Two persons were killed and one other received serious though not fatal injuries in a head-on automobile collision last Saturday night, 24 miles east of Lamesa on the Gail Highway.

Frank Spurrier, 21, of Breckenridge, died in a short time after the accident, and his cousin, Coy Spurrier, 20, also of Breckenridge, died Sunday as a result of injuries received. S. F. His other two daughters, and Melba Nance, were not injured.

L. Berry Builds Modern Dairy Barn

L. Berry, local dairyman, has just completed the construction of one of the most modern and up-to-date dairy barns to be found in West Texas. According to Mr. Berry, all requirements of a Standard Grade A Milk Ordinance are complied with.

The barn is a modern structure, size 24 by 40 feet with plenty of window space and screened fly proof throughout. An Electric Westinghouse Cooling System has been installed which provides ample refrigeration for the storage of milk. The cooling system also manufactures ice at the rate of 150 pounds a day which is used in keeping the milk cool while making deliveries. An Aerator, cooled by pumping brine from the cooling system is used to cool the milk immediately after milking. By cooling the milk immediately after the milking operation the bacteria are prohibited from forming thus insuring the customer a higher grade of milk. Modern electric bottle washing equipment has been installed and all cans and bottles are thoroughly sterilized by steam before using.

The milking room is modern in every respect, having a row of stalls on each side and can accommodate ten cows at a time. All sanitary requirements are met with, even to the extent of installing a large 22 inch fan which blows the flies off the cows when entering the barn. Cows cannot approach the barn closer than fifty feet except at milking time and a concrete walk is provided for that purpose.

Fine Rain Received In Dawson County

A timely and badly needed rain fell in Dawson county early Tuesday morning bringing joy to the farmers of this section as well as town people. The rain fell averaged from 1-2 to more than inch over the entire county according to reports.

The east side of the county is reported to have received the lightest rainfall. Growing crops have been materially aided especially feed, which at this time in many instances is heading out and maturing grain. The additional moisture will greatly improve the yield as well as the quality. Young cotton will be greatly benefitted also and rapid growth is predicted by informed persons with the crop carried well along to maturity by the available moisture at this time. Prospects in all parts of the county for a bumper crop are the brightest in years, and an all time record in production is predicted.

A. C. Tune, 53, was instantly killed early last Saturday morning when struck by an automobile near Ackerly. The accident happened several miles southeast of Ackerly on Highway No. 9.

M. H. Atwood of Abilene, driver of the car that hit Tune, told authorities at Big Spring who investigated the accident, that Tune appeared on the highway, gesturing for him to stop. He said he steered his machine to the far side of the road in an effort to miss Tune, but that he walked on into the path of the car. Officers, holding the accident unavoidable, said Tune possibly was in a dazed condition as a result of his own car overturning only a short while before.

After freeing himself from the wreck of his own car, he apparently was attempting to hail a ride into Lamesa, it was reported. He was about 100 yards from his own machine when struck by the Atwood automobile.

Mr. Atwood, accompanied by A. A. Williams of near Baird, was enroute to Lamesa to attend funeral rites for a kinsman, Lee Clements.

"SEIBERLING SEALED-AIR TUBE

Saved Us From Serious Accident"

SAYS: Karl R. Fogle.

Here's How It Works

When a nail or other object punctures the tube and is withdrawn, the plastic gum fuses together and the hole is gone forever.

A. Outer wall of the tube.
B. Cured partitions of rubber which hold adhesive gum in place.
C. Soft puncture-sealing adhesive gum.
D. Cured rubber inner tube wall.

While in Vancouver we drove up Mount Hood to an elevation of 6,000 feet. We came down on a narrow winding road constructed of crushed rock. At many places, on our left, was a drop of hundreds of feet into the canyon. As we left this road and ran on to the Tarvia road, we noticed a slight thump. Stopping to investigate, we found that at some point on this crushed rock road a sharp rock had pierced the casing on the left front wheel, making an incision of about three inches in length, also cutting the Seiberling SEALED-AIR tube and the sealing compound in the tube had formed a coating over the cut in the tire and was sealing both tube and casing. We realized then and there that the Seiberling SEALED-AIR tube had saved our lives.

(Signed) "Karl R. Fogle,
"St. Petersburg, Florida."

SEIBERLING SEALED-AIR TUBES DON'T GO FLAT!

Some tubes go flat slowly. Some tubes go flat instantly, but Seiberling SEALED-AIR tubes, when punctured, don't go flat at all.

In fact Seiberling engineers have driven more than 2,500 miles into a tire equipped with a Seiberling SEALED-AIR tube and yet the tire did not go flat.

Come in today and let us demonstrate this patented tube. The most successful puncture-sealing tube on the market today. It can save your life, too!

Very pale of face, Patricia laid the letters upon her desk without looking at the rest of her mail or even opening the presents.

All along she had realized that Craig's world and her world were hopelessly sundered. Her family was rich; and of the highest social order.

Near seven o'clock she saw a candle glow and knew Craig was awake. She went over, a little later; found him dressed and getting ready to leave.

Craig looked into her eyes, searching. "Treeshia", he asked, "what's wrong?"

"Why—why nothing, Craig," she denied, but she turned away, to the tea things in the cupboard, in order to escape his sharp glance.

"You", Warren said solemnly. "I've got a little communication for you, Tarlton. Would you mind stepping across to the den?"

"That's what the injunction says, Treeshia. Warren used Rosalie as a tool. Rosalie is back in Vancouver, as you said. She's broke. Worse than broke. She's thousands in debt.

"The law can do anything, Treeshia. This injunction sounds preposterous, but from a legal viewpoint it's perfectly valid. The substance of the court order is that your influence and your association with me are depriving Rosalie of her established rights.

Halfway through the drogue they ran across a trail that stopped Craig short, a trail made by several men wearing snowshoes and walking in single file.

One glance told him that the party were not Indians. Their racquets were not Tinnex bear-paws but ordinary trading-store egg-tails.

That was all he could glean. "Who d'you suppose they were, Craig?" Patricia asked.

Craig suspected that this trail might have been made by the six Chiwaughimis. The half-breeds might have shadowed his party away from Dynamite Bay and might have been hovering around Kessler Hill to see what was going on.

On a high ridge four miles down country he stopped and glanced back across his route, searching it sharply for distant moving objects.

Except for finishing those last two corners and nailing the metal notices on all twenty posts, the Kessler job was done. In a couple of hours her party would break camp, with nothing remaining but to record the claims at the government land office.

Patricia hated the thought of going home. That dreaded injunction had probably reached the Bay by now; and when Corporal Northrup read the document to Craig and her, it would mean an abrupt end to all association between them.

That was why she had suddenly decided to come along on this trip—so that she and Craig might have a few days together before the law said to them, "Ye shall not."

The rank injustice of that court order filled her with a raging helpless fury. How could the law be so monstrously unjust as to give a spendthrift and adulterous woman a club over Craig? After squandering the fortune which Craig had handed her and breaking her promise to get a divorce, Rosalie was now coming to Dynamite Bay, backed up by the law, to mock Craig take care of her, to spike his reputation among those men and harass him with her vindictive spite.

On the taut frozen air Patricia could distinctly hear Craig and Kessler talking, though they were a good two-thirds of a mile away.

"I've got the notices printed." "That's fine. Thanks girl." He turned to Kessler. "You go and get 'em, Phil, while I finish this stake here."

"I wish I was rich. But seems like 'here's a joker to everything." "Why, what's the joker to this gold strike? Up there the lode is. You've seen Craig's tonnage estimate and the assay figures."

"Yet but I won't get one red cent out of the hundred thousand bucks that the Vanguard'll put up. Craig intends to use it all for these other fellows."

"Kessler stepped into the near tent for nails and belt-ax and went out the slope to join the others."

"As Patricia looked up and met Craig's eyes, she realized that he was making this arrangement because of her—because he saw how desperately she wanted to spin out the little freedom that remained to them."

While the men were striking the tents, Craig put his pack and hers on a little hand-toboggan, and gave some final orders to Poleon.

In an hour they came to the first stance of trees, a drogue of black spruce in a sheltered valley. Inside the timber, where the gales were broken, the snow was soft; and they had to put on their racquets.

That was all he could glean. "Who d'you suppose they were, Craig?" Patricia asked.

for the old prospector had two other men staying with him that winter.

They hit resurrection a mile above Indian creek, swung out up its level hard snow, and hurried down stream.

"Hep yerself to ennything Ed got his hand all tore up by a mercury cap an Zeke and me are taking him in fer Tarlton to ficks him up. The caribou jerky is up in the rafter box, and don't forget to split new kindling wud befor you go."

Somewhat dismayed, Craig handed the note to Patricia. "They've gone in to the Bay! To see me! I guess we'll have to drop on down to Hark Dawson's."

"Patricia glanced at the scrawl, looked up at him. "Why do we have to, Craig? It's so far to Dawson's. I'm tired, it's almost night now, and the wind is blowing so bad. Why can't we stay here?"

"All right, we stay here tonight, sweet." "When he had lit the candle and got a fire going, he took the water bucket and started down to the river, to the hole which Higginson kept open in the ice."

Out of sight of the cabin, he set the bucket beside the path, hurried up the trail to the first bend, crouched down in a juniper clump, and waited, searching the frozen Resurrection and the dark woods on either bank.

In the thickening gloom he lay in the juniper thicket as long as he dared without alarming Patricia by his absence. He saw nothing whatever. The river and woods were silent, empty.

They had eaten supper, Craig had unrolled Patricia's sleeping poke on the bunk, and spread his own on the floor beside the stove.

Craig sat on the bunk edge, leaning over her, one arm under her shoulder, his other hand smoothing her silky hair. In quiet tones he was telling her of a huge project which had slowly taken shape within him since New Year's; and by the feeble light of the candle Patricia saw his eyes narrow and his lean jaw harden as he sketched his daring ambition.

Listening in dreamy comfort, she caught the general outlines of the startling and ambitious project that Craig was sketching. He intended, he said, to weld those 300 Resurrection men together into a syndicate, a rich and powerful company of prospectors.

This Vanguard money would hold them until next summer; and by that time he could raise additional money on a radium deposit which he knew about. With that capital he could bring in machinery and start active mining on several of the richest silver lodes.

Once he had the power of this Dynamite Bay syndicate behind him, he could then launch his real project, his big program. All along the fringing Canadian Mining frontier and all through the vast sub-artic territories there were hundreds and thousands of prospectors like Sam, like Bill Fornier—hardworking, penniless, good-hearted men. They were looting the bush, starving, freezing, fighting the wilderness. They did the pioneering, made the mineral discoveries, cleared the way. They had opened up the Flin-Flon, Cobalt and other rich fields. And then had lost them. Poor and helpless men, they had been prayed upon by wildcat promoters and unscrupulous companies who bought them out for a song. As Warren was trying to buy out these Dynamite Bay prospectors for a trip to Edmonton and a few miserable dollars.

"This scheme of mine, partner, or some plan along its general lines," Craig said, "would stop all that injustice. This Dynamite Bay syndicate would be a refuge to all those men. We could advance them capital on their worth-while claims, and they wouldn't have to take a beggar's choice

A chill had crept into the cabin, and the cherry-red glow had faded from the sides of the little sheet-iron stove. Whistling through the pines outside, the blizzard was spinning the surface snow into sheets and sending them dancing down the wind like wreaths.

Craig stood up, beside the bunk. "I'll stir a bit more fire, sweet." As he turned toward the stove his eyes caught a slight blurry movement at the small window to the right of the door. Only one pane of the four was glass; over the others Higginson had tacked squares of caribou skin. As Craig glanced at the little glass pane, he saw a human face pressed against it—the leather-dark countenance of a man who was staring into the cabin at Patricia and him.

The face was gone in an instant, gone before he could recognize the person; and the pane was empty again.

A jolt went through Craig like an electric shock. He did not need to recognize the man. In a flash he knew—the Chiwaughimis. They were out there, those six Manitobans, in the wind-torn dark.

A moment after the face vanished, he saw a gleam of rifle steel beyond the glass pane. It was a slow gleam—the glint of a rifle being leveled and aimed at him.

His hand shot out and smashed down on the candle, plunging the cabin into darkness.

Patricia sat up hastily on the bunk "Craig! Why'd you do that?"

He stepped across to the door, groped for the wooden bar, found it and slipped it into place so that the Chiwaughimis could not rush him. Something cold was clutching at his heart. Lupe had him at last, trapped in a lonely cabin, miles from any human

300 Texas Children Die Each Year Of Diphtheria Alone

Texas loses more than three hundred of its children each year from one preventable cause, according to State Health officer Geo. W. Cox. Diphtheria that ever present menace to children, was responsible in 1936 for 351 deaths.

No parent would allow his child to run in front of trains or automobiles, but many allow them to run the danger of contracting diphtheria. Prevention of diphtheria in children is a simple matter of inoculation with toxoid.

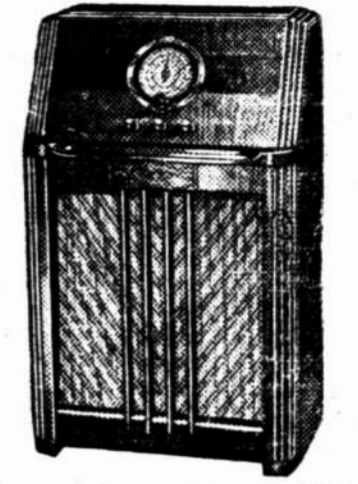

If you have a child six months old or more, take him to your family physician and ask to have a Shick test made to determine whether the child is susceptible or immune to diphtheria—for 75 to 90 per cent of children under twelve years of age are susceptible.

Information that as high as ninety per cent of all children under twelve are susceptible was gained from Shick tests carried out on thousands of children during the past decade, and indicates that young children should receive immunizing treatment against diphtheria without a preliminary Shick test. Such a test should, however, be carried out six months after preventive treatment, to make certain that immunity has been established. In older children and adults, a preliminary Shick test is advisable, since immunity may already be present.

Diphtheria immunization is accomplished by the injection of toxoid. Your physician can tell if the immunization was successful by giving you the Shick test four to six months after the last treatment of toxoid. It takes that long for protection to develop.

There is no guess work about toxoid, it is a safe and proven preventive. The wise and cautious parent will take his child to the family doctor now, before school opens, and have him protected against the danger of contracting diphtheria, by immunization with toxoid.

HOT WEATHER BLOW-OUT WARNING

Equip your car with Silvertowns, the only tires with Golden Ply Blow-out Protection
The next few months are going to be the hardest in the year on your tires. Because this is the time of year for long trips to the seashore and country—trips that pile up miles—take more out of tires than many months of driving in other seasons.
When you're speeding along at 30, 40 and 50, you can't be too sure of your tires. Unless your tires can stand the terrific heat generated inside all tires at these high speeds—unless they can "take it," this internal heat sooner or later may lead to a dangerous blow-out.
Play safe this summer. Come in and let us equip your car with Goodrich Safety Silvertowns. Silvertowns are the only tires in the world with the famous Golden Ply. This life-saving invention is a layer of special rubber and full-floating cords, scientifically treated to resist internal tire heat.
And when you have this protection inside your tires, the great unseen cause of blow-outs is beaten before it starts.
Yet think of it! These life-saving Silvertowns cost even less than other super-quality tires.

METHODIST NOTES

WELCH CIRCUIT

We conducted the funeral service of little Maxine Holden at Fairview Sunday at 10 a. m. She is the oldest child of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Holden of Welch. She was born December 29, 1927, and departed this life July 17, 1937. Her age was nine years six months and eighteen days. She was sick only about a week, was operated on for appendicitis, but never revived after the operation. She was a bright girl, and had a winning way. She won her way into hearts of all. Certainly she will be missed in the home but the home is not the only circle that she will be missed from. We all will miss her. We all wonder why she had to go. If we prove faithful to Jesus we will understand it better after awhile. The large number of people attending the funeral tells now the family stands in the estimation of the people. Personally we have learned to appreciate Mr. and Mrs. Holden and in this dark hour we are being drawn closer to them. We are praying that in some way we can be of service to them. We fully realize that our hands are too weak to give them comfort they need most, and we are asking them to look up to Him who is abundantly able to supply all their needs.
We went to Bartlett Sunday night. Had a nice audience and a pleasant service. Their Sunday school was good Sunday morning. A Baptist minister from Plainview begins a series of services there next Friday night, July 23. Our revival will begin there the second Sunday in August. Just two weeks. Meet us next Sunday at Welch at the morning hour. We are to finish discussion began two weeks ago "God's Chain of Blessings." Come hear the last part.

4-H CLUB RALLY HELD FRIDAY, JULY 16TH

Dawson county's first joint Boys' and Girls' 4-H Club Rally Day in recent years was held here last Friday, July 16th.

The day's program began at 8:30 a. m. with a thirty minute general assembly at the high school auditorium. Songs were sung and a short talk was given by Marie Duff of Klondike, president of the girls' clubs in this county, and by R. B. Wilkerson of Ballard, county boys' 4-H club president.

The girls' program for the morning included a make-up demonstration conducted by Mrs. Viola Caldwell, and a canning contest conducted by Miss Mattie Phenix, home demonstration agent.

L. C. Jennings of Dallas, field representative of National Cottonseed Crushers' Association conducted a discussion of the feeding of livestock, then he took the boys to Billingsley's shipping pens where the boys were given instruction in the judging of hogs.

The girls and boys again assembled in the auditorium at 11:30. A. C. Bearden of the Chamber of Commerce talked to the group on the importance of agriculture to Lamesa and Dawson County. L. H. Donnell of the Soil Conservation Service gave a discussion of the necessity for soil and moisture conservation and listed some of the most important methods used. H. Wilkowske, manager of the Kraft-Phenix Cheese plant discussed the growth and importance of dairying and cheese industry.

At one o'clock a chicken barbeque dinner was served to the club boys and girls in the gymnasium by the girls' club sponsors, assisted by Miss Sybil Mitchell, Russell Clark and Skeet Noret. After dinner games were played and pictures were made of the various boys' and girls' groups.

At three o'clock a free movie was given at the Majestic Theatre. The United States Department of Agriculture films, "Salt of the Earth" and "The Cicada" were shown. The Rally Day Program was closed with a swim at the city pool.

Range and Its Management

Bernis W. Carmichael
Assistant Range Examiner, Soil Conservation Service, Camp Technician, Lamesa, Texas

It is presupposed by many people not acquainted with the business of ranching that it is an enterprise of large profits, with an expenditure of a minimum amount of labor and investment. Such may have been the case several decades ago, when land was free, fences were unnecessary, and when the expenses of the State were such that demands on agricultural enterprises were few. The ranch business is necessarily a big business, requiring a large investment. It is a business of considerable risk, as reflected by the interest paid on loans for both livestock and land. It is subject to market trends which have played havoc with the status of the industry. It is directly influenced by weather conditions, drought always causing severe losses; and labor has become a serious problem. The combination of these factors gives causes for the most serious thinking; and although good profits are secured, they would appear to be earned.

Mr. Robert R. Lancaster in his article "One Hundred Years of Grazing in Texas," tells us in part the history of the ranges of West Texas. "In West Texas a century ago, we surmise there were a hundred million acres of almost treeless plains and prairies, from the Panhandle to the Rio Grande, from El Paso to the Coast. Early descriptions seem invariably to insist that uplands were free of woody growth of any kind save small bodies of live oak and some mesquite."

"Where prairie one maintained a climax and held all other plants in check, today it is covered with mesquite, cedar, scrub-oak, shinny, prickly pear, and a multitude of other shrubs, weeds, and weedy grasses, according to the locality.

"A century ago brush, prickly pear, weeds, and weedy grasses, were held in check by the hardy and aggressive perennial grasses. A complete covering of healthy, vigorous grass retained the rainfall, and less water was necessary to supply plant food from un-leached fertile soil. No muddy water from over-grazed eroding land deposited silt in soil crevices sealing them from adequate absorption. The heavy grassed prairies of yesterday were perfect reservoirs of spring water, and underground streams. Small branches of surface streams flowed the year-round. Swollen streams, following excessive rainfall, were freshets of clear water rather than floods of mud.

"Tender-foot stockmen seemed to think that the ranges had unlimited carrying capacity. Every section was stocked at its maximum capacity. Between 1880 and 1890 there was a cattle and land-travel year. Eighty-four

Resettlement Exhibit Draws Large Crowd

During the week of July 12-17 many people became better acquainted with the home supervisor's work in the Resettlement Administration. More than eight hundred people registered and were given an explanation of the exhibit in Collins' Dry Goods show window. Thirty-six Texas cities and five different states were represented in the registration. Due to the crowded condition at times, it was not possible to secure the name of everyone who viewed the exhibit, many others were omitted from the list that saw the exhibit during the evening hours.

The exhibit was designed primarily to give the general public first hand information concerning the type of work that is being done by Miss Gladys Wright among the Resettlement clients of Dawson and Gaines counties. The official seal of the organization formed the background for the various units of the display.

The "food preservation" group was placed directly in front and consisted of fruits and vegetables that have been canned this season. To the right, the "garden" unit, potatoes and onions of a very fine quality were featured; they were grown by Mrs. H. A. Makowsky. The "sanitation and cleanliness" group as well as the "home beautification" group were represented by helpful bulletins related to those lines of work. The "first aid" unit consisted of a cabinet made from an apricot box, its contents featured the minimum articles necessary for the average family. "Home crafts" formed the last unit on the extreme right; it was made up of a series of articles that make the home more attractive and convenient, such as, crocheted bed spread, rag rugs, end table and other small articles.

To the left and adjacent to the "food preservation" unit was the farm family record book. Each Resettlement family keeps a record of its income and expenditures in order to become a more systematic and thrifty spender. The "poultry" group proved to be most interesting; it included snapshots of Mrs. W. F. McKee's black Minorca flock, and T. M. Heard's rock chicken house. The rock for the structure was brought out of the canyons, the total cost being $11.90 for rafters and cement. The "child care" unit was made up of bulletins and a snap shot of Virginia Heard, the "Jinx Baby," her date of birth being Friday the 13th. "Health and Nutrition" was represented by bulletins and a poster appropriate to the group. "Clothing" was the last unit to the extreme left, the value of various types of sacks for household use being definitely demonstrated in making quilts and clothing. From the placard that labeled each of the 11 groups was a streamer of green paper that terminated in the middle of the Resettlement seal. The entire exhibit emphasized the home

A small admission of 10c per persons will be charged for these games to be played starting at 8 o'clock, between Hobbs and the Cosden Oilers, and Hobbs and Ragsdale in the second game.

Denton, July 26.—A complete black out—that's what this season is turning into. Even those who would not give in to the rage for black sheers at first will soon weaken or lose their places in the fashion sun.

For dinner (the kind you don't "dress" for), for luncheon parties, for bridge, for afternoon calls, for Sunday school, for the theatre, and for dates, the problem is solved by exactly one dress. Such a standby has to be ready for emergencies and should not be too easily wrinkled, and that's why the dark sheers have filled the need so satisfyingly.

One charming ensemble is a solid black sheer with a circular backed coat in carnation print design. Two huge carnations at the belt tie the coat and dress together.

Another picture of the more striking variety is achieved by the addition of a long, fitted, white linen coat to a dull sheer. Girls at Texas State College for Women who like to sport the "newest thing out" heartily approve of this combination.

Brown sheers have the same recommendations as the black, and one lovely tea dress features a long fitted coat in brown silk with painted white dots. A dressy effect is given by brown velvet ribbon trimmings. The V-neckline is handsomely decorated with two triangular pearl clips which are worn on the outside of the coat.

Taking the prize for the perkier outfit is a black marquisette embroidered with scarlet flowers. Bows and bindings are of red silk, and a darling little skull cap of black straw is trimmed with a red feather flower.

Mrs. Paul Cooper and children of Colorado, Texas, are here visiting her sister, Mrs. Ross McDonald.

Mrs. J. B. Tarleton Jr., underwent a major operation at Lubbock Sanitarium Monday morning. Late reports are that she is doing nicely.

supervisor's program in relation to the homes where she works.

It is felt that this one exhibit has done a great deal toward the purpose for which it was planned. Other features and exhibits have been outlined to further carry out the publicity program in the future.

Senator Connally Urges Farm Tenant Assistance

Washington, D. C. July 13.—Senator Tom Connally was active in aiding in the passage of the Farm Tenant Bill in the Senate last week. Not only did the Texas Senator advocate the passage of the Farm Tenant Bill, but he sought to amend the bill to provide additional money for land purchasing which would have meant land and homes for a larger number of tenants. The bill was passed, but without the Connally amendment. The bill calls for the placing of deservicing tenants upon their own land; the land to be amortized over a period not to exceed 60 years at a three percent rate of interest. Senator Connally expressed himself as strongly favoring the bill, but felt the sum of money authorized insufficient to substantially reduce the tenant problem. As passed the bill authorizes the appropriation of $10,000,000 the first year, $25,000,000 the second year and $50,000,000 the third year. The Connally amendment would have permitted the spending of $50,000,000 the first and second year as well as the third year.

Senator Connally, in his plea for additional funds to place worthy tenants on their own land, stated the purpose of the bill in the following manner: "This bill provides for the selection of industrious, successful farmers and for putting them on the land and letting them work out their own salvation. We appropriated $300,000,000 for resettlement but propose only $10,000,000 for a substantial, sound program looking to the future. We need $50,000,000 more in the beginning of the program to take some of these people now on the WPA and relief rolls and put them on these farms and give them some opportunity and some ambition and some hope."

"We appropriated $1,500,000,000 for so-called relief, free relief, imaginary relief, temporary relief, work relief, but we propose to appropriate only $10,000,000 for the tenant farmers of America to rebuild the civic structure of this nation and provide homes in which a man when he goes home at night can feel he is anchored to the soil and that his children may grow up with the satisfaction that they are sheltered by the roof of their own parents rather than getting a free bed in some free tourist establishment here in the city of Washington or in some other metropolitan territory. I hope the Senate will vote for the $50,000,000 amendment."

The Farm Tenant bill which passed the senate had previously passed the House of Representatives in a slightly different form. The differences will have to be ironed out in conference before the bill is sent to the president for his signature.

Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Norman of Big Spring, and Tom W. Langton of Albuquerque, N. M., were guests here during the week end of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Speck and family.

Mrs. John H. Watson had as her guests during the week end Mr. and Mrs. Hal Culver of Amarillo, Mrs. Roy Angley and children, and Shortey Anglev of Artesia, N. M.

Chevrolet Reaches 13 Millionth Mark

Another milestone in industry was reached Wednesday, when the 13-millionth Chevrolet rolled off the assembly line in the Flint plant of the Chevrolet division, General Motors Corporation.

In spite of interrupted production, Chevrolet's 13th millionth car was produced in a period of just two days more than 11 months, the second shortest million-unit period in the company's history. Officials stated that the demand for the 1937 models has exceeded anything heretofore known, and that, but for the frequent interruptions of output since January 1, production and worker's wages would have shattered all previous records, and the present milestone would have been reached from 60 to 90 days earlier.

Production of No. 13 million was marked by no ceremonies at the factory, but M. E. Coyle, general manager of the division issued a brief statement from his Detroit office officially announcing the event, which was also the occasion for an informal luncheon attended by Mr. Coyle, Mr. Holler, and other executives of the company.

When the present management headed by Mr. Coyle, took over the reins in October, 1933, the company had built 9,000,000 cars and trucks. The 10-millionth was produced Nov. 20, 1934, the 11-millionth Dec. 4, 1935 and the 12-millionth August 5, 1936. Records show that it took 12 years for the company to build its first million units, while the remaining 12 million have been produced in a period of only 14 years. Mr. Coyle has been a member of the Chevrolet organization throughout the production of all but 120,000 of the 13,000,000 units built to date.

Farmers' Short Course Offers Simplified Program for Men Aug. 16

Farmers who attend the twenty-eighth annual Farmers' Short Course at Texas A. & M. College during the week of August 16-19 will find a simplified program presented by representatives of the Texas A. & M. College faculty, Extension Service, Experiment Station members, and other agricultural workers, according to Roy Snyder, chairman of the general Short Course committee.

The practice of offering a series of courses on varied subjects during the entire period of the Short Course has been discontinued, except in a few instances. Instead, farmers will find that each of the four days of the Short Course has been devoted to one broad field of agriculture. The mornings will be taken up with a series of discussions and in the afternoons the program will be broken up into sections which will give each individual an opportunity to learn more of the subject in which he is most interested.

The four subjects which have been chosen and the days on which they will be presented are: livestock, Monday; horticulture, Tuesday; field crops, and soils, Wednesday; and farm business and organization, Thursday.

Special courses will be offered in dairy manufacture, cotton classing, leather making, and poultry. A number of organizations will make the Short Course the occasion of a statewide meeting.

Of special interest to county and community committeemen who administer the Agricultural Conservation Program will be a series of tours thru the state AAA office.

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Crawley, prominent residents of this section, observed their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary on Saturday evening, July 17, with a party on the spacious lawn at their home, with some 250 friends and relatives attending.

Guests for the occasion had been asked to dress in wedding gowns or frocks of long ago. The lovely costumes and the beautiful lawn decorated with ferns, vines, cut flowers and silver wedding bells, represented the little Methodist church in Throckmorton 25 years ago, where the couple was originally married. This setting was perfect for the reenactment of the ring ceremony which was the main feature of the celebration.

The two sons of the couple, Richard and Bob Crawley, and friends of later days took the places of all but one of the original wedding party. This one was Mrs. Dutton J. Bailes of Seymour, sister of the bride who acted as ring bearer in the twenty-five year ago ceremony, but this time was matron of honor. Wearing dresses from the original ceremony, Laynette Carroll acted as ring bearer, and Mrs. Wright Boyd, matron of honor. Mrs. Crawley was also dressed in her complete wedding costume with the exception of her veil. Other members of the wedding party dressed in styles of long ago were Mrs. E. J. Yates, dressed in her wedding gown of five years ago, Mrs. Bailes in her wedding dress of 11 years ago, Mrs. Cecil Bryant, in a graduation frock, Mrs. Rupert Townsend, bridesmaid, Mrs. A. G. Barnard, pianist and Mrs. Weldon Lindsey, soloist, all wore gowns from Mrs. Crawley's original trousseau and carried arm bouquets.

Other members of the wedding party were Misses Jane Boone, Carol Jacobs, Elmerine Barron, and Mixie Davis, a niece of Throckmorton, all dressed in modern evening gowns; and Messrs. Dutton J. Bailes, brother-in-law from Seymour, Victor Crawley, brother and best man, Wright Boyd, E. J. Yates, Cecil Bryant, Joe Spikes, Tom Wilkes, and Richard and Bob Crawley.

Rev. E. F. Cole, pastor of the First Baptist Church, assisted by Prof. V. Z. Rogers, read a ceremony of congratulations.

Ushers were Jack Sanders, Chuck Jacobs, Garvin Wilkes, Misses Jerry Smart and Georgia Mae Williams presided over the original white satin brides book, where names of the evening's guests were added.

A white satin damask covered table displayed about 60 original wedding gifts with the cards sent 25 years ago, also pictures of the bride and groom taken at different times in their lives.

Misses Elizabeth Lee Davis, Connie King, and Betty Guy Simpson presided at the refreshment table where punch was served from a great block of ice decorated with cream roses. The wedding cake, a thing of beauty, was baked by Mrs. Crawley's sister, Mrs. John Davis of Throckmorton, and contained 100 eggs and weighed 45 pounds. Guest favors were tiny wedding rings with orange blossom engraving.

After the cutting of the cake, Mrs. Crawley donned the fashionable automobile ulster of 25 years ago and amid a shower of rice climbed with Mr. Crawley into a Model T Ford, took a tour around the block. Skeet Noret, acting as chauffeur, was dressed in a 1912 uniform. After the short tour the couple returned and mingled with their guests until a late hour.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Garland Eubanks and daughter, Gloria, of Stephenville, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Young Croxbyton, Mr. and Mrs. Dutton Bailes and son of Seymour, Mrs. John Davis and daughter, Mixie of Throckmorton, and Tom V. Watson of Levelland.

Mr. and Mrs. Crawley came to Lamesa in January 1936 from Throckmorton, at which time Mr. Crawley accepted the position as vice-president of the First National Bank, the position which he still holds. Before coming here he was associated with a bank in Throckmorton.

Mrs. Crawley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Housley, are pioneer residents of Throckmorton, going to that place in 1870. Mr. Crawley's parents have been residents of this county since 1907.

are to meet at the Church next Monday morning at nine o'clock for a period of entertainment, singing, and study in Junior B. Y. P. U. methods.

There were 93 additions to the church in the revival which closed at the First Baptist church last Sunday night. Brother E. P. Cole, the pastor, did the preaching, and Johnnie Cohen, led the singing. Brother Cole will be in his place, preaching at both services next Sunday. Plans are being made for a large Sunday school attendance, also for the morning and evening preaching services.

CHURCH OF CHRIST REVIVAL AT LOU

A revival meeting was begun at Lou July 11th, and is to be concluded July 25. Rev. John Lee Morris of Sabin is doing the preaching and Bro. Bankhead of Wilson is leading the song services. A cordial invitation is extended the public to attend every service. The minister states that every effort will be put forth to preach the Gospel in its purity and simplicity, adding nothing thereto, nor taking anything therefrom. The purposes of the meeting are to show the sinner the error of his way, and encourage him to obey the gospel, and to strengthen the Cause of Christ in that community.—Reporter.

DOUGLAS McLEAN IS ONE OF FEW PRODUCERS WHO WAS STAR

Douglas McLean, producer of "23 1/2 Hours Leave", Grand National's laugh making screen version of Mary Roberts Rinehart's famous story of army camp life, which opens at the Cole Theatre Saturday at a Midnite Prevue and runs Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday, is the only producer, aside from Harold Lloyd, Charles Chaplin and a few who star themselves in their own productions, who was a screen star before he turned producer. Screen fans of the silent days will remember him well, not only in the "23 1/2 Hours Leave" of 17 years ago, which made him a screen star in his own right, but also in "The Hottentot", "Seven Keys to Baldpate" and numerous other silent film successes of that period.

"23 1/2 Hours Leave" tells the story of a young and chesty sergeant in a U. S. Army camp in 1917, who bets his bunkies that he will eat breakfast with the General, whom he has never seen, and moreover that he will have pancakes with him. How he succeeds in winning his ridiculous wager, after a series of amazing adventures and mishaps, through which he makes his way with complete self-assurance and sang froid, makes one of the funniest films of the year.

LOVELAND HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The Loveland Home demonstration club met Wednesday, July 14, at Mrs. George Dark's home. The day was spent in quilting. At noon a delicious dinner was served by the hostess.

Our next meeting will be at Mrs. C. K. Smiths home, Wednesday, August 11. Miss Anderson will be with us and show us how to use our foundation patterns.—Reporter.
