

Nelson Shows Champ Calf; Winners Named

J. C. Nelson, Wellington Future Farmer, exhibited the grand champion fat calf in Saturday's Youth Project Show, taking the top award of the livestock division. The reserve champion was shown by Cameron Beam Jr. In the hog division, James Slay exhibited the grand champion sow and Ronald Daugherty the reserve champion, while John Gordon Thomas had the grand champion barrow and Burl Brim the reserve grand champion. Jimmie Leggett won the prize as best showman.

From the standpoint of number of entries and the crowd attending, this show was the largest in recent years, and possibly in the history of the Project Show enterprise here.

In one respect, however, the show was a disappointment to the youthful participants, and that was in the low bids made on many of the fat animals put up for sale. A number of the boys refused to sell at the prices bid and took their animals home.

Most visitors agreed that the stock, especially the calves, were in better shape this year than in any other recent year, and that the over-all quality of the show was tops.

First Monday Is the Day

Dollar Day Approved For Trade Development

Dollar Day in Wellington has been designated as the first Monday of each month, Virgil Johnson, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, announced this week after nearly 30 business firms had indicated that they will participate in this trade-building campaign.

This is approximately one-half of the business firms that were represented at an open meeting of the Chamber of Commerce to discuss the possibility of a dollar day. The present campaign will continue for nine months and each merchant will handle his own business details concerning the drive, but co-operating with all other businesses by staging a Dollar Day sale on the designated day.

The first Dollar Day will be May 2.

"The name 'Dollar Day' should be interpreted to mean 'dollar value received,'" Mr. Johnson declared.

"In some businesses it may not induce an immediate stimulation of sales, but the aim is to build in the people of the Wellington trade area the habit of buying in local stores.

"There is one thing it definitely is not: It is not meant that merchants should use it as an opportunity to dump unwanted merchandise on buyers when it does not represent real bargains."

Complete details will be worked out and will be announced during the remaining weeks of April.

Merchants who have signed cards stating that they will co-operate with other businesses in the Dollar Day event are:

Huston Furniture, Stinson Motor Co., Mrs. J. L. Burt's Fashion Shop, Lewis and James Grocery, F. A. Hatch Dry Goods, White Auto Store, McLellan's Variety Store, Palace Drug, Tyler Electric, Holton Auto Store, R. A. Williams Machinery, Stevenson Implement Co., D&M Farm Machinery Co., L. B. Bratten Jewelry, Thompson Appliance Co., Jack Gibson Motor Co., Kane Flying School, Leader Department Store, The Toggery, Castleberry Motor Co., Wells Department Store, Parsons Drug Co.,

The Fair Store, Sunday Bill Smith Grocery, Raburn Grocery and Dadd Quality Store.

This is not by any means all of those who will participate, it was pointed out, since other firms are being signed up during the remainder of the week.

Church to Observe 50th Anniversary

The Friendship Missionary Baptist Church in the Buck Creek community will observe its 50th Anniversary Sunday, April 21.

In observance of this, that date has been set as Homecoming Day, the Rev. L. Stonecipher, pastor, has announced.

"All former pastors and members are urged to come, regardless of where you live now, and the public in general is invited," Rev. Stonecipher said.

AAA Announces Support Prices On Sorghums

The Department of Agriculture has announced the 1949 support program on grain sorghums recently. The Price Support will be based on a rate equal to 70 percent of parity as of April 15, 1949. Loan and Purchase Agreements will be available from harvest through January 31, 1950. Loans will mature March 31, 1950, or earlier on demand.

The support price for the 1948 crop of grain sorghums was $2.31 per 100 pounds, as a national average which was based on 77 percent of parity price as of April 15, 1948, whereas, the estimated support price for the 1949 crop will be around $2.07 per 100 pounds for a national average. This will mean that farmers of Collingsworth County can expect to receive about $2.04 for their grain sorghum. The final rate of course will be announced soon after April 15.

The program will be carried out by branch and commodity offices of the Production and Marketing Administration through State PMA and County Agricultural Conservation Committees.

Every Member Invited

Free Film Planned for FFA, FHT, 4-H Clubs

Future Farmers, Future Homemakers and 4-H Club members will be guests of Deskins Wells, editor of The Wellington Leader, at the film, "A Letter to Three Wives," which will be at the Ritz Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, April 20 and 21.

These boys and girls may pick up their tickets at The Leader office after Friday, April 15, and may attend any time during the two-day showing they wish.

The Hollywood grapevine has been buzzing for months about an hilarious new comedy which is said to boast one of the most unusual story ideas yet put on film. Entitled "A Letter to Three Wives," the comedy has an all-star cast with Jeanne Crain, Linda Darnell and Ann Sothern in the title roles. They play the wives, respectively, of Jeffrey Lynn, Broadway star Paul Douglas in his first film role, and Kirk Douglas in the hit.

The immediate action of the intricate, yet wholly entertaining story of "A Letter to Three Wives," takes place in a single day, when the three girls leave on a picnic excursion with the unsettling news that "Addie," their town's most attractive unattached female, has left town with one of her husbands. Though "Addie" is never shown in the picture, her taunting voice rings in the ears of each wife as she searches her marriage, convinced that her own husband has good reason to leave her.

Suspense and sympathy for the romantic problems in marriage builds to the picture's many laugh-packed surprises as the story unfolds. It isn't until the last 60 seconds of the picture that the answer is revealed.

Barbara Lawrence, who is seen as Linda Darnell's younger sister, is also starred in the film which includes Connie Gilchrist, Florence Bates and Hobart Cavanaugh.

National Guard Reality as Necessary Personnel Secured

Three officers and twenty-one men were signed-up last week in the 142nd Medical Company of the Texas National Guard to assure Wellington of having the unit assigned to this community, stated Colonel Robert Murphy, Regular Army Instructor, after spending a day here.

Dr. Dale Watkins will command the Company with a rank of Major, and will be assisted by Captain John Bray, administrative officer, and Lieutenant Virgil Johnson, transportation officer. Of the twenty-one men signed up, most are of high school age and have previous military training, but some of these early signers are ex-service men who saw extensive overseas duty during the recent war.

Two immediate projects confront the Company. First, is Federal inspection which will be held on a date early in May. This inspection will be made by officers from the Fourth U. S. Army, stationed in Fort Sam Houston, and from the date of inspection the pay for the unit will commence. Second, is the annual two week summer camp will be held at Camp Hood, near Temple, Texas, in the middle of June. This camp will afford the new men an excellent opportunity to receive intensive training and return better qualified in the specialized subjects of this unit. While at the camp the men will receive full pay according to their rank for the two week period.

They will travel by railroad to Camp Hood.

Numerous key non-commissioned positions are available in the unit, stated Major Watkins, such as administration, supply, mess, transportation, auto mechanics, medical, etc. Ex-service men who held ratings in these specialist will be recruited in the grade previously held, and in some cases higher ratings will be available.

"We are very anxious for the ex-service men to sign up in this home-town outfit. We need their leadership and ability to whip this unit into shape. As for the men who have not had any previous military training, we want them to join the Guard, and they will be promoted to the many vacancies available just as soon as they can qualify. Starting off with a basic private, the men will be paid a full day of pay of the Regular Army, (Continued on Page Twelve)

Farmers See Why Americans Have Food to Share

Farmers, and townsfolk too, have given much kindly comment to the show staged here April 8th by Warrick Machinery. Most thought-provoking was the full-color, sound film "Pageant of Progress" based on the colorful 2-part pageant "5,000 Years of Plowing" and "Centennial March of Machines."

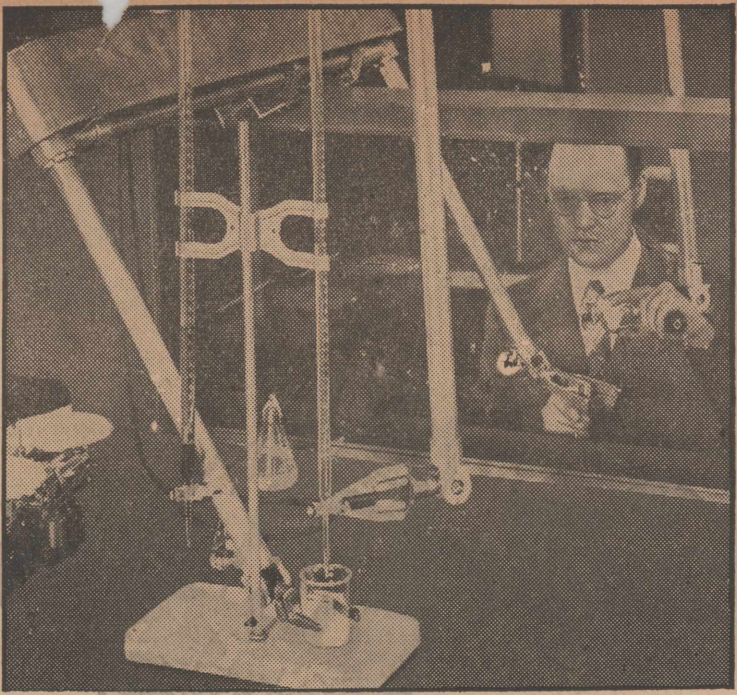

It was not originally intended to be a movie. Rather, it was a pageant produced by the J. I. Case Company as a contribution to the Wisconsin celebration of its first hundred years of statehood, and shown every day for a week at the Centennial Exposition held at the State Fair grounds near Milwaukee. It drew richly, and with due credit, on various historical sources for its vivid portrayal of soil tillage and grain harvest from ancient times right up to the most modern methods.

As a lesson in history brought to life, it was well worth while. But, what earns its attention in these columns are the closing words of the "Pageant of Progress."

"Now let's lift our eyes and minds to the amazing significance of this March of Machines and Parade of Plows. We have just witnessed something of the struggles, failures, and triumphs which have marked the development of agriculture through five thousand years."

"For more than a century, the United States of America has been the productive marvel of the world. From the farms and factories of our land have come an abundance of food and goods such as the world has never seen before. Here, under the Constitution, men were given freedom to invent and to produce machines which could bring forth food in abundance."

"Here, Americans conquered hunger for themselves and for millions in other parts of the world:

'HANDS' FOR RESEARCH

Inventor Raymond C. Goertz of the Argonne National Laboratory in Chicago demonstrates his "master slave," a device to be used in research involving radioactive material. The inventor controls the mechanical "hands" in the foreground from outside a glass panel, which is replaced by concrete and lead insulation in actual operation. Special optical lenses will enable scientists to watch the work of the ingenious contrivance, which can perform virtually any operation possible with human hands.

for food, farm machinery and freedom are inseparable—a fundamental truth which we will do well to cherish and to defend."

performances will be Saturday, June 11, at 2:30 and 8 p.m. with the finals set for Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

In connection with the rodeo but also for the kids, there will be a "Calf Scramble" for boys from 8 to 14 at each rodeo performance. The prize for the winner of this event at each show will be a Hereford calf weighing around 200 pounds.

Along with the regular events; bareback and saddle bronc riding, bull riding, bulldogging, calf roping and double mugging there will also be a girl sponsor contest.

Entry fees for the rodeo will close Friday, June 10 at 6 p.m.

The cloud that came up Saturday night around seven o'clock gave this community 3-8 inches of rain and plenty of wind, however, I have not heard of any damage caused from the wind.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Wiseman just recently visited relatives in Eastern Oklahoma. Mr. Wiseman said, "The folks down there had all ready caught enough fish this spring to fill their lockers" but they were always ready to go fishing again when relatives came.

The Ritz theater in Wellington has again been selected as one of 200 leading motion picture houses in the Southwest for a simultaneous world premiere saturation showing of Walter Wanger's technical production of "Tulsa," which opens here for a 2-day engagement at the Prevue Saturday night, Sunday and Monday, April 17 and 18, it was announced by Manager Emmett Passmore.

The first technicolor feature ever filmed in Oklahoma, it was photographed on locations in Tulsa and on Governor Roy J. Turner's 25,000-acre ranch last summer, and stars Susan Hayward, Robert Preston, Pedro Armendariz with Chill Wills and Lloyd Gough.

To herald the first public world showings at two theatres in Tulsa on April 13, the stars, Miss Hayward, Preston and Wills with Producer Wanger and his wife, Constance Bennett, were present for the oil capital's premiere festivities, and on the following day for personal appearances in Oklahoma City.

"Tulsa," the picture, is a story of Tulsa, Oklahoma, once a cow town on the Arkansas River and now a leading prairie city rising out of the plains as today's nerve center of the world's mighty oil industry.

It is the story of the discovery of oil in the Osage Indian lands, of the crude methods of drilling in those early oil rush days, and of the wild-catters of the period, hell-bent on making lots of money, with no concern for the waste and ultimate exhaustion of the oil reserve.

It tells of the conflict between ruthless oil men with their lust for flowing gold, and cattle men with their grazing lands ruined and their creeks and streams polluted.

"Tulsa" is a fictionalized story with enough fact and authenticity spaced along the exciting proceedings to make it a good story of the oil business in Oklahoma, from wildcat days in the 20's to the well regulated business it is today.

"The title could very easily have been 'Wellington,' or any other town in Oklahoma or Texas for that matter, for the story fits most of the communities which mushroomed into cities with the discovery of oil," Manager Passmore said.

The saturation premiere showing here and in 199 other Oklahoma and Texas communities is the largest of its kind since "Red River" last August.

For Wellington it is the third area premiere of the 1949 movie season, following "Mother Is a Freshman" last month and "Family Honeymoon" in February of this year, the show manager pointed out.

On the same program with "Tulsa" are News-Cartoon-Sports.

I Saw-

By VIRGINIA ROBEY

Clyde Brown saying, "You've heard about a pig in a poke. Well, that's the kind I lost." He'd bought it at the Sale Barn and started home with it in a sack. A few miles out of town he looked back in the pickup and the pig was gone. He didn't find it along the road he'd just come over, either.

Mrs. Earl Tompkins saying her new grandson — the son of Darrell and June Tompkins — has plenty of red hair. . . . Edsel Bartlett turning the first spadeful of dirt that was to be a major digging job in his yard. He didn't look very enthusiastic.

G. Ward Moody, state adjutant for the American Legion, back in his former home of Wellington for a few hours, recalling some of the things he remembered about the town. "Did you know the old court house here was the only one in the United States that had lightning rods on it? We often wondered who the salesman was that sold that job to the commissioners court. He'd have made a good membership chairman of the American Legion."

And a few minutes earlier Guy Clay recalling that it was Mr. Moody, when he was band director here, who coined the expression "the Dukes of Wellington." "We all gathered down in front of the John Bevers cafe and drove all night to a district meeting. Ward got up in the meeting and invited them to hold their next one here, and for the first time, he used the term, "the Dukes of Wellington."

Clark Anderson saying, a little later, "I sat there and thought, 'My, how I'd like for Bill McCraw's speech to be in the Wellington Leader.' Then it dawned on me that I'm the one who is supposed to take care of publicity for The Legion."

Helen Langford radiant as friends congratulated her on her coming marriage. And the very same could be said for Gwendolyn Bartlett, who will marry Gene Cook Sunday.

One colored man saying to another, "It's spring time, but it ain't spring season, 'cause Johnson grass ain't comin' yet."

G. M. Thompson of Aberdeen saying his daughter and son-in-law, Merle and Bill Hankins, now live at Morse, where Bill is pastor of Methodist Church and also teaches. . . . Miss Willie Willard saying that her mother, Mrs. M. A. Mabry of the Needwood community, one of the earliest settlers of this county, is now quite frail.

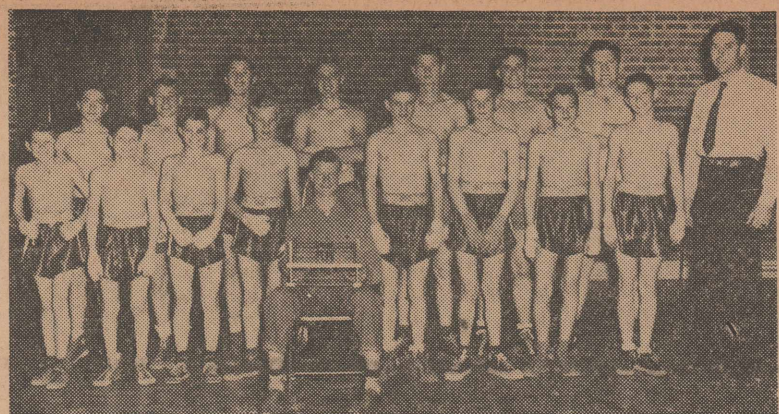

Mrs. Sid Harrison with a ball of crocheted thread, telling of the table cloth she is crocheting. "I started it when I married, 30 years ago January 15, and I've worked on it off and on since. It will take more than 700 squares and each one is only about two inches square. So far, I've been able to match my thread all the way through, and I hope to get it finished by our 31st wedding anniversary next January 15."

Countians to Rites Of N. D. Loter

By MRS. R. L. KARNES
Mr. and Mrs. Bob Stephenson and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Loter attended funeral services of N. D. Loter Saturday, April 9, at Childress.

Mr. Loter was a cousin of Jim Loter and a close friend of Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson. His son had also married Mr. Stephenson's niece. It was reported that Mr. Loter was working with a big tractor when it became stuck in the sand. He borrowed a small tractor to pull it out, but when he attempted to pull with the smaller one, it toppled over backward, hitting the back of his head on the first tractor and pinning him underneath the other one.

He was working about seven miles from home, and when he failed to come in for supper, his wife became alarmed and went to look for him, finding him dead about 9:00 o'clock Thursday night.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

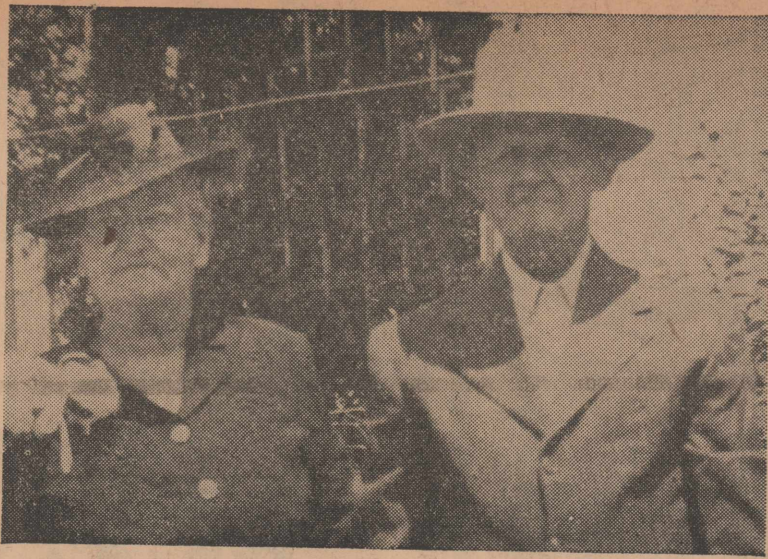

Most merchants report splendid business over the past week end. Some say that it would have been a record breaker for April if it had not been for the rain and wind-storm that drove people home about 6 o'clock in the evening. They would have shopped till 9 or 10 P.M. under ordinary circumstances.

This should be significant to the merchant, who have been sales hungry for weeks. Economists say that April is the critical month as far as trends are concerned. If they buy in April, the precedent is that they will continue to buy in good fashion throughout the year. We don't mean to be bragging; but we do believe in advertising. One reason for the extra business last Saturday could be that there was an extra amount of real merchandising advertising in the paper. See what we mean.

Something happens in Wellington every week. Friday after next, April 22, the Greenbelt REA will hold its annual meeting for all members. This will draw visitors from Clarendon, Dodson, Quail, Shamrock, McLean and a lot of other places. Quite a number of Wellington merchants will give prizes ranging into the hundreds of dollars. Incidentally the payroll of the REA is over $49,000 a year which is quite a drop in the bucket for any town the size of Wellington.

Spring is here officially. That majestic tree, the sycamore, is beginning to bud. The sycamore in ancestry is the oldest of all the hardwood trees — older by millions of years than the elm, ash or oak. Would write more about this if Bill Hughes would ever bring back my book; but can't press him too much for he is recovering from a serious case of the red measles. Measles go hard with a person when they reach maturity. I had them when I was twenty-five; but I took the easy route and jostled with the German measles. Spare me from ever taking the Russian kind. Bill ought not to have written that column against Communism last week. I just knew that Joe would hear about it and do something to him.

Back to trees. There is an old saying in West Texas that spring is here when the mesquite trees leaf out. This is fol de rol and can't be justified by observation. They say that the mesquite trees are never killed by freezes. That is not true. Every ten or fifteen years the mesquite trees are frozen back to the ground and then have to come up from the roots. If this were not so, there would be mesquites growing here as large as some of those in South Texas where they reach a mammoth spread with the trunks three feet thick in diameter. The sycamore and the pecan know a lot more about cold weather than does the mesquite. On the other hand the mesquite knows a lot more about dry weather than does the sycamore or the pecan.

DEATH PARTS COUPLE WED 56 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. W.S. Calcote, longtime area residents, had been married 56 years when death took Mr. Calcote on March 28. Their home was at Texola, Okla., but they previously lived in the Loco area for a number of years. Mr. Calcote was 81 years of age at the time of his death. Two of his children live in this area, John Calcote at Quail and Mrs. G. W. Adkins at Loco.

Remember the hard freeze in April several years ago when all the mulberry trees in town were killed, most of the Chinese elms were damaged seriously, as were many other trees; but there was not a single sycamore that was hurt in the slightest. They originated in what is now the Arctic Circle and moved southward as the Ice Age drove them down to warmer climates.

Went in to buy half a dozen apples at the Lewis & James Grocery Wednesday. Our Republican mayor courteously informed his son that he would have to wait on me, since the editor couldn't find anything for himself. I waited until no one else was listening, and then I sidled up to old Ernest and said: "Well, I may not be able to find the apples; but at least I wrote my own proclamations when I was mayor." The plain facts are that no mayor has written his own proclamations since my administration.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hodge are the parents of a son, Jimmy Lee, born April 11 in St. Joseph's Hospital. He weighed 7 pounds 14 ounces.

Mrs. A. B. Smith Speaks at PTA

Mrs. A. B. Smith of Shamrock, a talented artist and former Wellington resident, spoke at a recent meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association. A Wellington artist, Mrs. A. L. Nowlin, was the other speaker for the occasion.

These women spoke immediately preceding the exhibit of art masterpieces at the Elementary School. Mrs. Smith, who is president of the Panhandle Painters, told the mothers that if they wanted art taught in the schools badly enough, they could get it.

En route to Wellington for this meeting, Mrs. Smith was in a car accident, in which her car was badly damaged, although she was unhurt.

United States. The seed of deterioration dissolution and decay are in our society now; but it is so small compared to our real strength that it could be stamped out entirely. Even if not stamped out it could be held down to where we could maintain our position for a thousand years. Right now the United States is the greatest nation on earth — the hope of all mankind. It is a tremendous — an awful — responsibility.

Total of $2,135 Raised With Reports Still Out

Red Cross Over Quota; Funds Still Needed For Local Work

Approximately $2,135 has been reported in the annual Red Cross drive to date, Miss Katherine Boverie, secretary of the local chapter, said Monday, April 11.

This passes by about $300 the quota assigned, and one half of all above the actual quota will remain with the Collingsworth County Chapter for its local work.

"Not all of the community workers have reported their collections yet," John Forbis, drive chairman, said. Some of those not in at the time are Lillie, Kesler, part of Houselog, Lutie, Samnorwood, part of Quail, Needwood, Roundup and Northwest Wellington.

"The drive is not yet closed, and contributions are still most welcome, for the local chapter needs all that can be raised for its part," Miss Boverie pointed out.

LOOK - - NO PONTOONS

Like a "painted ship upon a painted ocean," this scene near Iatan, Mo., is more picturesque than convenient for the owner of the plane. He made a landing on a muddy wheat field, was frozen in, and now must wait for flood waters of the Missouri River to abate before being able to take off again.

Hal McIntyre to Play at Shamrock

They say that a bandleader's best friend is his recording contract. And Hal McIntyre, whose orchestra will appear in person at New American Legion Home, Shamrock, Texas, on Saturday, April 16, has been knocking out one hit after another.

In the last few years it has been clearly demonstrated that there is no substitute for records in terms of reaching the top of the musical ladder. Airtime, vaudeville, one-nighters and locations have had their places in the business of a band's rise, but bridging the gap between obscurity and fame is most quickly accomplished via those ten inch discs. The nation's juke boxes, radio disc jockeys and music shops feed these records with rocket speed to a music-hungry public.

McIntyre, a Glenn Miller graduate, lost no time in getting on the recording Hit Parade. "Commando Serenade" was his first real successful wax effort and "Sentimental Journey" hit the juke boxes with a crushing effect. It became the nation's top tune.

SOUTHWEST-WIDE WORLD PREMIERE

The Ritz Theatre in Wellington is one of 200 motion picture houses throughout the Southwest selected for a simultaneous world premiere showing of the first spectacular production telling the story of oil rush days in Oklahoma.

This is a story of Tulsa, Oklahoma—a prairie city rising out of the Plains—once a cow camp on the Arkansas—today a nerve center of the world's mighty oil industry. It is the story of the discovery of oil in the Osage Indian lands—of the crude methods of drilling in those early days—of the wild caters of the period, hell-bent on making lots of money, with no concern for the waste and ultimate exhaustion of the oil reserve.

Actually filmed in TULSA and on Governor Roy J. Turner's 25,000-acre ranch last summer.

The first Technicolor feature ever photographed in Oklahoma.

McCraw Urges Legion Go All-Out for Members

"Now is the time, here is the place, this is the Post to support the American Legion," Bill McCraw, state commander of the American Legion told approximately 100 Legionnaires, their wives and guests in a surprise visit here Thursday night, April 7.

With him was State Adjutant Ward Moody, a Wellington resident some twenty years ago.

After paying tribute to "the fine cordiality of a great people in West Texas, Commander McCraw pointed out that the American Legion looks after the welfare of every man and woman who is a veteran of either World War. It looks after the welfare of the disabled, the widows and orphans of soldiers.

He reminded them that the American Legion has been alert to world conditions. "They know no more than the rest of the people. They have simply been honest with themselves. They asked Congress to fortify Guam and other outlying areas before World War II began. Was it needed? Was it done?" he inquired.

The speaker declared that those who are criticizing the payment of disability compensation to veterans were singing a different tune during the war, and would not, in his opinion, "exchange places with one of the paraplegics in the Memphis, Tennessee, hospital for all the gold in Fort Knox." He spoke pointedly of the conditions and outlook of those men, and of those in the mental hospital at Waco, then asked, "How can you compensate a man who has given his life on a battlefield?"

Late in his speech, Commander McCraw declared that he was not worried about Stalin from without, but about the softness within the nation. "We are not puncture-proof," he reminded.

The speaker closed by urging the members of the legion to work all-out to build the membership of their post, and to work actively for those things for which the organization stands.

Mr. Moody spoke briefly, recalling incidents of his residence here, but the two visitors spent most of their time visiting with friends here and contacting veterans.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Draper of Hereford have been guests in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hix for the past ten days.

which will be $2.50 for a two hour drill, and will increase with their advance in rank," Major Watkins said.

Major Watkins clarified that plans are underway to provide a way and means for young men who live in all communities of Collingsworth County and the area to join the unit. He stated that any man who can attend drill one night a week in Wellington is eligible, and if circumstances warrant, transportation will be provided to groups from such communities as Quail, Samnorwood, Dodson, and Dozier.

Shortly after federal approval is received, the Company's supply will start to arrive. This equipment will include a complete layout for a medical unit of this type, such as trucks, jeeps, ambulances, medical supplies and equipment, uniforms, mess equipment, tentage, et cetera.

The unit will meet and drill one night per week in the Community Building. A planned training program, outlined by the Fourth U. S. Army, will be followed and will cover such subjects as: basic subjects of the soldier, physical training, first aid, physiology and anatomy, pharmacy, transportation, mechanics, et cetera. For specialized training, men of this unit will be eligible to attend the many specialist schools of the Army, and while attending will draw full pay and allowances. As regards the night for the unit to drill, it will be decided by members of this unit. Young men or parents who are interested in particulars of this unit are encouraged to contact Dr. Dale Watkins at the Jones-Watkins Clinic, Coach John Bray at the Wellington High School, or Virgil W. Johnson at the Chamber of Commerce.

FARMALL TRACTORS INTERNATIONAL TRUCKS

TRUCK & TRACTOR CO. Wellington, Texas

The F. F. A. project show was a success although there was some shortage of buyers. This is not an unusual malady right now, so I hear.

A. L. Duncan bought a fertilizer attachment for his 4-row planter last week; which leaves us with only 2-row attachments on hand right now. Expect some more 4-rows in a few days though.

Got in a small shipment of rotary hoe attachments for cultivators the other day. Sold some of these to George Lewis and Carl Crosnoe last year. You might ask them how they like 'em. The idea is to get these weed choppers right down on the row and stir up the soil and kill weeds without throwing any dirt around.

Wallace Smith to put our old Regular Farmall we've had around here for several months. He traded us a 6-foot IHC disc harrow which he bought last summer, so it's for sale now and will clean out fence rows nicely.

Mill Iron Ranches, according to Bill Hughes and Polly O'Neil, are going to have about 2000 acres of grass sowed this month. We are putting grass seeders on eighteen tractors owned by the Ranch and by men who are working some of the Mill Iron land.

In many ways it's a nice feeling to have a Farmall tractor on hand and not have every man who comes in the door get sore because you've promised it to somebody else and won't let him have it. This brand new Model H we have on the floor now is anybody's baby who wants it. And don't forget, fellows FARMALL is now about the only kind of tractor that still has a pretty fair resale value around here.

Children Prepare for The Annual Operetta

Children of the elementary school will present the one-act operetta "Patty Sue's Birthday Party" Friday, April 22, at 8:00 p.m. Miss Bonnie Willis, principal, announced this week.

The story of this operetta concerns Patty Sue, 6-years old, whose mother has arranged a party for her in the garden of their home. "Old King Cole" of story book fame is one of Patty Sue's particularly favorite characters. Her mother has, therefore, planned to invite him and his retinue of followers as guests of honor.

There is also the "Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe" and a number of her interesting family to share in the fun. Patty Sue's own friends are the chorus and sing most of the songs, while "Hop-O-My Thumb," the village cut-up, acts as the announcer. The mother herself is in the role of guiding hostess.

Many interesting little people make their appearance and the party is a big success.

Among the characters to be seen are Patty Sue, her mother, Hop-O-My Thumb, Old King Cole, The Man With the Bowl, The Man With the Pipe, The Fiddlers Tree, Her-alds, train bearers, boys, pirates, sticks-of-candy, little flowers, chefs, aviators, the Old Woman in the Shoe, Her Children, Jack Horner, Mistress Mary Bo Peep, Miss Muffett, Jack and Jill, Boy Blue, Tom, the Pipers Son, and Red Riding Hood.

Children who will take the parts of these characters will be announced next week.

Typists to Compete In League Meet

Wellington High School will be represented in the district typing and short hand Interscholastic League contests in McLean Thursday, April 14, Miss Ernestine Short, commercial instructor, announced today.

Sylvia Keith, Almeta Shipley and Morene Amerson will compete in the typing contest, and Miss Amerson and Earlene Harrison will compete in the shorthand contest.

Mile of Pavement South of Loco

Paving of one mile of road from Loco south was announced this week by the Childress County Commissioners Court after consultation with J. H. Nabers, district engineer of the State Highway Department.

This comes under the state's program to construct 25,000 miles of farm-to-market roads.

Wellington Schools Close Thursday for Easter Vacation

Wellington schools will be recessed from Thursday evening, April 14, at 3:45 o'clock, until Tuesday morning, April 19, at 8:40 o'clock, for the Easter season, E. L. Pritchett, superintendent, announced today.

Easter Morning Services

Plan to attend the impressive Easter morning services at your Church. The beauty and inspiration of the reverent words and the glorious song of the choir will give you and yours the comfort and warmth of faith so vital in these days of complexity.

With Holy Week signaling the near approach of Easter, congregations of the county prepared to observe Sunday, April 17, as Easter, the most Holy of Church days.

A majority of the churches have planned some special observance of the day, and announced these plans this week. Several will have revival meetings in progress. Two are holding special services through Holy Week.

Speaking of Easter, the Rev. Charles A. Knapp, pastor of Our Lady of Mercy Church, gave this thought:

"Resurrexi — I am risen," is Jesus' triumphant song of entry upon the earth on the day of His resurrection.

"Easter is the chief feast of The Church. It is the most glorious, the most joyous feast in the liturgy of The Church. It signifies the resurrection of Our Lord as well as the regeneration of all men through Christ the glorious King.

"Easter is the great Victory-Feast of faith. 'This is the day the Lord hath made,' Psalms 117-24."

Our Lady of Mercy Church
Good Friday, April 15: Morning meditation, (privately) St. John 18:1-40 and 19:1-42.

1:00 to 3:00 p.m.: The Seven Last Words; Stations of the Cross, followed by veneration of relic of the True Cross; 3:00 to 4:00 p.m., Confessions.

Holy Saturday, April 16: Morning Meditation, (privately) St. Matthew, 28:1-7; Evening, 7:00 to 7:30 p.m. (privately) Litany of the Name of Jesus; Rosary (Five Glorious Mysteries); 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. Confessions.

Easter Sunday, April 17: 11:00 a.m. High Mass; Holy Communion, sermon and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. An early Mass will be offered at St. Joseph's Convent Chapel at 6:35 a.m.

St. Joseph's Convent Chapel
Holy Thursday, April 14: 6:35 a.m., Holy Mass; 7:30 p.m. Holy Hour. In remembrance of Christ's last supper with His Chosen Twelve, and of His offering of the first Holy Mass, also of His institution of the Christian Priesthood, the evening before His death.

First Christian Church
Easter Sunday will be celebrated at the First Christian Church with special music by the choir and the message, "The Battle of the Ages," by the Rev. Archie W. Gray, minister of the church.

"All friends of the church are cordially invited to worship here as we celebrate this great day in our Christian religion," Rev. Gray said.

Morning worship begins at 11:00 a.m. and the evening service at 7:30 p.m.

First Methodist Church
Services are being held each evening during Holy Week at the First Methodist Church, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. Noel Bryant, pastor, is conducting the services.

A class of instruction is under way for children who will be received into the Church Sunday morning and for others wishing to attend.

This is held at the church each afternoon at 4:00 p.m.

On Good Friday evening at 7:30 the membership of the church and the children to be received into the church will gather for the observance of Holy Communion.

The sacrament of baptism for infants will be administered at the morning service Easter Sunday. Special Easter music will be given by the choir. Rev. Bryant will use the Easter story as the theme of his sermon, and children will be received into the church.

The final Easter service will be at the evening hour, when the religious film, "Beyond Our Own" will be shown.

First Baptist Church
A weeks revival service begins at the First Baptist Church Sunday morning, the Rev. Howard Jones, pastor, has announced. The pastor will do the preaching and Bura Handley will be in charge of the singing.

Services will be held twice daily, at 10:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m.

The public is cordially invited to attend any or all of these services.

"We believe there is no more fitting time for a revival than at the Easter season. It is a time for us to think seriously and deeply upon the work of Christianity," Rev. Jones said.

Calvary Baptist Church

The Rev. George Shoff, pastor of the church, said that at the morning hours. His sermon will be devoted to the Easter story.

Assembly of God

Following the morning service, the entire membership of the Assembly of God will go to a spot near Wellington, where dinner will be spread on the ground, the Rev. Austin Jolliff, pastor, has announced. Exact location for the event has not been made.

There will be an Easter program and egg hunt in the afternoon.

The evening service will be in charge of the children of the church, who will give an Easter program. Directing this are Mrs. C. O. Wilkerson and Mrs. Tommy Jesse.

On Saturday afternoon the primary and beginner departments will have an Easter Egg hunt at the church. This begins at 2:00 p.m.

Church of the Nazarene

Revival services which have been under way at the Church of the Nazarene since April 6, will close Easter Sunday, April 17, the Rev. Austin Moore, pastor, said.

The Rev. and Mrs. H. T. Eastman of Pueblo, Colo., have been in charge of the preaching and music, and large crowds have been attending.

Atlantic Pact Opens New Era in World Relations

The Atlantic Pact became a concrete fact in Washington last week, becoming as it did, a symbol of consolidation of world democracy and the present hope for security and peace.

Named in full the North Atlantic Security Pact, it has been called the "Monroe Doctrine of Western Europe," a sign to "stop, look and think before you act" for any who might come that way with aggression in mind.

The pact itself is brief. There are only 14 articles and the entire treaty would fill only a column and a half of type in The Wellington Leader. Yet it is to the point and gives unmistakable evidence of the joint determination of the countries of the North Atlantic area to resist armed attack from any quarter. Moreover, the pact covers not only the countries of Western Europe, but their possessions north of the Tropic of Cancer, their troops of occupation, their ships at sea and their planes in the air.

Goals of the Pact are set forth in the 100-word preamble, and affirm the participants' determination to preserve their freedoms and liberty, their interest in stability, order and peace, and their resolve to unite in collective defense.

Briefly, this is the content of the pact: Article I recognizes the responsibility of the signatory countries to settle international disputes peaceably and not use force or threat of force. Article II commits them to strengthening their free institutions and promoting conditions of stability and economic collaboration. Article III declares their intention to develop and collective capacity to resist armed attack. Article IV calls for consultation whenever a member believes its "territorial integrity political independence or security is being threatened."

Article V is the heart of the pact. It declares that armed attack against one is an attack against all.

Article VI defines an armed attack,

Article VII notes the primary responsibility of the Security Council for maintaining peace; Article VIII declares the pact in no way contradicts existing agreements; and article IX creates the North Atlantic Council, the organization to implement the pact. The last five articles deal with technical, mechanical and managerial problems.

The pact is signed but it must be ratified by the United States Senate before the United States becomes a member. Just now, eventual Senate ratification appears most likely, but not before there is considerable debate and questioning. For the Senate will be face to face with the fact that an arms aid program must most certainly follow, for present Western Europe is hardly in a position to defend itself against aggression. Already being drafted is an arms program that calls for between $1,000,000,000 and $2,000,000,000.

This amount is enough to make any thinking taxpayer gasp, but on the other side of the narrow line in Germany which divides East from West, stand to day 50 Russian divisions, at full battle strength, with full supply of arms, ammunition, machines and men. A billion and a half dollars can do much toward strengthening the Pact participating countries of Western Europe, but even that cannot make them equal to Russia. And after all, it was Russia who precipitated the North Atlantic Security Pact, just as its earlier actions brought on aid to Greece and Turkey and the Marshall Plan.

It is the sincere hope of those who sign the Pact and those who believe in it that it will serve as an instrument of peace, not war. And so, today, the Atlantic Pact stands, a milestone in man's efforts to win security and peace through co-operation and collective security.

Getting Hot, Eh Comrade?

The Buck Creek Philosopher

Editor's note: The Buck Creek Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Buck Creek is about as mixed up as a person can be on the new farm program, his letter this week will reveal to anybody who can get through it.

Dear editor:

Just as soon as President Truman comes out with his new farm program last week, I got hold of a copy in a newspaper which my neighbor had carelessly left in his mail box, at least I guess he left it there, it was there when I reached my hand in his box to see if it was, and I will return it the minute he complains, can't stand a complain neighbor, although the way I figure it is if a man gets a newspaper regular, every day in the week, he ain't gonna miss a copy now and then, ain't we got equality of opportunity in this country and ain't I got a right to read a newspaper when one don't turn up in the natural course of events, anyway, I took the blamed paper without stoppin' to reflect on the ethics of the situation, how do I know, his subscription ain't expired and he ain't even entitled to the paper in the first place, and went down in the pasture and got off in a secluded spot where the bright spring sunshine wouldn't bother my eyes and sat down and analyzed the new farm program.

As I understand it, farm in is gonna be based on production units, with each farm limited to 1800 units, and with a unit amounting to 10 bushels of corn or its equivalent in cotton or eggs.

Frankly, I don't understand it, and know you don't without even askin'. But there is one small point I'd like President Truman to clear up for me.

In the first place, I ain't averaged ten bushels of corn or cotton or eggs, first and last. One year I planted and it didn't come up, the next year I thought I'd wait and see if last year's seed might not come up since they hadn't the year before, ain't no use wastin' seed; another year my planter wasn't workin'; another year my planter was but I wasn't; another year, but ain't no use goin' on, you can see I ain't used up no 1800 units, ad what I want you to ask President Truman is can a farmer sell any extra units he ain't got no use for?

If I got 1800 for my farm out here, and say I use up only 300, which I can manage to do without no special effort, although them Jersey steers will have to eat more Johnson grass than I figure they can hold to do it, then I'd have 1500 units left over, and since every man ought to do his part and there ain't no use lettin' em go to waste, couldn't I sell em to some of my energetic neighbors? If I could get only a dollar a piece for em, I figure I could get by and if this is what President Truman intends, I wish to say I think his program is about the best thing that has come out of Washington, so far as my farm and me is concerned.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

BIBLE COMMENT
FOR APRIL 17Life Eternal —
An Enduring
Easter Lesson

"If a man die, shall he live again?" was the age-old question asked by Job (Job 14:14). Successive generations of men have asked it, and it has been answered in various ways, and with varying convictions.

Prophets and poets have answered it. The beautiful Twenty-third Psalm answered it by implication, for there could be little fearlessness and comfort in the valley of death unless there were hope of the life beyond. And a modern poet, Wordsworth, wrote of it in his famous "Ode on the Intimations of Immortality."

Spiritualists think they have found the answer in the demonstrable proof of communications from the spiritual world, the evidence that some who have lived and died are still living and speaking.

The strongest ground of hope and faith in immortality is found in the New Testament, with its message of, and concerning Christ. The message concerning Christ is as much the ground of that faith as the message of Christ Himself, for the one is intensively associated with the other. The Resurrection was the evidence of the deathless life of Jesus Himself, and it became to the disciples the clearest evidence of the immortality that He promised, "Because I live, ye shall live also."

A group of disciples in the depth of gloom and despair because of the death of a Master upon whom they had set their faith, their hope, and their ambition, were suddenly aroused to new life, and hope, and vision, by the conviction that their Lord was living, and that they had seen Him, and received His message.

In that vision, faith, and conviction they not only went forth to the spiritual conquest of the world, but they went forth with their characters and outlook transformed. There was no more bickering about who should be greatest. They had found the eternal life of which Jesus spoke. For eternal life is a present possession. We should think of immortality, not in terms of mere continuance, but in terms of the quality of the life.

OTHER EDITORS SAY:—

Lenten Meditation

At a time when we have neither war nor peace because powerful nations cannot agree, the establishment of the World Council of Churches brings new hope to a despairing world. The World Council, as Section four of the Amsterdam conference said in its report, "is a living expression of fellowship, transcending race and nation, class and culture, knit together in faith, service and understanding. Its aim will be to hasten international reconciliation through the cooperation of all Christian churches and all men of good will. It will strive to see international differences in the light of God's design, remembering that normally there are Christians on both sides of every frontier. It should not weary in the effort to state the Christian understanding of the will of God and to promote its application to national and international policy. Therefore it is the duty of the Christian to pray for all men, especially for those in authority; to combat both hatred and resignation in regard to war; to support negotiation rather than primary reliance upon arms as an instrument of national policy; and to sustain national policies as in his judgment best reflect Christian principles. "O God who through thy prophets of old foretold a day when armaments of war shall be beaten into the implements of peace: hasten, we beseech thee, the fulfillment of thy most sure promise. Quell the haughty cries of the nations, scatter the peoples that delight in war; that we may be speedily delivered into the order and righteousness of thy Kingdom. Amen."—Rev. Noel Bryant in The Assistant Pastor, bulletin of The First Methodist Church.

Flowering Trail Through Texas

Those who have been enjoying the rebudbs in the last week will find good news in the completion of a rebud trail between Dallas and Lake Texoma. The planting of 1,075 trees in Denison completes the last link. These trees will need several years of care and growth before they are big enough to be showy. But they will add much to the pleasure of motor travelers, especially in the spring blooming season. Eventually, it is hoped, this rebud trail will be extended to the Gulf Coast.

Roadside plantings by the Texas Highway Department and co-operating organizations are showing good results in many parts of the state. Many kinds of trees and shrubs are used to fit the highway into the landscape and to make the traveler's outlook more scenic. Crape myrtle, be cause of its long blooming season, is especially useful for this purpose in many sections. Fortunately, Texas has a great variety of hard trees and shrubs that are being used to make roadsides more attractive.

Thoughts for Today

"The weapon with which we have gained our most important victories, which should be handed down as heirlooms from father to son, are not the sword and the lance, but the bush-whack, the turf-cutter, the spade and the bog-hoe, rusted with the blood of many a meadow, and begrimed with the dust of many a hard-fought field. The very winds blew the Indian's cornfield into the meadow, and pointed out the way which he had not the skill to follow. He had no better implement than a clam shell. But the farmer is armed with plow and spade"—Henry David Thoreau.

"Understand The Children Better," Teachers Urged

"In order to bring our children to adults, strong, self-confident, able to live at a high level of their potentialities, and well oriented to their world, we must strive as teachers to learn more about growth, development and interests of all children," Miss Bonnie Willis, superintendent of the Elementary School declared following the workshop for elementary teachers conducted Monday and Tuesday, March 28 and 29, by Miss Mary Swain.

In this workshop pertaining to reading, Miss Swain emphasized particularly "word attack" or understanding the meaning and pronunciation of words. She urged that teachers try to understand the behavior traits of children, and that they not be pushed beyond their capacity to learn. Both the physical and mental condition of a child should be considered in teaching, she told the group.

Miss Swain also stressed that teachers organize their work, not only to help themselves but to help the children. "The child is the main character in the school room," she reminded, "not the teacher."

Helps brought out in this workshop will be utilized by the teachers next year.

Members of the Future Teachers Chapter from the high school served as substitute teachers for the Elementary faculty.

Pat Riley acted as principal on Monday and Burl Brim on Tuesday. First grade teachers were Delores Stivers, Nelda Nipper and Jackie Moore; second grade, Jerry Rees, Eloise Richards, and Reba Sarberry; third grade, Jennie Ne Scott, Veda Mae Kiker and Jore Dell Wood; and fourth grade, Ira Lilljedahl, J. C. Nelson and Pat Riley.

Air Express Service Available Here Daily

Daily air express service serving Wellington and points over the Panhandle was inaugurated Monday, April 4 by Panhandle Air Express of Amarillo, Hiram Cudd, the Wellington agent, announced this week.

Arrangements for the service were handled by Lee Gibson, one of the operators of Panhandle Air Express, which has its headquarters at Tradewinds Airport, Amarillo.

Wellington is on the first flight schedule out of Amarillo each day. The plane, a four-place single engine Stinson, leaves Amarillo at 8:30 a.m., arrives in Cleburne at 9:00 a.m.; Memphis at 9:25 a.m.; Childress at 9:40 a.m.; Wellington at 9:55 a.m.; Shamrock at 10:15 a.m. and back in Amarillo at 11:00 a.m.

Mr. Cudd pointed out that rates are reasonable, and that air express cuts by many hours the previously quickest way of getting parcels to and from Amarillo and other Panhandle points. He can be contacted at Cudd Brothers Trucking Co.

Other flight schedules include: Leave Amarillo 11:00 a.m.; arrive at Borger at 11:30 a.m.;

Spearman at 12:00 noon; Perryton, 12:10 p.m.; Pampa, 12:35 p.m.; Panhandle, 12:45 p.m.; back in Amarillo, 1:00 p.m.

Leave Amarillo, 1:05 p.m.; arrive Canyon, 1:15 p.m.; Hereford, 1:45 p.m.; Tulia, 2:05 p.m.; Plainview, 2:25 p.m.; Lubbock, 2:50 p.m., and back in Amarillo, 3:50 p.m.

Leave Amarillo, 4:00 p.m., arrive at Dumas at 4:40 p.m.; Dalhart, 5:15 p.m.; Vega, 5:45 p.m.; Adrian, 6:15 p.m. and back in Amarillo at 6:45 p.m.

Mr. Cudd said the schedules can be flown in any weather if the visibility is three miles and the ceiling is high enough to permit flying beneath clouds with safety.

HIGH AND LOW BLOOD PRESSURE SUCCESSFULLY TREATED

E. H. Boaz, M. D.
Box 627
Childress, Texas

Doctor Boaz:

I decided to take your tablets as I had high blood pressure for several years. Had been operated on for fibroid tumor 15 years ago. Never felt well since my operation, as I had phlebitis in one leg and have had it treated all along but doctors said no cure for it but I'm better now with my leg, but had to take something all the time for high blood pressure. Being so discouraged because I had to take medicine every day with nothing but temporary relief I decided to try your tablets so I sent to the Palace Drug Store here and have taken 50 tablets and feel better and am sending back for 50 more. I want to take enough to do my blood pressure real good.

Yours truly,

Rippetoe's Hurling Sparks Game

Rockets Hold Sandies To One-Point Victory

Wellington's Skyrockets held the Golden Sandies of Amarillo to a one-point victory for the second time this season as the Sandies squeezed by the Skyrockets 2-1 at Marian Airpark Monday afternoon, April 11.

After loading the bases in the last of the third, the Skyrockets scored the first run of the game as Boone Eads singled to bring Bobby McCutchen in from third.

The Sandies broke loose in the top of the fifth inning at James LeNeve hit a hard drive to get on base. Clyde Israel singled and Darrel LaRue singled through second base to score both LeNeve and Israel. Kenneth Rippetoe met the Amarillo challenge and stopped the Golden drive by fanning three Sandies to retire the side.

A rally by the Skyrockets in the final inning was turned away by the Sandies as they maneuvered a double play when the Rockets had the bases loaded with one out. McCutchen had singled to first followed by Donald Joe Terry who bunted and advanced McCutchen. Lindell Norman flied out but Eads slammed a hard hit to fill the bases. Dale Hively's attempts to hunt was squelched by the Sandies' third sacker who made a brilliant catch then whirled to throw and complete a double play.

Although they were handicapped by the absence of Burl Brim, steady second baseman, and flashy shortstop, Gene Moore, the Skyrockets played a hard and determined ball game. Rippetoe turned in one of his most brilliant performances of the season as he struck out twelve Sandies, walked two and allowed four hits. The Skyrockets collected five hits off Walton Roberson, Sandie pitcher who struck out five Skyrockets and walked four.

Rippetoe started the defensive against the Sandies by fanning the first three batters to face him. He continued his brilliant hurling to collect at least one strike out each of the remaining innings and he again collected three in the fifth and took two in the seventh.

Wellington threatened in the first inning with the bases loaded when the last batter was put out, but in the second inning they were weak. They presented another spirited inning in the third although that inning yielded only one run. Rippetoe started the ball rolling for the Skyrockets in the fifth as he singled to first. McCutchen repeated the performance and although Rippetoe was thrown out stealing to second and Terry was put out on first, Roberson walked. Norman and Eads to load the bases. However an out on the next batter stopped the advance.
