Rangers Meet Dalhart Friday in Crucial Conference Game

Wolves Hold Third Place in Conference

The Rangers will meet their formidable conference opponent this far in the year at Dalhart Friday night at 8 o'clock when they meet the Dalhart Wolves in a game which will be an important bearing on the I-A title. In conference standings, Dalhart is third, ranking behind the leaders, Phillips of Perryton. A victory by Dalhart would drop Perryton into a second place.

The Wolves have lost but one conference game, dropping a 38-0 decision to Phillips. Over the season route, they have won and lost three. Their losses were to Shamrock, Littlefield and Phillips, three of the Panhandle's strongest teams.

Results of the half-day traffic check in Perryton Tuesday by state highway patrolmen Jack Shields and Bob Loving, assisted by chief of police Clyde Tarbox, revealed that Perryton motorists are above average in possessing valid drivers licenses and conforming to state equipment laws.

The officers blocked off streets Tuesday morning, and stopped over 200 cars to check credentials and equipment. Of this number, only seven were found without valid driver's license.

Several violations were found without proper lights, and some Texas residents were found driving cars with out-of-state license tags, stated the patrolmen.

On the whole, however, those stopped were quite cooperative and no serious violations were found, according to Shields.

Another traffic check is planned in the near future.

BIG BENDER—This powerful, portable machine bends cold oil and gas pipe with the greatest ease. The invention of John Coody of Houston, Tex., is able to bend perfect curves in pipe lines as big as 31 inches in diameter. S. M. Butler, who will manufacture the machine with Ole and Weed Peterson, said the bender will also fit pipe lines to any terrain without leaving wrinkles on the inside of the pipe. (AP Photo)

Post Office Requests City Mail Delivery for Four More Blocks

The local post office has requested authorization for an extension of city mail delivery to another four blocks on the north side of the railroad, reports acting postmaster Arvie Hale. There is a good chance that the extension will be allowed, since the four blocks have completed all requirements as to proper house numbers mail boxes, sidewalks and paved streets, Hale added.

These four blocks are bounded on the south by S. W. 3rd Ave., on the north by S. W. 2nd Ave., on the east by S. Drake and on the west by S. Grinnell.

Parcel post delivery in this area has been requested also. Plans are being made to furnish mail delivery service in some sections north of the railroad by the rural mail carrier. Petitions to receive this service must be submitted to the postal department before it can go into effect, however.

Plans Nearing Completion for Paving Extension on Highways

A final effort is being made by the city to sign up property owners along highways 83 and 117 for curb and gutter construction, the prerequisite to extending the paving to property lines along these highways.

Frank Shaffer, who is contracting property owners for curb and gutter construction, reports that owners on both sides of highway 83 south to the Archer Motel have signed contracts and that the majority of owners on Brillhart avenue and highway 83 north of the tracks are willing to pay for curb and gutter.

Several property owners on Brillhart avenue, however, are still "holding out" and no construction can be started until all property owners agree to install curb and gutter.

Once the curb and gutter is completed, the state highway department will construct the additional paving on both highways at no cost to the city or individual property owners.

Other neighboring Panhandle towns have taken advantage of this additional paving, but Perryton has been slow to do so.

Leonard Boughan, age 17, was burned seriously Saturday afternoon when the gasoline with which he was cleaning clothes in the bathroom of the Marvin Ferguson home ignited. Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson, with whom Boughan lives, were out of town when the accident happened.

He smothered the flames with bedclothes, then drove three blocks to the Johnnie Ferguson home for aid. Mrs. Ferguson did not hear him knock, but heard his groans and found him outside.

She took him to the Sanford Hospital, where his condition was described as serious. Ninety-five per cent of his body was burned.

Boughan has been working since early summer for the Ferguson Ready-Mix company as a truck driver. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Boughan, and a younger brother arrived Monday from their home in Kline, Colo.

What It Means:

Atom's 'Operation Bootstrap'

WASHINGTON—Atomic scientists are talking more and more about a major atomic project—Operation Bootstrap. In simple words, its goal is to "breed" atomic fuel from other atomic fuel, getting more than the original amount. At the same time heat and electricity would be produced. Thus atomic fuel would be "pulling itself up by its bootstraps."

Dr. Robert F. Bacher, the only scientist member of the Atomic Energy Commission, called this project "revolutionary" in a recent speech. He added "but it certainly is enticing." He said Operation Bootstrap possibly may answer the question whether atomic plants ever will provide a major amount of the world's power. It may answer other questions, too, but this one is of prime importance. Here's why:

Even if scientists discover ways to build atomic power plants on a large scale, the basic raw material—uranium—is scarce. Operation of the plants would be limited to the amount of uranium that can be found in the world. Operation Bootstrap is investigating one way to get around this.

Atomic bombs and power plants must have a fissionable material as a base. A fissionable material is an element whose atoms will split by chain reaction and give out energy.

In the atomic bomb project the fissionable material is produced from uranium by the huge atomic installations at enormous cost. Uranium is divided into sister elements, U-235 and U-238. U-235 is fissionable; U-238 is not. There are 140 times as much U-238 as U-235. The U-238 can be turned into a fissionable material, plutonium, but the present process uses as much U-235 as it creates plutonium out of U-238. So there's no profit in it.

Now scientists hope to "breed" fissionable material from U-238 and from another element, thorium. The quantity of fissionable material would be much greater than the amount consumed in the process, and in addition it would create heat and electricity as a by-product.

There are two big advantages of the new method: (1) U-238 is 140 times as abundant as its sister element, U-235. That means the raw product from which they come, uranium, would be made to produce much more fissionable material than by present methods if U-238 can be used efficiently, and (2) it would add a new element, thorium, to the raw materials from which fissionable materials can be produced in quantity. There is estimated to be from three to four times as much thorium as uranium in the world.

The "breeding" is done this way: The scientists start off with a pile of U-235. They place the other materials called "fertile materials"—U-238 and thorium, which are radio active but not fissionable—in the "pile." The "fertile material" then becomes fissionable and thus is itself an atomic fuel.

The success of Operation Bootstrap depends upon how efficient the scientists can make the process. At present most fissionable material has to come from the elaborate atomic plants that have been constructed at a cost of more than two billion dollars. The new process, if successful, would permit more material to by-pass these plants.

In a practical way, here's what Operation Bootstrap means: The British use about 50 billion kilowatt hours of electricity a year. They estimate it would take 1,000 tons of uranium to produce that much of electricity. But the world's entire production of uranium in 1939—the last year for which figures are available—was only 1,000 tons.

How much uranium there is in the world and the rate at which it is being mined are official secrets, but the British say the known figures are significant. They say that on this basis, atomic energy on a great scale, doesn't seem feasible.

If Operation Bootstrap is successful, the whole picture is changed, because the supply of "atomic fuel" would be increased many times. Meanwhile this is Bacher's advice:

Don't believe all the wild predictions you hear of atomics. "Some, like nuclear pills to put in your gas tank, are just plain nonsense," he says.

Youth Helps Poland

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Youth mobilized under the nationwide "In Service of Poland" scheme have done work for the country valued at $625,000. That's the highlight of the report of Colonel Edward Braniewski, commander-in-chief of "In Service of Poland" for the last three months.

Youths 16 to 21 are embraced in the organization. In addition to work on reconstruction projects, they receive 16 hours of military training monthly "to help prepare for defense of the nation if needed." The youths get no pay and no cigarettes. All they receive is free food and clothing, 50 cents per month for knick-knacks.

Youth brigades from Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Hungary, France, Norway, Denmark and Finland have helped Poles in their reconstruction tasks. About 2,000,000 Polish youths are expected to be "In Service of Poland" by the end of 1948.

Restoring Greek Land

ATHENS (AP)—Project agreements for a $26,000,000 soil and water conservation program have been signed by the Economic Coordination administration and the Greek government. The program is designed to make large areas of Greek land more productive. Many of these regions are underdeveloped, or unproductive because of flooding or the lack of water during the dry summer period.

One agreement calls for drainage of 57,735 acres in 37 areas of central and southern Greece. Under the same agreement 109,957 acres will be irrigated in 62 areas. A second agreement calls for similar work on the Salonika Serras, and Drama plains in northern Greece. The projects will include development of dykes, reforestation and flood regulation.

Sign of Courtesy Wanted

ANNA HILL (AP)—The Anna Rotary club didn't like the city's new speed warning. So it wrote city council:

"The club feels that these signs are in very poor taste, and do not make a very good impression upon visitors to our city. We feel that it would have been more appropriate to read 'Speed limit 20 miles per hour strictly enforced.' Instead, the posted signs read:

Armistice Day

Thirty years ago today the "Cease Fire" command ended World War I. And on that day we honored those who had fallen in the service of our country. Today, added to that honor roll are those who gave their lives in the second great world conflict. It is not enough this Armistice Day to honor the brave dead of two wars by bowing our heads in prayer. Only by each of us working assiduously to prevent another war—working to build an everlasting Peace—can we pay them deserving tribute.

SEGUIN, Texas — Those high-spirited girls who lead the band, in the halos and turn cartwheels before the cheering section at the football game don't get their start at the game.

They go to a special school to learn the tricks of a Grade A drum majorette.

For two weeks each summer members and leaders of high school bands get their basic training at the music recreation school held at Texas Lutheran College here. The session is directed by the Vandercreek School of Music in Chicago.

Many of the pretty girls leading Texas high school bands this fall brushed up on the tricks of the trade at last summer's session. Others are looking forward to next year's courses. These include special classes in twirling, swinging, high-kicking, marching and directing.

Girls outnumber boys by about two to one at the drum major school, a fact highly satisfactory to the boys, who comment:

Czech Assails Red Films

PRAGUE (AP) — Freedom of speech is muted but not dead on Czechoslovakia and newspaper readers can still write letters to the editor expressing a preference for American movies over the Russian variety. The newspaper "Mlada Fronta," a strong Communist supporter, has been campaigning against bad movies, bad music and bad stage shows. It cited the movie "Red Stallion," a western, as an example of the worst type of American movie, which should not be shown in Czechoslovakia.

"Mlada Fronta" published the following unsigned letter of reaction:

"You are an ox to start such a campaign. Do you believe you represent the will of the people? Go and have a look at the box office of a cinema where an American picture is running and one where a Russian botch-work is running. There you will see the will of the people. If your campaign results in the withdrawal of American pictures and we are forced to see those Russian patch-ups, then after the war I'll beat you so that you will not forget it until your death."

A survey of titles playing at 17 first class movie theaters in Prague during a week in August showed this breakdown of movies by countries of origin: United States, 10; Russia 3; France 2; Czechoslovakia 2.

Alps Claim 40 Lives

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — The Swiss Alps have claimed approximately 40 lives during the current mountaineering season. The season begins in May and ends in mid-September, depending on weather conditions.

The victims ranged all the way from rank novices who plunged to their deaths when they were lured to a perilous spot by the sight of an edelweiss, to hard-bitten mountaineers who were surprised by bad weather or hit by stones which came hurtling down the mountainside. One of Switzerland's most experienced guides, Hans Schlunegger of Wengen, and two companions were caught by an avalanche on the Grosshorn and plunged to their deaths, 800 meters down the glacial slopes.

One of the strangest stories to come out of the Jungfrau area was that of a woman climber, who survived two nights in sub-freezing temperatures. Her two men companions froze to death after a blizzard surprised the trio and they were forced to bivouac for the night.

Mrs. Pearl Wade entertained Mr. and Mrs. George Parker and Mr. and Mrs. Luther Wade with a waffle supper Monday evening.

Swords to Plowshares

LONDON (AP) — Workers at the Royal Woolwich arsenal — who turned out millions of bullets during the war—are making 150,000 lipstick-holders on cartridge-case machines.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter LaMaster left Thursday morning to visit with their daughter, Gwen Vestal, who is attending college in Denton. They will also visit with his brother, Cy LaMaster and family in Dallas, then will attend the Texas-TCU football game in Fort Worth Saturday.

Mrs. W. H. Lackey spent from Wednesday to Monday of this week in Waxahatchie, staying with her mother, who is quite ill.

CAMERA NEWS

ON THE PROGRAM—When Sir Felix Korim floated a lady in air for the Society of American Magicians, this picture became part of the record. Other amateur cameramen can find their work important for groups to which they belong.

By IRVING DESFOR
Director

One of the nicest things about photography is that it is such a good mixer.

It gets along with, and even adds to the many other interests that a person may have. Be it in sports, nature, lore, community work or just plain family life, your camera can increase its enjoyment with a visual, personal and perpetual record.

At the start it's quite likely that pictures of your other activities will be casual and haphazard. Perhaps that's exactly what you're doing now. Here's a suggestion to plan a serious approach to an amateur photographic career. What it can develop into is up to you.

No matter what club, church, lodge, civic group or organization you may belong to, its meetings, activities or entertainments can be recorded in photos that will interest all and perhaps even be valuable. It doesn't take elaborate equipment and high priced cameras, either. It does require a willingness to work, an earnest interest in photography and in your group, and a talk with its officers. Any group, like any individual, is flattered to have its picture taken. Given the opportunity almost any organization would love to have an "official photographer" if it doesn't mean upsetting the national budget . . . and it needn't!

Flash Essential
Whatever camera you are now using can be adapted to the job, so there can be no outlay for major equipment at once. If you own a flash attachment at present then your principal problem is solved. If not, there are any number of reasonably priced flash attachments for you at your favorite dealer. Some fast film and a dozen flash bulbs and you are all set.

From ten years' experience as official photographer for my own pet group, the Society of American Magicians, in New York, here are some practical hints. Official recognition and cooperation is essential, for with it you get front row seats to all functions. Otherwise you'll be shooting speakers, demonstrations at activities from behind heads or from bad angles. You should be as inconspicuous as possible—not fidgeting or focus sing with the camera continually. Jerking up and down with the camera may annoy those near you and distract attention from the platform. Try to learn in advance what the program is to be and plan your shots for variety and interest. If a lecturer were to talk on "Animal Life," for instance, it makes a far better photo to show him holding up a snake or guinea pig than merely in a speaking pose. Change the angle, now and then, to show the audience, possibly with the speaker. After the programs are formally over, try to get a posed close-up of the guest of honor, or you, aren't exhausted.

Identify the Pictures

Be sure to get the correct identification immediately and write it down as you take each picture—name, titles, date, function. And start a definite filing system for the negatives at once—don't let them accumulate.

A good way to present the results is to put them in an album which can be passed around at the next meeting. Get the type which has loose leaf, cellophane pages. The pictures slide in and can be removed when a new batch is ready. On the cover is lettered the organization's and your name.

That's the spirit . . . the community spirit! And it makes a good picture.

Czechs, Poles Unify Communications

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Poland and Czechoslovakia, already working hand-in-hand in every branch of economic and industrial recovery, are now planning to unify and expand their communications facilities.

One big project planned is the establishment of direct telecommunications system between Szczecin (Stettin) on the Oder river leading into the Baltic sea, and Czechoslovakia. This is particularly important for Czechoslovakia, since Poland has assigned to the Czechoslovaks a customs duty-free zone in the Szczecin port.

Poles and Czechs also contemplate setting up a big uniform telecommunications network in the Silesian-Moravian basin. They also are to build a new transit telephone cable between Warsaw and Prague via Koszyce in southern Poland.

THE FASTIDIOUS PIG—"Priscilla" has joined a troupe of trained chickens playing the county fair circuit. She picks up stray socks from the floor and places them in a basket, has table manners like a pig's and is a hog for work, as shown above by the way she pushes a vacuum cleaner.

Herald Staff Attends Press Meet Saturday

Members of the Herald staff joined other weekly newspaper staff members of the Panhandle and South Plains at Wellington Saturday at the second sectional meeting of the Panhandle Press Association. This meeting was devoted to newspaper appearance, news and society content, and other problems in the field.

Dr. F. L. McDonald of the department of Journalism, Texas State College for Women, submitted written criticisms of a number of Panhandle weeklies, and these criticisms were discussed at the meeting.

It was an entertaining as well as educational meeting, and the session was considered an unqualified success.

Papers "stripped down" at the meeting included the Canyon News, Wellington Leader, Ochiltree County Herald, Canadian Record, Hockley County Herald and the Hereford Brand.

There were 66 present, an increase of 10 over the attendance at the first sectional meeting held in Perryton in Sept.

Vernon Sanford, secretary-manager of the Texas Press Association, attended the meeting and outlined plans for the coming year.

The visitors were taken on a tour of the Wellington Leader plant prior to the meeting by the host, Deskins Wells, Leader publisher. The meeting itself was held in the beautiful community building of Wellington, and the noon luncheon was served to the visiting newspapermen by the Wellington Chamber of Commerce.

Those attending from the Herald were Van W. Stewart, Harold Hudson, Jake Dunkle, Jack Payne, Raymond Overbey and Bill Cone.

The next sectional meeting will be on January 15 in Canyon, with Clyde Warwick, publisher of the Canyon News, as host.

Miss Anna Tevis left Tuesday to join a special train of REA personnel at Amarillo for a trip to Albuquerque, N. M., where she will attend a REA bookkeepers meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Tevis took her to Amarillo. Miss Tevis will return home Sunday.

There were no editorial pages in colonial newspapers.

Balko FFA Holds First Official Meeting Friday

The Balko Chapter of Future Farmers of America held its first official meeting in the vocational agriculture building at Balko last Friday. Van Bartel, chapter president, presided.

During the business meeting, J. A. Kinsey, junior in Balko high school, was elected vice-president to represent the chapter at all Northwest District meetings which are held at Woodward. Jim Karber was elected assistant treasurer and Paul Zimmerman was elected assistant secretary.

Galen Sargent was appointed chairman of the chapter program committee, assisted by Jim Karber and Ivan Gift.

There were 23 members present at the meeting.

Scots Rush for "Free" Service

EDINBURGH (AP)—The canny Scots are rushing to cash in on Britain's new "free" medical service. "If all the applications made in Glasgow for spectacles are genuine, I can only assume that the population must be going blind," commented Sir William M. Marshall.

Sir William, chairman of the Lanark County Health Service Council, told a conference of health supervisors that in July alone there were 567,000 applications in Scotland for medical prescriptions—three times the monthly average under the old national health insurance scheme.

"Sleeping tablets with ten ounces of whisky was one of the prescriptions asked for," Sir William said. "Many people have asked for wigs." He reported that 92 per cent of Scottish physicians have enrolled for service under the health plan. All Britons, who pay weekly health taxes, are covered under the "crib to coffin" national health plan which became effective last July.

Sailor Falls Into Drink

NARVIK, Norway (AP)—A Narvik sailor climbing gangway to his ship struck and fell into the sea. People to help, and a rope was lowered to him from the quay. The struggling sailor pulled a coil of brandy out of his pocket, the rope carefully around it, shouted, "Hello folks, save bottle first." The only bottle of the town was owing to a strike.

More Uniforms

MOSCOW AP—Since the end of the war ranks, uniforms and insignia have appeared in many branches of Soviet life. "Soviet Union News" for instance says leading and responsible workers of the financial houses and banks are to have "personal titles" and special forms of clothing and insignia to correspond with rank. Also "personal titles" and new insignia of rank have been introduced for the directing personnel of the Ministry of the Merchant Marine.

These are just two additions to a long list. Since January 1, 1947 decrees have introduced for the directing personnel of the Ministry of Geology, the Ministry of Ferrous Metallurgy, the Ministry of Non-Ferrous Metallurgy.

Decrees, providing "personal titles" for mining engineers did not provide for insignia or uniforms at least in the decrees themselves. However, many other persons wear uniforms or special clothing with insignia of rank. Among these are those in: Communications service, railway service, diplomatic service, Civil Air Fleet, Maritime Merchant Fleet, prosecuting attorneys, customs service.

Two Ochiltree county poultry flocks have been entered in the state egg laying contest sponsored each year by the Extension Service of Texas A. & M. College. These two local flocks are those of R. F. Newman and Mrs. Henry Buschman.

Newman has a flock of White Rocks and Mrs. Buschman has White Leghorns.

The poultry raisers keep records of the egg production of their flocks and the records are sent in monthly through the county agent's office. The contest started on October 1 and will continue through July.

This is the first time in recent years that Ochiltree county has been represented in the contest, stated Hood Wills, county agent.

Booker Implement Co. Purchased by Perryton Concern

Announcement has been made of the purchase of the Booker Implement Co., John Deere agency, by the Perryton Implement Co. The owners of the local firm, Roy Stinson, John Bolin and Vernon Witt, completed the sale last week when they bought the Booker firm from Charles R. Brown.

Harold Witt is the manager of the Booker company.

The new owners are experienced in all phases of John Deere sales and service and have made an outstanding success of the Perryton company. Roy Stinson formerly traveled for the John Deere company and had this section of the Panhandle in his territory. In 1935, he purchased the Perryton Implement Co. and was sole owner until Bolin and Witt bought an interest in the firm some three years ago.

Harold Witt, the Booker manager, is also an experienced John Deere man. He has been parts manager of the Perryton Implement Co. since his discharge from the Navy in 1945.

this season has been 125-lb. quarterback, Archie Archuleta. He was good enough in last week's game with Tulsa to receive the "Player of the Week" award from the Amarillo News-Globe. Running with Archuleta is 158-lb. freshman Bill Cessnum, who scored both touchdowns against Tulsa, and who has been a brilliant performer for the Wolves all season.

They boast a strong passing attack, with the Jackie Newman to Cessnum combination figuring prominently in all of their games to date.

The Dalhart line hasn't measured up to the defensive standards of the Ranger forwards this year. A total of 119 points have been scored against the Wolves, compared to 25 scored against the Rangers.

Olmstead B Parsons

County Exhibits Are Planned By Wheat Group

The Ochiltree County Wheat Improvement Association is making plans to construct an outstanding exhibit of the county's wheat industry, to be shown at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo and the State Fair of Texas in Dallas next year.

This exhibit will center around an automatic motion picture projector, showing actual harvest scenes in Ochiltree county, along with scenes of cattle in fields and the annual fat calf show.

Money received from the 1/10 cent per bushel fee which the association asks from all county wheat growers will be used to finance the exhibit. The Ochiltree Chamber of Commerce will match these funds and assist in preparing the exhibit.

New Chemical for Bindweed to be Tried This Week

A bindweed killing experiment, using the chemical Borasue, will be tried this week on the Martin McCartor farm south of Perryton, county agent Hood Willis has announced.

The experiment is being made in cooperation with the Pacific Coast Borax Co., which is furnishing all materials, and will send a representative, F. T. Winters, to assist in the experiment. Borasue has been found to be effective in killing bindweed, although it leaves the soil sterile for four or five years after application. It affects the weed somewhat like salt, but salt applications will leave the soil sterile for 20 years, stated Willis.

So far, no really satisfactory cure for bindweed has been found, and experiments such as the one on the McCartor farm are being made in an effort to improve the Borasue chemical for better results.

British Basketmaking Looks Up

LONDON (AP)—British basket weavers, whose trade on the banks of the Thames goes back before the birth of Christ, are regaining prosperity after a between-the-wars slump.

After World War I, the 9,000 acres of willow beds dwindled to 2,000 acres. Floods of cheap imported baskets drove many basket makers out of business.

Aerial warfare during World War II brought them back in business. Thousands of willow baskets were used for "air drops" of supplies.

Now to conserve funds, Britain is using its own baskets instead of importing them. The present labor force of about 7,000 is expected to rise to 25,000 because of government training programs for the blind and partially disabled persons.

There's A Reason WHY EQUITY-CATTLE CUBES ARE BETTER!

The reason is the amazing bone and flesh producing qualities of all vegetation grown in this area. For years observers have marveled at the manner in which cattle have thrived on local grasses which are often so short that the animals appear to "lick it from the ground" while more luxuriant grasses in other areas produce only inferior beef animals. The answer lies in the lime and phosphorus content in local soil. The ingredients of Equity Cattle Cubes are grown in local deep-lime soil. They're well-balanced and fortified with minerals and vitamins to add more pounds quicker!

Rangers Outscore Dumas 19-0 For Fourth Conference Victory

The Rangers notched up their fourth conference win of the season Friday night against the Dumas Demons, but found the going a bit harder than they anticipated. Perryton notched up two quick touchdowns in the first quarter, then Dumas fought back in the second to spend all of that quarter in the vicinity of the Perryton goal line.

After standing off the second quarter threat, the Rangers controlled the game for the last half. They allowed Dumas to run only six plays in the third quarter and three more in the fourth period.

Still, in spite of controlling the ball, the Rangers were able to score but once in the last half, although they marched up and down the field repeatedly. Two fumble recoveries and two pass interceptions by Perryton put a damper on Dumas' offensive efforts in the final half.

Rangers Score First
The Rangers opened the scoring a few plays after the opening kick-off when they recovered a Dumas fumble on the Demon 18. Key made 4 yards off tackle, then Powell went around right end for the touchdown. Powell's kick was low.

Midway of the first period, Jerry Key set up the second score with a brilliant 46-yard run which carried from the Ranger 32 to the Dumas 22. Powell drove over tackle for 11 yards, Olmstead made 3, Rogers slipped through for 3, then Olmstead scored from the 3. This time Louis Flowers kicked the extra point, making the score 13-0.

Dumas Strikes Back
On the second play of the second quarter, a long pass play, McKown to Roots, covered 62 yards and put the Demons on the Ranger 13. Roots and Hudson worked the ball down to the 1-yard line, then a bit of Demon strategy shifted, McKown flipped a short pass over the center of the line. Powell grabbed it and ran out to the 10 to end that threat.

On the next play, Powell went around left end to the 26, but that clipping penalty wiped out that play and brought the ball back to the Ranger 2-yard line. Powell kicked out to the 40, but Dumas came back to the 25 on two plays. Here halfback Marcum fumbled, and Dean Maberry recovered for the Rangers on the 25.

Clipping Penalties Hurt
Powell again drove for 12 yards and a first down on the 37, but another clipping penalty brought the ball back to the 13. Olmstead made a yard over guard, then another clipping penalty set the Rangers back on their 1-yard line. Powell kicked out to the 45, but Dumas drove right back to the 10 on three plays. This time, however, the Rangers held firm, and took the ball on downs on the 7. The half ended with the Rangers in possession on the 13.

The Rangers started a drive from their 30 after receiving the second half kickoff, and had worked down to the Dumas 35, when another clipping penalty put the ball back on the 50 and halted the scoring drive. Unable to overcome the deficiency, Powell kicked out on the Dumas 18. Another scoring opportunity opened on the Dumas 31, where Dean Maberry recovered another fumble, but the Rangers were unable to drive any farther than the 19. Dumas threw a long pass on the first play after receiving the ball on downs, and Johnny Revis intercepted it on his own 31 to halt that threat.

Score on Drive
The Rangers drove from their own 31 on a sustained drive that netted the final touchdown. Jerry Key bore the brunt of the ball carrying on this drive, finally scoring around left end from the 8. Flowers' kick for extra point was no good.

From The SIDELINE

with HAROLD HUDSON

From all indications, the Dalhart game Friday night will be one of the better ones to be played at Ranger Field this year. We look for the Rangers to win, but there will probably be a rather narrow margin of victory. At any rate, the Rangers can't go into this one expecting to sweep their opponents off the field, like they thought they would at Canyon and Dumas.

Dalhart has lost three games this year, to three strong teams. They were beaten by Shamrock in the season opener, before the Irish did a fold-up, and were trimmed by Littlefield and Phillips. They have beaten Tulla by nearly the same margin as the Rangers did, 12-7, and beat Dumas 32-0. They also beat Wellington, Hereford, and Spearman, to round out their five victories of the year.

The Rangers scrimmaged Dalhart in the pre-season training camp at Craterville Park and found the Wolves fairly easy to handle. Coach Sunderman juggled his line-up since then, however, changing Bill Cessan, 160-lb. freshman, from end to fullback, and the offense has clicked since then. Cessan was a star back for the Kells Hill junior team last year. Archie Archuleta, senior quarterback, is reported to be about as good in the open field as the Phillips scooters.

The Dumas game was a ragged affair, marred by clipping penalties against the Rangers. Although Dumas made only two serious bids to score, they held their own quite well throughout the game. Both Raymond Powell and Jerry Key were nursing injured legs, which slowed down the offense considerably, however.

Every year or so, it seems, the collegiate crop produces at least one passer who is "better than Baugh." That's been going on for several years, but there is still only one old master of the forward pass in football, and he is one Saul Adrian Baugh, lately of TCU, playing with the Washington Redskins for the past eleven years.

Last week he added a new record to his grid aerial collection. He pitched 24 passes, completing 17 for 446 yards and four touchdowns against the Boston Yanks. It was the most ever gained by one passer through the air in a single game and boosted Baugh's lifetime record to 1,275 completions in 2,214 tries for 16,397 yards.

This year, Baugh has tossed 121 passes, connecting 73 times for 1,200 yards and eight touchdowns.

A good example of why the Inter-scholastic League is de-emphasizing high school football in Texas is pointed out by an unsavory development after the Sweetwater-Abilene game two weeks ago. The League has established a City Conference, eliminated spring training, put the eight-semester rule back in, and is bearing down on rigid interpretations of amateurism in an attempt to place football in a proper perspective in high school sports.

At Abilene, the father of an Abilene player who was expelled from the game by Referee Sellers for unsportsmanlike conduct, became involved in an argument with Sellers after the game which led to fistuffs. The blow-up took place on the playing "Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the Lesson Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ Scientist, on Sunday, November 14.

The Golden Text is: "If ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live" (Romans 8:13).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson Sermon is the following from the Bible: "He that committeth sin is of the devil; for the devil sinneth from the beginning. For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that he might destroy the works of the devil" (1 John 3:8).

The Lesson Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mortals will disappear, and immortals, or the children of God, will appear as the only and eternal verities of man. Mortality is finally swallowed up in immortality" (page 476).

Will SHE HAVE TO GO TO WORK?

Will your widow have to go to work "to keep things together and make ends meet?" Will she be prepared to enter a lucrative profession... fill an executive's chair... start a business of her own? Or will she have to seek employment wherever she can find it, at whatever she can get?

More than 90% of all the women employed in our country work because they have to eat, or need the money to support others. (Women's Bureau, U. S. Department of Labor)

The thing nearest your widow's heart will be security. To her, security will mean more than investments, assets, money in the bank. Security—to her—will mean happy, contented human relationships... an unbroken family... a home safe against the darkness outside... a placid place to nurture children. And you can give her that security through Southwestern Life Insurance.

If you are 35 and your wife is, say, 32, by saving as little as $13.50 a week you can assure her $100 a month for life. If she lives until she is 52, she will get a total of $24,000 in $100 monthly checks. If she lives until she is 72—as many women do—she will get a grand total of $48,000. One hundred dollars a month to her should you be taken out of life's picture... or $100 a month for life for you, if you want it, to start when you are 65. Give your wife a financial nest-egg—a guaranteed income that she can depend on—an income that she will have as long as life lasts. Ask for a plan to fit your needs today.

Want to be a successful rancher?

Here are tips from three old hands at the game—a Texan, a Mexican and a Scotsman—who insist there "is precious little difference between a Texan and Scotsman."

George W. Evans, president of the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association, is a firm believer in large ranches for which his state is noted.

His four pointers are:
1. Have a large ranch of about 50,000 acres, so that some portion will receive rainfall even during dry years.

2. Keep the herd "liquid" so the livestock may be sold at anytime.

3. Operate the ranch economically. When prices are high pay for improvements, build the calf crop, replace heifers and don't breed herds intact.

4. Keep breeding will take care of themselves," he said. "It's the

To Dunk or Not To Dunk?

Dunking doughnuts is Sober Hopkins' favorite morning pastime...and for a long time Ma Hopkins has been trying to break him of the habit. Feels it sets a bad example for the children.

So one morning she puts a heavy frosting of chocolate on the doughnuts...figuring that will stop him. Sober thinks it over for a while and then: Dunk! Taste? Smile!! And Sober compliments the missus on the lovely mocha flavor!

I guess there'll always be two schools of thought: to dunk or not to dunk. But from where I sit, it's a matter of personal choice and taste—like some folks prefer beer to cider, ale to beer. And the less we criticize those differences of taste, the better.

In fact, Ma Hopkins got so curious about the flavor of chocolate-covered doughnuts dunked in coffee, that she tried it herself. Now— you've guessed it—she's a daily dunker, too!

Q. When a veteran secures a loan under the G.I. Bill, does the Government make an outright payment on it without charging the veteran anything?

A. Yes, VA pays the lender, for credit to the veteran's loan, an amount equal to 4 percent of the loan. For example, if the guaranteed portion of the loan is $1,000 the lender will receive $160 from VA to credit to the debt of the veteran.

Q. I am a World War II veteran and wish to go in business. Must I have experience in the business in order to get a G.I. loan?

A. Experience is an important element in the success of the average business. You should be able to show a reasonable expectation of success in your venture in order to get your loan.

Q. Must a disabled veteran go to a vocational school or may he go to a liberal arts college, a high school, or similar institution under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act?

A. He may enroll in any VA-approved educational institution or training establishment offering the course of training which VA has found he needs to insure his proper rehabilitation in line with his own desires.

'Snowless' Ski Jump Produces Good Leaps

HELSINKI (AP) — The Finnish city of Lahti, known for its ski jumping competitions every winter, tried ski jumping without snow this autumn.

The slide of one of the smaller jumps was carefully greased with wax and the lower part of the slope was covered with straw. Some 1,500 skeptical spectators gathered to see the experiment.

Twenty five experienced ski jumpers volunteered and the public was amazed to see the first one leap 180 feet. The record of the day was 200 feet, only six feet short of the best winter record on that jump.

The jumpers got good speed on the greased slide but met with abrupt resistance from the

Who Needs a Home?

Home nowadays is getting to be more and more a place where people drop in to change clothes or get a hasty meal. Worldly considerations in the modern age are getting more and more to dominate the home, and some people even think of the home as a sort of filling station, to be used between jaunts outside.

A modern girl we read about the other day had an answer to a real estate agent who wanted to sell her a home. She said, "A home? Why do I need a home? I was born in a hospital, educated in a college, courted in an automobile and married in a church; I live out of tin cans and paper bags. I spend my mornings at the golf course, my afternoons at a bridge club and my evenings at the movies. When I die, I am going to be buried at the undertaker's. All I need is a garage."

Come to think of it, there's a lot in what the gal has to say.

Uncle Zeke is not discouraged. He owed $10,000 ten years ago and now owes $15,000. But he says that is only $7,500 in 1938 money so he is $2,500 better off now than he was then.

Aunt Mary is very much worried. She is afraid she will win a prize on one of those radio give-away programs and she says a trip to Bermuda would make her seasick.

Our airlift over Berlin is pretty good but it doesn't compare with the airlift we have in the United States when the politicians are campaigning in October.

British ships are now being made in Chicago and we'd hate to tell you where some of the Scotch is being made.

The experts explain that war with Russia is impossible because Russia can't fight. This would soothe me if I did not keep remembering that when Hitler and Stalin split these same experts said that Russia could not last over two weeks. Detroit Free Press.

A famed psychologist concludes that fat people substitute food for love. But, alas! An affair with a double violin today runs into dough.—Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

Youth is a wonderful thing. For instance, the sublime assurance of junior high age youngsters, who walk four abreast down North Bell street, supremely confident that the sidewalk was designed, built and financed solely for their use and that all they meet will gladly step aside to let them pass. Ah, the harsh lessons of life those juveniles must learn.—Shawnee, Okla., News-Star.

Russia owes the United States $11,000,000,000 on Lend-Lease account. We'd be glad to sell our per capita share of this amount ($77.99) for a postage stamp, any denomination.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Communism may in theory be designed to help the many, but when administered as a political doctrine it has been chiefly a racket for the benefit of the men at the top.—Enid, Okla., News.

Grown-ups never cease to be astonished at the knowledge of small boys, who can tell one plane from another.—Enid, Okla., News.

'Smart Girls Don't Talk' is Exciting Gambling Picture

Action in the best film tradition is shown in "Smart Girls Don't Talk," which comes to the Ellis on Fri.-Sat., Nov. 12-13. Virginia Mayo plays a society girl whose gambling activities get her into considerable trouble. Opposite her is Bruce Bennett, essaying the dramatic role of an ace gambler.

The troubles start when Bennett's gambling establishment is the scene of a hold-up, and he starts out to recoup the money lost and repay his patrons.

From this modest start, the plot winds through killings, tap-dances, pursuits and a variety of other good, clean, healthy fun.

Babson Discusses Labor and Wages

ROGER W. BABSON, Editor-in-Chief

NEW YORK CITY, Nov. 5. One of our great national headaches today seems to be getting our production to rolling and maintaining it at a good level.

Production a World Problem

Daily headlines in our own newspapers read, "Carpet Manufacturers Announce Price Increases to Offset Higher Costs of Materials," "International Farmer Ups Prices on Tractors, Farm Equipment," "Meat Prices Due to Rise Further," "Gas Rates Boosted," "New Ford Car Prices Advanced." And here's the result: "Bank Accounts Trimmed as Cost of Living Takes Bigger Chunk of Income." All because labor refuses to up production along with higher wages.

French cabinets have fallen by the dozen over the question of labor-management problems, and wage and price controls. The British Labor government in its attempts to increase production along with wage increases has become the target of sharp criticism of its Trade Unions. The same currents and eddies are observable throughout the entire world. The Russian ideology is spreading so rapidly to other nations. This can be stopped only with lower prices through increased production.

The Easy Life

The recent Trade Unions Congress assembled at Margate, England, suggested that unionists were bitterly disappointed over the Labor Government's unfavorable reaction to another round of wage rises. They had been told for years of the hoard of wealth waiting for them when workers gained control. There is a similar pernicious philosophy current here in America. When will our labor leaders learn that the way out of their dilemma is not by soaking the rich further? As wages and salaries are increased, production must likewise increase. Otherwise, prices will be upped so that we will kill the goose which is laying the golden eggs.

There is something fundamentally wrong with our moral fibre when demands for one pay hike after another follow with thought only of shorter hours, longer vacations, less production and more pay. That kind of thinking did not make America great. It was not responsible for Britain's world leadership during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. Perhaps this desire for something for nothing has been a potent factor in Britain's slipping into a lesser role in world affairs.

Need for Increased Production

When I was a kid the good old-fashioned incentive system was based on more pay for more or better work. In return for a better than normal daily output, a worker was given extra financial inducement. It was this greater output that brought about more goods at lower prices which found bigger markets. The employee in turn could afford to buy houses and furniture for cash because he had shared

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Juliusson left Saturday morning for a few days visit with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Revis in Oklahoma City. They also planned to visit friends at Antlers, Okla.

Wolf Creek Philosopher

Can't Get Excited Over Presidential Election

In the profits of greater productivity. Everyone gained. Our standard of living became the best in the world.

I realize the incentive system has been abused by some managements with hide-and-seek incentive hocus-pocus. But most employers today know that it is as silly for them to attempt to run profitably by sweating labor as it is for labor to expect higher wages without reference to output. Labor and management have both erred. They both have their rights. Labor's search for a living wage and management's quest for justifiable profits will not be ended, however, by either the stopwatch and the slide rule, nor by artificial restrictions and formulae legislation.

Importance of Character

The solution lies in developing certain intangible traits of character. And when I speak of character, I'm not thinking of Sunday School goody-goodies either. I'm thinking of an attitude of fairness which makes it possible to see the other fellow's problems. I mean courage, loyalty, sincerity and pride in one's work, giving full measure. Character can't be measured; but put to work it results in health, prosperity and happiness for all.

Placement Ace

UNIVERSITY, Miss. (AP)—Bobby Oswalt of Columbia, Miss., quarterback on the University of Mississippi football squad, last season topped the Southeastern Conference's placement kickers with 26 points on 38 trails thru the regular campaign. He added one for one in the Delta Bowl win scored by Ole Miss. Oswalt also scored a touchdown for six more points during the season.

mount of bindweed I'm gonna have next year. Bindweed is absolutely non-partisan, can be as rank as any party.

Even with Truman as president, I don't figure on having any better crops next year than I had this year, which wasn't too bad. I expect the rainfall to be about the same, that is, it rarely ever rains according to order. Only when it gets ready to rain, or not rain, don't make no difference who's in the White House ahead with your plowin'. I figure my gates will continue to sag, the tin roof to flap when the wind blows, the hens to lay about a third of what they would if I attended to em better, the cow to give just as much blue-john, don't make no difference who is president.

Also, I don't look for the president to have much effect on the price of wheat or cattle, and I doubt if there's a single grass-hopper or prairie dog even aware we got a president.

And also, I doubt if inflation is gonna end or keep going because of anything the president says or does, in fact, he'll be as surprised as you or me which ever way it goes.

Understand though I ain't dis-countin the job. Bein president is a big job, maybe even too big for any of the men who was after the job this year. But it ain't my worry, I got more than I can do out here. At least it's more'n
I'm gonna do.

Yours faithfully

Grass Roots Press Club at Texas U.

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 8—Representing the importance of week-end small city newspapers in the University of Texas School of Journalism students organized a Grass Roots Press Club.

Officers are W. Blake Miller, Austin, president; Charles Row, Jr., San Antonio, vice president; Joy Fields, Austin, secretary-treasurer; and Ben Hartley, Mart, reporter. Members at present are enrolled in the Small City Newspaper course taught by Professor Olin E. Hinkle.

"Texas has about 530 weekly newspapers and many fine small dailies—far too important a group to overlook in considering one's journalistic future," Miller said. "Texas weeklies have a circulation in excess of 722,000 and are read by more than half the state's residents. Eighty-five per cent of the Texas population is in towns under 10,000 population. Eighty-four per cent of Texas counties have no city of more than 10,000 population."

It is estimated that readers of American weekly newspapers spent 43 billion dollars in 1947, or about 41 per cent of all money going into retail trade. This fact, plus the high readership of the small papers, makes the American weekly an unusually stable institution. It has a place which no other medium of communication can fill."

Veterans' NEWS

Ochiltree county veterans are served by county service officer Tom Davis, whose office is in the courthouse annex. The daytime phone number is 36 and at night or in an emergency, the phone number is 487. Veterans who need assistance in any way are urged to make use of the services provided by the county service officer.

Student veterans who acquire dependents or additional dependents while in training under the GI Bill should notify the Veterans' Administration as soon as possible in order to qualify for increased subsistence allowance payments.

Notice of dependency change should be sent to the VA regional office in which the veterans' records are kept. The notice should be accompanied by legal evidence of the dependency such as certified copies of public records of birth, baptism or marriage.

Ten Are Married

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)—The 1948 University of Texas varsity football squad, totalling 43 members includes ten married players. Two, Quarterback Paul Campbell and End Dale Schwartzkopf, are fathers.

VA increases subsistence payments as of the date it is notified and not retroactively to the date the veteran actually acquired the dependent.

Veterans who have received benefits from the Veterans Administration and have been assigned "C" (claims) numbers should place certain public records in their case folders if they think their beneficiaries might be entitled to compensation and pension benefits after they die.

To establish claims for payments, veterans' widows, children and dependent parents must submit public documents to VA as proof of dependency, age and relationship.

If necessary records were filed in the veteran's claims folder, his dependents would be spared the delays involved in obtaining them from other sources.

These include a certified copy of the public record of marriage; certified copies of previous marriages and copies of court records of divorce and annulment; copies of birth certificates of all children under 18, and a copy of the veteran's birth certificate. The veterans claim number should be written on all papers to insure positive and ready identification.

Marvin Walton and Jean Owens Married Nov. 4 at San Jacinto Methodist Church

San Jacinto Methodist Church, Amarillo, was the scene on Thursday evening, November 4, for the marriage of Miss Jean Owens, Amarillo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Owens, Wellington, to Marvin R. Walton, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Walton, Perryton.

Rev. Edgar Neal, pastor, read the nuptial ritual in the church before a setting of baskets of gladioli and greenery and tall tapers in branched candelabra.

Miss Marilyn Leggett, pianist, rendered as pre-nuptial selections "Benedictus" and "Agnus Dei" by Bond. She also played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Faye Tension, Amarillo. She wore a tailored suit of cerise with grey accessories.

Doris Dean Bartel, Oklahoma City, was best man.

For her marriage, the bride wore a grey wool suit with navy accessories, and the corsage was an orchid.

Mrs. Owens, mother of the bride, chose hunter green compliments for the grey suit she wore, and Mrs. Walton, the bridegroom's mother, was attired in a beige suit with black accessories.

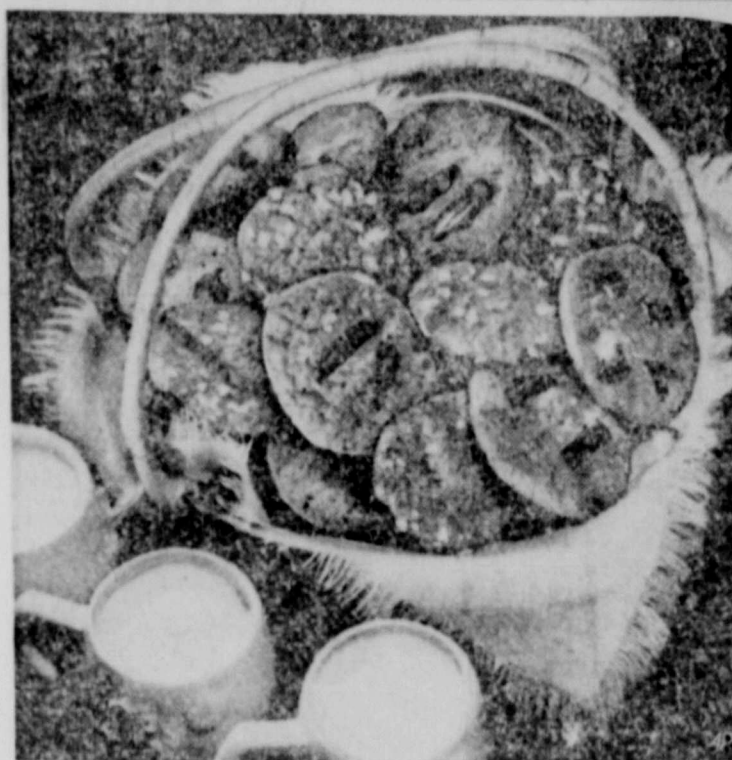

A wedding reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony. The bride's table was laid, and held a floral centerpiece of chrysanthemums flanked by tapers. Miss Helen Quate, Amarillo, laid the punch and Mrs. Carl J. Hosi, Amarillo, served the cake. Mrs. Josephine Leard was in charge of the guest book.

The bride received her education in the Childress schools, and was employed at the First National Bank, Amarillo, prior to her marriage.

Mr. Walton attended the Amarillo schools, and served with the Army in the European Theater during World War II. He has been employed by Stewart Printing Co. for the past three years.

The couple are at home to their friends in Perryton following their short wedding trip.

Guest for the wedding reception included Mrs. Josephine Leard, Mrs. J. A. Leard, E. L. Collins, Norma Mae Fowler, Marjorie Wyne, Marian Scholtz, Helen Quate, Mesdames Carl J. OUT OF THE COOKIE JAR . . . Here's extra good news for the mothers of young (or old) cookie eaters in the new way to make cookies. The data oatmeal cookies above, follow the quick-mix one bowl methods for cakes; all the ingredients go into one bowl and one good beating does the trick. These new quick-mix cookies are just as delicious as the quick-mix cake, so don't be skeptical when you see these new recipes, use one.

Fussy Frills are Not Necessary in Baby's Wardrobe

"Clothes for baby will be chosen for protection, comfort and freedom for exercise and growth if the mother has the baby's welfare in mind," Nena Roberson, specialist of Texas A. & M. College, points out.

For healthy exercise and growth, clothes should be short, light-weight and loose in style. Miss Roberson continues. For daytime wear, simple slits are better than the usual dresses. If they're cut on the bias, they will have an advantage over the straight-cut slits, for they'll stretch in any direction and will be flat and smooth without gathers and tucks.

Leave off the lace and knobby embroidery around the neckline for they may irritate the baby's skin. Collars are not too good either, Miss Roberson says, as they may "cup up" and get into the baby's mouth.

The fabric of all baby's clothes should be smooth, soft and unbleached and yet firmly woven. Young babies are sensitive to even a slight feeling of heaviness and for that reason, the materials should also be light weight. Miss Roberson suggests such fabrics as fine quality nainsook, lawn, batiste and soft crepe, all easily washed yet durable enough to stand frequent laundering.

Choose clothing with seams that are flexible, narrow and smoothly finished. Edges may be finished by rolled hems, narrow bindings or soft shell stitch. Full-length, front openings make easy dressing.

"You might consider safety too, in dressing the baby," Miss Roberson concluded. "Long ribbons or ties can easily catch or pull around the baby's neck. Hairs or fibers in fuzzy sweaters may shed and get in the nose, mouth or eyes. And watch out for buttons—they should be non-breakable, and neither so large nor so hard that there is any chance of bruising."

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting to Mesdames N. R. Hutton, Norman Folliott and Ray Wright, visitors, and to Mesdames Delbert Davis, Robert Thurman, Jim Dodson, Kirt Williams, Bob Drake, Jack Dodson and the hostess, Mrs. Gunter.

The next meeting of the club will be held on November 19 in the home of Mrs. Oscar Blank.

"Larceny," which comes to the Ellis on Wed.-Thurs. Nov. 17-18, is a suspense story concerning an eastern gang that goes to a wealthy town just outside Los Angeles to set up a fictitious war memorial expected to net the crooks $100,000.

However, before the fraud is completed, many things happen and the swindle doesn't come off. In fact, at the end, love is as usual triumphant, and the swindlers find that crime doesn't pay.

There was a great demand at the beginning but I believe it will ease down and the whole thing will find its proper level," he told a dinner conference of British hospital representatives.

Long Term Contracts One Way To Beat Baseball Bonus Rule

By FRANK ECK
Features Sports Editor

NEW YORK—Every so often baseball—that's the heading on the mimeographed sheets from the Commissioner's office—ends out what it calls "official bulletins." The latest bulletin to come from Commissioner Chandler's Cincinnati office is one of the most interesting of the year.

It shows how major league clubs maneuver their players, how some of the athletes who are coming up next spring, what players are headed for lower classifications and how it's possible to get around the bonus rule.

For an example on the intricate bonus rule maneuver, the New York Yankees have signed a schoolboy outfielder, to a three-year contract. The Bryant High team won the New York City schoolboy championship.

Two of his teammates—Pitcher Billy Loes and Infielder Pete Niles—also signed with big league clubs. Branch Rickey personally signed Loes for a $22,000 bonus and he is ticketed for Ashua, N. H., from where he must be brought up next fall. Niles has been signed by the Yankees.

In the case of Gentile, let's assume his three-year contract calls for $15,000. If he received all this money in a lump sum he would be a bonus player. But as a three-year man the Yankees can option him out twice to farm clubs and no other team can touch him. Optioned as a bonus player, Gentile would be subject to the player draft. Yankee officials believe he will be playing in the Yankee Stadium outfield in 1951. They say he's a natural. That's why he has a long-range contract.

The Philadelphia Phillies, who had something like 19 bonus players in their organization in mid-season—all would have to be brought up for 1949—have signed John L. Walz to a contract through 1950.

If he makes good sooner it is only natural that the Phillies will tear up his contract and raise his salary above the $6,000 maximum permitted a first-year non-bonus player.

The Cincinnati Reds have a player in the same category. He is David Poole, 20-year-old catcher from Winston Salem, N. C., who played semi-pro ball at Elizabeth City, N. C. Poole is signed through 1950.

The system of signing a young player for more than one year appears to be one of the answers to the silly bonus rule. Under the present setup—it may be revised at the Chicago winter meetings in December—a young player has the choice of signing for a huge sum and possibly going stale by sitting on a big league bench one year, or signing for more than one year with assurances to play in the classification for which his talents are best suited.

The latest bulletin also shows several veterans who had their 1948 papers discarded in favor of new ones. These include Marty Marion and Don Lang of the Cardinals, Kirby Higbe and Elmer Riddle of the Pirates and Vern Stephens of the Red Sox. The Sox also gave boosts to Bill Goodman, who did such a grand job at first base, and to Pitcher Mel Parnell.

Poland is Drafting Youths 16 to 18

WARSAW (AP)—Poland is rapidly mobilizing her full reservoir of youthful manpower for military training and work on national reconstruction projects. An order just issued calls for the conscription of all youths aged 16 to 18. These youths, with several hundred thousand already enrolled, will serve in the organization known as "In Service to Poland."

They are assigned to the building of highways, railway lines, bridges, communications system and housing.

All of them in addition receive a minimum of 16 hours of military training monthly. Instruction by regular militia and Polish army officers is based principally upon infantry warfare.

Enlistments are expected to top 1,500,000 by the end of January. The youth organization is to be gradually expanded to 5,000,000.

Girls from 16 to 21 are to be recruited in 1949.

Carolina to Vote on Divorces and Pardons

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—Divorces and penal pardons will be before the people of South Carolina in the Nov. 2 general election for the first time since the 1895 state constitution was adopted. That constitution flatly bans divorces, gives the state's governors unlimited pardoning and parole powers.

Constitutional amendments up for a vote would permit divorces for desertion, physical cruelty, habitual drunkenness and adultery, and would strip governors of all pardoning powers but repleves and commutations in death sentences.

WHAT IT MEANS:

The Lengthening Life Span

By ROBERT E. GEIGER

WASHINGTON — Babies born in 1948 can expect to live an average of more than 77 years longer than babies born in 1900. In the past seven years about 22,000,000 babies have been born. Their increased life spans means ultimately enough people to nearly fill three cities the size of New York for 17 years. In 1900 the average life was about 48. Now it is more than 66.

This is raising some big problems among the people who have to think about our future population. Besides the fact that the length of life has been extended, the U. S. birth rate has gone up. Within a few years there will be a still greater increase in the number of older people.

The latest census forecast is that by 1975 we will have about 30,000,000 people over 65—about double the number today. The Census Bureau forecasts that from then on the proportion of older people should continue to increase until science can't extend the life span any more.

U.S. TRACTORS LOOKING UP

Mrs. Gertrude Tallman, Hereford, was visiting friends in Perryton over the week-end.

His Funeral Didn't Take

DES MOINES (AP)—When Chaplain De Loss Marken was introduced to Lloyd Church at Veterans hospital in Des Moines, he thought the name sounded familiar. "It seems to me I had a funeral service once for you," he said.

"So I heard," Church said, grinning.

Church, a former U. S. Army Ranger who was wounded six times in the Dieppe raid, said a man he met later in a German prison camp told him about the funeral. Church spent three years in German prison camps.

The Rev. Mr. Marken, formerly a chaplain with the 34th Division, said he was in Scotland after the Dieppe raid and was asked to conduct memorial services for seven of the American Rangers who didn't come back. Three of them were known to be dead and the other four were believed dead. Church was one of the four.

Church, whose home now is in Marshalltown, Iowa, receives a pension for 100 percent disability. He is married and the father of a 20-month-old daughter.

After the Dieppe raid, the veteran said, he came to in a hospital. Then there were prison camps. In 1945, when the Russian armies were approaching his camp in German-held Poland, Church and 16 other Americans escaped, made their way to the Russian lines and fought two weeks with a Russian armored division.

At the Elbe, he said only a bridge separated them from the American 69th Division, but "the Russians wouldn't let us go over to them." When the Red Division was ordered back to Russia the Americans went along to Moscow and Leningrad. Eventually they were flown to Paris and Church was discharged.

Now It's Poetry For the Navy

PEARL HARBOR (AP)—There's a poet sailing with the U. S. Navy's Task Force 38, now steaming toward the Far East. He's 67-year-old Charles Wharton Stork, author of "On Board Old Ironsides," epic poem of the war of 1812.

Stork, author, critic and lecturer, is the Navy's favorite poet. He writes in a language Navy men understand — and like. That's why he was invited to travel aboard the Princeton, 27,000-ton carrier with Task Force 38. The "Navy Poet" has written numerous poems about the sea, among them "Sunset Harbor" and "Sea and Bay." In 1939 he put in verse his experiences aboard the Athenia, which was torpedoed by the Germans.

But it's Stork's word-picture of the War of 1812 that caught the eye of the admirals. They hope that after his tour with Task Force 38 he might do as well in writing about World War II and modern naval warfare.

Gil Stephenson of Army and Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice of North Carolina are two backfield men who have been getting a lot of attention this fall.

Almost every section of the country still has unbeaten teams and brilliant ball carriers who make them click, and Stephenson and Justice are the big guns for their respective elevens.

Stephenson, 183-pound fullback from Columbus, Ga., is only a sophomore but he's the surprise of Eastern football this fall. Against Harvard he scored all three West Point touchdowns. The following week against previously unbeaten Cornell he averaged five yards per carry, tallying 121 yards on 25 attempts.

Charlie Justice, the Tarheels ace tailback, was held scoreless for the first time in four games against a stubborn North Carolina State foe. However, with three minutes to go the Wolfpack failed to stop a Justice forward pass. It was a 27-yard toss to end Art Weiner, who ran 22 yards for a touchdown and assured a 14-0 victory.

In the rout of Louisiana State, Justice showed top form as a broken field runner. The 163-pounder circled right end with tacklers dropping at his feet for one score and passed to two others.

Both Stephenson and Justice are the men the opposition must stop as the two fast-stepping backs continue to lead their teams to sectional honors.

Chiang's Son Tries Austerity

SHANGHAI (AP)—Maj. Gen. Chiang Ching-kuo, son of President Chiang Kai-shek, has vacated his elaborate home here as an example to residents of Shanghai.

As economic czar of Shanghai, General Chiang is trying to enforce the austerity program which the government insists is necessary if the Communists are to be beaten in the civil war. Chiang's house is classed as enemy property ordered sold by the government to help stabilize the currency. Chiang, because of the housing shortage, is living with friends.

Five Cent Milk has Vanished Along With Nickel Hamburgers and the Five Cent Cigar

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)—Remember when you used to put down a nickel and tote home a generous quart of milk in a lard pail?

Those good old days are gone for good, along with the nickel movie, the nickel beer, the five-cent hamburger and the five-cent cigar.

Texans now are competing for the privilege of putting a quart carton or bottle of Grade A pasteurized milk in their market baskets at prices ranging from 22 to 25 cents.

Milk is big business now. Man's first food has increased in popularity because of health education and prosperity and supply is hard pressed to keep up with the demand. Where a city's source of supply used to be its neighboring farms, improved refrigeration and pasteurization methods have spread it out to distant counties and even other states.

They call these areas "milk sheds." Unlike water sheds, where gravity guides water down land slopes toward the sea, money makes the milk flow. Bidding for the limited supply has forced prices up and up in Texas.

The contest has reached the courts here. Attorney General Price Daniel has charged a number of major big city dairies with price fixing in violation of the state anti-trust laws. The South Texas Milk Producers association and six Houston dairies have been temporarily enjoined in 98th district court here against alleged price fixing practices.

In issuing the order which will remain in effect until the case can be tried, Judge Charles O. Betts said:

"There is no doubt from a practical standpoint the south Texas producers association is a monopoly in the area where it operates."

The association, organized in Harris County under state cooperative marketing laws in 1931, has extended its membership until now it covers 57 counties in south, east and central Texas. In addition to the price injunction, the cooperative also is under court order not to seek memberships outside its present area.

Outside of the competitive situation, the outlook for the Texas milk supply this coming winter is depending upon the weather, like all other farm products. A survey discloses that the prospects are spotty, ranging from poor in drought-stricken areas to good in sections where there are bountiful feed crops.

Prospects and prices in Texas cities include:

Big Spring—Recent showers have brought hope of winter pasture in this south plains area, with a consequent prospect of an adequate milk supply. The retail price of milk is 25 cents a quart and producers receive $6.60 per 100 pounds. This is an area of high production costs.

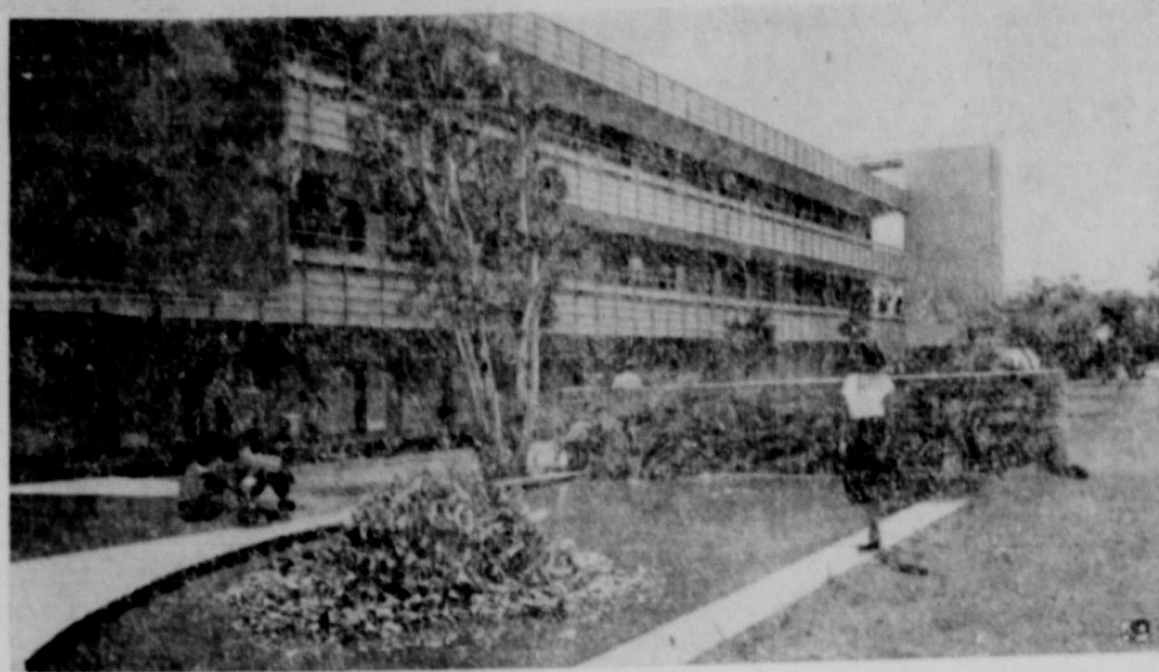

Wichita Falls—Area producers, county agents and distributors agreed the milk supply will be short this winter. "But production should be above last year's if we have rains," a distributor said. Feed prices have dropped while milk prices have gone up. The wholesale price is $6.60 per 100 pounds, the retail mark 22 cents per quart.

Palestine—Retail prices have advanced from 22 to 23 cents per quart while feed prices have dropped. Palestine is within the Houston milk shed. The Anderson county agent noted that 10 of the 30 dairies in the county have been set up since the first of the year and predicted six more would be in production by Dec. 31.

"They wouldn't be expanding production if they weren't getting premium prices," he said. Denton—A dairyman asserted that his price is four cents a quart higher than it should be because of outside influence.

San Angelo—The area's milk shed outlook was termed "fair to good." Five new dairies were reported going into operation soon, and this is expected to offset the seasonal drop in production.

Denton—Producers and distributors predicted a milk shortage and a general scarcity over the state. They agreed that rainfall sufficient to keep feed prices down would have a restraining effect on milk prices. The wholesale price in the area is $6.40 per 100 pounds, with milk retailing at 22 cents a quart. A dairyman observed that the high price of dairy cows has been contributory to the high cost of milk. The average price of grade dairy

ACRES OF GLASS—Breezeways and walls of glass shed light on modern education at the University of Miami, where ivy-covered walls have been supplanted by modernistic buildings. Much of the $6 million construction program has been completed, and workmen are still busy. Twenty-nine buildings, of which 27 contain living quarters, have been finished. Even single rooms have full housekeeping facilities, and some living units have three-and-a-half rooms.

CENTENNIAL EMBLEM—This official emblem for the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the founding of Fort Bliss, near El Paso, Texas, as a military post, Nov. 5-7. The emblem will appear on the Fort Bliss commemorative postage stamp. (AP) Photo from the U. S. Army.

cows is $200. If meat prices stay high, a cow that doesn't pay off in dairy production will certainly end up in the packing house, he said.

Abilene—The milk supply here is better than in the last two or three years, creamery officials say. Milk retails for 23 cents per quart with the wholesale price $6.60 per hundred weight.

Fort Worth—Milk retails for 23 cents a quart, with the wholesale price $6.60 per hundred.

In milk-hungry Houston, where the Producers Association exerts its greatest control of milk supplies, the prices are $7.15 per 100 pounds and 24 cents per quart for grade "A" pasteurized.

During the recent court hearing which led to issuance of the temporary injunction B. E. Stallones of Houston estimated the cooperative controls 97 per cent of all raw milk bought by Harris county distributors.

Stallones is manager of the Association. At one point, he expressed the opinion that his organization could "take the whole state in if it wanted to."

Under questioning of attorney general Daniel, he testified the Association had fought some tough battles the past 17 years with producers who did not wish to become members and with distributors who did not wish to sign full-supply contracts.

Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Sharpe left Sunday, October 31 for Fort Worth to attend the funeral of a relative, returning to Perryton Thursday evening.

The common use of headlines in newspapers came after the Mexican War.

Women Gain in Finnish Politics

HELSINKI (AP)—Finland's women have acquired increased influence in the parliament and in politics in general since the war.

In the general elections this summer women won 24 out of 200 seats in the Finnish parliament and a woman, Mrs. Liisa Leivo-Larsson, was instituted as vice minister of social affairs in the new cabinet.

In 1945, 17 seats were won by women and in 1938, 16 parliamentary seats were occupied by women.
