School Board Passes Important Policy Regarding Diseases

An important policy concerning precautions against communicable diseases was passed by the Clarendon School Board, and will become effective prior to enrollment of a student, stated Supt. J. R. Cox this week.

In text, the policy is as follows: All pre-school children prior to enrollment in the Clarendon schools shall be immunized against diphtheria, chicken pox, tetanus, poliomyelitis and small pox. A certificate by a physician stating that immunization against diphtheria, chicken pox, tetanus, poliomyelitis and small pox has been given shall be presented to the elementary principal or home room teacher by the child or his parent on enrollment day.

Representatives of the State Health Department recommended to the County Health Officer, Dr. George W. Smith, M.D., that the above policy be adopted for this county.

This announcement is being made at this time so parents of all pre-school age children can get these shots under way so they can all be completed before the fall term begins next September.

Clarendon Bulldogs To Play Lubbock Team

Saturday night the Clarendon Bulldogs will meet the conference leading basketball quintet from Lubbock Christian College at the College Gymnasium. Lubbock Christian College is leading the conference with 3 wins and no losses. The Clarendon Bulldogs hope to keep their conference record of winning at home intact to bring their conference schedule to the .500 mark with 2 wins and 2 losses. Lubbock's quintet is one of the fastest groups in the conference and the spectators can expect nothing but wheeling and dealing when they meet the Bulldogs who are presently leading the conference in average number of scores per game for this season. This game is expected to be wide open and high scoring.

Dean Abel invites all basketball fans who like action, and lots of it, to mark your calendar and plan to be on hand Saturday night.

Howard Talley Is Student of Month

Howard Talley, senior student in Clarendon High School, has been named student of the month for January, it was announced this week by the Student Council.

Active in FFA, Howard was class president in his Ag classes during his freshman, sophomore, and junior years, and also served as Junior class president last year. He served as vice-president of the student council his freshman year.

A high scoring player during his sophomore and junior years, Howard has been chosen captain of his basketball team this year. He has played volleyball for three years, tennis two years, and was a track star during his junior year.

While participating in sports and other outside activities, he has maintained a high grade point average in a course packed with solid subjects. Easy going and good natured, he is popular with student body and faculty.

High School Girls Win Estelline Tourney

The Clarendon High School Bronchoettes finished in first place last Saturday night at the Estelline tournament. They had two girls selected for the all tournament team, Marie Richey and Paula Adams. James Allen was picked from the boys lineup as an all tournament player for the boys.

The girls easily took the first game from Turkey by a score of 67 to 47. The second win was over Matador 41-34. The final game was played with Quail and the score was 41-33.

Girls seeing action in the tournament were Marie Richey, Paula Adams, Sharon Williams, Brenda McAnear, Janis Smith, Gay Watson, Janie Ivey, Peggy Jackson, Sandra Webb, Connie Martin and Deanne McAnear. Paula Adams was the high point maker in the three games.

The Broncos won their first game over Turkey but lost to Quilaque 80-58 in their second game. Quilaque went on to win first place in the tournament. James Allen was high point maker for the two games.

Boys seeing action in the games were Philip Abel, Howard Talley, James Allen, Dwight McAnear, John Cearly, Jerry Elmore, Billy Spier, James Moffitt, Herman Vinson and Bill Stavenhagen.

JANUARY 31 DEADLINE FOR SCHOOL CENSUS

Supt. J. R. Cox announced this week that January 31 was the deadline for the annual school census which helps govern the amount of money the local school system receives from the state.

He is urging everyone having pre-school children or anyone who will be 6 or 7 on or before September 1, 1961, and not enrolled in school, to contact either Stina Cain at 3855, Morris Ledger at 3551, Cathell Tipps or Mrs. Allene Estlack at 3551 Extension 6.

Your cooperation in seeing that every child of school age is counted, will mean more money for the education of your child here in Clarendon.

SENIOR CLASS TO PRESENT PLAY

The Senior class of Clarendon High School will present a three-act comedy, "The Sweetheart of U Baka Pi," Saturday, February 4, in the High School Auditorium. The story revolves around a college sorority in the 1920's.

Everyone is invited to set aside this night and plan to attend. Announcement of the cast will be made in next week's paper so watch to see who your favorite "star" will be.

High School Teams Take Conference Win

Both the girls and boys high school teams took conference wins over Lefors at Lefors Tuesday night to give both teams a clean conference slate so far although the girls have a 13-8 record and the boys a 10-9 record.

In the girls game, the score was 61-33 in favor of the Bronchoettes. Paula Adams was high with 25 points and Marie Richey had 21.

The boys won their game 64-47 with James Allen high point man with 21 and Howard Talley had 19.

Friday night both teams entertained Memphis on the local court in conference play. Game time will be 7 o'clock. Next Tuesday night they will journey to Canadian for probably one of their roughest conference engagements. Coach Williams is bringing his teams along in fine fashion and will put forth every effort to win district honors.

BULLDOGS CLIP EAGLES WINGS

The Sayre Eagles who were previously billed as a hard-hitting, hard-driving, basket-hungry quintet proved to be exactly that in their encounter with the Clarendon Bulldogs last Friday night in the Bulldogs home kennel.

The game which was a non-conference game, but a return bout, was one of the hardest fought battles of the year on the home court. When the Bulldogs played the Eagles at Sayre in December, they were defeated by a margin of 7 points with a score of 70-77.

Last Friday night on their home court, the Bulldogs turned the trick on Sayre and defeated them with a score of 105-87. This was the highest score for any one game posted by the local team this season. Also, in the night's contest, Bobby Lesley posted his high score for any one game for this season with 31 while holding Burden of Sayre to his low of the year at 9 points. Lesley received some very timely help in the scoring column from Alexander with 24, Morrow with 18, and Jones with 13. Bronniman with 11. In this game 5 of the players scored in double figures for the first time in any one game for this season. The defensive work of Humphreys, Jones, and Wiggins, bottled up Sayre's fast breaking offense to hold them while our offensive men were tallying. Martindale and DeBord both saw action in this game.

POLL TAX SALES BELOW PAR TUESDAY, JAN. 31 IS DEADLINE

Gary Alexander and Frank Hermesmeier Show Champions

Gary Alexander, Hedley FFA member, exhibited both the grand and reserve champion barrows, and Frank Hermesmeier, Clarendon FFA member, exhibited the grand champion lamb in the Donley County Lamb and Pig Show held here Saturday.

Alexander's winners were both Black Poland Chinas. Hermesmeier's champion lamb was a Southdown cross. Dale Robinson of Clarendon showed a Shropshire lamb for reserve champion.

Results in order of placing were:

SWINE: Berkshire, David McBrayer, 1; 2; Tom Leggett, Hedley, 3. Black Poland China, lightweight, Gary Alexander, 1; 2; Joe Anderson, 3. Heavyweights, Joe Anderson, 1, Gary Alexander, 2, and Troy Petty, 3.

Spotted Poland China, lightweight, Ronny Woods, 1; James Moffett, 2 and 3. Heavyweights, Troy Petty, 1; Gary Campbell, 2 and 3. Chester Whites, Truman Richey, 1; Robert Tolbert, 2. Hampshire, lightweight, David Morman, 1; 2; James Moffett, 3. Heavyweight, Morman, 1; Faylon Watson, 2; Keith Barbee, 3.

LAMBS: Shropshire, Dale Robinson, 1; Jerry Taylor, 2; Steve Shelton, 3. Denny Stewart, 4. Hampshire Cross, Denny Stewart, 1; Southdown Cross, Dale Robinson, 1; Johnny Mays, 2; David Hudgins, 3; Steve Shelton, 4. Heavy Southdown cross, Frank Hermesmeier, 1; Jerry Smith, 2; Vernon Morris, 3; Bill Hearn, 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cross and Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Cross had as Sunday visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Ashel McDaniel and daughters of Silvertown.

We are ashamed to report the poll tax sales total as it is a lot less than half the off-year figure. In fact, only 495 poll tax receipts had been issued by the County Tax Office Wednesday of this week.

The average for an off-year is around 1200. This leaves approximately 700 receipts to be issued by the County Tax Office Wednesday of this week.

Although this is an off-year for elections, it could be one of the most important. Any type of bond election, alcoholic election or otherwise could be called. You could be in favor of the issue and your own existence might depend on it . . . you would certainly want to cast your ballot. It might be an issue that you were opposed to but with such a small number of voters, it could pass without much vote opposition. Voting is a personal right that you should protect and never be without.

Visit the County Tax office today and get your poll tax receipt. There undoubtedly will be a long line Monday and Tuesday so the sooner you go the less time it will take but take time if you have to . . . to preserve your voting right.

DIVIDENDS AND JELLY BEANS

Some time ago 40 eight grade students in a school in New York State were faced with a bewildering problem. The solution they hit upon was an almost brand new approach in the study of the American economic system, according to The Exchange magazine, official publication of the New York Stock Exchange.

These youngsters had pooled some small change and bought a share of stock, after reviewing the prospects of various companies and selecting the one they thought the soundest. Then came their first dividend—one dime. That sum is not divisible by 40, so they bought a dime's worth of jelly beans and thus distributed their profit.

More and more school children are learning the risks and rewards of shareownership these days. The Exchange magazine adds. This means that Johnny can read the stock tables and that substantial numbers of youthful capitalists are turning to the financial sections of newspapers as well as to the sports and comics. The long-range significance of this growing movement is a big one. The adults of tomorrow will be better versed in the whys and wherefores of the American system than their forebears—and they'll have a better understanding of what capitalism means and does. A stronger America will be the result.

7-0-1 SEASON

National Review supplies a significant report on the experience of the Right-to-Work laws (which provide that each worker can decide for himself whether or not to join a union, and is legally protected from coercion by either management or the union) in states where they played a role in last November's elections. "The so-called National Council for Industrial Peace, an AFL-CIO front for compulsory unionism, made Right-to-Work an issue in seven states, in the hope of defeating candidates and incumbents who upheld voluntary unionism. In Indiana, Utah, Kansas, New Mexico, Vermont, Oklahoma, and Virginia, Right-to-Work forces were swept to victory. In Delaware, voters elected a governor opposed to Right-to-Work while retaining a legislative majority in favor of it."

Putting the results in box-score form, Right-to-Work had a 7-0-1 season—that is, it won seven contests, lost none, and tied one. That's an impressive record by any standard. If Right-to-Work were a football team, it would have been a cinch for a major bowl bid! It looks as if the American electorate thinks people should have freedom of choice when it comes to unionism—just as they have freedom of choice in deciding to join or not to join other private institutions and organizations.

BALANCE OF PAYMENTS

What is known as the "balance of payments" deficit—which has resulted in a substantial decline in U.S. gold reserves—will inevitably become a first order of business item for the new Administration.

This deficit, it should be emphasized, is not a trade deficit—our commercial exports still exceed our commercial imports. It is the result, instead, of other spending abroad, private and governmental, which is not balanced by foreign spending here.

One aspect of this, ironically, lies in the vast increase of foreign travel by Americans, largely as a result of the emergence of the dramatic jet age of air transport. Everyone agrees this is all to the good—the more we, as individuals, know about the peoples of other lands the less likely we are to develop prejudices and misconceptions. People-to-people, in whatever manifestation, offers a unique opportunity to further world understanding, world friendship, world peace.

Yet the dollars that are left abroad in the form of francs, lira, pounds and the rest contribute to the deficit. But they wouldn't—if the citizens of Europe, whose incomes and economic standards are higher for the most part than they have ever been, visited us in sufficient numbers to bridge the currency gap.

Representative O'Brien of New York has proposed a means of helping to bring this about. We are the only nation of any consequence which does not support tourist agencies abroad. Even very small countries maintain their agencies here, and supply American tourists with invaluable help and information. The cost of an American service of this nature would be small—a few millions a year. And the possible return—in good will and understanding, as well as hard coin—would be enormous.

BAD PENNY

The proverbial "bad penny" has turned up in a very modern guise—the allegedly "temporary" cent-a-gallon increase in the gasoline tax imposed by the federal government last year.

The point has been made by the general sales manager of a major oil company. At a recent association meeting, he held aloft a two-foot-wide replica of the bad penny, and said: "As long as the bad penny stays on, the American motorist is being asked to pay the entire cost of the vast new federal highway program—and more besides..."

This spokesman also used a dramatic means of illustrating the high level that federal and state gas taxes have reached. He opened a suitcase full of bills representing $21,600—the total gas taxes that a 20,000-gallon-a-month station in a typical state has to collect in a year. And the gas station and the oil company, remember, are only collectors, which provide a free service for government—all the gas tax money comes from the customers. There's an irony in the fact that excessively heavy gas taxes, which now work out to about 50 per cent of the retail value of the fuel before the tax, may become self-defeating. Motorists, in vast numbers, are driving less. The sales of compact cars, whose prime appeal is economy, have been soaring at the expense of sales of standard models. The result: Less revenue from higher taxes!

Now it remains to be seen if Congress will, as promised, let the last "emergency" cent-a-gallon gas tax increase expire next June. That isn't likely to happen unless the protesting voice of the American motorist is heard—at peak volume.

CLAIMS VS. FACTS

A news item in The New York Times reports a leading economist as saying that "claims of the Soviet Union that its economic system was more efficient than that of the United States could not be supported by the facts."

The economist is John M. Cassels, of the Rockefeller Office. If present growth rates are maintained, he said, Russia's per capita output will not equal ours for more than a century, which is a far cry from Khrushchev's contention that she will pass us by 1970.

Mr. Cassels does not sell Russia short. He describes her as a "formidable antagonist" and every informed person will agree with that. But as we keep a wary round-the-clock eye on Soviet attainments, both real and alleged, let's not make the foolish and dangerous mistake of selling ourselves short.

WHERE STATISTICS DELUDE

A good many people in current discussions over the pros and cons of economic growth seem disposed to play down our achievements and to play up those of Russia.

That's easy to do if statistics alone are used without explanation and elaboration. But it's a case where statistics, even though they don't lie, do delude.

Vance Packard makes this plain in his new book, "The Waste Makers". He points out that "Russia's rate of economic growth . . . is less remarkable than that of Mexico, Japan or West Germany. Compared with that of the United States, its percentage of annual growth of output seems impressive simply because it is starting from a lower base and because it is an underdeveloped country trying to catch up with an overdeveloped one. Economist W. Allen Wallis, special assistant to the President observed in 1960, "Even if Russian growth rates continue higher than our, the absolute gap between us will continue to increase for some time to come. There is no possibility that the Russian economy will overtake ours at any time in the visible future—certainly not in this century."

In most fields of production, Russia is building from a base which we passed 30, 40 or 50 years ago. Under these circumstances, mere percentage growth figures are almost meaningless. There's nothing to justify selling the U.S. short.

NEWSPAPERS HOLD LEAD

Total outlays for advertising in the U.S. last year dropped $100 million, or 31 per cent. Advertisers spent $1.6 billion, or 15 per cent on direct mail; $1.4 billion, or 13 per cent, on TV.

Mr. Farmer!

CAN YOU CONTROL WEEDS IN ROW CROPS WITH FLAME CULTIVATION?

Will it save you money? These and many other questions can be answered on the night of February 2, 1961 at the County Court House—7:30 p.m., Clarendon, Texas.

The man who can answer your question about flame cultivation is Dr. Tom Longnecker, agronomist, in charge of the South Plains Foundation Experimental farm at Halfway, Texas, 12 miles west of Plainview.

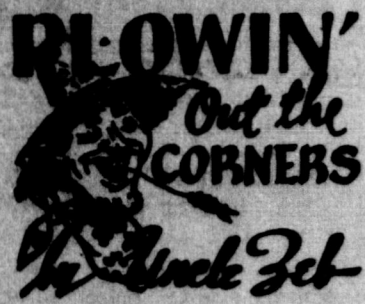

Doctor Longnecker will be in Clarendon, Texas the night of February 2, to explain and describe the results they have obtained this past year using two flame cultivations in cotton, grain sorghum, sesame, castor bean, corn, and many other experimental crops. He will tell you how much lint cotton was harvested on cotton that was flamed as compared to that which wasn't.

Be sure to attend this meeting Mr. Farmer. See pictures of crops being flamed. Hear a man who knows because he has done it. Flame cultivation is destined to revolutionize farming methods.

Get information first hand. Remember — 7:30 p. m. Thursday night, February 2, 1961, at the County Court House, Clarendon, Texas.

Open Letter To Mr. Ike
Dear Citizen Ike,
We listened to your farewell talk on TV. Most everyone did. I am sure. We were impressed to the extent that we felt like writing you this letter.
Your sincere and honest approach to every issue has made each of us proud. True, the country seems pretty equally divided on political views, as the last election shows, but we are united in our appreciation for a life dedicated to faithful service for our country.

History may not record your time in the White House as sensational. You may not be written up as among the truly great. But we think your record is one of which we can all be proud. It has been a time of relative peace. We think that history might well call you the Man Who Sought Peace. Being a military man gave us some fears that your administration might be inclined toward wars. The opposite has been true. You have sought peace with a dedicated spirit.

Honesty in government seems to have prevailed to a great extent during these eight years. Even your political foes have not accused you of dishonesty of purpose. Those you have appointed to help have on the most part given an honest effort to their work. For instance, we have heard a lot of folks disagree with Mr. Benson, but few have called him dishonest in purpose.

You, and each member of your family have lived in such a way as to set a good example for all of us to follow. We have heard no whispers or gossip from anyone. This is a remarkable and outstanding thing.

So, to our candidate for the Man Who Sought Peace we send our thanks for an honest, sincere, dedicated, humble eight years of service.

Electing a president of our own choosing may become a privilege of the American citizen before another election rolls around. If the proposals of at least two leaders in the next congress are approved we will for the first time find ourselves picking the man we want to make the race, and then helping elect him by a majority of votes received.

Not only could the above come to pass in the next four years but we stand to even have runoff campaigns among the leading contenders. It seems that both political parties are more sympathetic toward a change in the whole election set-up than ever before in our history.

Television broadcasts of the conventions seem to have been one thing that brought the matter to a head. What had for all time been referred to as only behind the scenes politics suddenly became front room maneuvers. Many on both sides fear the public won't enjoy the fracas

It makes one rejoice to know that the politicians are beginning to trust us with our future—even to the point of letting the people decide what tomorrow holds for them....

Recently we attended the funeral of a lady who had died with one of our lingering diseases. The preacher had not known her, but quoted from friends and loved ones how that her life became such a blessing to others in the last months. After each trip to the hospital, when seemingly she would be improved, would turn to visiting those who were sick. Each day would be spent in doing things for others.

Those about her were given new hope because of her kindness. No doubt that new-found joys filled her heart as she turned from her own problems to that of those about her. As the end came, there seemed to be no fear or worry save for the concern of leaving those she dearly loved.

Cruel as the pangs of death may seem to us, especially as we see it coming slowly and certainly to some one we love, there can be a worse fate. To have our body weakened and destroyed by some incurable disease brings stark tragedy to our heart. The life of this kind person, and the message by the preacher made us realize that there could easily be a worse kind of eating away.

To have the cancer of hate get hold of our heart until we lose our love for those about us and our faith in our fellow man, can be even more tragic. The pangs of envy and jealousy not only can be cruel to those who love us, but can finally destroy our possibilities for happiness. The bitterness that grows from the cancer of hate causes even more lasting damage than that which strikes at our physical body.

LIBRARY NOTES

EDITH BARNES

A memorial fund has been given to the library dedicated to the memory of Mr. Grover Herndon. The Gambrell's "A Pictorial History of Texas," has been given in memory of Mr. Walter Lowe.

Six books have been given by library friends, four are fiction and one is non-fiction.

"The Peabody Sisters of Salem" is a must on the reading list of all who are interested in our schools and young people. There is much about Horace Mann and his ideas on education in it. In fact he was so far ahead of his time in what he believed and practiced that unfortunately we haven't caught up with him yet. He was married to one of the Peabody sisters, Mary.

It was Elizabeth Peabody, an untiring worker for most of her life for better and more schools, though that the following was written about: . . . "Miss Pea-for long. Our congratulations go to Senator Mansfield, the new majority leader to be, and the others who have taken the lead in proposing this worthwhile change. Even if the present method had merit to begin with, it has long since outlived the purpose. Perhaps there was a day when the average person knew little about Washington politics and cared less, but not so today. From our front room we both see and read more than enough to graduate us from amateurs.

GEORGE'S WIFE

By "Sarah"

We have just about finished setting things straight from the Christmas company, although if there is a place we have not looked into yet, we may find the little yellow wheels that came off of "this car Grandma," or some of the new fangled cut-outs we thought was scrap paper.

We even promised to scratch through the vacuum bag for lost items. All we found there was candy pills for the 'sick doll,' tinsel, crayons and a few of the cut-outs you couldn't tell from the other junk.

body advocated the teaching of music and dancing and art in the public schools! She went further, and suggested that really large sums of money be spent on schools. It is plain, that if we can spend millions of dollars a year for so questionable a purpose as the late war with Mexico, we have resources on which we might draw for public education." "The year was 1849, but let a century go by and Elizabeth would still be in advance of her time."

From the Sunday "Amarillo Daily News" is this quote: "Be ashamed to die until you have won some victory for humanity," said Horace Mann, who developed our great public school system. Over 100 years ago, he fought for better teaching and better-paid teachers. He proposed duty, affection, love of knowledge and truth as cornerstones of school discipline, rather than authority, force and fear. . . . He urged that students be taught to think! If he could see some of our schools today he would know that precious little progress had been made, that authority, force and fear are still cornerstones of discipline.

The December "Inside Books" told of William L. Shirer's "The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich," being in its fifth printing, although it has only been on the market since late October. It is making some kind of a record as in the first week of January it went into the seventh printing. You might as well get with the rest of the country and read it! In spite of its terrifying size it is mighty interesting reading.

The biggest surprise was the golf ball and a peacock feather in the silverware drawer. Peacocks are pretty scarce in these parts now days, since our Grandchildren have cousins who have peacocks we figured that out, but where the golf ball came from in this non-athletic family we have yet to discover. We have long since had to wash the windows which had many little hand prints as well as drawings and writing on them. If there was a way to preserve my kitchen window we would do so for the lonely days.

The reason we would do this is because the older ones will soon be in their teens, their Mother has already informed us that soon they will refuse to leave their friends and the fun at Christmas time to come to Grandma's house, and it will be so much easier for the two of us to come to their house for holidays.

We have ten thumbs on ten left hands when it comes to decorating or fixing things daint while both the young Mothers a beautiful job.

When the littlest ones admire the results of our feeble effort this Christmas we know it was not all in vain, and that we can look forward to them coming a few more years. But George thinks this month-long cleaning and fixing before the big day then another month of cleaning afterward is an awfully lot of trouble for such a short time. We reminded him, so it is with any thing worthwhile in this life.

AUSTIN, Tex. — Texas' 57th Legislature began on a note that's likely to continue for some time —difficulty over money. Many House members felt their colleagues had made an awkward start in an awkward situation when they voted themselves salary raises as the first item of business. House voted 97-to-45 to put into effect the $4,800 a year legislative salaries made possible when the people approved a constitutional amendment last November. Objectors were quick to point out that (1) the state general revenue fund was at that moment $85,249,951 in the red and (2) many lawmakers campaigned on an "economy in government" platform.

Rep. Raymond Bartram of New Braunfels said he felt the people would rather legislators take care of teacher salary raises and medical assistance for the aged before spending extra money on themselves. H. B. 1, the legislative salary and expense bill, would divert some $2,600,000 from the cigarette tax and drivers license funds. Money had to be "found," since the general revenue fund, as fast as it comes in, has to be used to pay the state's "hot checks." Down the road are even more fireworks as the legislature searches for $200,000,000-plus to take care of the wants of other state agencies and services. TURMAN SPEAKER — Farmers and teachers have one of their own in one of the most important state offices. Rep. James Turman of Gober was elected Speaker of the House by a vote of 83-to-66. Rep. Wade Spilman of McAllen, whose support was largely from conservative House members, was the losing candidate. Turman and his family operate a 103-acre farm in Fannin County. He is a former grade school teacher and worked his way to a doctor of philosophy degree in education. For a time he was assistant to the president of Texas Women's University at Denton. As Speaker, Turman's first big job is appointing House committees, due to go into action about January 23. By his selections, he can influence to a considerable degree how certain legislation will be handled. SENATOR ROBERTS HONORED — Sen. Ray Roberts of McKinney is president pro tempore of the Senate for the present session. His job, largely honorary, is to preside over the Senate in the absence of the lieutenant governor. Also, he is second in line of succession to the governorship. By tradition, during each president pro tem's term, the governor and lieutenant governor leave the state so the senate president can serve as "governor for a day." Senator Roberts, a World War II Naval hero, is a farmer and realtor. GRIST FOR THE MILL — Texas Legislative Council, an influential joint House-Senate study group, will offer a mass of proposals for new legislation. Among recommendations: 1. Some streamlining, but not a wholesale re-writing of the state constitution. This will be "a disappointment to groups working for steps toward a new constitutional convention. 2. Limitations on the annexation powers of cities and towns. 3. Increased facilities for juvenile guidance and care, including a home for dependent Negro children, facilities for mentally ill juveniles and regional training centers for delinquent youths. 4. Higher minimum coverage requirements for automobile insurance. Present minimum is $5,000. A raise to $10,000 or $20,000 was suggested. Another study group, a special Senate committee, recommends removal of some of the restrictions on investment of the permanent school fund. It suggests investments in corporate securities and real estate mortgages, guaranteed by the federal government. COLLEGE BID REJECTED — Commission on Higher Education does not favor making Del Mar College in Corpus Christi a senior college. Commission has agreed to study requests for senior college status and state support for Pan American College at Edinburg and San Angelo College. On Del Mar, the Commission will make its negative recommendation to the Legislature which will have the final say. In the past, the Legislature has approved more such requests than the Commission. NEW STATE BUILDING — Contracts have been awarded for construction of a second new State Office Building just north of the Capitol. It will be a four-story granite building with 147,205 square feet. Cost is to be $2,076,102. It will be known as State Office Building No. 2 and will house the Game and Fish Commission, State Courts Building and the Texas Employment Commission Building. Archives Building is to be finished soon, and a new Insurance Building is due to start this year. DECENTRALIZATION SET — State Game and Fish Commission has voted to set up a system of five regional and 20 district offices to improve operation of its field service. Reorganization plan was recommended by the Texas Research League, a privately financed organization to study operation of governmental agencies. Regional offices will be at Seabrook, Rockport, Tyler, San Angelo and Waco. District offices will be at Amarillo, Beaumont, Bryan, Houston, Victoria, San Antonio, Edinburg, Corpus Christi, Lubbock, El Paso, Wichita Falls, Midland, Fort Worth, Temple, Brownwood, Kerrville, Dallas, Texarkana, Palestine and Lufkin.

BRIDE-ELECT HONORED WITH SHOWER

Miss Wanda Elliott, bride-elect of Clarence (Dude) Cornell, was honored with a miscellaneous shower in the home of Mrs. Roy Blackman on Saturday, January 21.

Mrs. Blackman greeted the guests and presented them to Mrs. W. O. Elliott, the bride-elect's mother, to Miss Wanda Elliott and to Mrs. W. O. Elliott and to Mrs. Z. C. Cornell.

Those assisting Mrs. Blackman as hostesses for the occasion were: Mrs. Bob Head, Mrs. Lucy Noble, Mrs. Clyde Wilson, Mrs. Glen Adkins, Mrs. Billy Hill, Mrs. Granville McAnear, Mrs. Joe Ritter, Mrs. Price Webb, Mrs. Delmer Koontz, Mrs. D. R. Lindley, Mrs. Estell Foster, Mrs. Marva Lee Mays, and Mrs. Jiggs Mann.

The serving table was laid with a cloth of white linen and centered with a beautiful arrangement of red and white flowers, reflecting the bride-elect's chosen colors. Serving were Mrs. Carl M. Bennett, Mrs. Gene Long, Mrs. E. W. Tyler, Jr. and Mrs. L. P. Moore.

Mrs. Glen Reeves, sister of the bride-elect, served at the guest book where approximately seventy guests registered during the

Shopping for foods

A 14-day disaster supply

Little space needed

What foods would be best for a two-week stay in a fallout shelter after nuclear attack? What would they cost? How much storage space and weight would they involve?

To find the answers to these questions, food specialists of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization asked a Battle Creek, Mich., housewife, Mrs. Norman C. Madsen, to shop a supermarket using guidelines which they furnished her.

She was told to shop for a two-week supply for two persons, allowing for personal preferences, but keeping her selection roughly within recommended nutritional amounts for each type food. A $28 ceiling was put on her purchases.

Other instructions were to select foods which could be eaten either hot or cold, that were the least odorous or thirst-producing, and that came in cans small enough so that leftovers could be avoided.

Mrs. Madsen chose the foods shown in the table. When they were later weighed and measured, it was found that the 113 pounds of food could be stored in a space 21 inches wide, 13½ inches high, and 24 inches from front to back.

Junior College - A Wise Investment

Where can I send my son and daughter after high school? If not Alma Mater, what are the alternatives? Worried parents ask these questions as they watch the mounting tidal wave of students, which poses a serious threat to the capacities of our colleges and universities.

But questioning parents will be relieved to know that there is an answer to their problem. It comes from a perplexed father of five children, all under 16, who want to be: (1) a space scientist, (2) a U. N. linguist, (3) a herpetologist, (4) an FBI agent and (5) a motion picture actress.

"I'm staggered," the father says, "when I think of the cost of financing four years of college for each of them. I've decided to send the whole bunch to junior college so they can find out what they really want to be."

One of the original aims of junior colleges was to prepare students for advanced work at senior institutions. Many young people prefer to spend their freshman and sophomore years at a junior college near home and then transfer to a four-year institution for their junior and senior years.

There are good reasons. It is less expensive, it provides a natural bridge between high school and university, it gives an opportunity to evaluate their abilities and interests.

"Furthermore, as direct entrance to four-year colleges and universities becomes more difficult and attendance more expensive, there are good reasons why increasing numbers of students fully qualified for extended education beyond the high school should take advantage of the two-year programs offered in junior colleges near their homes."

"We are approaching the time when two years of colleges, either to develop a vocational skill or to prepare for further college education, will be as necessary and commonplace as is graduation from high school," says Dr. Arthur S. Adams, president of the American Council on Education, in the 1960 edition of American Junior Colleges.

NANCY HUFF GIVEN BETTY CROCKER AWARD

The 1961 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow for Clarendon high school is Nancy Huff.

Having received the highest score in a written examination on homemaking knowledge and attitudes taken by graduating seniors in her school, she becomes a candidate for the state Homemaker of Tomorrow award which will be announced in March.

Each school Homemaker of Tomorrow will receive an award pin, manufactured by Jostens and representing the slogan, "Home is Where the Heart Is." The examination papers of school Homemakers of Tomorrow will be entered in competition to name the state's Homemaker of Tomorrow.

The $110,000 homemaking education program sponsored by General Mills offers a $1,500 scholarship to the first ranking girl in each state and $500 scholarship to the state's second ranking participant.

State Homemakers of Tomorrow and their faculty advisors receive an expense-paid educational tour to New York City, Colonial Williamsburg, Va., and Washington, D. C., April 8-13, the trip culminating in the announcement of the All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow whose scholarship is increased to $5,000. Second, third and fourth ranking Homemakers of Tomorrow in the nation will have their scholarships raised to $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000, respectively.

The testing and judging is conducted by Science Research Associates of Chicago. With a record 402,786 girls in 12,633 of the nation's schools participating this year, the Betty Crocker Search has enrolled more than two million girls in its seven-year history.

SAFETY DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCES VACANCIES

The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety announced today 72 vacancies are available for qualified young men in the department's uniformed services.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr. said field service examinations will be given applicants at various locations over the state February 14, 15 and 16. He said application forms and full information can be obtained at any Texas Department of Public Safety field office, or by writing to department headquarters, P. O. Box 4087, Austin.

"This is an excellent opportunity for men between the ages of 21 and 35 to begin a career of service to the people of Texas with many personal benefits including job security, retirement system, annual vacations, sick leave and advancement opportunities," Garrison said.

"Successful applicants will undergo a strenuous but rewarding 16-weeks training period with pay at the Department's Law Enforcement Academy in Austin which will put them in top physical and mental condition for the job ahead."

"Upon completion of training, they will become commissioned officers and will be issued uniforms and other equipment. They will then be assigned to the field under the supervision of veteran officers."

Garrison said qualifications call for a high school education or the equivalent; height not under five feet, eight inches, nor over six feet, four inches; and weight not less than two pounds per inch of height nor more than three pounds per inch of height.

He urged prospective applicants to get their applications in early, noting that the deadline for receipt of completed forms is February 10, 1961.

Field service examinations will be held as follows:

February 14—Tyler, Beaumont, Harlingen, Midland, El Paso, Lubbock and Austin.

February 15—Dallas, Lufkin, Corpus Christi, Abilene, Amarillo and Waco.

February 16—Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio, San Angelo and Wichita Falls.

LEARNING FROM DR. SCHWEITZER

Incongruous as it may seem, a group of U.S. scholars are journeying to Equatorial Africa to study the philosophy of brotherhood and its value to our hopes for world peace. The group is visiting Dr. Albert Schweitzer at his missionary hospital at Lambarene, just south of the equator. The youthful scholars who are going to Africa at the invitation of Dr. Schweitzer are students of philosophy, religion and civic affairs from all parts of the U. S. They will hold a series of meetings with the world-famed Nobel Prize winner. The purpose of the visit is to clarify and publish English translations of Dr. Schweitzer's philosophy in an American "primer" that could well be a foundation for a type of thinking that is all too lacking in today's world.

The meetings are being sponsored by the U. S. headquarters of the Schweitzer Education Foundation which has appealed for all the aid possible to finance young students on the trip, plus financing hospital equipment and supplies that are the doctor's ever-present need. A hint of Dr. Schweitzer's fundamental philosophy which is particularly appropriate as the nation enters a critical New Year is revealed in one of his Sunday sermons: "There is a great river behind us (adjacent to Lambarene). In its upper reaches it is swift and tumultuous. There are turbulent currents and dangerous rapids. It is a savage stream. The further it flows, the broader and stronger and more tranquil it becomes."

"The Holy Spirit is like that. At first there is very little seen of its presence in the hearts of men. But little by little it grows stronger and men become filled with it." (From "The Africa of Dr. Schweitzer").

One can only wonder why there cannot be more Dr. Schweitzers in the world.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

BILLS IN THE HOPPER

The first days of the Congress always find a good number of measures being introduced. With 437 Members of the House of Representatives, if each Member introduced one bill and these bills were divided evenly among the legislative committees of the House, each committee would have approximately 22 measures upon which to hold hearings. If each hearing required 1 week for the presentation of testimony, 5 months would be required in this process alone. The fact is that there will be a good many more bills introduced in the House than 1 by each Member. During the last term of Congress 13,304 bills were introduced. In addition to this there were 647 resolutions, 808 joint resolutions and 747 concurrent resolutions — a total of 15,506 measures.

Some of the bills that I have introduced in the new Congress were introduced during previous Congresses. One bill that I have introduced each year that I have been in Washington was H. R. 153. It is a bill to increase the personal income tax exemption of a taxpayer from $600 to $1000. In previous measures I had proposed an increase in the exemption for a dependent from $600 to $800. However, the bill this year suggests that this exemption be $1000. In view of the number of dependents that I have had, some of the Members of Congress referred to this measure as a private bill for the benefit of Walter Rogers. However, each year that passes makes this argument less effective. Jean and I have one less dependent this year than last. Our oldest son, John, has graduated from college and is now an ensign in the U.S. Navy on a tour of duty on the West Coast. Since our 6 children are so close together in age, each year will see a lessening of dependents on our income tax form. I can certainly speak from experience when I say that a $600 exemption for a child is not realistic. Hence, I shall continue to press for passage of this measure.

I have introduced 2 bills designed to provide a solution to the dilemma faced by farmers in our area who desire to grow sugar beets. One of these measures, H. R. 148, would provide for an increase in the amount of sugar produced by domestic production. Under the present law, this production is limited to 55 per cent of domestic demand. My bill would increase this limitation from 55 per cent to 65 per cent. This would mean an increase in domestic quotas of approximately 900,000 tons of sugar. Translated to sugar beet acres, this would mean an additional production of approximately 360,000 acres. The other measure concerning the sugar law is H. R. 149, which is a bill to amend the Sugar Act of 1948 to provide that future increases in sugar quotas will be allocated to domestic beet producers in a manner which will assure new growers the fair share of such increase. If we are successful in obtaining passage of these 2 measures, the door will be opened for a fair and proper expansion of sugar beet production in our area.

I have also introduced a measure to provide for the appointment of an additional District Judge for the Northern District of Texas. Our present Federal Judges have been doing an outstanding job in handling the tremendous case load that has fallen upon them. The creation of additional judgeships is long overdue. Our own Judge Joe Dooley in Amarillo has done an almost impossible task in meeting the demands upon him. This burden must be relieved if proper dispatch of business in the judicial system is to be had in the proper protection of the rights of American citizens.

Two bills that I have introduced have to do with the perennial water problem. One of these is a bill to extend and expand the saline water conversion program to speed up development of practical means for the economical production of fresh water from sea or other saline waters. Success in this field would be the greatest contributions to peace in our time. The other bill relating to water has to do with the recognition of the authority of the States relating to the control, appropriation, use or distribution of water within their boundaries. As you know, streams are no respecters of State boundaries, and this has created some serious conflicts between Federal and State laws. My bill has to do primarily with the protection of States' Rights in the water field.

Two measures which I have introduced propose amendments to the Constitution. One of these is H. J. Res. 69 which proposes an amendment to the Constitution with respect to the admission of new States as sovereign States of the U.S. The proposal that a new State be admitted to the Union would require two-thirds of both Houses of Congress or an application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several States. Once such proposal is made as required, the admission of the proposed State would not be valid or effective until ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several States or by conventions in three-fourths thereof as may be required by the Congress. The other proposed amendment to the Constitution is contained in H. J. Res. 70. This proposal would authorize the Congress to limit the power of the Courts of the U.S. to determine that statutes of the U. S. or of any State are repugnant to the Constitution of the U. S. The exercise of the authority by Congress would require a two-thirds vote of each House of Congress. Few people realize the full extent of the power of the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court has the power to declare a statute of the U. S. or any State unconstitutional. Any effort by the U.S. Congress or by the legislature of any of the several States to rewrite the law could meet the same fate. Hence, the Supreme Court has the power to nullify the law on any subject. It is my feeling that this power is too absolute and that there should be, under procedural limitations, the right to appeal to the Congress of the U.S. which is made up of the duly-elected Representatives of the people.

Another joint resolution, to-wit, H. J. Res. 68, provides for an extensive study to be conducted as to ways and means of expanding and modernizing the Foreign Service activities of the U.S. Several of us feel that the representation of this country in foreign lands could be better accomplished if provision could be made to assist young people from many areas of this country, especially in the smaller towns, in entering the Foreign Service. In other words, we feel that a look behind the purple curtain that seems to enshroud our State Department would be good for this country not only at home but in many areas abroad.

RAINY DAY COVERAGE

Passengers riding the nation's leading commuter carrier, the Long Island Railroad, will be protected against a rainy day, at least as long as the umbrellas last.

The railroad said it has arranged to make umbrellas available to passengers; no charge, honor system for return. No charge to the carrier either, for they represent umbrellas accumulated in the railroad's lost and found department. They will be available at the Jamaica station platform where over half the road's 78,000 commuters change trains daily.

The new Secretary of Agriculture is Orville Freeman from Minnesota.

In an interview with Dick Seim of Farm Journal, Mr. Freeman made this statement: "As Secretary, I'm going to be selling Agriculture. Farmers have been subsidizing consumers, rather than the other way around. Our farmers have done a greater job of production than any other part of our society. Consumers in this country work less for their daily bread than do people anywhere in the world. One of my jobs will be to help people understand this."

New arrivals at Steward Clinic over the week end included:

Away-From-Home Jinx Scores Again

The Clarendon Bulldogs finished their mid-term examinations Friday, played one of their finest games of the season Friday night at home, and then motored to Wichita Falls Saturday to contest Midwestern University's "B" team in another non-conference game.

Coach Young reports that all of the boys participated in the contest and did a timely job yet losing by the narrow margin of 3 points with a score of 72 to 69.

All of the Bulldogs losses except one have been suffered on road trips and Coach Young is hoping that his conference game at Odessa Wednesday night of this week will be the date on which the Bulldogs will shake the jinx.

At Midwestern Saturday night, Bobby Lesley and John Alexander were high pointers with 20 and 18 respectively.

Coach Young reports another superb job done by John Tom Morrow by holding 11 rebounds and scoring 11 points, and it looks like after an average start that John Tom is blossoming into a regular.

DeBord and Alexander tied for the second spot defensively behind John Tom Morrow with 6 rebounds each, and this department is important to the Bulldogs since they lack height to break even with any other team in the conference.

FISHING IN MEXICO

Bill Todd and part of his usual crew and the addition of a new member, left last Thursday for Guaymas, Old Mexico for some deep sea fishing. Others making the trip are Doc Mann, Bert DeBord and Odell Osburn. Everyone can get ready for some very interesting fish stories.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Estlack visited with Jim McKee and son Craig and Mr. and Mrs. George McKee in San Antonio last Saturday afternoon.

CITY DADS HONOR FIREMEN WITH ANNUAL STEAK FEST

City officials honored the Clarendon Volunteer Fire Department with their annual steak dinner at Mutt's Cafe Tuesday night.

Fire Marshall, George L. Green made a report on fire losses in Clarendon for 1960. Losses paid by Insurance companies totaled 21,765.25 which was an increase of 11,496.70 over the 1959 losses. He stated that this figure should remind everyone to use every possible effort to prevent fires and help keep our insurance rates down. He pointed out that trash should not be burned in barrels or in alleys as each fire alarm costs the taxpayer money.

Officers for the department were elected as follows: Basil Smith, president; J. B. Melton, vice-president; Pete Darnell, sec.-treas.; Carl W. Bennett, Chief; Lloyd McCord, Asst. Chief; Clyde Price Jr., Hose Capt. No. 1; Mutt Graham, Hose Capt. No. 2.

The firemen expressed their appreciation to city officials for the fine dinner and Mr. and Mrs. Graham for the preparation of the meal.

Mrs. Herman Cross and Annette visited in Memphis Saturday with their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Lemons.
