The Ladies All Love A Beard?

It's valentine time almost in Spearman, and these bearded men typify some of the latest styles in beards! They are all fine young men, leaders in our community, and they say that beards are just a part of them, not necessarily a "style!" And, they do serve to keep the face warmer.

County Incumbents Draw Opponents

County politics promise to be exciting this year with three contested races on the local scene.

Incumbent John L. Hutchison and Cecil R. Biggers have both filed for the county attorney position. Hutchison was appointed by Hansford County Commissioners in the summer of 1979 to fill the vacancy created when J.E. Blackburn resigned the position to become District Judge. Both men have practiced law in Spearman for several years.

Sheriff R.L. McFarlin has drawn an opponent in his bid for reelection. He is Jim Ivey, a Spearman resident for several years, who has law enforcement experience.

County Commissioner Precinct 3 incumbent B.J. Renner is opposed by John P. Armes.

Helen Dry, has filed for re-election as Tax Assessor and Collector, and Garland M. Head has filed for re-election for the Commissioner Precinct 1 position.

In the running for state senator is incumbent Representative Jack Hightower, who took office in 1974 and is opposed for a new term by Ron Slover, Republican from Amarillo.

State Senator Bob Price is opposed in his run for re-election by Gerald McCathern, Democrat and farmer-rancher from Hereford and Bill Sarpius, Democrat, also from Hereford.

All three of the men who are running for state representative, 64th district, either live in Hansford County or have lived here. J.W. (Buck) Buchanan of Dumas, is a former Spearman resident, and Glen Harris of Gruver have announced their candidacy for the position on the Democratic ticket. R.C. Porter, Spearman farmer and rancher, is a candidate on the Republican ticket.

There are no statewide offices open for election this year.

84th Judicial District Judge J.E. Blackburn has filed for election to the office to which he was appointed in 1979. He is being opposed in the Democratic Primary by John W. LaGrone, county attorney of Hutchinson County.

District Attorney Steve Cross has filed for re-election.

THIS IS THE CONTRACT that pushed the Northwest Texas Grain Products Cooperative drive to 3.5-million bushels. Jim Dowty (seated) vice president, is set to record the contract, handed to him by Tommy Harbert, president. Looking on are directors, from the right, Jim Mayer of Dalhart, Marion Garland of Sunray and Dwayne TeBeese of Gruver. The contract is from Howard Moore of Dumas.

R. C. Porter formally announces candidacy

R.C. PORTER

R.C. Porter of Spearman this week formally announced his candidacy for State Representative, Texas 64th Legislative District, subject to the 1980 elections.

This is the office presently filled by State Representative Bob Close of Perryton, who is not seeking re-election.

Porter, 55, is a candidate on the Republican ticket and has been a Hansford county farmer all his adult life. He is a U.S. Navy Veteran World War II and for 12 years has been a school trustee in the Spearman school district, six years of that time as board president.

In a statement to the voters he says: "I subscribe to the philosophy of government as declared by Thomas Jefferson:

The best government is that which governs least.

"We have a top-heavy government today in Austin and Washington, with expanding bureaus that encroach on local government to the detriment of the people they should serve."

"I favor and will work in Austin for a return to government near at hand. The closer government is to the people, the more responsive it is to their needs--and the more economical. Most governmental functions should be as near as the courthouse and city hall."

"With most people in our district, I see the need for practical business management in government and in law-making for Texas. We get too many laws framed for special interests and laws that are impractical to ridiculous."

"I have operated a farming business all my adult life; I have met payrolls, loan payments and other business costs--and I submit that this experience equips me to serve the people of the 64th district in a practical, effective way as your state representative."

"Especially do I feel that there is a need to limit the growth of state agencies, whose size and cost increase each year without benefit to the citizens of Texas."

"As a school trustee I have been alarmed at the rate at which Washington and Austin are assuming control of our schools, and I believe this trend can be halted by practical laws that leave to local citizens the decision on how their schools will function, to educate their children as they think best."

"We think it essential to limit the time a person may serve in the U.S. Presidency, the most powerful office in the world, but there is no limit on legislative terms. This leads to disproportionate influence wielded by persons who remain long periods in office, with the results that their constituents get more representation than most districts get. I appreciate Rep. Bob Close's decision to step down after three terms; he has done voluntarily that which should be required; I will work to limit the time anyone can serve in an elective office."

"And I will not seek more

Pathway now clear for gasohol plant

More than 3½-million bushels of grain have been committed by growers -- and more still is coming in -- to clear the way for establishment of a farmer-owned fuel alcohol plant on the North Plains, organizers of the alcohol plant announced Friday.

The project has been in development for several months by the Northwest Texas Grain Products Co.

operative, an organization of several hundred grain growers over nine North Plains counties.

In addition to committing the 3½-million bushels of grain, farmers in the NTGPC have paid in $175,000 in money to develop and advance the alcohol plant.

The plant, as proposed in planning, will produce 20 million gallons, or more, of fuel alcohol a year. It is of special interest to farmers in providing a new and expanding market for feed grains - grain sorghum, wheat and corn.

Announcement of the success of the growers sign-up drive was announced Friday by Tommy Harbert, Dumas, president of the NWTGPC, who pointed out that memberships in the cooperative will continue to be accepted.

Next step for the project is a feasibility study to determine the practicability of a fuel alcohol plant on the North Plains, and its location. Harbert is optimistic for the outcome of the study, optimism based on studies made in the area by industry groups. He and other members of the cooperative board of directors believe the study will be completed in four to six weeks.

"As a matter of policy, the board has decided to continue accepting members until the study is formally presented to the NWTGPC membership," Harbert adds.

The interest in fuel alcohol has boomed in recent weeks, spurred by the Iranian crisis and by directives from President Jimmy Carter for federal programs to encourage plants for the product.

Gasohol, usually a blend of 10 percent alcohol with 90 percent gasoline, has been recommended as a high performance motor fuel, clean burning and with limited air pollution.

In the North Plains area, Diamond-Shamrock Corp. has declared plans to blend gasohol through its refinery in Moore county and to market the fuel through the area. An associated D-S company, Sigmor Shamrock Service Stations, has been selling the fuel through central and south Texas for several weeks.

Grain residue from production of fuel alcohol - or ethanol - has a practical and high value as a food supplement for humans and for cattle feed, sponsors of the project point out. Carbon dioxide can be another salable by-product, they add.

In other developments last week, the cooperative board met with several investors interested in putting up financing for the plant.

That meeting was held Friday afternoon in Dumas, where the NWTGPC is presently headquartered.

"We are in a unique position now because of increased interest in fuel alcohol," points out Jim Dowty, NWTGPC vice-president. "Investors are beginning to contact us instead of the co-op seeking out investors."

Also a steering committee meeting for a national fuel alcohol cooperative has been scheduled Feb. 8 in Kansas City, Mo.

The committee is composed of representatives from three Texas co-ops and others from Indiana, North Dakota and Kansas.

policy on the state and national levels and the implications for water importation.

Since the organization was founded in 1976, Water, Inc., as supported water importation as the solution to offset declining groundwater supplies on the High Plains of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico. Unless groundwater supplies in the region are eventually augmented, the area's agricultural productivity, which relies extensively on irrigation, will be significantly diminished.

Water, Inc., is supported entirely by the voluntary membership contributions of 1,500 individuals and businesses from throughout the region. Membership in the non-profit corporation is open to all persons interested in assuring a solid future for the High Plains.

than six years in office, if you elect me your state representative. By that action, incidentally, I will forego the pension which goes with eight years or more of legislative service."

And Porter concludes: "I expect to finance most of my campaign myself and will limit such contributions as I receive to $25--to be free to serve everyone of us without having to resist pressure from large contributors. My pledge is to work for you diligently and to solicit and be responsive to your views."

Clarendon College Has Record Enrollment

Final statistics released by the registrar's office of Clarendon College shows the college has 772 students enrolled for the spring semester, the largest spring enrollment ever for the panhandle college. The enrollment is a 9% increase over the 705 students enrolled at the institution last spring. The final enrollment figures are a total head count of academic, vocational, adult-vocational and community services classes.
The Clarendon College - Pampa
Center enrolled 424 students.
The center is offering 30 academic courses and a number of community service programs.
The center has scheduled both daytime and evening classes this semester. Enrollment for other area towns in which Clarendon College is offering courses this spring are: Shamrock - 19; Childress - 11;
Turkey-Quitaque - 21.

The college has steadily grown over the past years as new program offerings have been added to the curriculum and out of town schedules have increased. Officials at Clarendon College are elated with the progress the institution is making. Dr. Bob E. Riley, Dean of Instruction, stated that, "The increased enrollment at Clarendon College is certainly satisfying. We feel that this is a direct result of our attempts to meet the educational needs in our service area. We are certain that individual attention and concern for the welfare of our students is paying off when many of our students transfer to Clarendon College from larger institutions."

Make a perfectly shaped Valentine cake with just two cake pans -- a square one and a round one -- and share it with someone you love.

Here's how:
From a commercial cake mix or from a from-scratch recipe, make one eight-inch square layer cake and one eight-inch round layer cake.

Cut the round layer into two equal parts.
Place the cut edge of each round layer portion on adjacent edges of the square cake, and you have a heart-shaped cake without having to buy a heart-shaped cake pan.

Use your favorite icing and decorate the cake as desired for a quick and simple Valentine treat.

If you're history-minded, here are some other tidbits for mulling as you make the cake or share it with someone.

There are many ideas about how the name Valentine came to be connected with the day on which lovers send tokens of affection to one another.

One is based on the belief throughout Europe during the Middle Ages that the birds began to mate on February 14.

In addition to honoring Saint Valentine, February, 1980 takes on an extra-special air of romantic antiquity -- with the observance of "Lovers Leap Season," or "Leap Year."

This holiday occurs once every four years with the appearance of an extra day in February -- "Leap Day" -- and retains the mysterious belief that women may propose marriage to men with perfect propriety throughout the entire year.

According to an old English saying, ladies may propose during Leap Year, and, if rejected, they may claim a silk gown.

And in many a European town or country, there allegedly have been laws to legalize the custom!

But the mystery remains to be solved: nobody knows just how this tradition got started, and no satisfactory explanation has ever been offered.

In the United States, in New England there used to be a curious belief that during Leap Year beans grow on the wrong side of the pod.

No matter what the origin or belief of Valentine customs, you can still share the heart-shaped cake with a special person.

With life demanding more and more machines it would be a good idea to build some of them to last longer.

Standard Oil of Ohio makes huge 1979 profits.

Golden Gleams

Power is never stable when it is boundless.

-Tacitus.

Let not thy will roar when thy power can but whisper.

-Thomas Fuller.

A power over a man's subsistence amounts to a power over his will.

-Alexander Hamilton.

A power above all human responsibility ought to be above all human attainment.

-C.C. Colton.

Power is not revealed by striking hard or often, but by striking true.

-Balzar.

The imbecility of men is always inviting the impudence of power.

-R.W. Emerson.

Ginger Pittman, wife of Bill Pittman, is Rho Rho Valentine Girl this year. She attended Gruver High School and graduated from the University of Texas with a BBA in accounting. She pledged Beta Sigma Phi in the fall of 1976 and has served as Treasurer and service chairman. She and Bill have a 2 year old son, Bill Jack. Ginger's hobbies include tennis and snow skiing.

Mary Dixon is the Xi Beta Upsilon Chapter Valentine Girl. She is the wife of Perry Dixon and the mother of Monty, Mike and Carlee. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Archer. Mary is currently serving as President of her Chapter because of her past experience with other offices and chairmanships. She has been in sorority about 10 years. Mary's hobbies include snow skiing and reading, and she is a member of the First United Methodist Church.

Preceptor Epsilon Zeta's Valentine Girl for this year is Barbara Schnell. She is the wife of Louis Schnell and mother of James Schnell of Spearman and Tricia Nash of Betburg, Germany. She has one grandson, Clint Schnell of Spearman. Barbara is the daughter of Mrs. Annie Allen and the late Garrett Allen. She grew up in Spearman and owns a drapery shop here now. Donated To Rehab

More than $20,000 was raised from the sale of 114 handmade quilts and afghans donated to the West Texas Rehabilitation Center for Rehab '80.

Because not all of the donated needlework was displayed on the air during the telethon on Jan. 26, the bidding was extended through Jan. 31 and the quilts and afghans were displayed in the Gist Memorial Center, WTRC, Abilene.

A steady stream of visitors viewed the quilts and afghans, inspecting the delicate handwork and bidding as much as $2,000 for a single quilt.

No full-sized quilt was sold for less than $100 and most brought $300 or more. Afghans sold for approximately $100 apiece.

Quilting clubs, senior citizens groups and individuals from West Texas and Oklahoma contributed the coverlets to WTRC. "We are so appreciative of the time and work put in by these people to help the West Texas Rehabilitation Center," executive director Shelley V. Smith said. "We know how much love has gone into making each one of these beautiful quilts and afghans. The money we receive will mean many hours of treatment for the handicapped."

Rehab '80, the tenth annual telethon benefitting WTRC, raised more than $800,000 in gifts and pledges. This year's budget for the facility in Abilene, San Angelo and Snyder will be approximately $2.7 million.

Have A Heart

The American Heart Association carries on a national educational campaign to create public awareness and recognition of the early signs of heart attack.

Heart attack is the greatest killer in the United States (more than 660,000 deaths annually). All should therefore be interested in the signs which give first indications of its approach.

The AHA says the most common are (1) Prolonged oppressive pain or discomfort in the center of the chest; (2) Pain radiation to the shoulder, arm, neck or jaw; (3) Sweating accompanying the pain, perhaps nausea, vomiting or shortness of breath.

These symptoms, the AHA says, often subside and return at a later time.

Bible Study Set

Reformed Center of the Southwest has scheduled a three day, pre-Lenten program of Biblical study on February 10, 11, 12 (Sunday, Monday, Tuesday) in Amarillo under the leadership of Donald G. Miller, Ph.D., who for most of his ministry was professor of New Testament in Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Virginia; who in subsequent years was president of Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; and pastor of a Laurinburg, North Carolina Presbyterian Church; who has written on Biblical preaching, and who is widely known in all Presbyterian and Reformed denominations.

Dr. Miller will deliver lectures for the lay and ministerial public on the evening of February 10, 11, 12 on pre-Lenten themes, at 7:30 p.m. There will be opportunity for discussion and questions, with a following fellowship period. Sessions will be held in Amarillo's Westminster Presbyterian Church, 2525 Winberley.

Dr. Miller will lead a seminar for ministers on preaching on Tuesday, February 12, from 9:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. in Amarillo's First Presbyterian Church, 1100 S. Harrison.

Perryton Crusade Dates Set

A country preacher who became known as a "Gang Preacher" and a former rock singer, will join forces in a two-day crusade sponsored by the Perryton Ministerial Association in the Perryton High School auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, February 6 and 7.

David Wilkerson, author of "The Cross and the Switchblade" and the founder of Teen Challenge, will conduct the two-day meeting. Dallas Holm, former member of a rock group and a native of Dallas, will provide music for the crusade.

Known for his successful work among drug addicts and gang members in New York ghettos, Wilkerson's Teen Challenge is one of America's most successful drug addiction and rehabilitation programs. Teen Challenge claims a 74 percent cure rate among heroin users who have completed its program.

In 1958 Wilkerson became famous in the New York area for interrupting the Michael Farmer murder trial. Seven young gang members were on trial for the brutal murder of a police victim. In an attempt to help the young gang members, Wilkerson interrupted the court session and was promptly dragged from the courtroom. The ensuing publicity made the young minister from Pennsylvania a hero among New York's 350 teen-age gangs. The gangs were soon allowing him to visit and speak in their hideouts, where he earned the nickname "Gang Preacher".

Wilkerson's message is simple and relevant. His topics include drugs, sex, rebellion, loneliness and fear.

Dallas Holm is noted for his musical writing ability and has recorded a number of albums. One of the most popular songs he has written is "Rise Again".

Launch-Out Banquet Planned

A number of concerned pastors and other Christians in the Guymon, Oklahoma area have invited the Lowell Lundstrom Crusade team of Sisseton, South Dakota to conduct a five-day Crusade in Guymon March 18-23.

On Saturday night, February 9, there will be a special Launch-Out banquet that will be held at 6:30 p.m. at the High School in Guymon. The entire Lundstrom Crusade Team will be at this Launch-Out Banquet to sing and to share the burden on their hearts for the Guymon area.

Tickets for the banquet are available for $4.50 each. People wanting to attend should make reservations with the Panhandle Lunstrom Crusade, Box 954, Guymon, OK 73942.

On Sunday, February 10, the Lundstroms will conduct a one night Crusade at Canadian, Texas at 7:30 p.m. in the High School Auditorium.

State Comptroller Rep Here Feb. 13

AUSTIN--State Comptroller Bob Bullock announced he is sending a representative from his Amarillo Field Office to Spearman on Wednesday, February 13, 1980 to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about State Taxes.

Bullock said Enforcement Officer John Lindsey will meet with local taxpayers at the County Courthouse in Hansford County from 10:00 AM until 12:00 PM.

"If Hansford area Merchants, or any one else for that matter, have any questions about State Taxes or need help in preparing tax forms, Mr. Lindsey will be there to assist them," Bullock said.

Many area residents may have questions concerning the new fuels tax law which went into effect January 1, 1980. Our representative will answer fuels tax questions as well as accept applications for liquified gas decals and diesel prepaid user permits.

"We're trying to cut the red tape in this office and we believe these face-to-face sessions with taxpayers help do just that," Bullock said.

Bullock reminded those taxpayers who are unable to meet the representative on February 13, 1980, that they can still get their questions answered quickly by calling his TOLL-FEE TAX INFORMATION number in Austin. That number is 1-800-252-5555.

The Amarillo Field Office, headed by Claudia Stravato, serves the twenty-one counties of the Texas Panhandle.

Cropping System Essential In Farming Operations

Wheat, an important Hansford County crop, plays a big role in reducing soil erosion and improving the soil in a farmers overall Cropping System.

GPCP - Bill Logsdon - Conventional Terraces after construction

A diversion is a channel with a supporting ridge on the lower side constructed across the slope to divert excess water from areas to sites where it can be used or disposed of safely at a none erosion grade.

This practice applies to runoff water from higher lying areas damaging cropland, pastureland, farmsteads and feedlots. It is used as a part of a pollution abatement system or to control erosion and runoff on urban or construction sites to help keep pollution out of streams and rivers.

Hightower Announces For Re-Election

Congressman Jack Hightower today announced he will be a candidate for reelection, pledging his continued support for a strong national defense, fair farm and energy policies, and a reduction of the federal bureaucracy.

Hightower, a member of the powerful House Appropriations Committee, said the country faces critical decisions to bring inflation under control, reduce the size of government, and assure adequate energy supplies for the future.

"Certainly our most critical concerns now are Soviet aggression in Afghanistan and the situation in Iran," he added. "I am strongly committed to stopping the Russians, but halting grain sales punishes our agricultural producers more than it does the Russians and I believe the Administration should re-examine its policies in this regard."

Hightower, who spends as much of his time as possible in the district when Congress is not in session listening to and seeking opinions of his constituents, said he was looking forward to the session of Congress which will convene Tuesday.

"We have learned once again that we can't trust the Russians and we must maintain and strengthen our defense around the world," he said.

"One of the top priorities in this session of Congress would be to cut back on federal dollar outlays in unneeded areas and programs and put more muscle into the defense budget."

He pointed out that as a member of the Appropriations Committee he had been able to oversee some economies in the Department of Agriculture and the Department of State.

"Our Committee was able to save thousands of taxpayer dollars without doing any damage to existing programs in those two departments," he added.

"I continue to be concerned about inflation and the energy problems," he said, "and I will continue working for solutions."

Hightower maintains three offices in the district to keep close contact with constituents.

Hightower was elected Congressman from the 13th District in 1974 and reelected in 1976 and 1978.

He has filed with the State Democratic Executive Committee for a place on the ballot in the May 3 Primary Election.

PANHANDLE LIVESTOCK COMMISSION CO.
Guymon, Okla. 405-338-3378 P.O. Box 879 says Larry Poindexter, Agronomist with the Soil Conservation Service in Spearman.

"All we are talking about is growing crops in combination with needed tillage and management practices," he said.

Cropping systems when developed should consider the need for soil improvement, protection during critical erosion periods, aid in controlling weeds, insects, and diseases and fulfill the farmers desires.

"Most of the crops we grow in Hansford County are high residue producing and our greatest concern is with the tillage and management aspects," Poindexter said. Many farmers are making changes in their cropping systems by reducing tillage operations. Some have even tried a no-tillage approach and have achieved successful results.

Rising energy costs have led some farmers to try reducing tillage operations by burning crop residue.

After a few years this practice begins to affect the productivity of the soil and makes it much harder to irrigate properly. Also, compaction of the soil increases full costs for tillage operations. When this happens it takes several years to return the soil to its previous productivity levels. Cropping systems should include rotating crops from one field to another and include fallowed areas and the growing of legumes. In addition to soil improvement this can help with weed control. Weeds which often thrive with certain crops are controlled to some extent by crop rotation.

When considering changes in your cropping system recognize the soils needs as well as your economic needs and you both will benefit. For more information concerning cropping systems contact the Spearman Soil Conservation Service Office in the Pittman & Shieldknight Building.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Governor Clements' remark last week that the U.S. hostages in Iran were "expendable" alongside national interests brought an angry rebuke from one captive's father, but it was not the gaffe some made it out to be.

Clements told reporters at his weekly news conference that the hostage issue had become secondary to the nation's interests. "If indeed our hostages are put into jeopardy, they have to become expendable—which is an ugly word—in regard to the national interest."

The ugly word "expendable" triggered a semantic reaction among a few Democratic party leaders, but most reporters let it slide. Clements was not altogether tarred and feathered, although the angry father of a captured Navy commander told reporters he wanted to talk to the Governor about the remark.

As one reporter remarked later, Clements was only verbalizing what a lot of people feel—that national defense comes first. "It was unfortunate that he did not choose a better word, but maybe 'expendable' was correct in his point of view."

The Governor, she pointed out, was not as trigger-tipped as many make him out to be.

Clements, a former deputy defense secretary under Presidents Nixon and Ford, caught more flak for his recommendations of a Naval blockade of the Persian Gulf to cut off oil shipments of Iranian oil, and a blockade around Cuba to prevent arms shipments from the Soviets.

Drafting Women

Other Texans commented last week on the issue of registration of women for draft, and support for the plan came from all areas of the political spectrum. Liberal Congressmen Mickey Leland and Martin Frost, moderate J. J. "Jake" Pickle, and conservatives Ray Roberts, Charles Stenholm and Joe Wyatt spoke for registration, although not necessarily drafting of women for combat.

Republican Senator John Tower is opposed to registration for women.

Spending Champion

A state auditor's report on legislator spending in fiscal 1978 listed Sen. Walter Mengden, a conservative Houston Republican, at the top. Mengden spent $100,895 on himself and his office. Senators behind him were Frank Lombardino, D-San Antonio, $95,860; Ron Clower, D-Garland, $85,698; and Chet Brooks, D-Houston, $81,098.

Leading in the House of Representatives were Roy English, D-Arlington, $57,970; Al Price, D-Beaumont, $55,458; Ron Wilson, D-Houston, $54,617; and Paul Ragsdale, D-Houston, $54,329.

Senate Facelift

Redistricting next session may give the Texas Senate a more urban look in the '80s, according to figures released by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

Population has increased heavily in Texas' "Big Three" urban centers: Houston, lowing employees to be represented by unions in grievance procedures.

Labor leaders were pleased, calling the opinion a breakthrough for organized labor in the state.

The opinion was sought by State Comptroller Bob Bullock and written by three of seven members of the AG's opinions committee. After the committee split votes on the issue, White ruled in favor of the opinion.

Gov. Clements was not pleased with the opinion. He said he plans to seek legislation next session prohibiting payroll deduction of union dues.

Bush, Ted And February

The dimension of the defeat suffered by Senator Edward Kennedy in Iowa means he is now fighting for survival as a serious contender. Likewise, the surprising showing of strength by George Bush positions Ronald Reagan in a crucial political test in February.

Senator Kennedy must show strength in New England—in Maine February 10 and New Hampshire February 26—or he might become a hopeless candidate. Southern primaries early in March seem likely victories for President Carter.

Reagan's unexpected defeat seriously tarnishes his image and Bush, formerly from Connecticut, is expected to have considerable support in New England. For these reasons, the New Hampshire primary, particularly, takes on an even greater significance. February, then, might well be a make or break month for Senator Kennedy. And though Reagan would not be fatally handicapped by further defeats in February, that would become a political possibility for the Californian also.

Postal Service Plays
Vital Role In Census

The U.S. Postal Service will play its most vital role ever in the 1980 census, in which every U.S. household will receive a questionnaire by mail and most will be asked to mail back the completed form in a postage-free envelope.

From the first census in 1790 through 1950, a census taker called at each household to collect the required information. As the population grew, the time and resources needed for door-to-door enumeration mounted. In 1960, the Census Bureau turned to the mails for help.

That year, basic census questionnaires were mailed to all households for the first time and were picked up by census takers after a member of the household had filled it out. At every fourth household in urban areas, an additional form with instructions was left to fill out and mail back.

The procedure worked well. People liked answering the questions in privacy and at their own pace. The Bureau also found that their answers were more accurate, possibly because there was no stranger asking the questions.

The 1970 census confirmed these favorable findings. That year, all forms were sent by mail to the Nation's households, and 60 percent were asked to mail back their answered questionnaires. The balance were picked up by census takers.

Again in 1980, all census questionnaires will go out by mail, but this time 90 percent of the Nation's households will be asked to return the questionnaires by mail.

Besides handling the mountains of census mail, the Postal Service helps the Census Bureau to develop an accurate address list, a task that is crucial to a complete count of Americans and their housing.

As a first step, the Bureau bought the most complete and up-to-date residential mailing lists available from commercial firms, and combined them by computer into a master list of about 50 million addresses, blanketing the big cities and their surrounding areas.

In mid-1979, the Bureau delivered cartons filled with 3x7-inch cards, bundled by zip code, to the appropriate Postal Service bulk mail centers. Each card bore one of the 50 million addresses, and had spaces for mail carriers to use.

That's when the Postal Service took over. It parceled out the cartons to the proper stations and substations. There, mail carriers sorted the cards along with their regular mail, and took them along on their delivery routes.

The carriers checked each address against the appropriate card, correcting it if necessary. Carriers made notes on any card with an address that had turned commercial, become uninhabitable, or disappeared altogether. They also filled in a special blue card for any habitable place on their route not on the list. Additionally, they flagged any address that served several housing units.

Meanwhile, the Census Bureau was systematically canvassing nonmetropolitan and rural areas, listing 30 to 34 million addresses in areas not adequately covered by commercial mailing lists. This canvass, called "Operation Pelist", was made by 35,000 temporary workers.

Workers covered every street, road, land and path in their assigned areas (called enumeration districts), knocking on every door where people might be living. Their job took them up mountain trails, across deserts, and into forests. They explored warehouses, boxcars, boats, and alleyways. Some even went by boat to find whether obscure islands were inhabited.

The computerized lists were amended in accordance with the Postal Service's preliminary check. When the harvest of Operation Pelist was added, the Bureau had a master list of about 80 million verified addresses, which will be subjected to yet another check for completeness by the Postal Service in February, 1980.

When carriers deliver the actual questionnaire to every household on March 28 -- Census Day is April 1 -- they will take along in their mailbags an extra six million forms for delivery to dwelling units they find which might not be on the list. They also will report any last-minute changes on their route. Undeliverable questionnaires will be returned to district offices.

By the time the last completed questionnaire has been mailed back to the Bureau's district offices, the Postal Service will have earned the $31 million the Bureau is paying for its services.

Since its inception, the census by mail has been a time saver. But if the 200,000 or so enumerators available for follow-up making calls on households that do not return their questionnaire by mail -- are required to chase down large numbers of nonrespondents, it weakens the system and adds to the taxpayer burden.

Finally, the Postal Service will also help to publicize the 1980 census by using a special census message as a cancellation mark at 75 of the Nation's largest regional mail centers.

Winter's increased fuel demand is not new...

But today you can count on us.

Years ago when cold weather struck, Grandpa would spend hours chopping wood. He knew the colder weather would take extra fuel to keep his house warm. Today you won't find us splitting logs. Instead, to get the added energy it takes to fight those cold whistling winds, we simply depend on our central heating unit and our thermostat. But like the extra work it took Grandpa to chop that larger load of wood, we must pay a higher utility bill for that added energy. The winter always causes an extra energy burden, but it's good to know dependable heat energy will be there, when we need it.
