"Chicago We Will" Corporation Files Suit Against Fliers to Tie Up Proceeds of Present Record-Breaking Flight

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, July 2.—Having weathered the vicissitudes of nature as well as those mechanical to keep their plane aloft for the longest sustained period in the history of aviation, the "City of Chicago" endurance fliers tonight were confronted by a legal reef in the form of an injunction to tie up the proceeds of the flight.

CC Directors Will Discuss Aerial Derby

Lubbock May Become Stopping Point In Women's National Air Derby In August; Two Routes Being Considered

Directors of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce will meet this morning at 9 o'clock in called session for the purpose of discussing a proposition which ultimately will probably lead to getting this city designated as a stopping point in the Women's National Air Derby to be held in August.

C. F. Lienesch, of Los Angeles, manager of the aviation department of the Union Oil company of California, and also route manager for the derby, was in Lubbock yesterday discussing the proposition with officials of the chamber of commerce and of the City of Lubbock. He is en route to the west coast from Chicago and is mapping the route for the event which probably will be held from August 22 to 25.

Two Routes Up
Two routes are being considered, the southern following the T. & P. railroad and the northern following the Santa Fe through this section from El Paso, Carlsbad, Lubbock, and Amarillo.

According to Mr. Lienesch, there are to be two divisions of the derby this year, the little derby for engines of small make and the heavy derby for those of heavier make. Such famous fliers as Amelia Earhart, Gladys O'Donnell and Blanche Noyes have already signed for the latter division.

Must Make Accommodations
Accommodations for the fliers, use of the airport, appointment of local officials and other reservations must be made before the derby will be run through this city.

"The Lubbock airport will serve as an excellent point for the race," stated Mr. Lienesch and indicated that the northern route possibly would be given preference in the ultimate routing of the course.

Kiwanians Start Publicity Drive

Marking the inauguration of an extensive and active campaign to advertise the Texas-Oklahoma district convention of Kiwanis International, to be held in this city September 1 and 2, publicity committee of the local organization yesterday mailed letters to every member in the district inviting them to attend.

With the letter of invitation was enclosed a clipping from the Morning Avalanche telling of the various committees that are at work on the project, looking to the development of every possible detail for entertainment of the hundreds of delegates expected.

ENDORSE COMMISSION

House Favors Investigation By Hoover Group

WASHINGTON, July 2. (AP)—By a substantial majority the house today endorsed the Hoover Law Enforcement Commission's investigation into all law enforcement and voted funds for its expenses for a second year.

Administration leaders and drys on both sides overwhelmed a group of wet 272 to 41 and restored to the second deficiency bill $250,000 and a reappropriation of $50,000 in unexpended funds for continuation of the commission.

GOES TO WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, July 2. (AP)—The senate today passed the House bill to authorize $4,000,000 for technical construction at army air stations. The bill now goes to the White House.

Port Arthur Attorney Acts As Defense Counsel Under Post-Test After Appointment By Court At Beaumont

(By Associated Press)
BEAUMONT, July 2.—After 18 minutes deliberation a criminal district court jury today sentenced Rayne Williams, 38, negro, to death in the electric chair on a charge of criminally assaulting Joyce Keller, negro woman, on the night of May 1. The case went to the jury at 6:06 o'clock this afternoon and the verdict was read at 6:25 o'clock.

Conviction of Williams followed rapidly on the heels of testimony of two white girls that the defendant attacked them on practically the same spot and under the same circumstances in which the Keller woman was shot and assaulted. One of the white girls told the jury that Williams assaulted her and the other testified that she screamed and got away from the negro.

Joyce Keller, 28, negro girl, lay helpless on an ambulance stretcher as she told her story.

R. H. Jernigan, Port Arthur attorney who defended Williams, under protest after appointment by the court, introduced no testimony for the defendant.

Judge R. L. Murray, who presided at the trial, warned the spectators against a demonstration of any sort upon hearing the verdict. He also commended the crowd for the orderly behavior in the courtroom during the trial. Judge Murray also publicly thanked Jernigan for the performance of the duty imposed upon him as Williams' attorney.

Williams was taken to the Beaumont prison where he will remain until he is executed.

Legion To Lay Corner Stone

Ceremony To Be Held Friday At New Home Of Local Post; Picnic At The George Boles Ranch Will Follow

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, July 2.—The attempted massacre of Jack Zuta and three other gangsters ambushed by gunmen on State street in the Loop last night developed new phases today in the inquiry into the assassination of Jake Lingle, Tribune reporter whose reputed "unholy alliance" with the underworld brought a bullet in his head and caused police to declare hostilities with hoodlums.

As police scrutinized motives and clues of the State street assault, a grand jury indictment was returned against Frankie Foster, gunman arrested in Los Angeles, accusing him of the Lingle slaying. George Dillard, another gangster being held in the "Blue" Moran gang, blamed by some for killing Lingle, was released, although at the time of his arrest he was said to be the man who "put the finger on Lingle," pointing him out to the slayer.

Lieutenant Suspended
Lieut. George Barker, former ace of the detective bureau, was suspended for acting as escort for Zuta and the three other hoodlums who were targets of the Loop ambush. Barker alone fought off the gunmen, who escaped in their auto after dropping a smoke bomb.

Two wild bullets from the gunplay killed one man, a street car motorman, and wounded another. Zuta and other Moran gangsters had been arrested in connection with the Lingle case and were en route home from the police station after their release on bonds when the gunmen attacked them.

Actual construction work has been going forward on the new legion home for several weeks and completion is expected within the near future. With completion of the building, a long-cherished dream of the Allen Brothers post will have been fulfilled. A drive was waged in the city and throughout the South Plains sometimes ago for $12,000 with which to erect the home and this was subscribed in less than a week. The site for the structure was donated by the City of Lubbock.

All ex-service men with their families are invited to the picnic.

Aviatrix Makes 15,000-Foot Parachute Jump To Establish New Woman's Mark

(By Associated Press)
ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., July 2.—Equipped with a device to take the task of opening her parachute from her own numbered hands, Mrs. Rita Schoemaker leaped from a plane more than 15,000 feet in the air today to establish a new woman's record for altitude jumping.

In a cabin plane the young broker's secretary, who came from a Chicago home to make her way in the money marts of Manhattan, flew upward until lost to sight. Then, between 15,000 and 16,000 feet up, she opened the door and walked out. A 10-foot rope was secured at one end to the plane and at the other to the ring of her parachute's rip cord, so the umbrella opened without any action on her part.

She floated easily downward, rubbing her chin, which had been bruised by her belt buckle in the plunge. She landed among the equat trees of a nursery after narrowly escaping some high tension wires. Elated, she rushed the press room and told reporters to give all credit to her two-year-old son whom she had left in South Bend in the care of friends. The baby, presumably, had served as a spur to her ambition.

Love Note Suit Comes to Close

LOS ANGELES, July 2. (AP)—Trial of the $11,500 love note suit against Harry Langdon, film comedian, ended today. Superior Judge Blake will announce his decision Monday.

Thomas J. O'Brien, former husband of the actor's wife, sued for payment of three notes which Langdon gave to prevent O'Brien from instituting an allegation of affection action.

House, Senate Disagree Over Veterans Bill

Conferees Stand At Odds On Major Differences In Legislation Approved By Two Branches; Seek Agreement

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 2.—House and senate conferees on the World War Veterans Pension bill stood at odds tonight on the major differences in the legislation approved by the respective branches.

Hope was held by administration followers on both sides of the capital that an agreement might be reached tomorrow in time to permit final congressional action.

Amendment Unfavorable
Standing firmly for the bill designed to meet approval of President Hoover, the house declined to accept the senate amendment broadening its provisions to a score comparable with those in the recently enacted Spanish American War veterans pension law.

The measure was sent to conference immediately, but neither side yielded and arrangements were made for resumption of discussions early tomorrow. Should an agreement be reached and the measure passed, it would be signed by the president tomorrow night.

Rewards Mount In Amarillo Bombing

AMARILLO, July 2. (AP)—Rewards offered for the arrest and conviction of the person who placed the explosive in the car of A. D. Payne, Amarillo attorney, which resulted in the death of his wife and the injury of his son, today totaled $5,500.

Payne posted an offer of $5,000; "Old Tack" of the Amarillo News-Globe $500; and A. N. Cornell of Plainville, $25, if the list was made up. Further Panhandle contributions were expected to double the reward.

The bomb, believed placed under the driver's seat of the car in an attempt upon Payne's life, exploded several days ago, blowing the car to bits, killing Mrs. Payne and seriously injuring A. D. Payne, Jr.

Fire Loss $250,000
Chair Company Building In Reformatory Razed

FRANKFORT, Ky., July 2. (AP)—Fire swept the Frankfort chair company building in the stockade of the state reformatory here this afternoon, causing a loss estimated at approximately $250,000. Other buildings and equipment also were damaged. The loss largely was covered by insurance.

The 234 prisoners employed by the chair factory, as well as 533 prisoners employed in two other buildings in the stockade, marched in orderly into the fashion stone-walled reformatory.

PILOTS DRAW PLACES

Fifteen To Take Off July 4 In Balloon Races

HOUSTON, July 2. (AP)—Fifteen pilots who will take off here July 4 in the 30th annual national elimination balloon race, drew for starting places late today.

Lieut. T. W. G. Settle of the navy, who won last year's race, drew number 1, meaning that his balloon must leave first at 6 p. m. Others will leave at five minute intervals.

The veteran H. E. Honeywell of St. Louis, flying as an independent drew place No. 2. He has not yet selected an aide.

Lieut. Yantis Taylor Lands At Portland Sixteen Hours After Leaving Laredo; In Air Only Fifteen Hours

Makes Five Stops

Flier Maintains Average Of 140 Miles An Hour Under Excellent Weather Conditions; Will Return Soon

PORTLAND, Me., July 2. (AP)—Lieut. Yantis H. Taylor landed his army pursuit plane at the Portland airport at 6:25 p. m. (EST) today, completing a one-day flight from Laredo, Texas.

Lieut. Taylor left the Texas field at 1:10 a. m. (CST) and made five stops en route.

The 2,100 mile flight was covered in 15 hours flying time at an average speed of 140 miles an hour. Elapsed time was 16 hours and 15 minutes.

Taylor stopped at Kelly Field, Texas, Scott Field, Ill., Muskogee, Okla., St. Louis, Dayton, O., and Middletown, Pa.

He said he would stay here a few days and then return to Texas, making the return flight in easy stages.

Conditions Excellent
He said he flew most of the time at 4,000 feet where he found excellent flying conditions.

Over the Allegheny mountains, Taylor said he faced some haze but was able to fly above it.

Lieut. Taylor's flight was made in the interests of army tactics to establish mobility possibilities in case of emergency.

Fliers Reach Chicago Port

Kingsford-Smith, Companions Will Continue Today For Pacific Coast; Aviator's Respects Paid Hunters

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, July 2.—Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith and the three men with whom he recently flew across the Atlantic arrived in Chicago late today for a quiet reception, a brief radio broadcast and a good night's sleep.

Their plane, "The Southern Cross," was met east of Chicago by an escort of army planes and guided to Sky Harbor, where Kingsford-Smith paid an aviator's respect to the Hunter Brothers in their endurance plane which has broken all records for sustained flight. Then it swung back a couple of miles south to Curtiss Field, where it was landed and placed in a hangar.

Once again Kingsford-Smith and his companions were being escorted to their hotel by a committee in charge of the national air race which hopes to bring the Southern Cross crew here for the journey next fall.

At a buffet luncheon at the hotel the flier was informed that the Australian Government had brevetted him wing commander as a result of the Trans-Atlantic flight of a week ago.

"Grumpy" Presented Wednesday Night As 2nd Number of Tech Artist Course

"GRUMPY," a four-act English play, the second number of the Tech summer artist course, was presented at the college gymnasium last night before an audience of several hundred.

What the mystery drama lacked in movement and action was made up for by the lovable, yet grouchy, character of "Grumpy," portrayed by Willis Hall. As an old criminal lawyer, Grumpy solved the mystery of who attacked his nephew and stole a valuable diamond which had been entrusted to his care.

Grumpy was a very grouchy old gentleman who was displeased with everything that was done for him—everything, that is, which was not done for his granddaughter. His greatest love was for her and she could literally "wrap him around her finger." She and Grumpy's valet, whose makeup was not the best, ably supported the star in the cast.

Plane of Missing Airmail Flier Found

Here's the only clue to the most baffling mystery the airmail service has ever known—a pilot who sailed away into the sky and was never heard from again. Los Angeles postoffice inspectors are shown above checking the mail taken from the wrecked plane of Maury Graham, Western Air Express pilot, who disappeared six months ago, and which has just been found in a remote mountain pass near Cedar City, Utah. Below is his wrecked plane. It is believed Graham wandered away in a blizzard and died.

Eleven In Jail At Dallas In Connection With Shooting To Death Of Constable At Mesquite Tuesday Night

(By Associated Press)
DALLAS, July 2.—Eleven Mexicans were held in the Dallas county jail tonight in connection with the slaying of Constable J. T. Davis of Mesquite.

Davis was shot and killed and Deputy Constable T. Gardner Jones powder burned on the face when they attempted to arrest four Mexicans caught taking accessories to a stolen automobile.

Stewards totaling $350 for the arrest of the men who killed the constable were offered. Sheriff Hoot posted a reward of $100, and a short time later Governor Dan Moody offered an additional $250.

GASOLENE can GUM-UP YOUR VALVES

"What's the matter?" asked the motorist. "Sticky valves," answered the repair man. "What's the reason?" was the next question.

We'll tell you—gum in gasolene!

Cities Service experts were among the first to discover the harmful effects of excessive gum in gasolene—and to provide a remedy.

The remedy is Koolmotor Gasolene—a gas that is free from harmful gum. Extra care and extra refining—known as the Cities Service mini-gum process—have reduced the gum content in Koolmotor Gasolene to a harmless minimum.

This superior motor fuel is powerful and clean burning. It is eager to go—full of speed—provides mile after mile of smooth, knock-free performance. It keeps your valves clean, free moving—it guards against loss of compression and power.

Don't burden your motor with sticky, gummy, clogging gasolene. Insist on Koolmotor Gasolene, the original high test, anti-knock green gas. Then your motor will be free to do its best.

Events Are Given By Mesdames Winfield Watkins, Ross McWhorter; Misses Geraldine Smith, Kate Boyd, Anne Snyder; Maurice Powell Host At Dance

Climaxing a gay series of social events honoring his guests, Misses Dorothy and Thelma Magness, of Dallas, Maurice Powell entertained more than 100 persons with a swimming party, picnic supper and informal dance at the country club Wednesday evening. Misses Mildred and Elizabeth Pepple, also of Dallas, have been guests at several attractive parties this mid-week and were named honorees, together with the Misses Magness, when Mrs. Winfield Watkins, Jr., and Mrs. Ross McWhorter entertained at the country club Wednesday morning.

Other in-honor events have been given by Miss Elizabeth Bradley, Geraldine Smith, Kate Boyd, and Anne Snyder.

Golf Is Played.
Guests of Mesdames Watkins and McWhorter assembled at the country club Wednesday morning at 7 o'clock for an hour of golf and a swim.

Breakfast was served at 9 o'clock in the club house, from a table made bright with decorations of dahlias and daisies. Girls in sports costumes formed appropriate designs for the hand-painted place cards.

Those Attending.
Guests were Mesdames Owen McWhorter, George Ingham, Don Mitchell, Emma Pepple, Lawrence Bacon, W. B. Powell, D. K. Bonduant, Jo Dick Slaughter, and Carl Holstead, Jr. Misses Dorothy, Rushing, Geraldine Smith, Marjorie Leaverton, Mary Lou Bayless, Kate Boyd, Mildred Pepple, Blanche Bradley, Thelma Magness, Virginia Conley, Elizabeth Pepple, and Dorothy Magness.

Summer flowers were used to decorate the table for the luncheon given by Miss Bradley Wednesday in the Chateau room of the Hilton hotel.

Luncheon Guests.
Guests were Misses Thelma and Dorothy Magness, Mary and Anne Snyder, Mary and Lena Allen, Kate Boyd, Geraldine Smith, Mildred and Elizabeth Pepple, of Dallas; Mesdames George Ingham and Winfield Watkins.

Misses Geraldine Smith and Blanche Bradley entertained with a breakfast Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock at Hotel Lubbock in honor of the Misses Magness.

Daisies Are Used.
A cluster of daisies was used as a centerpiece, and a pretty floral design also was used for the place cards.

Attractive gifts were presented the two honor guests, and others present were Mesdames James Fox, Norman, George Ingham, of Amarillo, Lewis Thomas and W. B. Powell, Misses Elizabeth and Mildred Pepple, of Dallas, and Blanche Bradley.

Miss Snyder Hostess.
Miss Anne Snyder was hostess at a smart three-course luncheon Tuesday at 4 o'clock in her home, 2701 15th street.

Guests were Mesdames Carl Roberts, Jr., Winfield Watkins, Jr., and Lawrence Bacon; Misses Mildred and Elizabeth Pepple, Dorothy and Thelma Magness, Geraldine Smith, and Blanche Bradley.

Hike Planned by Akipsia Group at Meeting Tuesday

Plans for a hike to be held next Tuesday at Boles ranch featured a meeting of the Akipsia Camp Fire group Tuesday afternoon at the First Methodist church. The church has been chosen as the regular meeting place of the group.

At the close of the afternoon a short patriotic program was given. Those present were Arlene Duncan, Luella Benson, Maxine Burns, Nathalie Fulton, Kathryn Davies, Leora Davies, Elva Laura Hall, Marguerite Powers, Maxine Henaley, and the guardian, Miss Elizabeth.

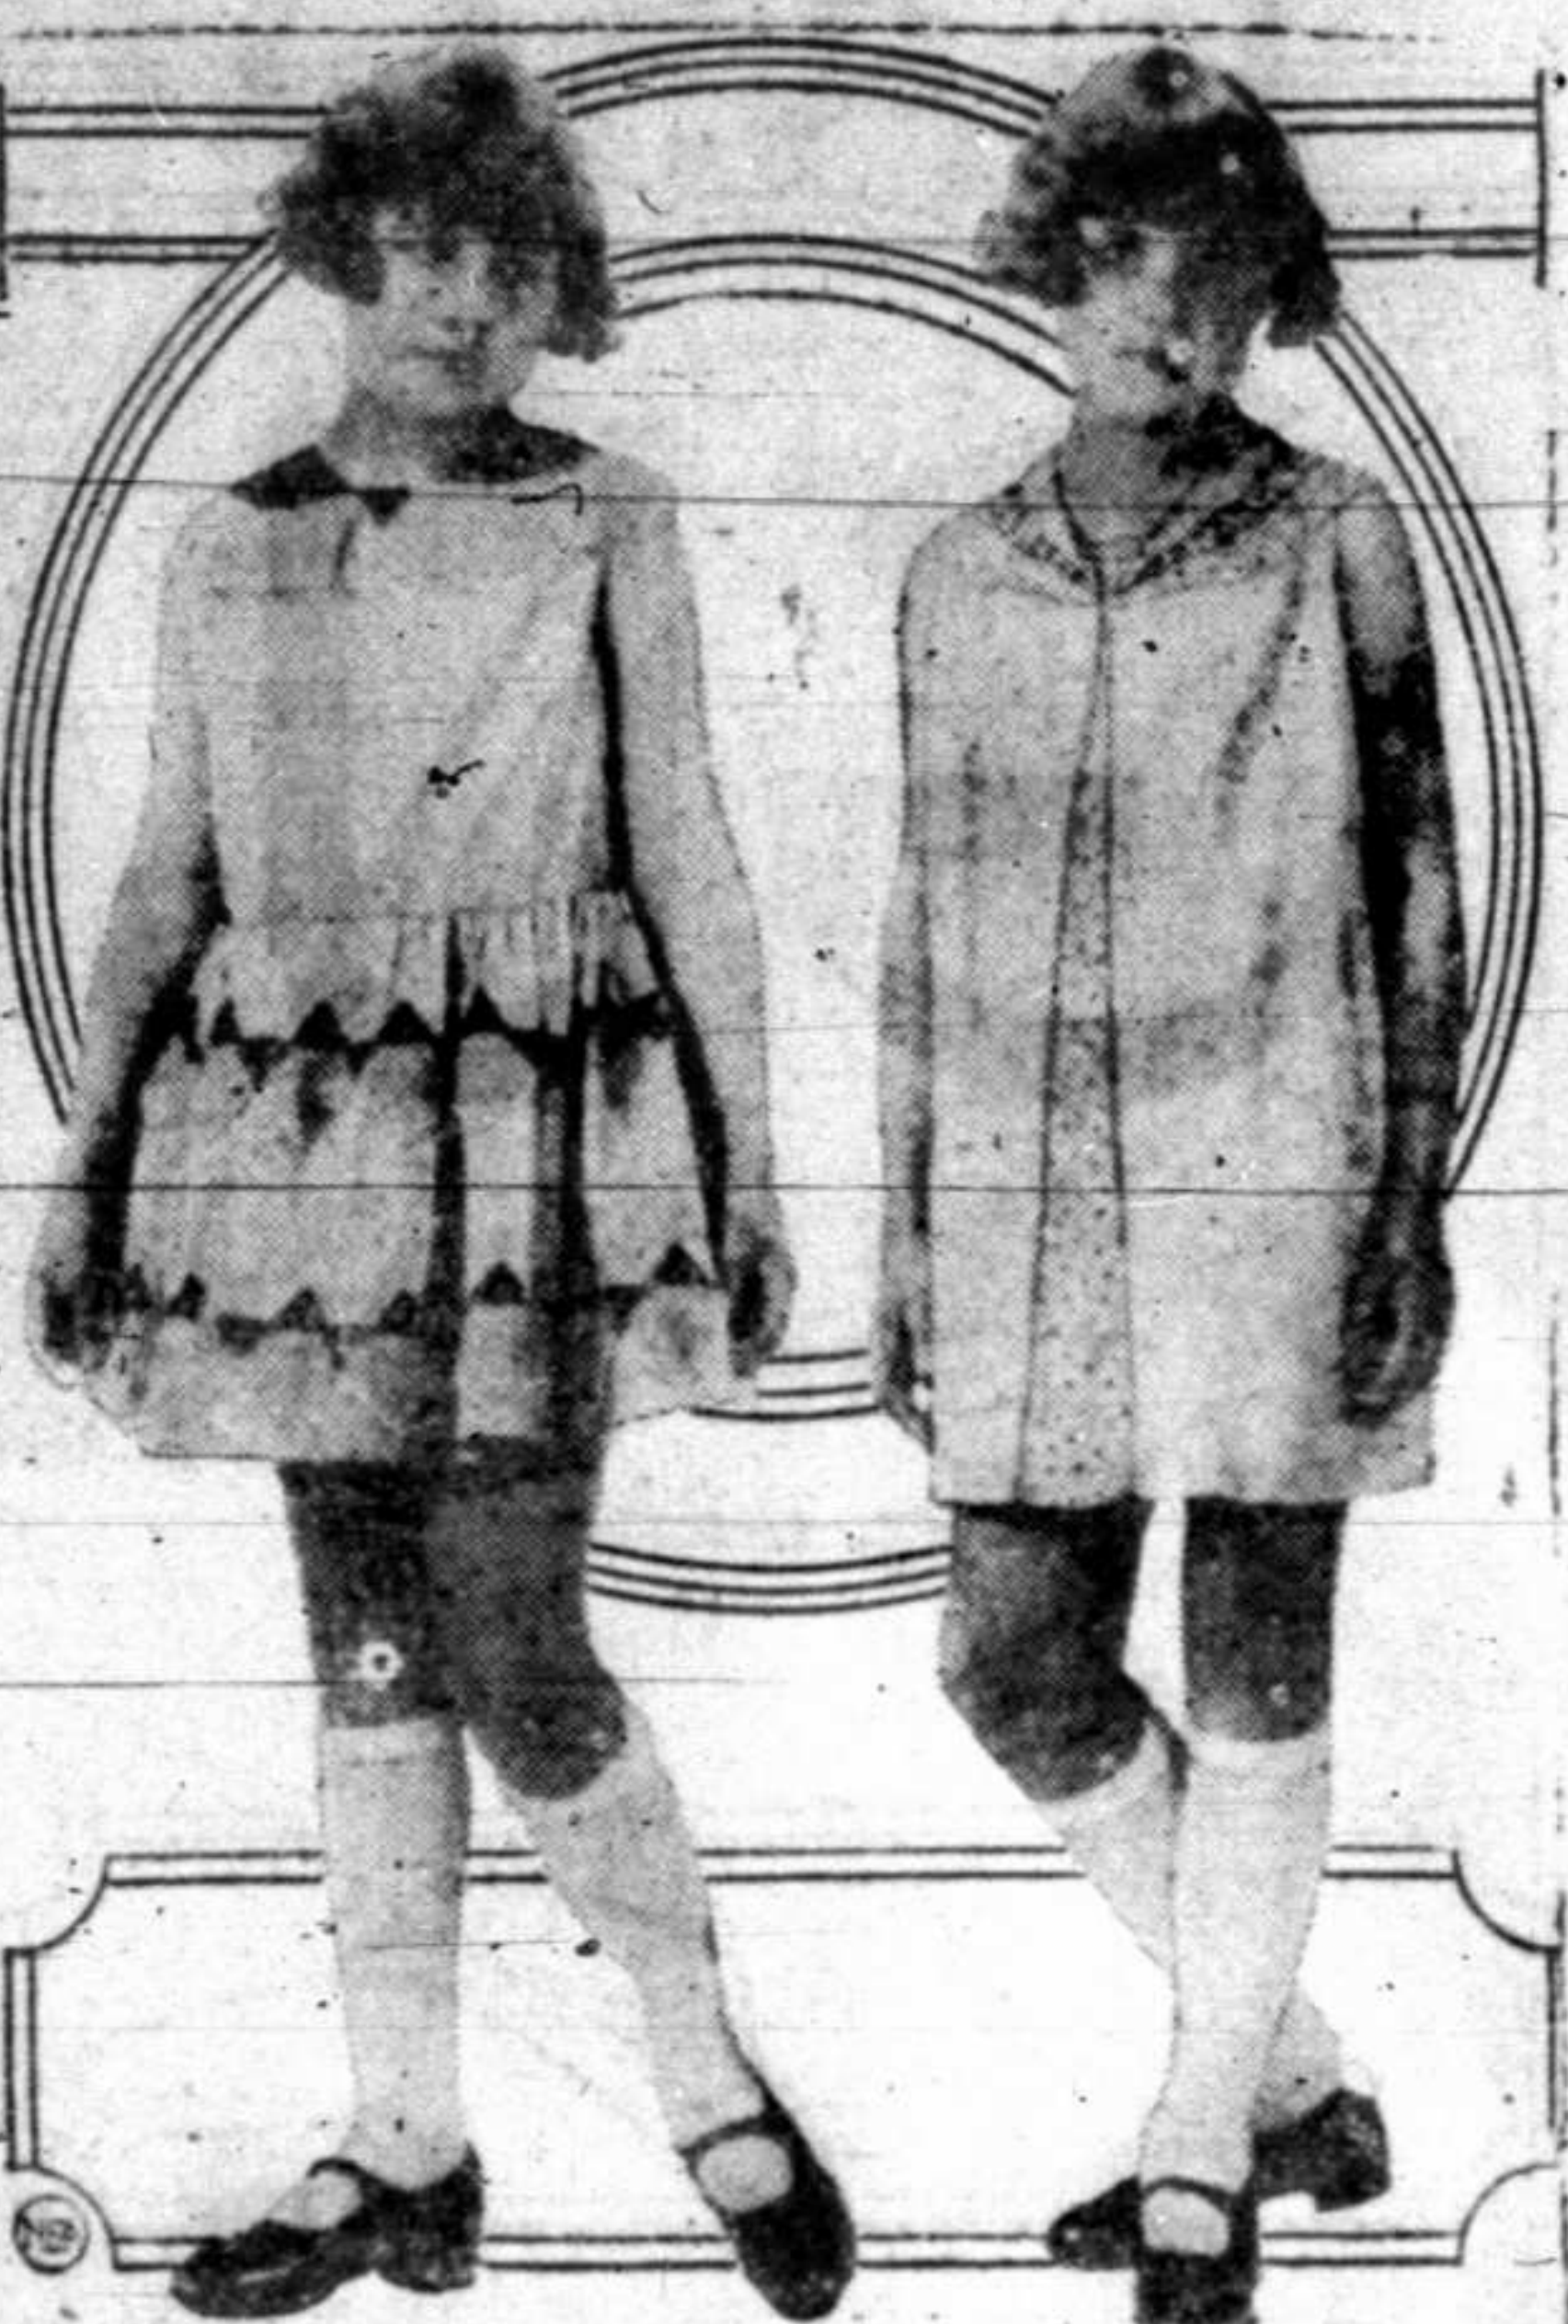

After visiting relatives in Oklahoma City, Miss Mary Snyder, 2701 15th street, returned to Lubbock Tuesday afternoon.

THE NEW TEXACO MOTOR OIL

LONGER-LASTING, "CRACK-PROOF"

THE Texas Company again demonstrates its leadership in the petroleum field with the introduction of a vastly superior, new product—a motor oil that lasts longer—that is crack-proof—a motor oil that meets exactly every requirement of the high speed automobile engine of today! This new oil revolutionizes lubrication values as completely as the new and better Texaco Gasoline, the original "dry" gas, revolutionized motor fuels in the Spring of 1926.

An Oil Without Precedent

There have been oils that gave remarkable mileage. There have been oils that flowed freely at zero. There have been oils that kept your engine completely free of wax and carbon troubles. But—never until now have all these advantages been combined in any one single lubricant. That motor oil is ready for you today. It is the new Texaco—longer-lasting and crack-proof. Road tests—laboratory tests have proved it.

Available in all our 48 States

Fill your crankcase with this new crack-proof motor oil today. It will more than pay you, not only in greater value for your lubrication dollar but for your car dollar as well. It is manufactured in five grades: C, D, E, F, and G, corresponding in body to Society of Automotive Engineers (S. A. E.) viscosity ratings. 30¢ a quart everywhere (35¢ for grade G).

THE TEXAS COMPANY

Refiners of a complete line of Texaco Petroleum Products including Gasoline, Motor Oils, Industrial Lubricants, Railroad and Marine Lubricants, Farm Lubricants, Road Asphalts and Asphalt Roofing.

Typical New York Welcome Is Given Bobby On Return To U.S.

Brooklyn Star Has Catching "It" Golf Champ Greeted By Mayor Walker Amid Cheers

By LORENA A. HICKOK Associated Press Staff Writer NEW YORK, July 2. (AP) — The Atlanta of the North and the New York of the South—the phrase is Mayor James J. Walker's—got together today and welcomed back to his homeland the British Amateur and Open golf champion.

Before they were half through with him, they had that promising young Georgia lawyer, Robert "Bo" Jones, Jr., fairly gasping for breath and looking about almost wildly as though for some avenue of escape.

On the steps of the city hall he tried to tell his adoring home folks and those thousands of New Yorkers who had demonstrated to him how all the world loves a golfer how grateful he was, but he found it a tough job.

"All this has overwhelmed me," he said huskily. "It—it's put me off my game."

To the jubilant strains of "Dixie," young Bob of Atlanta came aboard the Municipal Tug Macom from the Limer Europa at Quarantine.

Up the harbor he came while sirens screamed, airplanes roared and swooped, and a fire tug played streams of water high in the air.

Alongside the Macom came the Excursion Steamer Mandalay, loaded with exultant Atlantans and carrying the New York police band, bobbing joyfully about in between.

A playful terrier, was the little tug, Eugene F. Moran, carrying the president of a delegation from the Fox Hills Country Club on Staten Island—the first golf club Bobby Jones saw, if he was looking on his return home.

Through paper snow and ticker tape, with firecrackers popping to the right and left, he rode up lower Broadway to the city hall, to be greeted by the mayor of New York who calls Atlanta his second home.

"Less than a week ago," said Mayor Walker, "New York welcomed a man who had brought the two poles together, Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd."

Today and right on this spot two poles are again brought together. The world's best golfer greets the world's best golfer. The youngest bank director in

LUBBOCK AND THE AIR DERBY

Efforts are being made to bring the National Women's Air Derby through Lubbock, with a day stop in this city. The event, widely advertised as "The Powder Puff Derby," has become one of the foremost aviation features of the country and in considering co-operation with its backers the Board of City Development has before it a project of importance.

Lubbock has been and still is, for that matter—conspicuously off the air map. Dilatory tactics in purchasing and equipping an airport here, together with public unconcern over the question, have put Lubbock in the "one horse show" class as compared with other centers of West Texas population and bringing the derby to our gates may, and probably will result in latent interest in the new and modern system of transportation.

The coming of the derby to Lubbock, entered as it will be by the foremost women fliers of the nation, will mean much more to this city than a similar stop would mean to El Paso, Amarillo, Abilene or any of our neighboring cities, which have been "air minded" longer, almost, than Lubbock has known about Lindbergh. In other words, it would show us all just what this aviation business is and why.

The Morning Avalanche has made no study of the cost of placing Lubbock on the itinerary of the eagle women. Perhaps the expense thus entailed will be prohibitory. However, it wasn't too much for Midland last year and the chances are it won't be too much for Lubbock in 1930. If the city can afford it, the derby should be brought here as a public aviation tonic, if not for the publicity emanating from the local stop.

YOUTH AND ADVERTISING

Fifty years ago boys and girls were adept at weaving rag rugs, knotting quilts, carding wool, spinning homespun and stretching carpets. Today boys and girls know the entire abc of the automobile, the electric household utensils, and steam heat system, the aeroplane and the radio. But the youth of today knows little of what constituted the store of knowledge of the youth of yesterday.

The omniscience of youth in every era is ever amazing, but that of today would be inexplicable but for one thing more than all others. That is advertising. In the newspapers, magazines and on the radio, the youth of today is finding a vast storehouse of practical and useful information and instruction. The value of this incidentally acquired knowledge cannot be measured in classroom hours. The youth of America is finding that advertising pays it.

Psychologists have expounded the theory that truths are sometimes observed first by the adolescent. In the case of advertising, it may truthfully be said that there are some of mature age who have not yet learned the value of advertising. Advertisers do not buy newspaper, magazine and billboard space for the education of the public, either juvenile or adult, but they recognize the children of today are not only a potent factor in the business of today but the deciding factors in the business of tomorrow.

NO SHORT CUTS TO SUCCESS

Lillian Gish, famous screen actress, recently made the remark that it takes 10 years of hard work to build up a large following and to make people demand a name or face in the films. She speaks from personal experience and from a knowledge of the experience of other screen folk.

Here is a situation not limited alone to movie stars. Doctors and lawyers frequently justify their fees by the years they spent in study and in building up a paying practice. It is not only in fiction and the movies that young artists starve in attic.

Henry Ford struggled along for years before Dame Fortune favored him. And his experience has been that of the founders of most of the country's great industries.

Successful merchants often attribute their business achievements to early years of struggle just one lump ahead of the sheriff. Their businesses rest on solid foundations laid by years of hard work and extensive advertising. Strains and other business enterprises do not win public confidence and widespread patronage by lottery.

The larger rewards of screen stars, professional men and successful business men are vindicated by the years of self-sacrificing toil expended in winning them. Part of their income is back-pay.

"Time enough" is the saying which is opium for the indolent, but a stimulant for the conscientious."—James McNeill.

WHAT OF THE FUTURE FOR MORROW?

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press-Staff Writer

ASHINGHAM, July 2.—Dwight W. Morrow on the republican ticket and James A. Reed on the democratic are being mentioned as presidential possibilities.

An impossible slate for 1932, of course.

To begin with, President Hoover's renomination will eliminate Mr. Morrow, who would not support the former, if he could; and can't, anyway.

And ex-Senator Reed is 10 years too old.

No one who pays the slightest attention to politics can have failed to sense that Dwight Morrow has become a G. O. P. presidential possibility in the last few weeks—though not necessarily a possibility of earlier date than 1930.

True, his defeat for the senate in November would immediately snuff him out. But republicans are confident Morrow will win easily.

Let him win senatorially by a landslide and it is difficult to think of a likelier presidential lightning conductor awhile later on—but, as previously remarked, not necessarily as soon as 1932. Mr. Hoover has 1932 cinched—unless.

Well, unless various things.

Suppose we turn now from Dwight Morrow's prospects to Aunty Democracy's.

As to this year, Aunty likes her prospects. Despite indications that New Jersey will gain elsewhere in the fall congressional elections. Indeed, if they get control of the house of representatives they will not be surprised. Neither will the republican managers; they virtually admit that they expect a great many G. O. P. droppings in November.

At that, this year does not matter, so much.

But how about 1932, a presidential year?

G. O. P. bosses are whispering among themselves of serious danger ahead—the danger of an exceptionally mean campaign two years hence. If the breaks don't materially improve for them in the meantime.

Chances for the democrats do look promising—provided they do not put up some weak aster of a presidential candidate whom anyone can lick, or maybe, two rival weak sisters, to divide the democratic vote between them.

This is exactly what the G. O. P. bosses have been counting on, and the thought has been a great comfort to them.

Until lately their trust seemed to be well founded. The democrats have acted like it—like gaining a lot of congressional seats this year and then getting into a row over the presidency and splitting wide open, as usual, year after next.

In such an event republican strategy is simple—Renominate and win by default—of the democrats' kari-kari.

But recently an alarming development has occurred.

Ex-Senator Jim Reed of Missouri, whom everyone had supposed entirely too venerable ever to be heard from again, suddenly has announced that he is for otherwise and virtually declared himself in the democratic running.

Now, Jim could hold his party together; it is difficult to think of any other democrat who could. Nor can any living opponent lick Jim Reed by default.

If he runs he's terribly dangerous—and in a dangerous year.

Perhaps because all this is so obvious, there are strong hints that his self-proclaimed candidacy is beginning to "take" too, in spite of his age.

If it were 1936, Dwight Morrow probably would be nominated to oppose Reed (if Reed himself is able to get the democratic nomination). But it must be 1932, not 1936, for Reed, or not at all.

(A second article on Presidential Possibilities follows tomorrow.)

LATEST FIGURES AS TO HOW OFTEN TWINS,

TRIPLTS AND QUADRUPLTS ARE BORN

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN,

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Triplets are so rare an occurrence that whenever they happen it is news; quadruplets, even more rare, and quintuplets amount to a sensation.

In a record of 50,000,000 births, twins occurred once in 87; triplets once in 7103 and quadruplets once in 757,000 cases.

In another series recorded in Germany based on 13,000,000 births, twins occurred once in 89 cases; triplets once in 7910, and quadruplets once in 371,125.

The incidence of quadruplets in this series is about twice that of any other series compiled.

In recent study of the incidence of multiple human births, Prof. W. W. Grulich obtained figures relative to 120,000,000 from 21 different countries.

An analysis of the situation indicates that the percentage of multiple births varies in different countries. The percentage of twins ranges from 1.59 per cent in Denmark to 4.0 in Columbia, and the triplets from .0183 in Denmark to .004 in Greece. In these records of over 120,000,000 cases, twins, occurred once in 85.2 cases; triplets once in 7,828.7, and quadruplets once in 670,824 cases. Those countries having the largest percentage of twins also had the largest percentage of triplets.

There are numerous theories as to the reason for multiple births, most of them having to do with the conception that this tendency is inherited.

INDEFATIGABLE

The public wants the news, and have it, in the form of articles and descriptions and pictures. The greatest organization in the world—the American press—is constantly bent upon that public service, and tropical heat or polar ice is all in the day's work.

Fortitude in the line of duty is as well preserved in the race of newspaper photographers as it is in the reporter's group, which has given many examples of courage and intelligence and hardihood in the pursuit of a story.

"King, look this way!"

It was a newspaper photographer who said that, or something like that, when a royal personage wasn't taking exactly the right pose as he landed in the United States. Perhaps it was a queen to whom he addressed the command. Queen or king, it would have made no difference. The camera news men are sent out to get pictures, and pictures they get. Just as the reporter gets the news he is assigned to get.

Newspaper reporters and photographers are constantly taking risks that their readers may have the news in word and picture. If they are informal and abrupt, they are also indefatigable and brave. Courage is equally divided among the members of the fraternity.

A petrified forest 30,000,000 years old in Arizona soon is to be brought under government control.

A square yard of sunshine will provide one horsepower of energy if used for mechanical work, says Dr. C. G. Abbot of the Smithsonian Institution.

DANCING JUDITH

By CORALIE STANTON and HEATH HOSKEN

COPYRIGHT 1930 BY CHELSEA HOUSE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Judith Grant, beautiful young Greenwich Village artist's model and dancer lives in an attic apartment with Clara Morley, known as Chummy, a beautiful girl whose mind has been impaired ever since her lover, a young artist named Alan Steyne, abruptly deserted her and disappeared. Judith learns from Bastien Dumont, another artist, that Steyne is back in town, and they bring Steyne and Chummy together, but Chummy fails to recognize her former lover, and while she takes a liking to him it is quite obvious that she has completely lost all memory of him. Chummy grows sick with a cold, and a specialist sent around by Steyne finds that her mind is so badly affected that she is unable to remember anything that has happened since she was a child. Judith, who is sure Steyne is planning to marry Chummy.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER IV

Judy saw Steyne the next day. She met him at the entrance to their building, just as she was going out. He said he had come to ask whether she and Miss Morley would go to the theater with him that night. Judy accepted eagerly.

"Chummy'll love that! She's a much better. She simply adores the theater; she'd like to go every night. You find that out when you're married!"

She stopped suddenly. There was something electric in the atmosphere. She looked up at Steyne and saw that the merry, boyish look had gone from his face. It looked stern, almost hard.

"Miss Grant," he asked, with a kind of bald coldness in his voice, "why do you assume that Miss Morley and I are going to be married?"

Judy was too much taken aback to speak. To begin with, Steyne seemed to be angry with her—for what reason she could not possibly imagine. Then the mere idea of his marrying Chummy took her breath away.

As she looked at him, she thought his face grew harder still.

"But," she burst out, "aren't you and Chummy going to be married?"

"There is no immediate prospect of it, as you can see," he answered, speaking in an almost hostile tone, which hurt her, although she did not know why. "And when you assume it in front of other people—Dumont, for instance—it makes it very awkward for me. Moreover, it is hardly fair to Miss Morley."

"Not fair to Chummy!" Judy cried. "She was almost married. To an outsider she might have appeared to be in her wedding dress. But Chummy loves you with her whole heart and soul. She has loved you all these years. It is because of you that she is what she is—because you went away and left her. Oh, what can you mean?"

In the young man's face was a determination to get something over which he knew would be very unpleasant. No man likes to look a cad, particularly in the eyes of such a passionate little loyalist as Judy Grant.

"Miss Grant," he said, "it is very painful for me to have to say this, but I must, or else I should be lying under false colors. I am dreadfully sorry about Miss Morley, but you must see that at present the idea of marriage in her case is unthinkable. And if she recovered, how do you know that she would have even feelings of friendship toward me?"

"Feelings of friendship?" repeated Judy. "Oh, how can you? If she knew you again, it would be with all her old love—of course it would! How can you think anything else?"

"In these circumstances it would be different," Steyne remarked quietly. "If, as you say, I have the misfortune to be in a way responsible for Miss Morley's present condition—"

"I say so!" interrupted Judy indignantly. "Everybody says so. Ask anybody—Bastien Dumont, Michael Stone, Tony Leigh—any of them! When you left, she broke her poor heart. She had nothing left to live for. She just waited for you to come back, and you didn't come. Then she fell ill and nearly died, and when she got better she was—what she is now. Everybody knew that it was for love of you! Judy broke off with a sob in her throat.

Steyne's eyes were fixed on Judy's face beneath her shabby hat—that little flower face so lovely despite the cheap vulgarity of its make-up. The single-hearted loyalty blazing in the big purple eyes, the laughing lips trembling over poor Chummy's sorrows—they seemed to affect him strangely. He was pale under his tan, and for a moment or two he did not speak.

"Why," Judy went on, her voice still quivering, "if I thought, when I heard you had come back, that it would be all right, that you would take Chummy away and marry her at once, and spend all your life in trying to make up to her—poor darling Chummy!"

The young man's face hardened again.

"Miss Grant," he said, "if Miss Morley were to recover, and if she really had feelings such as you describe toward me, I suppose I should be in honor bound to ask her to be my wife; but that, unfortunately, does not seem to be at all probable. The specialist and Doctor O'Shane both give little hope. They talk of what they call 'permanently enfeebled vitality,' and say that in all practical things she is like a child."

"But they do say she might get better," protested Judy. "And, oh, I am bitterly disappointed! I considered you were engaged to her. Do you think I would have taken that money from you? And now I've spent it. And you never meant anything at all!"

Steyne flushed.

"As to the money, don't think about that, Miss Grant," he said.

SIDE GLANCES By George Clark

"By my working nights all summer we'll save enough money on dates to get married this fall."

"As an old friend, I am entitled to help Miss Morley. It is a privilege; but you have been misinformed about our relations. We never were engaged to be married. Any such idea would have been ridiculous. I was practically starving. She had quarreled with her relatives, and was living on a pittance. We were very good friends. I was awfully fond of her. She was one of the brightest girls I ever met, and very clever, but there was never any talk of marriage. We were awfully sympathetic toward her, and loved her—yes, loved her in a way—as we all did. I knew she was fond of me, of course; but I never knew, I never dreamed, that she would take it so much to heart!"

Judy made no reply. Her big eyes were started.

"I do hope you'll forgive me for saying all this," the young man added in a low voice, in which shame mingled with eagerness. "I know it all sounds horrible; but it's the truth, and—I wanted you to know."

Still Judy was silent. She did not doubt Alan. Indeed, she knew that he spoke the truth; but it was all so utterly different from the tragedy with which she had been living. It made it an even worse tragedy.

"Then you don't love Chummy—not like a sweetheart?"

"No," he answered; "but I do care a great deal for her, and I want to help her all I can."

"You don't love her?" Judy said.

"No, I don't," he said.

hope she never gets well!"
"There was a nurse, then, who looked in his ordinary voice:
"You will come to the play tonight?"

"No—no! How can we?"
"But you say Miss Morley enjoys it so much. Honestly, doesn't she seem quite happy?"

"But it's a shame!"
"Are you sure? She likes me as a friend. She loves the theater. It can do no harm."
"All right," agreed Judy half sullenly. "I don't want Chummy to miss a treat; and I must come along, because you might know how to manage her."

"I'll call for you at seven sharp, and we'll dine at Tichino's, shall we?"

"Chummy would love that."
"All right, then; and—please forgive me, Miss Grant!"
Her eyes dropped before his.
"I don't suppose there's anything to forgive," she muttered. "I just thought you were another kind of man; and that it was all coming right for Chummy. It's a bit of a blow!"

Chummy made no actual progress toward recovery, but she no longer complained of feeling queer.
One thing was noticeable, at any rate—she was decidedly more animated, though she looked very frail.
Without doubt, Alan Steyne's companionship had much to do with it.
He constantly took the two girls out, and people observing them remarked on what a happy trio they were.

By now Judy had tacitly granted that Alan had spoken the truth.
They were obviously very good friends, but when they happened to be alone he felt a certain smoldering hostility. She could see that Chummy had not the faintest idea of his identity, not the remotest thought of marriage with him; but she still felt that he ought to have claimed her immediately and made her his wife. That, Judy felt, was the only suitable and picturesque culmination of the strange romance.
Once Judy caught Alan looking at her—and she quickly turned away. Something damned upon her.
She would not have been a woman if the knowledge had not come to her; and she was terrified.

That night she slept badly.
Steyne's face was always before her, with that something behind the laughter in his eyes—something that thrilled her and made her afraid.

Cotton Fluctuations Are Livestock Buyers Inclined To Offer Lower Prices Grain Good Demand For Wheat Continues

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 2.—Cotton was comparatively quiet today with price fluctuations moderate. Owing to unfavorable cables and beneficial rains in the central belt the market opened lower. It closed steady net unchanged to 9 points down for the day. Active months made new highs right at the end with October at 13.12 and December at 13.28.
Port receipts 4,805, for week 15,311, for season 8,808,509, last season 9,442,509. Exports 11,115, for week 37,754 for season 6,497,818, last season 7,719,953. Port stock 1,559,081, last year 769,545. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 58,821, last year 61,815. Spot sales at southern markets 1,804, last year 2,752.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, July 2.—Early declines in cotton today under selling inspired by reports of more favorable weather in the south and relatively easy cables were followed by rallies on covering which found comparatively few contacts for sale after early offerings had been absorbed.
Decline at Close
Contract sales up from 13.35 to 13.59 and closed at 13.59 compared with 13.33 at the close of the previous day, while the new October advanced from 12.96 to 13.14 and closed at 13.11.

The general market closed firm at a decline of 3 points on July but generally 1 to 5 points higher on new crop months.

A private crop report was published placing the condition at 70.5 compared with 71.0 at this time last year, which appeared to be without any particular effect on the market. The weekly report of the weather bureau was commented upon by local traders as generally favorable except for its references to dry weather in some western and central best sections, the effects of which seemed to be minimized by the showers shown in today's detailed reports.

Postal Meet

To inspect City.
This afternoon at 4 o'clock the visitors will be carried for an automobile ride over the city of Lubbock, including an inspection of Texas Technological college. At the college, which will be visited first, the party will be met by a group of officials headed by Dr. W. A. Jackson. All local citizens are urged to be at Hotel Lubbock at 4 o'clock and bring automobiles for the delegates to ride in.

Tonight at 9 o'clock a dance will be given the visitors at Hotel Lubbock. This dance is planned for the postal representatives.

Barbecue Planned.
Friday evening at 7 o'clock the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce will act as host at a chicken barbecue to be held in the county park. The Lubbock high school band, under direction of Hall Hinton, will furnish music for the occasion. Hinton has asked that all band boys be at the park by 6:45. Another dance is scheduled for Friday night.

Officers of the visiting organizations, most of whom arrived last night, include:

Texas branch of postoffice supervisors—W. D. Carlisle, Houston, president; W. R. Turner, Port Worth, vice-president; C. L. Watson, Dallas, secretary.

Texas branch of postoffice clerks—W. C. Lipford, Port Worth, president; T. L. Hamilton, Dallas, vice-president; W. K. Dill, Austin, secretary-treasurer.

Rural letter carriers association—Paul Ataway, Winnsboro, president; A. G. Blairidge, Commerce, vice-president; C. R. Martin, Mercedes, second vice-president, and W. L. Fletcher Jr., Hamlin, secretary.

Markets At A Glance

NEW YORK, July 2.—(P)—STOCKS strong; U. S. Steel leads rise. BONDS firm; high grade issues improve. CURE firm; utilities advance slightly in dull market. FOREIGN EXCHANGES firm; European documents in demand. COTTON easy; favorable weather. SUGAR easy; poor spot demand. COFFEE lower; disappointing Brazilian cables. WHEAT firm; improved export demand and bullish French crop reports. CORN firm; bullish government weather report. CATTLE irregular. HOGS steady to lower.

Professionals Have Stock Market All To Themselves Wednesday; Trade Slow

By JOHN L. COOLEY

Associated Press Financial Writer.
NEW YORK, July 2.—Professionals had the stock market all to themselves today, but found it hard to keep busy. Trading slumped to the smallest volume in two years.

Only 1,231,000 shares, representing more or less routine short covering and profit taking.

The apathy was laid at the door of the impending holiday.

Centers On Steel
After opening a little higher, the market ran into selling which centered on U. S. Steel. When the stock refused to break below yesterday's close, traders were satisfied to take a conservative position and a covering movement began throughout the list. Under this influence prices rose consistently until late in the last hour.

The best cows rated 5.35. The better cows showed a decline of 10 to 15c.

Yearlings were off 25c with a load at 10.00. Common packages sold from 3.50 to 4.25; calves 5.00 to 7.00; cull calves 3.00 to 4.50.

Hogs mostly steady but some sales around 8.85. Packing hogs from 7.00 to 7.50. Supply light.

With a light offering of sheep a few sales were steady. Fat lambs sold from 7.00 to 7.75 and feeder weathers at 5.50.

Local Markets

These prices are furnished by the following Lubbock firms: Poultry—Lubbock Poultry and Egg company. Dairy Products—Bell Ice Cream company and Adair's Creameries. Grain—S. E. Cone Grain and Seed company. Cotton—Blocker Cotton company. Prices subject to change during day.

diamond.
The play was set in England and the action centered around "Grumpy," who found fault with everything and everyone but who was really lovable and only interested in seeing his granddaughter married to his nephew, "Ernest," who was his favorite.

"Grumpy" was written by Horace Hodge and T. Wigney Percival, and was originally produced at the Theater Royal, Glasgow, and afterward at the New Theater, London. It was later played with success in New York, Chicago and other of the larger cities of the United States.

Third number of the summer productions will be given on July 15. This entertainment will be "A Light Opera Mirror," featuring scenes in costume from famous light operas.

Daily air mail service has just been inaugurated between Sydney and Melbourne, Australia.

broke in: "Oh! I can hear every word." "Aren't you thrilled?" exclaimed her teacher.

"Now," the other laughed, "I can hear on the phone" (she meant see).

The associated press reporter, who never had seen Miss Parry before, replaced Miss Pless. Miss Parry was visible as an animated, smiling dark haired head, with neck and now and then a trace of shoulder, showing a necklace glowing white, but not distinctly enough to make out the nature of the stones. The reporter said:

"I am Mr. Blakelock." "How do you do?" Blakelock was the instant reply. Some conversation about the reading passed without an error, as rapidly as any audible phone talk.

Not To Interfere
Deputy Forten said he would make no attempt to interfere with the endurance flight and would not attempt to serve the flying hunters until they descended.

Meanwhile the Hunter brothers were growing a little tired of their long grind in the air. Early in the afternoon, just before the 191st contact with the "Big Ben" for refueling, they were cheered on by Wing Commander Kingsford-Smith of Australia, who circled Sky Harbor as he arrived in his around-the-world plane, "Southern Cross."

Stay Until Sunday
Their motor was functioning smoothly. Word went around the airport they intended to remain in the air until Sunday night to take advantage of the increased rate receipts during the Fourth of July and Sunday.

That was in spite of a note dropped by Kenneth early today in which he said he was getting tired and wanted to land.

John followed Kenneth's complaint with a message to his sister, who in ill in Danville, N. Y., saying he wanted to stay in the air until Monday.

"Beans (Kenneth) is fretting and wants to come down at 520 hours," he said.

The 520th hour will be reached at 7:40 a. m., C. S. T. tomorrow. At

PAT NEFF COMING

Governor Pat M. Neff, Chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, and a candidate for re-election, will make a non-political public address at Lubbock, Wednesday night, July 9th, at 8 o'clock, at a place to be announced later.

Governor Neff has always been a strong believer in and a supporter of West Texas, and as Governor, he signed the bill creating Texas Technological College, carrying an appropriation of one million dollars. He is the most polished orator in Texas today, and his address will be a treat to the Plains people. Everybody is invited to hear him.

New Stitched Crepe Hats Wear One on "The Fourth"

Just unpacked—two shipments of popular stitched Silk Crepe hats in both close-fitting and brimmed styles. They are smart in the extreme and decidedly in favor just now—

The shades range in white and pastel as well as navy and black—the roll of the brims and the shaping of the crowns is in many cases rather unusual. They come to us fresh from the New York Style Centers and will make ideal items for wear for Fourth of July occasions—the price is most reasonable—only—

HOUSTON GIRL SHOT

Older Woman Questioned In Downtown Shooting

HOUSTON, July 2. (AP)—Ruth Higgins, 23, was shot late today as she sat in her parked automobile, and Mrs. E. P. Chandler, 34, was questioned by the police, who were told by witnesses that a shout—"You broke up my home!"—had preceded the shooting.

Hospital officials said the wounded woman, though seriously injured, probably would recover.

The affair, officers were told, occurred outside a filling station, to which both women had driven up in automobiles. Mrs. Van Northwick and her two children were in the machine with Mrs. Chandler. "I hit her with the gun and it went off," Mrs. Chandler told police and newspapermen. She has not made signed statement.

TO SPONSOR LOAN FUND

TAHOKA, July 2. (Special)—Plans are being discussed by the local Kiwanis club for the sponsoring of a loan fund with which to assist worthy boys and girls in their efforts to procure means necessary to enable them to attend high school or college. G. H. Nelson, Kiwanis county attorney, who suggested the loan fund, points out that many young folks of the county are financially unable to attend high school or college.

Crosbyton Expects Station of Co-Op

(By Staff Correspondent)
CROSBYTON, July 2.—Virtual definite assurance that a receiving station of the American Cotton Co-operative association for the Lubbock branch is to be located in Crosbyton has been given officials of the chamber of commerce by C. O. Moser, director in charge of the work in the state.

Crosbyton county last year gained about 15,000 bales of cotton. Its peak was 73,000 bales in 1926, while the normal production is around 29,000 to 30,000 bales.

Crosbyton's trade territory this year, with a normal crop, is expected to gain about 15,000 bales. With a better average than normal the number will be above the figure. No man to handle the receiving of the cotton shipments has been selected. It is assumed that some independent cotton man is to be placed in charge.
