Construction Of New School Buildings Authorized Here

Sites For Two Structures To Be Purchased

Architects Will Start Work At Once On Plans; Federal Grants Are Being Sought

THE board of trustees for the Lubbock Independent School district Tuesday night authorized school officials to exercise options to purchase sites for two new school buildings.

The board authorized the purchase of block 5, Delmar addition, for a school site in the southwest section of Lubbock. The tract, 805 feet east and west and approximately 400 feet north and south, is in the 2700- and 2800-blocks between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth streets.

Other Sites Authorized

It also authorized purchase of blocks 7 and 10 in the Robinson addition between Twenty - ninth and Thirtieth streets and between Avenues L and N. The tract will be 475 by 640 feet.

Options had been obtained on the tracts and will be exercised immediately, according to authorizations made by the board in meeting Tuesday night.

It was announced that no site had been secured for a new building in the northwest part of town.

Members of the board attending were Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, president; R. F. Bayless, W. B. Atkins, Dr. Allen T. Stewart, Walter G. Alderson, and E. J. Parsons.

Plans To Be Made

The board ordered the building committee to instruct architects to start making plans immediately for construction of buildings.

The building committee was ordered by the board to make plans to start the first building and make arrangements with the hope that federal grants will be made to supplement funds obtained from bond issues recently voted.

Plans will be made to hold the building program within limits of the school's funds for building, but also will be arranged so that the federal funds can be used, if obtained.

To Get New Uniforms

Plans were worked out at the meeting for the board and the athletic association to "see that the senior high school band gets new uniforms."

The uniforms will be obtained as soon as bids can be received and the types of uniforms decided upon.

Democrats And Farley Confer

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 29—The people in the nation's states and cities, James A. Farley said today, "resent outside interference" in their political affairs.

The chairman of the Democratic national committee so informed reporters during a recess in his round of private conferences with western leaders of the party.

Hands Off Attitude

He made the statement in defining his "hands off" attitude toward the Democratic mayoralty primary here next February, when asked if he would take a hand in the selection of a candidate.

Farley, who invited Democratic chieftains of Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan and all states west of the Mississippi river to share counsel with him on his two-day visit here, received the various state delegations separately.

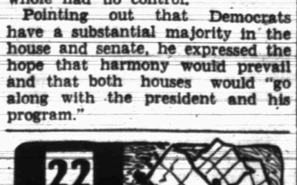

At a luncheon, Farley urged them to "do everything possible to bring about victory in 1940." He opined "strong opposition" would make the contest "interesting" and added:

Take Stock At Home

"It may be time to take stock at home and put the organization in order for the next campaign."

Some of the losses in the recent elections, he said, could be blamed upon overconfidence and local situations over which the party as a whole had no control.

Pointing out that Democrats have a substantial majority in the house and senate, he expressed the hope that harmony would prevail and that both houses would "go along with the president and his program."

Great Victory In 1940 Seen By GOP Heads

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 — Amid enthusiastic predictions of a great victory in 1940, the Republican national committee today postponed a showdown between its liberal and conservative elements.

Meeting for the first time since the recent election, the committee received optimistic reports from state after state and warnings as well that the party will "need recruits" if its presidential candidate is to be elected two years hence.

Controversy Blocked

But, the controversy between the committee's conservative faction and those who insist that the party emphasis must be placed upon liberalism was not permitted to come to the floor.

However, an arrangement was worked out whereby the executive committee's two vacancies went to former Senator Daniel O. Hastings of Delaware, long allied with the conservative group, and Harvey Jewett, jr., of South Dakota, on whose behalf claims of liberalism have been advanced.

Ignored was Kenneth F. Simpson, young committee-member from New York, leader of Thomas E. Dewey's recent campaign for the governorship and the most outspoken of those who insist that the party take a liberal direction.

Might As Well Fold Up

Simpson arrived at the Carlton hotel, scene of the meeting, with a statement to reporters that if the party is to be "under the domination of Mr. Hoover, the Liberty League or some other reactionary influences" it "might as well fold up."

Simpson's friends were backing him for a place on the executive committee, and it has been customary to give his state such representation. But, under an obvious prearrangement, his name was not even placed in nomination.

As a result of the election of Hastings and Jewett, in the opinion of political observers, the conservative wing of the party held its own and perhaps more. Certainly, these observers saw no signs that the liberals had made any gains. Hastings, as a member of the senate from Delaware, the state of the Du Ponts, was an arch-anti-New Dealer and defender of business.

Part Of Blind Man's Eye Is Bringing Sight To Woman

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 29. (AP) — Part of a blind man's eye today brought sight to a woman for the first time in 16 years even before the delicate operation of transplanting the corena was completed.

"I can see your hand" exclaimed Mrs. Mary Lee Bode while the surgeon stitched in place the corena from the eye of Tony De Los Santos.

The surgeon, who declined to permit his identity to be made public, was reluctant to term the operation a success immediately.

The bandage will remain over the eye for three days," he said, adding the final result was "in the lap of the gods" with a "50-50" chance for success.

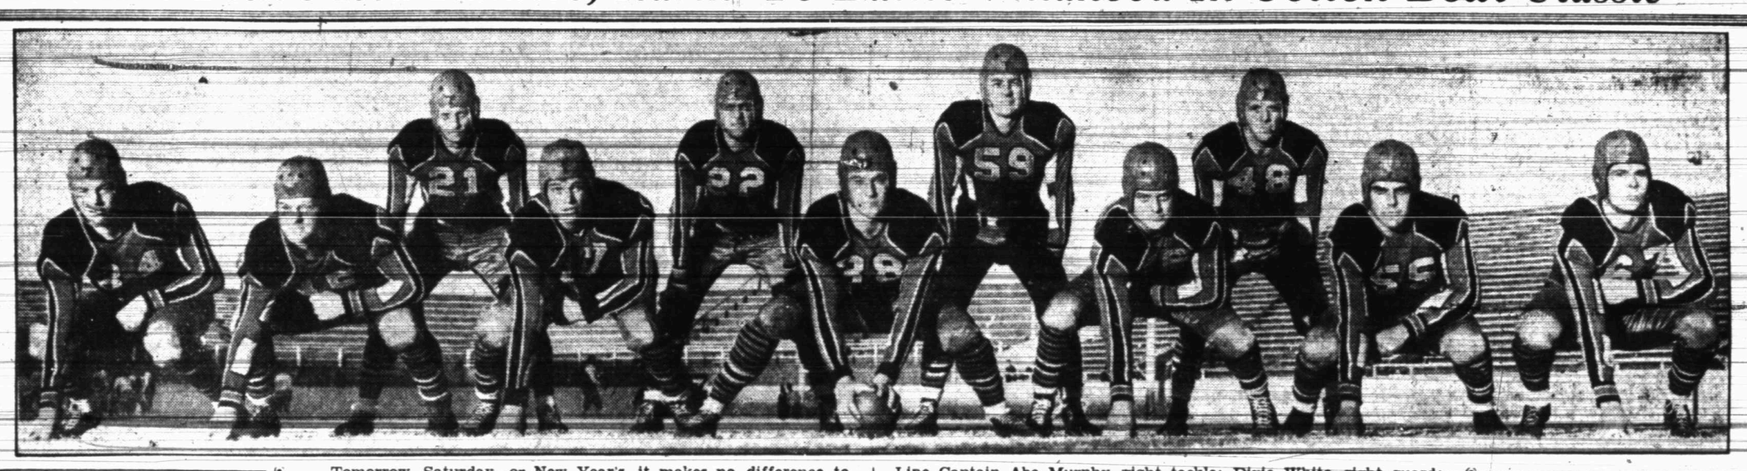

Fire Sweeps Two States As Old Latex Store Burns

MARSHALL, Nov. 29. (AP) — Fire swept two states today when the general mercantile store of J. N. Morgan at Old Latex, which straddles the Louisiana-Texas line, was levelled.

The place was unique in that one half of it was wet—the Louisiana half—and the other was dry. The west half of the store was in Harrison county, Texas; the east side in Caddo parish, Louisiana.

When one got thirsty—it was just a step to the Louisiana soil.

Transport Ship Is Battered To Bits By Waves

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29—Five people were drowned and two escaped alive today when a heavy surf battered their land transport plane to bits in the "graveyard of the Pacific."

Coast guardsmen abandoned hope of finding alive any of the five persons missing in the strange aerial tragedy variously attributed to gales and to radio reception which was so good it was confusing. A day-long search by air, land and water was called off without recovering a single body.

The victims disappeared, one by one, after the United Airlines Seattle - San Francisco transport was brought down safely on the water shortly before dawn 35 miles north of San Francisco, when the fuel became exhausted.

Swept Back Into Surf

Three were known to have reached shore, but one of them, the lone woman aboard, was swept back into the boiling surf when she dodged the swinging wing of the plane.

The only known survivors were Charles Stead, veteran 42-year-old pilot, and passenger Isadore Edelstein, 51, a paroled Washington state convict on his way to Honolulu to start life anew.

Missing after a day-long search by plane and boat were:

Highest Livestock Award Of Show Is Won By Young Girl

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 29—The highest livestock award of the International Livestock exposition was won today by a 14-year-old high school girl with an Aberdeen-Angus steer she bought last January 1 for $60.

Competing against some of the country's outstanding livestock breeders, Irene Brown of Aledo, Ill., led Mercer, her 21-months-old jet black, 1,133 pound steer into the ring, and after critical examination William J. Cumber, expert livestock judge, selected her entry the grand champion steer of the show.

Was 4-H Club Project

Thus, a steer that weighed 550 pounds when Miss Brown bought him and was as a 4-H club project, was elevated to livestock stardom, and it was the first time a 4-H club girl had won the award.

Master of Oklahoma, another Aberdeen-Angus steer, exhibited by Oklahoma A. and M., college, was selected the reserve grand champion.

Mercer's reign as grand champion will be brief. Thursday he will go on the auction block to be knocked down to the highest bidder. Miss Brown will receive a handsome sum for him. Last year's grand champion steer brought $2.35 a pound.

Miss Brown, youngest of six children, expects to use the money she

Washington Co-Eds Rebel As Varsity Ball Committee Votes Ban On Strapless Gowns

(By The Associated Press)

SEATTLE, Nov. 29.—The University of Washington "varsity ball" committee banned strapless evening gowns today as "immodest."

"If any girl appears at the ball Friday night in one of those terrific creations," warned Chairman Larry McIntosh, "the committee at the door will see she dons a pair of old-fashion suspenders."

Reaction was immediate. Miss Dorothy Seaman announced she would wear a strapless gown Friday night and added:

"I'd like to see anyone make us wear suspenders. It would be a better idea for McIntosh to stand at the door with a box of garters for all men who come to the dance with their socks dangling."

Propaganda For United States Is Announced

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 — A $1,000,000-a-year program, designed to draw the American republics closer together and help checkmate any inroads of totalitarianism, was announced tonight by a committee of government leaders.

It was regarded as a sweeping reply to the challenge of European efforts to invade Latin America with political, cultural and economic philosophies of old world dictatorship.

Steps Are Suggested

Among steps suggested were these:

The dispatch of many American cultural groups to sister republics in the western hemisphere; training of Latin American scholars and technicians in government branches here; cooperation in radio, aviation and highway development; a study of Latin American resources and possibilities; distribution of American literature and state documents in Latin America; display of American films in Latin America, and a film on Latin America in this country; public health service cooperation; and stimulation of American travel in countries to the south.

The program covered 74 separate proposals, all non-military. It was made public by the inter-departmental committee on cooperation with the American republics in a report to President Roosevelt.

Welles Was Chairman

Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles was chairman of the committee which recommended a budget of $998,804 for the first fiscal year. This money would be allocated to 13 government departments and agencies for their widespread activities which would be coordinated by the state department.

The committee made clear that its program contemplates the voluntary cooperation of the other republics, but that no compulsion was implied.

Phantom Thief Almost Nabbed

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29 — The "phantom burglar" who has robbed almost a score of movie celebrities' homes—of jewels and furs valued at $100,000—in the swank Bel Air district was almost captured today. His quick thinking enabled him to escape.

Maureen O'Sullivan called police, saying there was a prowler near her home. When officers arrived at the Irish actress' home the man was gone. Later they were called to skating star Sonja Henie's home. There they found a man lurking in the shadows.

Offers To Aid Them

"Don't mind me," he told Officers George Mayberry and George Roberts. "I'm a watchman." He offered to aid them. As they turned a corner, he fled. They fired after him, but he escaped, dropping a pistol that was stolen from Gary Cooper's home a few months ago.

Among other movie players' homes who have been robbed are those of Carole Lombard, Dolores Costello, Cooper and Producer Sol Wurtzel.

Centenary Game Here Saturday Is Called Off

Definite Answer From Athletic Officials At Villanova Will Be Given To Dallas Today

By COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche Sports Editor

IT'S the Cotton Bowl for T... Tech!

From beneath a four-ply layer of "bowl" invitations, Athletic Director Pete Cawthon of Texas Tech raised a weary head late yesterday and nodded approval of that bid from J. Curtis Sanford and the Cotton Bowl committee.

Latest report last night was that Villanova university, of Villanova, Pa., would be opponents of the Red Raiders in the Southwest's New Year's classic at Dallas on Jan. 2, which will be of a Monday afternoon.

Seats To Be Well Filled

The Cotton Bowl stadium in Dallas accommodates about 47,000 patrons. Judging from pre-nomination excitement in Lubbock and vicinity for 24 hours preceding selection of Tech as the Southwest's host team, nearly half of the Cotton Bowl stadium seats will be occupied by patrons west of Fort Worth.

Athletic department officials of Villanova are expected to meet in solemn conclave this morning to sanction the Wildcats' appearance in the Cotton Bowl against Texas Tech. Head Coach Maurice J. "Clipper" Smith, well known to many Lubbock and South Plains fans because of repeated visits to the famous Tech coaching schools here, voiced personal satisfaction and pleasure at the prospect of meeting Texas Tech, and his recommendation to the Villanova athletic council is expected to "take" this morning.

Other Teams Considered

Other teams considered as Cotton Bowl invaders were those representing Holy Cross, Fordham, Oklahoma, Tennessee, St. Mary's of the west, and University of Utah.

Meanwhile, Texas Tech has canceled a post-season game with Centenary college, scheduled for Tech stadium next Saturday. And thereby hangs a tale.

Cancellation of the game was by mutual agreement. Coach Curtis Parker of Centenary, since seeing the Techs rout Marquette here last Saturday, has expressed a desire nearly every day since then to cancel the game. The desire met with Texas Tech's approval, but only after the Cotton Bowl bid had been extended.

Good Chance For Injuries

Texas Tech coaches figured that the Centenary game, a post-season affair anyway, offered a good chance for players to be injured... and for Tech to drop a contest ending an 18-game winning streak, and thus injuring chances for a sell-out crowd at the Cotton Bowl.

Previously, however, the Texas Tech athletic council, in a special session, had voted against the appearance of the Red Raiders in more than one post-season game. Since Centenary would have provided opposition for a post-season game, the Cotton Bowl game would have made it add up to two.

"Bowl" excitement, already at a high pitch since Tech ended its regular schedule last Saturday with a 21-2 victory over Marquette, reached a pre-bowl zenith last night, with the Tech band parading through downtown streets accompanied and followed by a large contingent of students on foot and townspeople in cars. Traffic was blocked for several minutes along Broadway and Main, the band giving "concerts" in front of the big hotels.

Tech Band Gets "Hot"

One hundred pieces of Tech's 140-piece band made merry for more than an hour in downtown streets when it became known that the Red Raiders had been selected to represent the Southwest in the Cotton Bowl game. Swing music, punctuated by blood-curdling yells from students and townsmen, had folks in town doing everything from the Tax "Break" To Employers Who Share Profits With Employes Being Urged

Profit Sharing Plan Praised

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP) — The senate profit sharing committee heard a plea today that the federal government give a tax "break" to employers who share their profits with their employes.

J. M. Ramsey, youthful general manager of the Johnson Wax company, Racine, Wis., told the committee the government "has tried all sorts of laws to make us employers behave and they have worked to some extent, but you will catch more flies with molasses than vinegar."

Paid Out Thousands

Ramsey, whose company paid out $202,000 in shared profits to employes last year, endorsed the principal of incentive taxation to encourage continuity of employment and profit sharing. He said he believed efforts to encourage plant expansion in the same way would be less successful.

George T. Trundle, jr., Cleveland, Ohio, engineer, told the committee that profit sharing aids efficiency, lowers cost and prevents labor troubles. He said his company had installed 12 profit sharing plans in various industries and all were working well.

Windsors To Spend Holiday On Riviera

PARIS, Nov. 29 (AP)—The Duke of Windsor and his American-born duchess were said by members of the duke's entourage today to be planning to spend a real "Southern Christmas" on the French Riviera.

There is no question, these friends indicated, of their spending the holidays in England and definite plans have been made for opening their chateau, De la Croe, at D'Antibes the week before Christmas.

According to present plans it will be a "family" Christmas with perhaps a few old friends invited to stay with them in what English friends of the duke describe as the "American holiday spirit."

Current reports in Paris and London that the ducal couple would return to England in the near future were denied by informed sources close to the Windsors.

These sources added, however, that this had no bearing on the increasingly friendly relations between the former king and other members of the British royal family.

Fort Worth Police Have High Regard For Rural Residents In Tracking Fugitives

Fort Worth police have plenty of regard for the ability of rural residents to aid in detection and capture of "bad men."

At least, H. J. Cobb, member of the detective department, division of automobile theft, has.

Visiting in Lubbock Tuesday with R. L. Chaffin, another member of his department, the kinsman of Hurley and Bedford F. Carpenter, both of Lubbock, told of the part played by a farmer in helping capture one of two bad men who escaped Harlem camp Nov. 18.

Fast Gun Battle

Cobb and Ed Smith had an 85-mile-an-hour gun fight with Horace Posey and Hugh Nix on the Fort Worth-Jacksboro road and "shot them out of their car."

Nix was captured.

Posey escaped.

Farmer Roberson, living nearby, returned Saturday night to find Posey "making himself at home" at the farmer's dinner table. Posey jerked up his shotgun and leveled it into the farmer's "breadbasket" but Roberson shoved it aside and, at the moment the bandit's gun went off, fired his pistol into Posey's leg.

"All those farmers were wearing guns around there after the news got out," said Cobb.

"If you don't think they will help you, just turn loose a fugitive from justice in their section. If you don't find him they're likely to."

Field Day Set For Saturday

Letters have been mailed by John W. Palmore, jr., assistant county agent, to all 4-H club boys of the county in the Lions club's one variety cotton contest, giving a program for Saturday's field day and asking information on the actual acreage and production of the 5-acre plot.

Reports were being received yesterday and in a day or two final reports will be ready for the committee named to select prize winners.

Boys are to report at the Panhandle-South Plains fair grounds at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning. They must bring their cotton record books, gin tickets and three bushels of seed or the equivalent in cash, to pay for the seed.

Prices for the seed have been announced as 85 cents a bushel for Paymaster, $1.35 for D. P. & L., $1.50 for Acala and $1.65 for Ferguson 406.

At noon a barbecue is to be given for the boys and their fathers, at the livestock pavilion at Texas Technological college. The barbecue is for "each boy and his dad who ever enrolled in the contest," said Palmore. "This means that if you were hailed or dusted out, please come anyway and attend this meeting."

A parade will form at the fair grounds and go through town to the textile building at the college. Boys are asked to bring their bales of cotton in a trailer or pickup.

After the barbecue, boys will be guests of the athletic council of the college at the Centenary-Texas Tech football game at 2:30. After the game the boys will report to the textile building where awards will be made.

Dean And Baby Of New Congress Both Will Be From Texas; Youngsters Coming Up

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29. (AP) — Lindley G. Beckworth, 25-year-old East Texas orator, will be the baby of the new congress and the youngest house member in recent years.

The election of Beckworth and several other relatively youthful newcomers in both houses emphasized what veteran capital employes called a trend toward younger congressmen.

The youngest members of the last session were Representatives Boren (D-Okla.) and O'Connell (D-Mont.). Both were 27 when they came to congress two years ago. Boren will be back, but O'Connell was defeated for reelection.

Among the younger new members will be 31-year-old Robert P. Jones, Republican, who will represent Ohio's fourth district. Reared on a farm, Jones took up law and entered politics shortly after graduation from college.

Beckworth, a former school teacher, unseated Rep. Morgan G. Sanders, a veteran of 18 years in the house, in the Democratic primaries. He has served one term in the Texas legislature.

The dean of the present congress, Senator Sheppard, also is a Texas Democrat. He was 27 when he began service as a house member 36 years ago.

The constitution requires that representatives be 25 years old and senators 30.

South Is Said Facing Crisis

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 29 (AP)—A five-point plan of rehabilitation for the cotton industry was advanced in the annual report of the directors of the New Orleans cotton exchange, which was released today.

The report said that if the present plan of crop control was continued the "South is facing, if not the greatest economic crisis since the Civil war, certainly a readjustment of the most serious magnitude."

Principles Are Offered

It said a solution "may be found" in these "basic principles:"

1. Compensation in some manner for the farmer who buys in a protected market and sells in a free market.

2. Continued crop control until the present surplus is reduced.

3. Elimination of the loan and substitution of a plan to allow the farmer to sell his crop at the world price and receive adjusted payments.

4. Compensation for the farmer if, in a year of restricted acreage, his crop is disastrously short.

5. A plan for liquidation of government-held cotton through the cotton trade and not through a government agency.

County AAA Committee Will Hold Meeting On Tuesday

County AAA committee will meet Tuesday afternoon in the county agent's office to discuss plans for holding the cotton program election Dec. 10 in Lubbock county, C. E. Lilley, Slaton, is chairman.

Placards announcing the date, to be posted in each community, were received Tuesday, said C. C. Jobson, county agent. Other supplies are expected.

Grange Leaders Through City

Eighty seven members of the National Grange, on six special cars attached to Santa Fe No. 91, passed through Lubbock yesterday afternoon enroute to their homes in the east from the national convention in Portland, Ore..

Lubbock business men, headed by R. C. Hopping, president of the chamber of commerce, went to Littlefield and met the train at 3 o'clock, riding to Lubbock and visiting with the party. Dean A. H. Leidigh of the division of agriculture of Texas Technological college, M. E. Heard, head of the textile engineering department, Don L. Jones, superintendent of the state experiment sub-station, Ed Allen, county clerk and J. V. Jones, jr., with the railroad's traffic department, comprised the party.

Taber Heads Party

Louis J. Taber, Columbus, Ohio, master of the National grange who recently visited Lubbock and this area, headed the party. Others included Senator Smith W. Brookhart of Iowa; Robert P. Robinson, Wilmington, Del., master of the Delaware grange; Henry Stoddard, master of the Vermont grange; Edgar Tucker, master of the Connecticut grange; James Farmer, Keene, N. H., master of the New Hampshire grange; Everett Stone, master of the Massachusetts grange and R. C. Mitchell, of Connecticut.

H. A. Carter, national grange secretary, was in the party. He is chairman of the board of Ohio State university at Columbus.

Members of the party contracting Lubbock men, asked numerous questions about conditions in this area. They were more particularly interested in livestock, said Hopping.

Master Taber explained that if he had recalled the train was going through Lubbock, he would have attempted an hour's stop here to meet members of the Grange chapters of this area. He made inquiries about memberships and work the chapters were doing.

Exports from the State of Georgia during the first eight months of 1938 amounted to $12,713,240 against imports of $6,999,361.

Lubbock Goodfellows To Meet Thursday

Goodfellows will meet sometime Thursday to further plans for relief over the Christmas-tide.

The Goodfellows make up an organization started four years ago to insure that poor children of the city will be remembered on Christmas. Names of officers and members are held secret.

The approaching meeting will be the second of the Goodfellows since they organized for the present season's activities. At that time, several committee chairmen were appointed.

First reports from those committees are to be made Thursday and decision likely will be reached as to when ornamental lights will be turned on.

Some of these strands of lights, purchased last year, already have been strung across business streets, having been placed there during the Panhandle-South Plains fair. Other strands are yet to be strung and there is the possibility that the illuminated area will be extended into business blocks without them during the last holiday season.

Membership Of District 2-T Of Lions Shows Increase

Membership of district 2-T of Texas Lions is increasing and two new clubs have been given charters since the district convention here last May, said Omar T. Burleson, Anson, district governor, who attended the Lubbock club's luncheon yesterday.

"I have visited 24 out of the 246 clubs in the district," Burleson said. During the week of Dec. 19 I hope to visit 14 clubs. There will be a number of group meetings that week, with two or three clubs meeting together in joint session.

Membership in the district has passed the 1,900 mark, said the district governor. Morton and Levelland are new clubs.

Next district convention is May 5-7 at El Paso. The dates have been decided on and the convention city was selected here last May.

There's an answer we'd like to give a certain street peddler but of course we'll never have enough courage to say it. Instead of an abrupt shake of the head we'd say, "We have several Bibles and dictionaries and we don't go in for notices for our home."

PEOPLE AND THINGS

WE were wondering what Lubbock people talk about if they aren't interested in football. There must be, in this metropolis, certain individuals who don't care about bowls and gridirons and football players, although off hand we can't think of any such unfortunate citizens. Anyway, in answer to our query, one reporter thought perhaps the disinterested ones discuss the high price of putty or that new green hat that Mrs. Jones is wearing or how does one make eggnog so one won't taste the liquor.

WIDE interest is being displayed in plans for the erection of a great 191 foot monument of St. Francis of Assisi, patron saint of the city of San Francisco. The gigantic figure will be located just north of Twin Peaks overlooking San Francisco faced to the heart of the city, with arms raised aloft and forward in benediction on the city, its residents and the thousands of guests who will pour in there for the fair. It will be higher than the Statue of Liberty.

MRS. HUGH BLACK, wife of the Supreme Court Justice, has real ability as a writer. Some of her stories have been published in magazines. She was asked recently if she could write a newspaper piece about the modern southern woman. But she begged off with the excuse that the only thing she could write about now is adolescence. Her two sons, Sterling, 14, and Hugh, jr., 16, are at that stage, and "to make things more engrossing," she said, "They're both in love with the same girl."

On the desk of Miss Elizabeth Brooks, assistant home demonstration agent, is a small bowl of Yupan which has the general appearance of a dwarf type of holly and which was brought from near Bryan by V. L. Cade of Union, a member of the state AAA committee.

The leaves are green, smaller than those of holly, and the red berries are slightly smaller. Yupan is found in east and central portions of Texas.

Breedlove; "Behold Your God", a Mrs. Leslie; "Prayers Petitioning Thanksgiving," Miss Horn; "Prayer for Japan," Mrs. Bratcher; "Prayer for China," Mrs. Bill Deatherage.

Miss Horn presided for business at the close of the afternoon session. An annual Lottie Moon offering was taken. Ten members were present.

Local Teacher To Wed H. Aweas

Miss Maurine Cunningham, bride-elect of Herman Aweas of Salem, Ill., this week is being complimented with a farewell and pre-bridal series which was begun with an entertainment Tuesday night in the home of Miss Margaret Henderson, 2420 Twentieth street.

Miss Cunningham, a popular member of the Senior high school faculty the past four years, will leave Friday for Snyder where she will visit with her parents until the Christmas holidays when the wedding is to take place.

Hostesses Tuesday night were Misses Ione Jones, Marye Kincaide, Velma McCandless and Henderson. Thirty-five guests, including women teachers of Senior high school, hemmed cup towels for the honoree who also was presented with a Boston Cooking school cook book. Ribbon sandwiches, spiced tea and white cake were served.

Miss Cunningham, who formerly taught Spanish here, has been teaching history this year. She is an officer in the Lubbock branch of the American Association of University Women and, being a graduate of the National University of Mexico is the only woman graduate of a foreign university in Lubbock. She has served as chairman of two study groups sponsored by the Lubbock branch.

Life Preparation Aim Of Scouting

Miss Katherine Park of New York, national Girl Scout field staff member who is conducting a leaders' training school here this week, is introducing important changes in the national Girl Scout program involving, particularly, the youngest and oldest girls.

A recently organized senior Scout troop honored the visitor with an informal reception at the home of Mrs. Sam Newman, 1917 Main street, Monday night. Attending were Marian Mills, Marguerite Reese, Maxine McMillan, Eugenia Leathers, Lois Hinsley, Martha Hughes and Martha Jean Elliott.

They explained many interesting projects they have planned and Tuesday morning Miss Park said she was amazed and delighted with their ideas. The new program of Scouting eliminates ranks and badges except for the ten to fourteen age groups, substituting a selection of interests in which it is hoped girls will go deep enough for vocational interests and acquire ideas for hobbies and a life long sense of responsibility for community service.

Have Wide Choice

A distinguishing feature of the new method is selection and training of leaders rather than in offering a pattern program. The wide suggestive choice of material is based on ten fields of interest, which embrace the range of the normal girl, namely, out of doors, homemaking, international friendship, arts and crafts, community life, sports and games, nature, health and safety, literature and dramatics and music and dancing.

The older girl's programs also is based on her growing interest of boys and adult social life and the leader's responsibility is to help her formulate worthwhile attitudes and tastes.

Offers Opportunity

The Scout program offers opportunities for women interested in all variety of arts, music, dramatics, sports and outdoor activities, Miss Park explained this morning. She is anxious for the Lubbock council to sponsor consultants who assist with these special knowledges, leaders in home and social life.

The training course was opened Monday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at St. Elizabeth's hall and will be conducted at that hour each afternoon through Thursday. Anyone interested in learning of the Girl Scout program and projects is invited said Mrs. Newman. The school is sponsored by the Local council.

Tuesday night's program was a rally at 7:30 o'clock at Senior high school gymnasium, open to parents and others interested.

This morning Miss Park, and Mrs. Newman are going to Meadow to organize a troop with Mrs. Mark Whelan as leader.

Fifty Attend Tea Talk On Tuesday

Fifty members and guests of the Llano Estacado Delphian chapter attended a seated tea Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. F. R. Friend, 2005 Broadway. The secretary, Mrs. George W. Soash, greeted the guests at the door.

In the receiving line were the president, Mrs. Roy Riddel, and Mesdames R. L. Durham, H. F. Godeke, J. S. Johnson and Miss Sue Bryan.

Mrs. Riddel introduced Mrs. F. A. Kleinschmidt, a member, who discussed her trip to Europe of the past summer, emphasizing particularly art in France. The speaker had taken especial notes for the Delphian chapter which last year completed a comprehensive study of world art. "French art," Mrs. Kleinschmidt said, "is the history of France."

This the speaker brought out in describing the burial sites of historical figures such as Napoleon and Richelieu, the number of instances in which French nobility and other leaders and their activities were recorded by the immortal French painters and sculptors, and in the magnificent cathedrals some of which it took 400 years to build.

During the tea hour, Miss Jane Wilson played piano selections. Mesdames Johnson and Godeke presided at the tea table. The table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a large arrangement of fall fruits surrounded with oak leaves. Also on the table were six lighted yellow tapers in gold, three-pronged candelabra.

HAM BISCUITS FOR TEA

Add some chopped cooked ham to the dry ingredients before you mix a batch of biscuits for a tea. When baked, do not split the biscuits but quickly spread tops with a mixture of salad dressing and butter and serve at once. It is advisable to cut the biscuit dough into very small rounds.

Plans For Inauguration Will Take Form In Near Future

AUSTIN, Nov. 29. (AP)— Plans for the inauguration January 17 of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, the Fort Worth flour salesman, will start taking definite form within the next two weeks.

The committee on arrangements said today that estimates of the throng expected to attend the colorful ceremonies had been revised upward from 60,000 to 100,000. Residents of Kansas, O'Daniel's old home state, probably will come in large numbers to join Texans in honoring their new governor.

The official inauguration likely will take place in the house of representatives chamber and be attended by realtively few persons. Immediately thereafter a repeat performance will be given at the University of Texas stadium before an expected capacity crowd of 60,000.

The celebration will close with street dancing the night of January 17.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 4 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

China's Greatest Trade Route Closed To Shipping Until Japanese Victory

All Protests To Be Futile

SHANGHAI, Nov. 29. (AP) — The Japanese army and navy told foreign powers tonight the Yangtze river, China's greatest trade route, would remain closed to neutral shipping until China is conquered. A spokesman said later the announcement was issued without orders from Tokyo.

Rear-Admiral Noakuni Nomura, Japanese naval attache, said the policy represented the stand of the army and navy officers directly concerned in Yangtze operations.

Armies Are Furnished

Nomura asserted that foreign firms and individuals were furnishing arms and ammunition to guerrillas in Japanese-occupied areas but declined to specify nationalities or otherwise elaborate on the assertion.

The joint army-navy communique indicated that protests of foreign powers, principally the United States, Britain and France, against the closing of the river more than a year ago would be unavailing. (The three made such a protest Nov. 7).

It had been reported that the three neutral powers were about to raise the question again when the communique was issued.

The Chinese reported military successes north and south of Hankow, the great Yangtze port which fell to the Japanese Oct. 26.

To the south, the Chinese counteroffensive along the Canton-Hankow railway was reported to have reached within seven miles of Yochow.

The Japanese have been pushing southward from Yochow toward Changsha, capital of Hunan province.

"Gly-Cas Deserving Of Its Popularity"

Declares Mr. Crow; Years Of Bladder Disorder Had Completely Exhausted Him; Gly-Cas Toned His System

"It was not until I began Gly-Cas that I found the medicine to fit my stubborn case," said Mr. P. A. Crow, 1417 Margerite St., Corpus Christi, Texas. "I had been bothered years with a terrible bladder disorder that had caused me awful distress. I was getting up as much as eight and ten times every night with frequent action, my rest and sleep was broken and I was worn-out completely, in fact, it entirely exhausted me until it was an effort to get about. To add to my already miserable condition, my stomach was badly affected. But finally I began Gly-Cas and my entire system was toned until I feel like a different person today.

"Gly-Cas seemed to begin to give results where the other medicines had left off," continued Mr. Crow. "From the very first few doses I could notice an improvement in my condition. My stomach and bladder were regulated and those awful poisons removed from my system. I am again able to sleep fine without any night risings disturbing me, have new strength and energy and cannot praise Gly-Cas half enough for all it has done. When once given the opportunity to help me, Gly-Cas did not disappoint, but proved its proclaimed merit in my own case."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns. Adv.

Aged Lubbock Man Thinks His Penalty Is "Newsier" Than Some Given On Gridiron

There's no news in some of those penalities Tech has drawn on the gridiron this year—in spite of all the hooting and hellzapoppin fanfare.

Or so says W. T. Shelton.

"Take my case, if you want to talk about penalties," he said.

"Just because I'm nearly 89 years old and never took a dose of medicine, they took $2 off my pension!"

Swathed in a heavy overcoat and acrid criticism relieved at moments by the laugh that has made him a landmark, Shelton looked back at "nearly 89 years and I ain't been sick a day—ain't even had a headache in my life."

Shelton has six living children, 48 grandchildren and 42 great-grandchildren. Mrs. Shelton will be 85 years old Jan. 15. "She's been in poor health a long time."

He was born at Montgomery, Ala., in 1850 and moved to Bell county, Texas, in 1864.

He has lived at 420 Avenue E 20 years. "And I feel just as good as I did when I moved there," he said.

School Progress Is Delineated

How do Lubbock public schools rank?

On a par with the Dallas city system, if expressions at the recent state teachers meeting Dallas may be taken as authoritative.

This was borne out in reports made Tuesday afternoon when many of the 42 teachers representing every division of the Lubbock system spoke at an annual meeting of Lubbock school teachers.

Exhibits Compared

At the state convention, there were general sessions in the mornings and sectional meetings in the afternoon. It was in the sectional meetings that Lubbock teachers explained minutely work being done in Lubbock—from the primary to the high school procedure. Exhibits of the Dallas schools when compared with exhibits some educational authorities had seen in Lubbock, plus reports made to the convention sections by teachers from Lubbock, confirmed the Dallas-Lubbock comparison.

W. B. Irvin, superintendent of the Lubbock system and an advocate of fundamentals in teaching, said in substance the trend of education in Texas as reflected at the Dallas meeting is for more "honest to goodness" teaching and less experimenting.

Powers Explains Duties

Dan W. Powers, dean of boys at the school and chairman of the permanent state committee for the study of enlarged administrative units from the representative district in a given county to a county unit system with one school board, spoke. He said Texas, so far as offering equality of educational possibilities, ranked well toward the end of the lower bracket when compared with the other 47 states of the union, but that his committee was studying and would meet for compare recommendations in the near future.

Speakers who appeared Tuesday: Mrs. Pearl Watson, Miss Claudine Cook, Miss Opal Sloan, Mrs. J. T. Shaver, Mrs. Ivy Savage, Mrs. Anee English, Miss Katie Bell Crump, Miss Ouida Buzbee, Mrs. J. T. Baisden, Miss Marie Cock, Miss Gertrude Watson, D. M. Howell, Sam Leifesie, Dan W. Powers, R. W. Matthews, principal of the senior high school, Miss Ouida Davis, Carroll Thompson, principal of the junior high school and Miss Mary Magee.

Miss Inez Crow Is Injured In Fall At Hotel Here

Miss Inez Crow suffered head, shoulder, and back injuries Tuesday night when she fell on a winding stairs at the Hilton hotel.

She is head waitress at the hotel. She was rushed to the West Texas hospital for treatment and was admitted. Physicians said she suffered concussion, but no skull fractures; a severe right shoulder injury; and back injuries, with no fractures.

She was unconscious about half an hour after the accident, hospital attaches said.

When an automobile accident has occurred, it usually is best to leave an injured person where he is, keep him warm, and wait arrival of an ambulance.

Big Entry List Set For Show

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 29. — At least 400 birds will be exhibited in the live and dressed divisions of the annual Southwestern Dressed Turkey show here December 7 and 8, said Pete Smith, manager of the show.

Keen interest is being manifest in this year's show and exhibits are in view from several states besides Texas. Dressed birds from the state of Washington have won the grand champion honors the past two years but West Texas producers featuring the baby beef type of turkey are determined to land the top prize this year.

Deadline Is Set

To be held at the city auditorium, the show will officially open at 10 a. m. Wednesday, December 7. Deadline for receiving entries has been set at that hour. Judging will start at 10:30 a. m. on the opening day.

At 2 p. m. on the afternoon of the first day of the show, girls 4-H clubs under supervision of Miss Chloie Huffaker, Hale county home demonstration agent, will present an educational feature on utilization of turkey in the menu.

Preparation of boned birds will be the highlight of the educational program, Miss Huffaker said. Baby beef type of turkeys will be baked under supervision of the home demonstration agent and show crowds served with the dish.

In Charge Of Exhibit

J. T. Hatch of Plainview, poultry feeding specialist, also will have charge of an educational exhibit. Starting at 10 a. m. Thursday morning will be a special program for turkey breeders. The sale of dressed turkeys by auction will start at 1:30 on the final afternoon.

George P. McCarthy, extension poultry husbandman of Texas A & M college, will judge both the live and dressed shows.

Quality of Plains turkeys is greatly improved this year, said Paul A. Cunyus, manager of the Southwestern Turkey Growers association. Sales of turkeys for the Thanksgiving market here were comparatively light this year and prospects are good for an outstanding show from the standpoint of well finished and high quality birds, Cunyus said.

Approximately $400 will be awarded in cash prizes to exhibitors showing winning birds in the live and dressed turkey departments of the show.

Westerner Special Will Run Friday

At 7:30 o'clock Friday morning a special train will leave from the Denver depot here loaded with football fans bound for Vernon to see the Vernon-Lubbock high school bi-district championship game.

The special will reach Vernon about noon and begin the return trip immediately after the game, or about 5:30 o'clock that afternoon, it was said by high school and railroad officials.

Train fare will be $3.95; bus fare will be $2.75. Tickets for school students will be 50 cents, for others $1.

R. W. Matthews, school principal, said approximately 250 students, including bandsmen and gridders, had indicated they would go either on the train or on bus. Another 86 had said they would accompany their parents to the game in private automobiles.

Game time will be 2:30 o'clock.

Tech-Gent Game Canceled By Mutual Agreement; But Not Lubbock-Lion Tilt

Tech Gridsters Keep Uniforms For A While

Lambeth Walk to the Gutter Struggle.

Led by Ruth Clark, beautious blond baton twirler from Breckenridge, a Tech freshman, and featured by the flaming baton act of Lee Hackler, head drum major, the Tech band cut quite a caper in the downtown streets, and nobody seemed to mind. The football spirit, particularly the "bowl" spirit, was all there.

Texas Tech's bid to the Cotton Bowl came early yesterday afternoon following settlement of the Sugar Bowl situation. When it became known that Texas Christian university had accepted the Sugar Bowl bid to play Carnegie Tech at New Orleans, the Cotton Bowl officials immediately got in touch with Texas Tech officials and extended the invitation. Coach Pete Cawthon of Tech wasn't made aware of the official invitation until after a Red Raider workout yesterday. Previously, he had expressed Tech's sentiments as being highly pleased at the invite to represent the Southwest in the Cotton Bowl.

Third Most Important

The Cotton Bowl is considered the third most important "bowl" game of the country, Pasadena's Rose Bowl ranking first, New Orleans' Sugar Bowl second, but only a notch or so above the Texas Cotton Bowl.

Invitation to the Cotton Bowl means the realization of a long dream by Texas Tech. The Red Raiders, having completed their first undefeated, untied major season in football, yet representing an institution only 13 years old, have been strong in football since the Pete Cawthon-Dutchy Smith system was fully instituted here. Not since 1932 has Tech produced such a team as the current eleven.

The Red Raiders this season have run up 224 points to 35 for the opposition; have won all of their ten scheduled games, losing none, being tied not once. They have defeated, in order: Montana State, 35-0; Wyoming university, 39-0; Oklahoma City university, 60-0; Loyola university of the South, 55-0; Gonzaga university, 7-0; Marquette university, 21-2, in home games, and on the road the victims have been: Duquesne, 7-6; Montana university, 19-13; Texas Mines, 14-7, and University of New Mexico, 17-7.

Villanova Once Tied

Villanova, Tech's probable opponent in the Cotton Bowl game, is undefeated, but once tied this season. The team has defeated, in order: American university, 69-0; Muhlenberg, 25-7; Centre, 35-6; Detroit, 13-6; Auburn, 25-12; Temple, 20-7; Boston university, 39-6; Manhattan, 20-0.

Final word to the Morning Avalanche from Cotton Bowl headquarters last night was to the effect that; The Cotton Bowl Athletic association tonight was notified it would receive an answer tomorrow (Wednesday) to its invitation to undefeated Villanova to meet unbeaten, untied Texas Tech here on Jan. 2 in the Cotton Bowl game.

"Invitation appreciated. Athletic board unable to reach immediate decision. Will answer definitely Wednesday," said a message to J. Curtis Sanford, Cotton Bowl director, from the Rev. B. M. Albers, moderator of athletics at Villanova.

Earlier Maurice J. (Clipper) Smith, athletic director and head coach, according to the Associated Press, assured the Cotton Bowl committee he would welcome the chance to bring his team to Texas for an engagement with the Red Raiders, providing he could obtain the athletic council's permission.

Meanwhile, inquiries were received from other institutions interested in sending their teams to Dallas. Among these were undefeated, untied Georgetown at Washington and Clemson college at Greenville, S. C., which lost this year only to Tennessee.

Sanford said that more than 500 telegrams had been received either urging consideration for Texas Tech or congratulating the Cotton Bowl on inviting the Red Raiders. West Texas business men messaged promises of crowds ranging from 10,000 to 20,000 from that section for the game.

Texas Tech Vs. Villanova

At a late hour yesterday, Texas Tech and Cotton Bowl officials were still in communication with Holy Cross and St. Mary's (San Francisco) officials regarding a game with Texas Tech in the Cotton Bowl, but from all indications it would be: Texas Tech vs. Villanova in the Southwest's greatest post-season football attraction.

Reservation requests for the Cotton Bowl game began to flock in to the office of Bo Williams, Texas Tech graduate manager, as soon as the Cotton Bowl game was announced. Through a period of 34 minutes, he counted 274 requests for reservations.

Quoting Coach Pete Cawthon: "We are proud to have the honor of representing Texas in the Cotton Bowl. If we were national champions, we would still represent Texas because it is our state and our Red Raiders are happy to be color bearers in the New Year's classic at Dallas."

Captain Frank Gunick, center for the Raiders, said:

"We don't care who they pick for

Cotton Bowl Trophy To Be Pictured In Local Window

An actual size color photograph of the four-foot Cotton Bowl trophy which will be awarded the winning team in the Dallas classic Jan. 2 will be in the Broadway window of Walton's for one week beginning today.

All-East Eleven Led By Tigers

By DREW MIDDLETON
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 29—The All-Eastern football picture is strongly tinged with the Gold and Blue of Pittsburgh and Cornell's Red and White. Each squad contributed three players to the section's all star eleven compiled today by the Associated Press:

Marshall Goldberg, an All-America back a year ago, heads the Pitt delegation with Bill Daddio, the versatile end, and Steve Petro, the guard, his mates. Brud Holland, Cornell's All-America end of 1937, and his two partners on the left side of the great Red Line, Bill McKeever, tackle, and Sid Roth, guard, are the representatives from Ithaca.

Luckman Makes Eleven

Holy Cross with Bullet Bill Osmanski, the hard-running fullback, and Joe Delaney, an immovable tackle, placed two men on the first eleven as did Dartmouth which contributed Bob MacLeod, the halfback, and Bob Gibson, a fine all around center. Sid Luckman, Columbia's great passer, rounded out the eleven.

Holland, Goldberg, Luckman and Osmanski all are carry-overs from the 1937 team while Roth and McKeever were second team choices a year ago.

Closest race was for the end posts where Holland and Daddio just beat out John Wysocki, the Villanova wingman, and Henry Jacunski, steadiest blocker and defensive man of Fordham's forward wall.

Goldberg Rated High

Despite the wealth of good backs in the sector there was little argument over the men behind the line. Goldberg, although shifted to fullback and spending most of his time blocking—and how he hits them—and bucking, fully lived up to his reputation. He is a fullback who gains as much ground as a halfback.

Luckman passed, kicked and ran brilliantly in many a lost cause for Columbia. Osmanski had no peer in the sector as a bucker and MacLeod was the class runner and outstanding defensive back of a fine Dartmouth backfield.

Bi-District Titles At Stake In Tilts Friday, Saturday

(By The Associated Press)

Five games will be played Friday and three Saturday in the bi-district round of Texas Schoolboy football.

All sites and dates were completed Tuesday with Bowie (El Paso) and Breckenridge deciding to meet at Breckenridge Friday afternoon.

The week's schedule:

Friday afternoon — Lubbock at Vernon, Bowie at Breckenridge, Gainesville at Highland Park (Dallas), Lufkin at Tyler; Friday night—Pharr-San Juan-Alamo at Corpus Christi; Saturday afternoon — Masonic Home (Fort Worth) at Sunset (Dallas), John Reagan (Houston) at Port Arthur, Temple vs Kerrville at Austin.

Louisiana State Grid Star Admits Wedding Years Ago In Violaton Of Rules

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 29. (AP)—Guy (Cotton) Milner revealed today for the past two seasons he played football for Louisiana State in violation of one of the squad's strict rules.

Milner said he married Miss Florence Couvillion of Shreveport, his high school sweetheart, at Gretna on New Year's day after the 1937 Sugar Bowl football game.

Louisiana State has a strict rule prohibiting any of its football players from marriage while they are members of the squad. Only a few months ago a star end, Larry King, was suspended from the grid squad when it was learned he had married.

Milner said he met Miss Couvillion while they were attending Bolton High school at Alexandria, where he was hailed as an all-state football player.

Mrs. Milner left her job at Waco, Tex., last week to come here to live with her husband.

TCU, Carnegie Tech To Play In Sugar Bowl

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 29.—The New Orleans Sugar Bowl reached outside the Southeastern conference for the first time today for its football classic when Carnegie Tech and Texas Christian university were named the opponents for the fifth annual battle Jan. 2.

For the first time the Sugar Bowl officials found themselves in the fortuitous position of being able to choose from a wealth of football material with national ranking and some professed to see in ignoring the Southeastern conference a retaliatory slap.

Nothing has come of repeated efforts of the New Orleans Mid-winter Sports association to perfect a tieup with the Southeastern conference which would present that league's champion annually as the defending team.

Second For Frogs

T.C.U. will be playing a return engagement in the Sugar Bowl, having defeated L.S.U. in the bowl's second game, 3-2, in 1936. It will be the first time South for Carnegie Tech.

A share of each team Jan. 2 should run towards $50,000.

Statements from Fort Worth and Pittsburgh had T.C.U. and Carnegie Tech both anxious to play each other.

T.C.U. said the determining factor which swayed the Fort Worth team from the Cotton Bowl in Dallas was that the Sugar Bowl had signed Carnegie Tech. Carnegie Tech authorities were quoted as having said that of five bowl invitations received and considered they accepted the one that would pit their team against T.C.U.

T.C.U., with six difficult Southwest conference victories to its credit, has swept undefeated and untied through a ten-game schedule. Carnegie Tech's escutcheon bears one blemish, a one-touchdown defeat by Notre Dame, but mighty Pittsburgh was among its victims.

The New Orleans Sugar Bowl football is the piece de resistance of a solid week of sports centering about the New Year, other items including yacht races, a field and track meet, boxing, tennis and basketball, all bringing together national champions.

Frogs Choose Sugar Bowl Because Of Carnegie Tech

DALLAS, Nov. 29. (AP)—Texas Christian, perhaps the mightiest of all Southwest football teams, today chose the New Orleans' Sugar Bowl post-season classic for its final appearance on Jan. 2 because:

1. It felt Carnegie Tech, its New Orleans' foe, was the strongest opposition it could face.

2. Carnegie Tech, previously committed to the Sugar Bowl, wasn't available for the Cotton Bowl.

3. Players, the boys who steamrollered ten straight opponents, voiced a preference.

Officials Sit Up Late

Stunned by their position of "second best" when Rose Bowl invitations were handed out, the Christians immediately made sincere efforts to play in Texas' own game—the Cotton Bowl.

Throughout the night and into early dawn today, T.C.U. officials sat closeted with J. Curtis Sanford, director-general of the Cotton Bowl game, in an effort to make arrangements for a Texas Christian appearance in Dallas.

Telephonic and telegraphic contacts were made with many leading teams. Carnegie Tech, loser only to Notre Dame on the famed "wrong count" decision and conqueror of mighty Pitt, 21-10, advised Cotton Bowl officials it had committed itself to the Sugar Bowl.

Other contacts failed and T.C.U. officials, at 4:30 a. m., decided to accept the Sugar Bowl's invitation. It was contingent upon approval by the six remaining members of the Southwest conference—a formality.

Texas Christian players had voted immediately after their triumph over Southern Methodist Saturday to accept a Rose Bowl bid if it was proferred. Duke got that bid and Texas Christian sought out the stiffest foe available—Carnegie Tech, in their opinion.

And Now It's The Nut Bowl! But Aren't We All?

BROWNWOOD, Nov. 29. (AP)—Ladies and gentlemen — the Nut Bowl!

Both contestants for this football feature have been invited and have accepted, with no strings attached.

Brownwood is an important pecan shipping center. So what could be more appropriate than for Bangs and May High schools to be matched in the Nut Bowl for the Class B championship of Brown County?

What's more fans won't have to wait until Jan. 2 for more football. This game will be played Thursday afternoon.

Brownfield Has Gridiron Fever

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 29. (Special)—"The football classic of the South Plains this week" features the bi-district championship clash between Rotan's Yellowhammers and Brownfield's Cubs, both undefeated and untied in conference play.

This city has been caught in the excitement of the Friday afternoon game and a record crowd is expected to overflow the high school stadium. Bleacher seats used at the Lubbock-Amarillo clash have been secured as preparations are made for the largest gridiron throng ever to be in Brownfield.

Brown's Aerials Dangerous

Coach Aubra Nooncaster places much of his hopes for a Cub victory on the "touchdown" passes of Quarterback Pete Brown. He has thrown 14 aerials that ended up across the double stripe this season and boasts a record of 54 per cent completions. Also aiding in the Cub drive to the District 5-B title has been co-captains Wade Hill and Tom Rowden.

Rotan, annual winner of District 6-B honors, will place a team on the field that is heavy, fast and experienced. Improvement in Cub line play leads observers to believe Coach Nooncaster's lads can make a battle of it.

Tickets are selling at a rapid rate M. L. H. Baze, superintendent of the high school, announced. Students' ducats are thirty-five cents and adult admissions are seventy-five cents. Plans for the crowd and game will be worked out later. One hundred Brownfield men have been asked to meet in the District courtroom this morning at 9 o'clock.

Belmont College Has 'Duke' Record Also

BELMONT, N. C., Nov. 29 (AP)—There's another undefeated, untied and unscored-on team looking for a post-season game, and it's not Duke university, either.

It's Belmont Abbey Junior college. The college authorities issued a blanket challenge today for a post-season game to decide the national junior college championship.

Coach Humpy Wheeler said the team was willing to play anywhere—from Maine to California.

Belmont Abbey hasn't been defeated since the opening game of the 1936 season. The last defeat was at the hands of the N. C. State freshmen.

Another Group Names O'Brien As Best Player In Nation

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP)—Davey O'Brien, the mighty mite who ran, passed, kicked and quarterbacked Texas Christian's Horned Frogs to an undefeated, untied season, won recognition on two fronts today as the nation's outstanding football player.

The Downtown Athletic club of New York selected him as winner of the Heisman Memorial trophy, while the Maxwell club of Philadelphia, composed of football coaches, officials and sports writers in that area, chose him for the Robert W. Maxwell trophy.

The Heisman trophy, awarded on balloting by the country's sports writers, is given in memory of John W. Heisman, famous football coach.

Bible, Norton Match Wits On East Texas Deer Hunt

KERRVILLE, Nov. 29. (AP)—Two Southwest conference football coaches who matched their wits on Thanksgiving day, D. X. Bible of Texas and Homer Norton of Texas A. and M., left the Hill country yesterday a successful pair of hunters.

Bible, on his first shot at a deer, felled it in its tracks. Norton, with Line Coach Bill James of A. and M., got his limit of turkey and deer. Bully Gilstrap, assistant Texas coach, knocked down two bucks.

Oklahoma Meets Tennessee In Orange Bowl

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 29. (AP)—A clash of two conference champions, Tennessee and Oklahoma, was arranged today for the seventh Orange Bowl football game here Jan. 2.

Both teams are undefeated and untied so far but each has one more game to play.

Major Robert R. Neyland's acceptance for Tennessee was conditioned upon obtaining the approval of the Southeastern conference but this was regarded as only a formality.

Orange Bowl officials were hopeful the attraction of their meeting might fill the bowl, with a capacity of 23,000 for the first time.

Of Oklahoma's nine opponents so far this season, Rice and Tulsa scored one touchdown apiece. Shut out without a score were Texas, Kansas, Nebraska State, Missouri, Iowa State and Oklahoma A. & M.

The Volunteers yielded three points to Clemson and six to Louisiana State and whitewashed Auburn, Alabama, Citadel, Chattanooga, Vanderbilt and Kentucky.

Sun Bowl Looks For New Mexico's Foe

EL PASO, Nov. 29. (AP)—Sun Bowl officials locked to Eastern gridirons tonight for a team to meet the University of New Mexico in the West Texas gridiron classic here January 2.

New Mexico formally accepted a bid to the bowl today, and added a recommendation in favor of the University of Utah, Mountain Big Seven champions, as the second team.

Dr. R. B. Homan, chairman of the game committee, acknowledged the Utes had an inside track on the final selection, but added the Bowl committee was interested in pitting an Eastern team against the Border conference champions.

Feelers have been dispatched to Villanova, Georgia Tech and Mississippi university, Homan said. Georgetown has been eliminated, as has Western Reserve university of Cleveland.

Villanova, another candidate, was ruled out when Coach Clipper Smith said his team was not a candidate.

Famous Poloists Scout For Mounts In Llano Section

LLANO, Nov. 29 (AP)—It is horse hunting time in the ranching country for Cecil Smith, erstwhile Llano cowboy and one of the world's top-ranking polo players, and his cowboy mate, Rube Williams, another Llano boy who won fame in the polo world. A third well known Llano player and dealer is York Ratliff, a veteran trainer who has returned home from Long Island whence he took a string of trained mounts to sell.

The three Llano poloists, whose careers began on Llano ranches, are scouting over the ranching section of Texas seeking horses to train for the game. The horse hunt will continue several months, or until the dealers obtain enough for their needs. Then the work of schooling the green ponies will start and by early spring they will be finished and ready to head for eastern polo fields.

Smith had another successful season of play in England and on Long Island, and Williams, who returned home at the end of October was manager of the Rumson, N. J. polo club last summer. Ratliff played polo on Long Island during the summer.

Par Goes Up In Women's Golf For 1939, Unless Committee Objects

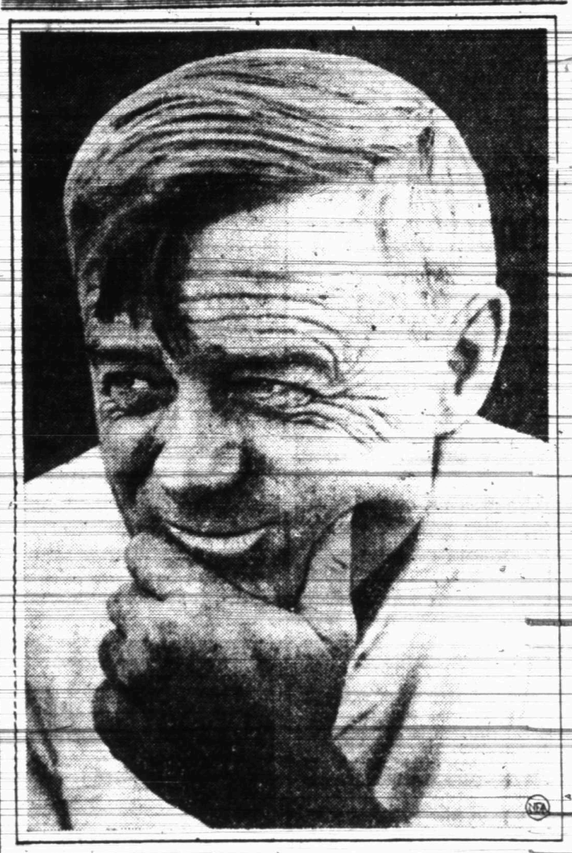

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP)—It's going to be tougher for women golfers to make par unless the United States Golf association rejects the latest recommendation of its women's committee. The committee has recommended adding ten yards to par 3 ratings and 25 yards to the par 4's and 5's. One revision was made in 1934 because of longer hitting by women and the new one is expected to go into effect Jan. 1.

The new par table as compared to the old (allowables are made for severity of conditions and hazards.)

BOB ZUPPKE

CHICAGO, Nov. 29. (AP)—Robert C. Zuppke, Dean of Western conference football coaches, was "reinstated" as head gridiron mentor at the University of Illinois today—receiving a timely "block" by the university's board of trustees.

The board refused to accept Zuppke's resignation, which he had handed the school's athletic board 24 hours previously.

"The board of trustees of the University of Illinois d sapproves of any change in the status of Coach Zuppke," said the board's brief statement. That was all, but it was enough to bring from Zuppke, in his home at Champaign, Ill., the comment: "That's good! You mean I'm still in? Why, I've been telling everyone I'm out. I'm happy. It's all right now."

Reports that Zuppke, target of criticism because of the showing of his recent teams, would be ousted have been current for several weeks.

Grease Up The Gun, James; Quail Shooting Is Nigh!

AUSTIN, Nov. 29. (AP)—Texans prepared today for the final chapter in the state's annual hunting saga—the opening of the quail, chachalca and fur-bearing animal season.

Huntsmen Thursday will march out in various sections of the state, but mainly in the Southwest, to open fire on the succulent bob whites which have been reported in somewhat greater numbers than last year.

Also in the Southwest and especially near the Rio Grande, the wily Mexican pheasant will test nimrod's skill. This pheasant type of species exists in extremely limited numbers.

Trappers, scattered over the state but found in large numbers in the Southeast, will attempt to outwit the badger, civet cat, fox, mink, muskrat, opossum, skunk, racoon, beaver and ringtail cats. The season for taking pelts closes Feb. 1.

The general winter squirrel season, which opened Oct. 1, will continue through December but hunters of the wary tree-dwellers will exercise extreme caution regarding many special county laws.

The quail bag limit is 12 a day and not more than 36 a week. The possession limit also is 36 and the general season closes Jan. 17. Andrews, Callahan, Coleman, Ector, Gaines, Haskell, Martin, Garza, McCulloch, Midland, Terry and Yoakum counties have no open season while others restrict hunting of the partridge in various ways.

The bag limit on chachalca is five a day and 10 a week with possession of the birds limited to 10. The season also ends Jan. 17.

Wednesday To Pass Minus Wrestling

For the first time in seven years the Wednesday night Wrestling program has been postponed. But there will be enough torso-twisting to last several weeks come Friday night.

Sled Allen will conduct his show at the Auditorium on Friday this week, and the card merits the change. Danny McShain, the principal reason for the postponement, will fight colorful Sailor "Tex" Watkins in the main event. McShain was booked up with only the Friday date open.

McShain Claims Title

"Gentleman" McShain is claimant to the light heavyweight championship of the world. He has performed on the West Coast since leaving this circuit and reports indicate that he has improved considerably since being the "bad man" for Lubbock fans. Watkins has consistently been a drawing card in this section and is known for his "rough-house" tactics inside the ring. McShain's title will not be at stake but when these two meet there does not have to be a reward for the winner except the honor.

As a balance for the McShain-Watkins brawl Allen has scheduled

Westerners Hep Through Long Defense Drill

Mr. Morris Southall, Vernon bombing ace, is going to have to do some plain and fancy passing Friday afternoon before he sees many of his heaves sizzle through the Westerner backfield's tight defense.

And if Jack Judd or Hap Rogers have any ideas concerning the

GET TICKETS TODAY!

Lubbock Westerner fans planning to see the bi-district clash at Vernon Friday are warned that tickets are just about all gone, and that after today Vernon High officials may recall tickets sent to Lubbock. All tickets placed on sale in Vernon have been sold, and fans there are clamoring for more. E. J. Lowrey, Lubbock athletic business manager, said last night to "tell the folks to get their tickets here today, or there probably won't be any left to get."

smashing of the Lubbock forward wall they have improved somewhat over their mid-October clash with Coach Chapman's boys.

Those conclusions were drawn Tuesday afternoon as the District 1 champions worked on a defense for the Lions. The first string backfield of Webster, Parsons, Jackson and Johnston were batting down or catching all kinds of aerials thrown toward them. And when the same four horsemen took the offensive they were still catching the pigskin.

Vernon's steady improvement and "bear" stories have obviously not affected the Westerners. They were in practically the same state of mind and physical condition they were before the Amarillo contest last week, determined but not tense.

Vernon Polishing Passes

Reports from down Vernon way say that Coach Pat Gerald is laying emphasis on further perfection of the Lion aerial attack, with Southall and Judd holding the spotlight, and the improvement of blocking for such ground gainers as Judd, Southall, and Rogers.

That group has been responsible in a large way for many of the Lions' 224 points this season over 10 opponents. The opposition has been able to make 42 points against the powerful Vernon defense. Lubbock has not been a high-scoring machine this season but has shown the ability to stop opponents' touchdown drives when necessary.

Tickets for the contest are on rooters to the contest, both leaving

Chairman For Scouts Named

G. H. Williams of 2511 Twenty-second street, was elected chairman of the Boy Scout committee Tuesday of the troop sponsored by the Junior High school. The committee will meet next Tuesday night to draw up a program for troop 11 of which Ray Hynds is scoutmaster, according to Earl M. McClure, South Plains Boy Scout council executive.

The next meeting of the cub leadership training course will be at 7:30 Monday night. The meeting will include all den chiefs, den mothers, cub leaders and parents of cub leaders. This is to be the final session of the training course.

Election Date Set

The night of Dec. 16 has been set as date for the annual election of officers of South Plains Boy Scout council, according to Dr. F. B. Malone, council president.

The meeting will be one of three that day, all to be in Hilton hotel, Dr. Malone said.

The council finance committee will meet at 4:30 o'clock, the board of directors will convene at a supper at 6:30 to consider the new budget and other matters, and the general meeting to elect officers will be at 8 o'clock.

Charles N. Miller of Los Angeles, nation finance director, will attend each of the meetings and be principal speaker at the night session. Invitations will be sent to scout leaders throughout the council to attend, McClure said.

The annual council-wide banquet, to which all persons interested in scouting will be invited, has been set for Jan. 23. Clinton N. Anderson of Albuquerque, N. M., former president of Rotary International, will be principal speaker.

Alameda, Calif.

Co-Pilot Lloyd Jones, 30, Seattle, Wash.

The plane was forced down when gasoline was exhausted in five and a half hours of flying from Medford, Ore. The flight normally takes two hours and 40 minutes.

Forced Off Course

United Airline officials explained Stead was forced off his course by winds reaching a velocity of 65 or 70 miles an hour and a "cold front"—an atmospheric condition.

Stead, himself, said he had no trouble with the weather but "radio reception was too good. There were so many signals coming in it was difficult to pick out the right ones." Because of this, he explained, he was unable to follow his radio beam to Oakland, across San Francisco bay.

"Everybody was calm" when the plane was put down on the water, Stead said.

"We all went through the hatch," added Edelstein as he was lifted aboard a coast guard cutter to be taken to a hospital for treatment of a broken knee cap. "I helped some up."

The Others Disappeared

"One by one the rest of the people disappeared from the top of the plane," Edelstein continued. "Only the captain and I were left. Then a wave came and I fell in. I went down twice.

"I hollered to him to help me and the captain reached down and helped me back on the wing. Then we both were washed off, but managed to fight our way to shore."

There the white combers lapped at their feet and a 300-foot cliff towered above them.

Near them, Stead said he saw Miss Clay seated on a rock. A wave whipped the shattered remnant of the plane toward her. She ducked, to escape it, and slipped back into the sea, and disappeared.

Nanking's Population Is Cut In Half By Sino-Jap Hostilities

NANKING (AP) — The population of Nanking, former capital of the Central Government and now the seat of the Japanese-sponsored "Reform Government," is now estimated by municipal authorities at 400,000.

That figure is approximately half the population of the city before the Sino-Japanese hostilities broke out. In addition to the large numbers of civilians killed during and after the Japanese siege of the city thousands fled to havens of safety in the interior and have not returned to their former homes.

A prominent automobile official estimates the cost of automobiles this year at nearly 27 cents a pound. The current cost, he added, was two cents higher than that of last year.

Youth In The News

The adventures of these youngsters have been making news:

New Appointees Are Announced

AUSTIN, Nov. 29. (AP)—Two more of the many changes in railroad commission personnel expected January 2 were announced today by Commissioner Lon A. Smith and Commissioner-Elect G. A. Jerry Sadler.

Benton H. Templeton of Colorado and R. E. Gray of San Saba, now an assistant attorney general, were appointed examiners in the motor transportation division to succeed H. E. Wassell and Ewell H. Muse. Their salaries will be $3,600 a year each.

Smith said Wassell and Muse were appointees of Commissioner C. V. Terrell, defeated by Sadler for renomination. Indications were that most of Terrell's appointees would "get the axe." Smith said Terrell had approximately 200 appointees compared with around 240 named by both Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson and himself.

Proposal Is Rejected

Sadler rejected Thompson's proposal that a $5,000 a year saving be made by combining the jobs of chief supervisor and chief engineer in the oil and gas division.

"The jobs are too big for one man," he said.

Laten Stanberry, an appointee of Terrell, has resigned as chief supervisor, effective tomorrow. Neither Sadler nor Smith gave any intimation who would succeed him.

"We hope that in the future," Sadler said, "The employes will be known as appointees of the commission rather than of a single commissioner and will work for the good of the entire commission and the plain people of Texas. I may recommend dismissal of some of Smith's and Thompson's appointees in the interest of efficiency."

While oil men await with interest Sadler's changes in commission employes, they are much more interested in learning what proration policies he will support. Smith has opposed two day a week oil production shutdowns.

us to play just so it's a great ball club. At long last, we've got an opportunity to show what we really can do on a football field. Just tell the fans we'll be going to town for them on Jan. 2."

The Red Raiders took the field for a long workout yesterday, but devoted most of the time to calesthenics and signal running, looking over Centenary plays and running on defense against some of them. As late as the workout, Tech officials had no formal invitation, and were still drilling the Raiders on Centenary plays against Saturday's scheduled game with the Gents.

Cancellation of the Tech-Centenary game, however, is not all Tech's fault. Head Coach Curtis Parker of Centenary scouted the game here last Saturday, and afterward admitted to Coach Cawthon of Tech that he "wished the game had never been booked," and intimated that he would like to "pull out, especially if Tech got another post-season game."

In view of the fact that the game with Centenary was scheduled after the regular 1938 schedule was made, and considering that season tickets are not good for the game; also considering the fact that the Texas Tech athletic council, in a special meeting Monday voted against the appearance of Tech in more than one post-season game, Tech coaches were willing to oblige the Centenary officials in their request to call off the game.

Coach Parker of Centenary has telephoned Coach Cawthon of Tech nearly every day asking if he would be willing to cancel the game. Until the Cotton Bowl game was cinched, Cawthon would not release Centenary from the contract—which, incidentally, has nothing to do with a two-year home-and-home contract beginning next year—but when it became certain that Tech would be invited to play in the Cotton Bowl, Tech authorities acceded to the Centenary request.

Selection Of Texas Tech Is Praised By Cotton Leader

DALLAS, Nov. 29 (AP)—Selection of Texas Tech to play in the Cotton Bowl here Jan. 2 was praised today by William H. Jones, chairman of the cotton industries committee in charge of making Texas "cotton conscious."

"Texas Tech, one of the three colleges in the south with a cotton textile engineering department, was a logical choice," he said.

Jones said a scientific exhibit on cotton will be prepared by M. E. Heard, head of the Texas Tech cotton textile department, for exhibition in Dallas.

Southland Basketball Teams Defeat New Home Quintets

SOUTHLAND, Nov. 29 (Special) Southland's basketball forces had complete charge of things here tonight as the boys' squad defeated New Home 29-14 and the girls' quintet smothered the New Home girls 56-19.

Thompson Is Given Penitentiary Term

Deliberating less than 10 minutes, a 72nd district court jury Tuesday afternoon found John W. Thompson, real estate man, guilty of a charge by indictment of forgery and passing and sentenced him to serve two years in the state penitentiary.

A jury will return this morning when several other criminal cases are subject to call. Burton S. Burks, district attorney, represented the state. Judge Daniel A. Blair of that court presided.

Passed $7.10 Check

It was charged that Thompson passed a $7.10 check payable to Plains Body and Fender works April 2, negotiated to Bill Golden of Lubbock, who endorsed it to a grocery store here.

Signed G. L. Thuett and made payable at the First National bank of Tahoka, the check was returned unpaid. Golden said Thompson changed it to the First National bank of Post.

Twenty-two state witnesses were called from Lubbock, Post, Tahoka, Ropesville and Levelland to testify they were widely-known business men who never had heard of a G. L. Thuett who lives in Garza county.

There were surprising elements of the case. The defense, Hill Stewart and Roy Carpenter representing Thompson, did not call a witness and the defendant did not take the stand.

Witnesses Not Sure

Defense on cross-examination pumped this question at state witnesses: "But you are not sure there could not be a G. L. Thuett, since there is a big number of transient persons in your county?" Most witnesses said they could not be sure.

But the district attorney succeeded in introducing testimony of alleged correlative cases involving Thompson, when he cited a Clay county case he said applied to the Thompson trial procedure.

The testimony was given over defensive protest. Thompson has been charged on check cases in at least three counts in recent months.

The state abandoned the forgery count in the indictment.

Lubbock witnesses were Golden, George Pilley, George Birdwell, L. D. Rankin and A. Sansom.

Rank Of Page Is Conferred On Eight Candidates In City

Rank of page was conferred upon eight candidates in ceremonies Tuesday night conducted by the Knights of Pythias in the Pythian temple.

The degrees were conferred upon Otis Rich, C. H. Tisdel, Ray Corbin, Dex Vessels, Bert Herring, J. B. Shannon, jr., Max Lee Fann, and C. C. Stringer.

Dinner was served to 118 members.

Two nominating committees reported and officers for the year beginning Jan. 1 will be elected at a meeting next Tuesday night, said Russell Hardin, grand chancellor.

The Pythian sisters will meet in a banquet session at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Victor H. Lindsey, royal vizier of the Dokeys, announced a meeting of that organization at 9:15 o'clock, immediately after the meeting of the Pythian sisters.

Desire To See His Two Little Girls Costs Man Freedom

DALLAS, Nov. 29. (AP) — A desire to see his two little girls cost him his freedom, Marshall Conant said today at a hearing where U. S. Commissioner John Davis set his bond at $5,000 on a narcotics charge.

Federal officers said Conant had been in Kansas City and Houston recently. He came to Dallas two days ago and was arrested by state and federal officers.

It is reported that two-thirds of all the people killed in traffic in American cities are pedestrians.

Let's "Make Haste Slowly"

THE intent attributed to the newly created federal Civil Aeronautics Authority to urge the development of an immense reserve civilian airplane pilots and mechanics is one of many appeals, especially to those who are air-minded among the advocates of a strong national defense.

It is much easier, however, to talk of a trained reserve of 100,000 civilian pilots within five years—or within a much longer period—that will be possible of realization.

There would be no lack of "raw material" with which to work. It is certain that several times 100,000 young men would be clamoring for the opportunity if pilot training should be made available at no cost or at small cost.

But there is a forbidding shortage both of trained instructors and of equipment with which to give training. The shortage of instructors very easily might result in burdening those qualified with a task beyond their capacity to handle. Or haste might result in the licensing of instructors who lack the training and the qualifications to teach others. Either of those circumstances might result in so many casualties among student fliers as to cause a national scandal and a blow from which aviation would not recover for years.

However, the CAA plan has much to commend it. This nation should have a strong reserve of aviators. Perhaps it is more correct to say we must have such a reserve. But in the realization of this need, we shall be wise if we obey the adage to "make haste slowly."

Not Hard To Understand

REASONS for the reluctance of some of the major football teams in the nation to meet Texas Tech's Matadors in a post-season bowl game are not difficult to understand. Nor do those reasons reflect in the slightest upon Tech.

Perhaps chief of those reasons is a widespread lack of understanding as to what Tech really is. Outide of our own immediate territory, many have not yet learned that Tech is a school of more than 3,500 enrollment; that only the University of Texas and Texas A. and M. among the schools of the Southwest conference have larger enrollments.

Even the well-informed football follower in the East, North, West or other direction is apt to be scornful if told that more than three times as many young men and women are regularly enrolled students of Tech than in Texas Christian university. That same typical fan is apt to think of Tech as being "just another small school." If that is the idea, it would be entirely natural if he suspected that only those who can play football are welcomed in Tech.

We, of course, know just how unjust any such suspicion is. But if the world is to understand and appreciate that Tech is a major educational institution in every sense of the word, that its scholastic requirements are of the very highest, we are going to have to convince them. They are not sufficiently interested to find out for themselves.

But if we can get the real facts across, it will become apparent that any school with as many fine young men from which to choose its materials as is the case with Tech must inevitably produce football teams of superior quality; teams which taken over the span of years will compare with the best.

It then will become clear and logical why in some year, with superior material and superior coaching—as is the case this year—Tech's team might be expected to rank very close to the top if not at the very top.

With Our Contemporaries

"Starlings by the thousands are reported flocking into Lubbock, and the Avalanche says they're no end a pest and farmers are worried," John Price says in Littlefield's County-Wide News. 'We've never been troubled with starlings out here, but these durned sparrows sure do make me mad, especially if I've just had the car washed. I don't see how they could be—but still starlings might be—worse on the car."

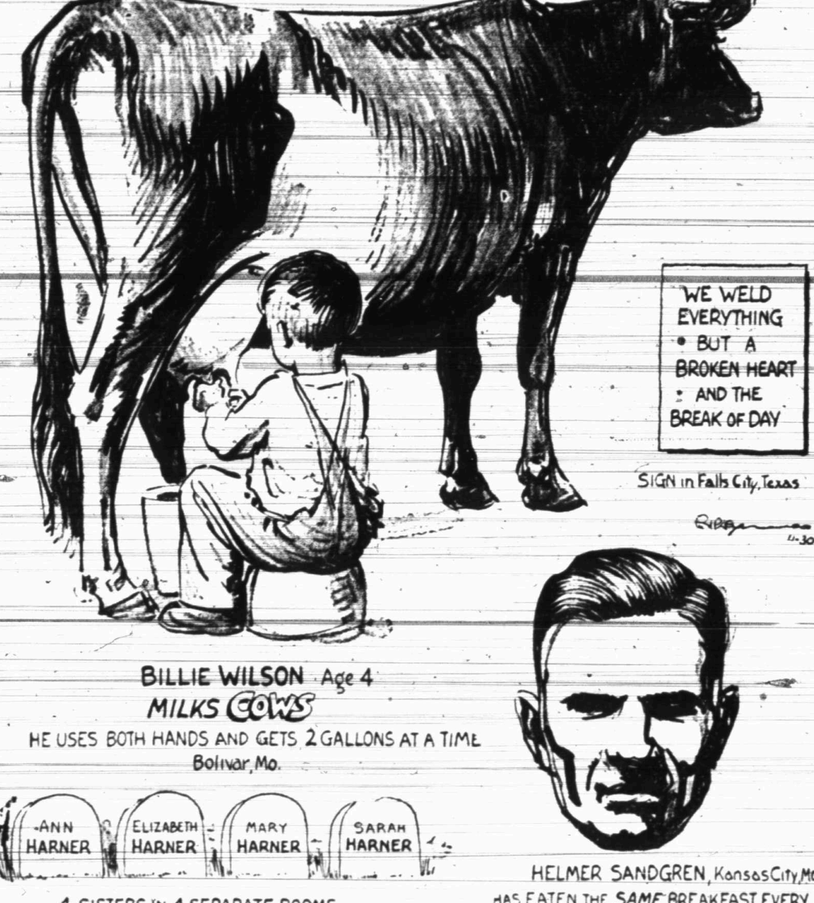

The One-Minute Sermon

If ye will fear the Lord, and serve him, and obey his voice and not rebel against the commandment of the Lord, then shall both ye and also the king that reigneth over you continue following the Lord your God:

But if ye will not obey the voice of the Lord, but rebel against the commandment of the Lord, then shall the hand of the Lord be against you, as it was against your fathers.

Now therefore stand and see this great thing, which the Lord will do before your eyes.—1 Samuel 12; 14 through 16.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

JUDY ALCOTT—admiral's daughter. She faced a choice between two navy suitors.

DWIGHT CAMPBELL—ambitious lieutenant. He faced a choice between his wife and duty.

JACK HANLEY—flying sailor. He faced a test of a patient love.

MAVEL HASTINGS—navy wife. She faced the test of being a good sailor.

Yesterday: Marvel arrives and soon after the ship goes out, leaving Judy to explain to Marvel why Dwight could not be with her!

CHAPTER V

She got into her car, and drove to the Coronado Hotel. She asked at the desk for Miss Hastings, and was told that her suite was on the fifth floor.

"Suite!" said Judy to herself. "She would have a suite!"

When she knocked at the door, there was no answer. She wondered for a moment if Marvel had gone out. But she decided that was impossible. She was probably sulking. Maybe she thought it was Dwight, rushing around in person after he'd hung up on the phone. "But if she had an ounce of sense, she'd know he's on the ship! Maybe she knows it's me . . ." Her heart sank. The task before her was infinitely distasteful, but she had to do it. She had promised.

She rapped on the door again. This time there was the sound of someone moving, and in another moment Marvel's voice came. "Who is it?"

"It's Judy Alcott. May I come in?"

The door was flung open. Marvel in gold satin pajamas, her red hair a fiery glory of curls, stood there. Her face was cold, unfriendly. Behind her, Judy saw a hotel maid folding a black cloud of tulle. An evening dress. There was an open steamer trunk, with a drawer pulled out, and clothes on the hangers.

Judy stepped into the room, closing the door behind her. Marvel's face did not change. She simply stood there, waiting. It was not going to be easy. Judy felt the beat of her pulse in her wrists, and a strange little dizziness behind her eyes. Why should she be the one to argue with Marvel on Dwight's account? It was no affair of hers. And yet she had promised. And she would promise anything, she knew, hating herself, when it was Dwight's slightly husky, altogether thrilling voice that asked her.

• • •

"Dwight telephoned me," Judy said, walking to a soft chair and sitting down. Marvel moved across the room, took the bench before the vanity table. Her reflection in the mirror made two redhaired, cold-faced girls whom Judy had to face. Judy went on, steadily. "He asked me to come here. He said you weren't accustomed to the Navy's disconcerting habit of ordering people off to sea. He simply had to go. Duty. There was no way out. The skipper's wife—Mrs. Lane—telephoned me, too. She said she couldn't come tonight, and told me probably no one else would come."

She leaned forward. "Oh, Miss Hastings, I know how you feel. You've just gotten in. You want to be with him. You feel as though he could have managed to stay with you. But I know better. In the Navy, I've known men whose wives were in the hospitals, having babies—" She thought of Diane. And of Bill Bell, who had to walk out of the ready room, his flying jacket buttoned under his chin, and get into his plane, miles out at sea, and wait for the signal that meant "Take off." She thought of how she had been the only one with Diane in those long, black hours. But Diane had understood. And this—this was only a party— an unimportant little social event.

But Marvel's eyes did not soften. She said, in a cool little voice, "He could have stayed if he had really wanted to!"

"No, no. He couldn't! You don't understand!"

Marvel said, "I understand well enough! Surely it's not a matter of life and death—not a matter of national emergency."

• • •

It hadn't been a matter of national emergency that night the Enterprise steamed out to sea, either. Just a routine flight. But Bill Bell had gone, and Diane had not whimpered. Judy's fingers closed up, and she said, "But it's duty. They were ordered to sea—no one has the choice of staying, don't you see?"

"No, said Marvel. "No, I don't see."

"But you must! Dwight begged me to explain! He was so sure you'd understand!"

Marvel stood up. Her green eyes flashed. "It was very good of my finace to ask another girl—a girl he's been as friendly with as he has been with you—to come here and soothe me. But I will not be soothed, do you understand? I'm not accustomed to being kept waiting for any one! Least of all for a man! He knew I was coming, he might have arranged things so that I would not be left alone like this. He didn't think it was important enough, that's all! I won't put up with it, I don't have to!"

She looked at the maid, who was now carrying an armful of silken lingerie from a dresser drawer. "I'm packing, as you can see. Tell that to Dwight when he comes back! Tell him I've left! I'll never stand for this kind of treatment! I'm going to Los Angeles. I have friends there, and afterward—I'll go home again!"

"But Miss Hastings—you can't do that! It's not fair to Dwight! He didn't leave you deliberately. He had to go. You mustn't act as if it were a personal choice, as if he wanted to hurt you—"

• • •

Marvel's eyes were on Judy's face with a queer, steady scrutiny. Judy could feel the blood coming up in her cheeks. "Just what business is this of yours, anyway?" Marvel asked with deliberate rudeness.

"Dwight asked me to come here. That's all," Judy bit her lip.

Marvel laughed, a soft, unbelieving sound. "You'd do it for any officer you knew who asked you, wouldn't you? Explain to his poor little unversed wife the fine old traditions of the Navy. Explain that she's got to sit back and be neglected and love it? Oh, no, you wouldn't, Miss Alcott! I'm not altogether a fool. I knew, the minute I looked at you." She stopped. She reached for a cigaret and lit it. She took a long inward breath and then she said slowly, "You're in love with him, aren't you?"

Judy leaped to her feet. Her face was stinging with color. "I'm sorry I haven't succeeded in explaining to you," she said. "I'll go."

"No! Don't go!" Marvel was standing, too, her green eyes narrowed. "You and I might just as well understand each other. I would not have objected to Dwight's absence if he had been decent enough to come here and explain himself. I'm not a complete idiot, you know! But to call me up, casually, as if I were a servant! To hang up on me! And then—to send you—"

Judy walked toward the door, her head high. She would not stand here another moment, listening to this spoiled, arrogant girl who trod over other people's feelings with all the hard assurance that her millions gave her.

• • •

Marvel said, "You can run away, if you like, but that doesn't change anything! I'm leaving not so much because he was ordered to sea, but because from the moment I stepped off that airliner I knew the truth! He's been going out with you. He's been making love to you. You're in love with him, and you hate me. Well, I give him to you, do you hear? I'm going, and I'm never coming back. Let him marry you! Let him stay in the Navy and be poor and go to sea and do all the other grubby, stupid things you Navy people do. Naval society!" She laughed shrilly. "You're dowdy, and you're dumb, and he's blind! Blind! I wanted to give him a chance. He could have gone to Washington—had a real career—". She was shouting now, defiantly screaming because the call of the Navy that she could not understand had triumphed over her own power.

Judy said tightly, "I'm sorry you've insulted me, Miss Hastings, but I quite understand. As for being in love with me—it is you Dwight is engaged to marry, not me!"

"Because he's smart!" Marvel said furiously, "Because he knows that money could open the way for him."

"You're mistaken," said Judy. "He happens to love you."

Marvel screamed, "Did he tell you to tell me that, too? Oh, that's very funny! He sends you here, after God knows how many hours of love-making, to tell me that he loves me! Well, you can go back and tell him I'm through! I'm not the fool he takes me for! I'm going to Los Angeles and I hope I never see him again!"

Efforts To Assist Steps To Obtain Airline Are Made

Efforts to assist steps to obtain airline service for Lubbock are being continued.

Lubbock's portion of a brief supporting the application of Braniff Airlines for a certificate of convenience and necessity to establish a passenger and mail from San Antonio to Denver has been virtually completed, according to information given at the chamber of commerce this morning.

It will be submitted to an inter-city conference in San Angelo Monday where a master brief developed from various of the local briefs will be prepared for submission to the federal civil aeronautics authority in Washington, D. C.

The brief, which will be supplementary to one already filed by the airline, will stress the prospective sources of patronage should the line be established, chamber of commerce officials said.

C. E. Maedgen, chairman of the chamber's aviation committee, probably will attend the San Angelo meeting.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

P. W. A.-ER ICKES and several Republican governors-elect, notably in Pennsylvania, are glaring at each other like a couple of Kilkenny cats on a backyard fence. It's one of the most amusing and bizarre interludes in the New Deal political drama.

Few weeks before the late political unpleasantness, Mr. Ickes handed out grants and loans like a sailor on a spree. His generosity was all bound 'round with rubber strings, however, for he simply made allocations—paper awards not backed by visible cash. G. O. P. candidates in these areas promised the people that they would refuse these handouts if they were elected, on the theory that acceptance would plung their states further into debt. Despite their biting of the hand that was willing to feed their opponents, they triumphed.

Now Mr. Ickes would like to cancel these slightly shopworn offers. But to wash them out would supply proof that he was playing P. W. A. politics in the first instance. Yet, to wait until all the gubernatorial Kilkennies take office on January 1, and permit them to throw him out of their states, will dramatize a distinct rebuke to a major New Deal program. Until now he has been able to keep his dilemma out of the headlines.

• • •

NEEDFUL: Big Business—Democratic Big Business—is already making goo-goo eyes at Bennett Clark of Missouri as their 1940 hero. They have heard unverified whispers that he is John Garner's pick, and they're willing to stake a little coin on the Texan's convention colt. Jack never lost a horse race yet.

But Bennett—and this is big news, too—has refused to let them soil his palm with political mazuma so far. Remembering that his father lost the presidential nomination to Woodrow Wilson because of certain unsavory backers—Tammany, et al—the son intends to be more choosy about his financial and political abettors. If he runs, he will proclaim himself as the candidate of the plain, show-me folk, and not an arch-reactionary brought to the barrier by Wall Street jockeys.

The would-be contributors, however, are extremely hard-headed Democrats, or think they are; they voted for F. D. R. twice and also collected cash for him in the early days. Out of their knowledge and experience they're reminding the squeamish Missourian that Mr. Roosevelt got his start on the big track through $10,000 contributions from several pre-New Deal "economic royalists"—the late Jesse Straus, the late William H. Woodin, the late Robert W. Bingham, Frank Walker, Joseph P. Kennedy and Henry Morgenthau, sr. They also put up the money for Jim Farley's first baby-kissing, handshaking and delegate-collecting trip.

• • •

SUSPICIOUS: The first seemingly serious Roosevelt-for-reelection drive has struck the Capital. But it blew into town in such a mysterious manner that even the me-too men in the presidential circle are bewildered—and worried. Some cherish the suspicion that it may be designed to discredit F. D. R. by springing the boom prematurely.

Though headquarters are listed as 63 Park Row—the old New York World building—the four-page pamphlet does not bear the name of individual or corporate sponsors. "America calls—and calls now," reads the Page 1 proclamation, and when you turn over, you discover the man that we are "calling" is Franklin D. Roosevelt. As you might guess, the unknown president makers ask for contributions small or large. Their movement, they say, is a "mass and not a class affair."

One sentence has a dirty ring in the ears of F. D. R.'s loyal friends. It notes that their undertaking is "not partisan—neither Democratic nor Republican. We do not regard President Roosevelt's policies as Democratic any more than they are Republican." Which is exactly why a powerful faction within the party doesn't want him renominated! It's like going to a dinner-party with your coat turned inside out.

CASES: Republican "winnahs" dropping into Washington to receive the blessing of the near-great and red-headed father—National Chairman John Hamilton—talk like Mark Hanna and William McKinley on one question. They report that the tariff has not been wiped out as a major political issue by Cordell Hull's supposedly scientific handling of this problem.

At least 50 per cent of the Republicans who captured House seats insist that the tariff tossed them into office. In West Virginia, for instance, the G. O. P.-ers toured the state with truckloads of foreign coal, handing out a piece to the miners with warnings that Russian importations were throwing them out of their jobs. The same tactics were repeated in the farm areas with devastating effect. The most popular pieces of campaign literature, according to headquarters men here, were post cards revealing the terrific increase in imports since 1932. No mention, of course, was made of the drouth as a contributory factor.

Even so, the Republican party has finally come around to admitting, with Grover Cleveland, that "the tariff is a local issue." In some sections they piped it down and in others they piped it up. They harped the hardest on ex-Majority Leader Bert Snell's original line: "The New Deal has sold the American farmer down the river!"

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

POLITICAL analysts have unearthed several backstage angles on the New York election that are worth noting. One is that the Italian vote—which is important upstate as well as in the metropolis—went heavily against Governor Lehman. Evidently citizens of Italian origin are taking their political cues from Mussolini. The latter's anti-Jewish pronouncements just before election plainly influenced the returns from Italian colonies in upstate industrial centers.

The results in one predominantly Italian ward of an upstate city illustrate the point. In the past the Democrats have consistently carried this ward by a substantial majority, sometimes by as much as 800, because the laborers who comprised most of its population felt that the Democrats had done and would do more for them than the G. O. P. This year Lehman carried the ward by only 276 votes. Poletti—an Italian—ran up a majority of 456 on the same ticket. Corsi—also an Italian but on the Republican side—carried the same ward by 78 votes against Mead, whose pro-labor record is outstanding. Clearly, the Italian voters played the Italian angle to the limit.

There are also indications that Lehman was hurt by Catholic defections. Despite Jim Farley's earnest and skillful efforts to counteract them, many Catholics obviously swallowed the absurd whispered rumors that Poletti must be a communist because Corliss Lamont had been best man at his wedding. Lehman was a target for their wrath because he insisted on Poletti's pomination for lieutenant governor to replace William M. Bray, a loyal son of the church.

• • •

DOUBLED: Another inside slant was that Republican members of some upstate election boards caught their Democratic colleagues napping and pulled a fast one to help the G. O. P. cause.

Old style voting machines were used in some counties with only seven party columns available, while eight parties had candidates entered for various offices. The smart G. O. P. boys took the Independent Progressive party—a mushroom ticket created to offset the American Labor party's endorsement of Lehman by listing Dewey's name on the machine twice also—and doubled it into the same column with the Townsend party, which only ran candidates for Congress.

With both party emblems at the head of the column and only one set of levers, many Townsendite voters were kidded into voting the Dewey state ticket. In some cases, the Democrats woke up in time to get court orders compelling the election boards to cover the Townsend emblem at the head of the column with stickers, leaving it only down below with the names of genuine Townsend candidates. But in many others they didn't, and unintentional Townsendite votes undoubtedly swelled the Republican total to some extent.

Side Glances---By George Clark

"I feel like going back to my home town and making some man a darn good wife."

Texas Topics---By Howard Marshall

AUSTIN, Nov. 29. (AP)—Letters of great men and women, and some not great, are studied and read with much interest, sometimes after they are dead, sometimes before.

This in an account of a bit of correspondence between two persons who do not pretend to greatness, one a little girl in distant Providence, R. I., the other the 39-year-old governor of Texas, James V. Allred.

Shirley Eastwood is the girl's name and last July she was 13 years old. A few weeks ago she was lonely because no kids were living near her home, so she thought of writing the governor of Texas of her hopes and ambitions, how at one time she wanted to be a news reporter or a detective, but now was inclining toward operating a ranch.

• • •

She Wants Information

"I am going to save my money and when I grow older I am going out West to buy a ranch," she wrote longhand. "I have always wanted a ranch, especially in Wyoming, but I don't know why I want it there.

"I was thinking of having either a cattle ranch or a sheep ranch raising wheat or corn on the side. My sister would like me to start a horse ranch but I think a few horses for the cowboys and some for the family would be alright.

"I am telling you all this because I would like your advice. Could you tell me how many acres I would need, how many cattle or sheep, what the price would be, and all those important details?

"I would like to know just in case I get enough money, but please don't put everything else aside just to find out because it will be many a year before I will be old enough or wise enough to start a ranch."

IF Governor Allred could help make her "dream come true," she said, she would be very "happy."

The governor is a pretty human sort of fellow. He can remember his boyhood days when a governor or other state official was a big man in his eyes and one of the pleasures of being Texas' chief executive, anyone who knows him well will say, has been the opportunity it has given of bringing the office closer to the people, including small girls and boys.

"I have your letter and am glad to know you are interested in settling in the Southwest when you are grown up," he replied. "I enjoyed reading your very nice letter.

"In order to assist you as much as possible I am going to ask Major E. A. Wood, director of the Texas Planning board, Austin, to give you any suggestions he can, and also am referring copy of your letter to the Extension department of our Agricultural and Mechanical college, College Station, Texas. I hope they will be able to furnish you the information you desire.

"Again assuring you of my appreciation of your letter, and with all good wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,
James V. Allred, Governor of Texas."

Best Stationary Used

The letter went to Shirley on the heavily-engraved official stationery of the governor's office.

The governor had another letter from Shirley which said she had received information from A. & M. college telling the price of land and "how many head to the acre" are needed, but expressing some apprehension the man who wrote her must have "thought me awful asking questions about Wyoming."

"When my Mother read your first letter to me she said I was crazy and not to bother you anymore as I would probably never get out West, but my father encourages me," Shirley said.

"When I wrote you my first letter it was when I was alone and I did not tell anyone about it. But now the whole family knows and they think the same as my Mother. I bet you wish that I thought the same, but after I get my homework done it gets sort of lonely because there are no kids living near us and writing to you helps to fill up between supper and bed-time.

• • •

I saw a picture of the 'dignified' governors, James V. Allred of Texas, and Teller Ammons of Colorado — after the Texas governor planted his state flag on the peak as a result of a football wager. So I cut it out and I will put it in a scrap-book. Just what team was you out cheering for?

"Say, Mr. Allred, do you read and answer my letters or does your secretary do it?"

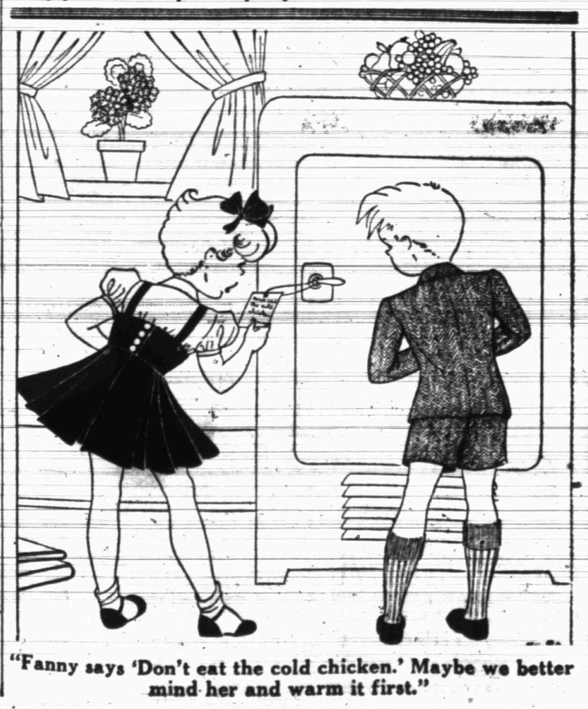

Governor Allred read Shirley's letters and dictated the answer to his secretary, Mrs. Alma Albert. He personally acknowledges letters of children except when the pressure of official business is too great.

TARZAN THE FEARLESS 93 By Edgar Rice Burroughs

As Tarzan mounted the ladder with his fellow captives, the warriors on the platform kept him covered with drawn bows. They were taking no chances on a sudden, spectacular leap to freedom. But the ape-man seemed resigned to the fate that awaited him.

Soon the prisoners were assembled for the horrible sacrifice. Kagundo chose Jeff Biggers as the first to be hurled into the maw of the Tree-God. Jeff begged for his life, but his tearful supplications merely stimulated the bloodlust of the savages.

Warriors pushed him onto the plank which was the Tree-God's tongue, and Kagundo prodded him with a spear toward the cavernous interior of the idol's mouth. The other captives, except Tarzan, trembled, for this was the fate which was soon to be theirs.

In a daze of terror Jeff walked along the plank, followed by the exultant witch-doctor. Then, just before Kagundo entered the dark interior, he turned slowly to Tarzan and said: "Prepare to die, demon! This first victim will show the way. You are next!"

Search Opened For Hijacker

An automobile taken from J. K. Jackson, County Line gin operator, Saturday night by an armed hijacker, was found abandoned Tuesday morning near Rochester in Haskell county.

Immediately officers launched a search for John Buford, escaped convict and West Texas No. 1 bad man. Late Tuesday night authorities here had received no trace of Buford.

Jackson was hijacked by a man meeting Buford's description Saturday night, after the armed man entered Jackson's car at Broadway and Avenue Q between 7 and 8 o'clock.

Deprived Of Car, $2

The gin operator was forced to drive out on the Lubbock-Littlefield highway to within three miles northeast of Shallowater then to within three miles of County Line, in northwest Lubbock county, where he was deprived of $2 in "change" and his automobile, a 1938 sedan.

The gunman, who had assured his victim "I'm not going to hurt you if you don't cross me up," sped away toward the Littlefield highway, Jackson told the Evening Journal.

Identification Is Made

Identification of the gunman as Buford was made by the sheriff's department, rangers and police, independent of each other, because of the freedom exhibited in the gunman's remarks. Jackson said this morning the man had discouraged "my watching him closely."

The man told Jackson he had "knocked over" a filling station here and that his car was abandoned in Lubbock, where officers were watching it.

Jackson's assumption the bandit meant the immediate past was not matched by authorities here.

They recalled Buford, who escaped from Huntsville and, a few weeks ago, from Nolan county jail where he had been taken on a bench warrant from the penitentiary, several months ago had robbed a Lubbock service station at Broadway and Avenue Q, taken an attendant for a ride and from his possession approximately $40.

They also remembered the bandit after a wild dash through alleys, had left his automobile and apparently left for Littlefield by freight train.

The filling station attendant was not harmed and, as in the gunman's attitude toward Jackson, was assured he would not be injured if he made no outcry or suspicious gesture.

Wanted at Seguin, Coleman, Lubbock, Nolan county and various other Texas places, Buford, if the man who robbed Jackson is that person, related to his latest victim he once had escaped the Missouri penitentiary.

Authorities did not know late Friday whether FBI records would corroborate that statement, checks not having been completed.

Dangerous Despite Courtesy

When Buford escaped the Nolan county jail he slid down an improvised rope directly in front of a window on a court room. Court was in session. Surrounded for the greater part of 24 hours by a cordon of authorities, he escaped the net.

The man is dangerous despite his courtesy, said authorities. "He is so cool he anticipates the slightest moves of those near him," said Sheriff Tom Abel.

Ranger Captain Mannie Galt went to Rochester directly after the Jackson machine, a wheel and a tire missing, was found abandoned and a Rochester deputy of Sheriff Giles Kemp had telephoned authorities here Buford was in the vicinity.

SHIFT TO BUYING SIDE

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP)—Traders shifted to the buying side in today's stock market, apparently on the theory business news was still mainly constructive and that the list, after two weeks of declines, was entitled to at least a technical turn about.

Gains ran to 2 or more points at the best, with selected steels, motors, rails, rubbers and specialties favored. Light selling in the closing hour knocked down many issues from top marks, but favored stocks generally finished with satisfactory plus signs.

Low-priced issues such as Continental Motors and Richfield Oil accounted for a sizeable portion of the day's turnover of 817,700 shares. These two stocks edged up small fractions to new highs for the year. Yesterday's volume amounted to 1,237,702 shares.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues was up .3 of a point at 50.3.

Allied Chemical, Westinghouse and Johns-Manville were up 2 to 3 points. Elsewhere improvement in lesser degree was shown by Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, American Smelting, Dow Chemical, Philip Morris, Great Northern and Union Pacific.

Most utilities, oils, aircrafts, farm implements and mail orders jogged over a narrow route.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 29 (AP)—Steadiness of outside markets supported cotton futures here today in one of the quietest sessions of the year, and final prices were steady at net gains of 2 to 3 points.

Favorable cables started prices on the upgrade but circulation of eleven December notices managed to depress that month during the greater part of the session.

Trade demand and covering supported other positions and in late dealings the rally in securities accounted for enough buying to carry most options to the day's highs.

Dec contracts closed at 8.78, Jan. at 8.57-bid, March at 8.54, May at 8.33-bid, July at 8.11, Oct. at 7.79, Dec. (new) at 7.82-bid and March (1940) at 7.85-bid.

Activity in spots increased moderately and sales totaled 5,173 bales. Middling closed 3 points higher at 8.64.

Prime influences behind the desire to hold off were the unsettled European situation, particularly the threat of a general strike in France, and the continued dullness in domestic textiles.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP)—Trade and local buying absorbed liquidation, hedging and foreign selling in cotton futures today. March sold up from 8.41@8.44 and closed at 8.43. Closing prices showed net advances of 2 to 4 points.

The market opened unchanged to 3 points higher with the effects of steady Liverpool cables partly offset by December liquidation and Bombay selling. Transactions generally represented liquidation of accounts or the transfer from nearby to distant positions.

Cotton exports for the season thus far are 964,000 bales behind last year. Spot cotton sales so far this season in the ten designated southern markets are 2,384,981 bales against 4,059,323 for the same period last year.

Exports 16,179 making 1,577,580 so far this season. Port receipts 15,386, port stocks 3,187,971.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 29 (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 2 points higher at 8.61 cents a pound; average for the past thirty market days 8.63 cents a pound.

The young couple kidnaped three persons, changed twice to stolen automobiles and engaged police in a running gun battle before disappearing near Griffith, Ind.

Grain . .

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (AP)—Suggestions of better European demand for North American grains lifted Chicago wheat and corn prices half a cent today, but with corn then reacting somewhat.

Negotiations were reported as in progress for the purchase of a large quantity of United States Pacific coast wheat by British millers. A hitch regarding the price, however, was said to be temporarily impeding wind-up of the deal.

At the last, Chicago wheat futures showed 3/8 to 5/8 hoist compared with yesterday's finish, Dec. 61 7/8@62, May 65 3/8@65 1/2, corn unchanged to 1/8 up, Dec. 47 3/8@47 3/4, May 51 3/8@51 1/2, oats unchanged to 1/8 advance, rye unchanged to 1/4 cent bulge, and provisions unchanged to a jump of 7 cents.

Fond Papas To Spend Millions

NEW YORK, Nov. 29. (AP) — The question of debutante parties bobbed up again today with the finding, announced after some research, that fond papas will spend approximately $8,000,000 to introduce their daughters to "polite society" this season.

The actual cost of the debut parties for 1,000 eligible 18-year-old girls in New York and 15 other of the biggest and wealthiest cities in the U. S. was placed by Fortune magazine at approximately $3,000,-000—for champagne, orchestras, engraved announcements, scrambled eggs with sausages, et cetera. The total cost for the "coming out" year—exclusive of $3,000 for a wardrobe—was figured at around $8,500 each.

Still A Big Business

It's still a big business, Fortune said after a survey of the debutante scene, but the debutantes are all dressed up with no place to go because, the magazine said, there is very little "polite society" left into which they can be introduced.

More "findings" from the research:

"Society" today is little more than a stag line of college boys and unemployed young men, except in "the old south."

". . . adults, and especially men —marriageable or otherwise—have almost completely disappeared from the society into which a New York girl makes her debut today. So have they in Boston, where debutantes are now presented to the Harvard undergraduate body, minus freshmen. They have disappeared because the social game costs time and money. . ."

Just College Boys

"In New York, for instance . . . 300-odd New York debutantes are being presented not to the society of their elders, not to a waiting legion of eligible bachelors, but to 2,500 college boys and recent graduates, many of them unemployed."

The magazine said the 1,000 U. S. debutantes this year, "pick of the country from the standpoint of family background, wealth and breeding, will make their debut into a society that is everywhere in the throes of change, if not decay."

Several Are On WPA Program

Cross-section of problems faced by women's and professional projects supervisors and other administrative personnel were discussed Tuesday afternoon when representatives from Amarillo, Lubbock, San Angelo and El Paso WPA district offices continued a four-day institute program begun that morning in Lubbock hotel.

Miss Evelyn Richter, Lubbock supervisor, presided.

Frank Peterson, area supervisor of the administrative field office at Amarillo, read a paper prepared by Al Melinger, state director of publicity of the WPA. Peterson pointed out need of informing the public "what the WPA is" and discussed the agency of newspapers in being of assistance to WPA programs. He explained necessity for WPA personnel learning what constitutes news and how to report to newspapers.

Engine trouble at Tulia prevented attendance of Dick Martin, news commentator of KGNC, Globe-News station at Amarillo, who was flying here.

Mrs. Pearl Walker, supervisor of Amarillo, cited importance of WPA display projects displays and of gatherings for interpreting work programs.

Transition Is Explained

Transition of the program of the organization went through the sewing rooms stage, then embraced home economics and housekeeping projects, it was explained. Afterward were ground water and mineral surveys.

Evidence of some of the work being done, a "preventorium" display is being arranged. A preventorium is a hospital project for prevention of tuberculosis among underprivileged children. It is located near Amarillo. Home conditions are watched closely after patients leave the hospital, where they have been treated six months provided improvement has been evidenced.

So popular has treatment been, two small boys who had been home only a brief time after being in the hospital expressed pleasure at having lost two pounds, apparently believing they might be allowed to return to the preventorium.

Today's Subjects

Subjects to be discussed today and speakers:

9-11:30 a. m., Introduction with Mrs. Loretta Rand presiding; discussion: "How to Plan an Area Training Program," Grace E. Williams, field supervisor; a work assignment, when supervisor and area supervisors of women's and professional projects in each administrative field office will plan a training program for one area in their territory for a period of three months;

1-4:30 p. m., Mrs. Loretta Rand will again preside and the institute will divide into groups according to administrative field offices to make an area training program. A discussion on difficulties encountered in making the program will close the day's program.

Moreno The Magician Seen At Lions Club

Performing a dozen tricks, and using several members of the club as "stooges," Moreno, the magician, entertained the Lions club yesterday noon at its luncheon in the Hilton hotel.

Clyde Fortune, program chairman, introduced Moreno. Judge E. L. Pitts, Envoy V. M. VanSyckle, V. H. Moore, Rev. O. P. Clark and Robert H. Bean, president, assisted. His first trick was to change a cane into a Lions flag. Other stunts included the threading of 10 needles, which were placed in his mouth by 10 of the audience and President Bean, who tossed the small bag of thread into his mouth. He claimed to have bought the trick from the late Harry Houdini's widow.

President Bean announced annual football banquet of the club would be given the night of Dec. 13.

District Governor Omar Burleson spoke briefly, saying he was on a semi-official visit, enroute to Floydada for a zone meeting last night.

Lubbock ranks third in membership in division 2 of Lions International, based on membership. The division is for clubs with from 86 to 125 members. Date was as of July 1 last.
