Area insurance rates decline

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Homeowners' property insurance costs in Big Spring and many area cities will drop about 6.3 percent under a staff proposal adopted Wednesday by the State Board of Insurance.

Those savings may not last long, however.

Now, most companies offer rates below the maximums approved by the board, but those deviations or discounts may be trimmed if board Chairman Lyndon Olson has his way.

The board's new maximum rates will apply to those policies sold or renewed after Nov. 15.

But Olson also wants to abolish those deviations for at least 24 hours on the same day as the rate change.

The change could raise the rates for many homeowners, Olson acknowledged. "I'm going to take a guess of 5 percent," he said.

Applications from insurance companies that want to reapply for the same or even smaller discounts would be accepted beginning Nov. 16, he said, adding that the strategy could break a dangerous cycle of "irresponsible price cutting" within the insurance industry.

To obtain permission for a discount, the company would have to show that financially it is healthy enough to make a profit despite the discounts.

A final board decision on the deviation question is expected in September.

Under the proposal adopted:

• A one-year basic homeowners' policy in Big Spring will decrease from $410 to $384 on a $50,000 brick veneer home, from $568 to $531 on a $75,000 home and from $715 to $670 on a $100,000 home. The exact cost depends on the type of structure and other variables.

• Tenant or renter's insurance will drop by 25 percent and fire and extended coverage on a $75,000 home in Big Spring will decrease by 17.3 percent from $451 to $373.

• Farm and ranch insurance will increase by an average of 4 percent statewide and 4.2 percent in Howard County.

The average rates for each area apply only within the city limits of towns with professional fire fighters.

Unattended car crushes woman

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

A 59-year-old Big Spring man may face charges of criminally negligent homicide in the death of a 76-year-old woman killed when his unattended car pinned the woman against a tree and crushed her.

According to Police Lt. Jerry Edwards, the department will prepare a report on the case and present it to County Attorney Tim Yeats. Yeats then will decide whether to prosecute Alberto Mesa Morales, 59, of 606 N.W. 11th, who had been operating the car prior to the accident.

Criminally negligent homicide is a Class A misdemeanor and falls under the jurisdiction of the county attorney's office, Edwards said. Police had considered presenting the case as involuntary manslaughter, but then decided the criminally negligent homicide case was stronger.

Killed was Bessie Brown Lankford, 76, of 601 N. San Antonio. Ambulance attendants administered cardio-pulmonary resuscitation to her at the scene, and then transferred her to Malone-Hogan Hospital, where she was pronounced dead at 12:29 p.m. by Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin.

Services for Lankford are pending at Nalley-Pickle and Welch Funeral Home.

Lankford was struck shortly before noon Wednesday when an unattended car left the street and entered her yard at 601 N. San Antonio.

Patrolman Dave Bavin, who investigated the accident, also filed a report on criminally negligent homicide as a result of his investigation.

Lawmakers band to fight oil tax incentives

Harte-Hanks Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — Congressmen from northern states and California banded together Wednesday to mount an offensive against the oil and gas industry's key tax incentives, threatened with significant cutbacks in this year's tax reform effort.

"We're going to be demanding our share of the energy action," proclaimed Vic Fazio, D-Calif. "The best defense is a strong offense," he said.

Fazio was one of 18 congressmen, most of whom are members of the Northeast-Midwest Congressional Coalition, who introduced an "energy tax fairness resolution" in the House. The resolution calls on Congress to "reject the bias" in President Reagan's tax reform plan, which would wipe out tax credits for conservation and renewable energy sources while retaining about two-thirds of the tax incentives for the oil and gas industry.

Reagan's plan would keep the full deduction for intangible drilling costs, but do away with the depletion allowance for independent oil and gas producers except for small stripper wells.

Congressmen at a briefing on the resolution Wednesday praised the Treasury Department's first tax plan, released last November, that would have done away with both tax incentives for the oil and gas industry, as well as the current deduction for costs that went into non-productive "dry hole" wells.

The congressmen said they would fight to retain the current tax credits for energy conservation and renewable energy sources, such as solar and wind energy.

Rep. Edward J. Markey, D-Mass., chairman of the House Subcommittee on Energy Conservation and Power, said more than 150,000 residents of Massachusetts claim deductions for the tax credits.

"Citizens of most of our states do not have oil wells in their back yards," said Markey. "Our citizens do not have millions of oil and gas dollars to spend on protecting their special interests. All we do have is an aroused public. And all we are asking for in this resolution is equal treatment," he said.

Congressmen from Southwestern states as well as representatives of the oil and gas industry have argued that oil and gas production would drop significantly without the tax incentives. They've noted that oil and gas drilling and production already have been strongly hit by the drop in oil prices and that even the threat of the tax changes has caused drilling to decline further.

The Reagan administration has argued that the tax incentives are necessary for national security.

The congressmen Wednesday said that energy conservation and switching to alternative energy sources would do as much for national security as steady domestic oil and gas production.

"The administration cannot explain why producing an additional barrel of oil is more effective in cutting imports than conserving that barrel or producing the equivalent from alternative domestic (sources)," said Rep. Claudine Schneider, R-R.I.

The first round of the energy tax battle will be fought in the House Ways and Means Committee, which is expected to curtail Reagan's proposals on the oil and gas tax incentives. The Senate Finance Committee, which also is considering tax reform, is more likely to support Reagan's oil and gas recommendations. Both committees already have held hearings on the oil and gas section.

Police arrest 3, recover rifles

Big Spring police Wednesday afternoon recovered 10 rifles and shotguns when they arrested three burglary suspects fleeing from Snyder authorities.

The three men were transferred to Snyder at 10 p.m. Wednesday after being questioned by Snyder police, according to Big Spring Police Lt. Jerry Edwards.

Arrested were: Burt Allen Smith, 28; Bruce Wayne Wortham, 27; and Crain Merritt, 23, all of Snyder. Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin set bonds at $15,000 each.

The three are suspected of taking the guns in a single residential burglary in Snyder, according to Edwards.

They were arrested at 4:27 p.m. on Interstate Highway 20, when they were stopped by patrolman Joe Russell, Edwards said.

Russell spotted the older model Ford sedan traveling west on I-20 near the exit to Highway 350 after police received a call for assistance from Snyder authorities.

Because the three were suspected of carrying the stolen weapons, Russell was assisted in the arrest by patrolman Bill Anderson. They made the arrest at 1-20 mile marker 174.

Trucking together

Texas couple together after 2.5 million miles of travelling

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — With a sip of her soft drink, Emma Lou Collins considers the possibility that she has the perfect job.

"Well, my husband and I get to see an awful lot of this country, and we pretty much do what we please," she says. "And we get to get together. I guess that's about 100 percent ideal."

What Robert and Emma Lou Collins do is drive trucks. Big trucks with 18 wheels and 40-foot trailers. And they do it a lot — both have driven about 2.5 million miles without an accident.

"I'd have to say the Lord takes care of us," Emma Lou says. "Of course, we drive defensively, too." Robert is 68. Emma Lou is 65. For the past 14 years, the San Antonio couple has driven as a team for Church's Fried Chicken Inc., delivering store equipment and supplies to the fast food chain's 1,500 stores.

Emma Lou estimates that she and Robert have seen 46 of the 48 contiguous states. They drive about 150,000 miles a year, following the interstate across the nation.

"The truck is our home," Emma Lou says. "In it, we've got just about everything you need except a bathroom. And frankly, we need to stop for the exercise."

This year, Emma Lou beat out 3,000 men to be named the 1984 regional driver of the year by Ryder Truck Rental. The award is based on recommendations from employers and the driver's safety record. She is the first woman to win the award. Her husband won it in 1982.

"We like to call ourselves commercial tourists," she says.

"Anytime we take a wrong turn, that's sightseeing. Now you can't beat that."

Robert, a large man wearing a gimme cap, gets in a rare word: "We've had a pretty good life. I guess we kind of like each other. Of course, living in a 6-by-8 truck cab, we'd have to."

Emma Lou says, "The way I see it, we've been married 96 years. That's 48 years for each of us."

Robert showed his devotion once at a truck stop near Meridian, Miss. Emma Lou had stopped to give the owner some recipes. Robert, who had been asleep, woke and took his turn at the wheel and drove off.

"I got on the CB and called out his handle, which is Superchicken," Emma Lou says. "I said, 'Superchicken, this is Queenbee. You left me at the truck stop.' Some other driver got on the CB and said, 'If Superchicken comes back for her, it must be true love.' Well, he sure did come back for me."

When Emma Lou's family moved from a small farm east of Waco to Kilgore in the 1930s, she and Robert, a football star at Kilgore High, became high school sweethearts. They married in 1937. She was 18, he was 21.

"I was so worried about what we'd talk about after we married," Emma Lou says. "But Robert says I haven't shut up yet."

They have four children and three grandchildren.

"We've been lucky in that we've been able to take the grandchildren on trips with us," Emma Lou says. "And they love it."

Emma Lou Collins became a truck driver at an early age. As a teen-ager she hauled the cotton her father grew from Waco to Houston.

without setting a parking brake, etc."

According to Edwards, the car was found in neutral gear after the accident. Investigators, he said, found the parking brake was not on.

"Whether he was in it or not, he's responsible for the safety features of his vehicle," Edwards said.

Annette Dominguez, 14, who lives across the street from Lankford's house on N. San Antonio, said she saw the car come down the street from her window.

"I saw it go on the curb... I didn't see the crash," she said.

Cedric Briggs, one of several children playing near the intersection of N.W. Sixth, said they saw the car drive past them without a driver. "We saw it roll past, and then we heard a girl scream."

The report states, "While investigating an accident, ... (I found) a vehicle, left unattended by a man, rolled down an incline and struck a victim, causing her death."

According to police reports, the accident occurred at 11:48 a.m. Wednesday. Morales had left his car, a red and white 1977 Chevrolet Nova, parked outside a small grocery store in the 500 block of N. San Antonio, 72 feet north of the intersection with N.W. Sixth.

The car rolled north across the intersection, jumped the curb and entered Lankford's yard and pinned her against a tree, the report said.

Listed as a factor in the accident, according to the accident report, was "left vehicle unattended ment's two probation officers last year, but the department does not currently carry insurance for its employees.

"I feel very insecure handling children and not being insured," Thompson said.

She said part-time help hired to supervise a juvenile in custody and the detention facility itself were not currently insured.

Howard County Judge Milton Kirby said that if the board didn't take care of these matters, "we're going backwards."

Deavenport also suggested that carryover monies from this year's budget be incorporated to offset county funds appropriated for next year's budget.

"We (Martin County) are not as near to budget as Howard. We'll be lucky to hold our current tax base," Deavenport said.

He later said that Martin County for its upcoming fiscal budget "will drop about $80,000 in tax income. We've been under a tight budget," Deavenport said.

Juvenile board OKs budget

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

Juvenile probation's budget will increase 3 percent for 1985-86, members of the 118th District Juvenile Board unanimously decided Wednesday.

The juvenile department has budgeted $115,323 to cover expenditures beginning Sept. 1. State funding will contribute $62,463 to this amount. Howard County will contribute $43,350. Martin County will contribute $6,120 and Glasscock County will contribute $1,530. This year's current budget will have a carryover amount of $1,860.

Martin County Judge Robert Deavenport suggested in his motion that the board approve the three per cent budget increase and that $1,000 be added to operating expenses to help finance insurance coverage for juvenile officers.

The board discussed insurance which was an item on the meeting's agenda.

Chief Juvenile Probation Officer Margy Thompson said that Howard County insured the depart-

New restaurant opens today

Seawings Restaurant located on FM 700 opened quietly this morning at 6 a.m.

The new specialty restaurant, serving chicken and fish dishes, opened without prior advertising or publicity.

Seawings is owned by Gary Richards and Garry Teal of San Angelo. It will be managed by Terry Brown, also of San Angelo, Steve Warren, director of operations, said.

The owners wanted no publicity in order to prevent an overflow of customers on the first day. This would allow the store's first customers to receive the best possible service, Warren said.

The store had its Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce ribbon-cutting ceremony at 10:30 a.m. today.

Seawings is open from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and from 6 a.m. to 11 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

Doyle elected TACS state vice-president

Coahoma schools superintendent Jerry Doyle was elected state vice president of the Texas Association of Community Schools during the organization's summer conference last week.

Doyle, superintendent of the Coahoma Independent School District for two years, will also serve as president-elect, president and past president during the next four years.

The group consists of 803 member schools statewide. Cities and communities with a single school district are eligible to join the organization, Doyle said. Currently, 80 percent of the eligible schools are members, he said.

Several area schools which are members of the group include Big Spring, Stanton, Forsan, Ackery and Lamesa.

The association is a multi-purpose organization, Doyle said, and was instrumental in getting the retired teachers' health care package through the Legislature. The group, along with the aid of Sen. Ray Farabee also lobbied for an adjustment of funds to small school districts according to enrollment.

JERRY DOYLE named to TACS board.

Doyle said the organization will be working to improve funding for its members during the 1987 state legislative session.

"One underlying problem which has not hit the public has been that House Bill 72 has been terribly underfunded for the state," he said. "That will be something the 1987 Legislature will have to deal with."

Police transferred Ronnie Lewis Gaskins Jr., 18, of Sterling City Route Box T-32 to county jail after he was charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. He was released on $1,000 bond set by a justice of the peace court.

A Texas Department of Public Safety trooper arrested Janette Harris Keese, 45, of Granite Shoals on suspicion of driving while intoxicated. She was released on $1,000 bond set by a justice of the peace court.

Howard County sheriff's deputies arrested Klaus Hugo Quernheim, 27, of Gail Route Box 238 on a warrant charging him with burglary of a building. He remained in jail with a $15,000 bond pending. The bond was set by Hefflin.

A DPS trooper arrested Allen Robert Hamblin, 50, of Dallas on outstanding DPS warrants charging him with two counts of speeding and two counts of failure to appear. He was released on bonds totalling $800, set by Justice of the Peace Glenn Densmore of Parker County.

Police transferred Alberto M. Rivas, 26, of Knott Route Box 94 to county jail after he was charged with DWLS. He was released on $500 bond set by the city.

Deficit-reduction plan

WASHINGTON — Senate negotiators are considering a final bid to break the congressional budget deadlock with a sweeping $340 billion deficit-reduction package, according to congressional sources.

The plan, which would reduce next year's projected budget deficit by more than $60 billion, includes:

- Making inflation adjustments in income tax rates and Social Security and other benefit programs every two years, instead of annually. This would save about $19 billion over three years.
- Imposing a $5-a-barrel fee on imported oil. This would raise $20 billion to $30 billion over three years.
- Reducing the domestic spending cuts in a Senate-passed budget and moving toward a House-passed budget as a conciliatory gesture.

SF says no to burgers

SAN FRANCISCO — Fed up with golden arches and grinning dachshunds, city supervisors say they're considering a moratorium to block fast food franchises whose signs make San Francisco "look like Coney Island."

The commissioners are considering expanding the scope of a temporary ban imposed earlier this week on take-out restaurants along Broadway, which is best known for its strip joints and adult movie houses.

"I think those fast food places look junky, and in pursuit of their profit, they are making San Francisco look like Coney Island," the New York amusement park, said Richard Hongisto, who proposed expanding the ban.

Vets picket "Rambo"

SAN FRANCISCO — Sylvester Stallone's box office hit "Rambo: First Blood II" presents a twisted glorification of combat that neglects the real horrors of war, according to Vietnam vets on a movie-theater picket line.

Members of Veteran's Speakers Alliance on Wednesday conducted informational picketing to protest the film they say exploits the sacrifices made by Vietnam veterans, glorifies war and misrepresents the horror of Vietnam.

Impeachment procedure

JUNEAU, Alaska — If Gov. Bill Sheffield can be linked to a pattern of bid-rigging, the state Senate panel considering his impeachment should turn the evidence over to another grand jury, a committee member says.

"We keep hearing there's a pattern," said Sen. Jan Falks, a Republican member of the Senate Rules Committee. "Some of us are pursuing that angle, but where it goes I don't know yet."

Storm's fury forces evacuation in Charleston

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Hurricane Bob whipped in off the Atlantic today with heavy rain and winds gusting to 80 mph, leaving more than 30,000 people in the dark and forcing thousands to evacuate before it eased to a tropical storm.

Bob's primary threat today was inland flooding and heavy rains, meteorologists said.

The eye of the first hurricane of the Atlantic season swept ashore near the resort of Fripp Island late Wednesday and began to wane only hours after it was upgraded from tropical storm status along the Georgia coast.

The storm died down as it moved inland, and the National Weather Service discontinued hurricane warnings at 6 a.m. and raised gale warnings from Savannah, Ga., to Cape Fear, N.C., downgrading Bob to a tropical storm again.

But most damage appeared to be confined to scattered broken windows and downed tree limbs and power lines, and no injuries were reported as the storm swept inland.

"The biggest thing we've had has been power lines down," said Phil Gardner, the assistant director of the Charleston County Emergency Preparedness Division, adding that about 250 people left their homes voluntarily.

Farther inland the problem was not high wind but heavy rain and flooding, said James Gregory, the state Emergency Welfare Service Coordinator.

"It's not really over yet," Gregory said. "We're watching this fool thing — flooding is what we're looking at right now."

"It was a minimal hurricane," said weather service meteorologist Dick Shenot in Charleston. "It just barely made hurricane category before it moved on shore."

At 3 a.m., Hurricane Bob was centered near latitude 33.0 north and longitude 80.8 west, 45 miles west to northwest of Charleston. The highest winds were 75 mph, just barely over the 74 mph required for hurricane status.

The storm's center was in in Colleton County, west of Charleston.

Bob was moving slightly west of north at 12 mph to 14 mph, with a gradual turn toward the north expected later today, the weather service said. The wind was estimated early today at 92 mph at Folly Beach Coast Guard Station south of Charleston and 77 mph downtown, the weather service said.

At least 25,000 people were without electricity early today in the Charleston area, said Barbara Powell, a spokeswoman for South Carolina Electric & Gas. About 7,000 people in Myrtle Beach were in the dark, officials said.

Live Aid records millions

LONDON — The Live Aid concerts and earlier recordings have raised an estimated $100 million that will be used both to alleviate famine in Africa and finance self-help programs, organizers said.

Band Aid, the organization set up by 32-year-old Irish rock singer Bob Geldof, announced Wednesday a five-part relief program for Africa.

It said it would consider financing projects "in full when necessary, and in part when funding can be provided from other sources, such as the European Common Market and U.S. aid."

Immediate relief efforts will concentrate on providing emergency food supplies and the transportation to ensure it reaches starving Africans, the group said.

Mexico drops peso value

MEXICO CITY — In a bid to arrest a deteriorating economy, the government has slashed the value of the peso by 20 percent, ordered reductions in the massive bureaucracy, and vowed to reduce barriers to foreign trade.

Actions spelled out Wednesday night in an unusual news conference by the government's three top economic officials were some of the toughest measures taken by the 2½-year-old administration of President Miguel de la Madrid.

"The moment is difficult and has generated uneasiness and uncertainty in some groups of the population," said Jesus Silva Herzog, the finance minister.

Carlos Salinas de Gortari, the budget secretary, said: "A problem like the one we are facing demands acting on all fronts, without exception, internally as well as externally, to reduce the social impact which the crisis provokes."

OPEC cuts oil prices

GENEVA, Switzerland — OPEC oil ministers decided by a majority vote today to slightly reduce some oil prices in an attempt to retain the cartel's share of the world oil market, ministers said.

Iran, Libya, and Algeria voted against the price cuts on low-and medium-grade quality crude, the ministers said, while the 10 other OPEC members were in favor.

The decision, ending four days of stormy deliberations, was not expected to have an immediate effect on consumer prices for gasoline or other oil products. The price cuts affect a relatively small proportion of world oil supplies.

Mana Saeed Oteiba, the oil minister of the United Arab Emirates, disclosed the agreement as the 13 ministers ended their summer conference. Algerian Oil Minister Belkacem Nabi confirmed it.

74 feared dead in airplane crash

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — An air force plane crashed and burned in the Amazon jungle Wednesday, and all 74 people aboard were feared dead, the Defense Ministry announced.

The DC-6, carrying civilian passengers on a substitute flight for Colombia's strike-bound airline industry, lost one of its four engines six minutes after taking off from the Amazon River port of Leticia, the ministry said. The plane was flying from Colombia's southernmost city to the capital, Bogota, 721 miles to the north, the announcement said.

Its pilot, air force Col. Walter Baer, Colombia's assistant director of civil aviation, told the control tower "We're falling!" and then lost radio contact, the ministry reported.

Later, airborne rescue workers spotted the aircraft's burning wreckage 20 miles north of Leticia. A ministry spokesman said he doubted anyone could have survived the crash.

The spokesman said another rescue team that left Leticia was expected to arrive at the crash site Thursday. The area is near the Peruvian border in the Amazon River basin.

No system's safe from corruption

Corruption in the Soviet Union is hardly unprecedented. Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev has called for a nationwide effort against corrupt practices. Still, the story of one N. Kononov shows that Russia's state-owned industries can engage in the kind of bribery and favoritism that have been exposed recently among some private industries in the West.

The news agency Tass says Mr. Kononov has been sentenced to nine years in a labor camp and confiscation of his private property for taking bribes. As supervisor of railway freight service between Moscow and Leningrad, he was found guilty of allocating scarce railway cars to several state enterprises. They then got governmental bonuses from the timely deliveries, while other socialist endeavors were not so favored.

In return for his help, industrial managers provided labor and materials to build Mr. Kononov a country home. One desperate factory boss learned that the railwayman was an amateur musician and gave him a hand-crafted guitar. This, no doubt, was one of the items confiscated.

Americans have heard too much lately of unethical practices in some large corporations, and of special considerations given for favors received. Clearly, however, such practices are not the monopoly of competitive private enterprise. Socialist enterprises under the Soviet system also compete, if not to serve their customers, then to serve the state. And they can compete corruptly. Put it down to unfree enterprise at work.

Burger's aim off in anti-ad tirade

Judges are notoriously fallible, but it isn't too much to ask that their mistakes be confined to the courtroom. Unfortunately, Warren Burger, who has done enough damage in his daytime job as chief justice of the United States of America, insists on occasionally moonlighting as the village crank.

His latest tirade was contained in a talk to about 30 delegates to the national convention of the American Bar Association, in which Burger portrayed advertising by lawyers as a certain sign of the collapse of civilization as we know it.

"I will say never — my advice to the public is — never, never, never, under any circumstances, engage the services of a lawyer who advertises," he spluttered, as if he were talking about convicted shoplifters. The chief justice went on to denounce much legal advertising as "sheer shysterism" which is "pulling down" the image of the entire legal profession.

Pulling down its image? Well, as Dorothy Parker said when informed that Calvin Coolidge had died, how can anyone tell? Outside the chambers of the Supreme Court, it may surprise Burger to learn, people don't genuflect whenever a blue suit walks into the room.

It's also an open question whether the profession's image suffers more from lawyers' TV commercials or from the continual example of Warren Burger. And scholars can attest that the term "shyster" was habitually applied to attorneys long before television was invented.

But Burger is not a thinker of dazzling clarity. How else do we explain his assumption that an address to 30 lawyers, at a meeting open to any of 15,000 delegates, at the convention of a group renowned for its love of publicity, was strictly private? "I am not ready to say that (his opinion of lawyers' ads) publicly yet," he demurred, as a working reporter from the Washington Post dutifully recorded every word.

He also managed to insult a perfectly honorable trade when he insisted that if he were in private practice, "I'd go out and dig ditches before" he'd advertise. This is the sort of vow that can come only from someone who has never dug ditches. A couple of hours at the business end of a shovel would give Burger a new respect for ambulance-chasing.

The chief justice also is afflicted by a hazy memory. From his hectoring tone, you'd think advertising was something forced on the Supreme Court by the organized bar. In fact, the ABA, regarding any type of competition among attorneys as deeply offensive, was largely responsible for the ban on advertising that prevailed until 1977.

That was the year it was struck down by the Supreme Court, with four justices dissenting, including Warren Burger. The court ruled that an Arizona law forbidding lawyers from advertising their fees was a violation of the First Amendment right to free speech. The unconstitutional law was identical to a ban contained in the ABA's Code of Professional Responsibility.

The ruling struck a telling blow against the lawyers' cartel. One way in which lawyers have kept their fees artificially high is by bar association decrees on what they should charge. Another is by a conspiracy to preserve public ignorance on such matters — hence the ban on ads.

Information in the hands of consumers is dangerous to lawyers' incomes. That's why the chief justice bears such animosity toward lawyers who act in accordance with the Supreme Court's ruling. The chief justice's comments should be taken in the same spirit as George Bush's private lobbying to keep tax breaks for the oil industry — not as a detached analysis of the public interest, but as special-interest pleading. In this case, though, it isn't likely to change anything. When the Supreme Court speaks, we owe it our attention. But when Warren Burger rants, we have the luxury of ignoring him.

Soviets throw away millions on psychic warfare studies

WASHINGTON — There are new developments on the psychic-warfare front: The Soviets are outspending us by at least 70 to 1 in occult research.

Most responsible scientists take a dim view of such self-proclaimed parapsychological practitioners as mind readers, voodoo pin-stickers and psychic spoon-benders.

We've reported in the past on such obviously ludicrous concepts as the "anti-missile time-war machine." The Pentagon once considered developing this contraption to blast incoming missiles back into a prehistoric era, where they would theoretically harm only a few dinosaurs or Cro-Magnons.

For years the Pentagon psychic warriors were allowed to pursue any nutty will-o'-the-wisp that flew by, with annual budgets reportedly as high as $6 million. No weapons were ever developed — of course — and now the budget has dwindled to less than $1 million, for exploration of potential capabilities of the human kind.

Meanwhile, the Kremlin has been working overtime to open a military "psycho-gap." The latest top-secret CIA review of Soviet efforts in parapsychology estimate that it would take a budget of anywhere from $500 million to $1 billion for the United States to play catch-up. Operating at much lower-labor costs, the Soviets are probably spending $70 million to $80 million a year, but possibly as much as $350 million.

The delightful irony of the Soviets' parapsychology extravagance is that it began as a response to the perceived threat of U.S. progress in the art. Several years ago, the French reported that U.S. psychics had communicated with the nuclear submarine Nautilus via mental telepathy. This gave Soviet scientists the ammunition they needed to lobby for research funds — even though the reports were later exposed as hoax.

Western scientists may chuckle, but the Soviets take their psychic-warfare experiments seriously. In 1977 a Los Angeles Times reporter in Moscow was arrested by the KGB and charged with obtaining a secret state document that revealed the existence of parapsychological research at several laboratories in the Soviet Union.

The CIA currently estimates that research is being conducted in at least two dozen labs in 10 Soviet cities — 14 in Moscow alone. The experiments range from "dowsing" for minerals and oil to testing "remote psychological monitors" that are supposed to measure the heartbeat and breathing rate of persons thousands of miles away.

From there, according to intelligence reports, Soviet scientists hope to be able to affect the heartbeat and respiration of faraway victims, much in the manner of Haitian witch doctors. The Soviets have even claimed, secretly, that several experiments were successful, with targets nearly suffering heart attacks or suffocation.

In 1977 a Soviet émigré, August Stern, told U.S. intelligence agents of his work on "psychic energy" in a laboratory at Science City in Novosibirsk, Siberia. He said 60 scientists in Special Department No. 8 of the Institute of Automation and Electrometry had "unlimited funds" for such experiments as trying to hypnotize people from a distance and giving kittens electric shocks to see if their mothers showed any reaction three floors away. The lab was transferred to a KGB facility in Moscow in 1969, he said.

How serious does U.S. intelligence take all this? In 1972, the Defense Intelligence Agency said the Soviets might one day be able to learn the contents of secret U.S. documents by psychic techniques, make U.S. weapons malfunction by negative thinking and even brainwash or disable American leaders by willpower.

A 1978 CIA study, which cost $100,000, was more cautious, but it still warned that the Soviets may have tested and deployed second- or third-generation psychic weapons. So the psycho-gap widens. Can we shrink it?

Ex-lobbyist now White House power

By MICHAEL PUTZEL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Suddenly he seems to be the third most powerful man in the White House. But outside Washington, few even recognize his name.

W. Dennis Thomas was a White House lobbyist who had worked at the Treasury Department when Donald T. Regan headed that agency. When Regan took over as White House chief of staff earlier this year, Thomas was regarded by some as a likely candidate for promotion.

But in May, the 41-year-old former congressional aide jumped ship. He left the relative obscurity of his job as one of the president's men on Capitol Hill to accept a lucrative partnership in the international accounting firm of Touche Ross.

The scuttlebutt was that he would be making $200,000 a year plus assorted fringe benefits and bonuses while handling government relations for the firm which had been looking for someone to fill that job for nearly two years.

A colleague, Cindy Cipriani, said that Thomas "was very well respected in a position of leadership and high visibility" at Touche Ross. "People work for years and years to become a partner, and partners rarely come from the outside," she said.

David A. Brody, a longtime Washington lobbyist, recalled that he ran into Thomas on the street shortly after the former White House aide left government.

"For once I've got time on my hands," Brody remembers Thomas saying.

But the new executive lasted only 2½ months in his first-ever non-government post. On July 15, the day doctors discovered President Reagan had colon cancer, the White House press office distributed a routine personnel announcement to reporters gathered at Bethesda Naval Hospital, where Reagan was a patient.

He's not deputy chief of staff yet, but I bet he will be. All Regan had before was a staff saying, 'Yessir, Yessir, Yessir.' A White House aide.

The president announced today his intention to appoint W. Dennis Thomas as assistant to the president," the statement said.

Most presidential aides have two titles, one showing rank, the other describing one's job. Regan, for instance, is assistant to the president and chief of staff. Larry Speakes is assistant to the president and principal deputy press secretary. Linda Chavez is deputy assistant to the president and director of public liaison.

But Thomas has only one title — and that one is misleading. Although he is assistant to the president, his real function is to serve as a key aide and adviser to Chief of Staff Regan, who brought him back into the White House at about one-third of what he reportedly was making at Touche Ross.

"He's not deputy chief of staff yet, but I bet he will be," said one White House aide, describing Thomas' new role on condition he not be identified. "All Regan had before was a staff saying, 'Yessir, Yessir, Yessir.'"

"Now, he has someone who can advise him on policy, who can tell him what will fly and what won't."

Hiring Thomas also constituted an indirect admission that the staff structure Regan established last winter just wasn't working very well.

La educacion bilingue triunfa

Por LUIS RIOS

Escritor

Ya se supo la verdad sobre la cuestion de la educacion bilingue en las escuelas americanas.

La cuestion siempre ha sido: "Es necesario enseñar a los estudiantes (ninos) en español en este tiempo cuando se habla tanto el ingles?"

Y hasta de mexicanos, nosotros mismos nos hacemos esta pregunta. Parece que los ninos de hoy ya no saben español. El ingles se habla por la mayoria de los hogares. Verdad?

Las escuelas en tejas han combatido la educacion bilingue. Hay varios maestros que dicen que si enseñan a los ninos en español y ingles no van a aprender tanto como los demas de los estudiantes.

Y luego salen con que "Ya estamos en los estados unidos y aqui se habla el ingles."

Los idiotas. Pues tambien se habla el español.

En un reporte por el Dallas Morning News salio que 4.5 millones de estudiantes en los estados unidos hablan tan poco ingles que no pueden aprender las lecciones.

Y de esos 4.5 millones de estudiantes, la mayoria son de tejas y california. Y mas de 90 por ciento son hispanos.

El estudio por esa prensa tambien reporta que nomas hay 158,000 maestros que estan registrados para enseñar en bilingue.

Un estudiante de Pan American University aqui en tejas dijo que le ofrecieron $6,000 mas de sueldo que los mas de maestros para que enseñaran en una escuela. Y todavia no se recibe de maestro!

Las escuelas secundarias (high school) estan ofreciendoles a sus estudiantes cuatro años en una universidad gratis para que tomen clases para poder enseñar en bilingue.

En tejas, por ley se tienen que enseñar en bilingue si un grado de escuela tiene 20 o mas estudiantes que no saben mucho ingles.

En tejas tambien la ley manda que las escuelas deben enseñar en bilingue a sus estudiantes antes que entren al primer grado (pre-school).

Es la ley. Pero no es decir que los maestros americanos que no tienen la capacidad para enseñar en español y ingles pueden entender eso.

Y por esa misma razon se escribe este articulo en español. Hasta luego.

Opiniones expresadas en este articulo son ideas del autor y no reflejan las ideas de la administracion de esta prensa.

Dear Abby

Donor wants to share kidney

DEAR ABBY: I am a healthy 27-year-old male and have carried an organ donor card since I was 16. However, it seems a shame that I must die before my kidneys can help someone.

With so many people desperate for a kidney, why can't a living person donate one to a stranger? I would be happy to give one of my kidneys to help a person lead a normal life.

Do you know of anyone who would consider a gift of life from the living?

ANONYMOUS IN WISCONSIN
DEAR ANONYMOUS: I contacted the National Kidney Foundation and was advised that the success rate of kidney transplants from unrelated donors is no higher than the transplants donated at death.

On the other hand, living donors put themselves at a small but potential risk should they lose the function of their remaining kidney through accident or illness. For this reason they do not encourage unrelated, living kidney donations.

Bless you for your exceptional generosity.

Individuals wishing to become organ donors upon death can indicate their willingness to do so on their driver's licenses or call or write their local National Kidney Foundation affiliate, or National Kidney Foundation Inc., 2 Park Ave., New York, N.Y. 10016, for a Uniform Organ Donor Card.

DEAR ABBY: I've been going with this man for a year and a half. He's 61 and I'm 58. His wife has been dead for two and a half years and my husband died nine years ago.

He rarely takes me anywhere where we will bump into people he knows, and if he does meet someone he knows when I'm with him, he is very slow to introduce me. He just leaves me standing there. Once he tried to pass me off as a "cousin."

I like him more than I should, but I don't like the way he treats me. I am a neat, clean person and I have good manners, but he acts like he's ashamed to be seen with me.

I would like a future with this man, but he won't commit himself.

His idea of a nice evening is for him to bring the fixings to my place and have me make supper for him. Then he likes to "play house," which is the only time he says he loves me. When we first met he told me we would be "together" one day. But when?

How can I get a commitment out of this man?

GETTING NOWHERE

IN IOWA

DEAR GETTING NOWHERE: You can't. Maybe he intends for you to be "together" in heaven. Tell him you can't wait that long, and give him a deadline.

(Every teen-ager should know the truth about sex, drugs and how to be happy. Dr. Donohue

Cold thyroid nodule a concern

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: During a physical exam I was told that I had a cold thyroid nodule by my internist. He didn't seem concerned. I have a friend who is a surgeon. He wants to remove the nodule. He said many are malignant. I would like to know what the symptoms would be and if it is harming my body. Is it possible the thing could sit there and never cause a problem? — Mrs. L.H.

I presume you had a scan of the gland for that is how a cold nodule is found. Radioactive material put into the person's body to do such a scan is ultimately absorbed into thyroid tissue. If there is a nodule on the gland and if the nodular tissue doesn't absorb the radioactive material it is called a cold nodule. Rather than being visualized on the scan the nodule appears as a void, a kind of hole in the gland. A cold nodule, as your surgeon friend told you, can be cancerous, so it has to be investigated.

Exactly what step lies ahead depends on many variables. Sometimes an ultrasound examination of the gland is done. That helps tell the difference between a benign cyst and a cancerous growth. Fine-needle aspiration of nodule cells can be done for microscopic examination. Sometimes the gland is biopsied.

Symptoms are not reliable indicators. Usually there are none unless the nodule is making the same hormones produced by the rest of the healthy gland tissue. I can only encourage you to pursue this toward an evaluation of your cold nodule.

Your thyroid plays a critical health role — in everything from eyesight to fertility. The booklet "Your Thyroid: How It Works for You" explains this important, and misunderstood, gland. To get a copy, enclose one dollar and a long, stamped self-addressed envelope to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Woman of Year luncheon slated in Lubbock

Lee Bluemel, district III vice president of the American Business Women's Association will be the speaker for the Woman of the Year luncheon Saturday at the Holiday Inn Civic Center in Lubbock.

Reservations can be made by contacting Brenda Taylor, 5512 69th St., Lubbock, Texas, 79424. Tickets are $8.

Scouts attend Jamboree

Boy Scouts Kevin Gorham of Troop 5 and Robert Buck of Troop 401 are attending the 1985 National Scout Jamboree. The event began yesterday and will continue through Tuesday at Fort A.P. Hill near Fredericksburg, Va.

"The Spirit Lives on" is the theme for the 11th national jamboree. More than 30,000 scouts, adult leaders and supporting staff are attending.

Gorham is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dilvan Gorham, 1211 E. 19th. Buck is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Buck, Gail Route.

The two left July 19 and will return Aug. 2. They toured sites in Washington, D.C. and Philadelphia before the Jamboree began.

While providing a showcase for Scouting to celebrate its 75th anniversary, the main emphasis is to offer scouts an opportunity to learn leadership and program ideas.

The boys will participate in "many, many Scout skill type-of things from computer science to aquatics," said Phil Corbin, district scout executive for the Buffalo Trail Council which includes 18 West Texas counties. Thirty-six boys and six adults from the council are attending.

The Jamboree is held once every four years. It's a once in a lifetime thing that a boy can participate in as a boy," said Corbin.

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JULY 26, 1985

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Although some condition of a business or routine nature requires more than average attention during the early part of the day, you will be able to handle it.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Know what the expectations of him are and try to please them. Show that you are a devoted family member.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A family tie and one in the outside world can pose a problem today, but don't take it seriously. Discuss it calmly.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) The morning starts slowly at work, but later picks up speed and you gain much efficiency. Look for a monetary windfall.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Forget that expensive entertainment plan you have in mind and be content with whatever you can afford.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Be more concerned with the needs of your family and try to please them. You can have a fine time with them in the evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Don't be so concerned with minutiae that you lose sight of the big issues that are more important and profitable.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't let a friend take you away from important business at hand, and later confer with a bigwig who can be of assistance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Keep out of the public eye today and avoid some kind of criticism trended your way. Delve into practical interests.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't involve yourself in an argument between a partner and a bigwig, but keep busy at practical affairs.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Use only your best judgment in important matters since your hunches could be way off base now. Be careful in expenditures.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Some situation may arise that could tempt you to act in a startling fashion, but refrain and get busy at practical affairs.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Be off to the interesting new outlets that appeal to you and do very little dull work, since you can gain your aspirations today.

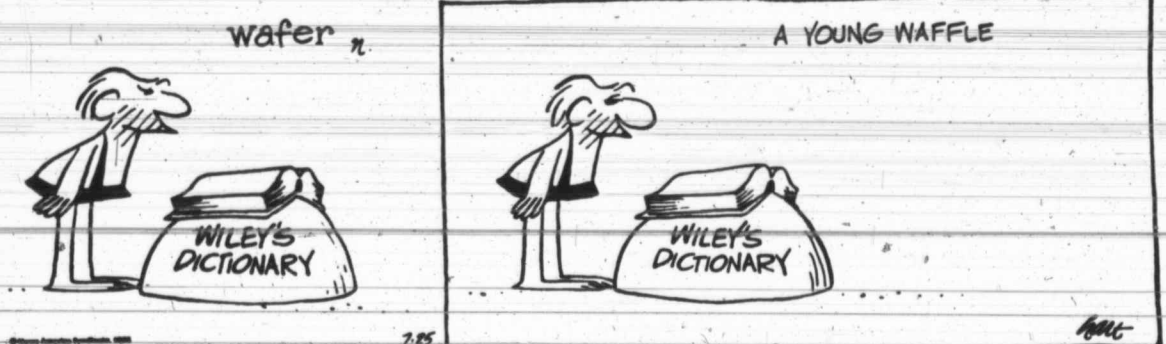

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will constantly be on the lookout to make new friends, so be sure to teach to be more discriminating, otherwise some powerful persons could put fear into your progeny and stunt the natural growth.

AUSTIN — Three people from Big Spring received degrees from the University of Texas at Austin after completing the 1985 spring semester.

Steven Lee Hughes of 1506 Tucson was awarded his doctor of jurisprudence degree and Beverly Ann Wheeler of 1707 Harvard received bachelor of science in education degree.

Misty Eileen J. Jones of 1704 Harvard was also awarded a bachelor of science degree in radio-television-film by the College of Communication at the university.

ALPINE — William Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Taylor of 1212 Lindberg, was named to the Dean's List at Sul Ross State University for the 1985 spring term.

Taylor, one of 217 students to make the honor roll, had a grade point average of 4.00. Undergraduate students must be enrolled for 12 or more semester hours and maintain a grade point average of 3.3 or better to be named to the list.

GARDEN CITY — Two Glasscock County 4-H members were awarded scholarships at the 1985 Texas 4-H Round-Up held in June.

Stephanie Frerich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Frerich of Garden City, received the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo Scholarship of $8,000.

She plans to attend Texas A&M University in College Station this fall.

Douglas Hoelscher, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Hoelscher of Garden City, received the San Antonio Livestock Exposition Scholarship of $6,000.

He plans to attend Tarleton State University.

DALLAS — John Lipscombe of Big Spring was one of three St.

Mary's University of Law students who won second place in the annual state moot court competition held during the State Bar Association meeting in Dallas this summer.

The competition is sponsored by the Texas Young Lawyers Association. Lipscombe placed with his partners David Bright of Corpus Christi and Dana Lester of San Antonio by appealing the case of an attorney-client convicted of driving while intoxicated. The mock appeal was based on the claim that there had been an unreasonable search and seizure in the client's arrest.

Lipscombe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lipscombe of 2404 Alledale. He graduated from Big Spring High School in 1974 and the University of Texas at Austin in 1980, where he received a degree in government.

ANDERSON, Ind. — Deanna Smock of 608 West 15th was named to the Dean's List at Anderson College for the 1985 spring semester.

The junior received the honor after earning a grade point average of 3.5 or higher on a 4.0 scale.

HOUSTON — Brenda Burleson of Clear Lake City and formerly of Big Spring received a bachelor of science degree in Consumer Science and Home Economics Education from the University of Houston after completing the 1985 spring semester.

She is a member of the Phi Upsilon Honor Sorority and will be teaching at Webster Intermediate School in the Clear Creek Independent School District this fall.

Burleson, daughter of Janie Baker and daughter-in-law of Wayne and Eleanor Burleson, both of Big Spring, is a 1986 graduate of Big Spring High School.

COLLEGE STATION — Kresha D. Caldwell, junior civil engineering major from Big Spring has earned "Distinguished Student" status at Texas A&M University.

As a recipient of the honor, Caldwell earned at least a 3.25 grade point average on a 4.0 scale for 15 semester hours.

COLLEGE STATION — Reagan Brent Brooks of Coahoma, a senior animal science major, was named to the Dean's Honor Roll at Texas A&M University.

Thursday
Notes

By Steve Belvin

For you sports fans who haven't been out to Roy Anderson Complex to view the 1985 United Girls Softball Association National Tournament, you are missing a treat. Some of the finest young softball players in the country have been putting on a good show for the local people.

While on the subject of the UGSA tourney, I tip my hat to tournament chairman Jackie Thomason and the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp Jaycees. These fellows, plus a whole lot more, worked long hours Monday and Tuesday in order to get some very wet fields in playing shape for the tournament.

A job well done men!

Big Spring's two semi-pro baseball teams, the Cardinals and Oilers, will meet in a crucial doubleheader Sunday at 1:30 p.m. at Jack Barber Field, home of the Howard College Hawks.

The Cardinals (21-5) have already clinched the Eastern Division Texas-New Mexico League and are in the playoffs. The Oilers (14-12) need a win to insure them of a playoff berth in the Western Division.

The only time these two teams met, they split a doubleheader. So if it's good baseball action you want, go out Sunday and watch these two fine teams go at it.

The Howard College Summer Day Basketball Camp will be held Aug. 10 for girls and Aug. 17 for boys.

The one-day camps will be conducted at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum and are open to youth ages 8-17 who haven't played basketball on a varsity level. Cost is $26 per person with a $6 deposit to insure a spot in the camp.

The camp will last from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. Deadline to enter is July 31. To register call Howard College at 267-6311 ext. 315 between 7 a.m. and 5:30 p.m.

The All-American Men's Slow-Pitch Softball Tournament will be held July 26-27 at Johnny Stone Memorial Park. Entry fee is $100 per team. Today is the last day to enter. The first six teams will receive team trophies while the top four teams will receive individual and team trophies. There will be 12 All-Tournament selections, two Sportsmanship Awards, one Most Valuable Player and one Golden Glove award. To enter call Rocky Viera at 267-7773.

Odessa Grey holds
off Div. III 'Stars, 9-5By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Writer

The Odessa Grey Division III All-Stars put together two good innings and it was enough to defeat the Big Spring All-Stars 9-5 last night in the United Girls Softball Association National Tournament play.

The Odessa team scored eight of their nine runs in the third and fourth inning. That, coupled with six-hitter by Odessa pitcher Shannon Wilson, Kelly Burrows and Amy Moore, was enough to spell doom for Big Spring.

Burrows, who was the second pitcher for Odessa, took the win. She went three-and-two-thirds innings, allowed one run on three hits.

Cheryl Alcantar took the loss for Big Spring. She went the distance but was plagued by 12 Odessa hits.

Big Spring scored first as it pushed across two runs in the top of the second inning. The only hit was a single by Alcantar. Her hit brought in Tonya Brown, who had walked.

Alcantar later scored when Odessa starter Wilson walked in a run.

Odessa rallied for three runs in the bottom of the third. It was a miserable inning for Big Spring as it committed two errors, letting in two unearned runs. The big blow as a triple by Burrow.

Odessa padded its lead to 8-2 in the fourth stanza. They banged out five hits and sent nine batters to the plate. Jeannie White, Cindy Morgan, Leesa Bolden and Missy Dickman all singled in the inning. Burrow added a run-scoring triple.

Big Spring scratched for two runs in the top of the fifth inning without getting a hit. Shortstop Katrina Thompson walked, stole second and went to third on a throwing error. She scored when Alcantar grounded out to second. Also scoring on the play was Lisa Alvarez, who had walked.

Each team scored one more run before the game ended. Odessa scored in the sixth when Burrow doubled and scored on a throwing error. The final Big Spring tally came in the seventh when Thompson got a infield hit and later scored on a throwing error by the pitcher.

Burrow, Dickman and Richter were the top hitter for Odessa. First baseman Richter went three-for-four and scored two runs. Dickman went two-for-three, scored three times and drove in a run. Burrow went two-for-four, scoring two runs and driving in two.

DIVISION I

In Division I Odessa Red emerged as the team to beat. The Odessa team drummed Abilene North 22-13 and came back that night and downed Big Spring 32-2. Abilene North won its second game, a 15-13 decision over Jal, New Mexico.

Other scores were Clyde 18, Jal 8; Mt. Pleasant 25, Monahans 24 and Mt. Vernon 13, Midland Blue 10.

Division II

Midland Blue pitcher Becky Duran fired a one-hitter as her team downed Big Spring 8-1. Tessa Olague got the nly hit for Big Spring.

In other games it was Sweetwater 10, Snyder 6; Midland Blue 11, Denison 3; Mt. Pleasant 8, Lovington 5; Mt. Vernon 14, Odessa Red 11 and Denison 15, Snyder 8.

Division III

Abilene North split games yesterday. The lost 19-8 to Odessa Grey and nipped Andrews 13-11. In the other game Abilene South drummed Snyder 15-1.

Division IV

Odessa Black flexed its muscles by whitewashing Snyder 19-0. Big Spring evened its record to 1-1 by defeating Snyder 10-5.

Debra Rubio, Monette Wise and Lisa Dominguez all got two hits for Big Spring.

Roman named Rodeo Queen

Cowgirls ride well in AJRA

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Writer

Tracy Jo Green and Colleen Fowler had the best performances of any local riders in the first night of competition of the 40th Annual Big Spring American Junior Rodeo Association Rodeo at the Big Spring Rodeo Bowl.

The nine-year-old Green, competing in the barrel race for cowgirls under 12, had the second-best time of the night. Her time of 19.46 followed only Sonny Cowden of Crane. Cowden's time was 19.07.

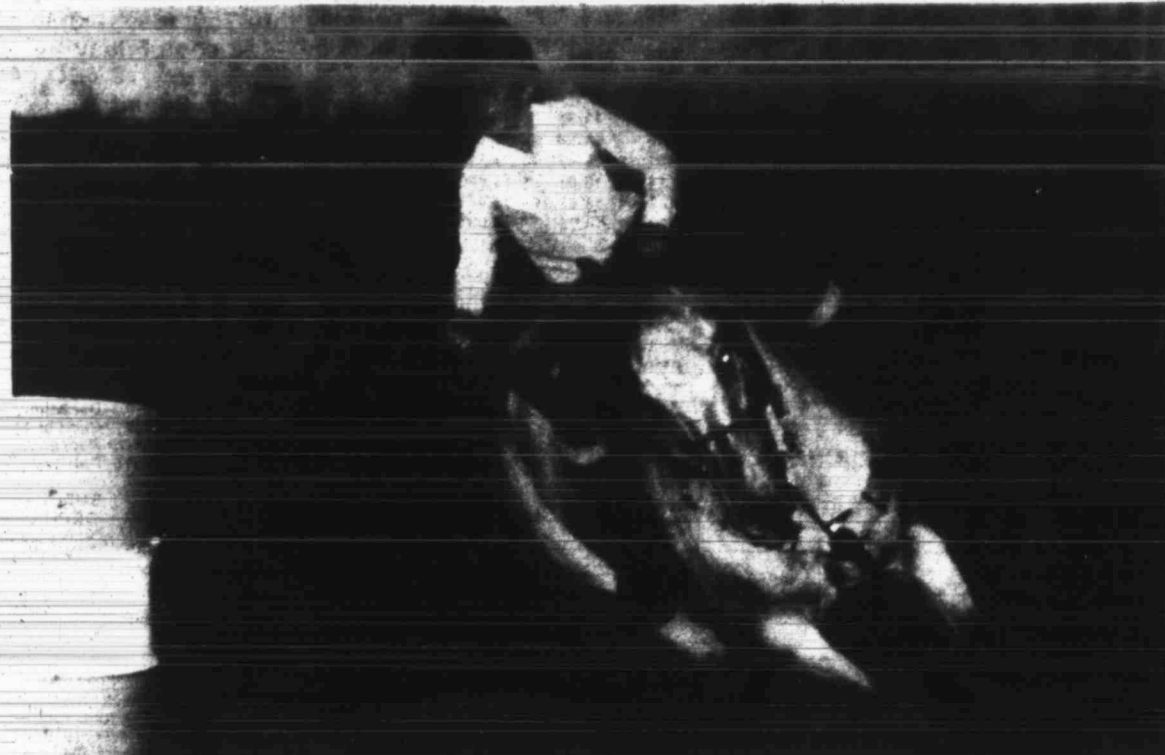

Highlighting the first night of the rodeo was the grand entrance, led by AJRA Rodeo Queen Kim Roman. At nine, she was the youngest of all seven contestants. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Roman of Forsan.

Fowler, competed in the barrel race event for cowgirls 13-15. The 15-year-old Big Spring cowgirl had the second best time of the night in the event. She finished with a clocking of 18.53. Jennifer Farmer of Big Lake came away with the best ride. Her time was 17.13.

Another Big Lake rider also had a good opening night. In the cowboys ages 12 and under competition, Tony Farmer fared well in the breakaway roping and barrel race.

Farmer had the best time in breakaway (3.8) and second-best in the barrels. His time of 18.95 followed Sweetwater's Justin Hester, who recorded a time of 18.22.

In the bull riding for cowboys 16-19, Jim Sharp of Kermit had the top ride of the night. The Kermit cowboy recorded a score of 65 for his efforts. Chip Northcut of Colorado City and ex-Garden City football player J.J. Caswell also participated in the event.

In the breakaway roping event for ages 13-15, Oklahoma cowboy Marty Wells came away with top honors. The Sulphur native was timed in 2.9. Jim Phillips of Iraan was second in 3.3 and Jamie Smith of Zephyr finished third in 3.5.

In the breakaway for cowgirls 16-19, Tanna Mahoney of Alpine finished first in 4.1.

Other top performances were turned in by Stephanie Weaver of Snyder in the barrels for cowgirls 16-19. Weaver recorded a time of 17.58.

Justin Hester of Sweetwater was tops in the cowboys under 12 ribbon roping. His time was 18.5.

In the barrel race for cowgirls eight and under, Jennifer Smith of Zephyr was first in 17.47. She was followed by Sunny Cowden of Crane in a time of 18.89.

Rodeo action will kick off again tonight at 7:30 p.m. with the grand entrance led by rodeo queen Roman.

Two local teams in sub-sectional finals

CLYDE — The Big Spring Junior League All-Stars moved into the championship game of the Sub-Sectional Tournament by taking a 6-4 come-from-behind victory over Lubbock Dixie.

The win propels Big Spring into the finals of the double elimination tourney against Big County East. Big Spring will have to beat Big Country East two times to claim the championship.

The first five innings of the contest was a scoreless pitcher's duel between Big Spring's Sammy Carillo and Dixie hurler Mark Hernandez. But Dixie erupted for four runs in the top of the sixth.

Big Spring roared back with six runs in the bottom half of the inning. Hernandez, who had limited Big Spring to one hit going into the inning, had control problems and walked the bases full.

Next Robert Perez walked, bringing home the first Big Spring run. Dixie pulled Hernandez from the game and inserted Mike Ansel. Ansel walked the first batter Danny Whitaker, scoring another run.

MIKE DODD drives in three runs for Big League Stars

Next Eric Torres bunted and this scored another run, narrowing the margin to 4-3. Two more Big Spring runs scored on a error, giving Big Spring the lead for the first time in the game. The final tally scored on a single by Lance Newell.

Dixie got a run to third base in the top of the seventh with two outs. But Carrillo popped the next batter up, ending the game and propelling Big Spring into the finals game.

Big Spring and Big Country East will meet at 5:30 p.m. today.

Big Spring 13, San Angelo Western 2

ABILENE — The Spring Spring Senior League All-Stars rode the four-hit pitching of Chad Wash and defeated San Angelo Western 13-2.

Power was the name of the game for Big Spring as it belted out five home runs. The fifth inning was a big inning as Big Spring scored eight runs and put the game out of reach at 12-1.

Byron McElreath carried the hot bat for Big Spring, banging out two homers. One came in the first inning and one was in the fifth stanza. The big blow in the fifth inning was a three-run shot by Robert Rodriguez.

Brian Mayfield and Lee Morris also homered for the Big Spring All-Stars.

Lubbock Dixie 6, Big Spring 4
The Senior Leaguers were eliminated from the tournament in the night game as they lost to Lubbock Dixie by a score of 6-4.

Big Spring never led in the game. Dixie took a 2-0 lead after the first inning, stretched it to 4-0 after three, until Big Spring rallied for three runs in the bottom of the third.

Big Spring tied the game up in the sixth. But Dixie came back in the top of the seventh.

Kevin Kerr reached base on a error. Chad Pierce scored him on a single, giving Dixie a one-run lead. The next batter, Keith Mann hit beat out an infield hit and Big Spring pitcher Aaron Allen threw the ball away, allowing Pierce to score with the final Dixie run.

Big Spring 10, Abilene 8
ABILENE — The Big Spring Big League All-Stars pulled off a big upset last night as they handed Abilene a 10-8 loss.

The Big Spring win came with Abilene fireballer Terry Suggs on the mound. Suggs lasted five innings, allowing eight runs on five hits, six walks and fanning eight.

Abilene took a 2-0 lead after two innings of play. Big Spring added three runs in the third. Tommy Gartman was hit by a pitch, Lance Soles reached on an error and pitcher Sammy Watson got an infield hit. Next Mike Dodd banged out a triple, scoring all three runs and giving Big Spring a lead it would never lose.

Abilene cut the margin to 5-4 but Big Spring rallied for five more runs in the fifth, giving them an insurmountable 10-4 lead.

Abilene rallied for four runs, but it was too little, too late.

Watson went the distance for Big Spring, scattering out nine hits.

Big Spring will meet Abilene for the championship tonight at 7.
