Committee Forming To Plan Drug Program

A group of local citizens agreed Wednesday, May 18 to form a committee to select objectives and a workable plan for a community based program of drug abuse prevention.

The Wednesday meeting was called by Donna Price to gauge public support for such a program, and those attending included Aransas County Sheriff's Department Chief Deputy Jim Pridgen, Rockport City Police Chief Jim Craigmile, Aransas County Attorney James L. Anderson, Jr., Assistant County Attorney Reese Rozell, Aransas County Juvenile Officer Cathie Cotton and Rockport Mayor Walter Falk, Jr.

The meeting opened with discussions by Pridgen, Craigmile and Anderson of their conception of the local problem and what a citizen's group could accomplish.

Craigmile suggested a prevention based program, and suggested a Police Counselor in the High School and Junior High. He said a similar program in Tucson, Arizona had been successful in cutting drug use, vandalism and other crimes committed by students.

Craigmile noted that community resistance to such a program would be encountered, but said one of the foremost priorities for the group would have to be courage and innovation.

"I suggested such a program to a grand jury two years ago, and one man told me, 'Sir, I've been in the school system here for 36 years, and I've never heard of such a thing'." Craigmile said he told the man that such resistance to change was part of the local problem. He said the problem was large enough that the community had "nothing to lose and everything to gain by trying innovative solutions. If it doesn't work you

Local Men Nabbed In Narc Sweep

Rockport Police Department officers, acting on information contained in sealed indictments handed up by a federal grand jury in Brownsville, arrested two men in a pre-dawn raid at a local residence Thursday, May 19.

The two, Benny Joe Cady, 23, and Joe Zamudio, 22, were charged with Conspiracy to distribute Heroin. Police Chief Jim Craigmile, who led the raid, said a third Rockport man was named in the indictments but was not at home at the time of the sweep and is being sought by area law enforcement officials.

Cady and Zamudio were taken to Corpus Christi immediately after their arrest, where they joined 10 other alleged conspirators, including three women, who had been arrested in similar pre-dawn raids in Port Aransas, Aransas Pass and Corpus Christi. Bond was set for each at $25,000 by U.S. Magistrate Philip Schraub Thursday afternoon.

Drug Enforcement Administration officials claimed the 12 were part of a conspiracy to distribute heroin originating in McAllen, and that the 12 included street dealers and users. (Continued on Page 12)

County Okays Renovation

Aransas County Commissioners Wednesday, May 18, approved advertisement for bids on renovation of the County Courthouse. Architectural plans presented to the court by Judge John Wendell included a cost estimate of approximately $60,000. The repairs would include the installation of concrete ramps to facilitate entrance by the handicapped and elderly, and major interior repairs and renovations such as air conditioning repair, new lighting fixtures, a new ceiling for the County Clerk's office, new floor covering, roof repairs and vents, and exterior painting.

Only one department, probation, will realize increased office space from the renovation.

The present courthouse was constructed in 1956, and has never had major repairs. Judge Wendell told the court, "Now is the time. The people in Corpus are desperate for work. I've been getting several letters a day." It was also noted that construction costs in the county are rising monthly by as much as five percent.

The cost of the renovation was budgeted by the county at the beginning of the year, and the court is expected to authorize the project. (Continued on Page 10)

City To Fund Safety Patrol

City Council gave the go-ahead, with strings attached, to the funding of a Water Safety Patrol service for the Rockport Ski Basin, and approved a last minute application for funds to update the city's master plan Monday, May 23, in regular session.

The Council also approved six of eight rezoning or replatting requests, siding with citizen protesters against the Planning and Zoning Commission in two other cases involving a proposed metal craft shop and a craft market on land next to private residences.

Before approving funds for the Water Safety Patrol requested by Joe Hugenberg, the Council approved a complete rewriting of City Ordinance 238, relating to water safety. The revisions, worked out in a

Art Festival Planning Begun

Plans are almost complete for the eighth annual Rockport Art Festival, set for July 2-3 on the same Navigation District property that serves as home for the SeaFair.

Almost all of the 100 booths have been taken by artists from across Texas and out-of-state as well. From 15-20 member painters of the Rockport Art Association are expected to show their work.

The festival, which began in 1969 as part of the Rockport

Centennial celebration, is restricted to the fine arts only, with no crafts. Paintings in water colors, oils, acrylics, sculpture and mixed media presentations will dominate the show.

The show will open at noon both days, closing at 9 p.m. Saturday, July 2, and at 6 p.m. July 3.

The festival was originally the brainchild of Jan Wendell, Estelle Stair and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Harper. This year, Mary Albert and Dana Taggart are serving as co-chairmen. Nancy Eschberger is the placement chairman, Shawn Shellenberger the festival secretary, Keith Carter the grounds chairman, Margie McDavid and Chris McMurtry the hospitality chairmen. Publicity co-chairmen are Cap and Kitty Henkel.

Plus Tip

The Texas Legislature, and the Governor, if he signs the bill, has put another burden on the back of shrimp boat crewmen. Tax law changes enacted recently by the U.S. Congress changed the status of crewmen from employed to self-employed, making them responsible for paying almost eight percent Social Security and keeping their own books.

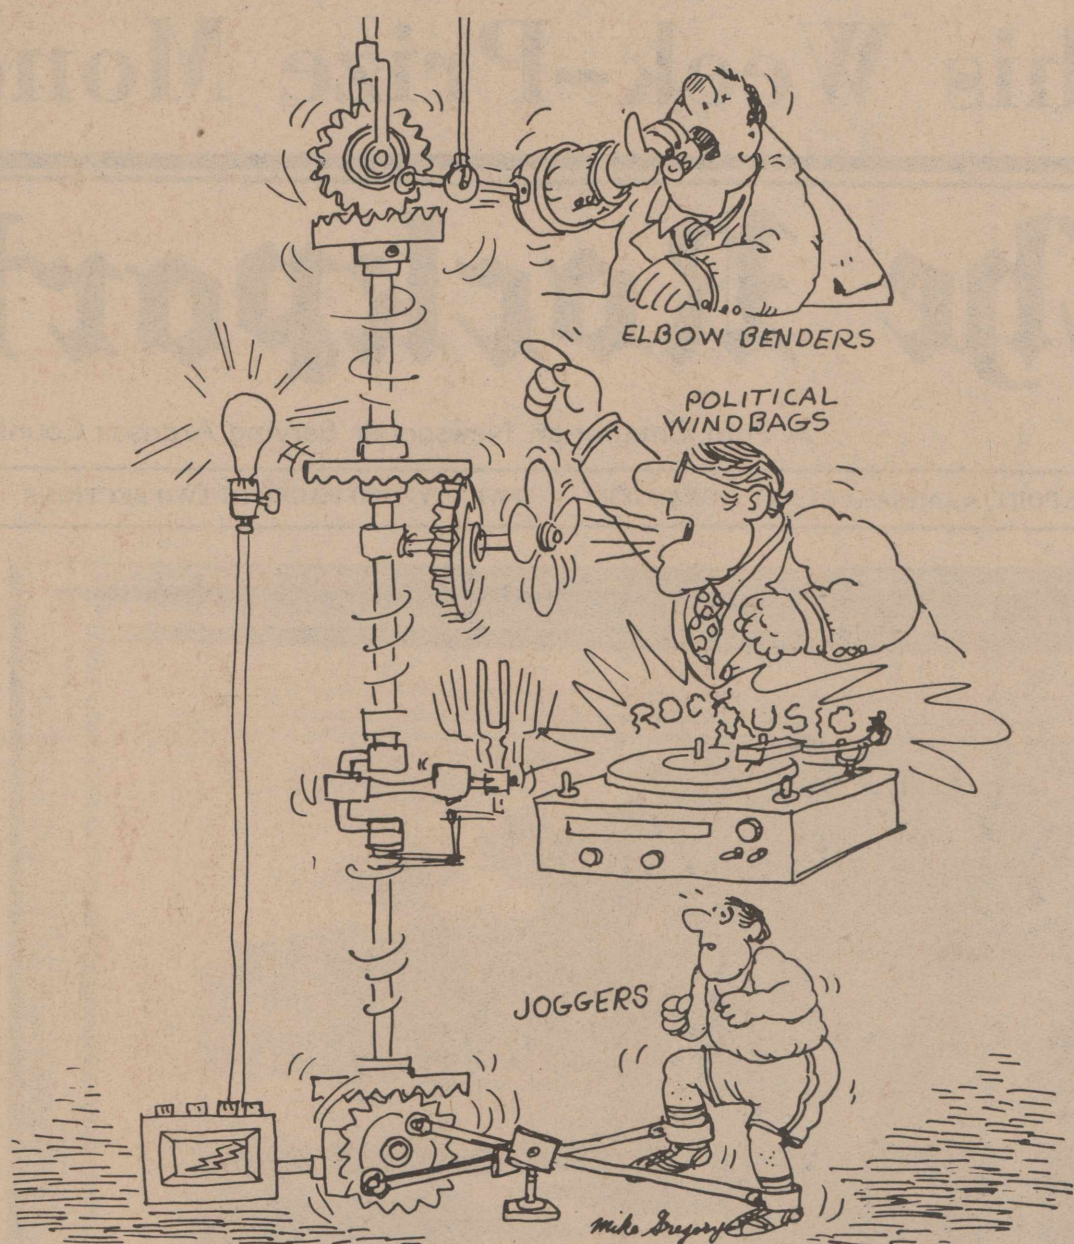

Now the Legislature has excluded them from unemployment coverage, saying that the federal regulations mandated the exclusion. The Department of Labor says, however, that the list consulted by legislators did not apply to federal unemployment taxes. He noted that the state could, if it so chose, legally exclude the crewmen, subject to IRS approval.

Legality should not be the issue, of course. The maritime custom of sharing the take was meant to foster unity and cooperation aboard ships, not to be used as an excuse to deny employer payments to Social Security, unemployment insurance and possibly workmen's compensation.

Are shrimper crewmen any different from construction hands who have freedom of movement and work for an hourly wage? The share is still payment, and any coastal resident knows the risks and the need for future protection are greater.

A shrimper's organization headed by four Rockport men has been lobbying Congress and the State Legislature with some success, but it will take years of pressure politics to make changes, a seige the shrimpers, with new bills being added all the time, can ill afford.

This is a sorry state, and very shortsighted maneuvering on the part of boatowners and legislators and congressmen. The shrimpers won't take it without a fight, and may unionize, both of which could be prevented by fair treatment.

Corrections

One more time, folks. Mrs. Lou Dick tells us the Chamber of Commerce building was constructed not by Seth Steele or even D.B. Bettell, but by B.B. Bettell, her father.

Last week's caption on Honor Athletes at RFHS should have listed Betty Baldwin as a double winner in basketball and track, and named Cindy Schendel as the winner in volleyball instead of basketball.

Watch Rockport Grow

By "Uncle John" Leslie

As we near the end of National Senior Citizens' Month, let's review some of the special activities that have taken place in Aransas County and Rockport. Among the more important was the attendance of Mayor Walter S. Falk, Jr., at the May 11 AARP meeting at which he presented AARP President Pat Works with a framed copy of his Proclamation for the month. The Mayor also gave a very interesting and informative talk. The local AARP Chapter then presented a copy of the book written by Ether Percy Andrus (the founder of the AARP organization) titled "POWER OF THE YEARS" to all the libraries in the county.

Our AARP chapter also placed literature tables at most of the churches and at several of the downtown stores. This was not a recruiting campaign since we already have approximately 450 members—but one to let the public know what we are trying to do. They will wind up this month's activities with a Big Picnic at the Big Tree on Lamar Peninsula Wednesday, May 25 at 10 a.m. Everyone bringing their own lunches. This picnic will not only be for the Rockport Chapter but for the eight or 10 chapters in this section of the Gulf Coast, with our chapter playing host. The Concern Center and the Council on Aging have done their customary bit and also had a full month of activity.

TALENT—USED & UNUSED

If you were among the 200 who enjoyed one of the dinner theater evenings at the Key Allegro Restaurant last Thursday and Friday nights, you were fortunate to see a presentation by four of the Alpha-Omega Players. These young folks represented the kind of talent that Drexel Riley has presented to this area on other occasions and sends over the entire country throughout the year. You had to be a real source if you could sit through this program without bursting your sides in laughter. The restaurant served a wonderful dinner which was enjoyed by all. The proceeds from this occasion went to the Allegro Women's Club activities and donations.

Now, we have seen a demonstration of talent that was used, but I could not help but look over the audience on both nights and see the unlimited talents represented there—that were not being used. We have in our midst a wonderful bunch of talented and experienced men and women who have been leaders in their businesses and in their communities for many years, but not too many of them are giving much leadership to community affairs in Rockport. There are numbers of places where we desperately need some good sound leadership—both in community affairs and politics. If you are one of these, stand up and volunteer and let's put your talent to work for Aransas County.

COUNCIL ON AGING

Last year, I was fortunate to serve as President of the local AARP Chapter. This year I am devoting a major portion of my time to the Aransas County Council on Aging. This is an organization composed of about 15 men and women who are doing a great job on behalf of the aging in this county. One of the main objectives that I had in mind for the year was locating, securing a grant, and purchasing a building somewhere downtown that we could convert into a Senior Citizens' Headquarters. The Concern Center and the office of the Council on Aging could, and should, be moved into this building. The moon-time free-meal program for the elderly and lonesome people could be moved into it. At present this program, feeding 25 people per day, at no cost to anyone in Aransas County, is being housed at the IOOF Hall—strictly on a loan basis although we do help them with their utilities.

If we had our own building, a reading room, domino tables, a television and many other items could be set up for those of the older people who would like to come in and pass some of their time away. Our first choice was sold out from under us. A second choice is now being looked at. This will require some money over and above that which we can expect from a grant. We need some of our unused talent, as mentioned above, to help us plan for, and secure, this building. Aransas County is the only county near here that does not have a Senior Citizens' Headquarters building. Most of them have been provided by the cities themselves. Won't you help us make this goal attainable in 1977?

FLOOD INSURANCE

There is nothing more devastating to families, businesses, homes and property than the ravages of a major flood. Yet, in most cases, the average homeowner policy does not have flood and mudslide coverage. And until recently, there was no way you could get this insurance. Private companies could not keep the rates within reason and still run the risk of catastrophic flood and water damage losses.

But, with the passage of the National Flood Insurance Act, Congress set up a federally subsidized flood and mudslide insurance program that gives coverages to the average property owner at budget-size rates.

Cities and counties all over the country are joining this valuable new program. Check with us about your need for this coverage and your town's eligibility. An early call to our office can quickly bring you up to date on this important question.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sirs:

Please accept our sincere appreciation for publishing the article on Child Care (clipping enclosed). I am sorry if I misled you into an incorrect headline, "Foster Parents Must Register." Foster Parents still must be licensed which entails a more detailed process. This is a completely different program.

The portion of the Child Care Act of 1975 which deals with the "Registered Family Home" specifies that persons caring for unrelated children on a regular basis for a part of the day are subject to registration by the State Department of Public Welfare.

We are concerned because people generally are not aware that if they are using their home to care for unrelated children, as an example while the mother is employed, that as a child care provider they must register or be subject to penalties under the Child Care Act of 1975.

Sincerely,
S/ Jose M. Cavazos

Dear Editor:
LAND USE PLANNING,
WHAT IS IT AND WHY NEEDED?

It is laying out of streets and ways for access to and from lands. It is the use the owner wishes to make of his land to realize its full potential value. Coastal areas have need for waterways and harbors. Transportation facilities are planned to meet the needs of the community for the movement of people and goods. Other utilities and facilities are planned as people collect in communities. Obnoxious uses are regulated. Residential areas must be protected to preserve their values, and access provided to the land.

As communities grow into Cities, Towns and Counties, they elect people to represent the majority and to make regulations for orderly growth and to maintain the facilities which serve the community.

It is not just the land owners for whom planning is necessary. Many times government agencies make regulations pertaining to the use of their properties which may and do affect the use of another's ownership. Some public agencies put their use of property and so regulate it that the rights of ownership of others to use their lands is unreasonably restricted. At times this conflict of interest is between two public agencies. This is the case here in Aransas County at this time.

The Aransas County Navigation District, an agency of the people in this area, built two Harbors, one at Fulton and one at Rockport, Texas. Later another harbor was built at Cove Harbor, in the south of Rockport. Land was purchased some forty years back as the site for the Cove Harbor, and another 100 acres adjoining it on the north was included for the site of another such harbor when the need was evident. The site is low land. Low lands are more suitable for a harbor for several reasons, namely, the cost of excavation is less, the use of the low land for other uses than water carrier dockage is not suitable because of the low elevation of the land.

During the many years since the purchase of this low land as the site for another harbor nearby the Intracoastal Cut-Off Canal, it was never considered using this low land site for any other use. But along came the U.S. Fish & Wildlife, a Federal Agency, and says you cannot use this site for harbor purposes because it is wetlands. And wetlands as the name implies is land which is wet from tide waters along the shorelines of Bays and water covered areas. This Federal agency has no definition of wetlands which will clearly establish the line between ownership of the area in this case. The U.S. Corps of Engineers, another Federal Agency, authorized to permit shoreline installations, have established the Tide Elevation in Aransas Bay at plus 1.72 feet as the Mean High Tide and this elevation was the line of ownership along this shore line. BUT the Fish & Wildlife agency says NOT SO. If it is under water when we see it then it is wetlands, regardless of the tide water elevation. This leaves the identification of wetlands along the shoreline of Aransas Bay controlled by a varying tide of from plus 1.72 feet to plus 5.0 feet waterline elevation. This condition which the Fish and Wildlife Agency has created is not only unrealistic, but they cannot justify it. The effect of their wetlands boundary is to take possession of this 100 acres of land without due process of law and without reimbursement to the present land owner. Actually less than 20 acres of this land is wetlands the majority of the time. The rest of the 100 acres is dry land except during abnormal high tides, and, or during such periods when heavy rainfall occurs at the same time as the high tides are above normal.

To obtain another harbor site on this Intracoastal Canal would necessitate paying high prices for higher lands south of the present Cove Harbor. Such land with Canal frontage has sold at $3,800.00 an acre. Not only would the excavation costs be considerably increased, but the provision of City water and other utilities would cost more than for the site they purchased for Harbor use many years ago. This particular situation requires a reevaluation of land use, and the determination of what is the HIGHEST AND BEST Use of this land. Is the use of this land for the birds and the fish as a feeding ground an overriding benefit to this State to void its use as a Harbor facility?

Upon thorough engineering investigation of the extent of what is actually wetlands, which will produce the benefits which actually real shoreline areas produce as feeding areas, hangs the justification of The Federal Fish and Wildlife's hasty decision to stop the Aransas County Navigation District from using their land for harbor facilities. Here is a good test in the Use of Land to benefit the people and it is essential that this problem be resolved to serve the best interests of the people today and tomorrow.

— O —

Dear Editor,

I would like to encourage all the parents and relatives of children taking part in sports, to work with them and not against them. All of the people that have given their time to help the children are doing it to teach the children. The coaches, assistant coaches, umpires, score keepers and I'm sure there are more. Yet while at a game recently my husband and I were next to some people that called every play in favor of their team and tried to contradict the umpire from the side lines. They went so far as to go over and tell the coach of the team and said they are wrong, they called that play wrong. The people that devote their time to practice, teach, pick the girls up and much more are being given no credit. I think that if all of the parents would cheer the kids on, then if they should lose, encourage them on for the next game it would be much better. There are lots of rules in the games, of which I don't really believe that there are too many parents that know them all. You must know all the rules for every play as there are different rules for different plays, one rule doesn't cover everything.

I don't think there is any favoritism as I truly feel that when a person gives the time and effort these people are giving (and it means late meals, no meals, long hours, etc.) that they are doing it for the children, not themselves and they call the play as they see it. Maybe they do call a few wrong but anyone can make a mistake.

After those people made such an argument of the play the umpire called as an out and they didn't go for, I saw a whole team of little girls go out on the field feeling that they didn't have a chance, because their parents said the umpire cheated them. One of the little girls said, "Why run, we can't win anyway," in reply to the coach telling her to hustle. This in return makes it hard on the coach. Are the parents of these children wanting them to grow up feeling that they have been cheated since a game when they were 10 years old or couldn't they just say, "Just keep trying," and let them feel that the more they put into it the more they will get out of it and keep them from giving up and not learning and in return really becoming a loser. Parents, good sportsmanship begins at home and if you are a poor loser don't encourage your children to go through life being a loser because you feel you were, because you know how unhappy it can make you.

I would like to thank all the coaches, umpires and the other people. My little girl went in this year, not knowing which end of the bat to hold and I didn't know much more as I never had the chance to do these things for lack of people such as yourselves and I hope we don't see the day that we the parents discourage you all enough to give up your good work. You can call my girl out anytime and I won't complain.

Thank you,

Castaways Shop Donating $1800

The officers and directors of the Castaways Thrift Shop have voted to donate $1800 to various local civic and charitable organizations in 1977. Named as recipients of the proceeds from the non-profit shop's sale of donated used goods are: St. Vincent de Paul, $300; ABC Learning Center, $200; Council on Aging, $300; Concern Center, $300; ACHVI Auxiliary, $500; and Aid to Abused Children, $200.

The Castaways Thrift Shop was begun in 1971 as a project of the Christian Women of Aransas County (the name was later changed to Concerned Women of Aransas County, not to be confused with the Concern Center).

The purpose of the shop is to serve the community by having good used clothing, household goods, furniture, etc., available year round in place of seasonal rummage sales.

In the beginning the Sacred Heart Catholic Church let the women use the Sacred Heart Convent Building as an outlet for weekly sales. During the times that the convent building was used for other purposes, the First Methodist Church offered their Youth Building from which to sell.

In 1974 the project had proven successful enough to warrant moving into a rented downtown area building and still give financial help to outside needs. With this move the shop was open five days a week to give even better shopping advantages.

In 1976 the present (and larger) location in the Alsulu shopping center across from HEB became Castaways' new home. Contributions are most welcome. What is not sold is sent to mission areas. Also, our local ministers and social agencies obtain help from what is in stock for those who ask for help through them.

Presently the shop is open on Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9-3 under the supervision of the Presbyterian, Episcopal and Methodist women. The shop is open the other three days, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday from 9-11 under the supervision of the shop's general chairman. Any man or woman interested in working at the shop please call the shop number, 729-8680, and leave your name and number.

KEY ALLEGRO RESIDENTS

I was recently asked by a friend if I would serve on the Board of Directors of the Key Allegro Canal Owners' Association, if he nominated me from the floor at our June meeting and I was elected. I told him that if I was elected, I would serve, but that I would do nothing to get elected.

In the meantime, a letter is being circulated on the Island which I had nothing to do with, and which I feel is damaging to me and the Association. I did not agree to run to replace anyone, nor did I authorize a "Committee to Elect Bill Price," and herewith ask that my name be withdrawn from further consideration.

Field House Contract Okayed

The Aransas County Independent School District Board of Trustees Monday night in a special session accepted a bid of $139,500 by Southwest Building Systems of San Antonio for construction of a 7500 square foot field house behind the south bleachers of Pirate Stadium.

Construction is expected to begin soon, although no definite date has been set.

The building will include three separate dressing areas to accommodate 100 or more students, as well as office space and medical treatment areas. Also included in the bid price were public restrooms and a laundry facility.

The field house will serve all the needs of the boys' athletic program at the high school. Girls' classes will take over facilities in the present high school gym.

Approval of a bid for the structure was the only item on the special meeting agenda. The Board will meet again the regular session June 13.

Groups, Clubs Donate $1250 To ACHVI Women

A spirit of optimism continued to prevail at the second business-fellowship meeting of the Women's Committee of the Aransas County Hospital Volunteers, Incorporated May 20 at Little Bay Club. Gladys McMillian, women's committee chairman, accepted checks from Castaways for $500; Allegro Women's Club $500; Republican Women $100; Young Homemakers $100; and Women of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, $50. It was noted that individual donations were received from Mr. and Mrs. Herb French, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lund and Dr. and Mrs. Paul Hathorn. A number of memorial gifts have been received by the Committee and anyone desiring information or cards concerning the memorials may contact the ACHVI workshop in Encina Plaza Tuesday and Wednesday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Babs Muecke, workshop chairman, reported that sales had been very good in view of the fact it is open two days a week. There is still a need for new ideas, materials and willing workers to prepare for the SeaFair.

Fund raising projects still to be undertaken this year include a tennis tournament this summer, a booth at SeaFair and the annual bazaar. The second printing of "A Taste of the Coast" cookbook has arrived and is at local stores, Encina Plaza workshop and the Chamber of Commerce.

Paramedic Bill Aston spoke to the group, reporting on the Modulance activities and some of the more exciting moments in the day to day operation of it when he received a call and had to leave.

A decision was reached by the board of the Women's Committee to continue the business-fellowship meetings during the summer on the third Friday of each month.

Warranties Now Easier To Find

Appliance warranties should be easier to find and understand—because of new federal rules to help consumers, Mrs. Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist, says.

Federal Trade Commission rules, developed under the Magnuson-Moss Warranty Act, went into effect Jan. 1.

They require a company to disclose a number of facts on a product over $15 if a warranty is offered—but the law does not require warranties, the specialist explained.

Mrs. McCormack is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Among facts a company must disclose are 1) to whom the warranty is extended, 2) what it covers, 3) respective warrant and consumer responsibilities, and 4) when the warranty begins, if date is other than purchase date.

"More importantly, sellers are bound by law to make warranties available for consumer perusal at point of purchase," Mrs. McCormack noted.

Consumers should look for the warranty in one of the following places:

- displayed in close conjunction to the warranted product.
- in a binder prominently titled "Warranties" and indexed by product or warrant (if binder is not evident, signs should indicate its location),
- on product package or container.

Also, because of the act, warranties now will be labeled "full" or "limited."

"Full" warranty means a warrant will repair a defective product within a reasonable time, without charge—or for a product that cannot be repaired, the warrant will give a refund or replacement.

A warranty must be labeled "limited," if there are any coverage restrictions—for instance, those that pay only part of the repair costs, such as labor.

Lamar Women Hold Luncheon

The Lamar Women's Club held its monthly luncheon meeting May 20 at Sandollar Restaurant. Hostesses Mrs. Allan D. DuBose (Nina) and Mrs. J.B. Greeson (Jewell) decorated the tables with colorful arrangements of spring flowers. Each member's and guest's place cards were straw baskets with bouquets of flowers complementing the theme. After Mrs. W.H. Poole (Gladys) said the invocation, members and guests enjoyed a buffet.

After the president, Mrs. G.B. Williams (Agnes) presided over the business meeting, Mrs. Otis Stubbs (Linda) presented Agnes with a fragrant rose candle vase in appreciation of the work she had accomplished for the Lamar Women's Club. Agnes gave each officer and chairperson a turquoise Indian pendant in gratitude for the valuable endeavors throughout the 1976-77 year. Agnes then turned the meeting over to Mrs. W.D. Heldenfels (Jennie) who installed the 1977-78 officers with the theme of art. "As an artist exhibits art in his work, each officer will create a masterpiece this year with her accomplishments."

The officers, president, Mrs. Otis Stubbs; vice-president, Mrs. R.W. Blair; secretary, Mrs. Hector Guertin; treasurer, Mrs. Frank Ruttiger; historian, Mrs. Tom Hickman III; parliamentarian, Mrs. Harold Pugh, Jr., were given an artist's smock and appropriately titled ribbon.

The president, Linda Stubbs, announced her chairperson and committees. The chairpersons are: Courtesy, Jesse James; Program, Judy Anderson; Telephone, Gwen Sherman; Project, Marsha Tuorila.

On Wednesday, May 25, at 6 p.m., the annual party for members, their families and guests will be held aboard the "Whooping Crane" with a fried chicken box supper.

A hearty welcome was extended to the new members and guests.

Guests included Patty Johnson, guest of Pat Heldenfels; Lois Boquet, guest of Jennie Heldenfels; Eldora Olbrick, guest of Clara B. Conner; and Karen Ruttiger, guest of Doris Ruttiger.

The girls attending were: Mrs. Becky Merritt, Jena Miller, Cindy Harrison, Carolyn Cole, Sharon Hicks, Melissa Ramirez, Becky Hale, Laurie Woodman, Becky Bateman, Bonnie Baldwin, Patsy Bateman and Rhonda Collins.

Each girl was presented a rosebud from the table settings as a favor.

Hunter-Painter Jack Cowan Newest State Artist

"I admire Russell and Remington," says Rockport's John P. "Jack" Cowan, selected recently as the official artist for Texas from May, 1978 to April, 1979. "They painted what they knew. And they painted the west they knew and those cowboys because they knew they were vanishing. I don't mean to compare myself to them, but I do think that I'm doing what I do as sincerely as they did, trying to do for my generation what they did for theirs."

Cowan, 56, works primarily with water colors, and specializes in finely detailed scenes of hunting and fishing in Texas and throughout the world. A hunter since he was eight, he sees the long defeated wilderness at the mercy of careless men, and has sought for more than a decade to record the dwindling magic of the hunt, its rituals, pleasures and special gifts of perception and self-knowledge.

"I think of my paintings as an autobiography, an accurate one, done in graphics instead of words. It's a record of a life-style and something I have been intimate with all my life."

"One reason I've had some success in the past 10 years is that people who love to hunt and fish can see it fading out. And they want a record of it to show their children. Because in 20 years there won't be anything left."

Cowan's intimacy is revealed in crisp colors, the accurate presentations of a curved wing, the light on an incoming wave, the muscular tangle of an excited pointer halting in mid-rush.

To see his best work is to know some of the singular pleasures of his hunts, because his figures participate, and his perspectives are so boldly drawn that one is drawn into the perceiving as well as the action by a directness that is more than mere accessibility.

Cowan took a long road to his present position. Although he had hunted since he was eight, he set his sights on a career as a commercial artist first, and graduated from the Pratt Institute in New York, a disciplinary school which fed craftsmen and illustrators to New York advertising agencies and the movie industry.

After graduation, he went into the Air Force, but washed out as a glider pilot (much to his delight), and spent the war years as an illustrator who did portraits and paintings in the barracks at night to earn extra money.

When he got out of the service in 1946, he became a freelance illustrator, working for such top international firms as Hughes Tool and Enco (now Exxon). He spent 15 years near the top of the trade both financially and artistically, but wearied of being "just a mechanic" for someone else's concept. It was the traditional dilemma, and he got around it for a while by doing private work for himself and friends, giving his early work away, and going deeper and deeper into the lifestyle and subject matter that would become his trademarks.

In 1962, Cowan says he reached the inevitable crossroads when his private work had begun to create interest and generate sales, and his public work was becoming more and more confining.

He made the break after 15 years as an illustrator and agency art director that year, and did five years of suffering before his paintings circulated enough to create their own momentum.

part of the body of work for which Cowan is best known. Long now operates a gallery on Key Allegro which features many of Cowan's works, and has a large private collection of personal favorites.

Cowan's reputation grew steadily in the late 1960's and early 1970's, and the last three years have been the payoff. He was selected "Sportsman of the speaks eloquently for itself, Cowan would much rather talk about anything but his art.

He's more concerned now about the vanishing wildlife and wilderness areas, and the declining fortunes of the redfish and other game species in area bays and hunting areas.

He was an active and vocal lobbyist for the recent redfish conservation measure which is going to the Governor soon with limits on daily catches and stiff fines for violations. He says the measure did maybe half enough for the species, and talks with mounting disgust about the decline of sportfishing in the area because of unlimited commercial fishing pressure in the last decade.

Inland, he says the situation of exploitation is the same, or worse. "What's happening is that with the tax structure farmers can't make it with cattle any more, so they're plowing up their grazing land and putting the land in high gear. It's just economic expediency, but it does irreversible harm. And it will cause the deer population to go down the drain just like the white wing doves. This used to be one of the best bird hunting areas in North America. But when they cleared the brush in the valley, the birds went across the border, and when they cleared south of the border, they ended up 100 miles into Mexico with nowhere to turn.

"Maybe we've reached the point where we can't have wildlife and humans both. Maybe it's just impossible."

As a hunter, he says he takes his limit, and responsibility for his acts. "I don't know if I could define art for you or not. I do know that it is a personal expression, an opinion of life as you see it. And I am excited, interested and personally involved in a way of life my pictures represent."

"Whether that's justification enough, I don't know."

The Buddy Poppy which will be offered to you on the streets soon is sold by a volunteer. All proceeds will go to the relief and welfare of the needy vet NETTY GRITTY. Cowan works in a studio on the top floor of the Harper Real Estate Sales Office. He has pictures of his favorite hunting dogs and some memorable catches to keep him company. He works here with preliminary sketches and small panels which will be used as details for a final full-size canvas.

He had the good fortune in those early years to find a gallery owner named Meredith Long, who operated in both Houston and New York, and could give him the personal support and public exposure necessary to make his final breakthrough. Cowan and Long became fast friends, and many of the trips the two and family members took together are ize the start of construction as soon as the contract is awarded. "When we've done it we'll be broke," said Wendell. The court has been concerned about the effect of unexpected budget items for some time, and fear that new jail standards could require a major renovation of the county jail in the near future, further straining county finances.

In other business, the Court: --Voted unanimously to begin cash-only operation at the County Dump. The court was faced with collection problems from more than 20 charge accounts ranging from the State Highway Department to local individuals. Judge Wendell told the court he had been saddled with the responsibility for collection, and that the charging system now in effect had become a bookkeeping "monster." The change will take effect June 1. Charge customers are being notified by mail.

here for a number of years and has constructed a permanent residence.

John Forehand of Corpus Christi, who is an associate of Omnitex of America whose principal business is helping locate and obtain funds, usually federal, for local civic projects, made a presentation at the board meeting. He reviewed possible sources of funds, both for the preliminary engineering study and for the sewer project itself.

Jack McDavid, president of the board, discussed the local problem briefly with Forehand several weeks ago, and the latter reported that several engineering firms were willing to do topographical studies on the basis of a letter of intent stating that the firm would get the sewer job provided funds for the survey and later for the main project were obtained.

Forehand expressed the belief that the proposed sewer program for Aransas County would be favorably considered by a number of federal agencies.

Dolphins Undeclared

The Dolphins won their 19th and 20th straight games last week and clinched at least a tie for the first half crown in the Senior League Division.

Monday night, May 16, the Dolphins struck down their closest competitors, downing Jackson Seafood 12 to 1. Mark Setterbo was the winning pitcher, giving up three hits and striking out 16 with a wide assortment of pitches. Bennie Flores had a perfect night at the plate, walking twice and going three for three with four RBIs. The only run that Jackson Seafood could muster came on a double by Jim Eaton, which scored Lupe Contreras.

In the Dolphins' other win Wednesday night, they had to withstand a strong challenge by Dairy Queen, with DQ out-hitting the Dolphins 9 to 4. The final score was 10 to 9 but could have been different except for a spectacular game-saving catch by centerfielder Ronald Dominguez. Bennie Flores was the winning pitcher. For Dairy Queen, Ernest Gonzales, David Kelly and Chris King each had two hits.

On Tuesday night, Dairy Queen beat George Miller 7 to 3. George Solis and Chris King combined for the victory with George being credited as the winning pitcher and Chris with a save. Wayne Childers was three for four and Ernest Gonzales was two for four. George Miller collected only three hits but one was a home run by David Garcia. Dairy Queen also pulled off a baseball rarity by making a triple play.

On Thursday night Jackson Seafood stayed in the Senior League race mathematically by edging George Miller 8 to 7. Andy Deason was two for five with two RBIs for GM. Bill Jennings and Miguel Vargas combined for the victory for Jackson Seafood with Miguel getting the win. Lupe Contreras and David Ramirez each had three hits and Travis Jennings batted in the winning run in the tenth inning.

Local Teacher Dan St. Leger Signs Free Agent Contract With Bills

Dan St. Leger, former All-American center for the Texas A&I University football team, has signed as a free agent with the Buffalo Bills of the National Football League.

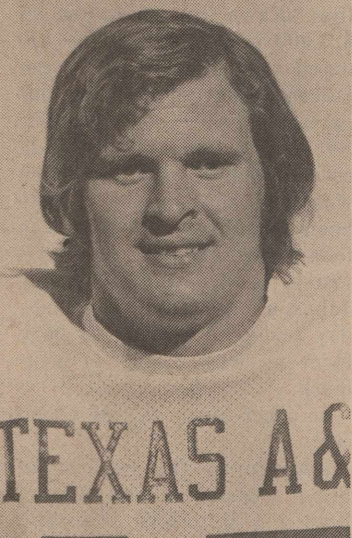

St. Leger, 6-5, 250-pounder from Devine, was NAIA All-America first team as a junior and was the only college division player named to Popular Sports Kick-Off All-American team prior to the 1976 campaign.

He was on the All-Lone Star Conference and NAIA All-District teams and made Academic

All-America and LSC All-Academic.

St. Leger was a three-year letterman with the Javelinas and did not play as a senior. He also participated in track during his career.

St. Leger received his bach-

Dan St. Leger

elor's degree from A&I in December and has been serving as a teacher's aide in physical education at Rockport-Fulton Elementary School this spring.

He will report to Buffalo June 3 for a mini-camp and the pre-season drills begin for the Bills July 15.

In addition to Buffalo, Atlanta and St. Louis also had offered St. Leger contracts.

St. Leger is married to the former Anna Williams of Devine. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. St. Leger of Devine.

Outdoors 'n Things

By L.D. Nuckles
Information Officer,
Texas Parks and Wildlife
Department

You don't have to be a "birder" or a "bird watcher" to enjoy watching birds. Nearly everyone likes to watch birds, but most people watch them in conjunction with some other activity.

During the coming shorebird migratory season (July '77 through March '78) even the casual watcher of birds has a unique opportunity to assist in an important survey that has been going on since 1974.

The main objectives of these surveys, being conducted by the Canadian Wildlife Service and the Manomet Bird Observatory in Massachusetts, is to pinpoint areas that are of prime importance to migrating shorebirds.

With our freshwater marshes and especially our estuaries continuing to come under pressure from more and more development proposals, we must be concerned with the survival of this group of birds. The preservation of this type habitat must be considered important. Many species of shorebirds use these areas in feeding and resting. Without them the birds cannot accumulate the large fat reserves required for their overseas journey to their feeding grounds.

In order to extend the survey to as many areas as possible, experienced birders are asked to adopt a good shorebird or "study area" in which they would count or accurately estimate the numbers of shorebirds once every 10-14 days during spring migration or autumn (early July until mid-October), or at monthly intervals during the winter (November to March). If you are unable to visit an area regularly, occasional counts from other areas, especially during peak migration periods, would be worthwhile and very welcome.

If you would be interested in assisting in this project you should contact: Brian A. Harrington, Manomet Bird Observatory, Manomet, Massachusetts 02345.

Now, how can the casual watcher of birds assist?

The Canadian Wildlife Service will continue the extensive program of banding and color-marking shorebirds in the James Bay area. They are attempting to define migration routes of the shorebirds between their Arctic breeding grounds and wintering areas.

Feather dyes and colored leg bands, as well as regular metal bands, will be used to mark the birds.

While fishing, boating or vacationing this year look carefully at every group of shorebirds you encounter. If you see a marked bird this is what you need to report: Note the species, location, date, color-marks and, if possible, the number of other shorebirds present. For colored bands and standard metal leg bands you should record which leg the bands are on, the colors involved, and the relative positions of the bands if more than one is on a leg (e.g. right leg, blue over metal, etc.) a note should also be made as to whether the bands are below the "knee" of the bird.

Any such reports should be sent to: Dr. R.I.G. Morrison, Canadian Wildlife Service, 2721 Highway 31, Ottawa, Ontario, Canada K1A 0E7.

Whether you're a "little old lady in tennis shoes," a dedicated birder, a wildlife photographer or you just think birds are pretty and you like them; you have an obligation to assist in these worthwhile projects if you can. If you lose these addresses just send the reports to me at 715 S. Bronte, Rockport, Texas 78382 and I'll forward them for you.

Race Series

Two first places and a second in the May 18 board boat races give Gay Harper the lead at the halfway point in the current six week race series.

Andy McMillen is in second place and Jon Shaw third.

Last week Shaw took two second places and a third to take second place honors for the day. Jack Erlich was third with a first, second and sixth place.

Races are held on Wednesday of each week in Little Bay under sponsorship of the Rockport Sailing Club. All area board boat skippers are eligible to participate, regardless of club membership, according to Evelyn Gerding and Gail Leslie, events chairwomen. However, only members are eligible for trophies.

In order to avoid past conflicts with the Rockport Art Show, July 4, the club's annual Board Boat Regatta has been advanced to July 16. The co-chairmen have named Jerry Shaw to head the event which features novelty type race events, including "old salts" races.

Drug Program

can always go back to what you were doing."

Anderson told the group he was convinced that Aransas County had a substantial problem, that it was probably on the "mainline" between the border and larger cities inland.

He said that one of the most visible problem areas were the schools, where dealing is done during lunch periods off campus, out of range of school and city officials. He said the Sheriff's Department had, at his request, run license checks and discovered 10 or more persons of 21 years or more with cars and costly clothes who claimed to be unemployed, implying that the 10 were possible drug dealers.

Anderson said his office would shortly recommend to the ACISD Board of Trustees that unannounced locker checks be made, that police be allowed to make driver's license checks in and around the school area, that a resolution be passed by the board authorizing the unannounced search of vehicles on school grounds, and that the school authorize the search of students who have shown probable cause to teachers or officials of being either under the influence of drugs, including alcohol, or portrayed possession of drugs.

Anderson stressed that he was not interested in prosecution of students, and was not interested in the measures as a repressive move, but wanted to establish a presence at the school and to cut down on the rumored traffic in drugs on or near the school campus. He also stated later in the night that a closed campus might be helpful.

Mrs. Price followed with the results of a three month fact-finding tour that included talks to law enforcement officials, the Coastal Bend Council of Governments, and street users.

She said the COG told her that local law enforcement officials ranked sixth among 12 counties in arrests and fourth in commitments on possession cases alone. The figures, she added, did not include drug related crimes.

Price told the group that a variety of programs could be initiated with 100 percent state funding for the first year, and the city and county picking up 20 percent per year for five years until they were shouldering the burden entirely. She noted that a city funded program in Beeville with two full time staff members was operating successfully with hard core juveniles.

She also said she had high recommendations from the Palmer Drug Abuse Program, which has 17 units statewide and has treated more than 4500 users with success rates of up to 60 percent even on hard narcotics such as heroin. She said the Palmer Program could be started locally for $20,000, or that a satellite program with headquarters in Corpus Christi could be started for $17,000.

Any program the group adopted should be multi-faceted, she said, concentrating on community education, counseling, and community activities to replace youthful boredom with productive activity. The Beeville program uses mini-bikes as a tool in its program, and is sending four of its students to state meets this year. She said the YMCA would donate mini-bikes to a local program, and that sailboats were available through another source.

Counseling could be done, she said, by a former user who would be trained in a new program at Trinity College in one area of drug abuse. Overall counseling as Cathie Cotton suggested, would have to be done by qualified persons with Master's degrees. Price noted that at least one qualified couple currently lives in Rockport and commutes to Corpus Christi to work.

A second feature of the counseling program would be a drug hotline for counseling and reports of pushing. The hotline would be manned 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The youth activities program would make use of existing facilities and would work with walk-ins, referrals from law enforcement officials, and with youths from other sources. All the activities, counseling and education would be free of charge to the public, with seed money from the state and local funding through governmental agencies such as the city and county, or through an incorporated, non-profit organization established to administer the chosen program.

Other arrests on similar charges were made at the same time in the Rio Grande Valley, according to officials.

The local involvement in the raid began Wednesday afternoon when Police Chief Craig-mile met in Corpus Christi with DEA officials and law enforcement officers from towns affected by the indictments.

Indictments were passed out at that time, and a 6 a.m. zero hour was set for the raids. Craigmile and his officers were assisted during the arrests by DEA officers and members of the Aransas County Sheriff's Department.

Craigmile said the arrests were the result of extensive undercover work by the DEA and the Nueces County Organized Crime Unit. He added that much of the information came from local sources, however, including some from the Rockport department.

Neither Cady or Zamudio were in possession of heroin at the time of their arrests.

Trophies were given to the following Walk-A-Thon workers: David Benavidez of Rockport, who collected the most money of any worker; Robert Rillison, Jr., of Rockport, who reached the Aransas Pass city limits first; Genado Avitia of Ingleside, who garnered the most pledges; Cynthia Holden, who gathered the most donations in Sinton; Brad Floerke, who was the top money-maker in Taft and who walked a total of 10 miles.

The first 20 workers in also received liquid silver jewelry from Mr. Charles Pulliam, a dealer in turquoise and silver from Apache Junction, Arizona.

Refreshments were donated by parents and members of the A.R.C., the Altar Society of Aransas Pass and Ms. Orba Court, who provided homemade cookies for the workers and walkers.

City Council

Council workshop session, included enforceable regulations for water skiers and towers and in the Ski Basin, and "prudent" speed limits for all users. Under the revision, the Basin will be formally closed to swimming and sailing. The complete ordinance will be published in The Pilot.

The Council then approved $1000 or one-third of the actual service cost, whichever is less, subject to agreement on insurance for the service and crew. GMS Insurance Company of Rockport submitted a figure of $1500 to $1800, and Joe Hugenberg Insurance, going through another company, obtained a quote of $500. A workshop session was set "as soon as possible" to investigate the disparity and assure full coverage.

Council approved with no strings a 40 hour work week for service employees, and a maximum $1800 salary, both to be administered by City Police Chief Jim Craigmile.

The Master Plan for the city, first drawn up at a cost of $27,000 in 1969, would be updated with a grant from the federal government, the city paying one-third of a cost City Secretary Herman Johnson estimated at $12,000. The catch was that the plan was to have been submitted Monday. The feds gave Rockport a day's grace, and City Secretary Johnson faced a long day Tuesday trying to get the 12 page form out with a May 24 postmark.

In other business, the Council:

--Approved the request of Steve Theodore for rezoning of Lots 4 & 5, D&M, from R-2 Residential to B-2 Business.

--Approved the request of Sallie Mat Clingman Bush for replatting of Lots 1 through 4 and south one-half of Lot 5, Block 203, Rooke Addition, S&W, from four and one-half lots to three 75-foot lots, and rezoning of said lots from R-1 Residential to R-3 Duplex and Apartments.

--Rejected over recommendation of the Commission a request by Alsulu Trust Estate, Chester Johnson, Trustee, for rezoning of Lots 5 through 8, Block 13, S&W, from R-2 Residential to B-2 Business.

--Approved the issuing of a special use permit to Floyd Bieneke, Sr., to allow rezoning of Lots 1 through 16, Block 38, D&M, from R-2 Residential to B-2 Business for an RV Recreational Vehicle Park.

--Approved a preliminary plat of Harbor Oaks, Unit 7, which is a replat of what is commonly known as Harbor Oaks Unit 3. This consists of 17.28 acres (12.18 acres in land, 5.10 acres in lake area) and will be replatted into lots.

--Approved a special use permit for construction of condominiums on Block 4, Unit 4, Harbor Oaks, and also approved the start of construction on the condominium project, which will include two and three bedroom units with between 1300 and 2000 square feet.

--Heard a report on construction progress at Memorial Park. Work is 90 percent complete, according to a May 19 inspection report issued by Urban Engineering, but construction is lagging in several areas, and City Secretary Johnson has asked the contractor for a detailed plan for immediate completion of the project.

--Approved removal of two palm trees from in front of the Rockport Prescription Center.

--Approved a request from the Rockport Art Association to use Navigation District property (the SeaFair site) for its annual July Art Festival June 26-July 6.

--Approved the resignation of City Policeman James Russell effective May 31.

Russell will be accepting a position as Assistant Chief of Police in Ingleside. Police Chief Jim Craigmile told Council he had interviewed another qualified man for the position, and would know Wednesday or Thursday, May 25 or 26, if the man was interested. Council agreed to meet in emergency session to interview and possibly accept the new man if he decided to apply for the vacant position.

Mexican Fishing Licenses Ready

The first annual consultation relative to the implementation of the Fisheries Agreement between Mexico and the United States was held in Mexico City on April 26-27, 1977. The initial agreement signed around the end of 1976 called for a graduated reduction in the number of U.S. shrimp vessels operating in the Mexican Resource Zone ranging from 12-200 miles off the Mexican Coast.

During the period between the signing of the agreement, and the end of July, 318 shrimp boats were allowed to fish Mexican waters. According to the National Marine Fisheries Service, only 285 licenses were issued to include 140 for the Tampico area, 122 for the Contoy area, and 23 for both areas.

The next cycle in effect from 1 August 1977 to 31 July 1978 limits the number of vessels to 223 with an allowable catch of 1,925 metric tons. This of course will mean that 62 boats with licenses for this year will be out of luck after August 1.

Provisions of the original agreement were also made to cover the snapper/grouper fishery off the Mexican coast. Unlike the shrimp provisions, however, there is no planned phase-out of this fishery.

Those wishing to apply for a Mexican license may obtain applications from the Fisheries Management Division, National Marine Fisheries Service, 9450 Gandy Boulevard, St. Petersburg, Fla. 33702; telephone number (813) 893-3721. Applications are also available from the Brownsville Trawler Association, Star Route, Box 5, Brownsville, Texas 78521; telephone number (512) 831-4862 or the Texas Shrimp Association, P.O. Box 1666, Brownsville, Texas 78520; telephone number (512) 546-5389.

Completed application forms must be received by the National Marine Fisheries Service or the two associations above no later than May 30, 1977.

	Permit Fee	Catch Charge	Shrimp Performance Bond or Deposit
Tampico & Contoy	$80.00	$2006.00	up to $1600.00
Contoy (only)	$80.00	$1538.00	up to $1600.00

If a group of owners of 10 or more vessels or trade associations wishes to assume joint liability for loss of cash guarantee, the performance deposit cost is reduced from $1600 to $160 per vessel. Individuals currently possessing an approved Mexican fishing permit do not have to post another performance deposit or bond.

Shrimp Landings Down In March

Shrimp landings totaled 937 thousand pounds valued at $3.3 million. This was the lowest March volume in recent years. The following table represents shrimp landings for specified periods.

Total: 937,300 2,333,100 4,835,400
Trawlers working Gulf waters off Texas and Louisiana made poor catches of large brown shrimp in waters beyond thirty fathoms. Weather conditions were rough and water temperatures still below 60 degrees F. Trip catches of 150-175 pounds per night were reported from all major ports. Many vessels remained at the dock throughout the month. Vessels working white shrimp made poor catches of white shrimp in channel areas and adjacent to major passes.

Vessels working Mexican waters under the 1976 treaty, made only fair catches of 175-200 pounds per night along the western Gulf and only slightly better in the treaty area around Contoy. Some heavier sporadic catches were reported in the rock shrimp fishery.

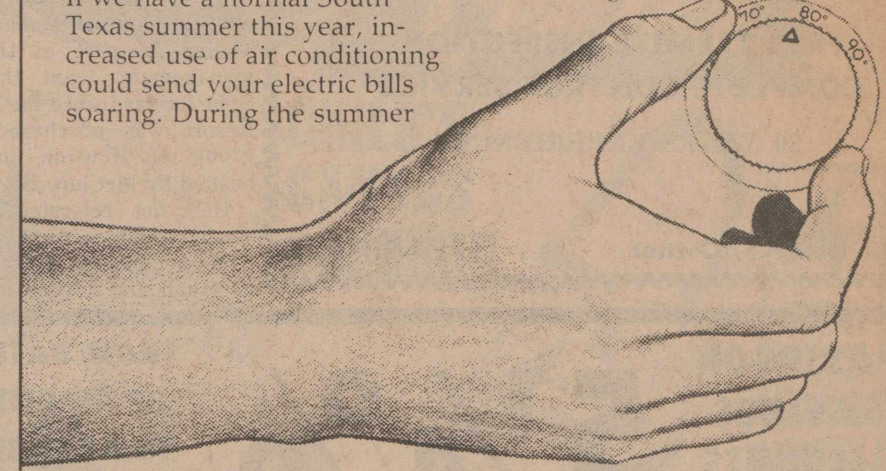

Blue crab landings totaled 377 thousand pounds in March. Fishermen received 20-25 cents per pound for live crabs. This was a drop of 9 percent in landings compared with March, 1976. However, both periods were within the present continual decline of this fishery that began in 1976.

Energy-Saving Tips for Hot Weather

Every summer is hot, but the last four summers have not been as hot as in the past.

If we have a normal South Texas summer this year, increased use of air conditioning could send your electric bills soaring. During the summer months more than half the electricity used in most air conditioned homes goes for cooling.

Fortunately, you can reduce your use of electricity substantially by using air conditioning wisely. Here are some suggestions to help:

- Have your air conditioner cleaned and checked each year to insure that it is running at top efficiency.
- Clean or replace the filter at least once a month, or preferably every two weeks.
- Keep the thermostat set at the highest comfortable setting, around 78 degrees. Keeping your house at 71 degrees could cost twice as much for air conditioning as a 78 degree setting.
- Keep the outside sections of central air conditioning units free of grass, leaves, shrubbery and other obstructions. The unit must have free circulation of air for good performance.

- Keep direct sunlight out of the house with shades or draperies. Trees, shrubs, awnings and shutters also can provide shading for your home and reduce the work load of your air conditioner.

If you want more information on operating your air conditioning system more economically, we have a free booklet for you. Ask for "How to Save Money on Your Air Conditioning" at your local CPL office.

20 YEARS EXPERIENCE

E. L. BURKS, Owner

The SeaGun Resort Restaurant at Lamar just over the causeway has long been a favorite with sportsmen and tourists for its good food and down home hospitality.

Which is not a formula to be lightly tampered with, unless you're bent on making things even better: "There are going to be a lot of changes," says SeaGun General Manager Bill Thompson, part of the new management team that has come forward since the SeaGun Resort was purchased by a group of Houston investors headed by McClure Bintliff.

He's not referring to the things which made it a tradition—the Sunday buffet, with its salads and beef so tender it draws people from Corpus Christi and farther, or the fresh seafood that Captain Brownie Brown and Ted Appel of the "Whooping Crane" say they take nightly in local bays. He's artificial waterfall. The bar is coming out, and plants will soon be growing where the waterfall ran.

The bar is being taken to the end of the large main dining the food are Paul Dominguez and Bennie Montemayor, the chef and first assistant, respectively. And of course Captain Brown, who claims to catch all the fish personally, but has been known to pull a fin or two.

The bar is in the process of adding a wine selection to its list, but is featuring the Gallo line as its house wine right now, including the highly rated Hearty Burgundy. The Margaritas are also first rate, and the regular favorites like bourbon, scotch, gin and vodka are all in full stock.

On Friday and Saturday nights, Ken Brothers entertains in the bar with country-folk music. And the management is giving thought to bringing in big name talent in the progressive country field (Willie Nelson, Jerry Jeff Walker, David Allen Coe, etc.) when the summer crowd of fishermen begins to arrive. They'll put the headlines in a big tent on the grounds and serve beer and barbecue Texas style, and they think they've got a winner.

For special occasions, the SeaGun can seat up to 100 in its Neptune Hall, 120 in the restaurant and bar, and 60 in the remodeled Reef Room. It makes the resort one of the top banquet facilities in the area.

Hours right now are 6:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m., but will shortly drop back to 5:30 a.m. to accommodate the early rising fishermen.

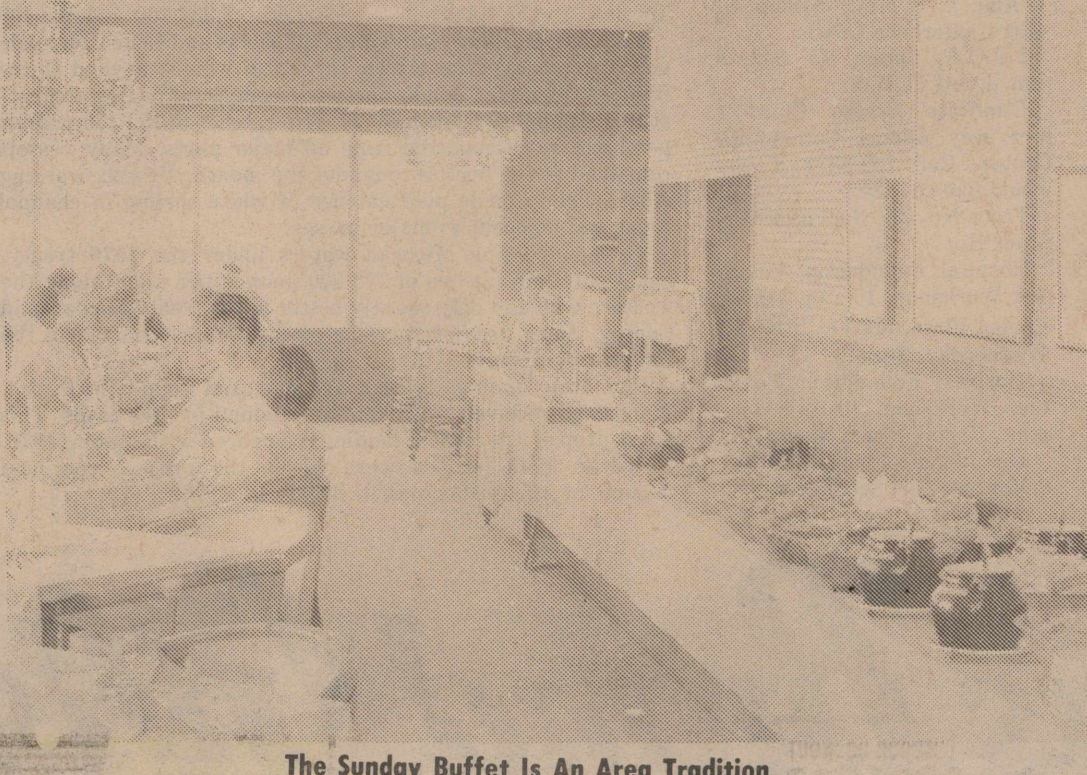

The bar is open late if the customers are, of course.

Thompson adds that, for a price, the SeaGun will be glad to cook whatever you catch, short of a whale, and will throw in a Lone Star Long Neck (spelled hard to get this side of Austin) while you wait.

For the children, the management and the chef will scale down any listed item, so don't be afraid to take the family.

Capt. Brown Attacks The Broiled Flounder

The Sunday Buffet Is An Area Tradition

talking about new banquet facilities for 60 or more in the room which used to hide a curved, corner bar and an room, where new bay windows have been installed and customers will now have a view of the bay, the Marina and the famous "Whooping Crane."

And both the banquet rooms and the main dining rooms will be featuring a trimmed menu which reflects, with righteous regional pride, the "bounty of the bays." Seafood like redfish, shrimp and flounder will be featured. Others like cod or even snapper will be phased out because they are hard to get as fresh as they need to be to taste their best. The steak menu selection will be cut to the three most popular cuts, a New York Strip, Rib Eyes and a small ladies Filet.

Restaurant Manager says the top dish in the house is the flounder, broiled or baked. It covers the plate in most cases, weighing in at a hefty 16-20 ounces and topped with secret sauces and garnished with lemons and parsley.

The Sunday buffets will remain, with home made pies, eight vegetables, frog legs, baked ham, fried redfish, and a variety of salads including potato, cole slaw, carrot and more.

This weekend, call both families for practically the price of one.

It's true! This weekend—and every weekend between 11 p.m. Friday and 5 p.m. Sunday—you can place two Long Distance calls for practically the price of one weekday evening call, when you dial the 1+ way.

For example, a 10-minute call to someone a thousand miles away weekday evenings (5 p.m. to 11 p.m., Sunday-Friday) would cost you $2.44, plus tax. Which, you'll admit, isn't bad.

But for practically the same price, you could make two eight-minute calls over the same distance...any weekend.

It's almost like getting one call free!

So this weekend, enjoy a couple of Long Distance calls. And make three families happy!

Long Distance.
What else is so nice for the price?

New Era Seen For Fisheries

With passage of Senate Bill 432 by the House of Representatives Senator A.R. Schwartz expressed great satisfaction over the possibility of a new era in sport and commercial fishery prospects on the Texas coast. That bill authorizes the Parks and Wildlife Department to take over the five Liberty Ship artificial reefs and construct new inshore tire reefs and maintain buoys or other markers on them.

Two other bills also have now been sent to the Governor's desk for signature. Senate Bill 624--the Texas Red Drum Conservation Act--and House Bill 700 which establishes procedures for confiscation of illegal nets in inland salt waters.

"Representatives Joe Wyatt of Victoria, Joe Hubenak of Rosenberg, Joe Allen of Baytown and Tom Schieffer of Fort Worth and Representative Jerry Benedict of Angleton were all much involved in passage of this entire package," Schwartz said. HB 700 was authored by Rep. Wyatt and Rep. Joe Allen and Rep. Tom Schieffer passed the Red Fish Bill. The Artificial Reef Bill was passed by Joe Hubenak and Jerry Benedict.

"These bills will all make a difference in the ability of the sportsman to catch more fish," the Senator said. "SB 624 will likely limit the availability of redfish in the commercial market during the first year but we'll have an idea of the effect of the quota after that and make further adjustments as the Legislature may see fit. Commercial fishermen will harvest a limited number of redfish (200 pounds per day) in the first year of the act but will take other species to make up the difference in total catch.

The studies and reports required in the red-drum bill will provide the type of management information needed by the Legislature in making necessary future decisions. Very little statistical data was available to the Legislature this year and decisions were thus made with difficulty. The Appropriation Bill now contains a rider by Senator Schwartz transferring approximately $300,000 of Texas Coastal and Marine Council profit from the Liberty Ship project to Parks and Wildlife for reef marking. The Red Fish Bill data collection and enforcement costs and boat ramps. The Red Fish Drum Commercial License fees will also be diverted to those purposes under the rider. The commercial fishing interests can do much to make these laws work by providing the required data and helping enforcement of violations of the fishing laws and strict requirements for the Red Fish commercial license. The combined effect of excellent new fishing grounds on the artificial reefs plus a temporary severe limit on the total Red Fish catch and a substantial reduction in future commercial taking should result in an unprecedented upsurge in the available catch for sports fishermen.

"The increased penalties and net confiscation provisions of both the Red Fish Bill and H.B. 700 serve notice to all that only Legal Fishing will be tolerated in Texas salt waters. When the effect of the combination of the bills can be determined we can enlarge our legal commercial fisheries substantially in the future," Schwartz said.

As chairman of the Texas Coastal and Marine Council, on which Rep. Hubenak also serves, Schwartz said, "He is doubly proud that the impetus for many of these fishery advances had come from the council and now the council is even able to provide the source of funds for their implementation."

One Strike, Wildcat Plans Reported Here

One strike and preparations for drilling a wildcat well were reported by oil companies working in Aransas County last week.

Shenandoah Oil Corporation of Houston announced a new gas discovery in State Tract 122, located six miles west of Rockport, offshore Aransas County.

The No. A-A State Tract 122 was gauged for an absolute flow of 8700 Mcf of gas a day from perforations at 8,744-54 feet. Gas-condensate ration was 8,686-1 and liquid gravity was 59.6 degrees. On test through 10/64-inch choke the well flowed 1254 Mcf with 2,735 pounds well head pressure. Shut-in pressure was 2,592 pounds.

Kelly Bell plans to drill a 9,250-foot wildcat 10 miles north of Gregory.

Drillite of the No. 2 F.G. Gabriel well be 200 feet from the southwest line and 1,800 feet from the southeast line of Lot 4, Section 48, Fifth Subdivision of Taft Farm Lands; also 2,850 feet from the southwest line and 1,800 feet from the southeast line of William Steele Survey, T-190.

Judy Anderson

Attends GOP

Seminar May 21

Judy Anderson, Precinct 4-A chairperson of the Republican Party of Aransas County, attended a one-day seminar Saturday, May 21, sponsored by the Republican Party of Texas. The meeting was held on Padre Island at the Padre Island Beach Hotel.

Mrs. Anderson said that the purpose of the meeting was to bolster the organization strength of the Party in the South Texas area. County chairmen, vice-chairmen and precinct workers attended the seminar.

Jack Orr, of Austin, executive director of the Republican Party of Texas, along with other members of the state headquarters staff, presented topics dealing with the "nuts and bolts" of county political activity and organization.

The Corpus Christi seminar was the sixth in a series of 10 planned by the State GOP for the spring and early summer. Subsequent meetings will be held in Wichita Falls, May 28; Beaumont, June 11; Waco, June 24; and El Paso, July 9.

Many trucking firms have been able to increase fuel efficiency by nearly 20 per cent by streamlining their tractor-trailer rigs, engine modifications, use of radial tires.

District Judge John Miller To Retire

Judge John Miller, a 20 year veteran of the 36th Judicial District bench which holds court in Aransas, McMullen, Bee, Live Oak and San Patricio counties, said last week he would not seek re-election when his current elective term expires.

Several South Texas attorneys are expected to challenge for the seat Miller will vacate, among them District Attorney John Flinn, and San Patricio County Attorney Richard Hatch, Jr., who also left open the possibility he might try instead for the District Attorney's position should Flinn vacate it.

Should he run for the DA's seat, Hatch would likely be facing Flinn assistant Tom Bridges, who is considered a "definite" candidate when and if Flinn steps down to run.

Miller, a Coastal Bend native born on the old Taft Ranch, was a self-taught legal expert who was one of three men in a class of 250 to read law prior to the bar exam, but did not attend a university law school.

He was appointed District Attorney for the 36th District Jan. 1, 1947, and later appointed District Judge, succeeding the late W.G. Gayle. He presided thereafter, winning election and re-election nine times.

Wieting Bills Win Committee Approval

State Rep. Leroy Wieting of Portland won the support of the Environmental Affairs Committee for S.B. 1053, S.B. 1054 and S.R. 1055 late Wednesday night.

S.B. 1053 authorizes the Parks and Wildlife Department to charge for a duplicate motorboat validation decal. Currently, the Department supplies duplicates for those that are lost, mutilated or destroyed at no cost to the requester.

Rep. Wieting, House sponsor of the three Senate bills, believes the committee action on S.B. 1053 was necessary since, "The nominal $1.00 charge will certainly be a fair and equitable method for absorbing the Department's high costs of paper and printing."

S.B. 1054 would raise the minimum amount of required reported property damage in water-related collisions from $50 to $100. Rep. Wieting believes that the change in the amount reported is needed since, "Due to the inflated economy, most repair bills on boats now generally amount to over $50.00. Under this bill, we would be raising the Texas minimum level up to the federal amount of reported boat damage."

S.B. 1055 would permit the Parks and Wildlife Department to increase the fees for boat titling from $1.50 to $3.50. "It will allow the Department to recover the costs incurred through providing this valuable and necessary service," Rep. Wieting explained.

The bills go before the full House for consideration in the near future.

Disorderly Conduct Charge Filed

Betty Brooks of Rockport was charged with Disorderly Conduct last weekend after Mrs. Michael Deason complained that Ms. Brooks had used loud and abusive language while asking her to close down the Little League concession stand during a non-League tournament at the Park. Tournament sponsors had a mobile concession wagon of their own in operation during the tournament.

Mrs. Brooks pled not guilty before Fulton Justice of the Peace J. Paul Rogers, and a hearing is pending.

Cantwell New Permanent Church Deacon

The Corpus Christi Chancery Office has announced the upcoming ordination of a local man, Mr. E. Robert Cantwell, Jr., into the Holy Order of Permanent Deacon. The ceremony will take place at the Corpus Christi Cathedral on Sunday, May 22, at 4 p.m.

Mr. Cantwell will be ordained to serve the Sacred Heart Parish of Rockport as an assistant to the pastor, the Reverend Monsignor Harold Palmer.

This ordination, which includes seven other men, marks the first time married men have been elevated to the rank of clergy in the Catholic Church in this diocese. Prior to 1972 there had never been a Permanent Deacon ordained in the New World. The order was restored world-wide by the Vatican II Council in 1967 after having been suppressed for over four hundred fifty years.

Permanent Deacons are clergy who may never advance to the rank of priest, hence the name "Permanent" Deacon. They ordinarily assist their pastors in ministering to the parish they live in.

The Reverend Mr. Cantwell and Mrs. Cantwell reside at 11 Live Oak Point, Fulton Beach, where they have made their home for the past six years.

David Gruber Suffers Heart Attack In Waco

Capt. (Ret.) David P. Gruber (CB handle "Moneybags"), a long-time resident of Rockport, officer and member of the Rockport Masonic Lodge #323 A.F. & A.M., and of the Al Amin Shrine of Corpus Christi, with a local bookkeeping and tax service office in his home in West Terrace, has been hospitalized in Hillcrest Hospital in Waco, Texas, after suffering a heart attack while attending a Masonic function in that city.

His wife, Genevieve, and family, wish to let friends and neighbors know that Dave is holding his own at the present time, and barring any complications, can be expected to recover from the attack under the close care and supervision of his attending doctors and a period of convalescence.

Mrs. Gruber asks that she be forgiven for not knowing how to operate Dave's Citizen's Band set to acknowledge the messages of area CBers.

In lieu of any floral arrangements, the family would like to encourage concerned friends to direct a donation in Dave's name to one of the many Shriner's Children's Hospitals in the State of Texas, since this has been the goal of Dave's many years of work with the Masonic order.

Benavidez Joins USAF

Ricardo Benavidez, son of Leopoldo and Cristina Benavidez of Rockport, entered the United States Air Force Delayed Enlistment Program on May 19, according to Sergeant James H. Gore, the Air Force Recruiter in Corpus Christi.

It was such a cold winter. The trees were stark, dead. The church looked old, tired. Spirits sagged.

Then, one day, there was a miracle. There were buds, swelling into flowers, the grass began to green, and the church seemed to straighten itself, thrusting the cross high toward the heavens.

Again, the promise had been fulfilled. Again, life began anew and hope stirred and somehow God seemed closer, even though actually He had been right there, all along.

Spring is a wonder time. A time for living, a time for loving. A very special time, for God and His Church.

Volunteer Profile

Tom Hickman: 'It's A Good Feeling'

"We have these little beepers that tell us when a call is coming in," says ACHVI Volunteer Tom Hickman, handing over his pocket-sized Motorola PageCom. "It makes a sustained beep or wait for several seconds, and then the Sheriff's Department dispatcher comes on and gives the location of the call. I usually just meet at Bill's house (to get on the Modulance)."

When calls come in late at night or early in the morning, Hickman arrives at Aston's house looking like a prisoner of war. "No socks, pants unzipped, shirt unbuttoned, breathing hard."

He has one 12 hour graveyard shift per week, down from five and more because with his regular job the hours left him little time with his family. He does the driving on most of his calls, since he's the only in-town volunteer with the required chauffeur's license.

At the scene, Hickman and another volunteer head for the equipment as Aston takes off directly for the patient to begin the critical assessment of injuries.

During the ride, the dispatcher frequently has been able to fill in the crew on the nature and extent of the injuries, giving them a head start on the selection of proper medication. They usually cart the trauma kit, which has one of almost everything, from the ambulance, and the IV kits, etc. The like-pak and the defibrillator also come along on heart attack calls or serious injuries in which the patient's heart has stopped.

Hickman has been on many of the worst calls the service has made, a selection of heart attacks, the first hit and run handled by the service, and other gruesome scenes.

When Hickman first began work for the service, he had had only the basic Red Cross first aid training, although a degree in pharmacy gave him at least a working knowledge of much of the medication used by the crew in most situations.

But the emotion charged atmosphere of the calls was a new experience for him, and it has shown him new spaces. "When you're driving out to the scene you're just trying to get there as fast as possible, thinking about what is wrong with the person, how you will handle it, what you'll need. When you get on the scene you're on automatic pilot, and not really thinking in a way about what you're doing. You're totally aware, of course, but you're doing exactly what Bill or Pat tells you to, and there is not time to think about your situation. It's not until about an hour later that you think. Wow, how did I do all those things."

"I remember one time on a call I started up the CPR, pumping in rhythm, breathing, everything, was perfect. And then after it was all over I got shaky wondering how I'd done it."

"And that is why the training is so intense, so that you can do what is necessary without having to put anything in motion. It has to be instinctive almost, immediate and perfect. In the training they tell you—they insist, in fact, that whenever you see something being done wrong you stop the person and correct it. Even if it's Bill, anybody. The patient doesn't get a second chance."

Hickman came to Rockport in December of 1975 to take over the Prescription Center. Pharmacy was something he'd taken up relatively late in life. He was a 1964 graduate of Texas Wesleyan in Chemistry and Biology but couldn't find a decent job in the field, so he bought a motel. "I was 23 years old and $488,000 in debt." He survived, obviously, and ran the operation for seven years before selling out and taking up Pharmacy School at the University of Houston. After graduation in 1973 he bought one-third interest in a drug store in Taylor, Texas, then sold out in 1975 and moved to Rockport.

He has a wife, Carol, and three children: Jennifer, 14; Tommy, 8 and Dallas, 6.

At the Prescription Center where he works he has a unique position among the volunteers who man the emergency service. He often meets a former victim the service has aided across the counter when they come in to get medication for whatever ails them. Sometimes, the realization that they were very lucky indeed makes for emotional moments. "I've had some of them really break down with gratitude. They're just happy to be alive. It shows me that it is all really worthwhile."

With his once a week schedule, Hickman is one of the lucky volunteers. While he has been able to cut down from four and five nights a week to one, many of the crew are still taking on more than most should have to endure. "You have to be a fanatic or new," says Hickman. "We have some people who are really dedicated. One who is working seven days a week. The rule is that you can't be anymore than two minutes from the city limits when you're on duty, and with the exception of Aston, I'm the only crew member who lives inside the city limits. So that means they have to come downtown and spend all their time hanging around. Some go to the library, wherever, just so they'll be ready."

Hickman says the Volunteers have made great strides since the service began in personal confidence and knowledge. "Bill is beginning to trust our judgement and ability now, and to feel like a patient would be safe with us. So now two volunteers have been working with the back-up unit on their own. The way they've been doing is recently is to have both ambulances answer the calls, that way if the victim is not seriously injured, the back-up unit can make the transportation directly from the scene and leave the Modulance free."

And the training has given us confidence in other ways, too. Most of the volunteers have families, and now that we can all do CPR and other things, well, it just makes us more confident of being able to help our families in emergencies. It's a good feeling."

BLACK OUT 41

RULES OF THE GAME NO OBLIGATION OR PURCHASE NECESSARY:

There is no obligation or purchase necessary. A copy of the paper is available for playing the game at the office of this newspaper - also at the public library - also a Bingo card and/or a copy of The Rockport Pilot for that day containing the Bingo numbers may be obtained by mailing your request to this newspaper (please print your name and address clearly). You may play as many cards as you wish - they are free. Get additional cards - one at a time - each day of the week - from the merchants listed below (adults only).

DIFFERENT COLORED CARDS EACH WEEK:

The color of the cards changes each week. To be a winner, you must play Bingo cards of the correct color for that week. Mutilated or altered cards will not be honored. ALL 24 NUMBERS ON A CARD MUST BE MATCHED TO WIN.

CHANCE DETERMINES NUMBERS:

Bingo numbers for each week's game are drawn strictly at random at the office of this newspaper. Some duplication of Bingo numbers may appear in the merchants' ads - or elsewhere in the paper. This duplication does not affect the game or the total numbers drawn. All numbers for each week's game will appear someplace in the sponsoring merchants' ads - and possibly elsewhere in the paper. Employees of this newspaper and members of their families are not eligible to win any of the prizes. Newspaper Bingo is a program copyrighted and registered by Marketing-Research Associates, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

NOTE

Only one Bingo card and one newspaper will be sent per request and a self-addressed, stamped envelope must accompany each request.
