Ag commissioner blasts incinerators

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower said here Monday that "an ill wind is blowing across the Lone Star state in the form of hazardous waste pollution" and called for a moratorium on all new or expanded commercial hazardous waste incinerators and cement kilns that burn hazardous waste.

Hightower wrote letters to Gov. Bill Clements, Texas Water Commissioner Chairman Buck Wynne III and Dick Whittington, chairman of the Texas Air Quality Control Board, asking for the moratorium.

Hightower made his remarks at the pavilion at Fort Wood. Seventy-five to 100 persons were in attendance.

Backed by a study released by the Texas Department of Agriculture, Hightower cited the potential hazards to Texas agriculture, to rural communities and to the state's natural resources. He also noted that hazardous waste combustion facilities represent a serious threat to public health and safety and that incineration makes the state's hazardous waste problems even worse than they are now.

National Waste & Energy Development, Inc. of Pittsburgh, Pa. has proposed building a hazardous waste facility in Mitchell County.

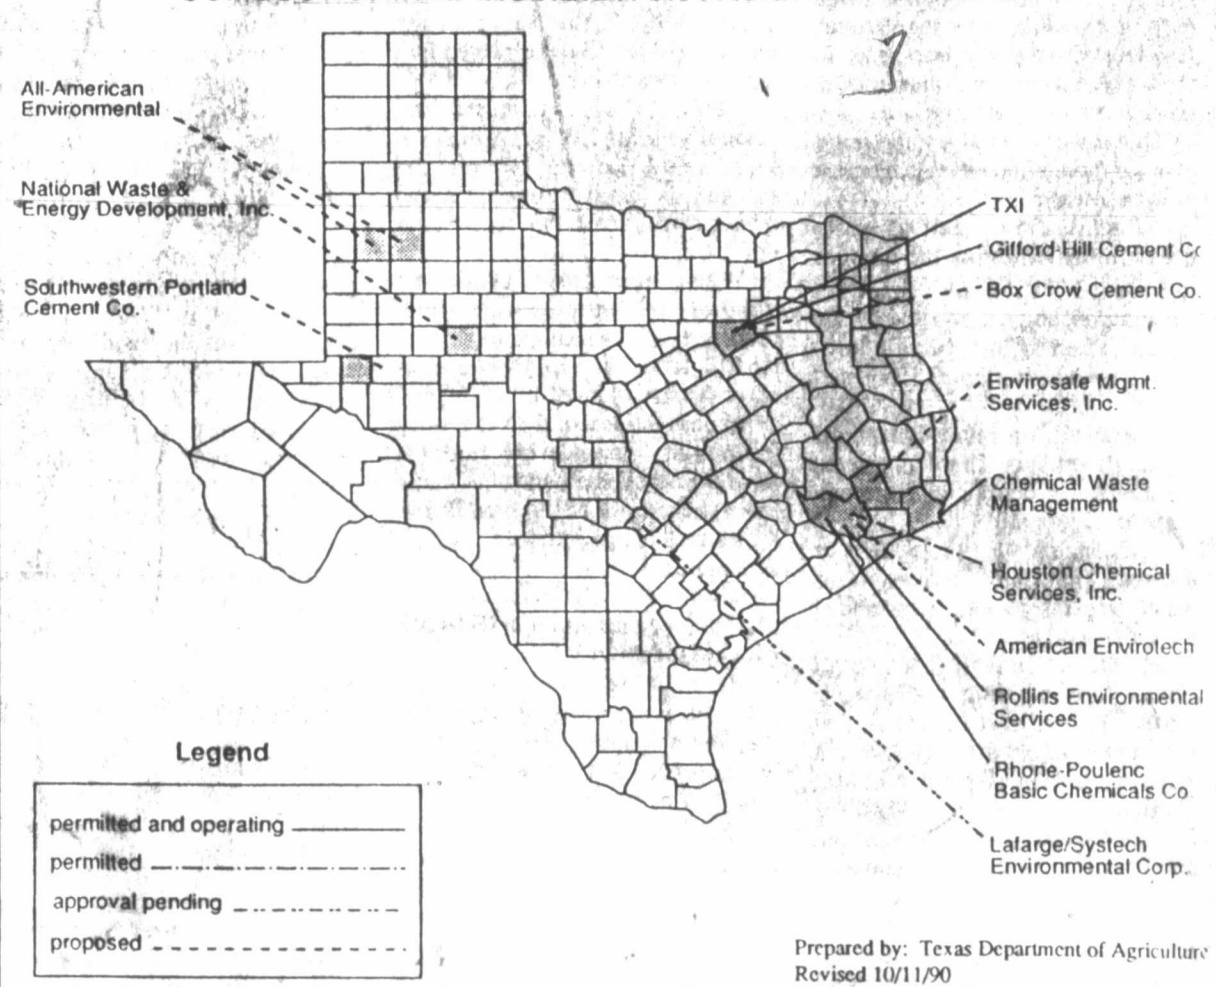

"They're picking on the rural sites," Hightower said, "because they think country folks don't know any better. I say they've got another think coming."

"The bumper stickers say 'Don't Mess With Texas,' but what good does it do to tidy up our litter if our hazardous waste regulatory agencies allow corporate waste-burners to come in and poison our air, land, water and people with hazardous waste - waste they will have trundled in from all over the world?" Hightower asked.

Hightower sounded the hazardous alarm as he visited La Porte, New Braunfels and Midlothian before arriving in Colorado City. They're among at least 14 Texas sites, most of them rural, where facilities are either operating or under consideration. The facilities would burn such toxins as used oils, anti-freeze, freon, paints, plastics, Benzene, lead, mercury, cadmium, arsenic, selenium, pesticides, varnishes, DDT and possibly low-level nuclear waste, he said. As some sites, the ash and dust from these burns would be used for cattle feed, fertilizer and in some building materials.

"And near Colorado City, on land where cattle and cotton prosper, a Pittsburgh, Penn., firm

Homecoming activities scheduled

Homecoming activities at Colorado High School will be highlighted Thursday with a bonfire and Friday with a parade and crowning of a homecoming queen.

Thursday's bonfire will start at 7:15 p.m. at the fair grounds west of town. A caravan will leave from CHS at 6:30 p.m. The public is invited to participate in both events.

Friday's parade will start at 4:30 p.m. and will feature floats, cars and both the high school and middle school marching bands. The parade will begin on Chestnut Street as it makes its way through the downtown area.

A homecoming queen will be crowned Friday night at halftime during the CHS/Kermit football game. Homecoming queen candidates are seniors Liz Garcia, Cynthia Martinez, Tammie Blair, Bridgett Bridgford, Nicole Smith and Amber Mayfield.

A homecoming dance will be held after the football game for all CHS students, exes and their dates. The dance will be held in the Kelley Elementary School cafeteria and will last until 1 a.m.

CARAVAN FOR ANN - State Senator Steve Carriker of Roby, left, addresses a group gathered at Fort Wood Saturday. Carriker, along with Kathy Dickson, wife of State Senator Temple Dickson of Sweetwater, led a caravan of supporters on behalf of Democratic gubernatorial nominee Ann Richards. The group also stopped in Loraine. At right is Mitchell County Democratic chairman Tom Rees.

Preliminary findings at landfill site told

An Austin-based engineering and environmental consulting firm shared its preliminary assessment of a proposed hazardous waste landfill site with members of a Citizens Advisory Committee and other interested persons Tuesday night.

The firm, Jones and Neuse, Inc., has been hired by National Waste & Energy Development, Inc. to assess the site before an application for a permit is submitted.

Jim Cronin of National Waste & Energy, who was at Tuesday night's meeting held in the C.C. Thompson Room, said that the findings from the engineering company are only preliminary and that much more detailed studies will be conducted before the permit application is processed.

Robert Sherrell, a senior geologist with Jones and Neuse, said that he has a background in environmental geology with some 10 years experience.

"We've done a real preliminary site assessment," said Sherrell. He said three borings, each 200-foot in depth, were made at the proposed site in western Mitchell County and that "thick clay packages" were found in each of the borings as well as some sandstone "lenses".

Some water was found in some of the sandstone in one of the borings, he said.

The other two borings did not collect any water during the four days they were left open, he said.

The first boring which had water was about 1200 feet from the second boring.

He said an additional 60-90 borings will be made to "pin down the edges of the sandstone."

Sherrell said no fractures in the sandstone was observed.

Greg Lewis of Jones and Neuse talked about how landfills are constructed and the various parts which are designed to prevent leakage.

"To me, landfills are an ongoing construction project until they are completely filled and capped," he said.

Lewis said that new regulations

Firm hopes to build auto/truck stop

A Houston-based company is proposing to build a SUNMART auto/truck complex at the old Visa truckstop site on West Interstate 20 at Farm Road 1229.

Petroleum Wholesale, Inc. has five existing SUNMART sites in Texas - Georgetown, Hillsboro, Palmer, Robstown and Sequin - and is near completion of facilities in Tulsa, Okla. and on Interstate 10 East in Houston.

In a letter to the Mitchell County Commissioners' Court, Richard Osburn, vice president, and Brent Bergevin said "We respectfully request this distinguished body to support PWI's effort with the voting residents of your constituency, so as to gain the necessary signatures to provide for a wet/dry election and the ultimate granting of an 'off premise' beer and wine license for the proposed SUNMART facility."

They said once a wet/dry election is approved, "PWI would then be committed to build a SUNMART auto/truck complex at the subject site" which is located in voting precinct 7.

"The same high standards attentive to existing SUNMART's would manifest into a modern, well

Rivera wins football contest

Winning first place in the Jackpot Football contest for the weekend of October 12-14, was Sam Rivera.

Rivera was the only contestant to miss five games. C. M. Word was awarded second place by missing six games, but also missing six games was Walt Staats. Word won the tie-breaker because his score was in favor of the Cardinals, and Staats was given third place because his prediction was closer than the other contestants in the tie-breaker. Five other contestants also missed six games.

$25 in Football Bucks will be awarded to Rivera; $15 - to Word; and $10 - Staats.

This week's Jackpot Football contest can be found on page 6.

Official calls press conference to deny accusations

Mitchell County Pct. 3 Commissioner Buddy Hertenberger Monday, responding to rumors about his involvement in signing a host agreement with National Waste & Energy Development which is proposed a hazardous waste facility in Mitchell County, issued the following statement to the local press Monday.

"I am making this statement concerning the hazardous waste incinerator and landfill because I feel it is time to stand up for myself. I am tired of being abused, insulted and accused and just taking whatever is being dished out.

"A Tacit Confession is considered a confession because you failed to deny an accusation.

"Well, here is my denial.

"No one has accused me to my face of being bought off, paid off, given gifts, given money, given vehicles, or anything of value, but the rumors and gossip are out there.

"I have never been offered anything nor have I solicited anything, not even a cup of coffee, in return for signing the host agreement pertaining to the hazardous waste incinerator and landfill.

"The 1988 GMC pickup I am driving seems to have attracted a lot of attention.

"When I bought it - it was two years old. If anyone has the need to see proof, I will gladly show you.

"My father died on Feb. 11, 1988, my father-in-law died on July 16, 1989, and my stepmother died on Aug. 27, 1989. They did not leave much but did leave my wife and me a little. We sold my father-in-law's house and my father's house, my stepmother's car and some household belongings. With the money received from these sales, I purchased the pickup in question.

"I will gladly submit to a lie detector test to verify the statements I have just made.

"If anyone thinks I am bluffing, just name the time and place and let's get on with it.

"I think we have an opportunity to help this county recover from our present economic situation.

"This is the only reason I signed the host agreement.

The other night during the wants to build the largest hazardous waste incinerator this side of the Mississippi," Hightower said. "It would burn 80,000 tons of hazardous waste and oilfield waste a year. It could imperil the food chain and the Colorado River watershed, which provides drinking water to San Angelo and Austin downstream."

"Next year, the Environmental Protection Agency (TPA) will issue important revisions to permitting regulations for hazardous waste incinerators," he said. "The new regulations will be based on the most recent information available on the health and environmental effects of burning hazardous waste."

"So what's the rush?" Hightower asked. "Existing permits will need to be reviewed and updated anyway to comply with the new regulations."

"Of course, it could be that companies are trying to leap through loopholes - loopholes that may be closed by new regulations. Heading off loophole leapers is all the more reason for a moratorium on new permits," he said.

Hightower offered a three-point plan for more effective management of toxic wastes:

- Reduce the amount of waste generate, or minimize the amount generated through product substitution, engineering and design modification of production processes of substitution of input materials.

- Recycle or reuse hazardous materials on site. This has proven economically beneficial for many companies, he said.

- Chemically, biologically or thermally destroy homogenous waste streams on site, where they are generated.

Hightower said that people all Texas "are standing up to these outfits. Texans have looked behind the innocent-sounding names, like All American Environmental Corporation and National Waste & Energy Development Corporation, and found imposters. City councils in New Braunfels and La Porte have found their so-called 'economic development' plans are actually rip-off schemes of economic and environmental destruction."

lighted combination convenience store and full service restaurant with sit down seating for over 140 diners," they said. "In addition to the above, this SUNMART will provide clean restrooms, hot and cold deli, pay phones, fax machine, copy machine, video games, laundry facilities, TV lounge, showers, truck scale and ample parking."

"Specifically, this SUNMART Travel Plaza would operate from an approximate 6,000 square foot building improvement with 35-50 full-time employees recruited from the local labor pool," they said. "The sales generated via fuel, merchandise, restaurant and convenience store stock will contribute significantly to local tax revenue, and the complex will become an area hub which can be a source of pride to us all."

covering municipal landfills are forcing many Texas cities to close their landfills because they cannot afford to comply with the more strict regulations.

Lewis said there are three basic concepts regarding landfills - (1) municipal, (2) industrial non-hazardous and (3) hazardous.

There are also three components to landfills - (1) liner system, (2) cap system and (3) monitoring system.

Lewis said all landfills will be required to have liners and the kinds and types of liners will vary depending upon the site and upon what type of waste is to be landfilled.

He said a collection system will be along the entire bottom of the landfill to collect any water that might seep through the waste. The water is then treated and placed back in the landfill.

He said that the more common hazardous wastes require incineration and it's the ash from the incineration that will be placed in a hazardous waste landfill.

"The whole purpose of designing a landfill is to make it safe," said Lewis. "If all the safeguards break down, it's the owner's responsibility to clean it up."

When questioned about the number of monitoring wells required of a hazardous waste landfill, he said the number depends upon the size of landfill.

Cronin stressed that the only preliminary engineering findings have been collected and that many more studies will be required before a permit application can be submitted.

Cronin said that his company plans to open an office in Colorado City around Nov. 1.

He said questions about the proposed project are important and that "we will answer every question we can, as fast as we can, as truthfully as we can."

Cronin said that the permit application will detail many of the questions asked about the proposed facility, but until more studies are conducted, some of those questions cannot be answered.

He said his company has two sections of land under contract on which to build the facility. He also said that no county money will be required to build access roads to the site.

meeting with the Texas Water Quality people it was brought out that rescinding the host agreement would not have any bearing in granting or denying a permit.

"Folks, I have laid my life on the line many times in the past 30-odd years protecting you and yours. I have arrested people for murder-rape-armed robbery-jail break-and nearly anything else you can think of. I have been in a terrible shoot-out that left one of my dear friends wounded and horribly maimed. Three people died in that incident."

"I've been looking out for you and yours for 33 years and I'm still looking out for you and yours."

"I am just asking you to consider my record."

"I want to say this so it will be perfectly understood."

"I respect the people that are concerned about this hazardous waste incinerator and landfill - the questions that are being asked, need to be asked."

"I think that it all boils down to is that some people do not trust any regulatory authority, including the Environmental Protection Agency, Texas Water Quality Board, Texas Department of Health, Texas Parks and Wildlife, Texas Department of Public Safety, Texas Railroad Commission and most folks in government."

"The fact is, I do trust these people. I think they will enforce the laws. I will visit with anyone about the concerns pertaining to the hazardous waste incinerator-landfill, as long as they show me the same respect as I show them. I will answer any question."

"I am not doing this out of retribution nor am I doing this out of disrespect. I just feel like it is time to speak my piece," he said.

Citizens' group hopes campaign will ease landfill overloading

AMARILLO - A citizens' campaign launched here to avoid overloading a public landfill is expected to spread to scores of Texas communities this fall.

Called the Leaf Management Plan, the program encourages citizens to dispose of fall leaves in ways other than by sacking them up and taking them to the dump.

The initiative is a new part of the popular "Don't Bag It" educational program of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Don't Bag It" has won national acclaim for conserving dwindling landfill space by encouraging citizens to leave grass clippings on their lawns instead of bagging them for garbage pickup. More than 100 communities are expected to participate in some part of the program in the coming year.

The leaf program drew a rousing sendoff for more than 250 persons on hand at the Amarillo Garden Center (Sept. 26).

"We in Texas really do have a solid waste crisis," Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro told the crowd. Mauro oversees the management of more than 20 million acres of public land, which includes many landfills for local governments.

"Every one of us is producing 3 pounds of garbage a day," Mauro said. "Existing landfills are stretched beyond their capacities. New federal regulations mean that many, if not most, Texas landfills will have to be closed due to dangers to the environment."

On average, grass, shrubbery clippings and leaves from yards comprise 20 percent of the waste going into landfills, said Dr. Bill Knoop, Extension Service turf grass specialist at Dallas.

"Leaves create a massive amount of solid waste in the fall," he said. "The big problem with leaf disposal is that leaf drop peaks at one time. All of a sudden, a freeze comes and all the leaves drop almost at once. Then we have a mountain of leaves to go to the landfill." Plastic bags of leaves buried in a landfill don't decompose rapidly.

The leaf management program explains how residents can easily mow the fallen leaves and turn them into mulch or compost to improve their lawns, shrubs and gardens. Program information is available from county Extension Service offices.

"When we make beneficial use of our fallen leaves in our family landscaping and gardening, we relieve the strain on our landfills and city sanitation departments," Mauro said.

He commended the Extension Service, the Amarillo Garden Center, the Keep Amarillo Beautiful organization and the Panhandle Regional Solid Waste Advisory Committee "for organizing this important initiative."

"Don't Bag It" programs are central to saving valuable landfill space and municipal staff costs, Mauro said.

"What's most important is that it's an instance where each one of us can make a difference," he said. "We're going to solve our environmental problems the same way we got to where we are: A little bit at a time."

The "Don't Bag It" lawn care program was launched last year in Fort Worth and this summer in Amarillo and elsewhere. It is a scientifically based plan of fertilization, watering and mowing that returns clippings and shredded leaves to the lawn as nutrients rather than being bagged and hauled to the dump.

More than 200 Fort Worth residents were program demonstrators. More than 50 Amarillo homeowners participated this year, said Potter County Extension Agent Jim Smith.

Knoop said Potter County was chosen to initiate the leaf management effort because the Panhandle is usually the first part of the state to experience freezing weather and leaf drop. Amarillo Mayor Keith Adams and Tom Patterson, president of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, both endorsed the effort.

ARTS AND CRAFTS - Browsing through one of the booths at the Railroad Arts and Crafts Fair this past weekend were Mrs. Kathy Ritchey and her children. The annual event drew a good crowd at the county ag barns. They are shown in the booth judged best decorated. The booth was entered by Debbie Bassinger of Big Spring who received $50 for the award. There were 47 booths in all.

Why have my carpet professionally cleaned?

Here's just two reasons:

FIRST, clean carpet lasts longer. Soil, dirt, and particulates in a carpet act like sandpaper upon carpet fibers. They pit the carpet, break down its resiliency, make it easier to stain. Cleaning the carpet extends the carpet investment.

SECOND, carpet filters dirt, grease, pollutants, bacteria, odors and allergens right out of the air. It's a collection center. All of these contribute to an unhealthy indoor environment. These can be removed through proper carpet cleaning.

Letters to the Editor

TO THE EDITOR and all who read the Colorado Record:

To begin with I would like to say that this is the first letter I have ever written to a newspaper and will probably be the last, but have just finished listening to a tape of Buddy Hertenberger's statements made to a news conference this A.M.

I know very little about EPA, the Water Control Board or landfills or incinerators, but I do know Buddy Hertenberger and have known him ever since he moved to our town about 30 years ago. I can truthfully say that I have never known him to be anything but the fairest, most competent and upstanding person that an individual could be. I talked to Buddy in regards to the incinerator deal and I believe personally that if it wasn't a good thing for our community that he and the commissioners court would certainly not have anything to do with it.

I have always thought that a person had every right in the world to speak his piece if he thought he was right, even though I might not agree with him. But there has been a lot of bad things said over this deal that I personally think should not have been said in the manner they were spoken. I, speaking for only myself, hope that the commissioners court pursues this thing to the end, however it turns out. Because if Buddy Hertenberger thinks that is the thing to do, then as far as I am concerned, it should be done. I only wish that myself and mine could be held in one-half as high esteem as Buddy and his family should be held by the community. Thank you, Mr. Editor, for letting me speak my mind, if this is published in your paper.

Sincerely,
Pete Warren

Disappointed in county government

TO THE EDITOR: I attended the public meeting on Tuesday night in which the Texas Water Commission explained the permitting process for Hazardous and Municipal Landfills. I was very disappointed in my county government officials. I found it surprising that none of the commissioners, city council, persons in favor of the Hazardous Waste Landfill, or the persons pushing to get this in our county, had not ONE QUESTION for the panel. NOT ONE! Do they not have any concerns about this or were they not intelligent enough to stand up and ask some questions? Do they know everything there is to know about this subject? I can see both sides of this issue. I CAN see the city's concern over our present landfill situation and the position they are in and I also see some realistic risks and problems with having this in our county. This was an opportunity to see a more united effort from the community to voice not only opposition, but concern, about the issues of this proposal.

I saw NO CONCERN at all from the supporters of the proposed Hazardous Waste Landfill. I saw them get up and stand outside during the discussion. There was lots of scoffing going on at the people who were concerned.

Tuesday night showed me how concerned our officials are for us and our community. I am disappointed that they signed an agreement and are investigating it later. Now they are thinking about it and what could happen, but it is going to be too late to stop it if they come to a different conclusion. This is why our county is in the shape it is in!

Concerned citizen
D'Dee Morris

NOTE: Mitchell County Judge Mac Morris, on behalf of the commissioners' court, offers the following in response to Mrs. Morris' letter.

"First and foremost, the questions being asked were good, valid questions, asked by concerned citizens. Secondly, much of the information given at the meeting, had been furnished to your commissioners' court in earlier meetings or in printed form, so we have had previous access to most of the material. This information was available to the public upon request, and the Commissioners' Court availed themselves of this and then took the time to study it thoroughly.

"Our failure to ask questions certainly is not because of our lack of concern, as we are absolutely concerned about each and every aspect of this project. This fact is evidenced by the many hours that we have spent in meetings and studying this project.

"As to the Community Host Agreement that we signed in March, the TWC people made it very clear in their answers that they do not recognize the agreement one way or the other. Most counties or cities that have a facility such as this do not have a Host Agreement, therefore they do not receive any fees other than property taxes. By signing this agreement, we insured that, if this facility is ever permitted and constructed, Mitchell County will receive free trash disposal privileges plus fees from its operations."

Bulldogs beat Trent, 21-14

On Homecoming '90 for the Loraine Bulldogs, October 12, Michi Atkins and Anthony Williams were honored during half-time ceremonies, but the real action was the Bulldogs close defeat to the Trent Gorillas, 21-14, in the first game of district action.

Two second half scores for the Bulldogs was not quite enough as turnovers and a couple of costly breakdowns were the key factors in Friday night's defeat.

As the Bulldogs went into the dressing room at half-time, the Gorillas were only leading 14-0.

Knowing they had a chance to come alive, the tough Bulldog intensity began to engulf the atmosphere as James Lopez made an outstanding catch in the end-zone over a Trent defender to get the Bulldogs on the scoreboard.

With that score, Loraine's offense got rolling by moving the ball at will, and in the fourth quarter, Jason Shy received a near perfect pass from Anthony Williams which was good for a 69 yard touchdown, 21-14.

Although that would be all the points that the Bulldog offense could score, Coach Bob Loy was not displeased with the effort and courage his athletes displayed, "I thought we played well. We couldn't have asked more from the defense."

In a brief recap of the game, Loraine fumbled the ball on the Gorilla five and had one touchdown called back on a penalty. The Bulldogs also suffered turnovers. A fumble on their own side of the field and an interception that stopped a potential scoring drive.

The Bulldogs will play Hermleigh this Friday in the second game of District 6. Hermleigh was defeated by Borden County 43-13 last weekend.

"Hermleigh has three running backs that we'll have to control," said Loy. "It's going to be a another close game."

In the other district game, Ira defeated Highland by a score of 46-0. Current records of the district are Trent 1-0; Ira 1-0; Borden County 1-0; Loraine 0-1; Hermleigh 0-1; and Highland 0-1.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has filed an application with the Texas Public Utility Commission to introduce two experimental services called Call Forwarding - Busy Line and Call Forwarding - Don't Answer.

Call Forwarding - Busy Line and Call Forwarding - Don't Answer are optional call management services that will automatically forward a customer's incoming calls to a pre-designated number whenever that incoming call encounters a busy or don't answer condition. These services are for both business and residence customers. The company proposes that the services be available beginning November 19, 1990.

The monthly rates for Call Forwarding - Busy Line and Call Forwarding - Don't Answer are $1.00 for residence customers and $3.00 for business customers. The monthly rate for subscribing to both services is $1.75 for residence customers and $4.00 for business customers. During this experimental offering period the installation charges will be waived.

Call Forwarding - Busy Line and Call Forwarding - Don't Answer are expected to generate first-year revenues of approximately $752,000.

Call Forwarding - Busy Line and Call Forwarding - Don't Answer will be offered on an experimental basis in selected areas throughout the state for 12 months. The availability of these services after that time will depend on Southwestern Bell's decision of whether to offer the services on a permanent basis.

Persons wishing to comment on these services should notify the commission by November 9, 1990. Requests for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757, or you may call the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256 or (512) 458-0221, teletypewriter for the deaf.

Real friends are those who, when you've made a fool of yourself, don't feel that you've done a permanent job.

This is the day which the Lord hath made. We will rejoice and be glad in it. Psalms 11:23.

James Meadows and his family visited his parents on Sunday and attended church with his mother Nina Meadows. I believe they live in Merkel.

I understand Mrs. Mary Agness Meadows is not doing so well. We wish her a nice recovery and may she soon feel better.

I'd like to tell the school that we enjoyed the pep rally and bon fire very much. Someone put a lot into it, even the jingle was real cute. We also enjoyed homecoming and all its festivities.

It is always a thrill to see the young high school kids helping out.

My friend Betty commented on how much they helped out getting the crowd fed, etc.

Our football team looked much better Friday night. We don't ask that you always win just give it your best and we will appreciate that.

Our junior high team is really beat up with a broken foot, a broken finger and then Michael got his head cut open. It may not be very bad but with all the blood he looked bad. Maybe you guys can soon be back playing.

Lester and Lela Richburg met their daughter and son-in-law in Post last Saturday and had lunch with them. It was Pat and David's treat since it was the Richburg wedding anniversary. It happened to be Founders Day in Post and they looked at arts and crafts about two hours, then came home. They said they really enjoyed the day. David and Pat Smith live at Hart, Texas.

Saw Betty Johnson at Homecoming. She is just as pretty as ever. You will remember her as Mrs. Dock Given's daughter and Prissy Thompson's older sister. It was good seeing her.

Hey, Henry, you missed fire practice Monday night and tell Brad he did too.

Last week I told you I was old and slow, but my friend Charles says 'taint so, tell those people the truth. He says that you are getting lazier and lazier and more laid-back. Okay Charlie you just wait and watch I'll get you yet.

Charles Bowen is the husband of my good friend Mary Rose Templeton Bowen.

If you haven't heard about it, there will be a bridal shower for our own Bonnie Herrington at the Methodist Church in Loraine October 20 at 2 p.m.

Saw Donald Graham and his two good looking sons at the ball game Saturday night. Doug lives over at the lake. He had his wife with him but Grandma Doris stayed home with the grandson.

Don lives in Dalhart and is a highway patrolman. Watch out for him if you are going north to the Panhandle.

Also Danny Cain and wife were in town for the game Friday night. Also here were Billie J. and Barbara from Georgia. Several came from California, Sweetie McCollum from Colorado, Jean Kidd Hale from Austin and many more.

Bob and Lavern Chalker were here from Colorado City and Janell Moore from Andrews visited their mother and attended festivities Friday night and Saturday.

The 50 year class got together with a good number but I have more on that elsewhere.

The 30 year class had our program. They ain't learned nothing all these years, no just joking.

They did several silly and cute skits that were entertaining.

One of their group Bessie Miles Wellingham was selected coming home queen by those attending. She lives in California. Billie J. Long was the master in charge and read the class prophesy from 30 years ago. Some came true but some didn't. You know, I strongly suspect it had been rewritten to suit the occasion.

Billie ended on this note. He said "none of our class is dead, we all have a job and make a living and none of us are in prison." I thought that was a good record.

I saw lots of others who had come home but I don't have space enough for all their names. Several states were represented.

You should have seen Kay Nell Pauline Cornutt and Jean Kidd in their circular skirts, can-can petty coats and bobby socks. They had fun with their dancing and we enjoyed them. One of the Wellingham boys played Elvis and these ladies were his fans.

Saw Marie Reader Watson, the McCollum boys, Dr. and Mrs. Tim G. Faulkenberry and her mother, Mrs. Earl Browne and believe me she sure is young looking.

There are many, many more but I don't have enough paper space for all of this. I have never been limited but I fear some people would just as soon I didn't take all the space.

The Stanley Moore family has bought a house in Colorado City and moved there. We didn't want to lose them but they moved any way, so we'll have to wish them good luck whether we mean it or not. The best to your guys.

Wendel Cranfil visited his aunt Nannie Hallmark, on Monday of last week. He lives in Lubbock.

Dale Yarbrough of Nolan visited Miss Nannie on Saturday morning.

Ronald and Nelda Bruce visited in Lubbock over the weekend with Leslie and family, and especially enjoyed the grandson Ryan.

Eldie Bryant, her daughter and son-in-law, Glen and Doris Camp from Dallas visited in the Effie Wheeler home from Thursday until Monday.

Eldie wanted to attend the Union Chapel Zeelner Lone Star Reunion.

Other out of town guests visiting in the Wheeler home during Eldie's visit were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Adrin of Petersburg, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Herm of Ackerly, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Richburg and daughter of Tuscola, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Richburg of Sweetwater, Nola Taylor and Juanice Wilkenson of Sweetwater.

Also Margaret Vaughn of Anchorage, Alaska. Local relatives also dropped in.

Eldie, who had lived in Loraine the past seven years now lives with her daughter in Dallas.

The Caanan Baptist Church of Loraine extends a special invitation to all who would like to come and help them celebrate their Seventh Gospel Annual Chouras. This will be November 11 at 3 p.m.

The pastor is Rev. H. S. Reddic; president, sister Mildred Rose; directors, Sister E. L. Rose. If you enjoy good singing you won't want to miss this. Dinner will be served after service.

Also ministers from Colorado City, Snyder and Sweetwater have been invited. They are looking for a big crowd, so please try to attend.

Paul Barron was elected president of the Lone Star group for their reunion two years from now. This also includes the other schools that have been involved.

Roland Graham will be president of the LHS reunion next year and Jennifer Zuniga was elected secretary.

Mrs. Atkins surprised with birthday luncheon

A surprise birthday luncheon was given for Verna Mae Atkins by her children and grandchildren. Joel Ray Atkins and family of Loraine; Oscar and family; Eugene and son Ruthie Griffin and Shirley Atkins, all of Fort Worth celebrated her 69th birthday.

There were 75 guests present. Among them were two sisters, Clara Wesley of Cameron and Rose Ella Smith of Loraine, cousins, nieces and nephews and friends from Abilene, Colorado City, Loraine Hobbs, New Mexico and Sweetwater.

The menu consisted of barbecue chicken, brisket and sausage and all the trimmings. The table was laid in pink and white with a birthday cake.

Ruthie Mae Griffin wrote a poem to her mother entitled "My Hero. Verna says it was real good.

1940 graduates honored

Smith, Anderson re-elected directors

D.M. Smith and Warren Anderson were recently re-elected to the Mitchell Soil and Water Conservation board of directors. Smith represents Zone 1 of the district while Anderson represents Zone 2.

The purpose of the Mitchell Soil and Water Conservation District, with offices located in the G-Kell building in Colorado City, is to promote sound soil and water conservation programs on farm and ranch lands within the district and to serve as a voice for farmers and ranchers on conservation matters.

The board of directors coordinates the conservation efforts of various local, state and federal agencies and other organizations and has authority to enter into working agreements with these governmental agencies and private concerns to carry out its purposes.

As two of five individuals serving on the district board of directors, Smith and Anderson will be responsible for district policies and procedures for carrying out the district program within the framework of the Texas Soil and Conservation District law.

In Texas there are 210 soil and water conservation districts. Each is a legal subdivision of state government organized by local agricultural landowners with the assistance of the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board. Unlike most other legal subdivisions of state government, SWCD's do not have the powers of taxation or eminent domain. All conservation programs managed by the districts are of a voluntary nature to the landowners or operator. For assistance, go by the SCS office located in the G-Kell building or call 728-3473.

Local homemakers attend state confab

Homemakers from across Texas gathered at the Amarillo Civic Center Oct. 2-4 for the 1990 Texas Extension Homemakers Association State Convention.

Teressa Loving, Brown County and County TEHA Chairman Nelma Ritchey attended as delegates from the local extension homemakers clubs. Other local extension homemakers who attended were Fern Thompson, Louella Hall and Margaret Brame.

Dr. Jennie C. Kitching, assistant director for home economics, spoke to those assembled on Tuesday night.

The keynote address was given on Wednesday morning by Barbby Fairbanks Eide of Professional Publications. She spoke on "Volunteerism and the Butterfly Effect."

Delegate sessions were held on Wednesday afternoon. They covered "What Can You Accomplish with a Resolution?", "Literacy: The Situation; Extension Homemakers: The Solution" and "Associated Country Women of the World/Our World Association."

While delegates attended their work sessions, others watched demonstrations on Home Based Business, Body Recall and Festive Breads.

Wednesday evening, TEHA directors gave reports on the activities of the extension homemakers in their area this past year. Speaker Jan Roper then showed the group how to get through the tough times by "Laughing Through Life's Stages".

State Program of Work committee chairmen presented workshops on Thursday morning. They covered subjects on recycling, how to lead a group, how to find what your rights are in a given situation, and other timely information. Delegates who attended these workshops will carry the information back to their counties. EH clubs will present programs in these areas next year.

Any one interested in attending an EH club meeting may find out when and where they are meeting by contacting County Extension Agent Dana Davenport at 728-3111.

CHS student council has busy year

BIONIC - an acronym for "Believe It or Not I Care" - is the 1990-91 theme adopted by the Colorado High School Student Council. The members of the council work to make everyone at CHS care about themselves and about all aspects of school life.

Homecoming week is very busy for the CHS Student Council. The members are busy planning the bonfire, parade, halftime activities and homecoming dance.

The CHS Student Council officers began planning for the 1990-91 school year last April when they attended the Texas Association of Student Council state convention in Austin. The newly elected officers attended workshops and discussion groups to learn new ideas to bring back to CHS. In addition, they and three of the council members, senior representative Tammie Blair, and junior representatives Krista Moore and Tracy Hoover, spent one week at the TASC summer workshop at Angelo State University where they learned leadership techniques and continued the work that they began in Austin. These students were a very enthusiastic and hard working group. On Aug. 17, the entire council participated in a lock-in to plan goals and activities and to learn some of the leadership activities from the summer workshop.

Council members must maintain a passing average in all classes and must obtain a set number of points each six weeks to remain on the council. Many local and state sponsored activities are planned for this year. The CHS Student Council also is working toward recognition as an outstanding student council in Texas. State projects, such as safety and alcohol and drug awareness projects will be completed throughout the year. Local projects include homecoming activities, recognition of students and teacher of the month, secret pals with teachers at Christmas, dances and sponsor of the multimedia motivational program "Heart and Sole" in January and the "Wall of Fame" which spotlights outstanding students at school. In March the members will attend the TASC District VIII convention in Odessa. District VIII officers for 1990-91 are Monahans, president; Forsan, vice president; Big Spring, secretary-treasurer; and San Angelo Central, parliamentarian.
