To speed loan process

Farmers sue FmHA

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Four Texas farmers have filed a class-action suit seeking a court order requiring the Farmers Home Administration to make immediate determinations on loan applications, contending the agency has caused problems for farmers by not acting more quickly.

A favorable ruling in the suit, filed Thursday in U.S. District Court, would force the agency to make loan decisions within 60 days of application and disburse the money with 15 days of approval, said Bruce Magness, one of four lawyers representing the farmers.

Magness said the agency has money for farm loans, but that bureaucracy has stopped the flow of money to farmers.

Magness said one of the plaintiffs, rice grower Mark Frick of Matagorda County, was forced off of his farm because the agency took too much time.

After Frick was told his loan money would be forthcoming, he was told to get a short term note from a private bank on an FmHA guarantee, Magness said. When the deadline for the short term note at the bank passed without his receiving the FmHA money, Magness said, Frick was forced to leave the farm.

Magness said the administration is legally bound to provide farmers with money for living and operating expenses while awaiting loan decisions.

"We would hope that (U.S. District) Judge Halbert O. Woodward would order the USDA to comply with its own regulations," Magness said.

"There are farmers who applied in December of 1985 and last January who still are waiting for a decision," he said. "FmHA has not made the money available. And we've had farmers forced off the farms while the awaited a decision. Others have been told they are approved but have

By CINDY SMITH
Staff Writer

If you heard a driver on the wagon train hollering "Giddey up, Cindy," he wasn't talking to the passenger.

Bill Tooley, driver of the peddler's wagon, was referring to one of his four mules who include Samantha, George, Sam –and one with the same name of this writer and rider.

Tooley, like others on the train, was quite a character. He was only one of the many people that made up the unforgettable wagon train.

Jan France conceived the idea of the Texas Wagon Train three years ago and said that in six weeks from last night, the Texas Wagon Train will be history.

One woman's dream has become a reality and is being touted as the most unique human exhibit of Texas heritage.

There was Tooley, a Cowboy for Christ, from Arizona.

And an anniversary couple who is raising three children on board.

And a 75-year-old who participated in the original wagon trains and knows how they did it in the olden days.

One diehard woman needed surgery on her leg – but told the doc she had "a wagon train to catch."

They will all be a part of Texas history for the young 'uns to read about in years to come.

Eugene Bond, a man in red-white-and-blue chaps, turned out to be my best friend. He was the information director, "who looks like he just stepped out of Gilley's" as France describes him.

Bond directed me to the wagon I would be riding into Hereford.

Later, Bond was the key man who arranged interviews with all the people on the train. He even escorted me around the camp and waited for me until I was ready to go onto another family, of which I am very grateful because it was "an experience."

Getting on at a break right outside of Tom Draper's place south of Hereford, Tooley handed me a cushion on the seat of his wagon. I started to refuse, but he insisted.

After bumping along on the seat awhile, he admitted that he almost has callouses on his uh, er, well... I grinned, thinking it was a good thing I didn't refuse the cushion.

(The condition of my posterior was the first question co-workers asked when I returned to the office.)

Within an hour or two – it's hard to keep up with time while riding up there – I got to know Tooley pretty well.

At first I expected everybody on the train to be a Texan, but this was not so.

It was my Arizona buddy, then, who explained the details of the entire wagon train along the way.

According to Tooley, there were 47 wagons riding Thursday and many more are expected to join.

He explained that 10 of the wagons were sponsored by corporations such as Dairy Queen, Copenhagen-Skoal, Glen's Sporting Goods, Cody Marketing which sponsored Tooley and another cowboy, Smith and Wesson, and Ford Motor Company.

All sponsored wagons were required to be of 1890 vintage or authentic reproductions of the wagons back then. Tooley said not all the wagons were western looking and the less authentic wagons had to ride at the back.

The peddler's wagon he was riding, or the tinkler's wagons as they used to call it that sold pots and pans, was a 1903 original wagon restored to mint condition.

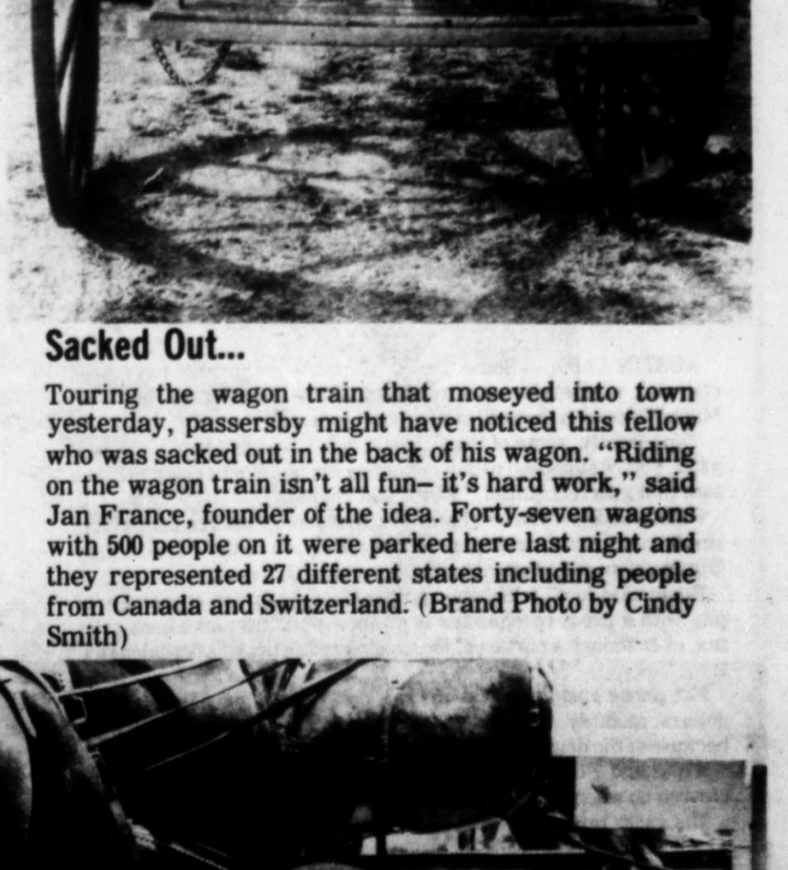

Tooley explained that sponsored wagons drivers were paid for their ride by the company and the other wagons' support were up to the individuals who drove them. And yes, many people quit their jobs to go on this wagon train journey.

Tooley said some of them like Fred and Dave Shivers, (you'll be hearing about one of them in Sunday's Brand), live exclusively out of their wagons. but others had microwaves or electricity from a convenient RV.

"Rodney Nelson, the stagecoach driver, drives a wagon that cost more than $18,000," said Tooley. The stagecoach, which was sponsored by the same company as Tooley, was made by a carriage maker out of Tuscon, Ariz., and weighs 2,800 pounds.

Nelson and Tooley's mules were luckier than most. They had some Sacked Out...

Touring the wagon train that moseyed into town yesterday, passersby might have noticed this fellow who was sacked out in the back of his wagon. "Riding on the wagon train isn't all fun– it's hard work," said Jan France, founder of the idea. Forty-seven wagons with 500 people on it were parked here last night and they represented 27 different states including people from Canada and Switzerland. (Brand Photo by Cindy Smith)

From all reports, Hereford and Deaf Smith County made some good friends with the Texas Wagon Train folks during their short stay. Those who were interviewed by Brand staff members felt that Hereford went all out, provided fine facilities, and was an excellent host in every respect.

Today's edition includes a report from Cindy Smith, Brand feature writer who rode one of the wagons into town. Sunday's edition will have many more photos and several interviews with folks involved in the statewide trek of the Sesquicentennial Wagon train. There will also be a story on the Lawrence and Roy Carlson families who joined the wagon train in Dimmitt.

The great reception for the wagon train would not have been possible without the work of many individuals in the community. And the work and planning by these people would have gone for naught if the citizens of the community had not responded. The parade route for the wagon train drew thousands of people, and the Bull Barn was full for the entertainment Thursday evening.

It is difficult to single out individuals who worked on the wagon train reception, but we must mention Argen Draper and Garth Thomas, co-chairmen of the Deaf Smith County Sesquicentennial Committee, and Jim Ward, chairman of the wagon train project. We are compiling a list of as many committee workers as we can and hope to list them in Sunday's edition.

This wagon train has been the most visible and exciting project of the Sesquicentennial celebration on a statewide basis. It is touching millions of people as it commemorates the pioneer spirit which inspired the settlement of our Republic more than 150 years ago.

Now our Sesquicentennial committee will start to work on the annual Town & Country Jubilee, which is held each August, and this one will carry the special Sesquicentennial theme. We've still got some celebrating to do for our state's 150th birthday!

Cleaning Those Hooves

Mr. Apache Barrett, from near Wichita, was busily tending to his horses hooves yesterday. He was first seen cleaning out the shoes and then a little repair had to be done. All wagon riders were responsible for shoeing, watering, and feeding their own stock. The animals and people average 5,000 gallons of water a day and the animals eat 350-400 bales of hay. Kidnappers give up, return children

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Two young boys, "dirty but happy," were recovered unharmed in Mexico after being kidnapped from their home by gun-wielding men who gave up trying to collect an estimated $500,000 ransom, the FBI said.

Ben Bohannon, 4, and his 2-year-old brother, Matt, were found shortly before 8 p.m. MDT Thursday inside a blue Ford parked on a street corner in Ciudad Juarez, just across the Rio Grande from this border city, said FBI spokesman Gary Webb.

No ransom was paid and no arrests had been made, but the FBI was continuing the investigation, he said.

The boys are the only children of Tom and Susan Bohannon, owners of Bohannon Development Corp. Mrs. Bohannon is also the daughter of Charles H. Foster, a wealthy El Paso builder and contractor.

Webb said the children apparently had been taken to Juarez after the Tuesday morning abduction from their home in an exclusive El Paso neighborhood. The kidnappers, brandishing .38-caliber handguns, burst into the house, handcuffed the maid and left a note warning the family not to contact authorities.

They were unsure whether the kidnappers, described as Hispanic males, had used a blue pickup truck with Chihuahua, Mexico, license plates as a getaway vehicle.

White's wife to hear teachers' ideas

AUSTIN (AP) — First lady Linda Gale White will be dispatched to meetings across the state to hear teachers' ideas about improving school reform efforts.

Gov. Mark White, hoping to shore up support among angry teachers, made the announcement Thursday, saying his wife will "report directly to me the suggestions she gathers."

White said he hopes to clear up misunderstandings with teachers and improve the sweeping 1984 school reform legislation.

"I think you mend fences by going in and taking appropriate action to solve problems. I think that's the real thrust of what we're trying to do," White told his weekly news conference.

During the May 3 primary, many teachers cast protest votes for White's Democratic opponents or Republican candidates. White won less than 54 percent of the vote, narrowly escaping a runoff.

Teacher organizations complained that they felt the governor wouldn't listen to them while he pushed the school reform legislation — House Bill 72 — or since it has taken effect.

Teachers have voiced anger over the mandatory TECAT competency test, the career ladder system of merit pay raises, paperwork and other problems.

White: 'Border is almost defenseless'

AUSTIN (AP) — If the federal government supplies the necessary money and equipment, Gov. Mark White says he would approve using Texas National Guard troops to patrol for drug smugglers along the Mexican border.

"Our borders are almost totally defenseless," White said. "We have to do something about it. I think that's becoming more dramatically apparent."

Earlier this week, the commander of the Texas National Guard told a congressional committee in Washington that the state is prepared to commit troops to the border if asked to do so.

"It's a good way to use the National Guard," said Maj. Gen. James T. Dennis, adding that both Army and Air Force guardsmen could be assigned to the job.

White said guardsmen would be assigned to conduct radar surveillance along the border to spot smugglers' airplanes as they fly across with contraband cargos. Guard officials said such operations could include use of mobile radar tracking stations as well as tracker aircraft.

"Primarily, the mission would be the use of radar equipment to detect incoming flights," White said.

Actual arrests would be made by regular law enforcement agencies, White said, and it doesn't appear that guardsmen would be needed to check people and vehicles crossing on the ground.

Double phone taxation will stop

AUSTIN (AP) — Some Texas telephone companies have been charging customers a tax repealed by the Legislature, but Gov. Mark White says that will stop in short order.

"Apparently, some of those people didn't realize when you repeal a tax, you're supposed to quit collecting the tax. We're going to make sure that gets recognized," White said Thursday.

Public Utility Counsel Jim Boyle, who represents residential and small commercial customers in rate cases before the Public Utility Commission, called attention to the problem this week.

Boyle said local telephone companies have forced consumers to pay both a gross receipts tax and a new telecommunications sales tax, even though a portion of the gross receipts tax was repealed Oct. 1.

For phone customers, the tax has cost from a few cents to a few dollars monthly, but phone companies have receivied millions because of the double taxation, Boyle said.

White and PUC officials Thursday said most problems would be cleared up when the utility panel resolves two pending rate cases.

The cases involve Southwestern Bell and General Telephone Co., which combined account for 92.5 percent of the telephone lines in Texas, said PUC executive director Richard Galligan. Galligan said a conference with 45 small phone companies and the PUC will be held May 30 "to discuss solution of the excess billings problem."

Galligan said the problem arose when phone companies began imposing the 4⅛ percent state sales tax on some services Oct. 1. However, the companies failed to simultaneously eliminate that part of their rate structures based on the gross receipts tax that had been paid to the state for years, Galligan said.

Incident sparks several reports

City police heard reports Thursday of aggravated assault with a deadly weapon, assault with a motor vehicle and reckless conduct, all stemming from a single incident. No arrests were made.

Police also heard reports of harassment, criminal trespassing, a prowler, a civil disturbance, two complaints of criminal mischief, and a minor theft.

Two persons indicted

A Deaf Smith County Grand Jury indicted two individuals Thursday.

Barbara Ellen Lindsey was indicted on charges of theft of over $750, but less than $20,000.

WAGON

portable corrals in which to roam around in at night.

"It let's my mules eat and drink at their own leisure," mentioned Tooley. Most of the wagons tied their animals to the wagons.

Listening to the clinking of the harnesses and horse shoes and feeling the rocking of the wagon, I began to wonder what these people had really gone through to even make it to Hereford.

Tooley said that not all towns were as hospitable as ours. Some schools would not dismiss students from class, as Hereford did, when they came to town.

He did recall that in Menard, the superintendant of the school had decided "that the kids had to have a fire drill, they had to keep in practice," just as the wagon train was passing.

The wagon train has only had about three days of bad weather. That was rain at the race track near Menard, one real fine mist at Gonzalez, and a welcome shower going to Odessa.

Tooley stressed that each wagon is a home. He was the king of his castle – he had his pet turtle in a bucket in the back. (My camera bag strap took a dip in that bucket, too.)

Each set of three or four wagons would be like a block in Hereford, Tooley said. The train was setr up likea community on wheels with the good neighbors and cliques.

Cliques? They sure didn't try to see who had on the best clothes or outdo the Joneses.

"But everybody here's friendly," he said, "We're all here for the same reason."

France had also noted that since the wagon train began, even though they had young guys and various folks, there has not been one fight.

Of the people Tooley had met on the road, he said that Black Americans were the most enthused and explained. "The blackman wasn't free back in the 1830's. If he was free, where was he gonna get $40 to buy a wagon?

"The Black people wave more and say "hi" more than anybody. They appreciate the train more," said Tooley. "White people just take it for granted because they entertain themselves more and have more money and they take it for granted that they came from people that come over on wagons."

Tooley said the small Hispanic towns had more people smiling and waving at them, more people that welcomed them.

"Easter Sunday we went our first 1,000 miles," said Tooley. He recalled that people had gone to great lengths to welcome the train. One town released several hundred balloons. They were used to crop dusters and planes yielding signs. Tooley said that one place had a McDonald's blimp that was 310 feet long.

Creaking and swaying, I knew we didn't have a blimp planned but then I began to see the signs along US-385.

Hereford people were beached out on the lawns of some farm homes along the way.

Some clever farmer had put up signs pointing to his land.

"Triticale" read one sign, and in parenthesis it explained that the grain was a cross between rye and wheat. As we passed, someone handed Tooley and other riders some fresh cut stalks and a bag of triticale seeds.

"Norgold Russet Potatoes" read another sign with an arrow pointing toward the field.

I laughed at the sign that said "Tailwater Pit" and then below in parenthesis was the word "small."

Tooley reprimanded me, saying that some these folks wouldn't know what a tailwater pit was.

He was right. That's their whole reason for riding in the train, to educate people of our Texan heritage.

Later, Tooley hollered, "There's a model A-Ford welcoming us." He waved real big to the old man who owned it. Nearly everyone on the route held up signs saying "Howdy from Hereford".

Turning down Country Club Drive, students from Hereford High School lined one lawn, and as we passed the entire crowd yelled out "Welcome to Hereford."

Tooley and the others loved that.

He said the one thing he really got a kick out of was little old ladies who held up their poodles to see the wagon train go by.

Evidently, everybody enjoyed the Texas Wagon Train.

Full of Tales

Bill Tooley of Prescott, Arizona adjusts the harness on one of his four mules. Tooley was full of tall tales riding on 385 coming to Hereford. He said his favorite thing while being on the wagon train was to see all the little kids waving when they ride by. (Brand Photo by Cindy Smith)

Deaver didn't violate laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — His lobbying activities under attack, former presidential aide Michael K. Deaver is telling a House panel that he did not violate conflict-of-interest laws or improperly peddle his influence.

Deaver "is very much looking forward" to his testimony, Pamela Bailey, spokeswoman at Deaver's lobbying company, Michael K. Deaver & Associates, said Thursday.

"It's the first chance he has had to answer questions on any of the government bodies looking into the allegations," she said.

The Energy and Commerce oversight and investigations subcommittee was questioning Deaver today in closed session about his lobbying activities for Canada and other countries, as well as his representation of domestic companies, according to panel counsel Michael F. Barrett Jr.

THOSE ACHING FEET

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Just because the shoe fits — it doesn't necessarily mean you should wear it.

Consider high heels, says North Carolina Memorial Hospital podiatrist Richard S. Lotwin. He says, "That's like stuffing a rectangular object into a triangular hole."

The high heel and pointed-toe are two major culprits of problem feet among females, Lotwin says. Increasingly, though, women are following the example of Jane Eaton.

Batting For The Rangers

Texas catcher drives in five runs

Slaught leads Rangers over Tigers

By The Associated Press

Slaught, who caught Tanana last year before the left-hander was traded to Detroit, ripped a triple and home run off his old pal Thursday night, driving in five runs as the Rangers beat the Tigers 8-1.

Slaught had 18 runs-batted-in during his first 17 games, but then went through 10 games where his batting average dropped from .368 to .301 without a single RBI. He now is hitting .310 with 23 RBI.

It was the second successive rough outing for Tanana, 4-3. He was ripped for eight runs on nine hits in only three innings Saturday at Minnesota, and the Rangers tagged him for six runs on seven hits in only 2 2-3 innings.

Meanwhile, Texas left-hander Mike Mason, 3-0, was checking the Tigers on just six hits over the eight innings he worked. The Tigers' only run was unearned.

Mason lost his shutout in the sixth when Lance Parrish reached second on Pete Incaviglia's two-base error in right field, moved up on Chet Lemon's infield hit and scored on Larry Herndon's sacrifice fly.

The Rangers broke the game open with four runs in the first inning off Tanana.

Scott Fletcher started the big inning with a single, Pete O'Brien doubled and Incaviglia walked to load the bases. Fletcher scored on a checked-swing grounder by Larry Parrish. Toby Harrah walked to load the bases again and Slaught tripled off the top of the right-field fence, driving in three more runs.

With two outs in the third, Harrah doubled and scored ahead of Slaught's seventh home run, a shot just over the left field fence on a 1-1 pitch.

Tanana then gave up a single to Tom Paciorek and was relieved by Eric King, who made his major league debut. King was impressive, giving up just one hit over the next 5 1-3 innings before Bill Scherrer took over to start the ninth.

In the ninth, Incaviglia followed O'Brien's single with a two-run homer, his sixth of the season.

In other AL games it was, Kansas City 6, Cleveland 3; Baltimore 5, Minnesota 3; and Chicago 8, New York 1.

Royals 6, Indians 3

Indians starter Ken Schrom took a 3-1 lead into the bottom of the eighth but Jim Sundberg and Jamie Quirk hit leadoff singles. Losing reliever Scott Bailes threw away Willie Wilson's sacrifice bunt to let in a run. White was the first batter Yett faced.

Andre Thornton homered for the Indians, who have dropped six of their last seven games. Kansas City has won four straight.

Orioles 5, Twins 3

Mike Young and Juan Beniquez both hit their first home run of the season as Mike Boddicker upped his record to 4-0, with 1 2-3 innings of relief from Don Aase, who earned his ninth save.

Young's solo homer in the second off Twins ace Frank Viola gave Baltimore a 2-1 lead and snapped a 32-game, 103-at-bat home run drought for Young, who hit 28 homers last year. Beniquez's two-run shot in the third was his first homer in 40-at-bats.

Gary Gaetti homered for the visiting Twins.

White Sox 8, Yankees 1

Greg Walker, playing his second game after a wrist injury sidelined him for a month, hit a three-run homer and the Yankees committed five errors.

The White Sox, who have won five of seven games since Manager Tony LaRussa was given a vote of confidence last week, got seven runs and eight hits in the first five innings off Ron Guidry. Carlton Fisk had two singles and a double to support Neil Allen, 1-0, who was traded by the Yankees to Chicago in February.

Allen allowed four hits, walked two and struck out three in seven innings, then was replaced by Bill Dawley.

Walker hit a 400-foot drive into the Yankee Stadium bleachers following leadoff singles by Fisk and Ron Kittle in the second inning.

Heep hits two-run homer

Mets down Astros 6-2

By The Associated Press

The New York Mets' Danny Heep, who was strikeout king Nolan Ryan's 4,000th victim, came back to haunt the veteran Houston Astros hurler.

Heep slammed a two-run home run and a single and right-hander Ron Darling scattered eight hits in eight innings to key the Mets' 6-2 victory over the Astros Thursday night.

"Nolan had great velocity tonight, but the breaking pitch got him into trouble," Heep said.

Ryan, on July 11, 1985, became the first man to strike out 4,000 batters.

"Sure, I would rather start every day. I enjoy playing the game," Heep said. "For now, I would go out every day and try to contribute in any way that I can."

The Mets grabbed a four-game lead over the Montreal Expos in the National League Eastern Division.

The Mets upped their record to 22-7 and the Astros dropped to 19-13. The Astros are in first place, ahead of San Francisco by five percentage points.

Darling, 4-0, pitched eight innings and allowed two runs, two walks and struck out three in addition to the eight hits.

"My pitches were moving well tonight," said Darling, "and I made good pitches when I had to."

Ryan's troubles continued in this young 1986 campaign. He is 3-5 for the season and winless in his last five starts. He hasn't won since April 25.

Astros manager Hal Lanier said he has not lost confidence in the veteran hurler.

"A couple of good outings could do wonders for him," Lanier said.

The Mets broke on top in the second inning when Darryl Strawberry walked, stole second and scored on former Astro Ray Knight's single to center.

In the third, a one-out single by Len Dykstra, who stole second, and a walk to Howard Johnson, set up a run-scoring single by Keith Hernandez and a sacrifice fly by Strawberry for two more runs.

Strawberry led off the sixth inning by slamming a triple off the center field fence and scored on Heep's home run over the right field fence, his second of the year. Both Strawberry and Heep hit curve balls off Ryan. "The curve ball was Ryan's big problem tonight," Lanier said.

The Astros scored their two runs off Darling in the sixth inning on a walk to pinch-hitter Jim Pankovits, a double by Bill Doran and a single by Craig Reynolds driving in both runs. But Darling settled down and avoided further trouble.

Mets catcher Gary Carter finished off the scoring with solo home run in the eighth inning off Astro relief pitcher Mike Madden, his sixth of the year and the second in two games.

Reds 6, Phillies 5

Ron Oester, it was a night to forget the past.

Oester's key error allowed the winning run to score in a loss Wednesday night, but his three-run homer in the ninth inning Thursday lifted the Cincinnati Reds to a 6-5 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Oester's homer off Steve Bedrosian, 2-2, wasn't a total cure for his costly error the night before.

"It (the homer) didn't make up for last night (Wednesday)," Oester said. "But it helped."

The second baseman said his late-game heroics proved that the Reds, with the worst record in the majors, 9-21, will not quit.

"I wouldn't want to be in that plane tonight if we lost again. I don't know if it will turn us around, but it has to be good for us," he said.

Dave Concepcion and Buddy Bell started the ninth with singles off reliever Don Carman. Bedrosian relieved Carman and got pinch-hitter Max Venable to fly to right. But Oester followed with his second homer of the season, hitting a 1-1 pitch over the right-field fence to score Concepcion and pinch-runner Tom Runnells ahead of him.

Ron Robinson, 3-0, pitched the last three innings allowing one hit, walking one batter and striking out three.

In the only other National League game played Thursday, Atlanta beat Montreal 7-4 in 10 innings.

Braves 7, Expos 4 (10)

Ken Oberkfell's three-run 10-inning homer gave Atlanta its victory over host Montreal.

Montreal trailed 4-2 entering the bottom of the ninth, but tied the game when Mitch Webster's short fly bounced high on the artificial turf. The ball fell in front of Murphy and bounced over his head, scoring Al Newman and Andre Dawson, who had singled off Bruce Sutter, 2-0. Jeff Dedmon got his second save with one inning of work.

Welcome to Hereford

An almost endless stream of riders and wagons wound its way up New York Avenue Wednesday, headed toward the Bull Barn to circle for camp. Over 40 wagons pulled into town as part of the Texas Wagon Train. The train started Jan. 2 in Sulphur Springs, and will end up in Fort Worth in early July.

The Work Never Quits

The riders along the trail never seem to get a rest. The average day starts at 5:45 a.m. and by 6 a.m. everybody is awake and preparing to hit the road again. The Texas Wagon Train moves to the next town. The evenings are filled with programs and sightseers. Late in the day, the riders get a chance to catch up on the chores.

Perot happy with actor selection

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas computer magnate H. Ross Perot, who's being portrayed in an upcoming television movie by Emmy-Award winner Richard Crenna, says the only advice he had for the producers was "to pick someone who looks like a businessman."

Crenna plays Perot, the chairman of Electronic Data Systems, in a two-part adaptation of "On Wings of Eagles," that begins Sunday night on NBC-TV. The program, based on the book by Ken Follett, deals with the 1978 rescue of two EDS employees jailed in Iran.

Perot commissioned the mission, led by retired Army Col. Arthur D. Simons, to free the employees from a Tehran prison. The crisis was triggered during a time that EDS was embroiled in a legal dispute with the Iranian government over computer services.

Perot, a dyed-in-the-wool Texan, is the first to admit that Hollywood didn't shoot for complete accuracy in choosing an actor to portray him. First of all, he checks in about a half-head shorter than Crenna.

And, with a laugh punctuating a classic Texas drawl, Perot said Crenna has "perfect speech."

"He's a fine actor," Perot said Wednesday by telephone after returning from a tour promoting the movie. "I've taken a lot of heat for it. He's far better than I deserve."

BABY BOOMERS AREN'T PICKY

VARNVILLE, S.C. (AP) — Americans are eating out in restaurants more often these days, but more of them also are passing up the toothpick as a post-dessert end to their meal.

Restaurant diners, particularly those in their 20s and 30s, are causing a drop in toothpick production in the United States, says Georgia-Pacific Corp., a wood products firm.

In fact, its says, toothpicks have been dropping in popularity since the end of World War II. Their use was at a high during the early 1900s, following the patent of the first toothpick-making machine in 1872.
