Allred Refuses Submitting Of Appropriations

Special Message Is Sent To Legislature Today; Not To Call Another Session

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 19—Governor James V. Allred in a special message to the legislature today declined to submit the subject of appropriations.

In a press conference the governor also announced he had no intention at this time of calling another session of the legislature.

Both houses of the legislature, called in special session a little more than three weeks ago for the sole purpose of raising revenue to finance Texas' social security program and reduce a treasury deficit, have requested the governor to submit also the subject of appropriations.

Wanted Reductions Made

An element in the legislature has demanded that appropriations made last spring at the general session be reduced as one means of improving the condition of state finances.

The governor said the legislature had considered appropriations for four months and boosted them over those of the previous biennium despite his recommendations against increases.

It should be evident, he said, that they could not be revised intelligently in the short time remaining at this session.

Submission of appropriations would hopelessly clutter the calendar and block passage of any adequate tax bills, nullifying the purpose of the session, the governor continued.

He urged again immediate provision of revenue for old age assistance, aid to the blind and dependent children and to finance a teachers reirement plan.

Chinese Troops Striking Back

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Oct. 19 — Chinese troops struck back at Japanese today in a sharp counter-offensive near Tazang, the nerve center of Chinese supply lines on the Shanghai front.

The Chinese sent back word the Japanese had lost the half-mile gain they had made yesterday in one of the most severe engagements of the present warfare. In that engagement an entire detachment of 1,400 Chinese, and 3,000 Japanese were reported killed when Japanese attempted to sever Chinese food and munitions supply routes.

Retreat To First Positions

At noon today, Chinese authorities announced that the Japanese had retreated to their original position three miles east of the village which lies about five miles north of Shanghai.

Balked in successive attempts to crack Chinese Shanghai lines, the Japanese military served notice that all Chinese railway trains, stations, warehouses and equipment will be considered military objectives subject to bombardment because military supplies are being moved by rail.

Shadow Of Wings Widening

The announcement followed the daily widening shadow of Japanese wings over China.

One of the heaviest engagements in the Shanghai area today centered about the Tunwuchih temple, which changed hands three times. Japanese continued their systematic bombardment of the Chinese Chapel section of Shanghai and Chinese communication lines.

Reports from North China said the Japanese advance into North China provinces had been slowed. The Japanese were said to have meeting stiff resistance along southern Hopeh province. In Shantung province they were said to have withdrawn northward 15 miles.

LEVY EXTRAORDINARY TAX

ROME, Oct. 19 (AP)—The government clamped an extraordinary tax of ten per cent on capital stock corporations today, in line with its campaign for money for Italy's military operations and her armaments race with other powers.

Ransom Is Paid For Return Of Chas. S. Ross

Federal Agent Announces Sum Of $50,000 Has Been Paid To Chicago Kidnapers

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Oct. 19—D. M. Ladd of the federal bureau of investigation announced today the family of Charles S. Ross, retired greeting card manufacturer, had paid $50,000 ransom for Ross' return.

Ladd's statement said his department could give no information as to the details of the payment which "was handled entirely by the family upon what they believed to be definite proof they were in contact with the kidnapers."

Kidnaped 24 Days Ago

Ross was kidnaped 24 days ago and at 8 a. m. today, the deadline set by Mrs. Ross for word from the abductors, she had received no word from them.

"We of course could not be a party to the payment of a ransom in a kidnaping case," Ladd's statement said, "and necessarily same was handled by the family. As we are advised, the family upon payment of the money waited for a reasonable period of time beyond the time the kidnapers indicated they would release Mr. Ross and then made a final appeal to the kidnapers for the release of Mr. Ross, as was received by the various papers Sunday afternoon, Oct. 17."

Paid In $5, $10 And $20

Ladd said the payments was made in bills of $5, $10 and $20 denominations.

The statement was issued less than two hours after the deadline set by Mrs. Ross for receiving word from the snatchers was passed. Crime fighting agencies then entered the case to carry out the wife's demand for "a vigorous effort to locate and punish those responsible."

Stock Market Plunges Again

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 19—Huge selling struck the stock market today and share prices plunged $1 to $10 or more, as shouting brokers executed orders in wild confusion. Orders poured in from all over the country and from abroad.

A total of 2,210,000 shares changed hands in the first hour, the heaviest volume of trading in four years. Commodities sagged in sympathy and high grade corporate and government bonds sold importantly lower.

Buying Switch Reported

As trading swung near the third hour it was confirmed some of the big investment trusts had switched to the buying side and were taking blocks of stocks which they considered "bargains." Rumors of London buying were also heard.

Whatever was responsible, after the first hour's surge of selling in which the ticker tape was often 20 minutes behind the floor trading, some prices showed an effort at recovery.

Distress selling of margin accounts, clipped badly by the steady decline in share prices since the middle of August and especially hurt by yesterday's widespread slump, was blamed by brokers for most of the flood of offerings, which at times were met with few, and in some cases, no answering bids.

Foreign Orders Factor

Foreign orders to sell also played an influence, brokers declared. Amsterdam, London and Paris markets, which closed earlier in the day because of the time difference, were lower, largely as result of yesterday's New York break.

Seldom since the "big break" of 1929 has the stock exchange witnessed such scenes of confusion as

Singing Bandit Tells Officers Of Escapades

Hanna-Pope, 19th Street Drug Jobs Admitted Along With Others Over Territory

BY OPAL McMAHON
Journal Staff Writer

A swaggering bandit with a broad grin confessed between witticisms this morning to more than a dozen burglaries on the South Plains, laughed at memory of camaraderie with officers, and bragged of his record as the Singing Bandit of Greenville, B. H. Huddleston.

Intermingled with the account of his burglaries given to Lubbock city and county officers this morning in Lubbock jail, were spicy tales of his pose for a week as a Texas Technological college student, of encounters with officers, and of his leisurely progress from one burglary to another since his escape from Waxahachie jail Sept. 12.

Admits Burglaries In City

Readily answering questions of officers, he told of burglaring Hanna-Pope store and Nineteenth Street pharmacy in Lubbock, four business places at Sudan, two at Brownfield, one at Ralls, at Big Spring, Colorado, and of stealing automobiles at Lamesa and O'Donnell.

Of his burglary at Ralls, he said: "They stuck me for six years over there. I had to give'm something to remember me by." A 72nd district court jury had rendered a verdict of 6 years in the penitentiary in May for his burglary of Ralls theater.

Gives Advice To Pope

When E. T. Pope of the burglarized store walked into the office where the bandit was being questioned, Huddleston grinned. "You had insurance, didn't you," he asked.

When informed negatively, he advised "Better take out some."

"I didn't know there were any tough guys around here," answered Pope.

"I'm Not Tough"

"I'm not tough," the bandit grinned.

Slapping his knee, he recalled accosting a nightwatchman in a nearby town in which he committed burglaries. "Got any meanness around here," he said he asked the officer.

"No, I've got everything under control," was his reply, he said.

He said he recently picked up a hitch-hiker. "Got any gun? I wouldn't want to pick up a hijacker," he said he told the hitch-hiker. At the memory he grinned broadly and said "And I had about a dozen guns with me."

One Woman Released

Huddleston's two feminine companions who were arrested with him in Roswell, N. M., Sunday night had been placed in county jail here with him Monday. One, Billie Eaton, 23, of Denver, Colo., was released this morning. The other, Opal Lusk, 24, will be transferred back to Waxahachie this afternoon with Huddleston, said Sheriff Tom Abel.

Sheriff J. E. Roy and Reputy Sheriff Jess Cariker of Waxahachie were here this morning awaiting release of Huddleston by the Lubbock officials.

Everything Cleared Up

"We have everything cleared up in West Texas. No charges will be filed against him or the women for anything here. There is no use charging him since he already has 220 years against him. We think he should be returned to Huntsville," said Sheriff Abel.

Chief of Police Don Reeder and Sheriff Tom Abel led questioning of the bandit.

Deputy Cariker said Opal Lusk was under indictment in Waxahachie for aiding prisoners to escape. Huddleston and two other men and a woman had escaped

Freight Rate Cut Is Agreed On Monday

AUSTIN, Oct. 19 (AP)—Ranchers in 34 drouth-affected Southwest Texas and Panhandle counties were assured today of a 25 per cent saving in freight rates on feed shipped to them up to December 1.

Spokesmen for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association and Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers association reached an out of court settlement with the railroads yesterday.

The rates on livestock feeds sent to the counties would be three-fourths of the regular published schedules, effective as of October 1 and to expire November 30. The state railroad commission said it would approve the agreed charges.

Counties affected are Hemphill, Kinney, Lipscomb, Ochiltree, Roberts, Terrell, Val Verde, Wheeler, Hansford, Gray, Dallam, Atascosa, McMullen, Webb, LaSalle, Sherman, Hartley, Moore, Hutchinson, Oldham, Potter, Carson, Duval, Zapata, Starr, Jim Hogg, Frio, Bee, Karnes, Kleberg, Jim Wells, Brooks, Live Oak and Randall.

City Still Minus 1937 Tax Rate

BY H. I. KIEFER
Journal Staff Writer

The city seemingly was as far as ever this morning from determination of what its tax rate is to be for the current fiscal year which already is more than half gone. The fiscal year ends next March 31 for which the rate must be set.

A recessed meeting of the city commission debated the matter of a rate for five hours last night and when the session finally adjourned after midnight the tax levy still had not been set. It was the third meeting at which the commission had sought with futility the settlement of the annual financial problem.

Meet Later This Week

The recess was taken with the understanding that the commission will meet again later in the week when City Manager W. H. Rodgers has completed revisions of the proposed 1937 budget made necessary by last night's session. The city manager still was unable at noon today to say just when the revised budget can be made ready for the commission's further consideration.

This morning brought no apparent repercussions to revisions ordered by the commission last night in the salaries of more than a score of city employes. City Auditor D. D. Martin, whose salary was slashed from $350 to 300 per month, was on the job as usual and would make no comment concerning the cut. The more than score others who were given increases ranging from $5 to $50 per month were equally silent. Some who failed to receive increases to which they thought themselves entitled had nothing to say publicly, although "off the record" comments were attributed to a few.

Aim Accomplished?

There was some debate today, however, as to whether the commission meeting of Monday night had accomplished its aim of making certain that any increase in the city tax rate will be held to a maximum of five cents on the $100 of valuation. The present rate is 55 cents and predictions before the commission met were that a hike to 70 cents might be necessary to maintain the city's present credit rating, which was described as being as high as any municipality in the nation.

The plan adopted by the com-

Rep. John E. Miller, First Independent Candidate To Capture Major Office In Arkansas In 77 Years, Defeats Bailey

(By The Associated Press)

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 19 — A Democratic congressman who campaigned as an independent assumed the senatorial toga of the late Joe Robinson today through a precedent-breaking defeat of a New Deal Democrat.

Representative John E. Miller became the first independent candidate to win a major Arkansas office in 77 years when he was elected over Governor Carl E. Bailey, in yesterday's special election.

Term Expires In 1943

The contested term expires January 1, 1943, and the 49-year-old senator-elect said he would take his seat at the special session November 15.

Associated Press returns today showed Miller with 61,528 votes to 40,390 for Bailey in 1,542 of 1,982 precincts.

Bailey projected the New Deal into the campaign, terming Miller "anti-Roosevelt" and asserting a victory for the congressman would be a "slap in the face for Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

Believed People Aroused

Miller said early today he believed his victory was due to the "feeling of outrage on the part of Arkansas citizens at the nomination (of Bailey) made by the Democratic state committee and at Governor Bailey's refusal to join in the request for a Democratic primary."

Miller did not join the New Deal issue squarely with Bailey, meeting the latter's charges of disloyalty to the president with the assertion that he never had voted "against the best interests of Arkansas." He was supported by Senator Hattie Caraway and Robinson's widow.

Miller predicted "the court reorganization will not likely arise in the immediate future."

"The executive department should be reorganized," he said, "but I will not agree to give the president unsupervised control in the reorganization of the executive or any other of the governmental branches."

CHAPTER 1

"Really, Coral," Donna said, "you look almost pretty tonight. If you'd only do something about your hair. You should go downtown and let Pierre set it for you. A sculptured line is the thing." Donna ran her fingers complacently over the lacquered ridges of her golden coiffure.

Coral Crandall laughed, then sighed a little. "Yours looks lovely," she said. If only Marge were here now, she thought, Marge who had been her roommate for three years, with whom she had laughed and talked and studied in pleasant intimacy. But Marge's mother was ill and Marge had not come back to Elton for her senior year. "There is a small college here at home where I can get my degree," she had written, "and I must be close to mother now."

So Marge had been succeeded by Donna Allen, lazy, wealthy and spoiled. Donna's father, Winslow Allen, a millionaire chemical manufacturer, had withdrawn her from a fashionable Chicago finishing school in disgust and sent her to Elton, his own university, hoping that the life there would implant in her an honest desire for knowledge and a healthier, more unselfish point of view. Coral had not cared who her roommate was, since Marge could not be with her; had willingly acquiesced to the sorority president's suggestion that Donna live with her.

Donna's voice interrupted her reverie. "I think I ought to give you some advice, Coral."

"What on earth about?" Coral was startled.

"If you weren't so wrapped up in love's young dream these days you'd know what about. You're

CATTLE INSPECTOR DIES

AUSTIN, Oct. 19 (AP) — Funeral rites for Walter R. Bigham, 40, of Houston, who died here Sunday, were held in Merkel Monday.

Bigham is survived by a sister, Miss Alice Bigham of Abilene. A state inspector for the Texas and Southwest Cattle Raisers' association, Bigham was stricken ill two weeks ago. He was a grandson of the late W. P. Bigham, West Texas ranchman.

Freddie Bartholomew's New Contract $102,000 A Year

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 19 (AP) — Freddie Batholomew's new contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio calls for $102,000 a year for the next two years.

Terms of the contract were disclosed today as the studio won its suit to prevent the 13-year-old English boy from working for any other studio. The agreement was signed between the studio and Freddie's aunt, Mrs. Myllicent Bartholomew, last Friday, after several weeks of legal bickering. For a time Freddie was on "strike," protesting the contract that brought him only $1,100 weekly.

Revenues Drop Is Unexplained

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—A big, unexplained drop in estimated revenues has postponed until next year, at least, the long-sought goal of a balanced federal budget.

President Roosevelt, in a revised budget statement, estimated at $695,245,000 the net deficit for the fiscal year ending next June 30. Inclusion of debt retirement, he said, creates a gross deficit $200,000,000 higher.

Less Than Any Since '30

Despite the backslide since January, a gross deficit of $895,245,000 would be less than for any fiscal year since 1930. Last year's gross deficit of $2,811,318,310 was the smallest since 1931.

The president carefully noted the difference between net and gross deficits in his statement. He said the estimated net deficit was $2,012,000,000 less than the net deficit for last year.

He also reemphasized his announced determination to retrench. He said no further commitments would be made by two agencies which in days gone by have utilized billions — the Reconstruction Finance corporation and the Public Works administration.

Tax Receipts Lower

Last January, the president estimated this year's tax receipts at $7,293,000,000. Yesterday he estimated them at $6,650,000,000, a drop of $643,000,000.

He made no attempt to explain the difference except to say it was "more than accounted for by the reduction in the estimate of income and social security taxes."

Noting that these two items are primarily dependent on business conditions, some tax authorities blamed the lower estimates on the stock market drop and evidences of lessened industrial activity in some fields.

Savings Are Listed

The president noted increased expenditures of $344,000,000, but balanced against them "savings under other items" of $323,000,000. The savings were listed as $115,000,000 from a reexamination of the old age reserve fund, and economies of $208,000,000 "effected by administrative action in curtailing other classes of expenditures."

He listed specifically these unpredictable expenditures as having arisen since the April estimate: increases under the new railroad retirement act, continuation of reduced interest rates on federal land bank loans, unemployment tax refunds under the Social Security act,

Mercury Sags To 35-Degree Mark Today

Slight Freeze Rides In Behind Norther; Damage To Crops Is Expected To Be Light

Jack Frost (remember him?) shivered his way into the South Plains early today, on the anniversary of the earliest recorded killing frosts, Oct. 19, 1916, and Oct. 19, 1917.

Temperatures sagged to 35 degrees, only five above the mercury level considered required for a killing frost.

Effect on crops was not feared, said Don L. Jones, superintendent of the experiment sub-station near Lubbock.

"It may take several days to tell exactly what the frost did," he said. "It may knock off some of the leaves, but I do not think the bolls were hurt in any way."

Formed Only Brief Period

Frost formed for a period of only five minutes, it was estimated by weather observers, a few minutes before 7 o'clock.

A norther rode a brisk current of wind and blowing sand into the city Monday afternoon, and the mercury dropped 44 degrees from a maximum of 79.

Cotton picking was expected to be resumed this morning over a wide section of the plains. Sun and wind Monday operated to dry much of the crop. A heavy dew this morning was expected to delay picking several hours, however.

Open Cotton Damaged

Monday's blast of sand probably damaged open cotton, said crop authorities.

Grain sorghums were not believed damaged by cold, and farmers said they believed the late crop would mature unless a killing frost comes soon.

Occasional low temperatures have been recorded at this season over other years, Jones pointed out from his records. The unusual factor is, most years find the wintry onslaught opened with a killing, rather than a light, frost, he said.

Jones' records show the latest killing frosts were Nov. 22, in 1931 and 1934.

An unusual feature was noticed on the chart for last October, when the mercury fell to a low of only 39 degrees, or two degrees higher than the low for the month before.

Walker Mentioned For Mood's Post

W. P. Walker, city attorney at Crosbyton and a well known practicing attorney of the South Plains for the past decade, is being mentioned as possible successor to Alex M. Mood, Amarillo, as assistant U. S. district attorney. Resignation of Mood was reported asked by Clyde O. Eastus, district attorney for the northern district of Texas.

Mood, whose home for years has been in Amarillo, has been in the office for eight years. He was named by Norman Dodge. Eastus named him first assistant. He has frequently attended federal court in Lubbock and is known to lawyers all over this section.

Fort Worth dispatches said Mood would reenter the private practice of law.

Walker was formerly assistant district attorney for Tarrant county and served four years as county judge He is a native of Tarrant county. Some years ago he was a candidate for district judge of the 72nd district in the primary race but was defeated.

Walker is said to have been recommended for the place.

Taxers Believe Their Case Is Looking Better

Senate Bill Slashing Funds Shunted; Bill On Colleges Given Postponement

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 19 — The "economy" drive in the Texas legislature seemed to have bogged down today while the "taxers" believed their case was looking better and better.

The chief product to date of the senate "economists," a bill slashing appropriations for state departments approximately $5,000,000, last night was routed to a sub-group of the house appropriations committee after being roundly denounced as a "monstrosity" and "utterly unspeakable."

Postpone Action On Colleges

Simultaneously the senate finance committee voted 12 to 11 to postpone until Wednesday night further hearing on a bill cutting $2,300,000 from appropriations for state colleges.

With the session called by Governor James V. Allred to finance Tex-

All Occupants Of Plane Dead

(By The Associated Press)

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 19—A ground searching party reached the crumpled "Mainliner" high in the Uinta mountains today and found all 19 occupants of the luxurious air transport dead.

Ralph Johnson, a United Airlines pilot and one of a group of four that kept going all night long in the treacherous snow, informed L. D. Cuddeback, division superintendent of the airlines, that a quick survey of the wreckage by flashlight showed no sign of life.

Greatest Number Ever Killed

After Johnson brought out word of the tragedy—the greatest number ever killed in the crash of an American airplane—the air line quickly assembled officials, airplanes and ground workers to bring out the bodies.

The Knight airport in Wyoming, 26 miles north of the scene of the accident, was made the base of operations.

Cudeback said Johnson went up to the big airplane "peered in and found that the 16 passengers and crew of three were dead."

Complete Investigation Impossible

Because of the condition of the wreckage on towering Chalk peak, Johnson was unable to make a complete investigation.

He wasted no time, but started immediately down the mountainside for help.

The airliner had been missing since 8:16 p. m. Sunday when it was en route from Cheyenne, Wyo., to Salt Lake City.

It was first sighted from the air yesterday morning, but because of the difficult terrain—it crashed at about the 10,600 foot level—little hope had been held that ground parties would reach it until late today.

Johnson's searching party was aided towards dawn by an almost full moon, but the bitter cold made the going difficult.

Johnson made no report as to the condition of the bodies of the 16 passengers and crew of three.

Airline officials declined to speculate as to how long it would take to remove the bodies, but expressed hope that it would be done by nightfall.

WTSTC-Exes Organize; International Relations Unit Studies Conflict

Dawson Will Be Chairman

A Lubbock county chapter of ex-students of West Texas State Teachers college, Canyon, was organized Monday night at a meeting in the Pine room of Hotel Lubbock. Miss Opal Sloan was elected queen to represent the group at a coronation which will feature homecoming activities at the college this week-end. The ceremony will be held Friday night.

Officers of the chapter are: Chairman, G. E. Dawson; secretary, Miss Mary Lou Roberson; membership chairman, Miss Marie Miles.

The next meeting will be on November 2 at Hotel Lubbock. The group is anxious for every ex-student of W. T. S. T. C. in Lubbock county to join the organization.

Assembly Formed Of Past Presidents

One feature of the convention of the seventh district, Texas Federation of Music clubs, which was held at Childress last week-end was the organization of a Past President's assembly. This is the first chapter to be formed in Texas. Mrs. I. D. Cole of Amarillo, a member of the national board, organized the assembly which elected the following officers:

President, Mrs. C. C. Ferguson of Hereford; vice-president, Mrs. A. W. McKee; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. R. H. Hester. Mrs. Raymond Marshall president of the Lubbock Music club, also is a charter member.

Mrs. Hester was elected a state board member at the convention which was attended by 100 women. Miss Inez Rudy, state president, was present throughout the sessions.

Elected to office in the district were: President Mrs. George Robertson of Childress; vice-president, Mrs. W. H. Dallas of Brownfield; recording secretary, Mrs. A. O. Thompson of Hereford; treasurer, Mrs. Robert McCoy of Pampa; parliamentarian, Mrs. McKee; historian, Mrs. H. L. Broadwell.

Shower Is Courtesy For Mrs. Ausmus

Mrs. Perry J. Ausmus, who was Miss Mattie Randolph before her marriage, was honored at an informal reception and miscellaneous shower given in the F. R. Friend home, 2005 Broadway, Monday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Hostesses were Mesdames J. J. Smelser, J. W. Baze, Lena McElroy, S. D. Buchanan, Misses Margaret Mallard and Ruth McCormick.

Mrs. Smelser and Miss Mallard presided at the refreshment table which was centered with a bowl of roses.

Guests were Mesdames Frank L. Winn, Floe Swenson, Ed S. Wilson, W. S. Posey, D. R. Couch, Clark M. Mullican, Roy Riddel, Lucile Smith, Stacy Randolph, C. E. Moreman, Bob Crump of Shallowater, Randolph Houston, Clayton Gammill, Susie Mae Laird, J. M. Anderson, Friend, Misses Marguerite Whipp, Irma Pryor, Dorothy Levey, Effie Puryear, Edith Ausmus, Ruth E. Ford and Elsie V. Link.

Legion Auxiliary Party Is Given At Hall On Monday

Members of the American Legion auxiliary attended a social Monday night at the Legion hall. Hostesses were Mesdames Lottie Hilton, Charles Hvass and W. L. Daniel.

Membership is the theme of this month's activity since membership lists are to go to the state department by November 15.

Mrs. H. B. Bryan won high score in bridge and Mrs. W. M. Ryan was high in forty-two games.

Others present were Mesdames Hugh Slagle, S. H. Bain, George Brewer, A. I. Glassman, F. A. Kleinschmidt, J. H. Hackfield, Earl Moore, George S. Berry, P. W. Wood, J. D. Rondeaux and W. H. Waln.

Violin Pupils To Play In Recital At Dunn Home

Miss Beulah Dunn, 1811 Ninth street, will present a number of violin pupils in recital tonight at 7:30 o'clock at her home.

Those who will play are Harold Bertram, Bill J. Davis, Joseph Boyd, Dorothy Gollihar, Lou Ann and Douglas Hardy, Jean Holt, Marilie and Albert Earl Jones, Donald Kleinschmidt, Doris Kolb, Elaine Milburn, Joan Nislar, Joe D. Payne, Carolyn Reynolds, Mary Elizabeth Teal and Joe Rae Watson.

Re-Schedule Hour For P-TA Meeting Here Thursday

The Central Ward Parent-Teacher association will meet at the school Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, instead of 3:15 o'clock as originally planned. A prize will be given to the room with the largest number of paid memberships.

Leadership Institute Will Be Held At Later Date

The Leadership institute on "Peace or War," which was planned for the Lubbock area for November 15 has been postponed until a later date.

Congressman George H. Mahon, who was scheduled to deliver the main address, and Dr. Bradford Knapp, who was to have conducted a panel on "The Farmer's Stake in World Peace," will be called to Washington, D. C., that week.

This will be one of five institutes sponsored in Texas on the cause and cure of war.

Tech Student Publications Heads Back From Session

Burgess Dixon, Toreador editor, and Morris Laine, business manager, returned Monday afternoon from the 16th annual Collegiate Press association which was held in Chicago from Thursday through Saturday of last week.

Laine said both the Toreador and La Ventana were displayed at the convention among the leading college newspapers and magazines of the country, and that both were discussed at length. The annual was praised as one of the best college year-books, considering the size of the school, the age of the school and the size of the book, which any college has published.

Laine attended the business managers meeting, Dixon the editors session. All the newest methods of writing copy and editorials, setting up the page, arranging advertisements, and making cuts were discussed by leading newspaper men.

Representatives from every state were among the 450 delegates who attended.

Mrs. J. W. Wallace Is Bible Class Leader

Mrs. J. W. Wallace continued a series of Bible lessons at a regular meeting of the Broadway Church of Christ Bible class Monday afternoon at the church. Adjournment was earlier than usual because of a funeral which was held at the church immediately at the close of the meeting.

New Drives For Funds Begun

Sustaining club membership campaigns for South Plains Boy Scout council were carried to Lamesa, Amherst and Lockney this morning after drives in five towns Monday saw four exceed their goals and another come within three of its objective, according to information given by Earl M. McClure, council executive.

Amherst and Lockney drives will continue only today while that at Lamesa will carry over through Wednesday. Local chairmen are C. A. Baldwin at Lamesa, Ed Whitfill at Lockney and Allen H. White at Amherst.

Chairmen Are Announced

Scenes of Wednesday's campaigns and chairmen are, additional to Lamesa: O'Donnell, C. E. Ray; Silverton, R. E. Douglas; Plainview, R. Q. Silverthorne; and Hale Center, Gene Hammitt.

W. L. Davis, chairman of the roundup at Post, M. A. McLaughlin at Ralls, and J. Randall Whitworth at Matador reported that their designated goal had been attained and that they were "over the top". Finance Chairman Harley Dallas of Brownfield stated. John C. Jenkins, chairman of the Slaton roundup, reported that his team lacked only three memberships, and were almost through in their drive. J. C. Rhoderick at Quitaque announced the postponement of activities until later in the month.

National Girl Scout Week To Be Observed In City

Plans were made for observance of National Girl Scouts week, October 25-30, at a meeting of the Local Girl Scout council at 9 o'clock this morning in the home of Mrs. M. C. Overton, 1808 Broadway.

Mesdames W. L. Stangel and W. S. McDonald were received as council members. Others attending were Mesdames W. D. Wilson, George Finberg, R. F. Hinchey, F. A. Kennedy, R. S. Rodgers and A. B. Cunningham.

The council will sponsor a rummage sale on Saturday, November 6.

KEEN AND TANGY AS A MOUNTAIN BREEZE!

Just changing brands doesn't always give you a change in coffee! Most ordinary brands taste alike because they all use the same kind of coffee —grown in the lowlands. That's why you'll get such a thrill out of your first cup of Folger's! You taste a different kind of coffee—grown in the mountains!

Folger brings you coffees from tiny mountain-top plantations in Central America! Up there coffee flourishes in an amazingly fertile volcanic soil, drenching tropic rains and clean, bright mountain sunshine. And acquires a flavor so rich it makes lowland coffees taste thin and flat by comparison.

This extra flavor makes Folger's more economical, too! Housewives tell us they use ¼ less of Folger's than of ordinary brands—and still get better coffee that's more mellow, more flavorful, more full-bodied!

Enjoy its richer flavor and greater economy yourself. Order Folger's today!

FDR Says Local And Private Relief Activities Must Be Increased

Appeal Is Made In Chest Drive

(By The Associated Press)

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Oct. 19.—President Roosevelt declared last night local and private relief activities "must be increased" as federal help for the needy is curtailed in an effort to balance the budget and avoid higher taxes.

In a nationwide radio appeal from his Hyde Park home for "generous" support by the people in the annual Community Chest relief fund drive, he said the nation must not become "blinded by the welcome light of returning prosperity to the very real need that still exists for a considerable part of our population."

Must Narrow Circle

"The federal government with the return of prosperity," he added, "must more and more narrow the circle of its relief activities and reduce the amount of federal revenue to be expended in the amelioration of human want and distress in the various communities of our land.

"I say this because we all agree that unless federal taxes are to be greatly increased, the expenditures have to be brought within the existing tax receipts."

The president spoke on the program of the Community Mobilization For Human Needs.

Must Have Cooperation

"This work can only go forward with the generous cooperation of all of us," the president said. "The Community Chest offers us once again the opportunity to express our fundamental belief in the principles on which our democracy was founded, by the generous, wholehearted and spontaneous giving or our money and our good will.

"I ask you to help even more greatly than ever before."

The president said the nation must not forget there are "people still hungry, their children undernourished; that rags are the clothing of many of our countrymen and miserable shacks or crowded city tenements their only home.

Must Go Forward

"These are the things that make it imperative for us to go forward without hesitation in our efforts to bring security, opportunity, and a decent standard of living to all our people, so that our prosperity may be a more true prosperity for the whole nation."

He made a special appeal that "federal officials and our government employees wherever they are found ought to take a leading part in cooperating with local and community relief workers in carrying forward their unremitting" campaign.

Asserting state and local governments were assuming an increased responsibility for those unable to work and the sick, he said the generosity of private giving "makes possible the never-ceasing campaign waged by private welfare agencies to bring opportunities otherwiss denied; to render needed services not otherwise available and to pioneer in new fields that widen the horizon of us all."

Trouble Breaks In Holy Land

(By The Associated Press)

JERUSALEM, Oct. 19—Heavy casualties were inflicted on a large band of Syrians attempting to cross the Palestine frontier today, unconfirmed reports said, as the government of British-mandated Palestine retaliated for recent outrages.

Military sappers, army engineer units, blew up homes of Arabs involved in raiding a derailed train Friday, the reports stated, and blasted two houses in Lydda in punishment for the burning of new airport buildings there Saturday.

Districts Are Patroled

Strong guard detachments patrolled many Holy Land districts to prevent further violence.

Lydda inhabitants remained in their homes 22 hours a day since a strict curfew regulation permitted them only two hours daily in which to buy food and graze their animals.

Given Plenary Powers

(In London the colonial office said it was without details of the reported retaliatory measures, but Palestine officials had been given plenary powers to deal with any situation arising.)

The government Gazette announced Sheik Hussam ed Din Jarallah, considered one of the likeliest successors to the Moslem mufti as president of the Palestine Supreme council, had accepted appointment to a commission administering Moslem funds.

His acceptance was seen as foreshadowing Arab cooperation with the commission. The other two commissioners are British officials.

Kilted Scottish soldiery deployed over the Hebron countryside southwest of Jerusalem in pursuit of Arabs who had raided a police arsenal almost under the noses of native constables.

Other British troops patrolled the streets of Jerusalem wearing steel helmets for the first time since the bloody Arab-Jew conflicts of 1936.

Good Will Trip To Hobbs Set

Twenty-three reservations already have been made for the neighborly visit to be paid by a Lubbock delegation to Hobbs, N. M., and intermediate towns Thursday, according to announcement this morning by Eli C. Henley, manager of Axtell company, general chairman of arrangements.

The trip will be sponsored by the good neighbor committee of the chamber of commerce as the first of several during the fall and early winter.

Reservations Are Made

Among those who had made reservations this morning were: Morris Levine, E. M. Shoshone, J. D. Jenkins, Ed D. Allen, Louie F. Moore, Floyd Jackson, Carl Slaton, Ross McWhorter, J. D. Hassell, jr., Clayton Gammill, W. O. (Dan) Daniels, Russell Morrison, DeWitt Landis, Ray Farmer, Cecil White, J. H. Beasley, A. W. May, Dick Shinkle, Dude Buster, H. D. Woods, Chas S. Purcell and A. H. Maas.

The reservations, the chairman said, insure the necessity of at least one bus for transportation with the likelihood that another will be required.

The tentative itinerary for the Hobbs trip, according to Henley, is: leave Lubbock city hall at 7:30 a. m.; Plains, from 9 to 9:30 a. m.; Tatum, N. M., 10:30 to 11 a. m.; Lovington, N. M., 11:45 to 12:15; arrive Hobbs, 12:45 p. m. and depart at 4 p. m., returning to Lubbock at 6:30 p. m. Lunch will be eaten at Hobbs at a place yet to be selected.

To Visit Oil Fields

The trip, Henley pointed out, will provide opportunity to visit one of the most rapidly developing regions in both Texas and New Mexico. Centering about Plains is an oil development which gives promise of becoming one of the largest in the nation, while Hobbs already is the center of a major oil field.

Opportunity will be given, the chairman assured, for a first hand observation of all the activities now taking place along the route.

Ancient Customs Revived By New Deal, Vandy Man Says

DALLAS, Oct. 19. (AP)—Dr. Gustavus W. Dyer of the Vanderbilt university faculty told the International Association of Ice Cream Dealers here Monday the "New Deal" had "revived ancient customs of government at the expense of industrial progress."

Dyer said in the Seventeenth century economics differed little from that of 2,000 years earlier. He said government had managed business all those years.

CONCRETE

SAFE AND SAVING

DOLLARS WASTED ON UPKEEP CAN'T BUY NEW ROADS

Inferior roads seem cheap and easy to build. They stretch a paving fund so that it covers a lot of territory. But after a year or two, the trouble begins! Maintenance costs go up and up. Soon all your paving money is spent on upkeep . . . and no more new roads are built.

That's why it's wise—and economical—to build concrete roads. Concrete lasts! It requires almost no upkeep. Each year, the paving fund builds more miles of concrete until the whole job is done—for keeps.

Concrete's smooth, non-skid surface is safe and satisfactory to drive on. It speeds up traffic . . . reduces accidents . . . saves gas, tires and repairs.

Get concrete. Insist on it—for safety, comfort and economy.

Concrete IS THE REAL LOW-COST ROAD

California's Golden Bears Placed At Head Of National Grid Parade

Minnesota In No. 4 Spot; Bama Second

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Headed by California's Golden Bears, ten teams representing every major football-playing section of the United States except the Southwest have been nominated by 55 of the country's leading sports writers as the grid-iron's "first ten" of 1937.

One of them earned its place despite an early-season defeat; four have been tied and all but one or two are in serious danger of being belted down into the lower divisions of the ranking next Saturday even if the wave of upsets begins to recede.

Minnesota In No. 4

Minnesota, leader a year ago and No. 4 in the first 1937 list compiled in an Associated Press poll of sports experts, has an open date so the Gophers' place probably won't be any worse next week. Five of the other first-ten teams, however, run up against rivals that are ranked between 11 and 20 in the poll.

Here's how the leaders were placed, with the votes scored on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis: (first place votes in brackets.)

First Ten	Points
California (25)	442
Alabama (7)	364
Pittsburgh (8)	354
Minnesota (5)	299
Yale (6)	260
Louisiana State (2)	245
Northwestern	168
Nebraska	153
Fordham	108
Duke	96

Will Have Test Saturday

California's Golden Bears undefeated and untied along with Alabama, Yale, Louisiana State and Northwestern, will have to live up to every inch of the reputation earned if they expect to hold their place another week.

Next Saturday California encounters Southern California, a traditional rival which placed eleventh in the poll with 84 points and has given indication of staging a real comeback after a slow start.

Alabama meets George Washington, also undefeated and untied, but likewise unrecognized in the consensus. Pitt, tied by Fordham, tackles Wisconsin, No. 16 on the list with 36 points. Yale faces Cornell, which garnered 17 points for 19th place despite its loss to Syracuse, which wound up 17th with 38 points.

Louisiana State faces the flashy Vanderbilt Commodores, who tied for 20th place with Auburn and Holy Cross, each having 13 points, and Northwestern runs right into Ohio State, which has been beaten only once, was 12th on the list with 63 points.

Nebraska, Fordham and Duke play Missouri, Texas Christian and Colgate, respectively. These three didn't get in among the first 20 but there isn't a push-over in the lot.

Purple Of TCU To Try Out Knocking Noggins In N. Y.

FORT WORTH, Oct. 19 (AP)—The T. C. U. Horned Frogs are going to butt heads with the famous "granite blocks" up in New York next Saturday p. m. according to reliable reports, the business of knocking noggins with that Fordham line is no pink tea but the Purple is going to give it a whirl.

Judging from the way he started grooming his club Monday afternoon, Coach Meyer has no idea of feeding the men with the long names a steady diet of aeronautical legerdermain. Of course, the Frogs will be slinging leather some but they'll also try to move about on land tactics. In other words, the Purple will employ it's usual balance offense.

For the regulars, Monday's drill was a breeze. After a bit of line blocking, some punting and pass drill, the boys who played against A. and M. were turned loose. Most of them perched in the stands to see the reserves in their weekly brawl with Walter Roach's frosh.

Raiders Preparing For New Mexico

Fine Spirit Is Shown After Arizona Game

Texas Tech's Red Raiders took it easy Monday afternoon as Coaches Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith rewarded them for their fine play against the University of Arizona Saturday night.

Showing most spirit since the season opened the Techs went through a series of limbering up exercises to loosen up taut muscles before serious practice starts in preparation for New Mexico university. The Lobos come here Saturday night with one of the best teams in the school's history.

"WIN, LOSE OR DRAW"

Texas Tech coaches, Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith, attribute much of heightened morale of their team Saturday night to the large sign which was suspended on the north end of the stadium. "Win, lose or draw, we are for you" were the words on the sign and was the sentiment of local business men. Contributions of Lubbock men made possible the "note" to the Red Raiders. It was readable from any angle in the stands.

"It did much to fire the boys up," Coach Cawthon said last night.

Tech Coaches Elated

The Red Shirts, boys who did not get into the Wildcat scrap had their hands full scrimmaging Burl Huffman's powerful Frosh. The freshmen made it a clean sweep for Tech Saturday by downing New Mexico Military institute, 48 to 0.

Tech coaches are still elated over work of the team Saturday night. An alert line that kept Arizona powerhouses under cover, and heady backfield work, augmented by nigh-perfect blocking, put the big red team in the "win" column after 3 heartbreaking week-ends. Teamwork, that had been lacking all season, was evidenced. No one man could be tabbed as a star any more than the next.

Championship of the Border conference hinges on the game Saturday night. Coach Cawthon is not taking the Lobos lightly and faces the problem of weeding overconfidence from his squad. The Raiders played the kind of ball of which they have been capable all season last week, but are vulnerable to another defeat if cockiness sets in.

Having got past Arizona Teachers of Flagstaff and the University of Arizona Tech can clinch the title by downing New Mexico. The Wildcats have won the gonfalon two years straight. The locals were not eligible for the crown last year, since a new ruling requiring members to play at least three other members before a title claim would be allowed was made after the 1935 session.

Have Strong Defense

In four games this season against New Mexico Teachers, Denver university, New Mexico Aggies, and Texas School of Mines, the Lobos have yet to be scored on from running plays. Kenneth Heineman, snake-hipped Miner halfback who demonstrated plenty of ability here last Spring against Tech, passed the Muckers into a 7-7 tie with New Mexico Saturday.

Coach Ted Shipkey is serving his first season as head mentor at Albuquerque. His heavy line overshadows work of his backfield as evidenced by strong defensive work to date.

Ray Cole May Start Saturday For Arkansas' Razorbacks

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 19 (AP)—Ray Cole, big sophomore fullback from Ranger, Tex., may have won a starting berth with the Arkansas Razorbacks through his fine line-backing performance against the Texas university Longhorns last Saturday.

Sid Luckman Is Said Good Enough For Anybody's Team

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. — Until that improbable day this winter when a better man shows up, Sid Luckman, black-haired thunderbolt at Columbia university, will do the All-America halfbacking for this corner.

One look in Luckman's rare case, is enough. Another look or two, providing he continues to perform as he did against Pennsylvania, and the beholder might begin doubting his own judgment.

This, then amounts almost to a hunch, put down quickly before cold reasoning says wait a while. The hunch is that the Brooklyn bullet, who still has another season to go, is as great an all-around backfielder as you will find in any football yard this afternoon or any afternoon.

Woefully Short Of Manpower

Unfortunately perhaps, Luckman is playing on a club woefully short of manpower. The Lions have only 14 "first string" players by Coach Lou Little's own count. The forward wall is light and can't withstand a sustained battering by a "power" team. Little fears it will be crumbled a time or so before the season ends.

"When it does I guess you'll discover Luckman's weakness," said the Columbia mentor. "No player, no matter how great, can go places nowadays unless his line is holding its own. But until that happens, you make no mistake about him being a great one."

Entire Columbia Team.

He could have gone further and said, without much exaggeration, that Luckman is the entire Columbia team. About the only thing this six-foot, 195 pounds of dynamite doesn't do is call the signals. He doesn't do that because his coach fears he would be too modest to call his own number about two out of three times, as is customary in the Lions' offense.

Outside of his passing and running, Luckman is a punter who averages around 50 yards and as air-tight a safety man as any team needs. He is, in fact, a bearcat — and it will be interesting to see what befalls him against teams like Cornell, Navy, Stanford, et al, now that this has been written irretrievably.

There are no railroads in Afghanistan.

Smith-Cooper Team Wins Sooner Play

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 19 — Horton Smith and Harry Cooper patted each other on the back today, tied the strings of their fattened purse around $1,200, and pocketed the championship of Oklahoma City's first annual $5,000 four-ball golf tournament.

Favorites when the tournament started last Thursday, the Chicago sharpshooters battled 14 other crack professionals, two by two, over 126 holes in Oklahoma's worst weather and came up with five victories and two defeats to post a dozen points on the plus side of the score board.

Here's the way the select field finished in the invitation tournament:

Win $1,200 Prize

First — Horton Smith and Harry Cooper, both of Chicago, plus 12, $1,200.

Second — Ray Mangrum, Dayton, O., and Johnny Revolta, Evanston, Ill., plus 9, $900.

Third — Ed Dudley, Philadelphia, and Jimmy Hines, New York, plus 3, $700.

Fourth — Paul Runyan, White Plains, N. Y., and Lawson Little, Chicago, plus 2, $600.

Fifth Place $500

Fifth — Ky Laffoon and Dick Metz, both of Chicago, plus 1, $500.

Sixth — Ralph Guldahl, Chicago, and Billy Burke, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., minus 5, $450.

Seventh—Zell Eaton and Francis Schleider, both of Oklahoma City, minus 8, $300.

Eighth—Jimmy Thomson, Shawnee-On-The-Delaware, and Tommy Armour, Chicago, minus 14, $250.

Smith and Cooper, who also won the special $100 for the low ball of the tournament with a 63, finished three points ahead of Revolta and Mangrum by whipping Guldahl and Burke in yesterday's final round, 3-up.

SMOOTHS OUT DEFECTS

WACO, Oct. 19 (AP) — Coach Morley Jennings Monday worked the Baylor Bears on Texas A. & M. plays and smoothed out defects noticed in formations during last Saturday's Centenary game. It was announced that Herman Rose, center, would be out three weeks with a leg injury.

ACCEPT APPOINTMENTS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—The war department announced Arthur Agan, jr., of Corpus Christi, Tex., and Richard Pendleton Carr of San Antonio have accepted appointments as second lieutenants in the reserve air corps.

Punts and Passes

No Screw Balls

(By The Associated Press)

EAST LANSING, Mich. — For a moment Dave Diehl, Michigan State's end, must have had Coach Charley Bachman believing he had discovered a formula for producing strong men to play football. Noting Diehl's fine muscular development, Bachman asked what work he did during the summer.

"Pitching," Dave replied.

"You mean you played baseball?" asked Bachman as he made a mental note to send his footballers out for the diamond squad next spring.

"Nope, pitching it off and pitching it on—hay," said Diehl.

Wade Goes East

DURHAM, N. C. — Wallace Wade will take a football team into the East for the first time in 14 years when Duke's Blue Devils play Colgate at Hamilton, N. Y., Saturday. Wade, who played his football at Brown, hasn't revisited the sector in his official capacity since 1923 when his first Alabama team played Syracuse and took a 23-0 defeat.

Norton Good Guesser

COLLEGE STATION — How's this for accuracy in predicting football results in a day when the experts were taking it on the chin all over the country? Before the Texas Christian game last Saturday Coach Homer Norton of the Texas Aggies said:

"I sure will be glad when we have this game out of the way. I can't see why we have been doped out as such a strong team. T. C. U. is laying for us. The game, to my mind, is a toss-up."

The result was a 7-7 tie.

Doubly Interested

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. — If Ray Wolf, North Carolina's coach, seems to be paying very little attention to the N. C.-Tulane game Saturday, don't pay it any heed. He will merely be wondering about that Fordham-Texas Christian game in New York. Wolf formerly coached Texas Christian and his Tarheels have to play Fordham here Oct. 30.

Kozeluh Defeats Barnes For National Open Net Title

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Oct. 19 (AP) — Karel Kozeluh defeated Bruce Barnes in a gruelling five-set match Monday to take the first national open tennis tournament.

Barnes started slow, staged a comeback to take the third and fourth set but was unable to match Kozeluh's pace in the deciding duel and lost 6-2, 6-3, 4-6, 4-6, 6-1.

Barnes trounced George Lott in a semifinals match, 6-0, 6-2, 7-5. Kozeluh eliminated Joe Whalen, defending professional singles champion, yesterday, 6-1, 6-4, 6-0.

CLAIMS MILEAGE RECORD

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The average airline stewardess quits after two years of service to be married, but Miss Clara Johnson has flown on and on to roll up an aerial mileage of 1,075,000. She claims to have more miles to her credit than any other woman now active in aviation.

Westerners Working For Borger Test

Coach Weldon Chapman's Westerners set out in earnest Monday to round into shape for their fracas with Borger on the latter's field Friday night.

Following Borger, Lubbock plays Pampa here and Plainview at Plainview. Final engagement is with Amarillo there on Thanksgiving day.

Nothing is certain about the Westerner squad. It has faced high class competition only once, that time rising to phenomenal heights to tie Capitol Hill in Oklahoma City. Handicapped by lack of weight and experience, the team has improved steadily since opening the season. But with only the Sooner game to gauge its strength in stiff company it remains more or less an unknown quantity.

Has Light Squad

Coach Chapman becomes no less than incensed when a district title is mentioned for his charges. On paper there is no basis for disputing his opinion. The squad averages barely over 150 pounds, and with Capt. Babe Ritchie, Jumbo Webster and Herb Leaverton on the sidelines Mule Davis's Cowboys might check in more tonnage. All three have been hampered by injuries recently.

As for experience only Melvin Billings can be added to the above list as returning lettermen. There are four reserve letter winners. Showing of Rusty Johnston, Coulson Paxton, Dutchy Cawthon, Melvin Cooksey, and Harold Parsons as first year backfield men and some of the rookie linemen has kept the high school mentor from losing all hope.

In Monday's practice session, all hands were out with all recent ailing men back in shape except Cawthon, whose injured side has not completely healed. Ritchie's knees were giving him trouble, Webster's toes were better, and although sore, Leaverton's fractured hand will allow him to play Friday night.

With these men back in uniform, Coach Chapman can put a presentable team on the field for the Borger joust. Heavy practice sessions will be the vogue at Westerner practice field until the coaches lighten up Thursday.

Four Pick Pro Golfers To Play Dallas Matches Today

DALLAS, Oct. 19. (AP)—Four of the nation's best known men golf professionals will play an exhibition 18-hole best ball match here today.

They are Harry Cooper, Horton Smith, Lawson Little, and Jimmy Thomson. Cooper and Smith will play against Little and Thomson.

From Dallas the quartette will go to Houston, then Shreveport, La., and Little Rock, Ark.

Pittsburgh's Pirates May Be Broken Up

If's Cleveland Or St. Louis For Tony

Popovich Being Boomed For All-America

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 19—Flash—The Pittsburgh Pirates will be broken up, if they can get what they want . . . Except for Pitchers Bauers, Tobin and Bowman; Catcher Todd and Infielders Brubaker and Handley, they're ready to shoot the works—Waners and all. . . Arky Vaughn is definitely on the block—Jimmy Kelly, the Greenwich village night club king, will bid for The Chief when O. V. Whitney's big racing stable goes under the hammer next month.

Not since this corner can remember have so many top flight football teams been on the outside looking in this early in the season. . . . Solly Krieger, the middleweight, is running for councilman in one of the Brooklyn districts and may make it. . . on his way home to Memphis, Bill Terry stopped off in Richmond and presented Eddie Mooers, owner of the Colts, with a giant wind-breaker and two balls autographed by every member of the team.

Cleveland Or St. Louis

Is it Cleveland or St. Louis for Tony Lazzeri? . . . Mike Jacobs and Joe Gould spotted walking up Sixth avenue in their new camel's hair topcoats. . . On, on, . . somebody had better look out. . . Ancil Hoffman is due tomorrow from California to line up some winter biz for the Messrs. Baer. . . . one of the strongest all-star teams in any league (collitch or pro) could be assembled from the Smiths, Johnsons and Millers in the National pro league. . . . Five Smiths, as many Johnsons and four Millers do their stuff regular in that loop. . . . and here's another odd one; when the Green Bay Packers lined up against the Cleveland Rams Sunday, Mike Michalske, a native of Cleveland, played guard for Green Bay, while Richard Zoll, who hails from Green Bay, was at guard for the Rams.

Like War Admiral

Attention, Mr. Alan Gould: Western scouts say you should not overlook a guy named Popovich, now running with U. of Montana, when making your All-American selections. . . . Seems this gent is very regular at halfbacking—never flies the white flag and when he gets off to a fast lope can click those furlongs off like War Admiral.

Coach Francis Schmidt of Ohio State is making a habit of losing championships by one point. . . . He lost to Illinois 14 to 13 in 1934. Last year he dropped a heartbreaker to Northwestern, 14 to 13 and so far this year has lost a 13 to 12 game to Southern California.

Delisting Of Texas Security Is Requested By Exchange

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19. (AP)—The Securities commission announced today it had granted application for the delisting of a Texas security issue.

The application, by the New York Stock exchange, asked that the 4 3-4 per cent convertible debentures of El Paso Natural Gas company, El Paso, Texas, be stricken from listing and registration. The exchange asked delisting on the grounds the number of these debentures in the hands of the public had been reduced by conversion.

Official Report Of Disaster Is Made By Red Cross

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 19. (AP)—The American Red Cross this week began distributing to Texas chapters its official report of the New London school explosion months ago.

The report shows $52,067 was expended by the Red Cross. Of the total, $21,620 was contributed by individuals and other organizations. Medical and nursing costs amounted to $21,380, while burial expenses assumed by the relief agency totaled $14,720, the report reveals. Rescue, transportation, mass shelter, food, clothing and maintenance are other major items of cost listed by the Red Cross.

Of mor than 100 injured, the Red Cross cared for 77 cases. Follow-up work has included some plastic surgery and providing an artificial leg for the only victim permanently crippled by the explosion. In addition, Red Cross nurses have made 451 home visits.

Drive Started At Amarillo

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Oct. 19—"Get together or get out!"

With that terse admonition to the leaders of the two warring unions, organized labor in Amarillo last night initiated a movement planned to spread to every labor local in the United States and Canada.

Within a few days over 500 principal union organizations in this country and Canada will receive postcards, urging them to get behind this revolt of the rank and file of organized labor and force William Green and John Lewis to "cease making political footballs of the union workers."

"Sick And Tired"

There is nothing of heresy or radicalism in this movement, its leaders declare, adding "we are sick and tired of having the layman getting the wrong impression of the unions because of all this bickering and factionalism."

Green, American Federation of Labor head, and Lewis, leader of the Committee for Industrial Organization, will meet next Monday in an attempt to iron out the differences that exist between their two groups. It is in an effort to get complete and conclusive agreement between the two union heads at this meeting that members of Amarillo Typographical local No. 525 have undertaken to create active interest among all unions of the United States and Canada, H. C. Ariderson, chairman of the G. T. O. G. O. committee declared.

Want Cessation Of Warfare

Anderson declared: "we want a cessation of the warfare existing between these rival unions. We make no plea for either side—simply ask that members of both groups get behind this movement and let Green and Lewis know we are getting tired of being the pawns in a political game that is bringing nothing but tribulation to the rank and file of organized labor.

"This is not just a local proposition. I canvassed delegates at the International Typographical convention at Louisville, Kentucky, last month, and am safe in saying that 95 per cent of the men I talked to felt action of this kind was necessary.

"Amarillo just happens to be the point initiating the movement. Already unions here have signified their intentions of aiding in bringing harmony to labor, and 600 cards, possibly more, will be mailed from here alone."

Tiny Baby At Morton Making Progress; Weighs 34 Ounces Now; Still In Incubator

(Special To The Journal)

MORTON, Oct. 19. — Nineteen-day old Carol Gwendolyn Sullivan now weighs a lusty 34 ounces—which is very small for the noise she makes.

Especially at mealtime.

This was the information given this afternoon at Morton hospital and clinic where the tiny mite of the South Plains has made her home in an incubator since she arrived last Sept. 30, three months and six days prematurely. Dr. W. A. Seydler is head of the hospital and clinic and has supervision of the little lady's care.

Had One Chance In Thousand

Attendants at the hospital still fear to say what the tiny infant's chances of survival are. Medical history would indicate they aren't any good. But, at the same time, medical history gave her, when she was born, perhaps one chance in a thousand of living 19 days.

But her 19th day found her not only alive—but very much alive. She has gained back the approximately four ounces she lost during the few days following her arrival. She now is fed at two-hour intervals, and if nurse isn't on hand with the grub when mealtime comes, Carol Gwendolyn lets the world know that she is hungry. And she continues to proclaim that fact until she gets what she wants. Further than that, she has begun to take an interest in her surroundings and nurse says she has learned to smile.

Carol Gwendolyn now takes her food from a bottle to which a nipple of special type is fitted. The nurse helps with the pressure, but the infant also helps a little. Her food is a mixture of breast milk supplied by the mother, corn syrup, brandy and tablets which contain needed vitamins A, C and D. The vitamins, it was explained, supply materials needed for bone structure, strengthening against infection, fats and food elements contained in such things as orange juice.

Until recently it was necessary to feed the bady with a medicine dropper, and in much smaller quantities than at present, although a meal now is only about two tablespoonful. However, she now is fed at two hour intervals as compared with each half-hour for a few days following her arrival.

Still A Curiosity

The little lady still is a curiosity and a pride of this section of the South Plains. Hundreds of persons have asked at various times to see her. Some of them even have attempted by ruse to gain admission to the nursery room. But, Dr. Seydler has remained firm in his refusal to admit anyone, fearing the danger of infection which might remove all that remains of the infant's chance of survival. It probably will be six weeks longer before she can safely be taken from her incubator, attendants said.

In the incubator Carol Gwendolyn looks something like a turtle thrown on its back with its head stuck out of its shell. The doctor's ingenuity is entirely responsible for the incubator. Using an ordinary cardboard packing box, he placed a pancake griddle on the bottom, and an electric heating pad on that. A few inches above that he stretched screen wire which is padded and forms the infant's bed. Topping the whole is a cylindrical incubator top with automatic temperature control which was loaned by Plains hospital and Clinic of Lubbock.

The top is of metal except for an opening at one end. The body of the baby lies inside the incubator and her head protrudes through the opening to the outside. That was done because the interior of the incubator is not air conditioned and because it simplifies feeding. An inside temperature of 85 degrees is maintained constantly.

Mrs. Fred Sullivan, mother of the baby, has resumed her housework on their farm near Morton, but visits the hospital twice daily. Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan have one other child, a boy now eight years old who was of normal size and weight when born.

Laredo Gas Rate Case Taken Under Advisement By Court

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19. (AP) — The Supreme court has taken under consideration an attack by the United Gas Public Service company of Texas upon a rate order issued by the state railroad commission.

The order, issued in 1933, required the company to put into effect in Laredo a gas rate schedule of 55 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. That constituted a reduction from 75 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. The Texas courts upheld the order.

Edward H. Long, Laredo city attorney, argued before the supreme court justices that "there were clear discrepancies of major importance" in the company's statement on operating revenue and property values.

F. G. Coates, company counsel, asserted the rate was confiscatory.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of a series of articles written by The Plainsman during a trip through the Rio Grande Valley of Texas and to New Orleans, where he mixed sightseeing with attendance at the national conference of Associated Press editors).

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 15, (By Mail)—One of the greatest of New Orleans' appeals is, of course, its varied cuisine.

No where in this country and, perhaps, no where in the world outside of Paris can one find so many famous eating places and so many people whose aim in life it seems to be to either serve or to consume the last word in rich, tastily prepared dishes of every kind and description.

While New Orleans boasts Southern, Spanish and Creole cuisine, it is the French style of cooking, carried down from the France of the 1700's, that makes it famous.

The French cuisine—and especially that part of it which has to do with sea foods—has made over the generations and still is making New Orleans the capital of the professional gourmet and of a whale of a lot of common, ordinary people who just like to eat.

IN the old French quarter are located all but one of New Orleans' famous restaurants and it—Kolb's—is a German cafe.

Undoubtedly the leading restaurant, and also the highest, is Antoine's, which daily draws some world celebrity to its equally as celebrated doors for Antoine's specialties—Oysters Rockefeller, or Pompano papillote—as well as drawing a raft of serious eaters of ordinary stature but who have plenty of dough for food and drink.

As is the case in the other leading French restaurants—Broussard's, Arnaud's, Galatoire's and La Louisiane—the guest at Antoine's is served by the most professionally snooty French waiters and, although not one per cent of the apple knockers who go there can read or speak French, all menus are in the language of La Belle.

Whether that's to give the patron an inferiority complex or to cause him to spend more trying to order a complete meal, The Plainsman doesn't know.

But there must be a reason for it, since Antoine's does not deign to offer a table d'hote dinner and if you can get anything to eat in there for less than $2.50 to $3.50 a person you're a champion!

The queer French quirk which has enabled France to gyp the U. S. on its war debt obligations crops out in copious quantities in the crack French restaurants here.

Boy, can they stick it to you!

* * *

But to continue with the story of Antoine's which, to a lesser degree, is the story of the leading food palaces of New Orleans.

The place was founded in 1840 by one Antoine Alciatore who, after operating it until 1885, betook himself back to his native France to live the balance of his days.

Succeeding the original Antoine was his son, Jules, who carried on for papa but who, after building up a considerable fortune, died in 1930, leaving in charge his son—grandson of the original Antoine—at the helm. The present operator of this cuisine gold mine is Roy Alciatore who is carrying on the Antoine tradition of swell food and supercilious service at prices approximately 200 per cent above par.

Antoine's is housed in the same building in which it was established 97 years ago and every famous American name—plus scads of foreign ones—from those of Will Rogers, Helen Morgan and O. O. McIntyre to President Roosevelt, Enrico Caruso and James V. Allred are listed among the patrons of the joint.

Antoine's is severely plain inside and almost tumble-down outside. Its plates and cutlery are dignified and to suggest that it might be a good idea to offer a little music with the grub doubtless would cause Manager Alciatore to have a nervous breakdown.

It is a great place to eat, however, and Antoine's slogan, "Not to have eaten at Antoine's is almost saying that you have never been to New Orleans," is about as literally true as it could be.

* * *

BEFORE leaving the traditional eating places of New Orleans, The Plainsman can't refrain from listing probably the strangest of them all—The Morning Call.

The Morning Call specializes in French doughnuts—two for a nickel—and bitter, Louisiana coffee with chicory—for a nickel—and, in fact, serves nothing else.

Located at a corner of the ancient French market in which is spoken all the languages of the world and in which is smelled all the smells in the world, The Morning Call simply has a series of oldfashioned, granite-topped counters, great silver sugar bowls on them, round stools in front of them and mirrors running entirely around the room. The great coffee pots, never empty and never cold (for The Morning Call runs 24 hours per day) are in plain sight, flanking the cash register.

There, between 3 and 4 in the morning, stevedores rub shoulders with debutantes and at all other hours around the clock all classes of Orleanians mix and mingle while engaging in the popular pastime of drinking coffee and dunking doughnuts.

If Antoine's is a tradition in New Orleans—and it undoubtedly is that—The Morning Call is literally a part of the bone and the sinew of a great, albeit slightly dizzy, city.

AS these lines are typed The Plainsman is preparing to set sail for home, via Baton Rouge, Shreveport and Dallas.

He has enjoyed to the fullest a careful and systematic inspection of the Crescent City, its old and its new sections, its romance, its historical backdrop and even all the hokum and the hooey which goes with it.

But somehow or another this fine city with its great educational institutions, its culture, its great industries and financial institutions, seems to be more of a place one would want to annually visit than to live all the time.

If the reader can get the point, New Orleans is more a place to be gawked at than a place to be accepted and enjoyed in the same comfortable way one enjoys an old pair of house slippers, or a well worn easy chair.

Personally, we hope to return to New Orleans for a longer stay some day—and for a stay unbroken by a back-breaking series of conferences in rooms thick with tobacco smoke and filled with arguing editors.

But until we learn to appreciate more this intriguing city and surrounding country, we'll take vanilla—or, even better, we'll take the Plains.

There's no hanging moss there, but, by gosh, a guy can get his breath and venture around the corner without lugging a rain coat!

being seen with Professor Armstrong, the new man in the chemistry department, altogether too often. People are talking."

Coral laughed unbelievingly. "You must be wrong, Donna. Why should they? Other girls go around with some of the younger men in the different departments."

"Not as often as you go with David Armstrong. You haven't had another date since you met him a month ago, and you've dated him three or four times a week."

"Suppose I have. What of it?"

"There's this of it. It's easy to see that he has eyes for no one but you, and you're as silly about him. It's not just students but the faculty as well who're stewing. I heard Dean Mathews and Miss Parmenter, the librarian, talking in the Tea Kettle this noon. They didn't see me, but I heard every word they said. Miss Parmenter said you were setting a bad example and a stop should be put to your going with Professor Armstrong, and Miss Mathews said there would be. She said she thought you had more sense than to fall in love with a professor, but that she was apparently wrong. They said plenty more, let me tell you. It's all right to date him casually, but you know they don't tolerate marriages 'or even engagements between teachers and students at Elton. Why, they won't even permit student marriages, the dump is so out of date."

Coral was disturbed. "That's absurd, Donna. David Armstrong doesn't care a thing for me, and I. . . . Well, we're nothing but good friends."

Donna's lips curled in mockery. "That line might go over better if he wasn't such a Greek god. You're crazy about each other, and if the two of you don't know it everyone else does. He's asked you to the faculty dance tonight, and the only other students there will be those who have jobs in one of the departments or in the library. If you had any sense you wouldn't go. But, then, you know everything, don't you, dear?" She laughed nastily, maliciously, and left the room.

Coral sank down on the window seat, her mind whirling. Surely it couldn't be true, Donna was exaggerating. There was no harm in seeing David . . . being with him outside the classroom. How could there be? She loved David. And then her heart stopped for a moment. It was out, that which she had never before admitted even to herself. She loved David! Loved him with all her heart, truly, passionately, deeply. There was no happiness in the world without him, no world at all. But what then? Did he love her? And if he did what hope was there? The college authorities would frown, her parents would be furious because of Hoyt. Hoyt, what of him?

And then there was a knock on the door. "Caller for you, Coral." David was here, waiting. No time now to think of Hoyt, or anyone else. With a last look into the mirror she caught up bag, wrap and gloves and ran down the stairs to David, whom she loved.

As they drove the few blocks to the gymnasium in David's low-slung roadster they were both too full of conflicting emotions and yet unsaid words for speech. As they went into the building David handed her a square white box. "Thought you might like these," he said.

She opened the box. Five camellias, satiny white and fragrant. "Oh, I do. Now let me rush to the cloak room and put them on. Wait for me." For the moment, she was gone, and David's heart was in his eyes as he watched her disappear.

Five minutes later Coral and David met at the entrance of the gymnasium proper, which, decorated for the occasion, served as a ballroom. "Coral, you look so beautiful," said David, then, "Gosh, I'd forgotten. We'll have to go down the receiving line."

As they passed along the file of men and women, arm in arm, speaking to each in turn, a little chill entered Coral's mind. Had Donna been right? Was it her imagination, or were some of these people not quite cordial to her? Did they disapprove her presence there? For a fleeting instant she wished she had not come, then the kindly greeting of Professor Maxwell, David's superior in the chemistry department, put her at her ease again.

"Professor Maxwell is a grand person, isn't he?" Coral said as they began to dance.

"He is that," said David, then his voice lowered and he spoke into her ear. "I started to tell you how beautiful you look, but our social obligations interfered. Now there aren't any words. That's the loveliest dress, you're the loveliest girl, here or any place."

Coral's heart beat gladly. Her dress was pretty. Deep violet blue tulle, the color of her eyes, studded with sequin stars. "You'll turn my head. Besides, it's only the dress."

"It's more than that, Coral. It's you." The gray eyes looked into hers. A little flame burned in them and was reflected back. "Oh, Coral, I hadn't meant to say this for a long time, but I can't help myself. I love you, darling. Coral, do you love me?"

Suddenly the music faded and the floor. After a long time, Coral spoke. "I love you, too, David."

He caught her closer to him, then laughed exultantly. "Sweetheart, say it again. I can't believe it."

"I love you, Professor Armstrong. I do indeed." Coral's laugh, soft and happy, joined his.

David grasped her hand, and oblivious of the glances which followed them, they left the ballroom. Wordlessly they found their wraps and entered the roadster. "Now," said David, then huskily, "My darling." Their lips met, parted, met again.

She answered him dreamily. "Yes, sweet, of course." Then she remembered. "David, we can't. Not for a long time. Not till I've graduated."

"Why not?"

"They don't like our seeing so much of each other now. They'd never let us marry."

"Why do we have to tell them?"

"We couldn't keep it a secret, darling. They'd find out, separate us."

"No, they wouldn't. It's March now . . . you graduate in June. Not long to keep a secret, but forever to wait. I want to be sure of you . . . never wake from this dream. Sweet, marry me tonight."

Coral started. "Tonight! where could we go? Who would marry us? We've no license. It would be impossible!"

"We could be over the state line in half an hour. There's a minister at Fairfield and we could be married right away. Will you come, Coral?"

It was mad. It was crazy, Coral told herself. But her heart said yes over and over . . . and her lips said it, too.

* * *

Four hours later, the roadster came to a stop before the sorority house. Coral's head was on David's shoulder, on her finger was his signet ring. She would wear it tonight, then hide it away till June.

"My wife, my sweet wife," said David. "Are you sorry, Coral?"

She turned her lips to his in answer. Then . . . "I must go in, dear."

"I suppose so," he sighed. "It will be wonderful when we can be together always."

He helped her out of the car and walked with her to the door. They kissed again, deeply, warmly. At last they separated. As David went back to the car, a thought, sharp-edged, guilty, struck Coral. The car was starting. She must tell him tonight, before he heard the distorted truth from someone else. Hoyt! David must know about him.

"David," she called, forgetful of the sleeping house. "I must tell you something. Come back!" But he had not heard. The roadster shot down the street, around a curve. He was gone, and she had not told him. Perhaps tomorrow. She must tell him then.

A POWER FOR PEACE

Not many days go by without an example of the power of propaganda. It has been brought to a fine art since the days of the World war, and today almost no end is beyond its highly developed means. It is an art which can, and does, contribute to the diplomatic success of nations, the political success of parties, the commercial success of businesses, even the social or personal success of individuals.

With so many impressive victories behind it, one wonders what would happen if the full force of organized propaganda was turned on for worldwide peace. Imagine every means at the command of the propagandists turned toward international pacifism. Suppose that at every turn we were brought face to face with the horrors and the futility and the costliness of war, the wisdom of arbitration, the benefits of peace. Imagine peace advertised to the extent that war was in the last world conflict, or even to the degree of a movie star, or cigarettes or toothpaste in the recent years. Wouldn't we become "peace conscious," as the advertising men say, intolerant of war?

A Thought . .

It is better to trust in the Lord than to put confidence in man—Psalms 118, 8.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 19.—Once Carli D. Elinor was the most important musical figure in motion pictures. No one would suggest that he is any less a musician now—but what have they got him doing He's conducting a dummy orchestra in "The Goldwyn Follies."

When D. W. Griffith made his famous "Birth of a Nation," the first silent picture to be accompanied on its rounds by a special musical score, it was Elinor who did the composing and arranging. He did the same for Griffith's "Intolerance," "Broken Blossoms" and "Hearts of the World."

The music for "Hearts of the World" was the last he wrote before starting off to the war, but he paused in New York to conduct the 60-piece orchestra which opened the picture in 1918. After the war he toured the country with an orchestra, until in 1920 Samuel Goldwyn brought him here to conduct at the California Theater. He remained five years and was more of an attraction than any of the pictures shown. He always got top billing.

During his first year at the theater Elinor hired a promising young singer to appear with his orchestra. The fellow's favorite number was "Sunshine of Your Smile," and for warbling it he got $25 a week. His name was Lawrence Tibbett.

Vacation A Mistake

Elinor next became manager of the Carthay Theater, the spot where the largest premieres now are held, and also conducted the orchestra. He stayed there four years, until the movies became talkies and Fox Films made him studio musical director. Two of his best-known scorings there were for "What Price Glory," and "Seventh Heaven."

Along in 1932, when musicals had slumped and things generally were pretty dull, Elinor quit his directorship and visited his old home in Bucharest, Rumania.

His visit lengthened into three years, and although it was a happy one it was a big mistake. For things move quickly in Hollywood, and names are forgotten. Back here he found new faces, new executives, tune-factories humming with a new efficiency. For two years he has been marking time, hoping for a break, wondering whether he and his baton ever would face a concert orchestra again.

The smallish, handsome man with the thinning black hair and waxed mustache is working now. He is waving his baton before a mute dance orchestra. Their instruments make no sound because the music already has been recorded (by another band) and the musicians are merely acting for the playback, synchronizing the action to the notes.

When the call for an orchestra leader went to the Goldwyn music department, Charles Dunnworth, assistant musical director, knew just the man for the job. The reason he knew Elinor was that Dunworth had learned almost everything he knew by working under Elinor years ago.

The Pace That Kills

Hollywood is like that. You can't quit. You can't even rest. The procession moves on, and there is no rejoining it after dropping from the ranks. The dilemma of stars is whether to make two pictures a year and, if one happens to be bad, risk being forgotten, or whether to make three or four pictures and risk being seen too often by the fans.

You hear innumerable jokes about idle executives—the feet-on-the-desk jokes, the golf jokes, and the jokes about dalliance with pretty secretaries. Yet the topnotch men in this business are there largely by virtue of great physical stamina. Darryl Zanuck is one, Louis B. Mayer another. Goldwyn works night and day. One of these three men already is suffering periodic collapses. David O. Selznick, though, is the one most mentioned as setting the most killing pace.

And the pace does kill. Men with more money than they could spend in two lifetimes push ahead, harder and harder, until they drop. When they drop, the studios observe a minute of silence. Then the ranks close up and the procession goes on.

Maritime Commission Has Parcel Of Aches Ready For Ship Operators Of The Nation

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19. — News leaks from the Maritime Commission indicate that Chairman Joe Kennedy, before he quits at the end of the year, will hand out a parcel of headaches for various ship operators.

Dutcher

Current subsidies will be whittled or drastically cut in the case of some shipping lines, if anticipated recommendations based on the commission's economic study of the shipping industry are carried out.

About 185 ocean-going ships now enjoy federal subsidies granted for six months in settlement of canceled ocean mail contracts, but Kennedy is trying to figure out how much of the money is justified from economic and military standpoints. Privately, it's promised that the day is over when ship operators could reach into the public till and see what they could abstract. Some shipping officials and lines which have been supported in luxury are expected to suffer.

Current temporary subsidies will be replaced after Jan. 1 by long-term subsidy contracts subject to possible annual revision.

Dahl In No Great Danger

Officials here refused to be agitated over the dramatic court-martial of Harold Dahl, American aviator, by the Francoites in Spain. Dahl had sailed from Mexico with a Spanish passport under a Spanish name and was shot down while flying for Loyalist forces last July. He and the lovely Mrs. Dahl and the American correspondents began an effective publicity campaign at once.

Officially the State Department can't do anything when an American serving in a foreign army is said to be threatened with death. Actually it usually does and an American consul secretly reminded Franco that it wasn't a polite practice to execute prisoners of war.

Franco agreed. Reason for the well-publicized court-martial and

"Just Once, Lew"

Lew Douglas, former budget director who becomes head of Canada's McGill University, was as extreme in his opposition to federal spending as the most rabid New Deal spending enthusiast was in advocacy. Once at a conference on the question of what could be done for postal service substitutes, many of whom were living rather desperately on three or four dollars a week, he clashed with Senator Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming, then assistant postmaster general and recently conspicuous for his genial insistence on helping welcome Roosevelt to Wyoming.

"I don't want to be brutal—," began Douglas, addressing the conferees, "but—"

"I know, Lew," broke in O'Mahoney, "but why don't you try being human just for once."

the death sentence promptly canceled by Franco is not known here. Probably Franco welcomed the chance to suggest to Americans that he was a pretty good fellow after all. Everyone ought to be happy, suggests a State Department official, because newspapers had an excuse to keep printing photographs of the very beautiful Mrs. Dahl.

The Scheme Works

The Iowa City Power & Light company's suit to invalidate a PWA loan-grant for a municipal power plant was dropped the other day because the city had decided it didn't want the plant. PWA thinks it can explain the change of mind. After it made a half-million dollar allotment in 1935, the power company, besides blocking the project through court action, announced a rate cut but impounded the resultant savings in accounts for each customer with the announcement that the reduction would be retroactive and effective only if the city decided to have no public plant.

The money mounted up to $72,000 and the average electricity user found he had $25 or more in his special account. The company kept reminding with each monthly bill and urging customers to agitate for their money. The scheme worked.

twelve years I had suffered from constipation which affected my entire system. My stomach became disordered and everything I ate caused terrible distress afterwards. Nervousness and kidney disorder, with their too frequent action, would not let me get a decent night's sleep. Awful stabbing neuritis pains in my neck and shoulders and the rheumatism in my hips and knees caused such pain that I thought I could never stand it. FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS — SECONDHAND! — By BLOSSER

BACK in the early days of football, when Alabama Poly was playing Georgia Tech, the Alabama fullback punted, and the ball went almost straight up into the air, breaking all altitude records. While the 22 men stood in a mass, waiting for it to descend, a small boy on the sidelines added to the confusion by tossing his own football into the air. There was a wild scramble for both footballs. A Tech man finally got one, a Poly player the other . . . but Tech had the real ball.

Los Angeles Man To Take Pulpit Here

Elder G. C. Brewer of Los Angeles has accepted call to the pastorate of Lubbock's Broadway Church of Christ, succeeding John T. Smith whose resignation becomes effective Nov. 1 after having guided the congregation for nearly 12 years, according to announcement Monday by church officials.

Mr. Smith will deliver his farewell sermons here Sunday, Oct. 31, and will then leave immediately for San Angelo to assume his duties as pastor of the church there. On Nov. 3 he will open a revival at San Angelo for Elder Horace W. Busby.

Brewer will be the sixth pastor of the church here which was established 38 years ago. During Mr. Smith's pastorate, membership of the denomination here has grown from approximately 300 to more than 1,800, of whom 1,200 are in the Broadway church and 600 in the Avenue G church, which Smith helped to organize.

Meeting To Be Held To Start Work On Next Market Event

Winding up the old and preparations for the new will be the dual task confronting officers and directors of West-Tex New-Mex Wholesale Clothing Market association at a meeting to be held late this week at a time yet to be set, according to announcement at the chamber of commerce.

The association is official sponsor of the semi-annual clothing market week and fashion revue. The fall show was held last week and another will be held next spring.

Final reports on the event of last week will be received, but of more importance will be the initial preparations for that to be held next spring.

Months of preparation, it was explained, are necessary to stage a successful event of that kind and the objective of the spring week and revue will be one to surpass that just closed, officials explained.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the undersigned has filed his application with the Clerk of the United States District Court in and for the Western District of Texas Waco Division, for an order authorizing him to sell and convey to Ernest R. Fults and wife, Ethel Fults, all of Lot Eight (8) in Block Sixty-seven (67) of Highland Heights Addition to the city of Lubbock, Lubbock County, Texas, together with all improvements thereon situated, and for a consideration of $2500.00, and of which amount $450.00 will be paid in cash, and the balance, $2050.00 to be evidenced by one note in said sum, to be executed by said purchasers payable to the order of the undersigned at his office in the city of Temple, Bell County, Texas, and said note to become due and payable in 120 monthly installments of $23.80 each, the first installment to become due and payable December 1, 1937, and one each on the first day of each succeeding 119 months, to bear interest from June 1, 1937 at the rate of seven per cent per annum, the interest to become due and payable monthly, and each payment when made to be applied first to the accrued interest on said note and the balance to the principal, and to provide that failure to pay any monthly installment of principal or interest thereon when due shall at the option of the holder mature said note, to stipulate for ten per cent additional as attorney's fees, and said note to be secured by a vendor's lien and deed of trust lien on the property and premises above described.
Said application will be heard by the Honorable Charles A. Boynton, Judge of said court, after this notice shall have been published for a period of ten days, and any person interested in said Receivership Estate may contest this application.
WITNESS my hand at Temple, Texas, this the 8 day of October, A. D. 1937.
H. C. GLENN, as Receiver for Temple Trust Company, Temple, Texas.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

SUNSPOTS, still a mystery to scientists, are attracting a great deal of attention these days. Great storms seem to be swirling up from the sun's interior at the present time, and early in 1938, solar activity will reach the maximum of its 11½-year cycle.

The house appropriations committee gave the senate's departmental bill scant attention as member after member voiced opinion it was objectionable. Finally it was shunted to a sub-committee which was instructed to prepare a "breakdown" comparing it with present appropriations.

Rep. Harry N. Graves of Georgetown, committee chairman, said later that if the senate was sincere in "economizing" it should pass also the educational, judiciary and elecmosynary bills and permit his committee to consider them all.

R. A. Stuart of Fort Worth, chairman of the board of regents for teachers' colleges, led the attack on the reduced college appropriations.

Drop In Revenues

extension of the PWA for two years, and cotton loans.

Turning to a comparison of this year's revised figures with last year's budget, the president presented a more cheerful outlook.

Despite the estimates of revenues, he said these receipts would amount to $1,357,000,000 more than last year's. He estimated expenditures at $656,000,000 less than 1937, with the biggest cut in recovery and relief spending.

Big Spring Is Asking For Stop Of Westbound Airline Planes

BIG SPRING, Oct. 19 (Special) — Brief in behalf of Big Spring's application for a westbound stop on the airlines scheduled here was presented in Chicago last week by Dr. P. W. Malone, chairman of the chamber of commerce aviation committee.

He is in Chicago attending the annual meeting of the American academy of opthalomology and otolaryngology and presented the brief before C. R. Smith, president of American Airlines. Big Spring is asking for the stop in the belief that it will justify the company from the point of additional revenue from passenger traffic and air mail poundage.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 19 (AP) — Cotton opened 4 to 8 points net lower here today due to liquidation and an accumulation of overnight selling orders.

Liverpool cables were not as low as expected and weather conditions in the growing region continued unfavorable. Rains fell in practically all sections and temperatures were sharply below normal in the northwest.

Despite these bullish influences December started at 8.27, Jan. at 8.25, March at 8.22, May 8.22, July 8.25 and Oct. 8.37. Prices continued to ease off after the start and towards the end of the first half hour active months were 9 to 10 points net lower.

NEW YORK REPORT
NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP) — Cotton futures opened steady, off 3 to 6 points on lower cables and under liquidation and hedge selling. Dec. 8.20; Jan. 8.17; March 8.16; May 8.19; July 8.20; Oct. 8.33.

Although selling was not heavy buyers apparently were discouraged by weakness of stocks and prices eased about 5 to 8 points further in early trading.

March sold off from 8.17 to 8.11 and ruled at the low shortly after the first half hour, when prices generally were 9 to 11 points net lower.

Red Cross Gains In Texas Membership

DALLAS, Oct. 19 (AP) — Increased Red Cross membership in Texas this year, totalling 136,160 persons, has resulted in an outstanding expansion of Red Cross services throughout 237 chapters in the state during the year just completed. William M. Baxter, jr., manager of the Red Cross midwestern area, St. Louis announces.

Membership increased 16,000, Baxter said.

Texas chapters raised $574,953 for relief of the 1,062,000 refugees in the Ohio and Mississippi flood last spring, besides donating tons of foodstuffs and clothing, Baxter, pointed out.

Straus Named Head Of Housing Unit

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Oct. 19 (AP) —President Roosevelt set in motion the federal government's vast new low cost housing and slum clearance program by appointing Nathan Straus, of New York City, as administrator.

Straus, long a student of housing problems in the New York metropolitan area, will take over his new $10,000 post Wednesday. His title administrator of the United States Housing authority, a division created in the Wagner-Stegall act under Secretary Ickes' interior department.

He will have control of a $526,000,000 long range program aimed at elimination of big city slums and provision of low rent homes and apartments for the poorer classes.

Tulia Boy Is Awarded American Farmer Degree At Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 19 (AP) — Seventy-five young farmers, members of the Future Farmers of America received the organization's highest degree, the American Farmer degree Monday at the organization's annual convention. They included:

Texas: Leland Knight, Beeville; Afton Poindexter, Colmesneil; Floyd Saufferer, Edcouch; Leroy Engdahl, Rochelle; Hubert Hoseley, Rochelle; J. P. Sharp, jr., Tulia.

Pliny, ancient Roman naturalist, prescribed: "For freedom from toothache, eat a whole mouse twice a day."

City Tax Rate Still Not Set

mission in its effort to hold a rate boost to the lowest possible figure was to convert into cash some of the approximately $40,000 in paving certificates it holds. Paving certificates, it was explained, are liens drawing six per cent interest given by property owners to guarantee payment to the city for pavement in front of the owners' property.

Question Is Presented

The liens held by the city are for paving already completed and the question was whether those obligations could be used to obtain cash which could be put into the city's general fund to be applied upon the budget. City Manager Rodgers expressed doubt as to whether that can be legally done. City Attorney Durwood H. Bradley was of the opinion that it could be, and that opinion was followed.

Under the plan, the city will seek to borrow money at 4 per cent interest, posting the six per cent paving certificates as security. Such a transaction, in the expressed opinion of commissioners, would mean that the city could pay interest on borrowed money and still retain two per cent of the interest from the certificates.

Could Balance Budget

From that source, commissioners expressed the belief that approximately $30,000 could be realized for balancing on the year's budget, thus reducing by that much the amount to be raised by taxation. But this morning, city hall informants contended that at least $20,000 of the certificates are tied up so that they cannot be used as collateral, and that depletion of the fund might further delay an already dragging pavement program.

Most insistent demand for the slash in Martin's salary was voiced at last night's meeting by Commissionare A. J. Richardson, who later voted in favor of all other proposed salary increases save that for City Manager Rodgers.

WEATHER TO HALT DISEASE

COLORADO, Oct. 19 (AP) — Cold weather, which has a tentative appearance, is expected to halt the spread of sleeping sickness among horses and mules, affecting 25 to 30 farm animals in this area, Dr. R. D. Williams, local veterinarian, predicts.

Brief Bits Of News . .

Taken To Silverton—Body of Elmer McCain, 45, of Silverton was taken to Silverton by a funeral home there after his death in a sanitarium here at 3:30 o'clock Monday morning. He had been admitted about 12 days earlier for medical treatment. Funeral arrangements were not announced here.

Reported Improving—Mrs. Bernardina Garcia, 65, of San Antonio, was reported improving at Lubbock sanitarium this morning from injuries suffered in an automobile-truck collision near the Lubbock Municipal airport Sunday afternoon. Her injuries included fractured left ribs, fractured left arm below the elbow, shock and bruises. Three others injured in the accident were given emergency treatment.

Real Estate Men Here—H. G. Rowley and Earl Stratton, operators of the Rowley and Stratton real estate firm at Portales, N. M., were business visitors to Lubbock Monday and today.

Displays Large Pecans — Two large trees of paper shell pecans, with several bushels to the tree, are growing in the yard of Dr. G. H. Ater, 2608 Twentieth street, he said this morning as he exhibited several pecans. There are three trees on the place, planted by the late W. L. Ellwood, some years ago. One of them apparently did not get its paper shell graft to stick and it produces only the so-called native variety. Last year the crop was not large, owing to conditions, Dr. Ater said. He added that he believed if there were more trees, that they would bear better and more regularly. Pecans, he said, were a more sure crop than fruit, for this section.

Frost At Ralls — A light frost, that did not do any damage as far as was learned, came this morning at Ralls, said P. B. Ralls here. He did not think the cotton crop was damaged to any extent. Pickers are plentiful around Ralls. Mr. Ralls was en route to Brownfield on business.

Graduate Writes Article — "Attitude of Consistency of Seniors" by Rupert Koeninger, a 1929 graduate of Texas Technological college, appeared in Surveys of Youth, the September issue of the American council on Education Studies. Koeninger is an instructor in sociology in the college of commerce and administration of Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio.

Questers To Meet—The club program for the 1937-38 scholastic session will be initiated Thursday night when the Questers club meets at 6:30 o'clock at Hilton hotel. The club is composed of a group of faculty members of Texas Technological college. T. C. Root, professor of economics and business administration, will address the group on "An Appraisal of the Social Security Program." Dr. W. A. Jackson will preside. Wives of club members will meet with Mrs. A. L. Carter, 3102 Twentieth street. Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Cecil Horne will be hostesses.

Farm Radio Program — A radio program over KFYO, Nov. 5, will be under the direction of Homer E. Thompson, assistant county agent, and Miss Gladys Sanders, assistant home demonstration agent. It will be the last of a series of programs by county agents of the district.

Pullorum Tests — Homer E. Thompson, assistant county agent, today will give two pullorum test demonstrations for chickens at Roosevelt school. Women of the home demonstration club and others interested will attend. One for the senior club will be at 12:30 and one for the junior club at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. A similar demonstration will be at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday at Cooper school.

Silos Filling — One of the largest silos in Grovesville community was reported to be nearly full yesterday. The 300-ton trench silo belongs to H. E. Singley of that community. Beginning this morning J. W. Duncan, living in the Shallowater community, will fill his trench silo.

Boys Favor Club — One hundred and two 4-H club boys have been communicated with this week by Homer Thompson, assistant county agent. Less than one-fourth the club boys had been heard from. Eighteen are in favor of a pig club. Only five of the 23 members said they would not join.

Chief At Convention — Scheduled to appear on sectional roundtable programs of the joint convention of the International and the Southwestern Fire Chief's association, Fire Chief W. E. Twitty left Monday for Oklahoma City to attend the three day session which opens there today.

Morton Woman Still In Critical Stage

Mrs. Ike L. Eskew, 42, of northwest of Levelland remained in critical condition this morning at Lubbock sanitarium with injuries suffered in an automobile accident which claimed the life of her 14-year-old son, Leonard, and injured four other persons early Monday morning 15 miles northwest of Levelland. She suffered fractured vertebrae.

Arrangements had not been made this morning for the funeral of Leonard, said Davis-Mason Funeral home of Levelland. The boy apparently was killed instantly by a blow across the forehead.

Marguerite Eskew, 16, sister of Leonard, was reported improving this morning at her home from painful injuries. Glendine Eskew, 11, also a sister, suffered minor injuries; and W. G. Murray, 2419 Nineteenth street, and E. B. Kelly, 2224-A Eighteenth street, livestock men, suffered minor injuries.

The accident happened at a narrow intersection. Cane at the corner of a field had obscured view, according to reports.

Investigations into the wreck were continued today by officials.

from the Waxahachie jail.

Huddleston this morning looked at a newspaper headline and laughingly repeated the words, "Singing Bandit." He asked a reporter to send him a newspaper describing the account he gave this morning.

"Send it in care of Waxahachie jail," he said, then added "But I may not be there then." He braggingly told of his escapes from jails. "All of 'em are easy if you have a smoke pole (gun)," he said.

New Radio Channels Set In Upper Frequencies

Air's 'No Man's Land' Invaded

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19. — The Communications commission invaded radio's "no man's land" today to paint signposts for the routes of experimental transmission in the upper frequencies.

Marking off the lanes to be used by television, transoceanic, police and aviation transmission, the commission noted in its report of the assignments that there does not appear to be "an immediate outlook for the recognition of television service on commercial basis."

New Field Opened

Officials said regular aural, or commercial, stations over which the United States listens to most of its broadcasts were not effected by the order, but that a possible new field for commercial broadcasting was opened by the assignments.

Allocation of 75 channels in the band from 41,020 to 43,980 kilocycles, officials said, "paved the way" for consideration later of applications for commercial as well as experimental service on those frequencies. In the past, frequencies above 30,000 kilocycles have been reserved for experimental broadcasting.

The new assignments affect largely "safety and life" transmission, such as police and aviation broadcasts, and experimental work.

Experimental Work Done

Today's order marked culmination of the commission's attempt to chart lines in the frequencies above 30,000 kilocycles, where experimental work has been carried on without commission regulation of frequencies.

Effective as of last October 13, the order was issued as the result of hearings last June when engineers told the commission six years of study had led them to believe the time was ripe for harnessing the upper frequencies.

Previously the commission regulated frequencies from 10 to 23,000 kilocycles. Its new order stakes off the frequencies from 10 to 300,000 kilocycles.

MORE CROSSING RIVER

LAREDO (AP)—More than 100,000 American tourists entered Mexico through this border city during the first eight months of 1937.

In this period there were 1,000 more cars crossing the line at Laredo than during the entire year of 1936. Heaviest travel both years was in June, July and August.

More than 200 tons of steel are contained in some locomotives.

Illegal Appetite

MIAMI, Fla.—J. E. Gaughan was in jail today for trying to eat in court.

Gaughan, charged with working as a plumber without a city certificate, suddenly seized and crammed into his mouth an affidavit used as evidence against him.

Judge Cecil Curry supervised recovery of the document and then sent the defendant to jail for contempt.

Smooth Talker

SAGINAW, Mich. — John Francis Glynn, who lectures to luncheon clubs on his 26 years in prison, pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing a tablecloth from a rooming house and was fined $15 and costs.

He dashed out to keep an engagement at the local Rotary club, and hurried back to court with a $5 payment. He agreed to pay the rest of the fine after he had addressed two other clubs.

"He's a very smooth talker," observed Justice of the Peace William J. Siegrist.

Non-Support

ASTORIA, Ore.—Hugo Seppa was in the bathtub when a neighbor called that a buck deer was on his place. Seppa sped to the hunt, prepared to fire—then realized he'd forgot his galluses.

Hunting instinct prevailed. While neighbors watched, he fired. The deer fell—so did Seppa's pants.

Budget Of $7,500,000 Given Church For Next Triennium

CINCINNATI, Oct. 19 (AP) — The Protestant Episcopal church has been given a budget of $7,500,000 for the triennium with which to "advance all along the lines" after years of "heart breaking curtailment" of its work at home and abroad.

The budget, representing an increase of $305,000 over expenditures in the three years ended Jan. 1, 1937, was voted last night as the church's general convention neared the end of its 52nd triennial session.

The Rev. Dr. Frank H. Nelson, member of the joint committee on budget and program, said the financial program would require an increase of 20 per cent in the contributions of the 74 dioceses and 30 missionary districts for missions and general headquarters expenses.

Most of the increase will go to mission activities, informed churchmen said. Considerable also will go to mission increase of salaries cut during the depression.

"That's what the used-car dealer said to me when I brought in my old Jalopy. The paint and rubber were so-so. Upholstery, fair. But the engine? Marvelous! So he paid me way over the Blue-book value, and I've warned the family never to use any oil except Phillips 66 Motor Oil in our brand new bus."

The moral is: To keep your engine in tip-top condition, use the finest oil you can buy. Not the highest-priced oil, but a lubricant like Phillips 66 Motor Oil, which gives you more protection for every penny you pay. Guaranteed 100% pure paraffin base, With high-degree oiliness. Standout quality makes it stand up longer. Tougher, heat-resistant film makes it give many extra miles of service.

Next time, drain and refill with Phillips 66 Motor Oil. It's concentrated! . . . This year's big value in car lubrication. Look for the Orange and Black 66 Shield.
