Churchill Reported To Be Improved

ROQUEBRUNE, France (UP)—Sir Winston Churchill's doctors announced today that "there is a very definite improvement" in his condition. The 83-year-old British statesman has been battling an attack of pneumonia and pleurisy since last Tuesday.

A medical bulletin said: "There is a very definite improvement in Sir Winston Churchill's condition. There are signs that the pneumonia is resolving. After a good night he is more comfortable and his progress is so far satisfactory."

The bulletin was signed by Lord Moran and Dr. David M. Roberts, the two physicians who have been treating the doughty old warrior in his latest illness.

The wording of the bulletin—the third issued since Lord Moran flew here from London to take charge of the case—bore out the optimism expressed earlier in the day by Lady Churchill.

She said then that her husband is feeling "very well."

Earlier sources close to Churchill's physician said he had passed a good night and was quite comfortable this morning.

The sources said Lord Moran and Dr. David Roberts, a local physician, were examining Churchill this morning.

Physicians were carefully watching Churchill's heart as he entered the fourth day of his fight against the pleurisy and pneumonia which struck him down Tuesday.

Oxygen equipment including an oxygen tent arrived today at a Nice airport, consigned "just in case" by the British company which supplied Churchill previously with such equipment.

It was not necessary and was not needed at the moment. It was still unclaimed at the airport several hours after it was unloaded and Dr. Roberts said there were (See CHURCHILL, Page 2)

Eugene "Little Possum" Grice was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary today after making a plea of guilty to murder without malice in connection with the Jan. 4 shooting of Matiga Washington in the colored section of Pampa. A jury was waived.

Judge Louis M. Goodrich pronounced the sentence by vassor of the guilty plea. All jurors who were summoned to report on a special venire for Monday, Feb. 24 were discharged by the court and need not report.

Texas Oil Output At Lowest Point

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP)—Texas oil production allowable has been cut to the lowest point in history for March by the State Railroad Commission, 2,817,249 barrels a day and a producing schedule of nine days.

The March figures represented a cut of 513,814 barrels a day from the Feb. 15 statewide allowable, and the production period was two days shorter than this month.

The new cuts were a blow to the state's economy, and raised the possibility that additional taxes may have to be levied. Texas depends on crude oil production for much of its tax money.

To Force Market Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson said present oil and petroleum products supply is 112 million barrels above "adequate requirements."

He said it was hoped "that by putting this reduction in force there can be found in March more of a market for Texas crude oil."

Thompson blamed the Suez crisis for causing the oversupply of oil. "When Suez reopened," he said, "we were left with millions of barrels of unwanted, unsalable oil on our hands. Then, too, the lessened demand has had an appreciable effect."

Blames Imports Gov. Price Daniel, however, blamed excessive oil imports for the deteriorating situation.

On Feb. 10, he appointed a commission to compile evidence and make recommendations on the question of oil imports.

"It is time that foreign importers are confronted with the true facts concerning the damage they are doing this state and its economy," Daniel said.

The governor also said it is "obvious that federal action has been both too slow and too little."

US Prepares Proposals For French-Tunisian Situation

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States has drafted secret preliminary proposals designed to promote a solution of the French-Tunisian split before a new series of incidents makes the situation worse, it was disclosed today.

A dispatch from Tunis said relations with France had taken a sharp turn for the worse and that tempers were rising on both sides over two incidents Thursday. Tension was reported on the increase in Tunisia.

The Tunisians closed five French consulates by force Thursday night, sending in troops who ordered the diplomats to pack up and leave within ten minutes. The consulates were ordered closed before but France kept them open.

France regarded this as a violation of existing treaties and said the government would treat it as a "grave" development.

In the other incident the Tunisians accused French troops of "kidnaping" three Tunisians in the southern village of Remada, near the Libyan border. France denied the charges and said the French had only "invited" the Tunisians to check on an incident in

Little Rock Seeks To End Integration

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP)—The Little Rock School Board today sought court permission to suspend integration at Central High School because "defiance" by "a small group" was hampering efforts of both teachers and students.

In a petition filed Thursday in Federal District Court, the board asked the court to stay the execution of its decree issued last year calling for gradual integration of the high school. It also asked the court to define the term "deliberate speed" as applied to school integration.

Since nine Negro students were enrolled at Central High last fall under protection of federal paratroopers and federalized National Guardsmen, a series of racial incidents occurred, culminating in the expulsion last week of one of the nine, Minnie Jean Brown.

The board and school superintendent Virgil T. Blossom scheduled a hearing today on the suspension last Monday of two white boys accused of following up Minnie Jean's departure by displaying a banner that read "One down—Eight to go."

Blossom, asked by newsmen whether granting of the school board petition would result in removal of the eight Negroes now attending Central High, declined to comment.

No date has been set for a hearing and H. Grady Miller, clerk of court, said he did not know when a hearing might be held.

CoC Directors To Have Meet

The February directors meeting of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce will be held in the Palm Room Monday at noon, according to E. L. Henderson, president of the local Chamber of Commerce.

A report on the recent National Affairs Clinic, held this week in Denver, will be given along with several items of business.

300 Expected For Jaycee Convention

The Pampa Jaycees have revised parts of the schedule for the tri-regional convention they will host here Saturday and Sunday.

Over 300 Jaycees from 32 Texas towns are expected to be here for the event including the state president, state executive vice president and state vice presidents and national directors.

Headquarters for the convention will be the Pampa Hotel, where registration will get underway in the lobby at 2 p.m. Saturday and continue until 8. Hospitality for the visiting Jaycees and their wives will be in the Pine Room of the hotel at 2 p.m. and last until 5:30 and then at 6:30, the group will go out to Recreation Park where a barbecue will be served. The barbecue is expected to last until 8 p.m. A dance will be held at the National Guard Armory starting at 8:30. Music will be supplied by the Mellow Aires.

Sunday, registration for late-comers will start at 8 a.m. and last until 11 a.m. From 9 a.m. until 9:30 a.m., the Jaycees will have a devotion at the LaVista Theater with Rev. Dick Crews, pastor of the First Christian Church, in charge. After the devotion, the Jaycees will remain at the theater for committee reports until 11 a.m., when clinics will be held. Meeting places for the clinics are yet to be announced.

A banquet will be served for the Jaycees and their wives at noon in the Palm Room of City Hall. Then, at 1:30 p.m., there will be a business session, also to be held in the Palm Room.

A style show for the Jaycees' wives will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday in the City Club Room of City Hall. Refreshments will be served.

The Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks celebrated its 90th birthday last Sunday but plans call for the local lodge to observe the birthday Tuesday.

The Pampa lodge, nine years old, will initiate a class of 22 candidates at the Tuesday observance, according to Clayton A. Husted, exalted ruler of Pampa Lodge No. 1573. Seven past exalted rulers will initiate the candidates.

The Pampa Elks organized in 1949 with Bert A. Howell as Exalted Ruler.

The present home was purchased on Oct. 11, 1956, from the Parkway Development Company and is located at 1523 North Hobart.

The first Elks were actors, musicians, theatrical managers and others engaged in show business. They organized in New York on Feb. 16, 1868 for social purposes and to aid those in distress. There now are 1,815 Elks lodges with 1,200,000 members from coast to coast and in Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Guam, Canal Zone and Manila, Philippines, the only lodge beyond US jurisdiction.

SEATTLE (UP)—The defense attorney for deposed Teamster leader Dave Beck said today he planned an immediate appeal of Beck's sentence on an embezzling charge.

Beck was sentenced to a maximum of 15 years Thursday for embezzling $1,900 obtained from the sale of a Teamster-owned Cadillac.

The prosecuting attorney recommended that the State Board of Prison Terms and Paroles set the elder Beck's minimum sentence at three years.

Charles S. Burdell, Beck's defense attorney, said the conviction will be appealed to the State Supreme Court "as soon as possible."

Judge George H. Revelle passed sentence on Beck about an hour after Dave Beck Jr., was placed on probation for three years, also for embezzling union funds. He was convicted of pocketing $4,650 received from the sale of two Teamster-owned Cadillacs.

The younger Beck received a deferred sentence with a three-year probation term, was fined $2,000 and ordered to return the $4,650 he was convicted of embezzling.

Burdell said both convictions will be appealed to the State Supreme Court "and even higher if necessary."

Airman To Devote Life To Space

NEW YORK (UP)—Airman Donald G. Farrell, 23, the Air Force's "moon traveler," said today he hopes to spend his life in space work.

The young airman who spent last week in a simulated space rocket at Randolph Air Force Base, Texas, said he hopes to enter college this fall to study aeronautical engineering and then "go back and work in the same field of Air Force projects that I am presently in."

A real flight to the moon, he believes, "can be done, and I would like to do it."

Farrell arrived shortly after midnight for two weeks "temporary duty," making radio, television and other appearances here and attending an Air Force Assn. jet age conference in Washington.

At the head of his personal agenda: "I'm just going to visit the folks."

Joann Burden, the girl friend he confessed he hadn't even had time to think about last Friday, was flown from her Niagara Falls, N. Y., home for a surprise reunion with Farrell on a television show.

Farrell, unaware that she was in the city ahead of him, told newsmen on his arrival that he hoped to get Upstate to see her while he was here.

'Has Become Symbol Of Low Farm Prices'

By VINCENT J. BURKE
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, (UP)—Farm belt Republicans told Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson today that his resignation would help save Republican congressional seats in the November elections.

Rep. A. L. Miller R-Minn., one of two GOP lawmakers who conferred with Benson today on behalf of a group of Republican farm congressmen, said Benson was not asked directly to resign.

But in view of what was said at the conference, Miller said, "it would be only natural for him to consider that."

The other member who attended the conference was Rep. Walter H. Judd (R-Minn.).

Miller said Benson was told that "right or wrong he has become a symbol of low farm prices" and consequently is a serious political liability to his party.

Benson promised to give the views of the GOP congressmen "the most careful consideration," Miller reported.

Benson also was told during the 40-minute meeting in his office that Democrats are "using him as a weapon to beat Republicans," Miller said.

Miller was chairman of a group of 25 GOP farm state legislators who met secretly at the Capitol Thursday to discuss GOP problems in the farm belt. Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn, House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin (Mass.) and Rep. Richard H. Simpson (R - Pa.) chairman of the GOP congressional campaign committee, also attended Thursday's conference.

Miller said he and Judd presented to Benson "the views of the group that met Thursday with as much kindness as we could."

A special congressional election in Minnesota in which a Democrat came within less than 700 votes of capturing a traditionally Republican district has thrown a scare into the farm belt Republicans.

Benson's office said only that the secretary discussed farm and political problems with Judd and Miller. There was no other comment immediately, but an aide said the secretary, as of right now, stands on his statement of last December that he intends to remain in the Cabinet.

Confidence Vote For Macmillan

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan won an unofficial vote of confidence Thursday night for his efforts to set up a summit conference with adequate advance preparation.

Macmillan won the vote 308 to 242 after a two-day foreign policy debate in the House of Commons. The government avoided an official confidence test by taking the vote on a technical motion to adjourn.

Debate showed the Conservative government and the Labor opposition united in demanding new East-West summit talks. Labor attacked the government for "dragging its heels" in not agreeing to the meeting without further haggling with Moscow over an agenda.

Macmillan told the House in a closing speech that he remains strongly in favor of a summit meeting. But he rebuffed labor demands to name a date at once.

George Who?

ST. JOSEPH, Mich. (UPI)—Ben Blanchard, a disc jockey, went to a local bakery Thursday to order cookies for a Washington's birthday party to be held at his daughter's school.

The clerk wasn't sure the bakery had the cookies so she yelled to a man in the back room: "Do we have any cookies for Washington's birthday?"

"What's his first name?" a voice boomed back.

"George," replied Blanchard.

Killer Looks Forward To His Freedom

By ART UNDERWOOD
United Press Staff Correspondent
JOLIET, Ill. (UPI)—Thrill killer Nathan Leopold, smiling for the first time in 33 years, looked forward today to freedom within a month and a career of service to his fellow men.

Leopold, 53, who admitted he helped commit one of the most sensational crimes of the century, alternated between bubbling joy and dazed disbelief Thursday when told he had won parole.

"All I want to do is to forget and be forgotten," he told his attorney, Elmer Gertz, Chicago.

He took the first step in that direction by refusing to see 75 newsmen waiting to interview him at Stateville Prison, where he has spent more than 33 years for the murder of 14-year-old Bobby Franks.

He hopes to take the next step toward obscurity by accepting a job as a medical technician in a charity hospital near Castaner, Puerto Rico.

Although he has had offers of well-paying executive positions in Chicago, Leopold said he would prefer the $10-a-month job in the Puerto Rican mission operated by the Church of the Brethren.

Leopold could walk out of Stateville in a week to 10 days if he were to take a job in Illinois. However, it is expected to take about a month to investigate the suitability of the Puerto Rican job and work out arrangements for parole supervision.

Leopold won freedom on his fifth clemency appeal when the state Pardon and Parole Board at Springfield Thursday granted him parole on a split vote.

The board also made a second notorious Stateville convict, prohibition gangster Roger Touhy, eligible for parole. Touhy still must serve 17 more months in prison.

Armada Seeking Airplane

LONDON (UPI)—A 30-plane air armada from three continents searched the stormy Atlantic today for a U.S. Navy plane—a flying radar station—missing on a regular patrol with 23 and perhaps 25 men aboard.

The four-engine Super Constellation, fitted with long-range radar equipment, apparently crashed or ditched on a round-trip patrol between Azores, Newfoundland, and the Azores Thursday.

The two points are 1,200 miles apart and searchers said there was no hint where the plane might have gone down.

Weathermen of the British Air Ministry said conditions were suitable for ditching the big plane only within a 300-mile radius of the Azores. Outside that area storms had beset the plane's route with rough seas, high winds and temperatures at or below freezing.

Senate May Okay The 5-Cent Stamp

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Administration backers said today there is a good chance the Senate will go along with their argument that what this country needs is a 5-cent stamp.

But Sen. A.S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) said he does not expect "a bit of trouble" knocking that feature out of the postal rate increase bill when it comes before the Senate next week.

The Senate Post Office Committee, of which Monroney is a member, produced a surprise Thursday when it approved a 750-million-dollar rate increase that included a 2-cent boost for out-of-town letters.

The bill, which generally followed administration proposals, would retain the 5-cent rate for three years and earmark the extra money it would raise for post office improvements.

Local first class mail, which now goes for 3 cents an ounce, would be raised to 4 cents and airmail would cost 8 cents, a penny higher than the administration recommended. Airmail now is 6 cents an ounce.

The committee split 7-6 on the "split level" first class rate. A close battle also is expected in the Senate next Tuesday.

Besides raising the cost of mailing first class and airmail letters, the bill would raise some post card rates to 3 cents and airmail post cards from 4 cents to 5 cents. Written post cards still would go for 2 cents.

The measure also would boost second and third class rates. Second class reading matter would go up 10 per cent annually for the next three years and advertising would take three 20 per cent jumps. Third class would be increased about 66 2-3 per cent in two stages.

Neither Moran nor Roberts has given any details of the treatment they are using. They also would not identify the specific type of pneumonia from which Churchill is suffering.

This was believed to be on Churchill's own orders. The former prime minister was said to have been appalled by the great detail in which President Eisenhower's bodily functions were discussed in the newspapers and accordingly is personally passing every word given out for publication.

So far this has totaled 49 words—a bulletin reporting Lord Moran's diagnosis of pneumonia and pleurisy and one Thursday saying the famous patient had not shown any great improvement although his fever was slightly lower.

Youths Involved In Auto Thefts

Three boys, two 15 and one 16 were placed in custody of their parents yesterday after a hearing in Gray County Court on car stealing charges.

Two of the boys have to make restitution on damages to two of the five cars stolen. The damage to the two cars amounted to $283.68. These two boys were arrested by city police at 2 a.m. Feb. 19. Each boy was in possession of a stolen car and admitted they had stolen a total of five cars during the night. They implicated another boy, who later admitted he was an accomplice in the theft of one of the stolen cars.

The boys were judged delinquent and placed in custody of their parents until further orders of the court.

Ike Says Economy 'Vigorous'

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (UPI)—The nation's economy is basically vigorous and will bounce upward again if we maintain a "tough-minded confidence in the future," President Eisenhower said Thursday.

Loss of such confidence is the only thing that could plunge this country into a critical and sustained economic slump, the President said in a telegram to Gov. Averell Harriman of New York. Harriman and 10 other governors wired their views on the economic situation to Eisenhower on Feb. 13.

Presidential Press Secretary James Hagerty indicated meanwhile that the President's weekend travel plans probably would be announced today. It was disclosed Thursday that the chief executive might fly to Phoenix, Ariz., on his way back to Washington to give Mrs. Eisenhower a Western visit.

ATOM AGE AUTO—The Nucleon, a three-eighths scale model developed by Ford Motor Co., is an advanced styling conception of an atomic-powered car of the future. The stylists envision a replaceable power package available in varying sizes to enable the driver to select his own horsepower. The atomic core in the reactor at the rear of the car could be recharged periodically at charging stations which would largely replace the service station as we know it today.

The Prosecutor Of Al Capone Dies

CHICAGO (UP)—Former Illinois Gov. Dwight Green, 61, who shot to prominence as prosecutor of gangster Al Capone, died Thursday night in a Chicago hospital.

Green entered Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital Nov. 21 suffering from chest cancer. He had been unconscious much of the time in recent weeks.

He served as governor from 1941 to 1948.

Green was a little known assistant United States attorney in Chicago's racket-ridden prohibition era when he took on the Capone case. He helped prosecute and convict Capone and some of Capone's henchmen on income tax evasion charges in 1931.

His fame carried over into private law practice and eventually into politics where he later was to suffer charges of accepting bribes and graft himself.

Compared With Dewey

His first foray into the state's turbulent political picture was as Republican candidate for mayor of Chicago in 1939 against Democrat Edward J. Kelly.

His backers compared Green with New York's Thomas E. Dewey as a racket-buster, and Green drew more than 600,000 votes though he lost the race.

In 1940, state Republicans, convinced they had a powerful vote-getter in the dapper Green, awarded him the gubernatorial nomination.

He gained revenge on Kelly and the mayor's powerful statewide organization by defeating Democrat Harry B. Hershey by more than 256,000 votes. Green won the governorship despite the fact Franklin D. Roosevelt carried the state by a 95,000 vote in the presidential race.

Keynoted GOP Conv.

Green was re-elected in 1944, but this time his margin over Democrat Thomas J. Courtney was only 72,000 votes.

The governor's national political zenith came when he was tabbed as the keynote speaker at the 1948 national GOP convention in Philadelphia.

delphia. But charges of payroll padding and other scandals in his state administration during his second term closed the door on any national political hopes.

Green campaigned in 1948 for a third term as governor, this time against Adlai E. Stevenson. During the campaign, Green called Stevenson a "New Deal Democrat" and a "bungler," but the payroll scandals had taken their toll and Stevenson swept Green out of politics and the GOP out of office.

Green retired to private law practice in Chicago.

A native of Ligonier, Ind., Green was born Jan. 9, 1897. He completed two years of study at Wabash College, Crawfordsville, Ind., and enlisted in the U.S. Army in World War I. He was discharged in 1919 as a lieutenant. He is survived by his wife and two daughters.

Gunsmoke Is Most Popular Show On TV

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press-Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Quick, what's the most popular show on TV?

If you guessed "Gunsmoke" you've got the drop on the rating services.

If, on the other hand, you took a shot at "Wyatt Earp," "Wells Fargo," or "Have Gun, Will Travel," you were close, podner. According to the newest Nielsen report, those sage sagas placed second, third and fourth respectively.

Three non-westerns sneaked into the top 10 corral—"Danny Thomas" (5) "I've Got a Secret" (6) and "GE Theater"—which rates highest when it features a western—(10).

"Gunsmoke" placed seventh. "Restless Gun" eighth and "Sugarfoot" ninth. Barely missing the top 10 was "Maverick," handicapped by its time-slot range war with Jack Benny, Steve Allen and Ed Sullivan.

With westerns riding herd on the rest of TV's offerings, it follows that horse opera heroes are the most popular critters on video.

That being the case, "Gunsmoke" star Jim Arness, the 6-foot 6-inch Marshall Matt Dillon of Dodge City, must rate pretty high with western-watchers.

"It's the greatest thing that ever happened to me," he said in the deep, measured voice of Dillon. "Our show is No. 1 because we're honest. The characters are realistic and believable."

"Gunsmoke" has no gimmicks. Dillon is a straightforward U.S. marshal doing his job. He never shoots a gun out of a man's hand. When he goes for his shooting iron there isn't any fancy stuff.

Arness believes the west of a hundred years ago is an expression of freedom for today's conformist generation.

TRAGIC TABULATION—Accidental deaths last year, paced by highway slaughter, totaled some 200 more than in 1956, reports the National Safety Council. But because of population increase the rate was down to an all-time low of 55.8 per 100,000. Nevertheless, one out of every 18 persons in the U.S. suffered a disabling injury in 1957. The estimated economic loss from accidents, both fatal and non-fatal, was put at almost $2 billion dollars.

Well, It's An Idea

Much has been said in recent weeks about the desirability of improving the scholastic standing of our young people in today's collectivized schools.

Comes now Professor Frank Sullivan, 45, of Loyola University in Los Angeles, an English teacher, who has an idea relating to the mechanics of accomplishing this very thing.

We think he's got something.

He says: "Nobody should be flunked out of college." Off hand that doesn't sound so good. From the way Dr. Roberts at Colorado University was talking, only about one student out of five is worth table salt and the rest ought to be sent home.

But here's the way Dr. Sullivan proposes to handle the matter. He relates the whole thing to the economics of the situation. And, obviously, his ideal deals pretty much exclusively with free enterprise schools and not the compulsive government variety. Says Sullivan:

"If a student gets straight A's, he pays his tuition.

"If he gets B's, he pays twice as much. If he makes C's, he kicks in four times as much money.

"And if he gets F's—he can pay 32 times as much."

This way, explains Sullivan, the tradition of letting everybody go to school is continued. No one has to leave. "I'm not denying our F students the right to a college education," he says. "Let them stay there and subsidize the place."

We think the professor is a little tough with that 32 times as much routine. But his idea, if we do not have to use his exact figures, is precisely what we would ourselves like to recommend. Why shouldn't the worst students pay more? They are a bigger problem to teachers. They consume a lot more class time. Also, not infrequently they are a disturbing element because they are probably, in the main, disinterested and tend to spread the atmosphere of disinterest to others, thus making it harder for everyone.

We have long believed that one of the most baneful influences in most of our schools arises from the fact that when it comes to economics, the students are simply placed in a hot-house of unreality, totally cut off from the facts of life as they exist financially. Now, if the student who makes good marks finds that as a result, his costs are less than they would be if he makes poor marks, we believe the result would be beneficial in two ways.

It would certainly tend to cause a maximum application on the part of everyone, if for no other reason than the very practical one relating to money. On the other hand, if a student turned in a poor job consistently, it might cause him to undergo rigorous self-examination with the end in view of either improving his scholastic standing, or of getting out and doing something more profitable.

Yet, in the end, if he were determined to get on education, he could still do it. He might have to pay a premium for it, but what of that? He would still be free to exercise his right of choice.

This has all the earmarks of the fundamental American belief in the highest rewards going to those who do the best work. This is an essential of our competitive free enterprise system and we see no reason why this essential should be so carefully shut away from the college student, especially as it relates to money. The quicker the student can face up to the facts of life as they actually are, the better. And if it sounds a bit harsh, what of it? The facts of life are harsh. The game of living can be a pretty grim business. But the more we know about it the more we understand the realities, the quicker and the more surely can we train ourselves to cope with them.

Of course, with so much emphasis being given to government fun-run schools, it is unlikely that Dr. Sullivan's idea is going to receive much in the way of applause. We've got that equality bug so firmly in our consciousness that we still dream of everyone being capable of all the finer things, when the truth is that many are not.

If we ever hope to achieve virtue and merit in our educational system, we're going to have to boot out all leveling influences, such as those provided by the government, and insist that rewards go to those who earn them, and to those only.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Big Jump In Unemployment

The Associated Press is responsible for this statement: "Unemployment jumped by 1,120,000 last month—possibly the greatest monthly rise ever—to raise the number of jobless to 4,494,000."

Whether this is the greatest jump ever is doubtful. Other authorities contend it is the greatest jump in any month in unemployment since World War Two or the 1929 depression.

Besides, the same Associated Press article pointed out that the number of hours worked per person on an average was 1 1/2 hours less, or nearly 4 per cent, than was worked a year ago in January.

In any event, it is something every person should be interested in. The reason they should be interested is because we cannot change the causes that bring on unemployment unless we know what they are. And there is nothing more pathetic and probably even harmful than to have large numbers of unemployed people who want to work.

Cause of Unemployment

If we are to know what causes unemployment, we must find out first what causes employment; what beliefs result in people being employed. If we know what beliefs result in full employment, then we'll be able to know what beliefs result in unemployment.

If people believed and understood what business is, we probably wouldn't have any unemployment except seasonally. Business, which means employment, is simply an exchange of creative energy, with the idea of benefiting both parties in the exchange.

If man did not exchange goods and services, he would perish. Anything that interferes with men freely exchanging goods and services tends to cause unemployment, and thus reduce employment.

Many people believe the employer pays the wages of his employees. He is only an agent who collects the wages from his customers. His profits are the reward for benefiting both his customers and his employees. If he cannot benefit both his customers and his employees, he has no customers or no employees. And when the employee believes he has a right to receive more for what he produces than others are willing and able to produce the same thing for and gets laws passed that permit him to continue to get more for what he produces than a free and unhampered market would pay, then sooner or later the real buyers of his labor—other workers—cease to believe they are benefited by buying the fruits of his labor. The result is that the employer must find someone else to buy the product of his employees' labor. If he can not, he has to lay off his employees.

An Old Belief

Probably the primary cause of people believing that they need not benefit the other party in an exchange is that they believe, as they did before the industrial revolution, that only one party to a transaction has to be benefited. They believe men get rich by injuring others. They believe exchanges are like gambling or robbery or gifts, where one man benefits, the other man loses. They believe in this form of chaos and lawlessness.

But the moralist and economist who know enough about their subjects to answer questions without contradicting themselves, know that full employment and an ever-increasing standard of living are the result of a free and unhampered division of labor, where not only both parties, but everybody is benefited by every transaction. They know that in free enterprise in creating wealth the gain of one is the gain of all. They also know that in free enterprise the loss of one is the loss of all. Therefore, they advocate that jobs must be interchangeable, so that all people can help establish values. No service gets too high for long, and no wage gets too low for long.

They know that in free enterprise every advantage has to be eventually passed on to the customer in reduced prices. They also know that every disadvantage eventually has to be passed on if the transactions are to continue. They know capital has never been abundant, and that man can only add to his well-being by allowing tools to accumulate and having a larger and larger market for use of these tools. They know wants are only satisfied by creative energy and that man is not like a lower animal who has stationary wants. They know that the minute a man has one want satisfied he has other wants. And these wants are only satisfied by labor. And if there were unlimited wants, there would be unlimited demand for labor, provided both parties to the transaction were benefited.

I have taken up so much space going into fundamentals that I do not have the space to give examples of beliefs and laws that cause unemployment. I will list some of the beliefs that cause unemployment in the next article.

BID FOR A SMILE

fr Mrs. Case had stopped to think she probably wouldn't have asked the window cleaner if he preferred a cup of tea or a glass of beer. One look at his face should have been enough to give her her answer.

However, he had a very good reason for choosing beer. "Window cleaner—You see, ma'am, I find that beer always gives a better polish when I breathe on the glass."

Nixon Is Seen As Sure Thing For GOP In '60

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Vice President Nixon has leaped so far out in front in the 1960 Republican Presidential nomination race that politicians now generally regard it as "no contest." It is also believed that he has the President's blessing, if only because there are no other strong and available candidates.

Several recent developments have strengthened the Californian's already firm position. He has participated actively in executive and legislative discussions of the national defense problem as affected by the two Sputniks and The Explorer. With characteristic energy, he has dug into the question of outer-space control.

In a forthcoming trip to Western Europe, he will increase the knowledge of foreign affairs and personalities which he acquired during his mission to Africa and South America. On this score, too, he seems determined to make himself the "indispensable man."

BANNER CAMPAIGNER IN FALL — Nor has he neglected political and domestic chores. No member of the Administration has been in such demand for appearing before influential and representative groups — editors, bank audiences, foreign and domestic newspaper correspondents.

It is expected that he will be the Party's banner campaigner in next fall's Congressional contests, due to Eisenhower's health and his utter dislike of the routine and the trivialities of politicking—long airplane flights, handshaking with strangers, posing for photographs, hotel life, preparation of speeches, chicken-and-peas "banquets."

As he did when he stumped for Congressional candidates in 1954, Nixon will make many friends among state and local politicians who will turn up at the 1960 Convention wearing "Nixon for President" buttons.

TRAINING FOR EVENT — In short, the Vice President is training and preparing himself for the 1960 race with the same care and concentration that an athlete does for a track meet, or a scholar for passing exams for a BA, MA, or Ph. D.

Not even such ambitious and meticulous men as Herbert Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt, who had their heart set on the White House years before they entered the mansion, matched "young Dick" in their approach and apprenticeship.

Nixon also has negative assets from the fact that almost all possible rivals have fallen by the wayside. These include men whom Eisenhower, privately or publicly, has frequently mentioned as possessing Presidential qualifications. In American politics, however, having the qualifications and having the delegates are two different things.

TORS — Ironically, the outstanding competitor is a fellow-Californian, Senate Minority Leader William F. Knowland. After Eisenhower's first heart attack, Knowland announced that he would seek the nomination, if the President withdrew because of health. But Knowland must first win the

'Get-Up-And-Go' Cars

I must be in a rut. Twenty-four years ago, almost to the day, I sat down on a sand dune in Daytona Beach to watch a speed trial.

Today I sat down on the same beach, and on what I am sure is the identical dune, to watch another automobile speed test.

Do you suppose that with the passing of another quarter of a century I'll be here again among the sand, sea gulls and pelicans, watching man and machine go as fast as they can? Or will I have gone to my reward and be riding a convertible cloud, with built-in harp, milk and honey tires, and carrying a driver's license issued by St. Peter?

The first time I perched on a dune in Daytona Beach it was to report the doings of Sir Malcolm Campbell and his Bluebird. The quiet Englishman was shooting for 300 miles per hour, or as he put it, to see how "quickly I can go down the beach."

This time I'm here for the NASCAR races, which means I'll be watching American stock cars to see if they can live up to their advertising over a 160-mile course which must be the toughest, and, at the same time, the most beautiful, course in the world.

Half the time the cars blaze along the sands, with the Atlantic for a backdrop, and the other half they tear along a paved street which serves for a back stretch. By the time the cars finish, every part of them — from chrome to carburetor, fins to fan belt — has been subjected to the tortures of the damned.

When the stock cars — which are the standard models you and I buy — are rolled to the starting line, they start speaking for themselves. The time has come for the men in the grey flannel suits to step aside with their pencils and adjectives, and turn over the job of "pushing" the cards to the hard-hatted, cold-eyed, lead-footed drivers.

When the pace car that leads the field in a warm-up lap, pulls to one side, and the cars get the "GO" flag, they are strictly on their own rubber, and have 160 miles to show what they've got and what they haven't got.

The cars don't hide ailments, long. A few laps around the beach road course, with its hellish turns, all-out braking, acceleration, and throttle-to-the-floor, flat-out, balling-the-jack, and a car with the miseries starts yelling for the pit doctors.

This NASCAR lay-out is a far cry from the "Free Test Drive" of the dealer. It's a sand and asphalt laboratory with upwards of 100,000 car buyers looking on from the dunes and grandstands. A car can have no secrets here. It's as exposed as a flagpole sifter with red hair.

There is almost as much rivalry among spectators as among the drivers of the various brand name cars. No one likes to see the car that bears the same name as the one in his own garage get licked by the one that his neighbor drives. This is said to be human nature — especially male human nature.

The lady in the family may buy for high styling, but we human nature boys like a car that gets up and goes.

Even Harlow Curtice probably doesn't like to get passed too many times on his way to the office.

ASSEMBLYMAN LEVERING'S PREDICTION

(Santa Monica Evening Outlook)

In a hard-hitting speech last week in Santa Monica, Assemblyman Harold K. Levering of this district declared that big labor bosses now have greater power than "even the so-called robber barons of the late 19th Century," and predicted that right-to-work legislation will be approved by California voters. Few people outside the hierarchy of unionism would dispute the first statement. As for the second, it seems at least fairly certain that Californians will have a chance next year to vote on a right-to-work proposition placed on the ballot by petition. No less certain is the prospect of one of the bitterest political battles that this state will ever see.

For organized labor has already shown that it will go all out to defeat this kind of legislation, in any and every state where it is proposed. It will feel strongly—the hierarchy of the AFL-CIO, the Teamsters' Rail Brotherhoods, John L. Lewis' Miners—that it cannot afford to let California fall into the category of states that forbid the closed union shop and protect the right to work. As California goes on this issue, so might the nation. So we shall see all of them making common cause to beat "voluntary unionism" with union treasuries pouring funds, speakers and doorbell ringers into this state, and Jimmy Hoffa working alongside his late enemies, George Meany and Walter Reuther, and money no object when it comes to buying TV and radio time—all this and more, to stop the enactment of a simple principle which they mortally fear.

Why are they so afraid of right-to-work legislation? It does not threaten the basic principles of unionism, which are protected by national laws. It merely says that no worker shall be forced to join a union as a condition to his employment. Thus it outlaws the goal of union leaders which makes them all-powerful when they can achieve it: i.e., agreement between employers and the union that the former will hire only union members, that no one is eligible for a job until he or she has joined the union and paid the required fee and dues.

Obviously, such a contract is ideal from the point of view of the union boss and organizer. Not only does it give him absolute control over the labor supply for a given industry—putting management at his mercy—but it gives him such a club over his rank-and-file members that he can stay in office indefinitely, run the big outfit as he pleases, and never show his books or give any real accounting. Why should he let the working staffs vote by secret ballot when they might vote against him? Listen, buddy, you've heard of the blacklist, haven't you? You want a job, don't you? Well, if you give me any more trouble...

The most powerful argument for a law protecting the right to work is that this right is a basic freedom to which no conditions of union membership and tribute-paying should be attached. But a second and compelling argument is that outlawing the closed shop will do more than anything else to force democratic reforms within unions and make their leaders responsible to the members.

For if workers don't have to join a union as a condition to employment, many will stay out and avoid paying dues until they become persuaded that it's to their advantage to join. It is to their advantage if the union is a democratic lodge or brotherhood and not an autocracy under remote boss control. Unions have to sell themselves to workers under an open shop order. They would have nothing to fear from the law if they became democratic and truly beneficial to their members.

This is proved by the fact that in every state which has passed such a law, union membership has continued to grow.

But we shall hear no admission of this from the union side in the coming campaign. They will flood the state with propaganda about management and Big Business trying to destroy unions and set the workingman back 50 years, by this nefarious proposal to protect the right to work. They will spend more money to hoodwink the public and defeat the proposal than the robber barons ever spent on legislatures in their palmy days. They've got it to spend, without having to make any accounting to the working staffs out of whose pay envelopes it was taken.

It's going to be a dilly of a fight.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Paul L. Bryant
Bethel Assembly of God

They Saw No Man Save Jesus Only Matt 17:1-8

Recall the "mount of transfiguration—Moses and Elijah there with the radiant "Son of God" Peter, James and John stared with open-mouthed wonder at the glorified trio. Peter said, "Lord" let us make here, three tabernacles; one for Thee, one for Moses; one for Elijah, indicating the divided attention of the three disciples.

We love "Him" and honor "Him", but is there not a frequent inclination to divide "His" glory with some great "Moses" or Elijah. Often we hear such exclamations — what a marvelous voice — what a brilliant pianist—what a wonderful preacher. The force of the song or message has been lost, the "God" behind it all forgotten as the human channel is exalted.

It is wrong to rob "God" of His merited praise. Our "God" is a jealous "God" who will not give "His" glory to another. Let us thank "God" for "His" servants and give words of encouragement, of simple praise where truly deserved, but shun having the lips of a flatterer. Remember who gave the talent, the wisdom and opened your eyes to all the wonders of divine grace. "Jesus Only."

While Peter yet spoke, a bright cloud overshadowed them, and God spoke to them out of the cloud and said. This is my beloved Son in whom I am well pleased, hear ye Him. The disciples fell on their face and were sore afraid. Jesus touched them and said, arise and be not afraid. And when they lifted up their eyes they saw no man "Save Jesus only. In all things recognize the "Living Christ". It is the only enduring blessing.

Since mine eyes are fixed on Jesus
I've lost sight of all beside.
So enchained my Spirit's vision

RAYMOND EVANS
... to direct clinic

First Baptist Schedules Music Clinic

The fourth annual music clinic to be held at the First Baptist Church will begin Feb. 24 and continue through Feb. 28.

This clinic will be under the direction of Raymond Evans, who has been Minister of Music at the Park Cities Baptist Church since 1954. Evans received his education at the elementary and high school in Granville, N.Y.; Westminster Church College and Northeastern State College, Talequah, Okla.

His previous church positions have been as founder and director of the Granville Choir School; Minister of Music, Evangelical Baptist Church, Newark, N.J.; and Minister of Music, First Baptist Church, Muskogee, Okla. He has also served as the head of the Music Department at Bacone College, Muskogee, Okla. He is a member of the Choralists Guild, National Association of Teachers of Singing, and the American Guild of Organists. The rehearsals will be held Monday through Friday beginning at 7 p.m. and continuing until 9:30 p.m.

Dr. E. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will bring the sermon, entitled "Dreams That Will Never Come True," Sunday morning during the 11 a.m. worship hour. Training Union will begin at 6:30 p.m. and the evening worship service will begin at 7:30 p.m.

A Training Union supper meeting will be held Monday evening at 6:15 p.m. The Adult 1 and the Young People departments will set tables and serve. The Training Union Executive Committee will meet Sunday afternoon at 6 p.m. in Bro. Stroble's office.

Last Address

President Abraham Lincoln made his last public address on the night of April 11, 1865, when he spoke to a rejoicing crowd which serenaded him.

Tuesday, February 25 — Vocation Church School Institute, Dist. Directors at Borger.

Wednesday, February 26 — 10:00 Kindergarten Choir; 2:00 p.m. WSCS Monthly Meeting "Day of Prayer With Women of The Globe"; 4:00 p.m. Carol and Wesley Choirs.

Thursday, February 27 — 7:30 p.m. Blue and Gold Banquet, Cub Pack 80 at Fellowship Hall; 7:30 p.m. Sanctuary Singers.

Christian Science Services

The fact that all things are possible to God will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural passages in the Lesson-Sermon on "Mind" will include the following from Isaiah 40:28: "Hast thou not known? hast thou not heard, that the everlasting God, the Lord, the Creator of the ends of the earth, fainteth not, neither is weary? there is no searching of his understanding."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read the following (180:25): "When man is governed by God, the ever-present Mind who understands all things, man knows that with God all things are possible. The only way to this living Truth, which heals the sick, is found in the Science of divine Mind as taught and demonstrated by Christ Jesus."

The Golden Text is from Job (36:5): "Behold, God is mighty, and despatcheth not any: he is mighty in strength and wisdom."

'Youth For Christ' To Be Organized At Skellytown

(Special to The News) SKELLYTOWN — The First Baptist Church will organize a "Youth For Christ" Sunday evening following the regular church services.

Officers will be elected at that meeting and the young people of Skellytown have been urged to attend and help with the organization of this work.

A Special Observance Scheduled

Hundreds of churches across the nation will observe the Week of Compassion this coming Sunday morning by taking a special offering as will the First Christian Church. The theme for the Week of Compassion this year is "Compassion Beyond Measure." A large portion of the Week of Compassion offering is administered by the Church World Service of the National Council. This program is called the "Share Our Surplus Program."

The minister's class for children on "The Meaning of Church Membership" will hold its second session this Saturday from 10 a.m. till 12 noon. The class will meet each Saturday from now through the Easter Season. Any boy or girl from the third grade through the sixth grade is welcome to attend the class.

The children's choir will sing Sunday evening. The group will sing "Fairest Lord Jesus." The choir is directed by Mrs. Bob Banks and Mrs. J. D. Skaggs. The church choir has rehearsal each Wednesday at 7 p.m. and a nursery is provided for small children.

The United States averages 175,000 forest fires annually.

NINE FOOT IMAGE

Evangelist Karl Wittman is shown pointing to the nine foot image which he will unveil Sunday at the Salvation Army, 613 E. Albert. This image has the appearance of a Syrian King and will be electrically lighted while the evangelist talks on "The Mark of The Beast," the "coming world dictator, the Anti-Christ." Special music will be furnished by the Wittman party.

INTERFERENCE CHARGED

WARSAW, Poland (UP) — The Catholic vicar of Zuromin, Jozef Czarnecki, and seven other men were held by police today on charges of interfering with the funeral of Zuromin Communist (UP) — A 19-member committee leader Stanislaw. The Red newspaper Trybuna Ludu, in reporting the arrests, said Czarnecki led the others in efforts to block the cemetery entrance and physically attacked militiamen accompanying mourners.

Protestants Are 'Muffing' Evangelistic Opportunity

Religious News
By LOUIS CASSELL
United Press Staff Correspondent
America's Protestant churches are muffing the greatest evangelistic opportunity of this century.

That stern verdict was reached by 1,200 Methodist leaders from all parts of the country who met in Washington this week to discuss what churches are doing — and failing to do — in the downtown areas of big cities.

The consensus was that Methodists and other Protestant denominations are concentrating too much of their attention on the relatively prosperous suburbs, and too little on the blighted "inner city" areas where millions of families have no church ties.

The conclusions of the three-day conference were documented, with typical Methodist thoroughness, by a wide variety of surveys, statistical reports, and sociological studies.

Here are some of the most significant findings:
A generation ago, the new families moving into the crowded inner sections of cities were European immigrants of predominantly Roman Catholic background. Today the newcomers are white and Negro families from the South and from rural areas, with Protestant backgrounds.

Neither the Methodists, nor other major Protestant denominations, are effectively serving this vast "missionary field."

One survey of 50 "inner city" churches showed that more than half had barely held their own or had suffered a loss of membership during the past 10 years while the population of their urban neighborhoods was rising sharply.

Another showed startling low rates of church membership and attendance among families living in apartment houses and mass housing projects.

No City "Plan"
Several speakers noted that Protestant denominations have no overall plan for serving the inner city. Individual churches are "left to work out their own problems as best they can." Many of them are in dire financial straits. They find it difficult to obtain ministers. Elderly women comprise a disproportionately large percentage of the typical congregation. Competent lay leaders are hard to find.

The conferees decided that the first step toward a solution of these problems is for church members everywhere — especially those in the booming suburbs — to recognize that they share the responsibility for offering a vigorous Protestant ministry to the inner city.

As one report put it:
"No individual church in a blighted area can stand alone. It must have the moral and perhaps financial support of the entire denomination in the work it attempts to do."

During this Lenten period many people will express their faith in Christ. They will renew their fellowship with God. The multitudes turned to Jesus during these last few weeks of His ministry. Yet they deserted Him before the end. Every Christian must set his course during these coming weeks so that he will be able to remain steadfast to the end. We have an advantage over His early followers. We know that He still lives. We know that the Cross was not to end His existence.

We can follow Him more easily than did the crowds who entered Jerusalem with Him. There are still questions to be answered. Do we have the determination to give up everything for Him? Do we love Him and our fellow men enough? Have we given ourselves completely into His care?

REPORT ON FLU VACCINE
LONDON (UP) — The British Medical Journal reported today that Asian flu vaccine tested during last year's major epidemic was 66 per cent effective. The Journal explained the term, "effective" as meaning either preventing the illness or easing its effects. About 3,000 persons were treated with the serum at the most of them teachers and students.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST VICE
KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UP) — A 19-member committee of the All-Malaya Anti-Vice Congress began efforts today to eliminate the 28,000 prostitutes in the country. The congress, which appointed the committee Thursday before ending a three-day session, told the group to campaign for stricter anti-prostitution laws; try to discover why women turn to vice; and help wayward women lead more useful lives.

MANEUVERS KILL FIVE
STUTTGART, Germany (UP) — Four American soldiers and an 11-year-old German girl were killed in accidents during the recent U.S. Army Sabre Hawk maneuvers, it was announced today. Army officials said the accident toll was about half the normal rate. Some 125,000 men and thousands of tanks, trucks and airplanes ranged over a 5,000-square mile area for 10 days.

GOODWILL TRIP PLANNED
JERUSALEM, Israel (UP) — Israeli Foreign Minister Mrs. Golda Meir will leave Sunday for a month-long goodwill trip through West Africa and Europe, it was announced today. Mrs. Meir will visit Liberia, Ghana, Abidjan, Nigeria and Dakar, and will meet heads of Israeli missions in Europe before returning home March 25. She will be in Ghana for the first anniversary celebrations of the country's independence.

Not Indian in Origin
"Happy Hunting Grounds" is not of Indian origin, but a name given by the white man to the place where Indians go after death. The Indian's idea of a heaven was that it was a place where he could sing, dance and enjoy life.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Paul L. Bryant
Bethel Assembly of God

They Saw No Man Save Jesus Only Matt 17:1-8

Recall the "mount of transfiguration"—Moses and Elijah there with the radiant "Son of God" Peter, James and John stared with open-mouthed wonder at the glorified trio. Peter said, "Lord" let us make here, three tabernacles; one for Thee, one for Moses; one for Elijah, indicating the divided attention of the three disciples.

We love "Him" and honor "Him", but is there not a frequent inclination to divide "His" glory with some great "Moses" or Elijah. Often we hear such exclamations — what a marvelous voice — what a brilliant pianist—what a wonderful preacher. The force of the song or message has been lost, the "God" behind it all forgotten as the human channel is exalted.

It is wrong to rob "God" of His merited praise. Our "God" is a jealous "God" who will not give "His" glory to another. Let us thank "God" for "His" servants and give words of encouragement, of simple praise where truly deserved, but shun having the lips of a flatterer. Remember who gave the talent, the wisdom and opened your eyes to all the wonders of divine grace. "Jesus Only."

While Peter yet spake, a bright cloud overshadowed them, and God spoke to them out of the cloud and said. This is my beloved Son in whom I am well pleased, hear ye Him. The disciples fell on their face and were sore afraid. Jesus touched them and said, arise and be not afraid. And when they lifted up their eyes they saw no man "Save Jesus only. In all things recognize the "Living Christ". It is the only enduring blessing.

Since mine eyes are fixed on Jesus
I've lost sight of all beside.
So enchained my Spirit's vision

Notre Dame In Basketball Win

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer
Notre Dame's five "Iron Men" served notice today that they'll have more than the luck of the Irish going for them in the NCAA Tournament.

Playing intact until there were only three minutes and 15 seconds left in the game, Notre Dame whipped New York University, 93-77, at Madison Square Garden Thursday night to run its season record to 18 victories in 22 games. St. Louis defeated St. John's of New York, 105-92, in the opener.

Funk, Evans Re-Match Set Monday

Notre Dame, ranked 13th in the nation, turned in a brilliant performance in its annual visit to New York. The Irish led by only 37-35 early in the second half but broke open the game with a 14-2 burst over a four-minute span.

The "Iron Men" — Mike Graney, Tom Hawkins, Bob Devine, Dean Duffy and John McCarthy — accounted for all but six of Notre Dame's points. Hawkins was high man with 25 points followed by McCarthy with 24. Johnny Bucyk had 27 for NYU which entered the game entertaining hopes of a bid to the National Invitation Tournament.

Jack Minitz scored 33 points to lead St. Louis to its smashing victory over St. John's but the Redmen came off with a consolation prize when they became the sixth team named to the NIT.

Baylor Meets Road Block
Elgin Baylor's march toward the college scoring championship encountered something of a road block, meanwhile, when the 6-6 Seattle star tallied only 23 points in a 78-77 decision over Montana State at Bozeman, Mont. A crowd of 10,250 saw Seattle win the game on Jim Harney's 35-foot field goal with nine seconds left to play.

Baylor's 23 points — his lowest output in weeks — reduced his scoring average to 33.85 points a game. Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson is in second place with 33.62 and Kansas' Wilt Chamberlain is third with 31.41. All three are idle tonight.

In other games Thursday night, Utah whipped Denver, 97-75. Massachusetts topped Holy

Mileff And Valdes Are 'Even Money'

NEW YORK (UP)—Betting is at "even money" for tonight's fight between young Alex Mileff of Argentina and veteran Nino Valdes of Cuba in the first heavyweight main event at Madison Square Garden in more than a year.

Their 10-rounder will be televised and broadcast nationally by NBC at 10 p.m. e.s.t.

Each weighs more than 200 pounds; each is a good puncher, and each is a ranking contender. Big Valdes is rated sixth and brawny Mileff, ninth. Nino, 33, seeks his seventh straight victory against Alex, ten years younger.

Not since Harold Carter's win over Bob Baker, Jan. 11, 1957, have two heavies fought in a star bout at the world's most famous pugilistic emporium.

The two large Latin Americans with the long names — Gerardo Ramos Ponciano (Nino) Valdes and Antonio Pablo Alexis Mileff — accepted the match because each believes an impressive performance might attract the attention of champion Floyd Patterson.

Valdes, who towers six-foot-three and was affectionately tagged "Nino" for "Little One" by Havana sports writers, is an upright slugger who registered 31 knockouts while winning 41 of his 57 bouts.

Nino hasn't been beaten since the summer of 1956, when he lost consecutive bouts to the men who now are ranked No. 1 and No. 2 among contenders: Eddie Machen of San Francisco and Zora Folley Chandler, Ariz.

Since those 1956 defeats, Valdes clicked off six wins, the better of which were achieved at London against Britain's Dick Richardson and Joe Erskine.

Meanwhile, Mileff — who won the Pan American amateur heavyweight championship in 1954 registered 14 victories in his 15 fights as a professional. His only defeat was on a first-round knockout by big Mike DeJohn at Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 9.

George Toms In Tourney Lead
ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (UP) — The survivors in the National Golf Club Champions Tournament led by defending champion and medalist George Toms of Durham, N. C., today moved over for two more rounds.

Toms, former Duke University student, went against William Norvell, Chattanooga, Tenn., in this morning's second round. The quarterfinals were to be held this afternoon.

It took only 12 holes for Toms to defeat Rex Capwell, Racine, Wis., Thursday and the favorite was two strokes under par for the distance.

Harvesters Sweep District 3-4A Championship

In Pay Department

Mantle May Catch Up With Babe Ruth

By UNITED PRESS
This could be the day when Mickey Mantle catches up with Babe Ruth in the paycheck department.

The great Bambino was paid $80,000 a year by the New York Yankees in 1950 and 1951, even surpassing the salary of then President Herbert Hoover, and that's the figure Mantle will be shooting at today when he holds another conference with Lee MacPhail, the Yankees' director of player personnel.

Mantle received an estimated $65,000 last year and was reported shooting for a $100,000 raise this season. However, the switch-hitting outfielder is believed to have hiked his asking price to $80,000 since Ted Williams and Stan Musial signed recently for $100,000 or more.

MacPhail met with Mantle Thursday at St. Petersburg, Fla., and although they failed to reach an agreement, MacPhail admitted, "We're not too far apart now."

The Washington Senators also are having trouble lining up their biggest star, outfielder Roy Sievers, who led the American League in homers (42) and runs-batted-in (114) last year.

Calvin Griffith, club president, who has been personally negotiating with Sievers, admitted Thursday "We're as far apart as ever. Roy says he's not coming to camp until he gets what he wants."

Sievers, who received $19,000 last year, wants double that figure for the 1958 season. Griffith has offered him $30,000 and neither party has given any indication of attempting a compromise.

The Detroit Tigers signed pitcher Frank Lary and Jim Greengrass, an outfielder purchased

Terry Heads Sophomore League

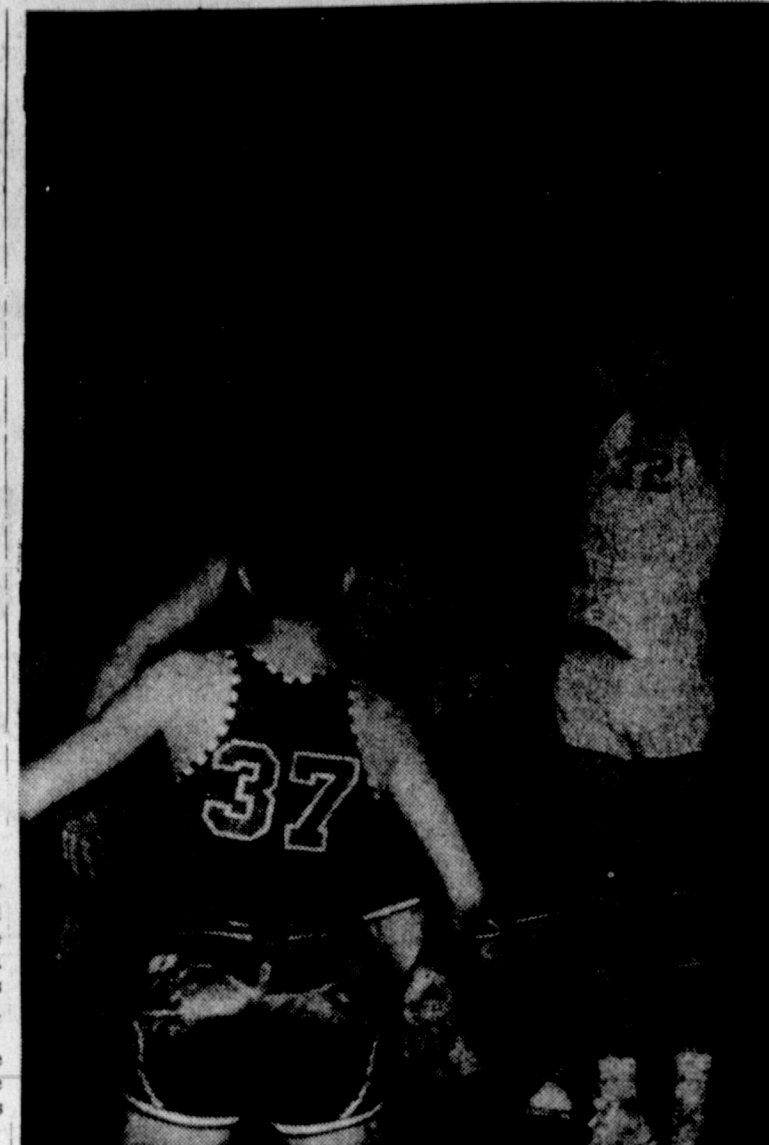

MIDLAND, Tex. (UP)—Grady Terry of Midland was elected Thursday as president of the Sophomore League, a new idea in professional baseball. Charles Montgomery of Carlsbad, N. M., was named vice president.

Each of the six clubs in the league put up $5,000 for franchise fees, national association fees and dues for the entire year.

The Sophomore League which came about after the old West Texas-New Mexico League folded, is restricted to players with no more than two years of professional experience.

League officials decided Thursday to have an East and West division of three teams each, the winners of which will meet in a best-of-five playoff at the end of the season to determine the champion.

The all-star game, between the East and the West, will be played July 14 at the park of the club having the best percentage as of July 4.

HIGH-POINT MAN—Mack Layne (32) recorded the high mark for the Harvesters last night as he netted 20 points in Pampa's 67-62 overtime victory over the Plainview Bulldogs. Layne is being guarded by Bill Reeves (44) and Rich (37).

Low Hoad Takes Another Victory
PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Lew Hoad, the assiduous Aussie, continued to amaze the professional tennis world by defeating the head man for the past four years, Pancho Gonzales Wednesday night 6-4, 9-11, 6-4, before 3,049 here at the Arena.

In a one-set match opener, Tony Trabert dumped Francisco Segura, 8-6, to move ahead in their current series 4-3.

For Hoad, it was his 15th win in the 22nd match of their 100-game cross-country series. In the nightcap, Gonzales paired with Trabert to defeat Segura and Hoad 8-5 in a one-set doubles match.

Knickerbockers Need A Win To Stay In Race

By UNITED PRESS
The New York Knickerbockers, last in the standings but first in attendance, meet the Philadelphia Warriors at Camden, N. J., tonight, needing a victory to "stay alive" in the Eastern Division race of the National Basketball Association.

The Warriors, in third place in the Eastern Division, two and one-half games ahead of the Knicks, led all the way in beating the Syracuse Nationals, 110-97, Wednesday in the first game of an afternoon doubleheader at Boston. The Celtics came from behind to edge the Cincinnati Royals, 94-92 in the nightcap.

In other games tonight the Detroit Pistons are at Cincinnati and the Celtics, needing only three victories in 10 remaining games to clinch the Eastern title, are at St. Louis. The Hawks need only two victories in 12 games to clinch the Western Division title.

Tied at 69, one stroke off the pace were Bill Webb of Kansas City, Mo., 47-year-old E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of St. Louis, Mo.; Bob Goaly of Darien, Conn., and Jay Hebert of San Francisco, Calif.

There were 15 men tied with 71s, including Otto Greiner, Tenaflly, N. J., club professional who shot a hole-in-one on the 273-yard No. 7 hole using a driver.

Gonzales Stops Hoad Win String
PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Richard (Big Pancho) Gonzales proved himself a stubborn, uphill fighter Thursday night when he came from behind to defeat the slugging Australian, Lew Hoad, 2-6, 8-6, 8-6, here at the Arena.

In the opener, Francisco Segura's deadly placements carried him to an 8-2 victory over Tony Trabert in a one-set match before 3,062 fans.

Gonzales had one of the toughest battles of his career before he overcame the determined challenger from Down Under and cut Hoad's lead to 15-8 in their 100-match series.

In a fast night cap, Gonzales and Trabert swamped Hoad and Segura 8-1, in a one-set match to wind up their tour here. They play next Sunday at Fort Worth, Texas.

'Oldest' Led Senior Circuit In '57

TODAY'S SPORT PARADE
(Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.)
By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—If they set the National League Green Book to music the theme song would have to be "When You and I Were Young, Maggie."

The Green Book is a sort of baseball racing form. It gives top performances as the teams go into spring training as well as the rosters for all the clubs.

This year it is a tribute to antiquity and must have the young guys frothing at the mouth.

The old timers, it points out in cold, factual print, really were some pumpkins. As example, the ancient ones lead the National League in 11 of the 12 all-time batting departments.

Hans Showed 'Em
Hans Wagner still is the top feller in games, at bats, hits, singles, doubles and triples. Mel Ott leads in total runs, homers, total bases and runs batted in. Willie

Keller, the man who "hit 'em where they ain't," still stands as the overall .377 lifetime hitter.

Willie Mays and Stan Musial save the moderns from a complete rout. Willie's .593 slugging percentage is tops, with Musial second. And Stan the Man is about to take over from Ott in total bases, being only one shy of Master Melvin's 5,441.

But only the Dodgers Roy Campanella and Ed Mathews of the Braves of the current day crop have muscled in among the all-time runs-batted-in leaders by position. Campy tops the catchers with 142 and Mathews the third baseman with 135. The other position leaders are Don Hurst of the Phillies with 143 at first; Rogers Hornsby of the Cards with 132 at second; shortstop, Glenn Wright of the Dodgers with 126; left fielder Joe Medwick of the Cards with 154; center fielder Hack Wilson of the Cubs with 190 and right fielder Chuck Klein of the Phillies with 170.

Games, have won two of five road contests, and Purdue, unbeaten at home in four games, has won two of six on the road.

The only other teams unbeaten at home were Ohio State in six contests, and Northwestern, in four. Northwestern has won two of six on the road and Ohio State, in third place in the league, one of six.

The standings themselves were evidence of the league's better balance. Six teams were within two games of first place, and in the past only three times in history have teams tied for the title with more defeats than Michigan State already has.

Home Floor Advantage
Last year Michigan State tied with Indiana, each with four losses. Then in 1924 Wisconsin, Chicago and Illinois deadlocked, with four defeats each while Michigan, Purdue, and Wisconsin were in a title tie in 1921 with the same number of losses. Six times

Veterans Are Out Front In Houston Open

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)—Six veteran golf professionals, taking the play from the younger members on the winter circuit with sub-par rounds, held the lead today starting the second round of the $30,000 Houston Invitational golf tournament.

The six men, the youngest of which is 34-year-old Ted Kroll from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., all shot 4-under-par 68s in the opening round Thursday to take one-stroke leads in the tournament.

The other leaders, all of whom turned in 34-34-68 cards, as did Kroll, were Milon Marusic, 41, of Webster Groves, Mo.; Marty Furgol, 40, of Lemont, Ill.; Pete MacFarland, 42, of Buffalo, N. Y.; Ed (Porky) Oliver, 41, of Canton, Mass., and Stan Leonard, 43, of Vancouver, B. C.

Tied at 69, one stroke off the pace were Bill Webb of Kansas City, Mo., 47-year-old E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of St. Louis, Mo.; Bob Goaly of Darien, Conn., and Jay Hebert of San Francisco, Calif.

There were 15 men tied with 71s, including Otto Greiner, Tenaflly, N. J., club professional who shot a hole-in-one on the 273-yard No. 7 hole using a driver.

Down Plainview In Over-Time Contest

Pampa's Harvesters did a magnificent job of coming from behind last night as they over-powered the Bulldogs of Plainview, 67-62, in an over-time game to claim the undisputed championship of District 3-AAA.

Before 2000 fans in the Bulldogs' gymnasium, the indomitable Harvester quintet overcame an 11-point half-time deficit to deadlock the contest at the end of regular time, 58-58. They then outpointed the Bulldog cagers, 9-4, in three minutes of additional time to gain the five point margin in the stunning victory.

Burdened with a case of early-game sluggishness, the Pampans fell behind in the first quarter, 14-11, and by the end of the first half had allowed the Bulldogs a 33-22 margin.

The third quarter proved the decisive period, however, as the Harvesters ripped to 22 points while holding the Bulldogs to 14. Going into the final period the Bulldogs saw their lead standing at a thin three points as the Harvesters had closed the gap to 47-44. During the last stanza the lead switched several times before the clock ran out on the 58-58 deadlock.

Harvester guard Charles Minor's brilliant playing in the over-time period sparked the Pampans on to the victory as he netted eight of the nine points gained.

Ten seconds after the added time had started Plainview tossed a field goal to lead 60-58, but Minor put the Harvesters back on top as he bucketed two points and flipped a free throw to put the score at 61-60. Morrison of Plainview scored next as he hit for two points to give the Bulldogs their last lead at 61-62.

Minor then began his siege of unerring shots as he scored with five more free throws to put the game on ice for the Harvester team.

Tagging the over-all honors for the Harvesters was center Mack Layne, who netted 20 points during the evening. He was followed by Brown with 15, Minor with 14 and Stephenson and Winborn with eight each.

For the Bulldogs, Bill Reeves led with the high-mark of 25 points, followed by Bill Tagel with 16 and Charles Morrison with 14.

In taking the district championship the Harvesters completed their regular season with 24 wins and

Shockers Edge Past Plainview 'B'

The Pampa Shockers finished their season with a victory last night as they rolled by the Plainview "B" team, 32-28, in the Bulldogs' gymnasium.

Craig Winborn sparked the Pampa offense and gained high point honors as he netted 22 points during the evening. Jimmy Carter ranked high for the losers with 15.

The win put the Shockers' season record at 17 wins and seven losses. The team was coached by Terry Culey.

Pampa Jaycees have lots of pride in this community, its facilities and its people . . . for that reason we are pleased that Jaycees over the state have accepted an invitation to visit our community this week end and see the progress that has been made since Feb. 1955, the date of the last Jaycee Convention in Pampa. We extend the hand of fellowship and good will to each Jaycee and wife and invite the merchants and other citizens to make a special effort to welcome members of an organization dedicated to the building of young men and the communities where they live. We welcome the opportunity to make available our facilities to this dynamic organization to review its past achievements and set goals to pursue in future months. Among other things we offer to all visiting Jaycees "Top o' Texas Hospitality" and wish for each of you a week end that will always bring pleasant memories.

WHAT I CAN'T UNDERSTAND IS WHY WAS HE PRACTICALLY DRAGGING YOU AWAY? TO CATCH THE BUS YOU GOT OFF GOSH KNOWS WHEN WE'LL CATCH ANOTHER. I WONDER IF I AM SUFFERING FROM AMNESIA— OH, LADY. LADY, SINCE I BROUGHT YOU THIS FAR, I'LL TAKE YOU ALL TO FOREST HILLS— ON ONE CONDITION. WHEN YOU FIND OUT WHO THIS GUY IS, WILL YOU LET ME KNOW? HERE'S MY CARD. A DEAL, MAYBE I AM YOUR OLD FLAME.

Susie Q. Smith

RING! FATHER! DON'T OPEN THE DOOR TILL I GET UPSTAIRS. (GASP!) WHAT IF CAZ CAUGHT ME LOOKING LIKE THIS? (SHEEP)

Blondie

I'M SELLING BROCCOLI DICERS— THEY'RE A MUST FOR EVERY HOME. NOPE— NOT TODAY. VERY WELL, SIR— THANK YOU AND GOOD DAY. NOW, WHO COULD THAT BE KNOCKING AT THE BACK DOOR? NOC. NOC. YOU DIDN'T THINK TO GIVE UP THAT EASY, DID YOU?

Alley Oop

FOR A MOMENT THERE I THOUGHT I'D FOUND OOP AND OSCAR'S ROCKET, BUT THIS GUY LOOKS RUSSIAN. STO AMERIKASHELL, BOLEHE! THANKS, BOYS, I COULDN'T MAKE IT. NOT ANOTHER STEP.

Bonnie

LOOK, DAD! A TRUCK CARRYING PIPE WITH A RED FLAG ON THE END! THAT'S THE LAW. ANYTHING THAT PROJECTS FROM THE REAR OF A VEHICLE MUST HAVE A RED FLAG ON IT! McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

Joe Palooka

FOR GOSHAKES SAKE, MUST BE AWAY UP NOW. EVERYTHING LOOKS SO TINY! YOU M-MONSTER! IT'S ALL TRUE... I'LL LET THE WHOLE WORLD KNOW ABOUT YOUR DIABOLICAL EXPERIMENTS! GOOD! CONTACT HIS VEST WITH THE ELECTROMAGNETIC BEAM! HE'S AT 4000 FEET! HA HA— HO HO. HMM... WHAT'S THIS SUDDEN BUZZING IN MY VEST... WILL, WHAT D'YA KNOW... TEE HEE HEE... IT'S TICKLIN' ME, KEBBE! I'M ALLERGIC TO THIS HERE ALUMINUM GOODS— HA HA— HO HO.

Martha Wayne

THE PSYCHIATRIST SAYS THAT MY FALLING FOR A GUY WHO CAN'T RETURN MY LOVE COULD PUT ME OFF HIS DEEPSEAT. JUSTIN, THAT WASN'T ABOUT ME, I MEAN... MAY DO I DON'T KNOW, YOURS MEAN SO PERSUASIVE, KEBBE! I'M WITH YOU I THINK LOVE YOU, BUT KAGH I'M NOT—I JUST DON'T KNOW. YOURS WITH ME NOW, I'LL WILL YOU ACCEPT MY FRATERNITY PIN? YOU CAN ALWAYS SWIG IT BACK IF YOU CHANGE YOUR MIND. ALL RIGHT, JUSTIN.

Bugs Bunny

TH-THIS OUGHT TO B-BE GOOD! WATCH, BUGS! PETUNIA'S IN THE TEA ROOM. OH, PETUNIA, WILL YOU READ MY TEA LEAVES? GLADLY, PORKEY! THEY TELL EVERYTHING! YOU'RE GOING TO GET A NEW JOB... I SEE YOU COMING INTO MONEY... HA! HA! WHAT A B-BUNCH OF MALARKEY! AND BEWARE OF A YOUNG LADY WITH DARK HAIR!

Mutt and Jeff

LISTERVIXEN, I PROMISE I'LL TAKE YOU OUT SATURDAY WHEN I GET PAID, OKAY? LET'S STAY HOME TONIGHT AT YOUR HOUSE! YOUNG MAN, I WANT YOU TO KNOW THAT WE TURN OFF THE LIGHTS AROUND HERE AT TEN THIRTY! THAT'S OKAY, GIRL, WE WON'T BE READING!

Priscilla's Pop

HE'S COMING! I SEE HIM! WELCOME HOME, DEAR! HI, POP! THIS IS THE PART I LIKE BEST ABOUT PAY DAY!

OUT OUR WAY

GO ON— GO AHEAD— WE'LL WATCH FOR HIM!

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

KAK-KAK! MY WORD, SIR BAGWYN! YOUR TALE STAGGERS MY IMAGINATION! I WAS TRAINING A BOA TO PULL A WILD ELEPHANT'S TRUNK TOWARD ITS TAIL UNTIL IT FELL DAZED IN A SPIN— FAP! CH, QUITE, QUITE! SCHOOLING SERPENTS REQUIRES A SPOT OF HYPERNOTIC TALENT— ER— AND THE TICKLISH PART WAS SNEAKING UP ON THE GRAZING IN ITS NATIVE HABITAT AND FASTENING THE BOA TO ITS TAIL! I STUDIED THE SILENT LOCOMOTION OF THE COMMON CAT AND BECAME QUITE AT HOME ON ALL FOURS— I CARRIED THE SERPENT ON MY BACK! OH, MY BACK!

The Berrys

DID YOU DO ALL YOUR HOMEWORK, JACKIE? YUP! DO YOU THINK YOU'LL BE ABLE TO ANSWER ALL THE QUESTIONS IN THE TEST TOMORROW? OH, I KNOW ALL THE RIGHT ANSWERS... IF MISS SCHROEDER JUST DOESN'T ASK THE WRONG QUESTIONS!

Morty Meekie

DO YOU SMELL SOMETHING BURNING? GOODNESS! THE HOUSE MAY BE ON FIRE! EITHER THAT, OR WINSTON IS COOKING A SURPRISE BREAKFAST FOR US! I HOPE THE HOUSE IS ON FIRE!

The Potts

I DON'T THINK MOTHERS KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT REARING CHILDREN, BUNTY!! THEY SEND YOU TO BED AT NIGHT WHEN YOU'RE WIDE AWAKE— AND THEY WAKE YOU UP IN THE MORNING WHEN YOU'RE TERRIBLY SLEEPY!!

Wash Tubbs

DR. JALOVIC AND HIS ASSISTANTS LEAVE FOR CANAMERAL AT LAST REPORT THE TRUCK HAD RUN INTO SNOW! IF THEY LOSE MUCH TIME WE'RE SUNK! YES, WE BARELY HAD TIME TO PREPARE THE BIG BIRD FOR LAUNCHING, ANYWAY. FOUR HOURS BEHIND SCHEDULE ALREADY! AND THERE'S TWENTY MORE MILES OF THIS! WHILE A FEW MILES AHEAD I DON'T GET IT, THE BEAS SAYS IT WAS A SPECIAL REQUEST FROM WASHINGTON TO CLEAR THE SOUTH-SOUND LANE AT TOP SPEED!

Boots

HEY, BOOTS! ISN'T DINNER READY? OH, ROD, I'M SORRY, BUT DORY AND I HAVE BEEN SO BUSY MARKET-ING AND PREPARING THE FRESH VEGETABLES! JUST AS THEY DID IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS! MR. ROD, WHILE I'M READING MY MEAT COURSE... YOU RUSTLE UP SOME COOKIN' WOOD AND WE'LL GET DINNER GOIN'!

Mickey Finn

YOU FIGURE HE MADE AN IMPRESSION OF THE KEY, SERGEANT? YES! IT WOULD'VE BEEN VERY EASY! THEN YOU BELIEVE HE'S BEEN GOING INTO THE MERRIT MANSION— RIGHT ALONG? THAT'S RIGHT! AND I THINK HE'S BEEN LOOKING FOR THIS ONE PICTURE! YOU KNOW SOMEBODY WHO MIGHT BE ABLE TO TELL US ITS—AH— VALUE? YES—A MAN NAMED BEEMAN! THAT'S WHERE I'D LIKE YOU TO TAKE ME NOW!

FRECKLES

ENOUGH LIGHTS NOW, MR. WILSON? NO, NO, MR. STUMPLE! YOU DON'T UNDERSTAND OUR PROBLEM! HURRY! MOVE ALL OF THE LIGHTS! THE BELL IS ABOUT TO RING! NOW, THEN— I'LL DISPENSE WITH MY USUAL HAND HOLDING WARNING AND WE'LL GET RIGHT INTO THE PROGRAM!

It's a petition to the school board to install a juke box in the study hall!

Victor Borge Uncloisters The Cloistered Halls Of CBS-TV

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Victor Borge, a gentleman who plays the piano and the buffoon, dropped into the cloistered halls of CBS-TV Wednesday night and uncloistered them.

I must say at the start that Borge fractures me. If I have any bones to pick (careful, boy, those are fractured bones), it would be to complain that there wasn't enough Borge. I think some network should set aside a day to the man.

I suppose one of the reasons why I enjoy Borge so thoroughly is because he seems to enjoy his own work so thoroughly. He operates with a kind of maniacal gusto, a rapturous detachment from sense and reason. His world is nonsense, a nonsense compounded of equal parts of gloat and bliss and clouds, all of it smothered with a coating of imbecilic relish.

"I have two-and-a-half brothers," Borge said at one point during the evening. "Three half-brothers who make one-and-a-half and one regular one who makes it two-and-a-half. Incidentally, one of them is married to a very lovely girl, very wealthy—she owns a string of wishing wells."

Or: "I wish to thank my mother and father who made this show possible. And my five children who made it necessary."

Working on a Sandwich
I knew everything would turn out all right from the very start when Borge appeared, surrounded by the gentlemen of the orchestra and a sea of Lawrence Welk bubbles. The orchestra was working on "The Liechtensteiner Polka" and Borge was working on a peanut butter sandwich and the piano. ("This piano was made by Steinway and Sons this afternoon," he explained later. "Normally a piano has 88 keys, but this one has 89 because one of the sons is a little off.")

He then went into a commercial for his auto sponsor and volunteered a recent picture of his own model. It turned out to be a mound of snow. "The bad thing about it, of course," shrugged Borge, "is that my wife is still in it."

And so it went. Borge slashed up some scores of Schubert and Strauss and Shostakovich and Debussy and announced he was composing a typical Tin Pan Alley hit. He opened two tiny plastic boxes for inspection. "They contain the first and last notes Mozart wrote," he declared solemnly.

Bambi Linn and Rod Alexander danced and Doretta Morrow sang and 12-year-old Abbott Lee Ruskin, played the piano. Borge played some gushy Rachmaninoff and a medley of Gershwin, the latter punctuated by remote shots of Broadway and Central Park South.

Strangely enough, the remotes showed the streets of Manhattan deserted. I guess everybody was in watching TV and I suspect they were watching Borge. At least I hope so.

A Racy Fairy Tale
The Danes were represented not only by Borge, but also by Hans Christian Andersen on TV Wednesday night. Andersen's "The Nightingale" was presented on NBC-TV's "Shirley Temple's Storybook."

It was the sort of thing middle-brows find charming, but low-brows like myself tend to regard as a fairy tale, it contained some as banal and stiffly didactic. You can pick your own category. For oddly racy lines. Sample—boy to father: "I wish to take a wife." Father: "Whose wife?"

I caught only a few minutes of Milton Berle in "Material Witness" on NBC-TV's "Kraft Theatre" Wednesday night since it conflicted with the Borge show. All I feel qualified to say is that Berle, during the moments I looked in, seemed pretty competent.

The Channel swim: Harry Truman will emcee and CBS-TV's Jack Benny will play the violin on March 22 in Kansas City in a special benefit concert with the Kansas City Philharmonic. Officials hope they can persuade the former President to play the piano along with Benny and his fiddle.

Bob Hope will desert NBC-TV on March 19 for CBS-TV's "Big Record". Judy Garland, who used to do her singing at CBS-TV, will sing for an NBC-TV audience on March 26 when the Oscar awards are beamed. Jerry Lewis pulled a 35.9 Trendex for his NBC-TV show Tuesday, slaughtering the opposition. Effective March 31, Arthur Godfrey will divide his morning activities on CBS radio and TV. He'll do a daily hour show on radio, then a daily half-hour show on TV, instead of his present simulcast.

WASHINGTON—Sen. A.S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.), entering into the Congressional Record a United Press story about a special citation of merit to United Features Service columnist Thomas L. Stokes:

"This latest recognition of one of our finest newspapermen is not being given him for one stroke of genius, or even for that lucky break plus competency which often brings awards... but for his unvarying high standards through a 37-year career as a Washington reporter."

Poland Is Pushing Nuclear Ban Plan

Foreign News Commentary
BY CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
Communist Poland is pushing its plan for a ban on nuclear weapons in Central Europe with surprising persistence.

The United States and other allied countries have frowned on the plan under which nuclear weapons would be barred from Poland, Germany and Czechoslovakia.

They realize it would weaken the defense of Western Europe because of Soviet Russia's enormous superiority in conventional weapons.

But Polish Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki, sponsor of the plan which now bears his name, shows no sign of discouragement.

He has handed the allied ambassadors in Warsaw a formal note urging discussion of his plan. With the note, he presented an "aide memoire" or "memoire" or memorandum outlining it fully.

In his latest move, Rapacki also has launched an attempt to draw the West German government into discussions of the plan.

West Germany has no diplomatic relations with Poland. So Rapacki asked the Swedish ambassador to relay the note to West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and proposed, in making the request, that Poland and West Germany start direct talks on it. Whether Adenauer will agree to this is uncertain. The probability seems to be against it.

But the Rapacki proposal has roused considerable interest in West Germany.

It also is interesting that the allied governments, as well as the West German government, have made it known that they will "study" Rapacki's latest note and memorandum. Previously the tendency had been to dismiss the plan outright as unacceptable.

The feeling now seems to be that the Rapacki Plan, while unacceptable in itself, might aid in breaking the present deadlock between the Western Allies and Russia on disarmament talks.

Russia Favors Plan
Russia naturally enthusiastically favors the Rapacki Plan. There seems to be little doubt that Rapacki is working closely with the Soviet government on it. But it has been reported that the plan really is Rapacki's own brainchild.

While Rapacki tries to draw West Germany into negotiations, Russia and the East German Communists still are actively trying to soften up Adenauer's refusal to recognize East Germany in any way.

In a new move, East German Communist Leader Walter Ulbricht proposed in a newspaper interview last week that as a first step toward possible eventual reunification, East and West Germany enter into a sort of federal agreement. In this, the two German regimes would organize a cooperative council in which each would have equal membership.

It is too early to tell whether anything can come out of the Rapacki Plan. In its present form, it is obviously loaded against the Western Allies. But, as suggested, there seems to be a possibility that it could be made the basis for some kind of East-West negotiations.

Marilyn Orders Own Kind Of Sack Dresses

Woman's View
By GAY PAULEY
United Press Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UP)—Around Manhattan:

Marilyn Monroe has ordered several sack dresses for spring. But they're sacks designed to display her curves.

John Moore, the young designer who does most of the blonde Miss Monroe's special occasion dresses, said the actress already has been fitted for three chemises from the regular collection he does for the wholesale firm of Talmack, Inc. And others are on order.

"But she's buying some fitted clothes too," said the designer. "The sack, as done by JM for MM has a fitted, princess silhouette front, but completely free waistline at back."

"All the curves are still there," he said.

The chemise suits Miss Monroe, but one New York specialty store (Bonwit Teller) doubts that it is for every woman.

It stated its "policy" in an ad this week. "We believe," it ran, "that the chemise, as modified by our American designers who know the American woman, will be an important fashion... with us some time. But we believe that the chemise will not monopolize the fashion scene because there are other equally important fitted or semi-fitted clothes and we believe women should not permit themselves to be led astray by too much propaganda."

AUTOMATION FOR DINNER

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—The toastmaster was taking no chances that speakers at the National Standard Parts Assn. convention would overrun their allotted time. The orators knew they had to sit down when a traffic signal in the rear of the room turned amber then red. For added emphasis, a bell clanged vigorously.

REAL FIRE

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—Delegates to the National Fire Department Instructors Conference here got a peculiarly effective glimpse into the actual fire-fighting talents, as well as the teaching skill of the city's firemen. A short time after completing a staged demonstration of their techniques, fire department members rushed to douse a blaze at the hotel where most of the delegates are staying.

BEST FOOT FORWARD

STAVELY, England (UP)—There's no telling what kind of a performance star soccer center-forward Arthur Griffiths would have given if he had been properly shod at a youth club soccer match here. Even wearing two left boots, which he brought by mistake to the locker room, he scored seven goals.

Warren, Ohio, became the first city in the United States to install mazda tungsten lights on its streets, in 1910.
