UN Force Retakes Battered Wonju

O'Donnell Urges 'Hex' On Red Chinese With A-Bomb

MARCH AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. — (AP) — Nothing less than the atom bomb "will put the hex" on the Chinese Communists now, says Maj. Gen. Emmett (Rosie) O'Donnell, the man who directed the first six months of United Nations' bombing in Korea.

His fighting opinions which raised a stir in Washington, were made clear yesterday as he told a news conference:

"We can't continue to fight under Marquis of Queensbury rules when we are fighting thugs who are going to hit you on the back of the head with an axe. We should use the weapon most effective and not get mixed up further with a lot of knotheads. . .

"I think we'd be very effective with the ultimate weapon against Red China."

Asked by this reporter to define "ultimate weapon," the general replied: "the atomic bomb."

"They'll understand the lash when it's put to them," he added.

Asked if the United Nations should have used the A-bomb or should still use the A-bomb against Chinese Reds in Korea, O'Donnell replied:

"I believe we should have cracked the Chinese Communists hard and smacked the hell out of them as soon as we had them identified after they crossed the (Yalu) River.

"There's nothing else we can do now that will put the hex on them."

In Washington, the White House and Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, made it plain "General O'Donnell is speaking for himself."

"And not the United States government," added Joseph Short, secretary to President Truman.

"And not the Air Force," declared Gen. Vandenberg, who previously had answered queries about possible A-bomb use against Manchurian and Chinese cities with:

"I venture to guess we first would have to find out what military objectives were in that area, and then decide whether to waste and A-bomb. I say 'waste' because perhaps those targets could be destroyed just as well by weapons which should be used against war-making potential rather than against people."

General O'Donnell told reporters that "there are quite a few good targets for conventional bombing" in addition to possible A-bomb targets in China and Manchuria.

Other O'Donnell statements, made with apparent deliberation and careful choice of words:

"I never thought I'd see the day when we would have to sit back with our hands tied. . .

"We have been fighting distinctly under wraps since the Chinese Communists came into the war. . .

"I am in complete accord with the United Nations, but it makes a very poor substitute for military headquarters in a campaign. . .

"If we're going to fight, let's not hit 'em light, for Heaven's sake. It's time people know that this is an all-out war. This is a global war. We won the first round but this is the second round and we are losing on points. . .

Howard Youngblood Dies:

Fighting Kid Loses Battle With Death

Howard Youngblood died this morning.

Death came to the frail but fighting youngster at 5:45 a.m. at the John Sealy Hospital in Galveston.

After four months in the hospital suffering with cancer, Howard was still fighting death, not from fear, but for life. Fourteen years isn't very long to live.

Doctors had said that Howard wouldn't live until Christmas. His mother, Velma Faye Stone of Pampa, knew that this would be his last Christmas. She wanted to give him all he asked.

At first he asked for simple things that any 14-year-old might think of, not realizing that this was his last Christmas. But because she insisted that she wanted to know what he would like more than anything else in the world, he told her a life-long wish.

He wanted to see his father for the first time. A search was started for the father that had been separated from his family since Howard was a baby.

A. A. Youngblood was found in Albuquerque, N. M., where he had a new life and new family. However, they understood, and insisted that he go to Galveston to be with Howard.

He arrived shortly before Christmas and a happy reunion ensued. Howard had a cheerful Christmas, although it was not easy for his parents to make it so — except to be there with him, and he lived much longer than doctors had expected.

Howard was a Boy Scout here in Pampa, a member of Troop 22 of the First Baptist Church. He received his First Class Scout Award for a Christmas present, accompanied by a radio that his troop sent to him.

Howard treasured these things because they took him nearer to his home in Pampa, closer to the things he had loved.

Plans for Howard's funeral are pending. The Poston Funeral Home of Panhandle will bring his body back to Pampa probably about Sunday or Monday.

Attacks Fatal To Jack Holt

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Death has claimed Jack Holt, 62, hard-riding cowboy of both the open and the cinema range.

He succumbed last night at the Veterans' Hospital in West Los Angeles to coronary thrombosis. He had suffered three severe heart attacks since shortly before Christmas.

Holt was moved yesterday from his apartment in the Miramar Hotel in Santa Monica, where he had lived for several years. His personal physician, Dr. Marvin Mack, said the veteran actor was gravely ill, rallied for a few days, and then suffered another attack yesterday.

His son, Tim, also an actor in westerns, was with him almost constantly during his last illness.

The elder Holt was a recognized star in Hollywood for 20 years in a row, a most enviable record in motion pictures. And he successfully bridged the transition from silent to talking films. He played the lead roles in nearly all the movie versions of Zane Grey's novels.

Holt, Tom Mix and Buck Jones made up the big triumvirate of western films in the movie industry's first quarter-century. And until age cut them out of rough riding scenes, they were the idols of millions. They gave way to the cowboys of the newer era — Gene Autry and Roy Rogers.

Starting his film career in 1913, Holt was still active in pictures up to his last illness. He recently finished playing the part of an Indian chief in the picture, "Across the Wide Missouri," starring Clark Gable. The film will be released soon.

Confessions Made By Two Pampans In Theft Of Stock

Statements confessing to the theft of 11 head of hogs and one Hereford calf were obtained from two Pampa men, Clem Hurd and W. G. McInturf, early Thursday morning. The two men were arrested about 7:30 p.m., Wednesday by Sheriff Rufe Jordan of Gray County and B. Dorman, Wheeler County sheriff.

The hogs were stolen from Leon Hayes, Allison and the calf from Glenn Elmore, also of Allison.

The two men were returned to Wheeler County by Dorman, Thursday, where they will face trial.

Fall Is Fatal To Ex-Pampan

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday in Houston with burial at Forest Hill Cemetery.

He worked for the Cabot Company in Pampa from August, 1945 to January, 1949. He has many friends in this community and surrounding areas. For the past few years he had been associated with the Ralph Davis gas consultant firm in Houston.

Airport Site Talk Resumed

E. Browning or northwest field?

Some more enlightening information on location of the county airifeld is expected to be given this afternoon when J. D Church, district airport engineer for Civil Aeronautics Administration, Big Spring, and two of his superiors talk things over with the Aviation Committee, city and county officials, and chamber of commerce officials.

Church did not identify the two superiors he would bring with him during the brisk session last week. He merely told Hugh Burdette, chairman of the combined C of C and Pilots Association Aviation Committee, that he would like to attend the Friday afternoon parley, and added he would bring two men from regional CAA who were in a position to say things he wasn't.

In the meantime county tax officials were winding up the ballot check against the property tax rolls, the straw vote taken last week on the county airport's eventual location.

Wedgeworth To Visit D.C.

The board of directors of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development made final plans, Thursday, for the annual membership drive and voted to send E. O. Wedgeworth, chamber manager, to Washington in the interest of the reactivation of the Pampa Army Air Force Base. The membership drive begins Monday.

Wedgeworth will leave Pampa for Washington, Sunday, and will remain in the capital city all next week in an attempt to secure the reactivation of the PAFB and also to look into possibilities of securing war industries for Pampa.

The board approved plans for the raising of an extra fund for the purpose of defraying expenses of Pampa representatives while traveling in the interest of the air base and war industries for the city.

Fred Thompson, chairman of the Highway 70 committee, reported that his group will meet in Austin, Jan. 30, with Ochiltree and Roberts County officials and state officials to ask for the construction of a Canadian River bridge to connect the northern and southern segments of the highway.

U.S. Military Leaders Head For Hearings To Back UMST

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The nation's top military men headed for Capitol Hill today to appeal for action on the Defense Department proposal for Universal Military Service and Training (UMST).

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, was scheduled as leadoff witness at a Senate preparedness subcommittee hearing. The military chiefs of the three services — Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army; Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, Navy, and Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenburg, Air

There was no doubt they would line up behind the UMST program previously urged by Secretary of Defense Marshall and Assistant Secretary Anna M. Rosenberg.

The Defense Department said in supporting the proposal that it offered the only alternative to drafting husbands, fathers and some World War II veterans. The department's bill would lower the draft age to include 18-year-olds, extend the length of service for draftees and repeal of some defermenis.

Two educators proposed late yesterday that: (A) 828,200 present college students be deferred or (2) some 500,000 18-year-olds be given military training along with their college courses.

Earl J. McGrath, U. S. Commissioner of Education, asked that half the male freshmen now in colleges and universities, plus all sophomores and juniors be allowed to continue during the next school year.

Chairman Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) of the preparedness group said he was "somewhat startled" and asked how the nation could get an estimated 1,000,000 new men for the armed forces if these 800,000 plus collegians were deferred.

McGrath said he favored the Pentagon idea of deferring 75,000 of the 18-year-olds in each of the next three years to provide future doctors, atomic scientists and other experts.

But he said that unless more youths go to college, the nation will face a dangerous shortage of chemists, linguists, lawyers and other professions in the future.

Instead of 390,000 male college graduates as in recent years, McGrath said the supply would drop to as low as 81,000 in 1955 and 1956 under the present plan.

Discharge For Guard Closed

Both Gov. Alan Shivers and State Adjutant General K. L. Berry yesterday ordered an end to releases and discharges from any ground or air unit of the guard except on special permission to go into the regular armed forces.

The Governor's order specified an automatic one-year extension of all guard enlistments expiring between Jan. 18 and July 9, 1951. The Governor said the action was in line with "national policy" for the guard.

Berry, simultaneously, issued a directive to guard unit commanders which had the effect of freezing both enlisted and officer personnel.

It directed that officers and enlisted men would not be permitted to leave the guard or service with the regular armed forces unless investigation proved refusal would impose a hardship on the applicant.

Berry said the action was necessary to keep the National Guard units at required strength. He said 33 other states had taken similar action.

Youngsters Nabbed For Bombardment

Bombardment, pee wee scale, smashed 14 windows of the First Christian Church Thursday afternoon before the juvenile cannoneers were nabbed by Juvenile Officer H. A Doggett.

Doggett reported this morning that three boys — ranging from nine to 10 years of age — started throwing rocks through the church windows and had broken 14 of them by the time he arrived. The boys were spotted, one of them recognized, by a woman working inside the church. The woman called Doggett but the boys ran away. He picked up the known one at his home and learned the names of the other two.

Parents of the boys agreed to pay for the damage wrought by their sons, Doggett said.

Communists Mass For Coming Drive

TOKYO —(AP)— A United Nations prowl force reoccupied the ruined and abandoned road-rail hub of Wonju today without meeting any opposition.

Two air-supported allied attack regiments on another sector of the snowclad east-central Korean battlefront killed 1,000 Reds and routed the remainder of their strong force in a continuing fight.

A big Red offensive effort was still expected to break out all across the peninsula at any time.

Allied patrols have been entering and leaving Wonju, the key traffic junction in central Korea, since the U. S. Second Division withdrew from a looping line two miles south of the town.

Only civilians were on hand to watch the reinforced patrol reenter Wonju Friday.

The two U. N. attack regiments — normally 6,000 men — smashed a large enemy force seven miles southeast of Yongwol, on the eastern end of the war front.

"We put the enemy on the run," an officer said tersely.

The fight started Thursday and was still raging today. Yongwol is 33 miles northeast of Chungju, allied-held highway center, and 13 miles east of Chechon.

Seven hundred of the enemy were killed by air strikes and the remainder by round troops. Bodies were counted in the snow where they lay sprawled.

The battle near Yongwol came during sharp patrol actions, crackling all along the Korean war front, that looked like preliminaries of a third major drive by Chinese and North Korean Reds down the center of the peninsula. Communist forces continued to shift to central and eastern sectors in a way reminiscent of the two previous enemy offensives — the plunge across the Chungchon River and the drive into Seoul.

The allied attack around Yongwol was not classed as an offensive but an officer said: "It must be quite a scrap. The area is full of those jokers."

Elsewhere along the front Communist patrols tried to close gaps between Red and UN forces after two weeks of Red inaction. Particularly threatening was the shift of enemy forces toward the center and east, in the area of Yoju, Wonju and Yongwol.

These are towns along roads leading to Taegu, pivot point of the old Pusan defense line toward which allied forces have been slowly withdrawing.

However, heaviest Red concentrations still were in the west, south of Seoul, where three Chinese armies totaling about 90,000 men were feeding some of their strength to the central and eastern sectors.

Associated Press Correspondent Don Huth reported from Eighth Army headquarters it appeared "possible that the long-awaited Red offensive to drive the UN

Solon Urging Quick Action On Tax Plans

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Quick action to raise taxes by another $8,000,000,000 to $9,000,000,000 was proposed today by Senator Robertson (D-Va), who said it would combat inflation and supply defense dollars.

The need is too urgent, the Virginian said in a statement, to delay another tax boost until Congress can try to find all the $16,500,000,000 or more President Truman wants in new revenue to balance next year's budget.

Robertson suggested the Treasury could prepare in a few days and Congress could pass in a few weeks a bill to:

1. Raise the tax rate on corporation income — perhaps to 55 percent. In the two tax bills enacted since the Korean war commenced, the top corporation rate has been increased from 38 percent to 47 percent.

2. Lower the exemptions of individuals. The present personal examption is $600. If it were trimmed to $500, this would bring in about $2,000,000,000 in new revenue.

3. Increase the excise taxes on some luxury goods and extend excise taxes "to certain products that might be called a border on such things as whisky, tobacco, jewelry, cosmetics, movie tickets, transportation, communications, radio and television sets.

Robertson, who was a member of the tax-writing House ways and means committee before he moved over to the Senate four years ago, said it would not be realistic to assume that Congress could enact a larger tax measure, tapping new and highly controversal sources, before late in the fall.

Texas Doctors Answer Draft

AUSTIN (AP) Texas medical men answering the call to register at draft boards Monday totaled 3,839, selective service headquarters announced yesterday.

Approximately 750 Texans signed up in the first registration last October.

Cook To Appear In Court Today

SAN DIEGO — (AP) — William E. Cook, accused kidnaper-killer, will make his first court appearance here today and if plans of federal officials proceed as expected he will be on his way to Oklahoma City before nightfall.

The removal hearing in federal court is expected to be a mere formality as Cook has already signed a form of waiver.

Cook was arraigned in jail yesterday on a complaint issued at Oklahoma City, charging him with Lindbergh Law kidnaping of the Carl Mosser family of Atwood, Ill., and causing injury to them, "to wit: murder."

Split Of Non-Communists Weakens Plea To Red China

LAKE SUCCESS — (AP) — A split among the non-Communist nations raised the prospect today that the United Nations will speak weakly, if at all, in answer to the United States demand for condemnation of Communist China as an aggressor in Korea.

Twelve Arab-Asian nations, contending that Peiping's rejection of the UN's latest cease-fire bid did not say "positively," called an emergency session (10 a.m. CST) to consider still another appeal to the Chinese.

An Indonesian foreign office spokesman in Jakarta depicted the split clearly today. He told a news conference that condemnation of Red China as an aggressor "would make the chances to keep world peace slimmer." He said Indonesia believes the Communist regime in China should be given a UN seat to ease present international tension.

India's delegate to the United Nations is flying back to New York tonight from London to oppose branding Red China an aggressor.

Sir Benegal Rau told a reporter in London that India's firm stand against such an American-sponsored move is unchanged. Rau said Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru still held to the policy he laid down at a Paris news conference two days ago.

Nehru said then that "to brand China an aggressor in Korea would bolt and bar the door to peaceful settlement" in the Far East.

Rau will be carrying with him Nehru's latest instructions. But Rau said he knew of no new compromise proposals to end the deadlock over Red China's reply to the UN cease fire proposals.

A British Foreign Office spokesman said Britain has been in close touch with the United States, France and the Commonwealth countries over how far it will go in supporting the proposed United States action against Red China.

Officials said Britain believed that branding Red China an aggressor in Korea should be considered with great care.

"You can't take a step like this without considering very carefully what the next step would be," said one official.

Canadian Compact Ratification Sought

State Senator Grady Hazlewood, Amarillo, Thursday took the first step toward making the Canadian River water compact an official document so far as Texas is concerned.

The senator introduced the bill asking the 52nd. Texas Legislature to ratify the compact and make it law in Texas. At approximately the same time similar bills are being, or will be, introduced to the Oklahoma and New Mexico Legislatures for ratification. When the compact is ratified by all three it becomes an official document.

Ratification is expected to be more or less routine in all three legislatures.

This is the compact that will divide the waters of the Canadian and its tributaries and govern the use of them among the three states. It was signed on Dec. 6 at Santa Fe, N. M., by the compact commissioners from each of the states affected.

The bill authorizing construction of the $85,000,000 Canadian Dam near Sanford has passed the House of Representatives in Washington; the U. S. Senate and signed by President Truman.

After ratification of the compact by the three states the dam compact has to come before Congress for an appropriation. If an appropriation is granted then a contract will have to be let, and then finally construction.

All of the $85,000,000 except about $5,000,000 is to be repaid the federal government from the sale of water to the 11 Panhandle and South Plains cities, including, Pampa, Amarillo, Borger, Lubbock, and others in the western half of the Panhandle.

About 50 couples attended a dance, which began at 8:30 p.m., in the banquet hall of the Pampa Country Club.

All members were invited to attend the square dance jamboree which will be held in Parish Hall, Monday, Jan. 22.

Lions Official Pays Tribute To Clubs At Canadian Meet

CANADIAN (Special) — Praising the Lions and other service clubs for performing a valuable function in their communities, and calling on local Lions Club members for "organized effort" in the national emergency, Dr. Marshall Harvey, of Lubbock, Lions district governor, paid an official visit and made the principal address at a ladies night dinner Tuesday evening at the WCTU building.

"Today of all times we feel that civic and professional men should be organized to take part in any effort our government calls on us to perform, nationally or community," Dr. Harvey told the group.

Approximately sixty persons, members of the local club and their wives and guests and visitors from the Higgins Lions Club, made the dinner and heard the address by Dr. Harvey. The meeting had originally been scheduled as a joint meeting of the Lions and Canadian club, but due to a last-minute conflict, only the Canadian club assembled.

Visitors from Higgins were present. They were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lee Wilbur, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Schwab.

In addition to the address by Dr. Harvey, the group was entertained with a program of musical selections featuring Curtis Babcock in vocal solos, and Rev. and Mrs. Tom Gray, the "family duet."

Babcock accompanied at the piano by Jan Waters, sang two numbers. Rev. and Mrs. Gray accompanying themselves with banjo and guitar, entertained with several ballads.

Gober Lee Mitchell, president of the local club, was toastmaster at the dinner. Supt. A. H. Breazeale, Lions zone chairman, introduced the speaker.

Reds Ignore Red Cross Agreement

DALLAS (AP) — Chinese Reds and North Koreans have refused to recognize the Red Cross and its international prisoner-of-war agreement, a high Red Cross official declared.

James T. He said they will be sent to prisoners if the Reds ever honor the agreement and "we can be assured they will get to the right persons".

Nicholson said the $85,000,000 fund goal which the Red Cross will ask starting in March "is a minimum goal" because of the group's expanded activities.

Culwell Indicted In Dallas Court

DALLAS — (AP) — William A. Culwell, an Amarillo lawyer, was indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury on charges of causing two witnesses in a Mann Act trail in Dallas last fall to make false statements in court.

Alfred Wayne Likes and Hanley R. Booth, the defendant, were re-indicted. Their case in Dallas Sept. 22, 1950, had been declared a mis-trial.

The indictment against Likes and Booth charges them with procuring a car used by Ruby Booth and Mary Katherine Davis to go from Dallas to Clayton, N. M., last June 2, for immoral purposes.

In the first trial, Ruby Booth and Wallace Eugerton Britt testified contrary to written statements made by them before the trail opened. The indictment against Culwell alleged he was responsible for making them change their testimony.

CRETE, Ill. — (AP) — A 13-year-old school boy, slain for no apparent motive, after he was abducted on Tuesday, was thrown from an automobile in a residential street late last night.

After his abductors tossed the boy's body into the street they drove away shouting: "Well, so long, kid"

The boy, Billy Rodenberg, had been missing since late Tuesday. He was last seen going to his home in a trailer camp south of this small northern Illinois community 35 miles south of Chicago.

An intensive search had been made for the slight, bespectacled boy, an eighth grade pupil in Crete Community High and Public school.

Dr. W. Hugh Miller, Will County coroner's physician, said the boy had been dead from 8 to 12 hours before he was tossed from the car about 10:30 p. m. Thursday. Miller said fingerprints and discoloration on the boy's neck indicated that he had been strangled. There also was a deep bruise on his right jaw.

Dr. Miller said the condition of Billy's eyes indicated his abductors may have blindfolded him.

Father Of Radio, 77, Now Hot On New Invention

PHOENIX, Ariz. — (NEA) — The "father of radio" is still going strong at 77.

When is Dr. Lee de Forest, holder of about 300 patents, going to give up inventing?

"When I've licked this problem I'm on now maybe I'll retire. But the way I feel now hemeansi ing to gemfwyp xxxxx ing to give up inventing?

He laughs as he says it, and you can see that, in a way, he means it. Short of death, the inventive electrons flow on in a brain like his.

Dr. de Forest's biggest contribution to mankind was to slip a piece of twisted platinum wire into a vacuum tube back in 1906.

Out of the resulting amplifying tube came radio broadcasting and reception, transcontinental and transoceanic telephoning, sound movies, television, aircraft-guiding beams, medical progress, Telephotos and radiophotos—you could go on for a long time naming things.

And what's his present problem?

"I'm trying to turn heat directly into electric current without the intervention of dynamos and engines and the like.

"I think I'm on the right track. But it may be a couple of years before I can be sure."

Dr. de Forest does his work at the United Engineering Laboratories, Los Angeles, of which he is director. He was in Phoenix on vacation.

In his lifetime the inventor, more scientist than businessman, has made and lost four or five fortunes.

But Dr. de Forest has always bounced back. During World War II he developed short-wave diathermy machines for the Navy.

He's had four wives. His present wife, for 20 years, is the former Mary Mosquini, a gay and attractive hostess.

Dr. de Forest, who has white hair, round pink cheeks, and merry eyes, recently set down his life story in "Father of Radio," published by Willcox and Follett, Chicago.

He was born at Council Bluffs, Ia., son of a Congregational minister. His father soon became president of Talladega College, for Negroes, in Alabama. He was ostracized by other children. For this and other reasons he turned inward.

From Mt. Herman Preparatory School near Northfield, Mass., he wrote his father:

"Dear Sir: I intend to be a machinist and inventor because I have great talent in that direction."

While at Sheffield Scientific School at Yale he became an agnostic and reaffirmed his decision to devote himself to science.

As he progressed he staged the first opera broadcast in history, with Enrico Caruso singing in Cavalleria Rusticana at the Met in New York, Jan. 13, 1910. In 1915, he broadcast a Yale-Harvard football game.

In April, 1923, he gave the first public exhibition of "phonofilm" — talkies — at the Rivoli theater in New York. He and a co-worker in 1924 made the first talking newsreels—interviews with Calvin Coolidge, John W. Davis and Robert M. LaFollette, the Presidential candidates.

Valli Launches Campaign For Use Of Her First Name—Alida

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — How would you like to be called just plain Smith? Or Hacknbush? Or Fingnapple? Or whatever your last name is?

Uh-huh, you'd feel kind of naked without your given name, wouldn't you? Then listen to the plaint of Valli, who is launching a campaign for the return of her first name, which is Alida.

"What would you think if people just called you Thomas, nothing else?" she inquired. I fumbled for an answer and she continued:

"Now you know how silly I feel to be going around with only one name. It doesn't make sense and it's confusing. People get me mixed up with Rudy Vallee.

"In Europe everybody knows me as Alida Valli. I started in pictures when I was 15 1-2 and made 35 pictures. All the movie fans there and my friends call me Alida.

"What's wrong with the name? I've had it 28 years and I like it. It has a nice sound. I want it back."

The actress lost the handle when she was brought to this country by David O. Selznick four years ago. Some bright studio mind apparently thought the single name would sound more alluring.

"It wasn't Mr. Selznick's fault," she added cautiously. "Now he agrees with me that I should have the Alida back."

Oddly enough, the Alida is hers and the Valli is not. Her real name is Altenburger.

"The name is Austrian — I come from the north of Italy," she explained. "When I started in the movies, they decided the name wouldn't do. So I ran my finger along a list of names in the telephone book and arrived at Valli. It sounded good, so I took it.

"As for the Alida, nobody knows where my father got it. It is not a comman name in Italy. I have heard of three women in America with the name."

Miss Valli had some difficulty expressing herself as we conversed. She explained that she had just returned from making a picture in France and had encountered language trouble.

"I was assured that the picture would be largely in Italin with a few words of French," she said. "When I arrived, I discovered the script was nearly all French with a few Italian phrases thrown in.

"I had to learn how to speak French in six weeks, working eight hours a day. Right now my head is so full that I don't know whether I'm thinking in French, Italian or English."

It will be quite a homecoming for Jeff Chandler when he stars in "Broken Arrow" on Radio Theater Monday night. It is his first starring role on the show, but he has appeared on it at least 100 times in the past as radio actor Ira Grossel.

Capsule Review: "I'd Climb The Highest Mountain" has nothing to do with mountain climbing. It is an episodic tale of the experiences of a rural preacher and his young wife in Georgia at the turn of the century. The story lacks a central plot, but makes up for that with a heart-warming story of faith. William Lundigan and Susan Hayward are excellent as the clerical couple and they are helped by a sincere cast and some fine southern scenery. A welcome film in these troubled times.

Heroic Spirit That Makes Liberty

What strange spark makes a man a hero in battle?

Perhpas it's something that really defies definition. Maybe we shouldn't try, but should instead just be grateful that we have heroes. For no one can doubt that any army is the better for the heroic deeds of its bravest men.

Five American heroes, all either dead or missing as result of the fighting in Korea, were honored by President Truman the other day with the nation's highest military tribute — the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Among the five was Gen. William F. Dean, a top U. S. field commander until his disappearance in action around Taejon last summer. The others: Lt. Frederic Henry of Clinton, Okla.; Master Sgt. Travis Watkins of Gladewater, Tex.; Sgt. Charles Turner of Boston, and Pvt. Melvin Brown of Mahaffey, Pa.

All of these men performed acts of bravery above and beyond the call of duty. In almost every case, their courage saved the lives of other men, who went on to fight and may still be fighting.

Let's look at just one of these heroes, to sample the true quality of heroism under fire. We'll take Brown, who happens to be lowest in rank. A member of an engineers' combat battalion, he distinguished himself while his outfit was engaged with the North Koreans near Kasan last Sept. 4.

The Reds counter-attacked as his platoon was attempting to secure what was known simply as Hill 755. Brown's citation reads:

"Taking a position on a 50-foot-high wall he delivered heavy rifle fire on the enemy. His ammunition was soon expended and, although wounded, he remained at his post and threw his few grenades at the attackers . . . . When his supply of grenades was exhausted, his comrades from nearby foxholes tossed others to him and he left his position, braving a hail of fire, to retrieve and throw them at the enemy.

"The attackers continued to assault his position and Private Brown, weaponless, drew his intrenching tool from his pack and calmly waited until they, one by one, peered over the wall — delivering each a crushing blow upon the head. Knocking 10 or 12 enemy from the wall, his daring action so inspired his platoon that they repelled the attack and held their position."

Of such stuff is the defense of liberty made.

Private Brown may never again walk the streets of Mahaffey, Pa. But wherever freedom is enshrined, his memory will reside for all time.

Fair Enough-Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — Soon after the "Hollywood Ten" were convicted of contempt of Congress in refusing to answer the $64 question, word came out of Hollywood that the great Dore Schary, who was soon to eclipse for a firm stand rallied the industry with a cry the martyr patriot, James K. McGuiness, had against the hysteria of the hour. It would pass and the suspect and slandered writers, directors and producers would retain their positions and prosper as before.

Mr. Schary is vice - president of Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer in charge of production. He is a mighty man. One might even say, now, that Schary is The Mighty Man, of Hollywood, politically, economically and in an indefinable zone of power that may be called leadership or control. His rise has been fast and unrelenting. He has taken no backward steps.

His estimate of the situation during the commotion over the testimony of the guilty "Hollywood ten" and the patriotic anti-Communist witnesses was accurate and prophetic. Mr. Schary's wisdom in calculating the conduct of the people of the United States who momentarily seemed aroused in patriotic rage against the industry may be a clue to his success. The man is there. He knows what makes the public tick. McGuinness and the other patriotic Hollywood witnesses were smashed.

Schary's widsom in that instance is vindicated by the clamorous reception of the Twentieth Century Fox production of "Halls of Montezuma," a grand tribute to the United States Marines. This show was directed by Lewis Milestone. It was written by Michael Blankfort. It had a grand premiere in Hollywood with fanfare by a Marine band under orders from the commandant of the corps in Washington, notwithstanding advice to his office concerning previous activities of Milestone and Blankfort. "Montezuma" had a grand invitional premiere in New York. The reviewers raved.

Lewis Milestone is named on a letterhead as sponsor of the American relief ship for Spain, Sept. 3, 1938. This outfit was described as a Communist front by the House Committee on Un-American Activities. He is named "sponsor" in a booklet issued by the committee for equal justice for Mrs. Recy Taylor. This was a sub-committee of the International Labor Defense, which was cited as a Communist front by both the attorney general of the United States and House committee. The Daily Worker of April 6, 1937, named Lewis Milestone as a member of the advisory board of Frontier Films. This was named by the House committee as a device of the Communist Party. A pamphlet of the Hollywood Anti-Nazi League named Milestone as sponsor. The House committee and the Tenney committee of the California legislature cited this one as a front.

Milestone's name appears on the official ballot of the Hollywood Democratic Committee. This was tagged by both the House committee and the Tenney committee. It was repudiated by the Democratic Party. Milestone was named "sponsor" on a letter-head of the Hollywood Committee for Democratic Action. This was cited by the House committee and the Tenney committee. The New Masses, a Communist magazine, on March 21, 1938, listed Milestone as one who signed a cable sent by the League of American Writers, which was branded subversive by the attorney general and as a Communist front by the House committee.

Milestone was listed as a member of the executive board in a leaflet published by the Motion Picture Artists' Committee, which was caled a Communist front by both the House committee and the Tenney committee. The New York Times of Oct. 10, 1941, listed Lewis Milestone as sponsor of an appeal by Russian War Relief, Inc., cited by the House and Tenney committees. He was listed as a member of the executive council of the Hollywood Independent Citizens' Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, on a letterhead dated Oct. 2, 1945.

Michael Blankfort, the author of the "Montezuma" spectacle capitalizing the glory and the sacrifice of loyal American Marines, was named "sponsor" in an official program of the American Peace Mobilization dated April 5, 1941. That was during the Stalin-Hitler alliance. The attorney general of the United States said this outfit was subversive.

The New Masses, an undisguised Communist publication, listed Blankfort as a member of the board of directors of the American Society for Technical Aid to Spanish Democracy. This was cited by the House committee. Blankfort signed an appeal to the Supreme Court as amicus curiae for the notorious "Hollywood ten." A publication of the League of American writers, condemned by both the attorney general and the House committee, named Blankfort as a member. The records of the House committee list Blankfort as a sponsor of a committee to organize a celebration in honor of the licentious old Communist battle-axe, "mother" Ella Reeve Bloor. A program published in 1935 named Blankfort as a member of the national committee against censorship in the theatre arts, called a front by the House committee.

The program of the conference of the National Council of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, March 25-27, 1949, named Blankfort as a sponsor. The House committee turned out a whole book on this front. Blankfort's name appears over 19 contributions to the Communist New Masses. The Sunday Worker, the official Communist organ in New York, in December 1935, named him as an editor. It goes without saying that all executives of the Sunday Worker had to be in good standing with the Communist Party.

Such then are the two who got up "The Halls of Montezuma." It may seem strange that in all the United States it was impossible to find two men with records absolutely innocent of such association to create this epic of the Marines.

The great Schary was right. The dumb Americans did forget. Within a month after the tragic death of the martyr, James K. McGuinness, who fought the treason and was whispered out of Hollywood, Milestone and Blankfort drank deep of their triumph in a theatre a few blocks from the hotel where Jim expired with the cry on his lips, "Lucie! Please, my prayer-book! I am dying!"

Washington . . . by Peter Edson

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — It's a darn sight easier to tell what isn't in the President's $71 billion budget message than what is in it. For pretty nigh everything the President ever asked for before is there, including a start on compulsory health insurance, the Brannan Plan, aid to education, St. Lawrence seaway — and a few odd thousand kitchen stoves. No foolin' —they'll go into new defense housing.

In the President's State of the Union message he got cheers from Congress for saying that the government "must practice rigid economy in its non-defense expenditures. Many of the things we would normally do must be curtailed."

The President still insists this is a tight budget. He is asking for only $4.3 billion in 12 brand machinery, 290 million for an extended draft, $164 million for dispersal of government buildings, $100 milion for defense housing, the rest in lesser items.

In preparing the budget, the claim is made that 130 items, new legislative authorizations. Of this, $3 billion will be for foreign military and economic assistance, $700 million to expand defense production, $300 million for price and economic control or 40 percent of the appropriation requests that will go to Congress, were cut back from last year. Cutbacks totaled $5.75 billion. Of this $3.7 billion represent cutbacks for stock-piling, shipbuilding and atomic energy, due to heavy expenditures in these fields this year. The other $2 billion cutback is in new defense items.

These savings are, of course, a mere molehill when stacked beside the mountainous fact that military expenditures will be nearly doubled from this year's $21 billion to next year's $41 billion. This is no way to save money, if that's the object.

SUGGESTED ECONOMIES

In reviewing the budget, the President said that when people make wild statements about what could be cut out, he wished they'd first learn half as much about the budget as he knew.

Among the most recent suggestions on how the budget could be cut was a statement from Otto A. Seyferth, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. He said $6 billion could be cut from non-defense items of the federal budget.

Mr. Seyferth recommended cutting $2 billion from farm subsidies and $1 billion from each of the following: housing loans, public works, veterans' benefits, welfare and public assistance. This is how the new Truman budget conforms, or rather doesn't conform:

Expenditure for farm price supports in the present fiscal year is estimated at $18 million net. This figure is low because the government made $296 million on the sale of cotton and other surpluses. For next year, the 1952 budget estimates expenditures will be $504 million. This is an increase of $486 million — roughly half a billion instead of a cut of $2 billion.

Reason for the increase is that the President wants an authorization of $427 billion to permit direct payments to producers in lieu of market price supports. This is the Brannan plan. It is aimed to permit excess perishable commodities to flow into consumption, instead of into storage.

Existing federal housing aid programs are expected to cost $409 million this year. Next year they are expected to show a new return to the government of $102 million. The President's budgt message, however, asks for an additional $1 billion authorization—instead of the Seyferth-recommended $1 billion cut for next year. Of this inerease, $100 million would be for defense housing and $450 million for civil defense shelters. For slum clearance, $350 million has already been authorized. For farm housing, $23 million is asked.

PUBLIC WORKS

President Truman asks that public works expenditures be increased by nearly half a billion dollars, instead of cutting them a billion. But $250 million of this is for atomic energy construction and various other items have military uses. Total public works outlay for next year is estimated at $3,352 million. And $12 billion more would be required in later years to complete now-approved projects.

Social security expenditures for this year are estimated at $2,520 million. For next year, $1,625 million — a $105 million increase instead of the $1 billion cut recommended by Mr. Seyferth. Such a cut would mean reducing all present programs by nearly one-half. Federal aid to the states for public assistance—poor relief — now costs $1,302 million a year.

President Truman asks that the health insurance scheme be inaugurated by a one-fourth of one percent payroll deduction on employes and employers, to yield $275 million.

Veterans' benefits are estimated at $5,746 million this year. For next year, $4,911 million. his indicates a saving of $835 million, which is close to the suggested $1 billion cut. But the President wants a new GI bill of rights for the Korean vets, so there's no telling what ultimate costs wil be.

Better Jobs

By R. C. HOILES

"There are a thousand hacking at the branches of evil to one who is striking at the root."
—Henry D. Thoreau.

Business Administration Courses

The course in colleges known as business administration probably does the students a lot more harm than it does them good. If the professors teaching business administration really had business ability they certainly would be in business where they could make several times what they can make teaching. It is a nice illustration of the old statement that "He who can does, and he who cannot teaches."

One of their ideas of educating is to have the students put in their time and confuse the students and miseducate them is to have them in their imagination invest $50,000. Then they check on each of the students to see whether the things he bought on the stock exchange went up or down in a month or six weeks. That leaves the impression with the student that investments should be based on whether or not a stock goes up or down in the next month or two.

The real investor doesn't profess to know whether a stock will go up or down in a month or two. The real investor is not interested in short time values. He is interested in what the stock will do over a period of years. He wants to buy a stock that is a growing business, that is well managed, and that has good book value, unless it is a very rapidly growing business and has hidden assets. The real investor wants stock in a company that has good financial structure. That is, that it doesn't have too great a debt or too much preferrred stock in front of it. The investor especially dislikes to have a lot of preferred stock in front of the regular stock, because the corporation has to pay taxes on the preferred stock, which runs the real rate of payment on the preferred stock up to at least half more than the dividends actually are.

The real investor doesn't look so much at the dividends a company is paying. He looks to its earnings record over a period of 10 to 15 years. He looks to its book now compared to its book 10 or 15 years ago. He looks to its volume now as compared to 10 or 15 years ago. He looks to its standing in the competitive field. And now he has another factor to look at—he looks at its earnings for the three best years from '46 to '49 inclusive, so as to determine whether or not it as a good excess profit base. These are just a few of the things the investor analyzes before he buys a stock.

So the imaginary experiment that the youth in colleges go through in business administration courses teaches him to gamble rather than to speculate on business investments. When a man buys a stock, he is in business. He is a speculator. He knows that he has no sure thing.

As far as college being a place to get an education, it is, as a friend of mine said, four years of vacation. It is true that a man can get a little training in the professions, but not an education. And the reason is, that in order to get an education, one must be exposed to men who are really seekers after truth—men who are seeking to understand natural law. And the men who are seeking to do that, do not stay in college, so the youth of the land is not exposed or does not come in contact with real active minds.

Just as a man cannot give another the measles without himself having them, just so he cannot help a student improve his education unless the professor himself is able to reason. But men who are able to reason seldom if ever are college professors.

Of all the courses in colleges, probably the most useless and most harmful is business administration.

Me Goin' Isolationist?

National Whirligig

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—Although a federal sales tax on every articel except food appeals to many members of Congress as a relatively painless method of raising part of an additional 15 or 20 billions required for rearmament, the House Ways and Means Committee has been shocked by perusal of the Treasury experts' confidential report on this subject.

Accustomed to municipal and state sales taxes of around two percent, they had thought of a similar federal levy. But the most recent studies show that, on the basis of current expenditures in the retail market, omitting food and goods already heavily taxed under the federal excise levies, it would require at least a ten percent federal sals tax to produce $ 10,000,000,000.

HURTS — Imposition of such a burden on top of local and state duties of the same kind would bring a howl of protest, in the opinion of the Ways and Means members. For, in addition to this heavy tap on the pocketbook, there would have to be another boost in current individual corporate taxes to finance the Washington budget on a pay-as-you-spend basis.

There is likewise the possibility that this severe increase in the cost of commodites would curtail buying to such an extent that a ten percent tax would not produce the amount estimated. It might also mean stagnation of business and industry, with resulting unemployment.

On the other hand, the failure to resort to this system of taxation would necessitate a tremendous hiking of existing individual income and corporate taxes, as well as a sharp rise in excise duties already in effect. President Truman was not fooling when he told Congress that it must "tax until it hurts."

PAY — Contrary to the general opinion, the Treasury survey suggests that even a ten percent nationwide sales tax would seem to give a "break" to the low-income bracketeers. Here are the amounts it is estimated the various income groups would pay out annually under such an impost:

Salaries to $1,000	$50
Salaries $1,000 and $3,000	150
Salaries $3,000 and 5,000	350
Salaries 5,000 and $10,000	600
Salaries over $10,000	$3,000

These figures cannot be guaranteed as mathematically accurate because a sales tax of the sort foreshadowed would undoubtedly change buying habits among the poor, the middle class and even the extremely wealthy. For one thing, there will be far less of many things for them to buy when the shift to manufacturing weapons in volume gets under way.

BURDEN — But, generally, the table above gives a fairly reasonable idea of the effect which a ten percent federal sales tax, with food exempted, would have on various sizes of pay envelopes and pocketbooks.

The lines for and against this method of raising more money have already been drawn behind the scenes on Capitol Hill. Labor and retail representatives are bitterly opposed.

But spokesmen for large income groups and the corporations seem to favor it, figuring that they might benefit if the new burden were carried, as Mr. Truman suggested in his economic report, by the lower and middle income groups.

"STOOGE" — General "Ike" Eisenhower's political stock has gone down in vlaue among many influential Republicans on Capitol Hill since he went abroad as the military emissary of the Truman administration. To use their own language, they figure that he is permitting himself to be used as a "Truman stooge."

This is not written here as any criticism of General Eisenhower, ffor he did not seek the difficult and unpleasant assignment. He could not have declined it, if he wanted to do so.

It was represented to him correctly, that he was the ideal individual for the delicate, diplomatic task. Nevertheless, politics being what they are, his new role has hurt him with certain so-called "professionals" in the GOP.

CLASH — In looking forward to 1952, barring a war in the meanwhile, these party Warwicks anticipate another clash between the Taft and Dewey wings, even though those two individuals may not be involved personally. But they expect a dispute over the party's trend between the eastern and the midwestern factions, and Mr. Taft and Mr. Dewey symbolize the two elements.

So, in his present work, General Eisenhower has been forced into the camp of the Dewey-Dulles-Stassen-Vandenberg group as against the Taft-Hoover alignment. Moreover, in view of the faith in the former European commander, his report on the extent of our allies' rearming and willingness to fight will undoubtedly have great influence with the American people and, therefore, in GOP circles generally.

It does not help General Eisenhower, politically, that Governor Dewey has already indicated that the "professor" is his favorite for the 1952 nomination.

Magnificient Four-Flusher

By DAVID BAXTER

George Bernard Shaw kicked the bucket the other day after some 91 years of uselessness and is now in the process of becoming a plaster saint in the cathedral of collectivism. A lot of intellectual streetwalkers calling themselves the "intelligencia" profess to have seen terrific genius in the old four-flusher. Shaw was supposed to have been a "wit," although there was nothing particularly comical about his having helped originate the British Fabian Socialist Society which brought about the present government, with its hardships upon the British people. The one really witty remark of Shaw's that I recall was when he wrote that "everone should be called upon to justify their existence every five years or so." Coming from as useless—and as harmful—a person as Shaw, that was a prize observation. The plays he wrote could hardly have offset his far more vigorous efforts to start force via Communism to reduce the human race to slavery.

Shaw's fame was far more the result of ballyhoo and publicity than due to any exceptional thought or ability. I never have been able to understand why men like Hearst, for example, lauded the old British Fabian to the skies, devoted entire pages of newspaper space to celebrating his birthdays, and wined and dined him, as Hearst did a few years ago at his San Simeon ranch. It seems to me that the Hearsts should have sense enough to know that Shaw represented a force in the world today—Communism—which would make short work of the very people who entertained and publicized Shaw. The British playright must have had a few thoughts like that running around in his clever brain as he accepted the hospitality of the Hearsts and others—whose heads will roll in the gutter if the thing Shaw believed in finally wins out in the world.

Bombastic old Shaw and those churchmen who profess to see something remarkable about him remind me of a certain chap who received an honorary doctor of philosophy degree from a college. From that time on he never signed his name without putting "Doctor" in front of it and Ph. d. behind it. He was thoroughly "doctored."

In due time the "doctor" embarked upon a cruise to Europe and, as usual, signed "Doctor" in front of his name on the ship's register. The ship had hardly left port when a mate came rushing down to his cabin and said, "Doctor, come right away. A stewardess, a young lady, has bruised her leg and wants you to look at it."

Well, the "doctor" hurried away, eager to undertake such an interesting assignment, but he was too late. Another fellow beat him to it by ten paces. He was a Doctor of Divinity.

In a way, Shaw's playwrighting and socialism are a sort of ironic joke to the English. His plays were supposed to [illegible] but his socialism now makes it impossible for them to afford admission to see his plays.

Not long ago one of Shaw's American fellow-travelers, E. Haldeman-Julius, a publisher of socialistic literature, printed: "Bernard Shaw said we should tear the cloak off hypocrisy; he also said that the iconoclast clears the ground." Shaw always did like to pose as an iconoclast.

An iconoclast is defined as an "idol smasher." Shaw's brand of alleged iconolasm consisted of jeering and making fun of things other people considered important, without in any way offering anything better. An anti-Christian and anti-any belief in anything, he made relentless attacks upon the faith and hope that is the only sustainer and strengthener many people have, without once offering to replace the vacuum he left. Even his atheism was of a shoddy, shallow, makeshift sort. I don't think he even believed in it very strongly. In fact, I don't think he believed in anything except being a smartaleck, trying to attract as much attention as possible and getting fame and fortune for himself. Shaw was just another racketeer who sold socialism to other people and posed as a "poor man's friend" while profiting handsomely in the act. Almost everyone of the big socialists and leftists I know of, from Roosevelt to Sinclair, have made fortunes from their socialism and being "the working man's friend."

If Shaw was an iconoclast, then the word needs a new definition. Far from smashing idols, he helped build one of the biggest of all idols —communism; the collectivist system based on immoral force instead of golden rule morality; the idea that the government is god. But there, I fear I'm becoming something of an iconoclast myself—in tearing down Shaw's idol.

Gentleman:

I am writing purposing a plan for Universal Military Training that I believe worthy of consideration. Instead of taking a bite of 27 months out of the lives of our young men why not consider this plan.

Why could ROTC not be set up in High School instead of so much all out athletics? The boys could train an hour or so daily. A camp could be set up for summers like National Guard Camp and if the boys attended two camps and were otherwise qualified let him work to noncom officer. Then if upon graduation he would be better trained than he would be in basic training. Too in case of National Emergency he could serve as a part of the Home Guards. Should he be able to attend college and continue ROTC grant him a commission if he other wise qualified.

Thanking you for your consideration.

Respectfully
Harold W. Turner

The Nation's Press

FOREVER DEWEY
Chicago Daily Tribune

When it became abundantly clear that Mr. Truman would ask for more soldiers and more controls, Gov. Dewey made a speech asking for a lot more soldiers and a lot more controls. This is what Mr. Dewey regards as statesmanship and what other people call "me, tooism."

Mr. Dewey had nothing to say about the problem which immediately confronts the American people: Shall we continue to fight in Korea or accept defeat and clear out? Thanks to internationalists like Mr. Dewey, we got into the United Nations and, therefore, into Korea. As a result, whatever we do now will be damaging to us. If we fight the war to the Manchurian border again, we shall have won nothing. If we get out, we have sacrificed 6,000 lives for nothing and suffered a loss of prestige to boot.

The dilemma could have been avoided, of course, if our state department had not accepted world saving as its mission. The tragic situation in which we find ourselves results not only from the stupidities and treasons within the Democratic ranks, but also from the willingness of such Republicans as Mr. Dewey to indorse the program as it has developed, step by step.

Now he shouts crisis and calls for conscription of boys and girls at 18, for 100 divisions, for the privations of the garrison state—for everything, in short, which will tempt a crackpot diplomacy to get us into greater and more terrible wars from which we shall have no more to gain than we gained from the last two crusades or can gain from the present one.

Far from being a statesman, Mr. Dewey isn't even a good politician, for he has confused the clamor of a few dozen internationalists organized in the Crisis committee and the Committee on the Present Danger with the opinion of the American people. Anybody who talks to people nowadays knows that most of them regard the Korean war and the whole interventionist policy that got us into it as a terrible mistake. They aren't afraid so much of what the Russians may do to us as of what the state department and the Vandenberg Republicans have done to us and will do to us unless they are checked.

We know that Republican isolationists were almost uniformly successful in the recent election and that Republican interventionists were generally defeated. We know, too, what we hear as we go about town and what our mail brings. Our colleagues on the New York News have the same story to report. Like us, they are getting far more than the usual number of letters and almost all of them express disapproval and distrust of the interventionist policy. We think it probable that this experience of the two largest newspapers in the country has been repeated in most of the other newspaper offices in the nation.

The Republicans in congress are mindful of all this and it is helping them to keep cool and not to yield to hysteria. Six of the eight Republican senators and representatives who went to the White House on Wednesday to hear Mr. Truman explain why he was going to declare an emergency said they were not persuaded by his argument. Even Mr. Dewey's Mr. Ives is howling for Acheson's scalp. Some of the Democrats, like Sen. Douglas of Illinois, are beginning to doubt the wisdom of interventionism.

At this moment, when the nation ought to be concentrating on solving the Korean dilemma and preventing a repetition of it, Mr. Dewey comes up with a program that offers nothing for the present but bombast and privation and nothing for the future but more wars, to be fought, presumably, where the Communists are strong and we are weak. Once more, Mr. Dewey has shown that he would be almost as poor a President as Mr. Truman.

Harvesters Play Plainview Bulldogs In District 1-AA Tilt Here Tonight

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

GALVESTON — (AP) — If, as reported, the Ivy League has a beeve against Pennsylvania, it isn't because of Notre Dame, or because of Penn's strong teams.

It's money . . . At least that's the impression you get from the gents who have been talking over the football rules here and just talking between sessions . . .

We've heard the same complaint elsewhere . . . The visiting teams took happily on those huge crowds at Franklin Field, then took amazed when they see their cut in the gate . . . First there's a season ticket sale of about 20,000 and the visitors share of that is small; then Penn has a lot of unusual expenses to be deducted before the 'net' is reached . . . It's all perfectly legitimate, but some athletic directors would prefer to schedule rivals who aren't such good business men.

George Sauer, the Baylor grid coach, went to San Antonio for a banquet appearance the other day and took along his star young quarterback, Larry Isbell . . . As time for his talk approached, George became visibly nervous and Isbell, who never gets flustered on the football field or elsewhere, got a lot of amusement from watching him . . . As the coach arose, Larry nudged him and pointed to the table cloth . . . There, in large letters, Larry had printed: "keep cool."

Galveston would like to land the minor baseball convention in 1952 or 1953, and Homer Norton, ex-Texas A&M coach who handles the convention bureau here, claims he can even take care of the weather for the baseball gents . . . Bill Anderson, son of Hunk, the old-time Notre Dame star who coaches the Bears line, has given up football at Duke to concentrate on track. He is rated as a great quarter mile prospect . . . When Frank Leahy was down this way he listened attentively to descriptions of Ed Bernet, Highland Park High School end who is tabbed as the best scholastic footballer in Texas . . . Frank was told that Bernet is built like Leon Hart and catches passes just as well — and has two brothers at Southern Methodist. He lost interest after the last item.

Bobby Dodd, the personable Georgia Tech coach, spent a lot of time at the coaches meeting showing off the watch he was given by his players when he helped coach at the Shrine East-West game . . . Said Bobby: "That's the first time an All-Star team ever gave a coach anything but a big headache."

Most popular juke box record in Texas since the Cotton Bowl game is "Tennessee Waltz" . . . Seven high school coaches from Stark County, Ohio, a hotbed of high school football, attended the college convention. . . . Also at Dallas, Bo McMillin, who collects $2,700 a month for not coaching the Detroit Lions, lunched with Indiana U. publicitor Bob Cook . . . Bob hinted broadly that McMillin should pick up the check . . . "Why Bob," gasped Bo, "I'm unemployed now. I gotta watch my pennies."

Chiefs Battle Dowell Cagers In Pampa Gym Saturday

The Noblitt-Coffey Chiefs put their undefeated cage record on the line at 8 o'clock Saturday night in the junior high gym. Pampa's Chiefs will have to have their scoring guns oiled because they meet one of the toughest AAU quintets in the Panhandle—Dowell's Cafe of Amarillo. No admission will be charged for the contest but fans can contribute to the March of Dimes at the gate.

Dowell will depend on Wimpy Hill, former Texas Tech cager, Charles Richarson, Pinky Jackson, Hank Decker, Doug Groom, Bill Miller, WTS coach Gus Miller's son, and Glenn Brotherton to snap the Chiefs' five-game winning streak.

The Chiefs will field one of the highest scoring combination in West Texas. Cliff McNeely, Bill Bond, Caddo Matthews, Garland Head, J. W. Malone, and Jimmy King.

McNeely has a game scoring average of 25 points. Head, coach at Spearman High School, is a long shot artist. He had his best night against the Hedly Independents when he canned six straight field goals.

Another high scoring Chief is Malone. The Groom High School cage mentor has been in three games with the Pampa crew. His best shot is a left handed shot for the side.

Matthews holds down the center post. His best work is under the boards. He isn't a high scorer but he gathers in his share of the rebounds. Bond and King share a forward position. Both cagers have better than a 10-point per game scoring average.

Nevel Is Minus Two Joints On Finger

NEW YORK, — (AP) — The stout right pitching arm of Ernie Nevel, which won 21 games for Beaumont last year, is minus two joints on the little finger today.

The New York Yankees, who brought him from the Texas League, told of the operation. Nevel was struck on the hand by a drive while pitching for Ponce in the Puerto Rico League.

NTS Clouters Defeat SICE

KIMBERLY, Idaho — (AP) — North Texas State College's touring boxing team last night pounded out a 5 1-2 to 3 1-2 victory over Southern Idaho College of Education.

Baxter Ragsdale of North Texas scored a technical knockout over Jack Olson at 1:35 of the second round in the 130-pound class.

Other results included:

135 — Dick Cole, North Texas, won by forfeit.

145 — Cleve Morgan, SICE, drew with Jack Gunter, North Texas.

155 — Jack Woodruff, North Texas, decisioned Al Starns.

175 — Florin Hulse, SICE, won by forfeit.

Heavyweight — Clarence Hulse, SICE, won by forfeit.

Pampa Reapers Clip Horace Mann, 31-28

The Pampa Reapers took over first place in the Panhandle Junior high School Basketball League Thursday afternoon by defeating Horace Mann of Amarillo, 31-28.

Center Jimmy Bond looped in 18 points to lead the Pampa scorers. Pampa led 8-7 at the quarter mark, and built its lead to 17-14 at halftime.

The Reapers have three conference victories against no losses.

Shamrock Cagers Have 3-1 Record In Conference

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Shamrock's Irish baskefeers have won three and lost one in the District 2-A campaign. They downed McLean twice — 47-33 and 40-36—and Wellington once, 49-26.

The Irish dropped their first conference collision to Clarendon here Tuesday night, 33-32. Clarendon took a 4-0 lead, led 17-11 at the half, and hung on to the leather in the final minute after the Irish had come from 33-27 to 33-32.

Wellington is the foe there in a battle Jan. 18. The Rockets will seek revenge for the pre-Christmas defeat by McCall's Irish.

Shamrock's defeat by the Clarendons will not affect the 2-A title chase, as it will be decided Feb. 15-16-17 at the McLean District 2-A tournament playoffs.

Shamrock respects the Memphis Cyclone, which won its own tournament last weekend. The Memphis-ites are the biggest threat to the Irish defense of the 1950 conference pennant.

The Irish were impressed by the play of Wilson Lane, Clarendon forward, who hooped five from the floor and two extra points from the free line.

McLean and Wellington, considered generally less strong than the others, except Lefors, are always dangerous. But Memphis and Clarendon are considered the ones the Irish have to beat for retention of the flag.

Terry and Tarbet kept up their scoring duel. Both netted 12 against Clarendon. The current standing: Terry 158; Tarbet 144.

Assistant DA Questions Two Men In Scandal

NEW YORK — (AP) — An investigator into the Manhattan College basketball bribe attempt said "I don't know where this thing might lead" after questioning two men until early this morning.

Edward F. Breslin, assistant district attorney, stayed in his Bronx office until after midnight questioning the two "in connection with the basketball investigation."

Breslin did not identify the men and, after six hours of questioning, released them.

Edward Byrnes, deputy detective inspector of the Bronx, said the men were question in connection with telephone calls to Henry E. Poppe, one of the five men arrested Wednesday on charges of bribery and conspiracy in offering a star Manhattan player, Junius Kellogg, $1,000 to throw the game against DePaul on Tuesday. Manhattan upset DePaul, 62-59.

Poppe was arrested along with John A. Byrnes, Cornelis Keelleher and two brothers, Irving and Benjamin Schwartzberg after Kellogg told his coach and police of the attempted bribe. Poppe and Byrnes were co-captains and stars on last year's Manhattan team.

Earlier Breslin said he had been in nearby New Jersey "tying together some loose ends" in the investigation. He said also that the police are seeking a former college cage star, but he did not identify the player or his school.

George B. De Luca, district attorney of the Bronx, said the police also are looking for a man known as "Big Joe" and "The Big Man."

"We do not know his true name," De Luca said.

Golden Gloves Meet Cancelled At Lubbock

LUBBOCK — (AP) — Sponsors of the Lubbock District Golden Gloves Tournament have decided not to hold the amateur meet this year for lack of interest and shifting war conditions.

Harvesters Have To Measure Plainview To Stay In Race

The Pampa Harvesters meet the Plainview Bulldogs in a District 1-AA Conference basketball game at 8 o'clock tonight in the junior high gym. The Guerillas play Plainview's B team in the opening game at 6:45.

Radio station KPDN will broadcast the Harvester-Bulldog game starting at 8 o'clock.

Coach Cliff McNeely's Green and Gold cagers will have to take this one if they expect to stay in the conference race. Borger defeated Pampa, 48-43, in its conference opener. Plainview has dropped two loop games. Amarillo and Borger handed the Plainview five its two loop losses.

The Harvesters will be out after their seventeenth cage win of the season tonight. Pampa has a 16-3 season record. Borger, Port Arthur and Lubbock are the three quintets responsible for the losses.

Probable starters for Pampa are Marvin Bond and Buzz Tarpley at forwards; Duane Jeter at center; and James Claunch and Tommy Smith at guards.

The Borger Bulldogs are leading District 1-AA's cage race with three victories. Amarillo is in second place with a 1-1 record, and Pampa and Plainview are in the cellar with no wins.

Pampa would go into a second place tie with Amarillo if it wins tonight's contest.

Bulldogs Squeak Past Amarillo Quintet, 41-40

Amarillo's Golden Sandstorm started blowing in the second half at Borger Thursday night and it had the Bulldogs hanging on the ropes when the whistle sounded ending the game. The Bulldogs won the game 41-40 but it was anyone's ball game in the last two minutes.

Borger was leading 36-27 at the start of the fourth quarter, but Amarillo's Winters thawed out and hit six points to lead the last quarter drive.

The game stood at 39-38, Borger, with two minutes and thirty seconds left in the game. Scott hit for the Bulldogs, and Winter hit two free shots to make it 41-40. Amarillo got off one more shot before the game ended.

Canadian Tourney Opens With High Scoring Contest

CANADIAN — (Special) — A Texas High School basketball scoring record may have been set in the Wildcat gym here Thursday night in the opening game of the Canadian Basketball tourney. Mobeetie's girls team defeated Booker girls, 93-76.

The two teams scored a combined total of 169 points. Totty meshed 46 points for Mobeetie and Henton hit 42 for Booker.

In another girls' game, Canadian tripped Follette, 41-30. Rathjen pushed in 19 points for Canadian and Burguin counted 13 for Follette.

Canadian's boys clipped Booker 46-24 in the only boys game of the night. Bryant looped in 18 points for Canadian and Lemon canned 12 points for Booker.

The tournament will continue Friday and Saturday with the girls finals Saturday afternoon, and the boys will play their finals at 8 o'clock Saturday night.

White Deer Loses Two Cage Games

WHITE DEER — (Special) — Canyon's cagers defeated White Deer here Thursday night in two games. The Bucks lost to Canyon's A team, 43-38, and the B cagers were routed 52-26.

The Bucks trailed the Eagles in the A game, 28-13, at halftime. Charles Meadow led a last half drive to narrow the score to 43-38 when the whistle sounded ending the game. Meadow hit 13 points for the Bucks, and Ray Burris canned 18 for the Eagles.

But Wilkerson was high for the B cagers, six points, and A. C. Wimberly was high for Canyon with 15.

The Bucks meet Canadian there tonight in the Canadian Basketball tourney.

Carver Quintets Win Two Games From Childress

Coach C. E. Petty's Carver High School cagers captured two games from Childress there Wednesday night. The boys team had an easy time, winning 48-21. Carver's lassies won their game 25-13.

Thomas was high point man for Carver with seven field goals. Roland Rogers canned 13 points and E. N. Russey meshed 12 for Carver. Brown hit six points for Childress.

Mary Roland was high point girl for Carver with nine points. Alice Vinsior tripped the cords for eight tallies. Carver's lassies trailed 9-8 at the half, but came back after intermission and held Childress to four points while they scored 17 markers the last half.

Carver boys' team has lost one game this year. That was to Borger, 23-22, in the season opener. But they measured Borger, 25-24, here in a three minute overtime.

Grand Jury Refuses To Indict Operators

DALLAS — (AP) — A federal grand jury yesterday refused to indict operators of the J. H. Hyke Football Service on charges of using the mails to run a lottery.

Ray Herman, Ollie Riley, Charley Gordon and Ralph Cowdrey, the operators, were arrested Oct. 18.

The jury indicated it thought the evidence was not enough.

AMERICANISM and CHRISTIANITY or COMMUNISM and ATHEISM...which do you want? The inescapable challenge facing the Christian world today is COMMUNISM. COMMUNISM is OFFICIALLY ATHEIST. To destroy the American principle of FREEDOM of WORSHIP is the declared intention of this ANTI-AMERICANISM.

ABOUT twenty years ago the Comintern declared: "The ultimate aim of the Communist International is to replace world capitalist economy by a world system of Communism.... It will bury forever all mysticism, religion, and superstition." That anti-God declaration has never been challenged. In fact, it has strengthened its atheist principles to a point that has rarely been seen before in history. The Truth is, Communism cannot live with Christianity, because it is a religion unto itself, as much so as it is a system of politics and economics.

COMMUNISTS declare theirs is simply the "scientific" application of the teachings of history. They also say theirs is not only a "scientific" system but is the ONLY SYSTEM. Communists say Christianity is superstition. They refer to Christianity as something especially designed to capture the masses for exploitation by capitalist masters. Communists say "DOWN WITH THE CROSS WHICH IS THE SYMBOL OF FAITH FOR THE CHRISTIAN WORLD."...Therefore, Communism and Christianity become the two great rival Faiths of the Twentieth Century.

CHRISTIANITY believes one thing about the nature of man and his destiny, the nature of morality, the basis of ethics, and the nature of the Universe; COMMUNISM believes the exact opposite. CHRISTIANITY believes in the INDIVIDUAL and in the RIGHTS OF MAN. COMMUNISM believes the individual is the wholly owned SLAVE OF THE STATE.

THIS atheistic, materialistic, conspiracy threatens to engulf the whole world. Unless it is stopped our liberties, political, civil and religious rights, will go the way of the unfortunate nations which have already been crushed to earth behind the iron curtain of Moscow. If you believe in God and the Bible of the Lord God Almighty, won't you help hold high the CROSS. It is being threatened by Communist enemies. For the sake of all that is dear to you...attend your church and support her good work.

WHAT A FRIEND WE HAVE IN JESUS

A Carpenter And The Lord Write A Hymn Together

Grief fell over the town of Lake Rice, Canada. One of the community's most beloved citizens was dead. Some believed his death was accidental. But the poor people—those who knew him best — wondered if their friend had taken his life

Joseph Scriven was born in Dublin in 1820. He was educated on the Emerald Isle and graduated from Trinity College. He was a youth of high ideals and a beautiful lass had set the day when she would share his high hopes. Then tragedy struck. The day before the wedding the body of the young Irishman's bride-to-be was pulled from a pool of water where she had accidentally drowned.

Sriven never overcame the shock. At twenty five he migrated to Canada in the hope of forgetting. But he never forgot. For forty years the melancholy man associated himself only with the poor. He worked at simple labor but refused employment from those who were able to pay.

Most of his time was spend sawing wood and doing patch carpentry for widows and the sick.

One day when he was ill an attending neighbor found a poem in his room. Questioned as to the authorship, Scriven replied, "The Lord and I wrote it between us."

It was October 10, 1886, and Joseph Scriven was dead. Like his sweetheart of years ago, his body was pulled from a pool of water. Whether he died of his own design didn't really matter. His neighbors built a monument to his memory. Not because he had written a famous hymn but because he had devoted his life to the poor.

The Hymn Scriven said he and the Lord wrote together was . . .

What a Friend we have in Jesus,
All our sins and griefs to bear!
What a privilege to carry
Everything to God in prayer!

O what peace we often forfeit,
O what needless pain we bear,
All because we do not carry
Everything to God in prayer.

Have we trials and temptations?
Is there trouble anywhere?
We should never be discouraged,
Take it to the Lord in prayer.

Can we find a friend so faithful
Who will all our sorrows share?
Jesus knows our every weakness,
Take it to the Lord in prayer.

Are we weak and heavy-laden,
Cumbered with a load of care?
Precious Savior, still our refuge,
Take it to the Lord in prayer.

Do thy friends despise, forsake thee?
Take it to the Lord in prayer.
In His arms He'll take and shield thee,
Thou wilt find a solace there.

Perfection, the goal of existence, is not won in a moment; and regeneration leading thereto is gradual, for it culminates in the fulfillment of this divine rule in Science: "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Fathr which is in heaven is perfect."

Jesus Had Foes, Bible Reveals

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Jesus had enemies!

One would like to assume that the great and good are immune from enemies and attack; but it is not so, and it has not been so in the long history of evil, intolerance, and persecution. And the enmity has often been all the stronger toward the noblest and best. The One supremely good had His enemies.

Who were these enemies of Jesus?

First of all were those who led Him to say, "A man's foes shall be they of his own household." His brethren who did not believe in Him. Two, however, James and Jude, became earnest disciples and contributed books to the New Testament.

Next, were those of His home town, the religiously conventionally-minded; with ideas so fixed that their zeal turned to hatred against anything that differed from their preconceived notions.

How like them have been succeeding generations of professedly devout and earnest people, who have thought to do God service by manifesting wrath and hatred against even truly prophetic souls, whose religious ways or ideas differed from their own.

Third, Jesus was soon attacked by the official representatives of religion, those who asked Him, "By what authority doest thou these things?"

One should need no authority for doing good, or for speaking truth. Religious freedom is the most basic and important freedom of all. Yet the channels of religion have too often been blocked up by an ecclesiastical officialdom that has arrogated to itself the power to dictate what men should do and say.

Finally, Jesus had against Him all whose religious professions were hypocritical and insincere, and all whose purposes and actions were dishonest and unjust. He also had enemies among His friends, those who thought they knew better than He what He should do (Matthew 16:21-23).

What was the attitude of Jesus toward His enemies? What did He do?

He kept His own counsel. He was not rushed into action. Toward His doubting brethren He quietly abided His time, and went up to the feast at Jerusalem when He was ready.

He commended the official authorities insofar as they were right. "The Scribes and Pharisees sit in Moses' seat." He had not come to destroy, but to fulfill. But He said, "Do not according to their works, for they say, and do not."

He used strategy in avoiding trouble. "His hour had not yet come." He met trapping questions with baffling questions in reply. But when His hour had come He spoke out with terrific realism and power. (See Matthew 23.)

There was no appeasement, no compromise. He, who loved sinners so much that He had come to redeem them, had no appeasement for their sins. He denounced evil because He wished to bring men to repentance.

The world turns aside to let a man pass, who knows where he is going.

Wesleyan Service Guild Has Meeting; Begins Study Of 'The Near East'

Study of the Near East was begun by the Wesleyan Service Guild of First Methodist Church Monday night. The meeting was in the church parlor with Mrs. Flaudie Gallman and Mrs. Ray Wells as hostesses.

Miss Inez Clubb was in charge of the business when offerings on the parlor fund were received, and plans for the District Conference of Guilds in April were made. Pampa Guild is to be hostess to this meeting. Miss Minnie Allen was appointed chairman of a committee to make arrangements for this conference, with Miss Faye Ann Porter and Mrs. J. M. Turner assisting.

A portion of a letter from Miss Mary Inez Holland, a missionary in India, was read by Mrs. Diamia Wood. This letter stated that Wesleyan Service Guilds were being organized in India. Mrs. Gallman gave a devotional on "Our American Heritage," followed by a prayer by Mrs. F. W. Shotwell.

Mrs. Shotwell had arranged an impressive worship center of the open Bible, with streamers leading to the various countries of the Near East, on the map above.

Mrs. Mildred Hill introduced the new study leader, Mrs. Earl Parks who gave the lesson on the geographic division of the new study, "Near East Panorama."

The hostesses served refreshments to 13 members and guests.

Special Services Scheduled At Methodist Church

REV. SLATER

Special services will begin Sunday morning at the First Methodist Church to continue through Friday with the Rev. Eugene L. Slater, pastor of the Polk Street Methodist Church in Amarillo, as visiting minister.

Services will be held twice daily, 7 to 8 a.m. and 7:30 to about 8:30 p.m., according to the pastor of the local church, Dr. Orion W. Carter.

Harley Bulls, choir director and educational director of the church, will be in charge of the musical program. On Wednesday night, the program will be sponsored by the Methodist Men's Organization and an all-man choir will sing.

The Rev. Slater is the new minister at the Amarillo church, recently moving from the Berring Mission Church at Houston. He is a graduate of Southern Methodist University at Dallas.

If you mean to act nobly and seek to know the best things God has put within reach of men, you must learn to fix your mind on that end and not on what will happen to you because of it. —George Eliot

Grace Friend

Readers of The Pampa News are invited to send their problems to Grace Friend. Letters not published in the columns will be answered personally provided a self-addressed stamped envelope is enclosed with the question. Writers must sign their names although they will not be printed without the writer's permission.

Dear Miss Friend.

I have a friend who is to be married around Christmas.

A year ago she was engaged to a boy, but broke her engagement a month before they were to be married. She had been given a wedding shower by the boy's relatives and had received many lovely gifts from them. When they broke-up she offered to give back the gifts, but they told her to keep them, saying that they hoped they would make-up.

When this boy heard that my friend was to be married to someone else, he asked that the gifts be returned, but my friend would feel pretty silly returning the things this late. She has never used any of the things, of course, and nearly everything is in its original box.

She has asked me for advice and I feel that she should return all the gifts to the givers as the cards are still attached. Do you agree with me or is it correct?
P. W. T.

Dear P. W. T.

You are right.

All of the gifts should have been returned as soon as the engagement was broken regardless of what the donors might wish.

Your friend should have insisted on returning the articles, then she would not be in an embarrassing position now.

I think that she should write a note with each gift when she returns it and thank the people who gave it to her, explaining that changed circumstances make it impossible for her to keep the present.

No doubt some of the things will be returned to her in which case it will be perfectly all right for her to keep them.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Life" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 21.

The Golden Text is: "This is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son" (I John 5:11).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For I have not spoken of myself; but the Father which sent me, he gave me a commandment, what I should say, and what I should speak. And I know that his commandment is life everlasting:" (John 12:49, 50).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The evidence of man's immortality will become more apparent, as material beliefs are given up and the immortal facts of being are admitted" (page 428).

He who picks up one end of a stick picks up the other. He who chooses the beginning of a road chooses the place it leads to. Always the means we use must partake of the quality of the goal we seek.

Jean And Henry Have A New Baby Addition To Family

By HENRY McLEMORE

Our household this week has been increased by one — and this new member hardly weighs an ounce.

I might as well start from the beginning to tell you about this new "ounce weight" member of our family.

We live on the tenth floor of an apartment building in New York City and on the sixth floor is a highly bred Siamese cat who runs away from his home to come up and call on our little alley cat, Duffy. They have such a good time together that it is pathetic to see Duffy sit at the elevator door when his friend is taken back to his apartment. Duffy meows and mahows with sheer lonesomeness.

As a result Jeanie and I decided we had better get a little playmate for Duffy. "Duff" being of the pure, elegant strain of alley cat, we decided not to go into the fancier breeds in the feline world for a playmate. So, after much telephoning, we found that the only place we could get a baby kitten — of Duff's breed — was the Bide-A-Wee Home for Friendless Animals.

When we got to the home it was very difficult for us to decide which kitten to take home with us. They all came to the front of their cages and wanted to be petted. Jeanie wanted to take them all but we finally decided on a tiny gray one with yellow eyes and wobbly legs. The sort of kitten that would be hard to give away. He's homely and bowlegged but he rubbed harder against the cage and did more purring than the rest of the stray cats combined.

So we brought the kitten home, wrapped in a bath towel, and turned him loose with old Duff cat. That little kitten must have come from a long line of family cats because it took him no time at all to take over the most comfortable spots in the living room, drink Duff's milk and then spit at Mr. Duff and almost chase him out of the apartment. Naturally I know it's just a matter of days until they become friends and will undoubtedly go around saying they roomed together at school.

But in the meantine Duffy cowers in the corner and that fresh little "Bidey" (we named "Bidey" after the Bide-A-Wee Home) is ruling the roost. He sleeps on my new Christmas blanket, he's chewed up Jean's best gold slippers and has broken our very best Orrefors vase that we bought in Sweden last summer. That vase, by the way, I lugged back in my hand all the way from Stockholm, because Jeanie wouldn't trust it in the hands of shippers. When eight-week-old Bidey knocked it over and put a crack in the side Jeanie said: "Isn't that cute, he's stronger than I thought he was."

Seems kind of funny to be talking about a cat when the world is in the shape it is today and the front pages of newspapers bring the same sicknes to my heart that they do to yours. I like to read the headlines and I used to be able to do it in peace until we got our little stray cat. Now he jumps at the bottom end of the newspaper and by his jiggling makes it impossible for me to read.

Lookit, you see the position I'm in, not being able to get the news. So if an atom bomb is dropped, will you please send me a penny postcard.

The only other new member is Senator Joe Carter of Sherman. He got a front corner seat a row away from the other newcomers.

U.S. Wants Stalin Impressed By Proposed Military Budget

By DEWITT MCKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Western Europe's reaction to America's proposed military budget is one of near stupefaction at its magnitude, but as yet there is no indication of how it affects the quarter in which we are most interested — the Moscow Kremlin.

Having pushed us into this mountainous project, just what does Marshal Stalin think about it? Apropos of this the London Evening Star (Liberal) says the figures "are so colossal that the mind is stunned," and it adds:

"The two facts which should be remembered about the biggest of all peace-time budgets are that the money must be found by the American taxpayer, and that at a word from Stalin it need never be spent at all."

That's a true appraisal, and it's what gripes the average citizen who must foot the bill. The young man of the current generation knows that his way of life for the rest of his years, and probably his children's entire lives, will be affected. And he charges his ills against an aggressive communism which is manipulated by the all powerful dictator in the Kremlin—Stalin. The taxpayer's feelings towards Moscow are not pleasant.

And what might Stalin's reaction be? He plays his cards close to his chest, so we shall have to do some high-power guessing.

In the first place the Red dictator must be amazed at the size of our undertaking. And it's safe to say he must be disturbed to find the American public willing to shoulder such a mountainous burden.

And just as this herculean gesture has given fresh confidence to the democracies which are battling communism, so must it have handed the Kremlin a solid jolt to see us displaying such economic strength. Stalin may well have done himself a disservice by forcing America to adopt such an unprecedented course.

However, that's not the whole story; we shouldn't let ourselves get to feeling smug. We must remember that one of Moscow's chief methods of softening up nations so that communism can take them over is to disrupt them economically. A country which is hard-up is far easier picking

'Cut Joy-Riding' Says Lawmaker

AUSTIN — (AP) — State employes are doing entirely too much joy-riding in state - owned cars, Rep. J. T. Rutherford of Odessa maintained.

Nobody's enforcing the rule that state-owned cars shall be used for business purposes only, so

"Paint all the state-owned cars white, put in black letters six inches high twice on each side: 'This is state property, not for personal use;' put the same wording in red letters three inches high on the back," Rutherford said.

"You make them look like an advance car for a circus, and the public will start noticing when a man has his family out for a Sunday outing in a state car. The public will enforce that rule."

Rutherford introduced a bill yesterday to carry out his ideas. He would exempt highway patrol cars and all other cars used in law enforcement.

Red Purges Only Emphasize Gravity Of World Crisis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Communism's drastic purges of dissident party-members in strategic countries emphasizes the gravity of the international situation.

Soviet Russia is preparing to intensify her world revolution for spread of the Red ism, and she is getting set for the contingency of world war.

This doesn't necessarily mean Moscow expects a world war in the near future. It certainly does mean she is playing it smart by preparing for possibilities.

Apropos of this, Newsweek Magazine, will state that the American Communist Party in its recent national convention boasted it was ready and able to sabotage defense mobilization. The magazine says carefully screened delegates were told the party had the machinery for such sabotage.

This work would be entrusted to hand-picked, thoroughly trained specialists whose loyalty to communism was unquestioned. A purge of dissidents from the party is a foregone conclusion. Neither dissidents nor drones are tolerated.

The most sensational purge of the moment is that in China. This has no national parallel in magnitude, except possibly the sweeping purges from time to time in Russia since Bolshevism gained control.

The Chinese purge is at once a terrifying exhibition of ruthlessness and thoroughness in maintaining the efficiency of the Red machine. Party leaders are said to have been ordered to cut China's card-carrying membership from 6,000,000 to 3,000,000.

The purpose is to get rid of dead-wood and obstructionists, leaving a fanatically loyal (of at least obedient) party upon which the Peiping government can depend. The party leadership comprises members who have been given intensive training in conducting subversive activities and inflaming crowds. The key leaders in all countries have had special training in Moscow, where they have been schooled in every branch of revolutionary activity.

This purge is typical of those which have been carried out, first in Russia itself in the early days of Bolshevism, and later in all the satellites. There is no half-way about communism.

The apparent magnitude and thoroughness of the Chinese house-cleaning presumably is due to the countries sudden emergence as the key nation in Moscow's drive to communize Asia. General Mao Tzetung, the very capable leader of the Chinese Communists, apparently has his dreams of making China the paramount nation of all the Far East.

Behind those dreams stands a population of close to 500,000,000. Behind the dreams also are untold millions of actual and potential fighting men, such as now are sweeping into Korea. Also in the background stands a Russia capable of providing material for military operations.

Moscow apparently is encouraging Mao to feel that he is in partnership with the Soviet Union and is slated for leadership of Asia. And why shouldn't Russia play it that way? Through Mao the Soviet might in the long run be able to win all the Far East without lifting her own finger.

But success depends heavily on party loyalty. Hence the bloody purge in China and the house-cleanings in other countries.

Don't Talk About Troubles; Correct Them Says Mother

When many folks get to feeling badly they just don't know what to do. They fret and stew around, tell their neighbors, their friends and their family how badly they feel — and they usually do feel miserable. But they don't help matters any by telling other folks how badly they feel all the time, because most folks don't want to be around them when they act that way. Now, for example, take Mrs. Zina Lee Bowman, Route 6, Clees Ferry Road, Nashville, Tennessee. When she got to feeling badly, she began taking HADACOL and found that by taking HADACOL she gave her system Vitamins B-1, B-2, Niacin and iron in which she was deficient.

Here is Mrs. Bowman's own statement: "I was so weak I could hardly do my housework. I am 30 years old. I am the mother of 9 children. I was so nervous I hardly wanted the children to speak. I had to rest after I got breakfast and before I cleaned my house. I have taken almost 4 bottles of HADACOL, and I feel fine. The children can make all the noise they wish, and it doesn't bother me. In fact, I join them in their ball games and other games. We are a happy family, thanks to HADACOL."

Big Shots See Fashion Show

By ARTHUR L. EDSON

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Washington got a look at the newest ladies fashions, and . . . . . Wow!.

The Washington advertising club put on the fashion show. It attracted a fair sprinkling of bigshots — such as presidential assistant John Steelman and Federal Trade Commisioner Stephen J. Spingarn — possibly because of the advance literature which said:

"Eight lovely Washington models will appear in a series of exotic, sheer negligees over skintight bathing suits."

That's the reason I went anyway, and, by golly, they did.

Since the things they wore, more or less, are difficult for a man to describe, I'll give you this example from the program:

"Dorine Liebert apricot stain tent pegnoir over nude chiffon and alencon lace nightgown — permanently pleated and very full."

I guess that pretty well sums up the situtation, except that I thought some comment should have been made on the little lady inside this filmy cloud who was a very well put together little lady indeed.

Comic Ab Burrus, of all people, was a commentator on the style show. He wasn't kidding when he said:

"I think these gals would look great in burlap."

And when another nice item came parading along in a transparent negligee, Burrows said:

"How could a fellow leave that and go to work?"

Finally we were given a look into milady's future.

Due to the increasing high taxes, it was said, we may have to resort to the barrel for clothing. And here came a model in a plain barrel for knocking about the house; another in a middling decorated barrel, for street wear, and finally a gal in a real fancy barrel, for evening dress.

Everybody laughed, with one exception.

Chief Tax Collector George J. Schoeneman was there. He did not appear to be amused.

POINTED OBJECTION — A diaper pin in the brief outfit of June McCall became the point of contention between Washington, D. C., censors and a Hollywood pin-up book publisher. Censors said the diaper pin was much too suggestive, and banned mailing of the book until it was deleted.

BI-STATE BUILDING

The original cost of the building of the White House was defrayed from the sale of land donated by the states of Virginia and Maryland.

Seaweed Diet Forecast For Eaters Of Future

SINGAPORE — (AP) — Food chemist George Clemons told Singapore Rotarians that man's present day primitive feeding habits would horrify his children's children.

He said food chemisis had already succeeded in produeing synthetic foods and that the sea, with its vast amount of seaweed, would provide the ingredients for man's future food. By then, however, it would be the job of the psychologist to persuade man to accept synthetic food, which would be the same in appearance and content, as natural food, Clemons said.

PRICE TO SPEAK

LAREDO — (AP) — Ed Price, new head coach at the University of Texas, will be principal speaker at an annual dinner Jan. 17 honoring members of the Laredo Junior College football team.

The world's largest battleship could be run at top speed for 45,000 years by the energy expended during a violent earthquake, according to scientific estimates.

Army Particular About Dried Eggs

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Army says it has been buying eggs in the open market because stocks held by the U. S. Commodity Credit Corp. could not meet Army specifications.

The Army said its specifications require that the dried eggs it buys be "the best available in all regards, including palatability."

This requires, it added, a process which removes objectionable odors and greatly improves the taste of the eggs served to soldiers.

Eggs bought and stored by the CCC to maintain price levels come from a wide variety of plants which are not equipped to meet the Army's specifications, the statement said.

As much as 100 quarts of water pass through the gills of an oyster in a day during a straining process by which it obtains food.

Stolen Property Roasting In Oven

CALGARY — (AP) — One innocent purchaser of a turkey here had the bird roasting in the oven when police came in to get it as evidence in a court case. On payment of $10 he was allowed to keep the bird, stolen by two other men who pleaded guilty to theft of turkeys from a district farmer.

HERE'S THE NEW '51 DODGE
New Inside...New Outside
with a Completely New Kind of Ride

NEW in more ways than cars costing up to $1,000 more

AT A SECRET PREVIEW THESE FAMOUS AMERICANS SAID:

TED WILLIAMS—"When I first saw this new 1951 car, its smart look, its new engineering advances made me put it in the expensive car class," says Ted Williams, baseball's great left-handed slugger.

BETTY HUTTON—"It's so big, so roomy and with greater visibility for every passenger," says Betty Hutton,* famous for her own exuberant way of putting over a song. "And so luxuriously appointed, inside and out!"

• • •

DALE CARNEGIE—"I think I know what influences people, and this new car will do it," says Dale Carnegie, famous author of "How to Win Friends and Influence People" and "How to Stop Worrying and Start Living."

*Soon to be seen in Cecil B. DeMille's "THE GREATEST SHOW ON EARTH," a Paramount Release, Color by Technicolor

Now YOU can see it! The new 1951 car that thrilled hundreds in secret previews coast-to-coast! Yes, famous Americans and people in all walks of life—engineers, stylists, architects, mechanics—were excited by its stunning new beauty and host of engineering improvements . . . were amazed that any car offering so much sells for so little!

New Riding Principle!

New Oriflow shock absorber system brings you a truly new kind of ride . . . lets you "float" down roads that stop other cars. Here's a new kind of smoothness—over the same roads that jarred and "hammered" you in the past! Whether it's city road or country road—cobblestones or corduroy—wheels stay on the ground. There's no wheel hop or bounce!

New Watchtower Visibility!

Here's visibility for all passengers through the new wider windshield, and deeper, wider panoramic rear window—for greater safety, comfort. Here's new spaciousness inside to let you ride relaxed, uncrowded. Yet outside, its new beauty is sleek and trim for easier handling and parking.

Drive Without Shifting!

Dodge GYRO-MATIC brings you America's lowest-priced automatic transmission to free you from gear-shifting—with complete control of your car under all driving conditions.

See the New 1951 Dodge January 20th!

You could pay up to $1,000 more and still not get all the new beauty and famous dependability of this great new Dodge!

AWAY

That she is dead—she is just away!
I cannot say and I will not say
With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand
She has wandered into an unknown land,
And left us dreaming how very fair it needs must be since she lingers there.
And you—O you, who the wildest yearn
For the old-time step and glad return,
Think of her still as the same, I say:
She is not dead—she is just away!

AMY STOKES

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to all those who helped us many ways to bear our sorrow in the loss of our Mother, Amy Stokes. To the membership of the Penecostal Holiness Church, and Church of God, and the neighbors and friends who brought food and to those who sent flowers we are grateful.

We wish to especially express our thanks to Rev. Luther Reed, Rev. Lester Foster, and the Rev. Fuller for their words of comfort. Also for the beautiful quartet music and to Duenkel-Carmichael for the beautiful last rites. May God bless you.

Through the days,

How perfect, too, each thought of her,
How comforting to know
Her own dear love is with us still,
To bless the way we go.

Father, I desire that they also whom thou hast given me, be with me where I am, that they may behold thy glory, John 17:24.

This Last Night

By Ferd Nauheim

THE STORY: Paul Twing, a former Navy officer, has kidnaped Judy Twing, 8-year-old daughter of his dead brother. Judy had been living with her unworthy mother who had been mistreating her and in spite of the fact that Paul is a kidnaper, much public sympathy has been aroused in his favor. He meets May Jenkins, a waitress in a coal mining town, and when May expresses sympathy for Paul, he discloses his identity. May has a plan to get to New York, where Paul has a friend, Martin Jabee, a sea captain who might take them somewhere to begin a new life. Judy is to be dressed as a boy and May will pose as her mother. Officers will be looking for a man and a small girl, instead of a man, woman and boy. As they start out for New York, they read the papers and learn that authorities are tracking down more than 100 leads supplied by private citizens all over the nation. But there is a cheering note—more than 10 "Justice for Twing" clubs have been formed for Paul's defense, should he give himself up or is apprehended. "Will you give yourself up, Paul?" May asks.

PAUL TWING shook his head in answer to May's question. "No," he said. "I won't give myself up. I decided what I would do when I started this thing."

"But," May Jenkins declared, "everybody is for you."

"Yeah," Paul smiled at her, "then who turned in the hundred leads?"

"Crackpots."

"What are crackpots?" Judy asked.

Paul laughed. "Your question, May. You answer it."

"It isn't a very nice word, I shouldn't have said it, but a crackpot is somebody who hasn't very good sense. They aren't very nice people. They don't know how to run their own lives very well, so they try to run other people's lives."

"But why do you call them crackpots? That's a funny name."

"They're funny people," Paul laughed.

He became serious then and turned to May to discuss their next move. He feared that the approaches to New York might be watched. His suggestion was that May drop him off in Jersey City and then take the Holland Tunnel into the city. He would cross by ferry.

"When you get into New York, drive around uptown until you find a place with a furnished room of some kind, or a little out-of-the-way hotel. I'll find some place to put up. Tomorrow I'll see what I can learn about the ship and I'll meet you in the evening." He fished his wallet out and gave May $50. "This ought to take care of you until we get together. You two go out and have a good time tomorrow. Neither of you has seen New York. There's plenty to see. We'll meet at 5 o'clock. There's a little triangular park, it's just a block long, up at 106th Street and Broadway. You be there on one of the benches at 5 and I'll join you."

* * *

THE endless tiled tunnel they sped through under the Hudson River frightened Judy. May was intimidated by it too, but she didn't admit it. They rolled out into a confusion of cars, trucks, and white-marked traffic lanes, into the roar of New York at night. May was completely bewildered, but, just in time, she saw an overhead sign, "UPTOWN—WEST SIDE."

She swung into that lane and followed the cars ahead of her. With growing panic she drove uptown. The careening cabs, the distracting electric signs, the darting pedestrians, and the bedeviling traffic lights had her dazed.

Judy bounced up and down on the seat beside her filled with wonder and delight. Everything she saw elicited a dozen questions, though the answers were few and not too satisfying. After driving for what seemed like hours, the traffic thinned out, the great electric signs became smaller and fewer. May saw a policeman standing at an intersection directing traffic. She pulled up beside him and asked where they might look for a room.

The policeman put his weather-beaten face into the car and glowered at her. "Watcher looking for, lady, a hotel?"

May gulped. "A furnished room if I could find one."

"Well, you ain't gonna find one on Riverside Drive. Go over to Amsterdam or Columbus. Run up and down the side streets. Look for a sign in a window."

May guessed from the direction in which he had pointed where Amsterdam and Columbus might be. After an hour of cruising, May finally rang the doorbell of a brown stone house that had a card in the front window reading "VACANCY."

A stout, matronly woman responded to the ring. As the door opened, a stale, dank smell assailed May.

* * *

WHILE May and Judy climbed the stairs to the second floor and then stood inspecting the diminutive front room and its dowdy furniture the landlady kept up a running string of comment on the rarity of a vacant room these days, offering not one but several verbose explanations as to why this room was unoccupied, and what clean, neat tenants it had had before. May was worn out from the long drive and the terrifying experience of confronting Manhattan traffic.

"How much is it?" she sighed. "And where's the bathroom?"

"The bath's down the hall. I'll show you. The room's $14 a week. You pay a week in advance."

"What if I don't stay a week?"

The woman sniffed. "We rent all our rooms on a weekly basis." She looked at May appraisingly.

May fumbled in her bag and took out her purse. "All right. We'll take it."

She counted out $14.

Reds Use Elephants To Shift Supplies . . .

RANGOON — (AP) — Renegade PVOs used elephants stolen from the government to transfer equipment to their new base in mid-western Burma, according to reports.

The reports said the shift was made from Mindon, a small town 35 miles from the large cement centre, Thayetmyo, with the approval of the Central Burma Communist high command.

According to these reports, the PVOs are closely allied to the Communists who are dispersing their forces in strategic positions around the central plains in anticipation of a possibly new anti-government upsurge.
