. The railway labor law provides that an emergency committee appointed by the president must study the issues and make recommendations before a strike can be called or a wage cut effectued. When efforts to mediate the dispute failed recently, officers of the 19 unions involved authorized the taking of a strike vote.

CORRIGAN GOING WEST

State Department Discloses How France Rejected Plan For Plebiscite Before War

'Purge' List To Stand As Is

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The New York Times says in a special dispatch from Hyde Park that "President Roosevelt's 'purge' of the party conservative and anti-New Deal Democrats will be limited for the present to the few candidates he has already marked for opposition in the primaries, it was indicated today after a conference between the chief executive and Attorney General Cummings."

"While no further steps will be taken by the Washington leaders of the party in the congressional primaries," the article continued, "it seemed apparent that the president has no intention of dropping his drive for election of liberals in November, even if this means open support of Republican candidates in isolated instances.

"Thus, so far as the current Democratic primary situation is concerned, Mr. Roosevelt is willing to permit his 'purge' efforts to stand or fall on the outcome in Georgia, Maryland and New York City where, as head of the Democratic party, he is waging a fight against Senators George and Tydings and Representative John O'Connor.

"There was evidence of some irri-

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9. — The state department has just disclosed how France rejected a German proposal, made in 1922, that European powers agree to take a popular vote before going to war.

The scheme would have operated for 30 years. Had it been adopted, it would be in effect during the present European crisis.

Details In Documents

Although failure of the proposal was announced at the time, its details are contained in hitherto secret documents being published in the regular 15-year old reports of the state department.

Germany proposed that the United States initiate conversations about such an agreement. Under it, France, Great Britain, Italy and Germany would promise Washington not to resort to war against each other without a plebiscite.

Idea To French First

Charles Evans Hughes, then secretary of state, decided to submit the idea first to the French. He considered it unwise to approach other governments unless France treated the proposal seriously.

The formal French objection was that her constitution gave to parliament the duty of making war, and acceptance of the German proposal

Women Challenged To Accept Responsibility Of The Future

(By The Associated Press)

INTERLAKEN, Switzerland, Sept. 9 — Women of the Oxford movement were exhorted to be "field marshals of a new world order," when women took over the speakers' platform at the Oxford convention last night.

They were led by Mrs. Kisu Snellman, granddaughter of the founder of the Finnish culture movement.

"Compromising women make cowards of men and weak nations," she said in a speech which challenged women to accept their responsibility for the world's future.

The Baroness Dina von Hahn of Latvia, former Princess Lieven of Russia, warned of the horrors of revolution which she said she had been through.

She said the Russian revolution came because "women of my class refused to take responsibility with every opportunity to do so. We were not real patriots and did not make patriots of our men."

Plebiscite In Czechoslovakia Is Expected

Gulf Between War And Peace Widening As Tempers Are Sharpened; Crisis Tense

(By The Associated Press)

Sharpening tempers in Germany and Czechoslovakia today widened the gulf over the Sudeten German issue which is troubling the peace of Europe.

High Nazis, in defiant mood, predicted Adolf Hitler would demand—and get—a plebiscite for the 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans of Czechoslovakia whose demands for autonomy he backs.

Hodza Asked Not To Yield

In Prague, Czechoslovak Premier Milan Hodza was flooded with telegrams, many repeating the new

HITLER DOESN'T SPEAK

NUERNBERG, Germany, Sept. 9 (AP) —Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, apparently too deeply engrossed in the crisis over Czechoslovakia, failed today to deliver a scheduled address at the tenth annual Nazi party congress.

The explanation was given that "business of the state prevented" his appearance. He was understood to be studying the Czechoslovak situation after Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop had reported to him on a conference with Sir Nevile Henderson, British ambassador to Germany.

slogan: "Not one millimeter further!" in concessions to the Germanic minority.

Signs of growing public pressure in London for an unmistakable warning to Germany to take no steps that might drag Europe into war weighed on British cabinet deliberations.

France Presses Britain

France pressed Britain to follow her example of war preparedness. One source said the reason was that British diplomacy had failed to convince Germany that Britain would fight if Czechoslovakia were invaded.

France, already on a virtual war footing, closely supervised traffic across the Rhine into Germany, notified naval reserve officers to be ready for duty and cancelled leaves of employes of government-owned communication systems.

Some Britons, mindful of the indecision and delays of British diplomacy in 1914, believed a new, stronger warning to Germany was being prepared.

Cooperation Is Asked On Act

(By The Associated Press)

CHARLESTON, S. C., Sept. 9—Elmer F. Andrews, wage-hour administrator, called on industry and labor today to help obtain strict compliance with the fair labor standards act.

Andrews said, in an address prepared for a meeting of the International Association of Government Labor Officials, that his first important job would be telling employers what records they must keep after the law becomes effective Oct. 24.

"So great is the task of distributing precise information on this point and of laying the ghosts of unfounded apprehensions," he said, "that I am calling upon organized industry, both employers and labor, to cooperate . . . by circularizing its members both as to the basic terms of the act and the requirements in connection with record keeping and inspection.

Girl Of Today Is Described

By MARIAN YOUNG
NEA Service Staff

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—She reads something besides light fiction. She can discuss problems of world-wide importance as interestingly as she can talk about clothes and cosmetics and curtains. In business, she doesn't think she deserves special consideration simply because she is a woman. She hates men with patent leather hair, the lounge lizard type of the Twirling Twenties. She doesn't smoke unless she enjoys smoking.

She's the Natural Girl—the girl of today and the girl of tomorrow. She's a mature, infinitely intriguing contract to the Glamor Girl of yesterday.

You find her, unexpectedly enough, in the places where affectation has been a virtue rather than a fault. In Hollywood, in the theater, in society, for examples. And because you find her in the movies, on the stage and at the places society frequents, you find her everywhere. She is the type all and sundry strive to be at the moment. And, although every bit as fascinating as her Glamor Girl predecessors, she bids fair to wear better.

Normal Viewpoint

The Natural Girl's viewpoint is healthy, normal. She thinks marriage is a career—something worth working at and for. She doesn't expect to be petted, pampered, allowed to have her own way all the time. She never has one cocktail too many, and she doesn't think it cute for the young man of the moment to have several too many. But she isn't a prude. She's a woman of good taste.

This very brand of good taste keeps her from thinking that it's smart to be utterly irresponsible. If she's very young, she doesn't go out of her way to scandalize her elders. If she's older, she takes her marriage vows seriously. She approves of divorce, but only when necessary. She doesn't let her children shift for themselves, but she doesn't smother them with love. She wants them to grow up to be natural, too.

Subtle Flirting

Her flirting is ultra subtle. She can play golf with another woman's husband without glamorizing all over the place. She can go to lunch with the boys in the office without being coy, yet without seming masculine or too hail-fellow-well-met. She's essentially feminine, soft-voiced and gentle-mannered, but she doesn't flaunt sex-appeal 24 hours a day.

Miss Natural Girl is indeed as refreshing as a cooling mountain breeze. Women as well as men like her and like to have her around. She is glowing, although not boisterously, healthy. Her hair doesn't fly all over her shoulders. She doesn't wear layers of purple eyeshadow or try to look wan and pale. And she just doesn't have a "line." Or if she has, it's not an obvious one. Her manners spring from plain, old-fashioned consideration for others.

Lay Ideal Type

More than likely, Myrna Loy can claim to be "the first Natural Girl" after the glamor storm had begun to recede a bit. It was this slender, attractive star who played in the pictures which romanticized the husband and wife theme as opposed to the eternal triangle motive. Women who had begun to think that being a wife couldn't be anything other than pretty dull business got an inkling of an idea that it could be more fun to be a natural, amusing wife than a glamor girl who charms a succession of men.

Sonja Henie's tremendous popularity is further proof of the popularity of the Natural Girl as opposed to the Glamor Girl. And Joan Edwards, successful young radio singer, is another shining light. A college girl in sweaters and skirts one day and a featured radio star the next, Miss Edwards has gone in for no glamor—old style. She's simple, unaffected—natural.

Water Facilities Program Of Great Plains Region Is Announced

Farmers May Receive Loans

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Sept. 9—H. H. Finnell announces launching of a water facilities program through which farmers and ranchers of the southern Great Plains region will be aided in developing such projects as stock ponds, wells and small pumping plants. Finnell is director of the Soil Conservation service, which is cooperating with the Farm Security administration and the bureau of agricultural economics in carrying out the new enterprise.

The first area to be approved for development by the water facilities board in Washington is the Rita Blanca drainage basin in New Mexico and Texas. Only applications from residents of the Rita Blanca area will be accepted at present, Finnell said. Information regarding filing of applications can be obtained from the soil conservation project offices in Clayton, N. M., and Dalhart, Texas, or from the Farm Security administration county supervisor.

Area Is Defined

The Rita Blanca drainage basin extends from Colfax county in New Mexico to the confluence of the Rita Blanca and Major Long's creeks in Hartley county, Texas. Included are the Rita Blanca, Mustang, Perico and Carrizo Creek areas in Union county, New Mexico and Dallam county, Texas.

The purpose of the water facilities development program, Finnel said, is to provide carefully planned water facilities in order to improve the utilization of water resources and to achieve wiser use of land over a period of years, and, through wiser use of land, to promote the welfare of the people who live on it.

Total Of $500,000 Available

The water facilities program, which is to be carried out in the the 17 semi-arid western states including Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas, and Colorado, was authorized by the water facilities act of August, 1937, and in the current year $500,000 is available for its administration.

However, the Farm Security administration has set aside $5,000,000 of its rural rehabilitation funds to be used in helping eligible farmers install such water facilities as are needed to place them on a self-sustaining basis.

Since isolated cases would be expensive to plan and administer, Finnell said, a policy has been adopted of concentrating the programs in areas where the most good can be achieved for farm welfare. Assistance will be limited to those farmers who are not in position to provide for themselves the complete water facilities needed.

Farmer To Sign Agreement

In addition to repaying the cost of installation under liberal terms, the benefiting farmer will be required to contribute, as far as possible, his own labor, materials and equipment to the construction of the facilities. He also will be required to sign an agreement, binding for the duration of the loan, to insure maintenance of the facilities, compliance with a land use plan, and repayments to the government. When the benefiting farmers are tenants, certain additional requirements will be made of the landlord as a protection against exploitation of the tenants.

Facilities which may be constructed under the program include ponds, reservoirs, wells, including repair, detention, retention, and diversion dams, pump installations, including windmills, spring developments, water spreaders, stock water tanks, flood irrigation and small irrigation projects, either for individual families or small groups of families, and facilities for recharging underground reservoirs. The cost of projects upon each farm will be limited generally to less than $2,000, Finnell said.

Because of paper shortage, many Japanese newspapers are refusing to sell full-page advertisements.

Tide Of Gold Is Piling Up

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The tide of European gold to the United States increased idle funds of the banks $90,000,000 to a total of 3,030,000,000 in the week ended September 7.

The Federal Reserve board said today an influx of $102,000,000 worth of the metal during the week was the principal reason for the rise, although treasury spending was another.

Next week, however, the supply of idle money, as indicated by excess reserves of banks, will drop more than $700,000,000 due to treasury borrowing and collection of quarterly income tax payments.

Tornadoes, high winds and hail storms caused more than $2,500,000 damage in Kansas during June, 1938, S. D. Flora, federal meteorologist, estimates.

AVIATION GASOLINE

At Regular Price

Make no mistake! . . . Phillips 66 Poly Gas is not an aviation gasoline.

But of all the motor fuels made for cars, trucks, and tractors—selling at regular price—Phillips 66 Poly Gas is the one whose volatility (or high test) most nearly and consistently approaches the U. S. Government specifications for aviation gasoline.

Even premium-priced motor fuels, for which you pay 2¢ extra per gallon, infrequently equal or exceed the high test quality of Phillips 66 Poly Gas at its lower price.

Remember, leading authorities say that volatility is the most important quality in gasoline:

Says a well-known scientist: "The more volatile fuel can be used with a leaner carburetor setting, and hence with less fuel consumption."

Says a professor of chemical engineering: "Increased volatility . . . is very effective in shortening the warm-up period . . . providing more uniform distribution of fuel to the different cylinders . . . reducing choking . . . and producing snappier acceleration and throttle response."

Says an editorial in an oil magazine: "Outstanding in the characteristics of improved motor fuel . . . for superior performance . . . is volatility."

Accurate laboratory research proves that your gasoline money buys more volatility in Phillips 66 Poly Gas. In fact, it contains nearly four times as much natural high test gasoline as the average motor fuel.

This extra volatility costs you nothing extra, because Phillips is the world's largest producer of natural high test gasoline. Why not try a tankful, at any Orange and Black 66 Shield?

Per-Acre Yield Of Practically All Crops Above 10-Year Average

Bountiful Crop Year Is Seen

BY W. F. CALLANDER
Chairman, Crop Reporting Board
U. S. Department Of Agriculture

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—Another year of bountiful crops is indicated by latest reports. About the usual total acreage will be harvested but indications of per-acre yields of practically all crops are above the 10-year, 1927-36 average.

Even allowing for the less promising prospects for some of the leading fruit crops, the Aug. 1 composite of this year's per-acre yields is about 9.7 per cent above the 1923-32 average. And if these yields materialize, they will average 6 per cent under the exceptionally high yields reported for last year, but substantially above the average of any other season since 1920.

Acreage Losses Less

Acreage losses of one kind or another have been notably less this year than in most recent years. This small loss by abandonment is expected to offset the decrease in acreage planted for the 1938 harvests. So, while the total acreage of crops harvested this year will be less than in pre drouth years, it will be close to the average of the 10 years preceding 1937.

With the good yields per acre now expected, the harvests of rice, sugar cane and sugar beets will be of bumper proportions. Wheat, hay, dry beans and soybeans indicate unusually large or near-record production. The feed grains and rye, tobacco, potatoes and sweet potatoes promise crops above the 1927-36 average. This leaves but three major crops—cotton, estimated at 9 per cent below average, and flaxseed and buckwheat—as the only field crops to show early-August prospects which are below average production.

More Evenly Shared

The generally favorable crop prospects, for the country as a whole, are more evenly shared by the various producing areas than in most years. A glance at the graphic presentation of pasture conditions well portrays the relative generosity with which nature has been supplying moisture for the growth of crops this year. The pasture-condition map for Aug. 1, 1938, shows that over most of the country pastures were in good to excellent condition. In fact, conditions generally were well above the average for most years. A few scattered local areas reported the conditions of pastures to be fair or poor. In rigid contrast to other years since 1933, however, the extent of these "poor" areas in extremely limited. Most western ranges have a good supply of feed, with a marked improvement in the area that suffered a severe drouth hangover last year. West of the Cascades, in Washington and Oregon, ranges have been injured some by a lack of moisture, and conditions are only fair in some parts of the Great Plains area where subsoil moisture is lacking or where grasshoppers are troublesome. But, on the whole, there is plenty of grass for the present number of cattle and sheep.

Grasshoppers Cause Loss

Crop prospects in the Great Plains states might be termed the poorest of any area, particularly where winter wheat was damaged by drouth or where grasshoppers were most destructive. In areas where winter moisture and rains of the past several months have not been sufficient to supply adequate subsoil moisture, the dry July and the hot weather of early August brought further deterioration of crops. However, over most of the area seriously affected by drouth in the past few years, substantial progress toward recovery appears to have been made this season.

Carry-over supplies from the abundant harvests of last year are materially larger than average. And the generally high level of crop production now indicated promises a further increase in total feed supplies for the 1938-39 feeding season. In early August the corn crop in several areas of the western Corn Belt was threatened by drouth, and with oats severely hurt in some states and showing prospects for only average production, the production of feed grains this season is not expected to exceed the average prior to recent drouth years. Large supplies of last year's grains, equal to nearly one-fourth of the production, were still on farms July 1.

Livestock numbers are low compared with pre-drouth years. And increases in livestock and poultry during the current year are not expected to increase feed grain requirements by more than 5 per cent. If nothing serious happens to the corn crop, it seems certain that the total supply of feed grains per unit of livestock will be larger than in any of the past dozen years. Using a similar method of calculation, hay supplies per unit of hay-consuming livestock are expected to be heavier than in any of the past 15 years except 1927.

956,000,000 Bushel Wheat Crop

Present indications for production of some of the food crops also appear large. The wheat crop, estimated at 956,000,000 bushels, seems likely to be the largest produced since 1915. The rice crop, which gives promise of 53,600,000 bushels, may slightly exceed last year's record crop. The rye crop indicated at 52,500,000 bushels, probably will be the second largest in 14 years. The bean crop, placed at more than 14 million bags will be the third largest on record. The forecast of potato production, placed at 386,000,000 bushels, is below actual harvests in 1937, 1935, 1934, and 1928, but in excess of production in other recent years. The sweet potato crop appears large. Tobacco outturns are expected to be about 12 per cent above average or about 5 per cent below production last year.

Only fair fruit supplies are promised for this year. An apple crop a third smaller than last year's record crop and 11 per cent below average is indicated. The apricot crop will be light. But other fruits are doing better. A record pear crop is indicated. And the total tonnage of fruits, excluding citrus, is expected to be about 3 per cent above the 1927-36 average. Prospects continue excellent for oranges, grapefruit, and lemons.

Increased Livestock Production

All in all, abundant supplies of feed and food crops are practically assured. In some regions, the large outturns this year, added to sizable carryovers, are creating problems of nationwide interest and concern. In other areas, the larger crops and better pastures will be reflected chiefly in increased production of livestock and livestock products.

Milk production has already increased and is now unusually high even on a per capita basis. More pigs, calves, and chickens are being raised than at this time last year. About 12 per cent more cattle were on feed in the Corn Belt on Aug. 1 than a year earlier, and the condition of cattle and lambs in the Range States is the best since 1932. There were about 13 per cent more young chickens on farms July 1 than the year before. The total livestock population at the beginning of 1939 will be larger than in early 1938. Nevertheless, livestock numbers are expected to be around 10 per cent smaller than the numbers on farms in early 1934—before the severe drouth set in.

As New Aviation Chief Took Office

A wealthy New York Republican, long an admirer of Franklin D. Roosevelt, formally became head of the new five-man Civil Aeronautics Authority when, as shown above, Edward J. Noble, right, took his oath of office from Judge Harold M. Stephens, associate justice of the U. S. Court of Appeals. Authority Chairman Noble and his four aides set up machinery for supervising and regulating commercial and private aviation beginning Aug. 23.

Sooner Farmer Raises Midget Cows But Nothing Small About Their Milk-Giving

(By The Associated Press)

STILLWATER, Okla., Sept. 9.—Farmer Otto Gray raises midget cows but there's nothing small about the way they give milk.

"I've got one cow out here about three feet tall who milks five gallons a day," he said. "And there's not one in my 30 head of Jerseys who can equal that."

Gray said he set out two years ago to raise midget cows—he has seven pint-sized cows and a bull now—because "I had an idea they wouldn't eat much.

They don't apparently. He said two years of feeding showed they ate about half as much as the orthodox members of the herd, while all three midget cows now giving milk have outdone their four-feet sisters.

The midgets stand from 30 to 37 inches high, he said, and weigh from 450 to 500 pounds, about half the heft of his jersey cows.

Gray said the first midget of the line was an Angus he found at Claremore, Okla. He thought—he didn't know, not being a livestock expert—that she would raise nothing but midgets though mated with a normal Hereford bull.

He was right. Midget the first had a midget calf and when midget the second grew up she had a midget calf also.

'Lost Mine' Legend Of Texas Area May Be True; Valuable Ore Said Found In Old Shaft

CROCKETT, Sept. 9. (AP)—One of Texas' "lost mine" legends may come true. Valuable ore has been found at the legend's locale.

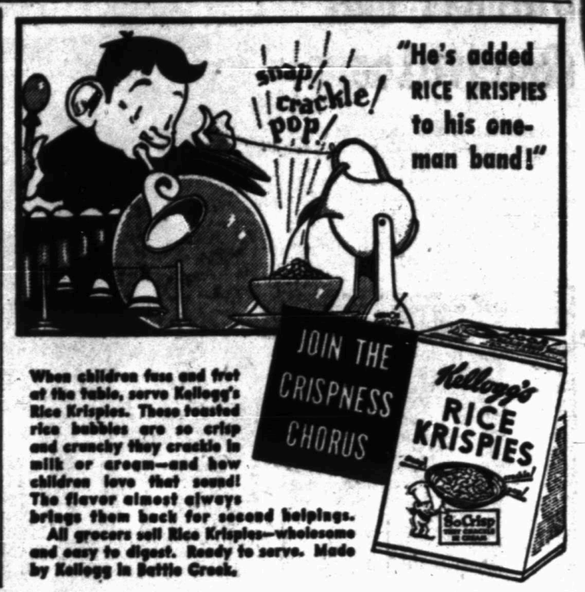

G. W. Hulbert has leased 1,500 acres of land surrounding a ledge, known was "Rocky Mound" with an old shaft, thought for years to be a natural cave, about 40 feet up its face. Hulbert said he re-discovered the mine by following an old map obtained from a Mexican. While taking soil from the face of the rock yesterday, workmen discovered a drawing of three arrows, but their significance has not been interpreted.

Henry Smith, Hulbert's assistant, said ore obtained assayed lead, silver and platinum, the latter running nine ounces to the ton.

The history of the mine is unknown.

Bridges Case Delay May See Impeachment Move For Miss Perkins

Dies Declares Case Is Issue

(By The Associated Press)

PORT ARTHUR, Sept. 9.—The Bridges case, Rep. Martin Dies said today, may bring a move to impeach Secretary of Labor Perkins if she doesn't "enforce the law."

Rep. Dies (D-Tex) has called for deportation of Harry Bridges, West coast labor leader. He said Bridges was "clearly deportable" and that the case was becoming a national issue.

Dies, chairman of a committee investigating un-American activities, said he expected subcommittee hearings in New York and Detroit to make revelations more startling than those uncovered in the recent Washington hearing.

The representative, here for a bridge dedication, asserted he still opposed the nomination of Gov. James V. Allred to a federal judgeship.

State-Wide Cotton Committee Is Called Into Conference

WACO, Sept. 9. (AP) — Headquarters here of the Texas Cotton association announced today Burris C. Jackson of Hillsboro, president, has called a meeting of the state-wide cotton committee of Texas in Hillsboro next Saturday.

The announcement said the meeting was called "in view of the fact that several important developments have occurred within the past few weeks relative to our general cotton program."

Reclamation Program Expected To Be Largest In U. S. History

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9. (AP)—The reclamation construction program in the fiscal year which began July 1, probably will be the largest in any single year since enactment of the federal reclamation law in 1902.

Reclamation officials, including Commissioner John C. Page, said they would not be surprised if expenditures on irrigation projects in the next 12 months exceeded last year's total of approximately 70,000,000.

In support of this view officials cited that congress appropriated approximately $37,000,000 of new money for reclamation at the last session, PWA added $30,500,000, and balances totaling "several million" carried over from the last fiscal year would be available this year. Moreover, a $35,000,000 contract was awarded for a California project.

Projects for which congress made appropriations included $500,000 for Rio Grande (Elephant Butte power plant) in New Mexico and Texas. To this PWA allocated the additional sum of $1,000,000.

Colorado produced more than 6,000,000 bags of beet sugar in 1937.

Chickens May Be Dumb But You Can't Call Them "Suckers"

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 9. (AP)—If you think a chicken is "awful dumb" revise your estimate. They're smart enough not to eat poisoned grasshoppers.

F. E. Whitehead, entomologist at Oklahoma A. & M. college, experimented to determine if poisoned bran, fed to grasshoppers, had ill effects on fowl that might consume the 'hoppers.

"A pen of chickens learned quickly that the 'hoppers we attempted to feed them were poisoned and they would eat only the legs of the insects," he said. "When the rations were changed again and unpoisoned 'hoppers were fed to them, the chickens ate them with gusto."

Lubbock Men On Committee

Announcement of appointment of an educational sub-committee of the state-wide cotton committee of Texas including four Lubbock men has been made by Burris C. Jackson of Hillsboro, general chairman of the cotton committee.

Lubbock members of the educational committee are M. E. Heard, head professor of textile engineering at Texas Technological college; A. H. Leidigh, dean of agriculture at the college; Dr. J. O. Ellsworth, head professor of economics and business administration; and Chas. A. Guy, editor of Avalanche-Journal publications.

To Gather Basic Facts

The committee was appointed "to give particular study to every phase of the whole cotton problem and gather basic facts about the industry in its local, national, and international setting, and assist in presenting these facts to the people generally through every available means".

Heard was appointed secretary. In an announcement of the appointments received in the office of Dr. Harry L. Kent, director of administrative research at Texas Technological college, Jackson wrote that, "Dr. A. B. Cox, the chairman of this committee and Mr. M. E. Heard, the secretary, need no introduction to this committee or to the people of Texas. They have both rendered outstanding service to cotton". Dr. Cox is director of the bureau of business research at the University of Texas.

The committee, which has approximately 55 members, is to meet in Hillsboro Saturday after a meeting of the state-wide cotton committee.

Fifth Of American Drivers Avoid Risk Of Sudden Death In Head-On Collision By Less Than Second, Psychologists Say

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 9. — One-fifth of American drivers avoid risk of sudden death in head-on collision by less than one second.

Swing music cuts down the production of American girl workers if played when they are on the job.

These two findings of psychological investigators were reported last night at the annual meeting of the American Psychological association, which opened four days of sessions at Ohio state university.

Discovered In Pictures

The habit of 20 per cent of drivers on the open road on two-lane highways of allowing less than a second to clear an on-coming car was discovered with moving pictures taken from a moving car by T. W. Forbes and T. M. Matson, of Yale university.

The drivers who were spied upon never knew a camera eye was recording their "timing." As an apparently ordinary unit of traffic Forbes and Matson drove all through the Midwest, Far West and Northeast.

Longer In The West

They wanted to know how much time the average driver allowed, when passing a car going his direction, and while a car was coming head-on toward him, to get back into his own lane.

The safety allowance in passing was longer in the West than in the East, apparently because western travel is faster and on straighter roads.

Swing music was tried in a manufacturing plant as an aid to work by John F. Humes, University of Pennsylvania. All kinds of music were given phonographic tests.

The workers, mostly girls, spoiled more work and also made more protests against the kind of music when swing was on.

All other types of music had no effect sufficient to warrant a reliable conclusion, said Dr. Humes. But he added there was a slight tendency for both slow-time and fast tempo to result in increased production.

Here're The 1938 Champs

By Collier Parris

WITH BASEBALL BEING postponed, and all, and football being in the air—the Texas Techs start the official grind tomorrow, remember—it is fitting that we continue to discuss the pigskin game at this time.

Only instead of this corner doing the discussing, the column is being turned over today to Mr. Garner Soule, sports editor of the Associated Press feature service, who has quite a message to bring to the football fans of the town and country.

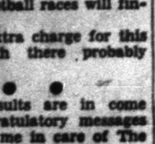

Please take charge, Mr. Soule, because your's is an interesting story, and our fans no doubt will mop it up. Stay with him, fans; it's Mr. Soule taking over.

By special arrangement with a little gypsy tea room, I am able to tell the customers in advance just how the 1938 football races will finish.

There is no extra charge for this service, although there probably should be.

When the results are in come December, congratulatory messages may be sent to me in care of The A. P., New York City.

SOULE

If there should be anything wrong with my list of champions, however, I hope you will not harass me next winter with missives of an uncomplimentary nature. After all, there are times when even I like to be alone.

I have nominated five teams as possible national champions: Minnesota, Nebraska, Pittsburgh, Rice, and Washington.

There may be some other 16-cylindered gridiron machine that will sweep aside these favored five.

It might be Southern California (there are rumors of big things down there this season). It probably won't be Notre Dame this year, for Elmer Layden has bid adieu to nine of his 1937 first-stringers. It might be L. S. U. from the south, or Santa Clara, or Fordham.

CHAMPIONS' PARADE

Here are some notes, helpful and otherwise, on teames I think (and hope) may be at the top of the whole heap:—

At Minnesota, Bernie Bierman, who does not spring from a long line of optimists, is on record as saying: "We may have a chance." It looks like a powerful team at Minnesota, with men like Harold Van Every, Marty Christiansen and Larry Buhler in the backfield.

At Nebraska, they have their traditional strong team. Picking Nebraska in the Big Six is picking a long shot, of course—it's like naming Joe Louis to beat Harry Thomas in a boxing match.

At Pittsburgh, they have a new athletic system with de-emphasis on football. Nevertheless, they have all-America Marshall Goldberg to spark the Panthers, and they have Coach Jock Sutherland. They are bemoaning the fact they have only 34 football candidates. (Wonder what Lou Little, who has to scrimmage one side of his line against the other, would think about that?)

At Rice they have everything. Rice won the Southwest championship a year ago. Coach Jimmy Kitts has his whole team back. And Coach Kitts perfected a second team last year—a team that never played a minute, and is reputed to be tougher than last year's champions. Rice's "mystery team" may prove to have the will to win a championship team must have. Nevertheless, Rice fights a jinx that says the Southwest champion never can repeat. Anything can happen in the cutthroat Southwest conference, though, and it's about time for this jinx to be sent to the showers.

At Washington, according to Coach Bernie Bierman, they have just about hte strongest squad of all. But maybe Coach Biefman is worsted about his September 24 game with Washington. That game should help a lot in deciding the mythical national champion of 1938.

Penn Counts On 'Rain'

Here are some notes on regional or conference champions, and on run-of-the-mill teams:—

Dartmouth so far has had its good teams in odd numbered years—in 1927, 1929, 1935, and 1937, and so on back. In case you've forgotten, this is 1938.

Southern California should come up with a passing attack—five Trojans spent the summer tossing cantaloupes in a packing house.

Notre Dame may have trouble with a boy named Mike Corgan. That sounds a lot like Corrigan to me. I hope he doesn't run the wrong way.

Notre Dame offers hunch players a chance, though. A racing pigeon named Knute Rockne for the late football coach recently won a 219-mile race.

Tulane will have Bob Kellogg of Arkansas, who was one of the nation's high-point scorers a year ago while playing for a junior college team, Northeast Center of Monroe, La.

Alabama will have a quarter-back calling signals this season for the first time since 1935. Left half-backs have been performing the chore ever since.

Pennsylvania will have a star sophomore back named Rainwater.

Lawrence T. (Buck) Shaw of Santa Clara says his first team will be better than it was a year ago.

Syracuse, Temple and Boston college are outlaw eastern teams that look promising from a pre-season view.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 9. — Coach Curtis Parker is beating the heat down at Shreveport by having his Centenary football squad report for practice at 6 a. m.—Al Schacht says: "I wish I had Lou Gehrig's money, Moe Berg's gall and my good times" . . . Suppose you read where Bill Terry did a right-about-face and put the Giants back in the flag race. Haw! . . . Bill McKechnie usually addresses umpires with the prefix of mister, but he must have said "Mr. so and so" the other day when he drew that $150 fine.

Looks like Hank Greenberg can kiss his chances of catching up with Babe Ruth's home run record good-bye. . . . The year he swatted 60 for a new record, the Bam got six of them during the first seven days of September. . . . Hank's record so far this month is zero. . . . Jimmy Crowley and Rex Enright, who used to be roomies at Notre Dame, will send their Fordham and South Carolina football teams against each other at the Polo Grounds Nov. 19. . . . West Virginia has a five-year football plan which is supposed to wind up in the Rose bowl in 1940.

Sammy Baugh's contract with the Washington Redskins calls for $1 per year. . . . He is paid his record salary on a side agreement with the club owners.

To describe an object as "mouse color" is being very vague, for with the modern trend in mouse breeding, fanciers now produce these animals in colors ranging from the original browns and blacks, to whites, blues, creams lilacs, plums, silvers, variegated, etc.

Pirates' Lead Is Cut To Four Games By Cubs

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

As though that weird National league race itself wouldn't make even the most confirmed teetotaled see pink elephants, the first division clubs now have it even whackier with as creaky a collection of patchwork pitching staffs as ever came down the pike.

Of course, the "sore arm-itis" for which this year is famous has a lot to do with it. Even the oldest inhabitant can't remember when the four top outfits in as tight a fight as the current scramble found it necessary to rely on such makeshift flinging staffs in the stretch drive.

Move Paid Dividends

Take the Cubs. It wasn't enough that they had to lug old Charley Root out of the bullpen for starting duty. Yesterday they decided to ring in one Walter Kirby Higbe. A search of the books revealed he was making his first start since he was recalled from Birmingham.

For the moment, the move paid dividends. Young Mr. Higbe held the Cardinals at bay for six innings, then gave over to old Jack Russell, and the Cubs took the ball game in the tenth on Frank Demaree's second homer of the afternoon, to climb within four games of the first-place Pirates.

So it has been all down the line. Some of this pitching pressure has been lifted off Pittsburgh and Cincinnati with the recent return from the hospital lists of Bob Klinger and Johnny Vander Meer. Klinger, his sore arm right again, has taken two straight for the Bucs. Last night Vandy came back and pitched the Reds to a seven-hit, 5-3 win over the Pirates.

This, coupled with a 6-4 decision the Giants took by outlasting Boston's Bees, left the Pirates a slim four games in front of the Cubs, with the Reds half-a-game farther back, and the Giants the same distance behind Cincinnati.

The American league race, meantime, rapidly nears its windup. The Yankees blanked the Red Sox, 4-0, yesterday behind Lefty Gomez's five-hit elbowing. The Indians remained deadlocked with the Red Sox in second place by dropping a 4-1 decision to Alton Benton and the Detroit Tigers.

Ken Chase's six-hitter was enough to give Washington a 5-2 edge over the Athletics. Luke Hamlin closed out the night baseballing in Brooklyn by pitching the Dodgers to a 5-0 shutout over the Phillies. The Browns and White Sox were rained out for the second straight day.

Increase In Prizes In 1940 Semi-Pro Tourney Is Voted

CHICAGO, Sept. 9. (AP)—Directors of the National Semi-Pro Baseball congress today voted an increase in prizes for teams competing in the 1939 series of tourneys.

Raymond Dumont, of Wichita, Kas., congress president, said five leading teams in each of the state tournaments would be paid prize money next year and the purse for the winner of the national meet would be raised to $6,000. The latter, representing a boost of $1,000 over this year's prize, would include, Dumont said, $1,000 as expenses to the 1940 tourney.

Pittsburgh High School Boys On Strike For Football Team

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 9. (AP)—One hundred boy students at Suburban Sharpsburg High school, on strike "until we get a football team," refused to return to classes today despite a pledge of school directors that they would consider reinstating the sport.

"They made that promise once before," retorted Strike Leader Albert Pastelo after Anthony Ferraro, member of the school board, addressed a group of students mass outside the school last night.

Tom Yawkey Buys Louisville's Club; Bush Is Part-Owner

BOSTON, Sept. 9. (AP)—Tom Yawkey, millionaire owner of the Boston Red Sox, last night dug deep to purchase the Louisville club of the American association in a straight cash deal which will elevate Donie Bush, manager of the Minneapolis Millers, to the helm of the Colonels in the role of part-owner.

Eddie Collins, general manager of the Sox, said a considerable part of the unannounced purchase price had been put up by Bush.

Playoff Series Is Delayed By Rain

Settlement of championship honors in the West Texas-New Mexico league was deferred at least one more day when heavy rainfall caused postponement of last night's scheduled third game in the Shaughnessy play-off between Lubbock and Clovis clubs.

The Hubber club, flanked by a hundred or so Lubbock fans and numerous other South Plains supporters, arrived in Lubbock from mid-afternoon until dark, only to be told the field was under a sea, and that playing was impossible.

Information To Be Available

Barring further rain, the final round of the championship series will be resumed at Bell Park in Clovis tonight.

Lubbock fans considering a trip to Clovis to see the game are invited to listen to their radios or to call the Journal office this afternoon to determine weather facts and prospects in Clovis.

Possibility of a Sunday wind-up at the Lubbock park was dimmed by yesterday's weather in Clovis. The teams, winners in the first round of the Shaughnessy playoff, are originally agreed to play three games in Clovis, returning to Lubbock if another game or more is required. Considering the "jinx" under which the Lubbock team has operated in Clovis this season, it was expected that the teams would return here, possibly Sunday, for the grand finale.

Need Two More Wins

Yesterday's postponement, however, will run three games in Clovis through Sunday.

The Hubbers need to win only two of the games at Clovis in order to claim the league championship. Lubbock won the first two games of the final round here, taking the last in 13 innings by a 7-6 score, after winning by almost as close a score in the first game Tuesday night.

Should Clovis win as many as two of the three games scheduled there, the clubs will return to Lubbock to determine the championship.

Second Division Clubs Down Leaders In Texas Loop Race

(By The Associated Press)

Second division clubs rose rebelliously in the Texas league to down the four leaders who go into the Shaughnessy playoff after the regular season ends Sunday.

Shreveport's Sports, with their stellar outfielder Pete Fleming making the game a personal issue, led the parade by whipping first place Beaumont 3-2. Houston beat second-place San Antonio 6-1; Dallas defeated third-place Oklahoma City 2-1, and Fort Worth downed fourth-place Tulsa 5-4.

Fleming drove two home runs over the left field wall to score all the Sports runs, one in the first inning with Manning on base, and the second in the sixth.

The league leaders and Houston were idle today before going into the season's last series which ends in a doubleheader for them Sunday. Other clubs began their final series.

Elmer Layden Opens '38 Grid Season By Going Fishing

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 9. (AP)—Elmer Layden personally opened training for the 1938 Notre Dame football season—by going fishing.

The slim Irish mentor, who next Saturday will greet some 95 gridiron hopefuls, had several reasons for ducking out of his office.

He is convinced that (1) it won't do him the slightest bit of good to worry about such things as 20 lettermen who won't be back; (2) that he will lack an appreciative audience if he starts "singing the blues" about lack of talent and (3) that it's going to take some fancy "angling" to land a few victories from a schedule which opens with Kansas and closes, nine weeks later, with Southern California.

University Of San Francisco Is To Have Faster Eleven

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9 (AP) — University of San Francisco which opens its 1938 football season against St. Mary's of Texas September 18, will have a faster team with greater reserve strength than last year.

"We fear no foe," said Coach George Malley today. "We will have more speed and more replacements this year than last. Our line will average 190 and the backfield about 178."

The Dons play three night games this year.

The first against Hardin-Simmons of Texas September 23.

Vines Says Budge In No Hurry To Turn Tennis Professional

OAKMONT, Pa., Sept. 8. (AP)—Ellsworth Vines, the tennis star who proved himself better than a dub at golf by qualifying for the National Amateur, said today Don Budge is in no hurry about joining the pro net ranks.

"Budge is interested in those professional offers," he said during a luncheon intermission from the links, "but he feels there is no hurry about accepting them."

Paul And Dizzy May Meet On The Mound

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 9 — Brothers have played with brothers and against brothers in major league baseball, but the possibility that "Me 'n' Paul" may meet in a pitching duel appeared today to be a fraternal "natural."

Paul Dean's return to the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday, after a year of nursing his arm in the minor leagues, brought the chance he may oppose brother Dizzy in one of the Cards' six remaining games with the Chicago Cubs.

The two teams play in Chicago Sept. 24, 25 and 26 and wind up the season here, Sept. 30, Oct. 1 and Oct. 2.

Trying to keep pace with his famous brother at the time Dizzy was at his peak may have been the reason Paul almost threw his arm out of joint. The brothers, then teammates, pitched the Cardinals to a world championship in 1934, each winning two games from the Detroit Tigers.

Women's Golf Trophy Is Kept

(By The Associated Press)

MANCHESTER, Mass., Sept. 9.—By capturing five of six singles matches for a 5 1-2 to 3 1-2 victory over brilliant Britist rivals, the American women's Curtis cup golf team today retained international trophy.

The surprising rally of the domestic golfers shattered a commanding lead the invaders had taken earlier in the match and gave the Americans their third triumph since the cup was donated eight years ago by the Misses Harriot and Margaret Curtis, both former national titlists.

Headed by Mrs. Andrew M. Holm, British champion, the invaders took a commanding lead Wednesday when on a rain-soaked course they won two and halved the third of the Scotch foursome matches.

The surprising American comeback got underway early yesterday when Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page, national titlist, defeated Mrs. Holm, 6 and 5. The youthful Patty Berg, of Minneapolis, sent the teams into a tie by turning back Jessie Anderson, 1937 British champion, 1 up.

Then Nan Baird, 1934 Scottish champion, put her fourth shot in a brook while Charlotte Glutting of Rock Spring, N. J., put together two woods that left her 15 feet beyond the pin to win.

Henderson And Tyler Squared In East Texas Final Playoff

HENDERSON, Sept. 9 (AP)—Squared in their East Texas league title playoff at one game each the Tyler Trojans and Henderson Oilers girded for the third clash of the series tonight.

The Oilers avenged an inaugural beating last night, whipping Tyler 4-3 when a home run off the bat of lanky George Sturdivant drove in three runs.

Sturdivant's clout, in the sixth inning, broke a 1-1 tie, and handed Roy Weisenborn the best of a close pitching duel with Lewis McLendon.

Abbeville And Lake Charles In Finals Of Evangeline

ALEXANDRIA, La., Sept. 9 (AP)—The Abbeville Athletics qualified last night to meet Lake Charles in the title series of the Evangeline league's Shaughnessy playoff by trimming Alexandria in the seventh and deciding game of their series, 9 to 8.

Lake Charles gained the final playoff by trimming Alexandria in the seventh and deciding game of their series, 9 to 8.

Lake Charles gained the final playoff by trouncing Rayne four out of five games, winding up the series Tuesday night.

O'Brien Still To Be Spark Of Horned Frogs; Meyer To Have Greatly Improved Aggregation

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

FORT WORTH, Sept. 9. — Good little men — the Albie Booths and the Bobby Wilsons—come along too seldom in football.

But there's another one now — rugged, frozen-faced Davey O'Brien, whose 150 pounds is the dynamo of a great Texas Christian team that averages 197 pounds even with this broth of an Irish lad.

Once they identified Davey as "the successor to Slingin' Sam Baugh," whom he understudied one season. But Davey sort of removed that tag last year when he led Southwest conference scorers, played more minutes than any other man in the league and wound up on the Associated Press' second All-America team.

To Have Better Team

"It won't be different this year," mused Coach Leo (Dutch) Meyer. "Davey's our spark again—but we'll have a shade better team.

"The sophomores of '37 have gained experience, the kicking will be greatly improved and better reserves, experienced reserves, are available."

Tiny O'Brien will have some new backfield playmates to team with behind one of the finest lines in Southwest history, not barring that famed 1932 Texas Christian wall which made the mythical all-conference team to a man. The Horned Frog starting line will average 210 pounds per man, with two potential All-America candidates included.

Kicking To Be Improved

"Faulty kicking got us into trouble last year," said Meyer. "We're counting strongly on three good boosters this year—Ward Wilkinson, our fullback who went out with a bad leg last year; Spud Taylor and Connie Sparks. Sparks has possibilities. Watch him."

Long has T.C.U., been noted for stout lines, but the bunch Meyer will start this year is a standout.

On the ends he will have Don Looney, 195, and Russ Hensch, 210. Best tackle in the Southwest is I. B. Hale, the 245-pound six-foot, two-inch candidate for All-America, who teams with Allie White, 205. Guards will be manned by Forrest Kline, 225, and Bud Taylor, 200.

Line Averages 210 Pounds

Outstanding Southwest hope for national recognition is Ki Aldrich, the 197-pound center who went East last year for the Fordham and Ohio State games and stunned the populace up there.

"Just 210 pounds that line averages," grinned Meyer. "Nice bunch of boys, don't you think?"

All are veteran lettermen.

Besides O'Brien at quarterback, there will be Earl Clark, "one of the best blocking backs" Meyer has ever seen; Johnnie Hall, the hard-driving off-tackle thruster and either sparks or Wilkinson in the fullback slot.

Texas Christian opens against Centenary, and doesn't get a breath through a schedule that includes in order Arkansas, Temple, Texas A. and M., Marquette, Baylor, Tulsa, Texas, Rice and Southern Methodist.

Texas Grid Race To Be Opened Tonight

(By The Associated Press)

Th Texas Interscholastic league football campaign opens tonight but only a scattering of games inaugurate the nineteenth annual race.

Next week practically every school will swing into action and by Sept. 24 all will have opened the season.

Three districts have games scheduled in the class A division this week. They are:

District 1—Clovis, N. M., at Pampa; Tahoka at Lamesa; Kerrville at Plainview.

District 2—Chillicothe at Electra, Quanah at Wellington.

District 9—Jacksonville at Tyler.

One hundred and nine teams are lined up for the campaign this year. It is the largest number in the history of the league.

Bob Hope Says Marathon Golf Is 'Snap' If You Use Hope System; Plays 180 Holes

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Sept. 9. (AP)—Gazing down at a slightly-shrunken waistline, which the studio will greatly appreciate, and a lone blister on one finger, Bob Hope, Hollywood comedian and golfer extraordinary, decided today that marathon golf is just a snap.

"Provided," he said, "you use the Hope system."

It was the Hope system that enabled him to play 180 holes—180 highly theoretical holes, by the way—of golf yesterday in elapsed time of less than four hours. The procedure was simple. He played ten bails for 18 holes.

Oakmont Liked By Amateurs

(By The Associated Press)

OAKMONT, Pa., Sept. 9 — Golf's greatest pros, tormented by Oakmont's tortuous traps in the National Open three years ago, broadcast their dislike for the famous layout but the nation's amateurs entered a rebuttal today.

With nearly half of the field of 169 in next week's championship already plodding around the course, the broad bunkers took an early beating but the struggling shotmakers maintained an air of enthusiasm.

Yates Cards A 71

Proudest of the practice performers, with reason, was Charley Yates, the chubby Atlantan who hopes to double up his British crown with the American title.

He was three under par for the first nine and finished his tour with a 71, one under, yet drawled:

"This is the toughest course in the world, but it's remarkably fair and I think a fine test for the championship."

Defending Champion Johnny Goodman of Omaha played the back nine alone once and then joined Yates and Ray Billows, runner-up at Portland last year, for half a dozen holes of what might well have been the world's amateur championship, but no score was kept and practice balls were played.

"I like it fine," grinned Goodman. "I don't think the greens are as slick as in 1935, but it's the same course and tough — that's the way it ought to be."

Two City Projects Will Be Started In Near Future

Plans Will Be Drawn Soon

The city commission "got set" at its semi-monthly meeting Thursday for the start of at least two of the projects for which bonds were voted last Friday.

They directed that Harry N. Roberts, consulting engineer, begin preparations of plans for the storm sewer to be constructed across the southern part of the city and instructed O. R. Walker, architect, to prepare drawings for a new Central fire station.

The recent election resulted in approval of $300,000 in bonds for the storm sewer and $50,000 for the fire station. Other issues which also carried were $150,000 for street improvements and $250,000 for enlarged sewage disposal plant facilities.

Immediate action was taken on the storm sewer and the fire station project because of applications made by the city and now pending with the Public Works administration for grants toward carrying out the work. Approximately $250,000 is sought for the storm sewer and approximately $20,000 for remodeling the city hall should the fire station be moved into a new building of its own.

Start Without Delay

If the grants are approved, it was explained, the city will be required to start work on them without delay. Otherwise the grant will be lost, the commission was told.

Roberts prepared the pending application for the storm sewer grant and Walker that for remodeling the city hall.

Instructions that detailed plans be prepared were given immediately after the commission had canvassed the returns from the bond election. The official tabulations showed no variation from the unofficial count as announced after polls had been closed. Majorities favoring the bonds ranged from more than five to more than seven to one.

Resolution Is Adopted

A resolution waiving the $5 per day license fee fixed by an ordinance adopted in 1931 for the operation of bowling alleys was adopted after Vernon Herndon, manager of Hilton hotel, had announced his plan to install such an alley at 1109 Main street.

The fee to be charged will be that set by a legislative enactment, which will be $100 for the state, $50 for the county and $50 for the city for an annual license. The resolution was adopted, however, with the specific warning that it will be rescinded and the $5 per day fee restored should bowling alleys of an undesirable type be located in Lubbock.

Lon Hill filed a claim for $35 because of damages to his automobile and injuries to his wife which he said were received when she drove the car into a water filled ditch on Avenue S last June 8. The matter was referred to City Attorney Durwood H. Bradley.

The commission directed that suitable signs be placed on Avenue H at Seventeenth street indicating that to be a crossing frequented by school children.

Lubbock Bus company also was given permission to place signs in residential sections indicating bus stops. The signs, however, must be of a type satisfactory to city officials.

'By Dawn's Early Light' In War-Ravaged China

The Star-Spangled Banner still waves—but not o'er much more than a pile of broken bricks and shattered timbers. This was what remained of St. Hilda's School for Girls, American missionary institution at Wuchang, China, after Japanese bombers attacked the city. The American flag waving over the school failed to save it from the raiders, who claim such casualties are unavoidable in aerial warfare.

DIVIDENDS DECLARED

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 9 (AP) — Skelly Oil company directors declared the regular quarterly dividends of $1.50 on 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock, payable Nov. 1, to stock of record Oct. 3, W. G. Skelly, company president, came here from Tulsa for the directors meeting.

EXTRADITION IS ASKED

HOUSTON, Sept. 9 (AP) — Sheriff Norfleet Hill has applied to Governor James V. Allred for extradition of James Lee Lacy, held at Lagrange, Ga., to answer a felony theft charge.

Lacy and six others were charged in the theft of a truckload of groceries from a Houston firm.

Course In Geology Is To Be Given At Sul Ross College

ALPINE, Sept. 9. (AP)—At the 1938-39 long session Sul Ross State Teachers college will offer a course in introductory geology, J. Charles Kelly, instructor in anthropology, teaching the course. The first semester will take up physical geology and the second historical geology.

The college is located in one of the richest geological areas in the world. It is believed that every type of geological structure can be found in the Marathon basin lying east of Alpine, the Glass mountains presenting a series of geological deposits of such importance that scientists from over the world visit them.

In the Davis and Chisos mountains are found volcanic rocks and formations of almost unparalled variety and interests.

DARING HOLDUP STAGED

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 9 (AP)—Two middle-aged men held up officials of Platinum Shop, Inc., and a New York jewelry salesman in downtown Indianapolis Thursday afternoon and fled with diamonds valued at $50,000 and $175 in currency.

The robbers, believed to have had two confederates awaiting in an outside corridor of the building in which the holdup occurred, made their getaway in traffic.

Slight Decrease In Number Of Liquor Dealers In Texas Is Revealed

Treasury Gives Annual Report

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Treasury figures show a slight drop in the number of Texas concerns handling distilled spirits and malt liquors during the 1938 fiscal year from the previous twelve-month period.

A total of 20,015 permits were issued in the state the year ending June 30, 1937, while 19,969 were issued in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1938.

Liquor Dealers 10,665

Retail liquor dealers, who paid a tax of $25 each to the federal government, composed the largest individual group of the concerns registered in 1938. They totaled 10,665.

The second largest group numbering 8,256, was the retail dealers in fermented malt liquors. They paid $20 each for the privilege of operating.

Study Is Made Of Complaints

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Several government agencies were studying complaints today that monopolistic practices had depressed prices of cottonseed oil.

Representative Chandler (D-Tenn) wrote Secretary of Agriculture Wallace last week that something to halt violations of the anti-trust laws was necessary to prevent collapse of the farm program in the south.

Earlier a similar complaint had been made by Representative Rankin (D-Miss). Chandler also wrote to Thurman W. Arnold, head of the anti-trust division of the justice department, and to Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), chairman of the monopoly investigating committee.

Chandler wrote Wallace that in 1936, with a cotton crop of 12,282,000 bales, cotton seed sold for $33.27 a ton, but that this year, with a crop estimated at 11,968,000 bales, the price of cotton seed was only $24 a ton.

Tech Students Living In City May Get Physical Exams Now

Lubbock students of Texas Technological college may save themselves and hundreds of others much inconvenience by reporting now for physical examinations, James G. Allen, dean of men, pointed out.

Dean Allen asked that such students go to Lubbock sanitarium before the majority of students begin filtering in, and take required physical examinations.

Students may be examined between the hours of 9 and 11:30 in the mornings, from 1 to 4:30 in the afternoons. They should enter the clinic side of the building and ask for either Dr. U. S. Marshal or Dr. G. S. Smith.

When Lincoln was inaugurated five former presidents were still living. They were Van Buren, Tyler, Fillmore, Pierce and Buchanan.

Encroachment Of State Rights Seen In New Federal Gas Act

AUSTIN, Sept. 9 (AP) — An opinion the federal natural gas act possibly leaves the way open to encroachment of duties rightfully belonging to states was expressed today by Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact commission and member of the Texas Railroad commission.

Thompson said the law, authorizing federal regulation of transportation and sale of gas in interstate commerce, undoubtedly was advantageous to consumers and regulatory bodies in states receiving their gas in interstate commerce.

He added, however, there was danger of ultimate federal control in states such as Texas where a great portion of gas production goes into interstate commerce.

More Questions On New Labor Standards Act Are Answered

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the concluding article of a series on questions people are asking concerning the new fair labor standards law, effective October 24, together with the best available answers at this time. Previous articles have discussed the wage, hours and child labor aspects of the law and the subject of exemptions).

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9. (AP)—Will the law require a large body of administrative employes, inspectors and agents?

Most of the thousands who are applying for jobs under the administrator will be disappointed. He will use existing regional local and other agencies whenever possible. Likewise he will depend largely upon the industries affected to do their own policing.

Will not employes hesitate to inform of violations and bring suit lest they jeopardize their jobs?

The act makes it unlawful to discharge an employe or discriminate against him because he has filed complaint.

Will the administrator investigate asserted violations, and issue orders respecting compliance?

He has wide powers to investigate, gather data and require the keeping of suitable records. He has power to compel attendance of witnesses at hearings and to require the production of books, papers and documents.

Can an aggrieved employer obtain a court review of an order of the administrator concerning wages and hours?

Yes, by asking a circuit court of appeals to set aside the grievous order. The law provides procedure under which the court calls on the administrator for pertinent records in the case, reviews questions of law, inspects the evidence on which facts are determined and decides whether additional evidence is material.

If such an aggrieved person takes his case to the courts, does that automatically stay the administrator's order until the court decides?

No; and the law provides the court shall not grant any stay unless the person complaining gives satisfactory surety for payments to employes affected by the order in question in case it should be upheld by the court.

Are public employes affected by the law?

No. The term "employer" does not include the United States or any state or political subdivision of a state.

Many common snakes are largely beneficial and should be protected. They are not poisonous.

Business Gain Is Hoped For

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The largest enrollment in WPA's history led work relief officials today to discuss the possibility that their present funds might be exhausted one month earlier than expected.

During the week ending August 27, they reported, WPA rolls reached 3,066,953, an all-time peak, and an increase of approximately 28,000 over the total for the previous week.

If the rate of increase continued, or if the rolls remained above 3,000,000 through the fall, current funds might be exhausted by January instead of in February as expected by congress, officials said.

They added, however, they were looking toward fall improvement in business to reduce the relief load.

Mexican Labor Leader Heads Latin America Confederation

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 7 (AP) — Vicente Lombardo Toledano, 44-year-old Mexican labor leader, today became first president of the Confederation of Workers of Latin America and pledged himself to "work for the complete independence of all workers on this continent."

The confederation was formed yesterday among delegates to the Latin-American labor congress.

John L. Lewis, leader of the CIO, said he believed its formation was "one of the most significant events which has happened in a long time."

In response to a question whether the CIO would aid the confederation, Lewis said his organization was in favor of improving working conditions "in all these countries and feels in so doing it is acting in support of the Roosevelt good neighbor policy and is making a great contribution to increased prosperity of American business enterprises by creating greater consumers and increased buying power."

Some Texas Wool Will Go To Market In Cotton Bags This Year Instead Of Imported Jute

BRADY, Sept. 9 (AP) — Some of Texas' wool will go to market in bags made of cotton in place of jute.

Directors of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers association, in session here Thursday, received 5,000 wool bags made of cotton. The containers were the gift of the Surplus Commodity corporation of the U. S. department of agriculture, which is trying to find a new outlet for cotton. Bags now in use are made of jute, and imported product.

The directors discussed wool freight rates and a marketing program for lamb.

New Method For Discovery Of Scientific Mystery Is Told

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 9 (AP) — A new method of working backwards in an effort to discover how sunlight is captured and converted into food and fuel for man has been found, an Ohio chemist said Thursday.

Speaking before the closing session of the American Chemical society meeting here, Dr. Paul Rothemund of Antioch college described the process of photosynthesis, in which chlorophyll, the green coloring matter in plants, absorbs sunlight, as one of the principal mysteries of the universe.

A new approach to unlocking its secrets has been found, however, in the discovery that the process will work in reverse and that chlorophyll will give off light as well as absorb it.

Spry The new, purer ALL-vegetable shortening TRIPLE-CREAMED!

MASTER CAKE RECIPE

½ cup Spry
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, unbeaten
2½ teaspoons baking powder
2 cups sifted flour
½ cup milk

Combine Spry, salt and vanilla. Add sugar gradually and cream until light and fluffy. (You'll marvel how quickly it's done with triple-creamed Spry!)

Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Add baking powder to flour and sift 3 times. Add small amounts of flour to creamed mixture, alternately with milk, mixing after each addition until smooth.

Pour batter into two 8-inch layer pans greased with Spry. Bake in moderately hot oven (375° F.) 25 minutes. Spread Chocolate Peanut Frosting between layers and on top and sides of cake.

Cup Cakes. Bake in greased cup-cake pans in hot oven (425° F.) 20 minutes. Frost with Golden Coconut Frosting. Makes 2 dozen small cakes.

Spice Cake. Add 1 teaspoon cinnamon in creaming Spry with sugar. Bake in greased 8 x 8 x 2-inch pan in moderate oven (350° F.) 55 minutes. Frost with Spicy Raisin Frosting.

MASTER FROSTING RECIPE

1. Chocolate Peanut Frosting
2 tablespoons Spry
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt
2½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar
2 ounces chocolate, melted
4 tablespoons scalded milk (about)
½ cup peanuts, chopped and toasted

Combine Spry, butter, vanilla and salt and blend. (Spry gives your frosting extra creaminess, helps keep it moist.) Beat in ½ cup sugar. Add melted chocolate and blend. Add hot milk, alternately with remaining sugar, beating well after each addition. Add only enough milk to make a nice spreading consistency. Add peanuts.

Makes enough frosting to cover tops and sides of two 8-inch layers.

2. Golden Coconut Frosting. Omit vanilla, chocolate and peanuts. Add ½ teaspoon grated orange rind to Spry mixture. Spread on tops of cup cakes. Top with 1 cup coconut rubbed with ½ teaspoon grated orange rind. Makes enough frosting to cover tops of 2 dozen small cup cakes.

3. Spicy Raisin Frosting. Omit chocolate and peanuts. Add ½ teaspoon cinnamon and ½ cup chopped raisins. Makes enough frosting to cover top and sides of 8 x 8 x 2-inch cake.

(All measurements in these recipes are level)

OLD FAITHFUL, Wyo., Sept. 7 (By Air Mail)—A majestically magnificent bull moose today stole the show from Old Faithful geyser and the thousand-and-one other wonders of Yellowstone park as far as The Plainsman is concerned and now we fully understand why guys like Bill Humphries and Bill McMillan go ga-ga over big game hunting.

It all happened this way.

The Plainsman and the Little Woman had traveled over about 20 miles of famed Yellowstone's double loop and we were beginning to think that all we'd heard about the park's wild life was just so much baloney.

We'd seen an otter and a squirrel, but not even one bear — and the park is supposed to be simply lousy with them.

Fact of the matter is, we were pretty blue — although the scenery was grand — over the apparent lack of animals in their native setting.

Just then we rounded a curve and there he was!

The biggest, swellest looking moose you ever heard of!

* * *

As close to us as a pitcher's box is to home plate, the moose behaved as beautifully as if he had been a pet.

He moved leisurely from one clump of grass to another.

He raised and lowered his head, adorned with what must have been better than a six-foot spread of antlers.

And he even turned completely around in his unhurried search for more fodder.

We stood there — for we had jumped from the car almost before it stopped rolling — gazing pop-eyed at the lumbering creature.

Talk about thrills! We had one.

WE saw six other moose, several bears, an elk, a herd of buffalo and various and sundry other beasties before we completed our all-day, 131-mile gawking tour of the park and we got a whale of a kick out of each and every sight.

But nothing compared with that first spectacle of a mule-sized bull who taught us why natural historians insist upon describing him as "lordly."

Old Faithful, undoubtedly the most famous geyser in all the world, is still doing business at the same old stand, in case you'd like to have a check-up on him.

He's right in the front yard of the boarding house where we're putting up and we've seen him do his stuff three times since lighting here a little over two hours ago.

The old gentleman must have known we were here, because he did his first trick right before our eyes even before we'd had a chance to pull the bags outen the covered wagon.

WE found out right off that the folks here-abouts — including the nattily clad rangers of the U. S. Park service — don't like anybody to suggest that Old Faithful ain't quite so faithful as he was.

They hoot at the newspaper accounts published last July, in which it was pointed out that the natives could no longer set their watches by the eruptions.

But if you pin 'em down, they'll admit that in July, Old Faithful went for 125 minutes without shooting off and that the time between eruptions frequently varies several more—or less—minutes than was the case a few years ago.

But just the same, Old Faithful remains one of the wonders of the world and doubtless will continue in that category for many centuries to come.

Old Faithful is just a kid, geologically speaking, but to us three-score-years-and-ten guys he's old as the dickens.

Geologists say he's from 40,000 to 70,000 years old, but of course they're just estimating, since from a standpoint of his discovery by the white man he's still considerably less than 100.

Frequency of eruptions varies from 40 to 75 minutes, although the average is about 63 minutes.

The hot water he sends—along with billows of white steam—to a height of 150 feet—is 204 degrees Fahrenheit, which is more than a mile above sea level and water boils here at 196 degrees.

NOBODY, not even the bright young rangers, knows how deep the water lies under Old Faithful.

It is known, however, that the water is unusually pure — showing only 300 parts of silica to the million parts of the hydrogen-oxygen mixture which makes what we call water.

And just how much part gas plays in the show, thousands of feet in the bowels of the earth, is just a guess.

The famous geyser is a big success and is still the No. 1 attraction here at the park and for the greatest number of tourists annually in the United States.

Before we left Lubbock a number of people said something like this:

"When you write your Yellowstone piece, say whether it's worthwhile going 'way up there to see. I've been figuring on going for years—but it's a long way and I don't know whether it'll be worth the trouble."

Our answer to this question is simply this:

Yellowstone park is worth anybody's time and money. And everybody who can come see it ought to do so.

A FELLOW can get a pretty good idea of the park in one day's drive around it. But he really ought to give it several days at the least, and from 10 days to two weeks, if he can.

It is impossible to drink up its innumerable beauties; to appreciate to the fullest its magnificent views; its vast spaces; its countless forests and mountains; its brilliantly fused colors—not to mention seeing at close hand its wild animal life—in anything approaching a rush.

To do himself and the park — which covers the equivalent of about five South Plains counties — full justice, the visitor should give at least several intensive days to the job.

And it doesn't cost a lot of dough, either.

By getting early starts, a Lubbock motorist can reach the east gate of the park in two days — and take the equivalent time to go home if he doesn't mind hard, fast driving.

He can get any kind of accommodations he wants in various parts of the park, from the swank inns comparable to Swiss chalets, to comfortable cabins, built of native logs, or space in a trailer park.

He can see the park at a cost per day per person of around six bucks—covering everything.

Or, if he's got more money than sense, he can spend $15 or $20 per day per person. (We're just estimating this last figure, on account of $15 or $20 being nothing more than a dream to us!)

SOME day, The Plainsman and the Little Woman are coming back to Yellowstone when we haven't got such an extended tour mapped out, and spend a week or two right here.

We're going to bring the kids, too, for the park and all that's in it are vastly educational and informative to little shavers — just as it is to big ones.

Every carload of folks brought into the park nets Uncle Sam three bucks. He charges that, by the car, at any of the gates.

But that ticket is good for the season—with in-and-out privileges all summer — and it's the biggest three bucks worth you ever saw.

If you're not going to one of next summer's World fairs, mark Yellowstone down in your vacation book for 1939.

But if you pass it up in '39 in favor of either 'Frisco or New York —where the punkin shows are to be held—at least put it down for 1940.

You'll enjoy it!

Yesterday: The Little Cheese comes to rub out Bull Griffin, sees snakes and trys to escape. Then a great to-do sounds upstairs.

CHAPTER XV

Miss Clara Fenimore was a born snooper. And since coming to the Pennington-Parker Restatorium she had successfully snooped in the rooms of everyone except the Great Pierre, Master of Magic. Up until that memorable Friday, entrance to that fortress of privacy had been denied her.

The reason for this was that the Great Pierre spent almost all his time in his room. He had come to this place to rest and, with true French practicability, he was doing what he had paid to do.

This state of affairs had driven Miss Fenimore insane with curiosity. On several occasions she had peeped through Pierre's half-open door and glimpsed a heterogeneous collection of trunks, bags, and bundles. They intrigued her beyond belief. And then on Friday, when Pierre announced his intention of remaining away over-night, Miss Fenimore had heard Opportunity knocking.

Accordingly, when convinced that the household slept, she had slipped downstairs. And Wolfgang, the dachshund, had slipped with her, to the ultimate confusion of the Little Cheese.

The first of the Great Pierre's cases that Miss Fenimore opened proved disappointing. It contained a number of gadgets whose purpose she did not understand. But, casting about, she found a long, wooden box with perforations all over it. It interested her immediately. She unfastened the catch.

The next instant Miss Fenimore recoiled in horror and uttered the shriek to end shrieks. And just as she did so a wild man with a gun in his hand hurtled through the door, leapt over a cascade of snakes that poured from the box and covered up with the bedclothes.

It was all very puzzling to Miss Fenimore. But she had no time to consider. Too many snakes were festooning the floor at her feet.

Passed a moment in which Miss Clara Fenimore made a monkey out of the most nimble-throated, coloratura soprano that ever lived. Then Kinks Parker rushed into the room. He was closely followed by Sally Pennington, in bare feet. Bull Griffin, a gun in either hand, placed third. Behind him, similarily armed came Mr. Spaldini, just out of the money. Mr. and Mrs. Harkness were in the ruck, simply also-rans. And the only scratched entry was Mrs. Clipstack. Bedlam at its best couldn't have aroused Mrs. Clipstack in the dead of night.

It was all too much for the snakes. In a wriggling body they disappeared under the bed. But not before Sally and Mrs. Harkness had added their screams to those of Miss Fenimore.

Kinks took the floor.

"What the devil's going on?" he demanded.

Miss Fenimore pointed shakily under the bed.

"S-s-snakes," she quavered.

"Yes, I know," said Kinks. "They're probably harmless. Pierre uses them in his act, I guess."

"I — I must have been sleep-walking," panted Miss Fenimore guiltily. "And all at once I came to in here with a box of s-s-snakes."

Sally and Kinks exchanged glances. Then, suddenly, Bull Griffin stepped past Kinks and stripped the covers from the bed.

The movement brought to light a pitiful object. The Little Cheese, white as a ghost, lay on his back. One hand covered his eyes. His face was convulsed with terror. And the nerveless fingers of his other hand still held his gun. His lips were working loosely, but he uttered no sound.

The first thought that occured to Bull Griffin's evil mind was that the Little Cheese had had a rendezvous "wit dis dame." Then he perceived the gun. Instantly all became clear.

"So?" he said, in a menacing voice.

Mrs. Harkness spoke.

"Who is this—this person?" she demanded, pointing at the Little Cheese.

"Dat, lady?" said Bull. "Dat's da biggest heel in Brooklyn." He reached over and relieved the Little Cheese of his gun.

"Grinnin' faces all aroun'," the Little Cheese managed to moan. "Snakes all over. Oh, uhuh!"

"Well, Elbridge," said Bull Griffin, "so you wuz gonna git me, wuz you?"

In his infancy a fearful thing had happened to the Little Cheese. His parents, humorists of high order no doubt, had affixed to him the incongruous name of Elbridge. When the Little Cheese was his own man, a person calling him Elbridge took his life in his hands. But such was the low estate to which he had fallen that he failed now even to register a meek protest.

"B-Bull," he stuttered weakly, "I ain't meself. You wouldn' shoot a sick man, would you, Bull?"

"Cheese," said Bull darkly, "you bin astin' fer it." He waved his guns. "Just give me room, ladeeze an' gents. Elbridge here is gonna git da woiks."

"Fer gossakes, Bull, take it easy," pleaded the Little Cheese. "Wuzn't we pals onct? T'ink when we wuz big shots in da old Bushwick Avenoo gang. Remember all dem clambakes we used to go to. Wid Mary an' Moitie. An' now we're in da same racket, Bull. Da same racket. An' anodder t'ing! I gotta wife an' five kids. You didn' ought to shoot a fambly man, Bull?"

Mr. Griffin was a man of sentiment. He blinked now and his guns wavered. The Little Cheese saw that he was making progress.

"I couldn' leave me little Maybelle," he groaned, in anguish. "Wot would she do wit'out her paw? An' Jakie. You'd ought to see Jakie, Bull. Da cutest little devil on da block. Chuckled a dead fish at a taxicab las' week, he did."

Bull Griffin was touched. The corners of his mouth twitched.

"I didn't have nuttin' agin you, Cheese," he said, "till you come moochin' up in da Bronx."

"Dat wuz a mistake," babbled the little Cheese, "Honest to Gawd, Bull, I didn't know you wuz doin' business up dat way. I t'ought it wuz some odder lug."

"Cheese," said Bull, "seein' you got a wife an' five kids, I'm gonna leave you go dis time. But keep outa da Bronx. Or else."

"I will," promised the Little Cheese eagerly. "Honest to Gawd, I will. You're a white guy, Bull. You an' yer whole famby is white. You . . ."

At this point Sally interposed. "Listen," she said, "we're going to leave you two to sob it out in each other's arms. But"—she extended a stern finger at the Little Cheese—"if you're not out of this house by morning, Mr.—Mr. Elbridge, it will cost you $6. That's our usual rate."

With the exception of the representatives from gangdom, the company filed out. And as they went they heard the dulcet voice of Bull Griffin.

"Geez," Mr. Griffin was saying, "you should of seen yerself in dat bed, Elbridge. You wuz da funniest t'ing goin'. I like to died laffin', Haw, haw!"

"Haw, haw," echoed the Little Cheese, palely.

"What about the snakes?" Kinks ask, as he followed Sally up the stairs.

"If they're harmless," said Sally, "they can stay where they are till morning for all of me. Pierre can collect them when he gets back."

For a moment they lingered at the top step.

"Gosh," said Kinks, "wouldn't it be something if a sane, sensible person showed up here sometime? One. Just one."

"Don't bring up impossibilities at this hour, my dear," said Sally. "Good night."

She was wrong. It wasn't impossible for a person in full possession of his senses to visit the Pennington - Parker Restatorium. Such a one appeared on the following morning.

WORTH EVERY CENT

One civic activity wrich has demonstrated its worth beyond question the past summer has been the parks recreation project.

So smashingly successful and practical has it been that its repetition each summer should become foregone and established. If it can be extended into other seasons with anything approaching equal effectiveness, that also should be done.

The project the past summer has operated under the joint sponsorship of the Works Progress administration, which has paid salaries of supervisors, and of the city, which appropriated $300—all that was asked—for the purchase of needed equipment. We may expect in the course of time that WPA assistance will no longer be obtainable. That probably will not be next year. But when it does come, the project has proved it will more than justify the expense to the city of repetition and perpetuation.

Some of the statistics which related to operation of the project the past summer may not be accepted generally as being conservative. Our own opinion, from intimate observation, is that the figures are as accurate as conscientious compilation could make them. But regardless whether there were 140,000 participations in various activities, as shown by the final report, the indisputable fact remains that the project provided pleasure and constructive recreation for a whale of a lot of people—including many hundreds of young people who otherwise might have found destructive outlet for their energies.

The fact also has been established beyond honest questioning that the project still would have been worth while at many times the cost.

Today's Thought

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 9.—Shorty Haeseler swung down from the chair where he had been pecking at the script girl's typewriter and shook hands cordially.

"Eek-eek!" he said. "That's supposed to be ape-talk for 'How've you been?' or 'Gimme a cigaret' or 'Don't get tough with me, big boy,' or anything.

"The only lines I ever get in a script are this 'eek-eek' stuff. Or, if it's a jungle picture where I warn the hero that his girl friend has a dinner date with the cannibals, maybe I get to say 'Ugh.' Whatta business!"

"You don't sound very happy about being the top chimpanzee on the screen."

Shorty shrugged. And Shorty can shrug all over. "What I don't like," he said, "is being typed. Just a supporting comedian—a funny, dumb guy with a heart of gold and no romantic appeal, like Jack Oakie. And all this silly 'eek-eeking,' trying to eke out a laugh. I'm no better off than poor Hugh Herbert, stuck for life with that 'woo-woo' line.

"And look at the way I'm imitated. Mischa Auer got his real start in movies by doing an anthropoid imitation. But do I get a chance to imitate Auer, or Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., or Dick Powell? I do not!"

Shorty climbed back on the chair, yawned resignedly, and began to poke at the typewriter again. I asked: "Then what would you like to do?"

He Has Plenty Of Answers For That One

"Well," said Shorty, "I could play heavies. Imagine me in 'The Murders in the Rue Morgue.' Or dramatic character parts. They could write me a swell picture based on the Darrow-Bryan 'monkey trial' in Tennessee. And in straight horror pictures I could make Boris Karloff look like Freddie Bartholomew.

"With so much monkey business going on all over Hollywood, I shouldn't have been just an actor. Lots of people have said that I'm smart enough to be a producer. And I certainly could be a talent scout, or a press agent, or maybe a scenarist.

"I'm working on a screen story right here, between scenes of 'Zaza.' It's called 'Her Jungle Sweetheart' and it's about a couple of guys that get forced down in an airplane in a Central American wilderness full of white savages who worship a beautiful queen, who is Dorothy Lamour. She tumbles for one of the strangers and is willing to risk her own life to help them escape. One night—"

"Pardon me," interrupted your correspondent, "but that yarn sounds kind of familiar."

"And isn't every story familiar?" asked Shorty sarcastically. "Or don't you know anything at all about the movie racket? Writers ape other writers; producers ape other producers by hurrying to make jungle films, or aviation films, or whatever."

The Boy's A Veritable Idea Factory

"Paramount already has made this story of mine three times," he continued. 'But I got an original twist for the escape climax: These two flyers are movie men, see? While they're prisoners of the white savages they set up a projection machine and put on a regular bill.

"They list 'Rosalie' as their big feature, and Dietrich's 'Angel' as the added attraction. Then they have a travelog, a cartoon, a two-reel Technicolor short, a newsreel, Bank Night, Bingo, Tango, Socko, and a raffle of three sets of dishes. Before it's over all the natives and the guards are asleep, so these guys wake up the queen and they all three walk out and fly away."

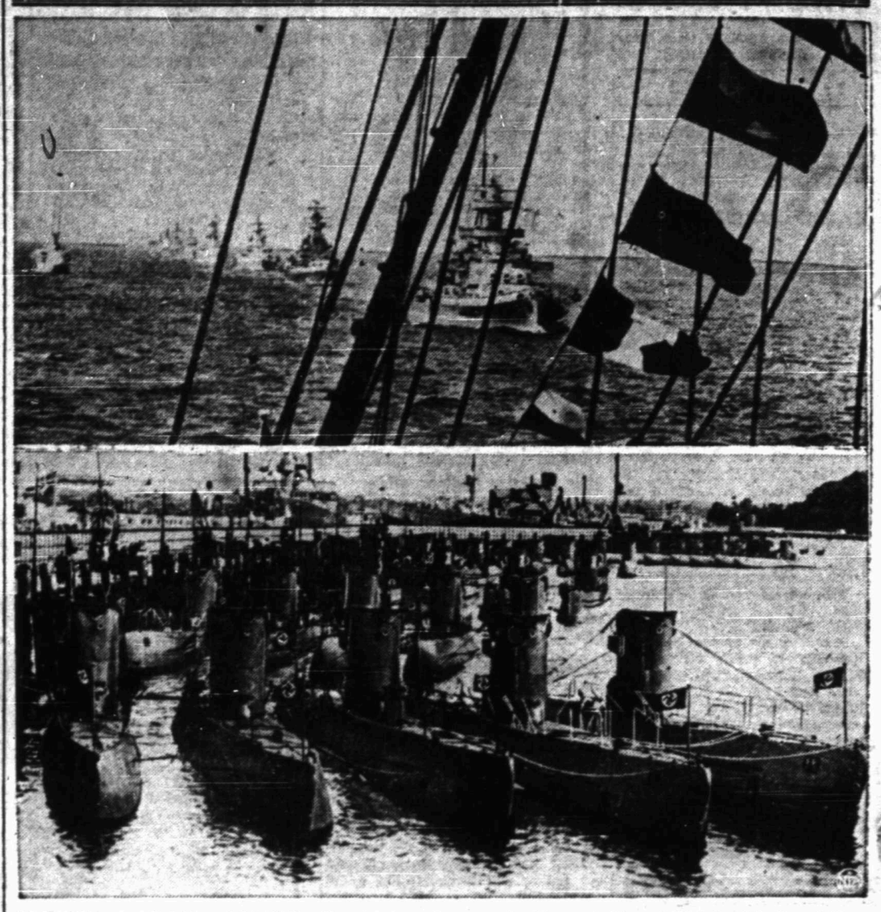

"Terrific! Sensational!" I murmured. "By the way, what's all the talk about you being temperamental, and disagreeable on the sets, and maybe too old a chimp to act any more?"

"Yeah, there are some that say I'm about washed up, and I'm always hearing warnings about chimps—especially Ditto, my standin—who are ready to step into my place when I get too uppity.

"It all started while we were making 'I'd Give a Million,' and I bit Marjorie Weaver's toe. It was a big toe, with the nail painted bright red, and it was sticking out of one of those open sandals, and I was sitting at her feet, just relaxing. She was talking to somebody about how the greatest talent often goes unrecognized. She said to take me, for instance; that here I was, drawing a big salary and paying income tax, and all the while much more talented chimpanzees are caged up in zoos working for peanuts.

"That's when I bit her."

How To Win Friends And Influence People

Adolf Hitler paraded the might of the German navy to prove to his guest, Regent Nicholas Horthy of Hungary, that it would be a good thing for Hungary to become Germany's close friend. 'Communism' May Be Heard From In The Fall Elections; 'Red' Scare Still Great Issue

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—"Communism" has bobbed up as an issue in various 1938 primaries and may be heard from in the fall election campaigns.

Dutcher

Senator Bob Reynolds of North Carolina once advised some of his colleagues:

"Get a good red scare into the campaign and you don't have to worry about issues."

Those who supposed the old "red scare" had been worn threadbare are being fooled. Such seasoned conservatives as Senator Walter George in Georgia, Senator Millard Tydings in Maryland, and Congressman John J. O'Connor in New York, all "purge" targets, deem it good political medicine.

Red Whipping Post

Tydings first used the Communist issue by quoting allegedly radical passages from a book written by Mauritz Hallgren, a supporter of his opponent, Congressman Davey Lewis. Lately Tydings' forces have plastered Maryland with printed warnings — "Your constitutional rights are threatened by the federal administration, supported by the C. I. O., John L. Lewis and Communists. Preserve your civil and religious liberties."

George attributes his New Deal opposition to Tom Corcoran and Ben Cohen, whom he alternately describes as "Communists" and "Wall Street lawyers," and to Eli Oliver of Labor's Non-Partisan League, whom he calls a "Communist."

O'Connor Blames 'Plot'

O'Connor, bracketed by Roosevelt with Tydings as an "obstructionist" who "betrayed" the New Deal, tells voters his troubles are largely due to a Communist plot.

Communists have taken to endorsing the most liberal candidates in sight, instead of running their own candidates. This has given certain liberals nightmares. Baltimore Communists, insignificant numerically and otherwise, have just endorsed Lewis, whose supporters call the endorsement a "wreath of poison ivy."

Dies committee "revelations" of Communist activities are expected to be useful to Republicans this year.

Liberals seeking to protect themselves from "red" charges will make use of 12 new proposed definitions of "Communist" published by Zion's Herald, Methodist Weekly, including "a child actress in the motion pictuers," "a liberal Roman Catholic or Episcopalian, Presbyterian or Methodist," and anyone whom we dislike."

"Screwy" Idea Proves Worth

Various New Deal ideas which were considered sound by the administration have turned out to be screwy. But one of the measures which has turned out best was one that Mr. Roosevelt himself, because he thought it was screwy" didn't want.

Federal deposit insurance for banks was an important cushion in the 1937-38 depression and probably prevented panic. Only 42 banks closed the first six months this year, with 99.7 per cent of deposits protected against loss.

As the previous depression began, 472 banks closed in the first six months of 1930, when business decline had been much less severe.

But although New Dealers usually take credit for deposit insurance, Congress actully passed the law against Roosevelt's wishes. The President and advisers thought it unsound because all state deposit insurance systems had collapsed.

"IT WILL HAVE UNDIVIDED ATTENTION"

While the average executive does not throw his mail on the floor, as has the portly gentleman with the big cigar, the picture does bring home a serious fact which no letter writer can afford to ignore. Competition is great. Your letter will probably be one of many the reader gets in his morning mail. To get "undivided attention" you letter must be attractive—different! And your letterhead is a most important factor. The Baker Company always has the most modern type faces—add the skill of our master compositor, and you have a letterhead with a real "punch". Writ Of Habeas Corpus Denied John W. Thompson Thursday

J. W. Thompson, real estate man, about 55, was denied a habeas corpus hearing when counsel appeared in the court of County Judge J. J. Dillard in an effort to "spring" him from county jail.

Thompson, who has been named in justice, county and district courts in recent months and who is under indictment charging felony offense, is being held for contempt.

Judge E. L. Pitts of 99th district court previously had indicated he would not entertain a motion for a habeas corpus hearing.

Hill Stewart, attorney for Thompson, said the case would be appealed to the court of criminal appeals and that a transcript of proceedings would be sent the court, probably today. Stewart is associated with C. R. Carpenter in representing Thompson.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 9 (AP) — Cotton futures opened steady 1 to 3 points net lower here today under liquidation and hedge selling against only scale down trade buying.

Oct. contracts opened at 8.14, Dec. 8.18, Jan. 8.16, bid, March 8.16, May 8.15, and July 8.14.

The market continued easy during the first half of the session under renewed hedge selling and liquidation. The ominous European situation served to check speculative support and contracts were taken by the trade at limits.

Near mid-session October sold at 8.09, Dec. at 8.13, March at 8.10, May at 8.06, and July at 8.08, or 7 to 11 points below the previous close.

The turnover yesterday was 47,550 bales and open commitments 391,000 bales, an increase of 3,450 bales from the previous day.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP) — Cotton futures opened 1 to 4 off on lower Liverpool cables and under hedge selling. Oct. 8.06; Dec. 8.10; Jan. 8.07; March 8.05; May 8.04; July 8.03.

Trading was quiet.

Dec. sold off from 8.10 to 8.04 and late in the first hour sold at 8.06, when the list was 5 to 6 points net lower.

Hedging and local selling depressed prices further later in the morning and many deliveries again eased below the 8-cent level and close to the recent lows for the movement. Some resistance was offered by trade price fixing at the decline.

Dec. sold off to 8.02 and at midday sold at 8.03, with the market at net losses of 8 to 10 points.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 9 (AP) — Renewal of alarming European war talk, together with lively export purchasing in Canada, did much to force Chicago wheat values upward two cents maximum today.

Buying flurries in Chicago were interrupted at times by profit taking. Houses with eastern connections led the purchasing here.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were 1½-1¾ higher compared with yesterday's finish. Sept. 61¾-⅞, Dec. 63-63⅛, Corn, 1¼-1½ up, Sept. 52¼, Dec. 50⅛-¼, and oats ¼-⅝ advanced.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Sept. 9 (AP) — Demand for grain was fair here today.

Wheat No. 1 soft red winter 75½-76½; No. 1 hard 76½-81½.

Barley No. 2 nom 48-49; No. 3 nom 47-48.

Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo per 100 lbs. nom 85-87; No. 2 white kafir nom 85-87.

Corn shelled, No. 2 white 61-62; No. 2 yellow 61-62.

Oats No. 2 red 35-39; No. 3 red 33-34.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP) — European war news took the principal blame today for another sinking spell in the stock market.

Traders scampered to neutral territory early in the session as the German-Czech controversy apparently became more complicated.

The list drifted downward in the morning's proceedings, and a fair-sized selling wave knocked down pivotal motors, steels and industrial specialties near midday for losses running to 3 or more points.

There was a subsequent mild comeback, but volume dwindled substantially on the recovery and, in the closing hour, the ticker tape idled the greater part of the time. Transfers approximated 700,000 shares.

Business developments continued more hopeful than otherwise, although skeptics were to be found in Wall Street who felt that too much stress might have been placed on possibilities of an exceptional fall upturn.

Bonds were rather weak. Cotton in late transactions was down around 45 cents a bale. Other commodities were shaky.

Further uneasiness abroad resulted in a drop in sterling to a new low for the move in terms of the dollar.

Principal share losers were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Electric Auto-Lite, Borg-Warner, Goodyear, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, Westinghouse, Dupont, Johns-Manville, J. C. Penney, Loew's, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Smelting, Western Union, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Philip Morris, Texas Corp., and Standard Oil of N. J.

rallied to pledge her moral support.

Italy was prepared "for any eventualities" and the Informazione Diplomatica, considered by some to be virtually a government communique, advised Prague to forestall a "very grave crisis."

An informed source in Tokyo said Japan had assured Germany of her "moral support."

The Nazi view was that a plebiscite would give Britain a chance to "save face" over the "failure" of the unofficial British mediation mission in Czechoslovakia to achieve a peaceful compromise. They argued that the plebiscite is "a democratic idea."

Hitler has firmly rejected all Czechoslovak offers.

German newspapers have exploited the whipping Wednesday of a Sudeten German deputy by a policeman at Maehrisch-Ostrau, Czechoslovakia. The opinion gained that the German public was being prepared for the idea that Germany must help the Sudeten Germans to establish law and order.

Voluntary Reforms Are Urged Instead Of Compulsion

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Sept. 9. (AP)—Voluntary reforms by industry rather than compulsion through legislation were urged today by Edward F. McGrady, vice-president of the Radio Corporation of America and former first assistant secretary of labor.

McGrady told New Jersey industrial leaders at the 13th annual industrial conference at Rutgers university yesterday that the point at issue was:

"Can business and government agree on a point of compromise which will let business live by allowing it a fair margin of profit and at the same time give the people not only the necessities of life but some of its comforts and a fair degree of security for the future."

Hundreds Left Homeless After High Waters Hit Mexico Area

EL PASO, Sept. 9. (AP)—Flood waters which swept down the Juarez valley on the Mexican side of the upper Rio Grande left hundreds homeless today.

Fed by heavy rains which fell Wednesday and yesterday the waters surged into the city of Guadalupe, 35 miles east of Juarez, and the Agrarian communities of Tres Jacales and Colonia Reforma, south of Juarez, inundating also approximately 100 square miles of farm lands.

Pedro Diaz, Juarez official sent yesterday to investigate the situation, said Guadalupe was under three feet of water. There were no reports of lives lost.

Enlistment Of Americans In Spain's War To Be Probed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9. (AP)—The justice department disclosed today it will investigate the enlistment of Americans in the Spanish civil war.

Brian McMahon, assistant attorney general, wrote the house committee investigating un-American activities that "instructions will be issued to have an investigation made into charges" of committee witnesses that many American citizens in Spain were violating a federal statute which prohibits enlistment in foreign armies.

Scholarship Award Announced Today

The Mrs. J. T. Hutchinson journalism scholarship of $100 awarded on basis of scholastic records for last session will be presented to Miss Florence Meekma of Olton, Cecil Horne, head professor of journalism at Texas Technological college, announced this morning.

Miss Meekma will be notified today she is the winner of the award.

The winner was determined by careful checking of scholastic records of students who were journalism majors for the 1937-38 session and who were enrolled for at least six semester hours of journalism during the long session and were sophomores or juniors the entire year. Miss Meekma, a sophomore last year, made the highest average, with a grade-point average of 5.51 ("A" entitles a student to six points, "B" to four points, for each semester hour.)

Miss Meekma is the first winner of the scholarship, given by Mrs. Hutchinson, of Lubbock. Three journalism scholarships have been awarded the first time this year on basis of work by students last year. Glenna Fae Sadler of Vigo Park was winner of the $50 Wilbur C. Hawk Memorial scholarship given by the Amarillo Globe-News Publishing company to the best advanced reporting student in the spring semester and Reeves Henly of Lubbock was winner of the $50 Avalanche-Journal scholarship for the best reporting in the fall semester.

Plebiscite On War

would require a constitutional change.

Couldn't Rely On Germans

But Ambassador Jusserand, carrying his instructions from Paris in hand, told Secretary Hughes the Germans couldn't be relied upon, that if they wanted to make war they could easily get a vote to that effect, and that they were looking for revenge against the French.

Hughes argued there was great power in "auto-suggestion" and if a nation determined to set itself toward peace and not war, that would be helpful. Furthermore, he said, the World was war weary and the time was ripe to oppose war.

Jusserand resubmitted the proposal to Premier Poincaire of France, but the answer again was "no." The premier contended that "with the hatred which they (the Germans) were instilling in the youth by instruction in their schools, they could easily provide for a plebiscite whenever they wanted it."

poration and the Lincoln Petroleum company of San Antonio, Tex., was killed almost instantly as he landed on the body of his wife.

Mrs. Lake, 20-year-old former New York professional model, married the oil executive in Corpus Christi, Tex., three months ago. She was the former Maxine Dunson of Aransas Pass, Tex.

Coroner F. S. Schilling said the circumstances surrounding Mrs. Lake's fall would be determined by further investigation. Officers have been unable to obtain Mrs. Lake's version of the events preceding the tragedy because of her condition.

Imposter Is Sought

Coincident with the investigation the police spurred a hunt for an imposter who took a wallet containing $200 from Lake's pocket as he lay on the sidewalk fatally injured. Police reported the man represented himself as a federal agent.

Associates of the Lakes said the couple came here two weeks ago in connection with an oil development and had lived in a resort cabin until Wednesday night. Clint Milan of Clarksville, Tex., said the Lakes quarrelled during a party that night.

Dr. W. F. Safford said Mrs. Lake had been informed of the death of her husband but seemed too ill to realize what had happened. He said she had only a "bare chance" to live.

The coroner called an inquest for tonight when Lake's body will be sent to Los Angeles. Lake's brother, Frank, lives there, and his parents in Glendale, Calif.

Lubbock Planes Only Ones To Fly To Big Spring Program

They didn't talk with Corrigan—but Lubbock fliers had the distinction of being the only goodwill ambassadors who flew to Big Spring Thursday in honor of the wrong-way flier's landing there.

Corrigan came in for a landing in his famous crate a few minutes after six ships from Lubbock, ranging from tiny Cubs to a trimotor, had taxied to parking places. Pictures were shot before Corrigan completed refueling and took off.

M. F. Dagley and Art Chase piloted a Cessna monoplane owned by L. D. Thomas. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas accompanied them. Others were Ray Shifflett and 10 passengers in a Cessna trimotor luxury cruiser; Bobby Ragsdale and Ab Holt, C. B. King of Tahoka and Clent Breedlove, manager of Municipal airport, Gene Greer and Lonnie Johnson of Amarillo, and Emmett Morris and Orville Click, in five Cubs.

Eighth annual homecoming day will be observed at Central Baptist church Sunday from 2 to 4 p. m., according to announcement this morning by the Revs. Jeff and Jack Welch, twin co-pastors.

A basket dinner will be spread on the lawn and singing will follow, he announced. Numerous other events will be included on the program.

The day will be the eighth anniversary of the pastorate of Jeff Welch. Jack Welch became his associate three weeks ago.

Nazi Banners Flying High

This picture, flown from Nurnberg to London and transmitted by radio to New York, shows a section of Adolf Hitler's troops goose-stepping in the shadow of huge Nazi banners as part of the "parade of business" at the party congress in Nurnberg.

Brief Bits Of News . . . .

Annual Event Planned—St. Paul's Episcopal church school will observe its second annual church school day at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. The day will be a "family day", all parents in the church and their children having been invited to attend together. Carl L. Svensen will have charge of the morning prayer service, making an address on "The Tools of Life". The church school choir will sing with the church choir.

Charge Likely — Police said late this morning they probably would file a charge of aggravated assault naming a 29-year-old Lubbock painter, growing out of the injury Thursday afternoon of Allen Graham, about 60, of Lubbock. Face and head injuries suffered by Graham were not considered serious, it was said at Lubbock sanitarium this morning.

Grand Jury May Report — Court officials said this morning they believed a 99th district grand jury might report "sometime, possibly late, today." Whether the group would ask to be recessed so as to come back later and continue investigations had not been indicated.

Condition "Fair" — F. W. Montford, foreman many years on the Santa Fe railroad and former Lubbock resident, is living on his Branson, Mo., farm. Stricken with paralysis, he nevertheless was described by friends who saw him recently as feeling "fairly well."

No Arrest Reported—Forgery and passing was charged in a complaint prepared by Burton S. Burks, district attorney, and filed in the court of Walter Davies, justice of peace. No arrest of the man named had been reported by the sheriff's office late this morning. The check, for $95, assertedly was presented to a motor company here.

Charges Dismissed—Four juvenile boys who Thursday were in police court to answer questions directed into an alleged theft of bread from a baking company later were dismissed and no charges filed, police records showed. Judge E. L. Pitts of 99th district court expected to arraign two other juveniles sometime today for a probe into possession of property found in a Lubbock garage. Another boy, concerning whom there was a question of whether he was a juvenile when he was charged with theft in connection with the property, will go before the judge if he is found to have been under the age of 17 when the charge was filed.

Ship Lands—D. Graham of Waco, landed at Municipal airport at 10 o'clock this morning, taking off 15 minutes later for Wickett.

Condition Critical—Mark W. Churchill, 27, 707 Avenue K, spent a "bad night" and remained in serious condition this morning at Lubbock sanitarium, it was said by sanitarium authorities. Churchill suffered first, second, and third degree burns on a large portion of his body when gasoline was thrown on his clothes and ignited when he was working with the motor of a truck. He was rushed to the hospital early Thursday morning.

Former Secretary Returns — Mrs. Howard Smith has arrived from Roswell, N. M., and has begun duties as secretary to Dr. James M. Gordon, chairman of the executive committee and dean of arts and sciences at Texas Technological college. Mrs. Smith is a former secretary in the president's office at the college. She takes the place of Mrs. Harmon Jenkins, who has become secretary to Registrar W. P. Clement.

Mayor Rossie Seeks Formula For Ending Frisco's Strike

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9 (AP) — Mayor Angelo J. Rossi sought a formula today for ending San Francisco's department store strike, which threw picket lines around 35 establishments and resulted in sporadic violence.

The city's chief executive, after conferring with both sides in the dispute, said he saw no reason why they could not get together "for the best interests of San Francisco."

The walkout, which started Wednesday morning after contract negotiations collapsed, affected but failed to close most of the major department stores in the downtown area and some in other districts. In all, 27 concerns and eight branch stores were involved.

Japanese Advances Reported To Be Halted By Chinese Forces

SHANGHAI, Sept. 9. (AP) — Reorganized Chinese units reported today they had halted Japanese advances on both banks of the Yangtze in mid-China.

The reports followed assertions that Japanese had started new bombardments of Wusueh, northbank terminus of a river barrier about 30 miles southeast of Hankow.

Chinese military authorities at Hankow had admitted previously that the Japanese were within 80 miles of Hankow, the provisional capital and Japanese objective, and that a Japanese overland column had approached within 80 miles of the Peiping-Hankow railroad.

Justice Pecora Ponders Ruling On Hines Dismissal Motion

NEW YORK, Sept. 9. (AP)—Justice Perdinand Pecora, indicating doubts on parts of the prosecution's case against James J. Hines, pondered today a decision on a defense motion to dismiss the policy racketeering indictment against the Tammany district leader.

At the end of a scorching 6-hour debate on the motion, the judge himself suggested in a series of searching questions that the evidence presented by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey might not fit the charges against Hines.

Smoked Turkey Meat Is Latest Delicacy

BELTSVILLE, Md., Sept. 9. (AP)—Tang of brine and hickory smoke can step up the flavor of turkey meat so that even the most sophisticated gourmet will smack his lips over it.

Experts in the department of agriculture experimental station learned the secret in experiments on birds which have just reached the age of 28 weeks. At that age the meat of the turkey is firm and mature but still is tender and juicy. Extra fat birds are preferred.

The bird is killed, plucked and drawn in the usual manner. Particular care is taken to avoid breaking the skin.

The carcass then goes into a brine of salt, saltpeter and sugar for a week. The pickling completed, the carcass is hung in a smokehouse for several hours, absorbing the piquant fumes of burning oak and hickory.

After smoking the bird is ready for storage. In preparing the smoked turkey for her dinner table the housewife roasts it in the usual fashion.

Two or three companies have started smoking turkeys commercially and found a ready market in New York and other eastern cities.

"Perhaps it's just a fad," one experimental station official said, "but if the demand for smoked turkey meat continues other plants to prepare it undoubtedly will be built."

A continuing demand for smoked turkey meat would make it possible for a breeder with large poultry houses to operate throughout the year instead of only in the summer as at present.

housing conditions, housing representatives expressed no grave concern although they still are encouraging residents to register their homes with housing authorities if they have rooms and apartments available for renting to students.

More Rooms Available

James G. Allen, dean of men, said this morning approximately 10 per cent more rooms were available for men students than ever before. In the office of the dean of women, it was said many homes have been registered but other registrations will be welcomed.

Many officials and faculty members of the college are enjoying a few days vacation, during the interval between conclusion of the summer school in late August and opening of the fall semester.

Telephone Calls Received

Several long distance telephone calls have been received from students who were doubtful of opening date of the fall semester. Registrar Clement said he had received one from as far away as Grapevine. Cecil Horne, head professor of journalism and director of publicity, also had received a long distance query.

Announcements had been made of the final plans for opening of the fall semester, and the new dates had been published in the latest edition of the college catalogue. However, many students and prospective students had copies of the catalogue for 1936-37, giving announcements for 1937-38 and the calendar for 1938-39.

Rearrangements Planned

Due to space provided by the new library, many rearrangements are being planned for the next year. Several faculty members and officials are changing offices. The registrar's office will be moved from the east to the west side of the administration building, to the space formerly occupied by the library. The business offices in the east side will be expanded into offices now occupied by the registrar and his staff.

That change is not to be effected until after opening of the fall semester, however.

Committee Is Working

The executive committee comprised of Dr. James M. Gordon, chairman, and W. T. Gaston and Dr. Harry L. Kent has been working on plans for the rearrangements.

Letters to members of the faculty giving plans for meetings next week have been distributed. They are signed by Dr. Kent, representing the executive committee. All members of the teaching staff are expected to be at the college for a general faculty meeting at 10 o'clock Monday morning. On Tuesday, divisional faculty meetings will be held, times probably to be announced at the general faculty meeting. On Wednesday, departmental staff meetings will be held.

From Wednesday through Friday, Sept. 14-16, entrance examinations for students not meeting regular admission requirements will be conducted. Dormitories will open and the first meal will be served at noon Saturday, Sept. 17.

Trans-Atlantic Cables Plowed Into Bottom Of The Ocean

NEW YORK, Sept. 9. (AP)—The successful completion of a four-year experiment to plow trans-Atlantic cables into the bottom of the sea, safe from damage by trawlers, was announced today by the Western Union Telegraph company.

The cable ship Lord Kelvin, which left New York last March 29, has been working 100 miles southwest of the Irish coast and has succeeded in burying portions of three trans-Atlantic cables in the bed of the Atlantic ocean.

The operation will save cable companies thousands of dollars in cable repairs annually, the announcement said.

Safety In Air Drive Planned

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 9. — Air line operators, after conferring with the newly created civil aeronautics authority, set to work today drafting a program designed to promote safety in air transportation.

Ralph Damon, vice president in charge of operations of American Airlines, was named chairman of the committee to formulate the program outlined Wednesday at the closing session of the aeronautic authority's two-day meeting. It will be ratified by the safety board of the CAA before Sept. 25.

Four Points In Program

Damon said the program will include the following points:

1. Changes in flight schedules to allow flying at slower speeds.
2. Agreement on flying at reduced throttle—50 per cent instead of 65 per cent of available power—in order to provide a greater power reserve at all times, to reduce wear on engines, and to increase engine reliability.
3. Adoption of a set of field weather regulations so that one line will not operate trips in types of weather in which other operators refuse to fly.
4. Closer cooperation on weather reporting, engineering, radio, traffic, and advertising.

Air line representatives said they expected the new winter flying program to become effective on Sept. 25.

Growth Of Lamesa Is Indicated In July-August Building Data

(By Staff Correspondent)

LAMESA, Sept. 9—Growth of Lamesa during the past two months is shown by the number of building permits issued in July and August. It was on July 1 that the city resumed its building permits under a new ordinance.

Twenty-six permits were issued for a total of $26,354. These represent construction and repairs of more than $100.

City Secretary B. D. Wiggins believes the fall will see an increase in building activities, as FHA loans are now available through a local connection of Lubbock National bank.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9. (AP)—The bureau of air commerce reports 20,076 men and women hold pilots' licenses, and 9,732 aircraft are certified in the United States.

The bureau added 1,299 aircraft have been recorded but have not obtained certificates. They bear identification marks only.

The pilots included 1,149 with airline certificates; 6,556 commercial; 981 limited commercial; 9,252 private; 478 amateurs who obtained ratings prior to November 1, 1937, when such ratings were discontinued, and 1,560 with solo licenses.

The bureau said the pilots included 543 women, namely, 72 with commercial; 26 with limited commercial licenses; 354 private pilots, 41 amateurs and 51 solo flyers.

The bureau's report by states showed that on July 1, Texas had 575 planes, 470 of them certificated, and 881 pilots. The state's pilots included 112 airline; 390 commercial; 27 limited commercial; 316 private; 23 amateurs, and 13 solo flyers.

Preparations For First Issue Of Tech Magazine For Fall On

Preparations for the first issue of the Texas Tech magazine for the 1938-39 session have been started, said Calvin Hazlewood, managing editor.

The magazine will contain 36 pages and will be larger than any former issue. A description of the 13 social clubs and pictures of their members will be featured.

T. J. Harris, journalism student of Lubbock, will be the campus editor for next session, Hazlewood said.

The first issue will be ready for distribution by opening of the fall semester Sept. 19.
