Borden meeting tonight

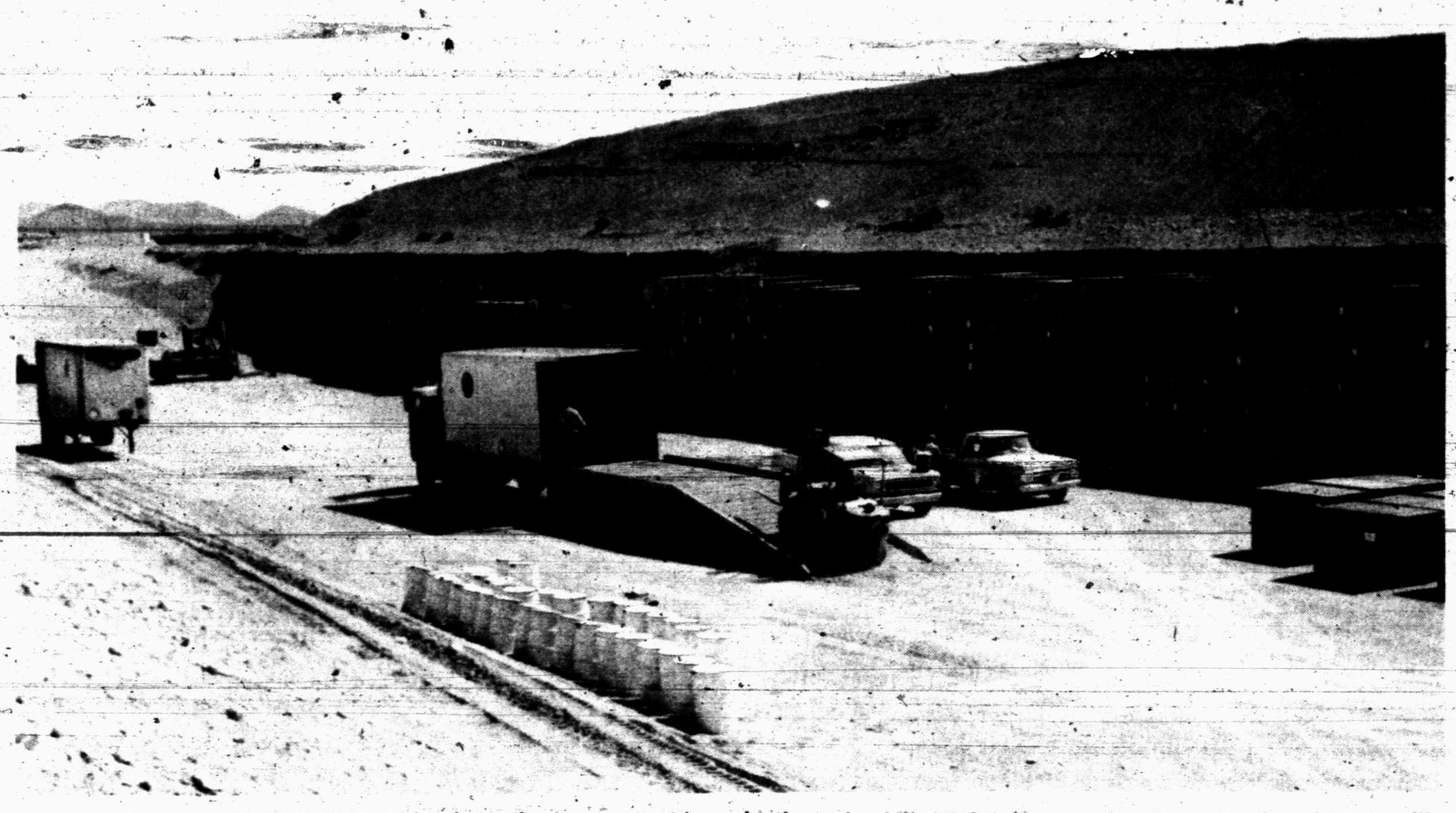

Beginning at 7 p.m. Monday, a group of Borden County citizens will meet with officials of the state agency charged with finding this state's first low-level radioactive waste disposal site.

The public meeting is in response to concern that Borden County will be chosen for this facility. Monday's session will be conducted in Gail at the Borden County school cafeteria.

Borden County Judge Van York is to preside at the meeting between county residents and four officials — including the general manager — with the Texas Low-Level Radioactive Waste Disposal Authority.

An approximate 20 minute presentation is expected from authority per-

Hart takes upset win over Mondale

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — Gary Hart is on a political roll, adding an upset victory in the Maine caucuses to one in the New Hampshire primary, but Walter F. Mondale and his managers insist they can upend the upstart in the race for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Hart claimed "another political miracle" Sunday night, as complete returns from Maine's 414 caucuses showed him with almost 51 percent to Mondale's 44 percent.

Sen. John Glenn, former Sen. George McGovern and the Rev. Jesse Jackson had scattered support, but they had left the state — and the spotlight — to Mondale and Hart.

Hart, the Colorado senator, declared he may "have brought a political juggernaut to its knees" in the race for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"I love New England," Hart told a Massachusetts Democratic Party dinner as the votes were being counted in neighboring Maine.

He quickly rearranged his schedule in hopes he could make his political momentum migrate from New England to the South, where a big round of primaries is upcoming.

Mondale and his men went to bed without conceding defeat in Maine, a state where he out-spent and out-organized Hart and claimed support from most of the major figures in the Democratic Party establishment.

The former vice president said the results actually demonstrated he had stopped the momentum Hart gained with his New Hampshire win last Tuesday, and said he would recapture the lead in the South on March 13.

"I'm fighting back," said Mondale, a week ago the prohibitive front-runner for the nomination.

Even so, Mondale's aides say they expect Hart to win the next two contests, a non-binding primary Tuesday in Vermont and caucuses in Wyoming on Saturday with only 12 delegates at stake.

They said they will concentrate their efforts on the 11 primary and caucus contests on "Super Tuesday" on March 13, and insist they can stop Hart that day in Georgia, Alabama and Florida.

"Walter Mondale will emerge from Super Tuesday as the clear delegate leader and front-runner," Mondale's campaign manager, Robert Beckel, said Sunday night.

There are more than 500 national convention delegates at stake March 13.

Hart's aides say they have picked up supporters from candidates who already have dropped out of the race.

McGovern has said he will drop out of the race if he doesn't finish in the top two in Massachusetts.

JOE R. REAVES

Reaves files at school

Dr. Joe R. Reaves, a psychology professor at Western Texas College, filed Monday morning for place 6 on the Snyder school board.

Reaves becomes the only candidate to date to file for the post, now held by incumbent Ray Max Grimmett. The deadline for filing is Wednesday.

Reaves is a graduate of Snyder High School and has served as a city councilman for place 3 on that board.

He earned his doctorate from Texas Tech University in Lubbock, and his masters from West Texas State in Canyon. In addition, he holds a doctorate in theology from the California Missionary Baptist Institute and Seminary.

Grass teams win first at Houston

Both the junior and senior Snyder High School FFA grass judging teams won first place Saturday at the Houston Livestock Show.

In addition, individual team members from Snyder finished as the high individual at both the senior and junior competition level.

Bill Sherrard was the high individual for senior team members and Jayna Gilbert for the junior teams.

Other SHS members at both levels placed in the top six individuals also.

Members of the first place winning senior team were Sherrard, Pat Kohl, winning fourth high individual; Stephanie Weaver, fifth high; and Guy Garrett, sixth high.

Two junior teams represented SHS at the Houston show. Winning first place was the team comprised of Shane Gann, second high individual; Brian Sherrard, third high; Connie Ray, fifth high; and Robbi Merritt.

The other junior team was comprised of Gilbert, Melody Schwarz, fourth high individual; and Barry Byrd.

Snyder High School grass judging teams are coached by FFA sponsor Billy Bob McMullan.

Extra day increases deliveries

Colorado River Municipal Water District deliveries were up 5.6 percent in February over the same month last year — an increase thanks in part to Leap Year.

Municipal deliveries stood near 993 million gallons, but with the extra day removed the increase was about half a million gallons a day.

The delivery to Snyder equaled more than 73 million gallons, an in-

Cloud seeding ups crop yield

Even in the severe drought year of 1983, rainfall in the area cloud-seeded by the Colorado River Municipal Water District exceeded that of adjacent counties upwind of the seeding.

CRMWD officials point to this as continuing evidence of the benefit of cloud seeding for rain-poor West Texas.

The annual report from district meteorologist Ray P. Jones indicates the benefits of seeding is more dramatic when comparisons are shown for the 1971-83 period.

He points to higher tables of cotton yields for the target and downwind counties through 1982, the last year that complete yield totals are available.

For the 12 years of seeding related to agriculture, the target area — Big Spring to O'Donnell, Justiceburg,

A. — Yes. Members of both the Snyder city council and Scurry County commissioners court have indicated they will attend the meeting.

In Brief

Gemayel scraps troop pact

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — President Amin Gemayel's administration today canceled Lebanon's troop withdrawal pact with Israel, meeting a demand from Syria and its Druse and Shiite Moslem allies.

Abrogation of the pact was announced in a government statement, which said the agreement was "null and void."

Syria is expected in return to ask the rebel leaders in Lebanon to halt their war against Gemayel's army while reconciliation talks are held. A March 12 date for the talks has been agreed upon, according to a Lebanese opposition leader.

In fighting today, Israeli jets staged two air raids on suspected guerrilla bases in central Lebanon, while in Beirut a French soldier was killed by a rocket and a U.S. Marine colonel wounded by a gunman.

Prospective jurors quizzed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — After more than a year of legal wrangling, the cocaine-trafficking trial of former automaker John Z. De Lorean is about to begin with prospective jurors being asked to reveal all that they know about the case in 50-page questionnaires.

Although 200 people were to undergo initial jury selection screening starting today, court officials said the written take-home surveys would be given only to those who say they could hear the expected six to eight week trial without hardship.

De Lorean, in seclusion at his New Jersey farm with his family, was not expected in court today.

The opening day of the trial comes more than one year and four months after the maverick sports car manufacturer was arrested Oct. 19, 1982, in a hotel near Los Angeles International Airport and charged with conspiring to distribute $24 million worth of cocaine.

Ask double 'down payment'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats on the congressional Joint Economic Committee called today for double the $100 billion "down payment" on eliminating federal budget deficits that President Reagan has requested.

The $200 billion, three-year package of higher taxes, a reduced military buildup, some domestic spending reductions and loosened Federal Reserve policy was unveiled as part of the full committee's annual economic report to Congress.

This was the latest addition to a growing file of ingredients and recipes appearing all over Capitol Hill as legislators become increasingly edgy about the government's red ink, which is projected to be about $200 billion a year without action.

Local lamb brings $9,035

Snyder High School senior Thad Springer scored a big win in the lamb show at the annual Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo Saturday, taking the first place ribbon in the heavyweight crossbred division.

Springer's lamb, which had also been named grand champion of the Scurry County Junior Livestock Show last month, brought 65 cents per pound at auction for a total sale price of $9,035.

Apartment burglarized

Snyder police detectives are investigating a residential burglary filed during the weekend.

Harley Smith called police at 4:40 p.m. Sunday to report the burglary of his residence at 1903 Coleman Ave. Smith told investigators that someone had entered the residence sometime between Wednesday and Friday, removing 10 one-gallon cans of paint, two door locks and a refrigerator.

Total value of the property taken from the apartment was listed at $224.

Neighborhood is stunned by three murders

AUSTIN (AP) — The bludgeoning deaths of three children has left a quiet northeast Austin neighborhood stunned and wondering if things will ever be the like they were before, with children playing together and parents sharing rides and borrowing cups of sugar.

"The happiness, the friendliness and the sense of security, the things that made this place a good neighborhood to live, that's been destroyed," said Diane Banks. "It will never be the same."

James Carl Lee Davis, 21, who lived a few doors down from Ms. Banks, now sits in the Travis County Jail, charged with capital murder in the death of 15-year-old Yvette Johnson, who was raped after being struck repeatedly in the head with a two-foot section of lead pipe early Saturday.

Authorities say they also expect to file murder charges against Davis in the deaths of Yvette's brothers, 6-year-old Tyrone and 3-year-old Tony.

A 14-year-old cousin was beaten, but managed to run from the house and call police. She was treated for head injuries at Brackenridge Hospital.

"He told me he wanted to be famous," said Travis County sheriff's deputy Fred White, who lived next door to Davis. "But he said the only way he could be famous was to be an organized crime big shot."

White said his three children, who range in age from 11 to 14 and often played with the Johnson children, were so shaken by the deaths that they wanted to move back to Panama where they once lived.

"We're not thinking of leaving the states," White said. "But we have to move out of here. If you had a family and your next door neighbor got killed, would you stay?"

Dear Abby

Reader Says Mother's Milk Is Healthy Source for Son

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1984 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: So you think the mother in Hawaii who was still breast-feeding her 6-year-old son needs "help."

Abby, I think you need help if you don't know that the longer a child is breast-fed, the healthier he will be.

Mother's milk contains special properties that are extremely healthful for growing children. Get some material from the La Leche League, Abby, and educate yourself!

ALICE J.

DEAR ALICE: This is not to belittle the immunological (or psychological) benefits of mother's milk, but an overwhelming number of pediatricians agree that a 6-year-old child should be getting his milk from a cup. And they don't mean a "D" cup.

DEAR ABBY: Please edge a little further into the 20th century on the "Mrs. Jane Doe" vs. "Mrs. John Doe" convention. I have been happily married for 16 years. As much as I love and respect my husband, I would no more call myself "Mrs. Gene McGraw" than I would wear a bustle.

For one thing, it's semantic nonsense. Just who is "Mrs. Gene McGraw"? I'm not a bisexual, nor do I have two heads. Although I willingly took my husband's family name, my first name never was and never will be "Gene."

Semantics aside, there is an even more compelling reason to get rid of this bit of "etiquette." It arises from the cruel, snobbish and archaic belief that a widow was socially respectable, while a divorcee was morally suspect. The name form required of the divorcee publicly labeled her, so that she could be appropriately snubbed. (Isn't it odd that no such distinctions were required for men, regardless of their marital status?) I'm surprised that you, Abby, of all people, would favor perpetuating such a false and unkind distinction.

If a woman feels that "Mrs," plus her husband's full name confers on her a needed aura of respectability, I will certainly honor her choice. But in whatever state I may find myself, married or widowed, I remain ...

MRS. BARBARA McGRAW

DEAR MRS. BARBARA McGRAW: Some married women (myself included) prefer to call themselves "Mrs. John Doe." And according to my mail, most widows want to be known as "Mrs. John Doe," even though their "Doe" is gone.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 10-year-old girl who was appointed by my teacher to be a bathroom monitor. I didn't ask for the job, she just appointed me. I'm supposed to report anything the girls do in the bathroom that is against the rules, such as starting fights, smoking, wasting supplies, writing on walls and stuff like that.

One day some girls turned up the heat when they knew they weren't supposed to, so I reported them and they got into trouble, and now they are mad at me and calling me a snitch.

How can I do my job as a monitor without losing friends?

A MONITOR CALLED "SNITCH"

DEAR MONITOR: When a girl is about to do something that's against the rules, warn her. And if she goes ahead and does it, report her. Your teacher should explain that there is a good reason for every rule. Smoking can cause fires. Damaging property and wasting supplies cost your parents—as taxpayers—extra money.

Maybe when the kids understand this, they will realize that you are performing a necessary duty, and rather than criticize you, they will cooperate.

Intestinal pockets

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I've had two sigmoidoscopies and X-rays. I was told I had diverticuli, which I understand are pockets in the intestines. I've been told not to eat nuts, popcorn or seeds. Otherwise I wasn't given any particular diet.

Just what causes these pockets? At what age are they most prevalent? Can they be avoided? What is the difference between diverticulitis and diverticulosis? It's all very confusing.

DEAR READER — Those pockets are little blowouts. The colon is made up of three layers: the inner lining, the middle muscular wall and the fibrous outer coating. The muscles separate, allowing the inner lining to herniate through the muscles. These little pockets are thought to occur because of increased pressure within the colon.

Many authorities think a spastic colon that traps gas and allows a pressure build up is the main cause of these little pockets. Many people who have these pockets have spastic colons. But sometimes the symptoms people complain about are from the spastic colon, not the little pockets seen in the X-rays.

Diverticulosis refers to the general condition. Diverticulitis means that one or more of the little pockets is inflamed, bleeding or even perforated.

Some doctors believe that if you avoid bowel problems you can avoid diverticulitis. That's why bulk is thought to be helpful.

You'll find the answers to many of your questions in the Health Letter 5-6, Diverticulosis, which I'm sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Diverticuli of the colon can occur in young people, but they're more common as you get older. Figures vary, but it's possible that more than half of older people have diverticuli.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm an 18-year-old girl. About five years ago I lost 50 pounds. Now I have loose skin around the abdominal area and a lot of stretch marks on my hips, legs and breasts.

Are there any exercises that would help? Is there anything I can do to get rid of my stretch marks?

DEAR READER — Congratulations on having corrected a severe health problem. I'm pleased to see you've been successful in keeping the excess body fat off. Many people lose fat and then regain it.

There's a limited amount you can do about the excess skin. The younger you are when you lose the excess body fat, the less likely you are to have excess skin and stretch marks. The skin is somewhat like a big sack and unless it has a lot of good stretch fibers that will contract properly, you'll be left with excess skin.

If you really want to do something about it, see a plastic surgeon who does cosmetic surgery. Then you'll have to decide if his solution is one you can live with. There's no way he could remove the excess skin without surgery and that means some residual scars.

The dichotomy is ever-present as we are pulled this way and that between the urgings of our intellects and our appetites.

The cleavage has never been sharper than between the health nuts and the junk food junkies.

Never have Americans been jogging more, dieting more, buying more exercise equipment, exercise recordings, "nature food" recipe books.

Yet never, said a recent special edition of Rolling Stone, never have more Americans been eating in the junkyard.

More Americans are being married with traditional vows in traditional churches...

At the same time more Americans are being married in Burger King restaurants.

Americans, the Rolling Stone editors note, can now stand at any newsstand, the great American junkyard, and choose from among a smorgasbord of junk journalism.

Fashionwise, Nancy Reagan elegance is back in style — right alongside our junkie jeans.

And 11-year-young schoolgirls are sporting tattoos.

Junk marriages are tossed casually on the junkheap.

Young ears are deafened by junk music by junk musicians.

Peddlers of junk religions offer junky Cracker-Jacks premiums for cash contributions.

Housewives mesmorized by TV, unproductive, addicted to junk in the afternoon.

TV junkie husbands' favorite junk is junk-sports preformed by over-paid junk athletes on junk-junk.

School-agers smoking junk spend an afternoon of quarters playing video junk-games.

Then, what the publication designates as the ultimate junk — the junk phone call.

The obscene phone call used to be prosecutable; now its profitable.

Half a hundred phone numbers in ever junk journal advertise for any sicko with a credit card who wants to hear somebody talk dirty.

Even our perversions have turned to junk.

If only it added up to something, but last year, for the first time the number of homicides was exceeded by the number of suicides.

As the junk generation considers even itself disposable.

Your Birthday

March 6, 1984

A number of valuable new friendships will be established this coming year with persons who share your ideals. These relationships will prove important in ways you'd least expect.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you hope to sway one you esteem to your way of thinking today, sugarcoat your presentation. Hammering home your message will turn him off. Major changes are in store for Pisces in the coming year. Send for your year-ahead predictions today. Mail $1 and your zodiac sign to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Send an additional $2 for your Astro-Graph Matchmaker set, which tells to which signs you are best suited romantically.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Normally, when shopping, price is the dominant factor. However, today weigh quality above cost. Let the worth of the merchandise take precedence.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Persons who were not in accord with your ideas yesterday may be more compliant today, yet they still might not back you 100 percent.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You might be involved with someone today who displeased you in the past. Unless you let bygones be bygones, events may repeat themselves.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Circumstances may force you to socialize with someone today you'd rather not acknowledge. However, if it pleases your mate, bite the bullet and do so.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your efforts on behalf of others are likely to be more successful today than things you do to further your own ambitions. Put others first.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If one-to-one relationships are handled skillfully today, mutal benefits will result. Selfishness by either party introduces drawbacks for both.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Joint involvements could tug at your purse strings today. Some sacrifices may be required, but don't extend yourself beyond your means.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You might find yourself up against one today who constantly demeans your objectives. Convert him with kindness, rather than imitating his tactics.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be helpful to those who require your assistance today, but don't allow yourself to be jockeyed into a position where their duties become yours.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't let making a point in a debate with a pal today jeopardize your friendship. An understanding can be reached without compromising your standards.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You should be adequately compensated for your efforts today materially, but not in praise from others. You'll be disappointed if you expect both.

Jackson fans call wrong number

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A quirk of album coding is giving Barbara Brown a taste of what it would be like to be Michael Jackson.

Fans have been calling from as far away as New York and Chicago, and the phone rings up to 50 times a day.

"They just want to talk to Michael, and they just won't believe he doesn't live in Youngstown," Mrs. Brown said Sunday night. "Or when I say he's not here, they think I should know where he is."

Mrs. Brown has a phone number that is similar to the Universal Product Code number of Jackson's "Thriller" album, and a rumor apparently is circulating that the code is Jackson's phone number.

Mrs. Brown said she received at least 50 calls Sunday.

The calls began months ago, one or two a day. After Jackson's eight-award triumph at the Grammys last week, the Brown family was getting about a dozen calls a day, she said.

Callers range from young children to adults, Mrs. Brown said.

President Gerald Ford granted former President Richard Nixon a full pardon in 1974.

Pregnancy and foot comfort

NEW YORK (AP) — There is a "growing" trend among modern working wives — literally — with many more mothers-to-be staying in the labor force almost until they leave for the labor room.

"I've never seen anything like it," says obstetrician Dr. Leonard Roberts of New York City. "If their jobs aren't physically taxing, many of my patients now work right into the last weeks of pregnancy."

One reason may be that women are starting families later — in 1981, only 49 percent had babies before age 25, versus 56 percent in 1970. Women today don't want to drop their careers just to knit tiny garments, he suggests.

However, when expectant mothers take a stand on working longer, they'd better make that stand on properly shod feet, according to physicians and podiatrists consulted by The Footwear Council.

"Pregnancy may bring changes that make your regular shoe wardrobe inappropriate, both for comfort and for safety reasons," says Dr. Jerry Brant, a podiatrist of Jacksonville, Ill., president-elect of the American Podiatry Association.

What are the major foot concerns for a pregnant woman and how can she handle them, while still remaining stylishly shod for the office?

"Feet respond to extra weight by spreading," says Brant, "so a pregnant woman may need roomier shoes. And she should have them fitted after midday, when she's been on her feet a while."

Trying to wear shoes that have become too tight will only aggravate any current foot problems, he warns.

During pregnancy, metabolic activity increases, Roberts notes, causing increased perspiration, especially during summer months. So it's wise to choose shoe materials that "breathe" — like canvas or leather.

He also recommends the use of medicated foot powders and support stockings to lessen swelling and increase foot comfort.

Unless you're a ballet dancer with superb abdominal muscle tone, the added frontal weight throws the body forward, and you react by arching the back, he points out. High heels, therefore, accentuate the strain, resulting in backache. Even worse, unsteadiness might cause a fall.

Then must a pregnant lawyer wear moccasins into court? Not at all, says Roberts "I think an inch-and-a-half heel height is fine, as long as the foot is firmly supported."

Podiatrist Brant agrees, adding that the heel should be broad enough to distribute the weight evenly and provide secure footing.

Fortunately for working women who are pregnant this year, the freshest fashions for business are just what the doctors ordered, The Footwear Council reports.

Among the most popular daytime styles are sandals and opened-up pumps with low, broad-based, stronger heels, flats and low-to-moderate wedges.

Also for summer, all kinds of mesh and woven materials are availble in newsy broad-banded sandals. In line with the newer uniform-influenced fashions, shoppers will even find trim summer oxfords and T-straps, both with sturdy stacked heels.

Outside the office, modern ladies-in-waiting often exercise, and both obstetricians and foot specialists favor this.

"When my patients are accustomed to jogging several miles daily, in good running shoes," says Roberts, "I approve their continuing up to the seventh month."

For maternal pacesetters during this Olympic summer, patriotic tricolor sports shoes are plentiful in canvas or leather, with lace-up or Velcro-strap closings.

For the more sedentary, Roberts advises simply walking a mile briskly to prevent excessive weight gain. He suggests getting off the bus a few blocks short of home to walk the rest of the way.

If you tend your tootsies well prenatally, are you likelier to fit into former business shoes, once the blessed event occurs?

No doctors guarantee that, so they suggest that you select footwear styles during pregnancy that you'll be happy to wear later, whether behind a desk or behind a baby carriage.

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby

Jim: "Devyn Press of Louisville has published five paperbacks by well-known authors. These books include many points of interest to bridge players of all sorts.

Here is a hand from '101 Bridge Maxims' by Hugh Kelsey."

Oswald: "The maxim for today's hand is: Take an extra chance when you can."

Jim: "The bidding is like most of Kelsey's bidding, in that the declarer blasts to a contract that most players would stop short of. Then he has to make it."

Oswald: "Kelsey's play is simple. He ruffs the club, plays king and ace of trumps to get the 2-2 break. Then he ruffs a club, leads a diamond to dummy's ace, ruffs dummy's last club, and plays king and small diamond. It doesn't matter who wins the diamond. Whoever wins it is caught in an end play in which he must either lead a spade or give declarer a ruff and discard."

Jim: "Neat, but not too good a play. It only succeeds because East-West's trumps are 2-2 and diamonds 3-3. Furthermore, it will lose a cinch contract against a 3-1 trump break, 4-2 diamond break and certain 4-2 spade breaks with the queen onside. We have to give Kelsey a demerit here. There are better ways to play the hand. He has set this up so only his play will work."

RED AND CREAM-Two of this season's most flattering dresses feature silhouettes with dramatic differences. At left, a short, cropped top spliced with box pleats is paired with a slender skirt. At right, a lean, side-buttoned tunic slides snugly over a full, knife-pleated skirt. Both dresses are of silk shantung. (Designed by Morton Myles for the Warrens.)

Ancient wealth

DETROIT (AP) — "Wealth of the Ancient World: The Nelson Bunker Hunt and William Herbert Hunt Collections" is being shown at the Detroit Institute of Arts through March 24.

The exhibition was organized and circulated by the Kimbell Art Museum of Fort Worth, Texas. It features Greek and Roman antiquities assembled by the Hunt brothers.

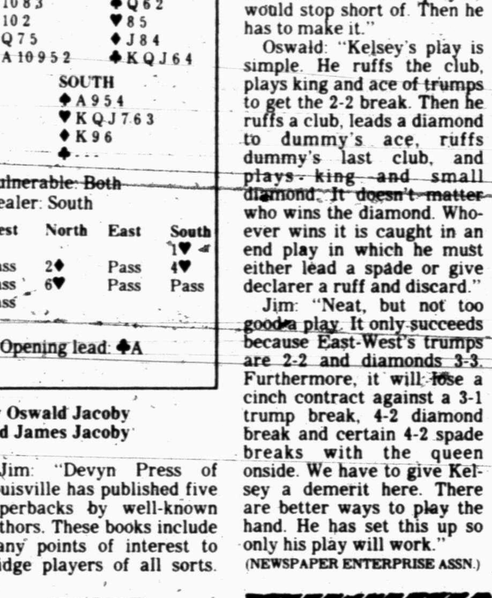

The show includes 15 painted vases, 38 small-scale bronzes, and 112 rare gold, silver and bronze coins. The 165 objects being shown span more than 1,000 years, from about 700 B.C. to 400 A.D.

After closing in Detroit, the exhibition will travel to the Dallas Museum of Art.

Westerners host Texans in regional bid tonight

Western Texas College mustered all of the intensity a team can when it is going for its third win over another opponent - an opponent it last defeated only two days earlier. The result was a 61-51 victory over the Plainsmen of Frank Phillips here Saturday, setting up tonight's Western Junior College Athletic Conference playoff final with South Plains.

Tipoff is scheduled for 7:30 in Scurry County Coliseum. Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

WJCAC playoffs

Saturday's Results: Western Texas 61, Frank Phillips 51; Amarillo 100, NMMI 67; Midland 92, NMJC 87 (ot); South Plains 100, Clarendon 83.

Monday's Games: South Plains at Western Texas; Midland at Amarillo

In other first-round playoffs, Amarillo ripped NMMI 100-67, Midland defeated New Mexico Junior College 92-87 in overtime and South Plans topped Clarendon 100-83. While Western entertains South Plains this evening, Amarillo is hosting Midland.

Tonight's game is for a berth into the March 8-10 Region V Tournament and Coach Barry Davis, not knowing who he would play following Saturday's win, was philosphical about the contest.

"We're going to have on white and green and all that matters is we'll play somebody with a different color. Who ever it is, we'll get ourselves ready to play. It's for a trip to regionals and part of our goal when we started out the year was to get to regionals. It's one of many goals. We have an opportunity to do that now, and in life, all you can ask is to get a chance," he said.

South Plains, 22-10, defeated WTC in both conference games this season but only by a handful of points each time, winning 82-77 here and 76-72 in Levelland.

Of Saturday's 10-point win over FPC, Davis noted, "We played just well enough to win. I was pleased with the way we played. It's very difficult to play somebody back-to-back with any kind of intensity. Considering the circumstances, I thought we did a heck of a job.

"This was the best game Frank Phillips played against us for 40 minutes. In the other two, it was close at halftime, then we put it away in the second half. It was still a 10-point game (Saturday) with few minutes left this time. But we're going to have to play better Monday. We'll have to do a better job with our freethrows and a better job shooting from the field."

Western was just 13 of 23 from the stripe and 24 of 52 from the field. Frank Phillips was 7 of 11 and 22 of 50 respectively.

The Westerners ran out to a 15-point lead with 7:25 left in the first half and it appeared as if they might break the game open then, but FPC came back on two buckets by Keith Scales and a pair of freethrows from Lance Simpson. Halftime score was 32-22.

Western's lead stayed between the 10 and 14-point margin the rest of the game.

Eugene Lewis and Larry Banks paced the effort with 16 points each. Lewis had 8 rebounds and Banks 6. Fred Johnson put in 10 points while Victor Spencer had 9 and Richie Fells 7. Billy Chambers also pulled down 6 boards.

Scales scored 18 to lead the Plainsmen, who end the season with a 9-23 record. Lance Simpson scored 12.

Phillip Grissom had 6 rebounds for FPC. Scales and Marcus Bishop pulled down 5 apiece.

Western improved its record to 20-10 with the victory. The Westerners were 10-21 just one year ago.

Netters second at Sweetwater

SWEETWATER -- Snyder got top performances from Chris Wiman and the doubles team of Shana Hart and Shanda Wiman to take second place in the Sweetwater Team Tennis Tournament, held here over the weekend.

Lake View won the tourney with 108 points while Snyder tallied 96. Sweetwater was third with 82. Eight schools participated in the meet, entering two girls and boys singles and doubles teams.

In boy's singles, Wiman racked up 20 points as he swept through the first, second and third rounds and defeated Lake View's Sterling Abbott in the finals, 6-3 and 6-3.

Wiman had defeated Abbott 7-6, 7-6 in an earlier district match.

Shana Hart and Shanda Wiman won first in girls doubles, defeating Sweetwater's Ann-G Lawrence and Lisa Faver in the finals, 6-1 and 7-6. They also polled 20 points.

Girl's singles player Michelle Osborn placed second for 15 points. She lost in the finals to Laura Baum of Colorado City, 6-2 and 6-2.

In other results, Michael Risenhoover and Mike McWilliams were fourth in boy's doubles for 12 points; Bob Spikes and Toby Hinshaw were 12th for 4 points; Terri Holley placed fifth for 11 points in girl's singles; James Melott took seventh for 9 points in boy's singles; and Dee Butler and Shawna Chrane placed 11th for 5 points in girl's doubles.

"Overall we played really well," said Coach Charlie Chrane. "There were a couple of players that could have placed a little higher and might have made the point spread a little closer against Lake View but overall I was pleased. Some players are showing good improvement and some have a lot they still need to work on. At this stage of our schedule we're in pretty good shape. We'll take this week (Spring Break) off and then we'll have three weeks to get ready for our individual district tournament."

Next action for the Tigers will be the March 16-17 Snyder Team Tournament. Teams participating will be Odessa High, Lubbock Estacado, Lake View, Sweetwater, Post, Floydada, Snyder and Borger.

Crawford's boys 3rd in Oil Patch Relays

ANDREWS -- Snyder boy's track team did well in the weight events to place third in the Oil Patch Relays, held here Saturday.

Ricky Vaughn won first place in the discus and sixth in the shot while Kyle Freeman grabbed second places in both for the Tigers. Reggie Price also placed second in the pole vault and Snyder's 1200 intermediate hurdle squad of Todd Pollard, Earl Ware, Joe Boudreau and Eddie Becerra were second.

Andrews won the relays-dominated meet with 152 points. Lovington, N.M. was second with 96, followed by Snyder and Lamesa with 83 each and Lake View and Midland JV with 63 apiece.

"We improved about like I expected," said Coach Robert Crawford. "We had some hard luck in the 800 relay and pole vault, but we had some bright spots. Ricky and Kyle both did well. Ricky improved eight fee in the discus and he needs some success now to keep improving. Sunny (Cobb) and Marcus (McGlouthin) both ran well and really were bright spots."

Vaughn's effort in the discus was 152 feet and 10½ inches. Freeman threw 138-5 in the discus and 47-10 in the shot. Price cleared 12-0 in the pole vault.

The 1200 meter relay team ran a 3-04.29.

In other results, the 1600 relay team of McGlouthin, Ware, Darren Greenway and Tim Mitchell was third with a 3:39.12; the sprint medley relay of Cobb, Sammy Barrera, Jeff Rose and Pete Rosas was fourth; the 800 meter relay of Greenway, Barrera, Cobb and Tyrone Dunkins was fifth; the 400 relay of Greenway, Ware, Pete Rosas and Tommy Holladay was fifth and the 3200 meter relay team of Rusty Radican, Chris Garrett, Corey Miller and Thomas Quintela was sixth.

McGlouthin also took sixth in the high jump with a 5-10 and Boudreau was sixth in the 110 high hurdles with a time of 17.5

The squad travels to Odessa March 9-10 for the West Texas Relays.

Tigers win, 7-1 to place third; cancel tilt today

Forecasts of colder weather and possible snow have caused Coach Albert Lewis to cancel Snyder's home baseball opener with Plainview here today.

The Tigers, who won third place in the Fredricksburg Tournament over the weekend, are to play in San Angelo at 4 p.m. Tuesday and host Big Spring on Wednesday.

Snyder defeated New Braunfels Canyon 7-1 Saturday in Fredricksburg, to increase its record to 2-1 for the young season. The Tigers broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh when pinchhitter Tim Derryberry rapped a two-run single. Snyder went on to score six runs in the inning.

Jimmy Cain took the mound for Snyder. He struggled early but gave up only one hit after the first inning to shut down the opposition. The junior struck out eight batters and allowed only four hits.

"I was real pleased," said Coach Lewis of Snyder's perfomance in the tournament. "We performed as well as we could. Austin Reagan was just too much for us. They had a super pitcher and as young as we are, we couldn't hit him," he said of Snyder's 4-1 loss to the Raiders. "Our pitching was fine. Charlie (Bollinger) faced a real tough team (Reagan) with good hitters. We just got in trouble one inning and that was enough."

Chad Peterson reached on an error in the first inning against New Braunfels and Chris Sanders sacrificed him home. The game remained 1-1 until the seventh, when Snyder exploded. Norman Malone led off with a single. Eddie McClure popped up for the frst out, but Justin Webb got aboard on an error and pinch hitter Tommy Hunter walked to load the bases.

Derryberry then singled to drive in two runs. Jimmy Hunter walked to restack the bags and Peterson's followup single drove in two more runs, Bollinger then doubled to bring across two others.

Snyder collected six hits and benefitted from two errors. New Braunfels had four hits.

Dusters expect defense to be key factor Tuesday

MIDLAND – Western Texas College's Dusters aren't forgetting what got them to this week's Region V Tournament. They plan to use plenty of it here Tuesday when they tip off against Cisco at 4 o'clock.

"If we have an advantage it will be the fact that we are playing awfully good defense right now. Our man-to-man defense has been extremely tough lately," said Coach Joe Cushing.

Western has been allowing just 67.6 points a game and has kept opponents in the 30-40 per cent shooting range most of the campaign.

Western has defeated the Wranglers three times this season, but never by more than 10 points. Cushing expects an all-out battle Tuesday afternoon.

"Cisco is extremely quick. We'll have to control the rebounds and their outside shooting. We'll have to play then man (to man defense) because of their outside shooting. I expect them to throw a lot of things at us."

Cushing noted that the fact Western has taken three games from the Wranglers won't enter into the contest.

"This (Duster) team is unique in its personality in that they play one at a time. They know it's ground zero when you play over there. We've got several girls who played in state playoffs and they know what it is like. That's good because we rely on our freshmen a lot. I think we'll react positively to anything Cisco will throw against us."

The Dusters are 26-7 on the season and will be going for a record 27 wins Tuesday.

Amarillo will face McLennan at 2 p.m. in the tipoff game, followed by Western Texas and Cisco at 4. Howard plays Cooke at 7 and Odessa takes on Ranger at 9.

Tickets for the tournament will be $4 for adults and $2 for students per day with the exception of Thursday. The Men's Region V Tournament begins on that date with a session at 12 noon and 2 p.m. The center will be emptied at that time and another session will begin later, featuring men's games at 5 and 9 and the women's championship game at 7.

A tournament package, good for all 14 women's and men's games, will be available for $20 to both adults and students. Fans purchasing the package will sit in the reserved section at center court.

Arkansas rips Cougs; SWC tourney ready

by The Associated Press

Arkansas knocked off second-ranked Houston on Sunday, 73-68, ending Houston's 39-game win streak and spoiling the Cougars' shot at an unbeaten league record for a second year in a row.

Houston wrapped up the conference championship with a 64-61 win over the Razorbacks a week ago.

Southern Methodist clinched third place and a tournament bye with an 86-78 win over Texas Tech on Saturday. Texas Christian landed in seventh place in the final league standings with 78-70 victory over Texas, in eighth. Rice, in sixth place, defeated cellar-dwelling Baylor 56-41 in their regular season finale.

Houston Coach Guy Lewis said Alvin Robertson, who had nine assists, was the difference in the way Arkansas handled Houston's defense.

The Cougars are 26-3 and 15-1 in the SWC. Arkansas finished 24-5 and 14-2 in the SWC.

"It was great to beat Houston. I'm happy for our team, particularly our seniors who can say they went unbeaten at home and beat the number one and two teams in the country in their state," said Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton.

Arkansas center Joe Kleine made 10 straight free throws five during a 7-0 spurt that put Arkansas up 51-45. Houston got to within 53-51 on a rebound basket by Greg Anderson with 9:53 left, but the Cougars, who made 14 of their first 15 shots, did not score again for 5 minutes and 10 seconds.

The Cougars got to within 69-66 on two Alvin Franklin free throws with 26 seconds left, but Ricky Norton made two free throws four seconds later to wrap up the victory.

Michael Young led the Cougars with 22, and Alvin Franklin had 21.

Klein finished with 22 points, Balentine had 16 and Norton 14.

Larry Davis powered in 27 points and Jon Koncak added 17 for SMU in Saturday's contest, married by angry exchanges between coaches and players.

The third place finish for SMU gives the Mustangs a bye in the first round of the post season tournament.

Jenkins vaults 18-0 at Border Olympics

LAREDO, Texas (AP) - Nonah Hadnot's discus throw and shot put and Jackie Harris' time in the 400-meter run helped Lamar University on Saturday to become the first non-Southwest Conference school to win the university division at the Border Olympics in 21 years.

Lamar got six first place finishes and four seconds and gathered 124 points to dethrone Texas A&M, which was second with 104 points. Texas Tech finished a strong third with 80 points, Texas had 66 and Baylor 49.

Dale Jenkins of Abilene Christian raised the meet's college pole vault record to 18-0 and barely missed at 18-5.

He was named the meet's outstanding athlete by a half vote over sprinter Craig Scholars of Fort Worth Southwest, who won the high school 100-meter and 200 and anchored his team to victory in the 400-meter relay.

Lamar's Hadnot contributed 18 points by throwing the discus 173-2 and finishing second to teammate Eugene Seale in the shot.

Harris won the 400 meters in a impressive 46.43. He handled the opening leg on Lamar's 400-meter relay team that finished second to Texas Tech and he anchored Lamar to third in the 1600 meter relay behind Baylor and TCU.

Baylor won the 1,600-meter relay in 3:10.99 with a makeshift lineup of Derwin Graham, Steve Horton, Ernest Wilson, Zeke Jefferson. Regulars Willie Caldwell and Johnny Thomas were left at home.

Andrews wins in boy's golf

ANDREWS -- Andrews swept top honors in its own non-district golf meet here Saturday, winning first and second place.

Snyder boys finished 15th with a 582.

Andrews A squad won with a 467, followed by its B team, which carded a 474. In third was Pecos with a 488. Fifteen teams entered the 27-hole tournament.

Snyder was led by junior Lance Leatherwood, who shot a 129. Freshman Chad Sellars and senior Todd Turner turned in 145s while junior Mike McKinney shot 163, junior Virgil Feinsod a 164 and freshman David Holley a 168.

"Lance played well," said Coach Mackey Greene, "and Chad also played well for a freshman in his second tournament. This was David's first tournament to play in."

Larry Bryan, a freshman playing for Andrews B team, won medalist with a 107. Second, third and fourth were taken by Andrews' A-team members Mark Burgen (111), Mike Campbell (113) and Scott Jones (117).

Snyder will attend the Brownwood Tournament on March 16-17.

Criminal mischief is reported

A criminal mischief complaint was filed during the weekend by Kim Hall of 3703 Galveston Ave.

At 8:23 p.m. Saturday, police were told that several windows at the residence had been broken out. Total damage to the house was estimated at $300.

In other action, local officers jailed 13 suspects Saturday and Sunday on various misdemeanor charges. Seven were jailed for public intoxication and three for DWI. Two others were arrested for driving on suspended licenses and one for having no liability insurance.

Water deliveries told crease of 4.8 percent over last year.

Oil and industrial deliveries sagged to some 103 million gallons, down 18.6 percent from February a year ago. Total district deliveries were just more than 1 billion gallons, up 3.4 percent. The exact figure was 1,096,382,108 gallons.

Big Spring took 194,522,000 gallons, up 3.4 percent; Midland 305,360,000 gallons, up .63 percent; Odessa, 393,545,000 gallons, up 2.96 percent; San Angelo, 318,300 gallons, up 1.25 percent; Snyder, 73,776,000 gallons, up 4.8 percent; Stanton, 7,847,000 gallons, down 14.7 percent; Peyote and the West Texas Children's Home together received 4,001,000 gallons, up 63 percent; and Robert Lee, 9,455,000 gallons. One year ago, Robert Lee took no water.

Seeding ups rain

Maryneal and Forsan — showed cotton yields 52 percent higher than the pre-seeding period from 1936-70.

By comparison, upwind counties — those which theoretically would not benefit from cloud seeding — showed only an 8 percent increase.

Counties downwind from the seeding operations have benefitted almost as much as the target territory with a 49 percent increase over previous normal yields.

Last summer, rainfall averaged only 4 to 6 inches within the target area, and 7 inches in downwind counties. Jones said this supports his theory that regional weather systems tend to move north and east of this section during the year.

For the full 13 years of seeding, precipitation shows a 34 percent plus departure from normal for the stations within the target. This compares to only 10 percent above normal for the unseeded upwind areas.

While the district's seeding program ran from March 1 to Oct. 31, only the June 15-Aug. 15 period was included in research efforts head by Texas Tech University officials.

The absence of storm cloud systems during 1983 resulted in only nine cloud seeding opportunities during this three-month period

For the entire season there were only 22 missions. This ranked among the lowest in 13 years of operation. The years 1973 and 1976 produced 51 and 52 seeding missions, and the 13-year average is 33.4

For 1970-83, the seasonal average of rainfall within the target area was 13 to 14 inches, whereas in the upwind areas it was 10 to 12 inches. Last year's figures were about half of that.

CRMWD began and continues to seed summer cloud systems in hopes of increasing runoff into its reservoirs at Lake J.B. Thomas and Lake E.V. Spence.

The coordinator for the program is Don Couvillion, who serves as pilot for a turbo-charged Navajo research plane. A second plane is used to seed the base of clouds with particles from silver iodide flares. These serve to facilitate condensation of moisture droplets in upper altitudes.

Weekend accidents all reported minor

Three minor traffic mishaps were reported in Snyder during the weekend.

The first was reported at 2:33 p.m. Saturday on the parking lot of the C&W One Stop on the Lamesa Highway. Involved vehicles were a 1974 Chevrolet driven by Lupe Orosco of 1511 College Ave. which struck a parked 1977 Pontiac owned by an Oklahoma resident, Cal Mitchell.

The weekend's second accident occurred at the intersection of 17th St. and Ave. M at 6:54 p.m. Saturday:

According to reports, a 1973 AMC driven by Fernando Luna, Jr. of 1109 Ave. R ran off the road at the intersection and came to a stop on the Santa Fe Railroad tracks.

The final mishap was reported at 5:25 p.m. Sunday in the 2200 Block of 26th St. Involved in this accident were a 1981 Ford driven by Izora Milliken of 2107 29th St. and a 1980 Chevrolet driven by Andres Tomas Gutierrez of 1008 14th St.

No injuries were reported in any of the accidents and damage to all vehicles was rated minor to moderate.

sonnel, followed by a question and answer period.

Those expected to represent the state agency Monday are Rick Jacobi, general manager; Bob Avant, assistant general manager; Ruben Alvarado, chief engineer; and Tom Blackburn, director of special programs.

A spokesman for the authority has said they would try to address both the "positive and the negative" aspects of such facilities.

The authority currently has three potential sites identified in the state and they say they would like to add Borden County as a fourth site.

In addition, reports have indicated that a Borden County landowner has expressed an interest in selling property to the authority.

Cave is luring divers to death

WIMBERLEY, Texas (AP) — Something draws divers ever deeper into the seemingly bottomless waters of Jacob's Well. Many never come back.

At least nine people have drowned in the spring near this picturesque Central Texas town. Residents fear that publicity about the deaths is drawing others to test themselves in the well's underwater caverns.

"It's just different," said Paul Battaglia, a diving enthusiast who has helped recover the bodies of four of the last five victims. "It's not like any other diving spot ... anywhere in Texas."

Old-time residents say the spring, whose waters remain at 66 to 70 degrees year around, is named for a man who settled in the area in the early 1800s.

A Spanish explorer is said to have first recorded the well in the late 1700s when his party came upon a 30-foot geyser.

The well is the headwaters of Cypress Creek, a stream which snakes through the hills between Austin and San Antonio.

The area is patrolled around the clock by security guards hired by Woodcreek Resort Properties which owns land but divers continue to find their way into the clear, deep water.

Divers are especially attracted to a cave that opens up about 90 feet below the well's innocent-looking surface. The underwater passageway is so narrow in spots that divers usually must remove their air tanks to get through it.

Last week, the body of a 36-year-old Austin mailman was found without an air tank. Wayne Russell was the second diver to drown in Jacob's Well in the past four months.

In 1980, at the request of the owners, a group of divers embedded a steel grate in concrete at the mouth of the tunnel.

But divers hacked away at the metal and eventually reopened a slender passageway that leads to the cave's fourth chamber and its spring, where divers say the waters are so clear that their underwater flashlights seem to shine into infinity.

The trek seems deceptively simple from the surface.

"It's too easy," said Dan Dibble, who owns a scuba gear shop in nearby San Marcos. Dibble ruptured his stomach in 1979 while trying to rescue two of the drowning victims.

Russell went into the cave last Sunday with two Austin friends and probably ran out of oxygen, Dibble said.

"They violated some very basic rules of cave diving. What they did was something akin to playing Russian roulette with one empty chamber," he said.

County 'stole' buried money lawyer claims

WACO, Texas (AP) — The mother of one of two men who found a half a million dollars buried on a South Texas farm in 1977 says she is glad that the U.S. Supreme Court let the money go to the county where it was seized and not to her son.

But a lawyer representing the other man says he is still looking for ways to keep McLennan County from "stealing" the fortune, which has grown in interest-bearing accounts to $965,460.

James Dean Bridges, then 15, and Percy Garcia, then 16, dug up $500,000 in alleged drug money buried on a farm near Alice in 1977.

The youths, with dreams of escaping the South Texas oilfields, bought a car and were on their way to Chicago when police in Waco stopped them for running a red light and confiscated the money. The county decided to let the courts decide who should keep it.

Bridges tesified during a March 1981 trial in Waco federal court that he watched his father, who was said to have ties with illegal drug trafficking, bury the money on his ranch. Bridges said he later quarreled with his father, dug the money up with Garcia's help and left town.

Lawyers for the men argued that since the county could not prove the money was stolen, the "finders-keepers principle" should apply.

A Waco jury concluded that the boys took the money "knowing or believing that the owner (could) be found," and a judge awarded the money to McLennan County.

On Monday, the U.S. Supreme Court let that decision stand.

Garcia's mother, Gloria Bowles Garcia of Alice, says she has prayed that the courts would not award the money to her son.

"I didn't care about the money, and I didn't want Percy to get it. I was praying that Percy didn't get the money, because he is too young and I was afraid that he was going to mess up his life," she said. "If that was dirty money, it really would have messed his life up. If the county needs it more than Percy does, they can have it."

Garcia now works for an oil company near Alice. Bridges works on an offshore drilling rig near Corpus Christi.

McLennan County officials last week were considering the most effective way to put the money to use, but Bridge's lawyer was trying to find a way for the men to keep the money.

"I don't think it is over yet, but I am going to look into the matter," said Bridges' attorney, George M. Shaffer of Corpus Christi. "I am going to try to find out how McLennan County could steal all that money, because in my judgment, that is what they did."

County Attorney W.C. Haley said Bridges' and Garcia's lawyers have 25 days to file a motion for rehearing with the Supreme Court.

Even if Garcia and Bridges don't get to keep the money, they probably won't walk away from the adventure empty-handed.

Garcia's attorney, Charles Barrera of Alice, says he has sold MGM-UA Entertainment Co. the rights to the men's story. He declined to specify how much the men will make from the film, but said it will be a "very generous amount of money."

Mrs. Garcia said her son has received at least $17,000 from the movie company so far and will make more if the movie does well.

Reform plans are estimated to cost plenty

AUSTIN (AP) — Some members of a committee studying Texas schools say many of the panel's innovative and well-publicized proposals will likely be forgotten when the public and the Legislature find out how much they will cost — with "ballpark" estimates ranging up to $7 billion.

"When they put the fiscal notes to longer school day and those things, it will blow some folks out of the tub," Bob Gregg, a state Board of Education member who also serves on the Select Committee on Public Education told the Austin American-Statesman.

The select committee was appointed by Gov. Mark White to come up with a list of recommendations for improving Texas public education.

Sources on the committee told the American-Statesman that a "no frills" package limited to teacher pay raises and equalization of funding between rich and poor school districts would cost at least $2 billion — a 25 percent increase in the current budget that could be raised through a one-cent increase in the 4-cent sales tax.

Other proposals under debate, such as a longer school day and year, day-care services for working parents and limits on class sizes, could up the cost of the reform package to between $4 billion and $7 billion, committee sources told the newspaper.
