YEAR'S WORST BLIZZARD HITS CITY

TWO COUNTY ROAD DISTRICTS PROPOSED

City's Fight For New Rail ...e Planned

...FIC EXPERT IS IN ...NFERENCE HERE

LUBBOCK'S fight to retain as a trade territory that vast, undeveloped section of Texas and New Mexico, west of here, rich as a potential oil, agriculture, and cattle area, by means of extending the Santa Fe lines to Lovington, N. M., and south into the oil district, was substantially advanced this morning with the meeting of Santa Fe officials and the railroad committee of the local Chamber of Commerce, and Albert L. Reed, traffic expert of Dallas, under the employ of the local chamber.

Meeting at 9 o'clock in the city hall, the railroad and traffic experts worked out the type of information and evidence to be compiled for the hearing on the Santa Fe's petition for an extension of its Seagrave's line.

Among those at the meeting were: Mr. Reed of Dallas; H. C. Pipkins, Santa Fe attorney of Amarillo; J. A. Gillies, superintendent of the Slaton division of the Santa Fe; B. Sherrod, chairman of the railroad committee of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce; and the following members: S. E. Cone, Charles H. Reed, W. O. Stevens, W. E. Dickinson, K. L. Riggs, Roscoe Wilson, R. J. Murray, and A. B. Davis T. B. Gallaher, general passenger and freight agent of the Santa Fe, and S. J. Cole, manager of the ...ment of the Ama... Towns Aid

The plan to make a trip over the territory to be served by the proposed Santa Fe extension has been postponed due to inclement weather. Reports have been received that Ropes, Meadow, Brownfield, and Seagraves are co-operating in every way with the Santa's attempt to secure a permit for the extension.

LUBBOCK AND SLATON MEET ON BOND PLAN

TWO PARTS OF COUNTY WORK SEPARATELY UNDER SCHEME

Establishment of two independent road districts in Lubbock county, one including Slaton and the southeastern corner of the county, and the other composing the remainder of the county including Lubbock, was agreed upon last night by joint committees from Lubbock and Slaton in session at Slaton.

The proposed plan would give each district the opportunity of calling its own bond election and caring for its own highway improvement program.

Should such an arrangement be effected, major bond elections will be held in each of the two districts at the same time. The citizens of the respective districts will draw up the petitions for the elections favorable to their sections.

County-wide Plan Failed

This plan was advanced by the committee after an attempt had been made by the Lubbock representatives to formulate some agreeable county-wide highway-improvement program. The committee from Lubbock included Charles F. O'Neall, chairman of the organization sponsoring highway paving; Jed A. Rix, G. E. Lockhart, M. G. Abernathy, and George E. Benson, and the Slaton committee was composed of J. T. Overby, L. A. Wilson, S. S. Forest, W. B. Wilson, J. S. Edwards, W. E. Smart and P. G. Stokes.

Following the agreement of the local delegation, the plan will next be submitted to the general committee here of the good roads organization for its aproval. If this is secured the Lubbock county commissioners' court will be petitioned for an election creating the two proposed districts, and then again petitioned for the two bond elections.

The plan advanced by the Slaton committee included Slaton, Acuff, McClung, County Line, Union and Posey in the proposed Slaton road district, and would pro-

PRINCIPALS IN NORTHCOTT "MURDER FARM" CASE

SLAYER SAYS ELEVEN BOYS WERE KILLED

NORTHCOTT TO APPEAL FROM DEATH, GIVEN BY TRIAL JURY

(By Associated Press)

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Feb. 8.—Guards at Gordon Stewart Northcott's cell reported today that the 22-year-old Canadian, convicted of murdering three boys, had repeated previous statements that eleven persons had been alsin at his chicken ranch near here.

The guards said Northcott again implicated Sanford Clark, his 15 year old nephew and Cyrus Northcott, his father, in the alleged slayings.

A jury after a little more than two hours deliberation last night found Northcott guilty of slaying Lewis and Nelson Winslow, brothers, of Pomona and an unidentified youth. The verdict carried no recommendation for clemency making the death sentence mandatory. Northcott, who will be sentenced Monday, announced he would take an appeal.

Clark admitted participating in the alleged murders under threats and his mother, Mrs. Sarah Louisa Northcott. Cyrus Northcott was held as a material witness.

Officers led by young Clark found bits of bone, hair and traces of blood at the chicken ranch. At the trial, scientists testified that some fifty bits of the evidence were from the bodies of juveniles.

Mrs. Northcott pleaded guilty to complicity in the slaying of 9 year old Walter Collins. She was sentenced to life imprisonment.

DENBY, ONCE NAVY CHIEF DIES TODAY

POLITICAL CAREER WAS ENDED BY TEAPOT DOME SCANDAL

DETROIT, Feb. 8 (AP)—William Denby, former secretary of the navy and one of the figures whose political career was abruptly terminated by the Teapot Dome scandal, died at his home here today. Death resulted from a heart attack.

Denby, one of the most popular figures in public life at the time of the oil scandal, was 59 years old. While he had been in poor health during recent weeks, announcement of his death this morning was a distinct shock to his friends here.

Following his resignation from the cabinet, the "Sea Going Secretary of the Navy," as he was termed, returned to Detroit and resumed his banking, industrial and legal activities.

Although he virtually was compelled to resign from the cabinet as a result of the Teapot Dome affair, Denby did not attempt to sidetrack any of the responsibility that was charged to him upon the shoulders of any one else. Blamed mainly for agreeing to the leasing of the naval oil reserves, Denby insisted his action had been for the best interests of the country.

THERMOMETER DESCENDS TO SEVEN HERE

ALL OF NORTH TEXAS HELD IN GRIP OF COLD WEATHER

Lubbock shivvered under the coldest wintry blast of the year this morning, as a biting norther brought the first heavy snow this winter driving the thermometer to the low mark of seven degrees.

Beginning early this morning, snow fell at intervals through the day, reaching an estimated amount of from two and one-half to three inches by early afternoon.

The thermometer hovered below the 10 degree point all morning, rising to twelve shortly afternoon. Reports coming in today showed that virtually the entire South Plains section was coated by the snowfall today.

Highways and strets were made extremely dangerous for traffic. This was the severest cold spell of the winter, and the unsettled weather is expected to continue throughout tonight.

(By Associated Press)

North Texas today struggled in the grip of the severest cold wave of the season. Many sections were blanketed in snow and ice while temperatures dropped in a few instances as low as zero. Telegraphic communications were hampered for short periods, and some loss of live stock was feared. South Texas still awaited the beginning of the cold wave.

Schmidt will visit Fort Worth in the near future, probably early next week, sign a contract, and make other final arrangements.

Details have not been worked out, but it is regarded here as highly probable that the Arkansas University coach will secure a leave of absence to conduct the Christians' spring football practice in April and May.

ITALY BACK TO OLD CUSTOMS

CHURCHMEN SOON TO BE APPOINTED SENATORS, PROSPECT

(By Associated Press)

ROME, Feb. 8.—Appointment of a group of cardinals and arch-bishops as senators is expected to be one of the first results of the signing of the concordat between the Vatican and the Italian government, which will place Sunday at the Lateran Palace. This will conform to custom prior to the rupture of the church and Italian government in 1870.

Pending publication of the concordat, there is some speculation as to just what changes acceptance of the Canon law by the Italian government will entail. It is in direct opposition to the principle proclaimed by the famous Italian statesman, Count Di Cavour, who held for "a free church in a free state."

Civil laws probably will be modified to conform with Canon law. Save in purely religious matters the new law of the state will apply to all irrespective of religion.

Prices Nervous On Stock Market Today

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—Prices churned about nervously on the New York Stock Exchange today, as yesterday's sharp break and another increase in brokerage loans, amounting to $110,000,000, left speculative sentiment completely unsettled.

A pronounced rally developed during the forenoon, with a number of copper, steel, motor and merchandising shares recovering from $2 to $10 of the previous day's loses, but a "bear" raid soon after midday precipitated a rush to sell, wiped out most of the gains, and depressed several issues $2 to $5 under yesterday's closing prices.

Cousin Of Rockefeller Is Killed In Flames

DENVER, Feb. 8 (AP).—Sparks from a grate which ignited her bed covers, caused the death here yesterday of Mrs. Anna Inman, 81, a cousin of John D. Rockefeller.

According to Mrs. Anna Miller, her daughter, an employe in the office of the secretary of state of Colorado, Mrs. Inman was a member of the Groton Averys family and directly related to the oil magnate's father.

Mrs. Inman had been ill for several months and was in bed in front of the grade. When the bed covers caught fire she ran to another room but died before other occupants of the building, attracted by her screams, arrived.

'UNLOADED PISTOL' SHOOTS HALE WOMAN

YOUTH ACCIDENTALLY WOUNDS NEIGHBOR LATE THURSDAY

An "unloaded pistol" in the hands of young Robert McDonald of Cotton Center, Hale county, yesterday inflicted painful wounds on Mrs. J. L. Garner of Cotton Center.

Mrs. Garner was brought to Lubbock last night and her wounds treated here.

Young McDonald was playing with the pistol, an automatic of small calibre, which had just been sold to him by the husband of Mrs. Garner. It was thought that all cartridges had been removed from the gun.

The boy clicked the trigger.

When the smoke cleared, Mrs. Garner had a bullet wound in the arm, the bullet also penetrating the flesh of her back.

It was removed at a local sanitarium and the woman was reported recovering favorably today.

CONSCIENCE MEASURE LOSES IN REPORT OF MINORITY

AUSTIN, Feb. 8—Senator Love's "Freedom of Conscience" bill was killed today when the senate voted to table his motion to print on a minority report. The vote was 20 to 6.

After Wirtz had moved to table his motion Love made a long talk in defense of his measure.

AUSTIN, Feb. 8 (AP)—Building and Loan Association representatives disagreed last night on a bill rewriting the regulatory act for such organizations.

Fingers Of Fear On Death Mystery

CHICAGO, Feb. 8 (AP)—Fingers of fear, blurred by blackmail and stained with sinister suggestion, had left their whorls on the Burnham death mystery today.

No matter where it turned, the official inquiry into Mrs. Selma Burnham's death 10 days ago followed a trail of dread under which the wealthy widow lived following the death last July of her husband, Sanford A. Burnham, slot machine manufacturer.

Burnham's daughters, Mrs. Sidney W. Ballard of Detroit, and Mrs. G. Howard Gowen, wives of physicians, made a request last night for exhumation of their father's body.

The governor notified the director of the penitentiary of the sentence at noon, instructing him to carry out the execution exactly 24 hours after the notification which thus fixed the time at noon tomorrow.

Toral's attorneys asked President Portes Gil, who was enroute from Ciudad Victoria, Tamaulipas, to the capital, to stay the execution until he had time to study a petition for clemency filed at the presidential palace.

The president answered with the granting of a 24-hour stay and requested the petition for clemency be wired him. He received it last evening at Tampico, and telegraphed back denying further repreive and execution clemency.

AHA! AT LAST WE FIND OLD SANTA

Question Of Where Jolly Old Elf Spends Time, Up

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 8 (AP).—To those who wonder where Santa Claus spends the other 364 days of the year, the information is herewith vouchsafed that he spent one of these days—yesterday—suing Arthur Young for $7.50.

Santa Claus (known to his intimates of John Schilkert) complained that while he was spreading Christmas cheer in a St. Paul store last December, Mr. Young sauntered by. Santa had placed his overcoat on a chair and Mr. Young dropped a cigaret thereon. The resultant conflagration burned a $7.50 hole in the garment, said Santa, and the court thought so, too.

Living and Loving

BY MRS. VIGGINIA LEE

We all know the old saying, "Eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow ye die." Also we have all heard young people say that they have to have a good time now as they "are only young once."

Now comes a little girl and declares that because "we are only young once" we should have our good times in a good, clean way. A very sensible way of looking at things, I'd say.

• • •

"Dear Virginia Lee: I am a junior in high school and may be what some term old fashioned, for I object very much to drinking and smoking, especially by girls. I think one might as well jump into the fire to be sociable as to drink just to be sociable. Please do not misunderstand me. I believe in having a good time, but why not have it in the right way? We are only young once, so why ruin our characters by doing things we will be sorry for later?

"A TRUE FRIEND."

Thank you, dear, of course I think you are right.

• • •

"Dear Virgina Lee: I am a boy 23 and have been going with a girl of 20 for five years. We love each other greatly. When we first started going together we agreed that each of us could go with anyone else we chose. I went out a few times with four different girls while between the ages of 19 and 21, but it did not seem fair to them, so I just explained and quit going with them. One of the boys my girl went with loves her very much. (Of course I am jealous, but I try to hide it.) Now the only convenient time for her to see him is on Sunday afternoon, we having a standing date for 7 p. m. Sunday. She goes out with him and once in a while she comes home 30 or minutes late. That is one thing that makes me angry. I told her so and said, the next time you are not at home at 7 I shall leave and not come back. I was willing to let her give him Sunday, as I can see her all week days, or even to set our time to 8 or 8:30. She said, No, we will continue as we have been.' So now if she is late again, do you think I shall do right by leaving her? If I left her I would continue to love her and come back to her any time she was willing to do right. EASY GOING BOY."

It might "teach her a lesson." Supposing she was late, but it wasn't her fault? Things do happen to detain one who has the best of intentions. What are you going to do then? You wouldn't know it if you went away and didn't come back, and besides, it seems to me that you are going to be very unhappy going off mad. I appreciate the fact that when a person has an engagement they should aim to keep it on time, and also that you are very generous to "let" this other fellow take up the time of the girl you love, but it seems to me it would be better to clinch matters with her and become engaged—if she is willing—and then she wouldn't go with others. If she didn't love you and wasn't a very sweet girl she would have told you to go and see if she cared, when you laid down the law to her regarding her lateness.

"Boots" is a little country girl whose parents think she is too young to go with boys—she is 15. She is deeply in love with "Sheik," which she spells "shiek," and thinks he would like a date with her, only he has never paid much attention to her. Please tell her how she can get a date with him and how to start a conversation with a boy, likewise how to begin a letter to a boy friend with whom you are deeply in love.

I think you had better put the boys to one side of your mind as long as your parents feel as they do, and learn to spell and write grammatically, "Boots." You see I don't tell you to put them out of your mind entirely, knowing the way girls of your age are constituted. If you are both in school you can easily start talking about school affairs. (And address a boy friend, whether you are in love with or not, as Dear Bill or Dear Friend Bill.

• • •

"Dear Virginia Lee: I am 15 years old and am not very attractive to fellows. I am not real pretty or real bad looking, but somehow they don't pay much attention to me. Please advise how to make them notice me. BLUE EYES."

Keep yourself neat and fresh looking, Blue Eyes, and be jolly and friendly, and if that doesn't work try, try, try again. They'll probably notice you more when you are a bit older.

• • •

"Blue Eyes: Be glad your boy friend takes you to shows, and interest yourself in what interests him.

• • •

Flipper and Flapper: Haven't room to explain all the ramifications of "petting." It is a much discussed theme and no two people agree, apparently. I'd say don't do it at all unless you love the boy very much, and then only "with reservations."

Regulations Of Bond Banks Are Changed

In a letter from Senator Pink L. Parrish, County Judge Robert H. Sean yesterday was advised that the legislature recently passed a bill changing the regulations of banks making bonds after being selected as county depositories. The Lubbock county commissioners' court will meet next Monday to select the county depository for the next two years.

The old regulation was that the bond had to be for $361,000 including a lien on all of the surety's real estate. The new bill eliminates the real estate lien.

KNOX RESIGNS AS EXECUTIVE

KLAPP WILL SERVE AS SCOUT HEAD UNTIL NEW ONE FOUND

The resignation of Warren P. Knox as area executive of South Plains Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, became effective yesterday and his final report was accepted by the executive scout board and E. E. Voss, deputy regional executive. The resignation was tendered and accepted December 12.

Scout Commissioner K. N. Clapp, Rev. L. G. H. Williams, president of the council, and Mr. Voss yesterday were authorized by the board to begin negotiations for a new scout executive here, and it is thought that one can be obtained within the next thirty days. Mr. Clapp will act in the capacity of executive until another is employed.

Reason for the resignation of Mr. Knox was not made public. He yesterday stated his intention of taking up specialized boys' work in South Texas.

Fields of lava, "sputter" cones, volcanic craters, strange caves and natural bridges have been discovered in the southeastern part of Idaho.

With all the bunch spread on the ground, the bear stopped short and turned around. He almost seemed to smile a bit to see the funny sight. Said Scouty, "Well, just look back there. I see our friend, the big black bear. He hasn't run away from us I guess that he's all right."

"He's waiting for us, like as not," exclaimed one little Trouble Tot. "Come on and hop up to your feet. We'll try our luck once more. It seems to me it would be dumb to walk to where we came from. You will admit a dandy ride is better, now and then."

"Oh, no," cried Clowny. "That bear's rough. I think that I have had enough. The rest of you can ride upon his back, but not for me. I'll lead the way, if he'll run slow, and I can show him where to go. If he just runs haphazard there's no telling where we'll be."

So Clowny led the way with care, back to the owner of the bear. "Ha, ha," the old man laughed. "I'll bet you all took quite a spill." "You're right," snapped Choppy, "but 'twas fun. We don't feel bad for what we've done. It didn't hurt when we slipped off. In fact it was a thrill."

And then they heard the old man sigh. Said he, "I'll have to say good-bye. Bue ere I go I'll tell you of some fun that you'll all like. Here are some fishlines. It would seem they'll come in nice for yonder stream." F. turned the fishlines over, and then started on his hige.

Down to the stream the whole band ran. Said Clowny, "I'll just bet I can pull out the largest fish of all." The next thing that they knew, their lines were hanging very low. Then Clowny loudly shouted, "Oh." He'd hooked a fish real quickly, and it was a dandy, too.

"Little Lady" Is Told Skin Unreal, Eyes Too Large

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP).—Grave-eyed, faintly smiling, little lady "La Belle Ferronmiere" passed through an unflattering experience in supreme court today.

Sauntering back and forth in front of her as she rested, a thing of paint and canvas, on a chair where light from a window fell across her tranquil features, Sir Joseph Duveen, famous art expert declared:

That her skin did not look real human skin.

That she had "platts" of flesh about her throat.

That her eyes were too large and lifeless, anyway.

He also said he was right the first time when he made the statement that caused Mrs. Andree Lardoux Hahn, owner of "La Belle" to sue him for $500,000 for slander of title. He said then and he still says that "La Belle" is not a Leonardo Da Vinci. Mrs. Hahn alleges that his comment spoiled the sale of her picture, which she contends, is the work of the old master.

WOMAN PHYSICIAN OWNS BIRD HAREM HAVING 150 CANARIES

TAMPA, Feb. 8. — Dr. Mary Nichols has a bird harem containing 150 canaries of various kinds.

Dr. Nichols' sanctuary is a large screened porch. The pets move in and out of little white homes and gilded cages at will. They are not ordinary canaries, for when she gave up her medical practice some years ago to build up her own health Dr. White concentrated intelligently and efficiently on her hobby.

"My feathered friends need fresh air and plenty of sunshine to grow strong, just like children," Dr. White says. "They sleep in the open on the coldest night, and no morning is too bracing to keep them from their baths. Like children, they fuss and fight, kiss and make up, snatch food from each other and later share choice morsels.

"Like children, too, their voices must be trained. When a class is ready, I bring an expert songster from New York. If not trained, they will choose their own notes, slur them and generally follow the line of least resistance. Music is another method of training. They will follow notes carefully and accurately."

Dr. Nichols, nearing three score and ten years, was graduated from a university when nearly 50 years old.

"I always wanted a college education," she says, "but I was left a widow with three children to rear, so I had to postpone it for some time. I was more than 45 years old before it was practical for me to enter college, but four years later I was graduated. I practiced medicine for several years, but found it too exacting and gave it up to save my own health."

WHERE'S YOUR HORSE?:

Ray Miller, county prosecutor in Cleveland, tells a story on his brother, Don. It might be recalled that Don was a halfback at Notre Dame, where three other brothers, including the prosecutor distinguished themselves also.

Don and three other fellows in the Notre Dame backfield happened to be rather widely known throughout the state of Indiana at the time and Don found himself somewhat of a hero when he went to Indianapolis for a holiday visit.

He was invited to some kind of a function at which Gov. Jackson was the honored guest and a friend presented Don to the governor.

"Governor," he said, "this is Don Miller. He is one of the 'Four Horesmen.'"

"Well, well," the governor greeted him affably. "I certainly am glad to meet you. I enjoyed the picture immensely. It was a great picture."

THE WOIM TOINS

Theatrical producers in New York have been howling for years about all the free publicity that was showered on the enterprises of the prize fight promoters.

Their complaint was that they were forced to buy much more display space in the papers than the boxing and baseball people and that the routine publicity they got was not always favorable.

They couldn't understand why the raps on an inferior sport show were so mild compared with the criticism of the dramatic writers who could and did write shows right off Broadway.

But they can't complain about the reception the New York newspapers have given to the plans of Jack Dempsey and the Garden people to put on the prize fight in Miami between Sharkey and Stribling.

AIN'T FAIR BY OUR JACK

NEW YORK writers have been tearing the living hide off the fight and the raps, through syndicate writers, have appeared in the metropolitan press of other sections of the country.

For once the situation has been reversed. The writers are not taking the word of the promoters that the fight is to be a financial success They are asking for proof that it is not going to be an awful flop.

NO MYSTERY NOW

It is the opinion of some persons, who knew of Tex Rickard's real ambitions in Florida, that he did not expect the fight to be a great financial success. He had his usual optimism but he was prepared to take the rap if someone had to take it.

He said to have promised the Garden fellows their end of the bout made money and to have agreed to take it on the nose personally if it happened to be a flop.

Rickard, they say, had ambitions to establish a Monte Carlo at Miami Beach. He wanted to operate the finest gambling establishment in the world and a big heavyweight fight there was expected to do what his Gans-Nelson fight did to Goldfield—get a lot of people there to play the wheel or sit in on faro.

Sweaters Given To Spur Gridders

SPUR, Feb. 8.—The Spur Bulldogs of the 1928 have recently been awarded sweaters, and the sweaters were presented by Faust Collier, president of the Spur high school athletic council. The boys who were thus honored are Sandy Foreman, retiring captain; Carlin Gaines, captain-elect, center; Marvin Jordan, half; Bonnie Hisey, guard; Lester Morrison, tackle; Deon Reddell, end; Cecil McClung, end; Adrian Rickles and Henry Albin, quarters; LeRoy Mims, half; Brode Puckett, full; Odis Holley, guard. Coaches Cluck and Williams are very much elated over the prospects for a winning team for 1929 as only five of the 1928 eleven will be lost to the school for another year.

INDIANS OUT FOR REVENGE ON MATADORS

TECH TOOK TWO GAMES BY CLOSE SCORES IN ABILENE

McMurry Indians are due to invade the Tech gymnasium tonight for the first of a two game series with the Matador basketball quintet. The Methodist basketeers from Abilene are coming to avenge a brace of setbacks inflicted by the Tech cagers during the recent Abilene series in which the Paynemen won three out of five contests.

Coach Medley's Redskins, famed for their fighting qualities, held the Tech basket loopers to close scores in both games played in Abilene and from all indications, the crimson crew will have their hands full in downing the T. I. A. A. basketeers. The St. Edwards university five was hard pushed to nose out the Indians by one point, while members of the association have found them equally as formidable.

Following their double defeat by the Canyon Buffaloes, the Matadors will be fighting to improve their season's average when the Indians take the court tonight and Saturday night. A day's rest after the hard fought series with the Herd is figured to put them in shape to deal misery to Coach Medley's pupils.

The McMurry series beginning tonight will be followed next Tuesday and Wednesday nights by a two game argument with Sul Ross cagers of Alpine. After the Sul Ross series, the Matadors will have a full week of rest before going to Canyon for a return engagement with the Teachers on February 20 and 21. The season ends here February 25 with Simmons university furnishing the competition.

DELAY COUNTY CLASS B TILT

OPENING OF TOURNEY SET FOR EARLY IN AFTERNOON

Tonight's games, beginning at 6 o'clock will be played at the high school gymnasium. The tournament will continue on the high school court Saturday morning and shift to the Tech gymnasium in the afternoon for the final games.

Ten teams are entered in the tournament under a round robin schedule with five teams in each round robin, the winner of each meeting for the Class B championship of the county. R. L. Hooten of Shallowater, county athletic director, is in charge.

Crop Champions Of South Visit Texas

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 8 (AP).—Crop champions of the South, touring Texas, were received royally at San Antonio today. They visited the Alamo and other points of historic interest.

The reception today almost equalled the one at Austin Wednesday when the winners were presented to Governor Moody and the legislature. Visits to the Rio Grande valley, an international dinner at Matamoros, Mexico, trips to Galveston, Dallas and other points are planned.

Large 'Prize List Attracts Golfers

PENSACOLA, Fla., Feb. 8 (AP).—A $3,500 prize list attracted more than 125 leading golfers of the country for the initial play today in the Greater Pensacola open tournament. The 72-hole medal competition is being played over the Pensacola Country club course.

In a practice round yesterday, Craig Wood, New York pro, smashed the local course record with a 65, six strokes below par. The previous course record was 69.

CARRIGAN HOPES TO LIFT RED SOX OUT OF CELLAR

Manager Bill Carrigan, of the Boston Red Sox, is making every preparation to move his team out of last place in 1929. Out of 37 players on the Boston roster only 13 were members of the Sox last season. Phil Todt, at first base; Walter Gerber, at short; Ira Flagstead and Ken Williams, in the outfield, are some of the veterans Carrigan figures on to steady his new lineup.

DEMPSEY'S INITIAL PROMOTION SUCCESS

TICKET SALES INSURE NEAT PROFIT FOR CORPORATION

(By Associated Press)

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 8.—Jack Dempsey and the Madison Square Garden Corporation were some $30,000 to the good on the Sharkey - Stribling fight today, estimates of the cost of the February 27 slugfest prove correct.

Jack Sharkey

Dempsey has announced ticket sales for the Flamingo Park match already have reached 39,000 which exceeds by $30,000 the estimated cost of the spectacle.

Promoter Jack also announced the arena would be ready for the customers in ample time.

Meanwhile the principals have added ring workouts to their golf course training. The Boston sailor went through a stiff workout yesterday with the light and heavy bags.

Stribling held to his nightly roadwork, but expects also to get in several strenuous workouts at his training camp before his departure for the Everglades Tuesday on a fishing expedition.

MORRISON SILENT ON COACH OFFER

DALLAS, Feb. 8 (AP).—Other than to say he had heard nothing further from University of Virginia athletic officials, Coach Ray Morrison of Southern Methodist University today refused to comment on the proposition offered him by the Charlottsville institution.

The mentor apparently was indignant at the widespread publicity given his prospective transfer yesterday, and was in no mood further to discuss details.

After a telephone conversation with Virginia officials yesterday Morrison said he was to have been advised today whether certain requirements he had promulgated had been agreed to.

Singer And Taylor Battle In Gotham

JAPANESE IS BILLIARD KING

MATSUYAMA IS ONLY UNBEATEN PLAYER IN TOURNAMENT

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP).—Kinrey Matsuyama stood alone today as the only unbeaten contestant in the world's championship 18.2 balkline billiards tournament, but the little Japanese owes at least a part of his exalted position to some exceedingly brilliant billiards by Eric Hagenlacher, the German.

Uncorking a run of 207, highest of the tournament, last night, Hagenlacher gave young Jake Shaefer his first defeat and achieved for himself his first victory.

With seven of the 15 matches down on the books, Matsuyama now leads the procession with two victories and no defeats. The runner-up is the defending champion, Edouard Horemans of Belgium, with two wins and a single loss to the Japanese. Bunched behind the leaders are Schafer, Hagenlacher and Welker Cochran of Hollywood, each with an even break in two starts. Felix Grange of France brings up the rear with three setbacks in a row.

IT COSTS DAD

Every Point In Cage Game Is Worth 50 Cents

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 8.—Every point that Plebe Hudson McGuire makes in a basketball game costs his dad, Clarence McGuire of Leavenworth, Kas., exactly 50 cents.

When McGuire left home last summer for the naval academy, his dad promised him that amount for every point he made. Of course, he had to make the team to earn any.

McGuire had no trouble making the team and earned $12 in his first game, $10 in his second and $5 in his third.

If dad makes the same promise next year and the youngster makes the varsity team, it is likely to prove pretty expensive for dad.

DALLAS TEAMS IN MARATHON GAME

DALLAS, Feb. 8 (AP).—It looked for a while as though it would be necessary to burn down the building to terminate a basketball game between the second teams of Forest and Oak Cliff high schools here last night.

Tied 12 to 12 at the end of the regular playing period, the teams battled through five extra periods of five minutes each and before Oak Cliff won, 19 to 17. Perusal of the records books failed to reveal a more extended struggle.

LOCAL SQUAD NOW FAVORED AS TITLISTS

WESTERNERS' PERFECT DEFENSE SPELLS LOSS TO RALLS

Contenders for the district two basketball title met on the college court last night and when the smoke of battle had died away, Lubbock high had humbled their bitter cage rivals, the Ralls Jackrabbits, 21 to 14, for the first defeat the Lovvorn crew has suffered this season at the hands of a team in this section.

The Westerners' air-tight defense held the Ralls sharpshooters at bay throughout the hard fought fracas, a brilliant scoring spree in the final period putting the game on ice for the locals. Sheer aggressiveness brought victory to the Lubbock quint that had met defeat at the hands of the Rabbit aggregation earlier in the season. Close guarding on the part of the Morganmen kept the Rabbit forwards so completely covered that they were seldom able to get open shots at the basket.

Westerner Offense Revised

Improved passing and effective team work gave the Lubbock basketeers possession of the ball more than half of the time and their accurate zone shots spelled defeat for the fast stepping Rabbits. A revised offense whereby every member of the team participated in the assault on the goal, showed the Westerners to be much stronger offensively than on previous appearances.

Coach Lovvorn's pupils took the lead in the opening stanza and had counted five points before the Lubbock cagers were able to find the basket. Tidwell, Jackrabbit guard, sank a beautiful side court basket to start the fireworks, and was followed by Burk, who lifted three free throws through the hoop in rapid succession. Lubbock came to life at this point and began their assault on the goal. Ralls held a three point margin at the end of the first quarter—8-5, but before the half had ended, the Westerners had froged to the front via dogged determination, and were leading 14 to 13 when the gun snapped.

After fighting on even terms with the Rabbits through the third period, Lubbock staged a final scoring spree in the closing stanza that put the game on ice and caused the Ralls hopes for district honors to go glimmering. Superior passing and shooting gave the Westerners possession of the ball during most of this final frame, and the Rabbits were hopelessly beaten. Walker and his mates made a final desperate effort to come back, but the Lubbock defense stiffened and it was all over.

Castlebery and Powers were tied for scoring honors, each accounting for six points. They were closely followed by Burk of Ralls with 5.

PORKERS AND STEERS MEET FRIDAY NIGHT

ONE VICTORY NEEDED TO CINCH CROWN FOR ARKANSAS

(Special to The Journal)

DALLAS, Feb. 8 — The eyes of Southwestern Conference fans is toward Austin today as the unbeated Arkansas Razorbacks invade the lair of the Texas Longhorns in the first of a two-game series with their rivals for the basketball supremacy of the Southwest loop.

To cinch the bunting, the Porker sharpshooters will only have to divide the two-game fracas, the Steers having suffered one defeat at the hands of the Southern Methodists early this week. While the Texas quintet will have the advantage of playing in their own "cracker box" the Porkers have more than one incentive to spur them on. Aside from the mere incident of winning the championship the Ozark crew will be gunning for their twenty-first conference victory.

The second game of the series scheduled for Saturday night at which time two other conference games will be played. T. C. U. will be fighting to rise from their cellar position when they meet the Baylor Bears at Waco while S. M. U. will clash with Rice Institute at Houston.

TILDEN AND HUNTER WILL STAGE INTERNATIONAL TOUR OF OWN

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP).—Big Bill Tilden and Frank Hunter, mainstays of several Davis Cup teams, will stage an international jaunt of their own this year instead of helping the American team through the preliminary competition in the American zone.

Believing that Tilden will be reinstated by the executive committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association at its meeting in Boston this evening, they have laid plans for a southern trip starting this month to prepare them for an invasion of European courts in May.

They will sail for Europe on May 8, Hunter said, yesterday, and play in the French championships at Paris, May 29, and the British championships at Wimbledon, June 24, as well as several less important events. This program would make it impossible for them to participate in the American zone Davis Cup matches.

SECOND PINSON COMMUNITY DRUG STORE OPENS SATURDAY

FAST GROWING PART OF CITY TO BE SERVED

ESTABLISHMENT BOASTS COMPLETE STOCK, BEST IN SERVICE

Formal opening Saturday of Pinson Drug Store, No. 2, corner of 19th Street and Avenue Y, marks an advanced progressive step in the drug business of the city—the completion of an ultra-modern, completely-equipped community drug store, serving that fast-growing essential section in the southwestern part of Lubbock.

The success of the first Pinson drug store, in this city, 18th and Avenue Q, established last April by Bert Pinson, is the basis for establishing of the second store. The same high class service and complete stock will be offered in the second store as is found in store No. 1.

Sixth Link In Chain

With the opening Saturday of this establishment, another strong link will be added to what is perhaps destined to become a powerful chain of drug stores throughout the West. Mr. Pinson, together with his brother, now owns six drug stores, two here, two in Los Angeles, one in Hale Center, and the other in Abernathy.

Viewing the vast possibilities of Lubbock as the logical center of the rapidly developing South Plains area, Mr. Pinson came to Lubbock last April to establish his first drug store. The success of the store was immediate. Although a community store because of its location, this establishment draws trade from all parts of the city and has built up a business that is looked upon with envy by many competitors.

Refreshments Saturday.

In connection with the opening of this store, free refreshments will be served to all visitors from 2 to 4 o'clock Saturday. Flowers will be given to the women and cigars to the men. In addition to this an interesting contest will be held.

Oran Wilson, for several years connected with Mr. Pinson in the drug store business, will be manager of the No. 2 store. Mr. Wilson possesses a wealth of experience in this line of business, having been connected with the Renfro line of drug stores in Fort Worth for some time.

Housed In New Building.

The store is housed in a beautiful, well-ornamented brick building, which hcontains space for two establishments. It is equipped with a new fountain and new fixtures throughout. Maintaining a full stock at all times and offering the best service possible will be the policy of the store. Four employes will be used. Following the opening Saturday, the store will be open regularly for business.

Competent pharmacists, curb service, free delivery, and drugs and sundries feature the store.

In speaking of further expansion of the Pinson Drug Stores, Mr. Pinson yesterday stated that it was possible that additional stores would be added later if business continued as it had in the past. "I feel that Lubbock will continue to grow by leaps and bounds," he said. "With all of the possibilities, resources, Tech College, railroads, and the rich surrounding trade territory, the city's future is assured."

New Source of Paper

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8. (AP) — Southeastern Alaska is regarded as a permanent source of pulpwood for paper manufacture, with water power resources, tidewater transportation and a climate permitting of year-round operation of paper plants and shipping. Pulpwood production is estimated at 1,500,000 cords yearly, enough for 1,000,000 tons of news-print annually in perpetuity, or more than a quarter the present American consumption.

"Speakeasy" Sign

Not Liquor But Shoe Label In Germany

BERLIN, Feb. 8. (AP) — "Speakeasy" was the trademark adopted by a German shoe store in order to show its customers that the shoes offered for sale were not of German origin, but manufactured abroad.

Luckily for the German shoedealer, the manufacturer knew the meaning of the word "Speakeasy" and informed his customer that this was a name used in America for illegal drinking resorts.

The order for the imprint "Speakeasy" was cancelled immediately.

Banner Aviation Year Of Events And Achievements For 1929 Predicted In England By British Air Enthusiasts

Two Monster Airships To Be Launched On Trial Flights Across The Ocean Next Spring

LONDON, Feb. 8. (AP)—British aviation enthusiasts expect 1929 to be a year of great events and achievements in John Bull's striving for conquest in the air.

Primary interest and importance centers around the proposed launching and trial fights of two monster airships, both larger than have ever been built before. Commander Charles D. Burney's dirigible, the R 100, is expected to soar into the air some time in the spring. Its promoters plan after test flights to take the huge craft across the Atlantic to America and back to England.

Plan Egypt Flight

The government-built "blimp", the R 101, sister to the Burney ship, will be launched later this year. It will make flights to Egypt, India, South Africa and Australia, and thus to establish new aeronautic history. The two dirigibles will have accommodations for 100 passengers each.

England, as winner of the latest competition in this event, is to have the Schneider Cup races, the greatest of international speed contests, this year. This thrilling spectacle will be held over the Solent in August or September.

Hold Aero Exhibit

An International aero exhibition, the first for nine years, will be seen at Olympia, the London stadium and show ground, in the latter part of the year.

In civil aviation Britain expects to make the greatest advance of her history with the opening by Imperial Airways of a 5,000-mile air route from London to India, in April.

VIENNE, France, Feb. 8. (AP)—The old Roman stadium being uncovered here, appears to be the second largest in France. There is much excavation yet to be done but government authorities give the diameter of the ancient open air theater as 365 feet.

This is 73 feet less than the stadium at Nimes but it is larger than those at Arles and Orange.

Bones Of French Kings In Piles

ST. DENIS, France, Feb. 8. (AP) —Bones of most of the kings of France are heaped in two piles in the ancient church of St. Denis.

Thousands of visitors have made the rounds of the many tombs believing they were before the bodies of the rulers, for it is only of late years that the crippled official guide has made it a point to tell people that the tombs are empty.

The royal bones are in two manusoleums, one supposed to contain what is left of the house of Valois and the other the Capet line. During the French revolution, in 1793, the tombs were opened and the bones tossed through windows into a trench, those of the Valois family at one end and the Capets at the other, according to the recital of the church's official guide. After the fever of the new republicanism died down, the trench was opened and the bones placed in the church.

Every year there is held a commemorative ceremony for Queen Marie Antoinette, guillotined during the revolution. Her body and that of Louise XVI were brought to the Bourbon mausoleum in the crypt, a century ago, from the chapel built over them on the Boulevard Haussmann in the center of Paris.

That chapel still stands as a memorial to them, and around their empty tombs are buried 2,000 victims of the revolution and the 800 Swiss guards killed during the storming of the Tuileries.

Nicholas Murray Butler says that no law which has to do with human thought, speech or conduct can be enforced. And if that isn't taking in a lot of territory, it will have to be left out.

A Signal

By BRUCE CATTON

A very little thing often means a great deal, if you look at it properly.

In a little Ohio town near Toledo lives and 18 year old boy who has been an invalid for several years. His parents' house is near the New York Central railroad tracks, and one of the lad's diversions is watching the big limited passenger trains go speeding by.

One day, about a year ago, an engineer saw the boy's cot on the sun porch and inquired about him when he reached the town's station. Learning that the boy was kept to his bed by illness, the engineer decided to do a little something to cheer him up.

So, thereafter, every night when his train passed the boy's house, the engineer would blow his whistle four times. The boy quickly discovered that this signal was a greeting to him, and he responded by blinking the light in bed room four times.

That has kept up for a year now. Every night that the engineer speeds by he sounds his signal, and the boy responds by flashing his light. If the boy is feeling worse than usual, and has to drop off to sleep earlier in the evening, he sets his alarm clock so that he will awaken in time to hear and respond to the greeting.

On Christmas the engineer sent the little present. And a few days later, on his day, he went to the little town and called on him, promising to have all the other engineers on that section of the line toot their whistles for the sick lad when they passed his house.

Now all of this, while interesting and a little bit touching, may not seem especially important. But it is, just the same. Study it aright and you will get a great deal of encouragement and hope out of it.

There is a good deal of misery of one kind and another in this world. Sickness, poverty, failure and disappointment touch every one of us at one time or another. They're pretty hard to live through, sometimes; but the worst thing of all is the feeling of loneliness that so often accompanies them.

We are so constituted that we can stand almost anything except the feeling that the rest of the world is shut off from us by barriers of indifference and misunderstanding. There are times when the most important thing on earth is an unmistakable hint that kindness and thoughtfulness still exist in a world of strangers.

That is why the simple, kindly act of this locomotive engineer is worth reading about. What he did wasn't much, perhaps—but it meant a great to that bed-ridden youngster, lonely and depressed, and, though the rest of us never heard of either of these two people before, it can mean a good deal to us, too.

It is just one more demonstration that kindness and the willingness to help someone else to a little happiness aren't so uncommon as we often think.

Chicago and Georgia

The legal quirks and psycho-medical theories that once proved so impressive to a Chicago jury don't seem to mean quite so much in Georgia.

After Leopold and Loeb killed little Bobby Franks—"just for a thrill"—they escaped hanging because of a bewildering assortment of tales about abnormality, subnormality, congenital mental disabilities and what-not.

In Georgia a young collegian named George R. Harsh—like the Chicago pair, rich and clever—took to committing holdups "just for a thrill." In the course of one holdup he and a companion shot a man to death.

The crime was much less atrocious than that of Leopold and Loeb. The same sort of defense was put up. Alienists told of all sorts of crossed wires in the young collegian's brain.

But it took a Georgia jury only a short time to vote the death penalty. Harsh is sentenced to electrocution March 15.

Chicago might send someone down to Georgia to see how it's done.

THE PLAINSMAN Says

That Man on Avenue Q says his wife just insists on eating now and then—she's funny that way.

Ice-encased pavement and frost-encrusted windshields held before Lubbock autoists yesterday and today constant menace of accident. Automobiles driving at only a medium rate of speed went skidding across stop lights despite efforts of drivers to the contrary. Other automobiles, handled by more frolicsome and less cautious drivers spun 'round, top-fashion, at intersections; one hardy youth on a motorcycle speeded his engine and spun around in the same spot for several moments.

Then there were the improvised sleds that now and then went whizzing down the pavement.

Gay youths endeavored to scrape the layer of snow and sleet into a man-sized snowball with which to pelt whoever might step within their range.

It was Lubbock first snow of the year and apparently was enjoyed by everyone.

The mid unpaved portion of Broadway has ever been a nuisance. In the first place it is decidedly unsightly and out of balance with the graceful array of white way standards, and the smooth lawns and flowers that line the thoroughfare to the left or right.

This part of the street has likewise been washed out from time to time and presents many gaps, which may form a serious menace to the motorists.

Now comes Traffic Officer J. D. Johnson to add his plea to the others who would like to see Broadway paved all the way across.

Speeding into the breeze Wednesday afternoon, the officer darted around a string of cars in order to chase down a truant motorist. His motorcycle clipping away the blocks at about fifty miles an hour—happened to hit one of those washed-out places and motorcycle, rider and all, bounded high into the air.

Since the old adage "all that goes up is bound to come down" has never been satisfactorily disproven, the officer and motorcycle came down, with a painful thud.

And now the officer carries a mass of scratches and bruises as testimony.

We don't know what the city commission thinks about the idea of paving all of Broadway. Perhaps we should be better informed on the subject. Anyway, it is just a suggestion.

W. D. McGuire, of Panhandle, Texas, "reached for a lucky" instead of a "sweet" the other night and lost his automobile, according to a contemporary news story.

The yarn goes on to quote McGuire as follows:

"I was driving along toward Amarillo and saw two nice-looking young ladies in overalls walking along the road. I stopped and offered them a lift. 'We're on our way to Roswell from Oklahoma City' they said. They didn't say much else except to ask me for a cigarette. I didn't have any but as I needed some anyway I stopped at a drug store and went inside to buy a package. I left the engine running and when I came out the car was gone."

Lubbock needs more city parks. There is none to argue that such is not the case. Therefore, the proposal made by a group of disinterested business men—that the city commission purchase a tract in the southwestern part of the city for use as a municipal park—is meeting with almost unanimous favor.

Parks are essential to a city. As Lubbock grows, the need for recreation spots will become even more pronounced.

By purchasing the tract at this time the city can obtain a genuine real estate "bargain."

It is a subject deserving of careful consideration from the park commission.

Palestine To Repair Old Citadel Of David

JERUSALEM, Feb. 8 (AP)—One o' the famous tourist sights of the Holy City, known as the Citadel of David, with its large minaret on Zion Hill is being restored.

The structure was in danger of collapse, mainly as a result of damage caused by earthquakes, but the government appropriated $35,000 for reconstruction work.

Contrary to what the name implies, this is not the famous Citadel of David, but a more recent construction, even though, according to Moslem tradition, the burial place of David is said to be near by, namely, at the spot where Christ and His desciples took the last supper.

Along Hoover's Trail In SOUTH AMERICA

With Our Contemporaries

A HOOVER HOROSCOPE

Lubbock Journal: The Washington correspondents seem to be agreed that, regardless of the men Mr. Hoover picks for his Cabinet, he himself will exercise a far greater degree of control over the policies of the various departments than Washington has seen since the days of Wilson and Roosevelt.

It is the idea of those who pose as most authoritative that Mr. Hoover means to be an active participant in the country's government, not merely one whose main business is to attach his signature to papers requiring the sanction of the chief executive. In other words, and less ornate than good taste dictates, Mr. Hoover intends to be a bull-necked President. This column hopes so. Discount autocracy as we may, a little of it does good in any loosely strung political structure. Provided the individual exercising it knows what he is doing, and why. Mr. Hoover should know what and why. He has been a good while at Washington, viewing it from a point of vantage. He has had to do with men of many types in many climes, and should now be a capable reader of character. With such equipment he should be able to choose not only adequate men for the Cabinet, but able men for the various administrative offices coming under his authority. He is not likely to make his selections on the good-fellow basis as Mr. Harding did. Perhaps he will not choose yes-men, as Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Wilson were inclined to do. It will not be a great fault if he chooses obscure men, as Mr. Coolidge has frequently done, if he knows them well enough himself. Certainly he will tag no Falls, no Daughertys, no Whispering Smiths with his official or social approval. Also certainly he will sternly rebuke any tendency developing in his administration which would not bear microscopical examination by the nearest District Attorney. Such a President will be a good President, even should be disclose a tendency to make his objectives overly partisan in the hope of equalizing his earlier remissness in that respect.—State Press in Dallas News.

BABY BEEF SHOW

Next Saturday will witness for the first time in Tulia a Baby Beef Show sponsored by the Tulia Chamber of Commerce. The Boys' and Girls' clubs of Swisher county will bring their animals here to be judged and later will take them to Amarillo and probably to the Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth.

This club work is practically new in this county, but through the work of the county agent and the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and the co-operation of the boys and girls of the county this show promises to be a big affair in Tulia. Young Rousser of Kress who won the prizes last year is going to be hard pressed this year for there are many others who are determined to win this year, and we will have the oppotunity of seeing some fine beef calves and some fine feeding records.

This is a good cattle country and we are glad that many of the youngsters are growing up in the knowledge of how to make money on beef cattle as well as dairying. We need them both. We need more hogs. We need more and better poultry, and Tulia is always glad to lend her assistance to anyone who will try to improve the breeds in any of these lines. Lets welcome the boys and girls next Saturday—Tulia Herald.

NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8. — In Brazil, your correspondent had his first opportunity to learn of the way our huge public utility interests are spreading their services through South America.

The business of the Emprezas Electricas Brazileiras, with headquarters in Rio de Janeiro, is more or less typical and a description may be interesting in view of the increasing interest in public utility extension which is developing in the United States.

First to trace ownership back to New York. The Morgan interests are behind the Electric Bond and Share Company. Electric Bond and Share controls the American and Foreign Power Company, which in turn controls the South American Power Company, and the Brazilian company controlled by South American Power is the Emprezas Electricas Brasileiras.

* * *

This American concern investigates electric light and power properties in Brazil and buys up what appear to be the good investments. It connects them up with its existing lines wherever possible and is thus able to build up a constantly expanding network. Its present construction program calls for expenditure of $25,000,000.

Often it enters a city or state where the operating company hasn't enough capital to attain satisfactory efficiency. Elsewhere it establishes plants which may give a city a hundred or more years old its first electric lights. It is now directing operation of 17 light and power companies serving more than 200 communities with a total population of 3,500,000, with over 100,000 consumers connected with its lines. It also serves six towns and cities with street car systems, 25 others with telephone service, a few with water systems and Bahia, a city built on two levels, with an elevator service connecting the sea level section with the shelf above.

Emprezas Electricas is directed from its large and handsome headquarters here, taking up three floors of a high modern office building, by a few score North Americans. Nearly all its 11,000 permanent employes, however, are Brazilians. When Hoover rode up the Avenida Rio Branco on his arrival in Rio the American officers of the concern bought a great supply of white paper, cut it into confetti and staged a snowstorm a la Wall Street from office building windows along the way for his benefit.

Brazil has an immense amount of available water power, a great deal of which is being brought into use for manufacturing. Of her 1,200 cities and towns, about half are served with electrical energy. General Electric and Westinghouse have provided most of the largest generators used on central power plants of Brazil.

Development of water power is especially important to Brazil because of her lack of coal.

* * *

Emprezas Electricas Brazileira organized in Rio only two years ago so its growth has been rapid. Canadian interests operate the tramway light and power company in Rio and also in Sao Paulo, but there is a large field still open for American capital and enterprise.

* * *

In the state of Sao Paulo, the world's greatest coffee district, the company serves a vast area outside the city of Sao Paulo itself. The population in its territory there is about 2,000,000 and an extensive program of interconnection of its various properties there is now being completed.

In Petropolis, the summer capital of Brazil, it operates street railway lines and supplies a local distributing company with electricity used for extensive textile and manufacturing industries.

Electricity, gas, telephone, street railway or other services are also provided for Recife, Bahia, Victoria, Nictheroy, Curityba and Porto Alegre, cities of from 50,000 to 400,000 population.

In New York

By Swan

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 — You can see him any noon hour in one of those little "ring-the-bell-and-ask-for Joe" bars in the mid-Forties. His type is that of "Southahn colonel, sah," of the James Lane Allen tales. He still wears one of those twisted white stocks, fastened at the front with a horseshoe tie pin. His streaked white mustache serves to cover either corner of his mouth. He wears a white vest trimmed with handsewn polka-dots. His coat is of afternoon cut and his trousers of steel grey stripes. His spats are a slightly soiled white.

He arrives with perfect first-act dignity, passes a gobd morning to the bartender, who immediately begins to arrange a large glass of frickey. Then, with the gesture of one granting a favor he makes his way to the free lunch counter, condescends to accept a small plate of stew and a few crackers and seat himself magnificently in a booth. There you can see him sitting for an hour or more, looking indifferently and patronizingly upon the strangely conglomerate crew that drifts in.

He never drifts out of "role"; he never departs from "character"—as they would say on Broadway. He is a true trouper of the old school, the consummate actor, wherever met—the trouper grown old in his trade, pompously gesturing to the very end.

There are, indeed, few of them left, even on Broadway.

* * *

"It's the sort of show," says a recent review in Variety, "that should be played before a net."

But you won't get this gag unless you belong to a generation that tossed things at the actors when they got too bad.

O. Henry gave to Manhattan's back ball bedrooms a romantic and also drab place in American fiction. And so they have remained to this day. They are inhabited by the spectral odors of many transient guests; they have been the settings for heartbreak and joy, for wistful yearnings and cheap licentiousness, for young love and old bestiality.

From the windows of the back hall bedrooms hang the symbols of thrift-silk stockings, recently rinsed in the washbowl; or a shirtwaist, trusted to the sooty propinquity of a nearby factory.

The rooms reek of people who have come and gone. The odors of many cheap dinners, prepared on tiny, one-burner gas plates, cling to the walls. The wallpaper is ancient and faded and drenched in the old odors. A sense of depression clings—as it did to that mignonette-scented room of the O. Henry tale.

And things do happen there—mean things and tragic things. Today's suicide makes way for tomorrow's transient guest.

Today the lonely new arrival looks lonesomely off across the neighboring roof-tops, with a predatory eat at the lone bit of observable life; tomorrow she is whisked away in a taxicab to disappear somewhere in the city; next week the stout man falls limply to the floor with a stroke, and next year another new arrival finds only depression in her introduction to the city. Thus it goes!

* * *

Commuters to New York engage in an endless card game, which begins at the out-of-town station and ends five seconds before arrival. Year upon year these games go on, until casual seatmates grow into cronies. Recently one of these big bridge and rummy men made a lot of money on Wall Street and decided to retire. But he found that he had left so active a life that he missed his daily contacts. He tried to fight off the desire for his morning card game and his other minor social encounters.

Now he appears, as before, for his train bridge game and when Grand Central is reached he turns about and goes lonesomely home.

SOFT SHOE IS BETTER FOR BABY

BY LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

Answers to Mothers

God could not be everywhere; therefore He made mothers.
—Jewish Proverb.

Stiff Ankle Shoes

"Our baby girl is 19 months old, I have kept her in stiff-ankled shoes since she was able to walk, eight months ago. Recently I have heard this is not good.
"MRS. S."

It is probably better for the baby to have soft shoes over the ankles, for these permit the ankles to get some exercise. Unless you have had specially made shoes, stiffer than usual, I don't imagine you have done any harm, Mrs. S.

* * *

"Please tell me what I can do to break the habit of my baby's crying in the night until I put her in bed with me? She used to sleep the night through until last summer, when we were in the country. She was cutting her teeth, and would scream terribly during the night, and so as not to disturb others in the house, I took her in bed with me. Now the habit is formed and I can not seem to break it. MRS. T."

The only way you can break the baby of her habit is to be sure she is comfortable and let her cry it out for two or three nights, Mrs. T. Pin the coverlets down loosely so she can not get out of them. As I have warned many times before, when disciplining a child in such a manner tell your neighbors about it, so they won't think you are cruel to her.

We have a list of modern books on the general care and feeding of children which you may have.

Mrs. H. wants to know if she can do the Tummy Ten exercises after she has an operation to repair some lacerations from childbirth.

You would probably have to omit them for a while, Mrs. H. After your wounds are thoroughly healed (unless your surgeon tells you there is some reason why you shouldn't) you could begin again.

You are wise in having the lacerations repaired, for unrepaired they may be the basis of cancer later in life, and the operation is not a serious one.

* * *

"My baby, five weeks, old, was born with a red birthmark on the left side of her face. I have been told that radium would remove it. Is this advisable, and what is the best age? MRS. D."

Birthmarks of all sorts are successfully removed now by radium and other measures. Those so-called port wine and strawberry marks are technically known as hemangiama; blood tumors. The sooner they are treated, the better.

* * *

L.—As you are only 35, and want to have more children, I agree with your doctor ,who says that there is no need of your having the slight laceration—which doesn't bother you—repaired until after you cease having children. However, it would be wise for you to have the laceration inspected occasionally.

Editor's Note: Dr. Peters can not diagnose, nor give personal advice. Your questions, if of general interest, will be answered in the columns, in turn. Requests for articles must be accompanied by a fully self-addresse, stamped envelope and 2 cents in coin for each article, to cover cost of printing and handling. For the pamphlet on reducing and gaining, 10 cents in coin, with fully self-addressed, stamped envelope, must be enclosed. Address Dr. Peters, in care of this paper.

The World And All

BY CHARLES B. DRISCOLL

TROUBLES OF THE TOWNS

If there is anybody in this country who has more trouble on his hands than Earl Carroll and a traffic cop, it is the average city manager. An American city is a difficult creature to manage, and some of the most wierd problems arise to confront the responsible agent of the urban taxpayers.

One of the most picturesque problems I've heard of is that which entertains the people of Venice, Calif., at the moment. Somebody laid out Venice, a long time ago, and the town has not yet fully recovered from being laid out.

The designer dreamed of duplicating the city of the same name that has been holding forth in Italy for some years. He dug canals for streets at great expense.

Now Venice is an enterprising little town, and has no use for canals. You can't paddle to business or paddle around on a shopping tour in this country. It doesn't work, any more than a duplication of Pompeii would work in this country.

The canals have only stagnant water in them, and Venetians have been trying to get them filled up and properly paved. But there's something in the charter or the deed or the constitution or the Declaration of Independence that says these canals shall be canals forever. What's a poor Venetian to do against such a handicap? Of course, common sense and business enterprise will solve the problem eventually, but meantime what a situation.

* * *

Almost every American town has a police problem. A great many towns have fire department problems and don't know it. I know a town where the fire department is so bound up with red tape that it won't answer an alarm that is telephoned in over the wrong phone. It just sits around and waits for the alarm to come in properly while the fire goes merrily on. If you happen to get on the wrong phone and tell the fire department that your house is burning down, you're out of luck.

New York has a market house in The Bronx that cost millions of dollars and was years a-building. It is technically perfect, with docks and switches, elevated roads and acres of sanitary floor space. But it is so far from human habitation that nobody would be able to get to it to buy, if anything were offered there for sale. So there it stands, great and gloomy and empty, and not even a stalf of celery has every been bought or sold in it.

In Cleveland a great bond issue was voted to build a public building of some sort on the lake front, and all the money was used up digging a monumental hole in the ground, which after many years, had to be filled up again at great expense.

No wonder city managers grow old early in life.

Danish Co-eds Say "Philosophy First"

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 8. (AP)—Danish co-eds are a serious lot. One-third of the 1,000 women undergraduates at Copenhagen university are specializing in philosophy. There are a thousand co-eds in the student body of 5,000.

Danish women cannot hold church positions, but six girls are specializing the theology. 163 are going to be doctors, 59 lawyers, 22 political scientists and 97 specialists in English. Mathematics appeals to 87 co-eds, bbut more than 250 girls are unable to decide which branch of science to specialize.

RETENTION OF GOTHAM REDISCOUNT RATE MAIN FACTOR

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP).—Retention of the 5 per cent rediscount rate by the New York Federal Reserve Bank more than offset the increase of $110,000,000 in brokers' loans as a market factor, and stock prices opened strong today. (By Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 8 (AP).—The cotton market opened quiet but steady in response to relatively favorable Liverpool cables. First trades showed advances of 2 points to a decline of one. WHEAT MARKET SWINGS UPWARD

CHICAGO, Feb. 8 (AP).—Scarcity of offerings here, together with Liverpool quotations high than due, helped give an early upward swing to Chicago wheat today.

Opening 1-4c to 5-8c higher, Chicago wheat afterward scored material gains. Corn, oats and provisions were likewise firmer, with corn starting at 1-8c to 3-8c advance and subsequently continuing to point upward.

MOTORCYCLE HITS BUMP IN STREET, MAN IS FLUNG TO GROUND

J. D. Johnson, city motorcycle officer, who was painfully injured Wednesday when thrown from his motorcycle, was released from a local hospital yesterday afternoon.

The motorcycle hit a hole, flinging the rider into the air. His face and head were badly cut and bruised and his left wrist was broken. The machine was seriously damaged. Johnson was brought to the hospital by passing motorists.

His face a mass of bruises, scratches, and bandages, Johnson could hardly be recognized upon his release from the hospital yesterday.

"HER FRIENDS MARVEL AT CHANGE," SAYS HUSBAND

"My Wife Certainly Looks And Feels Like A New Person, She Has Taken Two Bottles Of Orgatone

It is not what the manufacturers claim for it, but the statements from the multiplied thousands who have been benefitted by it, that has made Orgatone the world-over famous medicine today. T. K. Campbell, of 606 Alabama St., Amarillo, Tex., made the following remarkable statement in regard to his wife's case recently said:

"My wife suffered from a severe case of indigestion, nervousness, and a general run-down condition," he continued "she did not have any appetite and always looked puny. Every time she ate any thing it would hurt her, and she kept getting worse all the time. She was weak and fagged out all the time, and was hardly able to do her work. She was going fast down hill, and one day, we read about Orgatone, and she began taking it.

"We are both indeed thankful for what Orgatone has done for my wife. She eats anything she wants now, and has a large appetite. Her complexion was always sallow, but you can talk about the 'school girl complexion' now for she has it. Her looks are much better, and has some color in her face. She rests and sleeps well at night, and all of her friends marvel at the wonderful change in her in so short a time. We both are glad to recommend Orgatone, it will do what they say it will. It is a wonderful medicine."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and may be obtained in Lubbock, Texas, at the Bowens Drug Store under the personal direction of the special Orgatone representative. Adv.

Invite Idalou to Join

The Slaton committee plans to confer with representatives of Idalou in the near future to determine if that city wishes to join in the Slaton district on a project similar to the one advanced in the first $2,000,000 county-wide road project which met defeat last fall.

Charles F. O'Neall said today that all details of the campaign would be worked out this time before the project was put to a vote. He said that although the local organization preferred a county-wide program, it was willing to cooperate with Slaton in the other plan.

BLIZZARD SWEEPS OVER WIDE AREA

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 8 (AP).—The Southwest and Rocky Mountain states today anxiously awaited some relief from the worst blizzard of the winter, felt as far west as Southern California where frost threatened the citrus districts.

The storm, heading southeastward after spreading a new blanket of snow over Colorado, further hindreing railroad transportation in some regions, lashed Kansas and Oklahoma with all its fury, dropping the mercury to the lowest marks of the season at some points. Highways in the two states and in Nebraska were blocked by a three to five inch snow, and operations in the oil and mining districts halted.

A heavy snow also was reported in the Texas Panhandle with rain in the southern section of the state In Missouri from one to three inches of snow fell.

Benefits Wheat.

In the wheat belt the snow was greeted as a benefit to growing grain crops.

Temperatures dropped to as low as 26 degrees in the California Citrus districts but it was believed no serious damage was caused by frost. Tonight, however, the mercury was expected to go even lower resulting in a heavier frost, and citrus growers were prepared for smudging.

Southeastern New Mexico reported its first snow of the winter. New zero temperatures prevailed in Nevada, Utah and Idaho.

and the local committee met with Mayor Harley D. Woods, City Manager Gus McCleary, City Secretary W. H. Rogers, and members of the city commission at a luncheon at the Hotel Lubbock at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

The contract for the subway under the Santa Fe tracks at the Broadway intersection was formally delivered to the city at the luncheon by Mr. Gilles of the Santa Fe company.

After plans are worked out here, evidence will be collected for the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing on the petitions of both the Santa Fe and the Texas and Pacific railways to serve this section of New Mexico, now untouched by rail outlets. The interest of the local Chamber of Commerce in the project is based on the belief that this section is now a trade territory of Lubbock, and that the granting of the T. and P. permit would cut it off from this city, while the Santa Fe extension would augment the connection.

Pecan Tree Orders Are Made At Spur

South Polar Winter Approaching Byrd Party While Supplies Placed On Ice At Far-Away Bay Of Whales

Antarctic Continent Turns To Sheet Of Solid Ice As Large As United States; Seasons Are Erratic

NEW YORK, Feb. 8. (AP)—While the Byrd Antactic Expedition is unloading its supplies on the ice at the Bay of Whales the south polar winter is approaching rapidly.

It is not unusual, says Dr. Robert Cushman Murphy, Antarctic explorer of the American Museum of Natural History, for winter conditions to sweep down in February over the Antarctic continent, which is a solid sheet of ice about the size of the United States. Nowhere upon its expanse except at a few points about its border has there yet been discovered any break in the ice sheet sufficient to expose bare ground enough to collect a little of the summer sun's heat to stay the chill of upending ice.

"Winter," says Dr. Murphy, "may be delayed until March, but in the Antarctic the safe rule is to get started so early that it hurts, which, is exactly what Byrd has done. Byrd's winter site is in a natural amphitheater, about 400 miles long and more than 300 miles broad, in which he is camped at the outer or open edge of the horseshoe.

"The protection afforded him by the configuration is not in any way due to the land which rises several thousand feet on three sides of this great bowl called Ross Sea. Instead it is furnished through peculiar meteorological conditions over the area of level glacial ice that covers so many thousands of square miles in the inner part of Ross Sea.

"Existence of this vast plain of ice enables Byrd to keep away from the dangers, amounting to almost certain failure of even death, in trying to winter on the shores of the Antarctica continent itself. For the shores drop down from great elevations and in winter are swept by terrific winds, such as caused Scott's death. Storms frequently are equal in force to a tropical hurricane.

"Byrd's camp is far enough out on the ice plain to escape the winds. Discovery of the comparative winter calm of this Bay of Whales site was made by Amundsen, who forecast the favorable condition from study of scanty meteorological reports. This deduction by Amundsen was one of the cleverest things ever done in Antarctic exploration. He spent a winter and part of a summer at the Bay of Whales and had weather that for the Antarctic was calm all the time."

GEOLOGIST DIES OF WOUNDS

FORT WORTH, Feb. 8 (AP).—Gustav Peters, 35, geologist, shot at his home Tuesday night, whose wife had been charged with assault to murder, died last night.

Author At 15

Book Tells Life At Boarding School

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., (AP)—Fifteen-year old Carman Barnes of this city is to make her literary debut shortly with "School Girl," a fictional composite of life at a boarding school. The book is not a study of conditions at one school. Carman is a student at fashionable Ward-Belmar, Nashville.

"School Girl" does not mince words and it may not please the elders. Carman's answer is that all her life she wanted to write a book and she has chosen the subject she knows most about.

The young author is the daughter of Mrs. George Pullen Jackson. She has decided what she is going to do with the money from the book—"Buy about the most expensive sport model roadster on the market."

Woman Police Judge Passes Tenth Year

BOULDER, Colo. Feb. 8. (AP)—A woman's wisdom and sense of fairness balance the scales of justice in Boulder's police court.

After a decade on the bench, Judge Linda M. Lee counts among her friends the persons who have stood before her charged with violation of city ordinances.

She always shows mercy when she is convinced of an offender's sincere wish to be guided by a mistake. A barber who entered a plea of guilty after his arrest for violating a traffic ordinance was let off without a fine when he promised to drive his motor car more carefully in the future. In appreciation of judicial clemency, he offered to bob the judge's hair, and she accepted the offer.

Belgrade Grows Beyond Her Funds

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Belgrade, which before the war was a semi-oriental town famous for its many bombardments, is rapidly growing into a great central European capital.

Its population has risen from 70,000 to over 250,000 and is increasing. The chief obstacle to an ambitious program of construction work and public improvement is lack of funds.

Interior View Of New Store And Market

According to Olen Stewart, proprietor of the new store, the establishment will be the best equipped and most up-to-date to be found in the city.

Souvenirs, given away from time to time, music, and frequent demonstrations will make shopping a real pleasure at the "Helpy Selfy" store.

Those who shop early Saturday will get a $3.00 basket of groceries free with each purchase of $5.00 or more.

CAMPBELL WILL RETIRE IF HE ESTABLISHES NEW SPEED MARK

VERNEUK PAN, South Africa. (AP)—Maj. Malcolm Campbell, famous British motorist, will retire if he establishes a new world record for automobile speed here in February, otherwise he will try again at Daytona Beach, Fla., he says.

He chose a desolate spot when he selected this part of the world for his attempt. The party will outspan on the veldt close to the bed of a dried-up lake where Major Campbell will make the speed attempts. The nearest house is five miles away. He will use his Moth airplane, which is now on the way here with his famous car, the "Blue Bird," for hurried journeys to Capetown, about 450 miles away.

Major Campbell already has gone into training. He has eliminated smoking and will drink no alcohol.

The most anxious spectator will be Mrs. Campbell, who invariably watches her husband face the tremendous risks he dismisses with a grin.

"If I am successful I think this will probably be my last attempt on the world's speed record, but if I do not succeed I shall return and build another car—for which I have already designs—and try again in the United States," Major Campbell has declared.

Should Campbell be successful he will regain for Great Britain the record which he himself set up at Daytona Beach—206.95 miles an hour—and which was wrested from England by Ray Keech, American, only a few weeks later.

In Major Campbell's efforts of a year and a half to find a suitable place for the record he has:

Visited many stretches of sands in Britain.

Explored the coast of Denmark.

Flown to the Sahara and had a forced landing in the Riff tribesmen's country.

Sent representatives to the Syrian desert, Bolivia, South America, France, and Italy.

Examined hundreds of letters suggesting possible sites.

Banned by the Royal automobile club from using Pendine Sands, Carmarthenshire, on the grounds that they were unsafe, he thought of trying a certain stretch of shore in Denmark, but the Danish minister of justice forbade him to make the attempt.

Under suitable conditions Campbell believes that the "Blue Bird" can attain a speed of 220 miles an hour.

Germany Attempts To Abolish Laws

BERLIN, Feb. 8. (AP)—A law to abolish laws has won strong support in the current session of the German Reichstag. The legislators face a heavy program, part of which may include the task of unloading old and worn out laws.

The German people are groaning under about 11,000 laws, 9,000 of which are said to have fallen into disuse, to be out of date or wholly inapplicable. Among the latter is a centuries old ordinance to crop the ears of cats at certain times of the year, while another one makes it illegal to do garden work on Ascension Day. With many such laws, the statute book of 65,000 pages is filled. This year, it is expected, a beginning will be made to winnow out these thousands or hoary regulations most of which have in these days no right of existence.

First Helpy-Selfy Store Opens In Lubbock Saturday

Innovation For Groceries Here Offered Patrons

C. W. Lackey Will Manage Self-Service Establishment On Nineteenth; To Give Premiums Saturday

An innovation is offered to that fast-growing residential section of the southwestern part of the city, near Tech Campus, with the opening Saturday of the Helpy-Selfy grocery store, on 19th Street between Avenue X and Y, the only self-serving establishment of this kind in the neighborhood.

The Helpy-Selfy store will be the first of this chain of grocery stores to be located in Lubbock. But while this store is a link of the chain store establishment it is controlled locally, with local stockholders in charge.

C. W. Lackey, formerly connected with Piggly-Wiggly No. 5 of this city, has been named manager of the new 19th Street store. Three other regular employes will be used with three or four additional ones added on Saturdays.

Offer Complete Stock

In connection with the opening, 250 baskets of food will be given away to patrons purchasing as much as $5 worth of groceries. The store will offer a complete stock to the public on opening day.

A full line of groceries will be in stock at all times with special emphasis upon fruits and vegetables. A first-class, up-to-date meat market has been installed in the store and will be operated in connection with the grocery business.

The store is located in a newly constructed, beautiful brick building corner of Avenue X and 19th Street. A delightful color scheme of white and blue is carried out in the store, and with plenty of available shelf space and display room, the public of this section of Lubbock is offered one of the most modern self-serving grocery stores in the city. The store has a thirty-six foot front, allowing ample room for show window display.

BUDAPEST, Feb. 8. — (AP) — Dog lovers are indignant over an order of the city council forbidding the loud barking of dogs as a punishable offense.

Business men had complained they could not work when barks were added to the other noises of Hungary's capital.

Vegetable Department Delight To Shoppers

Present Congress Gives Much Study To Radio Rulings

Coolidge Recommendation For Year More Of Life To Commission Expected To Have Weight

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.(AP)—The official statement from the White House that President Coolidge was of the opinion that it would be advisable to continue for one year the administrative functions of the federal radio commission is expected to have considerable weight with congress, which is considering the problem of radio regulation.

On March 4, radio will become one of the responsibilities of the new president. Whether President-elect Hoover in his conferences with President Coolidge discussed the continuance of the commission or the radio situation in general has not been divulged. Following the 1926 breakdown in federal regulation of broadcasting, President Coolidge asked congress to draft new legislation and the Radio act of 1927 resulted.

The advice of Mr. Hoover was sought in the preparation of this legislation. He told congress he believed that duties of a semi-judicial character should not be handled by an individual such as the secretary of commerce but should be handled by a board or commission.

The new radio act provided a commission of five, automatically terminating all existing licenses and adopting the principle that "public convenience, interest and necessity" should be the basis for granting licenses.

Although there has been considerable criticism at congressional hearings regarding phases of the November reallocation of stations there has been no concerted opposition to the continuance of the commission in its present capacity. The broadcasters' organization asked congress for a more flexible interpretation of equal allocation under the law and other amendments but did not demand discontinuance of the commission.

Even individual station owners who complained of their treatment under the allocation, said they were not opposed to commission regulation but expressed grievance at the actions of individual commissioners.

News of Nosebleed As Broadcast Got Results

EMERSON, Ia., Feb. 8.—(AP)—R. W. Harris' claim to fame is that news of his nosebleed was broadcast from coast to coast.

For days Harris was unable to stop the nosebleed. Finally his plight was broadcast as an item of Iowa news. Harris was deluged with telephone and telegraph messages, each suggestion a "sure cure."

One well-wisher from Los Angeles wired him, collect, with this advice: "Read Ezekiel 16:6 three times, have faith, and you'll be cured."

The nosebleed stopped without recourse to any of the advices.

INSTITUTION IS HOME OWNED BUT HAS BIG BUYING POWER

The first genuine Helpy-Selfy grocery to open in the South Plains opens in Lubbock Saturday at 8 p. m.

Olen Stewart, manager of the store, asks that special stress be accorded the fact that Helpy-Selfy should be considered at all times a Lubbock institution in every respect. Being a local organization, any profits accruing from the business will remain in Lubbock and enrich the community from whence it gets its support. For this reason Helpy-Selfy will at all times feature and offer for sale Lubbock-made and Lubbock county produced commodities insofar as they are obtainable. As an example, only Lubbock-baked bread will be obtainable at Helpy-Selfy.

Faith in Lubbock

"Constantly on the lookout for an ideal business in which to engage in Lubbock and after having studied with thought and pains many different business opportunities, we have taken on the Helpy-Selfy method of doing business and from Saturday on we will be known as known as Helpy-Selfy of Lubbock, Texas," Mr. Stewart said. "The company is owned solely by us. Our observation has been that the people of Lubbock appreciate the self-serving system of handling groceries and the consequent savings effected in the plan. With the new system installed the store will be strictly a cash institution and will make no deliveries, but will of course extend every help and courtesy in the selection of groceries.

Pleased With Franchise

"We have been very fortunate in obtaining the Helpy-Selfy franchise for Lubbock. We believe there are wonderful possibilities for both the city and our institution," Stewart said.

"We positively guarantee every piece of merchandise we sell. If for any reason a customer is not fully satisfied with any purchase made we will gladly give him new merchandise or his money back. Practically every item we handle is guaranteed by its manufacturer. On top of the manufacturer's guarantee, we add our iron-clad Helpy-Selfy guarantee. We do this to doubly safeguard our friends of Lubbock. No quibbling, no investigating or passing the buck; the customer is always right in our store."

Helpy-Selfy in Texas specially is becoming a great institution. There are nearly 100 of these beautiful stores within the state, operating at this time. Helpy-Selfy had its beginning in a small building, 18x30 feet in Dallas, Texas. The originator of the system Helpy-Selfy, Jack Long, established his first store in Dallas in 1922, using as his only means $1,000 borrowed capital and a limited line of credit extended by friendly grocery jobbers. In a few brief years, Mr. Long built his original idea to embrace 23 beautiful sores in Dallas. Two years ago that chain of Dallas stores was sold to D. W. Jones, Mr. Long retaining a certain amount of director's stock in that organization of which Mr. Jones was the head. Since that time Mr. Long has opened fifteen beautiful stores in Fort Worth and is now devoting a great portion of his time to the Helpy-Selfy system throughout the country. His original idea still motivates the present system. He declares that his success is founded in quantity buying power, low overhead, personal management and constant, heavy advertising of a modern merchandising nature.

The name Helpy-Selfy is the creation of a Dallas woman, Miss Maybelle Hill.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend the opening of the local store whether they intend to make purchases or not.

OPPOSES BOOST IN WOOL TARIFF

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP).—Opposition to any increase in the duties on raw wool was voiced before the house ways and means committee today by Mr. Wm. Goldman, New York, representing the clothing manufacturers' research board, who declared the present rates already constitute a huge tax upon the American clothing consumer.

The increase to 31 cents a pound on raw wool granted in the 1922 act, combined with the provision that it apply onyl to the clean content, Goldman said, boosted the rates 70 per cent over the Payne-Aldrich tariff and aroused widespread antagonism at that time.

This duty, he added, pyramided before the material reached the consumer to about 93 cents a pound, equal to $4 on all wool suit of clothes, and added $200,000,000 to clothing costs of the American people.

BELTON, Tex., Feb. 8 — H. D. Thompson, 58, on trial for the slaying of Carlton Fewell, 19, in a skating rink here last May, testified today that he shot Fewell in a state of "indescribable excitement" when letters thought to have been from Fewell to his married daughter led him to believe the two were planning to elope.

Although the letters read in cour, contained endearing terms, the daughter testified that Fewell always had been "gentlemanly" in her presence.

Witnesses testified Fewell had his arms around the married woman at the rink shortly before he was shot by Thompson.

Evidence in the case was completed today.

False Friend Costs Persian $2,000,000

CERNOWITZ, Roumania, Feb. Feb. 8. (AP)—From millionaire to street peddler because he had faith in a friend is the story of Omar Curcioglu, a former Persian merchant of Tiflis.

At the time of the Bolshevist invasion Omar entrusted an old friend named Plawschi with general power of attorney over a fortune estimated at $2,000,000. The friend sold everything and denied ever receiving power of attorney.

Omar, now a hawker, is seeking to recover $650,000 through the courts.

SPUR, Feb. 8.—Joe C. Williams, teacher of vocational agriculture in the Spur high school will work with his pupils in giving a "Father and Son" banquet on February 22. GOLD SEEKERS TO TAKE CANOES ALONG ON FLIGHT TO NORTHWEST

NEW YORK, Feb. 8. (AP)—Canoes as airplane equipment will be used for the first time next summer when the Dominion Explorers, Ltd., begin their projected four-year aerial gold exploration of the Canadian northwest.

Capt. Charles Sutton, chief pilot, who came here to purchase three more cabin monoplanes for the explorers' caravan, told how preparatory work with four pontoon-fitted planes last summer demonstrated the advantage of taking canoes along for ready transportation on the lakes and streams.

Captain Sutton plans to test canoe-carrying under practical conditions here within two weeks.

Another flying innovation is a special pontoon with which Sutton is having his planes equipped.

With double buttons built into them, the pontoons are provided with a longitudinal water-tight compartment as a double protection against puncture. Should one of the surfaces become damaged against a submerged rock in landing on the uncharted lakes and streams, the pontoon would fill only half full of water and be enabled to take off again without emergency repair.

SALTED NUTS

If children always salt nuts before eating them, they will not be made sick from them. Bananas also are better for children salted slightly.

HOT-WATER BOTTLE

Never put your rubber hot-water bottles away with the sides sticking together. Empty, drain and then blow a little air into the bottle and screw the stopper in. This lengthens the bottle's life.

JELLY GARNISH

When cutting jelly into squares or other shapes for garnish, use sharp scissors instead of a knife. It is easier to shape them, quicker and neater. Dip the sciasors into cold water before each bit is cut.

WASHBOWL AND STAINS

If your bathroom washstand is stained,—use lemon and French chalk to remove it. It is a mistake to allow yellow stains to remain for the older they are, the harder to remove.

Gotham Eagerly Awaiting Newest Play Of O'Neill

Theater Guild To Present Latest Production From Famous Playwright On Next Monday Night

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 8—Among the dramatic presentations promised to New York during the remainder of the current season, none is regarded with more anticipation than Eugene O'Neill's new play, "Dynamo," which the Theater Guild will reveal February 11.

It is the first of a trilogy of plays, all centered upon modern man's search for religion, and it is the only O'Neill play that Broadway will see this year. He plans to write the other two dramas of the cycle within the next three years, and it is his present intention to turn them to the writing of what he hopes will be his greatest play, a task to which he is prepared to devote eight or 10 years.

"Dynamo" deals with the son of a fundamentalist minister who falls in love with the daughter of an atheist, and who, dissatisfied with belief and disbelief alike, turns to the dynamo of a hydroelectric plant as a symbol of his religious aspirations, seeing in it a machine which creates energy within itself.

O'Neill's last play, "Strange Interlude," celebrated the completion of a year's run in New York at the end of January. It is by all odds the greatest popular success the playwright has ever written, despite its more than four-hour length and its unorthodox construction; and it is being played on the road and abroad as well.

In "Dynamo" O'Neill employs asides like those in "Interlude", and also resorts to the device of cutting away the wall of a house and revealing the simultaneous action in several rooms within. He employed that method in "Desire Under the Elms." This time he goes farther and reveals contemporary action and dialog in different rooms of two houses and in a yard between.

The last week of January brought fewer new shows to Broadway than any week since early autumn. There were but three: "Boom Boom" and "Lady Fingers" musical comedies, and Blanche Yurka's revival of Ibsen's "Hedda Gabler" for the Actors' Theater.

"Boom Boom," adapted from the French farce, "Oh, Mama," is energetic buffoonery built about the complications which ensue when a parent weds his son's sweetheart. The portly Frank MacIntyre is the papa and Jeanette MacDonald the girl. Nell Kelley's lively stepping and the dancing of ortez and Peggy, a Spanish duo, are items.

In Owen Davis' old plays, of which there are several score, musical comedy craftsmen have suddenly discovered material for their labors. A few weeks ago Lew Fields revealed, in "Hello Daddy," a musicalized version of a former Davis farce success, and now Eddie Buzzell has tooled from "Easy Come, Easy Go," a libretto for the new musical comedy, "Lady Fingers," in which he is starred with Louise Brown.

Blanche Yurka is the sole custodian this season of Ibsen revivals. She directed and enacted the principal role in "The Wild Duck," and now has followed its healthy run with a production of "Hedda Gobler," in which she also plays the name part, surrounded by most of the same principals who shared honors with her in "The Wild Duck."

MANUFACTURERS JOIN SHEEP MEN IN ASKING TARIFF HIKE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Wool manufacturers lined up behind the sheep raisers today for higher tarriff protection on fine raw wools, and at the same time pleaded for a boost in the rates on higher grade manufactured yarns and fabrics.

Nathaniel Stevens, vice-president of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers, testified before the House Ways and Means Committee at its hearing on wool duties that manufacturers were in harmony with the growers in their request for additional protection on high grade raw wool. He added, however, that if the increase of from five to nine cents a pound proposed on raw wool was granted, the Manufacturers would need higher compensatory duties on goods of fine quality.

He based this conclusion on estimates showing that labor costs were higher in the manufacture of fine woolens as compared with those in the coarse goods trade and that even under the present rate of 31 cents a pound on the clean content of wool in the grease slightly higher duties on the manufactured articles were required.

He suggested a differential of 10 per cent between the duties on woolen fabrics and finished clothing.

Stevens likened conditions in the wool manufacturing industry to those in the textile trade, with factories operating at only 60 per cent capacity. He said imports were displacing 41,000,000 pounds of domestic wool in the American market and were keeping from employment from 12,000 to 15,000 persons.

G. W. Jack, representing the New York Sheep Grower's Association, disagreed with national wool growers' association spokesmen in their request for higher rates on fine raw wool. He said New York sheep raisers had doubled their business under present duties and were satisfied with them.

Ford Greets Edison At Estate In Florida

(By Associated Press)

FORT MYERS, Fla., Feb. 8—Henry Ford, arriving for his winter vacation today, was so eager to see his old friend, and former boss, Thomas A. Edison, that he hastened from his train to walk two miles in twenty to walk two miles in 20 minutes direct to the Edison estate.

Ford's home is next door to the Edison estate, but instead of going there the Detroit manufacturer turned in the Edison gate, walked to the wizard's new laboratory and without being announced learned over desk where the aged inventor was checking some rubber experiments.

Mr. Edison looked up in surprise and then, jumping to his feet, placed his arm on Mr. Ford's shoulder, and arm in arm the two inventors inspected equipment of the laboratory where both expect to carry on experimental work this winter.

"You are looking fine," exclaimed Ford, "I think you look better than ever before."

Edison beamed and replied "Why shouldn't I look good? I have plenty of work to do and that keeps me young. You don't look so bad yourself."

"Miss Hungary" Is Most Beautiful Girl

PARIS, Feb. 8. (AP)—"Miss Hungary" is the most beautiful girl in Europe by virtue of the vote of a jury of 16 eminent European artists. She will defend the claims of Europe against Miss America at Galveston, Texas, for the world beauty title.

In private life she is Elizabeth Simon, 19-year-old daughter of a physician. She is a blonde of a delicate aristocratic type.

Names Of Movie Folks Sometimes Go In Odd Ways

Autograph Collectors Are Responsible For Finding Of Actors' Names In Strange Places

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 7. — Movie folks' names travel about the world on many queer vehicles besides lithographed posters and bright electrict lights. Autograph collectors, of course, are responsible.

There are few articles, however bizarre, which have not at one time or another been presented to some cinema celebrity for autographing. Usually the confirmed collector carries an autograph album for the quest.

But sometimes, if the star is encountered unexpectedly and the opportunity for an autograph cannot be foregone, the petitioner will present the star any personal possession to be autographed.

Collectors have been known to offer new hats, pieces of their shirts or neckties, even silken fragments of garments called "intimate," to receive the inky token of stellar graciousness. Sometimes mothers desire to have their babies' clothes or trinkets autographed, and so varied and frequently amusing are the articles the stars are asked to sign that few would be greatly surprised if requested to write their names on an ice cream cone or a lollipop.

Autographed Music.

Musical instruments are among the favorite means used for collecting the names. One lad uses the white sheepskin head of his banjo to preserve the coveted signatures, his collection so far including those of Ricardo Cortez, Ramon Navarro, Carmel Myers, John Gilbert, Greta Garbo, Lon Chaney, Vera Gordon, Rod LaRocque and others. Eddie Nugent's is there and "Joan Crawford and Douglas Fairbanks Jr."—together, of course. In the summer the boy plans to organize his orchestra and play aboard an ocean liner.

He has a friend who collects autographs on a violin scraped of its veneer.

Voice of the Fans.

Movie fans soon may be forcing their favorite novels or stories into celluloid version simply by inaugurating an organized howl among fellow screen followers. Fred Niblo, who is directing "Redemption," says that numerous letters from American and European fans suggesting that a Tolstoi story be filmed in honor of the great Russian writer's hundredth birthday anniversary, celebrated in 1928, played their part in the selection of this story as John Gilbert's next vehicle — his third Tolstoi role, incidentally.

"Quesiton Mark" Fete Turns Attention On Intrepid Aviators Who First Used Gas-Transfer Feat

(By Associated Press)

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 8.—The six and a half days in the air achieved by the army endurance monoplane Question Mark has prompted a move to obtain belated congressional recognition for the daring army fliers who first demonstrated the feasibility of refueling during flight.

The airmen who recently won the plaudits of the flying world by breaking all records for remaining off the ground did accord due recognition to the pioneer feat by carrying in the refueling cockpit of the Question Mark a painting of the original aerial refueling which was accomplished June 23, 1923, over Rockwell field, near here.

Capt. Lowell Smith and Lieut. John P. Richter were the ones who piloted the army biplane on that occasion. It remained aloft for 24 hours, then for 37 hours. The refueling biplane was piloted by Lieut. Virgil Hine and Lieut. Frank Seifert.

Maj. T. C. MacCauley, former army flier and civic aeronautical leader, has telegraphed to Rep. Phil Swing of California:

"Refueling flight successfully completed by Army Question Mark here revives the first two successful flights of 24 and 37 hours by Lowell Smith, Richter, Hine and Seifert by refueling. Army recognition given this flight by congress should be bestowed on original fliers."

A few months after this initial day and night flight over Rockwell field Smith and Richter made a coastwise flight, refueling in the air above Eugene, Ore., and Sacramento, Cal.

Spokane Woman Officer Honored

SPOKANE, Wash. Feb. 8. (AP)—Mrs. Grace Amick, local policewoman, who totes a "police positive" on her tours of duty, has been awarded a medal for being one of the first four ranking marksmen of the force.

She won the class C shoot and was decorated by Col. Joseph K. Partello, commander of the 4th Infantry at Fort George Wright, who said it was a new experience for him, despite a long military career of citations and decorations.

The duties of Mrs Amick lead her into dance halls and frequently into the necessity of arresting unruly men as well as girls, but so far her well known ability with the revolver has enable her to make arrests without difficulty.

Rayon Use Expands

NEW YORK, Feb. 8. (AP)—Rayon has become an increasingly important factor in the retail underwear business, accounting for 40 per cent of dollar value last year, a survey made by the National Retail Dry Goods Association disclosed. Silk accounted for 34 per cent and cotton for 25 per cent. Considering quantities, rather than dollar values, rayon accounted for 42 per cent of retail sales, cotton for 30 per cent and silk for 27 per cent.

Some of England's finest fleeces come from the Orkney and Shetland Islands, where seaweed forms a large part of the sheep's foodstuff.

'TALKING MOVIES' REVIVE OLD SONG HITS TO POPULAR FAVOR

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 8. (AP)—Check up another miracle to the talking-singing screen—the feat of "raising the dead."

Few mortal works are so thoroughly ephemeral as the musical composition which gets itself sung and whistled and hummed and danced until it rates as a popular "hit." It reigns for a while on radio, phonograph stage and dance hall programs and passes on to realms of the forgotten, sometimes pursued by the oaths and maledictions of a public whose ears can tolerate so much and no more.

But through the singing screen some of these old "hits" are being revived, and a few even may rank again as favorites as a result. A notable instance of an old number thus given new life is "My Man," a song from the near past which was going the way of hundreds of others until Fannie Brice sang it in a talking picture.

Memory-Stirrers

With the movie-makers leaning more and more toward the use of music in their films, theater-goers may expect to have many memories of earlier days stirred in this wise. While most of the pictures now in production are featuring specially composed theme songs, the work of Hollywood's own talkie-created Tin Pan Alley, a few are bringing back forgotten tunes.

There is "The Time, the Place and the Girl," for instance, which will have "Honeymoon" as its theme song and also will feature "Blow the Smoke Away," both tunes popularized in the stage production a decade or more ago.

A more recent musical comedy success is "Rio Rita," soon to be transferred to the articulate screen, and the probability is that its tuneful essays also will enjoy a rebirth in popular fancy.

The War Songs

No war picture nowadays would be complete without a few of the old doughboy tunes, such as "K-K-K-Katy" and "Over There," and pictures of the peaceful days before the war may be given authentic atmosphere by the interpolation of the period's songs as well as use of its costumes.

Who knows that a revival of "She's a Bird in a Gilded Cage" or even "Yes, We Have No Bananas?" is not in the offing? The idea, suggestive of new royalties, should inspire pleasant thoughts in many composers along Tin Pan Alley—like those of an oil man who dreams of his exhausted well turning gusher again.

She will have two cabins to hold about fifty people, be lighted by electricity and have a searchlight and line-throwing gun.

The Times began publication on October 11, 1898, a month and 28 days after the American forces captured Manila from the Spanish during the Spanish-American war.

A convenient modern package—for a convenient modern shortening

It seems only right that a creamy easy-to-use shortening like Snowdrift should be packed in these new convenient cans.

You'll agree that they are quite an improvement after you've tried one of the new three or six pound cans. Conveniently proportioned—almost as wide as they are tall and as easy to spoon from as an old-fashioned earthenware crock.

And the design of the can is new too—interesting and modern in blue and white—almost as appealing as Snowdrift itself. A convenient modern package for a convenient modern shortening.

The creamy consistency of Snowdrift makes it very, very easy to work with—it mixes in a jiffy with just a few stirs of the spoon and is always ready to use—never too hard when it comes from the refrigerator, never too soft when it has been standing in the kitchen.

Snowdrift makes so many good things to eat—cakes, biscuits, muffins, pie crust. And for delicate fried food there simply isn't any better frying fat than Snowdrift.
