Sweeping Health Plan Submitted By President

E. Thompson Resigns Post

AUSTIN (AP) — Ernest O. Thompson, world-recognized oil conservation expert who tamed the wild burst of Texas oil development during the 1930s, has submitted his resignation from the Railroad Commission, it was learned today.

An oil industry official said the announcement of Thompson's resignation is being held up for several days.

Gov. John Connally's office had no comment.

Commission Chairman Ben Ramsey said he had no information on the subject.

Thompson, 72, has been in failing health for several years. He spent several days in an Austin hospital recently and attended only a few of the 12 monthly statewide oil proration hearings held by the commission during the year. He has spent much of his time at his home in Amarillo.

The resignation was confirmed off the record by sources both in Amarillo and in Austin.

Thompson was elected to the commission in 1932, when the infant Texas oil industry was getting out of hand in East Texas. His efforts in oil, and later gas, conservation principles won him recognition from most industry groups and the United States and foreign governments.

ERNEST O. THOMPSON

He has been continuously since 1932 on the powerful state agency. He told an interviewer last year he had no thought of resigning and added: "I may be feeling just right for the next election." His six-year term—his fifth—expires Jan. 1, 1967.

Thompson is in Amarillo, where he has been since before Christmas. One of his last official acts, and the few orders he signed during the year, was one electing Ramsey chairman of the three-man board. Thompson would have won the post under normal rotation. Commission sources said he took the action from a hospital bed.

Panel Halts Hearing On New Dam

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN (AP) — A lengthy Texas Water Commission hearing on the proposed Robert Lee Reservoir is in recess after six days of testimony, including three before Christmas.

The commission called a halt Wednesday after giving lawyers who oppose the controversial project until Feb. 8 to file briefs.

S. W. Freese of the Fort Worth consulting engineering firm of Freese, Nichols & Endress, was the final witness. He was called by sponsors of the reservoir.

Freese testified that cities in the area to be served by the West Texas project need water now for municipal purposes. His firm performed studies, about which he testified last month, favoring the reservoir.

State Sen. Charles Herring of Austin, representing the Lower Colorado River Authority, said one or two more witnesses would be presented in opposition to the project.

The hearing started Dec. 14, ran three days, quit for Christmas and was resumed Monday.

The three - man commission is considering an application by the Colorado River Municipal Water District to build a 488,760 acre - foot reservoir on the Colorado near Robert Lee in Coke County. An acre - foot is 325,851 gallons.

A decision may be months away.

DRAMATIC EPISODE AT SEA—An overcrowded lifeboat filled with crewmen of a sinking American freighter is pictured as it pulled alongside the German auto carrier, MS Mathilde Bolten, in high seas off Bermuda Dec. 20. Moments later the lifeboat capsized and German seamen leaped over the side to help save 34 U.S. seamen. Four others lost their lives when the crippled freighter, SS Smith Voyager had a shift of cargo. This dramatic picture was made by a seaman on the Mathilde Bolten and became available with the arrival of the ship in Long Beach, Calif., its first U. S. port of call since the incident. Aged Care Heads List

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed today a broad health insurance-health care package that includes a suggestion that the federal government pay part of the basic operating costs of medical and dental schools.

Johnson, submitting a message entitled "Advancing the Nation's Health," plugged first for enactment this year of medical insurance for persons 65 and over under the Social Security program.

He made the message his first one on a specific subject in the new session, thereby giving it high priority.

"I believe this year is the year when, with the sure knowledge of public support, the Congress should enact a hospital insurance program for the aged," the President said.

Johnson called, too, for a five-year program of grants "to develop multipurpose regional medical complexes for an all-out attack on heart disease, cancer, stroke, and other major diseases."

Aides said 32 medical centers would be built in various parts of the country at a cost of $1.2 billion.

Another major new proposal would set up a system of grants "to help cover basic operating costs of our health profession schools in order that they may significantly expand both their capacity and the quality of their educational programs."

Johnson said tuition and fees paid by medical and dental students actually defray less than half the cost of their education.

"We must face the fact," he said, "that high operating costs and shortages of operating funds are jeopardizing our health professions educational system."

Also included in Johnson's proposed health package were better health services for children and youth, improved community mental health services, more ambitious federally aided effort to rehabilitate the disabled, improved services for the mentally retarded, and legislation to tighten up federal control over barbituates and other pschyo-toxic drugs.

The President, in his message, put no dollar figure on the total cost of his proposals.

But he described the package as representing "attainable horizons of a greater society which a confident and prudent people can begin to build for the future."

First priority in the lengthy document went to health insurance for the aged.

"I ask," he said, "that our Social Security system — proved and tested by three decades of successful operation — be extended to finance the cost of basic health services. In this way, the spectre of catastrophic hospital bills can be lifted from the lives of our older citizens."

Johnson said that, in addition to such an insurance plan, "we should encourage private insurance to provide supplementary protection."

The President said his plan would "provide protection against the costs of hospital and post-hospital extended care, home nursing services, and outpatient diagnostic services."

Snyder's Mayor Resigns His Post

John Mark McLaughlin submitted his resignation today as Mayor of the City of Snyder.

In a letter addressed to the city council, McLaughlin said he was resigning with "extreme personal regret," but felt compelled to do so because of an opportunity that had presented itself to him and his family in another town.

Although he made no detailed announcement of his future plans, he said that he would be engaged in the practice of law in San Angelo.

McLaughlin was elected to the mayor's post here last April, and his term runs until April of 1966.

Under procedure prescribed by the city charter, the City Council will name a mayor from its own membership to complete the term. Councilman M. L. Broman is now serving as mayor pro tem and will be the city's chief executive until the council makes a permanent appointment for the remainder of McLaughlin's term.

Other members of the council are H. A. Johnson, Marshall Erwin, Guy Sullivan, Jack Lawrence and Billy McCormick.

J. MARK McLAUGHLIN

In his letter of resignation, McLaughlin said, ' The decision to accept this opportunity has been a difficult one for me to resolve and it is only after long and deliberate thought and careful weighing of the relative merits and demerits that I have finally decided to make this change in residence."

McLaughlin praised members of the council and employes of the city government, declaring that he had gained "far more in rewarding experiences than I ever could contribute to the office of mayor.

"I have always regarded Snyder as my home, and deep in my heart will continue to do so to the end of my days. It has been my privilege to have seen Snyder grow from a small country county seat, through the stresses and throes of a great oil boom, into the present, efficient, modern and wholesome city it is now. I am proud of Snyder and its citizens and am humbly grateful to have been a small part of this community during my residence here."

McLaughlin has been practicing law here and has been associated with his father, C. T. McLaughlin, in L-am-ond M Industries here for several years.

He has been active in many civic organizations in Snyder, and only recently was re-elected to the board of directors of the Scurry County Industrial Development Corp., which he served as president. He also has served in official posts of the Scurry County United Fund, as a director of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce, director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, president of the Scurry County Bar Association, vice president of the Buffalo Trail Council of Boy Scouts of America, member of St. John's Episcopal church, serving as member of the Bishop's committee and as Lay Reader.

McLaughlin also is member of the University of Texas Board of Regents and is on the University's Board of Development. He served as an Assistant Attorney General of Texas in 1957-58.

Gushing Gas Well Is Under Control

MADILL, Okla. (AP) — A wildcat well that gushed poisonous sulphuric gas apparently was brought under control late Wednesday.

Valves kept the gas under check but they had to be turned frequently to release the roaring pressurized gas to prevent a major blowout.

Sinclair Oil Co.'s No. 5 Griffin blew out Wednesday morning and a company spokesman estimated the daily flow at five million cubic feet. There was no fire. Workmen had to use gas masks and spectators were kept a mile away from the well, 2 ½ miles northwest of this southern Oklahoma town.

Drilling mud was pumped into the well to stop the gas flow.

Bank Figures Show Texas Prospering

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer

Bank deposit figures compiled in response to state and federal bank calls show Texas' year-end economy is prosperous and growing.

Nearly every city and town reported record high deposits, considered an important index of business.

Everywhere it appeared the bloom was on the boom, and bankers generally could see no change ahead.

Better business with Mexico, higher employment, more industry, good crops, improving oil industry activity and outlook, great growth, expanding population, burgeoning tourism, increased interest in agriculture, and heavy Christmas business were among factors cited for the gold-tinged reports.

Dallas again led the state in bank deposit totals, followed by Houston.

Flood Threat In California Eases

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Swollen rivers receded and rains tapered off today to give flood-ravaged Northern California a welcome breather. Relentless nature turned her winter wrath on the High Sierra, stranding hundreds of travelers in blinding snowstorms and freezing gales.

Several hundred residents of the Eel and Mad rivers districts straggled back to the homes they fled the past two days when torrential rains sent waters raging up to flood stages. Forecasts of only scattered showers promised improving conditions.

The three-week storm that had deluged large areas of Northern California and four other Western states — Oregon, Washington, Nevada and Idaho — raged unabated in the High Sierra on the Nevada-California border.

At least two transmountain buses and dozens of cars were marooned on 7,200-foot-high Donner Summit Wednesday night as a howling blizzard reduced visibility to zero.

Authorities said the road would remain closed for the night and possibly through today.

The California Highway Patrol said each of the buses carried about 40 passengers. It was impossible to tell how many cars and trucks were stalled on the major route across the mountain — Interstate 80.

Lt. O. P. Ledford said vehicles bogged down in the storm included three highway patrol cars.

"Visibility in the whole area is absolutely zero," he said.

Snow depths were estimated at five feet at Truckee and eight feet at Tahoe City. Both communities lie just on the California side of the mountains.

Ski resorts were suffering from too much snow. At Heavenly Valley ski area on the south shore of Lake Tahoe, Annette R. Sallus, 43, of San Francisco, fell beneath a snow removal tractor Wednesday and was killed.

Indonesia Leaves UN

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)— President Sukarno Thursday night announced Indonesia's withdrawal from the United Nations.

In making this decision, Sukarno thus ignored appeals made by practically the whole world, including his allies and friends in the African - Asian camp, to keep his country in the world organization.

Addressing a rally held to condemn foreign military bases, Sukarno—to the cheers of the crowd—declared:

"On Jan. 7, 1965 at 2230 hours (10:30 p.m.), I declare as follows: In my announcement a few days ago I said that if Malaysia becomes a Security Council member, I will order Indonesia to walk out of the United Nations. Now since Malaysia has become a Security Council member, I declare that Indonesia has walked out of the United Nations."

AF Plans To Disband Reserve Units

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force announced plans today to disband 155 Air Force Reserve units by April.

The action involves about 8,000 reservists in 44 states and the District of Columbia.

Although the announcement did not say so, the action was believed to be a forerunner to the merger of the Air Force Reserve into the Air National Guard.

Such a move would parallel action already taken with respect to the Army Reserve and National Guard.

The units involved are 112 recovery squadrons and 43 recovery groups.

These are ground units whose mission is to provide for support of regular Air Force military planes at civilian airports following an attack on the United States that might have knocked out military fields.

New Legislation Floods Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress barely opened its doors and the bills spilled in by the hundreds.

Measures to enhance "the nation's anadromous fish" swam side by side with those that would make Daylight Saving Time mandatory, would direct the Navy to name its next cruiser the Brooklyn, would change the date of Memorial Day, would give veterans with wooden legs or arms a clothing allowance, would consider putting the nation on the metric system of weights and measures — and more. Many more.

No matter how odd sounding or what wrong the legislation is designed to right, each measure is important to someone and likely will get a hearing of some kind—even if brief.

Some of the bills have gone through the legislative mill before and been tossed aside only to return again.

A bill introduced by Rep. Robert McClory, R-Ill., is such a one. It would provide for a study of the pros and cons of adopting the metric system.

McClory introduced this one in the last session too. "Why it didn't get to a hearing I just don't know," he said. "There is some opposition among the large manufacturing companies. They are fearful they might have to retool."

He argued that if the metric system were adopted "it would be much easier to relate our technology with other parts of the world."

There are a couple of measures asking to make Columbus Day a legal holiday, and Rep. Richard Fulton, D-Tenn., is trying to arrange a three-day holiday every spring by changing the date of Memorial Day from May 31 to the last Monday in May.

Viet Cong Reports Gain

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Another Viet Cong success in the war against the South Vietnamese government was reported today.

The Vietnamese Defense Ministry said Communist guerrillas overran an outpost Wednesday in Kieng Giang Province, near the Cambodian border, and killed 21 of the defenders. The Reds also captured 24 weapons.

Two U.S. servicemen were reported wounded Wednesday in small engagements in central Viet Nam and the southern Mekong River delta.

Around Binh Gia, 40 miles east of Saigon, more than 2,000 troops scoured a large stretch of country, seeking the Viet Cong units that inflicted 500 government casualties there last week.

Apollo Program Suffers Setback

By HAROLD R. WILLIAMS

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The U.S. plan to orbit three astronauts in an Apollo moon spacecraft in 1966 suffered its first setback today with announcement of major schedule changes.

Also caught in the revision was the third Saturn manned mission, which was replaced by an unnamed earth orbital test of the lunar excursion module — LEM — which will carry astronauts to the moon's surface.

Dr. William A. Lee, head of the Operations Planning Division at the Manned Spacecraft Center, said the delay in the first three-man orbital flight should be small.

"Instead of making the launch earlier in 1966," he said, "it will be later in 1966."

Because of the closeness of the schedule, however, problems could send the mission into 1967, observers pointed out.

Original planning called for two unmanned sub-orbital flights of the powerful Saturn 1B rocket. The third, assuming no major setbacks occurred on the previous two, was to be flown by three astronauts.

Lee said the third flight now was scheduled to be a test of the second-stage booster, called the Saturn 4B, and its propellant tanks, which hold liquid hydrogen and oxygen.

To save weight, the Apollo spacecraft will not be used — only a nose cone, Lee said.

The tanks carry 223,500 pounds of fuel and will be filled. In earth orbital trips using the three-stage Apollo spacecraft, the tanks will be only partly filled, Lee said, to reduce weight.

The Saturn 4B will be the third stage on the mighty Saturn 5 rocket and will hurl itself and the Apollo spacecraft into earth orbit.

After four and one-half hours circling the earth, the Saturn 4B's engine will be started and its 200,000 pounds of thrust will fling the spacecraft toward the moon.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with a man for two years. We love each other very much. I am a widow with two small children and he is divorced with three small children. He doesn't want to get married again because of the way his wife treated him. (She was really rotten.) He needs someone in his home 24 hours a day. He has tried older women, but they are not good with his children. He wants to hire me as his housekeeper. My family says if I take the job it will ruin my reputation as everyone in town knows we go together. Please help me make the right decision as so many people could get hurt if I make the wrong one.

TO BE OR NOT TO BE

DEAR TO BE: You may love him, but if he really loved you he would not punish you for his wife's "rottenness." I am afraid that his "reason" for not marrying you is only an excuse. And a poor one at that. Let him hire a housekeeper and tell him when he makes you his Missus, you'll share his home.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband's father lives with us and he has a habit that is causing my nerves to fray. The old man drinks right from the refrigerator jug. I've caught him, doing this time and again and I have told him it was very unsanitary. I didn't like it, and I wish he'd quit it! It's like talking to the wall.

I've asked my husband please to tell Grampa to cut it out, but he says he doesn't want to hurt the old man's feelings and I should skip it. Grampa is 78 and ought to know better. Is there a solution?

FRAYED NERVES

DEAR FRAYED: Get the old man his own personal refrigerator jug and label it "GRANDDAD." And let him drink right from the jug to his heart's content. Stash the "family" jug in the rear of the refrigerator and alert all members.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My mother is my problem. She is always picking on me. She doesn't like the way I wear my hair or any of my clothes. She is always hollering about my posture and telling me to wash my face or it will break out. Every time I eat something fattening she yells, "You don't NEED that!" She is forever griping that my room is a mess. (Sometimes it is, but I always get around to cleaning it up.) I just can't seem to please her. Please help me.

FIFTEEN AND PICKED ON

DEAR FIFTEEN: Yours sounds like the typical wail of the teen-ager, and your mother's reaction is also typical. Just refrain from doing the things you know will irritate your mother, keep your room tidy, and stay out of her sight.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this to try to keep some other girls from making the same mistake I made. I started going with a boy in high school. We were very much in love and had such wonderful plans. We were going to get married when we were through college. We even decided how many children we wanted and what kind of furniture we were going to have. Eventually he persuaded me to forget my moral standards because we were going to get married anyway and it would make the waiting easier. He went away to college and I got a job when we graduated. It has been three years now and when he came home for Christmas vacation he told me he wanted a girl with stronger "moral convictions." I don't think I have to say any more. Thank you.

Gold Storage May Be Eased

By ADREN COOPER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson tentatively plans to ask Congress to eliminate the gold backing on part of the nation's money supply, it was learned today.

The plan would leave unchanged the 25 per cent gold backing on U.S. currency.

It would make an additional $5 billion in gold available for future increases in the money supply or to meet international obligations.

The plan calls for elimination of the legal requirement for a 25 per cent gold backing on reseves which form the basis of the U.S. banking system. The move would be only the second major change in relationship between money and gold since the United States abandoned the strict gold standard in 1934.

Highly placed sources said Johnson feels further increases in the money supply will be needed since the economic signs point to a fifth straight year of business expansion.

Although laymen tend to think of money only as the currency they hold in their pockets and safes, economists regard bank accounts as an even more important medium of exchange.

Banks must keep a certain percentage of their deposits in Federal Reserve banks. In turn, the Federal Reserve must maintain a supply of gold equivalent to 25 per cent of these bank reserves. It is this legal [illegible] repealing.

The Federal Reserve Board, which enjoys a large measure of independence, now has the power to reduce or eliminate the 25 per cent gold requirement on both currency and reserves for a two-week period. It can keep renewing this action indefinitely.

Baked Cranberries

2 cups cranberries
1 cup sugar

Have cranberries picked over; wash in cold water and lightly drain; spread them, in a single layer, in a baking pan (11 by 7 by 1½ inches). Sprinkle the sugar evenly over the top of the cranberries. Cover tightly with foil. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for 40 to 50 minutes, gently shaking pan several times. Remove cranberries to serving dish. If any of the sugar is undissolved in the pan, add a tablespoon or so of water and stir over low heat to melt the sugar; pour over cranberries. Chill. Makes about 1½ cups — plenty for 6 servings.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Painting the window frames s usually the most tedious part of an interior painting job. After you've been sweeping a bruh or roller across wide expanses of ceilings and walls, covering a lot of footage quickly, it's a little frustrating to have to stop and carefully paint the comparatively small surfaces of the frames. The task is especially annoying with double - hung windows, still the most commonly used type in the country, because it is necessary to raise and lower the top and bottom sashes without disturbing any of the paint that has already been applied.

One way to make the chore a little easier is to use a narrow sash brush. If you don't have one, and it is inconvenient to purchase one at the moment, use any clean, narrow paint brush. Use a wide brush and you'll not only have a tough time keeping the paint off the panes, you'll get the bristles out of shape. Even with a regular sash brush, extra care must be exercised to keep from smearing the panes. There are both fabric and liquid masking materials designed to help you with this part of the job.

Many painters prefer the use of a metal shield, which is placed against the edge of the wood and catches paint that otherwise would land on the glass. If you use such a shield, keep a cloth handy, as it is necessary to wipe the metal frequently.

Now let's get down to the manner in which the frames should be painted. (You can get Andy Lang's detailed booklet, "Paint Your House Inside and Out," by sending 25 cents and a long, stamped, self - addressed envelope to Know - How, P.O. Box 954, Jamaica, N.Y., 11432.) Raise the bottom sash and lower the top sash, allowing about three inches at both ends. Begin painting the top horizontal of the bottom sash, then do the mullions (the strips separating the panes) and wind up with the left and right verticals. Note that, at this point, you don't paint the botom horizontal.

All this time the upper sash has been in a lowered position. Paint as much of the mullions as you can reach, then paint the bottom horizontal. Now lower the bottom sash to where it was before you started, doing it by taking hold of the unpainted bottom horizontal. Raise the top sash, this time taking hold of the unpainted top horizontal. Finish painting the top sash, then complete the job by painting the bottom horizontal.

Sound complicated? It really isn't. You can see this for yourself by going through the motions, as we have explained them, without doing any actual painting. Once you have painted windows in this fashion, you'll be able to do all the others automatically. And you won't get paint all over your hands, as you might if you did the job haphazardly.

QUESTION: Sometimes, in looking over the house plans in newspapers, I see a provision for pocket doors. What are they?

ANSWER: Pocket doors slide into openings in the walls and, therefore, are generally used only in new construction. They are gaining in popularity in recent years, but actually they are a throwback to the doors you used to see in your grandparents' house, usually the kind that separated the dining room from what then was called the parlor. You still see them in very old houses, especially those owned by doctors who have combined office - residences. The old - time pocket doors were used doubly, one door sliding to the left, the other to the right. Most of the modern pocket doors are used singly, especially in the separation of compartmented bathrooms.

QUESTION: We have an oak table which has no finish of any kind on it. We'd like to get the same effect we saw on a piece of furniture in a department store, a kind of whitish grain against a black background. Can you tell us how this can be done?

ANSWER: We assume you mean one of the many variations of pickled finishes. Apply an ebony stain to the wood, allowing it to dry thoroughly and then rubbing in a white paste wood filler, following the directions on the container very carefully. When the filler has hardened, cover with a coat of white shellac, mixed half and half with denatured alcohol, and follow with two coats of varnish or whatever other final finish you desire. If you wish the final finish to be shellac, apply three thin coats, sanding very lightly between coats.

(To get Andy Lang's detailed booklet, "Wood Finishing in Your Home," send 25 cents and a long, stamped, self - addressed envelope to Know-How, P.O. Box 954, Jamaica, N.Y., 11431. Also available, at the same price, is "Here's the Answer," with replies to 35 pertinent do-ir-yourself problems. Please specify which booklet you wish.)

You can use a table fork, instead of getting out your beater, when you want to "beat eggs lightly" as is often directed in recipes: Beat only enough to blend the yolks with the whites.

Use a wooden spoon when you are stirring a mixture that is cooking on top of the range; some cooks like to use the spoon to form figure eight as they stir to make sure the entire mixture is blended.

Tales That Wag A Dog

THE THINKING DOG's MAN.
By Ted Patrick.

If you didn't find a copy of this book under your Christmas tree, you can go out and grab a copy yourself.

Patrick has the same approach to his subject. It is the idea of the man being owned by the dog, as expressed in such chapters as "What A Dog Looks For in a Man."

He also has a lot of fun debunking the myths that men have invented to endow the dog with magic, every time he does something man can't do — for example, finding his way home from a strange and distant place. Patrick argues that the pooch doesn't need extrasensory perception. He just uses common, ordinary dog sense.

There are many pointers on acquiring the right sort of dog for you, without getting into the business of the show ring. He deplores fashionable fads for certain breeds, on the ground that a whole breed can be ruined by overpopularity. Naturally he gives some advice about training, or being trained by a dog.

Not unexpectedly, he tells admiring stories about the dogs he has owned (Airedales) and about their personalities.

Johnson Clearly Concerned With Population Explosion

WASHINGTON (AP) — In careful but clear language, President Johnson as giving new impetus to the U.S. government's role in the struggle to contain the explosive growth of the world's population.

The President did it with one sentence in his State of the Union message Monday night.

He said: "I will seek new ways to use our knowledge to help deal with the explosion in world population and the growing scarcity in world resources."

As far as could be determined it was the first time a president had used a major address to comment on the scope of the problem and the need to solve it.

The late President John F. Kennedy, at a news conference on April 24, 1963, said the United States should support making information about the reproductive cycle available to the rest of the world. He also endorsed studies in the fields of reproduction and fertility.

Johnson didn't mention birth control, but this inevitably is entangled in any significant effort to limit population growth.

In developing areas of the world, it is frequently a battle just to expand food production fast enough to keep up with the population growth.

The State Department is already offering training and research assistance to underdeveloped countries trying to meet problems of population growth by aiding governments and responsible private agencies in training specialists.

Special attention is being given to Latin America. State Department officials say one member of each U.S. mission there has been designated to deal with governments and other agencies dealing with the population problem.

On the domestic front, federal funds have been used for a number of years to subsidize birth control clincs and family planning through state and local health programs.

A federal grant of $1,462,718 is being used by New York City health officials to provide birth control advice and materials in connection with a complete maternal health program at five clinics operated for the city by cooperating hosptals.

Now through the Office of Economic Opportunity — the so-called "war on poverty" — even wider dissemination of birth control information is being federally financed.

A birth control program is already operating in Corpus Christi, Tex., under grants from the program and Milwaukee and the District of Columbia have submitted community action plans which include birth control.

In Corpus Christi, $12,580 of a $295,200 community action grant has been set aside for birth control information and mobile clinics.

Girl Suffocated By Plastic Bag

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A girl, 3, pulled a plastic bag over her head and suffocated after her mother had knotted both ends to prevent just such a tragedy.

Coroner William Allen said that despite the knotted ends, enough of the bag remained open for the child to get her head inside.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MERIDA, Mexico — So there we sat in the hotel sipping coffee and inhaling the cool sea breeze. It travels far over this flat Yucatan Peninsula.

And Mr. Andrew Buford of Milwaukee relating the story of his big game hunt in the neighboring territory of Quintana Roo. I had no idea that an expedition to whack a jaguar was so complicated.

"In the first place," said Mr. Buford, "my friend and I had thought of going to Africa to puncture a hippo or two. For some reason we came to Quintana Roo to blast Jaguars."

Mr. Buford said the first thing necessary was to procure guides, assistant guides and a cook. Then jeeps. Three. And a truck. This being accomplished in a relatively short time (one week) they set out over ancient Maya trails to Quintana Roo and the jaguar country. Through a blinding rain storm, this being the season.

Now to zero in on a jaguar there are all sorts of intricate procedures to be followed. First thing, you have to go far from the camp because jaguars do not care to associate with people. Then you can shoot a wild boar and hang him on a bush. And climb a tree and wait.

"After I demolished my pig," said Mr. Buford, "I draped him on a bush and climbed a nearby tree. Unfortunately it was a thorn tree and I was not inclined to climb down since it was wild country and you never know about jags. I feel like a pin cushion."

So Mr. Buford reclined on the thorns all night in the rain. And the jags apparently had a good dinner at home for they did not come near the bait.

Thus passed two weeks. Mr. Buford and his companion, plus their hired friends, eating well and enjoying the cooling showers.

"We did not see so much as a rabbit," he said, "and the late boar got extremely ripe. Not even the buzzards would get near him and the pigs apparently had the word and were not circulating around any more. I believe the jags were stunk out of the region."

The last night of the big game hunt, Mr. Buford was riding shotgun with a huge rifle in a jeep to see what the headlights might pick up along the roadside.

So about so far down the trail there suddenly appeared a set of gleaming eyes. Right off to one side in the dense brush. And everyone let out a simultaneous gasp: "Jaguar!"

Mr. Buford stood up and let go two explosions right at the eyes. And ended up in the back seat of the jeep in a guide's lap.

"That bloomin' cannon kicked like a land mine," he observed.

As it turned out, the eyes belonged to a small fox. Dead and in several pieces due to the size of the rifle and Mr. Buford's aim.

"It wound up that the guides said we might as well go home because jags never roamed about to get hunted during the rainy season," said Mr. Buford. "A few weeks and you can find out anything. However, it was reasonable practice, chaper than Africa and I got me a fox. A stinking little fox."

He said the pieces were in a bag of dry ice and he would have a taxidermist sew things together when he got back to Milwaukee. A memorable trophy to hang in the den.

Abel Seeks To Unseat Union Boss

By BOB VOELKER

PITTSBURGH (AP) — I. W. Abel is trying to win control of a big union in a way that has rarely, if ever, succeeded in the history of American unionism.

The secretary-treasurer of the United Steelworkers Union is attempting to move up from the union's No. 2 spot by unseating President David McDonald in the union's election Feb. 9.

Traditionally, the leadership of major unions has changed mainly through death or retirement. High-level internal rebellions have been few.

Abel is confident of victory. "We never had any question about it," he said Wednesday.

Abel, 56, hopes to ride to the top on the strength of rank-and-file discontent which he says runs deep and wide in the million-member union. He claims the mill hand has lost his voice in union affairs and too much authority is now concentrated in the hands of "technicians, experts and lawyers."

In an interview in his Pittsburgh office, Abel said:

"The discontent has been evident throughout the country the past several years. It was evident in the last negotiations when some locals at first refused to sign because they felt there had not been proper consideraion of the membership."

That 1963 contract was negotiated by the Joint Union-Management Human Relations Commitee in a concept of bargaining that has been described as "mutual trusteeship." The contract was rewritten without a formal reopening, a first in the industry.

Some of McDonald's opponents have accused him of turning the USW into a "company union," meaning it has leaned too far in favor of the management viewpoint.

Abel also finds fault in the way the McDonald administration has handled local grievances. He said many have been merely pushed aside.

Abel, six years younger than McDonald, started as a volunteer union organizer and held three successive offices after his local was established.

He was elected a director in 1942 and 10 years later moved up to secretary-treasurer, a post that pays $35,000 a year.

McDonald started out as secretary of Philip Murray, founder of the USW, and was elected secretary-treasurer when the union was organized.

Tigers Seek Undisputed Loop Lead At Levelland

The Snyder Tigers, winners in their first two District 3-AAA basketball games, will get an opportunity Friday night to take an undisputed first place in the district standings.

But they will have to defeat the strong Levelland Lobos in the Levelland Gym to do it.

Both teams will go into the Friday night action with 2-0 records in district play. The Tigers edged Lamesa, 72-70, in overtime, and then dispatched the Lake View Chiefs, 91-56. Meanwhile, the Lobos were mauling Brownfield, 82-46, and sliding by Sweetwater, 57-51.

Consequently, a clear - cut district leader will come out of the Friday night game at Levelland.

The Lobos, generally rated as a "dark horse" in the district race this season, have come on strong after dropping two decisions to powerful foes in the Caprock Tournament at Lubbock.

The probable starters for Levelland tomorrow night are Henry Willis, Lynn Waters, Clay Krueger, Joe Valentine and Freddie Leggett.

Willis is the big gun for the Lobos. In their two conference games he has scored a total of 43 points for a 21½ average per game. He got 27 points in the district opener against Brownfield and added 16 to his ledger at Sweetwater.

Snyder's attack has been well-balanced through most of the season. Four of the five Tiger starters are averaging in double figures, and so far the Bengals have managed to have a hot shooter ready for every game. Leslie Anderson is the scoring leader in district play, roping 51 points in two games for a 25½ point average. His 34 points against Lamesa represented the second highest total ever logged by a Snyder player in a single game.

Tiger starters at Levelland likely will be Drew Bullard, Leslie Brown, Jerry Vestal, Phillip Floyd and Anderson, with Jimmy Featherston and Steve Crowell and possibly others due to see plenty of action.

Celtics Win 9th In Row

By The Associated Press

Boston and San Francisco maintained their streaks, but Baltimore's Bailey Howell couldn't keep his going.

The Celtics trounced St. Louis 138-106 for their ninth straight National Basketball Association victory Wednesday night while San Francisco suffered its 10th consecutive defeat 121-102 at the hands of Philadelphia.

Howell, though, failed to gain an NBA record for consecutive field goals made as the Bullets downed Detroit 129-121. In the other game Cincinnati stopped New York 116-102.

Howell had connected on 16 straight field goals going into the game. Wilt Chamberlain holds the record of 19. The first shot the Bullets' ace tried, however, was blocked. Still, he went on to put in 10 of 17 tries and led all scorers with 28 points.

49er Quarterback Wins Golf Tourney

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., (AP) — Two years on golf's tournament trail have paid off to the tune of a new car for San Francisco 49er quarterback John Brodie.

Brodie carded a 75 Wednesday for a 54-hole total of 231 to win the National Football League Golf Tournament and the first prize of a 1965 Ford Mustang.

Brodie came home one stroke ahead of Jesse Whittenton, Green Bay Packers defensive back, though at one time he trailed Whittenton by four strokes.

Whittenton finished with a 232, followed by King Hill, Philadelphia Eagle quarterback who had 236.

Friars' Walker Sets Fast Pace

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lenny Wilkins, Johnny Egan, Vinnie Ernst and Ray Flynn. They were the stars who brought national recognition in basketball to Providence College the last six years.

Now Jim Walker, a 6-foot-3 sophomore, is following in the footsteps and once again the Friars are in the headlines as the only unbeaten major team in the country.

The charges of Coach Joe Mullaney made it 10 in a row by whipping Boston College and John Austin 89-79 at Newton, Mass., Wednesday night. Walker, whose style is being compared to Providence's former greats, threw in 28 points on nine field goals and 10 of 11 free throws.

Bill Blair, a junior, also chipped with 28 points for the Friars, who led by 19 points at halftime. Austin, playing with an injured wrist, got 29 points for Boston College. He sat out the first eight minutes of the second half.

It was the fifth victory on the road for the Friars, indicating they are tough anywhere. Their other road triumphs came against Creighton, Iowa, St. Francis of New York and Fairfield. They play Canisius Saturday at Buffalo, N.Y.

Ninth-ranked Providence was the only team in The Associated Press top ten to see action. Louisville, 9-2, scored a 92-80 home-court triumph over La-Salle. In other home-court victories, Brigham Young whipped Seattle 92-72 behind John Fairchild's 23 points and Marquette edged Chicago Loyola 71-69 on Rocke Calvelli's jump shot in the last second of a five-minue overtime.

Wake Forest drubbed North Carolina 107-85 and N.C. State downed Virginia 73-67 in two Atlantic Coast Conference games. West Virginia took Virginia Military 87-79 in the Southern Conference.

Packer Pilot Denies Paul On Way Out

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Green Bay Coach Vince Lombardi is high on Paul Hornung's "potential" and plans to keep the high-scoring halfback with the Packers.

Lombardi emphatically denied Wednesday a report that he and Hornung had clashed and the former Notre Dame star was on the trading block, possibly in a deal with the New York Giants.

"I don't know a player in the National Football League who has the potential of Hornung," Lombardi said. "You don't give up something for nothing.

"Now, I'm not saying that we're going to sit pat up here. If we have an opportunity to better ourselves, we will trade. But I have no plans to trade Hornung, period."

According to a New York report, Lombardi and Hornung clashed when the halfback reported late for a team meeting before the Packers met the St. Louis Cardinals in the Pro Playoff Bowl in Miami. The report quoted the coach as telling Hornung: "Get in your car and keep going."

"That's a bold-face lie," Lombardi said. "I had no disagreement whatsoever with Hornung. There's absolutely no truth to that story."

Hornung was on the bench when the Packers opened against the Cardinals. He carried the ball only five times and his lone pass on the option play was intercepted, killing Green Bay's last chance in a 24-17 loss. However, Hornung booted a 40-yard field goal and added two conversions.

Broyles Is Elated Over Rice Award

HONOLULU (AP) — "I'm prouder than I've ever been in my life," said Coach Frank Broyles Wednesday on learning that his unbeaten, untied Arkansas Razorbacks will receive the Grantland Rice Award.

The memorial to the late sports writing great goes to the team rated No. 1 in the United States by a five-man committee representing the Football Writers Association od America.

"This is something I know the people of Arkansas have dreamed about for a long time," he said. "I know that this has to be the proudest moment in the athletic history of Arkansas—for the players, the university and our fans.

"They all rank No. 1," Broyles said.

Arkansas, the Southwest Conference champion, defeated Nebraska 10-7 in the Cotton Bowl game for an 11-0 record—the only major college football team without a loss.

The Razorbacks finished second in the final Associated Press football poll, which was released before the bowl games. Alabama, No. 1 in the last poll, lost in the Orange Bowl to Texas, which was defending national champion and No. 1 when it lost by a point to Arkansas.

The Razorbacks received four first-place votes and one for third. Notre Dame was runner-up with five second-place votes. Texas had one first-place vote and one third-place vote for four points and Michigan received three third-place votes for three.

Alabama received no votes for first, second or third place.

Broyles is here to coach the South squad in the Hula Bowl game which has been won every year by the North.

A small army of pros and amateur partners were set for today's pro-am prelude for the $5,000 pocket-money included in the largest purse in the tournament's history.

Morton-Rhome Passing Duel Predicted For Hula Bowl

HONOLULU (AP) — A passing duel between Craig Morton and Jerry Rhome is expected to highlight Honolulu's 19th annual Hula Bowl football game Friday night.

Morton, of the University of California, will start at quarterback for the South All-Stars, while Tulsa's all-time passing great, Rhome, will share the signal calling duties for the North with Bob Berry of Oregon.

"I can't figure how they put Tulsa in the North," Rhome said, "but I'm looking forward to playing against Morton."

Rhome was switched from the South stars to the North two weeks ago to set up the battle between two of the nation's top passers.

The two quarterbacks have both signed with the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League.

Morton has an explosive backfield behind him with Gale Sayers of Kansas at halfback, Larry Elkins of Baylor at the flanker spot and either Harold Philipp of Texas or Jim Grisham of Oklahoma at fullback.

The status of Grisham and Sooner tackle Ralph Neely for the Hula Bowl has not been announced.

Both players had invitations to the All-Star game revoked last weekend when it was learned they had been dropped from Oklahoma's Gator Bowl squad for signing pro contracts.

Grisham and Neely later were told they could come here and both worked out with the South Wednesday afternoon. Coach Frank Broyles of Arkansas had no comment when asked if they would play Friday night.

Solons Move To Provide Successors To Presidency

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eight presidents have died in office and 16 times the country has been left without a vice president.

Luckily, each time a president died there was a vice president to take his place and serve out the term, although this left the vice presidency vacant. But seven other vice presidents died in office, and one resigned.

Thus the country has been repeatedly faced with the twin question: "What happens when a president is disabled or when a president dies and there is no vice president?

Congress has skipped around the problem from the beginning but this year it will probably, at last, come up with a solution. It's already headed toward one although this new Congress is less than a week old.

President Johnson in his State of the Union message Monday night promised to suggest laws to "ensure the continuity of leadership should the president become disabled or die."

He knows the problem first hand. The country has been without a vice president since he went into the White House after President John F. Kennedy's death Nov. 22, 1963 and will be until Jan. 20 when Hubert H. Humphrey becomes vice president.

Johnson got a quick response to the suggestion in his message but only because the groundwork was laid in 1964.

Last September the Senate by a 65-0 vote approved a proposed constitutional amendment intended to settle the two questions on succession. But the busy House failed to act.

That meant it had to be done all over again in this new Congress. And Tuesday enough senators to pass a succession-disability measure promptly offered it.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., introduced it for himself and 66 Senate co-sponsors, the exact two-thirds majority needed for Senate approval if all 100 senators were present and voting the day the decision is made.

It's similar to what the Senate approved last year: letting the president nominate a new vice president when that office becomes vacant, provided a majority of House and Senate in joint session approve the choice.

Also, if a president couldn't perform his duties, the Bayh measure would let the vice president take over as president until the president recovered, again provided a majority of the Cabinet approved.

The Constitution is vague on the disability problem, merely saying that when a president can't perform his duties his powers shall "devolve upon the vice president." But it didn't say how. And that's been the puzzler.

Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and Kennedy had an understanding with their vice presidents — Richard M. Nixon and Lyndon B. Johnson — about what to do in case of presidential disability.

But this was an agreement between a couple of men each time and didn't have the force of law. The fact that it didn't was proof of how Congress had ducked the responsibility of doing something about it so long.

Under resent law, the speaker of the House of Representatives would become president if there was no vice president and the president died.

Junior Editors Quiz on THE NORTH POLE

QUESTION: Who really discovered the North Pole, Peary or Henson?

• • •

ANSWER: Peary and Henson reached the North Pole together. These two men were not rivals in any way, as the question seems to suggest; they were on the same expedition. Peary was the leader—he had been fighting toward the conquest of the North Pole with a perseverance and stubbornness unique in the history of Arctic exploration. In 1898, Peary set out on his first trip with the North Pole as the major objective. After four years, he returned. He had made important discoveries, but the North Pole had eluded him. Again, in 1905, he set out in the ship Roosevelt. He made a record of farthest north, but was forced to turn back when only 200 miles from the Pole. In 1908, he made a final try, and this time was successful, reaching the Pole April 6, 1909, in company with Matthew Henson and four Eskimos.

Matthew Henson, a negro, was Peary's trusted assistant, a man who had been with him through 30 years of Arctic exploration. Because Peary planned and personally led the expedition, he is spoken of as the discoverer of the North Pole. Peary himself always gave great credit to Henson, who he said was the best dog team driver in the world, as well as to the Eskimos and other members of the expedition who made final success possible.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: In these days, when other explorers are about to set out for still more distant objectives than the North Pole, Peary's story makes inspiring reading. You'll find books on it in your libra... 1-7

Checkbook Finally Is Feminized

By PHIL KEUPER

NEW YORK (AP) — The checkbook, once black and solidly male, has exploded into more colors than a woman's hat.

Banks, wooing the ladies, are selling checkbooks cloaked in an increasingly wider array of colors and in plastic finishes made to look like everything from lace to leopard skin.

The checks themselves appear in more compatible colors than the rainbow.

The layer of glamor on the once-plain checkbook has followed the gradual emergence of the woman as the check-writer in a vast number of the nation's more than 46 million personal checking accounts. So fashion-conscious has the movement become that some checkbooks look as much like fashion accessories as handbags, gloves and shoes.

New York's Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. recently took part in a Manhattan fashion show that the bank said was inspired by its "chic and color-coordinated checkbooks."

Hit of the show, said a spokesman for the bank, was a rain suit patterned after the bank's imitation cobra check set.

"Since we started our fashion checkbooks in May 1963 we have shown our biggest gain in checking accounts," said Hugh Brennan, an advertising executive of the bank.

Cleveland's National City Bank offers its customers checkbooks in styles that range from leopard to lizard. Colors include "ledger red" and "currency green."

Bank of America, the nation's largest, will sell you checks perfumed with Chanel No. 5.

Chase Manhattan Bank offers checkbooks in colors with fancy names such as "ascot gray," "harlequin white," "patent green," and "cadet blue."

While banks have sold colored checks and checkbooks for years, the trend to wide variety and high fashion as represented by plaid, leopard and lizard is relatively new and growing.

The fancy checkbook usually costs extra.

Some banking sources say the customer continues to buy his color-coordinated checks instead of receiving them free, relieving the bank of that expense.

"But most of all," one bank official said, "the checkbooks represent a more liberal, aggressive stance by banks. If people today wanted left-handed checks they would get them."

TFX Makes Wing Change In Flight

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The controversial TFX biservice fighter plane made aviation history when it successfully changed the position of its variable-sweep wings during an hour flight Wednesday.

The plane's design enables it to have its wings outstretched almost straight for added lift and short takeoffs, then sweep them back to reduce drag for supersonic speeds.

Never before had a plane utilizing the retractable wings performed so well in the effort to solve the problem of incorporating short takeoffs and landings with high speed into a single aircraft.

Pilot R. L. Johnson and copilot Val Prahl flew the TFX, designated the F111 by the Air Force, on its second flight Wednesday to an altitude of 10,000 feet, then moved the wings from their forward position of 16 degrees back to the full swept angle of 72.5 degrees.

This test was at a speed of about 400 knots — approximately 450 miles per hour. Johnson said on the third flight, not yet set, the TFX will attain supersonic speed.

The plane is designed to reach 2.5 times the speed of sound, approximately 1,600 m.p.h.

Johnson said the multipurpose jet cleared its primary hurdles with "one minor exception." He said several minor stability tests could not be performed because at one point the one engine developed a slightly high temperature and erratic fuel flow.

On its maiden flight the TFX pilots experienced trouble with the flaps. This was corrected the next day by General Dynamics engineers.

The second flight was 24 days ahead of the Defense Department's deadline. Frank W. Davis, president of General Dynamics' Fort Worth operation, said the TFX contract was the first to include an incentive and penalty clause. It was learned unofficially that the incentive bonus to General Dynamics will exceed $800,000.

Police Guard Widow After Threat-Calls

DALLAS (AP) — Police are guarding the home of a slain dairy deliveryman whose widow told officers she has received threatening phone calls.

A neighbor said callers threatened Mrs. William Flowers and her teen-age son in reprisal for the arrest of two Negro youths who signed confessions in the shotgun slaying of Flowers during a robbery last Saturday.

Two detectives were sent to the Flowers home after she reported the calls.

Police Chief Jesse Curry said patrol cars in the district had been ordered to make frequent checks for suspicious persons.

"We're going to give her all the help we can," he said.

Curry said precautions were necessary but he did not believe the callers would carry out the threats.

Flowers, 53, was found dead in his delivery truck near Love Field. He had been shot at close range with a shotgun and a pistol.

Fort Worth Woman Shot In Automobile

FORT WORTH (AP) — A bullet killed Mrs. Dave L. Owen, 30, as she sat in a parked car outside a Fort Worth tavern Wednesday night.

About an hour later Sheriff's officers arrested Roy McFarrin, 50, at his home in suburban Smithfield. He was held without immediate charge.

Starting to leave the tavern with Mrs. Owen were her husband, their son, 12, and Mrs. Jaqueline McFarrin, identified by police as the divorced wife of the man taken into custody.

Investigators said McFarrin and his former wife had argued earlier in the day.

Witnesses told police a man stepped to a car window and fired a single shot. The bullet passed through Mrs. Owen's arm and entered her chest.

Anderson Presents 4 Water Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four bills designed to meet the nation's growing water requirements were introduced Wednesday by Sen. Clinton Anderson, D-N. M.

One would authorize a $275 million expansion of the salt and brackish water conversion program.

While no sites or detailed projects are mentioned, the bill is intended to carry out a long range plan outlined recently by President Johnson under which research plants capable of converting up to 50 million gallons of water a day would be constructed.

Existing government-operated research plants can convert only up to 1 million gallons a day.

A second bill, similar to one passed last year by the Senate but which died in the House, would authorize an expanded weather modification research program.

Another bill, also passed by the Senate last year but killed by the House, would authorize the states and the federal government to coordinate river basin planning.

The fourth measure would amend the Water Research Act to permit all colleges to join in carrying on research under government contracts. The law now restricts such research to land grant colleges.

The Hockey Hall of Fame in Toronto has 136 members.

Amarillo Man Killed In Truck Mishap

MIAMI, Tex. (AP) — Robert Boatman, 39, of Amarillo was killed Wednesday when his oil transport truck overturned and exploded on U.S. 60 in this Panhandle town.

Fire destroyed the truck and burned fences and a large area of grass.

Midland Chamber Names Vice President

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP)—Frederick Tyler, 44, has been named executive vice president of the Midland Chamber of Commerce.

He replaces Jim Oxford, who resigned last May. Tyler has been manager of the industrial department of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce.

City Shocked By Death Of Youths

PAYSON, Ariz. (AP) — The 800 residents of Payson, a resort community in the mountains of central Arizona, were trying to go about their normal business today after learning that carbon-monoxide poisoning had been responsible for the deaths of four teen-agers in the city's jail.

Townspeople gathered around the county complex Wednesday, waiting for word of an autopsy in Globe, about 75 miles away.

Dr. Alfred D. Musgrave, Gila County pathologist, ruled that carbon monoxide poisoning was the cause of the deaths, which occurred Tuesday morning.

Authorities today were to continue their inspection of the butane gas heating system in the jail.

The probe was interrupted Wednesday when two investigators were overcome while checking out the heating system.

Sheriff's Deputy Lyman Peace and rescue squadron Director Tom Drake became ill in the jail. They were rushed to Payson Hospital and given oxygen before being released in good condition.

The four youths were arrested Monday for investigation in the theft of some beer. They were placed in the jail on orders of juvenile authorities.

Deputy T. L. Meredith, who found the victims in a cell Tuesday morning, said, "I was never so shocked in my life."

Sheriff Elton R. Jones said he didn't know when an inquest would be held. Justice of the Peace Florence Greer indicated it might be several days.

The dead, all Payson High School students and all described as popular with their classmates, were:

Clifford Greenland, 18, son of a widow who lives in nearby Pine. The mother was hospitalized with shock.

Kenny Haught, 15, whose father runs a television repair shop.

John Watkins, 16, who moved with his parents to Payson two weeks ago.

Blaine Schroeder, 16, son of a greenskeeper at Payson Country Club.

Jones said the four were among seven teen-agers arrested in Payson in the past week in connection with an outbreak of petty crimes. The other three had been released to their parents.

The dead youths, Jones said, had been arrested in connection with the theft of four cases of beer from Strawberry Lodge, a resort near Pine.

The victims were the only jail inmates, Jones said, and were in a cell built to hold 15.

"They accepted the fact that they would have to remain overnight," said Deputy Meredith. "But we told them they would probably be released in the custody of their parents the following morning.

"They were all worried about not being able to go to school."

Youth And Horse Killed By Auto

JONESBORO, Ga. (AP) — A youth and his horse were killed when struck by a car as he attempted to rescue a girl whose horse bolted across a highway.

James Allen Huie and Judy Cash, each 14, were preparing to go horseback riding Wednesday when Judy's horse bolted and ran across the road. James jumped on his horse and followed.

As his horse crossed the highway, it was struck by an auto driven by Charline Starr of Fayetteville.

Police said no charges had been placed against Mrs. Starr, who swerved in an attempt to miss James' horse. Five persons in the auto were slightly injured.

Travel Industry Sees Rosy Year

By GERALD MILLER

ROME (AP) By most indicators 1965 should be a happy year for international tourism. Americans are expected to play a bigger part than ever in the picture — and with a better impact or "image" than they once delivered. A lot of the people who deal with tourists have decided that Americans are pretty good scouts in comparison with some visitors from other countries.

Americans are certainly less conspicuous in their travels than they used to be.

Plenty of Americans who traveled in the early postwar years complained bitterly of questionable food, daily swindles, exasperating tangles with shopkeepers, indifference and even hostility.

Often the complaints were justified. Many countries rocked by the war were in no position to be gracious hosts, even for sorely needed hard currency.

Not many other people could travel. This made Americans stand out.

The great surge of prosperity in many parts of the world has changed this. Now the U.S. tourist is just one among many. People who used to jibe at him are now drinking his drinks, wearing his kind of clothes, copying his music and dances, and generally going wild over automobiles and household appliances.

There is less talk about the loud, brash American who once was a favorite of foreign critics and caricaturists.

The growing number of tourists from other lands has provided perspective.

Tourists other than Americans come in for a share of knocks now — Germans accused of being overbearing, Britons called stuffy and supercilious, Frenchman criticized as demanding and difficult to please, and Swiss censured as grasping and unfriendly.

Tourist specialists call it one of the natural, human side-effects of large-scale commercial travel.

A West German tourism official, Franz F. Schwarzenstein, says Americans are "much liked because they always try to adjust themselves to the local conditions and are keen to get along with the local people."

"If I were a hotelier," comments Akel Carrol, receptionist at New Delhi's largest hotel, "I would wish all my clients could be Americans. They treat you as equals."

Storm Due In Oklahoma Legislature

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Oklahoma's Legislature has laid the groundwork for a stormy session with introduction of measures aimed at impeachment of a state Supreme Court justice and knocking the props from under Gov. Henry Bellmon's program.

One bill in the Senate would provide teachers an across-the-board $1,000 annual pay raise, a proposal backed by the Oklahome education association.

Bellmon, in his $290 million proposed state budget called for an annual teacher salary raise of $800.

Bellmon, a Republican, won a major victory by stalling a move by Democratic senators attacking a key section of his program. Several senators were preparing a resolution to block a $262,000 loan by the Highway Commssion to the Turnpike Authority to finance a feasibility study on new toll roads proposed by the governor.

Senators supporting Bellmon's turnpike plans forced a delay in introduction of the resolution.

In the House, a resolution was introduced calling for the start of impeachment proceedings against Supreme Court Justice Earl Welch, convicted of federal income tax evasion.

Other measures introduced included:

A petition asking Congress to adopt a constitutional amendment to allow legislatures to base membership in one house on factors other than population.

A proposal to abolish the open livestock range in southeast and east Oklahoma.

Oklahoma Motorist Beats Odds Twice

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oklo. (AP) — Motorist Johnny Jackson beat one-in-a-million odds twice.

His wife reported Wednesday he brought home the license plates for their two cars without even looking at them. The numbers were the same as those of their 1964 tags — XB 5263 and XB 5264.

Oklahoma will sell more than a million tags this year.

Yarborough Presents Guadalupe Park Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., introduced a bill Wednesday to create Guadalupe Mountains National Park in West Texas.

The bill, favored by the administration, is similar to one he introduced in the last Congress. It would authorize acquisition of 70,000 acres including Guadalupe Peak, the highest elevation in Texas.

Workers Have Hard Time Filling Bracero's Shoes

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I just can't take it," said a puffing, heavy-set man after three days picking strawberries.

"My back is killing me," the man told a field representative for the California Farm Placement Service. "I want to, but I can't."

He was one of thousands of unemployed domestic laborers trying to fill in for Mexican nationals who had to go home after the Dec. 31 termination of the so-called bracero program.

The field representative's boss, Jack Ward, head of the Southern California office, said: "I may think I could run a railroad, but I can't. Many of these men thought they could harvest crops, but they can't.

"It's darn hard work. Some can do it. Some can't."

Growers have complained about the caliber of the new workers.

Ward's assistants are doing a better job of screening applicants now than they were able to do at the beginning of a crash recruitment program three weeks ago. In at least one area, however, they are not doing well at all.

Four hundred date pickers are needed now for the 4,000-acre crop in Coachella Valley, near Indio. They have been needed for a week. Total recruited to date: zero.

"Date pickers are a special breed," said Ward. "They have to be able to work 40 or 50 feet above ground on ladders or in bosun's chairs without being so scared they hang on with the hands they have to pick the dates with."

The braceros harvested 75 per cent of the dates before they left. There has been virtually no date harvesting since then.

"The situation is critical," Ward said. "Dates aren't as perishable, say, as peaches, but we're going to be in real trouble if we can't find some people in the next couple of weeks."

Lettuce growers in Imperial Valley loudly canceled an order for 1,800 domestic workers in protest of the "poor caliber" of workers referred to them in the first days of the crash program.

Only 18 per cent of the 30,000-acre lettuce crop in Imperial Valley has been harvested.

Hundreds of workers are needed now for pre-harvest, short-handle hoe work in the 2,500-acre melon crop. For the 30,000-acre Southern California navel orange crop, 4,000 workers will be needed in the next three months.

Another 9,000 will be needed for the 42,000-acre lemon crop.

Ward said his fingers were crossed.

Meanwhile, growers want the Mexicans back.
