BY FRAZIER HUNT

(Copyright, 1935, by NEA Service)

THE town of Gayville belies its name. I could discover nothing about it that even in the slightest resembled gaiety. Its few streets of miserable frame houses reflected the melancholy somberness of its gloomy existence. Like many of the properties in this part of Westmoreland County, Pa., its mines were in "retreat." They had seen better days.

HUNT

It was a Saturday morning when I walked along a rutted, yellow clay road and stopped in at the grey painted houses, set on stilts high above the level of the grassless lawns. Miner's wives were busy scrubbing their back porches, and I was touched by their brave effort to sustain self-respect and cleanliness despite grinding poverty.

"My husband only gets about two days' work a week," Mrs. Opsinick told me. "Things are hard when you have two growing children, but we've never asked for relief. Things are a lot better since the men are organized in a union . . . My husband and I both voted for Roosevelt and we're going to do it again. I guess everybody along here is for Roosevelt."

Speed Naturalization

DOWN the street I turned in at the home of Mrs. Poulich. Her boy helped translate the more difficult questions and answers. She and her husband had come from Czecho-Slovakia some years ago. Her husband had taken out his first papers and was hurrying through with his final ones so that he could vote. He would vote for Roosevelt. Yes, there were many foreign-born miners who, although they had lived here many years, had never bothered to become citizens. But they were taking out their papers now. Their union leaders were urging them to do it so that they could vote for Roosevelt next year.

We stopped a slender man with steel-gray eyes, who looked as if he might be 45. "Miners would like to be treated as well as the owners treat their mules," he said. "When they shut down the mines they don't turn the mules out to starve. And when they're working they keep their stables white washed and a vet looks 'em over every day. Mules cost money. Human beings don't. We just want to be treated as good as mules." But maybe he'd been fighting with his wife that morning.

We strolled along the back doors of the shacks. On one of the half-tumbled down porches an immense old colored woman was puttering around. My guide explained who I was and we fell to talking.

"We come up here from Alabama eight years ago," the old mammy said. "Times is bad but we's eatin' all right."

I suggested that of course she was a Republican. "You all means I WAS a Republican," she answered with a deep chuckle.

Subsistence Miners

WE left shantytown and drove up a winding clay lane to a long red shack nestling against the side of a shaggy hill, with oak and elm and hard-maple trees just beginning to turn golden and red. In front was an arbor laden with grapes, and below was a patch of field corn and a half-acre garden. To the right was a shed and tiny barn and, beyond, a pig sty and chicken house. A Jersey cow was munching grass in a little pasture beyond.

A smiling old negro came down the rickety steps and tipped his hat to us. He was "Major" Walker. He owned this four acres and the cow and sow and hens. He'd been a coal miner for 40 years. Now he was a miner and farmer.

This old darky has solved the problem of how to live. He is a true subsistence worker under his own power He eats his own home-grown food. He sleeps under his own roof. He farms two acres of his four. His white sow presents him with three litters of sturdy pigs every two years. His chickens and cow work for him while he sleeps. He is not in the slightest concerned whether he works two days or five days a week in the mines—or whether he does not work at all.

"Workin' people is got to come to this," the "Major" said, scratching his wise old gray head. "Maybe the government should have put all that money they spent 'feedin' folks into help gettin' 'em started

FINAL ACTION SAID NEAR

SENATE ADOPTION NOW LACKING ON PLANS FOR PENSIONS

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 8.—Senate adoption of a conference report stood as the only barrier today between Texas' first old age pension measure and its transmittal to the governor for signature.

Senate acceptance of a bill written by a conference committee would consummate legislative action on the principal subject for which the legislature was convened in a second special session to end Thursday.

Approval Overwhelming

Representatives overwhelmingly adopted the bill, 112 to 26, after rejecting, 57 to 75, an attempt to recommit it for liberalization and appropriation of $5,000,000 to start payments January 1.

Maximum state pensions would be $15 monthly, to which the attorney general has held the federal government could add $7.50. The state administrator, however, could reduce payments to provide only a

Light Rains Fall In Section Today

Turning from mist to a light rain shortly after daylight this morning, the South Plains area was visited by the first moisture of the month.

One tenth of an inch rain had been recorded at noon by the experiment station. The mercury stood at 46 at 7 o'clock this morning. Yesterday the maximum was 62 degrees.

Santa Fe reports said most of the territory to the west had had a mist, with a light rain following. Brownfield, Levelland and Bledsoe and up as far as Muleshoe, reported mist. Rain followed at most towns.

Fort Worth and Denver reports indicated the South Plains division had about the same amount of mist and rain as here.

Safe Is Blown In Bold Raid Today

CASH TOTALING $30 AND NOTES WITH VALUE OF $7000 TAKEN IN BROWNFIELD ROBBERY

(Special To The Journal)

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 8—Early this morning burglars entered the offices of the R. L. Bowers Grain Co., here, blew the safe and obtained about $30 in cash and notes with a face value of $7,000, peace officers announced.

The safe was damaged beyond repair, the explosive used completely wrecking it.

Offices of the Cicero Smith Lumber Co., here were also entered. The safe there was unlocked. There was no money in it and property was not damaged.

Officers found footprints outside the building when they went to investigate. Three hours later rain had obliterated the tracks. It was believed by officers the robberies took place shortly before dawn. No one heard the explosions.

Connection between the local robberies and the looting of a store at Lamesa the night before, was advanced by some.

Party Leaders Are Drafting Program

FIRST TEST SCHEDULED WITHIN TWO MONTHS AND MORE COMING

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—With the 1936 elections out of the way, party leaders and candidates turned their attention today to preparations for preliminaries of the 1936 campaign—the rapidly approaching primaries and conventions.

The first of the 1936 primaries is little more than two months off. This one, in Louisiana, will be the prelude to a long line scattered from January to September.

Plans Being Formed

Party conventions, to nominate presidential and vice presidential candidates, are expected to be held in June as usual, and political leaders are already making plans for them. Meetings of the national committees must soon be held to fix the exact dates.

Within the next couple of weeks, calls probably will go out from both Democratic and Republican headquarters for meetings of the national committees in December. Those meetings will be chiefly concerned with organization matters and arrangements for the conventions.

Two Sets Of Primaries

Two sets of primaries will be held during 1936 preliminary to the conventions and the November election. One set, consisting of the usual state nominating primaries held every two years, will run from January to September.

The other set, comprising at least 15 state presidential primaries, will run from March almost up to convention time.

The state nominating conventions are held to choose party candidates for state and local offices ranging from governors and senators down. Presidential primaries are designed to guide state delegations at the national conventions in voting for presidential candidates.

After the Louisiana nominating primary, there are no more of this type until the Illinois primary, April 8, almost three months later. But the presidential primaries begin March 10, with one in New Hampshire, and several others will be held soon thereafter.

Immense Struggle Believed Brewing

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. (AP)—A new and immense struggle over the utility holding company bill is believed to be an imminent probability, especially in view of a Baltimore federal judge's decision that the whole act is unconstitutional.

Some officials of the securities commission are known to believe that the Baltimore result will stiffen the resistance of the utilities industry, and that most of the holding firms will refuse to register with the commission at the deadline, Dec. 1.

Impeachment Count Is Drafted Today

DENVER, Nov. 8 (AP)—Formal charges of impeachment against James H. Carr, secretary of state, were drafted today by a committee from the Colorado house of representatives which last night shattered state precedent to impeach the 35-year-old official.

Carr, head of the statet liquor licensing department, was accused of malfeasance of office as the result of charges brought out in an investigation.

The impeachment resolution, approved 48 to 15, was the first ever voted in the state's 59-year-old history.

"OLD MAESTRO" TAKES NEW BRIDE BUT HE FORGETS THE CONVENTIONAL KISS

(By The Associated Press)

BALTIMORE, Nov. 8 — It's Ben-edict Bernie again.

The old maestro and Miss Dorothy Patricia Wesley, of Miami Beach, Fla., said "Yowzah" to a minister at Towson, a Baltimore suburb, last night. Today, they went to the Pimlico races. Tonight, they go back to New York.

The nationally famous band leader, divorced a little more than a month ago from the former Rose Harris, had all the earmarks of a first-run bridegroom.

When the Rev. Dr. Edgar C. Powers completed the brief ceremony, Bernie gulped dazedly. About six friends waited expectantly for the conventional kiss. Mr. Bernie nervously produced a cigar, puffed, shook hands with the minister.

The audience laughed. Mr. Bernie laughed. Still the new Mrs. Bernie remained unkissed. As the group began to don wraps preparatory to departure, she remembered something was

"Sky Is Limit" As Girls Scramble For Places In School's Aviation Class

(By The Associated Press)

PAINESVILLE, O., Nov. 8—Add flying to the curriculum of a girls' college and you have the latest thrill in the education of Miss 1935.

It's the newest course at Lake Erie college here and already has attracted more than 30 students and several members of the faculty.

Whether Lake Erie is the first woman's college to offer such a course is not known, but it is a fact that none is more popular.

Before beginning the course every student is required to present written permission from her parents. After that "the sky is the limit."

Flying Climaxes Course

First on the program is a thorough study of ground-work—fundamentals of flying and instruction on weather conditions. This is followed by lectures by pilots and demonstrations of parachute jumping.

The actual flying is the climax. Every student has two hours in the air sharing the controls with the instructor, Philip A. Meinke, operator of a flying service in nearby Willoughby.

At present, Miss Suzanne Grant of Columbus, O., now ready for her third hour in the air, is one of the advanced students. From the faculty are Miss Rheta B. Edmundson of Newport, R. I., and Miss Dorothy R. Corcoran of Painesville.

The pretty coed flyers hail from all sections of the country with the city of Cleveland leading with nine enrolled in the class. They are Mary Belle and Vivian Armstrong, Joyce Schelley, Gretel Gerstenberger, Eugenia Flanders, Alice Nagy, Ruth Warren, Pauline Swaim and Janet Walther.

Among the others are Ruth Mc-

(By The Associated Press)

NASSAU, Bahamas, Nov. 8—Reports reaching this capital of the Bahamas today said Commissioner John Eldridge Russell and ten other persons were drowned on Great Abaco when hurricane winds swept the island Sunday.

Five vessels of the sponge fishing fleet were destroyed, it was reported, while three others were badly damaged.

Other property damage was said to have been small.

The hurricane was the same that lashed Miami Monday, causing five deaths in the Miami area and doing property damage set at $3,000,000.

It passed over Great Abaco just after changing its course from south to west or west southwest.

The storm, most of its fury blown out in the Gulf of Mexico, was reported by the weather bureau today off the Florida west coast in the vicinity of Cedar keys.

Results were: McDonald, 494; Needles, 704.

After election totals had been announced shortly after polls were closed at 7 p. m., Needles reiterated a pledge to serve to the best of his ability.

Appreciates Support

"I appreciate the support of Lubbock citizenship as reflected in the special election," he said.

"Looks like I ran a good second," was the comment of McDonald. He had not learned of ballot totals almost an hour after the polls were closed, and declined to make a statement for publication.

Voting Thursday morning had indicated a total of no more than 850 votes, but heavy late-afternoon balloting ran the total to an even 1,200 votes, two of which were muti-

FASCIST FLAG IS PLANTED IN TOWN

EYES OF LEADERS ARE TURNED ON FURTHER LAND TO CONQUER

(By The Associated Press)

Italian troops marched unopposed into the Ethiopian city of Makale today. Tersely, General Emilio De Bono, commander of East African Fascist forces, reported the victory to Rome.

"Our flag, which was lowered Jan. 22, 1896, from the fort at Makale, was unfurled anew over that fort at 9 a. m.," his message said.

Deserter Enters First

Striding before the Italian columns, Ras Haile Selassie Gugsa, Makale's former governor who deserted to the invaders' side, was the first to enter the conquered city.

Behind him, Italian legions poured in from three sides, their advance unhindered. Eight miles to the east a column of blackshirts under Gen. Ruggiero Santini occupied the village of Dolo.

City residents who had not fled before the occupation came forward to greet their conquerors with white flags, smiles, hens and eggs.

Defenders Leave City

The defending khaki-clad forces of Emperor Haile Selassie's army had left the city before the Italian march started at dawn. They lay between the vanquished city and the Ethiopian stronghold of Dessye, 200 miles to the south.

The Italian victory came on the sixth day of the campaign for Makale and thrust a spearhead out from the old Fascist frontier of Adigrat-Aduwa-Aksum.

Delayed two days by rain, the Italian forces paused on the overhanging ridge north of the city. Reports of scattered bodies of defenders led the invaders to expect skirmishes, but the opposition disappeared before the blackshirted columns.

Sets Up As Governor

Ras Gugsa set himself up as governor of Tigre province in the palace he had deserted. Makale is to be his capital and headquarters for the invading army.

Already the Ethiopian defenders are preparing for action at Dessye. From Addis Ababa copies of the ark of the covenant were en route to the field headquarters under the protection of magnificently attired priests.

The departure of the emperor for the front was believed imminent. Crown Prince Asfa Wosan, his 20-year-old son, arrived at the capital from Dessye yesterday.

In the south, Prince Ismail Daoud, nephew of King Fuad of Egypt, departed for Harar in command of an Egyptian red crescent unit.

IT WORKED FOR ME

Women should take only liquid laxatives

MORE people could feel fine, be fit and regular, if they would only follow the rule of doctors and hospitals in relieving constipation.

Never take any laxative that is harsh in action. Or one, the dose of which can't be exactly measured. Doctors know the danger if this rule is violated. They use liquid laxatives, and keep reducing the dose until the bowels need no help at all.

Reduced dosage is the secret of aiding Nature in restoring regularity. You must use a little less laxative each time, and that's why it should be a liquid like Syrup Pepsin.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if it doesn't give you absolute relief, if it isn't a joy and comfort in the way it overcomes biliousness due to constipation, your money back.

BETTY WAS FRAIL AND NERVOUS —READ WHAT HAPPENED THEN

... And Now Read What These Mothers Write:—

"My little girl, age seven, has always been rather nervous, underweight and a light sleeper. A week ago she began drinking Ovaltine, and it is hard to believe she is the same child now. That tired, languorous feeling is gone, her appetite has improved 100%, and it is a pleasure not to have to scold her about eating. Also she sleeps splendidly. Ovaltine has certainly taken a great worry off my mind"—writes Mrs. Herbert Lee, 4437 Magnolia Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Another delighted mother, Mrs. J. H. Bowman, 4919 Natural Bridge, St. Louis, Mo., writes:—"Alice Ruth, who is 11, has been nervous all her life. If we took her to a movie or any place exciting, she would not sleep at night. Then I decided to try Ovaltine. Now she sleeps fine and is rapidly gaining weight."

These letters cover, of course, only 2 individual cases. Naturally, we do not claim or guarantee that similar results will occur in every case where Ovaltine is used. But this letter is so typical of thousands we have received, that we believe a thorough trial of Ovaltine is justified by every intelligent mother in similar cases of nervousness, poor appetite and under-weight.

Ovaltine is a delicious pure food concentrate first created in Switzerland (now made in the U. S. A.)—and approved by thousands of physicians. Already it has gained world-wide recognition as an important food for child-building—and is particularly noted for the remarkable increases in appetite, weight and nerve poise which so frequently occur when it is added to the daily diet . . . Ovaltine is also highly recommended as a strengthening food for nursing mothers, convalescents, and the aged—and for sleeplessness, when taken as a hot drink at bedtime.

For the sake of your child, try Ovaltine. You simply give it mixed with milk—either hot or cold—and children love its delicious taste. At all drug, grocery and department stores.

Fascist Italy Strikes Swiftly At War Profiteers And Many Speculators

MANY ARRESTS BEING MADE

SIX MEN GIVEN JAIL TERMS; ACTION ON SANCTIONS TAKEN

ROME, Nov. 8 (AP)—Fascist Italy struck swiftly today at war profiteers, speculators and those who circulate "defeatist" rumors.

Many arrests were made at Genoa. Six men were sentenced to five years imprisonment "on islands" in an effort to end speculation. The stores of other merchants were closed temporarily and the proprietors lost their membership in the fascist party.

Many Arrested

Among those arrested were foreign exchange dealers and persons suspected of speculating in foreign money and selling the lira below the official price. A coal dealer was held for cashing a check at Nice, France.

Action against sanctions, which will change the commercial map of Europe by diverting Italy's trade, was pressed. Even athletes joined in.

Italians, it was announced, will not "compete in events in countries adopting sanctions." Four weight-lifters scheduled to appear in Paris decided not to go.

This, however, will not affect participation in the Olympics, since Germany is regarded as a "friendly" country and more athletes will be sent to the reich, Austria and Hungary.

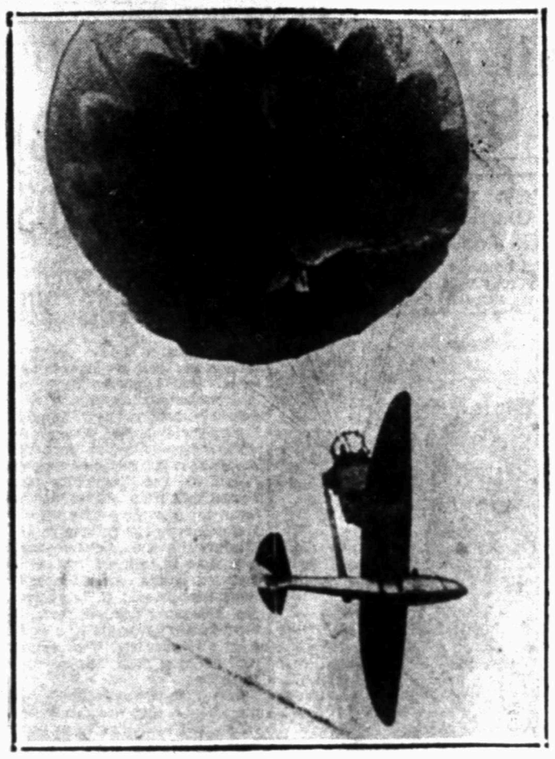

Use Own Artists

Dressmakers at Turin decided even to bar styles of sanctionists countries. "Only Italian artists" will be used for designs, it was agreed at Turin, center of the dress-making industry.

Premier Mussolini approved a hunt for substitutes for goods not produced in this country when he saw the first collection of artificial wool. He gave impetus to the fight for "economic freedom" by publicly praising those he has charged with getting it.

Il Duce examined and liked samples of the new wool made from casein in one of Italy's largest plants. He saw material made for underwear and clothing and learned the present production was already 1,100 pounds a day, or enough to clothe 30 persons a month.

GIRL CONVICTED IN MAN'S DEATH

CHICAGO, Nov 8 (AP)—Nineteen-year-old Helen Harmon, of Chicago, was convicted of manslaughter by a jury in common pleas court last night in connection with the slaying of Albert Wesoskey, 20, last April in a $24 butcher shop holdup.

Known to police as the "tiger girl," she is the third member of a robber group to draw convictions in connection with the robbery. Her companions, Donald Eberle and John Pleyer, both were convicted of first degree murder and have been sentenced to die in the electric chair.

Stevedores Start Boycott Of Ships

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP)—New York stevedores today began "boycotting" steamships that ply between New York and southern ports where waterfront strikes are in progress.

Joseph P. Ryan, president of the International Longshormen's association, said his men's refusal to unload cargoes loaded by non-union men in the south was "decidedly effective."

Approximately 20 steamship lines were affected by the union's announced determination not to handle "hot cargo."

Meanwhile, representatives of coastwise companies met with union men in an effort to settle a dispute over hours. The longshoremen on coastwise piers are demanding a 44-hour week instead of 48 hours.

It was indicated a further discussion would be held next week.

Manchukuo is to have its own "brain trust."

Pedestrian Code Is Provided In Britain

LONDON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Having reorganized England's auto traffic within one busy year, the minister of transport, Leslie Hore-Belisha, now is going after pedestrians.

Fifteen million copies of a special code for walkers have been printed and a copy eventually will find its way into almost every home in England and Scotland.

Even King George has his copy telling him where and when to cross the street if he should ever find himself afoot.

The most important Belisha rule for walkers is the one requiring the pedestrian to stick to the left side of the walk.

Hitherto it has been customary for the British motorist to drive on the left side of the street, and for the British walker to amble where he pleased. Hence, on crowded sidewalks there was no telling from which side you were going to be hit next.

A 60-year-old native of Bosnia is said to be the world's smallest man. He is only 19 1-2 inches tall, runs a farm, and has refused tempting "sideshow" offers.

AUSTIN, Nov. 8 (AP) — Speaker Coke Stevenson doesn't think much of the senate's proposal to install broadcasting apparatus in the legislative chambers.

"There wouldn't be much work done," he said. "Everybody would be making speeches for the home-folks to listen to."

The senate adopted a resolution instructing the board of control to ascertain the cost of a broadcasting system. An amendment included the governor's office in the suggested hookup.

DRAW TOO MUCH

Senator W. R. Poage of Waco, advocating adequate checks to prevent abuses under the old-age pension plan, recalled that several years ago members of a boundary commission continued to draw salaries long after their work had been completed.

"When the commission was created," he said, "their salaries were provided in the general appropriation bill. Year after year the appropriation committee would make up a bill and leave the commission's salary item standing. It was dropped out only two years ago."

HAS NEW GIFT

Governor Allred has a new gift, a handsome blue, red and yellow blanket made of Texas mohair. Presented by L. G. Watts of Marfa, the blanket now decks a divan in one of the reception rooms of the governor's suite.

"However, I want it distinctly understood," Governor Allred laughed, displaying the prize, "that it was a personal gift and doesn't go with the office."

NO CHAIRMANSHIP

Senator G. H. Nelson of Tahoka succeeded to all the committee places filled by the late Senator Arthur P. Duggan of Littlefield except the chairmanship of the education committee. He is the only senator not chairman of a committee.

For a time after Senator Duggan's death it appeared there might be a 20-day interval before a new senator would fill the vacancy and Senator Clay Cotten of Palestine was appointed chairman of the education committee.

Under ordinary conditions every senator can be a chairman for there are 37 standing committees. The membership will be shaken up at the start of the next regular session and Senator Nelson then may expect recognition.

CENTRALIZED PURCHASING FOR CITIES IS IMPERATIVE, RESEARCH MAN SAYS

AUSTIN, Nov. 8 (Special)—Centralized purchasing of commodities for municipal use is imperative in a well-balanced economic city administration, it is the opinion of Lyndon E. Abbott, research assistant in the bureau of municipal research of the University of Texas. Mr. Abbott has prepared as a part of the bureau's research program a bulletin entitled "A Purchasing Manual for Texas Cities," which is intended to serve as a handbook for the use of municipal officials.

"Centralized purchasing does not of itself remedy the evils which so frequently characterize departmental purchasing; for many problems, solution of which is prerequisite to the establishment of a satisfactory purchasing system, are inherent in purchasing, irrespective of the organization employed," Mr. Abbott said. "Moreover, unless an able, trained, honest, and conscientious official is named purchasing agent under a centralized system, it may be that no apparent advantages will flow from its substitution for departmental purchasing.

"The future undoubtedly will see the present spirit of localism replaced by a broader perspective on the part of the purchasing agents. There will be more extensive contracts with outside vendors than are now known; materials will sent to government, university, and commercial testing bureaus; greater reliance will be placed on the standard specifications prepared by government and private agencies; cooperation will be extended not only to making purchases but also to uniting against unfair trade practices and detrimental regulations; and finally, there will be a comparison of the practices of one city with those of others in an effort to improve purchasing administration."

Mild and yet they Satisfy —how do you do that?

Well, to start with, we take tobacco from our own Southland — mild ripe tobacco with lots of natural flavor but no harshness or bitterness.

THEN AS A SECOND STEP—
We blend this home-grown tobacco with spicy, aromatic Turkish tobaccos from across the seas. These Turkish tobaccos, you may know, have a flavor and fragrance entirely different from our own.

AS A THIRD STEP—
These tobaccos are cross-blended — welded together — the best way we've found to get a more pleasing flavor and a better taste in a cigarette.

ARIZONA WIN PREDICTED IN CITY

BUT TECH WILL OFFER STIFF FIGHT WHEN TEAMS BATTLE

The dope sheet indicates nothing but a University of Arizona victory next Monday when the Wildcats from Tucson tangle with the Matadors of Texas in a Border conference, decennial celebration, Homecoming gridiron fest here, but if the Wildcats are good enough to beat Tech, as good as Tech promises to be, then they'll surely deserve the Border conference gonfalon and all that goes with it.

The Tech coaches, Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith, are very pessimistic. They're afraid the large Homecoming and holiday crowd will see the home club go down.

"Any way you figure it," they point out, "Arizona is from 7 to 9 points better than we are. That's figuring it close, too, and we'll be satisfied if they don't beat us by more than a touchdown."

The Matadors face a great opportunity on Armistice day to gain back some of the prestige lost at Chicago and California. National ratings, the ones most generally accepted, spot Arizona more than seven or nine points. The ratings show the Arizonas no less than 43 teams ahead of the Techs. In other words, according to the experts Arizona could beat 42 teams, in the order named, and Tech would be the 42nd.

The Tech gridders will protest that rating Monday afternoon. It's to be a public protest, and the public is invited as long as seats and standing room hold out.

In last night's practice, lasting until far into the dusk, the Matadors demonstrated a greater spirit than has been noticed in workouts so far this season. They consider Arizona the team to beat, and they're ripe and ready, except for a few physical deficiencies that should be ironed out between now and Monday, to see what they can do about it.

Backs Get Going

Cawthon and Smith were pleased last night with the manner in which their charges went about the business of preparation. They liked the way the line opened holes in dummy scrimmage, and the way interference led the way for fast running backs. They were pleased to see Halfback J. V. Beauchamp back in harness after a long rest. He did not play in the Oklahoma Aggie game. Yesterday was the first time he had participated in practice since early last week. But he broke through last night.

So did Jim Neill, the backfield hero of the Aggie game, and so did George Winters, fullback replacement for Winny Baze. So did Baze, for that matter, and Demp Cannon, and Fred Byrd. Cawthon considers Byrd one of the most promising running backs he's had at Tech, and the little fellow from across the state line, the No. 25 you have seen stand out in preceding games, was cutting capers yesterday.

After a lengthy dummy scrimmage on defense against the freshmen Picadors, who ran Arizona plays at them, the varsity paired off for an offensive drill, passing and running. One team remained stationary on defense. Two complete elevens alternated at running plays. Cannon, Charley Duval, Beauchamp, Maurice Chernosky, Winters, Baze, Neill, Byrd, Roy Morris, Gene Barnett, were doing heavy work in the offensive backfields. It looked good, but . . .

"You've got to be fast, you've got to be nifty," yelled the coaches, "because Arizona is fast and nifty. Look out for Ted Bland! Jackson! Smith! Take care you linemen don't loaf a minute! Give Bland or Jackson just one tiny break, and they're off!"

JOE LOUIS PLANS FOR 1936 BATTLE

DETROIT, Nov. 8 (AP)—Joe Louis informed the Michigan boxing commission he would open his 1936 fistic campaign with a match January 10, either in Detroit or Chicago, and with Charley Retzlaff, Duluth heavyweight as his opponent.

The announcement was made by John Roxborough, of Louis' camp, at a meeting of the state commission here.

Bozeman And Hoppe In Billiard Play

CHICAGO, Nov. 8. (AP)—Jay N. Bozeman, red haired youngster from Vallejo, Calif., and Willie Hoppe of New York, the "boy wonder" of other days, made their bows in the world three cushion billiards championship tournament last night with impressive victories.

Hoppe, holder of the world 18.1 balkline title, conquered Arthur Thurnblad of Chicago, 50 to 41, in 44 innings. Bozeman matched Hoppe's innings performance in defeating the veteran Tiff Denton of Kansas City, 50 to 35.

WINDY NICKLAUS, christened Winfield, was the first captain of Texas Tech's first football team. Texas Tech celebrates its decennial this weekend, which makes Nicklaus nearly as old as Shorty Key.

Windy is coming back to the campus of Alma Mater. He'll be here Saturday when the decennial celebration gets under way. Windy has a part in the celebration, but not from the Texas Tech standpoint.

Nicklaus succeeded Frank Kimbrough when Frank went to Abilene as head coach of the Hardin-Simmons Cowhands, which means that Windy is head coach of Amarillo college. Amarillo college sends its fearful football Badgers to Lubbock Saturday to engage the Texas Tech freshmen in one of the celebration features.

For a few years preceding his election as head coach at Amarillo college, Windy coached one of the Amarillo High school "farms" in the city. So capably did the erstwhile bruising Texas Tech fullback perform that the city fathers turned over the college job to him when Kimbrough left.

So Windy comes back to "homecoming," but not as an ex-student to stroll about the campus, gaze at the ivy-covered walls and recall fond memories of student days, or to loll with ex-gridiron mates on the Matador bench and root for the Red and Black.

Nope, old Windy and his boys are here with fire in their hearts, determined to take the Tech yearlings as Amarillo college teams have taken them before. And most victory hungry of all will be Winfield.

He has a fine team this year. It hasn't lost a game, and it has played some tough opposition for a junior college team.

You should pay your forty cents and see that game tomorrow afternoon. It starts at 2:30. The Badgers should win, probably will, but it'll be a good ball game.

THE VARSITY Matadors may lose Monday's game to Arizona, too, but that'll be another swell game. The Matadors just now are getting into the full swing of the pigskin season. They're, little tardy, but the spirit they're demonstrating in workouts this week is enough to make you forget the past hard luck.

They'll be ready for the "blue brigade" from Arizona, so far as mental, psychological preparation is concerned. Some of them may limp a trifle as they dash on the field, but tney're more likely to forget the bruises and painful places.

The same wordage describes the Lubbock High Westerners as they look to the Amarillo game Monday. Some of 'em are battered and bruised but they're all full of the old ginger. They won't be told that they're about to butt into a brick wall at Butler Field. Well, if they think they can, they can—maybe.

THE SPORTING NEWS of yesterday's mailing devotes half a column, including a picture, to Colonel Buster Mills, better remembered as plain Bus Mills of Ranger, Texas, High school and University of Oklahoma.

Bus, you know, is a baseballer now. He has been playing in the Cardinal chain, last season with Rochester in the International League. Now he has been purchased by the Boston Braves, Cassey Stengel wanting some outfielders who don't run too long in the same place. Mills joined the Dodgers for a two-weeks' inspection before the National League season ended, and Stengel was not disappointed in what the young man showed him in the way of speed and grace, the News says.

Texas High schools have not forgotten the Bus Mills of Ranger fame, and national football followed Mills through a meteoric career at Oklahoma, and through particular stardom in the 1930 East-West football game.

The Sporting News recounts the story of 1931, when Oklahoma was engaged in a baseball game and track meet. Buster was called from his outfield position by the track coach on an adjacent field, threw the javelin 180 feet to give his school the necessary points needed to win, and then returned to the star in the ballgame.

Mills finished the 1935 International League season with a batting average of .314, getting 35 doubles, 12 triples and 8 homers. He stole 16 bases, scored 88 runs and belted in 79. In his search for a speedy outfielder, Stengel probably heard the story of Mills' races with Bill Werber, recognized speed merchant of the Boston Red Sox. That was in 1932, after he was called in from Elmira, where he "broke in."

A 100-yard race was arranged between Werber and Mills. The Oklahoma star won by three feet. Later, in Buffalo, they were rematched at the same distance, with the same results. So Stengel should have him an outfielder who doesn't run up and down.

WE'D HOPED to fill this column up without getting into more football trouble, but here goes, with tomorrow's probable winners in capital letters:

RICE vs. Arkansas; BAYLOR vs. Texas; TEXAS CHRISTIAN vs. Loyola at New Orleans (tonight); OKLAHOMA AGGIES vs. Duquesne; STANFORD vs. Southern Cal.; CALIFORNIA vs. Washington; ALABAMA POLY vs. Georgia Tech; DUKE vs. Davidson; TENNESSEE vs. Mississippi; VANDY vs. Sewanee; TULSA vs. Centenary; GEORGIA vs. Tulane; ALABAMA vs. Clemson; DARTMOUTH vs. William & Mary; COLUMBIA vs. Syracuse; ST. MARY'S vs. Fordham; PENN vs. Navy; PRINCETON vs. Harvard; YALE vs. Brown and ARMY vs. Pitt. Also TECH FRESHMEN vs. Amarillo college.

CLASS A GRID BATTLES SET

DISTRICT ONE CLASH TOPS LIST IN THE STATE FOR WEEK

(By The Associated Press)

Texas Interscholastic league class A football is fast crowding into the championship spotlight, with several important games scheduled Friday, Saturday and Monday.

Topping the list is the district one game Monday with Lubbock playing Amarillo in the Golden Sandies backyard. Tied for first place with one win each, the teams are listed among the state's strongest elevens.

Amarillo Former Champ

Amarillo won the championship last year by defeating Corpus Christi.

The district three race will be inaugurated Monday with San Angelo playing at Big Spring.

Fans on the border will watch two El Paso teams battle when Bowie and Austin clash Saturday in district four competition. Both are undefeated and appear to be of equal strength.

The district six title is expected to be determined Friday when the two undefeated pace-setters, Sherman and Gainesville, clash at Gainesville. Both boast three district victories. The scoring power of both teams was revealed last week when Sherman crushed McKinney, 47 to 0, and Gainesville smashed Denton, 56 to 0.

The district eight championship will be in for a final settlement Saturday when Dallas Tech and Adamson, also of Dallas, clash. Both are undefeated.

District twelve offers a strong schedule Friday with Cleburne playing at Waco, and Temple at Corsicana. Temple and Corsicana are undefeated. Cleburne and Waco have suffered district defeats.

Two Houston teams, San Jacinto and Sam Houston, undefeated and pace-setting in district thirteen, clash Friday in South Texas' most important game.

SINGER IS VICTOR

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 8. (AP)—Al Singer of New York, former world lightweight champion who is making a "comeback" campaign, knocked out Irish Al Dunbar of New York in 2:10 of the first round of their ten-round bout at the White Plains community center last night.

Singer weighed 133 1-2, Dunbar 133 1-4.

The ancient city of Troy was built on top of eight other cities. Excavations showed the nine cities, each built on the ruins of its predecessor, the first dating back to the late Stone Age.

Fine Brand Of Football Is To Be Offered At Tech Saturday

TECH PICADORS BATTLE WITH BADGERS FROM AMARILLO SCHOOL

There will be a football game at Matador Field tomorrow that won't get much national publicity, but it's doubtful if many of the big league games will serve up any finer fare of rock 'em and sock 'em football.

The fireworks start, heralding the beginning of Texas Tech's decennial celebration program, at 2:30 o'clock when Coach Berl Huffman's Tech Picadors meet Coach Windy Nicklaus' Amarillo college Badgers.

This year the dope, as usual, is with the Badgers, who have come through four games without a scratch. Victories over the Cameron Aggies and the Panhandle Aggies of Oklahoma, a triumph over New Mexico Military institute of Roswell, and last week's 100 to 0 trouncing of the Wayand college Jackrabbits make the Badgers an impressive foe.

Locals Win Three Games

The Picadors also are undefeated this season, but have met lesser competition. They defeated the Wayland team handily enough early in the season, but not nearly as handily as the Badgers turned the trick last week. Coach Huffman's team has downed the West Texas State Teachers college freshmen and the Eastern New Mexico junior college team of Portales, coached by Jerry Dalrymple.

Admission to Saturday afternoon's game, which serves as a fine "warm up" for Texas Tech's decennial program and next Monday's Tech-Arizona conflict, will be 40 cents, and all seats are open. There are no reserved sections, and it will be a case of "first come, first served" as to who gets choice locations. A large crowd is expected to watch the Picadors in their final home game of the year.

The following Picadors have been declared eligible for tomorrow's game:

Squad Trimmed To 36

Howard Slayden of Sherman, Weymond Newton of Lubbock, Willis Burney of Santa Anna, Jack Jones of Newcastle, Cecil Paddock of Sayre, Okla., Alton Watkins of Childress, Euell Spruell of Happy, Phillips Harmon of Idalou, Captain Leonard Latch of Cisco, Lloyd Tallferro of Plainview, Graham Hennington of Lovington, N. M., A. B. "Red" Murphy of Beaumont, Elbert Overton of Fort Sumner, N. M.

Lewis Cox of Lorenzo, Dener Roe of Crosbyton, John Cox of Lorenzo, Earl Johnson of Childress, Lawrence Cook of Chillicothe, Sam Tate of Sherman, J. W. Little, of Ballinger, Robert Dowell of Lubbock, Marvin Wheeler of Muleshoe, Joe Hext of Eldorado, Robert Allen Hill of Lubbock, Gene Alderson of Lubbock.

Holland Chaney of Santa Anna, Ellwood Scott of Iraan, Thomas Neely of Sayre, Okla., Elmer Tarbox of Higgins, Roy Webb of Pampa, Reese Masten of Plainview, Thomas Copeland of Fort Worth, Allen Plummer of Beaumont, Vincent Hobbs of Perryton and Jim McArthur of Spur.

ANOTHER THREAT FOR RED RAIDERS

Here is Chester "Chet" Berry, powerful halfback with the University of Arizona Wildcats. Berry is a dangerous back and may give the Matadors some trouble when the two teams battle here on Monday.

NOBLE SPIRIT IS SHOWN BY LOCAL LADS

WESTERNERS WILL GO AFTER EVERY POINT AT ALL POSSIBLE

Displaying a noble spirit, even though the odds are stacked against them, the Lubbock High school Westerners who meet the vaunted Amarillo Sandies next Monday at Butler Field flashed through a fine workout yesterday as part of the preparation for the important clash.

Against the possibility that a booted ball from placement might mean the difference between victory and defeat in the holiday game, the Westerner kickers devoted considerable time to trying for place kicks and for points after touchdown. Babe Ritchie and C. L. Storrs are the Westerner place kickers. They were bootin' through the middle, from distances and from angles, as well as from the three-yard line yesterday.

Lots of time was spent on a passing offense, and the regulars turned around and practiced pass defense for a long time. The Butler Field atmosphere may be clouded with pigskin Monday, and it is not the local aim to be caught napping.

Signal drill, with a revamped lineup, came in for a goodly portion of yesterday's workout.

The lineup has been changed somewhat because Hershel Maxey, outstanding line backer, still was unable to participate, and hopes for his presence in the lineup Monday went down low when his physician performed a second operation on his infected ear yesterday. The doctor said: "Better keep him out of it." This was taken as a warning against using Maxey in Monday's all-important conflict.

To take Maxey's place in the backfield as the blocking back and line backer upper, C. L. Storrs was shifted from the line. Storrs has been playing center on defense, guard on offense, and has been a power in the line. Big Rafe Nabors must carry the center responsibility by himself if Maxey is unable to play, and Co-Captain Dixie White must bear all of the tackle load.

"Our defense is seriously weakened by that change," Chapman said. "The boys have learned to play in those spots, and to change them at this time is liable to mess things up."

While Maxey is the only player suffering grievously, two other regulars are not in the best of physical condition, and may not be by Monday. Joe McClinton, running back and punter, is one. A sprained ankle was aggravated Wednesday when a team mate accidentally kicked the sore spot, and McClinton couldn't move around much, couldn't punt at all, yesterday. Primo McCurry, end, is the other player with an injury, and it's an ankle, too.

Rosenthal Guarantees Train

But otherwise, Coaches Chapman, Keyes and McWilliams were pleased with yesterday's workout. "They showed us a lot of pepper and steam," Chapman said. "They're in the right spirit."

It was announced yesterday by Santa Fe officials that there was positively no doubt as to the running of a special train to the Amarillo game. Sam Rosenthal, manager of Hub Clothiers here, agreed to guarantee the train. It is Sam's second special train venture this year. He backed the special train to Abilene when Texas Tech played Hardin-Simmons.

Barker Ventures Predictions On Outcome Of This Week's Grid Campaigns

BIG GAMES ARE SLATED OVER NATION; UPSETS FORECAST

TIGERS, GOPHERS, IRISH, GAELS, PITT AND A HOST OF OTHERS GET NOD OVER OPPONENTS

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Without benefit of counsel, this department ventures the following comment, valuable or otherwise, on this week's football schedule:

Pdinceton-Harvard: Without forgetting Princeton's defeat by Yale a year ago, the Tigers should win this one about as they please.

Minnesota Choice

Minnesota-Iowa: The choice must be Minnesota, but, given a dry field, the Hawkeyes will be dangerous as long as Oze Simmons is in the lineup.

California - Washington: Some far western critics call Washington the best team on the coast, but California, unbeaten, has done everything asked of it so far and gets the nod here.

Notre Dame-Northwestern: All the material for the well-known upset is here. Northwestern is improving with every game and earned its first major victory at Illinois' expense last week. Notre Dame, bereft of Andy Pilney, will need to fight against a serious let-down after the sensational triumph over Ohio State. All of which still adds up to Notre Dame in this corner.

Gaels Get Vote

Fortham-St. Mary's: The invading Gaels get this doubtful vote.

Pitt-Army: Pitt.

Louisiana State-Mississippi State: A critical southeastern conference game in which L. S. U. seems to rate the slightest kind of an edge.

Penn-Navy: The No. 1 mystery of the campaign is Penn and its failure to win with what looks like all the winning cards. Despite their poor record, his vote goes to the Quakers in the belief they can come back to the same peak they hit against Columbia.

Southern California - Stanford: Stanford.

Georgia Tech-Auburn: One of the south's toughest games with Auburn getting the call, faintly.

Seek To Get Even

Chicago-Ohio State: Chicago probably will be the innocent bystander as the Buckeyes seek to get even for last week's reverse.

Wisconsin-Purdue: Purdue has been unfortunate this season, but the Boilermakers should locate enough luck to take this one.

Illinois-Michigan: Illinois hasn't clicked since the second week in October. The team with the best passer should decide this one, and his name, in this corner at least, seems to be Bill Renner. Michigan, doubtfully.

Michigan State-Marquette: Two high-scoring arrays which rank with the country's best. Strictly on the toss of a coin, Marquette.

Georgia Gets Nod

Tulane-Georgia: Georgia.

Kentucky-Florida: Kentucky.

Tennessee-Mississippi: Tennessee in a close one.

Alabama-Clemson: Alabama.

Columbia-Syracuse: Columbia.

Yale-Brown: All Blue, especially Brown.

Dartmouth-William & Mary: The southerners should get nothing but the ride out of this.

Holy Cross-Carnegie: Probably a struggle for Holy Cross.

Penn State-Villanova: Villanova.

Maryland-Indiana: Indiana.

North Carolina-Virginia Military: North Carolina to maintain its perfect record.

Davidson-Duke: Duke.

Virginia Poly - North Carolina State: State.

Washington & Lee-Virginia: Virginia.

Nebraska-Kansas: The Cornhuskers get the nod.

Missouri-Oklahoma: Oklahoma.

Oklahoma A. & M.-Duquesne: Duquesne, narrowly.

Detroit-Bucknell: Detroit.

Rice-Arkansas: Rice.

Baylor-Texas: Not much to choose. Texas.

Oregon-Oregon State: Oregon.

Idaho-Washington State: State.

Utah-Colorado: Utah.

Utah State-Wyoming: Utah State.

THEY'LL LEARN NOTRE DAME'S SHIFT, BY GOSH

EMMETSBURG, Iowa, Nov. 8. (AP)—Two junior east side football teams piled up at the line of scrimmage. After the pile was unscrambled:

Donald Weir, 14, had a broken leg.

Bill Kushner, 11, had a broken foot.

Robert Brereton, 15, had a sprained ankle.

But at a doctor's office one of the trio exclaimed:

"We'll learn that Notre Dame shift yet!"

LUBBOCK JUNIOR CLUB IS VICTOR

LAMESA, Nov. 8 (Special)—The Lubbock Junior High school Cowboys, coached by Mule Davis and Lovic Liston, licked the Lamesa Junior High school gridders, 21 to 0, here yesterday.

Harold Parsons, Lubbock halfback, scored all three touchdowns, and Wayne Johnston, right end, kicked three extra points from placement.

Parsons scored first shortly after the game opened. The Cowboys had carried the ball down the field on a series of running plays, and Harold went over for the remaining few yards to score. This business was repeated in the second period. In the third, Parsons circled end and ran 40 yards for touchdown.

Outstanding in the Lubbuck attack and defense were Jerry Nash, Lloyd Sanders and Bill Sessums in the line, Johnston turning in a good game at end as well as kicking a fine game, and Parsons, Cawthon and Alford in the backfield.

For Lamesa, the "littlest" of the Crowley boys played an outstanding game.

The lineups: Lubbock — Ernest Winters and Johnston, ends; Joe Pytell and M. V. Hutton, tackles; Nash and Sessums, guards; Sanders, center; Cawthon, quarterback; Parsons and O. B. Stouthard, halfbacks and Alford, fullback. Leroy Stewart, Homer Hensley, Joe Bob Foster and Hugh Harbert were substitutes.

Lamesa — Crow and Anderson, ends; Holliday and Winters, tackles; Hayes and Jacobs, guards; Mitchell, center; Key, quarterback; B. Crowley and V. Crowley, halfbacks and Ward, fullback.

'Immortals' Given Belated Honors

PARIS, Nov. 8 (AP)—Bizac, Moliere, Zola and du Maupassant—immortalized by time but refused recognition in their day by the French Academy—have received belated homage from that institution.

Part of the ceremonies commemorating the founding of the "Forty Immortals" by Cardinal Richelieu in 1634 was devoted to eulogies honoring geniuses who were either rejected or passed by the academy.

A list of candidates, accepted, rejected or ignored, reveals that more illustrious Frenchmen were refused than were ever accorded honors by France's dictators of "Who's who in French Literature."

The Finns named Russia for the Swedes. A small colony was founded on the Dnieper by Swedish tribesmen, and the Finns called the colonists "Rhuotsi." Later this became "Ros," and then "Rus," which meant rowers or seafarers.

Key Admits Identity; Claims He Wanted To Obtain Education

GRID MYSTERY CLEAR; STAR IS DECLARED AS INELIGIBLE

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8—The "hidden identity" play—latest of football's sideline thrillers—was ended today with the terse admission of the erstwhile star fullback of the University of California at Los Angeles:

"I am Clois Francis (Shorty) Key."

His brief statement after four days of silence dissolved the mystery about his identity and history, revealed he was using an alias, R. F. (Ted) Key, borrowed credentials, and that he was ineligible, having played two years at the Texas School of Mines.

Withheld From Game

Dean Earl J. Miller withheld Key from the California game last Saturday despite his assertion "honest I'm Ted," and went to Texas to investigate the puzzling Key genealogy which disclosed a baffling assortment of R. F. (Ted) Keys.

After the 26-year-old Vernon, Tex., boy disclosed the truth, his father, James D. Key, a night watchman, admitted he had shrouded the boy's identity in order that he might get an education here.

Out of their stories came the history that after Clois was graduated from Vernon, Tex., High school he went to Terrill prep school, Dallas; from there to Weatherford, Tex., Junior college, and on to Texas School of Mines where he played fullback in 1930 and 1931.

Under Name of Maness

Key came to California in the summer of 1932, playing a year at Urbai Military academy, Santa Monica, under the name of Tex Maness before he enrolled at U. C. L. A. as R. F. (Ted) Key, with credentials from Panhandle, Tex.

"I met Robert F. Key, a relation of mine, in an oil field when I was working in Mexico," Key said in explaining his false credentials. "He went to Panhandle and I used his credentials and took the nickname of Ted, which my younger brother is called.

"The only reason I did it was because I wanted an education. I was kicked out of every school I went to. I guess I was just a bad boy. Then I finally realized a fellow couldn't get any place in this world without a college education. I'd fumbled my chances and then I realized I probably wouldn't get into a university without paying tuition money, which I didn't have, unless I played football."

Statements Confirmed

In confirming his son's statements, the elder Key said he had warned his son he couldn't "get by with it."

The father of Clois and four other sons, Otis, Earl, Roy and Ted, and two daughters, said he had done only what "any father would have done for his son."

The elder Key disclosed Coach Bill Spaulding had made it possible for him to obtain his job as a night watchman.

"I'm terribly sorry about the whole business," said Clois Key. "I'm going to Las Cruces, N. M., at least for a time, to stay with a friend who runs a chicken ranch."

Obviously crushed, the elder Key frequently referred to his son as "Ted," explaining it had become habitual.

Wanted An Education

"My son wanted an education," he said. "I've known all along that it was not right—and I told him so. But I stood by him because he wanted to get an education and I wouldn't put anything in his way."

Then the father told of his son's enrollment at Urban.

"When he took the name of Tex Maness there I got a hold of him and put a stop to it. I told him that if he wanted me to stick by him he'd have to keep the family name.

"The next fall he came back from Mexico and told me about this other Key who had given him his high school credentials. Again I warned him that he couldn't get by with it.

"I told him it would work out all right as long as he didn't amount to anything and told him the minute he started getting his name in the headlines it would be all off. But he wanted to take a chance on it and I finally let him go ahead."

Meant To Protect Him

"I was going to protect him to the end. Last Friday I met Dean Earl J. Miller for the first time. I introduced myself to him because Ted talked to me about him.

"'I'm glad to meet you,' he said, 'because I want to clear up a little matter.' Then he asked me if my boy's name was Ted or Clois. I told him it was Ted.

"And then last Monday Clois came to me and said:

"'Dad, it's all up. They've got me.'"

The father said he told Clois then, that no matter what the investigation staged by Dean Miller revealed, that he should go to Coach Bill Spaulding and make a clean breast of the matter.

Tell The Truth

"Even if they find you eligible," said the elder Key, "you go to Bill, turn in your equipment, and tell him the truth.

"'He's too fine a man,' I said, 'he's been too good to you and me. You've got to be square with him.'"

He said Spaulding had made it possible for him to get his job as a watchman and Clois has lived with him here while he went to school.

James Key said the R. F. (Ted) Key of Amarillo, Tex., was his youngest son but said he didn't know anything about the Key whose credentials Clois used.

Robert Vaughn, superintendent of schools at Panhandle, he said, was an old friend of the family but hastened to explain that he, obviously, had no idea Clois was using another's credentials.

Coach Is Stunned

Coach Spaulding was stunned by the news.

"The way Ted and his father stuck together," he said, "I'd have sworn he was O. K."

But he recovered his poise and in a minute was turning the situation into a joke on himself.

"As it turned out, it looks as if I'm not much of a coach or else I would have had a smart fellow like Ted in there calling the signals. In all due respects to Bill Murphy whom I think is a great quarterback we might not have lost a game. Anyone who can put one over like that must be good."

There is only one point in the United States where four states touch. This is at the Utah-Colorado-Arizona-New Mexico borderline.

Mine Future Is Dark

PITTSBURGH lies some 40 miles to the westward from the "Major's" sylvan security. I talked to many coal men there, but there are two whom I would quote. The first is J. D. A. Morrow, the very able president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company.

"Within ten years only the completely modernized coal mine will have survived," he explained to me. "Of the present 500,000 bituminous coal miners at least one-half will be replaced by machinery. During the past ten years some 100,000 miners have been replaced by machine methods and another 100,000 have been put on the permanently unemployed lists through the substitution of gas and electric power. America has a possible annual yield of 800,000,000 tons. Our normal consumption of 590,000,000 tons has been cut down by the depression and the use of other fuels to around 340,000,000 tons."

My second interviewee was Phil Murray, the extremely intelligent First Vice President of the United Mine Workers. "As a result of the opportunity offered us under Section 7 A we have been able to unionize 95 per cent of the miners of this country," he explained. "The United Mine Workers have some 550,000 men organized. We have 320,000 in Pennsylvania alone.

"I don't hesitate to say that 99 per cent of them are for Roosevelt. They actually look upon him as a savior. I think that it is a foregone conclusion that this state will go for Roosevelt. In Western Pennsylvania alone there are more than 100,000 steel workers and an equal number of miners. They have changed the whole political outlook. For instance, in Lafayette County the steel interests always controlled every branch of the government. Now there are 15,000 more Democrats registered there than Republicans."

Democratic Swing

SECOND only to New York stands Pennsylvania's 38 electoral votes. Hoover won them in 1932. If Roosevelt can capture them in 1936 his election would be secure. Figures may lie a little but they are bound to be impressive. Let's look at a few:

In Allegheny County, based on Pittsburgh, in 1931 there were 29,-900 registered Democratic votes. Today there are 237,000. In 1932 Roosevelt carried the county by 37,000. In 1934 Earle in his race for the governorship drew a plurality of 73,000 in the county—and carried the state and his Democratic ticket by 66,000.

But even more startling are the figures for Westmoreland County. In 1930 there were 85,000 registered Republican voters and 25,000 Democratic voters. In 1932, although the Republican registration was still 30,000 greater than the Democratic, Roosevelt carried the county by 15,000. In 1934, although the registration showed 10,000 majority for the Republicans, the Democrats carried the county by more than 19,000. In 1935 there were 66,000 Democrats and 65,000 Republicans registered.

A politician had this to say about the coming election—and I surely hold no brief for politicians: "No longer can industry and bosses vote their men as they wish. With unionization comes a new voting liberty. And with factories and mills and mines going again the prosperity shoe fits on the opposite political foot. It is the Democrats who can point now to the full dinner pail."

But he forgot to mention anything about the 10,000,000 unemployed who have neither a chicken nor a pot to put it in.

Monday: In the New England industrial centers where, Frazier Hunt believes, the New Deal has lost more ground than anywhere else in the country.

MORE CASH TO FRENCH ARMY

MILITARY BUDGETS FOR 1936 ARE BOOSTED; GET MORE MEN

BY ROBERT B. PARKER

PARIS, Nov. 8 (AP)—France's mighty armed forces will be given more money and more men in 1936, military budgets show.

A highly mechanized army of nearly 700,000 men, a fighting air force with 3,000 fast planes and the world's most modern navy are prepared to follow the paths that France's diplomats blaze at Geneva.

More than 13,500,000,000 francs, which translates into $891,000,000, will be spent on the upkeep and improvement of the fighting services next year, an increase of more than $130,000,000 over this year's defense budgets.

More Millions Combat Gas

Additional millions of francs will go to assure the safety of 40,000,000 citizens in France and nearly 60,000,000 in the colonies and protectorates from poison gas and bomb attacks from the air.

The French army, called by military experts the world's finest fighting machine, will count 695,032 men in active service next year, with an estimated reserve of nearly 7,000,000. Of the standing army, 200,000 will be stationed abroad and the rest in France, with more than 100,000 on 24-hour watch in the steel and concrete frontier fortifications.

And these fortifications are to be extended and strengthened.

Speed, keynote of this year's army training, will be stressed again in 1936 with heavy increases in motorized equipment.

Air Force On Watch

Brigades of shock troops, composed of professional soldiers, highly trained and lightning fast, will be expanded beyond the 100,000 that took the field this year. They form a covering force to stop holes in the frontier fortifications until general mobilization can get under way.

General Victor Denain, air minister, expects to have more than 3,000 modern first-line fighting planes for service by the end of this year. Since last January 900 bombers, 900 pursuit planes and 1,200 observation planes have been built. With these and 41,136 officers and men, the air corps is ready for instant action at hundreds of bases.

Twenty-four hour watches, instituted by General Denain last spring, will be maintained at all airports, so that France's air armadas may fly the minute an enemy attacks.

France's navy, almost completely rebuilt, save for its capital ships, since 1922, and counting more modern vessels than the three fleets which outrank it in size, will have 165,000 tons of new ships on the stocks in 1936.

Liners Train French Tars

The "Dunkerque," 26,500 ton battleship, France's first in 20 years, will be ready next spring. A sistership, the "Strasbourg," will be launched late next year. The keel of a 35,000-ton dreadnought, designed to keep pace with Mussolini's building program, will be laid this year, with the keel for a second to follow as soon as the Washington Treaty expires.

The navy's personnel next year will be 63,140, an increase of more than 4,000. In addition, the navy counts thousands of reservists on France's many merchant ships.

Coastguard batteries for the Channel and the North Sea figure prominently in the navy's expenses for 1936, for in France the navy is charged with coast defense. A naval aviation center at Tahiti, France's south Pacific colony, and the equipping of 50 colonial sloops with seaplanes, accounts for some of the expense.

"AMERICA? NAME OF A NAME! PEOPLE DON'T LIKE WINE!" FRENCH BEMOAN

PARIS, Nov. 8 (AP)—The Association of Bordeaux Wine Exporters, concluding that America lacks interest in fine wines, has abandoned its campaign for promoting their sale there.

"The American people have been ruined by silk stockings, movies and automobiles," Roger Descas, president of the association, said dolefully in announcing the decision of the exporters.

"They have no time for the fine things of life, such as wine.

"The finer the wine, the finer the intellect necessary to appreciate it. We believed for three years that Americans had this quality more highly developed than most people. It is with the greatest regret that we are forced by irrefutable proofs to realize such is not the case."

Asked if he meant that Americans were culturally inferior to the French, Descas said:

"No, indeed. But Americans are creatures of their environment. We know its effects in France. It is the atmosphere of silk stockings, movies and automobiles. They are the enemies of culture. They take up too much time and require too much money to leave scope for the refinement and culture which is essential for the appreciation of the finer things of life. Among these is wine.

"We are more than disappointed in Americans. They really are not the people we believed."

When Sluggishness Causes Distress After Meals Take BLACK-DRAUGHT

The good that Black-Draught does in the relief of constipation makes it one of the most popular laxatives of its kind. Thousands of men and women keep it in their homes for prompt use at the first sign of intestinal sluggishness.

"I take Black-Draught for constipation that causes a disagreeable feeling after meals, bloating, bad taste and excessive gas," writes Mrs. Eugene West, of Dothan, Ala. "I can cleanse my system and regulate my bowels with Black-Draught and I do not have this trouble. I find Black-Draught splendid. I recommend it to others. My husband takes Black-Draught and it helps him."

Black-Draught is purely vegetable. Sold in 25-cent packages.

Former Governor Neff Declares Small Group Of Students Will Not Rule

SHORTEST JAIL SENTENCE ON RECORD IS GIVEN MAN; MUST SERVE MINUTE

J. R. Paul, a Slaton chiropractor, must spend one minute in Lubbock county jail and pay a $50 fine for violation of the medical practice act, a county court jury ruled Thursday afternoon.

The one-minute sentence probably set a record for jail terms, Lubbock barristers and court officials declared.

Judge E. L. Pitts, in charging the jury, cited the law provides that any person found guilty of violating the act shall be punished by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $500 and by imprisonment in the county jail for a term not to exceed six months.

After the jury had been out approximately one hour it sent in a note to the judge asking if it might make recommendations of leniency regarding imprisonment. The request was granted, the judge explaining in a note sentence of from one minute to six months could be recommended.

One-second sentence could have been given had the judge so informed the jury, inasmuch as a second is a prime factor of time, said counsel.

County Attorney Jess C. Levens and Assistant County Attorney Madison S. Rayburn of Slaton prosecuted, G. V. Pardue of Lubbock representing defendant.

Faced with a plague of rabbits, farmers of Leicestershire, England, shot the bunnies and gave them to the poor.

REPORT GIVEN TO BAPTISTS

BUDGET FOR YEAR IN TEXAS OUTLINED AT GATHERING

HOUSTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Former Governor Pat M. Neff, who has established a reputation as a strict disciplinarian since he became president of Baylor university at Waco, told Texas Baptists Thursday that he was determined not to let a "handful" of unruly or immoral students lower the moral standards at the school.

Neff made a report on Baylor, a Baptist institution, at the annual meeting of the Baptist general convention of Texas.

Teaching Reverence

"We are teaching the students reverence and obedience to the rules and regulations of Baylor and to the law of the land," said Neff.

"Ninety nine per cent of the students at Baylor come from good homes and are fine boys and girls. They shall not be contaminated and their standards shall not be lowered by a little handful. The administrative authorities of Baylor run that institution. The students do not run it."

Neff's talk was vigorously applauded. The former governor recently caused considerable comment by publicly expelling three girls.

Will Not Yield

Dr. J. C. Hardy, president of Mary Hardin-Baylor college for girls at Belton, said he did not propose to yield "an inch" in prohibitions against dancing and card playing at that school.

Dr. Hardy read a letter which he wrote to the head of another denominational college who had asked for his advice on the student dancing problem.

"Mary Hardin-Baylor college," Dr. Hardy wrote, "does not allow dancing of any kind on her campus, nor does she allow her students to go to dances in the neighborhood, in the cities of either Belton or Temple. Neither do we allow card playing of any kind.

"If our Christian institutions are to have everything that state schools have, then, in my judgment there is absolutely no excuse for our Christian colleges and universities.

Must Be Different

"They must be different in order to produce a different kind of product. . . . In my judgment, we ought not to give an inch in this matter."

The budget of the Texas Baptist convention for the next 12 months was placed at $640,000, as compared with $550,000 the past year. The budget provides $160,000 for foreign missions—enough to send 200 missionaries to foreign lands—and $160,000 for additional all-south causes. The remainder would go to state missions and for progress of the church in Texas.

R. C. Cawker of Corpus Christi said the four Baptist seminaries have the largest enrollments in their histories. These are the Southern Baptist Theological seminary of Louisville, the Southwestern seminary at Fort Worth, the Baptist Bible institute of New Orleans and a newly opened seminary at Nashville for negro preachers.

Report Presented

W. W. Melton of Waco, presenting the report on home missions for the Texas board, said the board received a check last week for $50,000 from the Ida B. Bottoms trust fund for mission work in Cuba, and the money would be spent to repair and build six churches in Cuba, open a seminary and reopen American-Cuban college. Mrs. Bottoms lives at Texarkana.

Presidents of the various Texas Baptist colleges and schools reported on conditions at their institutions. Most of the reports stressed enrollment increases. The institutions are Baylor, Mary Hardin-Baylor college for girls, Hardin-Simmons at Abilene, Howard Payne at Brownwood, Wayland college, Marshall college, Decatur college, San Marcos academy and the school of the Buckner's orphans home at Dallas.

Women of the convention raised $1,071,420.28 during the past year for all purposes, Douglas Carver of Harlingen said in the report of women's work.

For Aviation Bugs—The "Sky Louse"

Are you an aviation bug? Then you'll feel right at home in one of these tiny planes, which a group of French flying amateurs have perfected and given the name of "pou de ciel"—"sky louse" to you and you and you. They carry one person, are inexpensive to operate and build. The nice thing about them is that they actually fly.

QUALITY BETTER IN TEXAS FRUIT

AUSTIN, Nov. 8 (AP)—J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture, said many compliments of the trade for early Texas grapefruit and oranges resulted this year from efforts to improve the quality.

Factors in raising the quality, he said, were standards of maturity tests which raised the juice requirements as well as the sugar content and kept off the market much immature fruit which previously moved.

Nature also helped with an early cool spell in the Rio Grande valley which contributed to maturing of fruit and enhanced the early quality.

"Texas grapefruit has been generally accepted," McDonald said, "as topping the market in quality and with the protection of the new maturity and marketing regulations, the South Texas industry should receive a new impetus which it deserves."

He predicted the high quality of early fruit would lead to a general quality of all fruit "equalling if not surpassing that of recent years."

Big New 10¢ Can!"

SAYS MRS. W. W. HICKEY, OF CHICAGO, ILL.

"THERE'S a lot of good baking in that 10c can of Calumet," observes Mrs. Hickey. "It's worth more than a dime any day!

"Of course, with my big family I get the pound can—and it's only 25c now. As long as I bake, Calumet will be in my pantry!"

Grandfather Rommel, who was a baker for 40 years, says, "Calumet takes the guesswork out of the job nowadays."

WHY IS Calumet different from other baking powders? Why is such a small amount needed—just a level teaspoon to a cup of sifted flour in most recipes?

It's because of the way Calumet combines two distinct leavening actions. A quick action for the mixing bowl—set free by liquid. A slower action for the oven—set free by heat.

Calumet's Double-Action is so perfectly balanced and controlled that it produces perfect leavening. Calumet is a product of General Foods.

"SEEMS TO ME I used to spend my life opening baking powder cans for you!" Mr. Hickey remarks. "This new Calumet Easy-Opening Top is a cinch!"

The Hickey clan plays a game of bagatelle, before a birthday dinner crowned with a Calumet

MOCHA LAYER CAKE (3 eggs)

2¼ cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
2½ teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup butter or other shortening
1½ cups sugar
3 eggs, unbeaten
⅔ cup milk
½ teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon almond extract

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add flavoring. Bake in two greased 9-inch layer pans in moderate oven (375° F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Spread mocha frosting on cake. (All measurements are level.)

STORY OF HOW ETHIOPIANS BECAME CHRISTIANS IS TOLD IN THE BIBLE

BY STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP) — Ethiopia, land of strange contrasts, was one of the first civilized nations on earth.

It was the first Christian country; developed early a simple, legible and easily understandable language; and has successfully defended itself against conquests for about 7,000 years, according to Dr. John P. Harrington, ethnologist of the Smithsonian institution.

Dr. Harrington has spent considerable time in the little African empire studying its language, habits and customs. His respect for it is matched only by his admiration for the people and the progress they have made.

The record of the beginning of Ethiopia's conversion to Christianity is found in the Bible itself where the 27th verse of the eighth chapter of Acts relates that the Ethiopian minister of finance was converted by St. Phillip five years after the crucifixion.

About 195 years later the entire country was Christian with a large priesthood and the Bible and other religious literature translated into Ethiopian, a language much older than the Hebrew in which the Bible was written, Dr. Harrington says. It has remained Christian down to the present.

Only once in its 30 centuries of existence has Ethiopia been threatened as it now is. About 1600 A. D. the Mohammedans conquered Egypt, changing the language and religion of that country, but their efforts to control Ethiopia were stopped. About 1100 B. C. the country paid tribute to Egypt but was only nominally under control of the pharoahs

'Language Of The Free'

Because of this heritage of freedom, the Ethiopian refers to his tongue as "lessawa gegheb," meaning "language of the free," Dr. Harrington says.

"The Ethiopian language did not take the primitive Semitic alphabet over without change," he remarks "The Ethiopian modification of that alphabet was a real invention.

"They reversed the order of writing to make it read from left to right, as in English, and materially simplified it by designating vowels by ticks in a definite order, a tick at one corner of a consonant figure meaning "A," at another corner "E" and so forth. In the old Hebrew, as in Arabic, vowels were written as cluttering dots outside the consonant letters."

Forms of the Ethiopian letters are also more like the proto-Semitic than the Biblical Hebrew, he explains. The present English "A" originally meant ox in Semitic and was the picture of the head of an ox. In Ethiopian it is "alf" but in the Biblical Hebrew it already had been corrupted into "salef."

Motto Mistranslated

The original Ethiopian language, the most ancient branch of the Semitic tongues, gradually developed into seven modern dialects, in addition to being preserved itself as the official, sacred language of the Ethiopian church. These dialects are: Amharic (the official language of the emperor), Tigre, Harari, Argobba, Cafat, Hambat and Guragne, according to the ethnologist.

Dr. Harrington points out that the motto of Emperor Haile Selassie has been mistranslated to make him appear as the arrogant "Conquering Lion of Judah." As a matter of fact the motto, used at the head of all his public documents, is merely a testimonial of his ancestry, being "The Lion (An-be-sa) hath prevailed (Me-gha) from the tribe (Za-'em-ne-ged) of Judah (Ye-huda). Other interpretations than this Dr. Harrington scores as "absurd distortions." The motto merely indicates that the emperor is a direct descendant of King Solomon and Queen Sheba of the tribe of Judah, a line which is attested to also in the Book of Kings of the Bible.

Other mottoes of the emperor are "Zar-gha A b-r e-h a m" meaning "Posterity of Abraham," and "Batra-Tse-yon" meaning "Staff of Zion." His own name, incidentally, written in Ethiopian, is "Hhay-leh Sel-lah-syeh'" meaning "The Power of the Holy Trinity."

Lubbock Lady's Health A "Wreck" Until The Gly-Cas

Stomach Distress, Nervousness and Kidney Trouble Had Caused Her Constant Suffering—Now Enjoying Good Health Again; Husband Received Great Benefit Also

ing accorded this new Gly-Cas at the Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway;

Just recently, Mrs. G. W. May, 1611 18th street, Lubbock, well known and highly respected local lady, made the following statement lauding the action of this new medical discovery in restoring her to good and glorious health that her many friends and acquaintances might learn of Gly-Cas and profit from its use as she has;

"After every meal I ate I was sure to suffer severely," said Mrs. May. "Regardless of my diet I would vomit my food almost as soon as I would leave the table. It seemed I could not keep anything on my stomach at all. I was so nervous I could hardly stand it at times and often I could not quiet my nerves to sleep at night. My kidneys were out of order too and what little rest or sleep I could get was disturbed by night risings. My bowels were irregular too, dizziness was frequent and headaches were continually bothering me. In spite of all I tried I could not find anything to help me until I began Gly-Cas—it was the one real medicine of them all."

"Gly-Cas went to the very source of my health troubles," continued Mrs. May, "and today I am feeling the best I have in sometime. I am enjoying the blessing of good health again, my stomach, kidneys and bowels have been regulated until I can eat and sleep good, my nerves are quieted and those dreadful headaches are at an end. It is wonderful that suffering people can get a medicine to give such outstanding results. My husband was actually confined to bed with rheumatism when he began Gly-Cas and it freed him of all that cripling suffering until he is now up and around and he too is enjoying good health again. We join in lauding this new Gly-Cas—it gave us the results we had been searching for."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, and by all leading druggists in surrounding towns.

Gly-Cas $1.00 per box—6 boxes $5.00. Add 2c postage for each box ordered. Send money orders made payable Mark Halsey Drug Store. Don't send cash. Checks not accepted—no C. O. D. mail orders.—Adv.

ONE MAN DEAD IN ACCIDENT

COLLISION FATAL FOR MAN; ANOTHER IS THOUGHT DYING

MAUD, Okla., Nov. 8 (AP)—A collision between a speeding car and a timber truck parked on the highway two miles south of here took the life of one man last night and another was injured so badly that hospital attendants said he could live only a short time.

The car occupied by the two men crashed into a truck, which had two large timbers jutting far behind it. The timbers crashed through the car and emerged from the back, demolishing the vehicle and crushing its two occupants. After the crash the car remained skewered on the timbers.

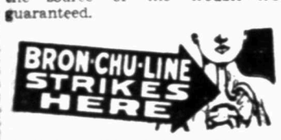

Billy Burch, 40, died a half hour after the crash. Jimmy Cordray, 30, his head crushed, lay dying in the hospital here. Both men lived at St. Louis, Okla., where they were employed by the Hilton-Phillips Trucking company.

The 18-year-old Maharajah of Gwalior, India, is reputed to be the second richest man in the world. His jewel chest has been appraised at $20,000,000.

When Coughs Hang On---Worry

Don't fool with sweet syrupy concoctions. Get busy at once and put that tough old hang-on cough out of existence.

And there's one real way to do this—put an end to all your worry. Go to Mark Halsey Drug or Cammack Drug and get a bottle of strong, yet effective, Bronchuline Emulsion, a smooth, creamy creosoted emulsion that strikes right at the source of the trouble—it's guaranteed.

Blind Pianist In 'Marathon'

Robert Beeler (above) of Ottawa, Kas., blind since birth and paralyzed in the legs since early boyhood, planned to celebrate his 30th birthday by sitting down to his piano at 4:30 in the morning and playing 1,000 selection in 20 hours. (Associated Press Photo).

Three Projects In District Approved

Authorization of three projects in district 17 of WPA was announced Thursday at state offices, according to the Associated Press. The projects would employ 156 men at a total cost of $38,473.93, with the government's share $29,394.

Projects authorized, with WPA allocation, sponsor's pledge and average number of persons to be taken off relief rolls, follow:

Coehran county: Morton—public building improvement $6,560, $2,203, 38.

Dickens county: Spur—municipal park improvements $21,172, $6,756.93, 86; school ground improvements $1,662, $130, 32.

For the entire state, jobs for 9,826 persons were authorized in work orders totaling 147, the authorizations made possible by allocation of $2,751,841 in WPA funds.

London has a new dancing craze.

BIDS ON SCHOOL PROJECTS ASKED

Bids for school building improvements, estimated to cost $48,000, will be received by trustees of Lubbock independent school district Dec. 4, A. C. Jackson, manager, has announced.

The projects will include construction of a new negro high school, a 2-room addition to the Mexican school, a warehouse, a field house at the athletic field, electric wiring at K. Carter school, remodeling of Junior High school including an overpass to connect the north and south wings.

Plans will be in the hands of contractors within a few days. S. B. Haynes is architect.

The school has received a Public Works administration grant of $22,000. The school district will spend about $26,000.

Implement And Car Show Being Staged

ANTON, Nov. 8 (Special)—A first annual Automobile, Machine, and Implement show is being conducted here today by the Athletic association of Anton High school.

Implement and automobile dealers of the South Plains have cooperated in planning the exhibition and in entering exhibits, said Paul Whitfield, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

The show was to be followed by a barbecue at noon and a football game between Anton and Frenship at 1 o'clock that afternoon. A parade sponsored by merchants is on the program, which will be concluded by a basketball game at 7:30 o'clock between Anton and O'Donnell school girls.

Spurns Cupid

Twice in the last three years, Sally O'Neil, shown above, had a chance to get married, she says. But she turned her back to the life women naturally desire, to redeem herself in pictures after she had slipped from fame. She's a brand-new Sally O'Neil, now.

Construction of London's television station has been started.

Preparations For Sales Being Made

Preparations for Saturday's annual Poppy sale by an American Legion auxiliary committee were completed Thursday afternoon. Zoning of downtown business district and of two streets, Broadway and College avenue, was announced.

Auxiliary assistants will be stationed in business houses and on the streets. It is hoped that last year's receipts of $345.49 will be exceeded.

Made By Disabled Vets

Mrs. W. H. Waln, chairman of the committee, said the flowers are made at Legion, Texas, by disabled veterans, and that Texas posts buy from them. The poppies, reminder of sacrifices made by the American Expeditionary force in Flanders fields and on other salients, are pinned on an individual who has made financial contribution, the flower serving as a dual reminder the individual recognizes World war sacrifices and the need of those disabled by the conflict.

Disposition of funds accruing from sale of poppies is divided thus, said Mrs. Waln: 50 per cent for local rehabilitation, 40 per cent for local child welfare, and 10 per cent for local student fund.

A window display has been arranged at Hemphill-Wells Co., department store, at 1212 Avenue J.

Mrs. Waln and other committeemen, Mesdames P. W. Wood and T. E. Boyd, ask that Lubbock residents seek those who sell poppies, that they not wait until committeemen find them.

NEW SALLY TO SEEK FAME

LITTLE O'NEIL GIRL IS ALL READY FOR TRY AT THE HEIGHTS

BY ROBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 8 (AP)—Sometimes one picture makes a star, sometimes a single film will make two stars, but rarely does a picture make three.

Strictly speaking, "Sally, Irene and Mary," a silent of ten years ago, made no stars. But the picture is unusual in retrospect if for no other reason than that all of its titular trio made the grade. Constance Bennett went away, returned for talkies, and not until then did she make her golden splash in the cinema pool. Joan Crawford stayed on, but it was four years later that she became a star. And the "Mary" of the film, Sally O'Neil, has just returned to Hollywood. After some years of continued success, her star dimmed and she became an on-again, off-again attraction.

Her Second 'Visit'

Two years ago she returned to Hollywood from personal appearances and a trip abroad, and began a comeback. She thought then that "Hollywood has quit taking me for granted—just a kid that's always around." But still not much in roles came her way, and she left again.

(All this talk of years makes Sally sound at least 42—but she is 25. "Sally, Irene and Mary" was made when she was 15.)

Today, returned from more "personals" and stage experience in the east, Sally is not the same old Sally O'Neil. She is almost one of the "glamor girls." She has a new voice, pitched lower than it used to be, and more precisely articulated. That is no accident. She has been training it. And her long black eyelashes, her own, are longer than ever. If, commenting on the new voice, you tactlessly suggest that there's a bit of the phony "broad A" therein, Sally laughs and meticulously corrects it. Vocal training is likely to do that to the nicest of young things from Bayonne, N. J.

No Audiences For Sally

The new voice got its first workout in the Columbia picture, "Too Tough to Kill," opposite Victor Jory and other assorted males. Sally was the only girl in the picture.

She hopes she will keep on making pictures now. She frankly doesn't like the stage. An audience—that boon so many stage actors say they miss so desperately—gives Sally chills. She does not care how many people watch her work on a set. "That's what I'm used to, and I never get nervous in front of a camera, making a test or anything else. But audiences—!

"I did four shows a day, and when I was finished I felt as if I'd done a thousand. They can have their audiences—give me a movie set any time," she says.

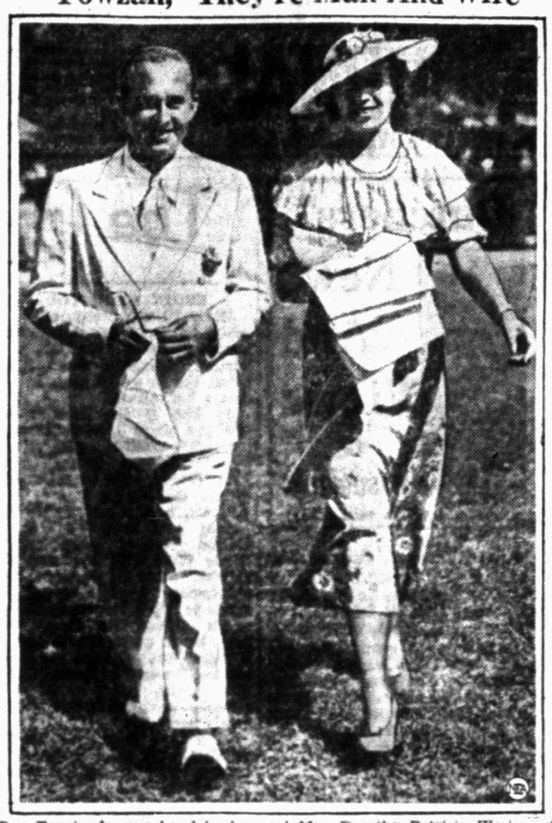

World's Record In Wealth Is Counted

NICE, France, Nov. 8 (AP)—Reputedly the world's largest fortune, the wealth of Hyderabad, the state in India ruled by the Nizam Asaf-Jah, is to be counted for the first time.

The inventory, which is to honor the silver jubilee of the nizam's reign, will take a month, said Prince Mauzzam, heir to the throne who stopped here en route to India to participate in the ceremonies.

When the listing of jewels, livestock and what-have-you ends, a month's holiday will be proclaimed by the nizam and the state treasurer will spend $7,500,000 on festivities.

"Yowzah," They're Man And Wife

Ben Bernie, famous band leader, and Miss Dorothy Patricia Wesley, of Florida, said "Yowzah" to a minister last night in a suburb of Baltimore. Today they planned to visit the races at Pimlico and tonight return to New York. Story is on page 1.

Tut, Tut, Judge

KINGSTON, N. C. — Police Judge Joe Dawson is having better luck with his hunting this year. He has shot one squirrel and caught another by the tail.

Dawson hunted all last season and hit nothing. At the end of the season he discovered all his shells were blank.

Municipal Managing

MOUNTAIN LAKES, N. J. — Lake Arrowhead village offered two swans and a duck to Mountain Lake in exchange for a strip of land separating two lakes in the village. The borough council indicated it would approve the deal.

Lake Arrowhead wants the land so that it can exclude fishermen who park their cars there and drop their lines into the water.

Mountain Lake needs swans to keep down vegetation in its own lakes.

Colorful Moods

NEW YORK — The octapus, a little fellow with a 24-inch spread sent north from Florida, arrived a vivid grass green.

As aquarium officials started to put it in its big tank, it turned pure white.

Noting its new surroundings, it became copper-hued.

Finally, somewhat reconciled, it paled to a delicate brown.

Pig Latin

BERKELEY, Calif. — Carl Todd, senior from Bedford, Ind., is the champion hog caller of the University of California. He won with his correctly intoned "who-e-e-e, pig, pig." Other contestants had plenty of range and volume but called "soo-e-e-e," which to a pig, means "scram," Judge Prof. W. W. Chandler explained.

BLONDES, says a veteran in the profession, are easy for dentists to work on. And, probably, vice versa.

ALREADY generous-minded Lubbock citizens are thinking about what they will do at Christmas time for the benefit of the underprivileged—especially for the children who might otherwise go without toys and sweets.

That gives rise to a suggestion that the chamber of commerce act as a clearing house so there will be no duplication of effort, food and gifts at the same time, no needy person will be forgotten.

Every year a number of citizens, bubbling over with the Christmas spirit and the theme of "peace on earth, good will toward men", hustle and bustle about doing good.

But every year there are duplications while some are left out and trinkets are passed out where warm gloves, underwear, stockings or good shoes would do much more good.

SINCE business is better this year than it has been for a long time and since nearly everyone is feeling better and more optimistic, there is no reason for anyone in Lubbock having a sad Christmas.

So why not let all individuals and agencies work together for the common good, make sure that no one is forgotten and the Yule spirit reigns supreme?

One of our Lubbock girls was talking to her chum.

"Gee, but was I out late last night", she remarked.

"I guess you hated to hear the alarm clock this morning", observed her friend.

"I'll say I did. It woke mother up just as I was coming in!"

AN individual or an agency can never tell when a small investment will pay big dividends.

Take for instance the local Salvation army drive.

Morris Levine is the head man of the army's campaign for funds and he didn't take the job because he was forced into it, or because he wanted the publicity.

He took it because he wanted to do something for the army which years ago did something for him.

"My folks", said Morris, "were always poor. And when I say poor, I mean we were poor. While our religion did not include celebration of Christmas, we kids would have had toys and sweets at Christmas time had our folks been able to afford it.

"I was just a 'punk of a kid', maybe eight or nine, and selling papers in Wichita Falls. When Christmas came around all the other poor kids went down to the Salvation army and there had Christmas. I went along with them and we marched by, two by two, and each kid got an orange and some candy and a toy.

"They didn't ask me who I was, or what religion I believed in—or anything. They treated all us kids alike.

"That's why I'm for the Salvation army and why I'll always be for them. I feel like I owe them something."

WATCH the newspapers which come before you with "news" dispatches and cartoons carrying the message of the "Industrial Press Service", an organization which is offering free to thoughtless editors material designed to undermine the national administration and for the benefit of its, sponsors, National Association of Manufacturers and National Industrial Council.

When you see these "news" articles and cartoons, remember they are propaganda and unpaid advertising for opponents of the New Deal.

Before next national election day, November 5, 1936, newspaper editors are going to be flooded with propaganda articles, pictures and cartoons from all sides of the political front.

Wise editors, worthy of the title and the job they hold, will carefully separate the wheat from the chaff, tossing the propaganda into the nearest wastebasket while making up their own minds and adopting their own policies.

SPEAKING of facts versus propaganda, Texas deposits announced on call a few days ago were uniformly better than they have been for several years, and at least in Lubbock and San Angelo were highest on record.

That looks bad for the boys who scream that Mr. Roosevelt is wrecking the country.

The New Deal is costly. There is no doubt about that.

Yet there is plenty of room for thinking that had most New Deal measures not been adopted something much more costly in both money and human lives might have been the result of the 1929 debacle.

Barbara Stanwyck Had Tough Break In Love, As In Film Career; Now, However, She's Getting New Success Start

BY DAN THOMAS
Journay Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 8 — Barbara Stanwyck is off to the races again.

After a two-year struggle, during which she was considered to be getting colder and colder with each succeeding picture, this auburn-haired actress from Brooklyn again is being sought by every studio in the business.

As a result of her last picture, "Annie Oakley," in which she gives a sensational performance, she has been set for the starring role in "Volcano," an original story by Adele Buffington. Most of the story is laid in Hawaii and, according to present plans, the film will be produced as one of those things Hollywood calls a gigantic spectacle.

Incidentally, Barbara's married life to Frank Fay is now a closed book. She has moved out of their home, which was their honeymoon nest for several years, and very whole-heartedly turned her back on the past.

Long-Distance Courtship

Hopping over to the other side of the romantic fence, the most sizzling love affair in Hollywood right now involves Anne Shirley and "Muzzy" Marcellino. And they're carrying it on at a distance of 3,000 miles, since "Muzzy" is in New York with Ted Flo-Rito's orchestra.

But they write daily letters and talk to each other o nthe telephone three times a week. Anne will be flashing a ring from that third finger the moment "Muzzy" can get back here.

Wouldn't Let Go

You can't turn back at the first "stop" sign and still expect to get anywhere in the movies. Joseph Santley is one of the hundreds who will tell you that. Joe saw the "stop" sign, but never wavered. As a result, he's sitting on top of the world.

During the early days of the talkies, Santley was brought here to direct "Swing High," with Helen Twelvetrees and Fred Scott. After completing that film, he found himself on the outside looking in. But he refused to become discouraged.

So he hopped back to Broadway and success. After that he went to Chicago to replace Fred Astaire in "The Gay Divorcee" when the latter came to Hollywood to appear in the screen version of that play.

In his spare moments he wrote and sold two scenarios and on the strength of them was called back to Hollywood to direct. Now he's megaphoning "Her Master's Voice," featuring Edward Everett Horton, and has been signed to a long-term contract by Walter Wanger.

Crime Plays Pay

Crime may not pay, but the actors who have appeared in the "Crime Doesn't Pay" series of shorts produced by M-G-M certainly have been well paid.

Robert Taylor started in them less than a year ago and now is well on his way to stardom. Edward Norris next scored in these shorts and was promoted by the studio to leading roles in feature pictures.

And now Harvey Stephens has followed the same trail to a long-term contract and a featured spot in "It's in the Air."

TODAY'S JOURNAL EDITORIAL

NELSON'S FIRST RESOLUTION

The 30th district's new state senator, G. H. Nelson, of Tahoka, got a 19 to 6 spanking from his colleagues Wednesday when, in his first resolution, he suggested substitution of the unicameral system for the two-house legislature in Texas.

But that's all right, even though he was badly voted down. He has the right idea and on the heels of his defeat he announced that in the 1937 regular session he will propose a constitutional amendment and take the question before the people.

One must expect most legislators to frown on the one-house plan because its substitution would mean that a lot of them would lose their jobs. The mere fact that crusty old Senator Tom Holbrook, of Galveston, urged his colleagues to "kick the resolution out the back door" pretty well shows how the wind is blowing.

Texas some day will change to the unicameral legislature.

So will every other state in the union except Nebraska, which is already proving the efficacy of the plan.

But it will take a long time, because it is going to be a battle between the taxpayers and the politicians for a cheaper, more efficient form of government.

Senator Nelson may stay in the Texas upper house for 25 years and still not see his hope for a unicameral legislature realized. But if he lives long enough he will have the satisfaction of some day seeing it become a fact and a law.

He is a pioneer in Texas and even if he was whipped down by a 19 to 6 vote he may take satisfaction in knowing that.

Dutchers' News And Views OF WASHINGTON

Dutcher

(Copyright, 1935, NEA Service, Inc.)

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. — A year from now there may be two American Federations of Labor, one of them operating under another name.

Distillation of confidential reports from labor leaders, certain government observers, and correspondents who were at the Atlantic City convention shows clearly that the battle between the industrial unionists and the controlling conservative craft unionists was but a prelude to what will happen in 1936.

The important thing to remember is that the insurgents polled nearly 40 per cent of the convention vote, whereas never before, on the issue of industrial unionism, had a minority polled even 10 per cent.

Already there are two important labor movements—the A. F. L. and the J. L. L., the latter meaning the big following, actual and potential, of President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers.

Most labor students concede that the Lewis group is destined to tramp forward as development of machinery continues to displace skilled workers.

Showdown Next Fall

The question now is whether industrial unionism will grow inside or outside the A. F. of L.

The battle of Atlantic City will continue through the year. Next fall Lewis and his allies will be in the position of trying to get a majority or actually threatening secession. And secession might come either through a walkout from the federation or an attempt by the old line leaders to throw out the insurgents (in the belief that their salvation lay in a split).

It's doubtful whether the insurgents can get a majority, because the craft unions are thoroughly and rightly frightened by the possibility that their own organizations would be destroyed whenever industrial unionism gained an upper hand in the federation.

The split between the factions in the convention vote was about 18,000 to 10,500, and men who have checked the possibilities figure the minority can't get more than 2000 additional votes in the coming year except by organizing big industrial unions — which the A. F. of L. machine opposes.

Many Look To Lewis

The group which looks to Lewis for leadership includes workers in cement, steel, rubber, automobile, radio, coke, aluminum, and all federal unions which want aid in organizing, plus several unions outside the A. F. of L., such as the Camden shipyard workers.

Lewis, Sidney Hillman of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, and other like-minded leaders will aid such unions all they can, regardless of the wishes of the A. F. of L. executive council's majority—just as the miners and clothing workers recently helped the Camden shipyard strikers.

It will be best to watch closely the convention of the United Mine Workers here in January. Lewis is likely to make more of it than an ordinary convention of an international union. The political implications of events in the labor field probably will become more obvious than ever.

Amendment Live Issue

Few know it, but the administration sent Assistant Secretary of Labor Ed McGrady to the convention for one day to intimate that Roosevelt would be glad to see the federation come out for a constitutional amendment which would permit social-economic and labor legislation.

Nearly two thirds of the executive council's members are Republicans. So the amendment proposal was carefully buried—until Lewis and his pals yanked it out at the last minute and jammed it through.

The federation is unlikely to push the issue, which leaves it up to Lewis, who probably will make hullabaloo about it at the miners' convention around the time Congress convenes.

Miners For Roosevelt

Pressure for the amendment might easily prove embarrassing to F. D. R. if the supreme court should approve AAA. Chief controversial measures left for the court to kill off would be the Wagner labor disputes and Guffey coal acts. Roosevelt doesn't want the campaign to turn on a capital-labor issue.

Nevertheless, Lewis and the miners are effectively committed to Roosevelt—an important factor in West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Illinois, and two or three other states.

It's better than an even bet, secession or no secession, that Lewis, if he wants to, can force a vote of endorsement of Roosevelt at the next A. F. of L. convention.

The GOLDEN FEATHER

by Robert Bruce — © 1935 NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JEAN DUNN, pretty, 21, is secretary to DONALD MONTAGUE, lawyer. BOBBY WALLACE, automobile salesman, has frequently asked her to marry him, but Jean delays her answer.

At The Golden Feather night club she meets SANDY HARKINS.

LARRY GLENN, federal agent, is trying to trail WINGY LEWIS, bank robber. He confides details of the case to his friend, MIKE HAGAN, of the local police force.

Jean and Bobby go to The Golden Feather again and see Sandy there with MR. and MRS. LEWIS. They all go to the Lewis' apartment. Lewis tells Bobby he wants to buy a car, "a special job" worth $10,000. He shows Bobby some bonds worth $12,000 and says if Bobby can sell them for him he will buy the car and Bobby will have $2000 profit.

Bobby arranges to sell them to Jean's employer.

Larry and Hagan see EVELYN BRADY with three men at The Golden Feather. They suspect one of the men may be Lewis. Larry bribes a waiter to bring the man's glass, hoping to secure fingerprints. The waiter takes the money, but brings a different glass.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XI

Several days later, Larry Glenn leaned back in his swivel chair, extending his long legs under his desk, dropped the letter he had been reading, and frowned thoughtfully at the blank wall of his office. For nearly a minute he sat thus, his hands clasped behind his head; then he reached for his telephone and gave the number of police headquarters.

"Detective bureau—Sergeant Hagan," he said, when he got his number. Then, a moment later: "Mike? This's Glenn. Can you drop up here for a few minutes? I got a funny one for you."

He put the phone away and continued to look pensively at nothing. When, 15 minutes later, Mike Hagan came in, Larry ruefully handed him the letter.

"Seems as if our friend Evelyn is running around with somebody else," he said. "I send in those fingerprin : off that glass, and there's no record of 'em. They're no more like Wingy Lewis than mine are."

Hagan read the letter and dropped it on the desk.

"Look," he said, "did you see that waiter get the glass?"

Larry nodded.

"What'd he do with it? Bring it right to you?" asked Hagan.

Larry thought a moment.

"No, come to think of it. He went out to the kitchen with his tray of empties, and then he brought our order — and slipped me the glass."

His eyes met Hagan's.

"So," he said presently, "You think he switched glasses on me?"

Hagan ran his finger through his hair and took out a cigar.

"I think they're kind of a tough crowd at the Golden Feather," he said. "I got a notion that waiter thought things over on his way out and decided not to help turn in one of their star customers if he could help it. Maybe I'm wrong, of course. Maybe that guy isn't Wingy Lewis after all. Maybe that gal isn't even Evelyn Brady. But look; it stands to reason, if the waiter thought twice about, he'd guess you wanted the glass for fingerprints. And if those birds are mobsters on the prowl, it's a cinch Lanning and his gang know about 'em and are ready to help cover for 'em. So, I'm just saying—"

"Yeah," said Larry. "Yeah, that's probably what happens. And if he switched glasses on me, he undoubtedly told Lewis about it—if it is Lewis — right afterward. Which means that Lewis knows, by now, that somebody is interested in him . . . which may mean that the whole mob'll run for cover."

There was another silence.

"If that is Lewis,' said Hagan meditatively, "why isn't Jackson with him?"

"Too well known." said Larry. "The underlings in a gang like that can appear more or less openly. Jackson is too hot. He's probably got a snugger hideout that we don't know about. He can be there and his gang, or part of it, can be here in Dover seeing the sights and burning up their money . . . while Jackson lays his plans for a new job. One of these days they'll quietly vanish . . . and a week later we'll read about a bank robbery down in Texas or over in Pennsylvania somewhere.

There was another silence. Then Hagan asked. "Say, did you notice that long light-haired guy that was with 'em—I mean, did you notice him especially?"

"I took a good look, but it didn't tell me anything. Why?"

"Well, I looked, too, and it seems to me that he comes pretty close

HOW TO PLAY HALFBACK

THE first qualification of a halfback a coach looks for is looseness at the hips. If a fellow is loose in that section of the body, he can be developed into a running back with the elusiveness of a Red Grange.

A halfback is not necessarily required to hit the line. One of the backs can be a bit heavier than the other for this duty, or the fullback can be relied on entirely for line bucks. But one of the halves must be shifty, able to pick holes, with plenty of leg drive.

One of the most valuable steps a halfback can master is the side-step. In using this way of eluding tacklers, he holds the ball in the arm away from his opponent, shows him a leg, and then by means of the hip muscles, pulls the leg away by jumping to the side. The straight-arm is used with this step to make it more effective.

DAILY MARKETS

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, 4 to 7 points advance on higher Liverpool cables and active foreign and trade buying in anticipation of today's bureau report. Dec. 11.20; Jan. 11.15; March 11.06; May 11.06; July 11.04; Oct. 10.82.

The opening demand sent Dec. up to 11.20, or within 3 points of the high price touched shortly before the publication of the crop report on Oct. 8. May sold at 11.07, making net gains of about 6 to 7 points but the initial demand was supplied by southern selling on hedging and the market reacted slightly after the call. Houses with foreign connections were good buyers here while there was a continued trade demand and the market was fairly active with prices ruling about 3 to 4 points net higher at the end of the first half hour.

The market weakened just before trading was suspended to receive the government report under prebureau liquidation and southern hedging but the official crop figures were considerably below average expectations and their publication was followed by a sharp advance.

Foreign and domestic trade interests were credited with buying on the advance which carried Dec. up to 11.33 and May to 11.20, or about 26 to 27 points above the low prices of the morning.

The market at mid-day was quiet but steady, within a point or two of the best showing net advances of 19 to 20 points. The government report, placing the indicated crop of 11,141,000 bales was 371,000 bales below the average of recent private estimates and showed a reduction of 323,000 bales from the indication of last month.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 8. (AP)—Cotton today advanced nearly 50 cents a bale at the start of trading as active buying developed in all futures.

The better tone was the result of good retail trade reports, colder weather in the northern half of the belt and the belief that the government crop estimate due this morning would show a decline from the 11,464,000 bale estimate a month ago.

All months except the October option crossed the 11-cent level as December sold at 11.18, January at 11.14, March at 11.06 and May at 11.03.

Trading paused for receipt of the government crop estimate and when the figure of 11,141,000 bales was announced the market gradually advanced to net gains averaging a dollar a bale when trading was resumed.

The bureau figure, about 320,000 bales lower than the government estimate of a month ago and a similar amount under private estimates, was construed by the trade as bullish and considerable speculative buying appeared in the market.

The December option reopened at 11.20 and then advanced to 11.31, a net gain of 21 points. The March position advanced a similar amount to 11.20, while May gained 23 points to 11.19.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP)—Soaring utilities held virtually the entire play in today's feverish stock market.

The buying rush for the power issues followed yesterday's late federal court decision at Baltimore declaring unconstitutional the holding company law passed by the last congress.

A total of 1,310,000 shares changed hands in the first hour, the largest volume for the period since July 22, 1933. Blocks of 1,000 to 50,000 shares were transferred at frequent intervals with gains ranging from major fractions to nearly 3 points. The ticker tape was several minutes behind during the greater part of the hour.

Subsequently the pace slowed appreciably as profit taking appeared among recent industrial favorites and the utilities shaded their best prices. Realizing was absorbed without much difficulty.

Grains were inclined to lag. Cotton improved on the lower crop estimate. Bonds of utility companies followed common stocks. Foreign exchanges were rather narrow.

REUNION WITH SON AWAITED

MAN THOUGHT DEAD IS SAID SAFE; LETTERS SENT TO PARENTS

IOLA, Kas., Nov. 8 (AP)—Five years after burying the body of a murder victim whom they had identified as their son, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Epley today joyously awaited a reunion with that son, Hallie Epley, confident it was he who recently wrote them letters from Austin, Tex.

Epley left Iola several years ago to work in Oklahoma oil fields. A man found slain near Bartlesville, Okla., in December, 1930, was identified by Mr. and Mrs. Epley as their son. The body was brought here and buried.

Letters Received

But recently they and the missing man's 18-year-old daughter, Miss Betty Epley received letters from Austin, Tex., signed "Hallie." There was an exchange of letters and, his daughter said, he planned a visit to Iola in a few weeks.

Miss Epley said she and her mother, now divorced from Epley, always had entertained some doubt that the man buried was their father and husband. She said the man who wrote received his mail general delivery at Austin, Tex.

Epley, who spent his youth here, was 33 at the time of his reported death.

Mystery Remains

While the letters possibly cleared up Epley's whereabouts, they still left the identity of the man buried here a mystery.

The victim was found hanged to a tree near Bartlesville. He had been known to fellow workers only as "Red." J. F. Bishop of Iola chanced to see the body and thought it Epley. He notified the man's parents, who accompanied by another son, C. C. Epley, went to Bartlesville and identified the body as that of their son.

Two of the man's fellow workers were identified but released upon establishing alibis. Authorities established the man had been strangled before being hanged.

CITY ELECTION

lated.

City commissioners may be called in session to make an official canvass of the ballots before their next regular meeting Thursday afternoon, at which time Mr. Needles will be seated.

Mr. Needles had based his platform on desirability of cheaper gas rates and an expression that "tax rates must not be raised."

Employes Receive Notice

City employes Wednesday received the following message written on a telegraph company's forms and signed by typewriter with the tire dealer's name:

"As candidate for city commissioner I want you who work for the City to know I sympathize with present commission and feel they have intelligent and efficient men working. I want your vote for harmony in the commission. A man earning $100 a month and actually worth $150 should have salary raised. If elected I would run city's business as though mine. Last month I paid my employees $433.24 bonus and expect to pay them more this month because they are working harder. A City gas plant would mean more City employees and therefore chance for promotion for you. The election for city commissioner will be held Thursday, Nov. 7. Ask your friends to go with you and vote for

"B. E. Needles,

"I'll be here next year."

The election resulted from resignation recently of George E. Benson, finance member of the commission, after a gas revenue bonds elections had carried. Only a year ago there was another resignation from the No. 4 place, the late John F. Bacon withdrawing because of asserted conflict of his policies with those of other members of the commission. Mr. Benson was the only member of the group who opposed the gas bond issue, which now is under protest in contest court action.

Mr. Needles was elected for a term of slightly more than five months, until next regular election is called in April.

reasonable subsistence in line with accustomed standards of living and to supplement other income of pensioners in providing $360 annual income.

Estimates of the cost considering the authority to trim pensions, ranged from $4,000,000 to $9,000,000 annually. The senate was at work on a house omnibus tax bill, with rules and natural resource levies prepared as substitutes, to pay the cost.

Eligibility restrictions which provoked criticism in the house would disqualify persons who had an annual income of $360, owned real property worth $5,000 or negotiable securities of $500. For married couples the limits would be $720, $7,500 and $1,000, respectively.

Qualifications included an age of 65 years; residence in Texas for five years in the preceding nine years and one year immediately prior to the application; citizenship in the United States; and not an habitual criminal or drunkard, or inmate of an institution.

POWERFUL YOUTH LURED TO JAIL

Remember the mythological mariners who came to ill through listening to the singing of sirens?

Parum Posey, deputy sheriff and jailer, employed the method with a modern twist Thursday in jailing a youth who had been adjudged mentally unbalanced in a recent lunacy hearing.

Knowing the youth was powerful, possibly dangerous, and not wishing to use force in taking him into custody the deputy had a jail trusty lure the youth to the jail under pretext. Girl inmates were singing and the trusty, making friends with the youth, directed him to the jail to hear them. The youth decided he would like to go join the chorus.

Mr. Posey assented.

The song lover still is there.

CASH REPORTS GET BOOST

ADDITIONAL FUNDS ARE BEING TABULATED IN FINANCE DRIVE

An additional division report, that of the American Business club, in the Salvation Army's financial drive, brought the total over $1,200, it was announced at Army headquarters, 908 Thirteenth street. Amount of the pledges and cash reported by W. L. Hester, major, was $144.55.

Several more reports were expected during the day.

Demands Expected

Rain this morning was expected by Captain John G. Churchill to bring a demand for relief, from transient cotton pickers and also from local families. A previous cold spell had greatly increased the demands for immediate relief from stranded pickers.

Morris Levine, general chairman, yesterday expressed satisfaction at the results so far, but in a series of telephone calls, urged team captains to contact every one of their lists. "I am well pleased with the results so far, but there is yet a great deal to be done," he added. "We have had very few turn downs and the spirit of cooperation by those on whom committees called, has been splendid."

Groups Unreported

Less than 60 per cent of the work of the advance gifts committee has been reported. Not all of the groups in this committee have reported. Captain John G. Churchill, local army officer, said he knew of one committee that had attained over $300, that had not made a report of its work.

One report from the employes committee brought $35, with a report from the state highway office of $14. Other groups have not been able to contact their entire list.

Gifts so far recorded averaged slightly under $8 each. Should the total exceed last year's total of 354 givers, this average will bring approximately $3,000 in the drive. A large proportion of those gifts reported are from persons who did not participate in last year's drive, it was pointed out.

Efforts are being made by Chairman Levine and his associates to get reports from all committees by Saturday noon.

to fitting a description we got for one of the men that stuck up the Acme Box Company's payroll that day last week."

Larry looked up with new interest in his eyes; but all he said was, "Well, you know what those descriptions are like — you could pinch 'most anybody on 'em."

"Well, I know," said Hagan, "It's not only that. Far as that goes, he fits it; 'Six feet one or two, light-haired, tanned complexion, broad shoulders—' but that isn't all. . . . D'you know about that stickup?"

Larry shook his head.

"Just an ordinary stickup," said Hagan, with the air of one to whom robbery is no novelty. "Friday evening is payday at the Acme plant, and every Friday afternoon the cashier gets his flivver and drives over to the 105th street branch of the Dover Trust Compan and gets the dough—it runs to about $2000. Don't ask me why they didn't have an express company deliver it with an armored truck. They just didn't.

"Anyhow, last Friday a touring car crowds this cashier's flivver over to the curb as he's on his way back to the plant. It's broad daylight, but it happens on one of those deserted streets back of the freight yards there and there's nobody to see. A young fellow gets out of the car, sticks a gun in the cashier's face, and takes the money before you can say Boo. Then he gets back in the touring car and his buddy, at the wheel, gives her the gas, and that's all there is to it.

"Well, what I happened to think of is this. The cashier gives us this description, which as you say don't help much. But he says that the guy with the gun sort of looked like a cowboy. Funny ain't it? Looked like a cowboy. That's just how he put it. Said he used to live in Wyoming, and this robber somehow seemed like he ought to be on a cow-pony just in from the ranges.

"I didn't think much of it, at the time. But since we were in the Golden Feather the other night I been thinking; that long drink of water at that table there—didn't he have a sort of cowboy air about him?"

Larry pursed his lips thoughtfully.

"I don't know but what he did, now you mention it," he said. "He did seem sort of—western, come to think of it. Think your cashier could identify him?"

"Might be worth a trial," said Hagan.

"Well, in that case, let's get this cashier and drop around there tonight."

Hagan nodded slowly.

"Of course," he said slowly, "we probably won't be able to hang anything on him. There's only one witness, you see—just this cashier. And unless his identification should happen to be awful strong—"

"Listen," said Larry suddenly, "I don't care whether you can hang anything on this chap or not. But if you can get enough of an identification to warrant you in bringing a formal charge against him, you can take him down to headquarters and get his fingerprints. Then I can send them in to Washington and we can see if he has a record—and if he's a member of Jackson's mob."

He touched the detective's sleeve.

"Do that," he said. "Have somebody pick him up tonight—he's pretty certain to be there at the Golden Feather, judging by past performances, and if he isn't there tonight he'll be there tomorrow night. Look, Mike . . . if this is part of the Red Jackson gang hanging around for some reason, Something is being planned. Now is my chance to get on the trail of it. All I ask is that you can just get a charge placed against this fellow. Twenty-four hours after I get his prints I can tell you if he's in the Jackson mob or not. See?"

Hagan stood up.

"I'll go back to the detective bureau now and detail a couple men to go out there with me tonight and bring him in," he said. "And I'll have someone else get that cashier down to have a squint at him."

The unexpected angles to police work in a big city are numerous. Hagan did as he had promised, that afternoon. To put the order through he got authority from the deputy inspector temporarily in charge of the bureau. The order was read at afternoon roll call. It passed through the hands of three clerks. And half an hour after it was issued, a man slipped quietly out of the detective bureau, went to a drug store across the stree, entered a telephone booth and called a number.

He spoke into the instrument in a low voice, his lips close to the mouthpiece.

"Hello—Frosty? This is Tommy. Listen, I got a tip for you. Pass the word to Oklahoma, will you? . . . Oklahoma — you know, the tall—sure, him. . . . Listen; tell Oklahoma that he's gonna be fingered for the Acme payroll job. . . . Acme, you lug—A-C-M-E—get it? Okay. At the club. Tonight. Tell Al."

Then he hung up the receiver and unobtrusively went back to the detective bureau.

And after a while, as Art Lanning walked from his office to the kitchen of the Golden Feather, one of the waiters drew him aside.

"I gotta tip they're going to put the finger on that sandy-haired guy from Oklahoma here tonight for the Acme payroll stickup," he said quietly. Lanning looked at him, nodded, and went back to his office. There he took his telephone and dialed a number.

"Hello — Eve? This's Lanning. Listen. Tell Sandy to stay away tonight. I just got the word they're getting ready to hang a payroll rap on him. . . . Yeah, the Acme job. . . . They're supposed to be here tonight to pick him up. . . . No, that's all I know."

Evelyn Brady strolled into the living room of her apartment. Lewis was at his ease in a big arm chair, smoking a cigar and listening to the play-by-play description of a ball game coming over the radio. Sandy was stretched out on the davenport, his muscular body relaxed, panther-like, his shirt open at the throat, a detective story in his tanned fist.

"Sandy," said Evelyn, "Lanning called. He got a buzz from somebody down town. Somebody's going to be looking for you at the Golden Feather tonight."

Sandy looked at her inquiringly. "What for?"

"Some payroll stickup. Acme, or something like that."

Lewis peered at him over the end of his cigar. Sandy went back to his book.

"Well, what about it?" asked the girl.

Sandy lowered the book.

"Keep your shirt on," he said. "I'll just stay away, that's all."

"Going to stay in town?"

"Sure. I got an assignment here.

She laughed "Yes, I know. A blond assignment. She's kind of cute too, Sandy."

"Yeah. She's cute all right. She's going to be useful, too."

Siam Eases Divorce, Husband Made Boss

BANGKOK, Nov. 8 (AP)—New marriage laws which came into force in Siam on October 1, provide among other things, that the husband is to be considered the head of the household and that marriages to be legal, must be registered.

Divorce is made much easier. It may be effected by mutual consent or by court order.

Infidelity on the part of the wife entitles the husband to a divorce, but the same does not apply when a husband is unfaithful.

Once a divorce is registered, the husband is entitled to re-marry at any time but the wife has to wait 310 days.
