Mercury Dips To New Low For Season

Temperature Of 19 Degrees Is Reported Today; Short-Lived Spell Is Indicated

Lowest temperature of the season early this morning likely will be followed by still colder weather before tomorrow's dawn.

This was indicated in the official forecast to the Evening Journal today after the mercury had dropped to 19 degrees at 7 o'clock this morning, according to recordings at the state experimental substation.

Previous Low On Nov. 7

The previous low for the season was 20 degrees on last Nov. 7, the records further disclosed.

Indications are, however, that cold's invasion will be short-lived, rising temperature having been forecast for Wednesday.

The official forecast said:

Not Quite So Cold Wednesday

"Fair, colder in south, cold wave in southeast portion, severe freeze in north, temperature below freezing in south portion, killing frost in southast portion tonight; Wednesday fair, not quite so cold in north and central portions."

The sub-freezing weather, according to Don L. Jones, superintendent of the sub-station, will cause no damage additional to that which already has been done.

Drop Of 54 Degrees

This morning's minimum temperature represented a drop of 54 degrees from Monday afternoon's maximum of 73 degrees, Jones reported.

The mercury, however, began rising almost immediately after touching the morning's low and had claimed above freezing before noon. Indications were for a maximum of around 40 degrees before the day was over. A clear sky and an almost entire absence of wind lessened the severity of the prevailing cold.

Labor's Peace Outlook Dim

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 — The outlook for peace in the organized labor movement, although espoused by the rival factions and urged by President Roosevelt, appeared increasingly uncertain today unless government officials can discover a basis for unity.

The recent conventions of the American Federation of Labor and the new Congress of Industrial Organizations produced expressions of hope for a unified labor movement. No overtures were offered, however, toward reopening the peace conferences which collapsed last December.

Reports Persistent

In responsible government and labor quarters, there were persistent reports of quiet efforts to moderate the views of the opposing CIO and AFL leaders and bring both factions together for a possible White House conference.

Presidential mediation of the dispute was suggested several months

Kai-Shek Units Reported Near Canton Again

Successful Counterattack In South China Reported; Japs Say Reports Untrue

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Nov. 22 — Chinese reported today the vanguard of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's South China army had advanced to within three miles of Canton, captured by the Japanese a month ago.

No details were given nor were the reports confirmed from other sources. The Chinese have stated frequently during the past week that their forces were making a successful counterattack in South China, but the Japanese have insisted there was no fighting except by guerrilla bands.

The Chinese also reported successes in Central China where they said their armies had halted the Japanese drive on Changsha, Hunan province capital.

(A Hongkong dispatch quoted British Ambassador Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, who recently talked with Chiang Kai-Shek in the interior, as saying he was convinced China's resistance was "undiminished" despite the loss of Hankow and Canton. He said the Generalissimo and Madame Chiang were "serenely confident of ultimate victory."

Statement Is Released

Meanwhile, in Shanghai the American association, which is representative of the majority of American interests in China, issued a statement asserting Japan's stand on the "open door" policy in China had created a situation "which no longer can be met by orthodox methods of diplomacy or normal commercial competition."

"That Japan plans to exclude the non-Japanese world from China is evidenced," the statement said. "The making effective of this program only awaits Japan's securing

Rest For Two Weeks Is Planned By FDR

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 22 (AP) —President Roosevelt, back at his "other home" on Pine mountain, today mapped plans for a restful two weeks in preparation for the busy congress days ahead.

Secretary Marvin McIntyre, who accompanied him here with a large working staff last night from Chattanooga, Tenn., said not a single business appointment had been made as yet, but this did not mean there would be none.

Regardless of developments, however, the "event" of the president's stay will come Thursday night when he and Mrs. Roosevelt will be hosts at a Thanksgiving turkey dinner to children under-going treatment for infantile paralysis at the Warm Springs foundation here.

The president reached Warm Springs at 8 p. m. (cst), got behind the wheel of a small car, and drove the nearly two miles to his white cottage overlooking the foundation from its mountain setting. Several hundred villagers greeted him at the depot.

Mrs. Roosevelt left the presidential train at Atlanta, and late last night entrained for Birmingham, Ala., where tonight she is scheduled to speak at the Southern Conference for Human Welfare.

Permanent Committee Is Urged By Texan To Police Elections

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22. (AP) — Senator Sheppard (D-Tex) proposed today establishment of a permanent committee to police elections and make a continuing study of the need for federal regulation.

Sheppard is chairman of the senate campaign expenditures committee which was created to serve only in connection with the last election.

"There is need for complete revision of the corrupt practices act and other federal laws dealing with elections," he said.

Amarillo Will Be Extended Welcome

"Welcome, Sandies; Hop In."

It is hoped hundreds of Lubbock automobiles, windshields marked by stickers shouting that goodwill invitation, will be drawn up at the Santa Fe depot at 11:55 o'clock Thursday morning and 10 minutes later when two grid specials packed with Amarillo rooters arrive for the afternoon's traditional game in Tech field between the Sandies and the Lubobck High school Westerners.

Appeal Made To Car Owners

Moreover, there will be a nattempt to transport Amarilloans to and from the football game.

The chamber of commerce goodwill committee, joined by agencies of the public schools, have combined in an appeal to Lubbock motorists.

"Go to the chamber of commerce or to the high school and get those stickers," asked Chas. Whitacre, goodwill committee chairman.

Take Them To Game

"Then go to the station and help transport the hundreds from the grid specials, taking them to Hilton hotel headquarters.

"Then, beginning at 1 o'clock that afternoon, drive your "Welcome, Sandies; Hop In" tagged cars slowly by the Hilton and invite every Amarilloan in sight to ride with you to the stadium.

"And don't forget them when the game is over—no matter who wins. Drive the North Plains representatives back to their hotel.

Net Estate Of Only $26,410,837 Is Left By John D. Rockefeller, Sr., Tax Appraisal Reveals; $17,000,000 In Treasury Notes

NEW YORK, Nov. 22. — John D. Rockefeller, sr., who died in Florida on May 23, 1937, left a net estate of $26,410,837, consisting principally of securities.

A transfer tax appraisal filed today listed the gross estate at $26,905,182, of which more than $17,000,000 was in United States treasury notes.

Left In Trust

Virtually the entire estate was left in trust for a granddaughter, Mrs. Margaret Strong de Cuevas her two children; and the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research.

It was estimated that the state would collect $4,616,467 in taxes.

Attorneys said the federal tax would run to $12,245,000.

The only other beneficiary was John D. Rockefeller, jr., who received personal and household effects values at $33,678.

The senior Rockefeller explained in a codicil to his will that he already had made ample provision for his other heirs. In addition, he donated a total of $530,830,000 during his lifetime to philanthropic agencies throughout the world.

Mrs. de Cuevas, wife of a Spanish marquis, maintains a home at Lakewood, N. J., but the family spends much time abroad.

The appraisal, filed by James J.

'Boomlet' Seen In Financing

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 — A leading utility executive predicted today that January would witness a "boomlet" in public utility financing.

An "understanding" reached between most of the big utility holdings systems on the one side, and the administration on the other, has paved the way for broad expansion in the field, he said.

The understanding involves a pledge of definite limitation upon future government ventures in the power field, he declared. It was reached in recent conferences between utility executives and administration leaders in the course of canvassing defense needs of the nation.

Revising Earlier Estimates

While a recent public estimate of utility financing for the coming fifteen month period was $2,000,000,000, many of the leading companies are revising earlier estimates sharply upward, according to his analysis.

All but two of the big holding systems, he said, have already filed with the government plans and specifications for their needs under the defense program. These two have said their plans would be filed with the war department before the end of this week.

In addition to the understanding referred to, the defense program has brought two other results stimulating to utility expansion, he said.

One is that standardization of heavy-cost equipment as demanded by the war department eliminates an element of risk in capital in-

Eighth Army Flier Dies From Injuries Received In Crash

LAGRANGE, Ga., Nov. 22 (AP) — Second Lieutenant John Madre died at a hospital here today, the eighth army flier lost in the wreck of a new army bomber in a pine thicket near here last Friday night.

Six other fliers were killed instantly in the crash and the seventh died a few hours after rescuers carried him to a hospital.

Madre, whose commission was in the air reserve, was the son of Mrs. Frank H. Rayhorn, Memphis, Tenn.

An army investigating board continued a search for evidence which would yield a clue to the cause of the crash.

Report Denied By Germans; Resentment Is Felt Over Plan For Jewish Refugees

U. S. PRESENTS NOTE

BERLIN, Nov. 22 (AP)—The United States has presented a note to Germany asking formal assurances that the decree ousting Jews from business enterprises, part of the nazi regime's sweeping anti-Jewish campaign, does not apply to Jews holding American citizenship.

The problem of finding havens for oppressed German Jews today cast a shadow over relations between Germany and Britain and claimed the anxious attention of many other countries.

London newspapers published reports—officially denied in London and Berlin—that Germany was considering summoning her ambassa-

EMBARGO IS ASKED

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP)—President Roosevelt was asked today to impose an embargo against all German goods.

The embargo was demanded at a mass protest meeting in Madison Square garden last night sponsored by American organizations actively opposed to the Nazi regime's policies concerning its minorities. Police estimated more than 20,000 attended.

Speakers included Dorothy Parker, author and screen writer, Dorothy Thompson, newspaper columnist, and H. V. Kaltenborn, radio commentator. Many Broadway entertainers attended.

Resentment Over Proposal

Nazi resentment centered on Premier Chamberlain's proposal to settle German Jewish refugees in Tanganyika, formerly German East Africa. Nazis feared this might interfere with Adolf Hitler's campaign to regain lost German colonies.

The house of commons adopted a resolution deploring treatment of "certain racial, religious and political minorities in Europe," adding further fuel to Nazi anger.

Chief Issue For Cabinet

The German Jewish problem was one of the chief issues facing the British cabinet as it met to go over foreign relations before Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Viscount Hal-

At 70, Garner Still Key Party Figure

John Nance Garner . . . 70 years old and carrying more weight in the political saddle than ever.

(By NEA Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 — Absent in the flesh as he celebrates his 70th birthday in far-off Uvalde, Tex., today, Vice President John Nance Garner is nevertheless very much of a presence in Washington.

The taciturn Garner, who has not made a formal public speech since taking office in 1932, is a force in the administration not to be measured by words.

How active he may prove to be as a contender for the presidential nomination in 1940 is open to conjecture. But there is no doubt that he commands a segment of the

NO FUSS OR FEATHERS

UVALDE, Nov. 22 (AP) — There was no fuss or feathers today when Vice President John Nance Garner observed his birthday.

He planned to hunt deer until late, and all formalities were dispensed with. There was not even a birthday cake.

The vice-president was 70 but the years didn't hang heavily on his shoulders.

His hunting companion was B. Morrison, a brother of his close friend, Ralph Morrison, of San Antonio. The hunting grounds were down the road a ways toward Bracketville.

Garner went hunting for deer over the week-end. He returned Sunday but didn't have much to show for his tramping. He said he thought he shot a deer but it got away.

Democratic party, and that he may have as much to say about who is nominated as he did in 1932, the year he switched his delegates to give Roosevelt the nomination.

The 70 years to which John Garner looks back have marked a career closely tied to home soil and home things. The old board shack with tar-paper roof in which he set up housekeeping when he married Mariette Rheiner 43 years ago, still stands on his estate, "Fair Oaks". Garner is never happier than when among the people he knew when he was

Convicts Drink Fatal Potion

LANSING, Kas., Nov. 22—Three prisoners at the Kansas state penitentiary died today, a fourth was critically ill and two more were confined to beds after drinking what Warden Kirk Prather described as a soap compound containing methyl alcohol.

Warden Prather said one-gallon jugs of the compound were stolen from the chief engineer's office at the prison and dispensed. Prather said he believed, by a single prisoner who wished to act as "host" in providing "pre-Christmas cheer."

Prosecution Will Be Started On Act Soon

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22. (AP)—Administrator Elmer F. Andrews said today the wage-hour administration soon would start prosecuting violators of the fair labor standards act.

Announcing at a press conference that he had received about 1,200 complaints alleging violations, Andrews said:

"We think it is time to consider very seriously taking some cases to the courts and starting prosecutions. We will pick out some appropriate places throughout the country—New York City for example. But we don't think it would be fair not to select some other cities too.

"We will pick out first the cases where employers say they'll be darned if they'll comply with the act."

Italy Orders Writer From U. S. To Leave

ROME, Nov. 22. (AP) — Frank Smothers, Rome correspondent of the Chicago Daily News, was ordered to leave Italy today because of the "unfriendly" tone of his dispatches.

Guido Rocco, director of the foreign press section of the ministry of popular culture, in informing Smothers of his expulsion, cited particularly his dispatch of November 16 on the Anglo-Italian accord.

Smothers was given to understand the order could not be modified because of the "generally unfriendly tone" of his articles in the past.

The United States embassy made representations at the Italian foreign office in Smithers' behalf, but was informed the decision was irrevocable. He was given until the end of the month to leave on his own volition.

National Guardsmen Moving Out Of Sioux City Strike Area

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Nov. 22 (AP)—National guardsmen began moving out of the strike area at the Swift and company packing plant here today in accordance with orders from Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel.

Six hundred guardsmen were sent to Sioux City Oct. 19 when street fighting took place in front of the Swift plant after the CIO union called a strike Sept. 29 because the company allegedly refused to meet with a union grievance committee.

Negroes Are Held In Postoffice Burglary

Consideration of charges to be filed against at least one of several negroes held in connection with the postoffice burglary Thursday at Shallowater, this morning drew police, the sheriff's department and federal authorities into a huddle.

Grady Harrist, deputy sheriff who with Bill Mabray, assistant chief of police, figured primarily in breaking of the case, said an alert filling station proprietor between Lubbock and Shallowater had given the tip that, in the nick of time, halted flight of the negroes.

The blacks paid in pennies for several gallons of gasoline, he said. The station man telephoned Harrist, who with Mabray went to Shallowater and not only recovered from a third to half the pennies believed stolen in the gurglary, but six or seven dresses, women's underwear, a coatsuit and shoes.

A statement had been dictated and signed by one of the blacks after their car had been halted by Ralph Goldwater of the police when en route to Paris, Texas.

Filing of charges was likely to be by a postoffice inspector from Abilene, said C. E. Luce, United States deputy marshal, and Elmer Reed, federal probation officer.

Cattle Shipped Showing Gains

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANGELO, Nov. 22 — Shipment of 1,600 carloads of sheep and cattle from the San Angelo country in October pushed the 1938 aggregated to match the total shipped for the 12 months of 1937. Shipments totaled approximately 7,000 carloads.

One of the largest in recent weeks was a 38-car special train from the Marfa country that required 19 hours and 45 minutes, a near record for a livestock train, to run from Alpine to Altus, Okla. The shipment consisted of calves purchased by Merrion and Wilkins of Utah and shipped to the Chicago stockyards.

In October ranchmen of this section received between $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 for 700 carloads of cattle and calves, and 900 carloads of old ewes and lambs sent to many feeders in the north and middle west.

Most shipments from the area went into other parts of Texas, Oklahoma, Illinois, Colorado, Illinois, Colorado, and Kentucky and Ohio, and a few carloads to California.

Several special trains were operated in October to accomodate sellers and buyers while regular trains carried from 60 to 70 cars each of the livestock.

Wool shipments by rail from this section in recent months exceeded 25,000,000 pounds due to a buying spurt of the early fall months which saw much earlier season clips purchased after being held in warehouses because of unfavorable prices.

A Splashing Hippo Proves An Artist Can Be Practical; Linoleum Carving Latest

BY ELIZABETH INSKIP WYE
Associated Press Feature Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 22—Once there was a hipppotamus who lived in the Washington Zoo. The zoo people thought his figure would show off to better advantage if a mural of the banks of the Nile were painted besides his pool. But hippos make quite a splash, and ordinary paints deteriorate with daily showers of water and disinfectant.

So zoo officials called in Domenico Mortellito. He's a young New York artist-craftsman who thrives on problems like finding a paint that will resist hippo-splashing. He found one. He carved a design on cement, colored it with a special rubber paint.

Keeping Step

He points out that science and industry are constantly developing new materials and architects are incorporating them into modern structures. It's up to the artist, he says, to keep up with his times.

His rubber paint for instance, was just an adaption to artistic purposes of a material builders had been using to make concrete waterproof. Then take linoleum. Most people think it's a pretty floor covering and walk all over it. Mortellito found that linoleum is grand stuff to carve. He makes ornamental screens, treasure chests and lots of things with it.

Always Experimenting

So whenever he hears of some new product of commercial laboratories like plastics, he's right on the job to experiment. His loft-like studio near the East River is full of experiments—on roofing material, acoustical stuff, copper sheeting and lots of other things you'd never associate with an artist.

Mortellito is dark-eyed and dark-haired, buoyant and enthusiastic. With expansive gestures he showed me around his shop. We walked over great slabs of linoleum, all carefully carved. Hurt it? Not at all.

He led me to the model of a circular room. Through the center ran a column that looked like glass, but wasn't.

A Carpenter, Too

"It's a new material," he told me. "I found I could carve it. Now look," and he turned on a light beneath the column. The room was beautifully decorated, and evenly illuminated. "It's indestructible. You could drop this on the floor. Look—" And he flung it down. The model bounced around unharmed.

There was some furniture in one corner of the room. Yes, he designed it. "I'm a carpenter, too," he added proudly.

He and his wife, Jane Wasey, a sculptress, remodeled a factory to get their studio. They decorated it themselves, too. He built the furniture to suit their own particular needs.

One example of Mortellito's inventiveness is the crib-to-college table. A dressing table for the infant, it can become a sand table, a place to sail boats, a child's eating table, and work bench, and finally an adult's coffee table or portable bar.

Oils and watercolors? Mortellito does both. But it's his belief that each age develops its own mediums. The twentieth century will develop some new ones, too, if this artist has anything to do with it.

Domenico Mortellito gets down to business on a linoleum bas-relief.

New Outlet For Cotton--Cotton Coats For Silver-Fleeced Angora Goats-Considered

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANGELO, Nov. 22 — Silver-fleecer Angora goats soon may have cotton coats furnished by the federal government if plans of the marketing section of the AAA are realized.

This was considered recently at a meeting of the directors of the Texas Angora Goat breeder's association at Uvalde.

John J. Brown, associate cotton technologist from Washington told directors that "we tried to get measurements of a goat in Washington but couldn't so I came out here." Brown said he hadn't seen an Angora until he came to Texas.

Goat breeders describe their specifications for coats that soon may be manufactured and distributed to certain breeders in an experiment.

Brown said the marketing sections of the AAA is "thinking about" such a program and displayed a canvas coat that would fit an average goat.

The plan, the government believes, will establish a new market for cotton and at the same time add dollars to the mohair industry. Ranchmen who have tried protecting their flocks by some sort of wrapping said the coat would increase the quantity and quality of mohair, besides protecting the animal in cold and wet weather.

It was estimated that perhaps 25,000 sample coats would be made by the government in its first experiment. These would be distributed by the extension service or some other agricultural organization.

Memphis Restaurant Man Has Motto, "The Customer Is Always Wrong" In His Cafe

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 22 (AP) —"The Customer Is Always Wrong."

A sign with such a legend greets the customers in Albert Picard's undersized restaurant in Memphis' business section.

It is not offensive to his patrons, however, since they are mostly store executives and clerks who often have told him the same thing.

Picard said he receives complaints with the prelude: "You're wrong. You're just as wrong as you can be. But go ahead. I'll listen to you. What is it?"

A 112-acre community forest at Newington, N. H., the oldest of its kind in the United States, has yielded $6,000 in cash in 50 years and now has a timber growth valued at $5,800.

Encouraging Profit-Sharing Plans Urged

Plan Is Cited By Sears Head

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22. — Robert E. Wood, president of Sears, Roebuck and company, suggested Monday that corporations be encouraged to establish profit-sharing systems by granting those that do an exemption of their social security tax payments.

Wood, a frequent counselor of congressional committees on business questions, was one of three corporation executives who described profit-sharing systems to a sub-committee of the senate finance committee. The sub-committee was just beginning a study of the application of such policies to American business.

Apposes Tax Exemptions

M. B. Folsom, treasurer of the Eastern Kodak company, opposed the establishment of tax exemptions or the granting of tax rewards in order to encourage profit-sharing systems; and Richard R. Deupree, president of Proctor and Gamble company, said such exemptions would "be very nice to have" but exceedingly difficult to write into law and to administer.

As described by Wood, the Sears-Roebuck profit-sharing system is designed to encourage employe savings. The employes participating contribute 5 per cent of their wages to a fund, and the company 5 1-2 to 7 1-2 per cent of its profits. After contributing for 10 years, the employe is entitled to make withdrawals from his account.

Makes Annual Cash Payment

Eastman Kodak makes an annual cash payment, Folsom said, the size of which is determined by the amount of the regularly declared dividend on the company's stock and the earnings of the employe over a period of five years preceding.

The Proctor and Gamble system has the employe purchase company stock by a payment of five per cent of salary. The company pays in from two to three times that amount. In six years the employe has brought the stock, and thereafter, as long as he retains it in his possession, receives an annual cash profit-sharing dividend in addition to the regular dividend of the stock he owns.

At the end of the six years, Deupree said, the employe has a paid-up account of $1,600, or somewhat more than the average annual wage.

"The man is becoming a capitalist," he said. "He has a stake in the community and becomes a pretty good citizen."

Federal Material Inspector Resigns Job, Declaring "Man Can Stand Pretense Only So Many Years"; Cites Impossibilities

(By The Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Nov. 22—Raymond Kennedy, 37, has resigned his $2,000-a-year job as government inspector of navy material at the Aluminum Co., of America, declaring "A man can stand pretense only so many years."

"I make out reports down here saying I've seen things when I haven't been any closer to them than you have," he said. "To carry this pretense any further would be incompatible with my oath of office and the dictates of my conscience."

"I am supposed to inspect about $1,500,000 worth of propellors, airplane engines and submarine parts a year. To do it according to specifications I would have to be in five factories at the same time."

Kennedy said there were 12 other inspectors in Cleveland and that those he had talked with said they operated like he did. "They just take the manufacturer's word for it," he declared.

Kennedy said he doesn't have any other job in prospect and doesn't know what he will do when his savings run out. He has a wife and a two-year-old son.

Reorganization Of Rails Is Requested

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP) — Fifty transportation and business executives have proposed that congress authorize the Interstate Commerce commission to approve railroad reorganizations without unanimous consent of security holders.

These men, constituting the transportation conference sponsored by the chamber of commerce of the United States, suggested that a reorganization plan approved by two-thirds of the stockholders should be enforcible against the others.

The law now requires 100 per cent approval unless the road is in bankruptcy.

The conference also endorsed government loans for new equipment, repeal of the undistributed profits tax and abolition of land grant statutes which some persons have estimated cost the railroads $7,000,000 annually.

RAVAGES OF COLDS
Amazing Results Reported In Medically-Supervised Clinical Tests— Sickness from Colds Actually Cut More Than Half!
A SIMPLE GUIDE ANY MOTHER CAN EASILY FOLLOW
Wouldn't it be wonderful to know about a way that helped thousands of people to escape many colds with all their discomforts and dangers? A way that sharply reduced the number and length of colds, that cut sickness from colds 50.88%, that reduced children's school absences due to colds even more—57.86%!
These are actual figures—not taken from just a few experiences—but from a great series of clinical tests in which more than 17,000 men, women and children took part. 37 doctors were on the supervisory staff. More than 500 supervisors and nurses assisted them. This great clinic, by sharply reducing the number and length of colds and the distress that comes with them, proved the worth of Vicks Plan.
Vicks Plan is a simple guide which emphasizes the importance of proper personal care and the use of two specialized medications for relief of symptoms in different types and stages of colds—Vicks Va-tro-nol and Vicks VapoRub. When colds threatened—at the first sniffle or sneeze—Va-tro-nol was used to help prevent many a cold from developing. When a cold got by all precautions, VapoRub was used to relieve its discomforts.
The results speak for themselves. Vicks Plan may do less for you—or it may do even more. But with such a record it certainly is worth a trial. It is easy to follow in your own home. You get full directions in every package of Va-tro-nol or VapoRub.
To Help PREVENT Many Colds
Va-tro-nol is specialized medication—expressly designed for use in the nose and upper throat, where 3 out of 4 colds start. You can feel its tingling, stimulating medication go right to work to aid Nature's own defenses against colds. Used at the very first warning nasal irritation, sniffle, or sneeze—a few drops up each nostril—Va-tro-nol helps to prevent many colds from developing. So keep it handy and use it early.
VICKS VA-TRO-NOL
To EASE Discomfort of Colds
VapoRub is the standby of most mothers the country over for relieving misery of colds. Massaged on throat, chest, and back, VapoRub works two ways at once: (1) Direct—through the skin like a poultice; (2) Its medicated vapors are inhaled direct to irritated air-passages. This double action loosens phlegm—clears air-passages—checks tendency to cough—relieves local congestion—and you soon feel comfortable again.

Price Too High For Properties

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 22—The Lower Colorado River authority has announced it has declined to purchase Texas Power and Light company properties in a 16-county area which the authority will serve with power generated at its dams north of Austin.

Max Starke, operations mahager for the authority, has informed the company its price of $7,398,016 was too high. The company, the authority said, has refused a counter offer of $4,000,000.

Would Continue Activities

The manager added that purchase of the properties would confine the authority's activities, insofar as the company was concerned, to the 16 counties named and preclude the authority's cooperation with other public agencies seeking to develop Texas rivers.

In a letter to John W. Carpenter, company president, Starke said "every effort" had been made by the authority to determine a fair price for the properties.

The manager said the authority did not have the right to acquire and operate ice plant and water distribution properties included in the company's offer.

Starke said the authority was willing to pay $4,000,000 to avoid competition with the company.

Greater Business In Holiday Sales Seen

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP)—The National Retail Dry Goods association predicted today that dollar sales in department and apparel specialty stores of the nation would aggregate at least $1,200,000,000 during the four weeks before Christmas, an amount equal in dollars to the last year's Christmas trade.

If the few weeks before Christmas bring "a fair break in the weather" and no new "war scares" to upset business, sales might mount an additional $40,000,000 "to bring the total for the selling period between Thanksgiving and Christmas equal to that of 1936," the association added.

Lew Hahn, general manager, pointed out that if sales should only attain the minimum estimate and equal those of 1937 in dollar volume, actually the number of items sold across store counters to shoppers would considerably top last year, for prices in general are lower this year.

Wisconsin And Minnesota Governors-Elect Rate Attention

GOP Thesis Is To Be Tested

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—Two of the eleven Republicans who will take over governorships soon from Democrats, Progressives or Farmer-Laborites rate special attention although presidential bees are not buzzing in their vicinity.

They are:

Julius P. Heil, governor-elect of Wisconsin, a 62-year-old, self-made, business man, widely publicized as a man who has paternalistic social impulses toward his own employes;

Harold Stassen, half Heil's age, a "young" Republican both in years and outlook, who steam-rollered remnants of the party old-guardism to win his nomination, and beat what amounted to a New Deal-Farmer-Labor coalition to become governor-elect of Minnesota.

Neither has a place in the speculative lists of Republican darkhorses for 1940. Heil is ineligible by foreign birth. Stassen is too young and many political prognosticators would consider him too little known nationally.

Yet these two new governors get the first chance to demonstrate the major thesis on which the Republican party has fought its election battles in recent years. That is that the New Deals, national or state, lacked administrative skill and judgment, however, worthy their social or economic objectives of however desirable some of their enactments.

Taken At Their Word

"Let us do it, and do it right" has been the Republican motto. Wisconsin and Minnesota voters have taken them at their word. They have confided to Heil and Stassen and their associates the administration of little New Deals that in some respects predate the Roosevelt national New Deal, and from which stemmed some of the inspiration and even the working models for national policy.

For the voters of the nation, Wisconsin and Minnesota afford an immediate laboratory test of what has happened in years of political adversity to liberalize Republican councils and leadership. The contention of Roosevelt followers that Republican prostestations of liberalism are mostly political sheeps' clothing to conceal conservative wolves might be quickly answered in those two states. That answer could deeply impress the nation as an answer also, or at least a significant indication, to the biggest question 1938 Republican trends have raised.

What Would It Do?

That is: What would a Republican national administration do with an inheritance of New Deal's social reforms and economic experiments if it came to power two years from now?

Any survey of the heritage of Progressive-made or Farmer-Labor-made laws in Wisconsin and Minnesota which now pass to Republican hands for administration, modification or repeal makes the special claim of the two states for national attention during the next two years crystal clear. From Wisconsin, for example, came much that was worked into the New Deal utilities policy. The most striking evolution of that policy and of regional planning for use of national resources is the Tennessee Valley authority .Its present guiding spirit, David Lilienthal, was recruited from Wisconsin.

A long list of Wisconsin and Minnesota laws stamped with wider extremes of Progressive or Farmer-Labor liberalism than most of the Roosevelt national enactments could be drawn up. The Heil and Stassen administrations take them over.

San Antonio C. Of C. Manager Is Indicted For Smuggling

CORPUS CHRISTI, Nov. 22. (AP)—Arthur Pfeil, former conventions manager for the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce, indicted by the federal grand jury on charges of smuggling and transporting and concealing smuggled goods.

Pfeil, who pleaded not guilty to the charge at Laredo, was named in an indictment that contained 16 counts — eight charging him with transporting and concealing smuggled goods.

Several thousand Mexican serapes and an assortment of walking canes and small baskets were listed as the goods allegedly smuggled into this country at Laredo, Tex., from Mexico. The overt acts listed allegedly occurred in 1937 and 1938.

Newton Crain, jr., of Houston, assistant U. S. Attorney, said the serapes, baskets and shoes had been distributed as souvenirs of the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce.

Pfeil, Crain said, is at liberty on bond.

Nearly 1/2 of telephone expenses in Texas goes for wages...

Out of more than 23½ million dollars spent by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company to provide telephone service in Texas last year, about 10 million dollars . . . nearly half . . . went for wages. Wages to 9,000 telephone people, who in turn spent most of that money in Texas.

Telephone wages play no small part in keeping the state's business moving. And by assuring telephone users of the services of skilled, efficient people, they play a large part in giving you good telephone service at reasonable cost.

No Bowls Wanted--Now

By Collier Parris

ONE GOOD WAY to get a verbal poke in the pus—that is, if you're looking around for a poke in the pus—is to sidle up to Athletic Director Pete Cawthon of the Texas Tech athletics and make a crack about a "bowl" game for the Techs.

Or if Coach Cawthon isn't handy, you can get the same effect by approaching Line Coach Dutchy Smith.

Fact is, the Tech coaches aren't interested in a bowl game—not at this particular time, they're not; most emphatically not! After December 3, if all goes well, you might meet with a much friendlier response should you mention a bowl game, but all you'll get now is a glaring rebuke, explained by: "Hell, man; we've got too much to do in the next two weeks to be even thinking about a bowl game."

So it, would behoove you, Elmer, and the rest of us, to keep our traps shut and our minds blank concerning bowl games until the Hiltoppers from Marquette and the Gentlemen of Centenary have been properly dealt with.

And after Texas Tech's last two public demonstrations, we're not nearly as confident as we were at one time that the Raiders will take Marquette and Centenary. They must do some better in the next two games than they did in the last two, because the competition will be tougher.

When it comes right down to cases, though, we'd rather see Tech play against big, powerful, orthodox teams like Marquette, Centenary, and even the bigger shots like Southwest conference teams, than to play the smaller, minor league clubs that go in for screwy formations, trick plays and a constantly shifting style of attack. The lesser lights must do this sort of unorthodox stuff, take wild chances and gamble on everything, to hold their heads up, and it's tough fashioning a defense for that sort of team.

Then, too, it is too difficult to get a team "steamed up" for a rival that everybody knows is the underdog. Considering what they've been up against, and the difficulty they have had warming to their assignments, the Red Raiders have turned in a record as remarkable as any of the big shots who have prospered against tougher competition. Every team Tech has played has been "laying for" the Raiders, and the Raiders have found it hard indeed to take many of their opponents seriously.

They shouldn't, however, find it difficult to work up steam for the next two games.

So let's let the bowls fall where they may—they're not all going to be sewed up before Dec. 3 — and concentrate on the next two games, but one at a time.

It might be mentioned in passing that the Raiders have definitely passed up one post season invitation, that by San Jose State Teachers of the West Coast, and have postponed committal on another—a bid to appear in the new Will Rogers Memorial Stadium at Colorado Springs against University of Utah.

As for the proposed Cotton Bowl double header, Tech probably will turn thumbs down on that, also, even if the Raiders finish the season unbeaten. It would be a great honor to be THE team in the Cotton Bowl, but where is Dallas going to get enough fans to make a double bill, games one day apart, to make it worthwhile? The synthetic "preliminary" on Saturday would hurt the real Cotton Bowl game on the following Monday, and vice versa, especially vice versa.

WE'D LIKE TO keep it off our mind as long as possible, but it'll soon be Thursday.

And Thursday brings another Lubbock-Amarillo football game.

And the game has nice prospects of bringing about 15,000 fans to Tech stadium.

In view of current palaver, about the best advice this corner could offer now would be: Do not sell Amarillo short!

The Sandies have been improving steadily since the season started, and they always did get a big share of the breaks. So take it easy, and don't be throwing those points around promiscously. In fact, if you're in, it's time to hedge.

Lubbock has a swell chance to break Amarillo's six-year winning streak, but we wouldn't call the Westerners favorites. Everything considered, it's no better than a toss-up, if as good, for Lubbock.

SPEAKING OF GIVING too many points brings up a letter by yesterday's post, from Slaton:

"Dear Mr. Parris:

"At the beginning of the present football season, I thot you were over enthusiastic about Tech, but have now come to the conclusion it is gross ignorance on your part.

"There is at least fifty teams in the U. S. that can beat Tech, some of these teams no doubt could beat them as bad as they wanted to. Why do you think Tech has as good a team as in the S. W. conference when they get the cream of Hi. school talent. A good comparison of Tech and T. C. U. would be Lubbock Hi. and Slaton Hi. You talked as tho Tech has really done something when they beat Duquesne and they have won only one game this season.

"We are for Tech one hundred percent but are intelligent enough to know that they could get out of their class. Yours truly

"A. Fan."

Well, we tried to warn you, A. Fan, about giving points in football.

Besides, better check up on Duquesne's record; the Night Riders have won three games, and very nice games, at that, and are pretty certain to win one more. Their two more prominent victories were over West Virginia Wesleyan, which is never a slouch club, and over Detroit university, also no slouch. And you should ought to of saw that Tech-Duquesne, game, fellow.

Coaches Hope To End Drouth On Gridiron

Coaches Weldon Chapman and "Goober" Keyes planned a real workout for the Westerners this afternoon as a climax to preparations for Thursday's championship clash.

Everything in the books was to be stressed as the team's offensive and defensive tactics were polished to repel Amarillo's charge to retain the District 1 crown.

Crowd Of 16,000 Seen

Speculation as to the winner of the contest leaned not too far to either team as officials predicted a record-breaking crowd of approximately 16,000. High school officials have made provisions for extra bleachers and every seat is expected to be filled.

It was back in 1931 that the Westerners triumphed over Amarillo. That was Coach Weldon Chapman's first year with Lubbock High school and his team advanced to the semi-finals before they met defeat. Since that time the Sandstorm stronghold has turned out some of the best schoolboy elevens in the United States winning the state title three times in succession, 1934-35-36.

Won Last Year

Last year Coach Howard Lynch took over the rein at Amarillo and his Sandies advanced to the bi-district race before losing to Wichita Falls, the team which lost to Longview in the state championship game.

Coach Lynch admittedly does not have the squad that has carried the Black and Gold in past seasons but his 1938 Sandstorm edition has lost but one game, a 7-6 affair to Classen High of Oklahoma City. In at least three instances this season Blazin' Bill Thompson has entered games when Amarillo was behind to pull the Lynch lads into victory and it is on his shoulders that much of the burden will lie Thursday.

Tech Students Should Have Student Activity Tickets

Students of Texas Technological college should present their activity ticket along with their ducat when they offer tickets for the Lubbock-Amarillo game Thursday, said E. J. Lowrey, president of the L association of the high school.

The game will be dedicated to Head Coach Weldon B. Chapman and former Coach R. B. Galbraith, who once had so powerful a grid team here Amarillo declined to play Lubbock — even when offered 100 head of cattle! — will be a bench guest of the Lubbock squad.

Approximately 17,000 are expected to see the game if weather conditions are favorable. Lowrey announced at a wild cheering rally Monday afternoon at the high school.

Lubbock has won over Amarillo once in recent years, in 1931 when Coach Chapman came to Lubbock—but the word has gone out Lubbock expects to win this time, and the countryside is reacting.

Texas Aggies Name 'Captain' To Pilot Club At Austin

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 22 (AP)—The Texas Aggies aren't fooling when they call Owens (Slick) Rogers, who will lead them against the Texas Longhorns Thursday "captain." Slick, besides being captain of the football team, is a captain in an A. and M. cadet corps, serving as plans and training officer on the regimental staff of the infantry regiment.

Annual Plans For Changing Grid Rules Appear; Would Eliminate Try-For-Point

BY KENNETH GREGORY
Associated Press Sports Writer

ATLANTA, Nov. 22.—Long a student of football rules, Roy Mundorff of Georgia Tech's coaching staff has suggested elimination of the try for point after touchdown and the placing of a premium on "ability to advance the ball."

Of a plan that might help eliminate tie games and many one-point victories for out-played teams, Mundoff expressed belief award of an extra point for the most first downs would not meet the crying need.

Place Premium On Yardage

"Let us devise something," said Mundorff, "that will make the game more interesting. Eliminate the try for point after touchdowns and place a premium on advancing the ball.

"Suppose we have a fifth official (I'll get the Bronx cheer for this) who shall keep an exact record of the net yardage gained. Then, if at the end of the game, the score is a tie, consider the net yardagé gained by each team. Now, if the difference is less than 50 yards, or some set constant, then a tie shall be declared. If the difference is greater, then award one point to the team that gained the greater ground."

Is Close Student

Mundorff, also a member of the National Basketball Rules committee and coach of the Georgia Tech cagers, is a close student of playing rules for all sports.

"The question," he said, "might be raised as to how the yardage would be compiled. Yardage gained from a running attack, from passes, from returning punts and kickoffs, and also from intercepted passes would be put on the right side of the ledger, while yardage lost from snap would go on the left side. That would not be a difficult job."

The veteran coach believes such a plan would affect some of the strategy of various coaches.

"Have you ever attended a game," he asked, "in which the teams have been coached to 'wait out' the opponent? The two teams are possibly strong on defense and as a result the quarterbacks are instructed to kick on first or second down. The game degenerates into a kicking duel between two masters of the art.

"Frequently the extra point allows a weaker team to win."

Henry Armstrong Is Heavily Favored To Beat Garcia

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP)—Although Henry Armstrong will be giving away ten pounds when he defends the welterweight title against Ceferino Garcia at Madison Square Garden Friday, it doesn't show in the odds. The pricemakers have made him a 5 to 8 favorite to retain the crown.

The betting is 2-1-2 to 1 that Garcia will not win by a knockout, and the boys who lay the odds figure that's the only way he can win.

Bo McMillan Would Have Coaches Act As Quarterbacks

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 22. (AP)—Alvin N. (Bo) McMillin, irrepressible and inventive as ever though his Indiana University football team got only one victory the season just closed, started a one-man campaign today for a new rule to make the coach take over the heavy brain work of his quarterback.

The white-haired, soft-spoken southerner who pilots the Hoosiers says the coach, and not the quarterback, should decide which plays his team is to use on offense. His idea is to have the coach run on the field before each scrimmage, go into a huddle with his boys, tell them what to do and hurry off before they line up for the play.

And Bo, a member of the rules committee of the National Football Coaches association, declares he's going to have the committee draw up a rule for this when it meets in Chicago next month and submit it to the rules committee of the National Collegiate Athletic association.

McMillin's last invention—the five-man backfield—met opposition from Big Ten coaches. But they couldn't stop him from dreaming.

Pro Grid Officials Are Thankful This Year For Crowds

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP)—Among those who will join in the spirit of Thanksgiving this week are the owners of the 10 clubs in the National Professional Football league. They are a singularly well-fed set of gentlemen, with a business that is flourishing beyond their wildest dreams of a few years ago.

Already this season they have enticed 1,016,255 cash customers to their games, and there still are seven league contests to be played, not counting the big play-off between the eastern and western divisions of the league. Last year's total attendance was only slightly over 1,000,000, and that was a record.

The money game is booming everywhere. At least five clubs already have set new individual crowd marks. They are Detroit, Green Bay, Cleveland, Washington and Philadelphia. On one day this fall 129,000 persons paid their way into the professional citadels.

The men who bank-rolled the professional sport through the lean years are getting it back fast. One of the beauties of their position is the small original investment. Only Green Bay owns and operates its own park, as a community enterprise. All the others are happy to hire the big baseball plants and let somebody else pay the taxes. George Marshall, owner of the champion Washington Redskins, is feuding with Clark Griffith and threatening to build himself a stadium, but he doesn't mean it much.

Raiders Due To Work Hard For Saturday Tilt

The Red Raiders start preparations for Saturday's Marquette battle with a rather light practice this afternoon then bear down with heavy work scheduled for Wednesday.

In fine physical condition after the New Mexico "scare" the varsity was given a holiday Monday in an effort to relieve the mental strain. The Raiders are riding the crest of a nine game winning streak and are leading the nation's undefeated, untied teams in scoring.

Have Real Assignment

Coach Cawthon's red-shirted boys have a real assignment ahead of them. The team is on the spot because of their record which remaining opponents will be striving to spoil and because Marquette's Golden Avalanche will not be in a friendly mood. The Hilltoppers were upset last Saturday by Arizona. The squad planned to workout in El Paso, journey to Amarillo and then on to Lubbock Thursday.

Although the Avalanche from Milwaukee has not blazed a path of gridiron glory this season, they lost their last four home games, the Hilltoppers do hold an impressive 7-0 victory over Southern Methodist Mustangs now tied for the Southwest conference leadership with Texas Christian.

Tech coaches and athletic officials queried as to bowl contests dismissed all such quetions with "not interested — now." Although news reports name the Raiders as possible candidates for one of the tentative Cotton Bowl games, Coach Cawthon and W. L. Stangel, chairman of the Texas Tech athletic council, said that no definite approaches had been made to the college.

Acceptances To Bids Received

Answers to invitations to attend the Texas Tech-Marquette university football game Saturday, which has been designated West Texas day at the college, are being received and some contain hearty acceptances.

"We are for Texas Tech and the Red Raiders 101 per cent and you may count on Levelland and the vicinity being well represented on that day," wrote H. E. Clingan, secretary of the Hockley county Board of Development.

"Our gang of football fans over here has not missed a Lubbock game this year," wrote R. W. Cothern, secretary of the Floydada Chamber of Commerce.

Tom Garrard of Tahoka promised to publicize the game and added, "We will be up there to see it, of course."

W. E. Benson, secretary of the Hamlin Chamber of Commerce, plans to come with L. B. Pribble, father of two Tech graduates.

Others have written thanks for invitations and notified they and representatives of their towns would attend if possible.

Invitations signed by Dr. Harry L. Kent, representing the executive committee, were mailed last week to chambers of commerce, civic clubs and other organizations over West Texas.

Notre Dame Is Again At Head Of Gridiron List With TCU Second; Tech Ranks 17th

Former Star National League Catcher In Barnett's Home

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22. (AP)—Jack (Chief) Meyers, former star National league catcher as the immortal Christy Mathewson's battery mate, today assumed control of the Wilshire Boulevard home of the late Jackson Barnett, "world's richest Indian."

Barnett's widow, Mrs. Anna Laura Barnett, was evicted from the house recently, the government contending she never was legally married to the Creek whose Oklahoma oil lands brought him millions in royalties.

Meyers, an officer of the Mission Indian agency at Riverside, Calif., and his sister, Catherine, will occupy the house until Oklahoma courts decide who is entitled to the property as Barnett's heir.

Frogs Can't Be Bothered With Injury Jinx

(By The Associated Press)

When Ki Aldrich, Texas Christian university's mighty center, made the observation recently that the Horned Frogs were good because they were in the best condition of any squad he had ever seen, he could back up his statement by showing the small number of injuries on the team this year.

This week is no exception. Coach Dutch Meyer couldn't find even a stubbed toe as his Frogs returned to the practice field to get ready for the battle with Southern Methodist at Dallas Saturday when the Southwest conference championship is at stake.

Sanders Has Injury

Southern Methodist was in fairly good shape. Jack Sanders, regular tackle, had a shoulder injury but it wasn't expected to handicap his efforts Saturday. The same team that smothered Baylor last week will be ready for action.

Three other conference teams prepared to close the season in Thanksgiving day games. The Texas Longhorns, who battle their ancient rivals, the Texas Aggies, at Austin, counted three squadmen — Tackle Park Myers, Guard Ted Dawson and Halfback Nelson Puett—on the

"CRIMP CUT" TO ROLL FAST—TRIM—AND TO HOLD ITS SHAPE
BILL TEW goes on: "P. A. is full-bodied, rich-tasting—and without bite. I get around 70 swell 'makin's' cigarettes per tin." It's easy as A-B-C to see why Prince Albert is rated the National Joy Smoke! P. A. is choice, ripe tobacco to begin with, "no-bite" treated to remove harshness. Prince Albert smokes milder, smoother too—and it's "crimp cut" to assure fast, easy rolling, and a cool, slow-burning smoke.
Mellower, milder, cooler in pipes too!

Tech Eighth In Grain Judging

Russell Cook of Littlefield placed seventh among individuals judging in the tenth annual Kansas City national collegiate grain judging contest Monday and the Texas Technological college team of which he was a member placed eighth.

That information was received by A. H. Leidigh of the Tech agricultural division in a telegram from Earl T. Duke, agronomy instructor and team coach.

Variation Of 262 Points

There was a variation of only 262 points in scores of eight teams listed in the telegram: North Carolina State college, 4,971, of a possible 5,400; University of Nebraska, 4,924; Kansas State college, 4,902; Oklahoma A. & M., 4,901; Iowa State college, 4,896; Michigan State, 4,824; Texas A. & M., 4,770 Texas Tech, 4,709.

Orvel Spence of Floydada was unable to compete because of a sore eye, the telegram informed. Four students, one to serve as alternate, had made the trip. John Moody of Becton and Billy Waddle of Greenville were others besides Cook and Spence.

The group is to go to Chicago to compete in an international contest Nov. 26.

DAZZY HOLDING OWN

CLEARWATER, Fla., Nov. 22. (AP) —Dazzy Vance, former big league pitcher, appeared to be winning his duel with death today. Dr. L. B. Dickerson said the 46-year-old former speedball king, who is suffering from lobar pneumonia, had a good day Monday although he still was seriously ill.

injured list. None was expected to be able to play against A. and M. The Aggies took things easy, polishing up their plays and working to perfect their defense.

Porker Players Injured

The Arkansas Razorbacks, who finish the campaign against Tulsa university at Tulsa Thursday, had a half-dozen regular reserves out with injuries, among them Kay Eakin, backfield stalwart, and Zach Smith, Wingman.

The Baylor Bears and Rice Owls play at Houston Saturday. It will be the Bruins' finale but the Owls will still have a conference tilt left —S.M.U. at Houston Dec. 3. Baylor has Milt Merka, fullback, out with injuries and he may not be able to play against Rice.

Rice was cheered over prospects of Ollie Cordill, star punter, being able to play against Baylor. Cordill did not get into the game against T.C.U. last week and Ernie Lain, Owl passer, played only a few minutes. Lain was also expected to be ready to go against the Bears.

Fort Worth And Dallas May Be Included In Hockey League

FORT WORTH, Nov. 22. (AP) — William F. Grant of Kansas City, president of the American Ice Hockey association, was a visitor in Fort Worth Monday. Grant, who plans to expand the hockey league to include both Fort Worth and Dallas, will confer with interested groups both here and in Dallas, he announced.

AAU Records To Be Decided Dec. 2-4

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP)—A total of 144 record performances in track and field, swimming, weight lifting and horseshoe pitching, five of them better than existing world records, will be presented to the Amateur Athletic union for approval at its annual convention at Washington Dec. 2, 3 and 4.

The list, compiled by Paul R. Jordan, chairman of the records committee, is topped by the greatest mile running performance ever listed, Glenn Cunningham's 4:04.4 mile made on Dartmouth college's indoor track last March.

Cunningham's record, and all the rest that are not bettered by others on the same list, likely will be accepted as American records.

Cunningham's mile would not receive international recognition because the I. A. A. F. does not accept records made indoors. Wayne Rideout's three-quarter mile mark of 3:00.3, made at Princeton, N. J., last June, is only one tenth of a second better than the mark held by Josef Mostert of Belgium. The I. A. A. F. requires a fifth-second margin in long races.

World records in swimming that will come up for American recognition are Ralph Flanagan's 5:56.5 for the 500 meters free style over a 25-yard course and Jack Kasley's 1:08.6 for the 100 meters breast stroke.

Flanagan is the chief record-breaker on the list with 14 marks up for consideration.

"Noteworthy performance" include distance medley, 9:59.4 North Texas State Teachers college.

Twelve Indicted In Counterfeiting Case

CORPUS CHRISTI, Nov. 22 (AP)—Twelve men, 11 of them Houstonians, were indicted Monday by the federal grand jury on charges of conspiring to pass and possession of spurious $10 bank notes.

Those indicted were David Krakauer of Palisades, N. J., Joseph Earl Cain, jr., Perry H. Short, Wilford Louis Macey, Charles Lyles Brouilete, Quinn C. Farabee, Theodore Dreyling, jr., Maynard Bradshaw, Vaughter Anderson Wilborn, Harry C. Bockelman, Ulric Sidney Bettison and Rudolph Benjamin Brett, all of Houston.

The government alleged Cain, Short and Macey purchased 350 bogus bills from Krakauer at Palisades, N. J., and returned to Houston.

The counterfeit money, the indictment said, was distributed by "certain of the defendants" in Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana, Tennessee and other states.

Assistant U. S. Attorney George John, who presented the case to the grand jury, said Krakauer was under $25,000 bond in New Jersey on a similar charge. He said he would ask that Krakauer be sent to Texas to stand trial, probably at Houston.

None of the 11 other men has been arrested, John said.

The prosecutor said he would ask the United States marshal at Houston to arrest the men later.

At 105, Magdalena Niedzalek of Rzeszow, Galicia, has just been married for the fifth time, and despite her age she enjoys good health, has a good memory and scorns to wear spectacles.

Steel Goes To The Farm; Prefabricated Metal Structures Shipped To FSA Sites

(By The Associated Press)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 22 —Steel went to the farm today when the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company shipped the first of 12 units of prefabricated metal farm buildings to sites selected by the Farm Security administration in Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina.

Each unit includes five buildings — a dwelling, barn, chicken house, outdoor pantry, and sanitary privy. The buildings were designed after research and experimental work by engineers of TCI and the Farm Security administration.

The dwelling contains a living room, three bedrooms, and combination kitchen and dining room. Two large closets and a pantry are included and space is available for a bathroom if desired. Approximately six tons of steel are used in the dwelling.

Complete prefabrication enables swift erection of the buildings by the simple expedient of bolting together the panels. This work may be performed by the farmer, or purchaser, with a few helpers.

These buildings bring the cost of prefabricated metal construction down to a completing level with buildings of other materials for the first time, TCI spokesman said.

M. Oosthuizen, who celebrated his seventieth birthday in Vredefort, South Africa, has two sons, seven daughters, 4 grand-children and six great grandchildren.

Rockefeller Estate

Fleming, Westchester county estate tax appraiser, listed Mr. Rockefeller's chief asset as securities valued at $26,273,845. There were notes and cash totaling $451,364 and miscellaneous property amounting to $179,973. The latter included a stock exchange seat—which he never used—valued at $93,000.
Deductions included $360,996 for funeral and administration expenses. Lawyers' fees were estimated at $200,000 and the three executors receive fees of $25,000 each. The executors are Mr. Rockefeller, jr., Thomas M. de Bevoise, an attorney, and Bertram Cutler, a financial adviser to the Rockefeller family.
Debts Amount To $133,348
Debts amounted to $133,348, ranging from an item of 58 cents for cloth purchased prior to Mr. Rockefeller's death to $42,813 due as a federal gift tax for 1937.
In a statement accompanying the appraisal Mr. Rockefeller, jr. listed $187,000 in gifts made by his father in the two years prior to his death. They included many donations to Republican state and national committees.
The list of assets included a solitary share of stock in the immense oil empire founded by Mr. Rockefeller.
In a statement by Mr. Rockefeller, jr., it was set forth that to the best of his knowledge his father had "at no time during his life made any transfers or created any trusts in contemplation of death or intended to take effect in possession or enjoyment at or after death.
Further the statement pointed out:
"During the course of his life, the decedent was constantly making gifts in cash of any amount of $5,000 or more and gifts in kind to charitable institutions and to individuals and the complete list of all such gifts is voluminous."

School Expansion

siderable portion of its time to discussion of the building program. Predictions were that some of the building program will be actually under way by Jan. 1 or soon thereafter, financed from the $15,000 made available by bond issue voted last Sept. 2.
The start, however, will not be made, it was declared, while even a possibility remains of obtaining the grant. That will be within a few weeks at the latest, officials said. The school district, it was explained, will automatically be disqualified from obtaining the grant the instant it starts building.
City Projects Less Urgent
Because pending city projects are less urgently needed than more classrooms for an over-crowded school system, the city can proceed more slowly, officials said. The grants for which city applications are pending are for a storm sewer and for alterations to the city hall which, in turn, would hasten construction of a new Central fire station.
City officials disclosed they have learned from Washington that there is no possibility that city grants will be approved this year. Suggestion has been made, however, that the applications be permitted to go into "cold storage."
Thus, if more money is provided for Public Works administration projects next year, those from Lubbock will be high on the list, without necessity of putting them once more through the routine of regional an dthe national PWA approval.
Officials recalled that the grant for the new men's dormitory now under construction at Texas Technological college was approved more than two years after the application had been filed.

Sleeping Beauties

For five and a half years Patricia Maguire of Chicago was America's "sleeping beauty." The 27-year-old stenographer (left) went to sleep in 1932. Before long a whole nation was reading about her strange case. Patricia died last year. Now comes news of other sleeping beauties:

SHE LOOKS HEALTHY but Maxine Yarrington, 5, of Erie, Pa., has just started her fourth year of unbroken sleep — with eyes wide open. Maxine, shown with nurse, is fed liquids. She lives in hospital.

AFTER SEVEN MONTHS' sleep, Mary Ellen Reardon, 3, of Chicago now cries occasionally and bats her eyes when an object is moved in front of them. She was stricken last March 25, after measles. Apparently in good health otherwise. Takes liquids and soft foods. Lives at home.

THIS BEAUTY WOKE UP last April after sleeping three weeks. She is Barbara Jean Herpich, 4, of Chicago, shown during early moments of consciousness as she embraced her mother. Barbara Jean's attack followed measles. Her physician, calling the case unusual, says she is "around and playing, well on the road to normalcy."

Chinese Advances

sufficient military and political power. Should America provide credits to Japan under such prospects, it would be tantamount to America's underwriting her own undoing."

U. S. Business May Increase And Then Go Into Tailspin

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22. (AP)—If American trade with China follows the pattern traced in Manchukuo, United States exporters may see their business with the Chinese increase for a few years and then go into a tailspin.
Experts here suggested today that parallel is likely to occur, with material damage to America's 1937 position as the largest seller in China and the largest buyer of Chinese goods.
At stake is a total trade of about $153,000,000.
The experts based their belief on the fact that Japan's economy, strained by an unexpectedly long war, will not be able to provide China's needs for a time.
When Japan is back on her economic feet, however, the situation will be different. The belief is general that purchases from American and other foreign commercial houses will be made only in cases where Japanese firms are unable to fill the order.
Secretary Hull told Japan last month she had virtually squeezed American business out of Manchoukuo and he feared the same thing would happen in China.

Funeral Services For Accident Victim Are Conducted Today

SEAGRAVES, Nov. 22 (Special)—After funeral services this afternoon in Portales, N. M., C. C. Bishop will be buried in a Portales cemetery.
Mr. Bishop, 46, died Sunday night in a hospital here of injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile.
Rev. John Rankin, pastor of the Seagraves Baptist church, was to officiate at services. Joe H. Webb funeral home transferred the body to Portales.
Mr. Bishop, resident of Logan, N. M., before he moved to Seagraves about a year ago, was struck when walking across a highway.

Emphasis Asked On Domestic Markets

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 22. (AP) — The West Texas Producers congress went into its second session today with suggestions before it that emphasis be placed on domestic rather than foreign markets.
H. H. Williamson, state director of the Extension service, made the suggestion last night at a banquet presided over by George Mahon, representative to congress from the 19th district. K. M. Renner of Texas Tech stressed the value of dairying to the West Texas farmer, and A. B. Tarwater, state representative, mentioned the service rendered by cooperatives. A. A. Holmgren, AAA administrator for Texas, described permanent accomplishments of the federal farm program.
Cotton was discussed at the morning session today, and D. A. Bandeen of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce was on the afternoon program for a talk on freight rates. John McCarty of Amarillo and W. Holbrook of Plainview were to discuss water conservation issues. The meeting ends today.
The administration was defended and home demonstration work praise on speeches yesterday.

Fatal Prison 'Party'

prison hospital and 20 more were confined to their bunks in "B" cell house.
Warden Prather said all had refused to name the man who stole the lethal beverage, but that if he learned the identity of the man responsible he would have him placed in solitary confinement "unless he is already dead."
Prison authorities learned first of the tragedy at 9 p. m. last night when Adams became severely ill and was taken to the hospital. Partially paralyzed, he was unable to talk.
In rapid succession 23 others were stricken until two Leavenworth physicians had to be called to aid the penitentiary doctor in caring for the mass hospitalization.
From the less seriously affected victims officials learned the "party" was staged Sunday, but they were unable to ascertain details.
At 3 a. m. today two of the victims died in quick succession, and the third followed at 4 a. m.
Bore Poison Labels
In a check of the prison today guards found the two empty jugs, bearing poison labels. Prather said, in "screaming letters."
He said some of the ailing felons told him they also drank shellac, but that a check of the prison's supply of shellac disclosed none missing.
He said, however, that previously officials had learned of prisoners drinking shellac because it contained alcohol. He also disclosed that because some prisoners had drained anti-freeze solution from prison motor cars he had issued strict orders for all penitentiary cars to be parked outside the walls.

In Berchtesgaden, Hitler received the new ambassador from France, Robert Coulondre, with a statement Germany and France were "no longer divided by the serious border conflicts which burdened their past."
Premier Daladier, facing increased opposition to his decree laws providing for higher taxes and lengthened working hours, ordered firm action against a wave of stay-in strikes in Frenche defense industries.
Sources close to the Paris government said Daladier and Chamberlain at their meeting tomorrow would study a plan for ending the Spanish civil war.

Garner 70 Today

young and Texas was almost frontier country.
The rugged and ruddy John Garner of the 70th birthday belies the rather frail youth who was born in a mud-chinked log cabin near Clarksville, Nov. 22, 1868. Working at farm chores and walking to school, clerking in a general store at 16, failed to develop a strong physique. By the time he had saved enough to enter Vanderbilt University to study law, a doctor predicted: "That boy won't live to use an education if he gets it."
Frail health continued until he had patched together a lawyer's education at college and by reading with lawyers. For reasons of health as well as of opportunity he moved to Uvalde, and began practice in 1890.
Prosperous In Five Years
The frontier lawyer of that day had to be a cautious and shrewd business man as well. Garner was. In less than five years he was prosperous, a leading citizen as lawyer, rancher, trader, and editor of a local paper.
They tell a story in Uvalde that Garner was opposed in his first campaign for public office, a judgship, by the lady who was to become his wife and secretary. The team has been consistently successful. In 1898 the young judge was chosen for the legislature.
When large-scale business came to Texas, Garner was one of those who sought government control of it in the interest of general welfare. But always conservatively, always advocating the middle way and the compromise, rather than the extremes. He was in those years rated a progressive, impatient of red tape.
To Congress In 1901
His business affairs flourished banking and ranching being added to a steadily increasing law practice. In 1901 he was sent to Congress by the 15th district, which continued to send him back again and again for 30 years. His service in congress was marked by ability to make friends with those on both sides of any question, and to do energetic work almost entirely without speaking on the floor. Slowly he came to wield a tremendous influence among fellow congressmen.
This influence has broadened rather than narrowed since in 1932 Garner became vice president. That he has been unsympathetic to many of the New Deal programs is no secret. The reason is easy to find in the acceptance speech he made in 1932:
His Idea Of Government
"There are just two things to this government, as I see it. The first is to safeguard the lives and properties of our people. The second is to insure that each of us has a chance to work out his destiny according to his talents. This involves protecting him from being injured or oppressed by those of superior acquisitiveness, and perhaps less conscience . . ." There is no reason to believe that Garner today would wish to broaden this conception.
But, as he rounds 70, all these thoughts are doubtless far from the vice president. Inspecting the pecan trees or live oaks that surround his home, or possibly making a trek into the Rio Frio country where he can relax as camp cook—these are more to the taste of John Garner than a formal birthday party with many candles.

Data On Sugar Beets To Be Compiled At Tech From Project

Information on cost of production and profit on two acres of sugar beets grown on Texas Technological college farm will be compiled in a few days, said Dr. A. W. Young, head professor of agronomy.
The two acres yielded 17 tons to the acre. Information is being awaited for the American Crystal Sugar company of Rocky Ford, Colo., on price received. A shipment from Tech and farms of this area was sent last week.
The beets were grown experimentally in cooperation with the Santa Fe railway company. H. M. Bainer, general agricultural agent of the Santa Fe, encouraged experiments on several farms in this area. R. D. Smith of west of Lubbock received a yield of 4,875 pounds from one acre and J. E. Hancock of north of Lubbock, 14,725 pounds from two acres.

The official reading at Dallas was 33 at 8 a. m.; 18 at Amarillo, 28 at Wichita Falls; 30 at Abilene; 17 at Borger. Skies were clear in the Panhandle, partly cloudy in North Texas, but rain or snow was not predicted.

Last Rites For Two Accident Victims Held At Whitharral

LITTLEFIELD, Nov. 22. (Special)—Last rites for Miss Christine Binkley, 24, and her 12-year-old brother Dow, were conducted this afternoon at Whitharral.
The two were victims of a peculiar truck accident. They fell from the cab of the machine when its lights suddenly were extinguished and it veered into a ditch. Robert L. Binkley, father of the two victims, and the family, including Mrs. Binkley and another son, had started to the home of a neighbor. The accident happened near the family home about nine miles south of Littlefield.
A Church of Christ minister was to officiate at services. Hamm Funeral home announced burial would be in Whitharral cemetery.

YOUTH'S NECK BROKEN
TUBA CITY, Ariz., Nov. 22 (AP)—The condition of Pliny Adams, 17-year-old Hopi youth whose neck was broken in a football game, was described as "quite critical" today as he rested in an iron lung.
Dr. Barnett Shapiro, physician in charge of the western Navajo hospital here, said the boy, paralyzed from the neck down, had no chance of recovering, however.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP)—Aircrafts, with a few exceptions, continued to point moderately higher in today's stock market while many pivotal industrials jogged along over a slightly lower trail.

Early losses ranging from fractions to a point or so were reduced in many cases at the close but the line of least resistance was still downward. Motors came back after noon and virtually erased morning declines.

Dealings were about as slow as in Monday's loitering session, with transfers approaching 900,000 shares.

Further laggard tendencies were attributed mainly to tax selling.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 22 (AP) — Argentine reports of crop damage from frost and from rains tended to lift Chicago wheat prices a little today.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were unchanged to ½ cent higher, compared with yesterday's finish. Dec. 62⅞-¾, May 65¾-½, corn unchanged to ⅜ up. Dec. 46⅝-¼, May 50½-⅝, and oats varying from ⅛ decline to ¼ advance.

Entire Route From Seminole To Dawson-Gaines Line Detoured

The entire 24 miles of highway 15 from Seminole east to the Dawson-Gaines county line is under construction and there is a detour for the entire distance, a statement from the state highway department shows. The sector is open to light traffic but closed for all loads over 7,000 pounds.

Another detour is on No. 86 in Swisher county from Tulia 10 miles east.

Rockefeller Estate

Fleming, Westchester county estate tax appraiser, listed Mr. Rockefeller's chief asset as securities valued at $26,273,845. There were notes and cash totaling $451,364 and miscellaneous property amounting to $179,973. The latter included a stock exchange seat—which he never used—valued at $93,000.

Deductions included $360,996 for funeral and administration expenses. Lawyers' fees were estimated at $200,000 and the three executors receive fees of $25,000 each. The executors are Mr. Rockefeller, jr., Thomas M. de Bevoise, an attorney, and Bertram Cutler, a financial adviser to the Rockefeller family.

Debts Amount To $133,348

Debts amounted to $133,348, ranging from an item of 58 cents for cloth purchased prior to Mr. Rockefeller's death to $42,813 due as a federal gift tax for 1937.

In a statement accompanying the appraisal Mr. Rockefeller, jr. listed $187,000 in gifts made by his father in the two years prior to his death. They included many donations to Republican state and national committees.

The list of assets included a solitary share of stock in the immense oil empire founded by Mr. Rockefeller.

In a statement by Mr. Rockefeller, jr., it was set forth that to the best of his knowledge his father had "at no time during his life made any transfers or created any trusts in contemplation of death or intended to take effect in possession or enjoyment at or after death.

Further the statement pointed out:

"During the course of his life, the decedent was constantly making gifts in cash of any amount of $5,000 or more and gifts in kind to charitable institutions and to individuals and the complete list of all such gifts is voluminous."

School Expansion

siderable portion of its time to discussion of the building program. Predictions were that some of the building program will be actually under way by Jan. 1 or soon thereafter, financed from the $15,000 made available by bond issue voted last Sept. 2.

The start, however, will not be made, it was declared, while even a possibility remains of obtaining the grant. That will be within a few weeks at the latest, officials said. The school district, it was explained, will automatically be disqualified from obtaining the grant the instant it starts building.

City Projects Less Urgent

Because pending city projects are less urgently needed than more classrooms for an over-crowded school system, the city can proceed more slowly, officials said. The grants for which city applications are pending are for a storm sewer and for alterations to the city hall which, in turn, would hasten construction of a new Central fire station.

City officials disclosed they have learned from Washington that there is no possibility that city grants will be approved this year. Suggestion has been made, however, that the applications be permitted to go into "cold storage."

Thus, if more money is provided for Public Works administration projects next year, those from Lubbock will be high on the list, without necessity of putting them once more through the routine of regional an dthe national PWA approval.

Officials recalled that the grant for the new men's dormitory now under construction at Texas Technological college was approved more than two years after the application had been filed.

Sleeping Beauties

For five and a half years Patricia Maguire of Chicago was America's "sleeping beauty." The 27-year-old stenographer (left) went to sleep in 1932. Before long a whole nation was reading about her strange case. Patricia died last year. Now comes news of other sleeping beauties:

SHE LOOKS HEALTHY but Maxine Yarrington, 5, of Erie, Pa., has just started her fourth year of unbroken sleep — with eyes wide open. Maxine, shown with nurse, is fed liquids. She lives in hospital.

AFTER SEVEN MONTHS' sleep, Mary Ellen Reardon, 3, of Chicago now cries occasionally and bats her eyes when an object is moved in front of them. She was stricken last March 25, after measles. Apparently in good health otherwise. Takes liquids and soft foods. Lives at home.

THIS BEAUTY WOKE UP last April after sleeping three weeks. She is Barbara Jean Herpich, 4, of Chicago, shown during early moments of consciousness as she embraced her mother. Barbara Jean's attack followed measles. Her physician, calling the case unusual, says she is "around and playing, well on the road to normalcy."

Chinese Advances

sufficient military and political power. Should America provide credits to Japan under such prospects, it would be tantamount to America's underwriting her own undoing."

U. S. Business May Increase And Then Go Into Tailspin

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22. (AP)—If American trade with China follows the pattern traced in Manchukuo, United States exporters may see their business with the Chinese increase for a few years and then go into a tailspin.

Experts here suggested today that parallel is likely to occur, with material damage to America's 1937 position as the largest seller in China and the largest buyer of Chinese goods.

At stake is a total trade of about $153,000,000.

The experts based their belief on the fact that Japan's economy, strained oy an unexpectedly long war, will not be able to provide China's needs for a time.

When Japan is back on her economic feet, however, the situation will be different. The belief is general that purchases from American and other foreign commercial houses will be made only in cases where Japanese firms are unable to fill the order.

Secretary Hull told Japan last month she had virtually squeezed American business out of Manchoukuo and he feared the same thing would happen in China.

Funeral Services For Accident Victim Are Conducted Today

SEAGRAVES, Nov. 22 (Special)—After funeral services this afternoon in Portales, N. M., C. C. Bishop will be buried in a Portales cemetery.

Mr. Bishop, 46, died Sunday night in a hospital here of injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile.

Rev. John Rankin, pastor of the Seagraves Baptist church, was to officiate at services. Joe H. Webb funeral home transferred the body to Portales.

Mr. Bishop, resident of Logan, N. M., before he moved to Seagraves about a year ago, was struck when walking across a highway.

Emphasis Asked On Domestic Markets

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 22. (AP) — The West Texas Producers congress went into its second session today with suggestions before it that emphasis be placed on domestic rather than foreign markets.

H. H. Williamson, state director of the Extension service, made the suggestion last night at a banquet presided over by George Mahon, representative to congress from the 19th district. K. M. Renner of Texas Tech stressed the value of dairying to the West Texas farmer, and A. B. Tarwater, state representative, mentioned the service rendered by cooperatives. A. A. Holmgren, AAA administrator for Texas, described permanent accomplishments of the federal farm program.

Cotton was discussed at the morning session today, and D. A. Bandeen of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce was on the afternoon program for a talk on freight rates. John McCarty of Amarillo and W. Holbrook of Plainview were to discuss water conservation issues. The meeting ends today.

The administration was defended and home demonstration work praise on speeches yesterday.

prison hospital and 20 more were confined to their bunks in "B" cell house.

Warden Prather said all had refused to name the man who stole the lethal beverage, but that if he learned the identity of the man responsible he would have him placed in solitary confinement "unless he is already dead."

Prison authorities learned first of the tragedy at 9 p. m. last night when Adams became severely ill and was taken to the hospital. Partially paralyzed, he was unable to talk.

In rapid succession 23 others were stricken until two Leavenworth physicians had to be called to aid the penitentiary doctor in caring for the mass hospitalization.

From the less seriously affected victims officials learned the "party" was staged Sunday, but they were unable to ascertain details.

At 3 a. m. today two of the victims died in quick succession, and the third followed at 4 a. m.

Bore Poison Labels

In a check of the prison today guards found the two empty jugs, bearing poison labels. Prather said, in "screaming letters."

He said some of the ailing felons told him they also drank shellac, but that a check of the prison's supply of shellac disclosed none missing.

He said, however, that previously officials had learned of prisoners drinking shellac because it contained alcohol. He also disclosed that because some prisoners had drained anti-freeze solution from prison motor cars he had issued strict orders for all penitentiary cars to be parked outside the walls.

young and Texas was almost frontier country.

The rugged and ruddy John Garner of the 70th birthday belies the rather frail youth who was born in a mud-chinked log cabin near Clarksville, Nov. 22, 1868. Working at farm chores and walking to school, clerking in a general store at 16, failed to develop a strong physique. By the time he had saved enough to enter Vanderbilt University to study law, a doctor predicted: "That boy won't live to use an education if he gets it."

Frail health continued until he had patched together a lawyer's education at college and by reading with lawyers. For reasons of health as well as of opportunity he moved to Uvalde, and began practice in 1890.

Prosperous In Five Years

The frontier lawyer of that day had to be a cautious and shrewd business man as well. Garner was. In less than five years he was prosperous, a leading citizen as lawyer, rancher, trader, and editor of a local paper.

They tell a story in Uvalde that Garner was opposed in his first campaign for public office, a judgship, by the lady who was to become his wife and secretary. The team has been consistently successful. In 1898 the young judge was chosen for the legislature.

When large-scale business came to Texas, Garner was one of those who sought government control of it in the interest of general welfare. But always conservatively, always advocating the middle way and the compromise, rather than the extremes. He was in those years rated a progressive, impatient of red tape.

To Congress In 1901

His business affairs flourished banking and ranching being added to a steadily increasing law practice. In 1901 he was sent to Congress by the 15th district, which continued to send him back again and again for 30 years. His service in congress was marked by ability to make friends with those on both sides of any question, and to do energetic work almost entirely without speaking on the floor. Slowly he came to wield a tremendous influence among fellow congressmen.

This influence has broadened rather than narrowed since in 1932 Garner became vice president. That he has been unsympathetic to many of the New Deal programs is no secret. The reason is easy to find in the acceptance speech he made in 1932:

His Idea Of Government

"There are just two things to this government, as I see it. The first is to safeguard the lives and properties of our people. The second is to insure that each of us has a chance to work out his destiny according to his talents. This involves protecting him from being injured or oppressed by those of superior acquisitiveness, and perhaps less conscience . . ." There is no reason to believe that Garner today would wish to broaden this conception.

But, as he rounds 70, all these thoughts are doubtless far from the vice president. Inspecting the pecan trees or live oaks that surround his home, or possibly making a trek into the Rio Frio country where he can relax as camp cook—these are more to the taste of John Garner than a formal birthday party with many candles.

Data On Sugar Beets To Be Compiled At Tech From Project

Information on cost of production and profit on two acres of sugar beets grown on Texas Technological college farm will be compiled in a few days, said Dr. A. W. Young, head professor of agronomy.

The two acres yielded 17 tons to the acre. Information is being awaited for the American Crystal Sugar company of Rocky Ford, Colo., on price received. A shipment from Tech and farms of this area was sent last week.

The beets were grown experimentally in cooperation with the Santa Fe railway company. H. M. Bainer, general agricultural agent of the Santa Fe, encouraged experiments on several farms in this area. R. D. Smith of west of Lubbock received a yield of 4,875 pounds from one acre and J. E. Hancock of north of Lubbock, 14,725 pounds from two acres.

The two were victims of a peculiar truck accident. They fell from the cab of the machine when its light suddenly were extinguished and it veered into a ditch. Robert L. Profit Margins To Be Reduced

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 — The agriculture department announced last night representatives of retail stores had agreed to recommend to their organizations that margins of profit on oranges and grapefruit be reduced.

Recommendations to trim distribution costs and profits were voted, officials said, by retail delegates attending a national conference of citrus sellers and handlers. Called by the department, the session represented another step in the government's campaign to help dispose of the largest orange and grapefruit crop on record.

To Draft Proposals

The retail group expected to name a committee to draft specific proposals for their organizations.

Jesse W. Tapp, the department's surplus disposal chief, told the closed conference distribution costs, including picking, packing, transportation, and selling, represented up to 90 per cent of the price paid by consumers.

Of this, he said, the retail margin was 27 to 33 per cent on oranges and 34 per cent on grapefruit.

Appeal To Railroads

Agriculture officials said the retail representatives also endorsed Secretary Wallace's appeal to railroads for a temporary emergency reduction in citrus freight rates.

One chain store executive was said to have told the conference 40 to 45 per cent of the commodities stocked by food merchants did not bring sufficient profit to cover their own cost of distribution. Conferees said he mentioned sugar as an example.

This representative explained, it was said, that other commodities—including fresh fruit and vegetables—were forced to bear more than their own cost of distribution.

Government Doing Share

Tapp said the government was doing its share by purchasing for relief distribution about 8,000,000 boxes of grapefruit and oranges. He assured the seller delegates, however, this fruit would be distributed in a way that would not interfere with regular retail merchandising.

He said the cost of getting a box of fruit from the grove to the consummer was $2.75 and up, with little if any reduction because of low retail prices.

The result this season had been, he said, that for the four-week period ended November 5, 30 per cent of all Florida varieties sold on the New York auction brought less than the direct marketing charges.

A chain store representative suggested small towns and rural areas offered the best opportunity for expansion of outlets. Another declared "in-between costs" needed trimming, because current methods were "grossly ineffective."

Tech Debaters Will Enter Tournament In Winfield, Kas.

Four Texas Technological college debate teams will leave Wednesday morning for Winfield, Kas., where they plan to enter the Interstate Debate tournament held annually at Southwestern college, Miss Annah Jo Pendleton, debate coach, announced today.

The tournament, which is the second largest of its kind in the United States, will begin Friday morning and continue through Saturday. The Tech teams will return to Lubbock Sunday. Entries are limited to 50 schools.

Team members planning to leave Wednesday are: Waggoner and Warlick Carr, both junior arts and sciences students of Lubbock, comprising a senior men's team; Richard Burwell, junior arts and sciences from Amarillo, Orville Shofner, Levelland, freshman arts and sciences, and Roy Chambless, sophomore arts and sciences, Brownfield, who alternate on another men's senior team; Lois Mae Speers, junior arts and sciences of Dickens, and Mary Paul Long, junior arts and sciences of Lubbock, senior women's team; Shirley Bass, San Angelo, sophomore arts and sciences, and Raymond Goodrich, Amarillo, freshman arts and sciences, mixed junior team. The two Carr boys are the only ones of this group who went to Kansas debates last year.

Senior teams may be entered by senior colleges only, but freshman and sophomore debaters may enter the junior college division.

The Pi Kappa Delta, national honorary debate fraternity, question will be used: "Resolved, that the United States should cease to use public funds for the purpose of stimulating business."

Each team will participate in at least eight different debates, Miss Pendleton said, six decision contests and two non-decision.

This is the third consecutive year that Tech teams have entered the Kansas tournament. Last year however, the college sent only two teams, one senior girls and one senior boys. The boys' team won all their debates and girls lost only one.

After returning from the Interstate tournament the Tech debaters will contest teams from Drake university, Des Moines, Iowa, here Dec. 9. The other teams at the Kansas matches will be the first competition the Tech groups have met this fall.

Series Of Dams Authorized

(By The Associated Press)

TEMPLE, Nov. 22—A series of low-water dams on the upper Brazos watershed were authorized Monday by the board of the Brazos River conservation and reclamation district.

The directors authorized a maximum expenditure of $250,000 as the sponsor's share of the project. John A. Norris, general manager, was directed to proceed with negotiations for the work. Norris said the district had received assurance that the WPA would participate, the plan being for WPA local labor to build the dams.

Situations Are Announced

The storage dams are to be situated in Stephens, Knox, Eastland, Baylor, Callahan, Young, King, Dickens, Shackelford, Jones and other counties.

The dams, of earth fill, are to be a maximum height of 50 feet.

Where the first dams will be built will be determined by the urgency of the need and the availability of local labor, the directors said. In some places, in addition to the general benefits to the valley, the dams will solve the problem of municipal water supply, they explained.

Preliminary studies have been made by the state board of water engineers on 12 possible sites in Shackelford and Callahan counties and on California creek, Jones county; Buck creek, Dickens county, and Miller and Cass creeks, Baylor county.

Board officials pointed out that the construction of these low-water dams long has been part of the district's program. The dams are designed to tie in with the 13 large dams planned by the district.

The board also authorized the sale of $125,000 in bonds, maturing May 31,1939, bearing 1 per cent interest, for the purchase of reservoir lands in the Possum creek area in Palo Pinto county. The lands committee reported that almost half of the necessary land had been contracted for in that area, where a major dam already is under construction.

BRING SAME PRICE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—The treasury announced last night its weekly sale of $100,000,000 of 91-day treasury bills brought an average price of 99.993, equal to borrowing at .026 per cent, the same as last week.

Jones 'Banker For The U. S.'

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—A six-foot, silver-haired Texan properly may be called "banker for the government."

He is Jesse H. Jones of Houston.

As chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, he must give the final approval to all loans made by that agency, and among its borrowers are various governmental units. In addition, millions of dollars monthly are loaned to private industry.

To Continue To Need Money

At one of his press conferences, Jones was asked whether he thought the RFC would be made permanent. He answered by remarking that the government probably would continue to need money for a long time. He was asked then if he thought there was any better source of financial aid than the organization he heads.

"You expect me to be modest, don't you," was his reply.

An act of congress in 1932 created the RFC to "provide emergency financing facilities for financial institutions, to aid in financing agriculture, commerce, and industry, and for other purposes." By an act last session it was authorized to continue all its functions until June 30, 1939.

Jones' Suite On 9th Floor

The corporation has its principal offices in an 11-story brick structure on Pennsylvania across the business district from the capitol and three blocks from the White House. Jones' suite is situated in a corner on the ninth floor.

Loan agencies are maintained in various cities throughout the country. The Federal Reserve banks act as depositories, custodians and fiscal agents for the corporation. RFC funds are kept on deposit with the treasurer of the United States.

Among governmental agencies which receive financial aid from the RFC, as prescribed by law, are the Rural Electrification administration and the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation. Acts also specify loans for federal emergency relief measures, for the exportation of agricultural products, and for the carrying and orderly marketing of farm commodities and livestock.

ALLEY OOP — THE BIG BOY DELIVERS — By HAMLIN

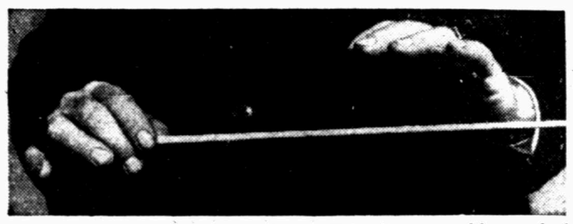

A Speech To His Musicians

Orchesra conductors talk to their musicians though the kettle drums may be rumbling, the bassoons booming and the violins wailing, all at the same time. It's done with gestures. These vary according to the conductor, but the ideas basically are the same. Here, Ferde Grofe, conductor-composer, shows you how he does it.

1 Right hand. It's got rhythm. Keeps everybody in step; calls up the brasses in marches.

2 Left hand. Tells when and how hard to blow, bow or sock the drums and cymbals.

3 Pianissimo. "Come in easy, boys. Take it very softly — sh-sh shush."

4 Marcato. March stuff. Loud. Heavy. The rhythm goes boom—two—three—boom!

5 "Give 'em the works." Used most often in the ear-splitting blast of the finale.

Modern Hotels To Be Opened In Ancient Mexican Towns

MORELIA, Michoacan, Mexico, Nov. 22 (AP)—Large, modern hotels will be opened here and, at near-by Patzcuaro, on lovely Lake Patzcuaro about Jan. 1, next. The hotels will make it possible for tourists to enjoy stays in these beautiful Mexican towns, which heretofore have attracted only the most adventurous and hardy, because of lack of good accommodations.

Morelia, with its beautiful churches and old homes, is accounted as one of the most perfect examples of the colonial city, with a rich treasure of architectural beauty as well as historical interest. Patzcuaro, on the lake, said to be one of the most beautiful in the world, is a starting point for Tzintzuntzan where, in a humble church, is an authentic painting by Titian, for Janitzio and for many other exotic and quaint villages, where ancient arts and crafts still are practiced.

The Columbia river has an average flow of 280,000 feet per second.

Club Council Is To Award Trophy For Scholastic Work

Purchase of a trophy to be presented to the men's social club with the highest scholastic average each semester has been authorized by the Men's Inter-club council of Texas Technological college, according to James G. Allen, dean of men.

Bill Parks from Pampa, president of College club, was elected president of the council, which is comprised of presidents of the seven campus social clubs. John Miller of Lubbock, president of Kemas club, was chosen secretary.

Jack Carlson of Brownwood, Centaur club president, and Parks will determine the type of trophy. The trophy will become permanent property of a club winning it three times in succession. It will be given each semester to the club with the highest average the preceding semester, based on grade-point averages announced by the registrar's office.

Purchased Books

The council this fall assisted in purchasing books for boys who had been employed on the pre-college National Youth administration project on the campus and who had proved eligible for college work.

Members of the council, besides Parks, Miller and Carlson, are E. P. Driver of Big Spring, Silver Key president; Jack Sharpe of Detroit, Wranglers president; J. B. Ratliff, jr., of Garden City, Los Camaradas president; Tom Copeland, of Dallas, Socii president; and Troy Pickens of Slaton, a non-voting member. Pickens is president of the Inter-Club council, comprised of representatives of both men's and women's social clubs.

Parks will appoint a committee to draw up a constitution and by-laws for the men's council, instigated by Dean Allen.

Chain Notice Plan For Amarillo Tech Exes Club Is Novel Idea

AMARILLO, Nov. 22 (Special) — A chain notice plan has been adopted by the Amarillo Texas Tech association in informing former students of a newly planned Friday luncheon.

Upon receipt of a notice of the luncheon, the receiver is to notify three of his Tech friends about the luncheon—by letter, postcard, telephone, or in person. It doesn't matter if the same person is notified more than once.

The luncheon will be conducted at 12 o'clock in Amarillo Coffee shop each Friday. Wives, husbands, and friends of "exes" also are invited.

Visitors from Lubbock will be welcomed, said J. H. Smith, president of the association.

BRITISH FOOD CHECKED

LONDON (AP) — Of 151,370 articles examined during 1937 under the food and drugs (adulteration) act, 8,401 were found to be adulterated or not up to standard, according to the Ministry of Health.

More Than 100 At Dinner At Church

A dinner at the First Christian church Monday night was attended by more than 100 men of the church.

They prepared and ate their own meal of ham, yams, and pie. A similar session will be held each month, according to Rev. H. G. Gantz, pastor.

The session was informal and each man was privileged to speak, but if he exceeded a five-minute time limit he was assessed a fine. M. E. Heard presided.

Musical diversion consisted of music by Robert "Highpockets" Overton and his hillbilly orchestra, an impromptu male quartet composed of H. W. Moore, Gordon Williams, Dr. Marshall Harvey and Dr. Ewell Hunt, and spiritual songs by Nathan and Ruth Robinson (colored).

J. H. Brock led a "Dr. Quizzer" questionnaire session. Dunces of the evening were E. L. Pitts, George P. Kuykendall, Sam J. McFarland, J. E. Hartley and Moore.

Committee chairmen selected were S. G. West, attendance; Felix O. Kelly, food; K. M. Renner, program; and Ben R. Eskridge, future plans. Other members of the future plans committee are Earl C. Pollard and O. A. Terry.

CISCO, Nov. 22 (AP)—Floyd Prets, 20, was charged with murder Monday in connection with the fatal shooting of his mother in the kitchen of her home at Baird last week.

Happy Over The Gly-Cas Action

Mrs. Mattie Grayson Found Gly-Cas To Be Just What She Had Needed For Years; Enjoying Good Health

miserable years of suffering and there seemed to be nothing I could do about it for everything I tried failed to help me in the least. My stomach simply would not digest my foods properly and I had to diet strictly. Often after eating, my heart would pain me so I could hardly get my beath, endured awful smothering spells. It seems my entire system was filled with poison and in spite of all I tried I only grew worse each day. It was terribly discouraging for all I could see ahead of me was suffering. But finally I began Gly-Cas and from the first I realized I had found the medicine I had been searching for these many years.

"It is remarkable the change Gly-Cas has made in my condition and in such a short time too," continued Mrs. Grayson. "I am now enjoying the best health I have had in fifteen years. All that dreadful gas, bloating and smothering spells have now gone. Even my bowels have been regulated, eat three meals a day and no longer have to diet to keep from suffering afterwards. No wonder everyone is talking of the action of Gly-Cas—it is truly remarkable."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns. Adv.

ALONG about 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, The Plainsman's telephone is going to start ringing off'n the wall.

One by one, red hot, but somewhat procrastinating Westerner boosters are going to say:

"Put me down for one of those gold footballs you're getting up for Lubbock High IF they beat Amarillo."

And The Plainsman is going to say, "Thanks a lot, pal, but we've got all the balls we need."

And those late boys are going to be sorry they didn't come in "right off the bat." They're going to be honestly disappointed that they're not going to have a part in the Westerner's crushing, overwhelming victory over the Bass Brainstorm from up North Pole way!

Monday night five more Westerner fans pledged $6 each for gold footballs, running the total up to an even 20.

Only five (5) more are needed and it's going to be "first come, first served."

Grab your telephone right now and call No. 13. If The Plainsman doesn't happen to be in the office, just tell the Avalanche-Journal switchboard operator your name, address and that you're pledging yourself to buy a $6 gold football for the Westerners IF they beat Amarillo.

Don't put it off a minute—or you may miss the boat!

MONDAY donors whose names were added to the first 15 announced, were Rayford Hills, Hiz-zoner Judge Daniel A. Blair, Durwood H. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher M. (Sled) Allen and Economy Mills.

They made the total of 20 out of 25 balls needed, along with Jerry Jarett, Parker Prouty, Robert Cooper, Homer Grant, Morris Levine, Sammy Rosenthal, Spencer Wells, Jarrett-West Drug, Roy Furr, Dr. Sam G. Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Sanders, Ellsworth J. (Jack) Parsons, Arch S. Underwood, Sam Richardson and The Plainsman, who had all come in earlier.

Remember, no money will be collected until AFTER the Westerners win, so make your pledge now.

The footballs will be beautifully inscribed and will be furnished and engraved at cost by Anderson Brothers.

Take a part in that Turkey Day humbling of the Amarilloans.

Show the Westerners you're with 'em and are helping 'em!

THERE has been a great deal said, in recent years, concerning the great bloodless, social and economic revolution through which our country has been and still is passing.

Many of our people are prone to "view with alarm" the things that have been done and many others view the future most gloomily. They fear the end to all American tradition, custom, principle and precept is "just around the corner."

To those who take the pessimistic view, our advice is "take a leisurely trip in other sections of the land; get close to the people with whom you come into contact; see America first hand."

One of the finest articles we have seen in months appeared in a recent edition of the Christian Science Monitor.

Written by Erwin D. Canham, chief of the Monitor's Washington bureau under the heading "State of the Nation—1938," the article sums up what the writer saw in a 15,000 mile "inquiring trip" which zig-zagged him across the country and into every section of it.

And underlying everything Mr. Canham saw and heard is his discovery that, after all, "the greatest thing about America is Americans." Because this is a fact, Mr. Canham sees no reason to view either the present or the future with any great deal of alarm.

"The United States," he declares, "is greater than its problems. To know the country is to have faith in it, to be impressed by its achievement, to be aroused by its challenge, and to be entirely cognizant of the tasks that remain to be done."

We do have a great country and we do have a great people.

And the only way the country could fail, would be for the people to fail its priceless resources.

We won't do that.

WHEN we were in high school we got it upon good authority that Brutus was an honorable man.

At least, that is what our latin teacher said Mark Anthony told the boys at the wake.

Rome had plenty of honorable men in those days, no doubt. But look at us in the Good Old U.S.A.

Only a couple of weeks ago, American voters gave to hundreds of their fellow citizens the right to prefix to their names the title already proudly worn by thousands—"The Honorable." Although in this age of speed it's nearly always abbreviated to plain "Hon."

Members of congress, governors, cabinet officers, certain other federal officials and mayors of the larger cities are entitled to that neat little handle, according to the manual of the U. S. State department.

Men newly elected to congress, governorships, etc., can stick on "The Honorable" as soon as they take their oaths of office. And that is not all. Lame Ducks, too, can continue to hobble around as "Honorables," for, as one member of the State department put it, "once an Honorable, always an Honorable!"

Texas editors are "Honorables," too, but only on every other year—the years ending in even numbers.

They're election years and foolish indeed would be the candidate for state office who failed to address letters filled with publicity to editors without the "Honorable" attached!

BUT there's one thing about the whole business that bothers The Plainsman.

The State department's manual says nothing about "Right Honorables."

Members of the British House of Commons are "Right Honorables," and the title holds good for the humblest member, just as it does for a member of the ministry. Aren't our "Honorables" just as right and just as honorable as the British "Honorables?" Is this some more of that well known British propaganda? Is it an attempt to make it appear to the world that their "Honorables" are always right and that ours are sometimes wrong?

The Plainsman doesn't know the answer to this perplexing problem, but anyhow he offers three cheers for our "Honorables."

May they always be right, but right or wrong, they're our "Honorables!"

CAST OF CHARACTERS

MYRNA DOMBEY — heroine. Wife of the sensational swing band leader.

ROBERT TAIT—hero. Newspaper photographer—detective.

ANNE LESTER—Myrna's closest friend.

DANNIE FEELEY — officer assigned to investigate Ludden Dombey's murder.

Yesterday: Police tell Tait to bring in Myrna. He wonders where she is and he realizes, too, that somehow he is going to be in this affair to the end.

CHAPTER IV

The taxi veered to the curb in front of the Claremont Apartments, and Bob Tait's foot was on the running board even before it stopped. Hurriedly he paid the driver and waived him on. A quick glance told him that there was no police car parked nearby. He hoped that Officer Dunphy hadn't come in a taxi and betrayed his easy nature by rushing things.

In the entrance way of the Claremont he almost collided with a woman on her way out. She was a striking honey-colored blond, almost too fragile and beautiful to be real. For a scant second her eyes met Tait's, then turned away. She hurried on and down the street, leaving a wake of not too faint perfume. Tait grinned to himself and let out an involuntary whistle.

At another time he might have speculated a little about that beautiful blond—but not now. He scanned the mail-box board, found a neatly lettered card with the names: Myrna Rogers—Anne Lester. Their apartment was on the third floor, and in his haste Tait scorned the automatic lift. The stairs he took three and four at a time.

He listened a moment at the door before he pressed the bell. To his intense relief there was no sound of Mike Dunphy's indiscreet, blustering voice. But when Anne Lester opened the door her distracted eyes told him that trouble was brewing.

"Myrna's not here," she said. "What shall we do?"

Tait stepped inside the room and closed the door. "No note—nothing?"

The girl shook her head. "I don't believe she came here at all from the Pacific-Plaza."

"This is bad," Tait told her. "Dunphy, from police headquarters, is on his way here now. It's going to look bad when he finds she isn't to be had." He held Anne's gaze. "Are you sure you don't know where she might be?"

Anne shook her head. "I've been trying to think—ever since I got with him. Couldn't you tell that came to me is—is that what happened at the Golden Bowl made her lose her head."

For a moment Tait did not answer. He tried to fathom beyond Anne Lester's seemingly frank glance. "Listen," he burst out, "do you have any reason to believe that Myrna killed Dombey tonight? There must be—" He stopped, shrugged his shoulders. "It wouldn't do any good to ask you that. Even if you thought she were guilty, you'd lie for her."

Anne Lester's answer came swiftly. "You're right. I would. I'd go further than that for Myrna. But she didn't do it. She was in love with him. Couldn't yo utell that when you walked up to that table tonight?"

"I'm afraid I had something else on my mind. You see, I'd just lost a job and was trying to figure a way to get it back. That's what I should be doing now. I wish I knew why I'm not."

Anne clutched his arm. "Please help us. I—I'm afraid. I knew something was going to happen tonight. I kept feeling it. And I know this is going to mean trouble for Myrna. We've got to find her. We've—" She caught her breath, looked up at Tait with a sudden new fright. "They might be after her now! If they wanted to kill Lud Dombey, why wouldn't they want to kill his wife, too?"

Tait tried to make his laugh sound easy. "Simply because she hasn't been his wife long enough to be mixed up in whatever it was that brought Lud Dombey to his last tune tonight. But we've got to find her, that's certain." He opened the door into the hall. "And we've got to get out of here. Grab your hat."

"Why?"

"It'll be better to be scarce than to try to explain to Mike Dunphy why she isn't here. And he wouldn't quite be able to figure out what I'm doing up here, either. Is there a back way out of this place?"

Anne nodded. She had wrapped an ulster around the dress she'd worn as maid of honor. On her head was a smart brown felt. Her silver slippers and the gown dropping beneath the sport coat were an incongruity, but she gave no thought to that now. "We can get out this way," she told Tait, hurrying down the hall.

It was not a moment too soon. Somewhere below them boomed Mike Dunphy's bellowing query, "Where would be the apartment belongin' to Miss Myrna Rogers?" Tait could not hold back a smile. It was like Mike to disturb the landlady and assert his authority rather than quietly examine the names on the lobby board. But right now Tait was glad for Officer Dunphy's idiosyncrasies.

"Get your thinking cap on," Tait told Anne when they had gained the street. "I'm going to rent a car—taxi drivers can talk in court, and we might find later on that we'd rather not have this little jaunt on record." He took Anne by the arm, hurried her along. "I know a car rental place a few blocks from here. And while we're walking, try to figure out where we might have a look for Myrna."

Anne stopped momentarily, made a quick, excited gesture. "It's just a chance."

"What's just a chance?"

"The cottage. Or the shack—as Myrna called it. Her father left it to her. It's the only thing he did leave, because he was a happy-go-lucky sort—but Myrna loves the place, and was always trying to save enough to have it fixed up."

"Where is it?"

"Out near Bellville, in the country. It's at least a three-hour drive."

"But what makes you think she'd go there?"

"She and I spent a week-end there one summer. I remember now that she said if she ever got in trouble—lost her job, or anything like that—she'd go out there and think it over. She was half-joking, of course."

Tait quickened his pace. "It's a good hunch, just the same. Remarks like that come back to a person when they're in a jam. We'll go there. But isn't there some spot in town she might hit? Another friend—or a cocktail bar?"

"I don't think Myrna would take her troubles to anyone but me," Anne said staunchly. "And she never went to cocktail bars alone. I don't think she'd do it now."

"Okay. Then we'll try the place in the country. At least the drive will do us good."

In a few moments they were wheeling along in a rented coupe, bound toward Belleville. The traffic was light at that hour, and Tait's headlights pierced quickly through the city. He and Anne were silent until they were on the north highway. Then Tait reached into his pocket and brought out Myrna's handbag.

"Ever see that before?"

"Of course. It's Myrna's. She had it tonight."

Tait nodded. "There was a gun in it, too. Did you know that?"

LUBBOCK'S SCHOOL PROBLEM

Many of the parents of Lubbock independent school district are becoming a trifle impatient because of delay in the start of the building program for which a $150,000 bond issue was voted nearly three months ago.

Their impatience is quite easy to understand. Crowding of the schools has reached the point of becoming a serious problem because of phenominally increased enrollment. Indications are that the increase will continue, and the crowding problem will grow in proportion. Certainly, any prolonged delay in the provision of additional classrooms will create an intolerable condition.

We believe, however, that wisdom dictates patience a little longer by the parents. There still is a possibility—true, a remote one—of favorable action on an application for a federal grant of approximately $125,000. Even the possibility of that much money justifies a wait of a few weeks—and school district officials assure us that the wait will be no longer than that.

However, they should be prepared—as doubtless they are—to get busy on their building program without an instant's unnecessary delay.

Powerful House Rules Committee In Hands Of Anti - New Dealers; Sabbath Lone Survivor

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Control of the powerful Rules committee, which decides whether any bill shall come up for a vote in the House, may still trouble the administration despite its "purge" of Chairman John J. O'Connor in New York.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of Rodney Dutcher's last few columns written prior to his sudden death Saturday. The Journal will continue to run Mr. Dutcher's remaining comments until all are exhausted. Meanwhile, arrangements are being made for a successor in his Washington field).

Dutcher

The New Deal and anti-New Deal lineup on this committee remains the same numerically. And Republicans, with four-score new House members, will press for larger representation.

O'Connor and Rep. William J. Driver of Arkansas, who helped bottle up the wage-hour act and other bills, were defeated in the primaries. But two loyal New Deal members, Greenwood of Indiana and Harlan of Ohio, were knocked off in the election.

In line for the chairmanship is 2-year-old Adolph J. Sabath of Illinois. If you subtract the election casualties he is the only 100 per cent pro-Roosevelt man among the six Democrats and four Republicans left on the committee. Republicans will demand at least one of the four Democratic vacancies, but even if all four were filled with pro-New Deal Democrats—unlikely because of the conservatism of the committee on committees which assigns them—there would still be no dependable administration majority.

Might Enlarge Committee

The House might be willing to expand membership of the committee so enough new men could be appointed to assure administration control. Meanwhile, Rules stands as a conservative bulwark.

With Greenwood out, the ranking Democratic member under Sabath becomes Eugene Cox of Georgia, even more anti-New Deal than was O'Connor—especially toward administration alliances with organized labor. Next is Howard W. Smith of Virginia, whom New Dealers vainly sought to "purge" this year. J. Bayard Clark of North Carolina, who was in the anti-wage hour bill bloc, ranks next. And then there's none other than Martin Dies of Texas.

Sabath, at least theoretically, is a key man in any event. Traditionally the House is controlled by the Speaker—now William B. Bankhead of Alabama—and the Majority Leader—now Sam Rayburn of Texas—and the chairman of the Rules committee.

Sabath was born in what recently has been Czechoslovakia, in 1866. He is a son of poor Bohemian parents, and was brought to this country at 15; he worked in a mill, studied law and after practicing became a municipal judge in Chicago. He has represented the Fifth Illinois congressional district 32 years and in January will begin his 17th term.

He is short, stocky, white-haired, white-mustached and always faultlessly dressed. He still speaks with something of an accent. Without the force, influence or personal following of O'Connor, he nevertheless is popular in the House. The administration had hoped Greenwood would take much of the heavier work off his shoulders and now will try to see that one of its more dependable men is assigned to the committee to help him.

Sabath has been told by his physician to take it easy. But when

Church of Illinois last year criticized his record as chairman of the special House committee investigating real estate bondholders' organization committees, alleging Sabath's Chicago law firm had received fees from a company figuring in the investigation. Sabath rose to emotional heights in a long speech of defense and denial. Toward the end he almost collapsed and was led, weeping, from the floor.

He has actively supported measures for protection of investors, immigration legislation and relief and social welfare bills.

Ranks Of Turkeydom To Suffer Heavy Massacre During This Week

Prices About As Last Year

The ranks of turkeydom will suffer heavy massacre in Lubbock this Thanksgiving, according to general opinion among the town's grocers.

Prices asked for the handsomely plumed birds with bronze luster and flashy, red-combed heads are no higher than those of last year, food dealers say.

Added to reportedly prevalent salary increases, freer spending and slightly reduced prices on celery, lettuce and other "trimmings," everything seems to herald an unprecedented high in local turkey consumption.

Predicts "Absolutely de Greates'"

Conflicting reports come from the "flats" regarding the Thanksgiving outlook. The head of an old and established grocery business that has been on the same corner in the deeps of east Lubbock for more than 14 years predicted "absolutely de greates' amount of good eatin' us cullud folks has Evah seen in dese pa'hts!"

By contrast, the colored manager of a newly-launched enterprise only a few blocks away said he foresaw a "slim season" without much festivity because "most of dese folks down heah is too pore to buy." Neither store admits having "chitlin's" in stock, although large sowbelly sales were announced.

Mexicans Add More Chili Pepper

Negro menus probably will include chicken, pork chops, or steak, while Mexicans simply will add more chili pepper to their customary fare of tamales and frijoles in honor of the gala occasion.

Downtown stores, as well as those in residential sectors, share with the successful negro storekeeper the prevailing optimistic belief that Lubbockites in general will have more bountifully laden tables Thursday noon than have been seen on the South Plains in many a turkey trot.

How To Make Mathematics Entertaining To Be One Of Subjects At Teachers Meet

DALLAS, Nov. 22. (AP)—How to make mathematics more entertaining is among the topics to be discussed at the convention of the Texas State Teachers association, starting here Thursday.

Between 10,000 and 15,000 teachers and school administrators are expected here for the 60th annual convention.

The first meeting of the association's house of delegates will be Friday with R. H. Brister, Waco, president of the association, in charge.

'Phooey' To You, Mr. Honker

Those loud cheers heard across the land were for David E. Wilson of Santa Monica, Calif., who has patented a "phooey" face that sticks out its tongue and delivers a noisy "bird" to the auto pest who thinks horn-honking is the most important part of car driving. Inventor Wilson is pictured with the "phooey" face, which is attached to the rear of the auto and operated electrically from the dashboard.

Levelland Postoffice Interior To Get Redecorating, Refinish

LEVELLAND, Nov. 22 — A two-year renewal of lease on the present postoffice location on the west side of the courthouse square has been signed, H. H. Mann, postmaster, announces. At the same time the interior is to be redecorated and refinished.

J. J. Bynum of Lubbock owns the building. Another section of lock boxes has been ordered, in spite of the fact that a little over six weeks ago 54 others were installed. Demand for boxes is so great that the office is unable to keep up with them.

In connetion with the announcement, W. J. Baldwin, editor, made the following statement about county mail service:

"Perhaps it is not generally known that a letter mailed here on Thursday night or Friday morning will not be delivered on some of the routes extending into this county until Monday. The same letter would have reached the Rio Rrande Valley in the tip end of Texas Sunday morning, or would be delivered on a city route in Atlanta, Ga., at least two hours earlier.

"It is also true that a letter mailed in Levelland on Thursday night or Friday morning will not reach one postoffice in Hockley county until Monday near noon. It took Hughes less time to fly around the earth. This office is a bare 30-minute drive from Levelland and the people get their papers there on the day after."

The three big streams are the north, south and main Llano rivers while the 23 smaller streams are tributaries. Randolph's records are from the statistics compiled by the bureau of water engineers.
