Wool sale brings record prices

A record price of $2 per grease pound was paid for wool here April 28 during a sale at Ozona Wool and Mohair Co. The top price was paid by Ford Oglesby Wool and Mohair Inc. of Eldorado for a 22,000-pound lot of superfine eight-month wool consigned by West Ranch.

This was the highest price ever paid for eight-month short wool according to Joe David Yates, warehouse manager.

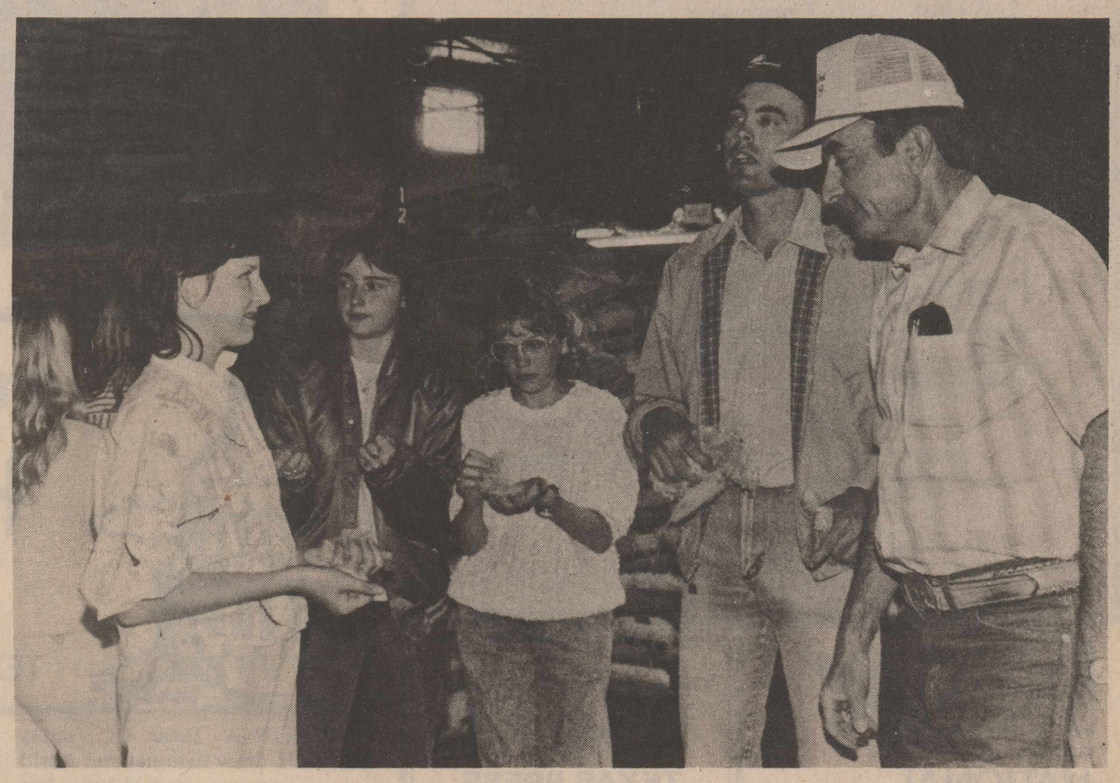

A second lot from West Ranch sold for $1.89 5/8 to Anodyne Inc. of Goldthwaite.

Buyers at the Ozona Wool and Mohair and Wool Growers sales bid on more than 400,000 pounds of mostly 12-month wool.

Prouvost, Lefebrve and Co. Inc. of Brady bought 114,000 pounds, Wylie Hearn of Talpa, 75,000 pounds; Anodyne Inc. of Goldthwaite, 72,000 pounds; Burlington Industries Wool Co. of Clarksville, VA, 51,000 pounds; Forte, Dupee, Sawyer Co. of Brady, 36,000 pounds; Texas International Mohair Inc. of Brady, 31,000 pounds; Ford Oglesby of Eldorado, 22,000 pounds; and A. H. Helmig and Co. Inc. of San Angelo, 11,000 pounds.

Wool Growers offered 168,577 pounds of 12-month wool, 10,062 pounds of 10-month wool and 44,062 pounds of eight-month wool.

The Ozona Wool and Mohair offering included 59,423 pounds of 12-month wool, 24,938 pounds of 10-month wool and 105,938 pounds of eight-month wool.

Golf team heads for state meet

by Copie Davis
STOCKMAN SPORTS

The 1988 Ozona Lion golf team became the second team in nearly 15 years from Ozona to qualify for the state golf tournament, coming back from five shots down after the first day to defeat the Stanton Buffalos and win the regional championship in Big Spring.

Ozona fired a first day total of 333 to put them in second place behind Stanton at 328. However, on Day 2, the Lions turned on the afterburners and simply left everyone behind, cranking out a 322. This total proved to be a full 10 shots better than Stanton's Wednesday total, which gave Ozona a five-shot 655-660 victory.

On Tuesday, an unpredictable West Texas wind kicked up and threw most players' regular game plans out the window.

Bret Hood, a self-professed wind hater, battled the breeze to fire a solid round of 80.

Freshman Jay Haire mastered golf, pumpkins, and English I all at the same time by firing a very Cinderella-like 83.

Copie Davis shot a decent 84, even after duking it out with a certain stand of pine trees en route to a quadruple bogey on 18.

Will Seahorn, who fought a constant battle with his putting stroke all day, carded a round of 86, and Shane Pridemore put together a solid 93.

On Day 2, Ozona decided it was time to play golf. Vowing the night before they would improve at least 12 shots, they hit the course with a vengeance.

Hood fired rounds of 36-41 for a six over par 77, which put him in fifth overall to give him first team All-Region honors.

Haire and Davis both fired rounds of 81 on Wednesday as Cinderella dodged pumpkins and Davis dodged quadruple bogeys.

Will Seahorn finally neutralized his poison putter and posted a solid 83.

Pridemore proved to be the most consistent player on the team as he fired an identical round of 93.

Individually, Stanton's Greg Avery took first medalist as he fired unconscious rounds of 73-76 for a 149. Second medalist was Conway of Panhandle with rounds of 80-72 for a 152. Skip Hopkins of Stanton took third medalist honors as he fired rounds of 77-79 for his best tournament of the year.

Besides Hood's fifth place finish, Ozona had one other All-Region team member. (Haire finished in the #10 spot to round out the second team. Davis finished one shot back in 11th.

The Lions will now prepare for the state championship in Austin on May 13 and 14. If Hood can shake off his nightmares of that tournament last year and the rest of the team can hold the pressure off, they could pull off a first for Ozona High School golf...a state championship.

Boys qualify Sanchez, girls break new ground

by T. C. Tucker
STOCKMAN SPORTS

Like the two previous years, Danny Sanchez qualified for the state track meet in the two-mile. Unlike the past years, Sanchez added the mile run to his list of events.

Out of both the girls and boys' teams to make the regional level, only Sanchez furthered his season by qualifying for state.

In a close homestretch duel, Sanchez claimed the two mile run last Friday. His winning time of 10:17.08 edged second place's 10:17.62.

On Saturday, Sanchez returned for the mile in which he had finished third in previous regional excursions. This time he took the top honors, winning in a time of 4:35.91.

Oscar Payne, qualifier in the pole vault, ended up eighth out of a bundle of competitors.

"There were a lot of guys in that event," Payne said. "And a lot of good pole vaulters."

On the girls' side of things, Maria Sanchez placed the highest of the Lady Lion participants as she finished fourth in the two-mile and sixth in the mile runs with times of 12:58.14 and 5:58.61 respectively.

"I was disappointed," Sanchez said of her placings.

Lydia Pena ended her high school career on a good note as her throw of 105 feet placed her fifth in the discus.

The Lady Lions had both the 400 and 1600m relay teams make the finals and eventually finished seventh and eighth respectively.

Kristina Martinez also survived the preliminaries to make the finals in the 800m run. Regina Cervantez ran well in her prelims for the 200m dash but failed to qualify for the following day's finals.

"It's a first time in a while we've had this many girls make the finals at region," Coach David McWilliams said. "Overall, I think the girls felt good about themselves and that's the most one can ask for.

"They've worked hard and done well all season and I think they did excellent against the tough regional competition."

The girls end the season with several meet titles to their credit. including the district championship.

"Hopefully, we've started something that we can carry through on," McWilliams said. "Next year, we'll keep building a program, shoot for state and continue to live and learn."

The state meet will be held May 13 and 14 in Austin.

School board, water elections Saturday

Absentee voting in the water district and school trustee elections ended Tuesday. Totals recorded by early afternoon were 61 votes in the school election and 12 in the water board election.

Pon Seahorn and Dennis Clark are running for the two places open on the water district board. That election will be held Saturday, May 7, in the law library at the county courthouse from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Four candidates are asking election to the two places on the school board. Candidates are incumbent Gary Mitchell, Jimmy Ortiz, Randy Upham and David Bean.

That election will also be held at the courthouse on May 7 from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Natural causes ruled in death

A Florida man found dead in Crockett County last week was not the victim of foul play, said Sheriff Billy Mills. Terry Charles Thomas, 29, of Sebring, Florida, was found in a pasture about 50 yards from the fence Wednesday night by Deputy Hector De La Garza.

Officers searched the area along the fence Monday after receiving a 4 a.m. report of an accident with injuries eight miles west of Ozona on I-10. Thomas' 1980 Oldsmobile Cutlass had a flat tire and the dome light was on and passenger door open when the investigation began.

Because of the unusual circumstances, deputies tried contacting the parents of the registered owner of the car.

Pauline Munoz of Sebring, mother of the deceased, told officers her son suffered from hypoglycemia, a condition caused by an acute deficiency of glucose in the blood, and from alcoholism.

Thomas' nude body was found approximately 100 feet north of his car according to the sheriff's report.

Thomas and his girlfriend had left Florida to move to Arizona, but she had left his company before reaching Crockett County according to Chief Deputy Jim Wilson.

A preliminary autopsy report indicated that Thomas had been dead since April 24 or 25. He appeared to have died of natural causes resulting from complications of hypoglycemia and alcohol use. A more detailed autopsy report from the Bexar County medical examiner is expected late this week.

Childress attends mohair meeting

Bob Childress, president of the International Mohair Association, returned today from a promotion strategy meeting in London.

The International Mohair Association has its annual meeting this year in Cape Town, South Africa, on June 14. Mr. Childress says about 24 people so far are going from Texas, and he encourages everyone who can to attend.

Although world mohair production is up slightly, Childress says the textured look seems to be fading for fall and winter fashions in Europe. With this should come a more modern fashion style which is the bulky fuzzy look.

Sharon McCrohan signs with Hill College

by T. C. Tucker
STOCKMAN SPORTS

Sharon McCrohan, currently a senior at Ozona High School, has signed a letter of intent to play basketball at Hill College in Hillsboro.

McCrohan, the daughter of Jim and Ethel McCrohan, received a scholarship from the school based on her three years of varsity experience and making the All-District team this past season.

She also had the most steals, assists, three pointers and caused mistakes in her last year of high school ball.

"I'm excited about receiving the scholarship and having the opportunity to play college basketball at Hill College," McCrohan said. "I could not have done this without the help and inspiration of Coach Coleman."

"She's put in many extra hours with a basketball in her hand over the past six months," Coach Lyna Coleman said. "Sharon deserves this honor because of her dedication. She's overcome many obstacles and become a better person in her effort to become a college basketball player. I'm real proud of her."

Hill College, which is located between Dallas and Waco, sports Kenneth Davis as its girls' basketball coach.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN–A Texan in Vienna last week drew national and world news coverage and likely has turned the usually obscure race for Texas railroad commissioner into a household discussion.

Meanwhile, a second Texas '88 election issue was forged when Comptroller Bob Bullock stepped forth with his plan to overhaul the Legislature's formula for financing public education.

Bullock isn't up for office this November, but his plan will likely affect every legislative candidate race in the state.

The credibility of his plan was immediately enhanced by an endorsement from Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby. Certainly, it is being considered by Gov. Bill Clements, who might call a special session of the Legislature to consider it and other plans.

At issue is whether the Legislature should reform its method for distributing revenue among rich and poor school districts, either voluntarily or by a state district judge's court order which is now in appeal trial.

Haves vs. Have Nots

Attorney General Jim Mattox thinks the state will win the appeal and thus avoid having to comply with a super-expensive court-ordered plan to reform public school financing.

Even now we're digging our way out from under federal court orders reforming prisons and mental health institutions.

But several Texas officials, including Bullock, Mattox, Land Commissioner Garry Mauro and Treasurer Ann Richards feel the system is unfair and have resolved to correct it no matter what the court decides.

It's a classic political battle between the haves and the have nots, and it could turn into a Republican vs. Democrat issue.

Clements' Amendment

Most of the details of Bullock's plan are his secret while he moves to sell it to other state officials, but it involves finding extra money in state bonds and a small part of the school trust fund.

Clements and some Republicans want to pass a constitutional amendment which legalizes the present system, but the Democrats say it would only legalize the basic unfairness.

Speaking of basic unfairness, Clements said many South Texas school districts are not property poor, but appear to be because they undervalue their tax roll properties as much as 90 percent.

"If you go down there, you will find they are carrying irrigated land, orchards and other developed property at $400 to $500 an acre when its market value is $4,000 to $5,000."

Our Man in Vienna

The Texan in Vienna talking to world news reporters last week was Kent Hance, our railroad commissioner whose mission to a meeting of OPEC ministers has everyone talking.

But what is everyone saying? His Democrat opponent, Houston state Rep. Clint Hackney, called him a loose cannon and ripped his credibility. Other Democrats called him a grandstander.

The feds at the U.S. Department of Energy said he was playing with fire by suggesting Texas cut oil production in line with OPEC.

His fellow railroad commissioners are split: Jim Nugent, also up for reelection, said he thinks up-to-date knowledge of the world oil market will help Texas; John Sharp said it's dangerous to give the impression Texas will go it alone to side with OPEC.

Paintin' The Fence

And Hance? He's supposed to report in to Gov. Clements this week, but he said the OPEC ministers were receptive to his request that Texas be allowed to send observers to OPEC meetings.

That request was basically his mission, but his detractors, perhaps for lack of anything of substance, have built it into far more than it is.

They say he is grabbing headlines for his election, which he is. But their talk here is what has made it a daily issue.

Hance must feel as Tom Sawyer did watching others paint the fence for him. Let others do the work for you.

Other Highlights

Houston businesssman Rob Mossbacher, a former Republican Party treasurer and candidate for the U.S. Senate, was named head of Clements' new task force to end the poverty cycle.

Mossbacher, who sits on the Department of Human Resources board, told Clements he wanted to explore new approaches to getting people off welfare.

Public Notices

PUBLIC NOTICE AS REQUIRED BY THE ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY [EPA] UNDER PUBLIC LAW "FEDERAL SAFE DRINKING WATER ACT" of 1986

Water Customers of Ozona

Dear Mr. Customer:

The United States Environmental Protection Agency [EPA] has adopted requirements that all public water systems notify their customers about the health effects of lead exposure. THIS NOTIFICATION IS INTENDED TO EDUCATE AND INFORM CONSUMERS ON THIS ISSUE IN LIGHT OF THE FACT THAT YOUR DRINKING WATER MAY BE A POTENTIAL SOURCE OF LEAD EXPOSURE. THIS IS BEING DONE EVEN THOUGH YOUR WATER SYSTEM IS NOT IN VIOLATION OF THE CURRENT STANDARD. There are also other potential sources of lead contamination in the environment.

The following specific language is required by the EPA in this notice:

The United States Environmental Protection Agency [EPA] sets drinking water standards and has determined that lead is a health concern at certain levels of exposure. THERE IS CURRENTLY A STANDARD OF 0.050 PARTS PER MILLION [PPM]. THE CCWC&ID#1 DRINKING WATER LEAD LEVEL IS LESS THAN 0.020 [PPM]. Based on new health information, EPA is likely to lower this standard significantly.

Part of the purpose of this notice is to inform you of the potential adverse health effects of lead. This is being done even though your water may not be in violation of the current standard.

EPA and others are concerned about lead in drinking water. Too much lead in the human body can cause serious damage to the brain, kidneys, nervous system, and red blood cells. The greatest risk, even with short-term exposure, it to young children and pregnant women.

Lead levels in your drinking water are likely to be highest:

1. if your home or water system has lead pipes, or
2. if your home has copper pipes with lead solder, and
   - -if the home is less than five years old, or
   - -if you have soft of acidic water, or
   - -if water sits in the pipes for several hours

Ways to avoid potential lead exposure are to "flush" faucets before use and to use cold water for drinking and cooking. You may wish to have your home tap water tested for lead content by a competent laboratory. The CCWC&ID#1 can furnish address of a water lab to perform these tests for the public. You may also wish to check to see if lead pipes, solder, or flux were used in your home plumbing.

[a] Here are steps the water system is taking to mitigate lead content of the drinking water.

Discourage use of lead in solder joints in copper pipe
Locate and remove any lead pipe found in the system.

[b] Here are names and telephone number of water office to contact as a source of additional information.

STOCKMAN SPORTS

The Ozona Lady Lion golf team had its topsy-turvy 1988 season ended last week in Big Spring when, by virtue of high winds and bad luck, they shot rounds of 404 and 388 to place fourth in the Region I championship.

The Lady Lions' two-day total of 789 left them a mere two shots behind third place Quanah, and only four shots from the state tournament behind second place Stanton.

On Tuesday (Day 1), senior Trebie West fired a 94 to post Ozona's best score of the day.

Following West was junior Gina McCollum who shot a solid 99, but unfortunately, was the Lady Lions' last sub-100 round.

Posting Ozona's third score was Randi Thohmpson who carded a respectable round of 100. Rounding out scoring for the Lady Lions was Loretta Ledbetter with a 111.

Angel Henderson, who worked her way into the rotation during the interval between district and regional, also played and shot a 115.

On Day 2, the Lady Lions attacked the Comanche Trails Golf Club course with a vengeance, desperately trying to make up strokes. However, their comeback was too little and too late. Thompson recovered from her disappointing performance on Day 1 to unload a 90 for the day.

Ledbetter improved by 16 shots from Tuesday to Wednesday to card an impressive 95.

West continued her pinpoint consistency to fire a 97, and McCollum slipped just a little to round out scoring with a 106.

Although the Lady Lions finished with a 388 on the second day, they placed fourth. But, considering only 16 teams get the honor of playing at the regional level, fourth is worthy of being proud of.

Ozona had two players make the top 10 as Thompson fired a 190 and West fired a 191.

Do you remember

This early Ozona Boy Scout Troop of about 1915 or 16? Easily identified are Hillery Phillips, center, and Allie Bosworth, top left. Also Massie West, top, in white shirt and possibly Worth Odom and M.C. Weaver.

Of interest are the two complete Scout uniforms worn by Phillips and Bosworth. Can others be identified?

The Crockett County Museum is trying to collect as many early pictures of Ozona people and their activities as possible. Especially those from fifty of more years ago-1890 to 1938.

Cubs struggle at district meet

by T. C. Tucker
STOCKMAN SPORTS

The 7th grade finished seventh overall and the 8th grade claimed fourth place as the Cubs ended the track season at the district meet last weekend.

The 7th grade rounded up only 27 total points. The 8th grade fared somewhat better, tallying 61 points to safely secure fourth place.

The 7th grade Cubs' highest place came when Leroy Martinez placed second in the 100m dash with a time of 12.88. Kenneth Borrell followed in fifth place. Martinez later placed fifth in the 200m dash.

Raul Rico's time of 43.85 helped him nab third place in the 300m dash. Rico also finished fourth in the 1200m run. Bryan Trujillo finished sixth in the 600m run.

The 1200m relay team of Martinez, Mike Kenison, Rico and Joe Hernandez cruised to a fourth place finish with a time of 3:07.53.

Big Lake won the 7th grade division with 177 points. Stanton followed with 66 and McCamey had 65.

The 8th grade came up with a greater qualntity of points and placed fourth behind McCamey, Rankin and Iraan.

In field events, Marcos Quiroz tied for third in the high jump while Mario F. Mendoza finished fourth in the long jump. Pablo Talamantez claimed sixth in the pole vault.

The Cubs' best showing in running events arrived from the hands of Talamantez who won the 1200m run in 3:50.00 minutes. Mike Vitela finished fourth in that same event, and Mark Ramirez placed sixth.

Ramirez had better luck in the 200m low hurdles as he placed second and in the 600m run where his time of 1:35.40 earned him fourth place.

Quiroz placed fourth in the 200m dash as teammate Adam Alba nabbed sixth place. Alba also took fifth in the 100m dash, having a time of 13.35.

F. Mendoza placed fifth in the 300m dash, and Adrian Vargas ended up sixth in the 110m intermediate hurdles.

Alba, Quiroz, Vargas and F. Mendoza made up the third placing 400m relay team which had a time of 49.30.

Quiroz, Talamantez, Vargas and F. Mendoza finished fifth in the 1200m relay.

Shacklette makes second round at regional

by T. C. Tucker
STOCKMAN SPORTS

Summer Shacklette overcame the second seed of last weekend's regional tennis tournament before falling in the quarterfinals and ending her 1988 tennis season.

Shacklette, who qualified for region after finishing as runner-up in district 6-2A competition, drew into San Saba's Carla Martin in the opening round.

"She played hesitantly in the first set," Coach Jerry Tucker said. "Then she realized she could win and did."

Shacklette claimed the first round victory with a 7-6, 6-2 score, advancing to the second round (or quarterfinals) against Cindy Barkley of Gruver.

Shacklette had met Barkely last year at the regional tournament in the first round as Barkley came out on top. This year she would do the same.

Despite Shacklette's efforts, Barkley took the match 6-2, 6-3, enroute to finishing second in the tournament behind Staci Helmers, district 6-2A's other representative.

"Summer had her momentum in the second set but could not keep it goin," Coach Tucker said.

Incentive payments bring dollars to county

Incentive payments for the 133 Crockett County wool and unshorn lamb producers amounted to $1,738,263.16 for 1987 according to Laurie Hale of the ASCS office. Wool producers received a net of $1,560,805.31. Unshorn lamb payments were $177,457.85. Net payments of $2,289,566.41 went to 117 mohair producers.

The 1987 support price for shorn wool is $1.81 per pound, determined in accordance with the National Wool Act of 1954 as amended. The national average market price for shorn wool, 91.7 cents per pound, was 89.3 cents less than the support price. Dividing the shortage by the average market price results in a 1987 payment rate of 97.4 percent. The payment rate is the amount required to bring the average price received by producers up to the support price. The payment rate for 1986 was 166.5%.

For mohair, the 1987 average market price was $2.63 and the support price $4.95, making the payment rate 88.2 percent, compared to 96.4 percent in 1986.

Individual producers' payments are determined by multiplying the payment rates by the net dollar returns from wool and mohair sales. For unshorn lambs, the payments were computed at $3.57 per hundred weight. Promotion deductions for 1987 marketings are 5.5 cents per pound for wool, 4.5 cents per pound for mohair, and 27.5 cents per hundredweight for unshorn lambs.

Local funds deducted for wool promotion were $71,549.51. The deduction for unshorn lambs was $14,810.61. The funds are sent to the American Sheep Producers Council for promotion of the industry.

Crockett County deductions for mohair amounted to $46,951.92 for the Mohair Council.

Crockett County ranks second in the nation in wool production and third in mohair. Val Verde is first in wool production.

Junior high girls win district tennis

The Ozona Junior High girls' tennis team won their division at the district tennis meet recently as they nabbed one first place and two second places in eighth grade action alone.

Katie Sellers lost only five games while making her way to the finals where she ran up against teammate Ami Sewell.

After a three set duel, Sellers took first place by a score of 4-6, 7-5, 6-4.

In eighth grade girls doubles action, Grizz Tambunga and Veronica Mendoza beat teams from Stanton, Iraan and Eldorado before they lost in the finals to finish in second place.

Seventh graders C. Jay McKinney and Myra Wilson ended the meet with a third place finish when they beat fellow teammate's Jenni Jones and Sylvia Pena-Alfaro.

"I am very proud of all the players," Coach Renee Shulze said. "The eighth graders will be an asset to the varsity next year."

Royals split double-header

Under severe gusty winds at 25 to 30 miles per hour, the Royals took their potential effort to the playing field last week. They faced the 1987 league co-champs, Sonora Colt 45's.

The 45's picked up where they left off last year. The team quickly exhibited their playing ability and proved to be too much for the Royals.

Sonora scored eight runs in the first three innings. The Royals could not answer, yet responded with three runs in the last inning. The outcome gave the Royals a 10-3 defeat. Jeff Sanchez suffered the loss on the mound for the Royals.

The nightcap phase saw the Royals regrouping. The offensive tallied six runs to Sonora's five in the first three innings. Later in the fifth, Sonora's stubborness saw them taking the lead as they scored three runs. The Royals forced two, went for broke and gambled on every situation, giving them the momentum.

The big rally took place in the bottom of the sixth inning. The Royals were determined to enjoy a five run blast, which led them to an 11-9 victory.

George Ybarra led the offense with three valuable hits while Jason Vitela and Pandi Garza aided with two hits each. Richard Sanchez was the winning pitcher for the Royals.

Coach De Hoyos was pleased with the comeback determination his players showed.

At this stage of the season, the Royals lead their division with a 4-2 record.

The Royals will be off Sunday, but will resume play May 15 as they travel to meet last year's League champions, the San Angelo Angels.

Water Awareness Week May 2-8

May 2-8 has been designated Water Utilities Awareness Week in Texas. This activity coincides with national Drinking Water Week.

The delivery of safe and plentiful water to homes and businesses and the disposal of waste waters are taken for granted by the public.

Law requires water testing once a month and additional annual test for 27 elements.

"Our water meets or exceeds all state major health requirements," said department manager Dee Keilers.

A legal notice published in this issue of The Stockman is being published by all Texas water departments as required by the Environmental Protection Agency. The lead ban notification publication is required "even though our water is far below the problem level," said Keilers. Water systems are regulated by the Health Department the EPA and the Texas Water Commission.

Today's water system evolved from the purchase of the Ozona Improvement Company through a bond issue in 1939. Joe North headed the first board.

A few years later, the county sewer system was turned over to the water district.

Bill Cooper was hired as engineer and manager in 1943 and served for 41 years before retiring in September of 1984. He began the project which ended with the opening of Ozona's new wastewater disposal plant last year.

Firefighting in China: an exchange of ideas

...hree-week trip to China as part ...e People to People Arson Investigation Delegation showed Steve Kenley the value of a system based on the premise "does it fill the need?".

Firefighting equipment in China may not be as up to date and shiny as ours, but each piece serves its purpose.

Members of the arson delegation were welcomed by Chinese fire brigade members when they visited each station.

With no exception, the first and primary goal of the Division of Fire, Ministry of Public Security in China is to prevent fires.

"China is a very poor country," said Kenley. "That is to say that if your house and belongings burn, the chance of being able to replace them is slim. Until just the last decade, there has been no insurance in China. Not only will this make everyone keenly aware of the dangers of fire in his house, but also in his neighbors. It does not matter if the fire that burns up your life's work was not your doing."

In a country trying to pull itself up, the loss of a single factory can be considered a set-back. With such large population figures, a great deal of work is required in educating the people. This starts in the neighborhoods and in the apartment buildings. It starts with the family unit. In an apartment building, each floor has a person who is responsible for fire prevention on that floor. Each working unit has a person responsible for fire prevention at all levels within the unit.

People are taught how to extinguish fires before they get large. In Guangzhou, delegates were told that 23 percent of the alarms for fire were extinguished before the arrival of the militia.

In China the fire brigades and police come under the control of a single organization, the Ministry of Public Security (MOPS). There are military, professional and volunteer fire brigades. In Beijing, with a population of 10 million, there are 3500 men in nine divisions, five brigades, 19 fire prevention committes and 35 fire stations, 2000 men in 105 professional fire brigades and more than 200,000 volunteer fire fighters.

Nanjing, with a population of 2.2 million is in a province covering over 100,000 square kilometers with a population of 63 million. The province has 6000 fire fighters manning 450 fire engines in 440 fire brigades in addition to some 775 fire pumps.

Another example, Guangzhou, has a population in the city proper of 3.2 million.

For the surrounding surburbs and the city (over six million) there are 1,058 staff members with 68 fire engines. Included in the engines are one 200 ton fire boat, four engines with scaling ladders, two chemical engines and two dry powder engines. The remainder are water engines.

The equipment is manned by 23 professional brigades with 539 fire fighters. The area has 136,500 volunteer fire fighters.

The basic family unit and the society could not survive if each member was allowed to do as he wished. The unit as a whole has to come first, a basic premise that is well ingrained in the approach the Chinese take in running the country.

To lose face is one of the worst things that can happen to a Chinese; therefore, in many cases it only takes threat of a letter from the fire prevention section to cause a violation to be corrected. Otherwise, the individual who is in charge would lose face.

In every group, someone is responsible to watch for fire hazards, Kenley said. Severe punishment is meted out to those who are careless with fires and a heavy prison sentence or execution is the punishment for arsonists.

"In making people care regarding fire, they are way ahead of us," Kenley said.

No outward sign of rank is worn by Chinese firemen according to Kenley. "Oh, after one is around for four days or so you can tell by the number of pockets on the coat and the type of material the uniform is made of. When asked 'how do you tell who is the chief?' they will smile that warm smile and say, 'Oh, we know'."

The leader may not be the best for a job, but due to the pecking order, he is the one in charge.

"We went into a society whose values are in many ways completely opposite than those we hold very high. We put the right of the individual first. Thus our criminal justice system is based on innocent until proven guilty. But you must remember that the land is still plentiful, the country is not overpopulated, and there is money for all. If you are willing to work, and half-way intelligent, there can be no limit to your success. If you don't care to work, then the government will take care of you.

"But our society is barely over two hundred years old. We are like a child. No one knows what types of systems we will have to come up with thousands of years down the road."

"If there is one thing I hope I learned from the Chinese people, it is patience," said Kenley.

China is a country with more than a billion people. The Central Committee of the Communisty Party oversees the country from the capital city of Beijing.

Eighty percent of the population lives outside the cities, but only 10 percent of the land area is cultivated. The rest is desert or mountains.

"With such a large population, everyone is busy doing something. Sweeping the streets, digging out a ditch (by hand). At first you might say that they need equipment....get into the new world. But what would you do with all those people? Beijing 10 million. Nanjing and Canton over 2.5 million. Shanghai with over 12 million. By our standards a poor society. The average income is 250 Yuan per month. The standard form of transportaion in cities is the bicycle. 6.7 million in Beijing. With 700 million bicycles in the world, there are 250 million in China. China annually produces over 35 million. On one of the main shopping streets in Shanghai, bicycles are prohibited. On this street, just over two miles in length, pass some one million people each day.

China is taking measures to bring the population growth rate under control. Only one child is allowed per family. Those with more children are taxed.

One child per family brings about a devotion to that child the likes of which we should envy, said Kenley. The people have a strong desire for education and the country has more computers that there are people who can use them.

"When you consider the society, the job of looking after a population in excess of one billion people, just as in the family unit, the whole must come first, if the whole is to survive. Nothing is wasted. Whether it is the feet of the duck, the head of the fish or its lips. In government buildings, lights are not turned on during the day in halls. How something looks is not as important as does it fill the need.

"So it is that we must not be too quick to judge. It is truly a unique country. A unique people. And a system born over thousands of years. No free lunch in China. You work and your working unit provides shelter and money. It is possible, just possible that when you work for your existence, no matter what the task, a feeling of self respect is born inside. There are no servants in China...only workers."

New exhibits in future

Geniece Childress, director of the Crockett County Museum, has returned from the Texas Association of Museums annual meeting in Fort Worth.

The theme of the meeting, content and meaning, covered topics essential to the museum community and operation of museums including sessions on label editing, volunteer management, curatorship, ethics and public relations.

Behind the scenes tours included Cattleman's Museum, Kimbell Art Museum, Amon Carter Museum, Museum of Science and History and others.

Outstanding speakers included David Lowenthal, professor emeritus of University College, London, England, and Stephen E. Weil, deputy director of the Hirshhorn Museum and Sculpture Garden in Washington, D.C.

The meeting next year will be held in Beaumont.

Mrs. Childress is excited over the prospects of traveling exhibits coming to Ozona and some changing exhibits within the museum.

Fort life reinacted

Observers will learn about life in a frontier fort on May 21 when the Fort Concho Infantry and Cavalry present a living history program at Fort Lancaster State Historic Site.

The military organization is a branch of the education department of Fort Concho Museum of the City of San Angelo.

The program will be held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the fort, located nine miles east of Sheffield off U.S. High way 290.

The program will re-enact a typical day in the life of Ft. Lancaster soldiers during the 1870s and 1880s, including parade practice, rifle and sabre drills and equipment displays. Equipment will include a mountain howitzer and an escort wagon built to 1878 specifications.

Baskets made of braided corn husks were experimented with in Monday morning's craft class. So far, so good. It will be a while before the finished project can be put on display. Residents working together were: Juana Hernandez, Consuelo Sarabia, Nellie Harp and Moriama Perez.

A game of ring toss followed a short wheelchair exercise routing Monday afternoon. Juana Hernandez not only made the most ringers, but she made it look easy. Other residents trying their luck were: Nellie Harp, Edna Wallace, Virginia Hoover, Lucia Rios, Consuelo Sarabia and Moriama Perez.

Emma Taylor won a unbelievable three games in Tuesday morning's bingo. Two of the games were in a row. Juana Hernandez wasn't too far behind Emma. She won two games. Nellie Harp and Rebekah West each won one game. Volunteers were: Sophie Kyle, Georgia Kirby, Yolanda Avila, Maria Tijerina and Toni Siller. Thank you, ladies. We appreciate the help.

Tuesday afternoon a van load of residents went on an outing for ice cream. It was fun to get out and see what was going on downtown.

Volunteers for Wednesday morning's ceramic workshop were: Yolanda Avila, Toni Siller, Maria Tijerina, Ruth Hester and Ruthie Doris. Thank you, ladies. Activities are always more fun when shared with a friend. Residents attending the workshop were: Theo Burns, Hazel McDaniel, Moriama Perez, Consuelo Sarabia, Juana Hernandez and Ethel Youngblood.

We would like to thank Theo Burns and her family for Wednesday afternoon's enjoyment. Theo shared a VCR tape with us titled "The Story of Big Bend from 1848 to 1948". It told of the bandits, bootleggers, ranchers, and businessmen of that time. Residents thoroughly enjoyed it.

Residents had a favorable day Thursday. It started with a trip to the Care Center's beauty shop and a visit with volunteers Vivian Hughes, Joann Williamson, Bobbie Light, Zella Ruthardt, Lola Rios and Audrey Smith. Next, spirits were uplifted with a short Bible study conducted by Jim Gray of First Baptist Church and spiritual singing led by David McCarley. Last, but not least, was the Spanish Hour of Praise with Rev. Bill conducting Mass.

Friday morning's bingo winners were: Virginia Hoover, Edna Wallace, Elvira Pena, Lucia Rios, Theo Burns, Consuelo Sarabia and Juana Hernandez. We would like to thank Bobbie Light for her donation of a ceramic collie and clown for bingo prizes. Helpful volunteers were Yolanda Avila, Maria Tijerina and Toni Siller.

The doors will be judged May 7 and will remain on display throughout the following week.

They Became One

By Rev. Ken Harrison
Ozona United Methodist Church

This is National Family Week, and in giving attention to that fact, it seemed appropriate to write something related to the family theme. The subject of marriage is one in which I have a great deal of interest. Personally, in marriage, I have discovered one of my greatest joys. But, nationally, marriage has given me cause for some of my deepest concerns. Thus, I offer these lines for those who are and those who will be - married.

A broad principle upon which sociologists are in agreement is that a human being cannot live in isolation. That is, it is only through interaction and association with other human beings that a person develops personality and humanness. This is readily recognized in the opening pages of the Bible. As the Genesis account has it, after the Lord had created the universe and had time to do a little fine tuning of it, it was seen that man needed a partner. "It is not good that the man should be alone" (Genesis 2:18). So a partner for man was created and, despite the obvious patriarchal slant of the text, the basic truth is noted that humankind is meant to be partnered.

This early Biblical reference is specifically tied to marriage, as seen in the concluding statement: "Therefore a man leaves his father and his mother and cleaves to his wife and they become one flesh" (Genesis 2:24).

When two people, each with a different set of ancestors and parents, each with a different background and assemblage of strengths and weaknesses, decide to join forces in marriage and legally set up housekeeping together, this presents challenges. It also provides a golden opportunity for wisdom, Christian caring, and spiritual growth.

The German poet Heine once noted: "Matrimony is the high sea for which no compass has yet been invented." That is not altogether true. People of faith believe there is a compass, one with compass points of love, fidelity, commitment, communication, trust, and honesty. Marriages that founder and end up on the rocks are those that set sail without such a compass. One of the heartening corrections in this area is the strenthened emphasis now being placed on marriage preparation by the Church.

Marriage is a God-given gift, and like all others, it has an ecology to it, and we have a stewardship responsibility to safeguard it. When we assume that responsibility we will find that marriage can be continually exciting and personally fulfilling.

Theologian Karl Barth wrote in 1961, "Marriage as a life-partnership is being and persistence in the orientation of a specific man to a specific woman and vice-versa. If love was and is genuine, it is capable of this being and persistence. Faithful love means that one has to do with this other in mutual totality. With the whole of my being I love the whole of your being. And marriage consists in the fact that this may and must and should be lived out.

A critic of Mark Twain wrote that Twain's greatest lines were written about the glory of love and marriage. Twain recalls what might have happened at the time of the death of Eve. Adam is standing at her grave and lets his memories flow back over the years; their life in the Garden of Eden, their first sin and the resulting expulsion from the garden, the fatal strife between their sons, and all the hard work through the years. Finally, as Adam stands beside her grave, he is heard to say, "Where she was, there was Eden."

Playhouse makes Kim's dream come true

Kimberly Diane Clark of Andrews had a wish come true Wednesday when she arrived home from a shopping trip with grandparents Bobby and Patsy Clark. Waiting for her was a two-story playhouse, a gift from the Make-a-Wish Foundation of the Permian Basin.

Several years ago Kim, who has cystic fibrosis, began talking about a playhouse she described in great detail where she could go and no one would be sick. There would be no doctors, nurses, treatments of medication. Kim knows that such a place does not exist, but now she can pretend that it does in her special house complete with a front porch and gingerbread trim.

Four friends joined her th re in a Friday night slumber party.

Diagnosed at birth as having cystic fibrosis, Kim has had four major surgeries. Three of these surgeries were before she was a year old; the first was 11 hours after birth.

Cystic fibrosis is a hereditary disease which affects the pancreas, lungs and other vital organs. It often begins in infancy, and caused difficulty in breathing and an inability to digest foods.

The fatal disease causes a susceptability to lung infections often leading to pneumonia and death.

When Kim was born, her doctor said she wouldn't live to two months. When she was two months, they said she might make it to two years. Now she is a pretty, healthy-looking girl of 10 with a goal of growing up to help the homeless, poor and hungry.

"We're very grateful for every day," said Mrs. Clark. Bobby and Patsy Clark kept Kimberly the first four years of her life, and the little girl attended Ozona Primary as a first and second grader under Mrs. Johnny Childress and Mrs. Ted Cotton.

"Kim was supposed to get her playhouse last year," said Mrs. Clark, "but the Make-a-Wish Foundation lost track of us." The Clarks had moved in Ozona, and Kim and her family, parents David and Linda Warren, and brothers Andy, Justin, Hunter and Zachary, moved to Andrews.

The other children in the family are helpful when Kim is in the hospital or sick at home. Brother Andy, 5, helps to care for Kim and clean her IV. Kim's school is also supportive.

Family members deal with the possibility of Kim's death through a deep faith in God and a strong bond within the family as well as Kim's good attitude.

"I sincerely believe there's going to be a cure in her lifetime," said David. "I keep telling her it's like a big rock on a well traveled path; that people walk by this rock and around it everday. Well, one of these days some guy is going to stumble over that rock and that'll be the cure, and he'll say, 'Well, I saw that every day and just didn't realize what it was.' And I told her that any day somebody is going to stumble over that rock and find it. We really believe that."

Make-a-Wish Foundation is a national organization begun in 1980 to grant the wishes of terminally ill children. The Permian Basin chapter in Midland has been in existence two years and has granted seven wishes. The non-profit, tax exempt foundation learns of the wishes of children under the age of 18 through referrals from doctors, nurses, social workers, friends, relatives and parents.

Ozonans featured in outdoor dinner theater

Ozona's Pioneer Women will be featured in the first performance of Covered Wagon Dinner Theater this summer. The Outdoor Drama Group of Sonora will open the second season for the theater June 10 at Sonora Caverns.

Performances will be given each Friday and Saturday evenings through Aug. 20. Each evening begins with a cowboy sing-a-long at 6:30 followed by dinner and the show.

The entertainment will spotlight some of the best story tellers of the area recounting days of the Old West and not so Old West. Among them will be a Sonora historian and writer, western story writer Elmer Kelton, the Living History Units from Fort Concho and Donna Neal Stepp, poet and writer who traveled the entire route of the Sesquicentennial Wagon Train.

In addition to the story telling, there will be various groups and individuals performing barbershop singing, Spanish ballet, Dixie Land jazz, country and Western music, square dancing and vocal numbers.

The stage in the newly completed amphitheater will be lighted by the stars, with a little help from the local power company, and cooled by nature in the beautiful country surrounding the Caverns of Sonora.

Dinner each evening is a sit-down meal catered by the Sutton County Steakhouse. The meal will be flavored with West Texas heritage and will feature foods for which West Texans are famous, campfire barbecue, chicken fried steak and fajitas.

Prices for the evening of dinner and entertainment range from $4.00 for the show only to $9.50 for the show and a Texas sized serving of Steakhouse fare.

Mr. and Mrs. James O'Connor were honored with a reception April 22 by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wallace. The reception was attended by numerous friends and relatives.

The couple were married in Long Beach, CA and will be making their home in Albuquerque, NM.

She's a lady

She's a lady - like her mother before her,
She's warm and loving and people adore her.
She sees things in me no one else can see
And loves me for no other reason, except I'm me.

She's there with a hug when the going gets rough
And with a smile when I've good things to share.
Whatever the occasion she's got "The Right Stuff".
Whatever the problem - she's there.

God took all the love He could find and put it inside this little lady.
It really is true that love is blind; she's been blind to my faults since I was a baby.

She's compassionate and understanding,
She's unselfish and giving - never demanding.
She accepts whatever bad comes her way,
And gives thanks to God for every day.

I hope in the years to be
My children can feel the same for me
And know as I do that they're loved,
And that it's a blessing from God above.
Yes, Momma's a lady-and a mother and wife and she loves with a love that won't end
Thank God for blessing my life, with not only a mother-but a friend
I love you Momma

For mothers

by Sandra Hancock Stark©

From tiny babes to toddling tots our mothers watch us grow;
From lanky childhood to gawky teens
our mother's love will show.
Unsure co-eds masked in self-confidence;
Young adults stepping out into the world . . .
joy radiates through a mother's eyes at mention of her special boy or girl.

From first grand child . . .
Let's rock awhile . . .
a replica of one cradled before who remains held tight (it's only right);
memories locked within hearts' door.

We perpetuate throughout the glass-of-time the kind...the good...some bad.
Forever we are made to feel her touch.
fleetingly we made her sad.
Sometimes a tear would fall we fear,
And cause her soul to ache.
FRAGILE: THIS HEART CAN BREAK!

Still we envision her endearing smile . . .
and it oft' takes a lifetime to see,
how she was always there to see us through,
...I ask, "What gift from ME?" . . .

One could expound word after word and never make it clear all the while,
That there ARE no words to describe the only one who would always go that EXTRA MILE!

Mothers past and present knew the value of solid financial advice and service.

When Amanda Nite Burks went "up the trail" in 1871, little did she know she would help change the image of the Texas ranch woman. The same is true of six other women, whose unique experiences are also featured in the exhibit, "Ranch Women: Roles, Images, Possibilities" are on display at OZONA NATIONAL BANK during the month of May.

Produced by The University of Texas Institute of Texan Cultures at San Antonio, this exhibit offers a vivid potpourri of pictures and vignettes on the lives of Lizzie Johnson, Sallie Matthews, Molly Goodnight, Laura Wallace, Mabel Day, Margaret Borland and Amanda Burks.

The public is cordially invited to stop and see the exhibit in our main bank lobby
