WOMAN SLAIN BY NEGRO AXEMAN

MAN ATTACKED AND SEVERELY BEATEN TODAY

ROBBERY HELD MOTIVE FOR BOLD RAID ON BIRMINGHAM HOME

(By Associated Press) BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 16.—A negro axeman early today hacked Mrs. Daisy Steinmetz to death and probably fatally injured N. J. Priest, as the two lay asleep in the woman's home here.

Although too severely injured to tell a coherent story of the attack, Priest told police the negro first attacked Mrs. Steinmetz and turned the axe on him.

The woman was killed by two blows on the head, police said. Priest had a deep gash in his head from the sharp edge of the axe. The negro gained entrance to the house through a rear window. A sum of money was missing from the woman's pocket book which was found in a hallway, and a small amount of cash was taken from Priest's trousers. Police say they were convinced the motive for the attack was robbery.

Mrs. Clara Robertson, a sister of Mrs. Steinmetz, was asleep in an adjoining room. She told police some one attempted to enter her room but she frightened the intruder away with a threat to shoot.

Hears Call for Help
A few minutes later, she said, "I heard Priest call for help. When I went into the room, I found my sister dead on the floor and Priest staggering about the room."

The slain woman had been living in the house only a week. She was told she had been living in a hotel. Papers in her purse showed that in addition to Mrs. Robertson she is survived by two brothers, J. Bannister of Detroit, Mich., and Harry Bannister of Knoxville, Tenn.

Body of Baby Is Fished From River SHAWNEE, Okla., May 16 (AP)—The body of Betty Jean Ford, age 22 months, was found today in the North Canadian river near the spot where Mrs. Lorene Ford, her mother, said she saw one of a party of four throw an object in the stream last Friday.

Mrs. Ford, a 20-year-old divorcee, said she and her little daughter had been abducted by four men, and that she had seen what she believed was the child thrown in the river after she had been ejected from the man's automobile. She was found near the stream in a fainting condition.

Husband Is Released
Douglas Ford, divorced husband of the young woman, was released after he had been held several days for questioning by Pottawatomie county officers.

Although Mrs. Ford told officers that her former husband had made threats to kidnap and kill the child, she was convinced that he had no knowledge of the circumstances of her disappearance.

Boys Released For Theft Taken Again
Released Saturday on their promise that they would reform, two boys in the men race were scheduled to appear before County Judge Charles Nordyke this afternoon in answer to charges of theft. The boys were re-arrested yesterday on additional charges of theft said to have been committed Monday.

The youths are the fifth and sixth to appear before Judge Nordyke in the court during the past ten days in the "clean-up" of petty thieving initiated by local officers.

RADIO SIGNALS BRING WORD OF ITALIA'S TRIP DIRIGIBLE IS FLOATING OVER POLAR REGIONS; LANDING PLANNED

(By Associated Press) KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, May 16.—A steady stream of radio signals today linked Kings Bay with the dirigible Italia now cruising in lonely majesty over the mysterious polar regions long so inhospitable to man.

The Italia has been sending hour-by-hour wireless messages to her base ship, the Citta Di Milano at Kings Bay, telling of observations made by the dirigible.

General Umberto Nobile sent a message early this morning that the Italia had experienced an hour and a half of fog and had to fly at a height of 150 meters in a 50 kilometer speed of from 30 to 40 kilometers.

At seven o'clock this morning the Veneta (sic) was dropped over Tupliz bay in honor of Francho Querini who followed the Cagni polar expedition of 1909 and perished there.

At eight o'clock, two-thirds of the flight had been made and the airship was then northeast of Franz Josef's sea. All aboard were well.

Nearing Lenin Land
The dirigible was then proceeding to the east coast of Lenin land where an ice anchor will be dropped and three men put ashore on this little known land.

EARLY ATTACK ON CAPITAL OF CHINA IS SEEN

(By Associated Press) TOKYO, May 16.—A clash between northern and southern (Nationalist) forces, who are threatening Tientsin and Peking, was believed to be imminent today.

A dispatch from Peking to Reuters, a Japanese news agency, said 2,700 members of the families of northern officers and officials had been sent to Mukden, Manchuria. Most of them were women and children. This was taken to indicate that the northerners believed the battle might decide the fate of Peking.

The Japanese cabinet at a special meeting today decided to send more troops to China. The third division from Nagoya, which at present is moving towards Shanghai, may be partly diverted to the Japanese-Manchurian border. More troops, therefore, were believed to be necessary to protect Shanghai, where Japanese and Chinese clashed recently.

Not Permit Fighting
It was generally indicated that the Japanese would not permit fighting in Manchuria. It was understood that Marshal Chang Tso-lin, northern dictator, had been so warned.

There were rumors that Japan unofficially advised Chang to return to Mukden before hostilities broke out at Peking or Tientsin for thereafter any attempt on his part to seek refuge in Manchuria (Turn to Page 5, Column 4, Please)

MARYE and MOM
Their Letters
BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

Dear Mom:
I thank you a heartful for the check. Florence and I felt very much loved. I have a little of it as Alan is really improved.

He says he's going back to the office tomorrow. I don't think he should so soon, but it's not very long around here and he doesn't seem to mind. I think he's really improved. Some of the crowd came in last night and I had a couple of tables of bridge. But my goodness I'm sick and tired of hanging around the house doing nothing.

And he had the nerve to get as mad as a wet rag because I forgot what I went down there for. He had so many things he wanted me to ask about, and of course I forgot to ask half of them.

And what do you suppose he did? He grabbed the telephone and called up the office and asked that new stenographer of his to come up here.

Then he wanted to know where his typewriter was. He knows very well that it's always in the closet when he isn't using it because we had more than one argument over it. Alan simply will not remember to put it away and it's too darned heavy for me to lift. But I won't have it out. It's positively deplorable.

He had it ready on a desk when his little ass got here, but she didn't like it there and started to move it to a table. Alan jumped up and moved it himself. Said it was too heavy for her.

Now I ask you Mom. That was yesterday afternoon so I can speak of it now. But it was a fighting subject then. For I've lifted that thing scores of times when Alan ferrets so put it away. What's the matter with men, anyway? Does marriage strap their sense of justice? I wonder? Here I'm supposed to be the woman Alan cherishes and he shows more consideration for a stranger—if she is a stranger.

Dearest love,

New Methods Teach Thought In Terms Of Living Situations

BY JULIA BLANCHARD
NEW YORK, May 16—The three R's have gone modern in the New York schools. Rhythmic is a fascinating game. Reading is something like a puzzle about folks that a child can't put down until he knows which words mean this or that. Riting is just plain drawing of cute little figures that mean things and intrigue one into getting them perfect.

Quite a far cry indeed from the way Mother learned her three R's back in the little red schoolhouse, is the modern progressive education Gotham's schools give.

Association Shows the Way
An educational exhibition at the current Parents' Exposition under the auspices of the United Parents' Association, shows some of the charts, games, diagrams and other fascinating paraphernalia with which we moderns play and learn.

The purpose of education used to be to prepare children to live after they got out of school. Schools nowadays show children how to live while in school by putting them in a happy social environment in which they engage in whole-hearted, purposeful activities.

That is the change in educational methods as explained by Miss Agnes G. Rowlands, the eminent teacher of teachers who is largely responsible for New York's having adopted some of its most modern phases of progressive education.

Miss Rowlands is on the faculty at the Jamaica Training School for Teachers and Hunter's College, and lectures at Columbia Teachers' College and the Massachusetts University. She has written four books on modern arithmetic methods, is an astronomer of Paris and in her spare time is studying for the ministry.

Remembering knowledge down a child's throat, unscientific drilling in learning and the old lock-step in education, which presupposed that all children had equal talents and speed and should learn space, are some of the things she calls "obsolete" in modern education.

"Tom Sawyer gave us moderns a good lesson in education in the way he studied that 'white-washed' of the fence he didn't want to do himself," Miss Rowlands says smiling.

"Instead of driving the children to it, Tom just made them feel that it was a fascinating, though difficult feat and aroused such desire in them that they pitched in whole heartily and white-washed the fence with enthusiasm, pleasure and great success."

"That principle is applied in modern methods of education. Take arithmetic. A child plays at giving a party. He finds he needs skill in counting guests figuring refreshments and making changes in purchasing them. Before he knows it, he has the first principles of adding, subtracting and multiplying.

Constructive Games
"Many scientific games are used that take cognizance of a child's natural instincts and yet are constructed in accordance with the laws of learning. When Willie plays these, if he adds, subtracts or multiplies correctly, the stylus which he uses brings him a new combination of numbers and adds his scores. If Willie sets the wrong answers, the stylus brings him back the same combination of figures to try again.

"Some progressive schools have a real grocery store in which each class in the school works at least one period a week figuring change making sales, computing costs and so on.

"Reading is revolutionized too. Mother learned sounds first and then laboriously built them up into 'cat' and 'bat.' Now the teacher tells a story before the children open their readers. Then maybe the children re-tell it, or even act it out. The story is analyzed, first by sentences, then phrases, finally last of all by words and sounds. The primary purpose is getting thought and word mastery is sought as a tool. Silent reading is stressed from the first.

Seek Social Education
"Instead of large class instruction, there is individual, self-directed work fitted to the needs of each individual child. John, Mary and Ann are all tested individually and never pushed. Social education that fits children for cooperative activity is of the first importance. 'Book learning' has lost its prestige save for its value of facts that helps a child to meet living situations.

"Attitudes and ideals that result from the projects are often the most important outcomes of the work. For knowledge in modern education must be used and applied. Schools now really teach living instead of learning."

Evangeline Booth Makes A Plea For Religion

"The world needs religion today more than ever before. I think women have most of the responsibility for bringing religion to their children and their homes," says Commander Evangeline Booth, of the Salvation Army.

"Religion, it seems to me, is a supreme necessity. Religion is life, and will breathe its progressive and uplifting influence through every avenue of activity. Today new temptations assail men and women that were unknown yesterday. Especially is this true of the young folks.

"The one, clear path that can show them which path to choose comes from a deep religious belief. Whether in business, the home or in social contacts, the person who has religion will defy the richest and will have the more unquenchable approach to his problems.

"The example of a religious mother will lay a sure foundation for life-long happiness.

"Even after she has passed away, the example of a woman who had religion will defy the richest and most influential to the humblest strata of human experience, a religious life will prove an inspiration for generations yet unborn."

Evangeline Booth Makes A Plea For Religion

"The world needs religion today more than ever before. I think women have most of the responsibility for bringing religion to their children and their homes," says Commander Evangeline Booth, of the Salvation Army.

"Religion, it seems to me, is a supreme necessity. Religion is life, and will breathe its progressive and uplifting influence through every avenue of activity. Today new temptations assail men and women that were unknown yesterday. Especially is this true of the young folks.

"The one, clear path that can show them which path to choose comes from a deep religious belief. Whether in business, the home or in social contacts, the person who has religion will defy the richest and will have the more unquenchable approach to his problems.

"The example of a religious mother will lay a sure foundation for life-long happiness.

"Even after she has passed away, the example of a woman who had religion will defy the richest and most influential to the humblest strata of human experience, a religious life will prove an inspiration for generations yet unborn."

Mother! I just love it.

COMMENTARY: Day of accomplishment... day of reward! and the lovely graduate... eyes sparkling, cheeks aglow... opens that interesting little gift package and finds an exquisite wrist watch. A pause, a gasp of sheer delight... and a mother's good taste is again rewarded.

Golden moments of joy... because a wise mother had used woman's inherent trait to compare. In important selections... and in everyday buying, comparison is always helpful. This is true in buying coffee.

Inviting, appetizing... Folger's Coffee teems with a rich, marvelous flavor found in no other coffee. It is the supreme of the world's coffees and comes to you perfectly fresh... in the Folger vacuum can, easily opened with the key. Compare Folger's by making the famous Folger Coffee Test.

The Folger Coffee Test: Drink Folger's Coffee tomorrow morning; the next morning drink the coffee you have been using; the third morning drink Folger's again. You will decidedly favor one brand or the other. The Best Coffee Wins. That's fair, isn't it?

TRIO OF PLAYS PRESENTED BY THEATER CAST

LITTLE THEATER ENDS SEASON LAST NIGHT IN GOOD PROGRAM

With the successful presentation of three one-act plays, "Good Medicine," "The Valiant," and "The Twelve," the Little Theater closed its third season at the high school auditorium last night.

The evening's program offered both laughter and tears for the 50 or more persons who witnessed the performances as the opening and closing plays presented light comedy while "The Valiant" presented the true drama.

Grady Moore stars. Possibly outshining others in the three casts were Horace Grady Moore, playing the part of Dyke, the prosecutor sentenced to die in "The Valiant," and Miss Dorothy Donald, as the girl who believes he was his sister but whose efforts to prove his identity, he despised and carried out his will to die, and unknown for a murder which he believed he was justified in.

These two plays presented pathetic and truly tragic scenes the evening.

Other outstanding players during the evening were Miss Eunice Cox, E. L. Klett in "The Twelve" and Harold Gordon, Father Daly in the tragedy John Burroughs, Mrs. G. G. Castleberry and Miss Madeline Canova in "Good Medicine" proved satisfactory in their parts. Mary Ann Ralph Carpenter, Dayle Walker, and W. F. Schenck, also fulfilled the expectations of their cast.

Miss Nell Parney presented vocal medleys between acts, being accompanied by Mrs. John L. Rath.

The plays were presented under the direction of Mrs. E. E. White. Mrs. Castleberry had charge of the musical production committee while Mrs. Brown was in charge of the costumes.

James H. Goodman, president of the group, has called a meeting of the organization for Sunday night, June 17, in the office of commerce offices. The report will be made at this meeting and officers for the year 1928-29 elected.

If you hear a noise that's a cross between a steamboat and a gin whistle, today, don't be alarmed. It's just the whistle on the Roberts track-laying machine which is laying the steel ribbons into Lubbock this afternoon for the new line of the Fort Worth and Denver from Fort Worth to Lubbock.

With only a few hundred yards to go, the train was to have gone back for additional material at noon today and then return to bring the rails on up to where construction of the railroad's yards here will start.

"WE STRIVE TO PLEASE"

COOLIDGE ASKS MORE ATTENTION TO ART, BEAUTY

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 16. — A plea for more art and beauty in the daily life of the American people in order that their "moral standards" might be raised was made today by President Coolidge.

"It is especially the practical side of art that requires more emphasis," Mr. Coolidge said in an address opening a joint meeting of the American Federation of Arts and the American Association of Musicians.

"We need to put more effort into translating art into the daily life of the people," he added. "If we could surround ourselves with forms of beauty, the evil things of life would tend to disappear and our moral standards would be raised. Through our contact with the beautiful, we see more of the truth and are brought into closer contact with the infinite."

Desire is Reality
"Our country has reached a point where this is no longer a visionary desire but is becoming an actual reality. With general prosperity, with high wages, with reasonable hours of labor, has come both the means and the time to cultivate the artistic spirit."

"Philanthropy has given the people access to all that is most beautiful in form and color. It is their right without money and without price, if they will but go and possess it. Out of our agriculture, our commerce and our industry, we can see already emerging a new spirit. The potential is becoming actual."

"Through science and invention, gradually but surely, we are banishing the drudgery of existence and bringing into every avenue of living a touch of the artistic. We are working out the ideal under which every one will realize that they are artists, in their employment, in their recreation and in their relations with one another."

2,000 Extras Used In "Student Prince" Populating an entire town with screen extras was the task accomplished at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, when approximately 2,000 men, women and children were costumed and trained for the huge scenes in the town square, depicting the welcome of a new monarch, in "The Student Prince," Ernst Lubitsch's new super production. Ramon Novarro played the prince, Karl Heinrich, in the production. Novarro and Norma Shearer headed a new cast in the play, one of the biggest productions in screen history. It appears at the Palace theater starting tomorrow.

In connection with the play manager C. C. Lindsey is offering a $25 prize to the Tech boy who is selected as the "Student Prince" by those seeing the show.

ADOLPH MENJOU WEDS FILM STAR IN PARIS TODAY

(By Associated Press)
PARIS, May 16.—With 30 persons, including eleven photographers watching, Adolph Menjou and Kathryn Carver, American screen stars, were married at the city hall of the sixteenth ward today. The place where the ceremony was performed is now becoming known in Paris as the little American church around the corner.

The couple, both divorcees, succeeded in keeping the date of the wedding a secret from the general public here but were unable to escape the ubiquitous cameramen, who have played such a prominent part in their lives, even for the wedding.

The couple reached the city hall together in an English automobile promptly at the stroke of ten. The bride was dressed in a beige tailor-made suit, a closefitting beige untrimmed felt hat with a rather wide brim. Her shoes were also beige and her pale blue stockings matched a waist of the same color. She had a large bouquet of orchids, powdered with lilies of the valley — France's lucky flower.

Mr. Menjou had on a morning coat with light grey checkered trousers and wore a camellia in his buttonhole. He appeared pleased by the number of cameras and for once in his career he seemed to face them with a look of alacrity.

Many Houses Here Wrongly Numbered

Following a survey made of the city recently by postal authorities it was found that many Lubbock homes receiving city mail carrier service are without house numbers and with wrong house numbers.

According to Postmaster John L. Vaughan, this must be corrected as it is one of the requirements of the service that the houses be numbered correctly. The service can be withdrawn if the house is numbered wrong or does not have a number.

Mr. Vaughan said today.

City mail patrons should check up on their house numbers and see that they are not missing and are correctly numbered, he said.

CAMPAIGN RIDES LAMESA STREETS OF MANY NAILS

LAMESA, May 16—Literally thousands upon thousands of rusty nails picked from the streets of Lamesa found their way to a central point here Friday being transported in tubs, sacks, buckets, little red ingons, and such other manners of conveyance that the average boy in command at his service. Figure that each nail causes a puncture and it costs fifty cents to remove $58,007 has been saved to these people. Permanently Waved Eye-Lashes Popular PARIS, (AP)—Permanently waved eye lashes is the latest craze of the ultra chic and eccentric Parisienne, whose extreme coquetry is no longer satisfied by curling and blackening. A deft hand and special, dainty, miniature longers are required, and of course long and thick. Even so, the result is often more wonderful than pleasing, and the fashion does not appear destined to be either widespread or long lived.

Thought For Today
Vanity of vanities, saith the preacher, all is vanity.—Ecc. 1:2

The vain being is the really solitary being.—Auerbach

Modernize
The United States cavalry is becoming modernized. Tanks, armored cars and tractors are being stabled beside the well-roomed, restive horses, light field guns have been devised that can be carried on saddles, mobile anti-aircraft guns are being assigned to cavalry units.

Every effort is being made to make the cavalry arm responsive to changing conditions of warfare.

Time was when the cavalry was one of the most important branches of the service. When an army was on the march the cavalry was invaluable as a screen, to keep the movements of the main body a secret.

In an invasion the cavalry was the advance guard. It opened the way for the infantry, and sought out the whereabouts of the enemy.

And when the battle was joined, the cavalry often was the spearhead of the offensive. A cavalry charge was the commanding feature of the main body.

So the cavalry had to be modernized. The most picturesque branch of the service must meet new conditions or go on the shelf.

This change that has come upon the cavalry is symbolized of the new era in which we live. There are many, many men in the world today who, without knowing it, are still in the old-time cavalry. In other words they are trying to fight the battles of 1928 with weapons of 1961.

A general who in 1915 had ordered an extended cavalry charge on entrenched positions, would have been considered a madman.

Similarly, we would make reservations in an asylum today for a business man who conducted his office in the style of a century ago, using quill pens, wearing a beaver hat and foregoing such modern aids as the typewriter, the telephone and the adding machine.

Yet, too many men are laboring under handicaps just as great.

If, in this year, 1928, you still cling to the old superstitions, the old formulas, the old viewpoints, you are working with antiquated tools. To be effective you must study the new era and accept the new conditions. If you are trying to run a business without taking note of the new conditions mass production has brought; if you are planning a political career without taking into account the modern leadership of business and science; if you are looking on the world in the light of 1870, forgetting the new impulses that have been born in the twentieth century—then, in whatever walk of life you find your self, you are in the cavalry. You will have to modernize yourself or you will be defeated.

Walking
Interest in cross-country walking seems to be reviving. There is, first of all, C. C. Pyle's "bunion derby" across the continent to emphasize that we don't need automobiles or airplanes to get from place to place. And the indefatigable Eleanor Sears of Boston has undertaken a 70 miles hike through New England, just for the fun of it.

There are few better forms of recreation. If you aren't used to it, go slowly at first; wait until your feet and legs are properly toughened before you try long hikes. But if you keep at it you will find it great sport. Fresh air, sunshine, exercise, the joys of the open country—they are all yours, and they bring great enjoyment.

THE PLAINSMAN

Says: That Girl on Broadway says a traveling salesman can't boast that he takes orders from no man.

From time to time The Plainsman has commented upon the fact that there are no organized playgrounds in the city.

From time to time he has called attention to the fact that boys will be boys unless they are given the opportunity to run and play—"blow off steam," if you like—in the right manner, they will find an outlet for their pent up feelings in wrong doing.

For the past several days the Lubbock papers have been filled with reports from officers concerning a gang of boys—all minors and many of them pitifully young—who falling aloof of the law—since dependent have landed them in the courts. From 15 to 20 of these lads have been brought before authorities and in several cases the youngsters are so emmeshed in wrong doing that it appears that the gates of the state reformatory may be open to admit them.

County officials have taken the stand that in several of the cases growing out of this youthful theft ring the parents of the boys are to blame for the trouble into which their sons have fallen—surely they're right to a certain degree. Perhaps parents can't always manage their children—especially when parents are busy making a living and trying against odds, to hold a home together at the same time.

The writer wants to tell you right now that it is your fault and his fault, the fault of every citizen in Lubbock—individually and collectively—that the boys of this rapidly growing city are pushed onto the streets and into the alleys for their amusement! You wouldn't expect to raise flowers on the streets or in the alleys—then why expect to raise men there?

Before this recent trouble ever came up The Plainsman, not knowing his size to see in the matter, went to the Board of City Development with the suggestion that gymnasiums at the high school and the Tech college be kept open this summer and gym classes be organized under supervision and held at regular intervals so that the boys of Lubbock could have some place to exercise and play under the right conditions. The Board of City Development has not the finances to undertake the job, which would cost, at the minimum about $150 per month. Since that is the situation, the writer has no idea where to turn next in an effort to have the suggestion carried out. But he knows and you know that there is no reason to keep those gymnasiums locked all summer and leave the boys to shift for themselves.

Perhaps the suggestion is ahead of the size of the city. Be that as it may it is not ahead of the need for the records will bear it out. Suppose we had had organized play in Lubbock and by virtue of that organized play only one out of the 15 or 20 youths now in trouble, would have the unhappy experience and his parents saved the attending trouble. Wouldn't just one boy thus saved be worth the expense?

The Plainsman believes he would.

In repetition, perhaps there is no practical way to organize the boys in gym work this summer. But it's not going to be king until the people of Lubbock are going to get a report from their park board, and when they do that park board, unless The Plainsman misses his guess, is going to advise that the city of Lubbock furnish money, by bond issue or otherwise, to equip playgrounds.

When the proposition comes up to remember the events of the past week and then kind your support to it. Our boys are our problems. We can make of the most of them just what we wish —and we shouldn't let a few dollars stand between us and the finished product.

Ballinger Scandal Follows Roosevelt's Fight Against Grabs Of Public Lands, Dutcher Writes From Capital

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fifth of a series of six articles telling how America's 1,800,000-000 acres of public lands has dwindled. Tomorrow: The Oil Cases.

WASHINGTON May 16.—Sporadic attempts have been made to recover vast acreages of public lands obtained by crooked methods and to prevent further looting of the public domain.

Presidents Cleveland and Roosevelt did most effective work, and since the Taft administration there have been no major land scandals except the Secretary Fall cases and the events of 1920 now leading to an investigation of the Salt Creek oil leases in Wyoming.

As a conservation measure, Cleveland withdrew from entry large timber tracts in the northwest. He recovered millions of acres of public lands.

Meanwhile, the conservative cause was growing stronger and in 1887 the first real conservation measure was achieved with the establishment of a division of forestry in the Department of Agriculture.

In 1888 an irrigation division was set up under the secretary of the interior, who was given power to withdraw reservoirs and irrigation sites from private entry.

Congress also granted funds for surveys of arid western lands which since have revealed that most of the plowlands on the great plains had passed into "private ownership, largely speculative."

Subsequent congresses often hampered these measures, but they continued to wax in importance. Then in 1897, Gifford Pinchot, was made chief forester and for 13 years led the National Conservation fight which gave him fame. In 1902 Senator Francis G. Newland of Nevada at last put through his famous Reclamation Act, by which money derived from public lands was to be used for recovery of arid tracts for the benefit of home seekers.

In 1907 Roosevelt called a conference of governors to consider the best means of guarding and preserving the natural resources. All the important officials in Washington were summoned to it—and as many scientists as were within call. The result was the National Conservation Commission, composed of politicians, scientists and industrial leaders, which later recommended that remaining public lands be classified by mineral content and disposed of more intelligently.

Congress provided opposition to the commission even refusing Roosevelt's request for $25,000 of its expenses.

Theft of the public lands continued. But there is an unwriten law that governs the subway rush. Here humanity gets its most primal expressions. The law of "dog eat dog" maintains its face.

The law of survival of the fittest.
The law of survival of the fittest, or fatter, is practiced a hundred times a day. If the women passengers ever gave it heed, they no longer do so. While strangers made editorial commentaries, the New York women take it as matter of course and are singularly unconcerned about it. OILBERT SWAN.

TAXPAYERS RESPONSIBLE FOR HIGH TAXES

"People will never solve their tax problems unless they possess the facts," says Dr. Milbank Johnson, who has made a thorough study of tax fundamentals.

"Anyone who damns officials for crookedness and graft has a mighty weak basis for solving tax problems. Anyone, however, who can go to the officials of the community and show them the actual facts, show them the methods of obtaining these facts, and arouse confidence in those facts, will do a great work. You will find that they are usually very glad to follow any reasonable advice you may give them."

"Taxpayers themselves, because of their demand on government, are responsible for high taxes. Until they stop to think and to plan their budgets for the future, as well as those for the present, the taxpayers are going to be in the same condition as the householder or family that takes no thought for the morrow."—San Angelo Morning Times.

There is an inclination on the part of the people to condemn public officials for many of the things that they do without knowing just exactly what it is all about. There seems to be an idea in the minds of many people that public officials are the office for no other purpose than to graft off the public purses. This is not a fact, and it is not fair to those who are holding public office to be held in this light.

We should elect people who can be trusted. We should elect competent men—not because of their church affiliation. Not because they are good fellows. Not because they are old timers. Not because they have never held office. We believe when men are competent and are doing good honest work that it does not make much difference how long they hold office, and if they are not competent, they should not be re-elected the second time, and should be recalled by the voters if they do not do their work well.

Men or women competent to do the work and do it as it should be done, are the kind of fellows that we believe should have the job.

Representative Sabath of Illinois offers the house a resolution to put an end to the custom of American women seeking admittance to terrain courts. But there aren't any other good shows in Europe now, and one has to be amused.

A man calls a spade a spade until his wife bids two clubs.

used, but not so openly—and strong means were being taken to check it. In Roosevelt's administration, 234,000,000 acres of forest land, coal lands, phosphate lands and water power sites were withdrawn, most of this to become the nation's permanent property.

Taft, however, appointed Richard A. Ballinger secretary of the interior. The latter soon was in a bitter fight with the conservationists, who charged that he was wrecking the forest and reclamation services. Within a month he had restored 3,000,000 acres to entry, but the protest of Pinchot and his friends was so deafening that Taft withdrew them again.

Ballinger became the central figure of the big scandal in Taft's administration when Pinchot charged ed, among other things, that Ballinger was misusing his office to patent fraudulently-claimed Alaskan coal lands. Progressive Republicans united with Democrats to force a joint congressional investigation.

The Aldrich machine, which then controlled the Senate, barely kept control of the committee and Ballinger gained a majority exoneration and a letter of endorsement from Taft. But the minority report was so bitter, based on a variety of sensational evidence against him, that Ballinger resigned.

Louis D. Brandeis, now supreme court justice and ex-Senator Pepper of Pennsylvania were strong allies of Pinchot in the Ballinger fight, delivering scathing indictments of the secretary.

Taft, however, withdrew government oil lands from entry in 1910.

The Alaskan coal lands are still public property, powerful interests which had laid hold of them having been driven out by Congress on demand of the conservationists.

Some 375,000,000 acres of public lands are in Alaska.

Another important conservation step was taken when the 61st Congress passed the Federal Water Power Act, which dispenses of power sites by lease rather than grant.

In 1916 the government also recovered from $25,000,000 to $50,000,000 worth of timber from the Oregon and California Railroad company, which had sold restricted land to timber syndicates.

The law providing for oil land leases was passed in 1920, with provision for preference for those who had continued to take oil from Salt Creek—despite Taft's order.

Charges of fraud were then made against these oil men and have been recurrent, but whether the leases were finally approved under the Wilson or Harding administration is not yet clear.

On the whole, the conservation cause considered itself well entrenched just before Albert B. Fall became secretary of the interior in 1921.

CHURCHES PLAN TO CONCENTRATE
IN MISSION WORK

(By Associated Press)
CHATTANOOGA, May 16.—A proposed plan of three southern protestant churches to concentrate their 1929 financial programs on campaigns for missions and bene-volences was revealed here today when the southern Baptist executive committee decided to ask its convention to designate next year as "stewardship year."

While members of the committee who have been in conference with boards of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and the Southern Presbyterian church, stressed that each church will carry out its program independently if approved, all will work hand in hand toward the same goal.

In its recommendations to the Baptist convention, which opens here today with a prospective attendance of 5,000 delegates and probably an equal number of visitors—the executive committee noted a lagging tendency of the membership in its "duty to the Church."

These suggestions appear to carry out the program through church literature, Sunday School and church stewardship classes and systematic collections.

Meanwhile the convention sufficiently committee went into action today to consider its tentative plan of shifting duties of several church boards. This committee was considering a plan which would transfer two hospitals now under supervision of the convention to their respective state conventions.

IT DRIVES OUT WORMS
The surest sign of worms in children is paleness, lack of interest in play, fretfulness, variable appetite, picking at the nose and sudden starting in sleep. When these symptoms appear it is time to give White's Cream Vermifuge.

A few doses drives out the worms and puts the little one on the road to health again. White's Cream Vermifuge has a record of 50 years of successful use. Price 35c. Sold CHICAGO, May 16 (AP)—Eight-year-old John Pyrek was believed riding in a locked box car somewhere on the Northwestern Railroad company lines today. Hundreds of railroad employes under orders from the company offices here were checking cars throughout the system in an effort to find him.

Two boys with whom John was playing in a lumber yard Monday night said a man dressed as an engineer or fireman pushed the boy into a box car, closed the door and then jumped to the cab of an engine which pulled the string of empties from the yard. The empties later were dispatched to several destinations, making tracing difficult.

Everything is going to be all right after all. The Democratic

2 Negro Children Die In Argo Blaze

CHICAGO, May 16.—Two negro children, three and two years old respectively, were burned to death last night in a fire which for a time threatened a large section of the village of Argo, a suburb.

The fire originated in a building in which the children were sleeping, spreading to destroy three frame buildings occupied by several families.

Mothers

This message is especially for young mothers, for most older women know the secret of babies who are never cross, never even fretful. The very next time your little one doesn't eat, or can't sleep, give a few drops of plain Castoria. This plain, old-fashioned product is purely vegetable. Any doctor will recommend it for the youngest infant. It is sweet to the taste, and it is sweet in the little stomach. Not even castor oil does the same work as a little pure Castoria, and how much better it is to use this milder means of regulating baby!

Never give any baby paregoric or similar opiates. A few drops of castoria are just as soothing and no harm is ever done. That's the beauty of using Castoria: you can give it just as often as you see any sign of colic, constipation or diarrhoea—or those times when you don't know just what is the matter. So bland, so pleasant tasting; just taste yourself, and you'll know why children cry for it.

One word of warning: get genuine Castoria—Fletcher's. It isn't expensive, and with it comes the book, "Care and Feeding of Babies—worth its weight in gold to every mother."

SMITH WINS IN THREE STATES TO BOOST LEAD

HOOVER NOW CLAIMING 467 AS RESULT OF STATE BALLOTING

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 16.—Governor Smith's total of instructed pledged and claimed delegates to the Houston convention today was over the 600 mark—603 1-2 to be exact—as a result of primaries and conventions in three states yesterday. A total of 733 1-2 delegates votes or two-thirds of the 1,100 in the convention, is necessary to nominate. At least 79 1-2 of the Smith block are disputed by his opponents.

Hoover Now Has 467
Secretary Hoover's delegate total had grown to 467, of which 184 are contested. A total of 545 or a majority of the 1,088 sent to the republican convention, is necessary to put the candidate over.

The two leading candidates for the presidential nomination of their respective parties picked up their largest gains yesterday in the New Jersey primaries. Smith bagging the entire democratic slate of 25 while Hoover won 25 of the 31 republican delegates. The remaining six were pledged to President Coolidge with Hoover as second choice.

Hoover won six more delegates yesterday in Alabama district conventions. Another district was to hold a meeting today immediately preceding the state convention which will name four delegates at large. O. D. Street, republican, national committeeman for Alabama is claiming 14 of the state's 15 delegates for Hoover.

Maryland Not Included
The cabinet officer's total of 467 does not include Maryland's 19 which are yet to be selected but which will be in the Hoover column by virtue of the recent preference vote in that state.

Two other republican conventions held yesterday—in Wyoming and Montana—selected unattached delegates to Kansas City. Wyoming appointed nine and Montana eleven. It appeared to observers that the latter block would be split between Lowden and Hoover at the national convention.

Besides the 28 in New Jersey, Smith roped in 16 more delegates with the holding of conventions in Vermont and Montana, each state giving him eight. Should it appear that Smith might not win the nomination, the Montana delegation.

SENIORS GIVEN RELEASE TODAY BY AUTHORITIES

Their last task finished, books laid away and cards approved, approximately 200 members of the graduating class stepped from the doors of Lubbock high school today, probably the last time for many of them.

But 26 other members of the class are not facing so well, school officials report. As an aftermath of the senior picnic held recently, they are behind in finishing their work and will be forced to remain and clear the slate before they will be allowed to graduate.

For the others their high school days are over and they are free to go and come as they please. Commencement exercises next week at the Tech gymnasium will make the multi-fledged graduates.

Two hundred and twenty-six students are on the graduating roll, the largest group ever turned out from the local schools.

Are You Run Down, Weak, Nervous?

To have plenty of firm flesh and the ability to do a big day's work and feel "like a two-year old" at night, you must eat three good meals a day, relish your food and properly digest it. If you can't eat, can't sleep, can't work, just take a teaspoonful of Tanlac before meals.

Mrs. B. L. Foster, of 1212 N. Ashbury Ave., Houston, Texas, says: "I was nervous, irritable, and down in weight from 140 lbs. to 94 lbs. After three bottles of Tanlac I could eat anything and sleep well. I lost all nervousness and gained 30 lbs."

Tanlac is wonderful for indigestion and constipation—gas, pains, nausea, dizziness and headaches. It brings back lost appetite, helps you digest your food, and gain strength and weight. It contains no mineral drugs; it is made of roots, barks and herbs, nature's own medicines for the sick. The cost is less than 2 cents a dose. Get a bottle from your druggist. Your money back if it doesn't help.

New Jersey Goes To Hoover And Smith

NEWARK, N. J., May 16.—Herbert Hoover and Governor Smith of New Jersey won New Jersey's delegates to national political conventions in yesterday's balloting. Smith by the mere formality of an election and Hoover by defeating Lowden delegates in this district.

Six of the 31 republican delegates are pledged "Coolidge first choice, Hoover second," the others are out-and-out for Hoover. Hoover alone was entered in the presidential preference vote.

Governor Smith gained 22 delegates and 28 votes as New Jersey democrats are entitled in their convention to a half vote for each of eight delegates-at-large and a full vote for each of 24 district delegates. The democrats had only two contests on their hands and they were personal fights.
