Lebanon Claims A 'Major Victory'

By WILBUR G. LANDREY
United Press Staff Correspondent

BEIRUT (UP)—Lebanon's pro-Western government appeared today to have won a major victory in the northern port of Tripoli after a 24-hour battle which took a toll of anywhere from 20 to 85 dead and 250 wounded.

A spokesman for President Camille Chamoun's administration said the battle — fiercest yet reported in the 10-day-old uprising —ended at noon Sunday with the "unconditional surrender" of the rebels entrenched in the city.

Opposition sources confirmed that the fighting in Tripoli has ceased, but said it was the result of a truce rather than a surrender. Reports from the north indicated, however, that loyal troops control most of the city.

Rashid Karame, rebel leader in Tripoli, vowed that his men will continue the fight until Chamoun and his government resign.

Southeast of Beirut, rebellious Druse tribesmen drove loyal troops out of the village of Batloun Sunday after a four-hour battle in which at least one soldier was killed.

A U.S. amphibious task force, with some 3,500 combat - ready Marines aboard, and warships of the British Mediterranean Fleet were standing by in case it becomes necessary to evacuate Western civilians from Lebanon.

The Soviet press, in an ominous warning that Western intervention would create a "dangerous situation" to which Russia "could not remain indifferent," charged Sunday that "preparations are being made to land American Marines on the Lebanese coast."

The charge was denied by the U.S. Embassy here and by the British Foreign Office.

The U.S. Air Force had a fleet of 18 C124 transports standing by in Germany, ready if needed to aid in any evacuation of Americans. One such plane can carry 200 troops or one light tank.

The Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report sponsored the award, which in addition to the three-day conference in Washington includes presentation of an honor certificate to the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Also, conferences will be held with other outstanding Administration and Congressional Leaders, including:

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

Senate Minority Leader William F. Knowland of California.

There will be a special luncheon meeting May 20 at The Pentagon where the six winners will be guests of the Department of Defense and be briefed on President Eisenhower's proposals for reorganization of the Department.

These reorganization proposals have number-one priority with the Citizens Committee, a nation-wide

Crash Of Airliner Kills 65

CASABLANCA, Morocco (UP) —A Belgian airliner with 69 persons aboard faltered short of the runway during an emergency landing Sunday, ripped through an airport building and burned.

Sixty-five persons including nine children were killed. It was the worst crash in Belgium's airline history.

Four persons escaped through a hatch from the flaming wreckage. Three of them were reported in critical condition.

Belgian aeronautical officials and officials of the Sabena Airlines flew here to investigate the wreck of the large Douglas airliner.

Five airport firemen sleeping in the firehouse at the airport escaped injury when the huge plane sheared through their dormitory, wrecking it completely.

The plane's pilot, en route to Leopoldville in the Belgian Congo from Brussels and Lisbon, had radioed Casablanca's Camp Case Airport control tower shortly before 6 a.m. that he was having engine trouble and would attempt a forced landing.

Most of the plane's passengers were Belgians on their way back to homes in the Congo.

Sabena officials later announced the names of British, Swiss and Portuguese passengers as well.

Army Chalks Up Victory In 'Missile-Shooting Contest'

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Army today chalked up a new victory in the inter-service missile-shooting contest and hoped the success would win favor for its Jupiter intermediate range rocket.

The Army fired a full-range Jupiter from the Cape Canaveral, Fla., Test Center early Sunday and Navy ships recovered its rounded nose cone a few hours later in the Atlantic somewhere to the southeast.

A Defense Department spokesman said first examinations indicated "complete success" of the nose cone's re-entry, meaning it apparently was not damaged by the heat generated by its plunge back through the earth's atmosphere.

The spokesman said it was the first time a full-scale intermediate range ballistic missile (IRBM) nose cone had been recovered after successful re-entry.

A scale model cone retrieved after a Jupiter firing last Aug. 8, was shown by President Eisenhower during a televised speech.

The spokesman declined for security reasons to say exactly how far Sunday's missile traveled. The normal range of an IRBM is at least 1,500 miles.

Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy last December chose the Air Force to operate the nation's missile squadrons. But he told both the Air Force and the Army to begin producing their respective IRBM's — the Air Force Thor and the Army Jupiter.

PR Course Starts Here Tonight

To date 193 people have signed up for the Public Relations Course to be held this week in the Lovett Memorial Library building, according to Kay Fancher, chairman of the Public Relations Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

The first sessions will get underway at 7 p.m. today with E. A. Willeford of the University of Texas, Division of Extension, instructing. Classes will be held Monday and Tuesday nights for the first lesson and those interested may choose either night most convenient to their schedule, while a second lesson will be held Wednesday and Thursday nights. Anyone interested in taking the course may do so be reporting to the library at 7 p.m. and registrations can be completed at that time, or if they prefer, they may wait until Tuesday night to take the initial lesson.

This same course was held here last fall and was so well received by the public that the Public Relations Committee elected to repeat the course this month.

Willeford Speaker For CoC Meet

E. A. Willeford of the University of Texas, Division of Extension, spoke at the Quarterly Membership Luncheon of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce today.

Willeford, who is teaching the Pampa Chamber's Public Relations Course at the Library, spoke on "Good Public Relations a Must in business."

Approximately 193 Chamber of Commerce members heard Willeford following the luncheon in the Palm Room.

Generals Of Algeria Wait For De Gaulle

ALGIERS (UP)—The ruling army generals of Algeria waited today in triumphant mood, convinced that Gen. Charles de Gaulle would take over leadership of the French nation.

Jacques Soustelle, de Gaulle's right-hand man, was the focal point for massive demonstrations which marked the most tempestuous week end in modern Algerian history.

Under Soustelle's direction—he arrived from Paris on Saturday —the generals were more firmly committed to their stand against the central government in Paris than ever before.

In a sharply worded resolution to President Rene Coty the Committee of Public Safety of Gen. Jacques Massu denounced the "disastrous policy" of Premier Pierre Pflimlin.

The revolutionary committee lambasted the National Assembly which gave Pflimlin emergency powers to crush the threat to the Fourth Republic.

Soustelle and the generals initiated a deliberate campaign to display Franco-Moslem solidarity in all major Algerian cities.

In Algiers Moslem women removed their veils as a symbol of unity with the French.

L'Echo D'Alger, the city's most ardent right-wing newspaper, reported today a second Gaullist deputy, Raymond Droone, had slipped out of Paris and reached Algiers. It said he probably would place himself immediately at disposition of the Committee of Public Safety.

Billy Graham Says End Of World Is Near

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Evangelist Billy Graham says the end of the world is near.

But even if the end doesn't come this year or the next, he told a large audience at the Cow Palace Sunday, every man and woman should be ready for the final day.

Just as God saved Noah from destruction because he was righteous, so can God help humanity save itself now by accepting Christ, he said.

He quoted ancient Biblical sources and modern science to prove that the end is at hand.

"If you don't believe the Bible, then listen to the diplomats, the scientists and the educators," Graham said.

"They say the world is living in perpetual fear, World War III is inevitable and the world is on the brink of self-destruction.

"But what the scientists say is possible, the Bible says is definite."

CoC Member Drive To Start

The annual Membership Roundup of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce will kick off at 10 a.m. Wednesday in the Palm Room. Directors will head teams of three, dedicated to soliciting new memberships.

Warren Hasse, chairman of the Chamber's Finance Committee, and who heads the Roundup, has said that no worker will have more than four or five contacts in the Membership Drive.

A check-in coffee will take place Friday and again Tuesday, closing the Campaign.

'Satisfactory' Bill On Defense Seen

WASHINGTON (UP) —Chairman Richard B. Russell of the Senate Armed Services Committee said today he believes a defense reorganization bill will be approved which is "reasonably satisfactory to everybody."

The Georgia Democrat made the statement to newsmen. He said he has not had a chance to study the bill drafted last week by the House Armed Services Committee. But he said his committee will hold hearings on it as soon as the House completes action.

"I think a bill can be worked out that will be reasonably satisfactory—and still protect the prerogatives of Congress," Russell said. "Of course it won't give anybody all that they want."

Russell's statement underlined the view, expressed by other Senate sources, that the defense reorganization fight which once loomed as a no-holds-barred battle between Congress and the President may end up as a mild skirmish.

The President's plan is designed to tighten up the chain of command in the armed services and give the secretary of defense broader administrative and command powers.

An alternate and radically different plan had been proposed by powerful congressional leaders including Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee.

Youth Is Released After Theft

A 16-year-old Pampa youth was released to the custody of his mother today by Gray County Judge Burce Parker after he was warned that if he was ever arrested again he would be sent to Gatesville.

The youth was picked up by Pampa police yesterday after an investigation had been made of a burglary at the Pampa News Stand.

The youth told police that after he had finished his paper route yesterday morning he stopped at the Pampa News Stand and while the owner, Dwight Upham, was busy he took a cash box containing $22.10. Two checks were in the box, one a government check for $18.02.

The youth said he then went out the back of the store and hid the cash box in a Dempster Dumpster, garbage disposal. He then went back in the News Stand and out the front door and back to the rear of the store where he then tore up the government check and took the money home with him.

After finding the cash box gone, Upham called police who started investigating and then went to the boy's home and questioned him.

The youth confessed and police recovered all of the money and the government check.

Scout Council Honored At National Meet

Working out of Pampa, the Adobe Walls Council, Boy Scouts of America, has made the top 24 council bracket for rural extension in 1957 and received a letter of recognition at the National Council meeting in Chicago last week.

Council President Don Cain and Yorel Harris, Scout executive, flew to Chicago with Explorer Chairman Troy Sullivan for the four-day meeting.

At the Rural Recognition Thursday, 24 of the 542 Boy Scout Councils in the United States received framed letters signed by Wheeler McMillen, Rural Service chairman of the Boy Scouts of America.

1957 showed a 9.8 per cent increase in Scout organization in the five districts of the Adobe Walls Council.

The meeting closed at noon Saturday with the National Court of Honor and the presentation of Silver Buffalo Awards. Among the recipients were H. H. Colefield, Region 9, and Actor Jimmy Stewart.

Teacher, Tired Of Vandalism, Shoots Youth Through Leg

DALLAS (UP) — A Highland Park history teacher, fed up with teen - age vandals raiding his home, shot a 13-year-old boy through the leg with a pistol Sunday.

The shot of E. O. Rogers, 63, failed to fell the youth but the raider's identity was revealed when he had to go to a hospital for treatment 15 hours after the shooting.

However, Rogers, a teacher at Highland Park Junior High School, collared a 14-year-old boy in an alley after he had fired two shots at fleeing figures raiding his home.

Two pals, 14 and 16, were also hailed with their parents before juvenile officers.

Rogers said he has had no classroom trouble with pupils. But his duties include patroling the halls of his school to snare class-cutters and loiterers and he believes the students resent this.

Police records show vandals have caused about $200 worth of damage to the Rogers home in recent months.

Rogers said a group of boys came to his home, deposited a department store dummy on his lawn, rang his doorbells and shouted obscenities from hiding places in the darkness.

Earlier, marauders had kicked down a six-foot length picket fence at his home, sprayed paint on his front door, painted uncomplimentary signs on his garage, shot out seven windows with pellet guns, rutted his lawn by driving across it in parents' cars and knifed his automobile so badly he had to have it painted twice.

Rogers said he fired one shot from a .38 caliber pistol at the ground behind the fleeing 13-year-old boy and believes the bullet ricocheted to hit the youth in the leg, going through the fleshy muscle.

The youths are sons of a home builder, an insuranceman, buyer for a wholesale firm and a door salesman.

Rogers said he did not wish to prosecute boys or parents for damages to his home.

"All I want is to be left alone," he said.

Senate Probes Anti-US Outbreaks

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senators called in top U.S. officials today to ask if anti-American outbreaks in Latin America, Lebanon and elsewhere are part of a Communist - inspired world plan.

Allen W. Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, and Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy were slated to testify in secret before the Senate Foreign Relatons Committee.

Serious questions about the effectiveness of U.S. intelligence in Latin America and elsewhere were certain to be raised.

The senators were expected to ask whether the government had advance knowledge of the possibility of serious demonstrations against Vice President Richard M. Nixon in Peru and Venezuela; if not, why not; and if so, why adequate precautions were not taken to protect Nixon who at one time in Caracas, Venezeula appeared in danger of his life.

Today's session could lead to hearings by the Foreign Relations Committee or its subcommittees on various aspects of U.S. foreign policies. Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) indicated his subcommittee on Latin American affairs would hold public hearings on the Peru and Venezuela outbreaks if today's briefing warranted it.

Nixon, it was learned, has acknowledged that none of the governments he visited expected attacks as severe as those that occurred. In Venezuela, the U.S. Secret Service was assured in advance no great danger existed.

There have been seemingly conflicting reports that the Secret Service and other U.S. security agencies had warned Nixon of the likelihood of serious demonstrations, but that he insisted on making his scheduled appearances.

Col. Miguel de la Rose, governor of the Federal District in Caracas who has been replaced since Nixon's visit, was quoted as saying stronger measures for Nixon's protection were not taken because U.S. security agents vetoed them.

The Foreign Affairs Committee will also inquire into demonstrations against U.S. Information Agency libraries in Lebanon, and Algeria.

Would Not Assume Leadership By Force

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS (UP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle declared today he is ready to head a French government "if the people wish it." But he condemned the idea of a "solution by force."

"I could only assume the powers of the Republic if they had been delegated to me by the republic," the resistance hero said.

De Gaulle made his statement before a news conference summoned to answer a government challenge that he say whether he intended to take over leadership by force.

More than 35,000 armed police and security guards were massed in Paris to crush possible Communist demonstrations. Not since the Communist-generated disorders of 1947 and 1948 had Paris been so tense.

The powerful Communist Labor Union (CGT) had ordered its workers to stop work at 3 p.m. in a massive reply to De Gaulle.

White the general's press conference was still under way, the workers responded. Subway workers pulled switches and halted all traffic on the city's lines and the city's big green buses began returning to their terminals.

Before 1,000 newsmen and De Gaulle supporters jammed into a reception room of the Palais D'Orsay, the general explained his position.

In a prepared statement he condemned the weaknesses of past and present French governments and then replied to questions.

Asked what he would do if given powers, the general replied amid loud applause from his supporters:

"I would reestablish republican liberties.

"Do you believe that at 67 I would begin the career of a dictator" he asked.

De Gaulle had travelled 150 miles to Paris from his country home at Colombey-les-deux-Eglises for his long-heralded news conference.

He said it is a "well established fact" that a regime of political parties had failed and would continue to fail to settle France's enormous problems, including the problem of Algeirs.

"Everyone must take note of the fighting in Algeria and the fever that reigns there," he said.

Then in an outspoken tribute to the rebellious Algiers generals, he said:

"These people have seen for some time that this (political) policy was leading to a political Dien Bien Phu"—a reference to the loss of the key battle in Indochina several years ago that led to French withdrawal from Indochina.

His voice quivering, De Gaulle asked: "How can they help rising. The now are offering a magnificent spectacle of brotherhood that can be the political and moral foundation for an agreement."

De Gaulle said that "if things continue in this way, we know that the present regime, such as it is, will find no result. It will work out a multitude of solutions without achieving any result.

Carefully choosing his words,

Lawmen Due Here Thursday In Conference

A host of lawmen will converge at the 4-H club show barn at Recreation Park Thursday when Pampa will be host to a FBI law conference. This is one of 150 such conferences that the FBI has scheduled over the United States.

The conference will be operated on an open-forum basis, permitting the free exchange of ideas and stimulating suggestions for methods of reducing criminal activity which each year cost the American public millions of dollars.

E. L. Boyle, special agent in charge, Dallas Division of the FBI, and special agents Manning C. Clements and Leo L. Robertson of Dallas, will be the special members of the panel for the Pampa conference.

Rufe Jordan, Gray County Sheriff, District Attorney Bill Waters, Floyd Watson, of the Citizens Bank and Trust Company of Pampa, and Jerald Simms, of the First National Bank of Pampa, will be Pampa's representatives on the panel.

Charges Are Expected In Deaths Of 2

HENDERSON, Tex. (UP) — Murder charges were expected today against a divorced mother who admitted shooting two of her daughters in their sleep because she didn't "want them to go through the same thing as I have."

Rusk county Deputy Sheriff Hardy Swann said Mrs. Thelma Crelie, 34, told him she intended to kill her other daughter, her father and herself Sunday.

But her father, L. C. Johnikin, heard the two shots and ran into the bedroom. He disarmed his daughter and then went out into the yard and emptied the .22 caliber pistol into the air.

Mrs. Crelie, an unemployed nurse, and her daughters were living with her father 12 miles west of Henderson.

Her victims, Cecilia Ann, 11, and Sandra Lucinda, 10, were sleeping in the same bed. Both were shot once in the head. Her other daughter, Katherine, 6, was unharmed.

Swann said Mrs. Crelie and her husband, Bill, were divorced nine months ago. He said her husband is living in Kilgore with their son.

"She thought the whole world was down on her," Swann said.

He said she wrote a 34-page letter relating family troubles and her plan to slaughter the household. She put the letter in a Bible found beside the victims' bed.

"I pray to the Lordthatlam

"I pray to the Lord that I am doing the right thing," the letter said. "I don't want my kids to go through the same thing as I have."

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a teen-aged girl who likes a teen-aged boy. I live with my grandparents, whom I love, because my parents are both dead. My grandmother keeps telling me to bring my boyfriend home and not to meet him on a street corner but I met him on the corner anyway because I am ashamed of the house I live in. It is old and shabby and not in a very nice part of town. I think he would like to meet my grandparents, but I haven't got the nerve to ask him over. Help me, Abby!

ANNA

Dear Anna: You need never be ashamed of a home that has love in it . . . no matter where it is or how plainly furnished. If he is a nice boy, it won't matter to him, either. Invite him.

DEAR ABBY: That letter from the lady who said after umpteen years of baking rhubarb pies her husband suddenly blew his top and declared he never liked them, hit close to home. My husband pulled the same trick on me with chocolate cake. I cured him in a hurry when I very politely turned the cake up-side down on his head and told him he either eats what I put in front of him or goes hungry. We've been married 24 years, so I guess it worked!

CHOCOLATE CAKE BAKER

Dear Baker: I don't recommend this to the average wife, but if this worked with you, your husband sure does "take the cake,"

Lady.

DEAR ABBY: I will make a long story short. I did wrong. I am 22 and the man in the case is 36 and married. I knew he was married but I thought he loved me. He says that I can't nail him for child support because I was of age when I went out with him and I also knew he was a married man. Is this a fact? Please reply and give me a clue as to where there is a home for unwed mothers who have no money.

GONE WRONG

Dear Gone. This married man is responsible for child support and the law will make this clear to him if he has any doubts about it. Your nearest Florence Crittenton Home will help you. Or contact your local Community Chest. Good luck!

DEAR ABBY: My husband wants to spend every Friday evening with his folks and it is wearing me down. His mother can't even speak English well enough to hold a conversation and she has been in this country for almost forty years. They are old and we are young and we have nothing in common. How can I explain to my husband that if he wants to see his folks he should go over there alone and leave me home or drop me at a show?

YOUNG AMERICAN

Dear Young: You can explain it to your husband, but how can you explain it to your conscience? He is trying to show proper respect and affection for his parents. If you were wise, you'd help him.

CONFIDENTIAL TO CHEMISTRY TEACHER: Kids will be kids . . . Take it with a grain of NaCl.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Farm Prices Will Drop, Dept. Says

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Agriculture Department said Sunday night prices farmers receive for their products will drop somewhat during the next few months while the cost of things they must buy probably will remain high.

The forecast was made by economists in the department's publication, "The Farm Cost Situation."

The department noted the cost-price squeeze on farmers has eased somewhat since last Spring. Even though the cost of goods and services involved in production—including interest, taxes, and wage rates—reached a new record high in mid-April, prices of farm products rose more than enough to offset this increase.

But this rosy picture will fade somewhat, according to the economists, as supplies increase seasonally, thereby lowering farm prices. The economists saw no change in farm costs.

In April, the index of prices paid by farmers for goods and services used in production was 4 per cent higher than a year earlier.

The department noted that the April parity ratio—the relation of prices received by farmers to prices paid by farmers—was 87; a year ago it was 82. The increase stems from the fact that the index of prices received increased more than the index of prices paid.

The index of prices received by farmers was 10 per cent above the April, 1957 level, but 2 per cent below the 1947-49 average and 15 per cent below the all-time high reached in February, 1951.

Cardinal Stritch Is Stricken

ROME (UP)—Samuel Cardinal Stritch, who lost his right arm in a major operation a month ago, suffered a cebral thrombosis today and was left partially paralyzed.

His doctors admitted the illness was grave but said they were "hopeful" the 70-year-old prince of the Roman Catholic Church would survive.

The sudden relapse of the Chicago churchman was a shock to his associates because only Sunday the cardinal had celebrated his first mass since he was stricken a month ago with a blood clot in his arm that cost him his right arm.

Girl Is Bitten By Dog

DALLAS (UP) — Four-year-old Audrey Lee Helms was ripped about the face, head and shoulders Sunday by a dog as the Euless, Tex. youngster visited with grandparents in east Dallas.

It was the second such attack upon a child by a vicious dog within the past few weeks in Dallas.

Baylor Hospital attendants said the Helms child suffered a four-inch gash near her right eye, a scalp wound, bites on both cheeks and on a shoulder.

The girl was attacked as she started to get into the family car for the return trip home. Her parents, standing on the porch saying farewell, heard her screams and rushed to her aid.

The dog was impounded for a 10-day rabies check and its owner ticketed for violation of the dog leash law.

It's fun to drive an engine that's clean. And mile after mile—just by driving—Keotane gets your engine cleaner, cleaner, cleaner.

Yes, Just By Driving with Skelly, You Can

Drive Your Engine Clean

Dirty deposits in your engine rob you of mileage. You can get 12.7% more miles per gallon when you drive an engine that's Keotane-Clean!

WHATEVER your reason for driving — business or pleasure — you can clean your engine at the same time without doing anything but just driving as you normally do.

Keotane in Skelly Supreme Gasoline does this cleaning work for you — and at no extra cost.

Because Keotane dissolves gluey gum in your engine, Keotane frees dirty carbon and lead deposits to blow harmlessly out the exhaust. That's how you drive your engine clean with Keotane.

As soon as your engine is Keotane-Clean you'll get an average of 12.7% more mileage . . . 14.6% more horsepower output . . . the performance effect of 3.1 extra octane points.

See chart at right for details on how these extra values of a Keotane-Clean engine are worth over 6c per gallon. And remember, you pay nothing extra for Keotane in Skelly Supreme Gasoline.

Don't let dirty engine deposits rob you of mileage and performance. Enjoy the pleasures of an engine that's Keotane-Clean: a lively, peppy engine that drives more like a new engine.

Prove to yourself how much extra mileage you get. Ask your Skellyman for a free Skelly Mileage Meter. It shows your mileage gain with a Keotane-Clean engine.

Estimated Extra Value Per Gallon To You, Of Skelly Supreme Gasoline With Keotane:

(Based on average current premium gasoline prices in the Midwest)

| | |
|---|---|
| 12.7% average gain in mileage | 3.8c |
| 3 octane points extra performance effect | 1.0c |
| 14.6% more horsepower output (h.p. saved or added) | .8c |
| Less gum and cleaner carburetors, faster starts with fewer sputters, longer life for batteries | .5c |
| Estimated extra value per gallon to you... | 6.1c |

The extra values shown above are conservative estimates by our engineers. These extra values are not figured against inferior premium gasolines or regular grade gasolines, but against Skelly Supreme Gasoline, the best top-octane premium gasoline previously made.

Only Skelly Supreme Gasoline Gives You 6.1c Extra Value Per Gallon with Keotane

(Registered U. S. Patent Office)

6.1c makes other premium gasoline expensive to use;
6.1c makes any regular gasoline expensive to use;
6.1c makes any "cut rate" gasoline expensive to use.

Don't look now, but a third Futures-Exes game may be forthcoming this week.

Coach Deck Woldt is trying to whip up enough enthusiasm in former Harvester baseball players to stage a Wednesday evening scrap, tentatively set for 5:30 p.m.

Woldt says the possibility of playing will depend on two things . . . the Exes corraling enough talent, and old man weather.

And as a passing thought, we're wondering right along with Woldt and Joe Fortin, about prospects of an American Legion baseball club here this summer.

Since they dismantled old Oiler Park, there's not a lighted regulation sized diamond in town.

We're staunch believers in the American Legion program, having followed Lufkin's Legionnaires to the runner-up position behind Amarillo in the 1956 state tournament at Bryan, and to the state championship over Fort Worth in the state meet at Lufkin last year, and then on to Regional play at gay and giddy 'ol New Orleans.

Post Time

They're off and running at La Mesa Park in convenient Raton, New Mexico, next week, May 24-25, and we hope to find our way to the $2 window at least a couple times this summer.

Two citizens, shadowed beneath 11½-gallon sombreros, swaggered through the other day and dropped off a few press passes, assuring our attendance at the track.

Beating the tom-tom for the La Mesa Park "Sport of Kings" were Loyd Wilkens Sr., president of the Raton Chamber of Commerce and Wood Erwin, manager of the track.

Racing dates run through Sept. 13-14, and Erwin promises more thrills this season, No. 13 for the La Mesa Park, thanks to an improved purse schedule.

They also have a "Film patrol service" installed at the track for the first time this season. It's a handy device which films each step of each race to allow the stewards, judges, etc., an easier time in reaching decisions on protested races due to fouls.

Whoops Dept.

We've been advised by local wrestling fans to catch up on the latest from that section of the sports world.

An excited lady telephones in Monday morning, "Hey stupid, don't you know the Great Bolo don't wear no mask anymore?"

No mam, certainly didn't, ya see . . .

"Well he don't ever since he was unmasked over in Amarillo, and it's a good thing, too, he's a really nice looking fella, and I'll bet he rips up that ugly Bull Curry character tonight."

Yessum sure he will, 'n goodby, and thanks for calling.

It'll be hotter still at the Top o' Texas Sportsman Club tonight when the two muscle-mad monsters of the ring pair off in the feature attraction of a three-way main event card, matching Tokyo Joe against Don Evans and the Masked Lady (hope she still wears the disguise) against Tonia LaPatia.

Reds Nip U.S. Weight Lifters

NEW YORK (UP)—A broiled chicken may have cost the U.S. team a face-saving victory in its weight-lifting series with Russia.

Beaten 6-1 and 4-3 in two previous meets last week, the U.S. barbell crew split the first six matches against the Russian lifters in their final meet at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

Then middle heavyweights Dave Sheppard of Washington, D.C., and Dr. Arkady Vorobyev took over for the final event which would decide the winner. Each totalled 1,002¾ pounds for the standard three lifts—press, clean-and-jerk and snatch. Under the rules of weight-lifting, the decision goes to the lifter who weighed less.

Each weighed 197 pounds before the match, but in the post-match weigh-in, Vorobyev scaled 195¼ to Sheppard's 196 and thus was awarded the decision that gave the visitors their third straight victory.

Later it developed that Sheppard finished his lifting chores before Vorobyev, and, while waiting for his opponent to complete his lifts, stepped out for a snack, which consisted of a half chicken.

Inch-Snatching Snead Triumphs

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (UP)—Give a fellow like Sammy Snead an inch and he'll take a mile. That's what Gary Player, the personable young South African, did Sunday and it cost him top place in the Snead Golf Festival.

The first inch Player gave Snead was on the final hole of the 72-hole tournament. It was by that much the 22-year-old professional missed a putt that would have given him first place in the four-day tourney on Snead's home grounds.

Scottie Star Signs With Longhorns

DALLAS (UP) — All-state halfback Jack Collins of the Class AAAA state champion Highland Park Scotties has signed a letter of intent to attend the University of Texas.

He was the fourth member of the backfield to align himself with a major shcool. Halfback Reed Johnson and fullback Johnny Florer have signed with Colorado, while quarterback Bobby Reed indicated he would sign with Southern Methodist today.

SO WHO NEEDS A WINDUP?—Bob Turley, who just hikes his leg and fires without benefit of a windup, posted his 6th 1958 pitching success for the Yankees Sunday, with a brilliant 5-hit, 3-0 whitewashing of the Washington Sens, 3-0. It was the 4th shutout of the year for Turley, a guy they used to say could never win 20-games in one season because of spotty control.

Big Surprise! Giants Vault Into NL Lead

Yanks Sweep Pair, Continue Runaway

JOHNNY ANTONELLI
. . . 5-hits Cubs

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees are making a joke of the American League race but the season's best laugh is the one the amazing San Francisco Giants are having at the expense of National League experts.

The Yankees, who look like they're going to make Casey Stengel's ninth pennant in 10 years his easiest, ballooned their AL lead to 6½ games Sunday with 5-2 and 3-0 victories over the Washington Senators. The Yankees, with six straight and 10 of 11, are 14 games over .500 at 195-compared to second-place Kansas City's 13-12 record.

The Giants, meanwhile, took a two percentage - point first-place lead in the National League when they whipped the Chicago Cubs, 7-3 and 4-0, and the Cincinnati Redlegs beat the Milwaukee Braves, 11-7. The Giants, picked to finish sixth by the experts, lead the Braves, .656 to .654. They have won three straight and 11 of their last 14 games.

Sweeps Due To Pitching

Brilliant pitching was the key to both sweeps. Sal Maglie needed only Ryne Duren's ninth-inning help to win the opener for the Yankees and then Bob Turley "bombed" the Senators with a five-hitter that gave him his sixth win and fourth shutout. For the Giants, Johnny Antonelli hurled a five-hitter in the first game and flutterball specialist Stu Miller came back with a three-hitter to give the San Francisco staff its fourth shutout of the year.

The Athletics moved into second place in the AL by defeating the Detroit Tigers, 2-0, the Boston Red Sox downed the Baltimore Orioles 8-4, and the Cleveland Indians swept the Chicago White Sox, 7-4, and 10-6, in the other American League games.

In the National, the Philadelphia Phillies continued the deflation of the Pittsburgh Pirates with 6-4 and 6-2 victories while the Los Angeles Dodgers rebounded from a 6-5 loss to beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-0.

Homer By Maglie

Maglie, making his first start, limited the Senators to seven hits in eight innings and also highlighted the Yankee attack with a three-run homer to climax New York's five - run fourth inning burst. Mickey Mantle's two-run double was the big blow for the Yankees in the nightcap as Turley reduced his earned run average to 0.83. Bullet Bob has yielded only six runs and 25 hits in his six straight nine-inning performances.

Danny O'Connell and Willie Kirkland each had three hits and drove in three runs to lead the Giants 11-hit attack in the opener and O'Connell also had three hits in the nightcap. Antonelli struck out eight for his third win and Miller fanned five in his first start.

Duke Maas faced only 28 Tigers in a two-hitter to give the Athletics their fourth straight win and Detroit its fifth consecutive loss. All three Athletic hits were doubles, two by Vic Power and Frank House combining with a walk and an error to produce two runs in the second inning.

Dick Gernert hit two homers and a double to knock in four runs and Jackie Jensen drove in three with a homer and three singles in powering the Red Sox to their fourth victory in five games. Frank Sullivan gained his first win while Billy Loes, cautioned twice against throwing "spitters," suffered his fourth straight loss for Baltimore.

Early Lead Overcome

The Indians overcame early White Sox leads in both games, winning the 11 - inning opener on pinch-hitter Carroll Hardy's three run homer and the nightcap with two runs in the sixth and three in the seventh. Relief aces Ray Narleski and Don Mossi picked up their fifth and fourth wins, respectively, and have accounted for nine of Cleveland's 15 victories.

George Crowe and Dee Fondy blasted three-run homers for the Redlegs, who beat the Braves for the second time in seven tries. Bob Purkey, who scored the other victory on April 23, went the distance despite two homers by Joe Adcock and one each by Ed Mathews and Johnny Logan. Lew Burdette was kayoed in 3 1-3 innings and saw his record squared at 3-3.

The Basic Issue

If it is true, as some contend, that the union-labor boss Issue has become the hottest and most violent in the land, it must also be true that the matter of education is a close runner-up. So far as we can discover, here isn't a publication of any consequence but has had something to say, either pro or con over the education issue.

From our own point ov view we consider this is a healthy sign. At least the failures of our government school system are no longer slipping away in the night is matters of little concern. The pitiless plare of publicity has driven educationist and parent, writer and reader, commentator and listener, student and teacher, out into the middle of a vast arena. There appear to be few now who are either disinterested or unconcerned.

The awakening of the public generally to the flaws in our present system is all to the good. But what must be understood is that the problem is a basic one and that no amount of patching and compromise can be counted on to cure the malady. We must probe to the roots and uncover the true villain. Failure to do this will simply delay, or perhaps prevent the cure.

Life Magaizne, after a series of five articles on the subject has summed up the picture in fairly graphic terms. Among this magazine's more important conclusions are these sentences:

"Whatever the educationists say, the schools cannot educate the whole child. That is our job. In not doing it, we have let the schools and the country down.

"So let us not fall into the trap of seeing the school problem as merely a hundred yard dash to get rid of unwise theories and build new schools so we can head off the Russians. We are not competing with the Russians in this, Rather we are standing alone on the threshold of history."

If, as the Life editors state, it is "our" job to educate the whole child ,where does that education begin? Life says it begins in the home. But to our way of thinking, this is dodging the issue by seeking to confine the matter to a locale and not to the subject of education itself. We are not trying to excuse parents, the home or anyone else. But we are trying to find out just what has been principally lacking in the child's education so that the "whole" child has not been educated.

Our contention is that the single most important failing of our government school system—and the failing is echoed even in private and independent schools, in homes, in churches, in publications — is that there has been little or no education in basic marol principles. Here is the vacuum of our entire educational approach.

Without reliance upon fundamental morality as a fixed and desirable good, what facts are crammed into the child's head are disoriented, confused and unreliable.

He may learn how to add up a column of figures; but he does not, in the process come to understand the importance of truth and honesty.

He may learn of the histories of various peoples, but he does not learn that it is always immoral and wrong to murder or to steal.

He may acquire the necessary skills so that he can drive a car or a nail, bake a cake oravoid cramps while swimming, but he does not discover that popularity is a will-o-the-wisp, an dthat it is better to be right than to be applauded.

Here we plunge to the core of the malady. Why is it that our government schools, et al, have failed to provide a moral base within the framework of a child's educational experience? The answer is that NO GOVERNMENT INSTITUTION CAN PROVIDE A MORAL BASE. This is because all government institutions ,and the school has been described by the government itself as a "creature of the state," are based upon compulsion and not upon either moral certitude or justice.

How can a child learn that stealing is always wrong, when the institution in which he finds himself is supported financially by tax plunder taken by force from persons whether they have children in school or not?

How can a child learn that honesty is always the best policy, when the institution in which he learns hedges and evades many issues, paints facts to be in conformity with the current political mode ,and generally supports what is popular, however wrong it may be?

The cure to the educational dilemma must be dearly bought. It can only come when the American people insist that all educational institutions are removed from political control of whatever kind or nature, Then and then only, can this nation stand squarely on the threshold of history and face the future with certainty, knowing that truth and not political favor is the key to all wisdom.

Unemployment Is Avoidable

By F. A. Harper

51st Year

Installment 4

Editor's Note: In the last installment Mr. Harper was relating the various nostrums for curing unemployment. He continues on this subject:

The Purchasing Power Nostrum

Perhaps the most dangerous nostrum of all is the one that, with the consent if not the overt pressure of government, wage rates should be increased to give people the buying power necessary to buy things unsold in the market.

The reasoning goes like this: A thing remains unsold in the market because the buyer did not have enough money to justify its purchase. Unsold things cause producers to quit producing. That causes the unemployment. If, therefore, more money were to be put into their pockets, they would buy and the excess inventories would disappear. Orders would begin to flow. The unemployed would be called back to work. It seems just that simple, unless our minds are attuned to the sound of things commonly unheard.

By this line of reasoning, why not give increased money to people who work? This could be done by merely raising wage rates—according to the purchasing power theory.

Let's try out the purchasing power idea in the instance of Mrs. Jones and Miss Smith, and the $29.95 dress. Mrs. Jones, let us say, considers the dress worth $29.00 but not a cent more. So in terms of purchasing power, she lacks 95 cents of enough to induce her to trade. Let us say that the only source for the 35 cents is to get it, by some means, from Miss Smith. /4

There are only two ways of getting the 95 cents from Miss Smith —voluntarily or by force. The voluntary method is eliminated, since it amounts to the same thing as Miss Smith having reduced the price to $29.00 in the first place, which was not the case. The use of force to take the 35 cents away from Miss Smith and give it to Mrs. Jones is, then, the only way this purchasing power idea could be implimented.

4/In an economic system as a whole, composed of many persons, more money for the buyers can come only from the sellers, thus validating for illustrative purposes this assumption of Miss Smith as the only source available.

The purchasing power notion is so prevalent it may be worth another illustration with which to test its validity. Let us escape the confusion of money in trade, and go back to a direct trade between two farmers. One has two bushels of wheat for trade; the other has three bushels of corn for trade. They alone comprise the trading community. One day they meet to try to make a deal. One is willing to part with his two bushels of wheat if he can get the three bushels of corn in exchange. But the other man will part with his corn for no less than 2¼ bushels of wheat, at which ratio the wheat man refuses to trade. According to the purchasing power nostrum, we would say that the trouble is insufficient purchasing power. How much purchasing power now exists? It is a total of two bushels of wheat and three bushels of corn — no more and no less. More purchasing power can be made available only by producing more wheat and corn, or the things desired for trade. There is no other way.

Trade was prohibited in this instance only because the offer by one party was not acceptable to the other party. What prohibits an exchange is the offer being made by one person as between parts of existing purchasing power, rather than to be an overall lack of purchasing power.

If the total amount of purchasing power were to be increased by producing more of the things of trade, there would certainly be an increase in trading if the market were free. But if the terms being offered were to remain unsatisfactory to either person, trade would even then be prohibited. Changing the terms of the offer so that more purchasing power is allotted to one and correspondingly less to the other, as parties to the trade, is the only way for trade to be resumed.

Introducing money into the mechanics of trade does not change this analysis any. In a money economy, it is still the terms of trade being offered and not the total of purchasing power which allows trade or prohibits it. In a money economy, prohibited trade is a matter of price rather than of total purchasing power.

BID FOR A SMILE

And then there was the woman who was charged with creeping into her husband's room and shooting him with a bow and arrow. Asked to tell the jury why she did it, she replied that she didn't want to wake the children.

Married life seemed to have worn down Joe. He went to his doctor for a check-up.

Doctor (after a thorough examination) — There's nothing radically wrong with you. All you need is a little sun and air.

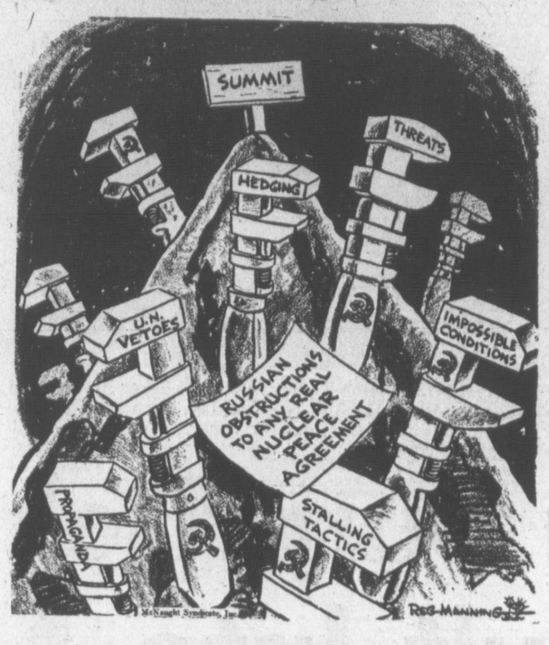

Joe — Yes, I guess so, but my wife is dead set against children.

—O—

Minister (to little boy) — Do you say prayers before eating?

Little Boy —No, sir. I don't need to. My mother's a good cook.

Many Convicts Are More Comfortable In Prison

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Sentimental persons cannot bear in mind that many convicts are, if not happier, then, anyway, more comfortable in prison than outside. They have rigidly regular hours and a peculiar social life, they enjoy a crude humor peculiar to their condition and they can't stay out of prison. Most of them can't compete with competent people outside. They know their crimes will draw prison terms, but it seems to them that little stickups in which nobody is killed or hurt, check-forgeries and the bloodless act of driving off in some other person's car are overpunished.

Even so, thousands of them repeat and repeat and there are men in prison as habitual, hopeless cons whose total damage to society is petty by comparison to the normal man's horrified estimate of the waste, woe and degradation of a prisoner's misfortune. But the habitual con is not a philosopher. He is a no-good, hopeless error and nature kindly minimizes his woe into mere uneasiness. He has no sense of degradation because he is among his peers. He envies the free people not their dignity but only their freedom from the regulations of a life which is little worse than that of a West Point cadet spending four years within sight of Sing Sing.

A sensitive free man feels sad walking out of prison at sundown, leaving thousands of men to be locked into cages. But most cons are not sensitive men. They are self-schooled in suspicion of all other men, confiding in none. They are each a world in himself and the confirmed con would find life outside unbearable.

In Stateville, at Joliet, Ill., I met a "biochemical technician" in the malaria clinic, on his second stretch for armed robbery. His white robe, as he sucked on a rubber hose drawing some fluid out of a large graduate, suggested that he might be one of the U.S. Public Health Service doctors. But he was a stick-up and he grinned affably as he told me his name was Charles Ickes. Then, dropping his eyelids, he said, "Harold Ickes was my cousin. He was the black sheep of our family." Charles was doing "life" for armed robbery, his second stretch for the same offense, and he had been in Stateville since February, 1938. A job was waiting at the University of Chicago should the board let him go. His prison record was good, but, as he said, when he got drunk he had a tendency to stick people up with a gun. He and a partner had split $160 more than 20 years ago so the wages of sin in his case were less than $4 a year. Ickes is more intelligent than most cons, too.

In a corridor where a sign read "Do not use DDT within 20 feet," Calvin Hart, of Canton, Ill., was stud-groom, midwife and babysitter to the mosquitoes of the malaria staff. Hart is a pleasant kid about 25 who had stuck up a Cambio where factory hands cashed their pay checks. He and a partner got $260, which meant $130 each, and he had drawn from 4½ to 25 years. He had made parole at the minimum, but soon got drunk and went back for "violation," although, unlike Ickes, he had not done another hoist. Last year he lost thousands of young mosquitoes and almost lost his soft job indoors. It was around zero outside and his next stop might have been the coal pile out in the yard. But the doctor found out that the mosquitoes were dying of penicillin in a new kind of canned dog-food used as mosquito-ration.

There is no honor among theives and Warden Ragen of Joliet was not surprised when he lifted the rule against talking at mess and the usual silence ensued. Mr. Ragen said they did not want to be bored or confide in strangers. They can't pick their companions at meals and always they are aware that the next fellow might learn all he could about a man's family and send someone around to make mischief. Or he might be a G-man or cop. They are constantly warned to put no trust in anyone, join no cliques and go it alone. This becomes a habit, and a man who has lived almost entirely within himself for years is a man alone when he goes out.

Wardens and keepers are men with the normal man's loathing of loathsome criminals. At Florence, Ariz., Warden Eyman expressed disgust at a check-bouncer who had married a beautiful young girl and left her with three babies. He is an incurable con with no more honor than a tom-cat.

Another of Eyman's cons is a murderer from Pima County who killed his young wife, the mother of two, scooped a shallow grave and left her to the coyotes. He was belly-aching one day and Eyman, who had been sheriff of Pima County at the time, let him have it.

"You should have gone to that gas-chair," Eyman said. "Shut up. You are lucky to be alive."

The CRACKER BARREL

Sometimes Ike seems to think he can "peacefully coexist" with Khrushchev at the Summit. But Beria couldn't do it. Neither could Malenkov. Nor Moletov. Kaganovich couldn't make it. Nor could Marshal Zhukov. And now Bulganin's out. On Khrushchev's "Summit" there's room for nobody but Khrushchev. When Stalin died, Mr. K. denounced "The Cult of The Individual." It's taken him just five years to eliminate everybody who agreed with him.

The moons of Mars were first viewed by earthly astronomers in 1876. Thereafter, flying saucers began to be seen with mysterious frequency near our planet. Now we are speaking seriously of putting space platforms into orbit and from them launching space craft to investigate other worlds. Isn't it possible that the buys on Mars have been doing that since 1876?

What A Picture!
Kim And Trujillo

What a pity that James McHeill Whistler isn't alive to catch it with his brush.

Kim Novak and Rafael Trujillo, Jr., I mean, sitting in a $10,000 Mercedes - Benz 300-SL munching on hamburgers at a Sunset Strip drive-in.

It would be an even more tender scene on canvas than the one Whistler did of his mother in her chair.

Kim would be in profile, sinking her pearly teeth into a hamburger with all the trimmings. Junior Trufillo, resplendent in his uniform as a lieutenant-general in the Dominican army, would be full face, so as to show flecks of mustard on his very propper mustache.

Whistler liked to work in black and white and grays, but the colors of the drive-in setting would tempt him to splash his palette. The golden crispness of the buns, the whiteness of the onion rings, the gold of Junior's epaulettes, the crimson of the ketchup, and the ivory of the Mercedes, would provide a plendid treat for the eyes of the connoisseur, both of art and food.

To give the picture breadth and sweep, not to mention high dramatic quality, Whistler would, I am sure, use young Trujillo's wife and six children in the picture. Two or three of the children might be shown as carhops, hovering about the big German car which Junior Trujillo gave Kim as a present.

One child could be a soda jerk, another the cashier, and Junior's wife could be shown bending over the sandwich block, busy making a tomato and lettuce sandwich for — guess whom?

None other than Zsa Zsa Gabor, for she also got an expensive foreign car from the son of the Dominican strong man. Zsa Zsa wouldn't be in the picture though. She is not by nature a devotee of drive - in restaurants. Drive - in banks, yes, but not restaurants.

Junior Trujillo, who is studying at the U.S. Command and General Staff School, when not lounging around automobile agencies, is certain to be criticized for romancing Miss Novak while on leave from his wife and brood. I won't go into that, but will confine my criticism to his giving foreign cars to all the beauties he meets.

Why not American cars? Detroit needs help right now, and as his country, meaning his papa, recently got a big loan, meaning gift, from this country, it seems the least he could do would be to patronize American industry. Hasn't he heard the slogan, "You Auto Buy Now?"

I have no doubt but that Junior Trujillo needs relaxation in Hollywood. Being a three-star general in the Dominican army is no easy job. It means being a real leader of men, mostly all generals. And generals are notoriously hard to keep in line.

I wouldn't be surprised to find that the American officers who instruct him at Fort Leavenworth are in need of a rest, too. I imagine he throws his weight around very efficiently. My honest guess is that he is a pest of the first water at Fort Leavenworth, and has about as much right studying there as I have, which is strictly none.

The Nation's Press

LIVING BY THE RULES COULD COME NATURALLY FOR ALL

(The Nashville Banner)

THE FASTEST RUNNER in the world told The Banner champions last night there is still one more race to be won — the race for Christianity.

He was Bobby Morrow, father of twins, a boy and a girl, by five weeks, senior student at Abilene Christian College and the man who brought world honors back to this country from the Olympic Games in Australia.

Maybe all the things he said were not new. After all, the fundamental ingredients of sportsmanship— honor, integrity, perseverance, endurance — do not change. But Morrow dramatized them with a new vitality, charged them with a new radiance through the electric current of his own deep convictions. Although he would not have approved it, his audience made him the image of what he was talking about.

Perhaps it has been said before that conduct off the field of athletic endeavor is as important as conduct during the competition. But when the lean, clean, taut boy from Texas said it last night, the hundreds of listeners knew they were in the presence of one who practiced what he preached, one whose application of the rules of the track to his daily life, had sent him to the Olympic Games and on to world victory.

Maybe the young wearers of the laurel from Nashville and Middle Tennessee had been told by ministers that the body is the temple of God, but they had never heard it from a fellow athlete who had achieved the ultimate in his area of physical prowess.

If a quarterback had snapped his fingers in the historic Maxwell House ballroom last evening, it would have cracked like a rifle shot.

If Bobby Morrow had been on a global TV hookup, people everywhere would have felt better today. His words would have lifted them from the deep freeze of cold war, hate and near despair onto a high, bright plane where the leading youths of all the countries—British, Soviet, Scandinavian, Czechoslovak, American, et al, complete in the warm sunlight of friendship, a rare place where living by the rules comes naturally to all.

We may as well face it. Last night was a night of superlatives. In his great address Bobby Morrow set another record — and it made The Banner's Fourteenth Annual Banquet of Champions the best of them all.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

In the spring, when the weather begins to warm up, a great many unwise people who have been indoors all winter doing nothing more than walk down the hall, suddenly take up strenuous exercise.

Their muscles are flabby, their hearts unused to exertion. And the rest of their bodies are equally unprepared for the burden of tennis, climbing, baseball or anything else requiring real physical exertion.

The human body is made for exercise or it would not have been given the muscles and other structures and functions which are used in physical activity.

But—and it is a big but—one cannot safely go from complete physical inactivity to violent exercise without running risks of straining and damaging some part of the body. All amateur and professional athletes know this, and this is the reason they train before engaging in physical competition.

Someone who goes out and does unaccustomed and strenuous exercise does not risk sore and stiff muscles alone.

A more serious possible effect is on the heart, which is itself an almost completely muscular organ. Like any other muscle, the heart grows gradually stronger if it is given some work to do. But like other muscles this should not come all at once. The heart can suffer serious damage from too much exercise at one time when it isn't used to it.

It isn't only too much exercise when one's body is unprepared that should be considered.

Age has a lot to do with the kind and amount which can be taken. Most young men can run the mile without harm if they are in reasonably good condition. Ask a man of 40 to do it and it might kill him.

Besides age there are questions of sex and physical condition.

A girl or woman cannot ordinarily be expected to engage in sports requiring muscular exertion as heavy as that which men can do. In fact, to do so might well harm them.

Naturally the physical condition enters in too, because someone with certain kinds of heart disease, for example, cannot safely engage in strenuous sports even after training.

All this points to the fact that exercise is a wholesome, normal activity of the human body. But it should be approached with good sense and adjusted to the needs and physical capacities of each one of us.

Bear these thoughts in mind as you start physical exercise this spring and summer after a long season of inactivity!

Water Cooled Air Conditioner Parts Are At Davis Electric

FOR YOUR AIR CONDITIONER—Take care of your air conditioner and it will take care of you. If your water cooled air conditioner is ailing, it may be the pump, motor, float or tubing but whatever it is, Davis Electric has it and has the know how to put it in. Dale McKean, here, is only one of the Company electricians whose job is helping people live better electrically, every day.

With the long hot summer nearly upon us, Davis Electric Company, 119 W. Foster, will hlep you beat the heat with new parts for your water cooled air conditioning units.

Davis Electric will not only supply you with floats, motors, pumps and tubing but will install it for you when you need it. Although the Company does not handle air conditioners, themselves, it is equipped to make the proper electrical arrangements, such as individual electrical circuits, for your new air conditioning unit.

Now in its 31st year of service to the community, Davis Electric has a staff of highly trained and competent electricians who will work out your electrical wiring system if you are building and help you keep it up to date as you add new rooms or electrical appliances.

Since 1927 the Company has wired many of the homes and businesses in Pampa and has acquired a reputation for dependability, honesty and service that goes a long way, electrically.

Owned and operated by Bob Burns, Davis Electric is ready to help you live better electrically throughout the summer and the seasons round.

PEP TROPHY—W. Erle White, president of White Stores, Inc., holds the trophy that will go to the lucky store in the PEP Sale Time of May. PEP stands for President's Extra Push and that means that each White Store will be pushing for the highest percentages over it's sales quota that it can command. The White Store in Pampa is located at 109 S. Cuyler and like all other Company stores has a large stock of auto supplies for the sales push and for customer demand.

White Stores Participate In Extra Sales Push This Month

White Stores, Inc., has announced that the month of May will be P.E.P. sale time in honor of the corporation's president, W. Erle White, P.E.P. means "President's Extra Push" and that will be the theme of the competing stores.

During the month of May, the different stores will be out to top the quota set for the month, and the store that exceeds its quota by the highest percentage will be awarded a trophy by Mr. White.

This is the first time that this corporation has taken part in this type of contest, and, to give the smaller stores a chance to compete with the larger stores, the quotas are set by the size of the store.

Jeff Chandler Movie Colony's Number One Baseball 'Nut'

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Number one baseball nut in the movie colony is rugged Jeff Chandler who follows the fortunes of the San Francisco Giants with the enthusiasm of a small boy glued to a knothole.

Whenever possible the gray-haired actor hies off to Giant games, climbs into uniform and works out with the ball players.

"In the pre-game warmup I play catch with the guys, bat fungos, and mess around in infield practice" Chandler said. "I haven't moved into batting practice yet. Not in good enough shape.

"The players get a kick out of it, and it's a real means of relaxation for me.

"Most of the fans have no idea that an actor is out on the field, and I'd just as soon keep it that way. A lot of publicity could make me look pretty hokey."

Though he was born and raised in Brooklyn, Chandler has been a Giant fan since childhood. His Flatbush playmates thought he was an eccentric. But Jeff rode the subway from Brooklyn to Manhattan at every opportunity, despite the two-hour round trip.

"Those were the days of John McGraw, when the Giants were living high on the hog," he grinned. "Then in 1933 I was the happiest kid in the world. The Giants won the world championship under Bill Terry.

"I was almost as happy when the team moved to the coast. My close association with the Giants began in 1955 — the last year that Leo Durocher managed them. Leo invited me to Phoenix for spring training."

Since then Chandler has almost been a member of the club.

When his movie commitments allow, he flied to San Francisco to watch his heroes perform.

"The round trip is still about two hours, but that nickel subway fare has jumped to $44 for plane tickets," he observed. "When I'm in the East and the Giants are playing a game in a nearby city I somhow manage to get over to catch them in action.

"It's been a long-time dream of mine to star in a baseball picture. The big drawback is the boxoffice. Only two baseball films ever made money — 'Pride of the Yankees' and 'The Monte Stratton Story.'

Foreign Market Best

"Foreign countries aren't interested in American sports movies, and that's where pictures have to make money these days."

Chandler still regards the Dodgers as poison. He is happy they have followed him West only because it gives him an opportunity to see the Giants more often.

"I may be crazy," Jeff concluded, "but I think the Giants are going to win the pennant this year. All they need is another good pitcher and they're in."

Bit parts: Tony Curtis has to learn to play the saxophone for his role in "Some Like It Hot." Actor George Montgomery husband of Dinah Shore, is a furniture designer and architect on the side. This week he was named "Woodmaster of the year" by the National Lumber Manufacturers Assn. Only in Hollywood department: The MGM Studio dentist recently left the lot to open an office close to Metro. During "opening week" of the new place he is dispensing pink champagne as a mouthwash. Mickey Rooney, currently filming "Andy Hardy Comes Home," next will star in his own production of "Go Home, Ulysses," a musical.

Culberson Chevrolet Fixes Your Truck For The Harvest

READY FOR THE WHEAT HARVEST—The smile on the face of Culberson mechanic Joe Pate comes from the satisfaction of a job well done and f rom the knowledge that more and more wheat men are driving their trucks into the Service Department of Culberson Chevrolet, 212 N. Ballard. The grain elevators are expecting a boom this year but Culberson's boom has begun already. No one wants to get caught in a last minute jam less than a wheat grower and when they see that their truck needs sensitive adjustment, they know from the past where to go.

It is not too early to get your truck and pick up in shape for the wheat harvest. Already growers are driving in at Culberson Chevrolet, 212 N. Ballard, to avoid the biggest rush in several years.

But wheat men are not the only ones getting their motors in tune. You don't want to be caught on a lonely road with a dead motor especially if you're taking the trip you've dreamed about all year and have the whole family along.

The Culberson Service Department has the men and equipment to keep your motor performing like a trouper, whether its under the hood of a car or a truck.

Also for your summer jaunt, Culberson will keep your car looking beautiful with a Porcelainize job to protect the finish from that dust.

Practically the last word in paint treatments, Porcelanize will do what no wax or polish ever did and will never have to be Porcelainized again.

Service Manager Perry Franklin, Assistand Service Manager Harold McCleery and their nine mechanics will get you out of the rut and into the wheat harvest or wherever you want to go.

Also, Alvis Sanders will 'porcelainize your car so that it will look as good as new.
