Rebel Army Begins Crumbling As Escobar Plans Attack

MANZO FIRST OF GENERALS TO QUIT FIGHT

NACO FIGHT MAPPED

Battle Across Arizona Line Expected Within 12 Hours' Time

NOGALES, Ariz., April 12. (UP)—General Francisco Manzo, chief of rebel operations on the west coast of Mexico, crossed the line into the United States here tonight. It was reported that he had deserted the rebel cause.

General Manzo was accompanied by his chief of staff, General Bernal. It was said that they will leave for Los Angeles tonight and that arrangements have been made for 12 of their staff to follow.

The move was interpreted as the first step in disintegration of the rebel army.

EXECUTION OF MANZO RUMORED

AGUA PRIETA, Sonora, Mexico, April 12. (AP)—Increasing dissatisfaction on the part of Gen. Jose Gonzalo Escobar, supreme chief of the Mexican revolution, with officers heretofore considered loyal evinced itself today as rebels prepared for an attack on Naco within the next 12 hours.

Rumors that Gen. Francisco Manzo, until recently western leader of Mexican rebels will be executed because of his asserted willingness to listen to peace proposals from the Mexican government were circulated at insurgent headquarters here today.

General Escobar has ordered that General Manzo be relieved of his command and be escorted to Agua Prieta. Rebel officers claim General Manzo repeatedly attempted to withdraw from the revolution after an unsuccessful attack on Mazatlan, Pacific coast port. Intercepted messages to Mexico City, insurgents say, declared that Manzo would quit the uprising if promised immunity.

Preparations for an attack on Naco continued. General Escobar, with Generals Topete and Yucupicio and other rebel officers, has had his headquarters in the hills just south of Naco since yesterday morning. Because of delay in transporting the major revolutionary army through Pulpito pass after evacuation of the state of Chihuahua, General Escobar has decided to attack Naco without awaiting reinforcements, it is reported.

In a statement made to Mike Anglin, assistant district attorney, Friday afternoon, Harvill declared he and a girl companion had borrowed the car from another man to "go for cigarets" and had taken a short ride when they were accosted and fired upon by officers. Harvill was shot through one ear and cheek, but was able to be up Friday. He was released under a $700 bond. The Montgomery car had been reported stolen earlier in the evening.

Harvill's girl companion, held by the police Friday morning when Harvill fled, was released after his arrest a few hours later in a residence near the Henrietta road.

LEGALITY OF CHARGE LAID TO LONG ARGUED

ACTION POSTPONED

Accused Governor Seen In Senate Chamber While Debate Rages

BATON ROUGE, La., April 12. (AP)—The fight in the impeachment sessions against Gov. Huey P. Long burst today in the senate where a debate arose over whether the house still was legally in session and the second indictment charging bribery of legislators should be accepted.

Administration senators argued that the special session called by Governor Long was ended and questioned the senate's authority to pursue on house action.

Others contended that impeachment powers of a legislature were in order in special or regular session and since the matter was without precedent in Louisiana the senate postponed action on recording of the second charge until adoption of rules for the trial comes up next Monday night.

Long in Chamber

Governor Long appeared behind the senate rail for a few minutes today while the row over status of the continued impeachment sessions was on but soon retired again to his office under the legislative chambers.

The house failed to take a vote today on further impeachment charges but indulged in discussion of Governor Long's reported demand of signed resignations from the members of the Orleans levee board and his "flouting of the constitution" by seeking to bring William C. Thomas to Baton Rouge to "purge" him on cross-examination in a gambling suit on a subpoena in a bootleg case.

The first impeachment count charging intimidation of C. P. Manship, Baton Rouge publisher, was delivered to the senate before the special session which turned against the governor in their opposition to his tax on refiners oil expired.

Recesvese Monday

Both houses recessed for the rest of the week and will reconvene on Monday night.

Testimony in the house on the summoning of Thomas, proprietor of Tranchina's night club, furnished a backfire of recent military raids ordered by the governor on alleged gambling houses in Jefferson parish, and Thomas' suit against the state officials to recover money seized by tropos.

John Fred Odom, district attorney of East Baton Rouge parish, and his assistant, Fred Leblanc, said the subpoena was withdrawn when they were convinced of illegality of the attempt.

"I learned," Mr. Odom testified, "that he (Long) wanted Mr. Thomas here not to testify as a witness, but to get him into the parish on a criminal proceedings and then to use him in a civil suit."

"Did the governor say that was his intention?" Rep. Cecile Morgan of Caddo asked.

"Oh, yes."

DEBT EXPERTS FINALLY AGREE

Germany Asked to Pay 25 Billions for War

PARIS, April 12. (AP)—Germany's creditors for world war reparations agreed today on the sum they would ask for what is hoped to be a final liquidation of the financial question that has troubled the economic stability of two continents since the end of the war.

By noon tomorrow Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, chief of the German delegation, will have in his possession a complete plan, with annuities computed, representing the minimum which experts of the allied powers are willing to discuss with him for payment.

The total of annuities demanded by the allies is understood to be in the neighborhood of 100,000,000,000 marks (approximately $24,000,000,000) of which 70,000,000,000 marks would be payable in 37 years and the rest in the 21 years subsequent.

The German delegates are expected to ask for a delay of two or three days to study the plan.

It is interesting to note that the new allied demand is roughly $1,000,000,000 less than the $25,000,000,000 which the Germans originally offered at the Versailles peace conference and not one-fifth of the grand total of $128,000,000,000 asked by the allies before the conference opened.

McNutt, national commander of the American Legion, who will arrive at 2:05 p. m., according to local legionnaires in charge of preparations for his visit.

Parade Route

A parade has been planned to welcome Mr. and Mrs. McNutt to the city of Wichita Falls. Representatives of legion posts throughout the 13th district, members of the Forty and Eight and the legion auxiliary, and the Lions Club Boys' band will head the procession which will lead from the union depot west on Eighth to Scott, thence south on Scott to Ninth, thence east on Ninth to Indiana, thence north on Indiana to Eighth, thence east on Eighth to Holt hotel, which has been designated as headquarters for Mr. McNutt while in this city.

The latter hours of the afternoon will be devoted to showing the visiting party over the city and surrounding territory by automobile.

A banquet, at which Mr. McNutt will be the guest of honor, is scheduled for 6:45 p. m. Saturday at the Wichita club. Special invitations also have been issued to all graduates and ex-students of the University of Indiana, with which the national commander is connected in private life as dean of the law school.

The American Legion commander is regarded as typically American in the manner of having gained prominence not only in military organizations, but in the field of education, through his own persistence and quiet effort. Members of the local post declare that Mr. McNutt is one of the most capable and statesmanlike leaders the veterans' organization has ever had.

IOWA PARK FAIR MAY EXPAND

Community Fete May Become County Affair

Plans for widening the scope of the annual Iowa Park fair, making it a county celebration with enlarged departments, were discussed, and heads of the various committees to have charge of this year's fair on Sept. 26, 27 and 28 were appointed at a meeting of the Iowa Park fair committee at Iowa Park Friday, according to E. C. Knox, president of the chamber of commerce there.

Discussion of making the annual Iowa Park celebration a county fair was confined to tentative suggestions, Mr. Knox told The Record News by telephone. The fair officials, he said, will make a canvass of opinion of chamber of commerce officials in Wichita Falls and other surrounding towns, and if agreement is expressed from all sections of the county, plans would go forth to enlarge the local affair.

Should the affair be enlarged, Mr. Knox said, it would make the Iowa Park celebration even more of an attraction for people all over the county, in that it would mean enlargement of several departments of the fair, notably the livestock show.

The new fair committee chairmen named today include: B. L. Bradford, poultry; H. C. Golden, swine; Charles D. Winfrey, rabbits; E. C. Knox, dairy; Will Burnett, beef cattle; B. S. Coleman, sheep; E. J. Wilson, agriculture, and R. E. Brewster, schools.

Margaret Wright, 15, of Burkburnett Suffers Fatal Injury

PILOT IS UNINJURED

The girl, who sustained a fatal fracture at the base of the skull, was rushed to the Wichita General hospital, where she succumbed within ten minutes, hospital attendants said.

The accident was attributed to the wet pavement, caused by intermittent showers Friday night. The couple was riding with another, Vera Lee Reynolds of Burkburnett, and George Harrelson of Wichita Falls, who were likewise mounted on a motorcycle. They said the machine Carver was riding skidded from under him, throwing its riders to the pavement.

Dodson of Waco, director of the National Association of Credit Men, Texas district, featured the Friday afternoon session of the twelfth annual convention of that body which opened here at the Kemp hotel Friday morning.

Mr. Dodson discussed a number of plans which are now being used in the United States for the rebuilding of business institutions which have encountered financial difficulties, and for handling bankrupt estates in such a manner as to pay the creditors the maximum amounts possible from liquidation of the assets.

Mercantile establishments in this country were said to suffer losses annually approximating $1,000,000,000 through the necessity of "charging off" accounts collection of which has been finally classified as impossible. HOOVER TO PLY HUGE CUDGEL

Farm Relief Plans Must Suit President

WASHINGTON, April 12. (INS)—President Hoover stands ready to wield the big stick upon any congressional proposal for farm relief that ventures from the path he laid down in the last campaign, despite his reluctance to guide congress in the preparation and passage of a bill in the special session.

This definite impression was carried from the White House by former backers of the McNary-Haugen bill who fear Mr. Hoover's own ideas are too conservative to satisfy the farmers and who want to turn to the national grange's "export bonus" plan as an optional feature in the new legislation.

"Subsidy" Disapproved

While the president, according to his callers, declined to commit himself flatly because of lack of study of the measure, he indicated that he would not personally go into it by recommending that they consult experts of the department of agriculture.

Other officials in the confidence of the president, however, were outspoken in their disapproval of the grange plan, calling it an "an out-and-out subsidy."

Senator McNary, Republican, of Oregon, chairman of the senate agriculture committee, has proposed to write the plan, which calls for payment of a part of tariff receipts to farmers who export crops, into his bill which is to be presented to the senate next week as an optional plan.

At the same time, members of the house special sub-committee which drafted a new farm relief bill with the aid of friends of Mr. Hoover, omitted the plan and unhesitatingly declared that the president would veto it.

Nevertheless several members of both the senate and house agriculture committees have indicated that they would make a fight for the "export bonus" plan on the floor, reviving a semblance of the old McNary-Haugen issue between the White House and congress.

Hoover Consulted

Although the house sub-committee ostensibly is seeking Mr. Hoover's approval or rejection of its bill, it was learned that members have consulted the president and Secretary of Agriculture Hyde by a circuitious route in every step of the sub-committee that the bill represented Mr. Hoover's views that one member declared that the senate would have to accept the bill or take the responsibility for failure of farm relief.

This measure, designed to conform to Mr. Hoover's campaign speeches, is found solely upon development of cooperative marketing. It provides for a federal farm board, permits cooperatives to organize great stabilization corporations to buy and sell crops and thus maintain an even demand and keep up prices, and provides $300,000,000 to finance them.

HOOVER SHOWN BILL

WASHINGTON, April 12. (AP)—The new farm relief bill drafted by a house agriculture sub-committee was presented to President Hoover today by the five members of the sub-committee which worked out the legislation. They received the president's assurance he would examine the measure and give them any suggestions as to changes he thought should be made in it.

STRUGGLES OF BYRD ADVENTURERS TOLD BY MEN BACK HOME

12 ANTARCTIC MEN AT FRISCO

Exploration Party's Unprinted Experience Told

SAN FRANCISCO, April 12. (AP)—Twelve members of Commander Richard E. Byrd's antarctic expedition arrived today to describe the "heart breaking struggles" of the explorers in repeated encounters with the forces of nature.

The 12 men who arrived here are from the crews of the City of New York and the Eleanor Bolling who came from New Zealand to await a call from the antarctic expedition to return to the party.

Speaking for the party Lieutenant Adams said "press reports as to the progress of the expedition had been constantly coming from the base at the barrier, but little has been said of the heart-breaking struggles against hurricanes, mountainous seas and the blinding sleet which had to be overcome before the expedition was landed safely 80 degrees south, just 600 miles short of the pole itself.

"When the full story of the expedition comes to be written not the least enthralling chapter will be this epic of exploration where a handful of men carried their ship to the furtherest and most impenetrable spot of the globe.

Men's Courage Praised

"Indeed the single incident of the passage of the New York from the ice-barrier to Dunedin, New Zealand, on her way back is a marvelous tribute to the ingenuity and courage embodied in the whole expedition.

"Here 20 men, constituting the crew of the City of New York, having landed every possible ounce of coal and stores at the base, so that their fellows might remain in comfort during the six months of cold and darkness to come, resolutely faced an ever thickening ice-pack in the face of a possible freeze-in, far away from any possible aid, set forth on the return for the nearest land, 2,300 miles distant, Dunedin.

"With every rope swollen by ice coverings to 10 times the original diameters, an ever-growing belt of ice surrounding the ship, and under the intense cold, my companions found themselves 200 miles from the polar zone ice barrier in 10 inches of ice.

Fate Interposes

"However, that God of chance which oversees the fate of fools and the brave interposed its hand. Nothing short of a miracle sent a half gale from the south, and out of a clear sky a huge crack opened in the ice and permitted the New York, under a press of sail with the propeller pounding the ice floes, to forge into a belt of thinner ice.

"Yet here, even when the ship had come into clear water once more, there seemed no passage through the surrounding belt of ice. For days the City of New York sought some channel out of this narrowing harbor until finally one was found that led to clear water and comparative safety.

"During the remainder of the trip the City of New York was threatened by drifting icebergs until the craft docked at Dunedin. There the men, companions of the greatest and most beloved explorer the world has ever known, now turned faces homeward for a brief despite."

Printing was introduced into Mexico by the Viceroy Mendoza in 1536.

HE TAKES SARGON WITH HIM ON HIS RUNS SAYS FRANK

"On account of my work as express clerk, eating irregular and not always the best cooked meals I became very badly run down and debilitated with a case of chronic indigestion, that gradually weakened me, and kept me in bad health. Shortly after meals, no matter how light they were, I suffered with gas pains and bloating, that seemed to be worse at nights. This broke into my sleep, and in the day time I often felt like I hadn't slept any at all the night before. My condition finally became so bad that I couldn't even eat an orange or grapefruit without suffering afterwards, and my wife was very much worried about my condition. I lacked strength and energy and seemed to be always tired and listless.

E. D. FRANK

"Then I started Sargon, and I commenced to feel better right after beginning it. It is wonderful for bringing back strength and energy, and now, I feel like a different man. I enjoy my food, my digestion is fine, and I am never bothered with stomach trouble. I enjoy quiet, restful sleep, my color is good, and I feel better and stronger than I have felt in a long time. I always keep a bottle of Sargon in my express car so that I can take it when I am away from home."

The above statement was made recently by E. D. Frank, 1610 Twentieth street, Galveston, who for the past 22 years has been a railway express clerk. He is a Mason and a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks and is highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends.

Sargon may be obtained in Wichita Falls from the Renfro Drug Co., Eighth and Scott streets, No. 1 main store, and Seventh and Indiana, No. 2; in Electra, from Lough's Drug store; and in Burkburnett from Burkburnett Pharmacy.—Adv.

PROHI POWERS TO BE MOVED

Enforcement to Be Laid On Justice Department

WASHINGTON, April 12. (US)—President Hoover has definitely decided to transfer prohibition enforcement from the treasury to the department of justice, it was learned officially today.

Both departments are now working out the details of the transfer, but it has proved a tremendous task and it probably will be late in the fall before those who are studying the problem will have worked out an acceptable plan.

For this reason the president will not ask the extra session of congress to give him the legislation necessary to make the transfer. However, he has definitely committed himself to the proposal of co-ordinating all enforcement activities in the department of justice and will do so as quickly as possible, it was stated.

The president has reached this decision in the face of some opposition from the organized prohibition associations, who contend that the present system of law enforcement is adequate. He expects to encounter some of this opposition in congress, but those close to him assure him that the plan will be approved when it is finally worked out.

In the co-ordination the president will have the reorganized department of justice look after the enforcement of the anti-narcotic laws, which now is vested in a special division under the treasury department.

'VOODOOS' TRY ART ON JUDGE

Prisoners Pay to Have 'Spirits' Free Them

BEAUMONT, Texas, April 12. (AP)—"Voodoo" doctors who promise to "charm" Federal Judge W. Lee Estes, and "destroy his wrath," thus causing Negro gentry who go before him to "come out a free man" are being investigated by local court attaches.

The "voodoo" doctor, according to stories that have come to the court, remain in the hallways of the courtroom and for a sufficient sum of money promise to "bring down the spirits that will allay the wrath of the court."

The story ebbed out when Negro janitors in the federal building hurried to the offices of Charles P. J. Ledwidge, postmaster and custodian of the structure with the statement that "dem voodoo doctors is sprinklin' spirits on de steps and in de doors of the courtroom. We seed 'em wid our own eyes."

Then came the story of the strange ebony hued gents from "up east," who promised by "voodoo" to cause the negroes to "walk out of court free men" after the payment of a sufficient amount to have the court's "wrath allayed."

J. M. Singleton, deputy United States clerk from Jefferson said the same thing was worked on negroes in the state courts of his county, but the culprits were never apprehended.

The "voodooers" got by with their stuff alright as long as their clients happened to go free, but talk of "razor play" became current when a negress, who had paid to be freed, got four months on a liquor charge.

THE BLUENOSES, who insist upon abolishing prize fights, overlook the fact that nowhere else is self-confidence so effectively taught.

Many a man has learned from pugilism that a knock-down isn't a knock-out, and that there's always a chance until the last count and the final gong.

When nature started out to carve the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, she rubbed it down to tide water, particle by particle with a river, and spent God knows how many million years on the job.

Slap-dash young sculptors, bewailing non-recognition, should recall that Chrady drew plans and sketches, constructed models and destroyed them, plugging away for 15 years before he achieved a satisfactory Grant monument.

President Hoover has been given a gold harmonica by a group of Florida children. Perhaps it's just as well the White House is set off pretty well by itself.

We seem bound to have arguments with Great Britain over what we drink, whether it's tea or something stronger.

The Real Wanderers

THE MONTH of April is a bad time for the restless. It puts thoughts of adventure and wandering into men's minds, and makes distant trails and far-away frontiers look glamorous and inviting.

Down in the antarctic, Byrd and his men burrow into the ice and await developments in the loneliest land on earth. In Mexico young America naviators go zipping through the air, dropping bombs and firing machine guns for sheer love of adventure and $125 a day in gold. In the Pacific, Gifford Pinchot's barkentine pushes on to a fabled island of romance, and a millionaire paving contractor from Cleveland sails for the South seas and an undiscovered island paradise he learned about in a dream. Three Hollanders try to cross the Atlantic in a lifeboat, and dude wranglers from the western ranches are busy, in New York, taking the applications of easterners who want to play at being cowboys this summer.

All in all, the month is an adventurous one. And here we are, all of us, compelled to stay safely at home! We read in the papers about the brave wanderings of the more fortunate, but we know we can never go with them, and it makes us restless.

However, it is a question whether the man who stays at home does not get more real romantic thrillls out of life than the man who goes traveling. The chap who actually sets out adventuring is apt to get disillusioned quickly. He goes to the ends of the earth to see the storied places of his dreams and finds life there wags much as it did at home.

Bangkok, Khyber Pass, Port Said, Samarang, Callao, Rio, Punta Arenas—these are glamorous names. But when a man actually gets to one or the other of these places, what does he find? Glittering scenery that looks unreal, strange people who turn out to be very like the people at home, an eddying current of life that under the surface is identical with the life he has always known.

The glamour disappears; he notices that Shanghai has filthy alleys, that Smyrna is full of beggars, that there are many distracting insects along the Amazon, that Algiers is hotter than any place has any right to be. Worse yet, he rides through Penang in an American flivver, eats American breakfast food in Rangoon, sees an American movie in Port of Spain. His romance has faded like the mists of the morning.

But the stay at home never gets disillusioned that way. He is the one traveler who never gets footsore, the one globe-trotter to whom all places are forever new and fresh and inviting. The dull trappings of reality never cloud the sunless skies of his South seas. Burma and Socotra are always places on a different kind of planet, to him, inhabited by people who are essentially unlike the people at home.

Are you one of the multitude that does all its traveling in an arm chair at home? If so you are lucky. The world can always be romantic and glamorous for you. The names on the map that thrilled you when you first saw them will always thrill you. You can keep all of your illusions.

Cause for An Appreciation Week

THE RECORD NEWS knows of no more commendable project than that of "Appreciation Week" designated here by the junior division of the chamber of commerce from April 28 to May 4. Of all the towns in Texas, it seems to this newspaper, Wichita Falls needs more to pause in its activities to give some thought to the advantages and blessings of the town in which we live.

In its development of the last decade, Wichita Falls has had little time for introspection. It has been building too rapidly, at times with all the growing pains which mark the expansion of any city or enterprise. Natural advantages, coupled with the sound thought and constructive effort of a comparatively few early residents, made this country town into a city almost overnight when fortune and circumstance combined to offer it opportunity.

Somewhat like Gaul, it seems the residents of Wichita Falls are divided into three parts or classes: Those constructive builders who were here before the boom, those who came with the boom and have remained to adopt this as their "home town," and those who have remained to complain that the old town "aint' what she used to be."

The feverish activity of the boom is gone forever. Wichita Falls' spurt has settled to the long steady strides of the marathon runner, and those strides even in the last two years have not compared unfavorably with the gait of other major Texas cities. The difference between the boom days and the town today is that the goddess luck now smiles on the workers, the pluggers, the efficient and the loyal more than on the daring, the reckless and the blind take-a-chance boys. Fortune today favors the owner of farm lands, industrial stocks, investments and all the sound projects of this area, rather than the possessor of a rabbit's foot taken at midnight in a negro church yard.

It is fitting that the junior division of the chamber of commerce, composed of the younger business and professional men of the city, should propose and sponsor "Appreciation Week." It would be a good spring tonic for most of us to sit for a week at the feet of such men as R. E. Huff, Frank Kell, J. A. Kemp, W. M. McGregor, Jim Marlow and others of the type and learn something of Wichita Falls, as well as something of the gratitude and love which men should hold for their home town.

We complain of the low price of oil; they remember the time when all the oil here could be put in a half dozen kerosene barrels. We worry of irrigation and farm problems; they recall the time when for miles this whole area was sun-parched and barren, when water was almost as precious as oil today, and when there wasn't enough cattle, let alone green lawns, shade trees and flowering shrubs. We wonder if something has happened to real estate; they remember when Indiana avenue could have been purchased for $200 a front foot, instead of $2,000.

List the names of the most optimistic, the most visionary and the most constructive men and women of Wichita Falls, and the names of the old timers will lead "all the rest." They KNOW their home town. Every week is appreciation week to them.

A KISS A DAY

Now science tells us that kissing is an exercise that makes for health by speeding up sluggish hearts and increasing the circulation of the blood, and recently a group of chorus girls took part in a scientific kissing test which showed that the stimulus of kissing created a real good response from a health standpoint.

We are waiting for the doctors to begin prescribing kisses, and for men and women to walk about with special doctor's certificates entitling them to spoon in public for the sake of health.

Men who haven't done so for years will begin kissing their wives with great ardor—what difference that will make in matrimony and the entire field of domestic relations!

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

The Influence of Pursuit and Search Tactics on the Spring Power-Boat Ads

For Sale—36-foot cabin cruiser with complete cruising equipment, including shell-proof staterooms, iron hats, and form letters for complaints to congress; boat incapable of speed greater than six knots an hour, which reduces prospects of repeated boardings by coast guard men to a minimum. Any reasonable offer considered, as owner has become gun-shy. Box 16, General Delivery.

PHILLIPS

Twenty-eight-foot power-boat offered at a bargain for a quick sale; makes 14 knots per hour, exclusive of illegal holdups; needs a little repairing where bullets have chipped deck; has sound-proof compartment for putting women and children when government dry agents come aboard and begin profanity; owner is disposing of vessel because he desires to spend a summer unmolested. Widgett, phone 3-4567.

To Charter—Beautifully appointed day cruiser, 32 feet over all; in good shape except for rudder carried away by random shot from coast guard ship, which mistook it for rum-runner; engine has been removed, which makes it an entirely safe ship in which to spend the season; owner has decided to sell vessel and enlist in Mexican war. Phone Academy, 5784.

Will Sell—My 32-foot speed-boat, "Unhappiness," to anybody who will make decent cash offer; great chance for somebody who craves excitement; answers rudder quickly and will come about at first sign of firing; sedan top lightly riddled by mistake; owner would like to keep boat but his wife is too nervous under fire. Twilight Yacht agency.

Opportunity—Will exchange new 50-foot Deisel-powered cruiser, in first class condition and with every convenience, including emergency hospital, for rowboat, raft or canoe; this boat was bought last year at a cost of $26,000, but owner, after one attempt to enjoy unmolested cruise, is determined to get craft that cannot be mistaken as member of bootlegging fleet; might consider washtub with outboard motor. Captain Beetle.

Pumping Station Gullibility

A dumb young man is Willis Wrenn
Whose brains are weak, if any;
He asks the man for gallons ten—
And thinks he gets that many.

The Important Point

"I know," said the prospect as the power-boat salesman concluded his glowing description of the 36-foot cruisette, "but how does she act under shell fire?"

Charlie Chaplin says he will never appear in a talking picture. Not, at least, until somebody produces a custard pie with sound accompaniment.

Try to Beat 'Em

At that moment when a paragrapher gets the idea he is pretty good, he might profit from a reading of some of Ed Howe's best as reprinted in "Plain People." Here are a few:

In a country town a man hears gossip about his sin coming home from it.

A pessimist is foolish one way and an optimist is foolish the other.

You may talk all you please about patriotism and religion, but a right good love affair moves a man more than anything else.

Gentlemen talk of government by the people, of the people and for the people. There never was any such government; that was one of Abe Lincoln's jokes.

Except the flood nothing was ever as bad as reported.

The most fun offered the public for a dime is a wavy automobile track known as the Ocean Wave. Wichita now has one, four miles out Henrietta road. Drive out and try it once. A pleasant surprise awaits you.—Adv.

New Road at Quanah Is Nearing Completion

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, April 12.—Travelers over highway No. 5 west of Goodlett to the Childress county line must travel the old roadbed for a time while contractors are putting the finishing touches to the new dump and pouring concrete to complete this pavement.

Delay on this highway west from Quanah has been caused by the lack of rain since the dump was thrown up last summer; but since the heavy rains three weeks ago work can now be rapidly proceeded with. A water line has been laid three miles to connect with Groesbeck creek to secure water for the dump and concrete mixing.

Mrs. T. A. Baker was leader and gave a paper on "Voltaire and Rousseau—Criticism and Comparison." Mrs. J. Will Gray discussed Debussy and Bizet, and Jean Corot and Francois Millet were the artists on whom Mrs. J. E. Kanaster talked.

A delicious salad plate was served to Mesdames T. A. Baker, D. K. Bell, J. Will Gray, Harvey Harris, J. E. Kanaster, Thelbert Martin, W. A. McCarty, J. J. Thomas, W. B. Whiting and J. C. Whittenberg.

Mrs. M. D. Rowe entertained the New Century club. This organization had a program on the archaeology of the western hemisphere and the program was of unusual interest. Mrs. Rowe had slides sent out by the visual extension board of the University of Texas, archaeology department, and the excavations and Indian mounds of the state were shown the club women.

Roll call was answered with songs or description of Indian art.

Mrs. Burnside gave a most interesting talk on the Indian excavations given by Dr. Burnside to the Smithsonian institution. His collection was a very unique one. Among the articles donated was a book of drawings the date of which was quite old and which the institution values highly.

Mrs. T. T. T. Reese wrote a splendid paper on recent excavations, which in her absence, was read by Mrs. J. W. Grisham. The lovely Indian melodies given by Mrs. Luke McCrory finished a program which was outstanding in interest.

Martin gave a review of "Dream of the Red Chamber," an old Japanese book by Tfao. The book has been revised and rewritten several times, but Tfao was original author and it is said to be a very beautiful book. The members declared it beautifully reviewed.

Members present were Mesdames J. W. Akin, T. M. Conrey, C. H. Clark, John Caldwell, W. W. Cook, E. T. Duff, Arch Dawson, W. W. Fraser, Ola G. Hamlin, T. A. Hicks, John M. Martin, John S. PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

We read that we owe to China the parentage of the modern rose, primrose, forsythia, peony and chrysanthemum. We extend to China our sincere thanks. The rose has been a part of our lives. The peonies we did not once like, becoming acquainted with them in an old country garden where the gardener called them "pinies." Later we visited a peony farm and saw acre after acre of great, fluffy, pink and white and red blossoms and fell for it as a decorative wonder. But somehow, our love goes out to the sweet and perfect little flowers—the snowdrop and violet and lily of the valley. Not that we do not thrill over lilacs and iris and poppies and larkspur, in which Wichita is rich, but there's a tenderness of a sort in the lure of little flowers. And there's a thrill for all blossoming fruit trees.

Oh, These Women

By LEOLA ALLARD

NEW YORK, April 12, (US)—A lady in Los Angeles, signing herself "Mrs. R. G., an ardent feminist," writes me she is tired of seeing me continually sticking up for men and knocking "the doings of women in the matrimonial field."

"The men," says she, "bless their boyish hearts, have a champion booster in you."

She doesn't know how funny that is. I've had such bad luck with mine. But I still believe they are the fairer sex. The lady has no idea what 17 years around divorce and domestic courts can do to establish an opinion. Fifty million men can't all be wrong!

Mrs. R. G. says to me, says she: "Since Adam's time have men ever ceased to lay the blame for practically all of their sins and shortcomings at woman's door? And do you really think they need you to join in their tirade?"

"I can assure you that the female imperfections cannot begin to compare with the many vices and unfairnesses that are almost universal characteristics of the so-called stronger sex."

"In practically every phase of life," says Mrs. R. G., "men have always had by far the greater advantage over women until recently when women began to indulge in divorce. You can therefore scarcely blame the women if some of them have taken all the advantage they can of the one case in their favor." (She admits they do!)

"All the mercenary and preverse qualities you may find in them have been developed through men's treatment and nothing else." (Then I didn't just imagine them to be mercenary and preverse).

"I myself feel that it is the very depths of something for a woman to accept alimony when she has no children or to sue for breach of promise. Not because it is unfair to the men—let them pay and pay—but because it serves to establish women's inferiority complex, which to me is the worst of all crimes." (I hadn't noticed much of that).

"There is nothing essentially feminine about that form of graft." (Graft, eh?)

"I'm sure I've read that men sued women for alimony and breach of promise in Russia, where they have established equal rights for both men and women, there are twice as many men receiving alimony as vice versa."

(So that's the equal rights the women want! The privilege of paying the alimony? It can't be true!)

The interesting letter ends: "So, don't you think it would be more fair and right for you to help your sex to establish true equality and uniformity of rights rather than to sympathize with the wrongs of the poor, self-protecting, egotistic males? You could do so much to help us in your column."

My conscience wouldn't let me. If this ardent feminist thinks women are taking a mean advantage in divorce to get even for past wrongs to the sex, that they are "mercenary and preverse," and that when they get equal rights they have to pay the alimony, I simply couldn't. It wouldn't be fair to the women, and I want to be.

Do write some more. I'm a woman and I like an argument.

We Women

By BETTY BRAINERD

EQUALITY

THERE are still some men and a great many women who exhibit amusement or just plain indifference when they hear talk of equal rights for women.

I admit that some of the women who have labored hard for equal rights have done so with a lack of grace and taste and so have hindered the final fruition of the victory. Nevertheless, there is evidence everywhere of the oppression to which women have been subjected and held in a state of virtually complete subjugation.

And of all places, surprisingly, the church itself seems to be the one place where woman is denied the right and opportunity of leadership.

Indeed, the only way she can achieve leadership in the field of religion is to start a religion or organize a revival of her own!

Women are restricted to doing what may be described as the chores of religious work. And in modern times only three have risen to the eminence that is consonant with leadership: Mary Baker Eddy, Evangeline Booth and Annie Besant. Of course, there are such as Aimee MacPherson, but I am not sure yet whether she is primarily concerned with religion or vaudeville and self-exploitation.

These women—omitting Mrs. MacPherson—have all done pioneer work and so have risen to leadership. But the women who belong to the established religious orders are held to the rear files of the army of the Lord.

This seems to me to be singularly unfair in the full light of the lack of equality which this man-made and man-controlled civilization has imposed upon woman. Surely woman has a right to expect opportunity and consideration from the church.

I think women will get their opportunity in the church when the ecclesiastical authorities in convention assembled finally get around to the problem.

That ought to be done soon because I am sure it is not the intent of the church or its highest functionaries to deprive women of the opportunity to serve the Lord to the fullness of their ability and desire.

Sex unequality is a very real thing. It should be eliminated as much as intelligence and fairness will permit.

Real Ladies and Gentlemen Refrain From Slapping and Spanking, Etc.

Why the Girl Who Trades on Her Sex Is a Poor Sport—Does Husband or Child Mean More to a Woman? When the Girl Friend Vamps the Boy Friends.

Dear Miss Dix—My fiance said something to me that, although perfectly harmless, made me lose my temper and I slapped him. He shook me so hard my teeth rattled, and told me that if I ever slapped him again he would turn me over his knee and spank me. I realize I shouldn't have slapped him, but I believe that because of his superior strength he wouldn't be justified in spanking me if I should do it again. Am I right? Naturally, I don't want a man who is too weak to assert himself, but in the back of my mind I still have a picture of the Prince Charming who would forgive me for whatever I might do. What do you think?

—SALLY.

Answer: Well, Sally, fighting is one of the things that simply isn't done in our best circles. As the old melodramas put it, no gentleman lifts his hand to a lady save in kindness, no matter how much he would like to, and no perfect lady slaps a gentleman no matter what the provocation.

These personal attentions savor rather of caveman days than the present. Nowadays, when a woman wants to hand a man a wallop, she does it with her tongue instead of with her hand, and when a man wants to vent his temper on a woman he doesn't beat her up—he slams the door behind him and goes out and gets drunk. Both methods of dealing with the situation have their points and perhaps the caveman method was the less cruel, for a word can hurt as much as a blow and wounds in the heart heal slower than bruises on the flesh.

However, since you started the fight, it seems to me that you are a trifle unjust in resenting your fiance's comeback, and if you find it difficult to picture a Prince Charming who spanks his lady love, doubtless he finds it equally hard to visualize the girl of his dreams clawing him up.

But what I want to talk to you about, Sally, is the unsportsmanlike attitude you are assuming in taking refuge behind your sex, and in thinking that because you are a poor, little, weak, helpless woman you have a right to assault a man, and that his chivalry should keep him from defending himself. Don't you think that is playing it pretty low down?

Many women take the same attitude that you do and it has always seemed to me a mean and contemptible thing for them to do, but time and again I see women take advantage of the fact that they are women to say insulting things to men, to do grafting things, actually to browbeat and bully men and do many things to men that they would not have dared to do if the men could have treated them as they would have treated other men under similar provocation.

You can see this spirit illustrated in the way women automobile drivers hog the road, in the way they will push ahead of men who are standing in line at a ticket office, in the way they will pre-empt a man's seat in a place of amusement and keep it, in the things they will say when they row over a bill.

Above all, you can see it in the way in which so many women treat their husbands. In the lazy wives who will not keep house or cook their husbands a decent meal, because they knew their husbands are too much gentlemen to give them the thrashing they deserve for being so no-account and trifling.

In the wives who ruin their husbands with their extravagance, because they know their husbands are too proud to stop their charge accounts and publish that they will not be responsible for the debt they run up. In the wives who nag and fret and complain and make their husbands' lives a hell on earth to them, because they know their husbands' sense of honor will make them stick to the bargains they have made.

Above all, in the women who have never done one single solitary thing toward making their marriages a success, and who rush to the divorce court at the first ghost of an excuse and ask for alimony on the ground that they are poor, weak, helpless women.

We women fought a long time to get equality with men, Sally. Now that we have it, let's play fair, and when we fight men take the return blows without howling or expecting men to stand up and let us pommel them until we get tired. Let's show a little more sporting blood than that.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—At a gathering of friends the other evening a discussion arose as to which is the nearest and dearest to a woman, her children or her husband. I claimed that your children are dearer because they are your own flesh and blood. What do you say?

—MRS. E. J. R.

Answer: Depends upon the individual case. The French have a proverb that says that some women are all mothers, while other women are all wives.

This is true. There are women to whom husbands forever remain the chief object of their affection, who give to their husbands their time and attention, who seek to please them and make themselves attractive to them, and who sacrifice even their children to them, and there are other women who never even see their husbands again as anything but a slave to work for their children, after their first baby is born.

There are plenty of women who never dress up for their husbands, who never even think of their husband's taste and comfort when it comes in conflict with that of the children, who are never willing to leave the children to go out with their husbands, and who are perfectly willing to leave their husbands for months at a time to go off with the children.

So it depends upon the woman whether her children are dearer to her than her husband or not, and whether she is the lover or the maternal type. Incidentally, it is the woman who loves her husband better than she does her children who keeps him, and the woman who loves her children better than she does her husband who loses out in marriage. —DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am 18 and go with a girl of my own age. She is one of these girls who seem irresistible to men. I have introduced her to half a dozen of my boy friends and the instant they see her they fall for her and they drop me and forget I am alive. I want to be a sport, but it is hard to see a boy who has always asked you for dates vamped by somebody else. Please give me some advice.

—NORMA.

Answer: Self-preservation is the first law of nature, Norma, and my advice to you is to hunt up some less alluring girl to pal around with. There is no use in offering a competition in which you are bound to lose out, so if you are wise, you will find a girl friend who has just about the same amount of looks and attraction that you have.

The Cleopatras and Helens of Troy are never a riot with other women. And good reason, too.

Lancaster, Ky.—"Never in fifteen years have we been without Thedford's Black-Draught in our house," says Miss Susie Mershon, of this place.

"A long while ago I was suffering with a spell of indigestion and I was real sick. I read in a paper how Black-Draught was good for such ailments, so I thought I would try it. In almost no time, it had me on my feet again.

"Occasionally I have awful headaches—the blinding kind, which come across the front of my head and temples. This, I think, is a form of biliousness, and when I have one of these spells, I begin taking Black-Draught, a pinch after meals, and in a short time I am well. The headache leaves me and my color improves."

HERRICK SHIP LANDS TODAY

Metropolis to Honor Former Ambassador

in-law of the ambassador, arrived today from Paris on the Cunarder Aquitania. She was dressed in deej mourning. Ambassador Herrick's wife died in 1918.

Herrick's body, conveyed across the ocean on the French battleship, Tourville, will be brought ashore at the French line pier. Thence the funeral pageant will move to the Grand Central station.

Escorting the Tourville up the bay will be two American cruisers, the Marblehead and the Cincinnati, with their flags at half-mast.

As the funeral boats move past Governor's island the great guns of Fort Jay will roar a salute of 21 guns. The salute will be returned by the battleships.

At quarantine the Tourville will be met by the city boat, Macom, aboard which will be a party of notable persons.

At the pier, Herrick's body will be met by a group of federal and city officials. These include the president's representative, Post-Master-General Brown; the ambassador of France, Paul Claudel; representatives of the state department; Mayor Walker; the French consul-general, Maxime Mongendre; Police Commissioner Whalen; Maj. Gen. Hanson E. Ely; Rear Admiral Louis R. de Steiguer, and a deputation from the Ohio society of New York.

Herrick's body will be borne ashore by eight French petty officers. Four non-commissioned officers of the U. S. army and four chief pettey officers of the navy, will accompany the body from the pier to the railway terminal. In addition there will be an escort of mounted police.

As the column moves away from the pier, 19 minute guns will be sounded from Governor's island.

From this city, Herrick's body will be conveyed to Cleveland. A guard of honor will be placed aboard the train.

City Plans Elaborate Program Of Entertainment for Summer

Plans for the largest and most complete summer of free entertainment and directed recreation ever given in Wichita Falls are being made by C. C. Bunnenberg, city superintendent of parks.

The park department's recreational program this year will get under way early in May and will last as long as crowds turn out for the shows, Mr. Bunnenberg said.

The free vaudeville and motion picture shows held by the park department this year will be accessible to every section of the city. Under the present plans, the programs will be held in a number of different sections of the city every night in the week so that they can be easily reached by anyone wishing to attend them.

Amateur athletics, free motion picture and vaudeville shows and the Texas amateur tennis tournament will be among the activities directed by the park department this season.

This year will be the first time that Wichita Falls has ever been host to the amateur tennis players, Mr. Bunnenberg said. The tournament is generally held in Dallas, Fort Worth or San Antonio.

Activities in the recreational and entertainment sections of the park department this year will be supervised by three directors and the Camp Fire Girls, all of whom will work under Mr. Bunnenberg's supervision.

Legal Battle to Make Free Bridge Of Durant-Denison Span Opens Today

SHERMAN, Texas, April 12. (AP)—Officials of two states gathered here today for a legal battle tomorrow against the Red River Bridge company in an attempt to make the bridge between Durant, Okla., and Denison, Texas, free.

They were to seek an injunction against the collection of tolls by the company on the grounds that its charter does not comply with Texas laws. A temporary injunction was granted in the Durant, Okla., district court yesterday prohibiting the collection of tolls on that end of the bridge, and the bridge company promptly moved its collection office to the Texas end of the bridge.

If the state of Texas is granted an injunction tomorrow, the immediate effect would be to make the toll bridge free, it was pointed out here today.

THIEVES STAGE FIVE RAIDS

$400 Loss in Burglary Activities Thursday

Activities of house prowlers and burglars in Wichita Falls Thursday night accounted for a loss of more than $400, according to reports received at police headquarters Friday.

A check for $240, some articles of clothing and $38 in cash were stolen from a residence at 1711 Lucile street, the reports said.

Fred Fountain, city detective, who investigated the case on Lucile street, said Friday afternoon that he had arrested three negro men in connection with the case, but that he had not completed a thorough check on their activities.

L. H. Galloway, 1707 Elizabeth, reported the loss of a coat and six boxes of cookies from his automobile. A rock was thrown through the window of the car in order to gain entrance to the machine, reports stated.

Various articles of clothing valued at $87.80 were stolen from the home of G. T. West, 3208 Beech street.

Thieves took a Victrola valued at $40 and several records from the home of H. F. Manley, 2202 Bullington, while C. C. Scoggin, 2109 Eighth street, reported that six hens which were valued at $7 were stolen from his chicken roost.

CORN WAS MORE PRECIOUS THAN GUN POWDER . . . . .

Remember the Alamo! ... Remember Crockett, Travis, Bowie, its deathless defenders! Remember how Travis wrote in his appeal for aid, "The Lord is on our side! When the enemy appeared in sight we had not three bushels of corn. We have since found in deserted houses ninety bushels . . . !" ● Fighters, those men! Fighters of desperate courage; fighters who declared, "We shall never surrender or retreat." Fighters who lived on corn and fought with guns! Has the world ever seen such a glorious, yet hopeless defense; such refusal to admit the inevitable, even to the end? Thermopylae had her message of death — the Alamo had none! ● Americans, your history is rife with such heroism . . . it is written in the blood of fighters like these. And the same sentences that tell of desperate courage, invariably mention Corn. . . . Corn and gunpowder . . . the stuff that history is made of. The builders of America lived on Corn. 'MADAM X' RETELLS KIDNAP PLOT

HARDY JOINED IN 'FRAMEUP'

Accused Jurist 'Promised To Use Influence'

SACRAMENTO, Calif., April 12. (AP)—Testimony linking Superior Judge Carlos S. Hardy with efforts made by Aimee Semple McPherson to prove that she was not the woman who sojourned at Carmel, Calif., with Kenneth Ormiston, radio operator, at the time of her kidnaping episode three years ago, was given in the jurist's impeachment trial here today.

Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sielaff, known as "Madam X" in the kidnaping case, testified she and Judge Hardy had arranged to produce a woman who would admit having accompanied Ormiston to Carmel during the evangelist's disappearance, thus clearing Mrs. McPherson.

Mrs. Wiseman-Sielaff later came forward in the investigation of the McPherson case as the mysterious "Madam X" who was Ormiston's companion.

The witness said that at the time she discussed the matter with Judge Hardy she had never seen Ormiston.

Mrs. Wiseman-Sielaff said she asked Judge Hardy if he really thought Mrs. McPherson had been kidnaped and that he smiled and said:

"You know, Mrs. McPherson has done a lot of good for a lot of people and she will continue to do so if she can be cleared of this."

The witness said she told the jurist she did not know whether it would be safe "to go ahead with this proposition," and quoted him as replying:

"I am a respected judge on the superior bench in Los Angeles and have a great deal of influence."

Parleys Fail To Aid Austrians

VIENNA, April 12. (AP)—Eight days of parleys by leaders of the Rival Christian Socialists, or clerical, party and the Democratic Socialist, or workmen's, party have not relieved the governmental crisis in Austria. The leaders seemed as far apart today as they were when Monsignor Ignaz Seipel resigned the chancellorship.

On one side is threatened the establishment of a dictatorship and suppression of parliament unless the Socialists abandon their opposition to legislative measures. On the other is equal determination to guard the republic against encroachments by landlords, business men and former army officers.

Meanwhile, sporadic clashes between irregular military organizations maintained by the respective parties are keeping the republic in a state of perpetual turmoil and anxiety.

Stock Market Usages Arouse Senator Capper

WASHINGTON, April 12. (AP)—Condemning the flow of money into the "speculation-drunk stock market," Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas, declared today that the "situation should have the immediate attention of the extra session of congress."

Capper complained that money needed for the development of western business and the West's agricultural operations is going into the call-money market in New York where rates of 8 to 15 per cent have been offered. He made no legislative proposal.

SHIP SAILS TO PICK UP FLIERS

Food and Supplies Sent To Southern Cross Crew

SYDNEY, N. S. W., April 12. (US)—A steamer laden with food and supplies for the stranded Southern Cross aviators left Broome, Western Australia, late today for the Regent river, 30 miles from Port George, where the rescuers expect to pick up Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith and his three companions.

The fliers, who were forced down last week on the mud flats in the midst of a tropical rainstorm, were sighted yesterday by the plane Canberra, which flew over the ill-happed aviators for 45 minutes, dropping medicine, tobacco and food.

The pilot of the Canberra, Captain Holden, said he was able to recognize all four of the men, one of whom, Capt. C. P. T. Ulm, accompanied Captain Kingsford-Smith on the transpacific hop last year. Holden said the men showed signs of having done without food, but that they were near fresh water. The Canberra was prevented from landing because of the dangerous terrain, and flew back to Wyndham after notifying Port George authorities that the missing men had been found.

Sydney went wild with enthusiasm when news was flashed that Captain Smith and his companions were safe. Whistles and sirens were blown to apprise the residents of the city.

Other searching parties are now seeking Lieut. Keith Anderson, who disappeared while searching for Captain Kingsford-Smith. Lieutenant Anderson, although a rival of Smith's and suing the latter in court over the transpacific flight, volunteered his services in the search, as did Roald Amundsen when Gen. Umberto Nobile's "Italia" cracked up in the polar regions. Anderson's companion was Robert Hitchcock, of Newcastle Waters. They took off Sunday in a monoplane and have not been heard from since.

Two R. A. F. planes were dispatched from Melbourne today to search for Anderson and Hitchcock.

Record News Sports Editor

You hardly will know the Fort Worth Panthers when they engage our Spudders out at the lot today and tomorrow in the last exhibition games for both clubs this spring. Jake Atz, deviating from his usual custom of surrounding himself with veterans, particularly in pitching, presents a young club for the 1929 campaign.

Jimmy Walkup, who is slated to work today's game, is the only survivor of the mound staff from last season. George Bischoff is a holdover catcher. The infielders on the right side of the diamond, Jim Riley and Andy Harrington, the latter recently returned by the Detroit Tigers, and Eddie Moore, the fleet center fielder, comprise the only other regulars of last year's campaign who again are wearing Fort Worth livery. Larmon Cox, another outfielder, joined the Cats late last summer. He is a highly promising youngster.

Buzz Phillips, Carl Littlejohn and Dick Whitworth, veteran Texas leaguers but playing their first year for Uncle Jake; Devaney and Haynes, youngsters who had trials last season over at cow town but who were not regulars and Charlie Sullivan and Don Songer complete the slab corps. Songer is the right-hander acquired from Toronto of the International league.

Rookie at Shortstop

Fay Pierce, a kid shortstop from Fort Smith of the Western association, and Nick Urban from the International league, complete the infield. Jimmy Bryan, another colt from Fort Smith is the third outfielder and George Rensa, a promising kid, is another catcher.

Skipper Galloway further altered his batting order yesterday and it will be greatly revised list he hands to Ump George Barr today. Rabbit Benton will leadoff as usual, but Wally Swenson has been advanced to second in the order. Dick Sullivan will play center field and hit third in place of the limping Howard Fitzgerald and Bennett will occupy the cleanup post.

Brick Eldred will hit fifth and Turgeon sixth, with Clements playing first base and hitting seventh today. Frank Bud Stapleton, the first sacker recently purchased from the Montreal club of the International league is due to report today and will make his debut in Wichita Falls regalia in tomorrow's game.

Payne and Smith Pitch

George Payne will start this afternoon's pastime on the hill and Big Cy Smith will take up the burden when the screw ball master has had enough. Pete Lapan will be back of the log.

Both games start at 3 o'clock.

The athletes went through another long drill yesterday afternoon, marked again by extensive hitting practice. The Spudders attained a batting pace in the games with the White Sox that was indicative of direful portent to opposing pitchers in the championship campaign and batting practice throughout the week has further shown the fence sharpshooters are rapidly nearing their top form. Regardless of whatever else the Spudders have to offer this season it is assured that they will be a team of tremendous attacking force.

Sale of tickets opened yesterday at Miller's Drug store and Renfro's No. 1 Drug store, and the disposal of 1,500 ducats was reported by Secretary Guy Airey. Box, reserved and grandstand tickets may be obtained at those two stores and will not be sold at Spudder headquarters, except for blocks of seats from out of town.

Women's season tickets at $5, entitling the holder to see all games here except on holidays and Saturdays and Sundays also was started yesterday. Miss Bessie Brashear and Mrs. Mattie McDonald have charge of the sale of women's tickets. They may be communicated with by phoning 2-0566.

AMERICAN RYDER CUP Team

Gene Sarazen, open champion in 1922 and well up in medal play ever since, is one of America's old guard who will play in international competition for the third time April 30 when the Ryder cup is put up. The swarthy chap started his golfing life in his eighth year as caddie and grew by natural steps until, in 1920, he stepped out as professional. Two years later he won the biggest crown in golf and added the P. G. A. title in that and the next year.

Sarazen changed his style of play shortly after winning the open, a fact which removed him from competition for a time. His record of past years has re-established him as a firmer footing.

Rain Halts Texas-Aggie 2 to 2 Tie in 10th Inning

AUSTIN, April 12. (AP)—Rain which had been falling for 30 minutes put an end to the first of a two-game series between Texas A. & M. and Texas university in the tenth inning today and thereby ended one of the greatest hurling duels of the collegiate baseball season.

Both teams had scored two runs when the umpire waved the players from the field.

The British Colonial Empire now has an area of 2,000,000,000 square miles, a population of 50,000,000 and an expanding trade of $2,500,000,000.

California's Cry To Go Unheeded

Lake Placid Logical Site For Winter Sports

NEW YORK, April 12. (AP)—It seems difficult to get warmed up now over the award of the 1932 Olympic winter sports to Lake Placid, New York, instead of to one of the higher altitudes of California. Nor do observers expect any extended controversy over this division of competition between the East and far West, in spite of the challenge of California to the decision of the International Olympic authorities. Here are the facts of the situation:

1.—The 1932 Olympics as a whole were awarded to the city of Los Angeles specifically; not to California as a state or the United States as a nation.

2.—Los Angeles cannot itself furnish a site for the winter sports, nor has it the authority to dispose of them elsewhere; therefore the decision automatically reverted to the International Olympic committee.

3.—This committee, pursuing its functions at Lausanne, scanned some half dozen or more bids from various parts of the United States and one part of Canada, making the award to Lake Placid as an established winter sports playground in preference to such other bidders as Duluth, Minneapolis, Denver, Montreal and two California places—Lake Tahoe and Yosemite.

4.—There is no appeal from this decision of the international committee, dealing with a matter over which it has exclusive control.

WINS TENNIS TITLE

PINEHURST, N. C., April 12. (AP)—Miss Marjorie Sachs, young Boston tennis star, won the women's singles championship of the United North and South Tennis tournament today by defeating her fellow townswoman, Miss Clara Greenspan, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

A MALIGNANT jinx pursues Tommy Thevenow. In 1927, with the St. Louis Cardinals making a drive for the pennant, their brilliant shortstop was rendered hors de combat for the season. Heinie Schuble was rushed to the major league club from the bushes and did splendidly for a rookie. But Schuble was not, and is not, a Thevenow. The Cardinals did not win the 1927 pennant due, many critics believe, to the loss of Thevenow.

But it was no less a personal blow to this young shortstop, who at the time of the mishap was rapidly becoming one of the greatest infielders in the game. Recovery was slow and he was not a regular last year. This spring he was sent to the Phillies, the Gehenna of baseball players.

The change of uniforms seemed to give Thevenow a new lease on baseball life. He was playing great ball down in the citrus league and a return to nearly the form of 1927 was forecast for him. Several days ago Thevenow was seriously injured in an automobile mishap, down in Florida. For once, luck was with him. He escaped with his life. But his baseball future again is in doubt.

THE LOSS of Thevenow, even for the first two months of the 1929 campaign, is another blow to the Phillies, who already have suffered cruelly from fate in their efforts to arise above the depths of the cellar. Curly Ulrich, a highly promising pitcher, indeed, rated as one of the best righthanders in the game, died in the winter. Now Ray Benge, a youngster of great possibilities, has developed a sore arm that refuses to respond to treatment.

THE SINKER ball which enabled Wilcy Moore to achieve fame in 1927 as a pitcher for the New York Yankees, seems to take its toll from chuckers who employ it. Moore, idle all last season on his Oklahoma farm with an ailing arm, is trying to make a comeback. Wilcy's salary wing apparently is as good as ever, it is reported. But he is having difficulty in acquiring control. Which recalls a similar case.

Herman Pillette went to the Detroit Tigers a few years ago and stood the batters of the junior loop on their heads. His greatest reliance was a sinker ball. Suddenly he lost effectiveness. Ty Cobb retained him a couple of seasons in the hope that Pillette would regain mastery over the batters. His was a puzzling case. There was nothing wrong with his arm. He merely could not control his deliveries.

Pillette is now pitching with some success in the minors. His arm still is as good as ever. But he isn't the same pitcher that burned up the Pacific Coast league and the American loop for a brief span.

Moore and Pillette doubtless are wondering, what price the sinker ball.

The Davis Cup Outlook

Hope springs almost eternal in nearly every competitive breast where there is any opening for hope at all. Dr. Zuppke of Illinois, says that when hope is crushed all is crushed and there is little left.

Down South this last winter several members or prospective members of the American Davis cup team felt fairly sure that if Lecoste dropped out the United States had a great chance to win. Only recently Cochet was beaten in straight sets by Landry, and with this defeat there came another announcement that Lecoste would not have time to train for any international matches.

This would be unfortunate, if it worked out that way. Naturally the U. S. of A. would like to bring the cup home, but only through beating the strongest team the French could send into action. There would be no great thrill in winning where the cupholder had only half strength in the field.

Tilden is no mere youth, but Tilden, saved for the singles, should be able to hold his own with any one except Cochet and Lecoste. There is always Borotra, so the French cause would not be too indigo even if Lecoste dropped out.

The chances are that both Cochet and Lecoste will be found ready and waiting when the time comes. It took France too many years to win this cup to let it drift back again without rushing all the talent in sight to the front.

The United States team is strong, but its younger players still need more experience and improvement to be ranged with the best in France.

A Busy Young Man

Johnny Risko is going to win no heavyweight title, but he has been about as busy as any two of the others.

In his time he has forced Gene Tunney, George Godfrey, Max Schmeling, Jack Sharkey, Paulino Uzcudun, Paul Berlenbach, Young Stribling, Tommy Loughran, Jack Delaney, Tom Heeney and Von Porat, to mention only a few, but he was never given a chance with Dempsey.

When they figured that he was all washed up and through he stepped back with enough stuff to crowd it all over Von Porat, supposed to be one of the leading threats.

The fact that Max Schmeling is the only one able to stop him makes the German look better than ever. Apparently the astonishing Cleveland baker boy still had a lot left when Schmeling dropped him. At least, no other boxer, before or after, has been able to duplicate the performance.

The Next New Star

Paul Waner of Pittsburgh, was the last young star to show its light in baseball's firmament. It will be interesting to see whether the present season can give some line on another who will soon be needed to fill any number of open gaps caused by the passing of Cobb, Speaker and one or two more.

There were several young players last season who at least broke to a good start, but one year is no proof. Waner has proved his case completely. Including four years in the minors and four in the majors, his eight-year batting average has been around .365. That evidence is conclusive enough.

Waner's return gives Pittsburgh an outside chance, possibly something more than an outside chance, since Pittsburgh is stronger than her finish last season might have indicated. No team in either league ran into as many injuries and accidents as Donie Bush's young men encountered from April to August. About half the case was broken up for the first two or three months. Once they were all reassembled with the splints and bandages removed they played the best ball in the league.

There is no great choice among the first four—Cubs, Giants, Pirates and Cardinals. They have been pretty well bunched for two or three years and it was not until the Cubs bagged Hornsby that Chicago stock took a jump. The Hornsby punch, added to the blasting power of Hack Wilson, Cuyler and Stephenson, will mean a bale of trouble for opposing pitchers. But it won't mean enough extra strength to make the Cubs outstanding favorites over three such strong teams as the Giants, Cardinals and Pirates are sure to be with any even break in luck—luck meaning the amount of physical injuries that may break out.

"British pros quite anxious to get a look at Horton Smith."—News item. It is said that quite a number of pros on this side have been fed up looking at Horton Smith and would just as soon spend the rest of the season looking at some one else. Or anything else.

Tom Thevenow To Play in June

Phillie Prexy Says Injury Won't Slow Up Star

NEW YORK, April 12. (AP)—Bad as the infield situation of the Philadelphia Nationals is because of the injury to Tommy Thevenow, it might be worse, William F. Baker, president of the Phillies, expects the absence of his star shortstop to be only temporary.

THEVENOW

"I am not setting a definite date in my own mind for his return but I am perfectly confident that he will play ball for us in June. He was showing in the South that he was a better ball player then than he ever had been before and this unfortunate accident, I am sure, will not slow him up a bit," Baker said.

"Nothing to those stories that I am going to turn the managership of the Braves over to Johnny Evers," Fuchs said today. "Many of my friends have advised me to retire, but I will have to disappoint them for the present. I intend to be bench manager as well as president of the Braves when we open against Brooklyn next Tuesday."

Children's Diseases Are Unnecessary

Several hundred thousand children die every year in the United States from diseases which are absolutely unnecessary. Many people believe that such diseases as measles, chickenpox, scarlet fever and whooping cough are unavoidable, but this opinion is far from being true. We know that these illnesses are usually contracted because the child is exposed to these diseases, and the boards of health are undoubtedly doing much good by compelling known cases of contagious diseases to be isolated to prevent epidemics as much as possible. However, I want to impress upon the mind of every one of my readers that it is impossible for a child to contract these diseases unless it first has become weakened by enervation of toxemia. This condition is only possible when the child has been subjected to errors in diet, excessive mental strain, late hours, and lack of bathing or fresh air, or other unhygienic habits. The fault must usually be laid to a lack of knowledge on the part of the parents, as the child is almost completely under their control.

Nature should not be unjustly blamed for these diseases of childhood. The parents are frequently careless and permit their youngsters to do things which are known to be injurious, and one parent tries to outdo the other in bribing the child with sweets in order to gain the child's affection. Mother buys her loved one a lollypop, and father tries to go one better with an ice cream cone, then grandma comes along and treats to a bag of popcorn, while aunty feels that she is negligent unless she buys a sack of jelly beans. And so the game of bribing goes on at the expense of the health of the youngster whom they all love so dearly. When the child becomes sick, the parents are willing to spend any amount of money and many weary hours at the bedside in an effort to beat off the "demon" disease while nature is really trying to adjust the metabolism and bring the child through a difficult crisis.

Much the same causes are responsible for all of the chronic diseases of childhood, such as the enlargement of the tonsils and adenoids, bronchitis, catarrh and under nourishment.

If children are properly treated, they recover from these diseases with remarkable rapidity because their vitality is much greater than the vitality of adults. There is no doubt in my mind that most of the deaths occurring to children from the acute diseases are absolutely unnecessary and could have been avoided had the parents sufficient knowledge of the important subject of raising children.

Nature wants children to live and survive and they often do so even under tremendous handicaps. Even a child born in the worst surroundings from unhealthy parents can generally be made into a strong and beautiful specimen of health if the correct training is instituted at an early age. Food must be carefully selected and proportioned and combined with chemical exactness if the ultimate perfection in physical growth is to be hoped or.

There is no sound as sweet as the happy laughter of a healthy child. The responsibility lies entirely with the parents or guardian to make a serious and, sincere study of the principles of diet and child-raising. The results are so great and the efforts so small that no one should hesitate in taking up these studies.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Ductless Glands

Question—W. H. G. asks: "Will you please give me the name, location and function of that particular organ in the human structure which scientists of today are finding out is held responsible for most all the diseases we seem to be heir to and, at the same time, have learned that we individually, are able to control to the extent that we can keep from having all these troubles that the human family is complaining of today?"

Answer: There is no one particular gland which is responsible for the disease of the human body. Perhaps you are referring to the ductless glands of which there are quite a number in the body, each having special functions—some of which are unknown.

Olive Oil

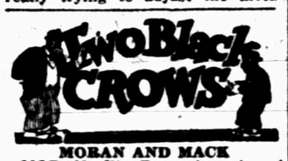

Question—A. S. B. asks: "Is olive oil too much fat for the body if a scant two ounces stirred in the juice of an orange is sued every night to prevent constipation?"

Answer: I see no harm in your using two ounces of olive oil a day, but this should not be necessary if you keep your diet well balanced and develop a good tone of your abdominal muscles.

Lump Over Navel

Question—D. M. G. asks: "What would cause a growth or lump just above my navel? It has been there for about three years, but hasn't bothered me until the last two or three months. Seems to pull or draw, and I can't bear for anything to touch it. Will you kindly tell me something about it? I am worried for fear it is cancer."

Answer: It would be difficult for me to advise you about the lump without having the opportunity of making a personal examination. Get your doctor's opinion as to whether it is a hernia or tumor, and if you will send me a copy of his report I will be glad to give you my advice.

MORAN AND MACK

MORAN: Big Boy, where is yo' goin'?

MACK: I'm leavin' this Mexican trouble flat on its hubs.

MORAN: Where is yo' goin' to from here?

MACK: Th' next stop will be from complete exhawstion.

MORAN: Kin I go with yo.'

MACK: Yo' is foolish if yo' don't an' yo' is silly if yo' do.

MORAN: Is yo' goin' to walk?

MACK: I'm goin' to stroll like a wildcat through a blazin' forest.

MORAN: Suppose th' Mexicans catch us?

MACK: We'll be in California by that time.

MORAN: They'll shoot yo' fo' desertin'.

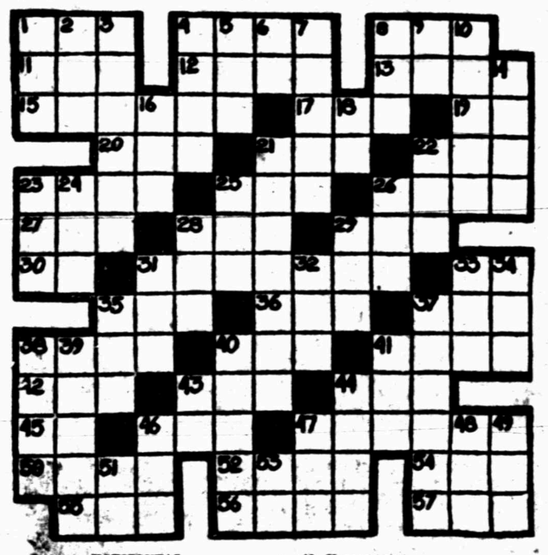

MACK: Every important race is started with a gun.

MORAN: What does we do in California?

MACK: We is goin' to sing in th' talkies. When it comes to hollerin' fo' help, I am th' world's greatest tenor.

Big Boy is on his way to Hollywood to sing for the talkies. His first job will be to write the theme song for A Scream in the Night.

Revenue Tax 'Clean-Up' Starts in Texarkana

TEXARKANA, Texas, April 12. (AP)—A long delayed "clean up" of internal revenue taxes is under way here, being conducted by a group of deputy collectors from the Little Rock office. The collectors are headed by Edwin Harris, chief of the field division.

The collection of overdue taxes in the form of documentary stamps on corporate stock, deeds and other legal instruments, and a check up of individuals whose income tax returns for certain years since 1924 are missing, are among the goals of the agents.

Texarkana never has been subjected to a thorough overhauling for delinquent miscellaneous taxes because it never has been the regular zone of a deputy collector, the agents said.

Export Demand Boosts Gasoline

Special to The Record News

TULSA, Okla., April 12.—An export inquiry is in circulation over North Texas for both 64-66, 390 endpoint and 64-66, 375 endpoint grades of gasoline, and the fact has strengthened the Oklahoma-Kansas situation.

U. S. motor grade is steady at 7¼ to 7⅜ cents a gallon over Oklahoma, and as demand is increasing refiners are more optimistic.

The gasoline situation generally is steadier. Word from the east tells of Warner-Quinlan company advancing prices a cent in Greater New York City, and Thursday the Atlantic Refining company put the market up a cent in Delaware and Pennsylvania and other distributors met the hike.

Kerosene market in Oklahoma is a trifle easier, with 41-43 grade held at 6¾ cents a gallon.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 12. (AP)—Early declines influenced by a better view of weather conditions in the south and indifferent Liverpool cables were followed by rallies on covering and trade buying in cotton here today. July contracts sold up from 19.85 to 19.99 and closed at 19.95, with the general market steady net unchanged to 4 points higher.

The market opened barely steady at a decline of 4 to 8 points under selling supposed to be chiefly for southern and local account. Active months sold about 6 to 8 points net lower under these initial offerings, with May declining to 20.44 and December to 19.85.

The market did not seem to pay much attention to rains in the Atlantic states or lower temperatures, but they may have increased the disposition to cover short contracts. There was also buying on the continued firmness of the near positions. May sold up to 20.58 and December to 19.98 during the afternoon or about 6 to 8 points net higher but the close was a few points off from the best under realizing.

At the close, May was 57 points over July compared with a difference of 60 points at the close of the previous day.

The week-end figures showing a decrease of 165,022 bales in the world's visible supply of American cotton for the week compared with 112,402 last year came in for some bullish comment, contributed to the steadier tone of the afternoon market. Exports today were 31,806 bales, making 7,078,467 so far this season. Port receipts 9,612. U. S. port stocks 1,548,998.

Ease in Call Money Excites Meager Rally on Otherwise Flat Market

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, April 12. (US)—Another extremely quiet trading market was experienced today with leading stocks scoring a little rally under the influence of ease in call money rate from renewal of nine to seven per cent. Early hours were the best of the day with some new buying brought in by the satisfactory showing in the reserve bank statements, the further reduction in brokers' loans and growing belief that there would be no increase in rediscount rates.

Steel moved ahead early but succumbed to late profit taking and closed the day practically unchanged. General Motors, however, enjoyed good demand throughout and closed for a point gain, while American Can gained 1⅛, Simmons two, and International Combustion 2½.

Indian Refining stood out in a generally strong Oil market while the Coppers were adversely affected by indications that the price of the metal was on its way to lower levels. Rails were quiet and fairly steady.

Steel directors, after their meeting Tuesday, are expected to announce that stockholders are offered the right to subscribe to two shares of new stock for each seven shares of common owned at price of $110 a share. At the current market the right to subscribe is worth $18 a share to stockholders. The value of the privilege is not the most bullish factor in the Steel recapitalization plan, however.

In wiping out its funded debt the corporation does away with payment of $30,000,000 annually in interest while at the current regular dividend rate, it will only have to pay out $15,000,000 in dividends on the additional amount of stock. There is the simplification of the capital structure to be considered also and the fact that retirement of bonds opens the way for distribution of substantial extra cash dividends to stockholders.

Durant interests were reputedly planning a demonstration against the shorts in Combustion, prior to Mr. Durant's sailing for Europe which was told of exclusively in this column. Durant, it is stated, is holding to his original big position in Combustion.

Johns Manville continued to be talked of as the favorite of the house on the corner. Kennecott is being quietly picked up by interests who expect a $6 dividend rate to result from the next directors' meeting.

Activity and strength in Yellow Truck follows formation of a $500,000 share pool to operate therein. The most important interests in the group have been friendly to Yellow Truck through all its adversity. Now that the corporation is operating in black figures they have added support. Under General Motors control, it is maintained Yellow Truck will gradually strengthen its position as a leader of the commercial motor industry. The group work in the common has attracted buying of the preferred for the dividend thereon is cumulative and continued improvement in earnings means early resumption of payments.

Kelvinator interests resumed operations in anticipation of a report showing the last month's earnings established a record.

Those who are most familiar with the affairs of Mexican Seaboard declare that there is no sign of interruption of its output.

Federal Reserve bank of Chicago directors met and maintained the rediscount rate there at five per cent. The showing in the reserve statements of condition as of Wednesday's close is the best possible evidence that an advance in the rediscount rates would be unwarranted. The reserve ratio in this district was over two per cent above the same day last year while gold reserves of the system are up $25,000,000 and the amount of reserve credit outstanding has been materially reduced. With the principal reserve banks in a strong position, it is felt that the reserve board will not dare take drastic action especially while congress is in session.

MID-WESTERN REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, April 12. (AP) (U. S. D. A.)—Opening hog trade around the 11-market circuit ruled steady to 10c higher, but later a weak undertone developed and at most points packers made their purchases at prices weak to 20c lower than Thursday's average. Chicago and St. Louis had a top of $11.80. Total offerings were around 54,600, a decrease of 6,800 from a week ago and 2,000 less than the corresponding day last year.

Fat lambs held steady at Chicago but most of the river markets reported weak to 25c lower prices. Chicago realized $17.50 on choice fed wooled lambs, and secured $16.25 for clippers. California spring lambs of good to choice quality at Omaha brought $18.50 to $19.25. Aggregate receipts were estimated at 43,300 as compared with 61,940 last Friday and 27,630 a year ago.

The cattle supply approximated 9,650, slightly less than a week ago and a year ago. Although the supply of fed steers offered at Chicago was meager a decline of 15@25c was enforced.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, April 12. (AP)—Sharp upturns in wheat prices today followed a broadening out of speculative buying in connection with growing optimism about farm relief developments at Washington. Much of the buying appeared to come from Eastern sources.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm, 1¼c to 1⅝c net higher, with corn unchanged, and provisions varying from 20c decline to a rise of 10c.

Strength in the wheat market became suddenly conspicuous shortly before noon, and was an outstanding feature the remainder of the day, although profit-taking on the bulge brought about something of a setback from the top level attained.

Corn displayed independent strength, and maintained a good advance in price for most future deliveries, with May up about 5c a bushel over last week's low point. Reports of improving demand for corn were current, especially good-sized sales at Omaha to the Pacific coast. Oats firmer, sympathizing with corn and advancing to the highest prices so far since December.

Provisions averaged lower on account of scattered selling and a late downtown in hog values.

DUN'S WEEKLY STATEMENT

NEW YORK, April 12. (AP)—Dun's tomorrow will say:

"Most of the statistical and other tests by which the status of general business is measured continued to show favorable results. Two weeks of April have passed with previous progress sustained and in some instances extended, and hesitation arising from monetary and speculative uncertainties is not widespread. Varying degrees of commercial activity naturally appear and some unsatisfactory aspects exist but encouraging phases, rather than adverse elements, retain the predominant place.

Weekly bank clearings $11,879,667,000, an increase of 7.1 per cent over last year.

Pints Drop From Cars In Auto Collision

BEAUMONT, Texas, April 12. (AP)—The bottom dropped out of the liquor market here recently when an automobile carrying whisky was in a collision on a downtown street.

The negro driver made a hasty flight before police arrived, and three burlap sacks of "pints and quarts" were grabbed up by boys who immediately started to "peddle" them at 25 cents a pint. Business apparently was good for not a bottle of evidence was available when police got on the scene.

"Happy Is the Man That Hath His Quiver Full of Them"

A house full of children is usually a happy house. Does not the Bible, speaking of little ones, declare: "Happy is the man that hath his quiver full of them?"

It is true that children are a responsibility. Children must be cared for—kept healthy and thriving. And they are meant to be loved, too.

Can a father do the right thing by his family by housing them in crowded, cramped, dark living quarters?

A father may well ask himself if he loved his youngsters well enough to provide them with a real home—out in the open spaces where children ARE children.

To provide such a home is not merely a postponed home—it is an actual present possibility even for the man who never has clipped a coupon from a bond.

You don't believe it? Well, you are dared to look today in the real estate columns of The Wichita Daily Times.

Jot down the address of the suburban places which sound interesting. Learn prices and terms. Have the agent show you these properties.

Take the first step toward home-ownership. Read the real estate ads in tonight's paper.

CREDITORS AID MANY FIRMS

Waco Man Tells How Experts Save Enterprises

tablishment to attain again to profitable operation.

Creditors' committees, assignments to individual creditors, the bankruptcy laws, adjustment bureaus, and the need of cooperation also were discussed by Mr. Dodson.

The convention opened Friday morning at 10 o'clock with Mr. Dodson presiding. Dr. S. S. McKenney, pastor of the First Methodist church, pronounced the invocation. A short address of welcome to the 150 visiting credit men was given by Hubert M. Harrison, manager of the chamber of commerce.

Mr. Dodson responded on behalf of the association.

Speakers during the morning included W. B. Hamilton of Wichita Falls who addressed the convention on "Looking Ahead." "The Cost of Carrying an Account," was the subject of a discussion by Samuel Geller of Houston. The operation of the "Business Service" plan was explained by George A. Coffey of Dallas. A short period of discussion followed each of the programed talks. The Wichita Falls association of credit men entertained the members of the conference at luncheon at the Kemp hotel.

200 Attend Banquet

Carl Wollmer of Fort Worth was the first speaker of the afternoon, his subject being "Credit Department's Responsibilities in Connection With the Methods of Retail Merchandising." The proper organization of a credit department office was discussed by Charles L. Berly of Beaumont. Practical benefits derived from the credit men's association in the direction of a business were detailed by Harold Hoefgin of Austin.

More than 200 men and women gathered at the Wichita club Friday night for a banquet given by the local credit men's organization to the visitors. Brace Bennett of Wichita, Kansas, a director of the national association of credit men, was the principal speaker.

Mr. Bennett discussed the national scope of associated effort's toward the elimination of "credit criminals," and toward the stabilizing of credit business of mercantile establishments with bona fide customers. The national association, he stated, has grown in 25 years from a membership of 4,000 men to the present enrollment of 28,000, comprising 145 local associations.

The national organization maintains four distinct service departments, Mr. Bennett stated, for the benefit of members. Frist is the reporting service, which gave 10,000,000 reports on individual cases in 1928 at approximately one-fifth the cost which members would have incurred. Second is the adjustment bureau, for helping embarrassed institutions to reconstruct their business. The third department is a collection service, while the fourth is the credit protection bureau, organized for the prosecution of "credit criminals."

Beeman Toastmaster

The 1929 convention of the national association will be held in Minneapolis in June, and Mr. Bennett stated that a determined effort is now being made, with good prospects of success, to bring the 1930 convention to Dallas.

W. O. Beeman acted as toastmaster. Entertainment for the affair was furnished by Joseph Rabinowitz, violinist, accompanied by Mrs. Pauline Slaughter; R. E. Shepherd, tenor, and W. E. Young, baritone, accompanied by Mrs. Shepherd and by Sammie Williams' orchestra, which played during the dinner and for dancing which followed.

The program for the tenth annual convention of the Wholesale Credit Men's Association of Texas, which will open at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning, is as follows:

Founder of Democratic Party Prevailed by Brains Instead of Oratory

Birthday of Thomas Jefferson Today Recalls Noted Works of Famous Leader

The man whose name today furnished a mental starting point for orations by the bushel, hurled from magnanimous minds of those who would see their candidate elected (thereby getting a good job themselves) so that the "principles of Jeffersonian democracy shall not perish"—that's him. And the average listener in the audience, hearing this flub-dub-dub, seeing those gesticulations usually conceives that the founder of the grand old Democratic party was something like the orator in front of them.

Yet Thomas Jefferson, whose birthday is being celebrated today (unless everybody forgets it) was essentially the studious scholar, renowned, it is true, for his political sagacity, yet a lover of the simple life, a cultured scientist, a musician, an indulgent farmer.

He it was who led the nation, not with oratory and flinging arms, but with brains, early in 1775, he saw that revolt from England's rule was the only policy. The Continental Congress thought otherwise. But his idea prevailed, and he was later called upon to write the Declaration of Independence, a document which, learned scholars declare the American people are just now beginning to comprehend.

He took but little part in the actual war for freedom, and for this he has been severely criticized by his enemies. He, like Mr. Kellogg, favored world peace; and, unlike Mr. Coolidge, he favored a small navy. And yet he saw, months before war was actually declared, that America must sever the tie with England, and he it was who took a leading part in promulgating America's freedom.

Jefferson was more the dreamer than the warrior. He was the founder of the University of Virginia. He drafted the statute of Virginia for religious freedom.

He was vice president from 1797 to 1801, during which tenure of office he caused to be born the Democratic-Republican party, which opposed monorchial tendencies of the Federalists. In 1801 he was elected president, and served two terms. In 1809 he left for Monticello, his Virginia home, where he lived the remaining 17 years of his life. There he was sought by scholars and searchers for learning from all over the world, and so indulgent was he that entertaining his guests took his fortune, and he died a bankrupt.

He was a dreamer, and a seer. He was often called impractical and absurd. But what would the sweating orator of today talk about if he couldn't praise "Jeffersonian idealism?"

Floyd Ard's Concert Fitting Farewell to Home Town Folk

By FRIEDA van EMDEN
Written For The Record News

Floyd Ard bade farewell to his friends in Wichita Falls last night and the audience at the Woman's Forum proved that Floyd has many friends.

He never played as well as he did last night, he was so calm, so at ease, utterly devoid of self-consciousness. There was a muture quality about his performance and a nice restraint, that did not fail to impress his audience. Maybe I am prejudiced in his favor, but I feel, that he will succeed as a concert artist.

His type is truly Nordic and his playing conforms to his type, intelligent, without being swayed overly much by emotion, not accentuating too much, but with true precision of rhythm and melody. His pianissimo was crystal clear and fine and much more precise than at any of his previous performances. He had chosen a varied and exacting program and the feat of mastering and memorizing it, without master or guidance in interpretation was in itself proof of his good taste perseverance and unquestioned talent.

His playing of the Beethoven Sonata in C Minor pleased his audience; after his Chopin numbers they waxed enthusiastic.

In group 4 he played Schumaan's Romance, reverently followed by a Sonnet in E Minor of his own composition. This sonnet throws a new light on the young artist and was clever and pleasing. The audience made him play it over. The third number in this group was "Der Nachtfalter," a Viennese waltz by Strauss. He played this waltz brilliantly and made us feel the effervescent spirit, the joy of living the very essence of the old gay capital. Still it had a slightly mysterious tinge, which was all very well in character.

He concluded his program with the Mozart-Liszt "Don Juan Fantasie," which though a fitting finale is always considered a severe task for any piano-virtuoso. Floyd acquitted himself beyond expectation and as if to show that even that did not exhaust him, gave as an encore Liszt "Liebestraum," playing it with such finess of touch, that his audience was spellbound.

This concert was a fitting farewell and I know that many who heard him tonight wish him well for the future.

Officers Hit at 'Easy Markets' Here for Disposal of Stolen Goods

Dealers Must Keep Closer Check on Ownership of Property; First Hearing Scheduled Today

Efforts of county officials to help check the widespread wave of burglaries and thefts here by closing all avenues of sale for stolen properties will be concentrated Saturday morning in a preliminary hearing following the discovery of a stolen handbag in a local pawn shop.

The hearing, to be held before O. L. Gibbs, justice of the peace, will follow the issuance of a search warrant, served after J. A. Sharp, complaining witness, declared the pawn broker had refused to restore his property until he had paid $12 plus a heavy interest rate. The bag will be brought into court for the identification of the owner Saturday morning.

County officials have determined upon the search warrant and proven identification method of recovery as a part of their policy in insisting on the cooperation of second hand dealers and pawn shop brokers in restoring stolen property and checking crime, Mike Anglin, assistant district attorney, declared Friday.

More and more stolen goods has been finding its way into second hand shops here within the past few months, Mr. Anglin declared. Dealers handling "hot goods" are liable to indictment for possessing and concealing stolen property and every effort is to be made by county officials to see that purchasers make a proper investigation into the antecedents of the goods they take across their counters, the attorney explained. The difficulty in absolutely proving that a dealer knew the goods he bought were stolen is a serious handicap, he added, but the new policy of the department in forcing the issue in every question, by swearing out a search warrant and bringing the case into court is expected to close many doors and tear down "fences" for questionable material here.

"When they can't get rid of the stuff anywhere in their neighborhood, two things will happen," Mr. Anglin said. "In the first place they won't want it without a quick cash market, and in the second place, they won't be able to evade detection. The goods will turn up on them and much of this burglary will get under control."

'Suicide Dinner' To Feature Talk By Van Houtte

To a capacity audience at the Kemp hotel Friday night, Dr. A. L. Van Houtte took as his theme "Beauty, Brains and Brawn." He emphasized the superiority of brains over the other two in getting at success in life.

"Brains radiate their power through the vehicle of personality," said Dr. Van Houtte.

"There are three negative personalities that loose out in the race. Human devil chasers who have plenty of pep, vim and vigor but no sticking qualities and owing to their impulsiveness, they often land in either the poor house or jail.

"Then the human skyrockets who also have a great deal of energy but like the skyrocket, they find themselves back home and broke. They are the dissipators who never have a safety margin in either health, wealth or character.

"Then the human pin wheels who run about in a circle using a great deal of speed and energy but always back to where they started. They lack vision, preparation and direction of character resources."

Dr. Van Houtte will lecture Saturday night on "The Shock Absorbers of Life," or "How to Overcome Worry." He will take as his health topic, "The Foodless Foods That People Eat Daily." During this lecture, Dr. Van Houtte will serve his famous "suicide dinner" during which the different kinds of foods which combined produce poisons in the body, will pass in review before the audience. The public is invited to attend.

LAKE BRIDGE READY IN MAY

Contractor Starts Work On Spillway Project

The bridge over the spillway at Lake Wichita will be ready for use by the latter part of May provided unfavorable weather does not hinder the workmen in its construction, C. C. Madsen of Denver, contractor, said Friday.

Work of laying forms for concrete slabs and other preliminary parts of the labor was begun Friday although work on the main part of the bridge probably will not start for at least another week.

The road over the spillway at present will be closed and a detour will be arranged immediately, Mr. Madsen asserted.

Madsen was given the contract by the state highway department which is to bear two-thirds of the cost of the bridge. The city will pay $1,500 of the remaining amount while $6,825.62 of the expense will be paid by the county.

The contract was granted to Madsen on a bid of $17,096.68.

NEW DUMP OPENED

BOUNDARY LINE MUDDLE STAYS

'Amicable Disagreement' At Texas-Okla. Parley

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 12. (AP)—Settlement of the border controversy between Oklahoma and Texas appeared as far off as ever today after the final meeting here of committees representing the two states.

Members of the Texas delegation unanimously took the position that Texas is so bound by its constitution that there is no way in which it legally can relinquish sovereignty over the 23,000 acres which will go to Texas under a decision of the United States supreme court.

The Oklahoma delegation contended that the land could be retained legally by Oklahoma through an agreement reached between Oklahoma and Texas, ratified by congress.
