Huge Majority Best Rebuke To Jim, Dan Asserts

Moody Declares 100,000 Vote Margin Best Thing For The State

AUSTIN, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Only a tremendous majority against Fergusonism Saturday will constitute "the rebuke it deserves," state headquarters here for Attorney General Dan Moody, gubernatorial candidate who lead over Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson by more than 100,000 votes in the first democratic primary, declared in a pre-election statement made public Thursday night. The people of Texas go to the polls Saturday in the run-off primary, and the statement said that one of three alternatives before the people, was that "they may forever remove from public affairs in Texas the menace constituted by Fergusonism."

As another alternative, the statement says, the people of Texas, "may approve Fergusonism for another term of office, which, it continues, "is hardly possible, as the result of the election has never been in doubt," and the Fergusons second "campaign has been one of desperation and has stirred up no enthusiasm or popular interest."

New Political Life.

"They may give to Fergusonism new political life by only a margin of victory for responsible government," the statement describes a third alternative but continues that "the people have not in five weeks' time forgotten those evils they condemned in the first primary. They have not forgotten his brazen advocacy that the public debt be repudiated. They have not forgotten his humiliation of their state pride by reason of the standards he seems to regard as proper for public conduct."

The statement follows:

"On Saturday the people have the choice of three alternatives: they may approve Fergusonism for another term of office; they may give Governor Ferguson political life by only a margin of victory for responsible government, or they may forever remove from public affairs in Texas the menace constituted by Fergusonism.

"The first event is hardly possible. Indeed, the result of the election has never been in doubt. The second Ferguson campaign has been one of desperation, and has stirred no enthusiasm or popular interest. It is to be assumed that some of those who have followed the standard of Jim Ferguson in his former campaigns will cast their ballots for him next Saturday, but this is not even a large minority of the electorate. Mr. Ferguson's so-called issues which he declared to be involved in this campaign have not attracted to him voters who supported Mr. Davidson in the first primary, and have not caused any defections whatever among the followers of Mr. Moody. The people of Texas know that the question of political domination by the ku klux klan was settled two years ago, and that Mr. Ferguson's frantic attempts to revive this issue are not inspired by sincerity, but only by a desperate desire to retain the reins of power.

Claim Ridiculous.

"His claim of election irregularities has become the more ridiculous with the progress of the campaign. Recklessly he has asserted that ballot boxes were stuffed, and alleges in support of his criticism that 150,000 more votes were cast for candidates for governor than for any other state office. The official returns to the state democratic executive committee do not verify this assertion, but Mr. Ferguson was never fearful in adherence to facts. The returns to the democratic convention show that in the race for governor 821,000 votes were cast; 798,000 votes were counted for lieutenant governor, and 794,000 for comptroller, or a difference of only 23,000 in one instance and of 27,000 in the other. This is even a smaller difference than in former elections.

"That there was not even a technical violation of the law regulating campaign contributions, intentional or unintentional, by Mr. Moody or any person connected directly or indirectly with his campaign, has been abundantly demonstrated. The statute cited by Mr. Ferguson was intended only to forbid candidates for office to foster dummy candidates, in order to detract votes from the opposition. That is, the statute applies only to contributions from a candidate for a nomination to another candidate for the same office. Neither facts nor law support the technical contention advanced by Mr. Ferguson in this campaign.

"The hypocracies of the Ferguson campaign are accentuated by the other "issues" whereby the attention of the people is sought to be diverted from Ferguson misrule. On the eve of the first primary the tax rate was reduced as a bid for votes. There follows a reduction in scholastic apportionment for the support of the public free schools. Having himself become responsible for the deficiency in revenues that creates the present deplorable condition with refernce to our public schools, Mr. Ferguson would make the people believe that his return to power is necessary for the allegiation of this condition. The people will not be deceived by such sophistry. Mr. Moody has pledged himself to see to it, in so far as the power of the government's office will permit, that adequate appropriation

A Cautious Man

HOUSTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—No woman may legally marry a man against the will.

That principal was enunciated Thursday by Assistant District Attorney Langston King.

The recipient of King's advice was a middle-aged Mexican who had bought a marriage license and had given it to his intended bride. Then he learned she had divorced a number of husbands and decided he did not want to marry here. He was afraid she might force him into matrimony as she held the license. King explained the license was not mandatory and he could renig any time before the ceremony.

JIM TALKS TO SEALY CROWD

Large Audience Turns Out For One of His Last Addresses

SEALY, Tex., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Former Governor James Ferguson spoke here last night to a large audience in the public park. He was introduced by Uncle Charley Pilbo, an old-time resident and stockman of Austin county, who said that the Fergusons were the friends of the cowmen and that was why he was standing by them in this election.

Many of the audience came forward and shook hands with Ferguson following his address, pledging their support to "Ma" in next Saturday's primary. Some assured the speaker that the governor's majority would be much larger in this county Saturday than on July 24.

The speaker advocated the gasoline tax of 3 cents and a reduction of one-half the present tax rate on automobiles in order to provide money to keep up the country roads and provide a $15 per capital for the schools. He said that Moody was taking the side of the oil companies by opposing the tax.

Ferguson declared that Moody had gotten himself into the former governor's class by not being able to get his name on the ticket in the November election on account of his campaign expense report.

LATE REPORTS MAY INCREASE DAMAGE MARK

Morgan City, La., Bears Brunt of Hurricane's Savage Attack

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 26.—(AP)—With four persons known dead, two others missing and property damage estimated in excess of two million dollars, Louisiana tonight apprehensively awaited further news from outlying districts of the passage of the tropical storm which swept in from the Gulf of Mexico last night.

Morgan City, near the mouth of the Mississippi, appeared to have born the brunt of the storm as it raged inland. Virtually every house in the town was damaged, boats were carried away, a ferry boat swept from its moorings and crashed into a railway bridge. Damage there was estimated at a million dollars. Two watchmen on the ferry boat still were missing tonight.

Man Electrocuted.

One man was electrocuted in New Orleans while attempting to repair a high voltage line, and a sailor was killed at Gulfport when he came in contact with a live wire. Another man was drowned at Frenier, 14 miles south of Pontchaloula when his store was inundated by flood waters. A woman was drowned in the Mississippi river above Convent. The body had not been identified late today.

MORGAN CITY VIRTUALLY A WRECK FROM GALE.

MORGAN CITY, La., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Morgan City was a wreck tonight. Damage estimated at a million dollars was wrought by the storm which swept into Morgan City from the Gulf of Mexico last night, being winds which attained a velocity of 100 miles an hour and tides which swept away boats anchored at what were considered safe spots.

Buildings were torn away, windows smashed, roofs thrown off and even bricks torn out of the walls by the force of the wind. In the height of the storm fire broke out and but for the torrent of rain which accompanied the storm would have made the destruction of the city complete. Two buildings were destroyed before the fire was extinguished.

The ferry boat plying between Morgan City and Berwick was torn from its moorings, swept into the steel bridge of the Southern Pacific and demolished.

Smith and Others Ask Election Supervisors

Oil Industry Is 67 Years Old Today

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 26.—The petroleum industry, one of the world's basic businesses today will be 67 years old o nFriday, August 27.

On a Saturday, August 27, 1859, the shallow well that the late Colonel Edward Laurentine Drake, started along Oil Creek, near Titusville, Pennsylvania, found a pay and sand at 69 1-2 feet and it filled up with light oi., The first well, struck at a remarkably shallow depth, never flowed, but had to be pumped, the initial production being approximately 30 barrels a day.

The discovery created great excitement in Pennsylvania and eastern states and a development was begun that almost wrecked the industry while it was getting started.

It is estimated that the Drake well produced close to 2,000 barrels between August 27 and December 31, 1859.

While the world acknowledges Colonel Drake as the discoverer of the first commercial oil well in the world, history relates that Drake profited little by his effort. While others were busy leasing land and drilling wells, Drake settled down to pumping his first and only well. In 1860 he was chosen a justice of the peace at Titusville, the office paying him about $3,000 a year. He also bought oil for a New York City firm, his commissions averaging $2,000 a year.

Drake, who was a retired railroad conductor, was induced to drill the Oil Creek well for a group of eastern financiers. He bought 25 acres from Jonathan Watson on the edge of Titusville for close to $2,000 and when the mortgage fell due, sold it for $12,000. Drake street in Titusville now runs through that section of the city and the property is worth more than $500,000.

Colonel Drake left the oil fields in 1863, with about $15,000, went to New York and lost it all in unprofitable ventures. He and his family lived in want for years, and broken in health and spirit, he probably would

MANIAC SLAYS 2 CHICAGOANS

Man Runs Wild With Gun Near Busy Railway Station

CHICAGO, Aug.—26.—Running wild with a shotgun, a man believed to have been crazed by the heat or liquor, tonight shot and killed one man and wounded three others as he fled through the crowded concourse of the Illinois Central station and was himself shot and killed by a store owner as he reached the street in Park row just outside the station.

The maniac first appeared in the train shed out of which a crowded Michigan Central train had just pulled. He approached Joseph Edwards, passenger agent of the Michigan Central road with a repeating shot gun in his hand and without a word levelled the gun at Edwards and wounded him possibly fatally.

Next he made for Timothy Lynch, a special policeman, who fled through the station warning crowds of travelers to run for their lives as the mad man pursued.

While hundreds of men, women and children sought refuge behind seats and in corners the maniac's attention was attracted by Frank Miller, another special policeman. He chased Miller into the train sheds, then vanished to appear again in busy Park row where he fired two or three shots into the air bringing panic to the street, streaming with taxicabs.

Traffic in smart Michigan avenue a few feet away was thrown into confusion. Special policemen and traffic officers made toward the maniac who continued to fire. He spied a waiter in a nearby restaurant and fatally wounded him then wounded another. A store keeper who had procured a gun then went into action and it was his shot that killed the maniac. The man was partly identified as Joseph Mazza, 40. The waiter whom he killed was Steve Kocinas.

SMITH REQUEST MAY NOT HOLD

Belief Expressed It Is Not Signed Out for Whole County

The opinion was expressed in Wichita Falls Thursday night that the petition of Fred K. Smith and others for election supervisors for the primary election, Saturday was faulty, and did not entitle them to the requested officials in at least two of the four Wichita county precincts.

One-fifth Required

Article 2924 of the election law, revised as to 1924, is cited, the article reading that "any one-fifth of the candidates whose names appear on the official ballot, may, on the day preceding the election, or prior thereto, agree upon two supervisors, who when selected, shall be sworn as election officers."

The official ballot for Saturday carries seventeen names of which, however, only ten are candidates in precincts one, two and four. Due to a tie for second place in the constable's race in precinct three, citizens of that precinct have eleven candidates from which to make their choice for five posts. Under an interpretation of the law which is being applied elsewhere in the state, notably in Bell county, the signature of a constable or justice of the peace in an application for supervisors has no weight outside the precinct in which he resides.

Two Precincts Left Out

Those signing the application handed Mr. Bruce were Fred K. Smith and C. L. Bradford in precinct 1, these two comprising one-fifth of the candidates in that precinct. In precinct 2 only Fred Smith's name, under this interpretation of the law, would appear on the petition. In precinct 3 Fred Smith is joined by Bob Bains in asking the supervisors, but inasmuch as there are three candidates for constable in the precinct the pair do not make the requisite one-fifth of the candidates. In precinct four Smith is joined by both candidates for justice of the peace, Sid Smith and Ed C. Wilson. Thus, it was stated, the petition would be without weight in precincts 2 and 3.

Mr. Bruce could not be reached late Thursday night for a statement on the matter.

SHERIFF AND 4 CANDIDATES FILE A PLEA

Application Presented To County Chairman For Vote Overseers

Fred K. Smith, candidate for sheriff, and four precinct candidates of the county have filed with County Democratic Chairman H. J. Bruce an application for appointment of supervisors for the second democratic primary election to be held in Wichita county Saturday, it was learned Thursday. The application for the supervisors, Mr. Bruce stated, was handed him Tuesday afternoon. Thursday a list of more than 30 men acceptable to the signers of the petition as supervisors was given him, with the request that they be appointed.

"The list is just half long enough, Mr. Bruce said he told them, explaining that the law required two supervisors to each box, whereas they had handed in a list containing only slightly more than 30 names for 39 voting precincts. He stated they said the remaining names would be handed him today in time for appointment to serve Saturday.

Other Signers.

Signing the petition with Smith for the supervisors, he said, were Ed C. Wilson and Sid Smith of Electra, both candidates for justice of the peace, precinct 4; C. L. Bradford, candidate for constable, precinct 1, and R. A. (Bob) Bains, candidate for constable for precinct No. 3. The law requires that as many as one-fifth of the candidates listed on the ballot must sign such an application before it can be honored. The five signing the instrument handed Mr. Bruce thus contains one more name than was required, there being but 17 names on the ballot for Saturday's primary.

Election supervisors, it is explained, are bound by oath to stay within sight of the election judges while the votes are being cast, and in cases where it is necessary for an election judge to mark a ballot for an illiterate or one otherwise unable to mark his ballot himself he shall supervise such assistance as is given. It will not be proper for a supervisor to speak or talk to any of the election judges, Mr. Bruce stated, or to any voter. It will be the duty of the supervisors further to see, once tallying has started, that each vote is called properly, and that totals are correctly arrived at. A full report of their observations shall be made in writing to the next grand jury.

There is no provision in the law for payments of supervisors from party or county funds, Mr. Bruce stated Thursday, remarking that it has been usual in such instances as he had known of where supervisors were asked for and obtained that the applying candidates split the expense among themselves.

But one change has been made in the voting places Mr. Bruce stated, that being in box 2, the change being from the Marble works on Seventh street to Travis school on Lee street. Election judges have been obtained for all but two boxes, most of those serving July 24 having signified their willingness to serve again Saturday. It was expected to obtain judges for these two boxes today.

"Everything else is ready," Mr. Bruce declared.

Sweetwater Youth Is Victim of Shooting Affray.

SWEETWATER, Tex., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Elmore Widener, 18, died in the home of his parents here Thursday from infection in a wound suffered in a shooting affray near Roby, 30 miles north of here, on July 24. Abandon Hope For Ones Caught In Deep Shaft

Four Escape Alive and Reach Hospital Seriously Hurt; Gases Spreading Death; Six Bodies Seen at Entrance.

CLYMER, Pa., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Forty-six miners were believed to have been killed here late today in an explosion which wrecked the interior of Clymer No. 1 mine of the Clearfield Bituminous Coal corporation. Four men escaped alive and are in a hospital, seriously injured.

Practically all hope for the entombed men was abandoned tonight after Dr. W. E. Dodd, company physician explored the mine as far as possible. He said the blast caused widespread devastation and that the tunnels were so heavy with gas that no human could survive. He said that within the slope, under piles of rock, he saw the bodies of six miners. Some were badly mangled while others, he said, bore no marks, indicating that they were victims of the gases.

Volunteers re-entered the gas filled slopes in their heroic effort to rescue the entombed underground toilers were driven back time and time again. Before the deadly gases became heavy in the dark recesses the rescuers succeedings in bringing out four bodies. Two others were located under falls of rock and dirt. Four men, near the mine mouth, were found to be alive. They were brought out and rushed to the Dixonville hospital where they were reported unconscious and in a critical condition.

While rescuers held little hope for the entombed men, A. L. Musser, vice president and general manager of the company said he hopes that some of the men unaccounted for had succeeded in sealing themselves into rooms before the gas penetrated to them.

Crowds at Entry.

Great crowds of men, women and children flocked to the mine from nearby villages shortly after they were startled by the heavy explosion, which was felt a half mile away. The crowds hampered the volunteer rescuers at the outset, but state troopers from Greensburg finally controlled the throng, forcing the onlookers to take to the hills flanking the mine mouth. Here, on the outer edge of the crowd, stood many women and children whose husbands and fathers were trapped.

The rescue work was well organized. Experienced teams, led by the bureau of mines men worked in shifts in the battle against the ever-creeping gasses against wrom no man without a mask can live.

The Clymer No. 1 pit has long been known as gasseous workings. For some time the miners have used electric lamps as a safeguard.

Today's explosion recalled to the region the mine blast at Starford, nearby, two years ago when the lives of 14 underground toilers were snuffed out.

"Dam's the Word"

Waco and the adjoining hinterland is all hopped up over a proposed $3,500,000 water conservation project involving a huge dam across the Bosque river. To stimulate enthusiasm, perhaps as an antidote for more or less opposition that has cropped out, a local newspaper has run a sort of slogan contest.

Here are some of the choice offerings:

"Dam's the word."

"For Waco's sake, vote Bosque lake."

"Better Waco, better health; greater Waco, greater wealth."

"Damn the Brazos, dam the Bosque."

"Wean Waco from the water bottle."

"For Bosque dam I am."

RAMSEY BODY IS IDENTIFIED

Searchers Are Spurred To Greater Efforts By The Discovery

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Arrest of a second Mexican and the positive identification of the body found in a shallow grave at an almost inaccessible spot six miles northwest of Mathis, as that of Dr. J. A. Ramsey were developments late Thursday for the slayers and abductors of the 65-year-old doctor. The second Mexican was arrested in Mathis after the posse was led to the grave by a Mexican arrested Wednesday at Laredo. The second man was said to have told Sheriff S. F. Hunt that the other man killed Dr. Ramsey with a scythe and that he, the Mathis suspect helped him bury the body. The second suspect also was said to have confessed that $10 was given him for silence in the case with a promise of $50 more at a future date.

Positive identification of the body was made by Mrs. Ramsey, wife of the doctor. The hair and a pair of new shoes were the means of identification.

Finding of the body of Dr. Ramsey spurred the searchers here for Harry J. Leahy of Mathis and others whom San Patricio county officers and state rangers desire to question in connection with the most mysterious slaying in south Texas in many years.

West Texas Weather Is Almost a Job Getter For Highway Chief

AUSTIN, Aug. 26.—(AP)—West Texas and its weather almost caused Doak Rainey, assistant state highway engineer, to lose his job over an article he wrote for the Texas highway magazine, because John Cage of Stephenville, member of the state highway commission, demanded in a telegram Wednesday that Rainey either retract the article or resign.

Rainey issued a statement to the press at Austin to comply with the demands of Commissioner Cage, who burst into print several months ago when he struck Hilliman Evans, Fort Worth newspaperman, saying that he was evidently misinformed as to the geography of this state.

The protests were made when Commissioner Cage arrived in Lubbock, over the statement that "in the Panhandle section, the summers are very long and exceedingly hot, temperatures of 114 in the shade are not uncommon. The winters, although short, are very severe. Temperatures as low as 30 degrees below zero occur almost every winter. It is not uncommon to have a temperature of 60 to 70 degrees on one day and below zero the next."

Rainey said he wished to undo any harm that article might have done; told of his experience in the Panhandle as a bridge builder, and modified the statement.

Ghouls Chip Gilt Off Funeral Home Walls As Valentino Souvenirs

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Barred doors today failed to discourage a crowd from gathering at the Broadway funeral parlor where the body of Rudolph Valentino lies pending the funeral Monday.

There were, however, no trampling thousands such as besieged the establishment yesterday and Tuesday while the doors were open to permit the public to view the actor's body as it lay in state.

The only untoward event today was when a few dozen persons tried to rush through the doors while an eight foot funeral wreath, sent by the United Artists corporation, was being taken into the parlors. Police quickly dispersed the on-rushing group.

Only a few persons viewed the body today. Those having cards signed by S. George Ullman, who was Valentino's manager, were the only ones allowed to enter.

Approximately 50,000 persons viewed the body yesterday.

Today it was found that hangings in the parlors had been ruined and bits of gilt ornaments chipped off and carried away as souvenirs by the crowds that swarmed into the place before the doors were closed.

Author of "Love Bound" "Her Man"

Illustrated and Copyrighted by Johnson Features, Inc., 1819 Broadway, New York City

READ THIS FIRST:

MERRY LOCKE, pretty and gay as her nickname, is a born flirt. Since the time she was 16, Merry has had men galore at her feet. Her only ambition is to have a good time.

At 20 she fails in her course at business school, to the disappointment of MOMS, her mother. When her father suddenly dies, she takes a job in LILLIE DALE'S beauty shop. At that time she is having the first real love affair of her life. The man in the case is TONY GAINES, a serious-minded young bachelor who wants to marry her.

But during their engagement Merry goes out with other men, and Tony stops coming to see her. Later Merry hears he has gone to Montana to live. A letter comes to the house from him, but is lost before Merry has a chance to see it. She returns his ring and tries to forget him.

HELEN, her oldest sister, marries BILL HEPWORTH. CASSIE marries MORLEY KAUFMAN, with whom she quarrels constantly. JINNY, the youngest of the sisters, is engaged to DERRICK JONES, who lives next door.

For a time Merry finds herself without a beau. Then BILL ERSKINE, a bachelor friend of Morley Kaufman, comes to town and falls in love with her. Bill is a traveling man, and when he is away on the road he sends Merry all sorts of expensive presents. He lends her a thousand dollars to buy a share in Lillie's beauty shop, and when Merry finally traps him into a proposal of marriage he sends her a diamond wrist watch as an engagement gift. Moms thinks it very queer that he sent that instead of a ring, and Merry begins to think it peculiar, herself, when the time for their marriage draws near and Bill avoids mentioning it in his infrequent letters. At last she decides to write to him, and ask him how many wedding announcements she ought to order. "That," she makes up her mind, "ought to get some sign of life from him."

(Now go on with the story).

"I Hate the Thought of Having Strangers in the House," said Helen.

CHAPTER XXXII.

Merry thought that the letter was a work of art.

"Dearest Bill," it began. "If we are going to be married in September, as we planned, I ought to order the wedding announcements now. So will you please let me know how many people you want them sent to? And mail me a list of their names and addresses, too.

"Bad, bad boy, you haven't written to your lonesome girl for two long weeks. I'm beginning to think you don't love me half so much as you say you do. Please telephone me the minute you get this and tell me you do. Always yours, Merry."

When it was finished she took it out into the backyard and read it to Jinny.

"What do you think of it, Jin?" she asked.

Jinny looked up at her from the grass where she was lying flat on her stomach and shook her bright red head.

"I don't think much of it," she said with that uncomfortable, uncompromising honesty of hers. "I wouldn't try to pin a man down like that, if I never married him. I don't see why you want to marry Bill Erskine, anyway. He's too old for you, and you know it."

Her clear brown eyes turned toward the Jones' back yard, where her own true love could be heard whistling as he washed his small shabby car.

"There are a lot of things you don't see at sixteen that are perfectly plain to you when you're twenty-one," Merry answered. "You fall in love with a man now because he has a big pair of shoulders and white teeth. But when you're my age, you look for other things in a man."

"Yeh, money! I know," Jinny said wisely.

"No," her sister answered. "Not money exactly. What you want is someone who can take care of you properly—give you a good home and all that sort of thing."

"Banana oil!" said Jinny, scornfully. "Banana oil! Apple sauce! And bunk All the money and the good homes in the world couldn't make me marry an indoor aviator like Bill Erskine! You're just throwing yourself away on him, if you ask me!"

"I'm not asking you!" Merry retorted, and flounced into the house.

She made up her mind, all at once, that she would mail the letter right away, before she could change her mind. She would take it down town to the main postoffice and put a special delivery stamp on it, so that Bill would get it the very next day, without fail!

But while she was dressing the thunder-storm that had been threatening all afternoon came up. And before it was over it was time to get the Sunday night supper ready.

Jinny set the table and filled the water glasses while Moms and Merrry sliced the cold roast of beef, cut the bread and made the iced tea.

Lillie Dale, wrapped in a thin white kimono that made her fat arms and neck look pinker and fatter than ever, came down stairs to help, too.

Lillie was almost like a member of the family now, and she whistled as she went clattering around the kitchen on the high heels of her blue bedroom slippers. Her hair was gathered into a net made of pink silk cord.

"I'm going to sit down and eat just the way I am, if you don't care," she said to Moms, as she tied an apron around her hips. "It's too hot to get dressed. I'm just melting like a tallow candle.

Moms frowned, without a word. She had never let her own daughters "slop around the house" all day Sunday.

But Lillie was a grown woman and she paid her board promptly. So Moms only tightened her lips and shook her head when Lillie came down stairs in her kimono, or left cigaret butts in the pin-tray.

A faint odor of Turkish tobacco clung to the white kimono now, as Lillie moved around the spotless kitchen.

The four women were still at the supper table when Bill Hepworth's car turned into the driveway and Helen came running into the house.

"I just ran in for a second," she said, kissing Moms. "We're going over to Mother Hepworth's home for tea. But I wanted to get that chili sauce recipe of yours—the one that hasn't so much spice in it, you know."

"It's up in my bedroom, in my little desk," Moms answered, getting up from the table.

She and Helen went out, closing the door of the dining-room behind them.

Ten minutes later when Merry went up to her mother's room Helen was still there. She was sitting in Dad's old chair, and when Merry opened the door she turned a pair of tear-filled eyes to her.

"What a terrible woman, Merry! How could you bring her to this house to live?" she asked in a quivering voice. "Why, she doesn't look respectable!"

"You mean Lillie?" asked Merry, knowing that she did. "Oh, she's not half so bad as she's painted. She's really a very nice woman, isn't she Moms?"

"That's what I've been trying to tell Helen. But she won't listen to me," Moms said mildly. "She smokes and paints a little, I guess. But she never goes out of this house at night unless it's to go to the movies with me. I'm sure she's a good woman—and as far as painting and smoking go, look at Merry and Cassie! They do both.

She took a paper from an old pocketbook in her desk and handed it to Helen.

"There's the recipe you wanted," she went on. "Be sure to give it back to me when you're through with it. Mr. Hefflinger was telling me the other day that women seem to smoke everywhere nowadays."

"Who's Mr. Hefflinger? Your other boarder?" asked Helen, with a groan. "It just kills me to think of having strangers in this house. It just kills me."

"It doesn't need to! I don't mind having them here one bit!" Moms replied with spirit. "Lillie Dale's a smart, bright woman. And as for Mr. Hefflinger, he's just as nice a man as lives! I find him very interesting!"

Merry wondered how Moms happenpened to know that Mr. Hefflinger was interesting. She, herself, had scarcely laid eyes on Mr. Hefflinger in the ten months he had lived in the house.

Helen had not been gone more than three minutes before Cassie came driving up in the luxurious little car that Morley had given her last Christmas.

She was alone, and she came drifting into the house with her air of having nothing to do and nowhere to go.

She sat down at the littered table and laid her black enamel cigaret case and holder down on the cloth in front of her.

"I came over to find out what you are planning to do over Labor day?" she asked Merry, taking out a black enamel vanity case and outlining her lips with carmine.

"Nothing," Merry answered heartlessly. Her eyes lighted up like green stars, and she began to flutter as she always did when she was excited. "Why?"

"Oh, I thought maybe Morley and I would take a crowd up to the Crow's Nest," Cassie answered, touching her cigaret with a match. "And if you'd like to go, I'll write and ask Bill Erskine, too. You can tell me how to reach him."

On Thursday Cassie telephoned to say that Bill had accepted her invitation.

"He can't get there until Monday morning," she told Merry. "But I said that was all right with us. You and I can drive down to the station to meet him. Now, Merry, do take some decent sports clothes along. You won't need anything else, but they must be absolutely right. I'll take you shopping this afternoon if you can get off."

On Sunday morning at six Merry was all ready to go. There were three new silk sports dresses in the bag that stood, strapped and bulging, in the front hall. There was a new bathrobe of flowered crepe, a red silk bathing suit that was as short as it was expensive and a cute red cap to match.

She had charged these things at the smart little shop where Cassie bought her own fragile, simple clothes.

"I can pay for them after I marry Bill," she thought comfortably, as she stood at the screen door waiting for Cassie and Morley to come for her.

"Wouldn't it be funny if Bill and I took it into our heads to get married before this house-party is over?" she said aloud to Moms.

Moms, tightening a strap on the bag, gave a short laugh.

"Funny, but not at all likely to happen!" was her comment. "I don't believe Mr. Erskine is any more eager to marry than most of these rich old bachelors are. If he is, where's your engagement ring?"

To Merry's relief, Morley's car turned into the driveway at that moment and stopped.

There were four people in it. Cassie and Morley in the front seat, looking very sleepy and ill-tempered, and Muriel in the rear seat with a man whom Merry had never met.

"You're to sit behind with Muriel and Cabby. If you find room among all of Cassie's luggage," growled Morley, helping Merry into the car. "She's taking along everything but the grand piano."

The man he called "Cabby" grinned at Merry, who did not catch his last name when Muriel introduced him to her.

He was extremely good-looking in a dark, almost foreign-looking way. When he laughed he showed the whitest teeth that Merry had ever seen, and he had a deep pleasant voice.

He and Muriel talked about people whom Merry did not know, almost every minute of the two-hour drive to the Crow's Nest.

"How rude they are!" Merry thought bitterly, feeling hurt and snubbed. Her eyes were blurred with unshed tears as she looked down at her own bag tucked among the hat boxes, kithags and dressing cases that were piled like a little mountain on the floor of the car. It looked very old and shabby beside them.

"Wait until I'm married to Bill," she said to herself. "I'll have everything then, that I want. I'll know people, too. The right kind of people!"

She was more thankful at that moment that she was going to marry a man with money than she had ever been before.

"Not that I'm marrying Bill just for his money," she added. "I'm very fond of Bill. But it's going to be very nice to be rich, all the same."

The Crow's Nest was a rustic lodge that Morley Kaufman had built for fishing trips, several years before when he was a gay young bachelor.

It stood on the green banks of Sunset lake, and a wide veranda overhung the smooth water. Within was an enormous living-room, a kitchen and two bedrooms.

"The men are going to bunk in one room and the girls in the other," Cassie said, as the car stopped before the steps. "We always rough it, when we're up here."

"Yes, we rough it. Like the dickens we do!" Morley said contemptuously. "Bringing up a cook and a waitress! That's not much like roughing it!"

As he spoke a Ford came bumping along, over the rough road. In it sat Cassie's cook, Maggie, and a younger woman whom Merry had not seen before. Cassie was always quarreling with her servants and hiring new ones.

"The way you trot the household help around, anyone would think you'd been brought up like a grand duchess," Morley went on. He was almost snarling now. "Instead of earning your living, pounding out letters on a typewriter!"

To Merry's surprise Cassie did not answer him. A slow, dull flush crept under her white skin, but she smiled bravely.

"Pick up the bags and come into our happy home, people!" she said brightly, almost cheerfully. "And don't pay any attention to Morley. He has a terrific hang-over from last night. He played poker until two o'clock.

Merry followed Muriel Kaufman into the huge bedroom where Cassie said the girls were to sleep.

"There are two more coming—the Secord girls with a couple of men," said Muriel. She looked out of the window at Morley and Cassie, who were still wrangling beside the car. "Sweet married life those two have, eh, wot, Merry? If Cassie lives with Morley very long, I'll miss my guess. He has the rottenest temper of anybody I ever saw—even if he is my brother."

Why did Muriel become jealous of Merry? Why didn't Bill Erskine come to the party? You'll know all about the happenings at the party in tomorrow's installment of "The Petter."

NATIVES CLASH OVER VISITOR

Moros And Filipinos Are In Surly Mood When Thompson Lands

ZAMBOANGA, P. I., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Some of the friction existing between the Moros and the Christian Filipinos of this section was witnessed by Carmi A. Thompson, President Coolidge's personal representative in the Philippines, when he arrived here today with his party on a tour of the islands.

The Moros accused the Filipinos of breaking an agreement with them that each should share equally in the demonstration in connection with Thompson's reception. Two thousand Filipinos assembled at the pier with independence placards, but before Thompson disembarked Colonel Luther Stevens, constabulary commander, went aboard the steamer Mindinao and informed him of the differences. The Moros stated that it was agreed that both Moros and Filipinos should occupy positions in the plaza, but that the Christian Filipinos broke their promise and rushed to the pier to welcome the visitor.

Mr. Thompson said:

"If there is any danger I wont land."

The Filipino governor addressed the people at the pier, urging them to return to the plaza. Addressing Mr. Thompson, the governor said:

"We want you for our next governor-general."

Mr. Thompson said he regretted the incident at the pier. Later at the United States military reservation Thompson addressed the Moros who displayed placards reading "We don't want independence. The Moros are not with the Christian Filipinos in asking independence." Another placard read "Whether independence granted or not, we ask that the Moro country be segregated from Luzon (the island where Manila is located) and the Visayan Islands."

Run Away Thrills End for Two Girls

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Drab life in a boarding school is in store for two Houston girls, aged 13 and 15, after two weeks of thrilling adventure which culminated in their arrest in Brackenridge Park early Thursday. Resolving to go out and see the world, the girls ran away from the Houston school and made their way to San Antonio. The longer part of the journey was made afoot as "lifts" were scarce, the girls confided to police.

Once in San Antonio the pair learned of Brackeknridge Park and went there to sleep.

Lest they should be seen and identified, the girls slipped into a dense thicket in the park, made a bed of leaves and moss and there remained at night time until their arrest by detectives.

"We never were so thrilled in all our lives," the oldest girl declared. "We could hear the animals in the zoo growling when we went to bed. But we were so tired (we went sight-seeing in the daytime) that we went right to sleep just the same."

Woman Awakened By Man's Fingers at Throat.

FORT WORTH, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Miss Lela Cooper was awakened early Thursday by the fingers of an intruder on her throat. She screamed until the burglar fled, taking with him a small amount of change. It was the fourth successive morning that women have discovered marauders in their apartments.

Mrs. R. C. Cooper, in an adjoining room, answered Miss Cooper's screams in time to see the man plunge through a window, taking the screen with him. She found clothing scattered over the floor.

Chicago Police Chief Says They're Out Too Late.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Young girls should be off the streets by 10 o'clock Chief of Police Morgan A. Collins said today when informed the Women's Protective League was working to establish a midnight curfew for girls under 18 years of age.

"Older girls should be as careful as the younger ones and not go out at night unless it is necessary," he said. "If girls would refrain from taking automobile rides with anyone they do not know there would not be so many assault cases."

Plans offered call for building of one of the largest curing plants in the United States. Subsidiary plants will be located at various east, west and south Texas points producing large quantities of sweet potatoes.

Sunday School Class To Have Party

Members of the Escalator Sunday school class of the First Methodist church, South, will hold a swimming party at Lake Wichita this evening. They will meet at the church at 6:30 o'lock. All Escalators and their friends are invited.

In The Glow Of The Camp Fire

Members of the Tinawaka Camp Fire group met at the Christian church Tuesday afternoon when the girls worked on their names and symbols. Meetings will be planned and work outlined so that the group will be ready for their Woodgather's rank in the next few months. This group will hold their next meeting Tuesday afternoon.

The Tinawaka Camp Fire group enjoyed a swim early Wednesday morning. The girls met at the home of their guardian, Alice Downing, 2009 Huff street, at 6:00. From there they hiked to Cedar Park pool for a swim. After the swim the girls prepared their own breakfast. The group will have another swimming party next Wednesday evening. Those present were: Dorothy Smart, Mildred Bachman, Lucile Harper, Lorraine Prichard, Fern Madsburn, and the guardian, Alice Downing.

Wagito Group

The Wagito Camp Fire Girls tenjoyed a swimming and slumber party Wednesday, meeting at the home of their guardian, Miss Mary McIlheran, when work was continued on Red Cross bags, having completed six with three housewives, and making the pin balls, with scraps of leather and pins.

The bags will be completed—filled with ten articles specified by the Red Crss Chapter, and turned in within the next few days. At 6:30 the girls hikked over to Cedar Park and enjoyed a cool swim. After the picnic supper, the hike home was made more enjoyable due to the fact the Heavens were unusually bright with the stars. Each girl had been given a slip of paper with the name of one constellation, on which she was to draw the constellation, locate it in the sky and tell the story, connected with it. The girls spent the night, and returned home about nine Thursday morning. The next meeting will be held at Camp Fire headquarters, where they will make smoke prints.

Those attending were: Muriel and Marjorie Jones, Thelma Bridges, Florence Redwine, Viola Chewning, Merle Barnett, Jean Fisk, Dorothy Rollins, Edith Crump, Helen Ackerman, Miss McIlheran, and Mrs. I. W. Bartholomew and daughter, Helen.

Imaluta Group

The Imaluta Camp Fire Girls met at Camp Fire headquarters at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Jean Fisk called the meeting to order with a group song. The Seven Laws, Camp Fire Credo, and Wood Gatherers Desire were repeated in unison. Each girl reported on her name and symbol, and headbands were painted with symbols. Several of the girls brought the ten smoke prints which they had made at home, thus earning a nature lore honor bead. Camp Fire songs were rehearsed, as girls are learning songs with motions.

Those attending eht meeting were: Myrtle Roberts, Faye Guthrie, Marietta James, Mildred James, Jean Fisk and Miss McIlheran.

Cantawayua Girls

The Cantawayua Camp Fire girls met at the home of Edith Brown, when in the absence of guardian, Mrs. Frank W. Jones, who is still in Colorado Jean Fisk met with the group. Dorothy Lee Taylor, president, presided at the roll. Work was done on the Red Cross bags for government hospitals.

Discussion of names and symbols was held, and next meeting will be held at local headquarters, where girls who have not made headbands, may complete theirs. Explanation of some of the stars and constellations was given, and girls will see how many they can locate before the next meeting. There is a Nature Lore honor bead given for knowing the planets and seven constellations with their stories.

Refreshments were served to Dorothy Lee Taylor, Mildred Johnson, Mildred Dodd, Mary Hyatt, Dorothy Sommerville, Mary Katherine Ward, Beatrice Short, Bernice Trevathon, Mildred Merrell, Mary Moore Brown, Jean Fisk, and the hostess, Edith Brown.

At The Theatres

"Brown Derby" One Of Season's Best

And now everybody ought to be satisfied. For some time motion picture producers have been telling us that the comedy is the thing, that the screen was made for laughter, and so on, and so on. Johnny Hines has kept the promise for all of them. His new First National Picture, "The Brown Derby," which opens at the Strand Theater today will take its place among the funniest pictures of the year or this writer will push a peanut from one end of town to the other with his nose.

We are grateful to Johnny—we ought to be. He has selected his best comedy vehicle to date in "The Brown Derby." He has provided the most hilarious situations we have seen in many a day, and he has not stinted himself as some screen comedians do, but has surrounded himself with a splendid cast of players who assist in putting over the uproarious moments with a bang.

Johnny Hines has always been one of our favorites and at this moment we find ourselves reaching around for that Comedy Crown for him to adorn himself with when his head is not busily engaged underneath his brown derby. Johnny is more of a whirlwind than ever in the midst of his many comedy sequences, and in his love scenes he proves that a good comedian can at the same time be a good screen lover. And another thing, in his characterization, Johnny proves that a plumber can be funny without breaking a water pipe.

The story of "The Brown Derby" deals with the exciting happenings that come into the life of a good-natured young man when he finds himself bequeathed him by an eccentric uncle. It seems Johnny has an inferiority complex, and the strange powers of this chapeau chases the glooms away. With the brown derby on Johnny's head, and a case of mistaken identity under way, the fun starts at a furious pace and doesn't let up for one moment.

A splendid cast supports the star, including Diana Kane, the pretty sister of Lois Wilson, who is an excellent leading lady for the comedian. Ruth Dwyer is charming as the ingenue and Bradley Barker is excellent as the fortune hunting lover.

Others figuring prominently are Flora Finch, Edmund Breese, J. Barney Sherry, Herbert Standing, Harold Foshay and Bob Slater. Charles Hines directed and didn't leave a dull moment in the picture. Indeed, "The Brown Derby" is a comedy that we can recommend for all times.

Katy Pushing A New Rail Survey

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 26.—(AP) Survey of a proposed line from San Antonio to a point on the Texas-Mexican railway is being pushed by the Missouri-Kansas-Texas system, F. Ringer, chief engineer for the Katy, who arrived here Thursday and gave orders to rush the surveying.

This survey has been under way for several weeks, since before C. N. Whitehead, Katy president, announced here that he was in favor of an extension to connect with the "Tex-Mex." The surveying is being speeded up because of the Missouri-Pacific's application to purchase the San Antonio Southern which merger will be contested by the Katy, according to a telegram received from Whitehead by Walter Walthall, local executive agent.

CAPTIVE ESCAPES

MARSHALL, Texas, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Held captive six days while traveling across six states, Ralph Caitoof, 16, son of the circulation manager of the Miami (Florida News) escaped from his abductors last night by leaping from an automobile.

The youth said he was kidnaped in Miami suburbs last Thursday as he was returning home from a theatre. Four men stopped an automobile along the curb, jumped out, seized him, and pushed him into the rear seat, telling him to keep quiet.

They held him in the automobile as it sped westward, and not until they neared Marshall did he have a chance to escape. He came into town and wired his parents, who sent money for his return. He left Marshall on an early train today for Miami.

TO TEACH ECONOMICS.

AUSTIN, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The state plan for the teaching of home economics was discussed Thursday by the state board of education, but no action was taken.

S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of public instruction, and secretary of the board, said no other matter was discussed.

Man Admits He's A Mental Pervert

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, Aug. 26. (AP)—Charges of sending obscene matter through the mails have been filed against Andrew J. Hanna, Jr., of San Benito against whom a state charge of possessing and distributing obscene literature is also pending. The federal charges were filed today before U. S. Commissioner Goodrich by a special inspector, who said he had obtained a signed confession from Hanna who is in the Cameron county jail.

"I have been a moral pervert since I was 16 years old." Hanna stated in his signed confession. "I do not know what object I had in sending the letters, and when I finish it I want to prison, and When I finish it I want to see if I cannot get hold of myself and overcome this affliction."

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Friends of former Brigadier General William Mitchell today launched a movement grooming him for the post of president of the National Democratic association.

The move to make the former assistant chief of army air service president of the association, according to Frank A. Tichenor, president of the New York chapter, is part of a plan to raise the membership of the organization to 100,000 members and make it capable of exerting influence in air matters.

"The agitation stirred up by Mitchell," Tichener said "is indirectly the cause of what progress has been made recently in aviation. He will bring aviators and those interested in aviation rallying to him."

Ma's Petition For Supervisors Denied

TEMPLE, Texas, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Application for supervisors in nearly 50 election boxes in Bell county for Saturday's run-off primary, made by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, J. R. Ball, John Crow and J. A. Ham, has been denied by County Chairman W. B. Newby.

In replying to the petition, Chairman Newby cites article 3104 of the election law, which holds that supervisors cannot be chosen by less than one fourth of the party candidates. Crow and Ham are precinct candidates, running for constable, and Chairman Newby held they had no right to apply for appointment of supervisors in various boxes of the county.

Stops Chatter and Keeps The Motor Cool

When your clutch, reverse and brake bands slip and chatter, and your motor overheats, you are using the wrong oil.

The transmission bands are lubricated from the crank case by the same oil that is used in the motor. If the wrong oil is used, or if your oil is seriously diluted, these bands become oil-soaked, gummy and slick—and chattering and slipping result.

Use Flivolene—change the oil in your crank case every 500 miles—keep your transmission bands properly adjusted, and you will get the best service from your Ford at the least cost.

Flivolene is manufactured and guaranteed by the Humble Oil & Refining Company, refiners and marketers of the high-grade line of Humble Motor Oils. You can buy it wherever you see the Humble Signs.

SPEAKING OF CLAIMS

ACCORDING to the publicity agents in the world of politics the republican guess is that the democrats will take away from them in November about five senate seats and approximately 10 house seats. A noted Washington correspondent says that five senate seats the republicans fear they will lose in November are those of Cameron of Arizona, Ernst of Kentucky, Harreld of Oklahoma, Weller of Maryland and Oddie of Nevada.

As for the democrats, or rather their campaign managers, they are confident of winning the five seats in the states named and they expect to defeat Butler in Massachusetts, Williams in Missouri, Nugent in Idaho and means in Colorado. Democratic managers are ever hopeful. They say they may win one senate seat in Indiana, another in Ohio, a seat in Oregon, one in Illinois and one in Iowa. Senator William M. Butler, closest to President Coolidge of all republican senators, has a hard road to hoe in Massachusetts where David I. Walsh is his democratic rival.

The correspondents who have been over the ground say the democrats have 16 chances for winning senatorial seats, half of them excellent and the other half of lower grade in different degrees. As for the house, the democratic expectation is that the followers of Jefferson will win a number of seats, but not sufficient to organize the new congress. They expect to gain 15 in the east where the democrats are well organized and putting up a real fight. They hope to gain 20 in the states west of the Allegheny mountains.

In Oklahoma, Elmer Thomas is the democratic nominee for United States senator. He has served six terms in the lower house and is said to be the best equipped democrat to be found in his state. Furthermore, all the factions are supporting him. They do not like Harreld, the republican, and they do like Thomas who is not a factionist and is looked upon as a Jefersonian democrat of the sane and safe type.

Texas has one republican congressman, Harry M. Wurzbach of the 14th congressional district. He is serving his third term. According to the best posted politicians in the district, republican as well as democratic, A. D. Rogers, democrat, is certain to defeat Wurzbach in November.

All the Creager republicans are sullen. They are whetting their knives for Wurzbach and then again a majority of the voters of the 14th district are democrats when conditions are normal and the invisible empire row is not uppermost.

It is not uppermost this year and Mayor Tobin of San Antonio is backing Rogers to the limit.

COOLIDGE AND HIS CRITICS

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE has critics in his own party and critics in the newspaper offices of the republic. He has advisers. His critics are telling them that he is the leader of the republican party, the president of the United States and that it is his duty to tell the Illinois republicans to eliminate Col. Frank M. Smith and the Pennsylvania republicans to eliminate Wm. B. Vare.

Smith is the senatorial nominee of his party and Samuel Insull and others contributed a million dollars to put Smith over. Vare is the senatorial nominee of his party and his nomination cost him upwards of a million dollars. His republican enemies spent two million dollars in an effort to name George Wharton Pepper.

Now why should President Coolidge be asked to tell Smith and Vare to step aside, to make way for a better men? Why not let the Illinois republican leaders do the job? Why not the leaders of the republican party in Pennsylvania?

It isn't the business of the president of the United States to be the dictator of American politics. President Coolidge is not a political uplifter. He is not the master of republican primary rules, nor the maker of candidates.

Smith should be defeated by the independent voters of Illinois. Vare should be defeated by the independent voters of Pennsylvania.

CORN AND WHEAT ESTIMATES

REPUBLICAN managers are smiling. Secretary Jardine of the department of agriculture has guessed that the corn crop of 1926 will be 400,000,000 bushels less than the corn crop of 1925. This will make the high priced corn quiet the republican growers of the west and the northwest.

Speaking of wheat, it is the same. There is a small carryover. Three promises to be a heavy foreign demand. It is said the Canadian yield will fall far short of 1925. This will make it easy for the wheat growers of the west and the northwest. It will place velvet in their pockets. Now the wheat growers, mostly republicans, have been insurging for two years. They have threatened to smash the old guard party and the old guard legislature policies.

High priced corn and high priced wheat will make them mellow and keep them in the republican tent. They have demanded prosperity. They have demanded government aid. They have demanded the legislation which has made prosperity for the manufacturers and their employes.

They have frightened the old guard leaders, but they haven't frightened the president, nor the head of the house of Mellon, nor the men who control the machinery of the republican party. This is the year 1926. In 1928 will come the national convention. If Calvin Coolidge is ambitious to be a third termer, all that he will be asked to do will be to say the word and the leaders will give him the nomination regardless of the wheat belters or the corn belters.

READY TO BELIEVE

MYSTERY, romance, adventure, money, royalty are all involved in that intriguing story of Carmen Sylvano, friend of Harold F. McCormick. So the world is interested. It contains more elements to excite and thrill than any novel out of the mind of a fictionist. McCormick sought to prove the girl was a princess, the daughter of the sultan of Turkey, the heiress to millions. He was too successful in his search. He convinced the husband of the lady, and he sues to recover the estate. Now comes the secret stories, the purported confession by Carmen that she was only a poor Chicago girl —trying to get along in the world with a good imagination. And she, too, appeared very successful in that effort. People are so ready to believe what others tell them and later they pay the price for their faith.

WHAT A RELIEF

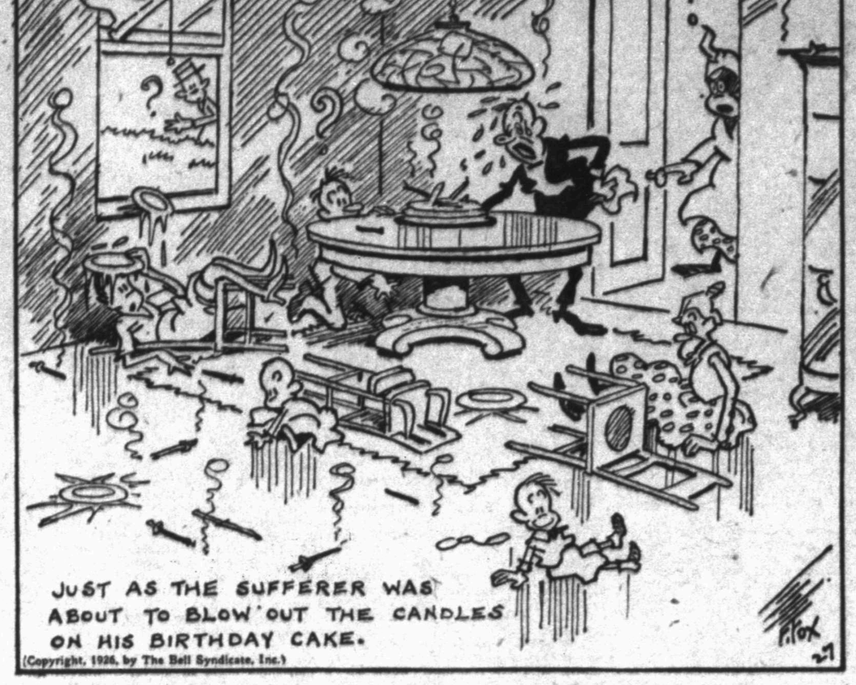

OUT west in the wastelands of the Wyoming desert, the law searched for two robbers who held up a train and carried off 23 pouches of registered mail. This is a relief. Crime shows some originality by returning to early principles. The public had grown weary of city banditry and slayings, the same old routine incidents day after day. If highwaymen expect to retain their standing in society they had to break away from the grind of ordinary existence. So they staged a train robbery in the wilderness, and used automobiles. That is refreshing. It is a change. It is more like what hold-ups should be. Some bandits have pride in their profession after all.

MOTOR CAR VS TRAIN

PRACTICALLY invariable defeat, usually accompanied by death, injury and the destruction of more or less valuable property does not seem to deter the American motorist from contesting the matter of supremacy with railway trains at highway crossings. While there is a bit of variation in the number of these crossing accidents from year to year, the figure is always fearfully high and the sad part of it the fact that practically every fatality and injury could be avoided with the exercise of ordinary caution. The motorist must know that trains run on the railway tracks and that collision with them is almost inevitably ruinous, but he appears to think he can get by even if others have failed. The great American tendency to take a chance never paid fewer dividends or worse than in this case.

It is well enough to work for the elimination of grade crossings from the streets and highways of the country, but that does not alter the fact that they exist in the present and that every single one of them is a menace to the life and limb of the person who drives over them carelessly. Progress is being made in doing away with grade crossings, but it is obviously true that it will be many years before they are a thing of the past. In the meantime, the motorist must consciously strive to develop the proper attitude toward the danger and by precept and example treat it with the consideration it deserves. As matters stand, nearly every newspaper contains headlines saying that four, or five, or eight, or ten persons were killed or injured when an automobile struck a train. It is useless sacrifice.

A Hay Fever Attack

SPEAKING OF OSTRICHES

By Frederick Arnold Kummer

"I know it," Mr. McCoy admitted, shifting guiltily in his chair. "I knew it all the time. And I want to apologize for the rotten things I said to you last night. I realized, of course, that you heard every word. Will you forgive me?"

"How did you find out?" asked Mary Ellen, with a sphinx-like smile.

"That's the worst part of it. When you were here yesterday morning, I went into Mr. Willcox's office and lifted the telephone receiver off the hook. When the buzzer rang outside, you turned your head and—"

"Yes." Mary Ellen's smile was positively impish. "I saw you in the mirror."

Mr. McCoy's face suddenly became redder than his hair.

"Then you knew I knew all the time. And you let me go on making an idiot of myself. Why didn't you stop me?"

"I couldn't. You thought you were fooling me so beautifully. Just like some funny ostrich with his head stuck in the sand!"

Mr. McCoy groaned in anguish.

"And I'm sorry you think you made an idiot of yourself. If I remember correctly you said you loved me and wanted to marry me."

"I did—and I do. More than anything in the world. And I'm still waiting for your answer." Something he saw in Mary Ellen's eyes gave him sudden courage; he stepped forward, but she evaded him.

"Wait a minute," she gasped, slipping from his eager arms. "There's something else you don't know. I'm a rich woman."

"What!" Mr. McCoy exclaimed, halting in his tracks.

"Mr. Willcox says I'm worth half a million."

With an exclamation of despair he turned to his desk.

"That lets me out," he muttered, hurling the unoffending copy of Blackstone into a corner. "I'd a darned sight rather you'd been deaf. Speaking of ostriches, I guess I'm the prize bird."

"You are!" said Mary Ellen softly, over her shoulder. "You haven't even found out that I love you!"

DOROTHY DIX

Questions from the World of Love Answered by a Noted Authority

"Because She Contradicts Herself at Every Turn," Says Dorothy Dix, in a Futile Effort to Explain Her Sex. "Woman Is the Cross-Word Puzzle That Man Is Never Weary of Trying to Solve."

Who shall understand woman, for her ways are strange and past finding out? She is the one thing in nature that never changes, yet is always changing. Even as our Mother Eve was, so are all her daughters to this day. Yet the woman who was short and fat, and had black hair last year, this year may be a willowy living skeleton with bennaed locks.

Women has little physical strength. She cannot emulate the prowess of man in lifting weights or making long marches, yet her constitution withstands daily a strain that would send a prize-fighter to his coffin.

Frail little creatures dine upon lobsters, Newburg, pickles, ice cream and cake, and go about snowy streets in knee-length skirts, chiffon stockings and satin sandals. And not only do they live to tell the tale, but to repeat the performance ad libitum.

Woman is afraid of a mouse, but not of a lion. She will faint at a pin prick, but lie calmly down on a surgeon's table and let herself be cut to pieces.

She will sit down and cry her eyes out if her new skirt does not hang right when it is sent home from the dressmaker, but when her fortune is swept away she'll get up and go cheerfully to work to earn her bread and butter.

She beads all of the great humanitarian movement and is the mainstay of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and a charter member of the Audubon society, yet she wears a baby lamb coat and a hat covered with feathers.

When she goes shopping she will economize by lunching on a chocolate eclair and a glass of ice water and then pay 50 cents for a headache powder and go home with a complacent feeling that she has saved money.

She takes thirty-dollar courses of physical culture and spends an hour every morning practicing with dumbbells and weights to keep her figure slim and supple, then hires a woman to make her beds and sweep her floors because she hasn't the strength to do her housework.

She breaks her back and puts out her eyes cutting out little holes in cloth and filling them in with fine embroidery stitches and is always on a still hunt for some one to do her sewing for her.

She is aghast at the idea of giving five dollars outright to a charity, but she will contribute ten dollars' worth of cakes or fancy work to a bazaar or church fair and give herself nervous prostration running it.

She weeps for joy and her test of a good play is the number of handkerchiefs that it calls for.

She also mistakes melancholy for morals and is suspicious of every woman who laughs much.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

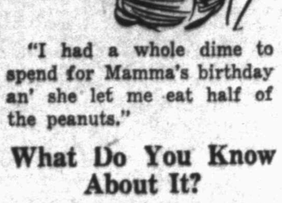

A LITTLE HOUSE.

All we ask is not so much,
Yet that much is sweet;
That at night our hands may touch,
That our eyes may meet.
All we ask when day is done,
When the night is near,
Is a house, a little one,
Yet that house, how dear!

Once I dreamed about a prince,
He about a queen.
Ah, but that was ages since;
Now the prince I mean
Is a prince of princely heart,
Not a princely gown,
And a little place apart
When the night comes down.

Once I thought I wanted gold,
Once he wanted fame;
Now I want two hands to hold,
Now he wants the same.
All we ask when day is done,
When the night is near,
Is a house, a little one,
But that house, how dear?

WAR-TIME IODINE

During the war the production of German iodine having come abruptly to a stop, the allies looked about for new sources of iodine. The most promising seemed to be the iodine found in sea weed. The largest plants in the world are certain immense kelps of the California coast, and to these the chemists turned. Huge machines for dragging the shallow waters were devised, and extensive plants were put up near the shore for extracting the iodine from the red and leathery water plants. This worked well the first year, but the second year it was found that the kelp had been almost exterminated and that contrary to expectations it did not grow rapidly. Today the iodine trust is offering prizes for anybody who can discover a new use for iodine, as in peace times the supply exceeds the demand.

Now what do you know about that?

Answers to yesterday's questions:
1. A lesion is a running sore.
2. Septicemia is blood poisoning.
3. Sclerosis is a hardening of any part of the body.
4. Elephantiasis is an abnormal enlarging of any part of the body.
5. The cause of epilepsy is not known.
6. Digitalis is used as a heart stimulant.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

VIRGO.

Today's planetary aspects are quite favorable and although superstition gives "Fridays" a bad name, this one, at least, from an astrological standpoint, is exceptionally auspicious for both business and personal affairs. There will be sensed courage and self-confidence and serenity of temperament will prevail—all good auguries of success. It is a valuable opportunity for business ventures, for travel, or for marriage. The signs clearly foretell that those who wed today will draw a prize, and not a blank—in the great human lotting, and that all such unions will be fruitful of everything that makes for normal happiness.

Children born today will have a hard time of it during infancy and their various ailments will cause much worry and anxiety. A successful outcome can only be hoped for if they are properly alimentated and, on this, will depend, more than on anything else, the attainment of normal adulthood. Their characters will, in their early years, show signs of stubbornness and self-will. This, although to be deprecated in children, may be converted into valuable assets of determination and will-power at maturity, if properly directed. They will display an avidity for information and learning which will urge them to study with assiduity. They will also possess great ambition and are destined to achieve a considerable degree of success.

If today is your birthday your judgment is miraculously reliable and it seldom fails you. A deliberative attitude is assumed by you at all times and, although many of your friends credit you with intuition, your opinions are only formed after careful thought—backed up by commonsense, of which you always carry a large stock on hand. You are studious, serious-minded and clever. Whilst not averse to the lighter side of life, you derive much more real enjoyment from "solids" than you do from that which is "light and fancy." You possess an undercurrent of satirical humor that, while never intentionally severe, makes your friends careful never to have it directed against them. Your disposition is a loving one, and your ideals are always high, while you are generous to a foe. Your good discernment and excellent judgment will only allow you to love one who, corresponding to your ideas, will make you very happy.

Successful people born this date are: Sophia Smith, founder of Smith college; William H. English, statesman; John H. Starin, merchant; Charles H. Perkins, inventor and manufacturer; Emory Upton, soldier, and Charles F. Aked, clergyman.

OLD METHODS STILL EFFICIENT
By Daniel B. Newbert.

My Pop has often told me
How, when he courted Kate,
They'd stay out in the starlight
And swing on her front gate.

I've interviewed old fellows,
A lot of them of late,
And all of them admitted
They swung on HER front gate.

A San Francisco maiden
Made my heart palpitate;
And swing upon her gate.
And this delightful lady
Said she would be my mate,
While she and I were swinging
Upon the Golden Gate!

What He Noticed.

Professor: "Most of us are weak in powers of observation. We are blind to what passes before our eyes. For instance can anyone describe that girl who just went by the door?"

Ralph: "She had a knee-length skirt and grey stockings!"

The mosquito bored through a quarter of an inch of paint and powder on the fair girl's cheek and then sank back as if poisoned.

"Curse these adulterated foods, anyhow!" he moaned.

BREAKING IT GENTLY.
By Leonard Grieg.

"Prisoner at the bar," said the judge of the backwoods court. "You are found guilty, and I sentence you to be hanged by the neck until extinct."

"Your Honor," began the prisoner, "I——"

"I ain't finished yet," snapped the judge. "I'm goin' to punish you to the full extent of the law—the full extent. I sentence you to life in the state penitentiary!"

"But if they're going to hang me—"

"They won't hang you until your life is about over. When the doctors say your time is about up you'll be taken out of bed and hanged by the windpipe until extinct."

"This is an outrage—"

"I believe in punishin' to the full extent of the law. Five years of your time will be served in the state reformatory, ten years at the county jail at Carter's Cut, ten years in the local lockup, twenty years in the state pen and the rest of it at the federal prison! I also fine you $10 and costs—the casts being sixty cents. I must have the fine in cash, but I'll be willin' to take the costs out in cigars!"

On Her Way.

"We may as well give up trying to get into society," said Newrich in discouragement. "The barrier is insurmountable."

"Nonsense!" returned his wife, "we'll get over it in time."

"What! Have we wings!" he expostulated.

"No, but our money has!" flashed his wife.

I'M THE GINK

I'm the gink who is related to the boss. I do just as I please when he isn't around. I break any of the rules of the company.

I flirt with the girls in the office in a most outrageous manner and get by with it because I am related to the boss and folks don't want to run to him with stories about me. I don't have to stick to office hours and oh, I just know all the girls are crazy about me. Of course if I knew their real feelings I'd be shocked, but I go on taking an unfair advantage. The "boss" is related to me.

No Hoppers In Jackson County

ALTUS, Aug. 26.—No calls for grasshopper poisoning have been made at the office of the Jackson county agricultural agent for the past month. This is the largest period for several months that people have failed to call for the poisoning and make complaints about the damage done by the pests.

Few reports are made from the farmers of the county about the damage done by any pests, and most of them are too busy to make calls at the office.

WANT WORK IN ALTUS

ALTUS, Aug. 26.—Numerous inquiries have been received recently at the Altus Chamber of Commerce relative to the prospects for work in this section. The letters received from cotton pickers to date have been turned over to farmers who have notified the chamber of commerce their needs. The organization plans to assist farmers in securing cotton pickers, and avoid a shortage of workers this fall when the season begins.

TEXAS CO. HAS HOLDING FIRM

Corporation Capitalized At $250,000,000 Organized In Delaware

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The Texas corporation has been incorporated in Delaware with an authorized capital of $250,000,000 consisting of $25 par stock, to function as a holding company to take over the stock or holdings of the Texas company, one of the largest independent oil companies in the country, it became known today. The present Texas company stockholders will shortly be asked to exchange their stock share for share into the new company.

The reorganization plan has been approved by directors and a number of large stockholders. Deposits of stock will be accepted by the Chase National bank until November 1. More than 50 per cent of the stock must be deposited before the plan becomes effective.

Upon consummation of the exchange, the new corporation announces its intention to inaugurate dividends at the $3 rate paid on present stock.

Amos L. Beatty, chairman, explained that the new corporation was organized to overcome the handicap of limited power that could be exercised under the laws of Texas where the present company is incorporated, particularly with reference to holding stock of other corporations.

ANOTHER DIVIDEND.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Directors of the Big Lake Oil company have declared a dividend of 25 per cent, which represents another distribution of $1,000,000 to stockholders.

No Happiness In Jazz Age, Second Diety Declares

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Krishnamurti, expected by Theosophists, to become world teacher, hopes to show "jazz mad" America how it could attain real happiness.

"My message to the whole world is happiness," he said, "but happiness is not contained in the material, but in the spiritual plane.

"I do not call your jazz-mad modern America happy. It is no real happiness, but only material happiness.

"I do not preach repentence or the remission of sins. I believe it is much more blessed to lead a good life, refraining from doing hurtful things to yourself and others, being kind and tolerant."

Krisnamurti, who arrived on the Majestic yesterday, does not regard himself as a second Christ, but as the "vehicle for the world teacher."

"That spirit has already made use of my body to speak from," he said.

He is 30 years old, five feet six inches tall, has blue-black hair, weights hardly more than 100 pounds and was described by a feminine fellow passenger as "beautiful," because, it was said, his features have an almost feminine loveliness.

Krishnamurti believes in marriage, but not for himself. He plays tennis, swims, reads a great deal and finds pleasure in ther moral ways, but does not eat meat or drink wine.

As for girls smoking he says "that is a matter of taste, but I do not think it is common sense."

Escaped Texas Prisoners Held Responsible For Robberies

DALLAS, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Prisoners who escaped recently from various state prison farms are responsible for numerous bank robberies in north Texas is the belief of Ranger Captain Tom Hickman, who arrived here Thursday to investigate the Irving bank robbery.

The bank was robbed of about $7000 yesterday by three men who backed the cashier, the assistant cashier and a customer into a vault and escaped in an automobile.

Hickman and Deputy Sheriffs John Roland and Shep Pickens, went to Irving this morning to interview officials of the bank.

The officers believe a woman was involved, perhaps as driver of the automobile, and today attempted to locate a certain woman seen in Irving about an hour before the robbery.

This woman with three men was in Irving two days before the robbery. They parked their automobile in town and were seen looking over blue prints. She was there again yesterday morning and parked in front of a drug store directly across the street from the bank, ordering a soft drink sent out from the store.

Brother Gives His Life In Vain Try To Save Another

SAND SPRING, Okla., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Rescued from the interior of a flaming crude oil still by his brother, only after he had been fatally burned, Rufus Reece, machinist for the Pierce Oil Corporation, died here today. Floyd Baker, 34, another machanist, died late yesterday, a few hours after he had been dragged from the burning still.

Reece and Baker were repairing a plug in the still when a spark from their electric drill is believed to have ignited leaking gas.

Cecil Bryson, another machinist, braved the blaze to rescue Baker, who was almost cremated. The rescuers were being treated for burns at a hospital today.

Sheriffs Backing Deputy Who Shot Youthful Bandit

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Aug. 26.—(AP)—The Colorado Sheriffs' Association opening its convention here late yesterday emphatically upheld the shooting last week of Leslie Gonce, 14, "baby bandit," by Sheriff Sam Thomas and Deputy Sheriff Charles Fiacus at Pueblo, Colo., and gave out a statement purporting to detail the boy's sensational criminal career which led to the shooting.

The sheriffs sweepingly condemned "certain newspapers of the state and nation" for printing misleading information about the case. The resolution declared that "the sentiment of the people should be with these officers."

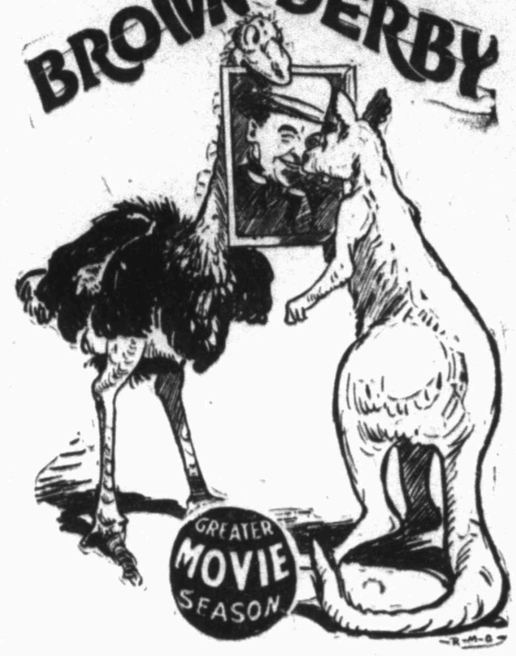

Young Gonce still clings to life in a hospital here, though four bullets have been in his body since last Friday and one of them tore through a lung.

DALLAS WINS IN 9TH INNING

Spudder Rally Ties Score In Final Frame, 6 to 6

DALLAS, Aug. 26.—(AP) "Uncle" Josh Billings, Steer catcher and balance-wheel in the pinches, rose to the heights Thursday in the Spudder game at the stadium when he socked the ball to centerfield in the ninth inning with two out and the score tied 6 to 6, and brought home Jim Riley with the winning run. It was the timeliest hit of the season for it set the Steers four games ahead of San Antonio's Bears, the farthest north they have been this year. The score stood 6 to 1, when the Spudders went to bat in the ninth. After two were down, they scored five runs on Russ Pence and Scott Perry who relieved him with the bases full.

Get to Joe

Dallas pounded Joe Kiefer at a hard clip in the fourth inning which with a base on balls and a hit batsman scored five runs. Benton was hit so hard on the knee by Pence's infield safety that he had to be carried from the field. Dorman was substituted at third base.

Wichita Falls scored in the fourth on a single by Jenkins, Lamb's sacrifice and Benton's double.

Dallas scored again in the seventh, this time off Hodge who relieved Kiefer when the latter went out in the first half of the inning for a pinch hitter.

That Comeback

Lamb walked at the start of the Wichita Falls ninth but was stopped at second when Dorman hit into a double play. Fitzgerald drew a base on balls and went to second when DeFate singled to left. Lapan singled to center, Fitzgerald going home. Hodge drew a base on balls, loading the sacks. Perry relieved Pence and walked LaFayette, forcing DeFate home. Turgeon singled to left scoring Lapan. Jenkins singled to right, scoring LaFayette and Hodge but was thrown out at second himself endeavoring to stretch the hit into a double.

Munn Hangs A Kayo On Sigman

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Monte Munn, sensational Nebraska heavyweight, knocked out Jim Sangman of Brooklyn, sailor scrapper, in one minute and 52 seconds of fighting in the first round of a six-round match at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Munn, brother of Wayne Munn, the wrestler, and a former member of the Nebraska legislature, weighed 213½. Sigman weighed 201. Knute Hansen, of Racine, Wis., knocked out Alfred Porzio of the Argentine, claimant of the South American heavyweight championship in one minute and seven seconds of the second round of a 10-round match. Porzio, who has been training with Jack Dempsey, was making his initial American appearance. He weighed 202½ while Hansen scaled 209½.

LONG DRAW.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Joe Stecher, claimant to the world's heavy weight wrestling championship, and John Pesek, Nebraska "tigerman," grappled two hours to a draw here last night.

Officials Squelch Wrestling Match

Joe Strangles Dutch, Gore Flows, Only Two Falls

BY BLONDY CROSS

And the wolves howled malevolently, as this particular brand of wolves is won't to do.

But nobody, not even Little Red Riding Hood, was in any immediate danger.

For these wolves, like the proverbial barking dog, never bite—

Unless there is an exceptionally large number of them present, enough for Old Man Mob Psychology to get in his insiduous work and incite them to a state of frenzied "bravery" that will send them crowding into the ring after one man, providing a sufficient number are pushing from behind.

Yaqui Joe and Dutch Mantell lost a joint decision to city and county officers last night at the Eleventh and Ohio arena at the close of the second fall in what was purported to be a wrestling match.

City police stopped the battle with Chief George Hodgins the spokesman, because of strangling tactics employed by the Indian. Simultaneously with the chief's invasion, the county law enforcement department in the form of Sheriff Fred Smith ordered hostilities ceased because of jumping tactics used by Mantell with the Redskin on the bottom after the former had already been awarded the fall by the referee.

Yap, Yap, Yap.

It was at this point the drug store corner and near beer joint wolves in the upper tiers howled furiously but not ferociously. They would murder the referee, string him up to a tree, cut him limb from limb or perhaps slap him on the wrist.

The writer was the referee. The wolves didn't know why the match was halted. They didn't care. True, they were agitated because the gore had quit flowing for the night. But they were highly excited because the "dirty, double-crossing" referee persisted in breaking Yaqui Joe, the favorite, on steen occasions when the Indian wilfully strangled his adversary.

There was very little barred in that bout. Strangling was one of the taboo tactics, biting and gouging the other.

Head-bumping, kicking and slugging were the favorite and "legitimate" modes of attack.

The men were cautioned before the match started that any strangling, biting or gouging used by either would put him in the way of immediate disqualification. The only reason, the yowls of the wolves nothwithstanding, Yaqui Joe wa snot disqualified was because the Dutchman bellowed: "Don't stop the match; let him come on!"

Draw Verdict.

And the Indian had had by far the better of the mill up to that stage. He won the initial fall in 26 minutes with a flying headlock and for the greater part of the comeback outwrestled his white opponent. It was after having been broken from a strangle hold, the Indian turned his back on Mantell and started to voice an objection. The Dutchman grabbed him from behind and flopped him with a crotch hold and body slam, knocking the breath out. Before he could be pulled off, Mantell bounced up and down with the weight of his body, chest foremost on the prostrate foeman. The episode occurred after 18 minutes of milling.

The match was called a draw because the law officials interferred at this stage of the game and balked further "entertainment." Each man had taken a fall.

Jack Gorman defeated Bert Edwards in straight falls as the program introductory, winning with a body scissors in 11 minutes and a headlock in six minutes.

There was a huge crowd of sportsmen present along with the wolves.

HUGE MAJORITY

is made to the public schools through such means of supply revenue as shall be found advisable. He has never been and will not be accused of breaking a promise to the people of Texas. The public school system will be far safer under his administration than in the hands of a proxy governor who for political purposes has created the situation over which he now manifests such concern.

"The charge made by Ferguson that Mr. Moody has conspired with other people to locate the penitentiary in Williamson county is a patent absurdity. The only covenants he has made have been with the people of Texas, and have been "open covenants openly arrived at." They are to be found in the public record of his campaign utterances.

"The people have not in five weeks' time forgotten those evils they condemned in the first primary. They have not forgotten Mr. Ferguson's maladministration of state affairs. They have not forgotten his brazen advocacy that the public debt be repudiated. They have not forgotten his humiliation of their state pride by reason of the standards he seems to regard as proper for public conduct. They cannot overlook or forgive his repeated repudiation of his own promises, as that the governor would not seek another term of office that she would resign if led by Mr. Moody in the first primary, and that she would spare the people embroilment in another political campaign. On Saturday they are going to see to it that hereafter in Texas we shall have responsible government by public officials, whose word means something when given. Already they have voted overwhelmingly for the elimination of Fergusonism from public affairs. The demand must be repeated more emphatically in the second primary.

"We warn the friends of responsible and honorable government that they must not," upon any consideration, remain away from the polls. Otherwise, they give the breath of life to the ghost of Fergusonism. The Fergusons have conducted extensive propaganda through circulating the "Forum." Mr. Ferguson's hope lies in apathy among our citizenship. Only a tremendous majority against Fergusonism next Saturday will constitute the rebuke it deserves."

Cats Clout Three Pitchers For 6-5 Win Over Sports

FORT WORTH, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The Panthers pounded three Shreveport pitchers for 15 hits and won here Thursday afternoon, 6 to 5. Jimmy Walkup allowed the enemy nine safeties, only one of which went for an extra base. Sears was heavy artillery for the Cats again, getting two doubles and a triple and scoring three runs. Jimmy himself got two singles. Shreveport, using pitchers prodigally fought gallantly and all but tied the score in the ninth after having knotted it in the eighth.

HOUSTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The Buffs made a clean sweep of the three games with San Antonio by winning 2 to 0, here today. Frank Barnes and Tom Hughes both pitched great ball, each permitting two hits. The Buffs got a third blow off Lindsey in the one inning he toiled. Flashkamper's error and Vigare's double gave the Buffs their first run, while Schang's double, a sacrifice and Siglin's momentary fumble of Miller's grounder which allowed Schang to score gave Houston its second score.

Biffers Talk Like Lot of Wrestlers

Duke Tramel was declared yesterday to be in the greatest condition of his fistic career and confident of stopping Pat Corbett here Monday night in the American Legion main event fast and decisively.

The Fort Worth puncher has rested a couple of weeks and says he never felt better in his life and is prepared to go right down the line in a drive that he hopes will wind up by taking him east and giving him a shot ultimately at the welterweight champion.

Optimists Beat Lions, It Is Believed, 18 to 15, In Hectic "Baseball" Game

The Optimists defeated the Lions club "baseball" team Thursday afternoon on the Spudder diamond in a benefit game, it is believed by a score of 18 to 15.

Just who won is not a certainty, nor how many runners crossing the plate for sure could be ascertained by the official scorer of the day who threw up his hands and threatened to go on a strike along about the fifth frame.

At any rate, it was a hectic combat that came very near to getting out from under the control of Base Umpire P. P. Langford who was accused of short-changing the boys several times on close decisions.

When the venerable arbiter started calling out such famous athletes as C. E. McCutchen at second base on three-base hits and the contestants began batting out of turn with the players in the field shifting positions and even on occasions ganging up two and three to a position, the outraged scorer admitted defeat and in wild-eyed despair gave up the proposition as a bad job. And that's why today the Record News does not announce for sure who captured the victory and by how many runs, if any, the game was taken. But as first remarked it is hazarded the Optimists came through on the winning end by something in the vicinity of an 18 to 15 tabulation.

Doak's Pet

Jess Winters, "ball and strikes" umpire, was declared to be so blind and unfair that he surely must have graduated from the Texas League arbitorial staff. Winters narrowly averted physical disaster on numerous occasions by "evening up" his decisions like all good Texas loop indicators are supposed to do. Tell that one to Doak Roberts.

The giant W. M. McGregor, who umpired at first base, had no trouble at all. He told both savage aggregations just where to head in if they didn't like his decisions and at Chief George Hodgins and a staff one stage of the game came very near to running the two teams out of the park for quibbling.

of his city cops were on hand supposedly for the purpose of keeping peace but the entire crew set on the sidelines shivering in its boots, so to speak and apparently praying for a quick way out should any real bloodshed occur amongst the two mighty detachments of civic club "athletes."

McCutchen and Ira Brown of the Optimists, with golfers' stance at the plate socked the enemy pitchers' offerings to all corners of the lot and led the batting attack.

C. C. Frazee, who was forced to retire in the first inning for repair to his 'pants, returned and led the Lions' batting attack.

Brown, incidently, looked like a John McGraw, was called Ping Bodie and played ball no doubt as would the great Nick Altrock.

"Accident" Maples startled the populace at one stage with a titanic swat that went completely out of the infield.

And speaking of "inside baseball," the boys had it! One time, Leslie spilled Lovelace off third on the hidden ball trick.

A near riot ensued on a decision at second or some place (the scorer doesn't know) and then Frazee and Whatley pilfered a couple of bases during the argument.

Meade gave the stands an added attraction when he pulled reverse Annette Kellerman dive at one stage while endeavoring to field a batted ball.

Cardiff started a beautiful double play that never materialized on a ground ball hit by McCutchen because somehow or other the heave went on into center field or somewhere.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The Athletics today played 23 innings of baseball and won a doubleheader of extra inning games from St. Louis, the first, 8 to 6 in 11 innings and the second 4 to 3, in 12 innings. Al Simmons' seventeenth home run won the game for the Mackmen. The visitors then opened up on Gray, relief pitcher and scored five in the sixth, and tied the score in the 9th. Simmons was also instrumental in winning the closing contest, by singling in the twelfth, stealing second and scoring on Hauser's single. The Athletics fought an uphill battle in the eighth and ninth innings of the second game to tie the Browns, scoring once in each frame. Ballou was officially credited with both defeats. Score:

OLD SOLDIERS' HOME ERUPTS

Aged Walter Johnson And Stan Coveleskie Beat Sox in Pair

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Walter Johnson and Stanley Coveleskie, Washington's pitching veterans, each allowed but four hits to Chicago today and the Senators won a doubleheader, 9 to 2 and 1 to 0 the second game going 10 innings. Johnson easily bested Faber in the first contest, the Senators scoring at will. Lyons of recent no-hit, no-run fame and Coveleskie waged a real battle in the night cap, with the spit baller having the edge. Until the 1th only Kamm and Grabowski had hit safely and in the final frame both repeated but were unable to score. The winning run was forced in by a walk after Mcneely's single, an error by Morehart and an intentional pass to Goslin had filled the bases.

OIL INDUSTRY

have died in poverty had not some of his old friends learned of his condition. They raised a purse of $4,200 and in 1873 the Pennsylvania legislature granted him a pension of $1,500 a year. This permitted him to live in fair comfort until his death at Bethlehem, Pa., on November 9, 1881.

Drake begun his campaign to drill the first oil well in March of 1858, following the formation of the Seneca Oil Company. Drake reached Titusville on May 1, 1858, and refused to attempt to gather oil from the stream as did others, but planned to drill a well. He ordered an engine and expected to be drilling by September, but delays caused him to postpone work until next spring.

Drillers were engaged but accepted other jobs, and Drake was very much perturbed when he told S. M. Kier of Pittsburgh, who had made himself famous by gathering the oil from the surface and bottling it as Kier's Rock Oil, suggested that he engage William Smith, a salt well driller, and his two sons. "Uncle Billy" Smith talked with Drake and Kier and had some tools made at Kier's shop in Tarentum. After other difficulties the rig was built and drilling begun May 20, 1859.

So much water was encountered in the surface soil that Drake finally decided to drive heavy iron pipe to the bed rock which was found at 36 feet.

CAN CATCH UP

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 26.—(AP) —Saul H. Brown, architect and links enthusiast, is under sentence to carry his own golf clubs until his business improves.

Brown was hailed into superior court yesterday to explain a $325 alimony delinquency. He said he was broke.

"You play golf a good deal and you hire a caddy?" an attorney for Mrs. Helen Brown queried. Brown admitted that he did.

"The caddy is one expense item you can eliminate," the court put in, and ordered the golfer to catch up with his payments.

Alex Albright Goes East; May Purchase New Sheep For Farm

Alex Albright, of Dundee, Texas, known throughout the world as an expert breeder and handler of fine pedigreed sheep, was a visitor in the city yesterday for a few hours. Mr. Albright stated that he was planning to inspect a number of herds of sheep in the northeast and central west and may increase the fine herd which he now has at Dundee.

Visitors at the Texas-Oklahoma fair this year may have an opportunity to see some of the finest sheep in the world if Mr. Albright enters an exhibition from his farm. He is not sure just yet whether he will have an exhibit at the fair, but if he purchases some new stock in the east he will probably exhibit them at the fair.

Mr. Albright left last night for New York where he will meet his wife who is returning from a several weeks' visit with her home folks in France. The couple plan to take in the Centennial exposition and to inspect several fine sheep breeding farms, especially one at Mt. Vision New York, where some of the finest breeds of Karakule sheep in the world are raised.

CHLOROFORM IS DEATH CAUSE

Woman Takes Poison In Mistake for Medicine, Is Belief

Accidental death by chloroform poisoning was the cause assigned Thursday by doctors attending Mrs. C. E. Davis of 1211 Filmore street for her death late Wednesday night at the Wichita Clinic Hospital.

Mrs. Davis, aged 38, was found stretched out on her bed in an unconscious condition by friends. A doctor was summoned who found her gasping for breath, consciousness gone. She was rushed to the hospital but never recovered from her coma and died several hours later.

A glass jar resting in the kitchen sink, filled with water from a dripping faucet but exuding the fumes of chloroform gave the only clue at first as to what had caused her death. It was believed that a quantity of this fluid had been taken in mistake for medicine.

Mrs. Davis has lived in Wichita Falls for the last fourteen years, and was the widow of C. E. Davis, Fort Worth and Denver conductor, who died six years ago. For the last three years she has been engaged in the real estate business here.

The body was forwarded Thursday morning to Bellevue where funeral services will be held this afternoon at the home of her father, J. C. Gowin. Besides her father she is survived by seven sisters, Mrs. S. B. Arnold of Panhandle; Mrs. R. J. Wiley of Iowa Park; Mrs. A. J. McNeil, Seymour; Mrs. Rex Davis of Bellevue; Mrs. L. S. Wright of Bellevue; Misses Lorena and Daisy M. Gowin of Bellevue, and two brothers, Chubby Gowin of Bellevue and J. C. Gowin of Seymour.

This Accounts For All The Noise At Pete's Place

A new band for Wichita Falls made its embryoiic debut Wednesday evening with the first practice concert of the Wichita Falls Electric company saxaphone band. The first attempts were somewhat feeble, it was admitted, but the new director, Mr. Seeds of Detroit, declares that he has some real talent in the rough and will soon polish it down to clever performance.

The band will be composed entirely of saxaphones so far as wind instruments are concerned, and everybody is eligible to membership in it. In fact ambitious musicians are requested to join the band and help make it a success. Instruction from Mr. Seeds, who is an accomplished teacher and director, will be free to all members of the band, and the band will be more or less a municipal affair, while it does not intend to conflict with the already popular municipal band.

Practice dates are set for Wednesday night of each week.

Car Is Stolen

G. R. Ellis, who resides at the William & Mary Hotel, reported the theft of his auttomobile early yesterday morning or Wednesday night. Mr. Ellis had parked his car on the east side of the hotel Wednesday evening and had just filled the tank with gasoline preparatory for a trip early Thursday morning, but the car was stolen during the night.

The car is a standard six Buick, license No. 846-374. Motor No. 1381222 and could be identified by the tire cover on spare which carried the sign "City Tire Company," on it.

Peace At Last In Texas War Camps

HEADQUARTERS, FIFTH CAVALRY BRIDGE, CAMP STANLEY, Texas, Aug. 26.—(By Courier to the Associated Press).—There is peace at last for the Texas guard cavalrymen, after nine days of strenuous warfare in the hills of southwest Texas. The "war game" which the 56th cavalry brigade, Texas National Guard, has been playing between Camp Stanley and Fredericksburg officially ended Thursday noon when the Texas horsemen rode in Camp Stanley and made camp under the protecting guns of the theoretical main "blue" army after making a record ride from Boerne, hotly pursued by the "enemy," the greater part of the way.

Business Pair Argue It Out In Police Station

Just business partners,—but business partners have to fight once in a while, too.

A man and a woman, operating a drug store were brought into the police court Thursday night and released on bonds of $50 and $25 to appear in corporation court this morning and answer charges of affray. A scratch on the woman's neck, caused she said, when the man tried to choke her, was the source of blood which made the white dress she wore a sanguinary red. The two were still mad when they reached the police station and the man's attempt to "make up" was met with a "Don't you talk to me." A moment after, however, business got the better of personal feeling and she commanded him to give her half of the money he had with him. By that time their bond had been set, though, and they spent five minutes arranging $75 between them, before they were released with the final word from Chief of Police George Hodgins that they would close their place of business today.

L. E. Smith Is Victim of Stroke

L. E. Smith, aged 76, died suddenly at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. G. W. Davis 1614 Kemp boulevard. A stroke of paralysis, a recurrence of one that afflicted him Wednesday but from which he seemingly recovered was assigned as the cause of death.

The body was removed to the Merkle undertaking parlors and is being held there pending the arrival of a daughter, Miss Carrie Smith, of Chicago.

Brothers Hold Family Reunion

The brothers who are both well along in years are greeting each other after an absence of 30 years. Both men were reared in Everton, but N. F. Strickland, who is a pioneer of Wilbarger county, came to Texas and during all the years had never returned to his old home, J. M. Strickland is so impressed with this section of the country that he will make his home in Texas, bringing his family here in the fall.

Latest News of the Markets

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The selling movement in the stock market which had been under way for about ten days, was halted today when operators of the rise resumed bidding for a wide assortment of stocks. The rally, which took place on a further stiffening of call money renewal rates was not associated with anything in the day's news although several more excellent July railroad earnings reports made their appearance, speculators working for higher prices apparently decided that many stocks had been oversold, and succeeded in forcing active short covering throughout the list.

Commission houses reported that public participation was on a small scale that day's sales falling just short of 1,500,000 shares. U. S. Steel common received better support on reports that pig iron producers in northern Ohio were preparing for a protracted run through the winter months, closing 1¾ points higher at 148½. Other steels improved fractionally. Buying of railroad equipment shares was resumed on reports that several of the big systems were in the market for large quantities of rolling stock, Baldwin Locomotive and Pullman showing net gains of about two points each.

Price movements in the automotive group were erratic. General Motors closed 3½ points higher at 209¾, after fluctuating between 206½ and 210½ and Yellow Truck was bid up over three points to 39½, but Chrysler, Dodge Brothers "A," Hupp, Jordan, Pierce Arrow common and Studebaker lost ground. Weakness also developed in some of the accessory issues. Stewart-Warner breaking nearly five points to a new 1926 low at 66½, Stromberg Carburetor dropping five points to 62 on a couple of sales and Hayes Wheel dipping to a new low at 29½ and then rallying a point.

Wide fluctuations took place in Warner Brothers "A" which opened unchanged at 50, advanced nearly a point, broke suddenly to 43, rallied to a new record high at 54⅝, and then fell back to 48, off two points nett. Bullish operations were successfully conducted, however, in a number of specialties including Brunswick Balke Callender, Consolidated Cigar, Cushman, Foundation company, National Enameling and Texas Gulf Sulphur the last named responding to an increase from $2.50 to $3 in the quarterly dividend. The three continental baking corporation issues were admitted to trading and were in brisk demand at prices above their final quotations on the New York curb market.

With the exception of German marks, which held firm above the recently "pegged" price, most of the principal foreign exchanges were easier. Demand sterling sold below $4.85 for the first time in several months and French francs were quoted just below 2.85 cents.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(AP)—After selling into new high ground for the movement on continued unfavorable weather and crop advices the cotton market reacted under realizing today. December contracts which had sold up to 18.12 at noon broke to 17.75 in late trading and closed at that figure compared with 17.94 at the close yesterday. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 14 to 27 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of four to seven points, active months quickly showing losses of six to 12 points in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables, and prospects for clear weather in the southwest. These early offerings were quickly absorbed, and the market turned upward on reports of unseasonably low temperatures in the southwest, the detailed weather reports showing more or less general rains in the eastern belt, and apprehensions of further rains in these sections owing to the presence of the tropical storm.

October sold up to 18.18, and January to 18.12, net advances of eight to 24 points on active positions, with near months relatively firm as if influenced by belief that recent weather conditions were likely to delay the new crop movement.

At these prices, the market showed advances of over two cents a pound from the low level of the month on the more active positions, and prices turned easier during mid-afternoon under renewed realizing accompanied by reports that the tropical storm was losing intensity and prospects of rising temperatures in the west. October sold off to 17.78 and January to 17.77, and last prices were within a point or two of the lowest for the day.

Private cables attributed the decline in Liverpool to increased bedge selling and liquidation.

Some southern and local selling was reported in the New York market but the bulk of the pressure was supposed to represent realizing on long accounts.

Exports today 3,392 bales making 246,946 so far this season. Port receipts 12,683; U. S. port stocks 615,852 bales.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The cotton market was only moderately active today and prices were more two sided than they have been. Trading was in some measure restricted by the crippled wire service as a result of the storm which prevented orders coming in freely from the interior. After a slight opening decline of four to five points, the market had a good rally on private reports of heavy and general rains in the eastern belt afterwards confirmed by the weather map, and prices were advanced 24 to 28 points from the early lows. All this improvement was lost later on rather liberal long liquidation and selling by ring shorts, there being an absence of adequate support owing to the crippled wire service. The decline was increased by the report that a prominent firm had issued an estimate of 16,100,000 bales but it was later explained that the firm did not make an estimate but the figure mentioned was the private estimate of on of its members. At the lowest prices were 36 to 41 points under the highs. There was a slight rally at the end and the close showed a net decline for the day of even to 13 points.

C-C BOOMING 27 CONVENTION

Letters Urge Wichitans To Take Mambership In Organization

The Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce is continuing its plans for making the nexb convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, which will be in this city next May, a decided success by encouraging its members to take out memberships in the West Texas organization. A letter is being mailed to all members this week from Chamber of Commerce headquarters, urging all members to support the West Texas organization by taking out memberships. An addition of a hundred or more new members into the organization from Wichita Falls will make the convention next year brighter than ever, and will insure a spirit of co-operation equal to all other efforts combined.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is the largest regional Chamber of Commerce in America. Its accomplishments are too varied to review except to cite its success in locating a great educational institution in West Texas, securing re-districting for this section of the state, producing constructive publicity that has caused thousands of people to locate in the section, fostering constructive legislation and opposing legislation that is hurtful to the interests of West Texas.

Its present program is a very constructive one. It comprehends a continuation of the active campaign for diversified and intensive agriculture; an earnest effort to secure amendments to our present tax laws which will insure uniformity and equality of taxation for this section of Texas; and the development of the oil and gas resources of this region.

TO INTRODUCE BOOKS.

The policy recently inaugurated by the state superintendent of public instruction of gradual introduction of new free text books in the public schools will be followed for the first time in Wichita county schools this year, County Superintendent Burl Bryant stated Thursday. Thought Malaria Still in System

Until Dodson's Liver Tone Drove Out Quarts of Sour Bile and Other Poisons

There are entire sections where everyone seems to think they have malaria. Others believe they never fully got the malaria poison out of their systems.

Arnold Whiteson says: "For years I took calomel for the aches, biliousness, headache, constipation and the deathly feeling associated with what we believed to be malaria.

Last year I heard about Dodson's Liver Tone and bought a bottle for a few cents. Man, man, what a Godsend. In the morning it drove out quarts of black, sour bile. I got back my appetite for food, braced right up and haven't had a sick spell since. Whenever I feel a little bilious or the stomach gets sour, one dose of Dodson's Liver Tone is all I need. It is surely a blessing."

Hundreds of others tell the same experience.

Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.—Adv.

$2,000 SOUGHT IN DAMAGES

Trucking Company Named Defendant in Suit Filed Thursday

Damages in the approximate sum of $2,000 are asked by H. L. Saunders and Mary Louise Saunders, a minor, of the M. & M. Trucking company of Wichita Falls in a suit filed in the district court Thursday. An accident alleged to have occurred on June 12, 1926, is made the basis for the suit. The accident occurred, it is alleged, when a car occupied by the two plaintiffs and Mrs. Annie Saunders, Laura Price and Letty Joe Price was struck by a truck loaded with two-inch line pipe owned by the defendant on a wooden bridge on the Wichita Falls-Archer City road. The car, it its stated, was knocked off into a six-foot ditch, Mary Louis Saunders receiving a broken hip. The truck driver was guilty of negligence in the manner of his driving, it is alleged. The damages are asked as a result of the physical injuries sustained in the accident and the damage done to the car.

Wandering Boy Sent to Juvenile Training School

A youngster of 15 years who had all the earmarks of "globe-trotter" in the making was adjudged a delinquent juvenile by Judge P. A. Martin in the Eighty-ninth district court Thursday morning and given an indeterminate sentence in the state reformatory at Gatesville.

The boy appeared before Judge Martin in company with his uncle, who told the court that his mother was dead and his father's whereabouts were unknown. Within the last three years, the uncle said, the boy had deserted schools to which he had been sent and had turned up variously at Los Angeles and Denver. Friday, it was said, the uncle took him to visit another uncle in Granite, Okla., Sunday, the uncle returning to Burkburnett found the youth there before him. He stated also that the youth had been guilty of several petty burglaries in and about Burkburnett. These the youth admitted to Judge Martin.

The boy served nine months in the Oklahoma state reformatory but was released at the end of that period on account of good behavior.

JAMES TO CARRY BEXAR.

"James V. Allred, Wichita Falls candidate for attorney general, will carry Bexar county strong," was the prediction made here early Thursday by John Boyle, prominent Catholic layman of San Antonio, in the city Wednesday night to make a Moody address.

Mr. Boyle predicted a heavy majority for Allred, declaring that it was tacitly understood in that section of the state that he was the choice of the probable incoming administration, calling attention to Ferguson's recent endorsement of Claude Pollard for the post.

Two marriage licenses were issued at the county clerk's office Thursday these going to Donovan Jones, Fort Worth and Edie Mae Cutshell, Cement, Okla., and to C. T. Clynch and Mrs. Annie Clynch.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Clouch announce the arrival of a daughter, Sarah Katherine. Both mother and daughter are doing excellently.

RED CAPS ON AT STATION

New Service Will Be Offered at Union Depot

Red Cap service will, soon be installed at the Union Depot under the direct supervision of the tickekt agent, J. S. Carvel, was the announcement made at the depot Thursday afternoon, following receipt of authority from the superintendents of the roads who have control of the station. Mr. Carvel announced that two Red Caps would be put on duty and at least one of them would be required to meet every train that enters the station. The boys will conduct the usual duties that come under the red cap service, such as carrying grips to and from the trains.

This kind of service has been started a number of times at the Union Station, but in every instance it has not proven successful, due to some lack of supervision, or other inconsistencies of the service, but Mr. Carvel, who came here two years ago, has been trying to get the service established since he is thoroughly familiar with this service, it is believed that his supervision will make a decided success of the red cap service.

Terrel School Prexy In City

S. M. Davis, associate head master of Terrell School for Boys at Dallas, was in the city this week visiting with a number of graduates of the school here and looking after several new prospective students who plan to enter the school this year.

Mr. Davis stated that since the establishment of the school in 1906 a steady increase in the student personnel from Wichita Falls had made this city one of the best known in the school, and an unusually large number of new students is expected from Wichita Falls this year.
