U. S. Coal Industry Paralyzed By Strike

Ickes Bluntly Blames Lewis

Operators Flayed For Their Attitude

(By The Associated Press)

A WALKOUT by 500,000 miners paralyzed the nation's coal industry last night while a stormy word battle raged in Washington over the negotiations in the wage controversy:

1. Secretary Ickes, as fuel administrator, called the work stoppage a "strike against the government" and asked that John L. Lewis, their president, order the miners back to work. Ickes also accused a "few powerful operators" of deliberately opposing a compromise and demanded that both parties to the dispute do everything necessary to reach a speedy conclusion.

LEGISLATION SPEEDED

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—Spurred by the walkout of half a million coal miners, the House Military committee today sped stiff anti-strike legislation toward House debate.

After hearing spokesmen for five government agencies oppose the Smith-Connally bill, Chairman May (D-Ky) said the measure will be called up in the House tomorrow. At least two days of debate are expected.

Operators Ask Instructions

2. The operators made known that they had telegraphed the War Labor board that the United Mine Workers were "adamant in their demand for $2 a day, no more, no less," and had added that "the operators await further directions from the board."

3. Lewis replied that the operators' statement was "a flagrant misrepresentation of fact," and asserted the miners had proposed a temporary agreement providing for $1.50 a day portal to portal pay while a commission decided the actual length of underground travel time. He proposed to make the $1.50 payment retroactive to April 1.

The operators, Lewis said, objected both to the amount of money and the retroactive features. There were reports last night that the operators had offered to pay for 48 minutes travel time a day.

Lewis said Ickes had advanced the idea for a commission study of underground travel time with a temporary agreement meantime. He said Ickes had not suggested a specific amount of payment.

Bluntly, Ickes told Lewis that the miners' head could not escape

LOST IN ACTION—Granville Johnson, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Granville Johnson of 1601 Thirty-fourth street, is missing in action in the South Pacific, the Navy department advised the parents by telegram last night. Young Johnson, a naval flier, spent a few days leave at home early in May. He left San Francisco May 13 for foreign duty. Details of the mishap were not known here. The message said it was hoped the body could be recovered.

Ration Ordered On Canned Milk

One Red Point For Large Can Needed

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP) — Rationing of canned milk was ordered tonight by OPA, acting without warning to conserve diminishing supplies for babies.

No actual restrictions were placed upon the purchase of evaporated and condensed milk for adult use, but canned milk will take red coupons, and most adults are expected to save the coupons for meat, butter or cheese.

One Point Per Pound

The point value was placed at one per pound, which means that the common tall can, 14 1-2 ounces, will cost one point. The common small size, 6 ounces, will be two for a point. Since the minimum rationed purchase is one point, however, anyone who buys a single small can will still have to pay a full point.

The order was made effective at midnight tonight. OPA said it was issued at the request of the War Food administration because production of canned milk has fallen 25 per cent below expectations and because of huge Army, Navy and lend-lease requirements. Officials explained one reason for smaller production is a trend to divert milk into various manufactured products.

OPA said specifically that no extra points, beyond the standard 16 per person per week, will be made available to ordinary consumers for the purchase of canned milk, since babies are eligible for their own ration books, and generally parents have been buying meat for themselves with the baby's red coupons. This will still be possible for parents of breast-fed babies and infants drinking regular milk, and even

Challenge Made On Subsidy Plan

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP) — The House Banking committee directly challenged the administration's plan to use subsidies in rolling back the cost of living today as it approved unanimously a measure extending the life of the Commodity Credit corporation for two years.

Climax of a bitter congressional protest against the subsidy program, the committee wrote into the measure an amendment "to prevent the funds of the Commodity Credit corporation or any other government agency from being used for the payment of subsidies to maintain maximum prices" on agriculture products.

Subsidy On Butter

The action came as the Office of Price administration put into effect a 5 cents a pound subsidy on butter at the manufacturing level, scheduled to be reflected in retail prices in about 10 days. OPA also is planning orders designed to "roll back" the prices of meat and coffee by about 10 per cent.

Funds for these subsidies are coming from the Reconstruction Finance Corp., under legislation authorizing such payments to encourage production.

The no-subsidy amendment was part of a triple blow dealt the Commodity Credit corporation's program. In approving the measure, the committee:

1. Increased the CCC's borrowing authority by $500,000,000. The agency had sought $1,000,000,000.

Extension Limited

2. Limited the extension to two years. The agency had sought a new lease of life for four years, or for two years beyond the end of the war, whichever is the shorter.

3. Added an amendment authorizing the War Food administrator to modify maximum prices on any agricultural commodity if necessary to "secure an adequate production of such commodity for

Tax Plan Given House Approval

Senate's Passage Believed Certain

By FRANCIS M. LEMAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 1 — Pay-as-you-go for America's 44,000,000 individual income taxpayers became virtually certain today, as the House passed and sped to the Senate a compromise measure providing 75 to 100 per cent abatement of one year's taxes and imposing a 20 per cent withholding levy against the taxable portion of wages and salaries, effective July 1.

Quick passage was expected in the Senate, and administration leaders said President Roosevelt would let it become law.

Bitter Party Battle

The 256 to 114 House vote relegated to history the biggest party legislative battle of recent years, in which House Republicans supported and Democrats opposed various versions of the Ruml plan to skip an entire income tax year. The bill received the votes of 89 Democrats and 167 Republicans, while 99 Democrats, 12 Republicans and three minor party members oppose it.

Today's action was on a compromise, devised after legislative machinery fell into a four-months' stalemate on the Ruml issue. Rep. Knutson (R-Minn) described the compromise as "75 per cent of the Ruml plan."

The bill provides:

1. 100 per cent abatement for each taxpayer owing up to $50 in taxes for the one year, 1942 or 1943, in which he had the smaller taxable income.

Between $50 and $66.67

2. A flat $50 abatement for each person whose abatement year (1942 or 1943) tax bill is between $50 and $66.67.

3. An abatement of 75 per cent for all persons with an abatement year bill over $66.67 with the remaining 25 per cent to be paid half on March 15, 1944 and half on March 15, 1945, in addition to current taxes. (Persons in the $50 to $66.67 classification also would pay off their small remaining debt in two such installments.)

The most immediate effect of the measure will be the withholding levy, under which, one month

Shipyards Set Amazing Mark

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP) — Merchant shipyards of the United States delivered 175 vessels aggregating 1,728,000 deadweight tons in May, a new record.

The ships included fifteen 16,000-ton tankers and 120 Liberty ships, the Maritime commission said in announcing the total today.

Rear Admiral Howard L. Vickery told a press conference that production now has reached a rate of approximately 20,000,000 tons annually, more than 1,000,000 tons above the 1943 production goal.

These are deadweight tonnage figures, which the commission regards as the most accurate of the several methods of giving a ship's size. Roughly, a ship will carry cargo equivalent to its deadweight tonnage.

Dry Cargo Increases

Vickery reported that the dry cargo merchant fleet of the United Nations has increased each month since August, and now exceeds the tonnage at the outbreak of the war.

He added, however, that the United Nations tanker fleet is not as large as at the start of the war; but in recent months has gained consistently.

To provide greater tanker tonnage to carry petroleum products to the world's war theaters, Vickery disclosed, about 100 Liberty ships, the mass production cargo carried, will be made into tankers.

The Liberty tankers will be built by the Delta company of New Orleans and California Shipbuilding company, Wilmington, Calif.

Rumors From Attu Quieted; No Women Soldiers Located

MASSACRE BAY, Attu Island, May 23 (Delayed) (AP)— Just to settle some rumors which already are rife on this island and doubtless will be equally common in the states as soon as some ships from Attu get back home. To wit:

Americans haven't found any indication that there are any Japanese women on Attu.

They haven't found any women soldiers.

They haven't found any geisha girls.

If there are any women with the Japanese they must be in the still uncaptured isolated spots and there is no evidence they even are there.

True: Among Japanese effects have been found lots of silk (soldiers frequently carry silk handkerchiefs, sometimes decorated with pornographic drawings.)

Also true: They frequently have small dolls among their effects (they apparently are souvenirs or reminders of Japanese children at home.)

Also true: There are numbers of powder puffs (Japanese officers use them to apply aftershaving powder.

In short, American officers have been making a serious effort to find out if Japanese military plans involve the importation of women and especially to learn the fate of native Aleut women who were captured when the enemy took this island. Both queries to date are unanswered.

Severely Wounded Germany Appears Reluctant To Risk Summer Drive Against Reds

By E. C. DANIEL
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 1—A growing feeling was evident today that Germany, suffering from such wounds as those of Stalingrad and Tunisia, is reluctant to risk a new summer offensive in Russia while the British-American threat is poised.

That feeling was supported by the inferential acknowledgement of a Nazi commentator that Hitler had lost the initiative, but there was some suspicion that German propaganda might be at work in all this. As the London Star put it, Stalin himself "believes that the enemy plans yet one more grand assault upon the Red Army. We in the west would be wise to take the same line and to remember that Hitler may still be strong enough to strike back at us."

Variety Of Reports

With this qualification, a variety of reports and circumstances suggested timidity and uncertainty among the German leaders:

Advices from creditable sources were that Rumania and Hungary —the Axis satellites who have been estimated by Prime Minister Churchill to have at present 28 divisions on the Russian front —were stubbornly resisting further participation in the Russian campaign.

The statement over the Berlin radio of Lieutenant General Kurt Dietmar, the leading Nazi military commentator, that "those who must attack are our opponents and not ourselves."

The emerging fact — conceded during the day by a high Spanish official presumably friendly to the Axis—that Axis submarines had failed to halt that Allied sea traffic which would be essential to European invasion.

Victory Over "Intuition"

Both through Dietmar and the neutral press the Germans were presented as an Army standing on the defensive through 1943, and observers here concluded that if a decision really had been made not to attempt a grand assault upon Russia this year it was a

Lae Is Heavily Battered Again

Five Jap Fighters Downed In Foray

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Wednesday, June 2 (AP)—Liberators dropped 36 tons of bombs on Lae yesterday, duplicating the tonnage hurled on that New Guinea Huon Gulf base the day before, the high command announced.

Above Lae on the Huon peninsula at Finschhafen, a Flying Fortress shot down five and possibly six of 16 Japanese fighters which attacked the big four-engined bomber.

100 Tons In Week

Lae, which has a big airdrome, now has taken 100 tons of bombs within less than a week. Twenty-eight tons of bombs were dropped on it in a raid last Thursday.

Lae is only 20 miles above Salamaua toward which Allied ground troops have been infiltrating from the south to positions within less than 15 miles of the latter town.

Such weights of bombs, although small in comparison with those dropped on German cities, in realty are immense ones for the southwest Pacific sector where the targets attacked are little more than villages.

In addition to the three raids on Lae, Allied planes over the past week-end dropped 13 tons of bombs on its feeder base, Wewak, to the northwest.

Madang Area Strafed

At Madang, another supply base for Lae between it and Wewak, long range fighters strafed the coastal area, today's communique reported.

In the fight of the Flying Fortress with the swarm of Zeros over Finschhafen, three members of the Fortress crew were wounded and the bomber itself badly damaged but it got back to base after forcing the remaining Zeros to flee.

In the sector northwest of Australia, a single four-engined bomber made the long flight of more than 1,000 miles to bomb the airdrome at Kendari, Dutch Celebes.

Seven Jap Ships Sunk By U. S. Submarines

Chinese Batter Retreating Japs

Sweeping Forward On 300-Mile Front

By SPENCER MOOSA
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHUNGKING, China, June 1. —The Chinese, expanding one of their greatest victories of the war, were thrusting forward tonight over a great central China front, enveloping Japanese troops falling back in north Hunan province and annihilating a Japanese regiment and additional mixed cavalry and engineering forces which had sought to cover the enemy's retreat in southern Hupeh province.

The invader, suffering as well from extraordinarily powerful Allied air action which was officially declared to have driven him from the sky over the Hunan-Hupeh frontier region, was being thrust back generally along a 300-mile arc running from the Tungting lake region of northern Hunan westward around the main Japanese base at Ichang and then northeastward to the Hupeh-Honon border area.

Five Divisions Erased

Southwest of Ichang, five Japanese division earlier had been declared "completely routed"—fatally encircled and erased as a military force.

Following up this initial major triumph, a communique of the Chinese command announced:

"In southern Hupeh, the enemy's 116th regiment and a portion of the mixed cavalry and engineering units covering the retreat of the 13th (Japanese) division were surrounded by our forces at Lishutang, six miles east of Yuyangkwan, and completely annihilated. The Chinese troops captured an immense quantity of war supplies."

It was added that enemy remnants had been "thoroughly mopped up" west of Ichang and that the Japanese there were "facing further encircling assaults."

Jap Troops Surrounded

"In north Hunan, Japanese troops who retreated toward Wagchichang have been surrounded and the battle of annihilation is proceeding."

The Chinese-Allied (American) air forces were said by Chiang Kai-Shek's command to have been in strong, unending action along the Hupeh-Hunan border, having "inflicted immense damage on the enemy."

Jap Attacks On Coast Revealed

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP) — Reports on three isolated Japanese attacks on the west coast—two reputedly by planes operating from submarines and one by submarine shelling of an Oregon forest—were disclosed today to have been given to a Senate Appropriations sub-committee by forest service officials.

Lyle F. Watts, chief of the forest service, told the committee at a recent executive session that what was believed to have been a bomb droppd by a Japanese plane started a small fire in southern Oregon which was quickly extinguished.

Two Different Planes

His testimony followed an assertion by Senator Holman (R-Ore) that "two different airplanes" had flown over the Coos county area of Oregon and "in Curry county they dropped incendiary bombs," which did not function." Both counties are in southern Oregon. The date of the alleged attack was not disclosed.

Earl W. Loeridge, assistant chief, who testified with Watts, declared:

"There were three Jap attacks on the west coast, two of them over the national forests. Planes apparently took off from subma-

Foggia Battered For Third Time

Assaults Continue On Island Outposts

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, June 1—Italy's Foggia airdrome, where Mayor La Guardia of New York and other well-known Americans trained in the last war, was given its third heavy pounding in four days yesterday by American Flying Fortresses. Other U. S. bombers continued their terrific assault on the island outpost of Sardinia and Pantelleria.

"It was just like Sunday afternoon at Ebbets Field when the Bums take on the Giants," said Tech. Sgt. John G. Garone, a Fortress gunner from Brooklyn, in describing the Foggia raid and the ensuing battle between the bombers and enemy interceptors. "We peppred bombs all over the place."

Bombers Unescorted

Flying unescorted to the aviation and railway center, 80 miles northeast of Naples and on the far side of the Italian peninsula, the Fortresses blanketed the airdrome with bombs.

"Large numbers of enemy aircraft were destroyed on the ground," an official announcement said, although it gave no exact figure in keeping with the air command's new policy. Photographs showed that two hangars and barracks were damaged severely.

The Fortresses also blasted rail-

Nazi Blows Beaten Back In Caucasus

LONDON, Wednesday, June 2 (AP)—Thrusts by air, artillery, and ground troops sparked action on the Russian front Tuesday, bringing death to nearly 1,000 Germans, the Soviet midnight communique reported today, while a news broadcast told of sharp engagements in the Caucasus in which Nazis counterattacks were beaten back.

The communique, recorded by the Soviet monitor, said simply that "fighting continues" northeast of Novorossisk in the Caucasus, but a Tass agency broadcast declared that several charges by German infantry and tommy-gunners were smashed there with "heavy losses" to the enemy.

Fierce fighting still was flaring at the German Kuban foothold.

One Destroyer Is Among Toll

Fighting On Attu Nearing Clean-Up

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 1. — Destruction of seven Japanese ships by American submarines, striking vigorously at the enemy's supply lines, was announced by the Navy today as land fighting on Attu moved toward a final cleanup of the remaining scattered pockets of enemy resistance.

A communique on the waning battle of Attu disclosed that more than 400 Japanese were killed in a single night's fighting. This clean-up in the Chichagof harbor section apparently left only weak, comparatively minute groups of enemy soldiers to be cleared out of the northeastern end of the North Pacific island, around Cap Khlebnikof, to make the conquest of the island complete.

Total Now At 240

A second war bulletin reported on submarine operations, announcing a destroyer sunk and the following auxiliary vessels also destroyed: One large tanker, one large cargo ship, two medium sized cargo ships, one small cargo ship and one medium sized transport. In addition a large tanker was listed as damaged and probably sunk.

These successful submarine actions raised to 240 the number of Japanese ships sunk or damaged by American underseacraft in the war to date. The total consists of 169 ships sunk, 27 probably sunk and 44 damaged.

Naval men here consider the submarine campaign against enemy supply lines to have the closest relationship with the island fighting such as that which has been in progress on Attu since three weeks ago today. They emphasize that the enemy's steadily weakening maritime strength directly controls his ability to maintain farflung island outposts while on the other hand the American assaults on such places as Attu tax his overseas supplies facilities to the limit.

Columns Joined

A Navy communique reported that three separate columns of American soldiers had joined forces on the shores of Chichagof harbor, thereby apparently consolidating the American hold on

RAF Scores 5-1 Victory In Raids

LONDON, June 1. (AP) —British light bombers and fighters carried the Allied air offensive to western Europe today after the RAF's heavyweights had remained inactive for two nights following their busiest week of the war and American heavy bombers were kept at their British bases for the third consecutive day.

The planes scuttled over the channel, attacking enemy shipping in coastal waters and railway targets in northern France, and scoring a five-to-one victory over enemy fighter craft.

Typhoon bombers, escorted by fighters, damaged five small enemy supply ships in an attack off the coast of Holland in the forenoon.

Squadrons of fighters shot up railway installations in northern France in afternoon operations. The fighter pilots shot down two Focke-Wulf 190's and three Messerschmitt 109's during the daylight sweeps and lost only one of their own planes.

Five Nazi Raiders Downed

Germany's dwindling air forces again made light jabs at the southeastern and southern coastal regions of England this afternoon but paid a high price for the attempts. British fighters knocked down five of 12 Focke-Wulf fighter-bombers and two more probably were destroyed by anti-aircraft fire.

Two enemy planes dropped bombs in London's suburbs shortly after Monday midnight, giving the capital its first raid alarm in a week, after British medium bombers and fighters had blasted enemy installations at several points in northern France and the low countries.

Four persons were killed and three injured when the London raiders hit a suburban shelter with a bomb and six others were reported killed in another suburb.

An air ministry spokesman declared in a BBC broadcast to Europe meanwhile that 16 per cent of all German planes raiding Britain since last Jan. 1 have been destroyed.

OPA Needs Magicians To Aid In Sending New Ration Book

DALLAS, June 1 (AP)—Instructions on the application for ration book 3 (or didn't you notice?) read "two cents if mailed in Dallas, elsewhere three cents."

One applicant noticed. He addressed his card to OPA mailing center, Elsewhere, Texas—and attached a three-cent stamp.

Volunteers handling applications from Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana estimated that half the applications were improperly filled out. Many, for example, were unsigned.

There were many duplications —one applicant sent in his name seven times. Supervisors in charge of the work emphasized that there would be only one book per person.

A Houstonian, apparently helping a friend with his application, wrote: "This man lost book one, reported same, got none."

Where the instructions stated, "last name first," one applicant wrote his surname backwards.

The workers said they would try to see that every applicant gets his ration book. But they looked a mite doubtful.

THOUGHTS FOR WARTIME

"Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same things, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment."—By the Apostle Paul, in First Corinthians Chapter 1, verse 10.

Aid Now Reaching Embattled Chinese

By GLENN BABB
Associated Press Staff Writer

China has won an important victory for the United Nations in turning back the Japanese drive along the upper Yangtze river. The most heartening feature of this operation is the proof it affords that China no longer is fighting alone. Her Allies, especially the United States, are now able to bring help directly to bear on a critical battlefield.

Major credit for the blunting of the enemy spearheads which were thrusting westward through Hupeh province in the direction of Chungking must go to Chiang Kai-Shek's own armies. But there is no doubt that the appearance of American fighters and heavy bombers over the battlefield had three highly important results. The Americans wrought heavy damage to the enemy's supply routes, they denied him the advantage of air superiority and they did more than anything else could have done to revive the fighting spirit of the weary Chinese armies.

GLENN BABB

Japs' Knockout Plan

Japan's chief hope in this stage of the war has been that she might be able to end Free China's resistance before Allied help—which for some months must be represented almost entirely by American air power—could arrive in truly effective quantities. The enemy setback in Hupeh may mean that already it is too late to take advantage of this opportunity.

The strengthening of the 14th United States Air force, General Chennault's command in China, has been in progress for some months, probably having begun soon after the Casablanca conference. The war council recently concluded in Washington undoubtedly approved continuation of this reinforcement, perhaps at an accelerated pace.

This prospect, coupled with the Chinese success around Ichang, gives basis for the hope that Free China will be able to keep her banners flying through the summer and well into the seventh year of her fight against Japan. In the fall the Allies should be able to do something about opening the Burma back door, unless many signs attending the Washington meeting were misleading. General Stilwell, who has just paused briefly in London on his way back to China, probably is the bearer of good news for Generalissimo Chiang.

Dealt Heavy Air-Blow

There is every indication that the American fliers have pretty well torn away the air umbrella from the enemy's principal upper Yangtze bases in four days of raiding which reached a climax Monday, when, a Chungking communique announced, Allied—obviously American — and Chinese planes knocked 31 enemy craft out of action. To the Americans were credited 20 certain victories and five "probables." The Japanese air force is learning in the skies over China what its pilots already had found out over the southwest Pacific, that against the heavily gunned and armored big American bombers—Liberators in the China theater—the Zero's speed and maneuverability are of little avail. Earlier estimates put Japanese air strength in the Ichang area at 200 planes, and the last few days certainly have put a big dent in that total. Last night's Chungking communique commented that "the enemy's air strength thus has been greatly reduced and his planes practically made no appearance today."

Sales Of Wheat For Feed Discontinued

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP) — The Commodity Credit corporation will discontinue sales of wheat for feed after today except in emergency situations, the War Food administration announced.

Congress authorized the corporation to sell 225,000,000 bushels during the current fiscal year ending June 30.

Today's announcement said that practically the entire amount has been sold and that the remainder is being held for emergency use, particularly in the flood area and along the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

Navy Mothers Club To Sponsor Benefit Party

Mrs. A. C. Sanders, chairman, said plans for a benefit bridge and forty-two party to be sponsored by the South Plains Navy Mothers club Friday afternoon to raise funds for the "Honor Roll" of men in the armed forces had been completed.

The party will be conducted from 3 to 5 o'clock in the Hilton hotel. Admission will be 50 cents. Reservations may be made by telephoning Mrs. A. P. Spence, No. 6585, or Mrs. Leete Jackson, 6442, members of the ticket sales committee.

The "Honor Roll" sign, which is being constructed south of the courthouse, is nearing completion.

Approximately $50 has been contributed since an appeal was made last week for funds needed to complete financing the project. An additional $250 is needed. Donations may be made by telephoning Mrs. Sanders.

Names of Lubbock county men serving in all branches of the armed forces are to be listed on the sign.

ROTC Students Ordered To Duty

Because of abandonment of the ROTC camp during the summer following the junior year in college, ROTC students who have completed four years of training, at Texas Technological college and other schools, are not to be commissioned on graduation this year.

They will be ordered immediately to officers' candidate school for preliminary training and their commissions will be granted them on completion of this school.

Students Are Listed

The following ROTC students of Texas Tech who have completed the second year advanced training have been ordered to active service for such training immediately:

Several Openings For Pre-Flight Students

There still are several openings for the course in pre-flight aeronautics for which registration will be conducted today at Texas Technological college, said Robert L. Mason, who will teach the course.

The first class session will be conducted Thursday. Persons wishing to enroll may see Mason in room 107 of the engineering building.

The course will be sponsored by the federal government and will be tuition free to a limited number of teachers, either men or women. It will be offered according to an outline prepared by the Civil Aeronautics administration for teachers of pre-flight aeronautics in high schools.

Subjects will be practical air navigation, meteorology, civil air regulations, aircraft engines, theory of flight and general service and operation of aircraft. Sixty-four classroom hours of instruction will be offered from Thursday through June 30.

The government will pay tuition of 15 teachers who expect to teach pre-flight aeronautics next fall. Others may enroll by paying their tuition.

Before the war only one out of five Australians was employed in industry.

Rail Movement For Gasoline Is Approved

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP) — To alleviate the critical shortage condition in the East, Secretary Ickes authorized railroad movement to the East coast of gasoline delivered to West Virginia and western Pennsylvania river points by barge from the Southwest.

"This means that the gasoline so transhipped will be directed to the areas of greatest shortage," Ickes said in his capacity as petroleum administrator.

"We had previously permitted such barge deliveries for transshipment only by pipe lines, as our tank cars were more urgently needed in other services, including the movement of fuel oil. The relative urgency of these other services has changed with changing conditions."

Arnold Says Bombs To End War Soon

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 1. (U.P.)—Gen. Henry H. Arnold said today the Allies are going to end the war—"and end it soon"—by bombing military objectives with every airplane they can muster.

"By such operations we will end it quicker, we will cut down the casualties, we will in the end save hundreds of thousands of lives," the commanding general of the Army Air forces told the graduating class at the U. S. Military academy.

Time Said Only Question

Remarking that the production of material and training of men in the last 18 months has been "staggering," Arnold said he believed that "we are now ready for a decive year." The question no longer is who will win the war, he said, but how it will be won and how long it will take.

Arnold said as many airplanes are manufactured in the United States in 150 days now, as were built in the 36 years before the war.

He reminded his audience that it was the Germans, Italians and Japanese who started the bombing of cities, at a time when they thought they had the world licked.

Axis Morale Cracking

He said bombs for the Axis would be aimed at military objectives by airmen who had demonstrated their accuracy, though there would be "shorts" and "overs."

"Our plans call for bombing to destruction their factories, their transportation and communication systems, their U-boat yards, the industries making their critical items—and they don't like it. They can't take such terrifying destructive day and night hammering. They are crying for us to stop—their morale is already beginning to crack.

Describes Modern War

"But we are going to end it and end it soon—by bombing military objectives consistently and with the maximum destructive power we possess."

Arnold described the tremendous speeds and distances of modern warfare. Supply lines are measured in thousands instead of hundreds of miles—from San Francisco to Australia and from New York to Calcutta. Arnold himself in the past several months has been in Alaska, the Solomons, New Guinea, India, China, Egypt, North Afria and England.

Seven Pointers For Filling Out Ration Books Are Stressed

Applicants for war ration book No. 3 should observe seven points in filling out the application card for the book, the OPA suggested Tuesday, the first day of the mailing period for the applications.

They are:

Print or type your name and return address so that it is easy to read.

List names and birth dates of all members of family unit on same application.

Sign the application in your own handwriting.

Tear off identification stub and keep it carefully. It is your receipt.

Add correct postage.

Check each item carefully for mistakes.

Mail application before June 10.

Lions Hear 3 Former Presidents In Talks

Capt. W. B. Irvin, Capt. W. H. (Bill) Evans, and Judge E. L. Pitts divided time Tuesday on the luncheon hour of the weekly Lions club program at Hilton hotel. All three visitors are former presidents of the club. Irvin is at Dallas, Evans at Pampa, and Pitts at Amarillo.

All three men praised the U. S. Army and the Lions club, each for what it has done, is doing, and will do for a better world. Capt. Irvin has directing charge of the educational programs in Army camps throughout the Eighth Service command, including five states. Capt. Evans said he is extremely proud of the Army, and he has the utmost confidence in its high command and in the ultimate outcome of the nation's welfare and its place in a post-war world.

Judge Pitts made a brief talk in which he expressed enthusiasm and surprise at the continued growth of the Lions club in Lubbock, and said he has no doubt of its continuing record of service for the benefit of all the Lubbock area.

Officers of the club will be elected at the luncheon meeting June 8.

Tom French Wins Ring At Shrine

Khiva Shrine Temple's spring ceremonial diamond ring was won by Tom French, a Lubbock business man, after one of the largest classes of initiates in the temple's history — 171 members —had "crossed the burning sands" Monday at Amarillo.

French, who had four opponents in the ring race, was an easy winner. He campaigned actively, making speeches — including one radio address — and passed out handbills.

The ceremonial, held in Amarillo's municipal auditorium, attracted several hundred shriners from over the Panhandle-Plains territory and official visitors representing temples in Wichita Falls, Dallas, Fort Worth and El Paso were on hand. Bill Gilstrap, Amarillo utilities executive, is potentate of Khiva.

Push War Bond Purchases

Membership of the temple, which has jurisdiction over 40 Northwest Texas counties, announced the purchase of slightly less than $3,000,000 in war bonds during 1943 thus far and set as their goal "seven million by September."

Among those initiated were:

W. M. Ryan, Burl Ham, Robert Mears, Thomas W. Cadenhead, L. G. Harmon, John Hobgood, Tom French, John M. Goldwater, H. L. Hayes, jr., and Don Mitchell, all of Lubbock; Lee Copeland, Fletcher B. THIS SIGN MEANS DEPENDABLE WARTIME SERVICE

DODGE Dependable SERVICE PLYMOUTH

You—as a Dodge owner—may well feel a sense of personal satisfaction when you see this Dependable Service sign.

For this sign marks the home of your Dodge vehicle. It identifies Dodge dealers whose chief concern, these wartime days, is to make sure that your Dodge car or truck gives you a maximum of the fine, economical and dependable performance built into it.

Your Dodge dealer has a genuine interest in your Dodge cars or trucks. His experience, his trained personnel, his modern, time-saving equipment—all are devoted to keeping your Dodge "on the job" for the duration.

HERE'S WHY YOUR DODGE DEALER CAN GIVE YOU BEST WARTIME SERVICE

TRAINED, EXPERIENCED MECHANICS
Your Dodge dealer has mechanics trained in time-saving methods of precision workmanship. These mechanics know Dodge—they are thoroughly experienced in the proper maintenance of Dodge products.
You know that when your car or truck is at top operating efficiency, it saves gas, saves oil, saves tires, and lasts longer. And your Dodge dealer is best qualified to keep it at top efficiency for the duration.

FACTORY-ENGINEERED DODGE PARTS
Your Dodge dealer is also in an excellent position to supply factory-engineered and inspected parts for replacements your car or truck may require.
Today, more than ever, if you need parts, be sure to get parts built in the dependable Dodge way, by Dodge craftsmen trained in precision methods.

SPECIAL TOOLS AND EQUIPMENT
You can depend, too, upon better, quicker, more economical service from your Dodge dealer, because of the time-saving Dodge tools and equipment he uses.
When you consider all these factors—personal interest, factory-engineered parts, trained mechanics, and special tools and equipment . . . there can be but one conclusion: for the best wartime service—SEE YOUR DODGE DEALER!

DODGE IN WAR, IN PEACE . . . ALWAYS DEPENDABLE

1943 VACATIONS

IF WE listen to Uncle Sam's advice this year, we are going to take REAL vacations. We mean by that that short trips will be taken; that we won't wear ourselves out going from Lubbock to California or Lubbock to Florida on a two-week vacation. Sticking close to home we may find time for a little rest and relaxation.

We go, we stay and we come home. Simple, isn't it?

Vacationing at home can be patriotic, fun and restful, too. That is if you plug up the telephone, let the door bell ring and really set out to relax and enjoy your vacation.

We've known families who went on barbecues and picnics, invited in friends they had not seen for months, caught up on their reading and enjoyed the sun and fresh air without getting more than 10 miles from home.

Whatever we do, we should rest as much as possible for the coming winter months will make more demands than ever on our energy and vitality.

UNJUST ACCUSATIONS

THERE is a type of woman who because her son or husband is in uniform, starts looking around with a critical eye at all the other young men in town and begins to wonder out loud why they aren't in the service.

Since the war has touched her home she can't stand to see other homes still intact. Once her man is in, every other man who isn't is a slacker in her eyes and she does her best to make others appear slackers to everyone she knows.

There are some young women who even say "slacker" when they pass a man in civilian dress.

That is a vicious attitude and it does more than harm the individuals such a person picks on. If it should become widespread enough it actually could hamper the war effort.

FOR INSTANCE, the writer talked not long ago with a young man whose classification is 4-F because his eyes are in such bad condition. His father had begged him to come work on his farm since almost all of the hired help had gone. The young man admitted it would be an opportunity to do some needed work and stay out in the open but he said he wasn't about to take his father up on his invitation because of what the people would say in the nearby small town.

If every young man in America had that attitude, some of our fighting men might go hungry. They depend on civilians for their food and ammunition.

Just because the man in your family—or the men in your family—are in uniform does not mean that every man should wear one. And those who spread "yellow" gossip about the men are doing the accusers, their country and themselves an injustice.

Mary Lou Scoggin And Henry Lawson Are To Marry; News Is Revealed At Tea

At a tea given late Euesday afternoon at her home, Mrs. A. L. Scoggin announced the approaching marriage of her daughter, Mary Lou, to Naval Aviation Cadet Henry Neil Lawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Lawson of this city. Guests called between 6 and 8 o'clock.

In the receiving line were Mrs. J. Ray Dickey, Mrs. Scoggin, the honoree, Mrs. Lawson, mother of the bridegroom-elect, Miss Merle Scoggin and Mrs. A. P. Horn.

The tea table was centered with three arrangements of roses and white tapers flanked with masses of violets. Extending from the floral arrangements were streamers which bore the names of the bethrothed couple. A wedding date has not been set, pending Cadet Lawson's graduation from the Naval training station at Corpus Christi.

Mesdames Ethel Terrell and E. F. Alford presided at the table. They were assisted in serving by Mrs. Robert R. Goble and Misses Marjorie May and Bettye Cardwell.

Others in the house party were Mesdames Joe Baldridge, J. P. Watson, Bill Wood, W. M. Cauley, Mack Scoggin and Edward Tonn.

Texas Women Make Up Marine Platoon

EL PASO, June 1.—istrict U. S. Marine recruiting headquarters in El Paso Monday opened a drive to enlist volunteers for a "Texas Rangerette Platoon," made up entirely of Texas women, in the Marine Corps Women's reserve.

Announcement of the state-wide campaign to recruit the Rangerette Platoon came shortly after Governor Coke Stephenson had issued a proclamation in Austin officially declaring May 30 to June 30 as "Free A Marine To Fight Month."

Lt. Clare Frederick, of the women's reserve, directing officer of the drive, said the platoon would be sworn in at an impressive mass ceremony in Dallas. The Texas unit then will be transferred to either Smith or Hunter College for basic training.

West Texas applicants may apply for enlistment in the Rangerette Platooon at Marine district headquarters, 905 Mills Bldg., El Paso.

Air Control Said National Problem

DALLAS, June 1. (AP) — Air transportation is a national problem which requires a single national regulation, Oswald Ryan, a member of the Civil Aeronautics board, said here today.

In a speech prepared for delivery before business and professional groups Ryan declared:

"I predict that if this new transportation is to be subjected to varying regulations of 49 different governments, we shall not be able to achieve that development in the future which this war has proved to be so essential to our national security."

Millions In Training

He declared that the war—a vast laboratory from which peacetime commercial aviation will benefit tremendously—will make millions of trained men and women available to aviation, greatly expand facilities and educate Americans to the advantages of air transport.

A matter of vital concern in this expansion, he added, is whether development shall come under the regulatory control of both federal and state governments.

"I would rather see the question settled not upon the basis of legalism and controversy over constitutional doctrine. I would rather see it settled on the simple basis of what is best for the people of the state and nation."

National Rather Than Local

He said a study of the facts show that from its very beginning air transportation has been national rather than local in character, adding:

"By reason of its great speed and mobility and the fact that it was not limited by mountain barriers or the barriers of oceans the airplane was never limited to local operation. There are probably not more than five states in the union today which cannot be traversed in a couple of hours flying time.

Service Men Assured They'll Get Ration Books In Due Time

Assurance that procedure will be devised for issuing war ration book No. 3 to men in the armed forces has been given by the OPA.

Numerous inquiries on the subject have been received by the Lubbock county war price and rationing board from military personnel living in Lubbock. The application forms which were distributed recently by postmen specify that persons in the armed forces, whether or not eating in organized messes, are not to apply.

Lubbock district officials announced that the restriction does not apply to members of families of military personnel. Issuance of the book to military personnel was postponed because many men now in the United States will be stationed elsewhere when the book is needed to buy rationed commodities and also because of probability of change in military assignments affecting eligibility.

Final details of the method for issuing the book to men in service have not been worked out but they can rest assured that a simple plan will be devised, officials said.

Military personnel eating at home have received the previous books, No. 1 and No. 2, upon presenting statements from their commanding officers attesting to their eligibility.

Technical progress made during this war has made it possible to produce planes which in speed and performance will exceed anything that has gone before."

Missing Pilot LAAF Graduate

A San Angelo pilot, First Lt. Robert A. Mansfield, who received his pilot's wings and commission with other members of Class 42-I at Lubbock Army Air field last October, is believed to have crash-landed at sea after a recent raid, with a good chance that at least some of the crew survived, according to a delayed Associated Press dispatch of May 29 from a U. S. bomber station in England.

The 24-year-old Texan was the pilot of a Flying Fortress, "In the Mood." The craft officially is reported only as missing.

A student at Texas A. & M. from 1938 to 1942, Lt. Mansfield is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mansfield of San Angelo. He was a football and track letterman in college. After receiving primary training at Jones Field, Bonham, and basic at Randolph Field, he came to LAAF for his advanced instruction, graduating on October 9, 1942. His father was a first lieutenant in World war 1.

Crew Believed Alive

The Associated Press dispatch declared that two of Mansfield's friends said "In the Mood" was observed going down still under control, although two of her engines were on fire after the attack, in which heavy anti-aircraft fire was encountered. The big bomber later was seen burning on the water.

"We feel confident that most of Mansfield's crew—if they weren't killed or wounded before the ship hit the water—are alive today," said First Lt. James W. Strouse of Mount Pleasant, Mich., pilot of the Fortress "Buckshot."

A similar view was expressed by Lt. Alva Westhafer of Long Beach, Cal., co-pilot of the "Buckshot." Both saw Mansfield's bomber glide swiftly downward with the number three engine shattered and the number two engine afire.

"It happened just after we dropped our bombs and were turning off the target," Strousse said. "Mansfield got his bombs away, too."

There'll Be No Food To Waste, Hill Says

LUSK, Wyo., June 1. (AP) — Grover B. Hill, assistant secretary of agriculture, told the Wyoming Stockgrowers association today the nation's food supply will be sufficient, although, he said, there will be none to waste.

Hill said the country had on hand about 3,000,000 more cattle than the previous all-time record. He said the nation had also 13,000,000 more hogs, more poultry than ever before, and its greatest production of poultry products.

The nation has, he said, the largest number of milk cows with the greatest production of milk, butter and cheese ever known in this country.

Hill added that there was on hand nearly two years supply of wheat, and more corn than the country ever had before.

A national research committee has estimated that the earth is at

Distribution Of War-Time Information To Farmer Is Problem With Shortage Of Radio Parts And Pressure On Newspaper Supplies

Distribution of war-time information, especially to the farmer who is holding the vital production front, is not a post-war problem. It is a problem which already has arrived, and it plops itself down in the laps of every radio dealer and repairman in the country and, incidentally, also on every newspaper circulation man's desk.

The stark truth is there are no radio batteries and no radio tubes, along with numerous other vital radio parts necessary for repairs when a receiving set "goes out." There also are no radios, to speak of. The acute shortage is real.

Farmers Need Sets

The average town and small city in the Southwest has from two to 50 radio shops. These shops mostly maintain repair departments, as a matter of necessarily servicing and repairing the radios they have sold. These shops now are cluttered with radios they have sold. These shops now are cluttered with radios waiting for repairs and for service they probably never will get. Farmers are needing their radio sets, as they never needed them before. Additional thousands of receiving sets are breaking down, exhausting their batteries, and becoming useless as the days go by. The situation is bound to become worse before it can get better. When it will get better, no one presumes to know, or say.

Dealers estimate that 95 per cent of the farm homes in the Southwest had radios in operation when it was possible, months ago, to have them repaired with parts or resuscitated with new batteries when they became silent. Dealers also estimate that upward of 50 per cent of these farm receiving sets are operated with batteries. Certainly a large proportion of them are.

Needs One Or Both

The farmer out here on the food production "front" wants his radio and his newspaper. He needs one or both every day. In no other way can he remain abreast of the rapidly changing panorama of war happenings and learn what his own government is expecting of him. He is reading and listening when he can. When his radio goes on the blink he must turn to his newspaper, and certain bans on newspaper circulation and consumption of newsprint prevents him, in large measure from reverting to the daily newspaper when he finds himself without his accustomed radio programs before breakfast and after supper.

Most of the radio dealers and repair shops no longer maintain a service department because of the manpower shortage. Dealers everywhere have appealed to the WPB with factual data to establish their petitions. Dealers and shopmen also will tell you the larger manufacturers and wholesalers afford them no relief in service or supplies, for the meager stockpile of batteries and parts cannot be spread throughout the country without becoming so thinly spread the relief would be of no consequence to any one anywhere.

Some of them openly charge the larger concerns with operating their own retail outlets, either by subsidy or silent partnerships and thus permit the wholesaling and distribution of supply to go only into those limited dealerships whose prosperity from sales would redound quickly to the source of supply. Gestures have been made in some sections by groups of dealers in protest of what they claim is a monopoly. They do not charge the chain stores with any part of it. Contrarily, they say the larger the chain the more likely it is the chain is suffering more acute shortage than the independent stores, for when manufacture of batteries and radio parts was restricted to 30 per cent of the manufactures in 1940, the particular brands of batteries and parts made for the chains under the chains' own trade name were the first contracts to be cancelled.

Dealers also point out that it was a mistake in the first place for the WPB to have used the

Lubbock Girl Takes Part In Ceremonies At Dallas Hospital

Six-year-old Laynette Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Davis of 1916 Seventh street in Lubbock, had her picture made the other day with Dr. Homer P. Rainey, president of the University of Texas, upon the speaker's stand before the memorial services given at Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children at Dallas.

And when he spoke, the little redhead sat beneath the stand, an infantile paralysis patient of the hospital. Her nurse was with her. Laynette placed a floral wreath at the base of a monument memorializing benefactors of the hospital, and as a representative of more than 6,000 children now in Texas who have been restored to health, one of 11,625 boys and girls admitted to the hospital in its 30 years.

The picture ran in the Dallas News.

Lubbock County Farm Women Are Invited To Sponsor A Ship

Some farm woman on the South Plains may be rewarded for writing a letter, a letter telling how her home has been aided in wartime production of food by the use of electricity.

W. O. Perkins, manager of the South Plains Electric Cooperative, Inc., has announced the reward, and is inviting farm women whose homes are served by electricity from the REA-financed system to participate in the competition.

An all-expense trip to a shipyard will be paid for the best letter, and the woman who writes it will participate in the christening and launching of a ship. This will take place about July 15. Each letter should be addressed to the cooperative and tell what the writer has been able to do to increase food production for the war, and it should be the woman's own story of her war-time use of electricity.

The Liberty ship christening in 1940 figure of production of batteries because the real increase in use of battery sets did not get underway until 1941 and 1942, either one of which years would have been better, purely as a matter of supplying and servicing the radios already in use.

Meeting Set Tonight On Cigaret Campaign

The smokes-for-soldiers drive, which now is in its third week, will be discussed at the regular meeting of Lubbock post of Veterans of Foreign Wars in the basement of the Myrick building tonight at 8 o'clock, according to announcement Tuesday by J. R. Potts, commander.

Subscriptions to the campaign now total $1,033.89, the commander reported. This is enough to buy almost 23,000 packages of cigarets, including the cost of delivery to men in service outside of continental United States, to whom they will be given without charge.

The post commander emphasized that the drive has not ended. Members of the post still are urging that donations to the fund be sent to, "Lubbock post of Veterans of Foreign Wars, P.O. Box No. 1, Lubbock." Every penny received will be used to buy cigarets at the bargain price of 4½ cents per package at which they are available for this purpose.

JAPS DEFENDED

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP) — The War Relocation authority expressed faith today in the loyalty of 12,000 Japanese-Americans released from custody since the Pearl Harbor attack and said public statements that spies and saboteurs had been freed were "irresponsible" and "ignorant."

SPAAF Civilians Buy Heavily Of War Bonds

Civilian workers at South Plains Army Air field put 12.34 per cent of their May salaries into the purchase of war bonds.

This margin kept the field's total well above the 10 per cent goal set for workers of the nation and showed results of the second war loan fund campaign which was given an enthusiastic boost at the field.

About 91 per cent of the employees at SPAAF are now participating in the pay allotment plan.

TYLER MAN KILLED

FONTANA DAM, N. C., June 1. (AP)—Concrete Foreman James R. Costin, 34, of Tyler, Texas, was killed today in a fall from a concrete form at the TVA dam site.

July will be sponsored by the Rural Electrification administration, in cooperation with the U. S. Maritime commission, and other governmental agencies. The farm woman's part in the war will be emphasized all through the ceremonies.

Perkins said "every woman who has found a way to contribute to increased food production on her family's farm may have, in her own experiences, material for the kind of letter that can be utilized to dramatize the farm woman's part in the war. I know that dozens of women on farms served by South Plains Electric Cooperative, Inc., have had experiences from which others could profit."

Great Quantities Of Food Left By Japs

HOLTZ BAY, Attu Island, May 19. (Delayed) (AP)—So the Japanese live on rice, do they?

That may be true in other places, but on Attu they lived somewhat better.

Their forces retreating from Holtz Bay left the following supplies, most of them in the thousands of cases and the hundreds of barrels:

Rice, cooked and uncooked.

Oatmeal, now making very good meals for our soldiers.

Canned oriental oranges — the first item our soldiers jump when they find a new ration dump.

Literally tons of good potatoes, stored in rubberized sacks to keep them fresh.

Ditto fresh carrots, which did not keep so well but which help to make our G.I. stew more palatable.

Ditto fresh onions, which the Japanese used as barracks decorations when they began to sprout in too great numbers to be used for food quickly.

Thousands of cases of "salute" salmon, the same stuff which used to flood the west coast markets in low price brackets; also thousands of cases of unlabeled salmon.

Meat ball in cans. This, not savory to Americans, was the only meat found in quantity.

Half a dozen varieties of dried fruits.

Soybean cake by the ton.

Dried fish of various kinds, including devilfish, a Japanese delicacy. No Japanese foxhole was complete without a few carcasses

Tea, tea and more tea.

Pills by the million. Every soldier had three or four large bottles of vitamin pills.

Candies in small boxes; some sticky sweet, some sugar pellets.

The ubiquitous saki. You can't walk the beach without falling over broken saki bottles; you can't enter a hut without seeing from one to a dozen, the number varying more or less in direct relation to the rank of the late occupant.

Henry Ford Back At Firm's Helm

DETROIT, June 1 (U.P.)— Henry Ford returned to the helm of the industrial empire he founded 40 years ago when shareholders and directors of the Ford Motor Co., elected him president today to succeed his son, Edsel Ford, who died Wednesday.

Election of the 79-year-old industrialist ended speculation as to who would succeed the younger Ford in the presidency he assumed in 1919, when his father withdrew from official activity in the firm and named Edsel Ford his sole heir.

May Turn Over Control

There was considerable belief that Ford, considering his age, would turn over control of the company to Harry H. Bennett, Ford personnel director, and Charles E. Sorensen, vice president, until Edsel Ford's three sons —Benson, Henry II, and William —were ready to assume the leadership.

Today's action was taken at a meeting of shareholders and approved immediately by the board of directors, which also re-named Sorensen vice president and elected B. J. Craig vice president and treasurer, H. L. Moekle secretary and assistant treasurer and H. E. Schluchter assistant secretary and assistant treasurer.

Craig thus was advanced from secretary to his new position while Moekle and Schluchter became the firm's only new officers.

road facilities, leaving freight yards, stations, boxcars and warehouses a mass of tangled wreckage.

This attack by the Flying Fortresses of Maj.-Gen. James H. Doolittle's strategic air force followed Sunday's destructive raid on Foggia by more than 50 Liberator bombers of the Middle East command, a force considerably larger than the one which battered the airdrome last Friday.

Weeds In A Cornpatch

"There must have been 25 Junkers on the field," said Lt. Marion D. Jones, a navigator from Memphis, Tenn. "Rows of bombs criss-crossing the field looked like a bunch of weeds in a cornpatch."

Maj. Gordon Sarre of Flying Fortresses headquarters pointed out that Mayor La Guardia, Walter Wanger, Hollywood producer; Lt.-Col. Paul Zuckerman of the New York stock exchange, and Maj. Norman Sweetzer, former NBC executive, all trained at Foggia, a city of 62,000.

As usual of late, the attackers of both the islands and the mainland encountered little opposition. The Americans shot down four enemy planes, two of them at Foggia, and lost only two of their own craft in the days operations.

rines nearby and came over and bombed the forests without being caught.

"Our lookout man saw them in each case; and in the mouth of the Columbia river, a submarine shelled the forest there. In each case we have had these small crews nearby, which could have caught any fire which may have started."

Watts supplemented his assistant's testimony with the statement that the first bomb "did start a fire and our crew put it out." He added:

"They found the bomb fragments, and the nose of the bomb, with Japanese inscriptions on it. So there was no doubt whatever about where the bomb came from, nor its having started a fire."

J. B. Stallings Rites Set At Slaton Today

The funeral of Joshua B. Stallings, who died at 10 a. m. yesterday at his home, 1719 Twenty-second street, will be held in the First Baptist church, Slaton, the Rev. Ferguson officiating, at 2 p. m., today. The Bryan McDonald Funeral home is in charge. The body will be sent to Nevada, Texas, for burial, probably Thursday.

Pallbearers are S. C. Marrs, Lubbock, and the following from Slaton: Charlie Anderson, Lon Porter, Charles Wahlen, Oran McWilliams, and Bill Lane.

Mr. Stallings is survived by his widow; two daughters, Miss Evelyn Stallings of Borger and Mrs. R. M. Klinger of Pampa; one grand-daughter, and one brother, Jesse Stallins, of Denton.

Coal Mine Strike

responsibility for the cessation of work.

"Without coal in adequate quantities we cannot win the war," Ickes, in his capacity as fuel administrator, said in a telegram to Lewis. "It is intolerable that there should be a cessation of work for so much as one day."

Ickes, in a like telegram to Ezra Von Horn, chairman of the operators' committee negotiating with the union, denounced, too, "a few powerful operators" who, he said, had deliberately opposed compromises, and demanded that members of both groups do everything necessary to reach a speedy conclusion.

Ickes stepped into the situation after it was apparent that the administration had arrived at the gravest domestic crisis of the war with the entire coal industry virtually shut up tight.

There was no hint what the government, which is the operator of the industry, might do next if the miners' chieftain failed to comply with the Ickes request.

Travel Restrictions

Preparing for the worst, officials made ready orders for a sharp reduction in train travel and a nation-wide dim-out should it become apparent the strike would be protracted.

An official said the Office of Defense transportation was ready to clamp a ban on non-essential rail travel and order train mileage cut 25 per cent, if this should seem advisable.

The War Production board's office of war utilities said a nation-wide dim-out — eliminating all non-essential use of electricity —was a possibility although estimating power companies have a 108-day supply of coal on hand.

The work stoppages, slowing coal output to a trickle and threatening early interruption to vital phases of war production, were in direct challenge to:

WLB Injunction

1. An injunction of the War Labor board, and hence to the government's whole wartime machinery for handling labor controversies. The board had ordered production continued without interruption while negotiations proceeded on the miners' demand for portal-to-portal pay.

2. The views of President Roosevelt. In an address earlier this month, the President said a coal strike could not be tolerated. He also expressed the opinion at a press conference that the miners were government employes and implied that as such they were not free to strike.

Over and above this crisis in government-labor relations, however, was the threat of a crippling blow to the nation's capacity to wage war in the deadliest conflict of its history.

While Secretary Ickes, as fuel administrator, estimated there were 49 days supply of coal above ground, steel centers reported their production would be seriously affected within a wek to 10 days. In the southwest Pennsylvania region, coke ovens, the output of which is necessary for production of pig iron, were banked to burn slowly over a 96-hour period, after which they would have to be drawn or the coke lost.

30 Days For Railroads

WPB officials estimated the railroads had a 30-day supply of coal, and said artificial gas production would be an early sufferer. Gas, they noted, is essential to production of some forms of munitions.

The occasion for the work stoppage, the second in 32 days, was the expiration at Monday night of a truce under which the miners had been working.

It was the latest extension of an agreement which has been in force intermittently since the expiration April 1 of the miners' two-year contract with the mine operators.

This agreement originally was in force for 30 days, and when it expired April 30 there was a general work stoppage. Thereupon, President Roosevelt ordered seizure and government operation of the mines. Ickes took control of the industry for the government.

15-Day Truce Arranged

John L. Lewis, the miners' president, then agreed to a 15-day truce which subsequently was extended through May 31.

Meantime, the War Labor board, although Lewis refused to have any dealings with it, considered and ruled on the miners' wage demands. It denied a requested general $2 a day pay increase, but ordered negotiation on the miners' demand for pay for underground travel. The miners contend they are paid only for the time actually spent at the coal seam, although the operators contend that wages always have taken into account travel from the mine entrance to the working place.

Hester Drilling At 3,649 Feet

A wildcat oil well east of Lubbock, the Standolind Oil and Gas company's No. 1 Guy Hester, Tuesday was drilling at 3,649 feet in lime.

The DeKalb Agricultural association, Lubbock, has completed two new producers in southeastern Yoakum county, and the Devonian Oil company has completed one. DeKalb's No. 3 Mrs. Annie Armstrong flowed 596.24 barrels daily, after acidizing with 14,000 gallons in pay lime from 4,999 to 5,097 feet total depth. Its No. 5 Armstrong flowed 612.72 barrels daily after acidization with 10,000 gallons in pay from 5,010 to 5,077 feet.

Devonian's No. 4 Bennett flowed 567 barrels of oil plus 3.9 per cent water, after acidization with 11,000 gallons in pay from 5,143 to 5,291 feet. Devonian also completel a producer in the Cochran county part of the Slaughter field, No. 31-A-3 Duggan, which flowed 640.32 barrels of oil daily after treatment with 12,000 gallons.

Hockley County

On the Hockley county side of the Slaughter field, the Magnolia Petroleum company's No. 15-F Mallet Land & Cattle company flowed 1,133.48 barrels of crude daily after acidization with 4,500 gallons in pay from 4,963 to 5,025 feet.

Stanolind's No. 15 American Warehouse company, northeastern Gaines county, is drilling below 7,675 feet in shale and lime, the first deep test in the area.

In north central Gaines, the Gulf Oil corporation's No. 1 Kottwitz, et al., is drilling in lime at 5,727 feet.

The Magnolia and Atlantic's No. 1-459 Avenyer and Jenny, in northwestern Gaines, is drilling at 3,365 feet in anhydrite.

The Amerada Petroleum corporation's No. 6 R. W. Robertson, in central Gaines, is drilling at 5,120 feet in lime.

House Tax Plan

from today, the government will begin deducting 20 per cent (after family status exemptions) from pay envelopes and salary checks.

This legislation does not excuse taxpayers from payment of the second installment of their tax obligation as shown in returns filed last March. This installment falls due just two weeks hence, on June 15.

Credit 1942 Payments

Installments paid before July 1 on the basis of 1942 income will be transferred as a credit to 1943 obligations. Wages and salary earners will begin paying July 1 the remainder of their 1943 bill through the withholding levy. Persons with income other than wages and salaries must estimate their income for the current year, and continue to pay by quarterly installments. Similarly, persons with wages or salaries above the 20 per cent withholding level will estimate their upper bracket income, and pay quarterly on that part of their obligation above the withholding level.

On next March 15, all taxpayers—as at present—will file their final feturn on 1943. On this return adjustments will be made for differences between the estimated or withheld tax, and the correct tax reported by the taxpayer.

Nazi Attitude

victory for the German generals over the "intuition" with which Hitler has been conducting operations. Limited German aggressive action—in the nature perhaps of a "defensive offensive" intended to anticipate the real thing by the Russians—was seen as one likely course.

Berlin dispatches to the Stockholm newspaper Tidningen in neutral Sweden attributed to "informed Berlin quarters" admissions that Germany could not longer deny the crippling effects of defeats in Russia and Africa and the Allied air attacks, and that she required "a calm year" to restore herself.

Dietmar himself in his broadcast somewhat supported this motion.

"We can now reap the fruits of previous successes," he said. "We have won an area whose effective use makes it ever more difficult to attack us."

Subsidy Challenge

war purposes."

By a single vote, the committee rejected a far-reaching amendment, sponsored by Chairman Patman (D-Texas) of the House Small Business committee, which would have taken control of wartime food prices and food rationing away from the Office of Price administration and given that assignment to Food Administrator Chester Davis.

Patman, also a member of the banking committee, had planned to offer also an amendment to give Secretary Ickes similar controls over all fuel and petroleum products, and to place enforcement of both food and fuel regulations under the department of justice.

He dropped, temporarily, his fight for the latter two proposals after the test vote on the one affecting food, but declared that he would offer all three when the CCC measure reaches the floor for action, probably late next week.

MAJOR BECOMES PROP

BOISE, Idaho, Jun 1 (AP) — A bundle-laden WAAC made an awkward attempt to salute a Gowen field major. He chided her about the results.

She thrust the bundles suddenly into the major's arms, saluted him snappily, grabbed her parcels again and vanished.

JOURNEY'S END—Ships of an Atlantic convoy arriving at their destination lend a fleeting glimpse of beauty to the ugly business of war.

Ban On Cuffs Lifted, Shorties May Benefit

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP) — The War Production board today lifted its ban on cuffs for men's trousers, but explained that short men probably will be the only ones to benefit.

Restrictions on the length of trouser legs—a 32 waist regular is allowed a 35-inch inseam — remain unchanged. Thus, WPB said, very few men will have the necessary five inches at the bottom of the trouser leg to turn up for a cuff.

The WPB said the cuff restriction had accomplished its prime purpose of recovering enough excess wool cloth from 19,000,000 pairs of trousers to make an extra 300,000 wool garments this year.

While removing the restrictions on the finishing of men's and boys' clothing, the WPB broadened the trouser length limitations to include heavier weight cotton and rayon materials, such as corduroy and cotton gabardine. The only exception is non-wool summerweight cloth which the WPB defined as weighing a pound or less for each three yards of 36-inch width material.

Similarly, the ban on tucks or pleats was extended to cover all fabrics except the non-wool summerweights, and quilted linings were prohibited except for specific utility purposes.

Church Files Protest On Catholic Claims

MONTREAT, N. C., June 1. (AP) — Without debate and without show of opposition, the general assembly of the (Southern) Presbyterian church in the United States voted today to send to the State department a protest against what it termed "the current effort of the Roman hierarchy to deprive the Protestant churches of their right to propagate their faith in Latin America on the alleged ground that such activities in predominently Roman Catholic countries prove a hindrance to the 'good neighbor policy'."

The action was taken upon an overture from the Memphis presbytery.

Davies At Seattle On Way To Capital

SEATTLE, June 1 (AP)—Joseph Davies, President Roosevelt's emissary to Joseph Stalin, arrived here today en route to report to the President in Washington, it was announced by Major Frank E. Williamson, commanding the air transport and control detachment here.

The former ambassador declined to be interviewed, but announced through the military that "I am flying to Washington immediately to report to the commander-in-crief, President Roosevelt."

The announcement said Davies' plane left Moscow Saturday; crossed Siberia and arrived at Nome, Alaska, Monday, and reached Seattle early today.

Major And Cadet Die In Crash Near Pecos

PECOS, June 1 (AP)—Major Walter J. Fitzgerald, 26, and aviation Cadet Raymond G. Beck, 25, both student pilots at the Pecos Army Air field were killed yesterday when their plane crashed while landing at an auxiliary field near here, Army officials announced today.

Fitzgerald was from East Norwalk, Conn., and Beck from North Minneapolis.

It was the second fatal crash in a four-day period here. Cadet James G. Newton, 24, of Minot, N. D., died when his plane fell while he was flying alone Friday.

the whole area of the former Japanese territory southwest of Chichagof.

The 400 enemy soldiers were slain Saturday night and early Sunday as our forces advanced to the junction point. The destruction of the foe was achieved, a Navy spokesman said, in a series of small skirmishes and patrol actions rather than in a single battle.

With the Chichagof area cleaned up there apparently remained only the area further to the east around Cape Khlebnikof. A Navy communique last Saturday reported the presence of the foe in the Khlebinikof area but described that sector as quiet. At that time the Navy said other parts of the island were devoid of enemy activity.

Review Refused In Randal Oil Appeal

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP) — The Supreme court today refused to review a decision which had denied Jack M. Randal of Lubbock, Tex., and others the right to share $441,445 which the Texas company was said to have received from the Aloco Oil company for assigning 45 oil leases on 15,846 acres of land in Yoakum County, Tex.

The Fifth Federal Circuit court had ruled for the Texas Co.

Randal and associates contended the assignments included three leases on 1,600 acres in which they claimed an interest. They asserted the payment represented a bonus and they were entitled to a share. The Texas company contended, however, that the payment was for improvements on other land involved and represented the cost of the improvements.

Family Said Slain On Virginia Farm

LEESBURG, Va., June 1 (AP) — Persons at the home of A. Morris Love, Loudoun county farmer and cattleman, said today that he and his wife, their 21-year-old son, James Love, and two tenants named Russell had been found slain on the farm this morning.

DEATH IS ANNOUNCED

HARLINGEN, June 1 (U.P.)—The public relations office at Harlingen army air forces gunnery school announced today the death of Corp. William D. Irvin, jr., 20, fatally injured yesterday when he yalked into the propeller of a taxiing airplane. Irwin's parents live at Turtle Creek, Pa.

Peyrouton Gives Up His Governor's Post

ALGIERS, June 1 (AP)—Marcel Peyrouton, one of the colonial governors-general of France, gave up his post today and became an infantry captain in a step to smooth the way to union of Frenchmen fighting for liberation of their country.

Peyrouton resigned as governor general of Algeria, and at his own request was appointed a French Army captain by Gen. Charles De Gaulle, whose Fighting French national committee had objected to Peyrouton and some other North African officials as being "pro-Vichy."

Peyrouton, an administrator who had held many colonial offices under the French republic, asked for the Army assignment to prove that he was willing to fight for the redemption of France.

Opening Day Crowds Fill Municipal Pool

Tuesday was the opening day this year for the municipal swimming pool in Mackenzie park. The opening day was hailed by a large crowd of enthusiasts who kept the pool full throughout the afternoon until the water was too cool to be comfortable.

Hours for the pool to be open are 8:30 a. m. until 10 p. m., weekdays, and from 1:30 p. m. until 10 p. m. Sundays, Russell Wimberly, the new manager, announced.

DROWNS IN BAYOU

HOUSTON, June 1. (AP)—Joe M. Gerfers, 13, drowned today when he attempted to cross a small bayou on a raft.

More Recovery Of Oil Asked

AUSTIN, June 1 (AP)—Railroad commission member Ernest O. Thompson said today he would urge upon Ralph Davies, PAW deputy administrator, at Houston tomorrow the imminence of the need for greater oil production.

"We know the need will be upon us, and very soon at that," Thompson declared.

Thompson said Davies and other government officials would be in Houston on an inspection tour.

"Texas can produce, without hurting the oil wells, about 300,000 more barrels per day," Thompson continued.

Ebb Level Nears Record

Declaring that above-ground stocks are the lowest in 20 years except for the 1939 shutdown period, Thompson said now is the time to produce more oil from the fields that can produce it without harm.

He said the oil should be stored in steel tanks against the day of almost certain need.

"Thus we can avoid the embarrassment of real oil scarcity when it is needed in larger quantities than can be produced without irreparable damage to the fields."

Thompson estimated there were 120 million barrels of empty steel storage in Texas at present.

Canned Milk Ration

those infnats who feed on formulas requiring canned milk will not use all their points. The latter usually use one tall can per day, which would take seven of the child's 16 weekly points.

Some Exceptions

Exceptions were made for persons with special diets and for hospitals. Local ration boards were authorized to grant extra points in these cases, upon doctors' certificates. Persons living in remote areas where fresh milk is unavailable also may request extra points.

Rationing of canned milk has been touch-and-go for about a year, and many communities had voluntary rationing last fall. The situation was eased for a while by release of some Army stores and by seasonal production gains.

Officials expressed belief that considerable canned milk has been hoarded by consumers but made no estimate of these stocks.

Cards Whack Game Off Brooklyn Lead

Pirates Defeat Boston In 14th

ST. LOUIS, June 1 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers grappled for 12 innings today in a wild and desperate baseball battle which the world champions won finally 11-9 on a two-run homer by Harry (Little Dixie) Walker.

The victory put the Redbirds ahead in the four-game series 2-1 and withered Brooklyn's National league lead to half a game.

Today's titanic struggle has had no counterpart in the major league this season. The rivals used nine pitchers and made a total of 35 hits, 20 by the Cardinals.

At the beginning Lefty Howard Pollet was on the mound for St. Louis with Ed Head working for the Dodgers, who shot away in front with two runs in the second. However, the Cards stormed back in their half of the same frame with five runs, making eight consecutive hits off Head and Les Webber, who relieved him.

Brooklyn battled back, two runs in the fourth, two in the sixth and one in the seventh to take the lead as first Howard Krist and then Murry Dickson went to the mound.

Musial Homers

Bobo Newsom, who took over the Dodgers' pitching in the fourth, let the Cardinals tie the score with two runs on three singles in the seventh and in the eighth Stan Musial hit a home run with one on to give St. Louis a 9-7 edge that looked at the time sufficient to win.

George Munger had held Brooklyn hitless in the eighth and he got the first two batters out in the ninth. But Joe Medwick walked, Dolph Camilli tripled and Billy Herman singled to tie the score.

The Dodgers loaded the bases off Harry Brecheen with one out in the top of the twelfth, but a double play stopped them and the score was still 9-9 when Frank (Rube) Melton went to the mound for Brooklyn in the last half of that inning.

Summary: Two-base hits — Sanders, Klein, Herman, Marion, Musial, Camilli, Hopp, Medwick, F. Walker. Three-base hit—Camilli. Home runs — Musial, H. Walker. Left on bases—Brooklyn 9; St. Louis 11. Bases on Balls—Head 1, Newsom 7, Pollet 1, Munger 1, Brecheen 1. Strikeouts—Head 1, Newsom 4, Pollet 1, Krist 1, Munger 1, Brecheen 1. Winning pitcher—Brecheen. Losing pitcher—Melton.

GEARY'S STEAL WINS

PITTSBURGH, June 1 (AP) — Shortstop Huck Geary stole home in the last of the 14th inning with the bases loaded and one man away to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 5-4 victory today over the Boston Braves. Vince DiMaggio smashed out his sixth homer of the year in the second to account for three big runs.

American Prexy Sees Tight Race

NEW YORK, June 1 (AP)—Because of the loss of such sooper-dooper stars as Ted Williams and Joe DiMaggio, rather than in spite of it, President Will Harridge of the American league expects the close pennant race in his circuit to last right through the season.

Only about a half dozen games separate the first and last place clubs today and, as Harridge sees it, the principal reason is that the top-ranking stars of nearly every club joined the armed forces. As a result there was a general leveling off, with the teams forced to depend upon the ordinary run of "300 or under hitters."

"I was afraid we might run into a lot of games with five or six errors when there were so many young players in the lineups," Harridge said today. "But that hasn't happened. The kids are playing pretty good baseball and with the close, interesting games you don't notice the difference in quality.

Praises Tucker

'I expect that this condition will continue right through to the end. In many years, even this early in the season, one club would be way out in front, but there doesn't seem to be much difference between the clubs now."

Harridge also finds that the loss of the biggest stars hasn't lessened the interest of the fans. Younger players, many of whom wouldn't even be in the majors but for war-created vacancies are coming along to take their places in the spotlight.

"Take that young Thurman Tucker in Chicago," he pointed out. "He probably would be back in the minors this year if the club hadn't lost several outfielders. But he's playing well and he has color and the fans are beginning to come out to see him. Our league has uncovered several other good young players and, while they may not be as good as the Fellers or Peskys that are gone, they serve pretty well as substitutes."

Jaycees Move To Top In B&P Softball Loop

The Jaycees, defending champions in the local B&P softball circuit, passed their first "crooshal" test of the 1943 season with flying colors last night, taking a 5-3 decision over Tech Faculty to move into undisputed first place.

Previously, the Jaycees had been deadlocked with the Tech Faculty ten with five victories and no losses this campaign.

A three-run outburst, made up of three singles, two walks and a Tech Faculty error, provided the winning margin as the Jaycees' Wyse outpitched Williams and White of Tech.

Leach of Tech Faculty hit the game's lone home run.

Last night's other scheduled B&P game, between the Federals and the SPAAF sub-depot, went to the Federals on a forfeit when several of the SPAAF players turned up for the game in spiked shoes. W. G. Loesel, secretary of the league, last night warned members of the league against this practice, as the rules of the circuit prohibit the use of any metal spikes on shoes.

PROTEST LAUNCHED

Breecheen Among Top National Loop Rookies

ST. LOUIS, June 1. (AP) — No matter how you pronounce his name, Harry Brecheen of the Cardinals still is one of the National league's best rookie pitchers.

You won't "Oh!" and "Ah!" over his two and one record, nor be impressed by his 160 pounds on a 5-foot 10-inch frame. His extremely deliberate delivery might even irk you—but not half as much as it irks the batters.

He has pitched 21 2-3 innings this season—18 against the Brooklyn Dodgers and 3 2-3 against the Chicago Cubs. He has allowed just 10 hits and one run, struck out four, walked four men and made one wild pitch.

In six innings of relief on May 18 and 19, the Dodgers went hitless and over the full nine-inning route Memorial Day they managed to get four hits and the lone run which won the game.

Back to this name business. The Brecheens of Broken Bow, Okla., from which city Harry came, pronounce it "Brack-keen," but Manager Billy Southworth has made the name rhyme with machine.

Dewitt Coulter Enrolls As Texas Ag Freshman

COLLEGE STATION, June 1 (AP)—Dewitt Coulter, Masonic Home's great football player and shot putter, was among new students enrolling at Texas A. and M. today.

Others included Charlie Smith of San Angelo, brother of Herbie Smith, Aggie grid great of 1939, who died in a plane crash last year, and Earl Beasley, star passer and baseball player from Adamson (Dallas).

Coulter, 18, may be called to the service before next football season.

Among the holdovers who have one or more terms behind them and who may be available for the 1943 team are Goble Bryant and Earl Cook, Dallas; Adolph Eberle, Sweetwater; Henry L. Hook, Houston; D. D. Redman, Dallas and Morris W. Sheffield of Paris. None of these has lettered or seen squad service, and only Eberle has had spring training.

Red Letters Marked On Two Ships' Calendars

MASSACRE BAY, Attu, May 21. (Delayed) (AP)—Two heavy American warships marked red letters on their calendars the day they shelled Japanese positions on Attu for the first time.

For one veteran of dozens of icy patrols through the north Atlantic and the Bering sea and of more than a year's steady war service, the day represented the first time its crew ever had shot at or seen any enemy.

The other ship had a different story. She saw plenty of Japs at Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941. She was months in repairing the damage of that day, and her crew never has forgotten the shipmates who did not survive that day.

Here on Attu, she, too, had her first chance to shoot back.

Artillery spotters reported the fire of both ships uncannily accurate.

Danny Litwhiler Goes To Cards

CHICAGO, June 1 (AP) — Bill Cox, owner of the Philadelphia Phillies, announced today a player transaction whereby Outfielders Danny Litwhiler and Earl Naylor would go to the St. Louis Cardinals for Outfielders Coaker Triplett, Dain Clay and Buster Adams. Clay will report to the Phillies from Rochester of the International league, a Cardinal farm.

Litwhiler, although considered the best of the Philadelphia outfielders, has not been performing well on the Phils' current western trip. While he can be expected to play regularly for the Cardinals, the Phils get two men—Adams and Clay—who probably will take places in the lineup at once.

The latest "give two, get three' deal by Cox brought to 12 the number of players acquired by Philadelphia since the young executive took over. The Phils have given up four men in the trading.

Cox joined the club here yesterday. He was in a huddle with James Gallagher, the Chicago Cubs' general manager, for nearly an hour today and then came out to make the announcement of the deal with St. Louis, which was made by telephone from Gallagher's office.

No cash was involved, Cox said.

BOSTON, June 1 (AP)—For a major league manager who started the season with a club rated as a potential champion, Luke Sewell does not appear to be doing any worrying because his St. Louis Browns are holding up all the American league at this comparatively late stage.

But Sewell is downcast after the loss of Vern Stephens, his sensational shortstop, who left the club yesterday to report to his Long Beach, Calif., draft board. Although Stephens, the league's top slugger with a .376 average for 25 games, has been married for three years and is the father of an 11-weeks-old son, his teammates are certain that he will be doing his future hitting for Uncle Sam.

"Yes, it's another tough blow losing Stephens," the Browns' popular pilot admitted, "but baseball is prepared for such things. We also lost such valuable players as Wally Judnich, Johnny Bernardino, Pete Appleton, Elden Auker, Joe Grace, George McQuillen and a flock of others. But so did every other club. We have to take that in stride."

SPORTS SUSPENDED

JACKSON, Miss., June 1 (AP)—State college board members today voted suspension "for the duration" of all intercollegiate athletics at state-controlled colleges in Mississippi and ordered "conforming" reduction in athletic department salaries.

Fire Guards Are New Civilian Defense Unit

DALLAS, June 1. (AP) — R. E. Smith, director of the eighth regional Office of Civilian Defense, announced here establishment of fire guards, a new protective force trained to man pump tank extinguishers which are to be distributed in all target area cities of Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

In making the announcement yesterday, Smith said the nucles of the fire guard organization will be provided by fire watchers. This unit, with about 25,000 members now assigned to duty in the eighth OCD region, will be merged with the fire guards and given additional training.

In 1600 William Gilbert conceived of the earth as a great magnet with magnetic poles and a field force about it.

CASE HISTORY No. 379. Lady age 59 who had trouble in the small of her back, severe constipation, had to diet, hemrrhoids, nervousness, dizzyness from stooping, cramps in legs, did not have an appetite, and was losing weight. As a last resort she came to a chiropractor. In a few months time after her first adjustment all symptoms had improved and she felt like a different person. She was so pleased and relieved with the adjustment, and so determined to keep the bones from pressing on any nerves, that she comes regularly for her check-ups.

CASE HISTORY No. 1144. Lady age 28 who had nervous spasms, indigestion, drawing and pulling of muscles. After her adjustment she became so much better that she has been coming regularly for fear that the bones would again get displaced and she might have the same sickness.

HOW TO SECURE CHIROPRACTIC BENEFITS. Persons who are clearly suffering from some ailment or whose bodies are in some part functioning below normal good health, and also those who have become conscious of soreness in the region of the spine, should immediately seek a competent Chiropractor and request an examination. It is equally important for well people to protect their present good health. Just as most reasonably careful persons now visit their dentist at regular intervals, it is easier and less painful for the denist to fill a small cavity than a large one and certainly it is much better than extracting the tooth. Likewise it is much easier to restore to normal position a vertebra which has been displaced only a short time, and it takes less time to remove the cause of the trouble.

THIS BOOK TELLS HOW YOU CAN STILL BECOME AN AVIATION CADET

EVERY DAY it is becoming more and more apparent that the U. S. is building — and must have — the biggest, most powerful air force on earth. You still have an opportunity to become an Aviation Cadet in the U. S. Army:

1. If you are 18 to 26 years old, inclusive, and have not yet been called for induction under Selective Service.

2. If you have already joined the ranks of the U. S. Army, and are 18 to 26 years old, inclusive.

3. If you are 17 but not yet 18, in which case you can go now to your Aviation Cadet Examining Board and volunteer for enlistment in the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve.

The free booklet, "Aviation Cadet Training for the Army Air Forces," explains everything you need to know about these three different ways you can become a flying, fighting soldier in the U. S. Army. You may obtain a copy from your nearest Aviation Cadet Examining Board or U. S. Army Recruiting Station. Or, for your convenience, there is a coupon below which you can clip and mail today.

Nazis Say Washington Painting Destroyed

(By The United Press)

The German news agency, Transocean, said today that a "famous painting of Washington crossing the Delaware had been destroyed" by American and British air bombardment at Bremen.

The picture was by the German painter, Emanuel Leutze, and was painted in 1850. Leutze died in Washington, D. C., in 1866. A second depiction of the same painting is the New York Metropolitan museum, the agency added.

Most of the Bremen gallery was reported destroyed.

Proof---And Close To Home

ANNOUNCEMENT last week that Postex Cotton mills in Post will be forced to quit in the very near future after 30 years of successful operations should help to bring home the realization that many bad things are being permitted to happen to small business in this war.

The Post mills have been a successful business. They have had to overcome tremendous handicaps. They have helped, in many ways, to pioneer a difficult field of industry which, in some respects, still is in its infancy. But, as a company official announced, it cannot survive under the unbalanced economic conditions that have come into being during the emergency. It can't compete with similar businesses that operate under cost-plus arrangements under which the government guarantees a whacking profit to the operators. It can't compete with fantastic wages in war industry.

So, according to the announcement, it must "fold." The only prospect of re-opening is that it may be taken over by a larger company — perhaps one which operates, and prospers, through government benevolence. Thus is reflected an economic trend which may find, at the end of the war, that the nation's industries have been concentrated into a few hands of tremendous power that might be entirely ruthless in their dealings with the consumer. It is a trend toward conditions like those existing in Japan, where something more than 90 per cent of the wealth of the nation is controlled by five families; or like those of pre-war France, where fewer than 100 families dominated more than 90 per cent of the nation's wealth.

This Postex announcement also brings anew into bolder relief that, despite a lot of talk in many congressional and bureaucratic circles about help for small business, very little has been done as yet. Vast enterprise continues to get all the gravy. Little business is rapidly being crushed out of existence.

The prospect presented by such events as the closing of the Post mills is not one to encourage those who cherish the American way of life, which has had, as one of its most important manifestations, the millions of small businesses that have operated in this country. Things like this inspire anew the fear that, unless the present trend is checked and unless promises of aid for small business actually materialize, the end of the war may find this a nation domineered by an industrial dictatorship which is even more to be dreaded than any political distatorship.

Trouble's Around The Bend!

THE War Food administration is headed for trouble just as sure as it attempts to carry through with its announced plan to search out and "requisition" farm machinery that it chooses to regard as "idle."

The announced purpose of this extraordinary step is plendid. It seeks to insure that the farm machinery will be kept busy at a time when the shortage of this equipment is the most acute in history. But many past experiences with the bureaucratic ways of doing things arouse the fear that a lot of the machinery, if "requisitioned," is going to idle in the hands of WFA during the untangling of the red tape which will be involved in the transfer of the equipment from one ownership to another.

Actually, there will be nothing as mild as "requisitioning" if agents of the WFA go upon a farm, examine the machinery to be found there, decide that this or that piece of equipment is "idle," and then take possession of it. It will amount to seizure of private property. It will create the opportunity for a great many mistakes in judgment. Bitter disagreements between farmer and WFA representatives are sure to occur. It might mean, in a great many cases, that the farmer may be deprived of, say a plow, not in use at the moment, but which he must have a little further along in the season.

The hopeful prospect is that a halt may be called on the ambitious plans of WFA before too much damage is done. If not, no gift of prophesy is required for the prediction that storm clouds soon will gather for WFA.

No plan for collecting taxes would leave the taxpayer 100 per cent happy over the situation.

A THREAT FULFILLED

CHAPTER IX

One day, after Penny had returned to the Courier office from one of her frequent visits to the mills, she found Jim deep in conversation with a visitor. He was tall, distinguished-looking, and a ready smile waited on his lips.

"Hello, Penny," Jim welcomed. "May I present Lou MacDonald, head of the County Humane Society. Lou, this is Penny Kellogg, our society editor."

"I've heard a great deal about you, Miss Kellogg," MacDonald said. "I'd like to compliment you on your series of articles on the Kirk mills. They're great."

"Thanks," said Penny, I'm glad to know I have at least one reader.'

"Here's a little story you might like to handle," said Jim. "There's some good meat in this report of Humane Society activities.

"It isn't exactly pleasant reading," MacDonald warned. "In fact, it's rather discouraging."

Penny studied the figures. Here, in cold type, was a tragic story of families deserted, children who would have faced starvation if the Humane Society had not helped them.

"Kirktown has the worst record in the county," Penny observed.

"Yes, unfortunately that's true," MacDonald admitted.

"There are some men who can't resist the gambling temptation or any other temptations that come their way. They suffer, but those who really are, hurt are their wives and children. We do our best to find new interests for these men and to instill in them a sense of responsibility."

Penny listened in fascination to his stories of the strange cases that his office handled. She had never realized such situations existed. When he had finished, she know why Jim had been crusading so bitterly against the Castro gang.

"I have an idea," Penny said, "that we can finish this Castro business in a big hurry. Will you help?"

"Will we help?" Jim echoed.

"It isn't easy," MacDonald cautioned. "For one thing, the boys at City Hall are working hand in glove with the gang. Castro spends plenty of money at each election to make sure the right men get in."

"Then," said Penny, "we'll get the City Hall gang out, too. We'll put men in office who'll enforce the laws and who'll run this bunch of tinhorn gamblers out of town."

"I'd give a year's salary to see the Castro gang wiped out," MacDonald said. "It's not pleasant to look at all the misery they've caused."

"If you'll both work with me," Penny said, "you'll soon see some action.'

"Count on me," MacDonald assured. He shook hands with Penny as he roes to his feet. "It's been a pleasure to see you two. Just give me a ring whenever you're ready."

"Thanks for dropping in," Jim said. "We'll keep in touch with you."

Penney was thankful for Jim's invitation to dinner. A steak at Pietro's would hit the spot.

All through dinner, Penny was silent. Her thoughts were on a plan that was daring, and dangerous. It must not fail. She decided to say nothing about it to Jim until she had worked out all the details.

"I'd like to came back to the office tonight, Jim. I've got a lot of work to do," she said.

"Fine. You can keep me company while I figure out how much we've lost this month. If business gets any worse, I won't even be able to promise you a raise, let alone pay one, he said.

That night she sat in puzzled thought over her typewriter. Guessing from her tenseness that she would not welcome interruptions, Jim busied himself with his figures.

Penny discarded page after page of copy. For more than an hour she concentrated on a short, one-page thesis. When she finished, she smiled at Jim.

"I'm not going to show this to you just yet, Jim," she said. "But I want to reserve a page of advertising space in the Courier, and a spot on the front page. I'm not going to pay a thousand dollars, either. You'll just have to trust me to pay for the space."

"Your credit's good," he said. "Provided you can give me two references, both of them millionaires."

"I could," said Penny, "but I won't. And don't reach for this copy. It's for a circular you're going to print, when I'm ready."

"Okay, Penny. The place is yours. Whenever you're ready, just shoot. Just let me in on it a little ahead of time," Jim asked.

"You're the big gun behind the campaign," she told him. "Without you I couldn't do a thing. Without you, in fact, I wouldn't be here."

"Without you," Jim said, sincerely, "being here wouldn't be worthwhile."

"Thanks, pal," she murmured. "And now that you've made your pretty little speech, let's head for home."

* * *

The street was bathed in moonlight. Walking beside Jim, Penny found new contentment. They talked pleasantly of many things. At her door, Jim pressed Penny's hand in his own.

Her lips were inviting. He kissed her, tenderly.

"Good night, Penny," he whispered. She watched him as he marched jauntily back toward the foot of the hill. His kiss would be another memory to treasure forever.

Penny found Midge in bed, reading.

"Hello, there," her roommate called cheerfully. "This is a fine time to be coming home. I know. You were detained at the office. You'd better think up a better excuse than that."

Penny laughed. "My excuse is a lot more exciting than that. I've been using my thinking cap for a change. I really have news tonight."

"Tell- me about it," Midge begged.

"I will in a minute," she answered. "Wait till I get comfortable."

Penny left out the incident concerning the bribe Jim had refused. She glossed over the run-of-the-mill social news of the day. She talked at length about MacDonald and the Humane Society report.

Then Penny told Midge of her plan to rid Kirktown of its gangster menace. Midge sat upright in bed, staring in open-eyed wonder as Penny excitedly outlined her scheme.

"Careful," Madge warned. "You're playing with TNT." Then she said, as if talking to herself. "I wonder. It might work at that."

"My plan must work," Penny insisted. "I'll need your help. We'll have to get Bud Walsh and have him round up some friends he can trust."

"Sure, Penny. Bud will be glad to help. I know plenty of others who will, too. Whenever you say the word, we'll be ready," Midge assured her.

"The date is next Friday. The place is the John Kirk Memorial Auditorium. Remember, Midge, I haven't said a single word to anyone. We've got to keep this plan absolutely secret, or it will boomerang," she cautioned.

"Check," said Midge. "How about turning the lights out, Penny? We'd both better get to sleep."

Penny couldn't close her eyes. She looked up at the shadows on the ceiling, thinking about Jim, about the past, and mostly about the future.

What happened in the next 20 seconds chased all other thoughts from her mind. A rumble that crescendoed to a roar shoko the house, almost tumbling them from their beds.

Up the hill from the valley rolled a blast that echoed like thunder. Before Penny slipped into a robe and raced to the door, she had guessed what had happened.

There was no mistaking the direction from which the flames shot skyward. She knew this was the fulfillment of Castro's threat.

Jim had rounded the corner, walking toward the Courier office. Had he been there when the bomb exploded? Terror struck at Penny's heart.

"Jim," she cried as she raced out. "Oh, Jim!"

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE nation's leading airplane manufacturers were summoned to Washington a little while ago to discuss 1943 output possibilities with C. E. Wilson, vice chairman of WPB. The former General Electric executive wanted the latest low-down on the flying force they can provide for the pending assault on the European continent and possibly on the Japanese mainland.

The evolvers of the world's finest fighters and bombers told him flatly that they could turn out a maximum of only 90,000 planes this year and that they could not fulfill the President's demand for 125,000. They have the personnel and the plant, they admitted, but they cannot obtain sufficient basic materials.

"Then what are we supposed to do?" asked Wilson. "Pray?"

The answer irritated J. H. Kindelberger, head of North American, who retorted:

"No, don't pray! Cut your production schedules!"

WPB has refused to act on this advice. Although warned that steel, aluminum, engines and parts are not available, it still sticks to its original program. If 125,000 units do not roll off the assembly lines in 1943, the makers, not the planners at the capital, will get the blame.

SHORTAGE: America's aerial industry reached a new peak in May by constructing slightly more than 7,000 finished planes. But the most sensational and heartening aspect is that almost every ship is for combat.

In the past approximately one-fourth of the output in the same period consisted of trainers. Now we have virtually quit making this model because we have enough on hand. Moreover in accordance with the new theory of preparing pilots and other members of fighter and bomber crews the men are taught to operate the kind of craft they will use in actual warfare. This method shortens the time required to ready flyers for service at the front. Actually, many are given the finishing course after arriving overseas.

Abandonment of this type would permit a tremendous increase in production were it not for the shortage of materials and delays in deliveries. Many factories which have been making elementary machines can shift almost overnight to fabricating parts for the Flying Fortresses, Mitchells, Marauders etc. The same applies in a lesser degree to plants specializing in tanks, for we have plenty of land battleships to equip all the United Nations armies.

TAMPERED: The United States Information Bureau, as a service to out-of-towners, festooned Washington hotel rooms with the following helpful notice: "If you want to get things done in a hurry and to avoid confusion, please call the United States Information bureau."

In many leading hostelries the original signs have been removed by the management because irreverent and harassed visitors tampered with the placards.

They changed them to: "If you want to get things done in a hurry and to avoid confusion, go home and vote the Republican ticket in 1944."

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Loman

THE retailer is taking one of the worst beatings inflicted by the war. A misinformed public sometimes calls him selfish and unpatriotic when he complains angrily about OPA ceilings. Since he does not know the tricks of pressure politics he is tossed around in Washington. But now is the time to present his side of the dispute.

One of his chief grievances against Prentiss Brown's organization is the unbusinesslike and arbitrary manner in which it sets so-called average prices. In many instances resulting profit margins are slim or nonexistent, so that the man behind the counter may choose one of three courses of action: 1. Continue to operate with a mounting loss to the point of exhausting his capital; 2. Eliminate the sale of expensive items and thus drive customers elsewhere; 3. Patronize the black market and charge accordingly.

Deals with illicit suppliers and the confusion about the meaning of decrees daily mimeographed by the Washington agency are causing a breakdown in the entire federal regulation system. A recent survey conducted in Detroit shows that 45 per cent of all chain units and 65 per cent of independents were then actually violating—either unwittingly or deliberately—one or more OPA orders.

The law-abiding shop proprietor is not protected by his government; he is the victim of unwisely conceived and improperly enforced rationing and price controls.

TAPE: The little fellow is squeezed from many directions. Two illustrations picture his troubles. The wholesale price of pork products was placed at such a lofty level that the merchant could not dispose of his wares and recover what he had to pay the packer.

The situation developed last December, but it was not until recently that a modicum of relief was granted by Washington. Delay, according to the OPA, was because the Price Control act had split responsibility for agricultural commodities between the Brown branch and Secretary Wickard's department. While these two bureaus were hemming and hawing, the small trader suffered.

The ceiling for gloves is a figure set by Washington at a point supposedly halfway between normal high and low prices. In a dozen pairs the first sale includes the base cost—procurement, transportation, advertising etc. But the longer the articles remain on the shelves the more the outlay—for rent, interest, labor etc.—consumes the profit. Final costs are thus easily twice as burdensome as those taken into consideration by the District of Columbia bureaucrats when they delivered their ultimatum.

Grocers, dry goods sellers and owners of variety stores are carrying on despite growing lacks and employe turnover often as great as two hundred per cent. Bosses frequently toil an eighty hour week, with red tape paper work added to their regular tasks. Now the OPA is depriving them of the chance to make an honest penny.

CALAMITIES: Headlines draw attention to China's immediate peril as the Japanese offensive through Western Hupeh Province pushes nearer to Chungking. But dearth of communications has kept news of an even greater tragedy from American readers. Chiang Kai-shek's representatives in New York at last have been apprised in detail of one of the greatest catastrophes of even our terrible age.

Famine is rampant throughout Honan province, the Yellow river section horthwest of Nanking. More than three million starving refugees are fleeing from the doomed land. Those too weak to escape face a cholera epidemic. Chinese doctors realize that with their tiny supply of medicines they cannot check the plague.

Eyewitnesses note that the miserable inhabitants are devouring the barks of the trees and slimy weeds raked out of stagnant pools. Villages are deserted. Highways crowded with the staggering masses are strewn with corpses. Relief is extremely dfficult as trains to the stricken area pass close to the Japanese lines and hostile artillery uses the cars for target practice.

It is knowledge of such calamities that depresses the spirits of the generalissimo's soldiers and government employes and explains Chungking's frantic appeals for help before it is too late.

Here And There In Texas

By BRACK CURRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

A PARALYZING shortage of oil will grip the United States, perhaps by 1945, unless wildcatters are offered an immediate incentive to find new fields.

This is the grim prediction of members of the Texas Railroad commission, of leading members of Congress and of producers who maintain that a crude oil price increase is essential to furnish a profit motive to prospectors.

As one of the most vigorous advocates of parity prices for crude, Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson repeatedly has placed this warning before federal authorities.

Here is his summation of the oil industry's argument for the price increase—a statement that covers arguments advanced by Commissioners Olin Culberson and Beauford Jester, by producers, and by members of Congress, including Speaker Sam Rayburn and Rep. Wright Patman of Texarkana.

Anticipated "Real" Shortage

Says Thompson: "There is going to be a real shortage of oil throughout the nation, perhaps as early as 1945, unless something is done to get the government price-fixers to allow the price of oil ot increase as it should be allowed to increase."

"We are consuming around 1,500,000,000 barrels of oil per year in the United States. Last year we discovered only 260,000,000 (Million) barrels in new fields. Thus it can be seen that we are discovering oil only about one-fifth as fast as we are consuming it."

DURING the last five years, says Thompson, oil was discovered at an average rate of 559,000,000 barrels a year. In this period consumption has soared above discoveries.

Oil, he continues, has sold at one price for the last five years—at an average of about $1.20 a barrel. During this time the cost of drilling and producing has steadily increased. The result: profit steadily has declined. Many independent operators have been compelled to quit business.

"Approximately $75,000,000 of independently owned oil properties have been sold to the major oil companies in the last six months," states Thompson. "This is because they cannot see any way out, so they are getting out, paying their debts and going into some other business.

"This is not desirable because in the past it has been the independent producer who has gone out and discovered new fields—we call them wildcatters. If the price of oil is not allowed to increase, the major companies will buy them all out and then we will have a monopoly of the oil business by 20 or 30 big companies."

Picture Gradually Changes

In 1941, Thompson recalls, 77 per sent of all new fields were discovered by independents while in 1942 the figure declined to 48 per cent.

He adds: "It is my thought that, with oil so important in the war effort, we cannot afford to fail to offer the incentive that will bring these independent operators back into the drilling business so that they will go out again and discover new fields."

STATING that a direct relationship exists between the price of oil and the rate of discovery of new fields, Thompson asserts:

"It has been very well demonstrated that the price of oil at a given time will control the rate of discovery of new fields two or three years thereafter. In other words, if the price of oil is raised in 1943 sufficiently to encourage the independent wildcatter to go out and hunt new fields, we will begin to feel the effects of that increase in newly discovered fields that will be brought in in 1945 and 1946."

Thompson lists his basic contention as this:

"If we are going to be needing more oil in 1944 and 1945, then we should promptly allow the price of oil to increase, certainly on a par with the cost increase incident to the business of discovering and producing oil."

Other States Active

Arkansas, California, Illinois, Louisiana and Kansas now are producing crude to the limit of their production facilities, says Thompson. That leaves Texas and New Mexico as the only states that can produce more oil without causing physical waste or damage to wells.

"Texas and New Mexico could probably produce 400,000 barrels a day more oil than we are currently producing," Thompson suggests. "These 400,000 barrels will be called daily before this year is out or certainly before the next year, and we will find ourselves woefully short of oil."

THOMPSON concludes: "It seems that we are about to reach the time when we will begin to have all the rubber that is needed. It certainly would be a sad commentary if we should arrive at a time when there is plenty of rubber for military and civilian purposes and then be short of gasoline. I think it would be a catastrophe in many ways and I can see a real military need for immediately hunting up new oil fields and bringing them into production."

CHICKENS-TURKEYS. Star Sulphurous Compound—given in drinking water or feed destroys the intestinal germs and worms that cause most all diseases as they enter the fowl in feed, preventing most all diseases. Also rids them of blood-sucking lice, mites, fleas, blue bugs and red bugs that kill many of your chicks. Cost very little to use. Money back if not satisfied. Mark Halsey, Drug Stores.

Western Prolfics
Most popular cotton in West Texas because its earliness and prolific fruiting has made more dollars per acre.

Has thin rind bolls that open early and its lightweight burs make high gin turn outs from snapped cotton.

Not a long staple cotton but its ⅞ to 15-16 staple has made $5 to $10 per bale more than cotton from Georgia seed.

Stays in the boll better than most cottons which is an advantage that saves lots of cotton if hands are scarce.

On R. D. Holmes land in 1942 Western Prolific planted 13 days after Hybreed opened at some time and made more cotton per acre.

These seed have been Kemgas delinted and graded and then dusted with Ceresan to protect the seedlings from disease germs in the soil.

HALF & HALF PEDIGREED SEED FROM SEED FARM NEAR VERNON, CERESAN TREATED, GERMINATION 94%
This is the thin rind, light burr, high linting, early strain of Half & Half kept pure by a prominent seed grower who commenced working with Half & Half when its originators switched to Hybred.
An average of 1,600 pounds of snapped cotton made 500 pound bales. It is not unusual to get a strict middling 500-pound bale from 1,500 pounds of snaps.
This is short cotton 13/16 and ⅞ inch staple but it went in the Government Loan at better prices than staple cotton because it made higher grades.
Recleaned and graded fuzzy seed in new 1 bushel cotton bags at $8.80 per bag.
Kemgas treated-tested seed at $11 per 100 pounds.
Mail check and we ship freight prepaid to your railroad station and you save time and tires. We allow freight if you call for seed.

Navy's Physical Demands Relax

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—The Navy announced formally today that it had reduced its physical requirements for induction of men through selective service.

"Under the joint induction procedures with the Army, substantially lowered standards for general service will go into effect," a statement said.

One effect is to make Navy standards coincide with those of the army in most respects.

Adopt Army Yardstick

Requirements now are generally as follows:

Vision—The Navy requires color vision; the Army does not. Otherwise vision standards for Army and Navy for general service are the same.

Height — Maximum for the Army is 78 inches; for the Navy, 80 inches. Minimum for both services is 60 inches. Formerly the Navy required a 62-inch minimum height.

Venereal disease — The Navy will accept men with acute, uncomplicated gonorrhea. The Navy will not accept men with cardiovascular, cerebro-spinal, or visceral syphillis, or active syphillis requiring treatment. Men with adequately treated syphilis, other than the types mentioned, are acceptable. Formerly the Navy would not accept individuals with venereal disease.

Missing Fingers No Bar

Extremities — Previous Army regulations governing loss or incapacity of extremities, including loss of either thumb or the right index finger or two entire fingers, will apply for both services, except that the Navy will not accept men who have lost more than one phalanx of the right index finger, the terminal and middle phalanges of any two fingers on the right hand or entire loss of any finger except the little finger or either hand or the ring finger of the left.

Teeth—The Navy will accept inductees without any teeth provided they possess healthy gums correctible by dentures. Heretofore the Navy has required sufficient natural or "suitable replacements" to accomplish the biting function satisfactorily.

Literacy — Army standards of literacy have been adopted by the Navy.

LAAF Has Four New Flying Instructors

Four new flying instructors, two recent graduates of Lubbock Army Air Field, and one a graduate from Pampa, have reported for duty at the Lubbock Army Air field.

Former graduates from LAAF are Lt. Christopher A. Sulzbach and Lt. Walter Hoerler. Lt. Sulzbach formerly resided at Lynbrook, N. Y. and he and his wife now reside in Lubbock at the Lubbock Hotel. Lt. Hoerler is from Bridgeport, Nebraska.

Lt. Henry W. Veller is from St. Louis, and was with the Cavalry prior to entering flight training. He and his wife now reside at 2305 19th street. Lt. Edward W. Rehanek is from Steubenville, Ohio and received his commission at Pampa.

Dominica was called Sunday island by Columbus because he sighted it on that day in 1943.

RECORD RIVETER — Big grinning Denver H. Spann led the five-man team that set a new world's championship riveting record at Los Angeles shipyards, driving more than 2000 rivets in 5 1-2 hours.

Governor Vetoes Remission Bills

AUSTIN, June 1. (U.P.)—Gov. Coke R. Stevenson in identical messages vetoed six tax-remission bills pased by the recent sesion of the Texas legislature. The vetoes were filed late yesterday, final day for him to act upon them.

The vetoes had been forecast even before the bills were passed. Stevenson said that "whether wise or unwise," he had made a commitment to veto any tax remissions in order to defeat passage of a bill to reduce the state advalorem tax limit one half.

The vetoed tax remissions would have applied to Dallas county for levee improvements; to Port Arthur and Freeport for storm protective works; to Crowell-Foard county and San Augustine city-county because of storm damage, and to Fayette, Colorado and Jackson counties for a river protection project.

Pretty WAAC Created Lots Of Attention, It Appears From This

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 1 (U.P.) An official release from Fort Knox today presents a few statistics on the social life of a WAAC.

The Army says these figures were taken from the diary of pretty WAAC Rita Smith of New Albany, Ind.

In one week, WAAC Smith was:

Asked for dates—26 times.
Whistled at—389 times.
Danced with—89 times.
Stood up—0 times.

Tree Crash Fatal For Curtis Officer

BRADY, June 1. (U.P.)—Injuries received when his plane crashed into a tree on a takeoff last Friday proved fatal to 1st Lt. Jack M. Shattuck, training officer at Curtis field here, it was announced today.

The officer, whose wife lives here, was from Dedham, Mass., and was a former Dartmouth college student.

PEACE STOCKS IN DEMAND

NEW YORK, June 1 (AP)—Selective investment demand persisted in today's stock market, especially for issues in the peace category, but many steels, rails, aircrafts and others with an armament rating were neglected.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks finished with a net gain of .1 of a point at 52.1, best level since Jan. 3, 1940. Of 900 individual issues traded, 371 were up, 305 down and 224 unchanged. There was a revival in low-priced utilities at the last and large blocks of these helped put the day's volume at 1,359,600 shares against 1,047,720 last Friday.

Chicago Great Western preferred joined the "new high" class with an advance of ½ at 20⅞.

Others at peaks for the year or longer included General Motors, Chrysler, American Telephone, Columbia Gas, Goodrich, Texas Co., R-K-O, Reynolds Tobacco "B," American Tobacco "B," Philip Morris, Johns-Manville, Du Pont and Westinghouse. In front were Commonwealth and Southern, International Harvester, Standard Oil (NJ), Liggett and Myers "B," Libby McNeill, Dow Chemical and Wilson Co.

Among losers were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Anaconda, Eastman Korak, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft and Glenn Martin.

Better performers in the curb were Sunray Oil, N. J. Zinc, Sherwan Williams, Aluminum of America, Lake Shore and Cuban Atlantic Sugar. In arrears were Brewster Aero, Electric Bond and Share, Glen Alden Coal and Lehigh Coal.

Leche Transferred To Another Prison

NEW ORLEANS, June 1. (AP) — Federal court officials said today that former Gov. Richard W. Leche was spending the remainder of his 10-year sentence for mail fraud in the federal correctional institution at Texarkana, Tex.

Leche originally was sent to the federal penitentiary in Atlanta. He was brought here several weeks ago to testify at disbarment proceedings brought against him by the Louisiana Bar association.

BOMBS WRECK HOTEL

BERN, Switzerland, June 1 (AP) A dispatch from Grenoble, France to the Geneva Tribune said today that several bombs wrecked the Grenoble hotel, requisitioned by Axis occupation authorities, last night. Other bombs exploded in headquarters of the collaborationist Doriot party, injuring six persons.

Freezing Yellow Pine Isn't Contemplated

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP) — Senator Connally (D-Texas) said today he had received definite word from the War Production board that, contrary to reports, issuance at this time of an order freezing Southern yellow pine lumber is not contemplated.

The Senator had transmitted to the WPB letters from four executives of large lumber companies operating in Texas, all expressing fear that yellow pine was to be frozen.

Don Campbell, chief of the retail and wholesale section of the agency's lumber division, wrote Connally that his section had been conferring with the Southern Pine War committee trying to figure out some way whereby production of Southern pine could be increased.

"Someone seems to have been travelling through Texas spreading the information that yellow pine lumber was to be frozen immediately and we want to assure you very definitely that at the present time, this will not be done," he wrote.

LUMBER PRODUCTION IS NEARLY SUFFICIENT

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP) — First quarter lumber production in this country was at a rate nearly sufficient to meet estimated military and essential civilian requirements, the War Production board reported today.

It is estimated first quarter production at 7,141,109,000, board feet, requirements for the year are estimated at 32,000,000,000 board feet.

Daily Crude Output Drops 14,685 Barrels

Grain..

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, June 1 (AP) — Rye assumed the leadership in grain trading today with the July contract advancing into new high ground for the season at the opening. Later profit taking sales caused a break of as much as 1 1-2 cents before resting demand steadied the market.

Later interest all but dried up with prices below the closing level of Saturday. Wheat and oats drifted with rye and trading came to a virtual standstill during the last hour.

Wheat closed almost at the day's lowest levels, off ½ to 1 cent, July $1.43¾, September $1.43⅞-$1.44; rye was ⅛ to ¾ lower, July 93½, September 91-91⅛; oats were unchanged to ⅛ off and corn unchanged at ceilings.

Win By Chinese Is Said Hollow Victory

China's "spectacular" victory in routing five Jap divisions is not such a great victory after all, according to Miss B. C. Ling, distinguished Chinese resident of Lubbock.

Miss Ling said that she regards the Jap "offensive" as purely temporary, and as designed wholly to compel Chinese to fight over the region in question.

She said yesterday that the battle meant that a large rice crop had been destroyed simply in the process of compelling the Chinese to fight over the area.

This, she believed, was the real reason, and perhaps the sole reason, why the Jap offensive was launched. It meant that a large rice-crop was destroyed just before it could be harvested.

This, Miss Ling said, meant famine, disease, and death for many Chinese.

Crop Harvest Brings Longer Rail Hours

TOPEKA, June 1 (AP)—Santa Fe railway shop workers at Topeka, Kan., Cleburne, Tex., and Albuquerque, N. M., went on a nine-hour work day today, making a 54-hour week, the company announced.

Topeka Shop Superintendent J. H. Armstrong said the longer schedule was necessary to get rolling equipment in shape to handle wheat and other harvests in addition to already crowded traffic.

Eleven Killed In Fortress Crash

PYOTE, June 1 (AP) — Eleven men perished in the crash of a Flying Fortress against a mountain peak in West Texas Sunday, the public relations office of Rattlesnake Army bomber base disclosed today.

It was the first fatal crash in five months of operation at the Pyote base, home of many of the famed Nineteenth bombardment group heroes.

The bodies of the eleven victims were found yesterday near the summit of a hill 50 miles north of Van Horn, Tex. One of the men was a radio instructor, flying with a crew in training. His name was not immediately released.

The other dead were listed as: 2nd Lt. Charles G. Ryan, co-pilot, Cocoanut Grove, Fla.; 2nd Lt. Frank M. Jones, jr., bombardier, Perry, Okla.; 2nd Lt. Joe A. Chamberlain, navigator, Houston, Tex., Th. Sgt. William E. Clark, Monahans, Tex.; Staff Sgt. Martin J. Patten, Crestwood, N. Y.; Corp. Julian B. Wilkerson, Gainesville, Fla.; Sgt. Edward J. O'Hearn, Green Island, N. Y.; Sgt. John J. Hefferman, jr., Haverhill, Mass.; Sgt. Edward D. Reed, Manchaster, N. H.; Sgt. George W. Byrnes, Pawtucket, R. I.

The plane lost contact with its home field early Sunday Military and civilian aircraft joined in a search and the wreckage was spotted a few hours later. The salvage party scaled a precipice to reach the scene, near the top of a 5,000-foot peak.

THE FIRST THING TO DO—
REPRINT FROM AVALANCHE
IF
YOU ARE UNFORTUNATE ENOUGH TO LOSE ONE OF YOUR RATIONING COUPON BOOKS
If You Lose Your Rationing Coupons—
Board Outlines Procedure In Getting Duplicate Book
Persons who lose their ration books henceforth will be required to advertise their loss three times in the press, before they can obtain new books.
This requirement was announced Wednesday following a conference of Lubbock county rationing board officials, and applies to gasoline and sugar-coffee rationing books and to other rationing books which may be issued in the future.
They explained the procedure as follows: When a book is lost, the first thing the owner should do is to insert a newspaper advertisement. After the ad has run three times, the newspaper supplies the owner with an affidavit attesting to proof of publication. He should take this with a clipping of the ad to the rationing board office, 1215 Texas Avenue, where he must make application and a sworn statement that the book has been lost.
Officials emphasized that it will be needless to go first to the rationing board, that the initial act should be the insertion of the newspaper advertisement.
The plan is designed, they said, to aid the holder in locating his book and to protect him from use of the book by some unauthorized person.
INSERT A "3 DAY AD" IN THE LOST & FOUND COLUMN
A Small INEXPENSIVE "10 Word Ad" in the Lost and Found Column of the Avalanche-Journal, published for three days, will comply with the ruling now in force. Here is all it will cost to place such an ad in the Avalanche-Journal—
10 WORD AD PUBLISHED FOR— 3 Days WILL COST YOU ONLY— 80¢
IF Within THREE DAYS your RATION BOOK is not returned, the Avalanche-Journal will furnish you with an "Affidavit of Publication" This signed and notorized statement contains a copy of the ad, and certifies that you have complied with the Rationing Board's advertising regulation. Just attach it to your application for replacement.

Southwest Has Big Share In War Work

DALLAS, June 1 (AP)—The regional Office of War Information today offered this picture of the southwest at war work:

"Oklahoma, Louisiana and Texas citizens are turning out billions of dollars worth of war goods, buying hundreds of millions of dollars worth of war bonds, planting and harvesting millions of acres of food crops, processing billions of pounds of food items, and thousands e serving voluntarily in numerous war jobs.

"And southwestern workers are not striking."

(This was prepared by OWI before a union official announced that some 8,000 Oklahoma and Arkansas miners were remaining away from work.)

Nearly Billion In Bonds

The report on the southwest further outlined war-production activities:

In the two-year period from May 1, 1941, to May 8, 1943, Texans purchased $557,992,000 in war bonds; Louisianans bought $182,134,000; and Oklahomans purchased $149,027,000—a total of $889,153,000, enough money to buy approximately 4,500 heavy bombers.

OWI said the Office of Civilian Defense has registered 250,000 persons in Texas; 195,000 in Oklahoma, and 202,000 in Louisiana to help in volunteer home front jobs.

But the brightest side of the southwest's part in the war picture, OWI reported, is industrial output.

The southwest's economy, based primarily on the supplying of agricultural products and raw materials, has adjusted quickly to accommodate $6,276,715,000 (billions) in major industrial war contracts since June, 1940.

Primary War Contracts

This figure, which represents primary war contracts awarded up to the end of February this year, divides into state totals as follows: Louisiana, $995,830,000; Oklahoma, $1,080,581,000, and Texas, $4,200,304,000.

Up to February 28 of this year, major war contracts let in this region amounted to approximately five perecent of the total let in the nation.

The complete story of the job the small war plants are doing to speed victory will probably never be told, because this segment of southwestern industry works in its own quiet and peculiar way," OWI said. "Garages, home hobby-shops and basements by the hundreds have been turned into war plants. Their operators work from early in the morning until late at night, turning out vital precision pieces for prime contracts."

Aircraft And Shipyards

At the other end of the scale are the aircraft plants of north central Texas and Oklahoma, swarming with tens of thousands of workers, and the huge shipyards and chemical and refining plants that dot the Louisiana and Texas gulf coast.

A breakdown of supply contracts in the southwest reveals that of the total aircraft orders placed in the nation between June, 1940, and March, 1943, amounting to $31,628,766,000, this region received $1,743,237,000; of shipbuilding orders, amount to $17,623,992,000 for the nation, the southwest received $1,092,000,000. Other contracts for war materi..l awarded in the region totaled $536,601,000.

"Records show that there has been an imperceptible number of man days lost in Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana industry since the beginning of the war," Floyd McGown, chairman of the Eighth Regional War Labor board, declared.

News Briefs

Four Lubbock relatives are expected to return today from Greenville, where funeral services were read Tuesday afternoon for Ensign Albert Henderson Birdsong, jr., who was killed Monday in an airplane crash near Grand Prairie. They are Mr. and Mrs. Joe W. Bowman of 1906 Twenty-ninth street and Mrs. Bert La Roe and daughter Martha, both of 1913 Twenty-fifth street. Mrs. Bowman was an aunt, Mrs. La Roe a cousin of the filer.

Lt. Joe McCraw, graduate Saturday from Kirtland field bombardier school at Albuquerque, N. M., will report to San Marcos and Navigation school, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Klaus McCraw of Lubbock said upon their return from Albuquerque.

Charlie J. Briggs and Marie Le Clair each paid $124.90 representing fines and court costs in liquor law violation convictions, C. R. Beason $49.90 on a similar conviction, and a deferred payment bond was posted by Robert L. Thomas, a negro who had pleaded guilty of having carried a pistol illegally, county court officials said Tuesday.

Pvt. Lynn Rowan of 2117 Fifteenth street reported to police the loss of a billfold containing his pass to Lubbock Army Air field and $18 in cash.

Rev. and Mrs. O. E. McGaw of Southland became parents of a daughter weighing 7 pounds 3 ounces on Sunday at Mercy hospital in Slaton. The infant was named Martha Carolyn. The father is pastor of the Baptist church at Southland and at Shallowater.

A WAAC recruiting crew will be in Plainview and Lockney Thursday and in Plainview Friday. This crew will include Lt. Rose Howlett, S/Sgt. Merita Mills, and Cpl. Virginia Miller.

Lt. Neva Kerr and Cpl. Audrey Wood left the Lubbock Army recruiting office yesterday to open a new WAAC recruiting sub-station in Childress. The West Texas district, of which the Lubbock office is the heardquarters, under Lt. Col. Marvin B. Durrette, now has sub-stations in Amarillo, Pampa, El Paso, Big Spring, Sweetwater, and El Paso. The Childress sub-station will take the place of Plainview, which office has been discontinued.

Lt. Mary Frances Goldman of Toledo, O., who joined the WAAC last Sept. 1, was commissioned Jan. 9, was assigned to the Lubbock Army recruiting office this week. She said she had realized a life-long ambition in coming to Texas.

The Oak Leaf cluster to the Air Medal has been awarded to First Lt. Charles R. Cook of Littlefield for exceptional aerial performance in the Tunisian campaign, the War department disclosed Tuesday. He is a member of the Northwest Africa Air force.

A son weighing 5 pounds was born to Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Edge of Lubbock route 6 at 5:30 o'clock Tuesday morning in th eresidence, Porter Sistrand clinic reported. The infant was named Cecil Dewayne. Edge is a clerk at Ellwood grocery.

Letters To The Editor From Readers

POST-WAR PLANS

Editor, The Avalanche: Regarding the Ball-Hill-Burton-Hatch resolution which is now before the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations and which in effect pledges the nation to accept some responsibility for world order after the war, your position, as I understand it, is that such temperflarers should be quashed at this time in the interest of national unity. You may be right, though it seems fair to state that this is the position likely to be held by those who hope that such resolutions will be killed in the after-war let-down, inasmuch as a recent Gallup poll finds that more than 75 per cent of the American people favor some active U. S. collaboration in post-war organization. The issue must be faced sooner or later, however, and certainly discussion if not resolving is in order. Granting that the soldiers should certainly have the right to vote when they come back, it is still true that any national action now needed should be taken by citizens now on hand.

It is worth considering, then, that the resolution referred to above would be bound to have important repercussions in the nervous small nations of the world, who are still wondering whether, after all is said and done, we shall go once more into our shell. It could conceivably help a lot in the number one business of winning the current war as well as the number two business of slowing down future wars. Apparently that was the idea of the Senate sponsors.

You may have noticed that I didn't say "stopping" future wars. Honest Injun, now, don't you think that it is somewhat against the Marquis of Queensbury rules to hurl catch-words like "Utopia" around and about, except in reply to some enthusiast who really expects a sudden reign of sweetness and light? Of course, if such naive souls actually exist it is highly proper to lambaste them from here to there with the verbal paddle of common sense. But men like Governor Stassen of Minnetota (whose article, "We Need A World Government", appears surprisingly enough, in the conservative Sat. Eve. Post), Wendell Willkie ("One World" proponent), Ely Culbertson (see the February Reader's Digest), Fulton Lewis (who says we are "crazy" if we don't do something constructive, though he will "fight to the last ditch," even as would you and I, any "international W. P. A." which would regulate the private lives of Chinese and Patagonians)—men like these, I say, are probably just as convinced as you are that, come what may, Utopia is not just around the corner. So now, after that slap on the wrist, you'd better watch your step. I'll admit that in this field I lean constitutionally a little crossways to the way you lean; but doggoned if I'm a "Utopian."

At that I want to compliment you for as pat a phrasing of the isolationist position as I have ever seen. You say that personally you "lean against entangling post-war alliances with the greedy world powers, and toward the theory that the U. S. can do better for itself—and the world—by being so tough and so strong that it can keep peace and order without either help or hindrance from other nations." Of course, granting that from here on there will always be so much fighting on our outskirts that the taxpayers will keep up a continuous clamor for bigger and more expensive armaments, that South America will love us and trust us as we brandish the big stick, that the "bad" nations will absolutely refuse to gang up up on such n independent upstanding and fiercely scowling good nation, that the well-meaning Samuel, though primed to lick the world at 20-to-1 odds, will always be good to little children nations and never, never swerve from the path of Sunday School rectitude—granting all this, I claim that there is still a bit of theory and a hint of imperfection in your program as well as in ours. I'm afraid we'll just have to have some theory, however we try to get along.

But—no fooling—I really do think that your phrasing of the idea was excellent, though I might use a different adjective for the idea itself. Anyway, let's keep our tempers in this coming rumpus. We unquestionably need men like you to hunt valiantly for the flaws in every scheme. We constitutional optimists will try to give sympathic hearing to your exposures if you'll accompany each "No" with the admission and reminder that something has just got to be tried. And now I bow my head—you get the last word.

Yours anyhow,
R. S. Underwood,
Lubbock.

(Dear Dr. Underwood: Thanks for your thoughtful, well-written letter upon an important and highly interesting public question. I am sure readers will enjoy it. My recent blasts against Utopian fol-de-rol, however, were not aimed at the Ball-Hill-Burton-Hatch coalition which we noted editorially as having promise and as being the best movement of its kind to date. They were, instead, aimed at dear old "Uncle Fred" Delano and his parternalistic planning group, and at Hank Wallace's entirely sincere but wholly impractical desires to make Uncle Sam a wet nurse for the Hottentots. I agree that some sort of post-war planning should be done in the pcst-war world. But I have always thought, and still think that the men who are fighting the war should have some say in the matter and since they are busy at another job right now the Washington well-wishers should lay off the opium pipe until our soldiers, sailors and marines have an opportunity to be heard. After all, no matter what the Wallaces and the Delanos decide now, the fighting men upon return home, will have to O. K. those decisions before they can be officially adopted. For the returned fighting men will control politics and policies for a long time to come—which is as it should be. Cordially yours, The Editor.)

Tech Registration Is Scheduled Today

Registration started Tuesday at Texas Technological college for the first semester of summer school. Formal registration and scheduling of classes is to take place today in the library building.

After approximately 300 students had begun registration Tuesday, W. P. Clement, registrar, expressed optimistic hopes for a large enrollment, although most of those who started to register were freshmen.

Instead of paying fees before scheduling classes this year, Clement said, students will not pay fees until afterwards, because fees are assessed in accordance with the amount of work he registers for.

Classes are to begin Thursday morning at 8 o'clock and will continue through July 10, at which time the second semester will begin.

All-Synthetic Tire Is At McWhorter's Store

The first "S-3" all-synthetic tire, made from government rubber-styrene and produced in government-owned but factory-operated plants, is on display at the McWhorter Tire store, at 1008 Texas avenue, Goodyear dealer.

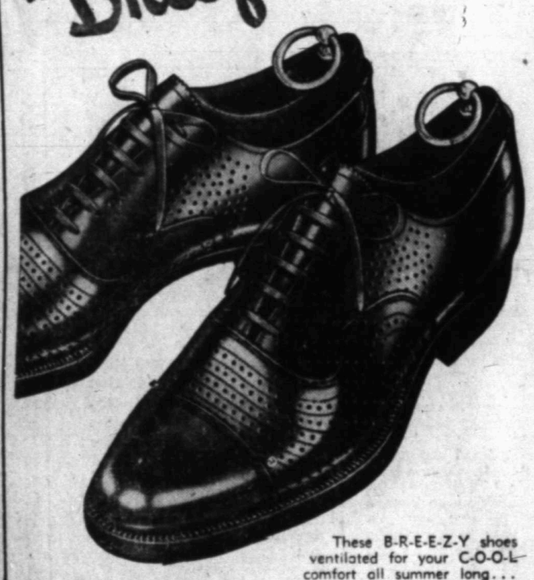

It is built of a "GRS" formula, described by Clint Keith, manager, as offering the best synthetic rubber thus far produced for use in tires and the result of years research and development by engineers and chemists of the rubber, chemical and petroleum industries, as well as those of the government—pooled to meet the present rubber emergency. They are not made of reclaimed or scrap rubber.
