Says Plan Will Divide Americans

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) —Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater today labeled President Johnson's plan for an attack on poverty "an attempt to divide Americans."

He said it echoes the program of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, which "divided the people up, pigeon-holed them.

"If anybody has done anything to put people against people in this country, it's been the Democratic party over the last 30 years," said the Arizona senator, campaigning for the Republican presidential nomination.

Johnson has outlined a program that would cost about $1 billion over the next three years to fight poverty by aiding stricken areas and individuals.

Goldwater told a news conference "I think its a political gimmick. . .this is again an attempt to divide Americans.

"How do you attack?" asked Goldwater. "Put people to work. The Democratic party has not put people to work."

Goldwater flew in from Kinston to address Republican leaders at a $100-a-plate breakfast.

His southern field general said the conservative senator can count on almost solid South backing in his quest for the nomination.

US Envoys Move To Safety In Canal Zone

PANAMA (AP) — U.S. Embassy personnel were housed safely in the Canal Zone today after Panama took the final step in severing diplomatic relations with the United States.

Meanwhile, Soviet Premier Khrushchev threw Soviet support behind the Panamanians and denounced U.S. action in the Canal Zone.

Most U.S. Embassy staff members and their dependents were evacuated to the Canal Zone Friday night shortly before an anti-American student demonstration and several hours after Panama said it was recalling the remainder of its diplomatic staff from Washington.

Panama asked the United States to recall its embassy staff from Panama City, but a U.S. State Department official said the request did not apply to consular officials, Peace Corps volunteers or members of the U.S. Agency for International Development.

Because of the exceptions, the United States does not regard the break as final. U.S. officials also indicated that President Johnson's troubleshooter, Edwin M. Martin, planned to remain in Panama. Peace efforts are expected to continue to loosen a deadlock between the two countries over a 1903 treaty which gave the United States perpetual control over the canal.

President Robert Chiari ordered a break in diplomatic relations with the United States Jan. 10—a day after violence erupted on the Canal Zone—but retained some of his diplomatic staff in Washington.

The Panamanian government asked Costa Rica to handle Panamanian interests in the United States. Costa Rica also will handle diplomatic matters for the United States in Panama.

Khrushchev, touring a textile factory in Kalinin, 100 miles northwest of Moscow, with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, ridiculed charges that last week's riots in the Canal Zone were staged by pro-Castro Communists.

"It was not comrade Castro who organized the events in Panama," Khrushchev said. "These events are a result of the predatory policy of United States imperialists in Panama."

In the Canal Zone, memorial services were conducted for four American soldiers killed in last week's riots which also claimed the lives of 19 Panamanians.

US Losses Mounting In Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Communists shot down a U.S. Army escort helicopter in the Mekong Delta battle today and two American servicemen and a British colonel aboard it were reported missing and feared dead.

The helicopter, a rocket-firing UH1A, was downed near the mouth of the Mekong River. It was believed to have been hit in the tail rotor. Two crewmen were fished out of the water near the crash site. They apparently were not hurt.

Five U.S. helicopter crewmen were killed and three wounded Friday in operations supporting a Vietnamese government campaign to crush Red bases in the delta.

Britain maintains a small military advisory mission in South Viet Nam. The missing colonel was believed to have been an observer from that mission.

Calls for blood donors were broadcast by the U.S. Armed Forces Radio station as casualties were flown northward to Saigon from the delta.

The U.S fatalities Friday raised to 173 the number of Americans dead from all causes in Viet Nam in the last two years. Combat deaths totaled 99.

The cruiser Providence, flagship of the U.S. 7th Fleet, eased up the Saigon River on a good will visit. B26 fighter-bombers provided air cover. Aboard ship two giant terrier missiles were at the ready and Marines at battle stations, alert for trouble from Communist guerrillas.

With the 7th fleet commander, Vice Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, was U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, who boarded the 10,670-ton warship by helicopter.

Widow Of Fluvanna Doctor Dies

Funeral services were held at 3:30 Saturday afternoon for Mrs. Elma Lucy Browning, 77, of 2800 Avenue Q.

Mrs. Browning died at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon at Cogdell Hospital after a long illness.

Born Oct. 5, 1886 in Coryell County, Mrs. Browning was the widow of Dr. A. W. Browning, an early-day physician in Scurry County. Dr. and Mrs. Browning settled in Fluvanna before 1900, and Mrs. Browning could recall the days when Indians still inhabited the area.

Dr. Browning died in 1955. The funeral services were held at the First Baptist Church of which Mrs. Browning was a member. Dr. A. B. Lightfoot, pastor of the church, and the Rev. Allen Cartrite, pastor of the Greenhill Baptist Church conducted the services. Burial was in Hillside Memorial Gardens under the direction of Bell Funeral Home.

Mrs. Browning is survived by two sons, Albert of Snyder and E. G. of Fluvanna; two sisters, Mrs. Nora Vaughn of Fort Worth and Mrs. Vida Lester of Corpus Christi; five grandchildren and seven greatgrandchildren.

Pallbearers were Henry C. Landrum, Cal Lavender, Bolivar Browning, Berl Belew, Mert Jones, Wallace Jones, Jr., Roswell Rigsby and Orville Mathis.

Police Network Starts Monday

Monday the law enforcement agencies of Scurry County will gain the benefit of being a part of a state - wide teletype network.

Teletype machines which were installed a few days ago in the city police station and in the sheriff's office will be tied into the "Central Loop" which has Abilene as its central station. Tied on to the west of Abilene are Colorado City, Sweetwater, Roby, Aspermont, Haskell, Hamlin, Roby and Snyder.

To the east the Central Loop goes as far north as Breckenridge; as far south as Brownwood; and east to Ranger.

These stations will be able to communicate directly, one with the other. If a station on another loop, for example, the South Loop which goes as far south as Del Rio and as far west as Van Horn, wants to send a message to Snyder, it will be relayed through Abilene.

According to the telephone company, which installs and maintains the equipment, each loop is a separate set-up with the capability of sending or receiving a message between other loops all over the state.

The Department of Public Safety also has a loop from which messages can be relayed via the other loops.

Actually, it was the Department of Public Safety which first instituted the teletype network. Their radios were becoming so crowded, that they turned to the telephone company for help.

The idea of the teletype networks was born from the necessity of transmiting information quickly and accurately.

There is, of course, a cost to this service. Local officials however, believe that the cost will largely be offset through a reduction in long distance phone calls and telegrams.

They also look for better radio service as a result of the installation of the teletype network station here. With Snyder and other cities using the teletypes more, and the radios less for inter - city communication, the chances of being "covered" or blocked out during transmission is lessened.

Another advantage to the use of the teletype over radio is the fact that the criminal element cannot monitor the teletype, whereas radio receivers can be converted to listen to the police frequencies.

Another advantage to the teletype is that it can be used for giving out information such as weather and road reports without using the already crowded radio airways. Other information such as runaways, stolen car reports, minor emergencies concerning highway travelers, and public service type messages will be sent and received on the teletype networks.

Local law enforcement officers say they are looking forward to being a part of the teletype network. This new method of gathering information, they say, may well be one of their biggest assets in combatting today's criminal.

While a lawbreaker may have a fast car, it still is no match for the speed of a radio or teletype. With these aids available, police officers can always be "way ahead" of their suspects.

LEE DAN STONE

Stone Seeks Office Of Commissioner

Lee Dan Stone has announced his candidacy for the office of County Commissioner in Precinct No. 3, Scurry County, subject to action of the Democratic Primary.

Stone, 42, served four years and seven months in the U. S. Navy during World War II. Three years of the service were spent in the South Pacific and Asiatic Theaters. Stone now serves as Aviation Officer of the 36th Infantry Division Artillery in the Texas National Guard.

Stone moved to Snyder in 1950 and operated a service station on the Big Spring Highway. At present he operates Stone's Serice Station at 2100 Twenty-fifth Street.

Stone said he would consider it an honor to serve the people of Scurry County in this capacity and promised to give honest and efficient service to all.

He is married to the former Miss Wilma Terry of Snyder and they have three children. The Stones live at 2108 Twenty-sixth Street and are members of the East Side Church of Christ.

Annual Event Planned By Heart Unit

Dr. Richard W. Ernst, cardiovascular surgeon from Fort Worth, will be the guest speaker for the Scurry County Heart Council's third annual "Heart Research Day."

The event is scheduled for Feb. 4 in Snyder.

Highlight of the day for the lay public will be a luncheon at the Snyder Country Club at which Dr. Ernst will speak. Tickets for the luncheon are priced at $1.75 each, including tax and tip, and the general public is invited to attend. Earlier in the day, Dr. Ernst will speak at an assembly at Snyder High School, and he will meet with area doctors in a dinner meeting that evening.

The Heart Council also has made plans for the Heart Fund drive in February. The drive will include a number of special events staged in past years, such as bowling tournament, golf tournament and "coffee day." Highlight of the drive will be the annual "Heart Sunday" solicitation which falls on Feb. 23 this year.

At a recent meeting the Heart Council saw a film strip, "Why A Heart Association?" and the film, "Of Men and Minds." The latter film is a recent release of the American Heart Association designed to give the general public a better understanding of what is involved in heart research. The film is available through the Scurry County Heart Council for showing to area groups through Jan. 24, and can be secured thereafter upon request. Those interested should call Pat Falls, HI 3-7512 or HI 3-4946.

RENAL ROSSON

Rosson Is Re-election Candidate

Renal B. Rosson has announced he will seek the Democratic nomination for candidacy for re-election to the office of State Representative of the 85th Legislative District of Texas, composed of Borden, Crosby, Garza, Kent and Scurry Counties.

Rosson was born at Breckenridge, in Stephens County, Dec. 24, 1919, and moved to Scurry County with his parents in 1928 where he attended public schools and was graudated from Snyder High School in June, 1937. He is a graduate of Texas Technological College, Lubbock, with a BBA degree, and the University of Texas with a LLB law degree.

Rosson is a veteran of World War II and is presently a member in the United States Air Force Reserve, retired.

Rosson served two terms as District Attorney of the 132nd Judicial District of Texas, and has been engaged in the active practice of law in Snyder for more than ten years.

Rosson states that he has enjoyed the work of the office, and greatly appreciates the opportunity to represent this district in Austin.

"I am deeply appreciative of the cooperation which I have received from the people in the past, and I feel that the experience which I have gained by serving in the House of Representatives will be beneficial in assisting me in doing a better job in the future in such capacity," Rosson said.

He further stated that if elected to another term he will at all times continue to perform the duties of this office to the best of his ability, in the interest of better and sound state government.

Poll Tax Purchases Increasing

With 600 poll taxes sold, and 100 exemptions issued since Wednesday, the rate of citizens qualifying as voters has taken a sudden upswing.

The total now stands at 2,038 poll taxes sold and 770 exemptions issued, according to the tax assessor - collector's office in the courthouse.

The record number of poll taxes and exemptions was issued in 1952 with 7,335. In the last presidential election year (1959 poll taxes for 1960 voting) a total of 6,988 poll taxes and exemptions were issued by the office.

Last year, a so-called "off year," saw a total of 4,712 voters qualifying through the tax office.

If the rate of qualifying of the past few days continues, only about 5,500 taxes and exemptions will be issued. However, it is expected that the rate will increase, and that as many as 7,000 voters may qualify to vote in the 1964 elections.

Shopping Days For Poll Taxes

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: As the mother of a high school freshman, I feel our schools are to blame for this demanding attitude displayed by our youth. The accent is on materialism. In the few months my son has attended high school there has been a steady stream of requests for money. He needs track shoes, a student body card, $4 for a year book, drafting instruments, a white sweater for his athletic block letter. My budget exhausted, I told him he would have to wait a while on the sweater. He was so angry he threw his hair brush at me, smeared my bedroom rug with toothpaste and threw a heavy magnet at the kitchen door with all his might. We pay high taxes, Abby, and our schools should be supported by those taxes. If students don't come up with all the extras offered, they feel out of it. I also wish to add that I just received notification from the Parents Association that a European tour is being offered next summer for those students who can afford it. I am 37 years old and have never been to Europe, but here's a great opportunity for me to pay $35 a month from here to eternity so that my son may go—at age 15. I'd like your opinion on this materialism instilled in our children.

REDWOOD CITY, CALIF. MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You are twisting the issue. True, it costs much more to go to school today than it did 25 years ago. But everything costs more. And people are earning more, too. Not every boy who wants a school sweater asks his mother for it. I once knew a young man who worked all summer at a Super Market and saved his money. You didn't say what happened after your son threw the hair bursh, the magnet and decorated your rug with toothpaste. If all you did was to sit down and write me a letter blaming the schools, you can expect more such violent demonstrations of temper. Only worse. Face it, Mother. Your son is a childish, impatient sorehead. Work on straightening him out first. And then we'll talk about what's wrong with the school system.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Recently on your radio program you called someone down for referring to a crippled person as a "cripple." You suggested the word "handicapped" instead. I must disagree with you. Calling something by another name doesn't change it. Lately morons are referred to as "retarded," insane asylums are called "mental institutions," the poor house is now "The Old People's Residence," drunken bums are "alcoholics." And all the nuts are "mentally ill." Name-changing doesn't fool anybody. It's verbal dishonesty! I believe in calling a spade a spade. What do you think is gained by all this double talk?

FOR VERBAL HONESTY

DEAR FOR: If someone close or dear to you were adjudged to be a "moron," or had been committed as insane or were forced to accept the public care provided for the indigent aged, or were helpless against alcohol, or suffered from a nervous breakdown, would you then practice the "verbal honesty" you preach? Call a spade a spade, if you like, but don't use it to dig into the hearts of others.

Pentagon To Set Policy On Smoking

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department's top medical officers may decide next week on a "line of action" concerning cigarette smoking among the 2.7 million men and women in the armed forces.

The Pentagon told The Associated Press today that Dr. Shirley C. Fisk, its health director, will meet Wednesday with the surgeons general of the Army, Navy and Air Force.

They will talk over the Public Health Service report which linked cigarette smoking to some forms of cancer and other diseases.

Each of the chief military doctors is expected to outline recommendations he is making to his own service secretary and then to discuss with Fisk "what the Defense Department common policy and line of action should be," the Pentagon said.

"Whether any new policy directives will be issued remains to be determined," it added.

It was stressed that the meeting was not specially called, but was regularly scheduled.

"During the two years the Public Health Service report was in preparation the Defense Department policy was to wait and read it before acting," the department said. "We now have read it."

There has been no one policy on cigarette smoking for all the services. Each has set its own.

As long ago as September 1962, the Air Force surgeon general banned cigarettes from flight lunch boxes and refused to accept them for free distribution to patients in Air Force hospitals.

That policy still is in effect.

The Army and the Navy have imposed no restrictions, and there is no certainty that they will do so.

Italy's Segni Goes Home

NEW YORK (AP) — President Antonio Segni of Italy left on a non-stop flight to Rome today, ending a five-day visit to the United States.

A farewell telegram from President Johnson was given to Segni at Kennedy Airport. Johnson thanked him for "candid discussions."

The 72-year-old Italian president was driven to the airport from his hotel in a bubble-top car, part of a 20-car motorcade accompanied by five police cars.

The traditional ticker-tape parade up lower Broadway was cancelled Friday because of Segni's dislike of cold weather.

A U.S. State Department official said the rquest to cancel the parade had not been made because of any fear for Segni's safety aside from the weather.

Last Of Jet's Crew Found Dead

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP) — The body of T. Sgt. Melvin Wooten, 27, tail gunner on the B52 Strategic Air Command jet bomber that crashed near Cumberland Monday, was found Friday night.

Wooten, from Tohatchi, N.M., was the last member of the five-man crew to be accounted for. Maj. Robert L. Townley, 42, Gadsden, Ala., radar bombardier on the plane, died in the crash. The navigator, Maj. Robert L. Payne, 41, Tulsa, Okla., was found dead of exposure Wednesday after he had parachuted from the plane.

The pilot Maj. Thomas W. McCormick, 42, Yawkey, W.Va., and the copilot, Capt. Parker C. Peedin, 29, Smithfield, N.C., were rescued after they parachuted to safety.

Wooten's body was found near West Salisbury, Pa., by a farm boy, Ronald Holler, 15, and his father, Kenneth.

Lt. Col. Neill T. Williams, SAC spokesman at the crash site said Wooten apparently had head injuries and a broken leg and died within an hour after he parachuted to earth.

No Injuries Reported In Area Mishaps

The Texas Highway patrol investigated a mishap Saturday morning at the highway intersection in Ira.

Involved were a 1955 Chevrolet pickup driven by James Easter of Ira and a 1963 Chevrolet driven by Mrs. Ruth Statser of Big Spring. The Statser car was reportedly going north on Highway 350 and the pickup heading east on FM 1606 when the mishap occurred.

Damage to both cars was minor and there were no injuries.

Snyder city police investigated three mishaps on Snyder streets Friday.

At 5:10 p.m. in the 2700 block of Thirty-fourth Street a mishap involved a 1962 Fiat driven by Cheryl Lynn Brown, 1906 Thirtieth Street, and a 1964 Pontiac driven by John Leslie Browning, 3718 Avondale.

Damage to the Brown car was estimated at $600 and to the Browning car at $150.

At 4:58 p.m. a mishap was reported in the 2200 block of Avenue R which involved a 1958 Chevrolet driven by Inita Valdez, 1111 Thirteenth Street, and a 1962 Ford pickup driven by Sig Line. Damage to the car was estimated at $75 and to the truck at $7.

Friday morning city police investigated a mishap at Twenty-sixth Street and Avenue Q which involved a 1960 Chevrolet pickup driven by Darwon P. Byron, 2202 Forty-first Street, and a 1964 Corvair driven by Diane Hargrove, 2410 Thirtieth Street. Damage to the car was estimated at $150 and to the truck at $40.

No injuries were reported in any of the mishaps.

Claims US Not Utilizing Its Women's Brainpower

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has told his all-male Cabinet the government is not using the brainpower of American women to the extent it should.

"The day is over when top jobs are reserved for men," the President declared Friday during a 25-minute discussion on the status of women. He sent the Cabinet members back to their departments to look into the situation.

In an unusual move, Johnson had called in Undersecretary of Labor Esther Peterson, a member of his Status of Women Commission, and Elizabeth Carpenter, press secretary to Mrs. Johnson, to report on women in government.

Mrs. Peterson said she told the Cabinet: "There is a skill bank in the country from which there have not been sufficient withdrawals — skills of many educated and trained American women."

Later she told newsmen her briefing and appeal for more women in top posts "fell on very, very receptive ears."

Johnson was "forthright and forceful in his request that more women be brought into high level posts," Mrs. Peterson reported. "The President said it was important especially when the government is trying to improve the caliber of its policy-making people and is looking for persons with ideas, imagination and durability."

Mrs. Peterson said habit and tradition in federal service had resulted in "men only" in upper bracket jobs until Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy recently issued a directive for advancement on merit, without regard to sex.

Some of the Cabinet members reported to the President that they were already putting women in many posts.

Texas Ranchers, Farmers Welcome Heavy Snowfall

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Light rains in the south and heavy snows with more than usual moisture content in the central to north sections were welcomed in Texas last week.

The moisture was expected to revive small grains, which were not too far gone from drought and cold.

Before the precipitation, only limited areas reported adequate moisture, said John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Hutchison said prolonged low temperatures created problems.

Reports from district agents before the moisture came:

Valley counties in far South Texas now have adequate moisture. Other counties of the district were short to very short of rain. The citrus and vegetable harvests went on. Ranges were average in most of the area but below average in the Valley.

Flax losses from seedling disease in South Texas were reported. Livestock were in fair to poor condition and feeding was heavy.

In the southeast and upper Gulf Coast area livestock generally are in poor condition and are being sprayed for lice and grub control. Feeding is heavy. Deaths are reported from malnutrition.

In East Texas, low temperatures kept plant growth at a standstill. Heavy feeding kept livestock in fair condition. Marketing is light.

Central Texas oats made no progress and provided little or no grazing. All grazing is very short and feeding is heavy.

Grain and vegetation suffered from cold, dry weather and a general rain is urgently needed in West Central Texas. Livestock are in fair condition and feeding is heavy.

Moisture and warmer weather are needed in far West Texas, where the cold has increased the need for more feeding.

Northeast Texas grains made no growth. No grazing is available. Cattle are in poor condition and losing weight despite heavy feeding.

Low temperatures were extremely hard on North Texas livestock. The bitter cold coupled with no grazing pushed feeding to new high levels.

It was cold in the Rolling Plains area but the moisture situation is somewhat better than in most other sections of the state. Moisture was adequate in eight counties, and was needed in the other 14 of the district. Grain growth has been slow due to the cold.

Most dryland counties in the South Plains were short on moisture. More than 90 per cent of the cotton is harvested. Irrigated wheat is doing good but dryland wheat is in urgent need of rain.

It is cold and dry in the Panhandle. Wheat pasturage is short and feeding is general. Very little cotton remains in the fields.

Philadelphia To Retain Heritage

By FRANK J. AVATO

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philadelphia, the shrine of American independence, is making a deliberate attempt to combine 20th-century living with the city's colonial heritage through a redevelopment project called Society Hill.

To preserve the colonial atmosphere, the city has come up with a special treatment for the 20-block project area, often called "America's most historic mile."

Instead of mass clearing of slum dwellings, several hundred old homes are being rehabilitated into colonial-style homes, complete with small, enclosed, back gardens.

A touch of the modern is provided by four apartment buildings and new colonial-styled town houses.

Officially the aim of the project is to: (1) lure back into the downtown area families that had moved to the suburbs, (2) preserve several hundred old and historic houses, (3) halt the spread of blight in center city and create a strong residential area and (4) create a tourist attraction focused on Independence Hall.

In the past, the city's Redevelopment Authority attacked slums with wholesale removal of blighted areas and construction of entirely new buildings.

Then the authority decided that in order to be really effective, new projects should conserve and rehabilitate neighborhoods.

Society Hill planning came along just at the time this new concept was being put into practice.

It was in this area, just south of Independence Hall, that the colonials of William Penn's "green country towne" and the practicitioners of the American Revolution lived and worshiped.

Society Hill gets its name not from the socially prominent but rather from a tract of land that once belonged to the Free Society of Traders, organized by Penn. The project rehabilitates homes which are important because of the people who lived in them in colonial days, events that happened in them or simply because they are good examples of the architecture of the period.

The most prominent buildngs in the area facing the Delaware River and the site of Penn's landing are the Society Hill Towers, three apartment buildings 31 stories high and containing a total of 720 units. Parking is provided in a three-level underground garage.

Twenty-five air-conditioned town houses are in the shadow of the towers. They have an old-style brick texture and graceful curved doorways with iron terraces. Each sells for $46,000 or $47,000 depending on whether there are three or four bedrooms. Other individual homes in the area sell for around $22,000 to $25,000.

At the opposite end of the area is the Hopkinson House, a privately financed 33-story apartment building containing 536 units, some of which already are occupied. Another 18 town houses are nearby.

Board Of WTCC Due In El Paso

EL PASO — The West Texas Chamber of Commerce's top leadership will gather in El Paso Jan. 29 and 30 for a meeting of the WTCC board of directors at the Hilton Hotel.

Under the direction of E. H. Danner of San Angelo, president of the West Texas Chamber, the board will review a number of important issues facing West Texas businessmen during 1964, including legislation which will be before Congress this year. The board will also hear reports from the various committees of the WTCC who are working in a number of different areas to improve the economic picture in West Texas.

The executive board of the regional chamber will gather at 2 p.m. on Jan 29 for its meeting. Registration for the full board meeting begins at 4 p.m. (Mountain Standard Time) on the same day, with the main business session scheduled at 9:15 a.m. on Jan. 30.

The El Paso Chamber of Commerce will be host for a reception and dinner for visiting WTCC board members and wives at 6:30 p.m. on Jan. 29. A special luncheon is scheduled for directors and their wives on Jan. 30, and the wrap-up of the business meeting will begin at 1:15 p.m.

The West Texas Chamber staff, headed by new executive vice - president Jack G. Springer, will make the trip to El Paso from Abilene.

The WTCC has more than 150 directors in its vast 132-county territory.

The WTCC director for Snyder if J. Mark McLaughlin, General Manager, Diamond M. Industries.

Connnally's Brother Entering Politics

FLORESVILLE (AP) — A brother of Gov. John Connally is entering politics.

The youngest of the five Connally brothers, Wayne W. Connally, a Wilson County rancher and a native of Floresville, announced Friday as a candidate for state representative from the 58th District.

The post is now held by Jerry Butler, who is not expected to seek re-election. Counties in the district are Atascosa, Frio, Karnes, LaSalle, McMullen and Wilson.

Connally is a leader in the development of coastal Bermuda grass, and a director of the South Texas Hereford Assn. He was Wilson County Farm Bureau president three years.

Snyderite Is In Play

PLAINVIEW — Cecil M. Osborne, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Osborne, 2910 Avenue F., has been selected for the cast of the Homecoming play to be presented Feb. 13 and 14 at Wayland Baptist College, Plainview.

"The Rock", a three act drama about Simon Peter, is the first of many activities planned for Wayland's 13th annual Homecoming, which will continue through Feb. 15. The theme, "Fantasy Land," will be depicted at both the Friday night banquet and Saturday morning parade.

Other activities scheduled include a talent show, a pep rally and double header basketball games with the WBC Hutchenson Flying Queens meeting the Topeka Boosters and the Pioneers playing the Midwestern Indians.

Osborne, a senior majoring in speech and minoring in religion and English, will play the role of Ucal, uncle of Adina, Peter's wife.

Lawyer Has Gigantic Task In Unseating De Gaulle

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN

PARIS (AP) — Like young David setting forth to meet Goliath, a Socialist lawyer turned politician has set out to topple Charles de Gaulle as president of France.

It won't be easy, the politician admits. He is Gaston Defferre, mayor of Marseille and boss of that city's biggest newspaper.

"It's no dishonor to be beaten by De Gaulle," he has said.

But Defferre, at least for the record, has no intention of being beaten He has opened the countrys first full-scale popular election campaign under the Fifth Republic with the avowed goal of replacing De Gaulle's go-it-alone policies with a more European and less nationalistic program emphasizing education instead of armaments.

The election takes place at the end of 1965 but Defferre says he needs an early start to offset De Gaulle's heavy advantage in terms of voter familiarity. De Gaulle is known to every Frenchman in a way that few if any rivals can boast.

Deffere says he also needs time to propound his views and to get the issues into focus for voters who for the first time in this century will be naming a chief executive by direct ballot.

Defferre's first aim, shared by other anti-Gaullists, is to convince people they actually have a choice—to dissipate a feeling that it's either De Gaulle or chaos.

His immediate goal is to get his own party's endorsement to back up the rousing support voiced last weekend by the Socialist party of his county. A national party congress scheduled for Feb. 1 in a Paris suburb probably will give him the go-ahead.

Judging from his statements to the county party stalwarts, Defferre intends to plug a simple theme: In the nuclear age, a strictly French nationalism is outdated and futile. The Frenchman's future is as part of a European federation. The money De Gaulle wants to spend on a French thermonuclear force should be spent on education.

Crazy Hotel Sold

MINERAL WELLS (AP) — Spokesmen disclosed Friday that the Baptist Foundation of Texas has sold the Crazy Hotel, a landmark in this north central Texas health resort.

Sam Sonntag of Addison, near Dallas, purchased the property in a deal closed Jan. 1. The consideration was not disclosed.

The seven-story hotel had been converted into a home for the elderly. Sonntag said he is remodeling it and part of the building will become a convalescent center. John Matthews of Fort Worth will be the manager.

Another Mineral Wells hotel, the larger and newer Baker, baker, closed last year.

Objectives Are Clue To Character

The things the V.F.W. is doing today and developing for the future depict quite accurately the long established character of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States. The basic aims of this organization are expressed in a program of activities with a four-fold purpose; to insure the national security through maximum military strength; to speed the rehabilitation of the nation's disabled and needy veterans; to assist the widows and orphans and the dependents of disabled and needy veterans; and to promote Americanism through education and constructive service to the communities in which we live.

The V.F.W. has always been a service organization, and the word "service," in our vocabulary, means action. Herein lies the reason for the multiple programs which the V.F.W. sponsors. Activities within the V.F.W. cover a wide field of interests. Foremost among those interests is the welfare of veterans and their dependents. Thus, the prime objective of the organization's founders remains the number one objective today.

Tigers Whip Lamesa 51-46

The hustling Snyder Tigers defeated the Lamesa Tornadoes 51-46 in Tiger Gym Friday night It was a sweet victory for Ned Underwood's cagers, who are now tied for the lead in District 3-AAA with Brownfield Both teams have two wins and no defeats in league play. The Cubs have registered victories over Colorado City and Sweetwater.

Although the Tigers cannot represent the district in the playoffs because of a penalty by the Texas Interscholastic League, they will probably help determine the representative. The Tigers have now knocked off the two pre-season favorites, Lamesa and Lake View.

It was a team victory for Snyder all the way Friday night. Every player showed by his spirit and hustle that he wanted this victory in the worst way.

Snyder led Lamesa at the end of each quarter, but the lead changed hands a number of times. The Tigers took a narrow one-point lead at the end of the first period, primarily on the shooting of Leslie Brown and Jerry Vestal.

The second stanza was a slow one, scoring - wise, with Snyder getting eight points and Lamesa five. This gave the Tigers a 4-point margin at the half-time intermission. The Tornadoes came back in the second half as though they were going to run away with a victory, and quickly erased the Snyder lead. However, the Snyder players regained control and went into the final period with a 41-37 lead.

The fourth quarter was one with lots of action, but not much scoring, as the Tornadoes tried to pull it out of the fire. The fighting Tigers, who could sense an upset in the making, held on for the victory.

Brown led all scorers with 18 points, and Vestal was second for the Tigers with 11. Jim Anderson was high for Lamesa with 15 points. Snyder had four players in the double - figures in rebounding. Wilson led the Tiger rebounders with 12, followed by Billy Stewart with 11, and Brown and Vestal with 10 each.

The Snyder B team, cold at the free - throw line, lost a heart-breaker to the Lamesa B team 42-40. Snyder hit on 16 of 36 free-throw attempts for only 44 per cent. The contest was nip-and-tuck all the way. Ronnie Dietrich led all scorers with 13 points, while Williams had 12 for Lamesa

The Tigers will journey to Colorado City Tuesday night in an effort to keep their winning streak going. They will then host Sweetwater next Friday night.

Warriors Move In Western Division

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Celtics are keeping ahead of Cincinnati in the Eastern Division, but watch out Los Angeles for those San Francisco Warriors in the Western Division.

The Celtics turned back the Lakers for the fourth time in six attempts this season, posting a 99-79 decision in the finale of a National Basketball Association twinbill at Boston Garden Friday night.

Wilt Chamberlain, meanwhile, was scoring 36 points in a 112-91 San Francisco triumph at Philadelphia. The Warriors' sixth straight victory, shaved Los Angeles' lead to 2½ games.

That's the same margin the Celtics hold over the Royals in the Eastern Division.

There were only the three games Friday night, Detroit edging New York 101-99 in the opener of the doubleheader here.

Johnny Havlicek was the fuse that the Celtics needed for their easy victory over the Lakers. Boston was behind five points when Havlicek first went into the game with 8½ minutes played.

He quickly scored five points and Boston grabbed a first period advantage, 24-23. He tossed in seven more points before halftime and the Celtics were in front by 10 points, 50-40.

After that it was easy, despite Elgin Baylor's 22 points. The Lakers were playing without high-scoring Dick Barnett, who is sidelined for several games with a pulled hamstring muscle.

Havlicek, sneering at the second year jinx, wound up with 27 points to lead both teams. Tom Heinsohn had 16 and Sam Jones chipped in 14.

The Pistons won their 10th game of the campaign—against 30 defeats—on Ray Scott's soft hook shot with 20 seconds left.

The Knicks had tied it 16 seconds before that on Johnny Egan's jump shot from the keyhole.

New York had a six-point bulge, 54-48, at the half, but hot shooting from Bailey Howell enabled Detroit to take command early in the third period. New York then whittled the lead down and tied it—all for naught.

Showing their fine defense once more, the Warriors held the opposition to less than 100 points for the fifth time in six games and the 18th time this season.

Chamberlain had 29 rebounds and eight assists in addition to his scoring. Wilt got seven baskets in the final period as the Warriors turned things into a rout.

14 Matches Staged At Boys' Club

Fourteen boxing matches were staged at the Scurry County Boys' Club Friday night. The fans were treated to 42 rounds of boxing.

Boys who won decisions were Ronnie Garrison over Roy Arguijo, Pauncho Costello over Junior Rios, Angel Reyes over Ronnie Porter, Mitch Butler over Jerry Way, Bobby Bell over Bob Arguijo, and Ray Arguijo over Ronnie Arguijo.

Split decisions were won by Felix Diaz over Floyd Jackson, Charles Porter over Pat Mazac, and David Lindsey over Mike Lindsey.

Three bouts ended in a draw. They were Terry Clay and Kerry Clay, Willie Campos and Junior Barton, and Bobby Watson and Rudy Arguijo.

Winding up the action were two no-decision bouts involving Fred Benitez and Carroll Marsh, and Andrew Trevino and Pat Barber of Colorado City.

Barry Said Texas' Choice

HOUSTON (AP)—Texas Republican Sen. John Tower, was to address a breakfast session today of the state GOP executive committee.

The group is meeting primarily to adopt a budget.

Tower predicted at a news conference Friday that if a Republican preferential primary were held in Texas this spring, Barry Goldwater would win it.

Tower, who favors such a primary, said the Arizona senator's victory in a Texas straw vote would "have a good psychological effect on his campaign."

"It would give Goldwater a substantial boost," he said.

Tower also recommended that the Texas delegation to the national GOP convention in San Francisco this summer be instructed to support Goldwater.

"There is strong southern sentiment for Goldwater," Tower said, "and he will do better in the northeast than any other Republican candidate."

Tower said Goldwater "appeals to the middle-class organization people who ring doorbells for votes. This kind of grassroots enthusiasm is the best way to counter the big-city machines of the Democrats."

President Johnson is a less formidable opponent for any Republican candidate than President Kennedy would have been, Tower said. He said the GOP chances for a victory have vastly increased in some parts of the nation.

Miller Named To Sports Hall Of Fame

AMARILLO (AP) — W. A. Miller, former basketball coach of West Texas State, will be installed as the sixth member of the Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame Feb. 2.

Miller was named in 1954 as a member of the NAIA Hall of Fame.

During 15 seasons at West Texas, Miller's teams had 176-128 record. The Buffaloes played in Madison Square Garden, Chicago Stadium, Miami's Orange Bowl, San Francisco's Cow Palace and Philadelphia's Convention Hall.

Two of his players—J. W. Malone and Troy Burrus—were named to All-America teams.

It's Safer To Use Public Ramps

By BERNIE SMITH

DALLAS (AP)—Some boaters will be tempted to use isolated spots to launch their boats, when warmer weather brings the crowds back to the lakes.

Boats can be launched almost anywhere with today's trailers. Once a boater becomes mired or has mechanical trouble, however, he finds the jammed, public ramps is the safest after all.

New boaters learn quickly there are no strangers on a public boat ramp. He will find well-informed volunteers when he runs into difficulty. But if his battery fails on an isolated ramp, he has had it.

Thieves like the improvised ramps. There they can jimmy your ventilator windows or remove your wheels in safety. Crowds at official ramps reduce theft there.

Some aids learned the hard way:

Trailers generally come equipped with 3-1 ratio winches. That makes for drudgery if your boat is heavy, and boaters must always be masters of their rigs on land as well as on water. Winches with a higher ratio like 5-1, or with extension handles for more leverage, make for happier outings.

You will get more traction on a slick ramp if you angle your car wheels. . .Old bicycle innertubes make neat chain silencers . . .Filed ignition points burn quicker than new ones. . .Marine oil is made to burn, automobile oil to last, an argument for the proper oil.

If you release the pull cord on your outboard motor or power mower and let it fly back, it can break the rewind spring. . .

Check with your service man before you use booster cables to start another car, if you have changed cars lately. Some mechanics warn you should disconnect your battery cables when playing the Good Samaritan, else you may burn out your high-voltage generator.

You may find more propeller slippage in salt water, if you are planning to take your rig there. It can make you feel you have sheared a pin, but you can ignore it.

One spot on the intracoastal canal below Corpus Christi is notorious for prop slip. Campers subconsciously listening to boats moving about frequently hear motors start racing as if they had lost their prop.

"Somebody is going past Marker 19," they will say.

Salt water is safer than fresh water because it is heavier, a few weekend sailors claim. Once a norther hit eight hours early, and a couple in a 14-footer had to fight five miles up Laguna Madre in a 30-mile wind.

"Whew," the soaked angler exclaimed when the boat landed. "If we had been on fresh water we couldn't have made it."

A couple of seasons back a man and woman were loading a boat on a ramp on a North Texas lake. The lady did the dirty work, the man driving the car. Bystanders raised eyebrows.

"Oh," she cried after the car pulled the rig out of the water. "The boat isn't on the rollers. We'll have to launch and load again."

Two men walked over and bounced the boat in place.

"I wondered about that guy," one said later, "then Korea kept popping in my mind. I walked by the car and glanced in. Sure enough, he had a pair of aluminum crutches."

And a good public ramp.

Mentor To Publicize All Sports

ARLINGTON (AP) —Mentor, Inc., plans to open here an office to publicize all sports of the National Athletic Association within the next two weeks.

Pete Collett, publisher of the Mentor, a sports magazine affiliated with NCAA coaches, said Friday Carl Snavely, former Cornell and North Carolina football coach now retired, will be chairman of the board of Mentor, Inc., and operate the publicity activities. He will live here.

"We will furnish news that ordinarily would not be carried by the publicity media and there will be no conflict with newspapers, radio, television or press associations," Collett said.

He said the office will deal primarily with magazines and will publish two magazines of its own.

There will be two members of the board for each of the 16 sports of the NCAA and the sports publicity directors will furnish the news to be distributed.

Kapson Laboratories of Newport, Ore., a corporation dealing in food products and medicine developed by the food technology and research department of Oregon State, Corvalis, Ore., will finance the new office.

Bradley Puts On One-Man Show

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Nick Werkman, the nation's leading college basketball scorer, for Seton Hall last year, is a virtually forgotten player these days Not so Bill Bradley of Princeton's Ivy League champions.

Werkman is not among the top ten scorers this season while the latest NCAA statistics rank Bradley third.

The Princeton star, hailed as one of the greatest sophomores in the country a year ago and improved now as a junior, turned in a spectacular one man show Friday night to lead the Tigers to a 87-82 victory over Cornell at Ithaca.

Bradley scored 49 points on 16 field goals and 17 of 20 free throws to set an all-time Ivy League record. In addition the 6-foot-5 native of Crystal City, Mo. grabbed 14 rebounds and handed out four assists.

Bradley's performance, perhaps the best individual single game effort this season, overshadowed the 14th straight triumph for UCLA, the nation's top-ranked team in The Associated Press poll, and the surprise defeat of seventh-ranked Oregon State

The unbeaten Uclans whipped Stanford 84-71 in their vital Big Six game at Los Angeles while Oregon State tumbled before Oregon 47-45 at Eugene.

In Friday's other major results California edged Southern California 65-64, Washington State nipped Washington 61-59, Georgia defeated Florida 59-57, Syracuse downed Penn State 84-82, Penn beat Columbia 67-58 and Seattle overcame Idaho 75-69.

A 13-0 second half spree, led by Gail Goodrich's 23 points, broke the game wide open for UCLA after the game had been tied 15 times. Tom Dose, Stanford's star fouled out with eight minutes left.

Oregon, led by Jim Barnett, ran up a 17-4 lead on Oregon State, then survived the Beavers' late rally that cut the score to 44-43 with 1:24 left on Mel Counts' jump shot. Counts finished with 26 points and Barnett 16, including two vital free throws after Counts' basket.

Everett Case is in his 18th season as basketball coach at North Carolina State.

AFL May Install Sudden Death

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The American Football League toyed today with the idea of a sudden death playoff in tie games in the regular season and indicated it will increase its player limit to 34, if not more.

Commissioner Joe Foss said the eight presidents were about equally divided in preliminary discussion of the sudden-death proposal, which is now in effect for the championship and all-star games.

The league, in its one final action after three days of the annual meeting, voted to recognize the newly organized AFL Player's Association by unanimous vote. The players had recommended a 35 player limit. Foss said it will be 34 if not more.

These Are Real Enemies Of Our Fish And Wildlife

By JACK KEEVER

AUSTIN (AP) — Indifference, the seeker after the fast buck and the lack of knowledge—these are the enemies of our fish and wildlife resources, Texas sportsmen were told Saturday.

They are enemies hard to combat, because the most effective weapon is the one that's the thoughest to apply, said Clarence Pautzke, commissioner of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. He added:

"We must create the kind of awareness that is needed. We must encourage people to appreciate natural resources. We must convince them that without conservation, we shall become America the unbeautiful.

"We can never really hope to save our fish and wildlife unless enough people care about these resources."

Pautzke spoke to the annual meeting of the Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas (SCOT).

Pautzke spoke amidst rumors of unrest and displeasure among SCOT members.

Dr. Walter Quebedeaux, president of the Houston Sportsmen's Club, predicted earlier his group would ask for a reorganization of the club. He said many of the other 100 clubs throughout the state feel the same way—that the club is not carrying the aims for which it was founded in 1957.

"We see no reason to drop out, or to participate in the organization of any new club, as long as there is a possibility of reviving SCOT," said Quebedeaux.

One group, the Bayshore Rod, Reel and Gun Club of Baytown, already has said it is dropping out of the organization.

The club never actually quit," said SCOT's executive secretary, Cecil Reid of Austin. "All it did was to write in and say the members would not pay their SCOT dues for 1964, which in effect sort of left things hanging."

Reid is the subject of some of the rumors — that he will resign from SCOT to take a job with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. He calls this idea nonsense.

Another sore point among some members is that SCOT has taken no stand on the shell and gravel controversy, the subject of a suit now pending in Austin. It involves sportsmen's groups who are trying to halt shell dredging within 1,500 feet of oyster reefs in Galveston and Trinity bays. Sportsmen are seeking a temporary injunction against four dredging companies.

In October, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission approved more liberal regulations, permitting shell operations within 300 feet of live oyster reefs. About two weeks later, a group called Save Our Shell was formed in Texas City by conservationists and oyster fishermen and the legal battles began.

Finley Prepares For Court Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—Confident of a legal victory, Charles O. Finley has started plans for a court battle over the right to move his Kansas City Athletics to Louisville.

Finley already has lost once—to the American League club owners who on Thursday voted 9-1 to refuse Finley permission to transfer his franchise. The stormy owner announced his intention to go to court following the vote.

"I don't enjoy these fights," Finley said Friday, "but I feel confident everything will turn out well. I don't think there's an owner in the American League who doesn't feel that I'm fighting for what I think is right.

"I am confident I can win. But in some ways even if I beat them I lose because baseball loses and I'm part of baseball. But I'll sacrifice to straighten some of these things out."

Finley consulted Friday with Louis Nizer, a well-known trial lawyer. Nizer said he couldn't say whether he would take the case.

"He just consulted me," Nizer said.

Meanwhile, Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said Friday night he hoped there would be a court suit.

"This is a high-handed case if there ever was one," said Celler, head of an antitrust subcommittee that investigated baseball and other professional sports shortly after the National League moved to Los Angeles and San Francisco.

"I feel Mr. Finley has a perfect antitrust suit against organized baseball, and I hope he brings it."

Celler earlier sent a telegram to Commissioner Ford Frick and AL President Joe Cronin protesting the owners' action against Finley.

British Plan To Initiate Open Tennis

NEW YORK (AP) — "How do we know something is bad unless we try it?"

With this question, Edward Turville Jr., president of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association, announced support Friday for Britain's move to hold an experimental open tournament at Wimbledon.

The British Lawn Tennis Association said it would go before the International Federation at Vienna in July to seek permission to give open competition a try in 1965 and 1966. The international group has blocked such a move in the past.

"I think it would be great if somebody gave this idea a trial," Turville said. "If Britain is willing to attempt it at Wimbledon, which is regarded as the citadel of the game, I say good luck to them.

"I feel certain our delegate, Vic Denny, will support Britain at the Vienna meeting."

Travis Is Edged By Goliad Quint

Big Spring Goliad edged Travis 9th out of its own tournament, 48-47, Saturday morning, giving the Mavericks a ticket into the finals Saturday night against the Lamar - Post winner.

The Blue Devils and Goliad waged a nip and tuck battle and the score was tied three times in the last three minutes of play. Wayne Kennedy roped 23 points to pace Goliad, while Bobby Clardy and David Cadena were in double figures for the Blue Devils with 14 and 11, respectively.

In first round action, Lamar trimmed Colorado City, 79-40, as Rob Golden and Billy Noel each hit for 18 points for the Texans. Ronnie Wilson had 10 for Colorado City.

In its first - round game, Travis defeated Sweetwater, 65-45. Clardy scored 22 points for the Blue Devils and Ruffin had 13 for Sweetwater.

Goliad advanced to its second round skirmish with Travis by downing Stamford, 49-33, in a Friday night encounter. Kennedy got 21 points for the Mavericks in that one, while Wardwell had 14 for Stamford.

Finals in the tournament were scheduled for Saturday night in the Travis Gym.

WINNER'S TROPHY—Kenny Sehested (14) and Benny Ward (2) show the trophy won by the Travis seventh grade in the Colorado City Tournament held last week. Both of these boys were named to the all-tournament team. Also shown are Charlie Sparks and Bill McLaughlin, coaches of the winning team. Travis won the Seventh Grade Division of the tournament, and Lamar won the Eighth Grade Division.

Celtics Owner Is Mad At Star

BOSTON (AP)—Boston Celtics owner Walter Brown says he plans no disciplinary action against Tommy Heinsohn, but he adds that he's still plenty burned up at his star player.

The two were closeted in Brown's private office for 25 minutes Friday, discussing a threatened walkout by players at Tuesday night's National Basketball Association All - Star game in Boston. The game was some 10 minutes late starting.

"I have nothing to say," Brown said, still fuming, as the two emerged from the office. "Nothing has changed. Heinsohn didn't tell me anything I didn't already know.

"I'm burned up and I'm sore about it."

Heinsohn, president of the Players Association which is trying to get league action on a pension plan, told newsmen the strike threat—which came just before game time—was directed at the league, not at Brown personally.

"My meeting with Mr. Brown just now was to let him know this is certainly not a personal thing," he said. "He always has been very fair to me and all the players on our team. And he's gone out on a limb for our group."

An infuriated Brown called Heinsohn "the No. 1 heel in my long association with sports" Thursday night. He said, however, after the talk with Heinsohn that he plans no fine nor punitive action.

"It was a fine way for any of my players to treat me," Brown said of the delayed All - Star game. "My first obligation is to those people up in the seats."

The players decided to play the game after NBA President J. Walter Kennedy promised them that the pension plan would receive action this spring.

Navy Might Not Want This Award

DALLAS (AP) — The Navy football team has another trophy for its successful football season —the bonehead of the year award.

The handsome walnut and bronze trophy, topped by a huge nut, was presented Friday by the Dallas Bonehead Club, which prides itself in taking nothing seriously, and Bonehead University, the club's mythical institution of higher learning whose equally mythical football team has not lost or tied a game in 44 years because it has never played one.

The trophy carried the inscription "Presented to the United States Naval Academy for challenging the whole state of Texas in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 1."

Navy, which had an 8-2 season record and was ranked No. 2 college football team in the nation, lost to Texas, the No. 1 team, 28, to 6 in that game.

Capt. Burris D. Wood Jr., the ranking Navy officer in the Dallas area, who accepted the trophy on behalf of the midshipmen, called attention to the nut on the top of the trophy, and said:

"Only in the state of Texas could such a king-sized nut be produced."

The Bonehead Club also announced it was sending to the naval academy a life-time scholarship to Bonehead University for the Navy's quarterback, Roger Staubach, so he could play football on an undefeated and untied team.

The Boneheads, all of whom are vice presidents, also voted to make all members of the U.S. Navy admirals in the Bonehead Navy.

Folley May Get Fight With Sonny

CLEVELAND (AP) — Zora Folley, 12-year veteran of the boxing wars, had a new lease on his professional life today and a telegram from heavyweight champion Sonny Liston that he would consider Folley for a title fight in the near future.

Folley, 31-year-old father of seven, outclassed former Canadian heavyweight champion George Chuvalo for a unanimous decision in a nationally televised 10-round fight Friday night.

"I got a telegram from Sonny Liston tonight, saying he would consider me for a title fight in the near future, if I beat Chuvalo," said Folley, bearing few marks of his battle with the Canadian.

"I hurt Liston in the second round when I fought him," said Folley, ranked No. 6 in the world. Liston recuperated in that 1960 fight, before he was champ, and knocked Folley out in the third round.

Folley, from Chandler, Ariz., displayed great boxing skill in beating Chuvalo, 26, who had a string of six victories broken. Folley, whose left hand was in Chuvalo's face much of the time, counter-punched well, too.

The victory gave Folley, whose record is now 66-6-3, a big boost.

"If I don't stay in the top 10-ranked fighters, I'll retire," he said. "That's the only place the money is."

Schoolboy Scores 50 Points In One Game

MOUNT VERNON (AP) — Ronnie Broach scored 50 points Friday night in pacing Mount Vernon to an 83-65 victory over Linden-Kildare in a Dist. 14-AA schoolboy basketball game.

The 5-10, 16-year-old junior sank 19 field goals and 12 free throws. He made four more free throw attempts which were disallowed because players stepped over the line too soon.

Lack Of Snow For Winter Olympics

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—Snow — or rather the lack of it — remained a major obstacle today as the Winter Olympics countdown began. But Olympic athletes at other European staging areas had plenty of the white stuff for the weekend's slate of final tune-ups.

Clear skies at snow-short Innsbruck spurred a step-up of efforts to "build" the necessary snow and ice cover for the Games' opening — now 10 days away. Meanwhile skiers prepped in nearby Spittal, in Switzerland and Italy and speed skaters competed in Norway under excellent conditions before heading for the Olympic village early next week.

Jean Saubert of Lakeview, Ore., leads a strong U.S. contingent in Sunday's women's ski races at Spittal. Miss Saubert won the special slalom event at Bad Gastein Thursday and has emerged as a gold medal threat. France's Goitschel sisters, Marielle and Christine, and Austria's Traudi Hecher are the other standouts in a field from 14 countries.

At La Brassus, Switzerland, John Balfanz of Minneapolis, Gene Kotlarek of Duluth, Minn., and Ansten Samuelstuen of Boulder, Colo., are the top American entrants in Sunday's special ski jumping event. Missing will be the powerful Scandinavian bloc. Japanese Jumpers impressed in workouts Friday. A cross-country ski race also is scheduled.

Bill Marolt of Aspen, Colo., was the first of 80 skiers from 18 nations to start in the upgraded Tre-Tre downhill test at Madonna Di Campiglio, Italy, today.

The Tre-Tre, normally a minor meet composed of downhill, giant slalom and special slalom races, was elevated to maor status and limited to downhill competition. Lack of snowfall on Austrian courses had left the skiers short on downhill practice.

Bud Werner, top-rated American, and his mates expected their performances in the Tre-Tre would lead to a revision of U.S. skiers' Olympic starting positions. The International Ski Federation had indicated the Americans, ignored in original seedings, would be moved up on the basis of their showings since arriving in Europe.

Speedballs from 11 nations were set to clash tonight in the European speed skating championships at Oslo, Norway. The Russians were favored but 1963 world champion Jonny Nilsson of Sweden had strong backing.

American toboggan and bobsled teams will arrive at the Olympic village Sunday. The former sport, known as "luge" in Europe, will be making its Olympic debut.

Finns, Russians, Germans, Austrians and North Koreans—all early arrivals at the Olympic site — tackled the ski trails in Friday drills. The skiers reported cross-country runs were generally in good condition.

Sled courses also are improved after a drop in temperatures but the skimpy snowfall has left downhill and slalom ski runs in poor shape.

Hibiscus Stakes Attracts 13 Colts

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The first test for Derby age colts in Florida featured today's program at Hialeah Park where the 29th running of the Hibiscus Stakes attracted a field of 13.

Eight are eligible for the $100,000 Flamingo March 3 and others could be nominated upon payment of $5,000.

Heading the field of 3-year-olds was Bupers, winner of the Futurity at Aqueduct, who was to carry 122 pounds with jockey Bill Hartack up.

Bupers could share the bettors' favor with Journalist, winner of the Kentucky Jockey Club, and Delirium, hero of the Sanford, both at 117 pounds, and Black Mountain, under 115.

Unseeded Golfers Lead In Third Round Of Tourney

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Sports Writer

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) —Heavy rain and stiff winds threatened to mar today's television-seeded third round of the $60,000 Crosby golf tournament —an affair that could just as easily be called the United Nations Open.

The seeding was successful because the leaders all will be on television today—but ironically the leaders aren't the golfers sponsors expected when they arranged the tournament schedule.

Canadian Al Balding brought a three-stroke lead over Australian Bruce Devlin past the halfway mark as a New Zealander, an Englishman and eight Americans stayed in immediate contention.

Balding carded a 67 Friday to go with his first round 66 and posted an 11-under-par 133 total. Devlin put a 67 ith his first-day 69.

The eight leaders all were to play the treacherous Pebble Beach course while one-third of the field toured Cypress Point and one-third played Monterey Peninsula.

National television's coverage of the third round at Pebble Beach influenced the seeding of golfers' rotation among the three courses. Such stars as Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Julius Boros were programmed to play before the camera today.

Palmer three-putted five times en route to a 73 round that left him at 145, tied with Nicklaus, who ruined a 70 round with two double bogies. Boros, the U.S. Open champ, slipped to a 73 for 144.

So they're all back in the pack while the pack of foreigners and lesser lights wind up in the TV spotlight by coincidence.

Five strokes behind the leader at 138 were Tony Lema and Tommy Aaron, who each fired 68's Friday, and Jay Hebert, who birdied seven of his final ten holes for a 67. New Zealander Bob Charles, defending champion Bill Casper and Al Besselink were at 139. The top eight all played Monterey Peninsula Friday.

Bobby Nichols and Jerry Steelsmith stood at 140, Dave Marr and Englishman Geoffrey Hunt were another stroke back and then the field broadened with seven men at 142 and a like number at 143.

West Out To Win In All-Star Game

SAN DIEGO (AP)—American Football League greats of the Western and Eastern divisions meet Sunday in the third annual All-Star game at Balboa Stadium.

Kickoff is at 1:30 p.m. EST, and the game will be televised nationally. A crowd of 27,000 is expected.

The West All-Stars will be out to extend their perfect 2-0 mark in the series. They blitzed the East 49-27 in the first game and last year put on a second half rally to win 21-14.

Leading the Western squad at quarterback again will be Tobin Rote, the AFL's leading passer and field general. Rote led San Diego to the Western Division crown and had a near-perfect day Jan. 5 as the Chargers routed Boston 51-10 in the championship tilt.

If Rote falters, West Coach Sid Gillman of San Diego will call on Oakland's Cotton Davidson. It was Davidson who threw for five touchdowns to clinch a win for the West in the first All-Star game. He was voted the game's outstanding player.

Besides Rote, Gillman will have his entire Charger backfield available, including flanker Lance Alworth, halfback Paul Dowe and fullback Keith Lincoln.

Another major threat in the West backfield will be Oakland's Clem Daniels, the league's leading rusher with 1,098 yards.

East Coach Mike Holovak of Boston won't lack big guns on offense.

Buffalo's Jack Kemp and Babe Parilli of Boston will share quarterbacking chore.

Kemp, although ranked third in AFL passing, was the top passing gainer with 2,914 yards in 1963.

The East ground game will rely mostly on fullback Cookie Gilchrist of Buffalo, fullback Larry Garron of Boston and halfback Dick Mathis of New York Gilchrist gained 979 yards during regular season play and was the AFL's second-ranked ball carrier.

In the air, the East's main threats will be Houston's Charlie Hennigan, Bake Turner of New York and Gino Capelletti of Boston.

Bill Lillard Takes Lead In Bowling

DALLAS (AP) — Former champion Bill Lillard bounced out of obscurity Friday to take the lead in the qualifying rounds of the $100,000 All-Star Bowling Tournament with an eight game total of 1,799.

The hard-throwing Dallas bowler strengthened his bid for the $15,000 men's title when he ripped off a four-game series of 925.

Lillard's career went into an eclipse shortly after he won the title in 1956. He drifted among teams in Chicago and St. Louis before returning to his hometown here in 1962.

Bob Strampe uncorked the best performance of the two-day-old event when he rolled a 205-268-258-239—970 series. The Detroit star's 1,793 grand total placed him second.

Ed Bourdase of Fresno, Calif., was third with 1,789.

Defending champion Dick Weber of St. Louis shot a respectable 822 series. His 1,658 total jeopardized his chances for survival.

Don Carter, four time champion from St. Louis, was in more serious trouble with a 1,506 total.

Harriet Kraft of Canby, Ore., took the lead in the women's division with the second best first six game total on record, 1,246. The 39-year-old instructor boosted her chances with a 177-223-193—593 series.

Olga Gloor of Chicago tossed a 586 series, building her total to 1,234, worth second place.

Shaw Leads Small Colleges In Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Shaw of Lane, Tenn., tops the nation's small college basketball scorers for the second straight week.

Latest NCAA figures show Shaw is the No. 1 gunner with a 41.4 per-game average in eight games. Maryland State's Ed Williams remains in the runner-up spot with a 39.6 mark.

Calmat Leads In Figure Skating

GRENOBLE, France (AP)—Alain Calmat of France was favored to capture his third European men's figure skating championship tonight and join five-time women's titlist Sjoukje Dijkstra of Holland as a prime favorite in the 1964 Olympics.

Calmat held a comfortable lead over West Germany's Manfred Schnelldorfer at the completion of compulsory figures Friday. The French skater, sixth in the 1960 Olympic competition won by David Jenkins of the United States, was expected to clinch the European crown in tonight's free skating windup.

Miss Dijkstra, 22, performed brilliantly in the women's free skating phase Friday to cap a sweep of the distaff championship. Her spectacular leaps and spins drew an ovation from 3,500 spectators at the Grenoble Skating Palace.

The blonde Dutch girl is considered a shoo-in for the Olympic gold medal at Innsbruck, Austria. She placed second to America's Carol Heiss in the 1960 games at Squaw Valley, Calif.

All nine judges awarded Miss Dijkstra first place in the overall standings. She was also a unanimous choice in the six compulsory figures preceding the free skating finale. She received 2,330.7 judging points. The compulsory phase represented 60 percent of the total evaluations.

Regine Heitzer of Austria was second with 21 ordinals—positional points—and 2,214.4 judging points. Nicole Hassler of France was third with 24 and 2,214.4.

In the men's compulsory figures Calmat had 12 ordinals to 19 for the West German skater and 28 for third-place Karol Divin of Czechoslovakia. Calmat received 1,173.6 judging points, Schnelldorfer, 1,159.1, and Divin, 1,143.7.

Divin was second to Jenkins at Squaw Valley and Schnelldorfer finished eighth.

Neither Jenkins nor Miss Heiss will defend their Olympic titles, both having retired from amateur competition.

CARD OF THANKS A-3

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means to express our sincere thanks to our many friends who were so kind to us in our darkest hour of sorrow. We deeply appreciate the kind words and beautiful flowers that were sent; also the food that was prepared. May you have just such friends if such sorrow ever visits your home. May Heaven's richest blessing fall on each of you.

Alan Shepard Doing Well

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—America's first man in space, Navy Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr. was reported in excellent condition after undergoing surgery Friday for removal of a nonmalignant growth from his thyroid gland.

The operation was considered fully successful and will not affect Shepard's flying status, said Paul Haney, public affairs officer for the manned spacecraft center.

"The surgery involved removal of about 20 per cent of the thyroid gland but tissue tests show no malignancy," Haney said. "It is anticipated the operation will have no effect on his status as an astronaut."

Haney said the growth, about the size of a thumb, was detected last November at Shepard's annual physical examination.

Shepard is the third of the original seven Mercury astronauts to undergo surgery.

Air Force Maj. Donald K. Slayton had a lymph gland removed in 1959, and Air Force Maj. Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr. underwent a gall bladder operation in 1960.

Couch Gets Suspended 3 Yr. Sentence

EASTLAND (AP)—A jury in district court Friday convicted Chester Earl Couch, 40, Abilene truck driver, of shooting and wounding Cisco Police Chief E. E. Parkinson and recommended a three-year suspended sentence.

In convicting Couch of assault with intent to murder without malice, the jury pointed out that Couch had never before been charged or convicted of a felony in Texas.

Judge Turner Collie of 91st District Court said the jury's suspended sentence recommendation would be followed when sentence is formally pronounced, probably Monday. The jury was out two hours.

The Cisco shooting occurred Nov. 15. Couch was released on $15,000 on Dec. 14, and a short time after returning to Abilene he was involved in a fight at an American Legion hall in which a state hospital attendant was killed.

The attendant, Lewis Edward Kinney, 41, died of a head injury. Investigators said his head struck a soft drink machine when he was knocked down.

Couch was charged with murder in Kinney's death, and released on $5,000 bond.

Police quoted Couch as saying he had never met Kinney until he saw him at the legion hall.

Miss Beeks Due Degree

ABILENE — Orvella Jane Beeks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Beeks, Rte. 1, Hermleigh, will received the bachelor of science degree from McMurry College on Jan. 25.

Miss Beeks is a 1960 graduate of Hermleigh High School and has attended McMurry College since that time. She has been active in various college organizations.

She was a member of Wah Wahtaysee, a service organization whose members are chosen for scholarship and character. She was a member of the Student Education Association and served as treasurer this year. Miss Beeks was a member of the TIP social Club and was awarded the "Best Gobette" (best pledge) award by the club in 1962. Since that time she has served as treasurer, secretary and first vice president. She also has served on the Martin Dormitory Council.

Miss Beeks is an elementary education major and will be employed by the Abilene Public Schools as a first grade teacher at Fannin Elementary School.

AMUSEMENT

NOW A LOST WORLD becomes a new world of adventure as Yul Brynner and George Chakiris star in "Kings of the Sun." It is coming to the Palace Theater here Sunday, Jan. 26.

World Is Stage For Shakespeare

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — All the world as never before is Shakespeare's stage this year, 400th anniversary of his birth.

The celebration for Stratford's immortal shapes up as a gaudy mosaic of homage and ballyhoo.

It stretches from the banks of the Avon to the pampas of Argentina, embraces Broadway stars and grade-school tykes, savants and politicians alert for cultural patina.

Although April 23 is the commonly accepted natal day of the man who bequeathed mystery and controversy as well as art to posterity, the adulation scramble is already well under way.

The General Assembly of Connecticut, where the American Shakespeare Festival happens to be located, got officialdom's jump by proclaiming 400 days beginning last July 1 in honor of the Bard.

At the college level, the University of California initiated jubilee year Sept. 12, and fetes are planned by Wayne State, Dartmouth, Princeton and just about every other academy with a drama department, club or auditorium.

When Australians are for the first time seeing Shakespeare under a tent at Adelaide, primary class youngsters from nine towns in suburban Westchester County, N.Y., will be making costumes and rehearsing for their self-financed, grass-roots salvo to genius.

The teacher who whipped up the event explained, "High schools kill Shakespeare, but the grammar school child is not in awe of him."

A lot of big-time commercial productions are yet to come. The Royal Shakespeare Company in England launched its anniversary agenda at London this week, hosts an ambassador-studded processional at the birthplace in April, follows with exhibits at Stratford's Memorial Theater of the Bard's entire historical play cycle.

A $1,400,000 library of memorabilia is also to be unveiled as a new annex to the theater.

In an effort to keep some kind of control over souvenir bazaars inevitable in boom year at such a tourist shrine, the Stratford town fathers are fixing rules of decorum and have decided you can buy a Shakespeare tea towel but not a Shakespeare T-shirt.

Another major British jubilee event will be a March-June festival in London participated in by the Comedie Francaise, West Berlin's Schiller Theater, Dublin's Abbey Group, the Polish Teater Wspolczesny, Greek Arts Theater and Moscow Art Theater. Each will present national classics of their own land.

Visiting the nearby Chichester Theater in April will be the Stratford, Ont., Shakespearean company prior to an at-home season, June 15-Oct. 3.

JOHN WAYNE and Maureen O'Hara star in "McLintock," which is coming in color to the Canyon Drive In Theater here Jan. 29.

'Demonstration' Records Often Bring Out Hit Songs

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Next month a royalty check for more than $100,000 will be heading in the direction of James Gilmer, 23, an Amarillo, Tex., singer who managed to boom in today's boom-or-bust record business.

Gilmer, backed by a lively combo called The Fireballs, rocked out a number called "Sugar Shack" that slugged the teen-age market for 1,200,000 discs, an amazing total in the single-record field.

The record came, oddly enough, from Clovis, N.M. It had been submitted to Dot Records by a music entrepreneur, Norman Petty. And that's how the business bounces nowadays.

Dot headman Randy Wood explained the new era in the oft-times mixed-up record industry:

"A large percentage of single records in the lists today are demonstration records that have been submitted to companies after they have been made. We receive anywhere from 25 to 50 of them a week at Dot, and I make it a point to listen to all of them. Once in a while a 'Sugar Shack' comes along.

"These records are made by combos all over the country and might have been recorded in kitchens or bathrooms, often on home recorders. The quality doesn't matter; we never re-record the ones we pick. It's that original quality we're looking for."

Among the Dot hits that came from demonstration records: Jim Loew's "Green Door," which sold 1,300,000; Robin Luke's "Suzie Darling," 750,000; Dodie Stevens' "Pink Shoelaces"; and Lonnie Donnegan's epic "Does Your Chewing Gum Lose Its Flavor on The Bedpost Overnight?" A half-million seller.

Obviously it pays a record firm to open its mail. It might contain the next No. 1 hit.

"The system works out fine for both sides," explained Wood. "We have less overhead in producing records. And the people who make the record have less taken out of their profits. Of the $3,100,000 earned by 'Sugar Shack,' I doubt if more than $1,000 would be deducted for expenses."

Dot and other big companies have moved increasingly into the more stable album field. When Wood first moved Dot to Hollywood from Memphis, he listed 20 albums. Today he has a thousand. Album sales represent about 80 per cent of income.

Edie Adams Puts Up Good Fight

By DAVID FARMER

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Edie Adams is a singer, actress and comedienne, but she has also pulled off what looks like one of Hollywood's best magic acts.

Edie suddenly found her emotional and financial worlds in ruins when her husband, comedian Ernie Kovacs, was killed in an auto accident two years ago.

She was driven to the brink of bankruptcy, despite huge salaries she and Kovacs had been making.

"Ernie had everything filed in his head," she said in an interview between shows at the Riviera Hotel in Las Vegas. "He had a different lawyer for every phase of our business affairs. I had to untangle it."

Show business friends wanted to stage a benefit for her and the three children, but Edie said no.

"Ernie would be so embarrassed," she told them. She plunged into television shows and nightclub acts on her own.

But the creditors were at the door. One started to foreclose on her daughters' horse.

"That's when I started fighting tooth and nail. It was like the vultures coming in. I refused to declare bankruptcy. I guess that's the Pennsylvania Dutch in me."

Edie even enrolled in a course on advanced federal tax accounting at UCLA. Did that help?

"Oh, yes. I still use the textbook. When I get a wild idea, I look it up in the book first. Numbers aren't my long suit. I can't add two and two."

Edie says she's pretty well out of the woods now, but she still has plenty of expenses.

She sang and did parodies of famous women in her Las Vegas act.

Part of the income goes to maintain the family — Betty, 16; Kippie, 15, and Mia, 4.

"I have a big house. Some of my friends have urged me to sell it, but I'd just have to buy one the same size. I have a couple and a nurse living there.

"I can't work unless I know the children are taken care of."

AIME To Hear Grid Official

"How to Become A Southwest Conference Football Official" will be the topic of a meeting Tuesday night of the local AIME chapter.

The speaker will be Burns McKinney, former college football star and for many years one of the busiest football officials in the Southwest.

The meeting will begin with a social hour at 6:30 p.m. and the dinner session is set for 7:30 p.m. at the Snyder Country Club.

McKinney graduated in 1939 from Hardin - Simmons, where he received a degree in mathematics and physics. He coached football for five years at Paducah and Gainesville. Since 1946 he has been associated with Dowell Inc., and is now their products engineer, living in Midland with his wife, Johnnie, and young daughter, Betsie. His only son, Mike, is a freshman at Texas Tech.

McKinney has been officiating since 1938, and has refereed football games in the Sun Bowl, Gator Bowl and Cotton Bowl, in addition to regular assignments in the Southwest Conference and for other colleges during the regular playing season.

Williams Loses Money In Movie

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Singer Andy Williams is in the movies now and he says it's costing him $150,000.

In these days when you read about Elizabeth Taylor getting millions for "Cleopatra," how does such a popular television and recording star as Williams lose money in making movies?

Williams is co-starred with Sandra Dee and Robert Goulet in "I'd Rather Be Rich." Andy sings in the picture. Goulet, star of Broadway's musical hit "Camelot," does not.

"I'm getting good money for my part in the movie," explains Andy, "but I have to equate it with the concert and other dates I had to turn down.

"There's no other way to figure it. I'm losing $150,000 on the deal — but it's worth it.

"You can only be an international star in movies. So I had to try it. Ross Hunter's pictures make more money consistently than any other producer, so I figure I'm lucky to make my debut with him."

"He's got a natural flair for light comedy," says Hunter. "I watched it on his television show so I decided to cast him as kind of a schnook comedian a la Tony Randall in the movie.

"After a few days, I figured he had romantic appeal also. So we changed the script so the audience won't really know who gets Sandra until the last reel."

Andy said this is not his first offer for the movies.

"I've had several good ones but I figured this is something that I can do well — and I want to come off good in my first movie. Then later on, if I click, I can try the meatier stuff."

Stars Differ On Smoking Issue

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Two film colony views of the smoking crisis—

"I can cure anyone of smoking," says Tony Curtis, the Carrie Nation of cigarettes.

Well, almost anyone. He started with himself a year ago—"before it was so fashionable to quit smoking."

How did he do it?

"One day I decided I wasn't feeling as good as I should," he recalled. "That was on a Sunday. On Monday morning I stopped smoking. I kept telling myself: 'Look, you've gone six hours without a cigarette after 15 years of smoking. Don't you feel good?'

"And I did feel good. By Monday night I was so elated that I wouldn't think of smoking a cigarette. A pipe or a cigar now and then, Yes. But I never think about cigarettes. I never ask people not to smoke in front of me. I never worry about the smell of the smoke getting to me. I'm through, finished."

He doesn't just let it lie there. He has become a zealot to the cause, turning the "Sex and the Single Girl" set into daily meetings of smokers anonymous.

"So far I've got about 12 people on the set to quit entirely—my standin, a prop man, an electrician, two girl standins, etc.," he reported gleefully.

The Curtis method?

"Twenty minutes is all I need," he said. "I give them 20 minutes of talk that is a combination of persuasion, hypnosis and plain old-fashioned bull."

He follows the initial treatment with daily consultations, progress reports and back-pattings and claimed that none of his patients have backslid.

Meanwhile, in another part of the same movie lot, Bette Davis was smoking cigarettes at her usual clip—roughly one every seven minutes.

"The government's report is not exactly new," said the actress, who is making "Where Love Has Gone." "But it does put the facts in official form, and I think it was a very courageous and worthy thing to do.

"Me give up smoking? No, I tried it twice in my life, both times for a month, and it was miserable. For one thing, smoking gives me pleasure. For another, I am not a deep inhaler.

"And I've been smoking so long that I'd probably die sooner by giving it up than I would by continuing."

So saying, she lit up another.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

IXTAPAN, Mexico — Not all corn ceremonies are on television or in the flicker industry these days so let us take a look at the other side of the tortilla.

First thing you have to understand is that corn is a very important item to the Indian. He makes part of his living growing and selling it. Then he eats it in a number of forms (the corn pone hasn't migrated down yet but just give 'em time). And human nature enabled the peasant to figure out formulas for several types of corn refreshments, most of which develop into a 10-aspirin hangover.

So over in Ayutla, which is a little over an hour from here by my flying machine (or 2 hours 12 minutes by plumed serpent), they have a sort of Golden Rule which is used in the corn industry. It translates roughly to "Feed the earth the way you like to be fed."

Of course there are several tribal dieties included in the corn ceremony because there is no sense in offending anyone when it comes to cultivating basic crops.

The Indians offer things like food and corn beer (which they eat and drink themselves in a sort of three-dimensional ceremony) to the gods of lightning and wind. Everybody knows this will assure the local farmers of an ample supply of rain, which is considered essential for the crop.

I'm not sure just how this worked but apparently these gods sit up on a mountain peak watching the festival through field glasses and they say to each other, "Gee, just look at all the nice fodder and corn beer those folks are eating in our honor. We should give them a good supply of rain this year, huh?"

And as a show of good faith, the lightning god fires a huge bolt clear across the sky while the wind god takes a deep breath and blows up a tremendous storm. The party is rained out but nobody really cares since they were working for rain anyhow and probably half the celebrants won't realize they are in a deluge until their wives cork up the jugs and lead them home.

When planting time comes around they hold their own type of Thanksgiving Day in reverse. A farmer is all set to plant his corn so he invites his friends over and picks out a nice turkey while the ladies put together a huge meal.

At lunch time, they send the turkey to his reward and bury it with lots of tortillas and tamales right in the center of the corn patch. And of course the growing gods, who apparently live underground so they can control everything with their scientific gadgets and instruments, have a huge meal and would be a pretty shabby crowd not to give a good corn crop in return.

All of this takes care of the ancestral side of the picture. But the modern Indian also includes Christian prayers in the growing ceremony. After they have taken care of the traditional gods they go to church and take out a little more crop insurance.

Presumably both sides work in unison for the sake of the New Frontier and the farmers get a rousing corn crop.

So lying here in the hammock and contemplating the whole procedure, I naturally have to express my approval. Nobody in his right mind would go against science.

But since the farmers have been using this formula to a certain degree of success for years and years, I believe I will stay where I am and buy my corn down at the corner store and have my turkey served on a small table within reach of the hammock.

There is no sense butting into cultivation procedures when the experts are there ahead of you and doing very well.

30 Persons Slain By Vice Ring

LEON, Mexico (AP) — Some 30 persons are believed by police to have been slain by a prostitution ring that kills to keep discipline.

Investigators said Friday the bodies of 15 teen-age girls and two infants have been uncovered.

State police agent Angel Mota Ayala said the estimate of 30 persons slain by the ring "could go higher."

All but the bodies of two girls have been found at an isolated ranch near Leon, 200 miles west of Mexico City, where the ring's alleged operations were centered.

The remaining two bodies were found at a house of prostitution in a nearby town, San Francisco del Rincon.

Police Chief Enrique Perez Salazar of Guanajuato State, where the ring was smashed earlier this week, said an investigation indicated the disciplinary killings had been going on for 10 years. He said the ring secretly buried its victims.

Perez Salazar said the search for bodies has been spread into six cities. He said Maria del Jesus Gonzalez Valenzuala, 52, and her sister Delfina, 42, are accused as the leaders of the ring.

In addition to Leon and San Francisco del Rincon, Perez Salazar said the search had spread into Mexico's second largest city, Guadalajara; into the popular tourist city of Guanajuato and into Lagos de Moreno.

One of the girls rescued said she was warned she would be killed next Sunday.

Officers said she told them she had been lured from her tiny village into prostitution two years ago by one of the ring's members who promised her a job as a servant.

Indian totem poles served as coats of arms, banners, storybooks — even as notices of unpaid depts. Totem carving became a fine art when Europeans gave northwest coastal Indians their first steel tools.

Paper Can Provide Architectural Interest

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The average room in new homes and apartments resembles a shoe box, lacking architectural details to make it interesting, says designer Douglass Semonin, who put an award-winning paneled room on paper.

One of 20 winning designs selected by the American Institute of Interiór Designers, it can give a room new identity.

"The idea is to enable decorators to change the architecture of a room to some extent, giving the illusion of architectural interest with wallpaper. Everyone is interested in new architectural developments because they are necessary in giving a room distinctive quality," he says.

The paper panels were designed to achieve a series of panels that would be as useful as possible over the largest variety of sizes, he says. From a selection of sizes, the panels should be able to fit into any room.

This involved quite a few techincal problems, Semonin says, but he finally hit on something that "was reasonably simple."

The paper walls come in a three-part plan — a background paper in plain woodgrain; cane panels which can be used with it in a choice of sizes — 18 or 28 inch widths and 6 feet in height; a dado that is 28 inches high. The same dado molding is used inverted at the ceiling.

The woodgrain paper looks like random-width aged oak. Besides a natural look it is available in a variety of colors including red and blue. The aim was to achieve the look of old paneling that had been painted and antiqued, says Semonin.

Cane panels have a darker value behind caning to give greater depth to side walls. Though the cane panels are basically Louis XVI design, they may be used with any furniture because the design has been simplified.

The idea of an entire room of wood paneling on paper already has been expanded since it's inception, says Semonin, because it opens up whole new avenues of thinking. Additional architectural elements are being added to the dado, and they are working on a companion paper for the ceiling, he says.

The effect of trompe l'oeil was achieved by the very realistic design based on an original cane paneling in the library of Louis W. Bowen, from whose wallpaper studios the paper evolved. It can be used in dining rooms, living rooms, bedrooms, doors, screens and in other imaginative ways.

WOULD YOU SAY that natural poisons in plants have killed more persons than man-made poisons on plants?

Cornell University botanist John M. Kingsbury says this is so. More than 700 species of plants in the United States and Canada are known to have caused illness or death in man and animals, he estimates.

Children should be taught never to put in their mouths any portions of plants not recognized certainly as food.

You may think you will recognize poison ivy. But aside from the formation of three leaves, the plant may have shiny, dull or hairy leaves and it may grow as a shurb or a vine. Also harmful to the touch are poison oak, a relative of poison ivy, and poison sumac, an erect shrub or small tree with gray bark. This sumac generally is found in swampy areas.

Prof. Kingsbury says most poisonous plants are poisonous only when eaten. These include hemlock, encountered in wet areas or near streams. The most dangerous part is the dahlialike root cluster.

Two plants with lethal seeds are the precatory or rosary pea, often made into necklaces, and the castorbean, readily available at garden stores. Don't leave these within reach of children.

Leaves of rhubarb, bulbs of hyacinth, narcissus or daffodil and some lily and amaryllis bulbs ae poisonous. Also dangerous are berries, seeds or leaves of oleander, poisettia, wisteria and daphne. Some philodendrons and caladiums are poisonous.

Cornell has extensive facilities for investigating plant poisoning. In one of its gardens are nearly 70 species of poisonous plants.

ALL-AMERICA GLADS

Three glads have been given top honors for 1964 by the All-America Gladiolus Selections, a nonprofit group.

They are LaFrance, developed by Winston Roberts of Boise, Idaho; Blue Sapphire and Snowsprite, both by Carl Fischer.

LaFrance is pink and white with a frosty texture. It has 7 to 9 ruffled flores on a 5 foot spike.

Blue Sapphire is light blue, an early-bloomer with a white throat.

Snowsprite is a dainty miniature with 6 or 7 lacy, recurved white florets with a faint green tinge. The throat has more accented green.

By the time a home workshop enthusiast gets around to buying a drill press, he has had considerable experience with a portable electric drill. This stands him in good stead in the operation of the stationary power tool. Many of the basic rules governing the use of the drill press are the same as those followed in handling the portable drill.

When the material can be brought to the machine, nothing equals the drill press for precision drilling. In addition, the drill press has a surprising versatility, being capable of such other operations as mortising, routing, shaping, planing, sanding, grinding, sawing and polishing. New attachments for this machine are constantly being introduced, enabling it to be used on virtually any type of material in contrast to its original job of drilling holes in metal.

You can get drill presses in floor and bench models. The floor model is complete in the sense that it can be placed anywhere in the workshop and put immediately to work. The bench model, suitable for the average home shop, must be attached to a bench or stand. The size rating of a press is indicated in inches — 12 inches, 15 inches, 18, inches and so on. That means the machine will work to the center of a 12-inch circle, a 15-inch circle or whatever the rating is. The depth of hole that can be bored in one stroke on most home machines is about four inches. Greater depths are possible by using longer bits and either raising the table or lowering the machine head.

Most presses are made so that several speeds can be utilized. It is a fundamental of drilling operations that slower speeds are required for more difficult drilling jobs, especially when using large - size bits.

It is important to use lubricants for certain kinds of drilling. For example, although brass and cast iron are drilled when dry, steel usually should be lubricated with kerosene or sperm oil, aluminum and soft alloys with kerosene or soda water. The manufacturer's instruction booklet will make other suggestions along that line.

In drilling wood, the underside of the work can be prevented from splintering by placing a block of scrap under it. Then when the bit passes through the wood, it will leave a clean, neat edge on the underside of the hole. The drill is pushed into the material by means of a feed lever, which should be operated without excessive pressure. For drilling at an angle, the table tilts to the proper degree and then is locked in place. This enables several holes to be drilled at exactly the same angle.

Metal always should be clamped to the table to keep it from spinning. You may get by a thousand times by holding a piece of metal in your hand while drilling — but one false move and the metal will spin rapidly, almost inevitably causing an accident. Clamp the metal all the time and you take no chances.

QUESTION: I recently purchased a large quantity of sand for use in a concrete project I have in mind. A neighbor took a look at the sand and said he thinks it contains too much silt, which I understand is a mineral soil deposit. He said that the concrete won't come out right if I make it with this sand.

I am willing to forget about using the sand for the concrete, since I have another use for it. But how do I know whether the sand has too much silt and how can I determine whether the next batch I buy will be the same?

ANSWER: Your neighbor is correct about the effect of making concrete with sand containing too much silt. Here is a simple test that will determine whether there is an excessive amount of silt, which is present to some degree in all sand. Pour about two inches of the sand into a small, clean, dry jar. Then add clear water to a point close to the top of the jar. Shake the jar vigorously for a couple of minutes, then set it down. The silt will go to the top, leaving the rest of the water perfectly clear. If the layer of silt is more than one - eight of an inch in depth, the sand has too much silt and is not suitable for making concrete.

If you purchased the sand from a dealer who knew that it was to be used in a concrete mix, he should be willing to exchange it for the right kind. The presence of foreign materials in sand weakens the concrete mix and is one reason why ordinary beach sand is not suitable for this purpose.

Women's Tears Reflect Emotions

When a woman bursts into tears, she may be expressing any number of emotions — often to the consternation of the hapless male.

Many a husband who surprises his wife with a particular gift he thinks she wants is baffled by her sudden flow of tears. More likely than not, she is crying from sheer happiness, but her reaction makes him wonder if he bought the wrong item.

Anger, embarrassment, grief and frustration are among the other feelings that produce a copious flow of tears from the fair sex. Exactly why strong emotions call forth a shower of tears is now known, but researchers have compiled information indicating that women tend to cry less as they become older.

Women ages 16 through 29 seem to "turn on the faucets" more frequently in times of stress, and have a definitely greater flow of tears than men. But there is a decrease in the flow as women grow older, a decrease that is roughly parallel to the increase in age.

Actually, tears are at work all the time, in an inobtrusive manner. We pay little attention to the tiny tear glands, each about the size and shape of a shelled almond, located in the upper outer corner of the eyelid. They function without our being aware of their secretion, except when emotions stimulate a heavy flow of tears.

Tears perform the everyday function of protecting the eyes by constantly washing them.

Except when eyes are closed, water continuously evaporates from the cornea or outer wall of the eyeball. Dryness will set a winking reflex in action. By this momentary reflex — just a wink — a thin layer of tears is spread over the eye, keeping it clean and lubricated.

All in all, tears perform a rather remarkable service in helping to make vision clear, clean and comfortable. But when the little woman lets them go in large amounts, it's often a source of bewilderment to the average man.

Hospital Auxiliary To Purchase Soft Drink Machine

The executive committee of the Hospital Auxiliary met Jan. 16 at 9 o'clock in the hospital dining room.

The snack bar is now open on Sunday from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. A list of rules for auxiliary members were revised and reported at the meeting by Marianne Robertson.

A soft drink machine is to be purchased by the Hospital Auxiliary and is to be installed in the snack bar.

Biscuit Tricks For You To Try

Here's a basic biscuit recipe with three tasty, unusual variations — a snack, a breakfast sweet roll and a luncheon main dish. Try these or think of others your family will especially enjoy.

BASIC BISCUITS

2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup shortening
2-3 to ¾ cup milk

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut or rub in shortening until mixture is crumbly. Blend in enough milk to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead gently 30 seconds. Roll out ½-inch thick. Cut with floured biscuit cutter or sharp knife. Place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in very hot oven (450 F.) 10 to 12 minutes or until lightly browned.

Makes 12 medium biscuits.

Large Art Collection Hangs In N.Y. Mansion

By MILES A. SMITH
AP Arts Editor

NEW YORK, AP — One of the few great art collections remaining in private hands lies behind the dignified, white stone facade of a turn-of-the-century mansion of West 54th Street.

Its scope is European art of all kinds, from the Middle Ages to the 20th Century. In that field, some experts call it the best in the Western Hemisphere.

It is the collection of Robert Lehman, 71-year-old investment banker. The house was built for his father, Philip. His father and mother began collecting in 1911 — while Robert still was at Yale. The son soon began helping to add new acquisitions, and long before his father's death in 1947 he had become a major collector. He still is at it.

The carefully guarded mansion is a private museum. Because of the quality as well as the size of the collection, Theodore Rousseau wrote in "Great Private Collections," just published by MacMillan, that "nothing like it has been brought together in America during the 20th Century."

This museum has something few public museums ever could hope to attain so fully — the psychologically intimate impact of seeing masterpieces in the setting of a fine home.

The paintings, sculptures, porcelains, glass and other art objects are shown in rooms with appropriate decorations, tables, chairs, chests and tapestries.

Entering the first floor salon, you find a decor of subdued shades of light green and olive green, complementing the muted golden backgrounds of early Italian paintings. A similar room back of the salon contains further examples — the Sienese school being especially strong — plus rare pieces of majolica and lustre.

Up a black marble staircase, lined principally with Renaisance paintings, you find one of the most impressive scenes in the house. In a drawing room lined with dull red velvet, an El Greco, "Saint Jerome as Cardinal," blazes over the mantel. It is flanked by two Rembrandt portraits, one early and the other late. On another wall is El Greco's "Christ Carrying the Cross." Across from the fireplace is a huge double portrait by Goya. There are smaller works by Velasquez, de Hooch and Terborch.

On the third floor the most stunning room contains a glowing collection of early Flemish art, its live colors standing out against a sand - color background. Because of its rarity and historical importance, "The Legend of Saint Eligious" by Petrus Christus probably is the most valuable single object in the whole collection — which includes about 1,000 works. But for sheer beauty it has competition from several others, particulatly Memling's "Portrait of a Young Man."

The major room on the fourth floor is devoted to about 100 outstanding drawings, featuring such names as da Vinci, Rembrandt, Durer, Goya, Fragonard and others.

There are a dozen rooms in all, plus many corridors, stairways and alcoves. One room is devoted to the famous names of the 19th Century. But many paintings in this category, along with many drawings, hang in the 18-room Park Avenue apartment which the Lehmans continue to live in.

Most of the Lehman collection was shown in 1957 at the Cincinnati Art Museum and at L'Orangerie in Paris. From 1954 to about a year ago, 90 major paintings were on loan to the Metropolitan Museum of Art, of which Lehman is a vice president. The mansion has not been occupied since 1947, but in the last few years has been refurbished to display the collection.

At present only invited guests — friends of the family, and visiting art scholars and curators — get to see these treasures.

On one occasion — and a similar event is planned later — the house was opened for several days to nearly 1,000 ticket purchasers ($50 each), the proceeds going to New York University's Institute of Fine Arts. Lehman is honorary chairman of the institute's advisory council.

It is interesting that the early Italian, gold-background paintings of the 13th, 14th and 15th Centuries are such an important part of the collection. This results in part from an influence that began when Robert Lehman still was at Yale (class of 1913).

In the university's museum are the rare Italian primitives collected many years ago by a pioneer among American art lovers, James Jackson Jarves, which drew the young student's attention.

Lehman's interest in this field also was furthered by his long, close friendship with the scholar and expert Bernard Berenson.

The paintings from the Sienese school include early works ascribed to Duccio and his followers; Segna, Ugolino, Simone Martini and Lippo Vanni.

Another group demonstrates that the Sienese were clinging to medieval traditions well into the 15th Century, even though the Renaissance had burgeoned in nearby Florence, Sassetta, Giovanni di Paola and San di Pietro are among these artists.

The early Flemish paintings include rare works by Gerard David Aelbert Bouts, Joos Van Cleve and the Master of the St. Ursula Legend, as well as a delicately beautiful "Rest on the Flight Into Egypt" by Isenbrandt.

French paintings of the Renaissance period are rare, but this collection contains one major work, a "Portrait of Suzanne de Bourbon" by an artist known only as the Master of Moulins.

The collection is highly varied. There is fine Venetian glass. There is a selection of illuminated manuscripts, including such items as a medieval view of Paris from a "Book of Hours of Etienne Chevalier" by Fouquet. And there are rare enamels, aquamaniles, medallions and jewelry.

Renaissance Giant Portrayed

HENRY OF NAVARRE. By Hesketh Pearson.

Here is "The King Who Dared," as the book's subtitle puts it.

It would take a good many adjectives — colorful, brave, lustful, humane, wise, etc. — to round out a description of this man who became King of France as Henry IV. He was born in 1553 and was assassinated by a fanatic in 1610.

Pearson is an experienced biographer who approaches his subject with affection; thus his portrayals have the warmeth of life. He tells his story with wit and many a neat turn of phrase; hence he is almost as unique among biographers as his subject was among monarchs.

As a personality Henry was a pretty dashing figure. He was grave to the point of rashness in war and personal combat, and a lover with a dazzling assortment of mistresses. Living in an age when people literally lived life to the hilt, he missed few of the excitements of his age.

As a monarch he made France into a nation for the first time, by ending a whole series of civil wars between the Catholics and Protestants. Pearson also credits him with formulating a policy of alliances to offset the dominating power of the many Hapsburg rulers.

He ruled and balanced the factions of his kingdom with an amazing spirit of forgiveness, and certainly had one quality missing from the royal families of Europe — a sense of humor.

Pearson presents Henry as a man far ahead of his times, thoroughly civilized in a day when this was exceptional, and an individual who would be an intelligent ornament of the modern age.

Henry once agreed with a biographer that his own failings (particularly his weakness for women) should be set down as a lesson to his son. Pearson does even better by revealing "the failings as an integral part of (his) virtues and therefore necessary to an understanding of his character."

There is a vivid portrait of a giant, in an age of Renaissance giants, in this book.

Add the grated rind of an orange to a pastry recipe for a nine-inch double-crust pie.

'Adding To' Purchase May Cost Too Much

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Women often are attracted to a house for sentimental reasons. They will jump at the chance to buy a house that has charm and one outstanding feature, and so many other drawbacks that it doesn't even make sense. Sometimes there isn't even room for the family.

"We can always add to it," are famous last words that have made some families miserable.

For one thing — you can't always add to it.

And for another — you can't always afford to add to it.

There is a notion among house buyers that if you buy an eight-room house for say $32,000 that you should certainly be able to add additional rooms at less than $4,000 each. This doesn't always work out. Adding to a house can be a rich man's hobby, unless he can get materials at cost and do the work himself, or he lives in an area where labor is very cheap.

People who have had the experience of putting additions to a structure say they were appalled at the cost. In many cases they found it far better to sell the house and move to a larger one.

There are other reasons for deciding against an addition. If it is tacked on to a tiny house in a tiny - house neighborhood, it may look off base. Many people do not like the big-fish-in-a little-pond look, so the improvement may not increase the value of the house when the time comes to sell it.

Even if one has lots of land so that he could add without affecting the original appearance of the house, an addition is very serious business. As costs of materials rise, we may not be able to duplicate the look of the old dwelling.

There is a wide margin in bids in the same neighborhoods, in some instances. Local carpenters often work for much less than high - powered contractors with a big overhead. Local men have learned how to cut corners, and often are willing to employ ingenuity that can save their neighbors money. But a contractor with a big overhead may make the cost of adding to a house such a financial burden that you can't carry it.

A recent case in point are two houses, one - quarter of a mile from each other.

One addition by a local carpenter was a room 15 by 15 with a closet at a cost of $3,300 and a bathroom at a flat fee of $1,200. The other house had a room 15 by 20 feet, several closets and a deluxe bathroom with built - in basin and dressing table. The cost — $12,000, half the cost of the original house.

The owner of the more expensive addition admitted that he could never get his money out of the house if he were to sell. But meanwhile the addition conforms to the house and the family loves it.

The less - expensive addition was done with wallboard instead of plaster and some other inexpensive features. But it falls into the pattern of the rest of the home.

Whenever there is the remotest idea that the house may not serve in the future unless it has additional rooms, it is well to discuss it with an architect or builder before purchasing it.

This was done recently by a couple who planned to buy a romantic looking little salt box for $26,000 (including four acres of choice land worth around $10,000). The wife talked so much about adding to the little house that her husband finally insisted that she find out for herself how much it would cost.

She wanted to add about 10 x 20 feet to the living room, requiring the removal of an existing wall, making use of a foundation that was laid for a terrace. She was amazed at the estimate of $9,000.

They couldn't swing it, and the woman had to admit that she couldn't be happy with the small living room. They are big people, their furniture is large and her husband finally confessed that the low-beamed ceilings made him feel uncomfortable.

Pepper Beans

½ pound snap beans
1 large green pepper
½ cup boiling water
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Freshly ground pepper to taste

Cut ends from beans; scrub in cold water and drain. Cut beans in 1-inch lengths with slanted ends. Wash and seed pepper; cut into pieces about size of beans. In a 1-quart covered saucepan gently boil the snap beans, green pepper, water, salt and onion until beans are tender - crisp — about 10 minutes. Drain off any liquid. Add butter, more salt if necessary, and pepper. Makes 4 servings.

Mrs. Smith Entertains AAUW

Mrs Nellie Smith was hostess for the January meeting of Snyder Branch of the American Association of University Women, Thursday evening. Assisting her in serving were Miss Vela Bell and Mrs. J. M. Glass. Table appointments were an exquisite lace cloth over pink taffeta, silver, crystal and china, centered by a lovely arrangement of pink roses.

Mrs. Smith, program chairman, presented a guest speaker, Mr. Jim Erwin, who spoke on the topic, "The American Family in a Changing World."

Mr. Erwin expressed the opinion that parents and children become involved in activities outside the home by choice: "We don't have to live and adjust to the fast pace; we can reject it if we want family to have the meaning of our past culture when parents were always home at night."

"Home is the place for morale and morale building, children are challenged enough in the neighborhood and in school . .We influence success and spirit by our own behavior. . .Time is still just a measure of time, and just like the functions of family relations. . .has not changed."

Mrs. Travis Rhoades presided for a brief business meeting at which time Mrs. Allan Ilfrey made the annual report for the legislative committee.

Refreshments were served to 19 members and two guests, Mrs. Byron Taylor and Miss Ethel Roberts.

Sorority To Have Chili Supper

The Lambda Kappa Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met for their regular business meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the community room of Snyder Savings and Loan building.

The meeting was called to order by Carol Patterson, president. Old business was read and new business was discussed. A chili supper for the members will be held after the meeting on January 21. Mrs. Hugh Elledge will be guest speaker and present a program on "The Garden."

Refreshments of chips, dips and Cokes were served by Carol Patterson and Pam Mengwasser to Frances Shamburger, Barbara Gilbert, Mary Lou Scott, Gene Terrell, Barbara Novikoff, Pat Allen, Eilene Snyder, Betty Winkles, Helen Gilbert, Pat Pate, Mary Ragsdale, Patty Slater, Annette Walker and Jacque Ayers.

C. L. Noble To Present Color Film

Travis Jr. High Parent Teacher Association will meet Monday, January 20, 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria.

Mr. C. L. Noble, long time Snyder resident and noted traveller will present color film strips of his travels in Thialand, Hong Kong, The Philippines, and Japan.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

QUEEN CANDIDATE—Mrs. Billy Jack (Betty) Hunter will represent the Iota Psi Chapter in the annual Epsilon Sigma Alpha District Queen contest which is being held in Kermit today. Interviews will be in street dress and final judging will be in "after five" dress. Mrs. Wayne Pitner, (standing) president of the Iota Psi Chapter, is pictured above with the candidate as she selects a hat for the occasion.

Stanfield P-TA Meet

Stanfield Parent Teachers Association met Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Clois Talbott, president.

Mr. Bob Taylor gave the devotion. The president introduced Mr. C. A. Skains, Boy Scout leader of Troop No. 177. The troop presented the Boy Scout Court of Honor. Mr. Skains presented badges and awards to the following scouts, Warren Harkins, George Ator, Stevie Boydston, Tony Scott, Dennis Foster, Jimmy Rannefeld and Eddye Byers.

The president made an announcement about the in-service program, sponsored by the City Council P-TA. The programs will be held on Tuesday night for six consecutive weeks. These meetings will be held at Stanfield Elementary from 7 to 9 p.m. The program for Tuesday, Jan. 21 will be a panel discussion led by Bob Womack. Everyone is urged to attend these meetings.

Mrs. Ollie Peek, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker Rev. Harry Vanderpool who spoke on the subject, "The Family: A Firm Home Base."

Room count went to the first grade room of Mrs. Ruby Anderson.

ALL ABOUT BABIES

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

WATCH THOSE TOYS—

By Thomas F. Lambert, Jr.
Editor-in-Chief, Law Journal
National Association of Claimants' Counsel of America

The purchase of toys for babies and young children should be done with great care and consideration.

For the past few years our organization has sponsored with an ASP membership a unique committee called the Products Liability Exchange, whose purpose it is to gather and exchange information concerning products which have been known to cause accidents.

With the assistance of the 10,000 attorneys who are members of our Association and who have handled thousands of liability cases in the courts, the Products Liability Exchange has developed the following pointers parents should follow when purchasing toys for babies and young children:

1. All edges should be smooth.
2. There should be no pointed or projecting parts.
3. Toys should be large enough so they cannot be easily chewed or swallowed.
4. All toys should be coated with a non-toxic paint.
5. Consider the construction and materials. Will baby or a young child be able to easily break, crush or rip the toy into pieces that may be potentially harmful.
6. Consider the age of the baby or the young child. Is he old enough to handle the toy safely?
7. Toys that contain spring mechanisms are for the older child.
8. Spark - producing toys are for the older child. Sparks should be weak enough not to cause harm or fire.
9. Wrappings including plastic bags should be removed before the toy is given to baby or the child.
10. Before buying, inspect the toy carefully and read any instructions, directions or warnings that may be printed on the package.

Accidents do not just happen. Sometimes a manufacturer has overlooked a potentially harmful element in a toy. It is therefore the duty of every parent to report any accident involving toys to the manufacturer so that measures may be taken to prevent any recurrence.

Sometimes accidents are caused by a toy poorly selected for the baby or the young child to whom it is given.

Properly selected safe toys can be more than playthings. They can offer the baby and the young child the opportunity to exercise his developing senses and help him explore the world further.

Britons Learning, But U. S. Politics Still Puzzles Them

By TOM OCHILTREE

LONDON (AP) — Ten years ago the British were prepared to agree that Americans were much like Britons except that the Americans put ice in their whisky and selected their presidents by odd political arrangements.

Iced drinks are common in London today but the old belief persists that the American political system is cumbersome and needlessly complex.

"Crazy-quilt politics," old boys sunk deep in the leather chairs of St. Jame's clubs are sometimes heard to snort.

British newspapers keep thrashing around for some way to explain a primary election to their readers. They use terms like "intra-party election," "preliminary test of strength" and "practice run."

The fact that a presidential contender can win a primary in a state and still lose control of it in the subsequent national convention confuses even well informed Britons.

The American political convention with its balloons, marching bands and speeches about "the man who," excites the British.

"So jolly," they say.

British political life is much grayer in tone. Attempts to inject trans-Atlantic color into British party proceedings have died a self-conscious death.

Every year more Britons acquire an understanding of American politics, however, and the desire to know increases. Various communications media, including The Associated Press with its service to British newspapers, help this process. So does the U.S. Embassy.

In March the embassy will distribute 12,000 pamphlets defining American political practices. These will go to universities, members of Parliament, government officials and political writers.

An American presidential election no longer is regarded as exclusively an American preoccupation, says a British government official. Because of the power of the United States, an American national election is important in some degree to everyone in the world.

Interested as they are, the British make a studied effort not to take sides in an American election. When they talk about leadership, they mean clearly defined guidance for the Western world geared to progressive, outward looking policies. Which American party provides that leadership is immaterial, the British insist.

While an American election campaign runs almost for a year a British campaign runs hardly more than three weeks, although preliminary maneuvering takes place for a much longer time. The prime minister picks the date for the voting.

There is no balloting in Britain for leaders on a nationwide basis. The 35 million voters are divided into 630 districts. Each district elects one member of the House of Commons.

Thus, the only people who will vote directly this year for Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home are the Scottish residents of lonely West Perthshire, his district. Labor party leader Harold Wilson will run in the Huyton district of industrial Lancashire.

If Conservative party candidates win the most seats in the House of Commons, Douglas-Home will continue as prime minister. If the Laborites win the most Wilson will form a new government.

Fletcher Christian, nine other sailors from the "Bounty" and 19 Polynesians left Tahiti in 1789 secretly to colonize Pitcarin Island. The initial settlement has grown to more than 150.

Kuching Is Fearful Of Terrorism

By CONRAD FINK

KUCHING, Malaysia (AP) — A tragic pattern familiar to scores of Southeast Asian cities may be developing in this tiny jungle capital on the island of Borneo.

Nervous citizens whisper about terrorist bands loose in the countryside. Young helicopter pilots jam the bars, excitedly reliving the day's flights. Soldiers pack rifles under a tropical sun.

It is almost like the cities of South Viet Nam and Laos — and many here fear that Kuching is in for what has happened in Saigon and Vientiane.

Under a canopy of big power politics, the specter of revolt has been raised by disgruntled factions, foreign intruders and a highly disciplined Communist organization.

Bloodshed so far has been limited, but nerve-shattering, for citizens of Sarawak state, who gained independence from Britain Sept. 16 and joined in forming the federation of Malaysia.

British troops, guarding the queen's former possession under a defense agreement with Malaysia, have taken the heaviest losses and are carrying the burden of trying to stamp out terrorists.

There are about 5,000 British troops in Sarawak. Britons also man the main line of defense in neighboring Sabah, formerly British North Borneo.

The question for most everyone here is, "What will Sukarno do?"

The Indonesian president is regarded by most in Kuching as the mastermind of the young federation's troubles. British officials insist that Indonesian army officers and noncoms are leading raids over the border out of Indonesian Borneo.

More than 60 Indonesian army men are listed as among the dead of terrorist bands trapped by British commandos or Gurkhas on the Sarawak side of the border. Seven Indonesians, who the British say were captured in jungle ambushes, have been tried and convicted of leading raids or training revolutionaries within Sarawak.

Some officials in Kuching fear that Sukarno, as a foe of Malaysia, picked Sarawak as the place for a showdown. Others regard Indonesia as a military and economic paper tiger, huffing and puffing in hopes the Malaysians and their British protectors will pack up and leave, as the Dutch left a section of Borneo.

According to reports reaching Kuching, terrorist bands operating out of Indonesian territory haven't done well tactically in any case where the mission was to attack British units directly.

The British, who developed the techinque to an art in the Malaya war against Communists, respond quickly with helicopter-lifted troops to cut off trails leading through dense jungle to safe havens on the Indonesian side.

It is nearly impossible, however, to seal the hundreds of miles along the border. The British are succeeding primarily in reacting after attacks, not in halting them.

Junior Editors Quiz on MOHAIR

QUESTION: What is mohair—is it like alpaca?

• • •

ANSWER: Mohair and alpaca, both from the coats of animals, are often confused; but they come from different animals, living far away from each other. Perhaps the confusion is because cloth woven from both fibers is soft and luxurious looking.

Mohair fibers come from the silky fleece of the Angora goat, whose body is covered with long hanging locks which have a natural curl. Extra curls are often added by a machine process. These fibers are woven into a beautiful long lasting cloth widely used for clothes and upholstery. Sometimes cotton and nylon fibers are added. This cloth is regarded as a smart material for girls' dresses. Angora is the older name of a city in Turkey (see map) now called Ankara, in the vicinity of where the goats originally came from. Some are now raised in the United States.

The alpaca is an animal living in South America, in the mountains of Chile, Bolivia and Peru. It resembles the llama and camel. The wool is rich and makes soft warm blankets used by the South Americans and is also in demand for coats, such being popular in Europe and the United States. Sheeps' wool and cotton fibers are often added to alpaca.

FOR YOU TO DO: Watch in shop windows to see if you can find clothing called mohair, so you can get an idea of what it looks like. Perhaps your family will have some. 1-18
