C. L. Geesey Discusses Constructive Production Method

Andy Bourland, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and a dirt farmer, was the headliner on a program at a banquet of The Wellington Chamber of Commerce given for representative farmers of Collingsworth county. The banquet was held in the basement of the First Christian Church.

Mr. Bourland pleaded with the farmers present to help this county put over its good roads program, "regardless of whether or not the road will run by your place."

"One of the main reasons some farmers and business men fight good roads is because it will help some other part of the county a little more than it will their," Mr. Bourland declared. "A community will never get ahead with that kind of spirit," he added. "Simply because the road does not come by your place is no reason why you should vote against the bond issue. It will only cost the farmers from $2.50 to $25.00 a year to put over the road building program that you have underway here. Its influence will be like the rising sun, and its beneficial influence will reflect over the entire community. If one highway is paved, that will leave more money for the lateral roads, and the entire system of the county will be improved as a result of the road being paved, and you can depend upon it that once you get part of your roads improved, it will only be a short time until all of them will be improved."

In the beginning of his address, Mr. Bourland said that he was sorry that he didn't get sold on the work of the Chamber of Commerce sooner, and that every farmer should realize that it is working for him just as much as it is for the merchant and professional man. "You may call it civic spirit of you may call it the community building spirit, or Chamber of Commerce spirit, but every farmer should have a part in that work if he loves the community in which he lives," he said in concluding his address.

S. R. Pinkston, toastmaster of the evening, explained the purpose of the meeting and said that it was designed to get a representative group of farmers of Collingsworth county together and give them an opportunity of hearing Mr. Bourland and of discussing their problems in a friendly fashion. "We are not here tonight," he stated, "to tell you how to farm, for we have better sense than that, but we are here to invite you to talk to your neighbors and try to get them to employ the methods that have proven successful for you. Your technical knowledge of farming is greater than ours, but we believe that we can help you and we know that you can help us. That, in short, is the spirit of this meeting."

Wellington People Will Assist in Relief Work

Governor Dan Moody, state chairman, has announced the appointment of several citizens of Wellington to serve as chairmen of their respective churches in the observance of the annual Golden Rule Sunday, December 2. This internationally known Sunday has been set aside to aid the 32,181 orphans in Bible lands, still under the care of the Near East Relief.

The following chairmen have been appointed by Governor Moody: Mrs. A. L. Wall of the First Methodist church, Mrs. J. E. Mattox of the First Baptist church, Rev. A. O. Garydon of the Methodist Local church, Rev. P. L. Pierce of the Nazarene church, P. E. Starr of the Church of Christ, J. E. Leggitt of the First Christian church and J. Thompson of the Assembly of God church.

The appointment letter received by these local chairmen says in part:

"Service to distressed children wherever found, combined with the purpose of creating a spirit of good will among all the nations of the world, is the basic principle for observing International Golden Rule Sunday, December 2.

"Last year fifty countries, together with every state in the Union joined in this universal expression of friendship. "Strong local leadership is vital, and as chairman of the State Golden Rule committee, I earnestly request that you serve as chairman and direct the effort in your church.

The leaders of each local church who have received appointment will make special effort that each church in Wellington do its full part in making the Golden Rule Sunday a complete success.

The Trans-Canadian district of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at Spearman last Tuesday, state Senator-elect C. C. Small of Wellington voiced his opposition to the proposed statewide bond issue for highways and favored a statewide system of highways to be built from the proceeds of a gasoline tax.

"The highway problem is the biggest one before Texas today. The highway commission has not yet commenced to function as it should and it certainly needs remodeling.

"The cardinal highways of the state should be exclusively in the hands of the state, for they are a problem of the state and the nation. I am strongly in favor of the return of the three-cent tax on gasoline and the main highways should be built from the proceeds of this tax.

"We do not need a state-wide bond issue to build a great system of highways. We can have a fine system through a gasoline tax. I am not in favor of one cent of the gasoline tax money being given to the public school fund and if necessary favor a constitutional amendment to prevent it. Every cent of the gasoline tax should be spent on the highways.

Preachers Are Defended Here By Rev. Jones

Rev. Jones' speech was a sincere and moderately worded appeal for the voters to elect Herbert Hoover on November 6. He told of Hoover's excellent qualifications and cited the record that he had made during his many years of service both in the United States and abroad. He stated that the relief work that had been done by Herbert Hoover was equal to all government organized relief done in the history of the world before his time.

He said that the superiority of Herbert Hoover's qualifications over those of Al Smith was his chief reason for voting against Al Smith. He also scored Al Smith on his prohibition record and showed how that a vote for Al was a vote in favor of doing away with the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act, and that all Senators as well as the president elect would consider it a referendum that had been passed on by the people.

"Al Smith has a right to his religion, but I don't have to vote for and you don't have to vote for an official who will bow in submission to the Pope of Rome," was one of Rev. Jones' statements concerning Smith.

Rev. Jones also talked on the fact that the Democrats were pointing to the fact that Oscar B. Colquitt was working with them now, and that he had formerly been an advocate of the open saloon. In reply Rev. Jones said that he was not concerned with whom he was traveling with as long as he was convinced that he was traveling in the right direction. ## Skyrockets Down McLean 6-0

After defeating Childress and tying Clarendon in conference games, the Wellington Skyrockets downed the McLean Tigers 6-0 Friday afternoon and are yet undefeated in their league race. They will play the Memphis Cyclone at Memphis Friday afternoon in what Coach Bedford Harrison declares will be the hardest game of their entire year.

The Cyclone, too, stands undefeated in the league race, so Friday's contest will be a struggle between two undefeated squads and gives promise of being a battle royal. Memphis beat the Shamrock Irishmen last Friday 13-12, so if the Skyrockets can win out Friday afternoon against Memphis, they will have district honors in the bag. This however, is easier said than done, and Friday's game will not be an easy victory for either team, no matter how the victory falls. The game here last week against McLean was by no means an easy play for the Skyrockets, although they did outclass the visitors in almost every department and showed a superior knowledge of the game. Wellington made one touchdown which was not counted because a foul had been called, or otherwise the score would have been larger.

Raymond Powell in the role of quarterback was a sensation for the Skyrockets, figuring in practically every play. He circled ends time after time for substantial gains, completed several passes, made many plunges through the line and almost turned the game into a one-man affair during the final minutes just before he carried the ball over for the counter. ## Unusual Tragedy Repeated Friday

Theodore Upton instantly killed when tank crushes head

An unusual tragedy occurred for the second time within the past month when Theodore Houston Upton, 7 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Upton of Buck Creek, was instantly killed in an automobile accident 15 miles south of Wellington on the Childress highway Friday morning.

The boy was riding in a truck which was being used to haul a tank of water. Raymond Phillips was driving the truck, and other occupants were Hugo Upton, Isaac Phillips and Theodore Upton. As the truck passed the Loco school house, the lad decided he would go to the rear of the truck and wave to his school mates. He had just started to school this year but was absent Friday and thought he would like to wave to his little friends, since it was 11 o'clock and the children were holding recess. Just after the truck was past the school house, the driver lost control and the truck swerved into the ditch, breaking down a front wheel and turning over. The tank of water which was being hauled was thrown on the boy, crushing his head and rendering him lifeless instantly. His body was picked up and rushed to the home of his parents in the Buck Creek community where it remained until undertakers from Wellington could be called.

Thief is Caught In Hill County

The man who gave his name as W. A. Lagen and was recently employed by the Goodson Funeral Parlor as a salesman for the phonograph department, was located in Hill county Saturday after he had left Wellington in the new Chevrolet delivery car owned by Ray Goodson and after he had given a worthless check for $43.50 to the C. G. Bower dry goods store and forged another check for $135.

He left Wellington before he was suspected of being dishonest, but was soon located in Hill county by Sheriff Claude McKinney where he had been arrested on charges of bigamy, it is said. The car has not yet been recovered, but Sheriff McKinney stated Tuesday that he felt sure it would soon be located.

It is Mr. Cocke's intention to give the very best hotel service possible, and he realizes that in order to do this it will be necessary to keep every part of the hotel up to the highest standards. The local hotel is already far ahead of many found in West Texas, and will be improved from time to time in keeping with Wellington's growth and prosperity.

Brenon Puts Part Of Life in Film

Herbert Brenon, producer-director of "Sorrell and Son," which will be shown at the Rialto Theatre Monday and Tuesday, October 29 and 30, insisted that Warwick Deeping's novel was the finest screen material he had ever read, and he made the picture possibilities so vivid to Mr. Schenck, president and chairman of the board of directors of United Artists, that the executive told him to go ahead.

It was before "Sorrell" became a best-seller that Brenon read it. He read it because it was advertised as the story of the love of father and son, and he wanted to follow "Beau Geste" with another escape from the conventional love plot.

On his way to England, where certain scenes were filmed, Brenon talked to dozens of men in the smoking room of the ship, in the Turkish bath. They had all read "Sorrell" and when they talked of it and what it had meant to them, they spoke of their own sons. Warwick Deeping, the author, did not disappoint Brenon, who had come three thousand miles to see him. Together they worked over the novel, winnowing out its essentials, the true kernel of the story. Together they went to the places in Surrey which figure in the book under other names—to the "Pelican" and the "Anchor Inns."

"You know, after I've worked with a man like Deeping, I could not put anything in the picture which would be false to the spiritual facts of his story," Brenon said, "I keep saying, 'He would not like that, so I can't do it.'"

In "Sorrell and Son," the novel, Brenon found certain things which seemed to him false to the spirit-

NEW SCHOOLHOUSE

A new schoolhouse at Almon embracing three class rooms, an auditorium, teachers office and library, and costing $14,000 for the building, and $15,000 for the equipment, has been turned over to the school district by the contractors.

ual facts with which Deeping was working. Some of "Git Sorrell's" love affairs; a phase the boy used which slurred Council Schools, the English equivalent of public schools here, and showed a taint of snobbery in him, were false to the "Kit" who was worthy of his father's life of devotion and self-sacrifice. And Herbert Brenon won Deeping's ready consent to the omission.

In "Sorrell and Son" as in other Brenon films, the director puts something of his own life experience into his picture. "Beau Geste" was easy for him, he said, because he had dearly loved his two brothers and had lost both of them.

—And when Sorrell looked into those eyes.

He knew nothing could prevent him from giving to his son the best the world had to offer . . . . That life held no sorrows, no tasks, no hardships crushing enough to break his spirit . . . . And so he carried on with Kit's words in his heart: "Tell 'em Daddy, you're Captain Stephen Sorrell, M. C."

And with his son's simple pledge of eternal companionship ringing in his ears, Captain Stephen Sorrell, M. C., went forth, with joy in his heart to fight his greatest battle—to win from life happiness for Kit.

It is a song of a love that will vibrate the heartstrings of the world—whose magic is a glorious dramatic symphony. You will never—You can never—forget this, one of the greatest pictures ever produced.

At no time has there been prepared for the eyes of the world such a living, stirring story of sincere love . . . . the love of a father for his son; a love that laughed at a world that called him a failure—a love that asked of life only one reward: "Make me a success as a father."

To the 5000 who daily become owners of the new Ford car

THE service obligation of the Ford Motor Company and its dealer organization is now growing at the rate of 5000 cars a day. It is to these new car owners that this message is addressed.

The new Ford is a remarkably fine car for one that costs so little. It is simple in design, constructed of the finest materials, and built to unusually close measurements.

These are the reasons it performs so wonderfully. These are also the reasons its service requirements are so few and the up-keep cost so low.

When you receive your new car, the dealer will explain the simple little things that should be attended to at regular intervals to insure the best performance. He will also tell you something of his own facilities for doing this work promptly and at small cost.

With the purchase of your car, you are entitled to Free Inspection Service by your dealer at 500, 1000 and 1500 miles. This service is due you and we urge you to take full advantage of it. Proper care during this breaking-in period means a great deal to the life of your car.

Included in the Free Inspection Service is a check-up of the battery, the generator charging rate, the distributor, the carburetor adjustment, lights, brakes, shock absorbers, tire inflation and steering gear. The engine oil is also changed and chassis lubricated.

No charge whatever is made for labor or materials incidental to this inspection service, except where repairs are necessary because of accident, neglect, or misuse.

The labor of changing the engine oil and lubricating the chassis is also free, although a charge is made for the new oil.

We believe that when you see the good effects of this inspection you will continue to have it done regularly throughout the life of your car.

Wherever you live, you will find the Ford dealer very helpful in keeping your car in good running order for many thousands of miles at a minimum of trouble and expense.

He operates under close factory supervision and has been trained and equipped to do this work promptly, thoroughly and economically.

BY BUDGE

Hot dog. Wellington is a big city at last. There were so many people in town Saturday that men were detailed to direct the traffic on the street corners.

And the crowd which roamed the streets all day was a fair sized one, no fooling. It's just as many people as will ever be in town, at one time, for if more come than were here Saturday, they won't be able to find walking space.

Wonder why it is Wellington people won't go to football games? At the fair park last Friday there were as many people from McLean present to see the game as there were from Wellington. It must be rather disheartening for the Skyrockets to play ball as hard as they do, and yet not have a shirt-tail full of people out to cheer them. Wellington has a good team—far better than the support it gets. If it had more supporters like Mish Dukeminier who'd never miss a game and who'd yell their heads off to help them win, the Skyrockets would do even better than they have done. This is no joke.

SATURDAY IN WELLINGTON

A gray, fall day brought hundreds of people to town to remain far into the night; with Marguerite Howell down from Amarillo to see old friends here; with Charlie Sullivan up with the dawn to collect laundry bills; with Velma Harrell carrying an arm in a sling, having fallen down and thrown a shoulder out of place; with Mrs. Ross Wilkerson selling chewing gum and chewing tobacco; with a very small girl sitting on the sidewalk in front of the Gem theatre and playing jacks; with an enthralled crowd standing before a jewelry store auction; with Miss Lenore Sherwood smiling cheerily to all who passed her office door; with Claude McKinney displaying his pearl-handled six-gun and declaring it worthy of newspaper publicity; with it getting said publicity right now; with Moon Royal and George McCullough talking in low tones, appearing to have some deep secret in common; with Steamboat Graham, Mud Coleman and Raymond Powell looking a great deal like football players—judging by the scratches on their faces; with Leonard Merritt walking hurriedly toward the Pain store, his hands in his pocket and whistling merrily; with Wade Arnold taking a political razzing good naturedly; with S. P. Buster lounging lazily upon the front fender of an automobile parked in front of the City cafe; with high school students buying geometry paper—poor wretches; with Gene Waggoner waiting for a shine in the barber shop; with E. M. Remington telling folks there was a little more standing room left in the Rialto; with a couple of Chevrolets "locking horns" and then backing away; with Jim Richards driving a shining new Six and with M. L. Boss carrying at least a pound of keys on his keyring.

Sunday in Wellington was almost the "calm after the storm." The merchants had 'sold out' nearly everything they had the day before and had nothing left. The creamery was out of milk and butter; the meat markets were out of eggs and almost without meat; the bakery was without bread, and at least a few of the people were without money.

Every weather prophet in Collingsworth county who even attempted a guess as to what the weather Sunday would be had his predictions fulfilled. Early in the afternoon one of the worst sandstorms of the entire year blew up from the north, and during all the time the sand was blowing the sun was shining brightly and rain fell at frequent intervals. The fore part of the afternoon was quite warm but before midnight it had turned unusually cold.

look under the hood. Five minutes had not passed before Mr. Rilea, with Mr. Perkins at the wheel, was riding up the length of Rattlesnake avenue at the rate of 15 miles an hour. The avenue is really only a long lane. The speedometer measured it at 3 of a mile. But it was long enough to get all of Agness out to see the sight of their postmaster riding over the road, his hands holding on tight to the sides of the roadster, while children ran back into their houses, screaming.

So it was that one of America's postmasters, who had not ridden in an automobile, got his first ride. And now the modernization of Mr. Rilea is going to go a step further. "I'm going down to Portland with mother one of these days," he said addressing his friends before their departure, "and see my first movie."

LARGE LITTERS SHOWN
More than a thousand farmers viewed 11 pigs belonging to Elizabeth Chapman, a Deaf Smith county club girl, at the county fair, much of the interest resulting from the fact that this litter weighed 2849 pounds at six months of age and sold at public auction for $343. "It was a demonstration of what good care and feeding will do," declared R. O. Dunkle, the county agent, "and the profit of $156 above feed cost is enough to make any farmer jealous."

Herbert Brenon's "Sorrell and Son" Is Coming Soon to Rialto Theatre

Story of Father-and-son Devotion Based on Well Known Novel

Father and son love is the theme of "Sorrell and Son," Herbert Brenon's production of Warwick Deeping's best selling novel, made into a United Artists Picture and offered at the Rialto Theatre Monday and Tuesday, October 29 and 30.

H. B. Warner appears as Stephen Sorrell, and Micky McBan and Nils Asther enact, respectively, the child, Kit and the matured Kit Sorrell.

The story of "Sorrell and Son" is that of a British war veteran whose wife deserts him and his six year old son. The veteran, Captain Stephen Correll, M. C., thereafter struggles against ingratitude, poverty, vice and physical exhaustion to rear and educate his beloved son, in whom he is ultimately well pleased. Intertwoven with the story of father and son devotion are the subplots of Stephen Sorrell's friendship with Fanny Garland; Kit Sorrell's love for Molly Roland; Roland's kindness of Stephen Sorrell; Seagate Buck's enmity for Sorrell; Florence Palfrey's scorn of her drunken husband and angry passion for Captain Sorrell; and Dora Sorrell's bitter struggle to win from her husband the love of their son, Kit.

Much of "Sorrell and Son" was made in England and with the aid of the author, Warwick Deeping. All of the film "Sorrell and Son" is faithful to the spirit and letter of Warwick Deeping's book, and the ending of the film is that of the book. Herbert Brenon, who made "Peter Pan" and "Beau Geste" says that "Sorrell and Son" is his best motion picture. A father himself, Mr. Brenon believes the story of "Sorrell and Son" is that of any father and son and that the appeal of the film as entertainment is supplemented by its spiritual effect on men and women who view it.

New Uses Found For Peanuts by Late Experiment

College Station, Texas, Oct. 24.—In addition to its value as a product for the manufacture of vegetable oil, peanut butter and confections, the lowly peanut provides a good feed for dairy cattle and hogs, recent bulletin issued by the Experiment Station, A. & M. college of Texas, points out in a discussion of approved methods of planting, cultivating harvesting and curing of this product. It supplies a forage comparable with the clovers as a feed for dairy cattle and makes a good feed for hogs but when not properly fed to hogs, either whole or as meal, frequently produces a condition known as soft pork for which a penalty is levied by the packing trade.

The culture of peanuts is adapted to sandy soils of the state and this product fits well into a crop rotation, the bulletin set forth. Experiments at Beeville and Lubbock substation indicate that close planting, from three to six inches in the row, will produce larger yields of both forage and nuts than when a greater distance is given between plants in the row. There is virtually no difference in the yield of peanuts when planted in the hull or where the hull is broken or cracked. Peanuts produce higher yields of forage when planted in 36-inch rows but higher yields of nuts are obtained when planted in 18-inch rows.

The principal demand for peanuts at present is for the shelled product for use in the production of peanut butter, confections and for roasting.

Texas Boys Are Interested in "Future Farms"

College Station, Tex. Oct. 24.—Approximately 600 Texas boys, students in vocational agriculture in various public schools over the state, have already enrolled in about twenty-five local chapters of the Future Farmers of Texas organization, report from the school of vocational teaching of the A. & M. College of Texas shows. The idea of this comparatively new organization, for students taking vocational agricultural courses in the public schools, was launched in Virginia in 1926 and was adopted for Texas during the past summer. The Texas organization is being sponsored by the vocational division of the State Department of Education and the school of vocational teaching of A. & M. Purpose of the organization includes the promotion of vocational agriculture in the high schools of the state, creation of more interest in intelligent agricultural pursuits in the various counties, promotion of thrift, scholarship and rural leadership. It is planned to organize a local chapter in every school of the state where vocational agriculture is taught.

The first local chapter was organized at Winters under the supervision of R. E. Homan, teacher, the early part of September. The second chapter was organized at the Cisco high school. Monthly news letter under the title of "Future Farmers News" is being issued monthly in the interest of the organization with E. A. Alexander, professor of agriculture education of A. & M., editor.

OUR SCHOOL SYSTEM

High praise for the school authorities over the manner in which the Wellington Public Schools are being conducted has been received from the State Department of Education. It is gratifying to read of this work and it is worthwhile to study the suggested improvements in minor matters. The recommendation from the State Department follows:

1. That the school authorities and the citizens of Wellington be commended for the splendid way it is providing for the school system in spite of a serious handicap. Last spring the new high school building burned. Since then classes have been conducted in one of the ward schools, which forces an occupancy of the building for almost twelve hours, the high school in the morning and the grades in the afternoon. All available space is taken—the hallway has to be used for a study hall. In spite of this crowded condition excellent order was observed and standards in class work were being maintained.

Within a few weeks the high school will move into a new $135,000 building. This plant is most attractive in design and will be adequately equipped. It is indeed a credit to the community. $1400 in improvement has been made in the West Ward school. Playground equipment has been provided for this ward, and $600 for same will be spent for the East Ward.

2. That the school may continue its progress the following recommendations are made:

a. The library for the elementary grades be brought up to standard. The requirement for classification is $25 per room. Books should be supplied at once and an invoice sent to the Department of Education.

b. The high school library be further improved by additions of fiction, history, and civics references. Plans have already been made to spend $400 in this manner.

c. The teacher-pupil load of the senior English teacher be reduced. No teacher of English should have over 125 pupils.

d. Charts be provided for the elementary grades.

e. An additional teacher be employed for the elementary school. This step may have been taken as plans for it had been made before the supervisor's visit.

f. That toilets in both ward schools be re-conditioned.

3. That material for accrediting be given careful consideration. Credit will be asked in English, bookkeeping, and stenography.

The supervisor wishes to express her appreciation for the courtesies extended her during her visit.

A NOTABLE SERVICE

Although an exceedingly strong financial institution has been created by the recent exchange of stock in the First National Bank, and in spite of the fact that a high type of banking service will be offered the public, there will be many who will regret to see Charlie Glenn pass from the active control of this institution that has helped the farmers and business men of Collingsworth County for so many years.

Charlie Glenn has rendered a distinct and worthwhile service to Collingsworth County, and a host of men will tell you that they don't know what would have happened to them if Charlie Glenn had not tided them over the hard times. He leaves his work in able hands—hands that will carry it to even greater heights as this county continues to grow and expand, but it is only natural that there would be some sincere regrets as his notable service comes to an end.

"SELLING" THE SOUTH

The call for a conference for taking steps toward "selling the South" drew several hundred business men to Biloxi, Miss., recently. The conference set in motion the plan, which yet nebulous as to details, promises to be one of the most interesting ventures in regional advertising on record. The organization to carry forward the plan will be called "The South, Incorporated."

The uniqueness of the plan lies in the extent of the territory it embraces. There have been other organizations of the like serving a smaller territory. Even the name of the new organization borrows somewhat from others. In Texas, especially, the "chamber of commerce idea" has been expanded to take in large regions. We have our West Texas Chamber of Commerce, our East Texas Chamber of Commerce and our South Texas Chamber of Commerce, each serving the territory indicated in its name, and each serving a territory larger than many States. But the endeavor to transcend state lines is a new one.

Such an organization has possibilities almost without limit. The South is here to be sold, with all its vast undeveloped resources. The South is more unified than any other similar section, making it more susceptible to general promotion efforts. Texas, being of both the South and the West, offers its co-operation. In the success of our own regional promotional organizations, the new effort will find much to study and emulate.—Fort Worth Star Telegram.

TEXAS & TEXANS

By Will H. Mayes

Gas Supply Increases

Despite the constant increasing use of natural gas in Texas, the available supply is increasing. Texas is now second in gas production and consumption among the States. While the search is primarily for oil, many of the wells being sunk in the oil fields produce gas in such paying quantities that they are piped to connection with the gas pipe lines that are furnishing heat to most of the cities and towns of the State and that are being extended into adjoining States.

Picturesque Border Route

Preliminary surveys are being made for a highway in border counties near Laredo that, if completed, will be one of the most picturesque scenic roads in America. It will follow the Rio Grande river from its mouth to El Paso. Near Brownsville it would connect with a highway that would skirt the Gulf of Mexico to Port Arthur. Many years and great sums of money would be required in the construction of such a road, but it would become world-noted and attract multiplied thousands of tourists.

Abusing State Highways

It is becoming inevitable that the Legislature can not much longer delay some action looking to the better protection of the State highways from the abuses of bus and truck transportation. They are becoming a menace to both the roads and to travelers. The most traveled roads are thronged with these heavy vehicles, many of which are operated at dangerous speeds in a way to crowd the lighter cars off the roads. Heavy truck trailers swing from side to side of the roads on the curves, destroying the roads and endangering lives. Bridges are made to carry loads that are too heavy. The taxpayers are grumbling that that the roads built by them are made to carry traffic that should be borne only on heavy steel rails.

Increasing Phone Rates

San Antonio is one of the Texas cities that is having a tussle with the telephone company over efforts to increase rates. Several months ago telephone rates were advanced from 25 to 35 per cent. The city tried to enforce its rate control ordinance, but was prevented from doing so by a temporary injunction obtained by the telephone company. The company is seeking to perpetrate the injunction, and, if it succeeds, the city's controlling ordinance will be nullified. Other cities and towns are wondering if San Antonio should lose its fight.

Taylor Gets Water System

Taylor has taken the steps to control its own water supply by buying the water plant from the company that has owned and operated it. Taylor had under consideration the building of a plant of its own and had voted bonds for that purpose. All the preliminary steps had been taken to that end, but a satisfactory solution has been found of the differences between the people and the water company through the purchase of the water plant by the city.

American Legion Convention

While the crowd that attended the American Legion convention at San Antonio was not more than a third as large as was originally expected, it was about all that the city could handle well. There was little overcrowding, and that pleased both the legionnaires and their entertainers. Large numbers of the 50,000 or more came to Texas to see, again the places where they had trained for service. They visited the cities and towns in which they were trained and noted the progress of the past ten years. Many of them lingered in the State far beyond the convention period. Some of them remained in Texas and still others are coming back to live. In extending hospitality to these veterans San Antonio rendered a genuine service to all Texas.

Building Public Hospitals

A number of Texas counties have built county hospitals through a special tax levy. Bee county will have an election next month on a $125,000 bond issue for hospital building. Hospitals have become a public necessity, and public hospitals, at which patients are charged only such fees as are necessary for their maintenance, are finding favor with the people. Whether there is reason or not for the opinion, there is a belief prevalent that most privately owned and church hospitals make charges out of proportion to the services rendered. This feeling largely accounts for the building of many municipal and county hospitals.

Turkey Crop Short

The chances are that those who have turkey dinners in Texas at Thanksgiving and Christmas will have to pay about 30 per cent more than they paid last year. The crop of turkeys is said to be short about that much and the turkey business is well enough organized to be regulated by supply and demand, which is not true of most agricultural lines and bylines. For instance, the pecan crop while fully 50 per cent short of last year, is selling for but little more.

Air Mail Increases

Many people do not understand that they can send an airmail letter weighing two ounces to any part of the United States for 5 cents. Airmail letters dropped into a postoffice at which airmail planes do not stop are hurried to the nearest airmail landing field by regular mail and taken from there by the air route to their destination if it is an airmail stop, or to the nearest airmail office and forwarded there by regular mail. The airmail speeds up letter between all points in the country.

Nueces county led in Texas ginnings with 73,295 bales up to October 1. This was 23,000 bales behind its record at the same date last year. On that date Williamson county had ginned 60,626 bales, McLennan 51,219 and Ellis 50,897. San Patricio and Navarro counties had each ginned over 50,000 bales. It is thought that either Williamson, Ellis or McLennan counties will lead in cotton production this year.

New Plains Train

Train service on the Denver & South Plains Railway from Childress to Plainview and Lubbock will begin some time next month with something like a twelve hour through service from Dallas to Plainview over the Denver lines. This new road will serve a vast territory that is rapidly developing. The terminal division headquarters will be at Childress.

Accidental Shooting is Fatal to Farmer Living Near Lone Mound

Bullet Fired at Hawk by Boy Strikes His Father in Abdomen

J. W. Taylor, 37 years old, died Tuesday about 3 o'clock at his home in the Lone Mound community, 8 miles southwest of Shamrock, as the result of a wound accidentally inflicted Sunday morning by a 22-calibre rifle bullet fired by his son, Ross, 14.

Mr. Taylor was walking through a field looking at his crop when the accident occurred. Seeing a hawk swoop toward some chickens in the orchard near the house, Ross ran out with the rifle and fired at it. The bullet struck his father 250 yards away. Mr. Taylor was hidden from the house by a low hill and the boy did not know he was there.

The bullet, its force almost spent, struck Mr. Taylor in the right side of the abdomen. He was brought to Shamrock Sunday afternoon and X-ray examination showed the missile to have lodged near his spinal column. Later, acute peritonitis set up, resulting in his death.

Mr. Taylor was a farmer and had resided in the Lone Mound neighborhood 4 years. He had many friends and was highly esteemed. Surviving him are his wife and six children, three sons and three daughters.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon in the Dozier church by Rev. J. W. Lumsden. Burial was made in the Dozier cemetery.

Judge Garrett, Noted Lawyer, Dies Recently

Was Oklahoma's First School Teacher and
Pioneer Attorney

Judge Arthur R. Garrett, dean of the Greer County bar and one of the foremost of Oklahoma attorneys, died at Sulphur at eight-thirty o'clock Sunday night, after a long illness.

Funeral services were conducted at the First Methodist church in Mangum, of which the deceased had long been a member, at ten o'clock Wednesday morning. The service was conducted by Rev. J. W. Sims of Beggs, Oklahoma, assisted by Rev. C. A. German, pastor of the church. Interment was made in Riverside.

Judge Garrett had suffered frequent severe attacks of illness for several years. A few weeks ago he was stricken and was in a serious condition for several days but rallied and was able to go to Sulphur last week, accompanied by Mrs. Garrett. He had made trips to Sulphur at intervals for the past several years and always seemed improved when he returned from the vacations at the health resort.

Arthur R. Garrett had been a regular practitioner in the courts here since 1888. His career was a long and varied one, filled with honor to himself and his family. Mainly through his own efforts he rose to a position of leadership at the bar and was respected in every courtroom for his fairness, honorable conduct, deep learning in the law and fidelity to the trusts reposed in him.

He moved to Greer county in 1887 and opened the first public school ever held in what is now the state of Oklahoma.

Plaintiff represents to the court that he is and has been for a period of twelve months prior to exhibiting the petition herein an actual bona fide inhabitant of the State of Texas, has resided in the said County of Collingsworth for six months preceding the filing of this suit; That on or about the 4th day of July, 1925 plaintiff was lawfully married to defendant and continued to live with him as his wife until on or about March 4th, 1926, defendant deserted and abandoned plaintiff without cause and since that time they have not lived together as man and wife. Plaintiff alleges that during the time that she and defendant lived together as aforesaid, she was kind and affectionate to him and conducted herself with propriety. But the defendant, disregarding the solemnity of marriage vow, committed many outrages towards plaintiff. That during the time that plaintiff lived with the defendant as aforesaid, a child was born of said marriage, Joe Leathers, a boy, about two years old; said child has been in the care and custody of plaintiff at all times and entirely supported by her and she is the proper person to have the care of said child and defendant is an unfit person and not in position to have the care and custody of said child. Plaintiff prays the court that defendant be cited as the law requires in such cases, and that defendant dissolved and that she be given the care and custody of the said child, and for judgment for cost of suit.

A new terrazo floor is being laid in the Wellington State Bank this week, and will be in place by the end of the week, according to L. A. Manzer. The floor is Italian mable and will be very pleasing when in place.

Preachers Are

(Continued from Page 1) Smith crowd now was that he made a mistake when he was pressed before the convention and declared that he (Moody) would support the entire Democratic ticket which he is doing.

One of the interesting parts of the introductory speeches was when Rev. Joyner answered James Young advice to quit paying the political preachers and that would make them stop. He said Congressman Young was a Baptist, but that if he continued in his present course that he would have to ask leave of Brother Smith to stop preaching "once saved always saved" and start talking about the good old Methodist practics of "backsliding." Rev. Joyner further stated that he never intended to vote for a Baptist Congressman as long as he lived.

Andy Bourland

(Continued from Page 1) organization in securing adjustments in freight rate differentials, and stated that this item alone was costing West Texas the sum of $4,000,000 annually. He also discussed similar work that was being done in regard to insurance.

One of the constructive addresses of the evening was made by C. L. Geesey, of the Greer & Geesey Stock Farms. Mr. Geesey first told of the methods used in the north where corn was the money crop and cows, chickens and hogs were used to provide a small but steady income throughout the year, with wheat and oats sold on the side as auxiliaries. From that he branched into a discussion of the possibilities of making money from raising horses and mules on a small scale on the various farms and said that he deplored the tendency to motorize all the fields.

He also recommended the production of more cotton on fewer acres, for he showed how the increase in cotton acreage in the State of Texas resulted in a corresponding decrease in the amount of feed which in turn slowed down the production of livestock on the farms of Texas. If the same amount of cotton is raised on fewer acres, both the feed and the livestock will be increased without any reduction in the main money crop of the farmer. In closing he extended an invitation to the people of Wellington to visit the Stock Farm that he and Jeff Greer are conducting south of Wellington, and he also pointed out the need of vocational agricultural training in the high schools of the state.

Those present at the banquet were Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Arnold, T. M. Little, J. C. Ford, J. B. Baumgardner, Jeff Greer, W. D. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. ### Large Audience

(Continued from Page 1) quit was later elected governor of Texas by the anti-prohibitionists. Now Colquitt is fighting Smith because Smith is wet. "This is not the issue of the campaign," he said, "because you folks know that Woodrow Wilson was a wet candidate, that Cox was a wet candidate and that Davis was a wet candidate. Nothing was said around them and no mud-slinging campaign was carried on." The speaker went into detail as to what had been carried on during the Republican administration, and gave a text for the Protestant ministers to take and preach from their pulpits instead of preaching political sermons; "Thou shalt not steal." Take that to your congregations and preach it to them for that is what the Republican party has been doing for the past eight years.

"The main issue of this campaign is a religious issue, and I am going to tell you something about that issue," he stated. "Can Governor Smith help his being a Catholic? Do you hold him responsible for holding to the religion taught him by his mother? This country was settled by people who would have fought and died for the privilege of worshipping according to the dictates of their own conscience. The Methodists, Baptists, Christians, Episcopalian, Presbyterian, Catholic and various other denominations came to this country and settled in different states. The Quakers in Pennsylvania, Baptists in Virginia, Catholics in Maryland and other denominations in different states. These good people worshipped and were not bothered. The Catholics as well as the other denominations wanted separation of church and state. Lord Baltimore with his faithful followers settled in Maryland and there lived and worshipped. Now is that any reason why you are against Smith? When you make a statement that you are against Governor Smith because of his religious faith, you are defying separation of church and state and are not in favor of the constitution of the United States. Catholics are true to their religion, true to their government, and many are lying in Flanders Fields, while not one of Mr. Hoover's faith ever did one thing in any way to stop the war. Hoover's faith is the Quaker religion. Do you know what the Quakers stand for? They are religious objectors. When Mr. Hoover heard the roar of the cannons in Europe he immediately turned his face westward and came back to America, where he could stay and be protected. So your religious argument is very weak. It is, in fact, no argument at all, and it should not be an issue in this campaign. But the Republicans brought it in and they now must take their medicine. Governor Smith is a Democrat and stands for Democratic principles. Mr. Hoover doesn't know what he is. He has been in Europe so long he is not familiar with the American ideals and the American ways of living.

dal, Mr. Hoover was one of the main characters, but his name was never mentioned, or seldom mentioned. He claims he will carry out the policies of Coolidge, and you all know what his policies were. Coolidge, Daugherty, Denny and several other Republicans were carrying on behind closed doors, while Senator Walsh, a Catholic, was on guard watching for a chance to expose this bunch of grafters and when the time came he did expose them. Does that sound like a Roman Catholic is not true to this government?

"During the eight years of republican reign, 3,511 banks have failed and these are all in agricultural districts. Before that for 22 years only 2,234 failed in the United States. During the Democratic administrations under Cleveland, Wilson or any other Democrats, not one thing of graft or any trace of crookedness could be dug up against them, while it has been one continuous round of thievery, graft and general rottenness during the Republican administration."

Warning!

Highway Officer

The speaker closed by pleading and begging the Democrats not to bolt the party, but to give this issue a serious thought and to stand by the principles that have so long stood for the things which have helped to make this country the greatest country on earth today. He declared, "We have only two parties. If you quit the Democratic party you will naturally have to belong to the Republican party—a party controlled by a political machine—a party that does not stand for the mass of people but rather for individuals."

Are There Any Shade Trees in Your Office?

Nature's shadows are soft and comfortable. Man made shadows are generally sharp and annoying, but they need not be so if your lamps are properly placed. In factories bad shadows from ill placed lights or empty sockets cause many accidents by preventing workers from seeing clearly.

Good lighting is a sign of good management.

Why not fill those empty sockets?
