Wind Blisters Cotton Rain Stand In Fields

Winds of 60 to 80 miles an hour wreaked damage in areas scattered throughout this town and county in the early morning hours of Monday.

Riding in with the wind came the season's most blistering sand storm, followed by an electrical storm with rains varying from 3 to 1.3 inches. The spectacular weather arrived in Colorado City about 12:30 a. m. Monday.

Late Tuesday night wind, lightning, thunder and rain gave a repeat performance to drop from .5 to 1.6 inches of rain on Mitchell County. Second storm of the week was followed by a third—shortly after midnight last night—Wednesday.

Most damaging of the series came late Sunday night, or from after midnight into the early hours of Monday.

In addition to sand-blasting young cotton of many farmers the first storm played havoc with electric lines, of both Texas Electric Service Co. and Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative Inc.

Bob Chambers, lineman for TESCO, reported that Texas Electric lost 16 poles on the KV line which carries 66,000 volts. Also blown down were 9 poles 1 mile west of Lorraine, 6 poles east of Lorraine.

Lorraine was blacked out and in total darkness for a six hour period, Chambers said. "We use a two-way feed for Lorraine but with poles down both east and west we had no way of restoring service immediately," he said.

Linemen from both Sweetwater and Big Spring were rushed to the Lorraine area to handle the repair. Lights were back on after six hours work to light Lorraine with temporary patching of service. Service is now fully restored.

In Colorado City street light circuits were blown out, secondary circuits burned out, and some services interrupted in certain areas all over town. Two transformers in the business district blew out to put the downtown district of the Baker Hotel in the dark for an hour.

Root Memorial Hospital lights were interrupted, but only briefly, about 1:30 a. m.

Lone Wolf line superintendent Ed Rothwell reported similar trouble with the coop's light poles. Lone Wolf counted 14 poles blown down, Rothwell said, with 3 in Mitchell County, 8 in Nolan, 1 in Borden and 2 in Scurry County. Service was also disrupted in some instances by trees and debris of roofs from sheds and barns falling across service lines.

By noon today Rothwell said "we're just about back in shape." Lightning struck the cross arms on a Buck Geer farm pole during the first storm, also, he said.

Out at the C-City Municipal Air Port a Cessna 172 was demolished. It was property of Harold McCollum, Church of Christ minister from Dimmitt. A Taylor Craft belonging to Frank Deregibus, J. O. Dockrey Jr. and Bobby Montgomery also received extensive damages. A Cessna 172 belonging to J. P. Jameson was damaged to the tune of about $100.

Trees in town lost numerous branches from force of the wind and streets were filled with limbs Sunday morning. Trees, sheds and the 1963 cotton crop plus a number of TV antennas came in for a share of the wrecking wind's attention.

W. M. Turner, Looney, estimated loss of young cotton to be "maybe as high as 10 to 15 percent in Looney community." Turner reported 1.3 rain early Monday and .9 in the afternoon rain Tuesday. It will retard some cotton, he believes.

T. J. Geiger, Rogers community, had 1.3 rain Monday with a shed blown down and limbs severed by wind. Some of his cotton will have to be replanted. Early Wednesday rain totaled .7.

J. W. Blassingame, Buford, got 1.8 Sunday night and Monday morning and an even 1 inch late Tuesday night. Wind damaged his barn roof, some trees. Cotton fields were still under water Thursday at noon.

SERIES E & H

Savings Bond Total Is $7,818 in May

Bond sales for Series E&H savings bonds bought in Mitchell County totaled $7,818 during May according to Wayne Shaw, chairman of this county's Savings Bonds Committee.

The May bond sales brought the 1963 cumulative total to $63,208. That figures 25.3 percent of the county's 1963 goal of $250,000.

Mitchell County was not among this district's area leaders. Some Texas counties listed have reached more than 100 percent of their goals with Edwards County as top leader with 140.5 percent.

Savings bonds in Texas during the month of May were $11,844,620. The total represents an increase of 3 percent over May 1962.

"We were happy to note the sales increase in the entire state during May and feel confident that this is a direct result of outstanding support given to the Freedom Bond Drive by bond volunteers, newspapers, radio and TV, organization and others," Shaw said.

"The Texas Bond Committee salutes these groups of citizens for their patriotic support of the Bond Program," Shaw said.

POST OFFICE ZIPS

All You Have to Do Is Use More Numbers

By Ruth Coffey
Record News Editor

That old question "what's in a name?" can now be answered by Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen.

Correct answer goes "Nothing. Or not much unless you know the numbers."

The Post Office Department has joined the numbers movement. It came out today with a notification of ZIP Code numbers all over the country.

Heading the announcement "ZIP Code — the Last Yard in Mail Addresses," the Post Office Department announces that the "revolutionary new system of improved mail dispatch and delivery goes into effect on July 1."

"The ZIP Code is literally the last word in mail addressing," Postmaster Arlene M. Morris said in a nationally distributed news release urging all citizens to learn and use each city's ZIP Code number in their return address on all correspondence.

In answering mail, Morris stressed, ZIP Codes taken from addresses on incoming mail should be used.

Colorado City's new ZIP code number happens to be a five digit one. It is 78512.

In parceling out ZIP Code five-digit numbers for all incoming and outgoing letters, the Post Office Department announces "Everyone in Colorado City, Texas, will use this ZIP Code to mail their correspondence to speed mail deliveries of mis-sent mail... for the first time (the plan) will permit the Post Office Department to short-cut repeated address reading."

"The address on mail must often be read as many as 8 or 10 times by postal employees to get it to the proper destination. Each handling slows the process of mail dispatch and adds to the opportunity for human error."

"With ZIP Code a clerk need only glance at the code to know immediately to what national area, state and post office the letter is destined, to speed it on its way, cutting up to 24 hours off the time between deposit and delivery."

To what extent having to learn ZIP Code numbers from here, there and all over will "bug" the average citizen was not made part of the official announcement.

Post Office Department predicts and promises that "the United States will have the most modern system of mail distribution and delivery in existence."

Modern or not the "system" adds five digits here, five digits there, five digits everywhere to be memorized. Or written down. Proper use of the ZIP Code will make C-City's return address read like this:

A. M. Morris
U. S. Post Office
Colorado City, Texas 78512.

Be Sure of Boat On Lake Outing

BY VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Spring and summer months always bring a rash of boating accidents.

Tragedy accompanies many of them. Others are just plain fun. Some are downright stupid!

Accidents happen to large and small boats alike. Size doesn't seem to matter. For instance on a Central Texas lake very recently a party of four were in a fast boat, having a wonderful time. The boat had lots of power in its out-board and the driver was "showing off" how he could take a short turn.

He made the turn, all right. But it was "over." As he whipped the boat around, the back end went down too far. He picked up so much water the boat was swamped before he knew what had happened. Fortunately another boat was nearby and rescued the four passengers. But they lost a lot of equipment.

One night I was loading my boat on the trailer. I had set the brakes on the car, but the ramp was wet and slick. When I started winching the boat onto the trailer the whole outfit — car, trailer and boat — started sliding back into the water. And it didn't stop! Boat, automobile and everything went into the water. The boat floated away but later was recovered. The trailer hitch broke loose and the car settled down atop the trailer.

It was a weird looking sight, with twin beams from the burning headlights shining from the water. It was costly and it taught me a lesson. Now when I am loading a boat I always scotch the wheels of the automobile.

Up on Lake-o' Pines in East Texas recently three fishermen loaded their gear into a brand new 14 foot cartop boat which they had hauled 300 miles. The boat weighed 90 pounds. But 500 pounds of manpower got into the boat. When the motor started up the front end scooped up water so fast it almost swamped the boat.

The man up front got in the middle seat and that helped some. But the boat generally was so unsteady they didn't enjoy their fishing too much. They learned this lesson: a cartop boat is fine, but don't sacrifice safety for convenience and weight. Two men can handle a 125 or 150 pound cartop boat almost as easily as a 90 pound boat. And the larger boat offers more comfort and more safety.

It also is a good idea to "keep your head" in a boat.

Another fellow I know was standing up while fishing out of a boat that was absolutely safe. The wind blew it against a tree with a resulting bump.

For some reason he jumped straight up... and into water well over his head. He held onto his rod and reel and climbed back into the boat without ever stopping movement, giving his two fishing buddies the biggest laugh of the day. But it taught all three a good lesson.

Another real danger in boating is going too fast in water where there might be some obstruction beneath the surface.

In some of the larger lakes, like Buchanan, there are huge rocks, some of them just under the water line. If you hit one of these rocks or an old log going too fast, you are certain to have trouble.

Despite all warnings, however, most of us still will be careless. Before the summer season is over there will be too many names in the obituary columns as the result of boating accidents.

 1/4 cup chili sauce

Cut ends from Italian bread and cut loaf into 1/2 to 3/4-inch thick slices, cutting every other slice just to, but not through, the bottom crust. Spread inside surfaces of each sandwich with garlic butter and cheese mixture. Place 4 wiener pieces spoke fashion from each sandwich keeping ends exposed. Line up sandwiches back in loaf fashion on a double thickness of heavy aluminum foil; wrap securely. Heat in hot oven, 400 degrees, until cheese melts and franks heat, 25 to 30 minutes. Unwrap loaf, plunge a long skewer through entire loaf and place sandwich on serving platter. Yield: About 7 or 8 sandwiches.

So let me repeat: Be sure of your boat before you go onto the water; take strange waters easily and be sure you have approved life preservers. Preferably they should be worn, but at least they should be handy enough for every person to grab one in the event of an accident. Don't stand up in a boat unless you absolutely have to.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:
I am not a poet and I darn well know it. But to write a verse about Texas is easier than paying taxes.

All you need is a thinking brain, be half-awake and half-sane, fingers to work and ball point pen, where to put dots now and then, how to string words along a line, and lo, you've got a poem—just like mine.

If it should be accepted, to publish for free, I'll be as proud as a man can be.

And thanks,
Signed: W. N. Jack Sanders,

CONVERSATION CORNER

'Stay, stay at home, my heart, and rest;
Home-keeping hearts are happiest.'

NOW there's a supposed-to-be-consoling couplet for you. The lines, under summer scrutiny, just don't seem to fit any more.

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, one of America's most popular early poets, was a professor given to philosophies like that.

HE just naturally had a very preach-ified approach when he took to rhyming.

Longfellow was always reminding people how to 'earn a night's repose' or look 'the whole world in the face' or 'make our lives sublime.'

He simply wasn't a very visionary man. Too practical. Who in the world wants to stay, stay at home and rest and never have any fun or new clothes? Or a ticket to some castle in Spain?

WERE we a betting dame, we'd give you two to one odds that he wrote those stay home lines for his "Song" in the dead of winter.

To stay, stay at home, my heart and rest is cold weather logic. The Longfellow home in New England was no doubt iced in for the season.

Roads were impassable, trains were snow bound, the livery stable closed. Stuff like that.

SNUG and warm in front of the fire it's easier to tell yourself how home-keeping hearts are happiest.

What—just what, we ask you—are you supposed to believe when the happiest hearts you encounter are singing away in bosoms bound for all points north, south, east and west?

EMILY BRIDGFORD, by now in London because her nice husband Dr. Dave Bridgford gave her and son David's wife Terri tours of 10 countries for their mutual Christmas gifts, was wearing a face still lighted up like a Christmas tree last Saturday.

They'll see Captain Billy Bruce Bridgford twice—once in England, again in gay Paree. The captain has summer touring plans of his own, by the way.

HE WILL visit Norway, Sweden and Denmark July 3-15. Then in August, 3-24, he and a lieutenant buddy will "do" Belgium, Luxembourg, Italy, Monaco, and Greece.

Our Dannie Latimer is in Europe we hear, where he'll spend the summer in rural Germany. He's a TCU'er.

Bob Aycock, another C-City college lad, is making his way to Denmark via Danish boat and hopes to see all the DARRIS EGGER takes off for Europe latter part of next month. Ditto Jack Strain and Mrs. Ed Strain... Joyce Lynn Furlow is to spend 7 weeks in Hawaii.

And so it goes. That is, THEY go. And nobody—but nobody—seems as gay and as enchanted this summer as people who meet who plan NOT to stay, stay at home my heart and rest.

Go take a plane, my heart, and float.

Go take a train, a bus, a boat.

Hearts contemplating visits to Rome

Seem vastly merrier than most hearts at home.

EXCEPTIONS that prove the rule can be found this week at the Frank W. Wilson domicile on East 9th. But then, they have company.

Daughter Mrs. Joe Craft and children Kim and Kip are here from Denver, Colorado. They've also had Blanche Wilson's brother Doty L. Warner and his sons Randy and Dudley as guests from Pampa... Plus Mrs. Wilson's sister, Mrs. Roy Goodwin of Amarillo who was accompanied home by Mrs. L. B. Warner, mother of the reunion-ing family.

HERE from Ft. Worth these last two weeks has been Mrs. W. J. Patterson, nee Sara Ann Pond, daughter of Mrs. Henry Pond who's recovering from an illness. Sara Ann's a CHS grad with the class of '40 and mothers two sons, Gary, 16, and Randy who is 12.

In Houston for a week is our Lela Price (Mrs. Oscar) and her two grandsons Price and Kyle, sons of Mary Price Womack and her husband Jack Womack of Odessa. The three are guests of Nancy Price Neal, her husband Earl Neal and their sons.

HERE for the summer at Randerbrook Ranch is our Pauline Jones Kayser of Wichita Falls where she teaches during school terms.

Pauline is guest of her parents, Otto and Myrtle Jones, and is literally "home, home on the range" she loves for the duration of the heat.

SEEN LATELYS included A. C. Craig and Roy Lee Holland, Church of Christ ministers, on the postoffice steps so early in the morn'g... Judy Dixon Williams (Mrs. Tommy) of Snyder and her two-year-old Sherri Dawn here from Snyder.

Bob Fee Sr. and Tex Keel were spied coffee-breaking together... Ditto Raymond Webb, new manager of the Palace, and Annie Dixon, former manager.

OFFICE VISITOR Wednesday was former Mitchell Countian R. J. Jackson, here from Long Beach, California, where he shares the home of Bonnie Jackson La Rue, her husband Albert W. LaRue, and her three teen-aged children.

Mr. Jackson is visiting relatives at Looney as guest in the home of the W. A. Eunis family.

Speaking of travel, a Russian girl Named Valentina took herself quite a whirl. But in de da! She was welcome to it! What she wore for her trip—I just wouldn't do it.

QUALITY...

Come this Friday and our charming exchange student, Suraiya Akhtar, leaves on the first leg of a long trip which eventually will return her home to Pakistan.

The parting, no doubt, will be emotional for Suraiya, her Colorado City "parents," Dr. and Mrs. Bill Rhode. The ties that grow from experiences shared as a family—even though temporarily for the nine months of an exchange student's visit—can't be broken with just the snap of your finger.

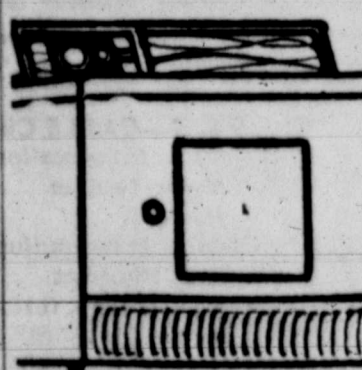

Which brings me to a point I'm sure most of you have realized for a long time: That the Rhodes—Dr. Bill, Naomi, Susan and Ann—are to be commended for opening their home and their hearts to a foreign student, even as splendid as Suraiya, and accepting and meeting this special responsibility. It's an extra special family quality.

WEDDING RESEARCH REVEALS

Plenty of Lore — As Well as Lure — In Marriage Customs

There'll be about one million 500 thousand weddings in the United States this year and, as usual, June — whether you live in Colorado City or Timbuctu — is the most popular month for the altar-bound.

Why June has become the traditional month of weddings and roses probably relates to the transportation difficulties in early America... too much snow in the winter to get to a wedding celebration.

Spring and fall were bad times, too, because folks were busy with planting or harvesting depending on where the people lived.

Another influencing factor may have been that June is named after the Roman goddess, Juno. The Greeks had a different name for this dame — Hera. Anyway, the point is that Juno (or Hera) was the goddess of marriage and of maternity. She was usually represented as a matronly type, but nonetheless beautiful. The peacock, the cuckoo and the pomegranate were sacred to her. Homer spoke of her as the "white armed goddess" and the "ox-eyed queen" — all of which adds up to the kind of deity every prospective bride ought to have on her side.

These and many other interesting observations about the origins of wedding customs have been culled from Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia by the Record staff as the June wedding procession gains momentum here in Mitchell County.

For instance, the engagement ring represents the very old custom of a gift to a girl desired in marriage.

The diamond ring originated in Italy where the diamond was believed to be a "flame of love." In ancient Egypt, the ring was a symbol of eternity. It also symbolized the "captive bride" whose hands were tied to prevent her from escaping.

Anglo-Saxons wore the ring on the right hand until the wedding when it was transferred to the left.

Another custom credited to ancient Egypt is throwing old shoes or tying them to the bridal car. In the land of the pyramids, the father handed the bride's sandals to the groom, symbolizing a transfer of authority.

Mohammedans, back in the middle ages, used orange blossoms in their ceremonies, as the orange was their most prolific fruit. Today orange blossoms symbolize the hope that the wedded couple will be blessed with children. Throwing rice carries the same wish... but in ancient times it was also a way to "protect" the marriage from evil gods.

Since the sun was a god in many early societies, it was believed that if a bride-to-be gazed on the sun she would be certain to have children. This may explain the old saying, "Happy is the bride the sun shines on."

Even though her wedding day is her happiest day, the bride is "supposed" to cry, symbolizing the dismay of the bride of olden times captured by force. The capture is also reflected in the custom of the groom carrying the bride over the threshold of their new home.

Centuries ago in France the bride threw her garter and the girl who caught it was believed to be the next bride. Today the bride in Colorado City is somewhat more subdued and throws her bouquet — but the bridesmaids still scramble to make the catch.

In ancient times, the date of the wedding was often chosen at some phase of the moon when the gods were presumed to be favorable. This practice, with the custom of eating honey at the marriage feast, may be the origin of the word honeymoon.

Sometimes the marriage ceremony involving guarantee. The veil over the bride's face may have indicated that she had been secluded from men, and her white robe was a warrant of her purity.

Even now it is thought bad luck for the groom to see the bride before the ceremony on their wedding day and we know more than one Colorado City Mother-in-law-to-be who was very stern on this tradition.

Another widespread custom is for the bride to wear "something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue." In ancient Israel, the bride's robe had a blue border signifying purity fidelity and love.

High-caste Brahmins in India believe a girl should marry at puberty. Usually the child bride remains with her family until she is 15 or 16. Marriage celebrations in India are so elaborate, some researchers point out that "the expense of the affair and of the bride's dowry frequently drives the father to the moneylender."

Many American fathers can testify that this turn of events is not exclusive with India. Nor for large cities.

Japanese tradition requires the bride to wear a veil over her elaborate hair, do called a "horn coverer." Jealousy is thought to vanish when it is removed.

But any married couple here in West Texas know this last one is all Bosh.

4-H Team Wins Award

Postmaster At Westbrook Announces ZIP Number

Westbrook's ZIP Code is 79565, Postmaster Jewell Criswell announced today. "Everyone in Westbrook, Texas, will use this ZIP Code on all correspondence to speed mail deliveries and reduce the chance of mis-sent mail," Postmaster Criswell said.

ZIP Code, the Post Office Department's revolutionary new system of improved mail dispatch and delivery, goes into effect nationally July 1. Postmaster Criswell stressed the importance of all citizens of Westbrook learning the ZIP Code and using it in the return address on all correspondence. In answering mail, she said, ZIP Codes taken from return addresses on incoming mail should be used.

"The ZIP Code is literally the last word in mail addressing," Mrs. Criswell said. "It should follow the city and state in addresses."

She cited this example of the proper use of ZIP Code: Jewell Criswell

U. S. Post Office, Westbrook, Texas, 79565. The new ZIP Code plan, Mrs. Criswell said, for the first time will permit the Post Office Department to short-cut repeated address reading.

"The address on mail must often be read as many as eight or ten times by postal employees, to get it to the proper destination," Mrs. Criswell said. "Each handling slows the process of mail dispatch and adds to the opportunity for human error."

"With ZIP Code, a clerk needs only to glance at the code to know immediately what national area, state and ZIP Code the letter is destined, and to speed it on its way, cutting up to 24 hours off the time between deposit and delivery."

Mrs. Criswell said that when ZIP Code is in full swing, the United States will have "the most modern system of mail distribution and delivery in existence."

Editorially Speaking

There's More Than Legalities In Crisis

President John F. Kennedy, in his recent televised talk to the nation on civil rights, said these words . . . and, in doing so, emphasized that more than legalities are involved in the racial crisis facing all of us in this United States.

"I hope that every American, regardless of where he lives, will stop and examine his conscience about (the Tuscaloosa case) and other related incidents. This is not a sectional issue. Difficulties over segregation and discrimination exist in every city, in every state of the Union . . . Nor is this a partisan issue . . . This is not even a legal issue alone. It is better to settle these matters in the courts than on the streets, and new laws are needed at every level. But law alone cannot make men see right.

"We are confronted primarily with a moral issue. It is as old as the Scriptures and is as clear as the American Constitution. The heart of the question is whether all Americans are to be afforded equal rights and equal opportunities; whether we . . . treat our fellow Americans as we want to be treated.

"If an American, because his skin is dark, cannot eat lunch in a restaurant open to the public; if he cannot send his children to the best public school available; if he cannot vote for the public officials who represent him; if, in short, he cannot enjoy the full and free life which all of us want, then who among us would be content to have the color of his skin changed and stand in his place?"

"Who among us would then be content with the counsels of patience and delay? One hundred years of delay have passed since President Lincoln freed the slaves, yet their heirs, their grandsons, are not fully free. They are not yet freed from the bonds of injustice; they are not yet freed from social and economic oppression.

"And this nation, for all its hopes and all its boasts, will not be fully free until all its citizens are free.

"We preach freedom around the world, and we mean it. And we cherish our freedom here at home. But are we to say to the world—and much more importantly to each other—that this is the land of the free, except for the Negroes; that we have no second-class citizens, except Negroes; that we have no class or caste system, no ghettos, no master race, except with respect to Negroes?"

"Now the time has come for this nation to fulfill its promise. The events in Birmingham and elsewhere have so increased the cries for equality that no city or state or legislative body can prudently choose to ignore them.

"The fires of frustration and discord are burning in every city, North and South. Where legal remedies are not at hand, redress is sought in the streets in demonstrations, parades, and protests, which create tensions and threaten violence—and threaten lives.

"We face, therefore, a moral crisis as a country and a people. It cannot be met by repressive police action. It cannot be left to increased demonstrations in the streets. It cannot be quieted by token moves or talk. It is a time to act in the Congress, in your state and local legislative body, and, above all, in all of our daily lives.

"It is not enough to pin the blame on others, to say this is a problem of one section of the country or another, or deplore the facts that we face. A great change is at hand, and our task, our obligation is to make that revolution, that change peaceful and constructive for all.

"Those who do nothing are inviting shame as well as violence. Those who act boldly are recognizing right as well as reality.

"It seems to me that these are matters which concern us all . . . every citizen of the United States.

It's About Time . . . For Baby's Sake

Seatbelts to protect adult motorists from the hazards of the highway have now become a fact-of-life. With legislation requiring such protection either passed or pending in 32 states, and with millions of Americans dutifully buckling themselves into their car seats for a trip to the corner store, comes the dawn!

What about the little people—from babes-in-arms to the squirming, unpredictable four and five-year-olds—for whom grown-up seat belts are no protection? These are the ones whose physical security we usually think of first. But this time somebody—the whole seat-belt industry, in fact—goofed.

It remained for a Miami housewife and mother, Mrs. R. H. Cord, alarmed at the perils of driving with one arm while protecting her young son with the other, to do something. She, herself, designed the first infant seatbelt and asked her friends how she could have it made. Their reaction was to call in designers, production people—even patent attorneys. They organized a company, filed for a dozen or so patents and began manufacturing.

It was only in recent weeks that the first salesman showed the first sample of this specially designed protection for the younger set. He was swamped with orders. Production was increased, and now the factory is being enlarged, providing once more that: "Nothing is so irresistible as an idea whose time has come."

More importantly, it settles the problem of how to protect the baby—as well as yourself—when you're driving.

Progress

For a while the new Interstate 20 bypass route has been the major area for new commercial building in Colorado City.

But major projects are now showing up in the downtown area—at Palace Theater and Safeway, Inc.

There will be a new look, new comfort and convenience when the Palace job is completed. New seating, modern lobby and refreshment counter, improved aisle and seating arrangements, new carpeting, air conditioning—all are being installed at the theater.

And Safeway is spending thousands of dollars for major improvements at its large food store, in all departments, for the convenience and better service to its customers.

Here are examples of modern business continuing to be even more modern to attract business. And both are assets for Colorado City.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

Stock Up Now! Tax Goes Under-$10-Clothes in July

BY VEEN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

On July 1 every article of outer clothing that costs less than $10 will go up two per cent.

That is the date the extended state sales tax law goes into effect. All outer clothing now exempt will become taxable.

Smart shoppers will take advantage of the last days of June to stock up on clothing for the family. Buying of school togs may take place earlier than ever before.

Legislation made many changes in the sales tax law. Most changes affect reporting procedures of merchants. An important one, however, raises the state sales tax on automobiles from 1-1/2 to 2 per cent.

As of July 1, if you buy a new car costing $3,000, for example, you will pay a state tax of $60.

If you trade in an old car the salesman will deduct the trade-in amount from the total, then figure your tax on the difference. In other words, if your trade-in came to $1,000 toward a $3,000 car, you would pay two per cent on $400—the difference.

"LAYAWAY PLAN"—At the last minute Gov. John Connally signed the $3,000, 000,000 state budget bill. He criticized the bill for emphasizing "bricks rather than brains." But he knocked out $12,400,000 worth of "bricks"—i.e. construction items—before he affixed his signature.

Connally said he would guard the $12,400,000 as a "layaway plan" for higher education.

Hopes that his decision on the 1964-65 appropriations bill would decide the special session question fell through. He said he does not want to call a special session but will not hesitate to do so if he becomes convinced that excellence in higher education is threatened by a shortage of funds for teaching salaries, research and libraries.

VETOES—When the governor's deadline for signing bills arrived, he inked into law most of the 554 measures passed by the Legislature.

But he vetoed a few, including:

Senate Bill 270, revising the antiquated 1836 Code of Criminal Procedure. Connally nixed the controversial code revision, after learning that the copy sent him for signature was not the one passed by the Legislature.

House Bill 769, exempting from jury service "all owners or operators of milk-producing farms where this operation is the exclusive means of earning a living." Connally said, "I believe that dairy farmers occupy an important role in our society and can serve a valuable function as jurors."

House Bill 1053, providing for election of directors of the Upper Guadalupe River Authority, rather than appointment by the governor. Connally said he vetoed this since there was a technical conflict in its legal language which might jeopardize the district.

House Bill 975, repealing the requirement that the Angleton Drainage District get approval of the Texas Water Commission before spending bond money for improvements. He said Water Commission approval would assure uniformity of improvements in all water districts.

MURRAY FILE—Income tax reports made by William J. Murray from 1946 to 1962 have been studied by Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr. Murray resigned in April as a member of the Railroad Commission, following a conflict-of-interest charge.

After noting that Murray's taxable income from See TAX Pg. 6

UNDER EXISTING LAW

'64 Wheat Crop Program Reviewed

The wheat program for 1964 under provisions of existing law are reviewed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in response to questions that have arisen since the referendum of May 21.

Price support will be available to producers who plant within the acreage allotments which have been established for the 1964 wheat crop. Allotments were announced in April. The national average support price will be 50 per cent of parity. (The present parity price is $2.51 per bushel.)

There will be no marketing quota penalties for planting in excess of acreage allotments. However, the statute provides that producers who overplant their allotments, will receive "history" credit only in the amount of their allotments.

Farmers who have Conservation Reserve contracts agreed to plant within their farm acreage allotments, and this means that the 1964 Conservation Reserve payment for the farm is dependent on compliance with the wheat acreage allotment.

Wheat that was grown in excess of marketing quotas in the past will be subject to the original penalty provisions until July 1, 1964. After that date, stored excess wheat may be released without penalty.

The amount of such wheat in storage on farms and in warehouses is estimated at 45 million bushels. This could be increased from the 1963 crop, which is subject to marketing quotas, and excess wheat from this crop may be stored by the producer to avoid payment of the penalty.

On the other hand, underplanting or underproduction of 1963-crop wheat could result in the early release of excess wheat that had been stored from previous crops to avoid payment of penalty.

Other items of interest to growers in administration of the 1964 wheat program without marketing quotas include:

1. ASC county committees will hear all appeals of 1964 farm wheat acreage allotments. Farmers have 15 days from the date of the county committee's decision to appeal to the ASC State Committee if they do not agree with the county committee decision.

2. Hearings on appeals of farm normal yields will not be scheduled because the yield figures will not be applicable for 1964. Where producers wish to furnish proven yield data, such data will be filed in the county office with other records of that farm.

Wes-Tex Talk

A Look At West Texas Through Editorial Page Excerpts From Its Leading Weekly & Semi-Weekly Newspapers.

Went up to the baseball park a few nights ago to see a couple of baseball games of the Little League program for the summer. I enjoyed both games. Loraine lost the first one and won the second, both against Roscoe.

While watching the games got to thinking about what a wonderful thing it is for the town to provide a place where boys from pee-wee size to teenagers can participate in the national sport of baseball. I noticed that on the Loraine teams Latin Americans and Negroes were playing along with white boys. The Latin American boys have been participating in the program each year since it started but this year is the first time any Negro has been allowed to play. All of the boys will be better citizens for such activity.

Some who are bitterly prejudiced against the Negro may not like for Negroes to play with white boys on the same team but all of us might as well get used to the idea and make the best of it. Some of these days Negro children are going to ask to be admitted to our high school and we should make up our collective minds to accept them and do our very best to help them to get a better education and, thereby, become better citizens. Latin American children have been going to our high school for years and each year more and more of them remain in school longer and some graduate.

Latin American parents and Negro parents want to see their children get an education (at least some do) just as white parents do. It is essential to the welfare of the children in these days that each child have as much education as he can get. Our country will be better too when all of its citizens are equipped with education enough to make a decent living.

SHINNERY PHILOSOPHER

Big Debt Appears Nicer than Bomb

Editor's note: The Shinnery Plains Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Bone Hollow Creek reverses himself and comes out in favor of a trip to the moon, for others.

Dear editor:

I wouldn't want to be in the position of the man who told the Queen of Spain she was nuts to spend her jewelry on Columbus' trip, that she had better spend it improving the lot of her own people, but the thought comes to mind as the politicians and scientists argue the value of spending billions to put a man on the moon.

In the first place, who's to say the man talking to the Queen wasn't right? I mean, I can't see any noticeable gain Spain has ever made by the discovery of America, and I'm not sure the average Spaniard is any happier living on a round world than he was on a flat one.

On the other hand, of course, if she hadn't spent her jewelry on Columbus she might have spent it on an Opera singer or a traveling tent show, and Spain would be in about the same place she is now anyway.

However, the discovery of America has turned out fairly well for us people now living here, and my position on sending a man to the moon is that it's all right with me so long as I'm not the man.

It's true that there may not be anything up there worth having, and I personally see little hope for an area where it never has rained, other than the fact

I mean, exploring space is no longer a sporting event, like climbing a mountain. I read the other day that Russia is now working on a plan to launch atomic bombs into orbit, hundreds of them circling the globe in all directions, so that any time she decides to, she could throw a switch and let one descend on whatever target it happens to be passing over at the time New York, Washington, this Johnson grass farm, Colorado City, London, Cape Canaveral, etc. From a military standpoint, this sure would beat launching them from a cave in Cuba, and you wouldn't have to eat lunch with Castro besides.

I guess if you get right down to it, I'd rather have a big national debt hanging over my head than a big Russian atomic bomb.

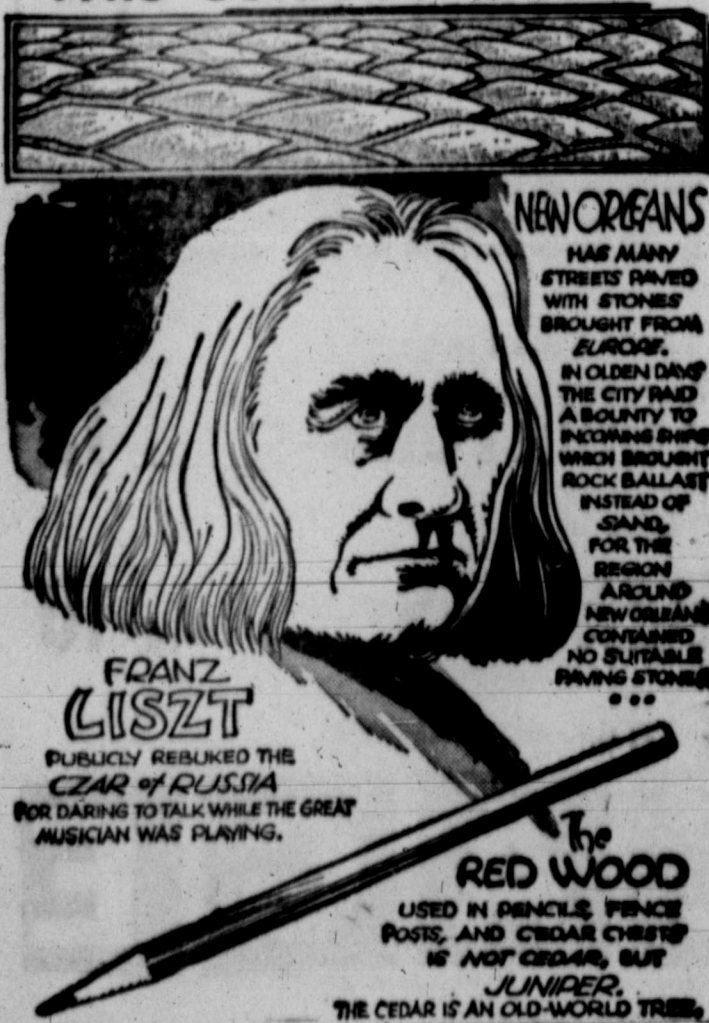

If it takes it, let's give our jewelry to keep exploring space. This is an excellent idea. I don't have any jewelry.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

WHAT IS A THOROUGH EXAMINATION?

"I turn my house inside out every spring and fall," a patient said to me recently, "and my husband gets our car completely tuned up at least once a year. Why can't I get a doctor to give me, personally, what I consider to be a thorough physical examination?"

"A 'thorough' physical examination need not be a 'complete' examination which might take days or weeks and possible hospitalization, I advised her. Certainly it would be expensive and time-consuming.

From the moment you step inside your doctor's door, you are under examination. The depth of the study depends not only on how you feel, but greatly on how well your doctor knows your medical history.

When he takes your hand to welcome you, he notices automatically if it is dry or moist, cool or feverish. When you talk he listens for strain in your voice, dullness or excessive animation. He quickly notes your movements, your complexion, and many other characteristics of which you are not conscious.

When he looks into your eyes, for example, he is checking for such things as eye disease, diabetes, and the condition of your blood vessel system. Depending upon the reason for your visit, he may advise an electrocardiogram, or an x-ray examination by a radiologist, a physician who specializes in the medical use of x-rays.

Given the radiologist's meticulous examination of your "picture," more complicated procedures may be conducted, particularly if you are suffering from some disorder which seems to require more advanced examinations.

It should be remembered, however, that periodic physical check-ups build for your doctor a rather complete medical history of you at given times in your life.

Unlike a spring house-cleaning, and luckily for you, you don't have to be "turned inside out" each spring and fall.

Flying Deregibus Family

Up in the air to underground was the contest of opposites for the Frank Deregibus family of the Colorado City Flying Club this past Sunday, when they buzzed the Caverns of Sonora trading post in their Cessna 172. After a tour of the underground wonder Caverns manager Allen Groda drove Deregibus, his wife Frances and Dana and Eddie back to the adjoining landing strip, which is a mile long and will accommodate anything except a jet.
