Turkey Moving Troops As Rebs Tighten Grip

By The Associated Press

Informed sources said Turkey was moving 90,000 troops and war materiel to its Mediterranean shores today following the coup on Cyprus, and newspapers reported Turkish ships were sailing near the Greek islands of Rhodes and Mithlene.

The moves came as Turkish leaders flew to London for urgent talks on the Cyprus crisis, military rebels tightened their grip on the island, and Archbishop Makarios told a news conference in England he left Cyprus because he felt he would be able to help his people more effectively from outside the country.

COMMITTED

There are approximately 490,000 Greeks and 115,000 Turks on Cyprus. The military rebels that overthrew Makarios on Monday are believed to be committed to enosis, or union with Greece, and the Turkish government fears any such move would threaten its interests on the Mediterranean island. Greece has denied any involvement with the coup.

In Brussels, all members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization except Greece supported a call for the withdrawal of Greek officers from the Cyprus national guard as the best way to calm the situation, a NATO source said.

Makarios said the coup against him Monday was organized by the Greek military regime in Athens and led by Greek officers serving in his national guard.

"They tried to kill me by attacking the presidential palace with mortars and other weapons," he said. "The palace was demolished."

I AM ALIVE

"They thought I was killed and they said on the radio that I was taken—but as you can see I am alive."

"I succeeded in escaping. I went first to Paphos, where there is a radio station from which I made several broadcasts to my people.

"Yesterday morning a small warship of the national guard fired at the radio station and demolished it, while at the same time armored cars and tanks moved toward Paphos."

Paphos is Makarios' home town in southwest Cyprus.

Explaining his decision to leave, Makarios said, "I didn't want to fall into the hands of the Greek junta. I preferred to leave Cyprus. I felt that going into hiding was not the answer..."

After consultation with British government leaders, Makarios was expected to fly to New York to appeal to the United Nations Security Council for help in reversing the coup that unseated him on Monday. The British forces' radio station on Cyprus reported a calm night for the island, with only "an occasional rifle shot and automatic weapons fire heard." It said the curfew imposed by leaders of the coup on Greek Cypriot sectors of the island had been lifted but might be reimposed later in the day.

A pooled news dispatch late Tuesday from Nicosia, the capital, said shooting continued in some towns. But Greek sources in Athens reported the surrender of pro-Makarios forces in Paphos, the president-archbishop's stronghold to which he had fled Monday, and the National Guard whose officers from the Greek Army led the coup appeared to be gaining control of most key points on the island.

WILL NOT WAIT

The Security Council met in emergency session in New York on Tuesday but after inconclusive debate adjourned to a wait-and-see policy. The United States and Britain urged a wait-and-see policy. The Soviet Union accused the Greek military junta in Athens of instigating the coup and said "time will not wait." And the U.N. delegate from the Makarios government appealed to the council to order a ceasefire.

In Nicosia, a seven-man civilian cabinet was sworn in to work with Nikos Sampson, the militant advocate of enosis (union with Greece) who was picked by the leaders of the coup to replace Makarios as president.

SHELL CITY

Makarios, after three defiant radio broadcasts from the bishop's palace in Paphos, took refuge on Tuesday in one of Britain's air bases on Cyprus and then was flown to Malta, where the British governor general and Prime Minister Dom Mintoff welcomed him as a chief of state. A Royal Air Force plane waited to fly him to London.

Paphos, on the southwest coast of Cyprus, reportedly fell to the rebels after navy gunboats shelled the city and the National Guard mounted a land offensive with tanks and artillery from Nicosia and Limassol.

The town was reportedly defended by hundreds of civilians and police.

Gunfire was still heard in Nicosia on Tuesday, but the National Guard controlled all key points in the city's Greek Cypriot sector.

The curfew was lifted for 90 minutes on Tuesday afternoon to allow the population to shop for food. Sale of alcohol was banned.

SEN. GURNEY TO RESIGN?

Innocent Of Conspiracy, Bribery, Perjury Raps?

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Sen. Edward J. Gurney has pleaded innocent to conspiracy, bribery, cover-up and perjury charges and says he has not decided whether he will resign from office.

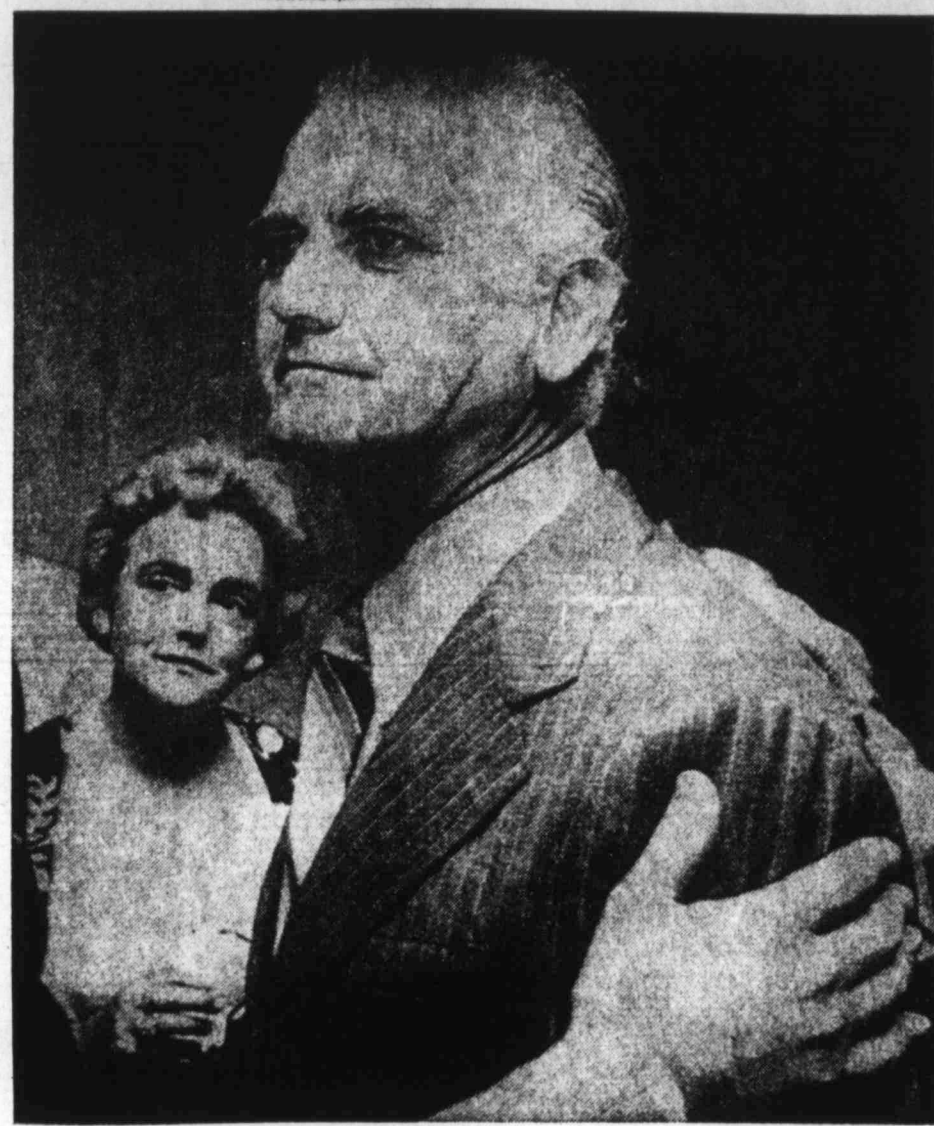

The Florida Republican entered the pleas on Tuesday in a quick and quiet arraignment before U.S. Magistrate Joseph Hatchett. Gurney was released on a $1,000 signature bond.

Asked by newsmen after the arraignment if he plans to resign from the Senate, Gurney replied, "That's a consideration, but I don't want to leave you with the impression that I'm resigning."

Both the Miami Herald and the Florida Times-Union quoted an unidentified Gurney aide as saying later, however, that Gurney will definitely complete his current term, which expires in January.

Gurney also told newsmen he's still considering whether to run for re-election this year but that he is encouraged by an almost unanimously favorable public response.

Gurney, the first senator to be indicted in office in 50 years, made his court appearance well

Hunt Dope To Combat Anthrax Woes

MARLIN, Tex. (AP) — State animal health officials are voicing some concern once the immediate availability of anthrax vaccine to combat an outbreak of the deadly livestock disease in Central Texas.

At the same time, anthrax was discovered Tuesday in the Oklahoma City, Okla., stockyards, forcing a quarantine in the state.

Texas authorities said many veterinarians were selling out their vaccine supplies each day.

"One veterinarian in Limestone County has sold 35,000 shots already," said James Webb of the Texas Animal Health Commission.

Dr. J. B. Young said he checked with two of the three national manufacturers of the vaccine Tuesday and there were about 290,000 doses available.

A National Guard unit moved into Marlin to help enforce anthrax quarantine roadblocks Tuesday.

An eight-county area in Central Texas is under quarantine. Gov. Dolph Briscoe, in ordering out the National Guard, also urged cattlemen in an eight-county area to vaccinate their stock.

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Former Army Chief of Staff William C. Westmoreland's bid for the Republican gubernatorial nomination has ended in a crushing defeat for the retired four-star general.

Dr. James B. Edwards, a Charleston dentist serving his first term as a state senator, was a runaway winner for the GOP nomination in Tuesday's primary election.

The Democratic nomination will be decided in a July 30 runoff between Charles "Pug" Ravenel, a 37-year-old investment banker from Charleston, and Rep. W.J. Bryan Dorn, the two top finishers in a seven-man Democratic race.

IT'S THE LAW

Democratic Gov. John C. West was limited by law to one four-year term.

Edwards, 47, swept easily by the 60-year-old Westmoreland, former commander of American forces in Vietnam, by rolling up a 9-1 margin in his home county and running close behind Westmoreland in other areas of this traditionally Democratic state.

Political observers said neither the Vietnam War nor the Watergate scandals affected the outcome of the first statewide Republican primary in South Carolina history.

They attributed the results to a small GOP turnout and the fact that many long-time Republicans, especially in Charleston County, voted for Edwards, who has worked for his party during the past 10 years. Westmoreland had returned to his native South Carolina only two years ago.

SURPRISE LOSER

In previous years, the GOP had nominated its gubernatorial candidate in convention.

A surprise loser in the Democratic primary was Lt. Gov. Earle E. Morris.

In the Republican gubernatorial primary, with 1,316 of 1,640 precincts reporting, the vote was Edwards 19,468 and Westmoreland 13,885.

In the Democratic gubernatorial race, with 1,281 of 1,640 precincts in, the vote was Ravenel 74,163; Dorn 73,212; Morris 5,832. Four other candidates trailed badly.

Sen. Ernest F. Hollings was unopposed in the Democratic primary and will face Charleston housewife Gwyneth Bush in the general election. She also was unopposed in the primary.

There were contests in only three of the state's six congressional districts, all for the Democratic nominations.

Candidate's Bare Facts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Exposure breeds exposure, and in this candidate's gubernatorial campaign being uncovered meant coverage. So Elizabeth Keathley, Peace and Freedom party candidate for governor, doffed her duds and strolled down Venice Beach nude Tuesday, decorously handing out campaign leaflets.

"In April," she said, "I held a news conference and nobody came."

But Tuesday, she was trailed by a pack of two dozen reporters and photographers.

Ms. Keathley was not the only unclothed person in sight. Venice Beach is a controversial stretch of sand where swimmers have gone suitless for years. Nudity in Los Angeles is not illegal unless accompanied by lewd or sexual conduct.

"I'm protesting the ban on nudity," Ms. Keathley, a 21-year-old student at University of California at Los Angeles, explained during her 50-minute stroll. She describes herself as an anarchist, feminist and writer, and prefers the designation Ms.

Still Hoping

The weather bureau is still predicting a 20 per cent chance of late evening thundershowers. Other forecast includes clear to partly cloudy with no important temperature changes. High today in middle 90s, low tonight in upper 60s and high on Thursday in mid 90s. Winds from the south at 10-15 m.p.h.

The World At-A-Glance

NEW YORK (AP) — National Guard troops watched over prison inmates in Ohio and Rhode Island, thousands of San Francisco area commuters were without buses and pickets were posted at two airlines as strikes continued today across the nation. Copper miners, liquor store clerks, prison guards, hospital workers and autoworkers were among those off the job in scattered areas in a rash of labor disputes federal mediators say is unprecedented since the end of World War II.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Hyperactive children have been helped by the elimination of artificial colorings and flavorings from their food, a limited experiment sponsored by the California State Department of Education shows. Hyperactivity is a behavioral problem ranging from simple restlessness to compulsive aggression. It sometimes interferes with a child's attention span and leads to learning difficulties. Sixteen of 25 hyperactive children participating in an experiment showed improvement when they were placed on a diet that removed all artificial colorings and flavorings from their food for a two-month period, Wilson Riles, state superintendent of public instruction, said on Tuesday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Job-health researchers say they are getting pressure from the Labor Department to tone down their advice on how to protect workers from industrial poisons. The pressure is said to be coming from the department's Occupational Safety and Health Administration, center of a new Watergate controversy also related to job-health rules.

Case Is Far From Over, Says Henley's Lawyers

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Elmer Wayne Henley sits in the Bexar County Jail today, pronounced guilty of six of the 27 slayings in the Houston mass murders and sentenced to six 99-year terms.

HOMO RAPES

The testimony about torture boards, homosexual rapes of young teen-aged males and brutal tortures is over—but Will Gray, Henley's chief lawyer, says the case itself is far from over.

Prosecutors Carol Vance and Don Lambright praised the conduct of District Court Judge Preston Dial who took the case from Houston on a change of venue.

"I think the judge should be commended for expediting the trial in a very fair way and finishing in two-and-a-half weeks what I thought would be a three-or four-month trial," said Vance, the district attorney of Harris County (Houston).

Gray had no such words for Dial, whom he habitually referred to as "Presto" for the alleged speed with which the judge ruled.

300 TIMES

Gray said after the trial he believes the case will be tried again within two years, after the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, the state's highest criminal court, rules.

Vance disagrees.

"It's always hard to guess what an appeals court is going to do," Vance said, "but I don't see anything at this point I believe would cause the overturning of the convictions."

The tall, bearded Gray, who is known as one of the top criminal appeals lawyers in Texas, instituted a barrage of objections during the trial. He was overruled over 300 times by Judge Dial. He also filed 59 written objections to the court's interpretation of the law the jurors followed when they decided Henley's guilt or innocence.

STACKED?

Gray presented no defense witnesses.

On Aug. 1, Gray goes back before Judge Dial to develop bills of exception to the judge's ruling on several key issues in the trial.

Also on Aug. 1, Judge Dial will formally sentence Henley. While the defendant was given six 99-year terms by the jury, the judge can decide if those sentences will run concurrently or will be stacked, one after the other.

As a practical matter, it doesn't matter what the judge does. Under Texas law, a person can become eligible for parole after eight years and five months, no matter how long the sentence. However, before the parole board would act they would be expected to consult with the district attorney's office in Houston.

Also the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles grants only about half the paroles applied for, versus about three-fourths granted in other states.

COMPUTER IS HONKY In the Aug. 1 hearing, Gray will seek testimony on what he considers several key appeals points:

—Change of venue—the trial was originally moved from Houston to San Antonio because of publicity where the mass murders of teen-age boys occurred. Gray maintains publicity was just as great here.

—Sequestering the jury—with such a sensational case, Gray maintained, the six-man, six-woman jury should have been locked away, safe from outside pressure and the sight of screaming headlines in newspapers.

NIXON TERMS WATERGATE

'The Thinnest Scandal In American History'

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon says he believes there has been "harassment on a massive basis of innocent people" by some members of the press and prosecutors in the Watergate case.

And in an interview made public on Tuesday, he said "the chance to get a fair trial anywhere is impossible" for any Watergate figure.

He said that if the charges against him in connection with Watergate were true, "I wouldn't serve for one minute" and nobody would have to ask him to resign. He termed Watergate "the thinnest scandal in American history."

BUGGED OUT

The President said that if he "had bugged out of Vietnam," as some liberal members of the press wanted, "Watergate would have been a blip. They wouldn't have cared."

The interview is included in a new paperback book, "The Personal Nixon: Staying on the Summit," written by Rabbi Baruch M. Korff of Providence, R.I., and Rehoboth, Mass. He is head of an anti-impeachment organization known as the National Citizens' Committee for Fairness to the Presidency.

Rabbi Korff said the May 13 interview at the White House was arranged by Bruce Herschensohn, deputy assistant to the President. Herschensohn also provided a flattering commentary about the author for the back cover.

ROYALTIES

Staffers in the press office of the Western White House were providing duplicate copies of sections of the interview for distribution to reporters.

Rabbi Korff's committee published the $1.25 paperback and will print 300,000 copies in the next month, a key time in the Watergate impeachment proceedings. The committee gets the royalties, the rabbi said.

The tape-recorded interview contained a defense of the President's position, harsh criticism of the news media and some of the special Watergate prosecutor's men and a denial of any anti-semitism in response to reports of racial slurs in transcripts of some presidential conversations.

In the interview, the President said that if charges against him on Watergate and the cover-up were true, "nobody would have to ask me to resign. I wouldn't serve for one minute if they were true."

"But, I know they are not true, and therefore I will stay here, do the job that I was elected to do, and trust to the American constitutional process to make the final verdict."

BATHING THE POOL — Youths scrub down and sweep out the city swimming pool at Comanche Trail Park. City employees said Tuesday 500,000 gallons of water is drained so the pool can be cleaned. Cost of the operation, which is performed three times yearly, runs about $400, one city employee said. If the city purchased a $75 filter pump, possibly one cleaning per year could be eliminated, employees said. Life-guard Kevin Martinez watches from the bank as a mostly volunteer group sweeps. Seen here are (left to right) Jimmy Dean, Bob Fitzgibbons, Kenny Fowler, Daniel Silen, Diana Douglas and Tony Meeks.

CON-CON DELEGATES

To Vote Separately On Items That Kicked Up Dust Before

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Lay-outing the twice-rejected new state charter aside for the moment, Constitutional Convention delegates vote this afternoon on five separate proposals that have kindled tempers in the past.

The Submission and Transition Committee decided Tuesday afternoon to use that means of getting a reading on the items, which have helped block approval of the main document.

HIGHER PAY

"My point is to try to get a two-thirds vote on some of these and get them out of the way... Some people told me they didn't think they would ever get a chance to vote on the separate submissions," said Sen. Ron Clower, D-Garland, who proposed today's move.

The separate proposals

—Raise legislative pay from $4,800 to $8,750 as an alternative to a pay commission proposed in the basic constitution. It took a quick search for absent members to get the 9-5 committee vote Tuesday to send it to the floor.

—Double House members' terms from two to four years. It also came out on a 9-6 committee vote.

WANT TO BET?

—Prohibit pari-mutuel betting — Making unconstitutional any labor-management contract that requires employers to join or pay agency fees to the unions that bargain for and other wise represent them.

—Give voters in a county limited authority to decide their form of government for themselves.

Any that receive a two-thirds majority — 121 votes — would take effect only if a complete new constitution is approved by the voters. The committee voted 7-3 Tuesday to eliminate any application to the current 1876 constitution.

The new constitution as a whole failed 86-91 last Thursday when sent out as a package with all the separate proposals. It was rolled out again Monday, this time with only the county home rule proposal, and failed 81-94.

VOTE SWITCHES

Vote switches appeared to relate to the labor-management item, but some legislator-delegates say another big trouble spot is the education article.

How's This For A Chaser?

The Gomez Liquor Store, 511 NW 4th, had a king-sized chaser today.

Police roused the city water department repair crews at 4:18 a.m. when a water line ruptured near the store.

RAILROAD CHAIRMAN

Says Higher Rates Necessary For Adequate Gas Supplies

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — The chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission says an artificially low natural gas rate for many years has had a two fold result.

Jim Langdon, speaking to Texas Agricultural Extension Service workers Tuesday at Texas A&M University, said the market for natural gas "virtually exploded" to the point that demand now greatly surpasses available supply. Also, he said, because of limited alternate fuels, "a dangerous dependence on natural gas" has developed.

"The commission is neither deaf nor blind to the rising cost of living," the commissioner said. "On the other hand it would not be in the public interest to hold rates so low as to drive utilities into bankruptcy."

Newspaper Purchase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Houston banker Joe L. Allbritton has signed a contract to pay $25 million for 37 per cent of the stock of the Washington Star-News newspaper, the parent company of the Washington Star-News newspaper, the Star-News said today.

The contract was signed Tuesday, the newspaper said.

Allbritton will become board chairman and chief executive officer of Star Communications and will take an active part in management if the sale wins needed approval from Star stockholders and the Federal Communications Commission, the newspaper said.

Former POW Reiterates His Faith In Democracy

A former POW, Lt. Col. A. W. Burer, sounded a call to a common cause Tuesday — that of "service to this country."

Addressing the ladies day program of Rotarians at the Settles and on the program which saw the Rotary Citizens award go to Mayor Wade Choate, Col. Burer contrasted the freedoms of the United States with the lack of them in North Vietnam, where he was held prisoner of war.

One is the freedom of the news media, another the freedom of movement. He sometimes disagrees with the media, he said, but it is valuable because it is uncensored. By contrast, the people of North Vietnam hear only one side — the government side — of an issue.

People of North Vietnam stayed put during heavy bombardment simply because the government wouldn't let them leave. They go only where the government says they can go.

Despite difficulties, Col. Burer said he did not think the nation is in any more trouble today than before.

"Democracy is a lot like a raft," he said. "The logs are tied together, but they are hard to steer, especially when everyone drags his feet overboard. Still it is unsinkable. But no nation can survive without individuals to defend and no individuals can survive without a nation to protect him."

"Any weakness in a nation comes from within in the form of corruption, and the individuals who make up that nation are responsible to stop that corruption."

"I kept the faith in our government and its leaders while I was a prisoner, and I still have that faith."

Rotarians gave Col. Burer and his wife, Anne, a standing ovation, an honor also accorded to Mayor Choate.

OUTSTANDING CITIZEN — Mayor Wade Choate, right, was the recipient Tuesday of the Rotary Club's annual Citizenship Award, presented by Adolph Swartz. The mayor was cited for his numerous civic, official and professional contributions, including leadership in the recent city support of economic and industrial development.

He has served as a city councilman since 1970, as mayor pro tem, and mayor. A constant civic worker, he has combined many of these projects with city service, and he was largely instrumental in the city's participation in support of economic and industrial development. He has had a part in Boy Scout, church and numerous activities, and has been a founder and vice president of Heritage Museum.

Also recognized at the meeting was Col. Robert G. Liotta, who is leaving Friday for a new assignment with ACT at Randolph AFB.

John C. White, state commissioner of agriculture, spoke today at the noon luncheon of the Permian Basin Regional Council at the Dora Roberts Community Building.

The semi-annual meeting was hosted by the City of Big Spring, with officials attending from a 17-county area.

The monthly board meeting was to follow the luncheon. Items on the agenda included resolutions concerning the head start program of the Big Spring schools and an environmental assessment grant for the City of Forsan.

W. C. Bolin, Andrews, was to be named a new member on the Alcoholism Advisory Committee.

The board was also to review a resolution of the Ancillary Manpower Planning Board.

Faculty Shift OK'd By Board

Howard College lost one faculty member and gained one at the monthly board meeting Tuesday at the board room in the Dora Roberts Student Union Building.

William C. Roan, mathematics instructor for the past five years at HC, resigned to accept a position at New Mexico Junior College in Hobbs. Roan also has been serving here as coach of the tennis team.

Charles F. Frost, with two years teaching plus six years of vocational electronic experience, was hired as electronics instructor. He also will be assigned, for an extra $1,000 a year, to direct the college television program. Since 1972 he has been studying industrial education at Texas A&M University. He replaces Dick Hooper, who has retired.

UPWARD BOUND Doris Huijbregtse gave a progress report on the Upward Bound program, an area effort to locate junior and senior high school students who are potential dropouts and provide special activities and tutoring that might lead to continuing school in some college level.

It has been funded for $62,975 for a six-county area, she said, and will operate with Saturday sessions on the HC campus. However, directors, will make contact with pupils during the week for tutoring, counseling, etc. Joe Montoya, formerly with the El Paso Community College, will be a full-time instructor as will Herb Johnson, formerly with the Big Spring schools.

The program has a target of 80 enrollees, said Mrs. Huijbregtse, and if the number is less than that, the funding scales down proportionately. Continuation will depend upon results, she added.

Trustees delayed action on a proposed job classification plan, which spells out job assignments, scales for various level of achievement and tenure, pending hiring of a president. Other business included authorizing bank signatures refund of tuition to Mrs. Elizabeth Pierce, who became ill at deadline time.

Juvenile Trio Held On Drug Rap

Three juveniles were arrested at the Wagon Wheel on Fourth Street Tuesday night and charged with possession of drugs.

One of the youths was 13, and two of them were 15. They were turned over to the city juvenile officer here today on a complaint of discharging firearms in the city limits. They told officers they were shooting at rabbits, but when a shot went within 15 feet of a Big Spring Herald Carrier, the lad's mother complained.

Kremlin, United States At Odds Over Cyprus Coup

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — The Soviet Union and the United States were at odds today over what, if anything, the Security Council should do about the Cyprus coup and the overthrow of President Makarios.

At the first council meeting on the crisis, the Soviets on Tuesday called for urgent measures to protect the independence of the island. But the United States, supported by Britain, said information from Cyprus was still too sketchy to make any decisions.

The 15-nation council adjourned to await developments, including possibly a visit by Makarios, who spent the night on Malta en route to London. No time was set for resumption of the debate.

In Tuesday's debate, Soviet delegate Vasily S. Safronchuk blamed the coup on the Greek Army officers who command the Cyprus National Guard. He said the Greek military government must bear responsibility.

He called on the council to "take the most urgent measures to protect the independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity" of Cyprus.

But he did not submit a resolution for council action.

INTEGRITY — Ambassador John A. Scali of the United States said his government supports the "independence and territorial integrity of Cyprus and its existing constitutional arrangements."

But he said, "Unfortunately, there is much... we still do not know about the emerging situation on Cyprus, and it is difficult at this moment to see clearly whether and how the fair council can make a positive contribution."

The Makarios government's U.N. representative, Ambassador Zanon Rossides, flared up at the calls for delay and urged an immediate cease-fire resolution.

But like Safronchuk, Rossides did not submit a resolution.

Turkish Ambassador Osman Olcay charged that the coup was "mounted in Athens." He said "Turkey—which considers itself the protector of the Turkish Cypriot minority—wanted a peaceful solution but would not yield its right to protect Turkish Cypriots."

Emmanuel Megalokonomos of Greece insisted that what happened in Cyprus was strictly an internal Cypriot affair.

DBC, Baylor Merger Delayed

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Baptist College will operate as a separate institution for the present as a result of action taken by the executive board of the Baptist General Convention.

The executive board Tuesday delayed a possible merger between DBC and Baylor University.

The merger had been requested two weeks ago by the DBC board of trustees.

While postponing the merger, the executive board promised $600,000 to DBC for its operating budget for the coming year.

The board also recommended created a special task force to study methods of permanently resolving the school's financial difficulties.

The school has had financial problems since it moved here from Decatur in 1965.

Explosion Rocks Tower Of London

LONDON (AP) — A terrorist bomb exploded in the historic Tower of London today and injured at least 33 persons, half of them children, Scotland Yard said.

The Yard declined to theorize what organization was behind the bombing. Irish extremists set off an explosion June 17 that damaged the houses of Parliament and injured seven persons.

Scotland Yard said most of those injured in today's explosion were Danish and German tourists.

In past bombings, terrorists have given advance warning, but there was no such warning in today's incident, police said. "Suddenly there was this bang," said Mrs. John I'yal, of suburban London. "There was glass and smoke coming out of the building. I heard children screaming."

Police cordoned off the area and two helicopters hovered over the medieval fortress where England's Tudor kings had their enemies beheaded.

The Environment Department, which runs tourist attractions in Britain, said the explosion was in the basement of the Tower. It said there was structural damage to the floor above the explosion but no immediate estimate of its extent. It added the Tower would be open Thursday as usual.

The Tower, actually a castle on the River Thames in east London, also houses the crown jewels of Queen Elizabeth II.

"There was a terrific bang and a huge column of smoke rose over the Tower. There are police cars, fire engines and ambulances everywhere," a Port of London Authority official said.

The area around the Tower was crowded with tourists.

A shopgirl said the explosion appeared to come from the ground floor level of the Tower, built 900 years ago by William the Conqueror.

It was there that the unfortunate wives of Henry VIII lost their heads.

Crown jewels kept at the Tower are priceless. One stone alone, the famed Koh-i-Noor diamond, was estimated to be worth $5.6 million, and that was in 1850. This diamond is now in the front of the queen mother's crown.

The heavily guarded crown jewels' room contains crowns, scepters, golden staffs, rods, rings, diamonds and gems, and gold and silver plate.

Articles Of Impeachment Drafting To Follow Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee is preparing to take the last testimony in its impeachment inquiry and then turn to drawing up proposed articles of impeachment.

At least six articles, the chief charging obstruction of Justice in connection with the Watergate cover-up, are reported to be drafted and ready for presentation to the committee in secret briefing sessions Thursday and Friday.

The questioning today of Herbert W. Kalmbach, President

Nixon's former personal lawyer, completes a 10-week examination by the committee into a wide range of actions by the President and his close associates.

After Kalmbach's testimony

SHOCK-PROOF? White House Counsel James D. St. Clair will be given an opportunity to sum up the case against impeachment and the stage will then be set for the final act in the committee's historic proceedings.

In a related development, the chairman of the Democratic National Committee, Robert S. Strauss, said in an interview he would be "terribly surprised and shocked" if the committee and full House did not vote to impeach Nixon. He said he had reached this decision over the weekend after studying the transcripts and other evidence released by the committee.

He said he has not discussed impeachment with the House leadership. In an interview with Rabbi Baruch Korff, a Nixon supporter from Providence, R. I., Nixon described Watergate as the "finest scandal in American history" and said that if the charges against him were true "I wouldn't serve for one minute."

FINAL VOTE

Korff is chairman of the National Citizens' Committee for Fairness to the Presidency, Inc. The interview was published today in a paperback book called "The Personal Nixon: Staying on the Summit."

Judiciary Committee Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., said Tuesday he hopes the committee can reach a final vote by July 26 on whether to recommend impeachment.

With the Democrats holding a 21-17 edge in the committee the key question on any impeachment vote will be how many Republicans support it.

Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-Calif., a leading Nixon loyalist on the committee, predicted Tuesday that no Republicans would vote for impeachment and that enough Democrats would switch over to kill it in committee.

NOT THERE

"We're going to win this goddam thing," he told newsmen. "I think the committee will act as lawyers when the chips are down. The evidence just is not there."

Wiggins' comment prompted other Republicans to say they didn't know how they were going to vote and that it was possible they could vote for impeachment.

"There are at least four Republicans waiting to see what the legal theories (for impeachment) are," said Rep. Thomas F. Rainsback, R-Ill. He identified the four as himself and William S. Cohen of Maine, M. Caldwell Butler of Virginia and Hamilton Fish Jr. of New York.

Cohen agreed and said there could be more than four Republicans voting for impeachment after examining the proposed articles and the facts that relate to them.

Wiggins' prediction led Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., to say, "I'm at a loss to understand how anyone could come to that conclusion and be a lawyer and a literate person."

"After being immersed in the evidence I would be very much concerned about the stability of the government if that took place. And I don't know how any member of Congress could signed Deputy Minority Counsel Sam Garrison to provide them.

BEFORE TESTIFYING — Former presidential lawyer Herbert Kalmbach sits in the hearing room Tuesday prior to delivering testimony to members of the House Judiciary Committee.

Police Handle Off-Beat Calls

Maybe it's the July heat, but police are catching off-beat complaints.

A motorist complained Tuesday that another motorist threw a tomato at him.

Over on E. 16th, a neighbor reported a baby crying in the house next door, and said he could not get anybody to the door.

Police awakened the mother, who was sleeping in the rear of the house.

Butz Says Food Prices To Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — As Congress nears passage of legislation to aid cattlemen with government-backed loans, Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz says prices farmers receive for meat and other products are coming back up.

Consumers will begin to feel the increases in meat and other livestock prices soon, Butz told a White House news conference Tuesday.

Butz said farm prices have turned up from the plunge that began last winter and that this would be reflected in wholesale price index figures to be released next month by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. He said the increases will result in "some very adverse" publicity about farm prices contributing to inflation.

As the prices received by cattlemen approached their low point last month, the cattlemen began to withhold their beef from market. They convinced the federal government to help with a $100 million purchase of beef and pork designed to give livestock producers a short-term boost and to persuade consumers that meat was a good buy.

With a prod from the government, the National Association of Food Chains recently urged its members—retail stores—to feature sales on beef to encourage consumers to buy, thus helping to move the cattle supply to market.

Now that that meat has been sold, prices are starting to rise again. But in the meantime, cattlemen had urged Congress to save them from bankruptcy. And this resulted in Tuesday's House passage of the credit relief bill.

The measure now comes at a time when market conditions already are beginning to provide the industry some relief.

The House, where urban-oriented opposition grew stronger after the July Fourth recess, passed the bill by a 210-204

McKay To Head Justice Program

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Robert S. McKay, formerly dean of the New York University Law School, has been named by the Aspen Institute for Humanistic Studies to head a new program on "justice, society and the individual."

McKay said in a letter to the NYU faculty that the post offered him is "an unexpected opportunity to devote all my energy to the cause of justice."

McKay served as chairman of a New York State special commission on the Attica prison uprising in 1971 and now is vice chairman of the National News Council.

Dealers Rushing To Aid Of Young 'Gas Widow'

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Gas dealers are coming to the aid of a young widow who says her livelihood is jeopardized by an oil company's refusal to let her take over her late husband's service station.

More than two dozen Hess Oil Co. dealers in South Florida have pledged a day's profits to Jean Watkins and her two children.

Mrs. Watkins, 33, says the Hess company is practicing blatant sex discrimination by cutting off her gas supply to force her out of business.

Hess officials in Florida and at the company's national headquarters in Woodbridge, N.J., declined comment.

"I'm really angry," Mrs. Watkins said. "They threw me out of my station and took away my sole source of income."

Her husband died of cancer at the age of 40 last month, leaving her to support their children Julie, 16, and Mark, 13.

Mrs. Watkins said she notified the company she would continue to operate the business.

"It wasn't long before they told me that company policy required me to give up my station," she said.

Mrs. Watkins said she's perfectly capable of running the dealership and points out that sales volume jumped from 85,000 to 150,000 gallons during her husband's tenure.

"I did the paperwork, book-keeping and payroll," she said. "I kept an eye on the station whenever Art was away. I can make that station go. Hess just has to give me a chance."

Robert DiBlasi, a former Hess field supervisor who organized the benefit for Mrs. Watkins, said the company refuses to allow any woman to operate one of its stations.

Dizzy Dean Succumbs In Nevada Hospital

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Dizzy Dean, an Arkansas farm boy who pitched his way into baseball's Hall of Fame with a blazing fastball, died early today in a hospital here. He was 63.

Dean, who with his brother Paul formed a feared pitching duo for the "Gashouse Gang," St. Louis Cardinals in the 1930s, had suffered a severe heart attack two days earlier.

A spokesman at St. Mary's Hospital, Ed Spoon, said Dean died at 1:35 a.m. of heart failure after his condition had taken a turn for the worse Tuesday afternoon.

Spoon said Dean's wife, Patricia, his brother, Paul "Daffy" Dean of Springdale, Ark., and Paul's two children were at the bedside when the former pitcher, one of baseball's greatest, died. Dizzy Dean and his wife had no children.

He was hospitalized here Sunday night with chest pains and suffered a severe heart attack early Monday.

Dean first began complaining about chest pains last Thursday in nearby South Lake Tahoe, Calif., where he was hospitalized for three days. He was visiting a friend there and had competed in a golf tournament.

Spoon said the funeral and burial will be held in Wiggins, Miss., where Dean lived.

Dean, a former migratory cotton picker who claimed he only went through the second grade, was one of baseball's great pitchers. But he might have reached much greater heights if an injury had not destroyed his effectiveness at age 27, when he should have only begun to reach his peak.

He also was one of the sport's most eccentric characters.

He struck out 17 batters in one game—then a record—and led the National League in strikeouts four straight years.

Texans Close To Great One

DALLAS (AP) — Sports fans in Texas considered Dizzy Dean as much a Texan as they, perhaps because they could understand his language when those in Brooklyn couldn't.

Dean spent a great deal of his time in Texas. At one period after he retired from playing he lived in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Dizzy claimed that he got his first pair of shoes in San Antonio—whether that was one of his tall tales no one ever knew. He said the military gave them to him when he joined the Army.

"But I didn't like the Army, even if they did give me shoes," he commented.

It is probable that Dean and his family picked cotton across Texas, although that is not a part of the official record.

He was working for the San Antonio Public Service Co. when he was signed by a scout for the St. Louis Cardinals. The scout had seen him pitch on an Army team.

The Cardinals sent him eventually to their Houston farm club briefly before recalling him.

Texans Host Bell Tonight

By The Associated Press

The World Football League, which raised more than a few eyebrows with an impressive first round of games last week, will be out to prove that was no fluke when play resumes tonight with five games spread from coast to coast.

Last week's six WFL openers drew nearly a quarter of a million people, averaging over 40,000 per game. The fledgling league doesn't expect the numbers to be quite as high this time around, partly because a couple of smaller stadiums are being used tonight.

But near-capacity crowds are anticipated at New York, Detroit and Anaheim, which will be getting their first live look at the WFL.

Tonight's schedule lists the Philadelphia Bell at the Houston Texans, the Birmingham Americans at the New York Stars, the Florida Blazers at the Detroit Wheels, the Jacksonville Sharks at the Chicago Fire and the Hawaiians at the Southern California Sun.

In Thursday night's nationally televised game, the Portland Storm will meet the Southmen at Memphis.

Quality Volks Triumphs, 7-2
Quality Volkswagen humbled the Kiwanians, 7-2, in Hi-Junior Teen-Age League play Tuesday night.

The loss was the first for the Kiwanians in 16 starts. Quality is now 7-8 on the year.

Frankie Rubio, now 2-2, pitched the win. The losing was Dick Battle (7-1). Rubio gave up only six hits and hit a double himself, as did teammate Chris Burrow.

D. J. Justus of the winners batted a triple. Sanchez, Furrow and Justice of the winners each had two hits as did Battle of the Kiwanis Club.

A three run outburst in the fourth, together with two runs in the fifth, gave the Quality team all the cushion it needed.

Elsewhere in the American League, the California Angels routed the Cleveland Indians 11-2; the Oakland A's nipped the Baltimore Orioles 4-3; the New York Yankees blanked the Texas Rangers 2-0; the Kansas City Royals shaded the Boston Red Sox 5-4 and the Chicago White Sox downed the Detroit Tigers 6-0.

Coluccio was knocked unconscious for several moments, but was able to leave the field under his own power. He was taken to the hospital for precautionary X rays.

A's 4, Orioles 3

Rolie Fingers is getting back to basics—his fastball.

Fingers, the bullpen ace of the defending world champions, preserved Oakland's victory over Baltimore, notching his seventh save after replacing Ken Holtzman in the eighth inning, displaying fast and effective relief work.

Angels 11, Indians 2

After 10 straight losses under new manager Dick Williams, California has won five of its last six, including the Angels' romp over Cleveland.

The big hitter Tuesday night was Joe Lahoud, with a pair of two-run homers in support of Frank Tanana's six-inning relief stint.

Royals 5, Red Sox 4

After some early trouble, Steve Busby made a lot of good pitches. Busby's manager then made a good pitch of his own.

"If Buzz is left off the All-Star team, the American League has made a mistake," said Kansas City Manager Jack McKeon.

Yankees 2, Rangers 0

Medich tossed a five-hitter and Sandy Alomar and Bobby Murcer drove in third-inning runs for 19-year-old David Clyde, leading New York past Texas.

smashed Nelson to the canvas three times.

Bobick, who fights out of Denver, improved his record to 23-0. Nelson is 12-2.

Lyle, also of Denver, repeatedly snapped back Ellis' head with powerful jabs throughout the fight. In the sixth round, he dazed Ellis with a combination to the jaw and a right hook to the head.

"I got staggered in the sixth," Ellis said.

"He knows what he's doing in the ring. I see why he's never been knocked down or out," Ellis added.

Lyle, 32, is ranked fifth by the World Boxing Association (WBA) and third by the World Boxing Council.

His hopes for a title bout faded in early 1973 when he suffered his only loss—a 12-round unanimous decision to Jerry Quarry.

Since then, his record includes a win over Oscar Bonavena in a decision and a draw with Gregorio Peralta.

"I'll fight anywhere," Lyle said. "All fights are good for me."

The Denver fighter said he wants a shot at champion George Foreman.

Ellis and Lyle seemed to tire quickly in the sweltering Denver Coliseum jammed with a sellout crowd of 11,446.

Ellis, a former WBA champion, was flat-footed and sluggish despite losing weight to gain speed. The Louisville, Ky., boxer did manage to hurt Lyle in the ninth round with a combination to the head and a looping right hook. But Lyle hung on to survive the round.

Ellis won the WBA title in 1968 in a decision over Quarry. He lost the title to Joe Frazier in a fifth-round knockout in 1970 and has failed to win the big fights since then.

Strike To Get Big Test On July 27

By The Associated Press

The battle lines have been drawn. The date is July 27, the site Canton, Ohio.

That is when the annual Hall of Fame Game will be played between the St. Louis Cardinals and Buffalo Bills, and that is when a major confrontation will take place between the striking National Football League Players Association and the club owners.

Meanwhile, there were indications Tuesday from both sides that negotiations might be resumed later this week, and the first major rift in the striking NFLPA's facade appeared at the camp of the Cincinnati Bengals.

The NFL Management Council, bargaining agent for the 28 club owners, reaffirmed Tuesday that all exhibition games will be played—even if that means lineups composed of rookies, free agents and the handful of veterans who have crossed picket lines.

And the first of those exhibition games is the Hall of Fame contest at Canton.

The NFLPA has said that it would take steps to see that the exhibition games are not played until a settlement in the dispute is reached. That presumably means a picket line of veterans.

The Canton game is the only one still scheduled for the opening week of exhibition play, since the July 26 College All-Star Game has already been scratched.

St. Louis Coach Don Coryell said he would double up on drills to get his players ready for the exhibition game. But Buffalo star O.J. Simpson, who spent one day walking the NFLPA picket line, said he was going back to his home in California and will remain there until the strike is settled.

Meanwhile, spokesmen for federal mediator James Scarce and the two sides indicated that they might soon return to the bargaining table, perhaps before the weekend.

"Both sides now are ready to sit down and discuss the issues," Bill Curry, president of the NFLPA, said. "I think we would be foolish if we couldn't sit down and work out an agreement."

The NFLMC said Tuesday that at least 77 veterans were in camp in defiance of the picket lines. By comparison, only 21 veterans were in camp on the final day of the 1970 NFLPA strike, according to the management group. Many of the veterans in camp, however, are marginal players whose status is far from certain.

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Basketball Association, apparently lulled into a false sense of security when a merger with the National Basketball Association appeared imminent, now has regrouped strongly since the absorption proposal fell through.

The ABA, after a slow start in signing collegiate draft choices because of the latest merger negotiations which dissipated last month, was to announce its biggest signing to date — All American Marvin Barnes of Providence.

The disclosure of Barnes signing was to coincide with announcements after a meeting of the board of trustees that the Carolina franchise was being purchased from owner Tedd Munchack by a wealthy New York group which would relocate the team in St. Louis, that ABA Commissioner Mike Stoen was leaving his post to become part owner and president of the Memphis team and that a new commissioner had been picked to succeed him.

Barnes, a muscular 6-foot-8, 213-pounder, reportedly had agreed to a six-year, $2.5 million contract with the new St. Louis team, which would play its games in the 18,000-seat St. Louis Arena.

His signing follows those of Bobby Jones of the University of North Carolina and Jan Van Breda Kolff of Vanderbilt with the Denver Rockets, Len Elmore of the University of Vanderbilt and Bruce King of Pan American with the Indiana Pacers, Roscoe Pondexter of Long Beach State with the Virginia Squires and Collis Temple of Louisiana State University with the San Antonio Spurs.

Barnes, Jones and Elmore all were NBA first-round draft picks. Van Breda Kolff was a second-round choice, and King and Pondexter were third-round selections. All were highly coveted.

Red Boss Says His Team Has Mental Edge

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Dodgers hold a commanding lead in the National League West pennant race—but the Cincinnati Reds hold the psychological advantage. That's Sparky Anderson's opinion, anyway.

"I'll be honest, I don't think they'll ever stop thinking of us," Anderson said Tuesday night after his Reds beat the St. Louis Cardinals 12-7. "They want us so far back of them, it's pitiful."

Right now, the Reds are 6 1/2 games behind the Dodgers because Los Angeles lost an 8-7 decision to the Montreal Expos Tuesday night. Anderson remembers when his team was 10 1/2 games behind not too long ago.

"If we start scoring runs, like I've said, we've got a shot at it," Anderson said. "We had one streak not too long ago when we hit .210 for 28 games."

The Dodgers' latest loss was their fourth in five games and their lead is now their smallest since June 29.

In the other National League games, the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Houston Astros 6-2; the Chicago Cubs tripped the Atlanta Braves 7-2; the San Diego Padres turned back the Philadelphia Phillies 5-4 and the San Francisco Giants routed the New York Mets 9-4.

Expos 8, Dodgers 7

Willie Davis' fifth hit tied the game in the ninth inning and Ken Singleton produced the game-winning with a sacrifice fly, giving Montreal a wild victory over Los Angeles.

Davis singled home pinch runner Boots Day and sent Larry Lintz to third base. Singleton then drove a sacrifice fly off reliever Charlie Hough for the game-winner.

Pirates 6, Astros 2

Jim Rooker scattered eight hits and Ed Kirkpatrick drove in a pair of runs with a bases-loaded single to keep Pittsburgh's victory over Houston.

Kirkpatrick's two-run single off Lary Dierker, 6-5, came in the third inning when Pittsburgh scored four runs to erase a 2-1 deficit.

BIG SPRING HERALD

SEC. B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, JULY 17, 1974 SEC. B

PICK A FIGHT, WIN

Labor's New Breed

NEW YORK (AP) — Murray Finley doesn't seem like a man who would pick a fight with Willie Farah. But he did, and won.

Finley, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, doesn't appear much like the typical union leader, either.

EASY-GOING
Soft-spoken and easy-going, he is relatively young as far as labor bosses go. At 52, he is the second youngest of the AFL-CIO's 33 vice presidents. He also is a lawyer.

And in the short time that he and Jacob Sheinkman, 47, have headed the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, they have brought aggressive leadership to an American labor movement which often is criticized as stagnating under aging leaders. Sheinkman is secretary-treasurer of the union.

Finley and Sheinkman showed through a successful boycott of Farah products that this seldom-used labor weapon still can be an effective organizing tool. After a 21-month boycott in which sales and profits plunged, the Farah Manufacturing Co., an El Paso, Texas-based pantsmaker, agreed to recognize the union.

NOT DEAD
Finley and Sheinkman also led the first nationwide strike against the men's clothing industry in half a century, and produced an innovative settlement which demonstrated that the clothing union's tradition of pioneering social change is not dead.

Now getting under way is a boycott of the Phillips Van Heusen Co., to back the union's effort to organize that company's shirt plants in Alabama, Mississippi and Arkansas.

Joking to a reporter during last month's clothing industry strike talks, Sheinkman said that he and Finley were afraid of getting a reputation as "two mad hatters."

One industry spokesman suggested that they called the strike only "to assert their leadership."

THAT'S BALONEY
"That's baloney," snapped Sheinkman, who, like Finley, is a lawyer. "We weren't looking for a strike and tried to avoid it. But we couldn't recommend 80 cents over three years, management's last offer, not with today's inflation."

The union sought, and won after a 10-day strike, a $1 an hour wage increase over three years for workers who are among the lowest paid in manufacturing. They also won for the first time for their union a cost of living adjustment to protect wages against inflation.

But perhaps more noteworthy was the establishment under the new contract of a network of Health Maintenance Organizations to provide complete medical and hospital care for the union's 365,000 members and their families. The contract is the first to make use of a new federal law encouraging formation of such health organizations, and is likely to serve as a model for other unions.

TRADITION
Finley and Sheinkman say they are trying to carry on in the tradition of the clothing union's first president, Sidney Hillman, who conceived of the union as a vehicle not only for winning improvements in members' working conditions but in their living conditions as well.

Th new leaders also are setting up retirement centers, social service and legal programs and child day care centers to assist working mothers in the union.

Finley, who held various posts with the union in the Midwest, and Sheinkman, who was the union's general counsel, were elected to their present offices in October 1972. Neither has worked in a clothing factory.

'THEY'RE HONEST'
"A new breed," is the way Finley and Sheinkman are described by a Clothing Manufacturers Association official who faced them across the bargaining table last month.

"They're honest, show a great deal of integrity, have concern for their members and I think, for the solidarity of the industry," the official says.

Van Heusen President Stanley C. Gillette says they are going to put the clothing industry out of business.

"They're trying to use the same muscle tactics to bring us to our knees as they did with Farah," says Gillette. "They accused this man of everything but rape and murder and everybody rallied to believe that was true."

The clothing union's leaders view the Farah settlement as more than just another union victory. They contend that through the collective economic power of the union, the Mexican-American workers in the Southwest "now have an instrument" to wield political and economic influence in their communities.

SOCIAL CHANGE
"The American labor movement is still the greatest vehicle for social change," asserts Finley.

Musick Renamed Council Officer

AUSTIN — Virgil L. Musick of Abilene, administrative secretary of the Texas Soft Drink Association, was reappointed district governor of the Beautify Texas Council at the Council's annual meeting held here June 18 and 19.

The district Musick represents includes Borden, Howard, Scurry, Mitchell, Fisher, Nolan, Jones, Taylor, Shackelford and Callahan counties.

He said the campaign against Van Heusen "won't be as dramatic as Farah, but it's still the same story. Working conditions are the same in Arkansas and Mississippi as in El Paso."

He contends that Van Heusen pays below union scales and imports 40 per cent of its shirts from nonunion plants in Taiwan and Hong Kong, thus threatening gains won by unions in this country.

BOYCOTT
"We are not anti-union in any sense of the word but we must oppose the union's attempt to dictate to retailers and purchasers in trying to force our employees to join the union," said Van Heusen's Gillette.

Although Gillette denied that the company pays less than union plants, we would not discuss wages.

He said the Amalgamated Clothing Workers tried for several years to organize Van Heusen's 14 southern plants. Now, he said, the union is using the boycott to force the Van Heusen Co. employees to join the union against their will.

"I like to point out that such picketing has in the past proved to have little effect on the consuming public," Gillette said.

Livingston will be tried at a later date.

RESIGNS — Finance Minister Takeo Fukuda listens as a newsman asks him a question during news conference Tuesday after he submitted his resignation to Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka. Fukuda said he was resigning because of his party's poor showing in Japan's recent election.

DA Will Seek Death Penalty

MCKINNEY, Tex. (AP) — Jury selection—slow for two days—to resume today in the murder trial of Robert E. White, accused of shooting to death a rural store owner.

White, 36, and James Owen Livingston, 26, are charged in the May 10 killings of Preston Broyles and two customers at Broyles' store near Princeton.

Livingston will be tried at a later date.

Warrants To Hit Five In Cotton Securities Scheme

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — Arrest warrants were to be issued today for five men indicted in an allegedly fraudulent cotton securities and "check kiting" scheme that caused the failure of a Vernon bank and involved other banks throughout the South.

A federal grand jury here handed down on Tuesday an 18-count indictment naming Robert Everett Houtley and Gipson F. Hemphill, owners of the firm involved; Alvin Leon May and Rex Gerald Kootz, bookkeepers for the firm and Jay Roby Smith, the firm's agent.

U.S. District Court Judge Robert Hill approved bonds of $10,000 each for Houtley and Hemphill, $5,000 each for May and Kootz, and a personal recognizance bond for Smith.

FALSE REPORTS
All are from Vernon. A state grand jury convenes in Vernon July 22 to look into the operation.

The first count alleges the men made "false material statements and reports and overvalued property and securities on loans obtained from the First State Bank in Vernon and illegally transported by interstate commerce falsely made and forged securities."

The first count also alleges the men transported in interstate commerce "goods, wares, merchandise, securities and money in excess of $5,000 which were stolen, converted or taken by fraud."

The First State Bank of Vernon closed July 16, 1973 after state banking examiners discovered about $1.3 million in loans based on "fraudulent" warehouse receipts for cotton that did not exist.

BANKRUPTCY
Four days later Houtley and Hemphill filed for bankruptcy and their operation was placed in federal receivership.

The last count alleges the men made materially false statements in a $1,288,000 note for a loan payable to the First State Bank in Vernon.

The remaining sixteen counts specify certain transactions dealing with alleged transportation of stolen drafts and cotton warehouse receipts. The money figures mentioned in these 16 counts total $3,390,531.

Houtley and Hemphill are named in all 18 counts. All but Smith are named in the first and last counts.

Of the remaining 16, May is named in 13, Kootz in nine and Smith in 13.

BANK DRAFTS
When the bank closed, federal and state investigators were looking into a "check kiting" scheme through which, according to a separate suit filed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC) "reached massive proportions."

Investigators said it involved up to $96 million in bank drafts and deposits.

Banks involved in this alleged scheme include the Rainsville Bank, Rainsville, Ala.; First National Bank of Greenwood, Miss.; First National Bank, Altus, Okla.; National Bank of Fredrick, Okla.; First National Bank, Harlingen, Tex.; Texas Bank of Commerce, Lubbock, Tex.; and Security National Bank, Quanah, Tex.

The FDIC's civil suit seeks $1.4 million from United States Fire Insurance Co. of Dallas, the bonding company, to help repay what the FDIC paid out to First State Bank's depositors.

FDIC suit, filed in April, said the Vernon bank also ended up with $3.2 million in checks and drafts returned from the other banks across the South.

According to investigators and to the FDIC suit, the check kiting worked like this: Houtley and Hemphill would make a draft on the Greenwood bank for say $5,000, using cotton receipts as collateral. That would bring $5,000 to the Houtley-Hemphill account in Vernon. But the account in Greenwood would be depleted by $5,000. To fill the Greenwood account, another draft would be drawn on a bank, say, in Altus, Okla.

And so on.

wood would be depleted by $5,000. To fill the Greenwood account, another draft would be drawn on a bank, say, in Altus, Okla.

And so on.

The bidding:
West North East South
Pass Pass 1♠ Pass
Pass 1♦ Pass 2NT
Pass 3♦ Pass 3NT
Pass Pass Pass
Opening lead: Eight of ♠.

Sometimes you need to find a particular distribution if you are to defeat a contract. In that case, you should defend the hand as if that layout of the cards was a known fact, even if to do so risks one or more overtricks.

North was not overjoyed at the prospect of playing a no trump contract, so he made the mistake of rebidding his diamond suit. From South's point of view this suggested a six-card diamond suit and a better hand than North actually held. Since he held three top honors in diamonds, it was not unrealistic for South to proceed to the no trump game, for the majority of North's points had to be in the major suits.

West led his top club, and when dummy came down East did not like his chances of beating the contract. The opening lead marked declarer with at least four clubs headed by the king-queen-ten. There was no future in attacking either spades or diamonds, for dummy had those suits well stopped. Thus, the heart suit was the only place where the defenders could garner some tricks. East knew that all he could expect to find in his partner's hand was some 3-4 points. Unless those points specifically were the ace of hearts, it was most unlikely that the defenders could score five tricks.

Having arrived at this conclusion, declarer mentally assigned the ace of hearts to West and cast around for the best method to attack the suit. If South held three hearts to the queen and West the doubleton ace, declarer would always have a heart stopper. Therefore, the only hope was to play declarer specifically for a doubleton queen of hearts.

Now, the defense was simple. East grabbed the ace of clubs and shifted to the king of hearts. West did his share by signalling with the eight, which at the same time unblocked the suit. A heart to the ace felled the queen, and when West led a third round of the suit, East had J-7 over dummy's 10-6, and the defenders scored four heart tricks in addition to the ace of clubs.

Strain We Can Ill Afford

There are disturbing signs that relations may be strained between President Nixon and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger since the latter's surprising threat to resign in an Austrian news conference.

The Wall Street Journal said last week "Nixon and Kissinger head toward a falling out."

While Nixon was en route to tour the Middle East, Kissinger held an emotional press conference in Salzburg that called on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to reopen hearings into his role on White House wiretaps.

The issue arose again with leaks from the House Judiciary Committee which questioned whether Kissinger had told the truth in the first Foreign Relations Committee hearing.

Unless he was vindicated, Kissinger said, he would resign.

Kissinger's news conference was a surprise — nay, a shock — to Nixon. Those close to him said the President was angry.

The Kissinger action took the news spotlight, naturally, away from the presidential Mideast tour.

These weeks later, the evidence of strain between the two is, ironically, the total absence of evidence that there is not a strain.

Nixon has made no statement of any kind supporting Kissinger in the wiretap controversy. The Wall Street Journal says the two men have not even discussed Kissinger's problem or his demand for vindication.

The problem to whatever degree, is regrettable. It is, though, at least partly of Kissinger's making since he owed Nixon the courtesy of either advance notice or consultation before the Salzburg news conference.

It is in the best interests of both men and the nation, that they reconcile their differences.

Nixon needs Kissinger and the nation needs Kissinger. Kissinger is the strongest man left in the Nixon team. If Kissinger quits or is fired, Nixon has no strong man left on whom to lean for public support. His best asset now is his foreign policy record, for which Kissinger has been the skillful and dramatic man of action.

It's Out Of Hand

The comics' punch line — "I know, but this is ridiculous" — apply applies to the new housing situation.

We have inflation, but the burden upon individuals desiring and needing new housing is ridiculous. The Texas Association of Realtors point out that before the big wave of inflation washed everything loose, the price of houses averaged 2.5 times the purchaser's gross annual income. Now, this figure is 4.3 times.

The association cites two other interesting figures: 1) the average new home today costs at least $34,500; the average industrial worker makes about $8,000 per year. Now how's the average industrial worker going to pay for a new home? In the vernacular, he can't and he ain't.

Destiny In 30 Days

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

Five men — P. C. Harbour, J. L. Rhoades, Lyle Deffenbach, R. A. Schooling and James Rosser — who had been directors when the Colorado River Municipal Water District really got started 23½ years ago, had the satisfaction last week of putting the match to the last of this $11,750,000 issue. These 30-year bonds were paid out 6½ years ahead of schedule, but it hasn't been all that easy. It wasn't easy when the bonds were issued.

IT ALL BEGAN back in 1946 when J. B. Thomas, then president of Texas Electric Service Company, invited representatives of Big Spring, Snyder, Colorado City, Midland and Odessa here to hear a startling idea. Why not join together, spend several million dollars, and develop an inter-city water supply that would be beyond the reach of any of them? Several years later, the cities dwindled to Big Spring and Odessa, which succeeded in getting an act creating the district through the legislature in June 1949.

FRIESE & NICHOLS, which, like TESCO had borne the expense as an act of faith, began at last forming construction plans. These were almost ready in December 1949 when Snyder, reeling under the impact of an unprecedented boom, petitioned to join the district. So early in 1950, directors from the three cities met here. Joe King of Union Securities came up with an offer to buy $11,750,000 bonds at an effective interest rate of 2.48. This was amazing inasmuch as the district did not have one minute's operating history — all it had was ideas and estimates, and contracts to supply three cities.

BUT THERE WAS no point in issuing bonds unless the bids for constructing the system were within the amount indicated. So when the crucial opening came, the J. W. Mooreman bid on the key element the lake basin, dam, etc. so favorable, and the companion bid on pipelines and pump stations was an equal bargain, directors were confronted with the decision to proceed. The hitch was that the bids were good for only 30 days.

THERE WAS, physically speaking, no way that the bonds could be written, printed, signed, examined and validated by the Texas attorney general, and then delivered for payment, all within 30 days. Directors schemed for several hours on various possible shortcuts. Finally Mr. Thomas broke in, asking: "What's the hard way?"

Well, the hard way was the way it was done. McCall, Parkhurst and Crowe, the bond attorneys, pulled out all stops, sending papers here to be duly executed and attested to, and somehow got the material to the printer, who worked overtime to produce the bonds. Every day's production of the serially numbered $1,000 bonds — 11,750 of them — were air expressed here, and R. T. Piner, the first president, and I, as secretary-treasurer, had to sign each one, and get them back on the plane the next day. This shuttle went on for nearly two weeks.

IN THE MEANTIME, the bonds had the district's seal affixed, were flown to Austin for approval and validation, and then back to Dallas where Union Securities — making an exception to the rule of delivery in New York — took possession and paid the funds to the district.

So notice was given in time, to Mooreman and other contractors that the district indeed had the money in the bank. The district suddenly was in business.

IT WAS ALMOST PROVIDENTIAL, for with a month interest rates went up and money got tight. It was fortuitous, too, that cities experienced more rapid growth and greater water demands than they had guessed, and that additional customers were added. Since then nearly $38 million more bonds have been issued, to provide nearly 20 billion gallons of water a year, but the district managed always to accumulate a surplus, much of which was applied to buying in these low-rate bonds at a discount. Eventually a $5 million "balloon" on the end of the issue was wiped out, and in July of this year, the last of the historic issue were paid off. But looking back, it is no exaggeration to say that much of the future of this area and of West Texas hinged on those critical 30 days in 1951.

California Reform

Marquis Childs

SAN FRANCISCO — The googoes, the good government forces as they were derisively called in another day, are standing tall in this the most populous state in the union. They put over by a whopping three-to-one margin a campaign reform measure applying the tightest controls over the big spenders and the lobbyists.

THIS, LET IT BE SAID, where once the powerful high-paid lobbies in Sacramento dictated to a supine legislature what should and should not pass. Sparked by Common Cause, a broad California Coalition for Proposition 9 raised more than $400,000 to put over the constitutional reform.

But just as important as the money were the thousands of volunteers, many of them young, in a multitude of good government organizations who did the leg-work first to get the several hundred thousand signatures putting the initiative on the ballot and then ringing doorbells throughout the state. This is a potent lesson in what people once they are organized can do.

IT IS A POTENT lesson, too, for the Congress in Washington still backing and filling after months of delay over a campaign reform bill. Despite all the scandalous revelations about the debauchery of the Nixon '72 campaign with big money, the House is still tinkering no reform at all. The Senate has already passed a comprehensive campaign reform measure.

Whether anything will finally come out of the lagged Congress getting at the most shameful aspect of Watergate is uncertain. Rep. Wayne Hayes, (D-Ohio) author of the House bill, rose on the floor to denounce John Gardner of Common Cause as a "common crook."

THE CALIFORNIA law requires the disclosure of anyone contributing more than $50 to a state wide campaign. Lobbyists are now prohibited from spending more than $10 a month on any legislator. That would fall short of one of those three-martini lunches freely dispensed in the past.

MY ANSWER

Billy Graham

I am a lady cab driver, working ten hours a day, six days a week. My 18 year old daughter has a 13 month old illegitimate child whose father seems to be a pretty nice guy, but he has a problem. He's very lazy. Even the District Attorney couldn't seem to get him to support the child. Now my daughter wants to go to work, but I can't stay home. What's the answer?

O.B. It would be a great mistake for you to quit work and bail your daughter out by becoming the acting mother. Don't do it, unless it becomes absolutely necessary.

Your daughter needs to grasp the reality of the situation. A key concept she must acquire is that of responsibility. While fathers are equally responsible for the care of a child, should they refuse to give it, then the mother must be prepared to be self-sufficient.

One social worker in my area suggests a redefinition of the word love as follows. Love is when you help other people not to have to have you. That's appropriate in your daughter's case. If she loves you and the baby she'll find a solution.

Some Day Care Center accept children as young as six months. If none like that are available in your city, consult newspaper ads placed by women offering child care in their "approved" home. If necessary, have your daughter advertise for such foster care. Then she can get employment and become self-sufficient.

A Devotion For Today..

"I will praise the Lord as long as I live; I will sing praises to my God while I have being." (Psalm 146:2)
PRAYER: "Change me, O God; my flesh shall be an instrument of song to Thee And Thou the notes inspire." Amen.

Rise Of Hussein

Robert Novak

AMMAN, Jordan — King Hussein, whose war against Palestinian guerrillas four years ago made him the black sheep of the Arab world, is now on a crest of personal influence, backed by quiet but heavy American support, in the pan-Arab political battle to regain lost territories from Israel, including the crucial west bank of his own kingdom.

WHILE PALESTINIAN nationalist Yasser Arafat insists that only he can represent the "Palestinian people" in the creation of an independent Palestinian state on the Israeli-occupied west bank, it is Hussein who for the moment is in the cat-bird seat.

The doughty King's credentials are becoming clearer every day. As both he and his prime minister, Zaid Rifai, carefully explain, there is no such thing as one "Palestinian people" but at least four different "Palestinian peoples." Each has its own special interest and background.

THERE IS, FIRST, the east bank Palestine within Hussein's own kingdom of Jordan, some 800,000 strong including refugees from the west bank, a very large percentage of whom are now integrated into Jordan's economy. Next is the Palestine on the west bank of the Jordan River, numbering about 650,000, who have been under Israeli occupation since the 1967 war.

STILL ANOTHER "Palestinian people" are the 500,000 refugees now living squalid lives in the refugee camps of Syria and Lebanon on a bare subsistence of a few cents a day. Finally, there is the Palestine of Gaza, the small, fertile strip along the Mediterranean between Israel and the Egyptian Sinai peninsula.

One could also add the Palestine within Israel itself — 450,000 Arabs who kept their homes and jobs after Israel's creation as a state 25 years ago and who hold Israeli citizenship (but not real equality with Israeli Jews).

IT REQUIRES no mental gymnastics to perceive that Arafat's claim as "sole representative" of the Palestinian people is questionable. Indeed, that claim rests primarily with those Palestinians whose outrage over Israel's successive territorial acquisitions led them into Arafat's Palestinian Liberation Organization along with other more radical nationalist-terrorist outfits. As a ranking Western ambassador told us: "We've all been conned into thinking that the PLO really does represent the Palestinian people."

HERE ON THE east bank of his kingdom, evidence is available to buttress Hussein's claim to represent more Palestinians than Arafat, even though Hussein himself is not Palestinian. One example: of the more than 50,000 Palestinian nationalists who fought Hussein when he drove the guerrillas out of Jordan in 1970 and 1971, far more than half are now living peacefully here with jobs and families.

Two of the 1970 anti-Hussein leaders, Ibrahim Bakr and Munif Razzaq — both of them west bank refugees — have been pardoned. Amman is full of rehabilitated former enemies of the king and the Bedouin leaders of his army.

Lost Wine Center

Robert E. Ford

Isn't it ironic that a fellow who lived at Denison is absolutely unknown in Texas except to a small cult while he remains a hero of France 60 years after his death.

Ans. had it not been for an American social experiment which failed, a long stretch of Texas and Oklahoma along the Red River might today be known as the wine center of the world.

THIS INDIVIDUAL was Thomas Volney Munson who became interested in grapes while a student at the University of Kentucky.

He decided to grow grapes in Nebraska, of all places, but it was too cold.

So he headed for Denison where two brothers lived—W. B. Munson, a banker and industrialist, and the other a surveyor.

John Clift of the Denison Herald, who has become an authority on the vitaculturist, says Munson walked over much of western Arkansas, southern Oklahoma and North Central Texas looking for wild grape vines.

The outcome of this, relates Clift, was that Munson developed 300 types of grapes of which 115 are known to exist today.

IN THE 1880s, the rich Bourdeaux of France, noted for its grapes and wine, was in serious trouble.

A disease had gotten into the vines and it appeared that the industrial base of Bourdeaux was doomed. Nothing helped.

A delegation from that region went to the Agriculture Department in Washington to see if anyone there had a solution.

Munson had been bombarding the USDA with information about grapes. The department wasn't interested.

The department couldn't help the Frenchmen, but reluctantly said "that nut down in Denison" might know something. That quote is in one of Munson's books.

So they came to Denison to see this unknown man.

And when they reached Denison they got a shock. This man they didn't remember was the author of many distinguished articles on grapes and had appeared at international seminars. They just hadn't recognized his name when it was spoken in Washington.

Munson said, sure, he could cure their vines.

SO HE PROWLED along the Red River and snipped cuttings from the wild grapevines. He sent them to France, they were grafted on the Bourdeaux vines, and the European industry was saved.

For this the French bestowed on him the Legion of Honor. Only other American given that honor at that time was the inventor, Thomas Edison.

Clift says statues of Munson dot the Bourdeaux country.

California has surpassed France and other European countries as the greatest wine producer in the world. It could have been Texas.

Ugly Picture For Home Shopper

John Cuniff

By LEE MITGANG
(Substituting for John Cuniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's housing and mortgage slump has grown into the worst on record, according to some bankers and builders.

Inflation and tight money have crippled banks' ability to provide mortgages. Building material costs have skyrocketed and supplies are tight.

Bankers in Boston and Seattle say they're out of money for mortgages and a contractor in Annapolis, Md. complained recently he couldn't find nails for carpentry work.

With most consumers now largely priced out of the housing mortgage markets, John M. Wetmore, director of economics and research at the Mortgage Bankers Association, said many banks now extend mortgage credit only to top executives of companies which do business at the bank.

"Sure it's discriminatory," he said, but added that there seems no other way to distribute what little money a bank has to lend in mortgages.

One such local VIP, who declined to be quoted by name, recently bought a $50,000-plus home in Glenwood, Ill., a Chicago suburb. He was a general manager of a local business, and had tried eight lending institutions before one finally gave him a 7.8 per cent mortgage.

"I got my mortgage through what you might call 'influence peddling.' The bank told me the mortgage market was tight and I told them I'd help them to a certain extent with a savings deposit. I used money and clout," he said.

It's an ugly picture for most other home shoppers.

The Commerce Department says home building declined 11.1 per cent in May from the previous month, and 38 per cent from a year ago. Building permits for the nation declined 43 per cent in May from a year ago, and reached the lowest level since April 1967. Last year, 2.06 million permits were issued, but this year, according to Michael Sumichrast, economist for the National Association of Home Builders, the figure will be more like 1.45 million.

Construction firms must pay anywhere from 2.5 per cent above the bank prime lending rate, which now stands at about 12 per cent at most banks. Smaller contractors often pay even more. The higher interest rate translates into a bigger price tag on a new home. The cost of the average new home has jumped nearly $20,000 since 1970.

Breast Booster A Myth

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: There are several of us considering going to the doctor and taking shots to enlarge our breasts. We would like to know if these shots would have any side-effects or disadvantages. About how many would it take? Or any information about it. — R.J.B.

I don't, for the life of me, know why this notion of "shots" to enlarge the breasts has gotten such a grip on the public imagination.

I've explained this situation before — but from the number of girls and young women who keep writing letters like yours, it's obvious they weren't reading this column on the right days.

Here are the facts: there are no "shots" that will make your breasts grow bigger — any more than there are "shots" that will make your feet or your ears or some other part of the anatomy grow.

The only thing that can be done with a needle is to pump something into the breasts. This has been done — injecting silicone into the breasts, to "pump them up."

Unfortunately there is nothing to prevent silicone thus injected from moving about in the body, neither is there anything to make it hold its shape. Some women (primarily showgirls) have resorted to such measures as wearing a firm brassiere 23 hours a day to try to maintain the shape.

In other cases, silicone has been found to have migrated all the way through the body, even down into the legs.

Quite aside from these troubles, the Food and Drug Administration is not yet satisfied as to how much danger to health can result from this wandering silicone.

So the upshot is this: such injection of silicone is NOT permitted under federal laws. In a probability you and your friends won't find a doctor who will consider doing it. Or if you did find somebody, he would be operating outside the law, and you should have nothing to do with him — for your own safety. The one approved method of breast augmentation (making the breasts bigger) is the implantation of properly-shaped sacs filled with silicone.

SETTING UP HOUSE — Mrs. Henry A. Kissinger, the former Nancy Maginnes who is now wife of the secretary of state, leaves a Georgetown townhouse Tuesday accompanied by Secret Service agents. The Kissingers plan to move to the house after redecorating is completed sometime this fall.

He's Peeking

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We've lived in this nice family neighborhood for fifteen years. Last September, our next-door neighbors rented their house to a group of long-haired hippies. Several young men and women are living together there, and I'm sure they aren't married.

Abby, I don't have anything against hippies, but I am worried about my children. I've tried to give them a good moral upbringing. Just yesterday I caught my teen-age son peering through the fence that separates our backyards, and sure enough, one of the girls was sunbathing completely naked!

My husband and I can't agree on what to do. I say we should call the police to protect our children, who are at an impressionable age. My husband thinks we should leave well enough alone. What do you think?

MENLO PARK MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: I vote with your husband. And tell your son to quit "peering" through the fence, or your neighbors might justifiably feel that their privacy is being violated, and THEY will call the police.

DEAR ABBY: It's 4:30 a.m. and I'm so mad I can't go back to sleep. It seems my brother-in-law, Joe, is making a habit of spending the night on our couch.

His reason for staying here is that he is too drunk to drive home. He totaled his pickup two months ago after one of his drinking sprees.

My husband thinks I'm selfish for not wanting Joe here. I disagree. I feel this house is half mine and I should be able to get up and go into the living room in the middle of the night without worrying about someone seeing me half nude. I'm eight months pregnant, so I get up a lot, and I don't like to put on my robe each time.

I think if Joe wants to get plastered he should make other sleeping arrangements. (Like a motel.) What should I do? Grin and bear it for my husband's sake? Or tell Joe how I feel? I'm afraid if Joe killed himself driving home, my husband would blame me.

HAD IT WITH JOE
DEAR HAD IT: If Joe comes to your house plastered, ask your husband to escort him home. Drunk drivers kill not only themselves — they kill innocent people.

Gift Affair Held For Bride-Elect

The Texas Electric Reddy Room was the setting Monday evening for a gift shower honoring Miss Charlotte Leonard, bride-elect of Ricky Oakes.

Receiving guests with the honoree were her sister-in-law, Mrs. Gene Leonard; her grandmother, Mrs. Thelma Neal, Yellville, Ark.; and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Robert Oakes, Ackerly. Miss Leonard, who was attired in an orchid dress styled with A-line skirt, V neckline and Juliet sleeves, was presented a corsage of blue and orchid carnations. Similar corsages were presented to the other women.

Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. H. B. Hatch, Mrs. Don Doubleday, Ms. Jan Armstrong, Miss Sarah Haas, Miss Susie Rodriguez, Mrs. Dennis Weaver and Mrs. Bert Hillger.

Among the out-of-town guests was the honoree's aunt, Mrs. Patsy Mahoney of Yellville.

The refreshment table, appointed with crystal and silver, was covered with a white satin cloth overlaid with lace.

The couple plans to be married Aug. 2 in a garden ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Leonard, Oil Mill Road.

Lapidary Providing Hobby For Minister

The Rev. Dallas Nash, whose hobby is collecting and polishing precious and semi-precious stones, was guest speaker Monday evening for Cactus Chapter, American Business Women's Association. The dinner meeting was held at Furr's Cafeteria.

"There is a lot of pleasure in taking something nature has made rough and producing a thing of beauty from it," said Rev. Nash. He described procedures used in cutting and polishing a stone, noting that it is easy to ruin the stone, so one must be careful. In discussing the price of stones, he said that turquoise, which sold for about $2 an ounce a few years ago, is now selling for up to $175 per ounce, the reason being a great demand and low supply.

Rev. Nash began his hobby while serving with the Strategic Air Command as a means of relaxation and "getting my mind off the pressure."

The vocational speaker, Mrs. Helen Stewart, discussed the advantages and problems of being self-employed. The speakers were introduced by Mrs. Bettie-Jane King.

Mrs. Eldon Watts led the Pledge of Allegiance and the benediction. Mrs. David Wilker, president, conducted a brief business session. The next meeting will be Aug. 19.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Despite minor annoyances which should be easily handled by you now, you have the chance to extend your activities and success for beyond present boundaries. Get a fresh new slant on your life by your cherished longings in action.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): Organize a new plan so you are not pressured at home, in business, or social life. Impress others with your devotion to home life.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Concentrate upon what should be done to improve all relationships now, especially of home. Check bills, then pay them.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Improve present monetary position, utilizing caution and ideas of experts that are fool-proof. Make some changes in responsibilities for more efficiency.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Study any new affairs that arise today, for you could get yourself tied down for a long time to something not for you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Keep promises made others to avoid much trouble. Your intuitive perception is not accurate early in day, but can be followed tonight.

Sinatra Ends Tour Following Ransom Caper

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Frank Sinatra ended his controversial Australian tour today with a police escort to the airport after a caller threatened to blow up his plane unless $75 million in ransom was paid.

Police cars surrounded the Qantas jet on which the singer and his party were booked, and security officers searched the airport, but no bomb was found.

Eight police squad cars, unmarked police vehicles and plainclothes detectives cordoned off the area around Sinatra's hotel in the King's Cross district.

The caller demanded that the money be left at a postoffice near the hotel. Police said the man must have been a crank.

Warm, Damp Air Spreads

By The Associated Press

Humidity levels stood close to 90 per cent in some coastal areas as oppressively warm and damp air spread over Texas from the Gulf of Mexico today.

And following the pattern of recent days, occasionally heavy thunderstorms boiled just off the Upper Texas Coast, moving inland around Houston and Beaumont. Less violent storms and showers brought at least some rain northwest of Austin from around San Saba to the Llano River, and from Brownwood to near Fredericksburg.

Skies were partly cloudy to clear over other sections.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 76 degrees at Del Rio and 77 at Galveston down to 68 at Lubbock and 69 at Dalhart.

Takes Badly-Needed Look At Health Care For 'Poor'

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC News' fine "Close-Up" series takes a badly-needed look tonight at a question we rarely hear much about — the adequacy of the health care this wealthy nation provides the children of its poor.

'A' FOR INTENT

The one-hour show, which concludes that such care is woefully lacking, deserves an "A" for intent. Alas, it also deserves a "D" for execution in its attempt at telling a compelling, difficult story.

It is over-written, dis-passionate to a fault and weighed down by various studies that have all the right figures, all the strong conclusions and none of the impact television can and should provide.

"This is a program about a stark, painful reality," narrator Herb Kaplow observes in the show. "It's about families who find it difficult or impossible to pay for medical care for their children. And so it's about inadequate care or no care at all."

Moments earlier, an impoverished Appalachian mother has recounted how a doctor at a hospital emergency room turned away her seriously ill son because she couldn't immediately pay for the boy's hospitalization.

ASPIRIN TIME

She says when she told the physician she lacked both cash and medical insurance, the doctor told her: "Well, just take him home and give him some aspirin."

This is intended to be the reality of which Kaplow speaks, but nowhere do we learn any details — the type of insurance she meant, the nature of her son's illness, or even the name of the doctor and what he might have to say in his own defense.

It seems to typify a basic flaw in the show, a reluctance to stray from easily researched statistics for detailed stories of children who need and aren't getting adequate health care.

More Bad News For Farmers

Farmers experienced another decrease in the index of prices received for their products in the June period, coupled with an increase in the money they paid out to keep operating, according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

Latest USDA statistics show that while the index of prices received by farmers nationwide decreased 6 per cent during the month ended June 15, prices paid out by farmers increased again, 2-3 of one per cent from mid-May.

Total prices received dropped 4 per cent below a year ago, while prices paid out increased 14 per cent.

"Contributing most to the decrease since mid-May were lower prices for cattle, milk, hogs, potatoes, calves, and eggs," White said.

Higher prices for corn, peaches, and apples were only partially offsetting.
