Berlin Reports Heavy Fighting Is In Progress

No Confirmation From Moscow; Reds Counterattacking

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, June 8—DNB in a Berlin broadcast today announced that the Russians had launched an offensive on a broad front in the sector north of Iasi, Romania.

A broadcast Romanian communique said "heavy fighting is in progress."

There was no confirmation immediately from Moscow, but a new offensive on the Russian front has been expected to put new pressure on Germany's east while American and British forces are attacking in France and Italy.

German Attacks "Diminish"

Last night's Moscow communique said German attacks north of Iasi have "diminished considerably," indicating the Germans may have been stopped in a push which they announced earlier.

Red troops counterattacking in the Moldavian province succeeded in capturing two heights from the Nazis, a broadcast communique said.

From May 30 to June 6 the Germans lost more than 10,000 dead in the savage fighting near Iasi, and suffered heavily through destruction of equipment, Moscow asserted. A Berlin broadcast agreed the battle had ended, but asserted at least 10 Soviet rifle divisions had been "wiped out or decisively mauled."

The Russian communique said minor actions had been fought northwest of Tiraspol on the lower Dnestr and near Vitebsk in White Russia.

Nazis Believe They Can Meet Threats

NEW YORK, June 8. (AP)—Nazi Germany is slowly withdrawing her armies along the eastern front and concentrating them behind powerful defense networks for an eventual "knock down and drag out" struggle with the Russians.

U. S. Heavies In Widespread Aerial Raids

Attempt Is Made To Clamp Air Seal On Norman Beachhead

(By The Associated Press)

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS Allied Expeditionary Force, June 8—A powerful force of 750 to 1,000 American heavy bombers swept a wide arc of south Normandy early today, smashing bridges, airdromes and railroad yards and junctions in a vigorous effort to clamp an air seal on the beachhead battlefield.

While Fortresses and Liberators, in the biggest aerial operation of the third day of the invasion, hit hard at installations from 100 to 150 miles behind the front, Marauders began the day of battle with a dawn attack on Caen.

The twin-engined mediums left the city on the main railway between Cherbourg to Paris burning with at least 20 fires from an attack at 4,500 feet.

These blows followed RAF strikes last night in which a series of rail targets near Paris and German transport 12 miles behind the invasion coast, were riddled with heavy cargoes of bombs. The transport target was a concentration in the forest of Cerisy where the road runs from Bayeux to St. Lo.

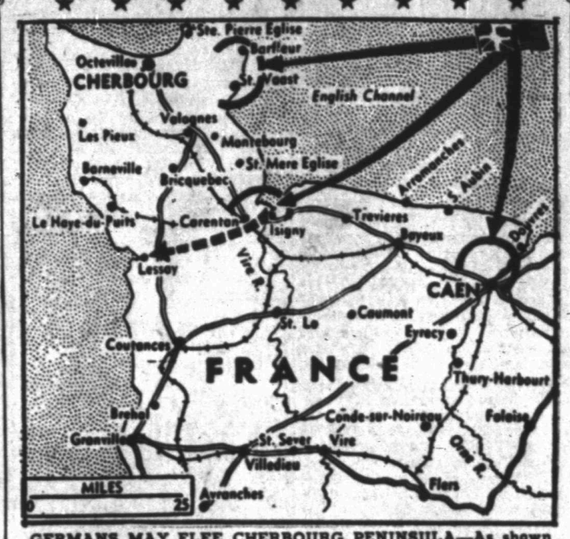

Weather Improving

Allied planes of all descriptions had flown 22,000 sorties in the last 48 hours and air operations were mounting today as weather improved.

Thunderbolt and Lightning fighter-bombers since 6 p. m. yesterday flew so continuously that they stopped only to refuel and re-arm between flights, setting out on new missions without waiting to repair bullet holes in their wings.

Among the fighter-bomber tar-

Atlantic Wall Said War's Biggest Bluff

BY RICHARD D. McMILLAN
Representing Combined Allied Press Distributed By The Associated Press

WITH THE ALLIED INVADING FORCES in France, June 8 — The so-called Atlantic wall along this coast constitutes the biggest bluff of the whole war for it simply does not exist. Some prisoners said the Germans had been frantically trying to complete defenses but the task had been too vast for them.

Although we have pushed far inland without encountering serious opposition, it must not be imagined that the Germans will not react as soon as they have grouped their panzer forces.

They tried to hold us in the region of Caen and Bayeux but our tanks were in greater force. We have thrown into battle British and American tanks and self-propelled guns.

Some of these actions have been responsible for demoralizing the enemy. All the French people with whom I talked spoke of the Nazi loss of courage. They may not be beaten but they are near to it.

Prisoners also said the defeats in Russia and Italy are known to the rank and file and they realize it is all up with their cause.

Our tanks are rapidly widening a great bulge.

Capture Of Port Of Cherbourg Is Next Objective

Heavy Battles With Tanks And Reserves Flare On Peninsula; Allied Air Forces Stage Terrific Pounding Of Sector

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS Allied Expeditionary Force, June 8. — Allied liberating troops, with the first phase of invasion accomplished, struck southward from captured Bayeux today in fierce fighting and began the second step of defeating German tactical reserves thrown into battle.

LONDON, June 8. (U.P.)—The United Nations radio at Algiers reported today that the Allies had captured Caen.

A steady stream of reinforcements by sea and air strengthened the massive spearhead, and Berlin reported a pincers threat to seize the tip of the jutting Cherbourg peninsula and its great port of Cherbourg.

The first phase of invasion, "which might be said to be securing a foothold and defeating local German reserves, has been accomplished," supreme headquarters announced.

Second Stage Beginning

The Allies now are beginning the second stage of defeating Nazi "tactical reserves," and still ahead is the third task of crushing "strategic reserves" perhaps massing already for a strong counterblow.

Specific directions and progress in today's fighting were not disclosed, but headquarters announced that medium bombers had struck heavily at the town of Caen, 16 miles southeast of Bayeux, starting fires. The Allies have plunged near Caen, nine miles inland on the peninsula's base.

Counterblows Repulsed

Prime Minister Churchill said Tuesday that there was fighting in Caen, perhaps referring to parachutists who had reached there. Nazi counterblows near Caen were repulsed yesterday, headquarters said.

Tactical reserves consist of forces immediately at Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's disposal — the full forces of the Seventh and Fifteenth armies which now are in process of engaging the Allies, as well as the German army group in the south of France.

Strategic reserves would consist of as much of the whole German army as the Germans might move in from anywhere outside the battle region—from Germany itself or other theaters.

American heavy bombers blasted railway installations at Rennes, Laval, Tours, Le Mans, Nantes and Angers, in support of the beachhead forces, flying out 750 to 1,000 strong.

A German broadcast, totally without confirmation, said 1,300 gliders used to rush in a huge airborne Army, had been destroyed or captured.

Capture of Bayeux snipped the railway between Paris and Cherbourg, 45 miles to the northwest, and opened the way for a thrust deeper inland.

But farther west the Germans

GOPs Win In Pre-Convention Skirmishing But Demos Still In Nominal Control Of House

WASHINGTON, June 8. (U.P.) — The pre-convention by-election skirmishing has ended with a spectacular Republican congressional victory but without dissipating nominal Democratic control of the House of Representatives.

Two Democratic vacancies in New York state congressional districts were filled this week. One district remained Democratic. The other—part of Lower Manhattan island and Staten island — went Republican for the first time in 32 years.

That left the House political alignment like this: Democrats 216, Republicans 211, Progressives 2, Farmer Labor 1, American Labor 1, vacant 4. The vacancies are in California, Illinois (2) and Louisiana. One of the Illinois districts was represented by a Republican and the other three former incumbents were Democrats. It is understood that the filling of all four vacancies will await next November's general election.

Demos Lack Majority

With their 216 members the Democrats now and for some time have lacked an actual majority which is 218 votes. But the party does control the House organization which means that the speaker and all committee chairmen are Democratic, that Democratic members have more jobs to give around the capitol than have Republicans. The Democratic party does not control the House, however, and has not for a long time. None can say exactly when the party or the administration lost control. But on many domestic issues now a coalition of Republicans and conservative Democrats can form instantly and often is able to defeat Roosevelt legislation.

The fresh tides of the early New Deal all but eliminated the Re-

MORE U. S. CASUALTIES

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP) — Secretary of War Stimson reported today that a recent three-day period of heavy fighting preceding the fall of Rome cost American forces in Italy 2,379 casualties.

American casualties in the Italian campaign from the landings last September to May 30 amounted to 57,559, Stimson said.

Of these 9,904 were killed, 38,554 wounded and 9,011 missing.

Civita Castellana is a junction of three highways, and also of electric railways to Rome and Viterbo.

Other Fifth Army units, speeding in a more northerly direction captured the town of Bracciano, 20 miles north of Rome, on the west shore of the large lake of the same name.

The Germans still appeared to be withdrawing in a bad state of demoralization, without any indication yet available as to when they might turn and attempt a determined stand.

An official spokesman declared "the battered remnants of the German 14th Army are in a con-

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here is the first eye-witness dispatch from the first town in France to be liberated. It was filed by Richard D. McMillan, veteran United Press war correspondent who is now with the invasion armies after covering the Mediterranean campaign from El Alamein to Italy.

BAYEUX, Allied Front Line, Normandy, June 7. — I toured the Allied front in Normandy all day today and entered this historic town of Bayeux with the first Allied troops who occupied it at midday.

It was a scene of rejoicing as the populace went wild and dashed through the narrow streets throwing flowers and crying, "God save the king. We've waited for this day. On to Paris!"

No Stars And Stripes?

The streets were blocked with cheering men, women and children. The Tri-Color and Union Jacks hung from the windows. Cafes threw open their doors and pianists began to play British and French patriotic tunes, as the crowds danced, shouting "Vive Tommy. Vive Amerique."

It was a scene of mingled war and peace through which I passed as I drove a jeep into the interior along part of the front line and then back again to the Allied coastal base. After a dusty, dreary morning the sun burst through and the skies cleared.

Havoc was wrought by Allied naval and air bombardment, which had wrecked some roads

Stimson Warns Of Hard Days

WASHINGTON, June 8. (U.P.)—Allied invasion forces are pouring reinforcements and supplies into their beachheads in France, but "only the first hurdle has been taken" and "we must look for the full fury of savage counterattacks in force at an early moment," Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson said today.

"We have come to grips at the beginning of the final test," Stimson said at his news conference. "At the end there can be but one decision."

Hard Days Ahead

But "there will be hard days ahead," he continued, and it will be "to our good to avoid excesses of optimism or pessimism." He warned that "we should not allow our imagination to outstrip the factual developments."

These developments, Stimson said, will include early launching of "real counteraction" for which even now "the Germans are gathering strength."

Full Fury Expected

"German troops are established in northern France in great numbers," he said. "Their air force has certainly not yet been driven from the skies. Their military command has plans of action which are undoubtedly beginning to move. We must look for the full fury of cavage counterattacks in force at an early moment."

He described Allied losses in the initial landings and in the air as unexpectedly light.

The landing of Allied forces continues, he said.

First Step Over

The first step in the operation, to establish beachheads, has now been accomplished, he explained. The second step is to consolidate them and repel local counterattacks and then move forward.

"The mobile reserves of the enemy will undoubtedly be developed into a major action against us," Stimson said.

"It is folly to believe that the time of counter attack will be short."

"Conditions will be changing from day to day and it will be to

Philippines In Bomb Range

BY WILLIAM PHIPPS

Gen. Douglas MacArthur owned an airbase today within bomber range of the Philippines — the Allies' first since Japan's steamroller crushed them back against Australia early in the Pacific war.

Toughened American invaders of Biak, largest island of the Schouten group off Dutch New Guinea, outsmarted the Japanese defenders to grab Mokmer airdrome after 12 days of savage fighting. Mokmer is only 880 miles southeast of the Philippines.

Announcement of the Yanks' Mokmer triumph highlighted Japanese setbacks in every Pacific theater except central China where fierce Chinese resistance was being overcome around Changsha.

This key Hankow-Canton railway center in Hunan province was being strangled slowly by six Japanese spearheads in a drive to split China from north to south.

But the Chinese pressed ahead of the Salween river front in their thrust through Yunnan province toward Burma where

Rainfall Over Area General

Rain, which fell in torrents in south Lubbock early Wednesday night and was general over most of the South Plains, was welcome to farmers in this area, according to reports received here this morning. The downpour was almost in cloudburst proportions in south Lubbock and estimated by many persons at two inches.

At about 7:45 o'clock water was knee deep in the vicinity of 2500-block on south Avenue H, according to Fire Chief W. E. Twitty, and many other streets in the south part of the city were filled with water. The intersection of Eighteenth street and Avenue Q was reported flooded.

Crop Prospects Good

Precipitation here was recorded by the central fire station gauge as 1.48 inches, while Don L. Jones of the Lubbock experiment station reported 1.18 inches there. Jones said this morning that the rain was not particularly needed in this section at this time but it was welcome and that crop prospects were good. He added that though the rainfall was heavy no crop

Trio Of Pilots Bags Three Nazis Apiece

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, June 8 (AP) — A trio of American fighter pilots was credited today with bagging three enemy planes each in defending bombers in a raid on Austrian targets May 29.

Capt. Samuel J. Brown, Tulsa, Okla., destroyed an ME-109 and two ME-110s, running his total to eight. Lt. William F. Hanes, jr., Atlanta, Ga., got three ME-110s and Lt. Norman C. Cross, Milford, Iowa, did the same.

Capt. Edwin J. Fuller, 49 west Washington, San Angelo, Texas, got one that day, and two more several days later over Ploesti.

Same Leaders To Head Drive

Essentially the same leaders who have served in all the previous highly successful campaigns have been named to direct the Fifth War Loan drive in Lubbock county, according to an announcement this morning by George Benson, co-chairman of the Lubbock-Amarillo federal reserve region.

These include Neil H. Wright, county chairman; E. J. Parsons, vice chairman; and the following colonels of divisions: M. B. Hilburn general solicitations; C. E. Maedgen, general solicitations; A. H. Maas, employed groups; Roy Boyd, rural; and Durwood H. Bradley, speakers.

Definite Dates Not Set

Although the national campaign will get under way officially Monday, definite dates for the drives in Lubbock county have not been set. The all-out effort so far as the city of Lubbock is concerned probably will be postponed until the third week of the month's campaign.

Details of drives in rural areas are to be worked out at a meeting of rural chairmen and committees in 72nd district courtroom, on the second floor of the courthouse, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Rural Chairman Boyd has announced the following community chairmen: E. A. Robertson, Cooper; R. S. Hobgood, Frenship; W. O. Fortenberry, New Deal; Henry Mahoney, Shallowater; Bailey Guess; Idalou; and Frank Bledsoe, Becton. Each is to name his own community committee.

The county quota in the drive is $4,685,000, including $1,110,000 of Series E bonds.

Mother Dies Before Reading About Son

BISBEE, Ariz., June 8 (AP)—A widowed war mother died from shock late yesterday before reading a message from the War department saying her son was missing in New Guinea.

"I'm afraid it's bad news," the messenger remarked to Mrs. Carmen Sotelo, 63, as he delivered the telegram. Mrs. Sotelo fainted as she reached for the message, and died without regaining consciousness.

FIRST PRISONERS LANDED

LONDON, June 8 (AP)—Displaying every emotion from arrogance to bewilderment, the first large group of German prisoners from the Allied beachheads in northern France were landed last night at an invasion port in England.

Nine Texans Saved From Damaged LCT

A BRITISH INVASION PORT, June 7 (Delayed) (AP) — Seventeen members of an American anti-aircraft battery, who survived a 10-hour ordeal on a half-submerged LCT that went down off the French invasion coast, were brought here today suffering from submersion but otherwise unharmed.

While the battle went on all along the beaches these lads clung to parts of the ship still above water until a U. S. Coast Guard vessel rescued them.

They included: Cpl. Melvin Adams, Hillsboro, Texas; Cpl. Henry E. Hammond, Hillsboro, Texas; Cpl. Albert Kalinec, jr., Wichita Falls, Tex.; Cpl. Lyle Stubbs, Crockett, Tex.; Pvt. Youths In Race For Boys' State Governor

AUSTIN, June 8 (AP) — Two 16-year-old boys, one from Abilene and the other from Houston, were fighting it out today in the race for governorship of the Lone Star Boys' state.

They are Boyd Rogers of Abilene and Frank West of Houston. The winner will sit for a time in the governor's chair at the capitol, while winners in other races will set up a legislature and function in other high state offices.

Four-To-One Odds Just Right For Him

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS Allied Expeditionary Force, June 8 (AP) — Flying alone as cover for ground troops, Lt. Billy Bryan of Cameron, Tex., a Thunderbolt pilot, met four Nazi aircraft. The odds seemed far too great even for a Texan, but he downed one, then another and probably damaged a third and shook off the fourth.

More Racketeers In Congress Than In Labor, Leader Says

WASHINGTON, June 8. (U.P.)—James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, told a House committee today that there are fewer racketeers in labor than "in the Congress of the United States."

Testifying in the investigation of government seizure of Montgomery Ward & Co.'s Chicago properties, Carey defended the action of the CIO union involved in the dispute and termed Ward Chairman Sewell Avery the "worst example of the worst element in American industry—in American life."

Questioned by Rep. William T. Byrne, D., N. Y., about activities of the union, particularly published reports of "labor racketeers," Carey replied:

"There are more racketeers in ministerial associations and in the chamber of commerce than in labor . . . and you have less racketeers in labor than you do in the Congress of the United States. Certainly less than in American industry."

Carey was not questioned regarding the statement.

Troop-Carrier Command Does Its Job In Invasion Pattern

(By The Associated Press)

A NINTH AIRFORCE TROOP-CARRIER BASE, June 8 — The troop-carrier command did its job.

Its men went into France at little better than 100 miles an hour unarmed and unarmored and within bow and arrow range of German machinegun and flak emplacements.

They delivered an army with weapons and supplies behind Hitler's Atlantic wall.

A tow rope broke while one group was forming up over a base and one glider had to land in a pasture several miles away while the rest of the outfit went on to France.

"When they went to pick them up in a jeep, the profanity was something terrible," said Capt. Frank Coffey, Lincoln, Neb., tow ship pilot. "The paratroopers had filed out and were stomping around giving us hell. "Blankedy blank blanks of blanks, they can't even get us where we are going,' one said."

LONDON, June 8 (AP)—John A. Moroso, Associated Press war correspondent, reported from an invasion port today that although "the assault was widely hailed as the largest in history, it actually was no larger in its initial phase than the Allied attack on Sicily."

Moroso witnessed both the landings in Sicily and in North Africa.

More Pay For Infantry Asked

WASHINGTON, June 8. (AP) — Emphasizing the great and dangerous task of American soldiers driving into western Europe, Secretary of War Stimson told Congress Wednesday that when it comes to casualties, the infantry suffers most.

He reported, for instance, that in the North African theater, including the hard-fought Italian campaign, the infantry represented only 19.8 per cent of the total of the casualties.

Asks Salary Boost

Stimson gave the fighters in a letter to House Speaker Rayburn (D-Texas) asking legislation for increased pay to specially skilled infantrymen.

Stimson urged action to provide a $5 a month salary boost for doughboys holding the expert infantryman's badge and $10 a month for those with the combat infantryman's badge.

Cost of the increase would total approximately $55,000,000 to $71,000,000 yearly, he said.

Figures Are Given

Stimson said the infantrymen's rates "in every combat theater are far out of proportion to their numbers."

He gave the following additional figures:

In the Southwest Pacific the infantry represented 15 per cent of the total strength, but suffered 26 per cent of the casualties; in the South Pacific, 33 1-3 and 50 per cent, respectively; and in all the listed theaters combined, 25 and 50 per cent, respectively.

Verdict Of Suicide Returned In Death

HOUSTON, June 8. (AP)—Justice W. C. Rangan has returned a verdict of suicide in the death of Capt. C. M. Crowell, for 20 years a shipmaster for the Humble Oil and Refining company, who was killed in a fall from the roof of a five-story hotel here yesterday.

In a signed statement to police, Mrs. Leslie Gamel said she and two other hotel employes went to the roof and saw Captain Crowell hanging from the ledge by his hands. She said someone had called the hotel from across the street, reporting the presence of a man on the roof.

"Please don't do that, for my sake," Mrs. Gamel said she called to him.

"All you say won't make any difference," the captain was quoted as replying.

Mrs. Gamel said he then smiled at her and released his hold on the ledge.

Zurita-Williams Match To Be Asked

PHILADELPHIA, June 8 (AP)—Ike Williams, winner over Sammy Angott by a split 10-round decision last night, will meet Juan Zurita for the NBA lightweight title within the next three months if Connie McCarthy, Williams' manager, has his way.

McCarthy said he plans to visit Abe Greene, president of the NBA, in a few days and request that the NBA chieftain order Zurita to defend his NBA title within the next 90 days. As Williams is regarded as the logical contender, McCarthy believes that will result in a Zurita-Williams match and, he's confident, a Williams victory.

Williams, Trenton, N. J., negro, and 2 to 1 favorite, had his hands full gaining the official verdict over Angott, former lightweight titleholder. He won on the vote of Referee Irving Kutcher after the two judges, Frank Knaresborough and Lou Tress, disagreed.

Knaresborough gave it to Angott, six rounds to four, while Tress called it a draw, four and four and two even. Kutcher gave Williams five rounds, Angott three and called two even. On the Associated Press score card, Angott won seven rounds and Williams two with one even.

Ft. Worth Receives Millionth Sheep

FORT WORTH, June 8. (AP) — Counters on the docks of the Fort Worth livestock market counted the millionth sheep to arrive since Jan. 1 Wednesday. Last year the million count was not reached until August 2.

Receipts have continued heavy during the first week of June, with more than 105,000 sheep tallied since Monday at the market and a larger percentage of spring lambs has been noted in the arrivals.

Prices have been steady to strong in all recent sessions as demand for the Texas sheep from packers over the nation continued.

Relief Coming, Lehman Says

WASHINGTON, June 8 (U.P.) — Director General Herbert H. Lehman of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration told the peoples of western Europe today that even as the military forces move toward victory the second phase of liberation—relief for the freed peoples—is on the way.

In a shortwave broadcast through OWI facilities Lehman said:

"In the train of the United Nations armies will come the necessities of daily life. Do not expect quick appearance of full peacetime stocks But you can depend upon the determination of your fellows of the free world that all the goods and services possible will be made available and fairly shared; that the free nations will act together in binding up the wounds of war, as they acting together in waging successful war.

"To help you realize it, there has been set up the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration—UNRRA—in which your representatives have a full voice. UNRRA has laid the plans for giving you a lift along the road to a secure and free life. Following the successful issue of the combat, the United Nations will help you take the next step on the road to freedom."

Texans Figure In Battle News

(By The Associated Press)

Into news accounts of the invasion today, as in other great military operations of this war, crept the names of Texans.

Lieut. Oliver E. Crespo, 818 Fifth Ave., Corsicana, was pilot of a C-47 troop carrier which flew over the Cherbourg peninsula; Fighter Pilot James Scott of 411 Sixth street, Brownwood, Tex., downed an enemy plane.

Shoot Down Planes

Three Focke-Wulf 190's, shot down invasion day by pilots of a photo reconnaissance group, were credited to "Peck's Bad Boys," group commanded by Col. George Peck, Gainesville, Tex.

Pilot of one big force of gliders on airborne assault was Lt. Joe Herriage, Bonham, Tex. Crew chief of a C-47 carrier on a similar mission was Sgt. Dennis Halpeska, Victoria, Tex.

Battleship Texas There

Photo Gunner Sgt. James Willis, San Antonio, on his first combat mission, was one of the first to see the landings.

And the name of the Lone Star State was borne into the naval part of the fray by the battleship Texas.

Across Europe from the French invasion site, from newly liberated Rome, came word that Maj. Harry J. Johnson of Houston had been named military governor of that city.

Brooklyn Youth's Boat Is First To Land On The Beach

BY B. J. McQUAID

Distributed by the Associated Press

ABOARD THE U. S. TRANSPORT BARNETT In The Transport Area, June 6—(Delayed)—Junior Grade Lt. Abe Condiotti, 23-year-old American boy from Brooklyn, commanded the first wave of small assault boats which set our troops ashore in this section of Adolf Hitler's Europe.

Condiotti's own boat actually was the first to touch on the beaches of this assault area, between Cherbourg and Le Havre. It hit the beach within less than a minute of H-hour, so it may well have been the first ashore of the entire channel invasion armada.

The boat carried members of an infantry company commanded by Capt. Leonard T. Schroeder, 25, Baltimore, Md., who is of old German-American stock.

Just as Condiotti's was the first boat to hit the beach, Schroeder may have been the first American, or even Allied soldier to invade Europe. He and his men were scheduled to land simultaneously with a detachment commanded by Capt. Howard S. Lee, Chicago, but Lee's first wavers were held up ten minutes by current conditions.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Southerners Out To Kill Fair Employment Practices Group

BY MARLOW AND ZIELKE

Associated Press Staff Writers

WASHINGTON, June 8 — Southerners are bent on destroying the President's Fair Employment Practices committee.

He created it, he said, to prevent discrimination against war workers or government workers because of color, race or religious belief.

The House voted to continue the agency. Southerners hope to kill it in the Senate.

For months now the "white supremacy" cry has rung in the South. Southern senators say the FEPC "stirs up racial strife."

Follows Poll Tax Fight

The FEPC fight comes soon after southern senators brushed aside a bill to abolish the poll tax in eight southern states.

Supporters of that bill said the poll tax discriminates against poor whites and negroes because having to pay to vote discourages the poor from voting.

The bulk of the complaints received by FEPC are from negroes. The 13 million negroes in this country are the nation's largest minority.

Percentages Are Listed

Here are the percentages of alleged discriminations, according according to FEPC, in complaints received: Negroes, 78 per cent; religious groups, mostly Jews, 10 per cent; aliens, 7 per cent; workers of other national origins, mostly Mexicans, 5 per cent.

Chairman Malcolm Ross og FEPC says: Much of the discrimination against Jews in war work occurs in help-wanted advertisements or specifications to employment agencies; application forms on which religion must be designated furthers such discrimination; training schools, realizing Jews may be hard to place, in many cases have refused to admit them.

Many of the complaints from negroes or people of Mexican origin take these forms: They are denied employment or are being kept back from advancement although capable of doing higher-skilled jobs.

Ross says FEPC never acts except upon complaint and that the agency, confining itself to war industries, "does not assume jurisdiction over social problems such as discrimination in restaurants or buses or other public places."

A firm which, although working on a government contract, insists on discrimination could suffer this penalty: Cancellation of its contract. Ross says this never has happened and that FEPC does not try to force war industries to employ workers who are not qualified.

The FEPC was first set up as part of the War Production board, then was transferred to the War Manpower commission and last May was created as an independent agency by Mr. Roosevelt.

Ceremony Read At Residence

Miss Lillian Hopping, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hopping, 2429 Nineteenth street, and Frank Hanes of Staunton, Va., were married in a ceremony read at the Hopping residence Wednesday night at 7 o'clock. Rev. J. F. Nix, pastor of Abernathy Baptist church, officiated at a double ring service.

An altar was formed at the mantel which was decorated with peonies, fern and pink rosebuds and lighted with tapers in candelabra.

Preceding the ceremony, Dorothy Ruth Hopping, the bride's niece, sang "I Love You Truly," accompanied at the piano by the bride's sister, Mrs. Earl Hobbs of Littlefield, who continued with the wedding march and offered "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise" as the vows were read.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a coral color suit with white accessories and she carried a bouquet of Sweetheart rosebuds.

Attendants Named

Mrs. Pat Boone of Littlefield, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Mr. Hobbs was best man.

Ring-bearer was a niece, Michael Hopping, of Anton.

Mrs. Hopping wore a lavender dress and a corsage of roses.

A reception was held after the ceremony for the wedding guests who were family members. The bride's table was covered with an antique lace cloth and centered with a three-tiered cake.

After a trip to Denver, Colo., the couple will be at home in Staunton where Mr. Hanes is instructor and tactical officer at Augusta Military academy.

He is a graduate of Tarkio college, Mo., and a former student at Cambridge, Eng., and holds memberships in Alpha Chi Alpha, Alpha Psi Omega and Chi Phi fraternities. He is a member of the First Families of Virginia.

Mrs. Hanes is a graduate of Texas Technological college and holds a master of arts degree from the University of Michigan, Ann Harbor, Mich. She has spent the past year in Lubbock and prior to that had made her home in Washington, D. C.

HOW TO RUIN DRESSES AND LOSE FRIENDS

It's tragic how some girls lose their friends and ruin their dresses because of perspiration odor and stains. And there's no excuse for it! It's easy to save dresses, it's easy to save friends.

Use Arrid, the new cream deodorant that helps keep your armpits dry and removes the odor from perspiration. Arrid is safe and dependable for these 5 reasons:

1. Does not irritate skin. Does not rot dresses or men's shirts.
2. Prevents under-arm odor. Helps stop perspiration safely.
3. A pure white, antiseptic, stainless cream.
4. No waiting to dry. Can be used right after shaving.
5. Awarded Approval Seal of American Institute of Laundering — harmless to fabric. Use Arrid regularly.

Arrid is the largest selling deodorant. Sold at all stores selling toilet goods — 10c, 39c and 59c a jar.

Unsponsored Electors File

AUSTIN, June 8 (U.P.)—Five unsponsored candidates for presidential elector filed applications for July primary ballot places, as well as 23 sponsored by the pro-Roosevelt faction, records of Secty. Chas. E. Simons of the State Democratic executive committee showed today.

Electors nominated by the original state Democratic convention stood pat on past procedure and the filing of their names directly with the secretary of state for the general election ballot.

One Is A Woman

The unsponsored electors whose applications were filed are: J. W. Hassel and Allen Wight of Dallas; Colland W. Harmon and Joe D. Sallas, Houston; and Mrs. J. F. Farmer, Fort Worth.

Names filed as electors of the pro-Roosevelt convention are: Mrs. J. R. Manion, Big Spring; Mrs. E. F. Bussard, Houston; Wilmer Sims, Abilene; Gaston Wilder, Beaumont; Gus F. Taylor, Tyler; Harry L. Seay, Dallas; E. Jones, Denison; W. T. Stanford, Linden; R. G. McDaniel, Corpus Christi; W. J. Stone, Nocona; Fred W. Clark, Van Horn; Jack Carter, Fort Worth; Woodville Rogers, San Antonio; Everett Looney, Austin; Mrs. Jud Collier, Mumford; Dave Reed, Austin; L. O. Robertson, Borger; H. Watts, Naples; F. M. Fitzpatrick, Waco; J. G. Jenkins, Rock Island; James A. McKay, Madisonville; J. D. Burns, San Angelo and John Field, Pearsall.

Whether electors' names shall go on the primary election ballot may be decided by the State Democratic executive committee at a meeting at Dallas next Monday, with a likely subsequent appeal to court for a ruling on proper procedure.

Russian Offensive

progress of the Red army.

Have Implicit Confidence

On the contrary, the Germans have implicit confidence in Hitler and the German high command, and believe they can meet the threats from both east and west.

From personal observation, from German officers and soldiers, from Russian prisoners of war and the German press and radio, I am convinced that the Russians haven't skimmed the surface of the reich's military power.

For there is little, if any, evidence to disprove that the German armies on the eastern front are fighting a delaying action at a minimum cost to themselves.

Reds Lengthen Lines

In the meantime, as the Germans continue to "disengage" and take "ordered and strategic" withdrawals, the Russians are steadily lengthening their lines of supply and communications.

But big battles are expected along the Bug, and there are reports of a great defensive line along the Vistula.

In all of this area, for six months the famous Todt organization has been building vast networks of steel and concrete fortifications.

The German high command has ordered stiff resistance on the Romanian battlefields, but how long that policy will be pursued is problematical.

To Protect Oil Fields

The command, presently, however, intends to protect the great Ploesti oil fields. From them, Germany has been getting about 30 per cent of her oil.

But from them, too, Germany has amassed tremendous reserves, so that if the fields are finally lost it still is going to be a long time before the war machine really suffers.

Germans laugh at Allied claims to have reduced Ploesti's production 75 per cent. And I saw scores and scores of oil cars pouring into southern Germany.

Germans are advised not to bother asking when the war is going to end.

"The answer to that," says Dr. Robert Ley, chief of the German labor front, "is this: When our armies have won the final victory."

Cigar-Smoking Paratrooper Knew He Had The No. 1 Spot

A U. S. PARACHUTE CARRIER BASE, June 8 (AP) — Capt. Frank Lillyman, the first Allied soldier to touch France in the assault from the west, didn't know when the invasion would come but he had been informed days in advance that whenever it came he would draw the No. 1 spot.

The cigar-smoking 29-year-old parachute troop officer from Syracuse, N. Y., was told of his trail blazing assignment along with Lt. Col. J. L. Crouch of Riverside, Calif., and their hand-picked crews. Crouch was the pilot of the big Douglas C-47 which was the lead plane of the parachute troop carriers.

Went In By Moonlight

They all trained together with secret equipment which permitted pin-point precision landings so they could direct other parachute troops and gliders to the "DZ"—dropping zone. The parachute troop carriers went in by the light of the moon before the assault on the French coast from the sea.

(A dispatch from the combat transport U. S. S. Barnett said that Capt. Leonard T. Schroeder, 25, of Baltimore, Md., may have been the first man to reach the French beach from the sea.

(Schroeder was the commander of the infantry company in the first assault boat which arrived on the beach within fewer than 60 seconds of H-hour Tuesday morning. This boat was commanded by Lt. (jg) Abe Condiotti of Brooklyn, N. Y.)

Lean-faced Lillyman, who weighs 140 pounds, was accompanied by 10 soldiers, all of them specialists in scouting, demolition, first aid and gunnery. The first man to follow Lillyman from the plane was Pvt. John McFarlen of (541 Walnut street) Abilene, Tex.

Phi Beta Kappa, oldest American college Greek letter fraternity, was organized at William and Mary college, Williamsburg, Va., in 1775.

House Membership

publican party as a legislative force. Here are some comparative figures of House membership over a period of years.

	1937	1942	1944
Democrats	331	222	216
Republicans	89	209	211
Progressives	8	2	2
Farmer Labor	5	1	1
American Labor	1	1	1
Vacant	1	0	4

These figures show a consistent trend away from the New Deal-Democratic and more or less left wing parties except in the case of the American Labor party which embraces a considerable Communist membership. The ALP has been represented in Congress since 1936 by Vito Marcantonio, a follower of the so-called Moscow party line, whose constituency is in New York city's Harlem, a negro section.

One Member In Congress

The ALP has held its own with a single member in Congress. But the Progressive and Farmer Laborites have shrunk from 13 in 1937 to three today and the Democrats are down 115 members from their 1937 figure. It is that trend which encourages Republicans to believe that they will win control of the House this year and by a substantial margin, regardless of the outcome of the presidential election.

It explains, also, why some Democratic congressmen who are not particularly enthusiastic about President Roosevelt's policies are whooping up a fourth term. They know Mr. Roosevelt is the strongest and many of them hope his strength will help them in their own districts. It is as simple and realistic as that.

Guam Attacked Again

American fliers, striking from central Pacific bases, carried new attacks to Guam, prewar U. S. naval base 1,595 miles east of Manila, to Nauru and Ponape.

Possession of Mokmer airfield came in a sudden drive which outflanked the Japanese. Held up on the coastal road west of their Bosnek beachhead, MacArthur's infantry threw a column inland and stormed Mokmer from behind. American losses were light, the communique said.

With Mokmer secured, the Yanks mounted a new assault toward Biak's other airfields — Borokoe, two miles west and a mile inland, and Orido, three and one-half miles west on the coast.

Few Prisoners Of War Available For Texas Farm Labor

COLLEGE STATION, June 8 (AP)—Only 4,500 prisoners of war will be available to Texas farmers for agricultural work within the next few months, the eighth service command has advised the Texas A. and M. college extension service.

Many prisoners have been moved out to help meet critical labor needs in other areas, the command said, sharply reducing the number of prisoners in the command's five state area.

C. Hohn, extension state farm labor supervisor, said farmers will be expected to pay the wages, cost of subsistence and transportation of prisoners working on their farms and their work must be limited to food production.

A recent agreement between the commanding officer of the eighth service command and the extension service will permit movement of the prisoners to branch camps for employment in harvesting crops wherever the extension service considers the greatest needs exist.

Mushrooms can grow through a concrete walk.

of Ward plants on April 26, Carey said Avery was a "disgrace" to Ward's stockholders and to American industry. He added that he opposed returning the properties to private ownership "until Avery agreed or demonstrated that he would abide by the War Labor directive. Avery's refusal to do so led to the seizure.

Carey said the "so-called collective bargaining in which they (Wards) have engaged has been a shame and a pretense."

Samuel Wolchok, president of the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Employes Union (CIO), said the CIO has obeyed its no-strike pledge but that Avery has consistently refused to recognize labor's rights to collective bargaining and is now defying the law.

The War Labor board has ordered extension of an expired maintenance of membership contract between Montgomery Ward and its employes pending negotiations of a new one. The company's refusal to obey a previous WLB extension order led to a strike by Wolchok's union and then to the seizure and federal operation of the firm's Chicago facilities. Company spokesmen indicated yesterday they would defy the second order.

Stalin Spotlighted In Invasion Plans

BY LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 8 — Premier Josef Stalin is spotlighted today by President Roosevelt as the forceful man who brought British and American leaders to agreement on undertaking the invasion of western Europe.

Careful examination of D-day statements by Mr. Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill reveal much of the background and some of the future of the great military adventures begun Tuesday on the coasts of France.

Churchill chose to look ahead. In contrast with Mr. Roosevelt's D-day news conference parrying of forward looking questions on grounds that they were improper for reasons of military security, Churchill frankly advised the House of Commons that more than one landing in Europe was contemplated.

Sucession Of Surprises

"During the night and early hours of this morning," he said, "the first of a series of landings of forces upon the European continent has taken place. In this case the liberating assaults fell upon the coast of France. . . . We hope to furnish the enemy with a succession of surprises."

That language sufficiently indicates the broad scale of blows to come.

The President dealt with the past, passing over that part of it in which he met with Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in May of 1942 for conversations which evidently convinced the Russians they had a second (western) front promise for that year.

Demonstration Expected

Mr. Roosevelt now expects the events and developments of the western front operation to demonstrate why the invasion could not have been undertaken a year or more ago at the demand of those then clamoring for it. That clamor came in its most vigorous and foreboding language from Moscow. It was echoed here in the Communist and left wing press. To make his point, the President ridiculed the statement of William Jennings Bryan, secretary of state in the Wilson cabinet in which Mr. Roosevelt served as undersecretary of Navy.

Opposing the comparatively feeble armament efforts of the Wilson administration — the first order for 30,000 metal helmets was let only after we actually entered that war — Bryan held that 1,000,000 men would spring to arms overnight for the defense of their country.

Arms Were Needed

What arms, the President asked his conference. He explained that it was lack of equipment that made it necessary to delay the opening of the western front so long and that men might spring but arms had to be made. Within a month of Pearl Harbor, however, he said, American military leaders and later the combined British and American chiefs of staffs were studying the possibilities of invading Europe.

It was six months later that Molotov came here on a secret mission. As he left, the White House issued a joint communique which contained this language:

"In the course of these conversations full understanding was reached with regard to the urgent task of creating a second front in Europe in 1942."

Agreed On At Tehran

When no European landings materialized the Russians became angry and Stalin protested bitterly and in public. It was not until the Tehran conference last December, Mr. Roosevelt said, that the time and approximate place of the invasion was mutually agreed upon. In Tehran the three men — the President, the premier and the prime minister — finally got together. They then agreed that the invasion should come in the latter part of May or the first days of June.

It was no more definite than that until very recently, the President explained, when D-day was fixed — June 5. Bad weather in the English channel caused 24 hours of unforeseen delay. Only the actual date and the name of the commanding general remained to be decided when the three men parted at Tehran.

Ike Has Memorandum

One of General Dwight D. Eisenhower's prized possessions is a soiled memorandum written by Mr. Roosevelt to Stalin from Cairo three days after the Tehran meeting. The President and Churchill had agreed at Cairo upon the man to lead the attack. The memo to Stalin read as follows:

"Immediate appointment of General Eisenhower to command of operations has been decided upon."

The word "immediate" was written above the others as further reassurance to Stalin that no delay was contemplated this time. The scribbled note was handed to a Cairo conference aide for transcription and was given by the aide to General George C. Marshall, chief of staff. Marshall gave it to Eisenhower who might properly regard it as the No. 1 military diploma of his generation.

Confidence Is Evident

Mr. Roosevelt smilingly pointed out at his news conference that since Tehran there had been no Russian clamor for a second front but that, on the contrary, there had been every evidence of confidence in Allied military plans.

This unquestioned attitude of confidence was in striking contrast with the feelings of Russia as expressed by Stalin on Feb. 23, 1943, almost a year after Molotov's "second front" conversations at the White House. On that bleak February day, Stalin issued an order commemorating the founding of the Red Army. Among other things, he said:

"In view of the absence of a second front in Europe, the Red Army alone is bearing the whole weight of the war."

Three South Plains Boys Nominated As American Farmers

SAN ANGELO, June 8 (AP)—The degree of American Farmer, highest award in the nation in vocational agriculture, will be awarded twenty-two Texas boys at Kansas City later in the summer if nominees are approved by the National Future Farmers of America.

The boys were nominated at a Future Farmers of America work conference here yesterday.

Brody Koon, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Koon, Sulphur Springs, was selected as the state Lone Star farmer.

American Farmer candidates include:

H. W. Jacoby, Eden; Garland Strain, Colorado City; Roy Henke, Kerrville; Charles Brown, Denison; Urfa A. Demsch, Poteet; Ansel Holmstron, Granger; James H. Horton, Timpson; M. Elton Ellison, Cooper; Milton Henza, Ennis; Larry Boswell, Whitney; Billy G. Ware, Plainview.

Spicer Gripp and Gabe Herndon, Panahandle; James A. Davison, Granger; Archie Bardin, Terrell; John Fitzgerald, Plains; Glen Rogers, Tatum; Jim McCabe, Dawn; Cal Jones, Spring Lake; Allison F. Freed, Azle; Edward Sugarek, Beeville, and George Walchar, Weimar.

WATSON WELL PAID

PHILADELPHIA, June 8 (AP)—Thomas J. Watson, president of International Business Machines corporation, was paid $427,348.94 during the past fiscal year, according to the company's annual report to the Securities and Exchange commission.

Of this, $325,548.94 was reported as "compensation based on earnings."

Rivals Of African Desert Match Wits

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The great (and undoubtedly bloody) battle which is boiling up from the Allied invasion of the Cherbourg peninsula shows increasing signs of becoming an exceptional game of wits between those old rivals of the North African desert, Field Marshal Rommel and General Montgomery—two of the fastest thinking and quickest acting tacticians the war has produced.

One is prone to regard all battles as chess games—but the rule doesn't hold. Many are won by overwhelming strength without any finesse, as witness Hitler's early victories when he rode roughshod over a helpless Europe. But the battle of the penninsula will turn in no small degree on the acumen of those great soldiers, Montgomery and Rommel.

Counterattacks Underway

Already the German local counterattacks are underway and there's fierce fighting. However, Rommel seems to be moving cautiously. Of course, before he rushes a big army to the peninsula he must be sure that this is one of the major Allied thrusts and not merely a feint to draw his fire while the main attack is made elsewhere. Still, one feels that he's holding his hand pending the moment when he can do the most damage.

That may account in part for the lack of German air power on D-day. The greatly depleted luftwaffe is being held in reserve for crucial battles.

Rommel undoubtedly would like to get a big Allied force farther inland before his major counter-assault. He's an exponent of tank action, and favors conditions under which he can make quick maneuvers. He may try to force an open battle. That will suit Montgomery—providing the Allies have been able to put ashore sufficient men an equipment. It's a race against time.

SOME DELAY EXPECTED

NEW YORK, June 8 (AP)—The British information service said today that the British general postoffice had apologized for not extending registered parcel service to the invasion beachheads and had expressed its regrets that some delay in the delivery of mail to the invasion troops "is to be expected."

TO ADDRESS GRADUATES

BIG SPRING, June 8 (AP)—Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Kansas State college and brother of the supreme commander of the Allied invasion forces, will address the graduating class of the Big Spring Bombardier school here Saturday.

National Becoming "Power" Circuit

Giants Lead With 161 Home Runs

By JACK CUDDY
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 8. — The National league, which for years accentuated pitching and strategy, is making a booming bid this season to wrest the reputation for "power" away from the American circuit, if current home run figures are any indication.

Paced by the New York Giants, the National clubs have blasted out 161 homers thus far; while the American division has garnered only 133.

Ott Leads With 14

Little Mel Ott, manager and right fielder of the Giants, tops batsmen of both circuits with his 14 four-baggers, a lusty contribution that lifts the Giants' total to 35, best in the majors. Because of the Giants' new penchant for round-trippers, they have stolen much thunder from their neighbors across the harlem river in Yankee stadium, long the residence of "Murderers' Row." The Yanks now can boast of but 20 home runs.

Other National league outfits are following the Giants' home run pace in this fashion: Pittsburgh 23, Boston 22, St. Louis 22, Chicago 18, Brooklyn 18, Philadelphia 13, and Chicinnati 10. Cleveland leads the American league with 22, followed by: New York 20, St. Louis 19, Detroit 18, Boston 16, Philadelphia 15, Washington 14, and Chicago 9.

Hitting To The Right

A feature of the National division's home-run splurge has been the bombardment of the short right field stands at the Polo grounds, where nearly one-third of the league's homers were made. The Giants achieved 28 of their 35 at their home grounds, and other clubs picked up 25 there. Only the Phillies failed to hit for the circuit in Ott's park. However, the Pirates garnered eight there.

Last season, the American league bested Ford Frick's division in home runs, 473 to 432, although the American section already had lost most of its leading sluggers—like Joe DiMaggio, Ted Williams, etc. The Yankees led the homer parade in '43, with an even 100; while the Giants were second in the majors with 81. Detroit's first baseman, Rudy York, topped both circuits with 34; and Bill Nicholson of the Cubs led the Nationals with 29.

York Has Only Six

York, a "late hitter," has only five homers thus far this season. Nicholson has six.

Whether the National leaguers will maintain their home run superiority over Will Harridge's circuit during the warm summer months can be answered only in September. We will hazard no guesses now as to the exact causes for the superiority, although a friend suggests that perhaps it is due partially to the fact that some of the Giants and Cardinals are taking vitamins.

Pirates Show Improvements

BY GLEN PERKINS
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, June 8 (AP)—Manager Frankie Frisch of the Pittsburgh Pirates considered the possiblities today of making basketball a regular part of the Pirates' spring training routine in years to come.

The fiery Frisch, who complained during training this year that he was developing a cage instead of a diamond team because bad weather at French Lick, Ind., forced his squad indoors much of the time, rapidly is becoming a basketball booster.

The Pirates, whom Frisch said could challenge the Indiana state high school championship basketball team to a game, have been getting along all right in baseball too. They strengthened their hold on second place in the National league last night to a full game over Cincinnati by beating the Reds 4-2 and drew within three and a half games of the idle league-leading St. Louis Cardinals.

Sewell Wins Seventh

Truett (Rip) Sewell, ace of the Bucs' mound staff, recorded his seventh consecutive victory and his eighth of the year as he pitched seven-hit ball to receive credit for the triumph.

The New York Giants stretched their streak of consecutive games in which they have hit homers to 10 by clouting four to trounce the Boston Braves 6-2 in a game in which all scoring was accounted for by circuit clouts.

Manager Mel Ott hit two, one with a mate on base, to increase his major league leading total to 14, six ahead of his nearest competitor. Phil Weintrub hit his third in as many games and Nap Reyes accounted for a pair of runs with his fifth of the season.

Dodgers Lose Again

In the only other National league game scheduled the Philadelphia Phillies shoved the Brooklyn Dodgers down into seventh place with a 6-5 victory.

In the American league the Chicago White Sox ran their victory string to seven games by defeating the Detroit Tigers 3-1 behind the five hit pitching of Orval Grove. Hal Newhouser's wildness largely was attributable to his own downfall as he issued passes to nine Chicagoans.

Tex Hughson ran his record to nine wins against four losses in his competition against the New York Yankees as the Boston Red Sox downed the champions 8-1. It was Hughson's seventh victory of the season and the Yanks' eighth loss in their last 10 games.

No other American league games were scheduled.

SCHOOL CONTINUES TODAY

In spite of a poor showing in attendance for the opening classes, the softball school at Chapman field will be continued this afternoon, it was announced Wednesday night by A. C. "Stumpy" Hamilton. Only 18 boys turned out for the first day of the planned four day session.

The boys were given some pointers on pitching and fielding and took a little batting practice before being dismissed.

Texas U.'s Sweetheart Helps Navy Get A Crack Gridman

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, June 8. — The Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., can give part of the credit to the sweetheart of the University of Texas for getting the football services of Ralph Ellsworth.

Ellsworth, all-Southwest Conference halfback and a track star at the university, is going to Annapolis because of Miss Jackie McKay; his grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Sapp of Cleveland, and an ambition to get into the Navy diplomatic service.

"When Jackie promised to come to Annapolis a couple of times a year, I decided to go," Ellsworth says. "And if I get a chance to play football for Navy, this will be the best thing that ever happened to me."

Only Girl Friend

The University of Texas sweetheart is Ellsworth's only girl friend. In spite of his heavy schedule, Ralph has never been too busy to play golf or ride horseback with the beauteous Jackie.

Ellsworth will be at Annapolis when the new term begins July 1. The appointment was offered him by Congressman Paul Kilday of San Antonio, the city where he first attained athletic fame as a footballer and track star with Alamo Heights High School.

He will not be commisioned at the Academy until 1947 so will have several seasons of football ahead.

No Pro Sports

Ellsworth isn't interested in professional sports and hopes to remain in the Naval diplomatic corps after the war. While he's in action, he hopes it will be on a submarine and that's the type of service he will request.

A fear that Coach D. X. Bible wanted him to stay on at Texas, almost caused him to refuse the appointment to Annapolis. But Mrs. Sapp, his nearest relative, and Miss McKay encouraged him to go to the academy.

Ellsworth is in the university Naval R.O.T.C. and had he stayed here would have received his strength, but suffered 70 per cent commission with the unit next November.

WACO FLYERS WIN

HOUSTON, June 8 (AP) — Hoot Evers took hero honors as the Waco Flyers defeated the South Coast All-Stars, 4-0, before a crowd of 3,490 here last night. Evers drove home three runs and scored the fourth from first base on a single.

Dodgers Get Stanky In Trade With Cubs

BROOKLYN, June 8 (AP)—The Broklyn Dodgers and the Chicago Cubs Wednesday completed a deal, in which the Dodgers acquired infielder Eddie Stanky in exchange for left-handed pitcher Bob Chipman.

Stanky came to the Cubs from Milwaukee two years ago, as a shortstop, but last season played mostly at second base. He led the American Association in batting in 1942, with a mark of .342.

Nova Winner Over Marshall Again

TULSA, Okla., June 8 (AP) — Lou Nova made it two straight over Jack Marshall of Dallas here last night, winning a 12-round decision before 2,500 fans after the Texan had scored a partial knockdown in the first round with a right hand smash as he caught Nova momentarily off balance.

More than 80 per cent of all automobiles in pre-war Greece were of American origin.

Games Rained Out Yesterday

It will be winners against winners at both Chapman field and Tech field this evening when junior baseball leagues resume play following Wednesday afternoon's washout of both games.

Bill Cope's Hemphill-Wells nine and Ted Forsythe's Montgomery Ward club meeting in the National League game at Chapman field while the American Business club and Rotary club nines meet at Tech field in the American League feature.

Games Rained Out

The opening of the season for the Optimist club and Lions club teams were washed out Wednesday evening by rain, while in the National League the battle between losers in the openers was also washed out.

In the National League openers, the games have been decided on the pitching strength of the teams, and strikeouts have been piled up by the chunkers, and in both games played to date the winner has been decided by one-run margins.

Galey vs West

The game this afternoon between the National League leaders will likely find Bob Galey on the hill for the Hemphill-Wells nine with Gerald West doing the chunking for the Montgomery Ward club.

Both these youngsters turned in some fine work in the first appearance on the mound for the season and another close ball game appeared to be in prospect.

In the American League game this afternoon, the starting pitchers remain in doubt, but the Rotary club is expected to use either Higgenbotham or Neal Sikes, but may start Alderson.

Mickey McCollum, who hurled the opener for the ABC, is the likely starter for that club. McCollum limited the Jaycees to four hits in the opener, but his wildness kept him in trouble most of the time.

No announcement has been made on dates for playing off the rained out games of Wednesday afternoon.

Bubba Floyd Is To Join Detroit Tigers

DALLAS, June 8. (U.P.) — The Detroit Tigers, who have bounded from the second division into pennant contenders in the American league, bolstered their infield in a move revealed today by Leslie (Bubba) Floyd, star minor league shortstop.

Floyd, who retired as a member of the Portland Pacific coast league club to work in a Dallas plane plant, said the Tigers had bought his contract from Portland and that he had accepted an "attractive" Tiger offer to come out of retirement.

The U. S. Treasury recently issued a statement to the press praising the work of the banks in the war effort. It was pointed out that 13½ billion dollars—over 80% of all bonds sold in the 4th War Loan—cleared through banks. Banks did this job at their own expense. They received no remuneration. They paid out large sums for salaries, overhead and advertising. We appreciate this recognition, but seek no special praise. We welcome the opportunity to help win the war.

THE fact that "a little nonsense now and then is relished by the best of men" is a fine thing, especially in times of great national stress. Therefore, it's good that numerous of our governmental bigwigs occasionally gather in Washington for a night of complete tom-foolery.

Probably no one knows how many such groups there are, or how often they meet, because they must be carried on "under cover," to keep participants from becoming self-conscious, or the targets for poorly conceived criticism. But there are quite a few loosely knit organizations which sponsor "monkey-business" get-togethers, in which all hands relax and have a good time.

Recently in Washington, a group of top-flight newsmen and officials got together for just such an occasion. Present were some of the "big names" in the government, as well as some of the equally famous radio and newspaper cognomens. Basis for the "rally" was a take-off on the spring exercises of some of the swankier Eastern colleges, including presentation of "diplomas;" a "daisy chain parade," led by two cabinet members; and the "planting of the ivy tree," upon which an outstanding and able senator built an oration which "laid his listeners in the aisle."

It seems to us that such occasional affairs are good for all who participate and even the President of the United States annually attends a Gridiron party at which he and his top aides, as well as his outstanding political opponents, are lampooned.

As long as busy people can relax once-in-awhile; as long as they are given opportunity to "take down their hair," just so long will they avoid taking themselves too seriously.

The practice, too, will permit them to store up energy and common sense against a later need for both.

The question used to be, "am I my brother's keeper?" Now it's, "do I have to be my brother's keeper-upper?"

IF you look far enough for it, you can find humor in everything—even in politics and in connection with the most hopeless of political aspirants.

Despite the paper shortage, we are receiving frequent "puffs" from the "state headquarters" of a Mrs. Minnie F. Cunningham who, for reasons not readily apparent, thinks she should become governor of Texas. These "puffs" characterize Mrs. Cunningham as a "farm woman."

For nigh onto 20 years now, we have been running across Mrs. Cunningham's name and activities in Texas and, later, in Washington. But not until she became a "candidate" did any of her publicity material—and there's never been a dearth of that—describe her as a "farm woman."

Ever since we've known of Mrs. Cunningham, she's been on a state, or federal, payroll—or on a combination of the two. But, of course, "farm woman" sounds better and lends more respect to a candidate than "longtime state (or federal) employe."

Incidentally, Mrs. Cunningham says her "platform" is "to mobilize the entire resources of Texas behind the fighting men and women." We can't imagine anything that would split Texas worse, and contribute to more confusion, than the election of bombastic Mrs. Cunningham.

Of course, she hasn't a Chinaman's chance to be elected, but it's fortunate that the age of miracles has past!

That Man on Avenue Q says this "planned economy" Washington is always talking about seems to have a strong similarity to "unplanned extravagance."

IN about a month now—the date still is uncertain—construction and furnishing of the new Boys club building, located at the corner of Avenue K and Twenty-fourth street, will be complete and Lubbockites who then gather to look it over are going to get the surprise of their lives.

The Plainsman visited the clubhouse the other day in company with City Commissioner J. Ray Dickey who, as an active member of the American Business club, is all wrapped up in the project. Our eyes "bugged out" at what we saw. That building certainly will be a credit to Lubbock and a monument to the ABC boys whose thought, work and "stick-at-itiveness" have made it possible.

When the commodious building is finished—and before a stick of furniture is placed there-in—a total of about $24,000, raised through the generosity of Lubbock people, will have been expended. But it has been spent well, because everything logically expected in a boys clubhouse has been provided.

There is an apartment for the caretaker and his wife; there's a roomy, "junior size" gymnasium with seats for spectators; there are game rooms, a library, a concession stand. Toilet and shower facilities, a wood-working room, storing closets and an equipment room are included. In fact, the building has everything anyone could hope for but a swimming pool which, of course, is out of the question at this time.

MR. Dickey, who, with others of the ABC organization has nursed and nurtured the project over a period of five or six years, says he expects an enrollment of around 600 boys and a daily attendance of somewhere in the neighborhood of 250. The full-time caretaker will have assistance in handling the kids by at least two other individuals, one of whom will be capable of teaching woodworking and both of whom will direct organized play both inside the building and on adjoining ground where "hard ball" and "softball" playgrounds will be located.

The Boys club is really going to be "something extra-special," and we advise one and all to attend the formal opening, date of which will be announced soon, so they may see for themselves the possibilities of this important civic undertaking.

The scientist who says it's safer to kiss a cat than a sweetheart may be right, but we doubt if it would be as much fun.

IN finally deciding to make public the identity of the Air Forces major general who "talked when he should be listening" in the matter of "D-Day and "H-Hour," the War department and the Army's High Command acted wisely. By their action, too, those great agencies exhibited their realization that the public has a stake in their affairs.

For a great many years—in fact, until very recent years — the Army and the Navy bigwigs took the attitude of "what we do is nobody's business but ours." They conveniently overlooked the fact that, after all, the people of the nation pay for and own the military agencies of the government, just as they own the capitol building. As stockholders in America, Unincorporated, they have the right to know everything about the operation of their military agencies, EXCEPT about those things upon which hinges national safety. Happily, the old policy is slowly being discarded, as it was in the case of the ex-general who was "busted" to the rank of lieutenant-colonel and sent home in disgrace.

There are still in service, of course, a number of high ranking Army and Navy officials who cling to the outmoded and never intelligent theory of "the public be damned." Because of their years of service, some of these are "top-side."

But time will cause them to make way for a new generation of leaders whose ideas are modern, rather than archaic. That some of them already have given way is demonstrated in the spanking of the twin-starred conversationalist.

SINCE time began women have been claiming that if they were running things this would be a better world in which to live.

MILLETT

They'd see to it that we would have good government.

It's been the bungling males, they tell each other, that have been responsible for most of the ailments inherent in the administration of our laws.

But a conversation I overheard while riding home yesterday made me realize that more than a little of the fault could be laid at the feet of the ladies, themselves.

"You know, I really hate to admit this," the woman sitting next to me told her friend, "but I have yet to cast my first vote. It just seems that there was always something that came up. Either my mother-in-law suddenly decided to visit us or the children were home with a cold on Election Day, or the maid took the day off."

WOMEN MUST VOTE

AND that's the way it's been with millions of "too busy" women every election year, who salve their consciences with the plea, "Well, my one vote can't make any difference one way or the other."

But that one vote multiplied by millions of other such uncast votes will make a difference in the coming election. This year we women voters must take the time not only to register at the primaries, but to study carefully the past performances and platform of every candidate, before casting our votes next November.

We have a grave responsibility to the men fighting overseas, and to our children, to see that the right men are elected to head our government.

Today's Journal Editorial

MEMORIALS FOR WAR HEROES

Much has been said and written during recent months about the desirability of "living memorials" to commemorate the personalities and deeds of World War II.

The idea is one that most people will endorse without reservation. To such people, it will seem infinitely more fitting that memorials to heroic events or individuals should be something useful, something from which the living might derive benefit and pleasure, than that it should be something without practical values.

Thus far, almost every conceivable type of "living memorial" has been suggested as a monument to perpetuate the memory of great events and great heroes of the present war. The suggestions have included highways, auditoriums, museums, public buildings of almost every kind, city parks, mountain peaks, and so on through an almost endless list. And most of them would be splendid memorials.

But the questions may occur to many minds: Is this the proper time to begin designating the memorials to World War II? Wouldn't it be wise to wait awhile?

Common sense tells us that, at most, there won't be enough memorials to go around. There will be more heroes and heroic events than there will be appropriate memorials of commemoration. Some of those deeds already have been performed. Some certainly lie in the future. Some were recognized, or will be recognized. Nor is it possible, at such close range, to judge performances or individuals at assured value. Something seemingly important now may turn out to have been not important at all. Something seemingly unimportant now may be recognized further along as having been most important.

None of this is intended as criticism of the "living memorial" idea. By all means, let's have memorials of that kind. But wouldn't it be wise to wait until we know what we want to commemorate before we begin dedicating the available memorials?

FDR's Peace Plan Timing Well Chosen
President Accepts Sumner Welles' Idea
Air Ace De Seversky One-Legged Dancer
"Lost Airports" May Yet Be Restored

WASHINGTON, June 8—White House insiders say that the President gave a great deal of thought to the timing of his permanent world peace plans.

Here are the factors which caused him to launch his plan at this particular moment:

1. The Republican National convention will now have to endorse the general thesis of world cooperation or else face the charge of heading the country toward another war. If FDR had waited much longer, he might have been accused of springing the plan too late for the Republicans to consider things properly prior to the meeting in Chicago, June 26.

2. FDR saw his old chief, Woodrow Wilson, wait until Europe no longer needed U. S. support to win the war, no longer needed food and relief. In contrast, the United States is at the peak of its war contribution, also at the peak of its bargaining power for peace-for-future machinery. The President decided to use that bargaining power when it had the greatest leverage.

PEARSON

3. Churchill's recent speech in Parliament proposing world rule by the Big Powers, also helped precipitate announcement of the plan. The President some time ago accepted the Sumner Welles thesis that the little nations must play an important part in the post-war set-up and it was considered a good idea to remind Churchill of this.

4. To boost U. S. prestige with European nations — Sweden, France, Yugoslavia, Spain, Ireland —it was considered a good time to remind them that the USA is still a friend.

NOTE—One difference between Cordell Hull and Sumner Welles which led to their break-up was post-war peace planning. Welles long had argued that the time to develop the peace machinery of the world was now — before the war was over.

Mr. Hull, up until he went to Russia last fall, had informed Senators that future peace machinery should be put off until after the war and left entirely to the State department to decide.

CAPITOL CHAFF

CRACK Air Ace Major de Seversky has been doing something besides design new planes lately. He has been dancing jigs before one-legged U. S. soldiers in hospitals to show them what a one-legged man can do if he has to. Seversky had his right leg shot off in World War I, but he says it was a godsend because he was able to smuggle $50,000 out of Russia in his wooden leg. His visits have given a lot of cheer and hope to one-legged veterans. . . . Representative Rankin of Mississippi says he has it all set so presidential electors will not vote for Roosevelt in the Electoral college but pass the buck to the House of Representatives where he plans to have Harry Byrd elected President. . . . Jim Farley is reported to have helped hatch the plan to have the Electoral college revolt against Roosevelt. Apparently Jim did it during his soft drink migrations around the country. . . . Congratulations to Lt. Harry B. Paul Barnhart for bringing laughs to the boys in the South Pacific with his Army show "Stars and Gripes." . . . Governor Willis of Kentucky is getting the reputation among Kentuckians of veering toward petticoat influence in the palace. Mrs. Willis seems to have quite a bit of influence.

OK FOR 28 AIRPORTS

THE President doesn't often loosen up on funds for municipal projects these war days, but it now looks as if 28 new airports in 17 states would get the presidential green light, despite the fact that they had been stopped by the Airport Approval board.

If so, a group of legislators who called on the President recently—Democratic Senator Gillette of Iowa, Republican Senator Burton of Ohio, Democratic Representative Randolph of West Virginia, Republican Representatives Stevenson of Wisconsin and Tibbott of Pennsylvania—will get the credit.

The President had prepared some advance ammunition when they arrived—a letter from the War department telling of the detailing of all the airports authorized for the country. He proceeded to read it in order to discourage his callers even before they got started.

"I'm glad you brought that up, Mr. President," said Congressman Randolph of West Virginia, "because that's just the opposite of what we have here. In this case, these communities had been approached by the government and urged to build airports for war uses. The communities did not take the initiative. But when urged by the government, they then cooperated 100 per cent. Men went on personal notes to borrow the money until bond issues could be floated. Land was purchased, buildings razed, $4,000,000 was spent by these communities. And then suddenly they find that someone in Washington has changed his mind."

Wisconsin Plea Voiced

Here Representative Stevenson of Wisconsin picked up the argument.

"Take the city of La Crosse," he said. "The people of La Crosse went to extreme lengths to cooperate with the government. They condemned land and actually forced families to move from 40 parcels of land in order to clear the airport site. And when a school refused to move, the people of La Crosse got the Wisconsin legislature to pass a new law making it possible to condemn the schoolhouse.

"Then, after all this trouble—after tearing down buildings, and when the contractor had all his machinery on the spot ready to start—your order of March 9 comes through, ruling that the airport is not a military necessity."

"Yes," interrupted Senator Burton of Ohio, "your ruling had the effect of saying that those communities which had put their shovels in the ground could go ahead with their airports, while those with shovels suspended in mid-air could not."

THE President argeed that his order had been too strict in differentiating between airports that had already started work and those with their land all ready to start. Meanwhile, Representative Stevenson went on to tell about the La Crosse project and how only a few weeks ago an Army bomber, enroute from Minneapolis to Chicago, was forced down on what was to have been the airport and nearly wrecked.

"A colonel had to come up from Madison, Wis., to get the plane out," Stevenson said.

"Only a colonel?" interrupted the President. "And after I've signed so many commissions for major generals. I'll bet he was a major general by the time he got back to Madison!"

In the end, the President seemed much impressed.

"It would seem that the government has a moral obligation to the people who have done all this work," he said, and promised to reexamine the whole matter.

ON BROADWAY

(Copyright, 1944, For The Journal)

FACES in the Night: Captain Don Gentile, the hero, and His Man Godfrey being idolized at the Latin Quarter . . . Governors Green and Dempsey of Illinois and New Mexico . . . Dudley Digges of The Theatre Guild set attracting respectful glances from the show folks . . . Tony DeMarco and General R. Johnson's pretty wife doing his amusing routine ("Mixing the Salad"), a smooth bit of rhumba footwork . . . Col. Vincent Sheean, the novelist, with his charming wife, depressed a little about the goings-on . . . Anne O'Hare McCormick, the N. Y. Times essayist, who makes sense . . . Lord and Lady Halifax strolling on Park Ave. with Secret Service men as shadows.

Sallies in Our Alley: Fred Allen says he never realized how terrible the 30 per cent night club tax was until he looked into one on 52nd Street last night . . . "It was so empty," said Fred, "that passersby thought it was a Gerald L. K. Smith-for-President Headquarters!" . . . Overheard in the Blue Newsroom: "What is wrong with sending a cruiser to a friend who has helped keep the enemy from sending a fleet to us?"

WINCHELL

Happy Ending: At Elsa Maxwell's apartment the other night the guest of honor was Rep. Clare Luce . . . Among the many distinguished people was Dorothy Thompson, with whom Clare swapped opinions out loud during the last presidential campaign . . . Mrs. Luce spellbound the crowd with an impromptu speech, reporting how nearly all present played a part in her exciting life . . . In her tribute to Miss Thompson, Clare affectionately quipped: "The warp and woof of my life is in this room. In fact, Dorothy is the woof-woof!"

MEMOS of a Midnighter: The Variety program, off for the summer, resumes in the fall . . . The Jennifer Jones divorce plan is static . . . "Summer Storm," a new flicker, is the talk of the industry. Wondering how it passed the censor. It features "Topic A", with Linda Darnell . . . Frank Kingdom's book, "That Man in the White House," is No. 3 on the best seller list . . . The Noro Morales orchestra returns after a Summer season at the Concord hotel, upstate . . . Delores, the Havana-Madrid hatcheck gal, is the adored of a Santo Domingo diplomat . . . Internal Revenuers are checking big bettors at the tracks . . . Midtown is buzzing about the demotion of a general who gabbed about the invasion with pals at a London bar. He's back here . . . The numbers racket has taken a topple. The racket bosses have stopped buying silk shirts.

Midtown Vignette: It reads corny and all that sortathing, but it happened in the park the other afternoon . . . The wife of a soldier and their very little girl were strolling . . . The child, about 3, hadn't seen her father for six months . . . She broke away from her mother's hand and ran to a corporal, clutching at his coat and screaming: "Daddy, Daddy!" . . . He picked her up in his arms, kissed her cheeks —then returned her to her parent . . . "I have one, too," he said, "out in California. Haven't seen her for nearly six months."

THE Big-Time: Guy Lombardo's disc of "Humoresque"—Decca . . . NBC's "Album of Familiar Music," a Hummert production . . . The ditty, "A Rainy Sunday," which will torchure the all-night listeners of misery music . . . Donald Buka's playing in "Helen Goes to Troy" . . . Pamela Rivers in "Pickup Girl" . . . Hubbard Hoover's piece in Good Housekeeping, "The Harm Done by Good Women" . . . The Chinese Theater (at Chatham Square and East Broadway), a continuous circus.

The Late Watch: Man Mountain Dean, now a sergeant, has shelved over 100 lbs. but still weighs over 300. . . . The new draft cards will be "impossible" to forge. To be printed on paper similar to currency . . . A firm that shipped defective mine detectors (after they were condemned) will wind up in trouble soon . . . Some brawl outside a 55th Street hotel the other ante meridian. It featured many socialites who got scarred. Thrown bottles, much screaming, etc. . . . The films, "Intermezzo" and "Rebecca" will be re-issued . . . Everybody on Broadway is rooting hard for the plucky cast of "Dream with Music." The out-of-towners, who are filling the seats, love it.

SIDE Street Sideshow: Co-Pilot Hanson from Cleveland (who had just been discharged from the Walter Reed hospital) came into a bar on a recent afternoon . . . He ordered two drinks . . . Told the bartender that he and a buddy (during action overseas) made a deal . . . That the first time they hit New York they would have their first drink there . . . But their plane was shot down . . . Hanson's wounds healed . . . His buddy died . . . After toasting his pal's memory — he paid the check, blew a kiss to the untouched drink . . . And walked out.

Illness Kept Under Control In U. S. Despite War's Hazards
American Health Standards Continue High

BY BURTON HEATH
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 8 — Thus far—and let's knock on wood and walk three times around a chair before finishing the boast—thus far the American people have avoided marvelously most of the health hazards which wartime conditions have been a few epidemics that might have been serious, but weren't. In spite of the shortage of doctors, nurses and hospital facilities, and despite crowding, record-breaking mobility, and questionable sanitation provision in many boom communities, our few epidemics have been brought or kept under control before they could do great damage.

NO KNOWN CURE

INFLUENZA gave us a fright. Originating last November in the Great Lakes region and spreading quickly all over the country, the dread "flu" claimed 128,610 victims in its peak week, that of January 8, which brought the total to that time up to 450,722 cases. Some health officers reported that from 10 to 25 per cent of the populations in their areas were affected.

But World War II influenza was a weak, pale, listless imitation of the deadly scourge that swept the nation in 1918. Whereas the death rate at the peak during World War I rose to 64.8 persons out of every 1000, the 1943-4 peak was at the rate of only 19.3 persons out of every 1000. These were deaths from all causes, including influenza.

This is interesting because influenza is one disease for which neither preventive nor cure has been discovered — one disease in which the marvelous sulfonamides appear to be of no use. Moreover, influenza is a disease transmitted readily from person to person, and therefore is of the type which overcrowding, improper ventilation, the promiscuous contacts promoted by present-day mobility, could be expected to spread thoroughly among tired, overwrought workers.

The other "major" epidemics have been Menigococcus Meningitis, which most of us prefer to call cerebro-spinal fever, and of infantile paralysis.

MEASLES INCREASE

THE meningitis epidemic began last year and still persists. During 1943 more than 18,000 cases were reported, which constituted an all-time record and was about nine times the normal incidence. But the cases were relatively mild, they responded well to the sulfa drugs, and in the words of Public Health Surgeon-General Thomas Parran, mortality was "surprisingly low."

Infantile paralysis, likewise, attained a peak last year with 12,000 cases, the highest since 1931. For this no preventive has ever been found. But better treatment and after-cure have minimized its crippling effects.

This year shows sharp increases in measles and scarlet fever, which struck in late winter and early spring about 50 per cent above a normal level. These, too, are types of disease spread most easily under the hectic conditions bred by war! but as a matter of fact, the measles, at least, probably would have been just as bad if there had been no war.

MALARIA CONTROLLED

MEASLES run in three-year cycles, and 1944 was their year. So far as figures now available indicate, they are just about normal for an epidemic year. The cycle is no old wives' thale; it is a fact established by public health records. The reason suggested is that babies begin life with an immunity to measles, which wears off. An epidemic hits most of those who are susceptible, cleans up the field, and then there is a lapse until a new crop of babies outgrows immunity and provides a new crop of potential victims.

There was a local outbreak of small pox in southern California in February, and early this year Harrodsburg, Ky., and Peru, Ind., had localized scares from typhoid. In the latter there were 144 cases, which were traced to infected cheese. Two cases of bubonic plague on the west coast were reported last year.

Control measures pressed hardest in war camp areas have brought malaria to its lowest ebb in Army history—three cases for every 10,000 men stationed at home bases. And with the aid of sulfonamides and penicillin, syphilis and gonorrhea are taking a terrific beating.

USE SEA POWER TO GET
HOGS IN A HURRY
FEED STANTON'S
20% PIG RATION
Today, more than ever before, it is extremely important to speed up growth and keep mortality down in young pigs. Feed is too precious to waste on the laggards and pork is too valuable to lose before it goes to market. Stanton's 20% pig ration provides extra protection against both. In hundreds of hog lots, it is working consistently to improve pig health, speed up growth and reduce mortality because it gives little pigs the same kind of boost that chick starter gives to baby chicks. It is being fed widely to sows before farrowing and through creep feeding—to pigs from 2-3 weeks of age on up.
MANAMAR
In Stanton's 20% pig ration supplies the hard-to-get feeding essentials—fish proteins, food minerals and vitamins, including the important Vitamin B "complex."
B-G PLUS
Is a patented vacuum concentrated extract from fish. This new and potent product, resulting from ten years of ceaseless research and experiment, supplies extra tract minerals and vitamins in Stanton's 20% pig ration.

Roman Port Taken

siderable state of disorganization. Upwards of 40 wehrmacht formations are represented in the collection of prisoners taken in the exodus from Rome and beyond. Apparently even battalions are attaching themselves to whatever higher echelon is available."

Allied forces driving due north of Rome captured Field Marshal Albert Kesselring's former headquarters, about three miles southeast of Civita Castellana.

The drive on Civita Castellana, about 25 miles northeast of Rome, made rapid progress up highway three and an official report that reconnaissance elements encountered some opposition west of the town indicated it might be bypassed first.

Enter Tiber Valley

The Eighth Army, meanwhile, punched into the Tiber valley above Rome and forged northward along the east banks of the river.

Gen. Sir Oliver Leese's men captured the important town of Monterotondo, 12 miles northeast of Rome, and the same distance northwest of Tivoli, and the nearby towns of Sant' Angelo, Romano, Guidonia, and Mentana. Guidonia has an air field.

Farther to the east the Eighth Army captured Subiaco, about eight miles south of the main highway running across the Italian peninsula from Rome to the Adriatic, and stabbed up on a lateral road which had been one of the main German lines of retreat.

Around Subiaco, the site of an ancient Benedictine monastery, enemy tanks and infantry put up a stiff scrap and the line of advance for armored units was held to the road.

Adriatic Flank Gains

Near the Adriatic flank, Eighth Army troops followed up the withdrawing Germans, gaining two to three miles.

The capture of Civitavecchia, whose population is approximately 36,000, gives the Allies a valuable port, which has been enlarged greatly in recent years.

Between 250 and 500 Fortresses and Liberators yesterday pounded rail lines on the French Riviera, the port of Livorno, the Voltri shipyards west of Genoa, and the Savona rail yards.

Fighter bombers continued to hammer the retreating enemy columns, destroying or damaging at least 384 vehicles. The advance to Civitavecchia brought the advance guard of the Fifth Army to within 115 miles of Florence and 120 miles of Livorno.

Farmers of northern China blindfold one eye of their ponies to keep them from getting dizzy while walking in a circle as power for grinding corn in their ancient mills.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT
CHICAGO, June 8 (AP) — In the slowest trade in many weeks grain futures held about steady today, supported by short covering and a scarcity of offerings following a short-lived flurry of commission house selling at the opening. Traders showed an inclination to await further war developments and additional crop news.
Wheat closed ⅛ to ⅞ lower than yesterday, July 81.50½. Oats were unchanged to ⅝ lower, July 74½-¾. Rye as ⅝ to 1¼ lower, July 81.03-1.03½. Barley was unchanged to ⅝ lower, July 81.18¾.

LEADERS IN LOSING TERRITORY
NEW YORK, June 8 (AP) — Despite feverish activity in motors and automotive accessories, a number of which touched peaks for the year or longer before meeting sales resistance, numerous stock market leaders today operated in losing territory.
Specialties such as Packard turned over in blocks running to 12,000 shares before midday. Rails were heavy. The pace slowed eventually and fractional declines were in the majority near the close. Transfers approximated 900,000 shares.
At 1944 highs — some eventually wavered — were Packard, Willys-Overland, Martin Coach, Murray Corp., Evans Products, Corn Products, Spiegel and Gillette Safety. Mines revived in the final hour with Homestake and Home Sound jumping a point or so. Backward were Union Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Dow Chemical, Johns-Manville, Montgomery Ward, Boeing, Chrysler, and U. S. Rubber.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT
NEW YORK, June 8 (AP)—Cotton futures fluctuated in a narrow range today as traders awaited further war developments and action on price control legislation. Dribbling liquidation and hedge selling lent a barely steady tone with offerings absorbed through scale down mill buying and covering.
There was a moderate amount of switching from July into later months anticipating first notice day June 27.
Futures closed 8 to 10 cents a bale lower.

McMillan's Story

and many hamlets which the Germans had used as headquarters.

Some villages were entirely deserted; in others some civilians remained and rushed out with clutching hands, screaming for joy. One village woman, Madame Andreenicholas told me:

"Oh! The Germans were really wicked. They took everything we had. Recently Rommel came to this village on a visit of German coast defenses. The Nazis turned out in force. Rommel told them 'These positions are impregnable.' We knew he was lying because most German troops told us frankly 'The British and Americans are now too strong for us. But we'll fight on nevertheless until the last man'."

Prisoners Are Taken

Along the country lanes subdued looking German prisoners streamed toward prison cages near the beaches. Allied artillery was posted amidst Flanders poppies in the field pounded by the enemy beyond Bayeux.

British and German dead lay in the sunlight on the road shoulders. In the fields peasants tended their sheep and cattle as if this day were no different than any other. Allied war machines rolled past along the dusty highways, but the only sign the stolid peasants gave was a wave of the hand.

Question Is Asked

It was townspeople like those of Bayeux who really showed appreciation repeating again and again "C'est le jour de la liberation" (This is the day of the liberation.)

Everyone wanted to know "When will we get to Paris?"

Some women explained they were refugees from the capital. Some said "we are separated from our families and children and have been longing for the day when you would arrive so we could be reunited with our loved ones."

Want Radio Sets Back

In Bayeux, all were anxious for news of the invasion.

"Will you please go to Monsieur le Maire and explain that we must have our radio sets returned?" a man wearing overalls asked me when he found I spoke French.

"They confiscated all our wireless sets in the past few days because they feared we would listen in and carry out the sabotage orders given."

Battle Opened For Cherbourg

pictured Allied forces already with in 20 miles of a junction that would choke off Cherbourg itself.

Berlin declared house-to-house fighting raged in Ste. Mere-Eglise, 20 miles southeast of the port, and said parachutists had landed on the west coast only a score of miles southwest of Ste. Mere-Eglise.

There was no Allied confirmation of west coast landings or fighting at Ste. Mere-Eglise, on one of the two main roads to Cherbourg.

Heavy Battles Flare

Heavy battles, with tanks and reserves sped up by both sides, flared over the peninsula. Allied beachhead troops are linking up with airborne forces dropped deeper inland, headquarters said, and improvement in adverse weather aided reinforcements from glider sky trains.

Field reports declared British-Canadian troops had captured a number of French towns and villages, advancing on open roads to points some miles from the coast. Infantrymen rode up to battle on bicycles and tanks to speed the advance.

Caen Is Aflame

Powerful air armadas scourged German defenses today, with 750 to 1,000 Flying Fortresses and Liberators mauling bridges, railroad targets and airfields in an arc 100 to 150 miles south of the beachheads, and U. S. Marauders starting fires in Caen, southeast of Bayeux, toward which a beachhead force is driving.

Canadian and British troops have captured several hundred prisoners and shot up numerous Nazi 88-millimeter guns, field reports said. Canadian Press Correspondent Ross Munro, with Canadians in an unidentified sector, said the Germans were reported falling back in one area under persistent attacks, and "strength is being built up rapidly in the Allied bridgeheads for the big battles which should come any day, or even any hour."

Heavy Casualties Claimed

The German high command declared the Allies had opened an attack from the bridgehead between Caen and Bayeux, and that Nazi forces counter attacked. Heavy fighting continues, it added.

Berlin said Americans who gained a foothold north of Carentan, some 27 miles southeast of Cherbourg, had suffered heavy casualties. It also claimed successes near the Orne river mouth, above Caen.

A landing attempt in the bay of St. Martin at the northwest tip of the peninsula, near Cap de la Hague, was frustrated, the enemy high command said.

Engineer troops joined the flood of Allied reinforcements, helping in tearing down Atlantic wall defenses, and a U. S. Ninth Air force troop carrier report of flying in jeeps and guns disclosed the Allies had captured or built at least one airfield on the peninsula.

"Everything is going excellently," said Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, ground forces commander.

Have 50-Mile Stretch

It is now apparent the Allies have several beachheads on a 50-mile coastal stretch between Caen and Carentan, with some of them joined together.

Headquarters was silent on Berlin reports that parachutists in a deep daring thrust had landed at Falaise and Argentan, 30 miles southeast of Caen, with street fighting flaring in Falaise. The Germans said eight to 13 Allied divisions were fighting on the peninsula.

Thundering naval support of the drive continued, and Allied airmen destroyed 102 Nazi planes yesterday.

Some of the troops have been fighting continuously since Tuesday morning, and it is likely there may be a short lull in advances as they rest, regroup, and bring up supplies.

First City To Fall

Supreme headquarters described the capture of Bayeux, five miles inland from the central Normandy coast and first French city to fall to the invaders, as "very important news" because it opens up avenues for a new advance deeper into France.

"Progress continues despite determined enemy resistance," said this morning's communique. "Fierce armored and infantry fighting has taken place."

Nazi Aircraft Appearing

A Berlin broadcast indicated south-bound Allied forces already had left Bayeux behind. This report said "hard fighting" still was in progress against an Allied group "which launched a thrust immediately south of Bayeux." Berlin identified the group as British and Canadian infantry and tank units.

German aircraft began to appear in the battle areas in greater numbers. In the past 24 hours, headquarters announced, a total of 102 enemy planes were destroyed — 82 in air combat and 20 on the ground.

The enemy-controlled Vichy radio declared Marshal Rudolf Gerd von Rundstedt had told his German troops to defend the Atlantic wall "to the last man," but nevertheless Berlin broadcasts conceded that in three days the Allies had steadily expanded the invasion bridgehead—which Axis sources said stretched from Valognes, near the tip of the Cherbourg peninsula, to a point north of Caen.

Weather Is Improving

A communique last night indicated a battle was in progress for Caen, 18 miles southeast of Bayeux and nine miles from the sea, but this morning's announcement made no further reference to the town.

Returning Allied fliers said Caen was burning. A German tank column counter-attacked in that area late Tuesday, but headquarters said the thrust was repulsed.

Supreme headquarters announced today Allied troops had crossed the Bayeux-Caen highway at several points.

The weather is definitely improving, it was announced here, but unloading on the beaches had to be halted at times yesterday because of rough waters. The lost time was almost made up by "superhuman efforts on the part of the landing craft crews," a spokesman said.

It was declared that the capture of Bayeux, a key road and rail junction between Caen and Cherbourg, was particularly important because troops advancing inland from there "have no rivers to cross as the rivers run north and south."

The Drome river near the thown provides a route that would help sever the peninsula and isolate the great port of Cherbourg — needed by the Allies to bring in heavy guns and equipment.

Nazi Losses Total 144

More than 2,000 of the 9,000 sorties flown by the Allies in the 24 hours ending at midnight were made by these fighter-bombers which shot down six enemy aircraft and lost 21 of their own number.

A total of 144 German planes had been knocked down in the last 48 hours, and 20 others destroyed on the ground. The last tabulation showed the Allies had lost 119 aircraft, but supreme headquarters was not attempting to keep an up-to-the-minute tabulation and was leaving the announcements of losses to the individual commands.

Nazi night fighters stalked the British formations and scored their biggest kill of the invasion, knocking down 29 of the RAF big bombers.

Targets attacked today by the heavies, which carried out two missions yesterday, were located roughly in the regions of Chateaudun, Lemans, Rennes, Nantes and Tours, all large French towns and strategic communication points. They were accompanied by about 500 Mustangs, Lightnings and Thunderbolts.

Cerisy Targets Important

The air ministry said the well-hidden Cerisy wood targets was of great tactical importance and had to be attacked at low level because of 7,000-foot clouds.

Other RAF formations attacked the German city of Cologne at the crossing of the Rhine and laid mines.

The pattern of attack for RAF medium bombers changed last night to operations against six railroad stations south and west of Caen where the enemy was observed detraining during the daylight.

Eleven victories over enemy aircraft were reported by the night raiders. Eighty-two German planes were destroyed in the air and 20 on the ground during daylight yesterday as Allied planes flying more than 9,000 sorties bombed and strafed the Germans on the Normandy beachheads and penetrated 100 miles inland.

The weather was better for aerial operations today than it had been since the invasion started.

The Germans were putting up a stiffer fight in the air than they had previously. It was announced that small formations of Nazi planes had attacked Allied troops on the beaches yesterday for the first time, and the Air ministry said that big British Lancasters and Halifaxes had encountered more enemy fighters than usual last night.

Paris Areas Raided

The Paris area rail junctions of Acheres, Versailles, Massy-Palaiseau and Juvisy were hit by the night raiders in operations having the announced purpose of delaying German east-west military traffic.

A German troop and transport concentration in a wooded area 12 miles from the French invasion coast also was attacked.

Many of the big British sky giants bombed their targets from the almost unprecedented low level of 1,000 feet. One plane attacking from 900 feet was bounced about in the air by the force of its exploding bombs.

The German radio said today major Allied air attacks had been made against Lorient and Nantes on the west coast of France in the early morning hours today.

German planes struck a weak blow at England during the night, appearing over East Anglia and dropping some bombs in an area near a coast town. At least three of the enemy planes were destroyed.

Reinforcements Landed

Additional reinforcements for air-borne troops were flown into France overnight. Jeeps, anti-tank guns, motorcycles, radios and medical equipment were among the supplies dropped by parachute and unloaded on landing strips.

American and British war planes of every type have harried the Nazi lines of communication into the Cherbourg peninsula and blasted out the Germans' secret stores in missions designed to slow down defensive operations as much as possible.

U. S. Flying Fortresses and Liberators were observed returning over London today as the SHAEF furnished a description of the latest heavy British night attack.

The British heavy bombers attacked a large German troop and transport concentration behind the invasion front in response to an urgent appeal from the ground forces.

Reconnaissance planes had spotted the target carefully during the daylight and the big night bombers were able to saturate it with explosives. The place was believed to have been a key refueling point for German tank units opposing extension of Allied beachheads.

MANY ARE CALLED

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb.—After seven months at White Horse, Yukon territory, Frank Fillingham stepped off the train here and walked into the depot just as someone called his name.

It was his draft board clerk, who was checking men as they entrained for Denver to take their preinduction examinations.

Fillingham, 27, was given time to rush home, say hello to his wife and two children and return in time to catch the train to Denver—where he was accepted for the Army.

FIVE ALARM THEFT

CHICAGO—Battalion Chief Joseph Wirfs' shiny red car, complete with red and green lights, spotlights, a gong and a siren, and Chief Wirfs' helmet and boots, was stolen in front of his fire station.

Police, trying to chase down the thief, repeatedly stopped one red automobile that was speeding to Chief Wirfs' station to replace the stolen machine. They stopped two conspicuous scarlet machines but both were driven by division fire marshels. Wirfs' red car could not be found.

G. I. Bill Education Benefits Approved

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP) — Conferees on the "G.I. Bill of Rights" veterans aid legislation agreed today on maximum educational benefits of $500 a year for not more than four years.

The provision, intended to assist veterans whose education was interrupted by their military or naval service, is designed to permit them to complete courses interrupted by their induction.

Brown To Command State Guard School

AUSTIN, June 8 (AP) — Col. Hobart B. Brown, Army cavalry officer and former training officer at Fort Sam Houston, will be commandant of the Eighth Service Command Texas State Guard school at Camp Bullis during July, it was announced today.

The Camp Bullis school for commissioned officers and selected non-commissioned officers of Texas State guard units will be divided into four weekly programs, Lt. Col. George D. Thomas of the Texas State guard said.

Eisenhower Visits Beachhead Vicinity

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 8 (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower made the journey across the channel Wednesday to the beachhead vicinity in a Royal Navy warship along with Admiral Sir Bertram Ramsay and several staff officers, it was announced last night.

HAVE UNIQUE ROLE

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS Allied Expeditionary Force, June 8 (AP) — Marines played a unique role in the invasion. Picked Leatherneck sharpshooters rode high in the masts of the big ships of the bombardment force and picked off floating mines with their rifles.

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP) — Senator Clark (D-Mo) was appointed acting president pro tempore of the Senate. Vice President Wallace, who usually presides, is visiting China and Siberia.

Revisions In Beef Ceilings Proposed

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP) — Government food officials and representatives of cattle producers conferred today on proposed revisions in beef cattle ceiling prices designed to encourage early marketings from crowded western ranges.

Suggested by the Office of Price administration, the changes include:

(1) An increase of 50 cents per hundred pounds in the current rollback subsidy rate on all classes of cattle. Rates now range from 50 cents to $1.45.

(2) A reduction, effective Sept. 4, of 50 cents per hundred pounds in the maximum price for lower grades of beef cattle.

The suggested changes are being opposed by most cattlemen. They are asking that prices of lower and medium grades be kept at present levels, but that prices of top grades be increased $1 a hundred to encourage movement of surplus cattle off ranges to Midwestern feed lots.

Rainfall Reports

damage was expected as result. The gauge at Texas Technological college recorded .72 inch.

Practically the entire South Plains received rain, the amounts ranging from light showers to as much as one inch.

Dawson county received about one-half inch on the average with .35 inch reported in Lamesa. Levelland reported only a shower. Brownfield reported good soaking one-inch rain and .58 inch was reported at Crosbyton. Some hail was reported in parts of Floyd county and at Robertson and Anton. No other hail was reported.

R. E. Dickson of the experiment station at Spur reported that .78 inch fell there. He said the rain was badly needed there as they were short on sub-soil moisture. Good rains had been received there in the early months but much more will be needed throughout the summer, "the question is will we get it," he said. "In other words, we know what we had for breakfast, but we do not know what we will have for dinner."

Lamb Has Good Rain

Good rain fell in the southwest part of Lamb county while rainfall in Littlefield was estimated at .25 inch. The rain was accompanied by an electrical storm, during which a large tree in Littlefield was struck by lightning.

Good rains fell at Morton and northwest Garza county. Johnny Lane of Pleasant Valley estimated that an inch had fallen in that community by 9 o'clock and said that it was still raining. No report was received from there this morning. Good rains were reported in the Southland area.

Post received .63 inch, Ralls .75, Slaton .63, Muleshoe .46, Hale Center .25, and Lockney, one-half inch. Lynn county received a good rain with .37 inch falling in Tahoka.

Yoakum county reports estimated rainfall averaged about one-half inch throughout the county with some sections getting as much as an inch. One-fourth inch was reported at Plains. Lorenzo reported one-half inch with good rain at Estacado and Robertson.

Crops were reported to be in fine shape in Floyd county where good rains were reported. Floydada reported .45 inch. Seminole, in Gaines county, reported .28 inch.

our own good to avoid excesses of optimism or pessimism."

CHURCHILL WARNS HOUSE AGAINST "OVER OPTIMISM"

LONDON, June 8 (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill warned the House of Commons today to guard against "over optimism" in the battle of Europe and against "the idea that these things are going to be settled in a rush."

"Although great dangers lie behind," he declared, "enormous exertions lie before us."

The stream of news from invasion reporters temporarily deprived the stocky premier, once a journalist himself, of one of the roles he likes best—that of being able to give a first hand account of major developments—and he said he did not plan to make any statement on the invasion battles during the day "unless something exceptional turns up."

Churchill was asked by Sir Joseph Lamb, conservative, for an assurance "that the reason he is not going to make a statement in the near future is not that he is going to make a visit to the coast of France."

There was no reply.

ALLIED FORCES PRAISED BY EISENHOWER

LONDON, June 8 (U.P.) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said at an advanced command post today that "my complete confidence in the abilities of the Allied armies, navies and air forces to do all they are asked to do has been completely justified."

"In the early landing operations which always are largely naval, the two Allied navies — together with elements of naval units of the United Nations under Admiral Ramsay — have excelled in the high standard of their planning and their execution any prior venture in which I have seen them engaged," Eisenhower said in a statement.

"The long and brilliant campaign conducted in the past months by the combined air forces, including the commands of Air Chief Marshal Harris, General Spaatz and Air Chief Marshall Leigh-Mallory, was an essential preliminary to the undertaking of the operation, and proved its effectiveness by the fact that the landing was made as planned," Eisenhower's statement said.

"Their good work is continuing. General Montgomery is in immediate and direct charge of all assault ground forces. Under him all troops are performing magnificently."

Our boys are in the stress of the most stupendous task that they have ever been—and pray God that they will ever be—called upon to perform. That they will perform it successfully no one doubts. That they will perform it with a minimum loss of life and limb everyone hopes and prays. Let's back them up . . . Buy Bonds!

Air Force Near Planned Total

WASHINGTON, June 8 (U.P.)—The Army Air forces will reach their planned strength of 2,375,000 men by the end of this month to insure Allied aerial supremacy over the new battlefields on the European continent, according to Gen. Henry H. Arnold, Army Air force chief.

Arnold told recent hearings of a House Appropriations subcommittee, transcripts of which were released today, that "we haven't licked the German air force yet, but we have them reeling." He said the luftwaffe was a "worthy" antagonist but was being overwhelmed by numbers and the superior performance by our latest fighters.

Stupendous Growth

He traced the growth of the air forces from a strength of 23,465 five years ago and said it had become "strong enough to meet anything" that the enemy could produce.

Arnold said losses in aircraft had been lower than anticipated in all theatres of combat, but especially the Pacific. He said in his May 19 testimony that since the start of the war, the air forces had destroyed 13,784 German and 5,736 Japanese aircraft.

Other highlights brought out in the testimony:

Induction of limited service men was terminated June 1, according to Lt. Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, deputy chief of staff. The need henceforth is for combat replacements.

Plenty Of Training

Lt. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, commanding general of the Army ground forces, said that divisions leaving this country to date have averaged slightly more than two years in training.

Col. Oveta Culp Hobby, WAC director, agreed that WAC olive drab might be an unbecoming color but added that "everybody in the country is much more concerned about" WAC uniforms than the girls themselves.

She also disclosed that WAC recruitment has reached a "sustained" figure of around 3,000 a month and present enrollment now totals around 70,000, possible she believed, because of the increasing number of overseas assignments.

Two Are Charged In Burglaries Here

Two persons was placed under bond in a burglary charge, and police were investigating other reports of burglaries and thefts, it was announced this morning.

Lonnus Bibb, 29, and Jessie W. Martin, 27, pleaded innocent of having burglarized a place owned by H. W. Johnson, and bond of $1,000 each was set, binding them over to grand jury action.

Charlie Nickens, 35, pleaded innocent of theft of $16 from his brother, Lewis Nickens, and bond of $300 was set.

W. L. Evans of 2105 East Avenue E said $20 and other property were taken in a burglary at his residence; Mrs. W. Cash of 1306 Twentieth street said her purse, $25 and other property were taken in an entry there; a call from 300-block Avenue V said a man had broken in and was asleep in a bed; A. H. Kline of 1919 Eighth street shot twice at a man attempting to take gasoline from Kline's truck at midnight; a watch was stolen from Cpl. Dan K. Hillyer of South Plains Army Air field.

J. T. Inmon, justice of peace, fined Johnnie Jones, 33, a negro, $25 and court costs for malicious mischief. The negro had pulled up all the cabbages and other vegetables in another black's garden.

Dismissal Motion Is Overruled In Court

Federal District Judge T. Whitfield Davidson, presiding judge for the June term of federal court for the Lubbock division of the northern district of Texas, this morning overruled the defendant's motion for dismissal in the civil case of Eugene Wilson against Ben H. Davidson. However, the case was continued to the November term of court and directed that certain other parties appear at that time and set up their claims in the suit.

Testimony in the case of Loyd Hightower against Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma coaches, a suit for damages, was being heard before a jury this morning.

The docket for the remainder of the term, as set Monday by Judge Davidson, is as follows: (All civil cases).

Friday, Edgar Jones and others against Commerce Insurance company, suit for damages, jury case; U. S. against Leo Huff and Elmer Huff (Abilene division), contempt charges; Saturday, Chester Bowles, administrator for OPA against W. E. Garren and others, suit for injunction and to enforce rent regulation; Monday, June 12, W. D. Wilkins and others against Ed Grier and others, suit for damages and for infringement of patent, jury case; Wednesday, June 14, California Land and Cattle company against C. I. Bedford and Son and others, suit for damages and for breach of contract, jury case; Thursday, June 15, R. A. Smith against Travelers Insurance company, workmen's compensation case; Friday, June 16, Maude Donaldson and others against G. T. Blankenship and others, suit to set aside mineral deeds; Omega Hensley and others against G. T. Blankenship and others, suit to cancel mineral deeds.

Injunction Against Barbara Hutton Given

LOS ANGELES, June 8 (AP) — A temporary injunction has been issued to restrain Barbara Hutton Grant from uttering in the presence of her son, Lance, 9, any profanity or remarks derogatory to the child's father, Count Court Haughwitz Reventlow, her former husband.

The order, signed by Superior Judge Emmet H. Wilson, was obtained by Reventlow, who charged that the present wife of Actor Cary Grant had used such language in Lance's presence. She has denied the charge.

GRATITUDE

D-Day was the most critical of our generation. We are deeply indebted to the Press, Radio and newsreels which, since the beginning of the Invasion, have kept us fully informed as to the movements of the Allied Forces.

This, the greatest achievement in the gathering and dissemination of information ever recorded, makes us realize what our men faced when they landed, and more fully understand the depth of our obligation as individuals and organizations in backing up our Armed Forces.

Our prayers are with all who are participating in the liberation of Europe, and our sympathy goes out to the families of those who have made the supreme sacrifice.

New Demo Party Storm Signals Are Hoisted In South; Two More States Join In Revolt

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

The South hoisted new Democratic storm signals today with Mississippi joining the ranks of states determined to commit the party to a stand for "white supremacy" and Georgia Democrats barring negroes from their July 4 primary.

Following almost exactly a pattern set previously by Texas Democrats, the anti-administration controlled Mississippi convention voted yesterday to instruct the party's 12 electors in the state to reject the Democratic presidential nominee unless the national convention meets certain demands.

Similar To Texas Action

These demands, as outlined in resolutions adopted by the convention, were strongly reminiscent of those previously approved by Texas and South Carolina conventions. They included opposition to anti-poll tax and racial equality planks in the platform. The resolutions also urged "a return of state's rights" and the restoration of the two-thirds nominating rule for national conventions.

The regular Texas Democratic convention previously had instructed that state's electors not to support the party nominee unless similar demands were fulfilled by the convention. South Carolina Democrats took the same course, except that they delayed choosing electors until after the national convention acts on the platform.

Shift Is Threatened

Because it seems obviously unlikely that the convention will restore the two-thirds rule, the action by the three states threatened to shift from the regular Democratic nominee a bloc of electoral votes in areas where he virtually was assured of a large popular majority.

In another offshoot of the "white supremacy"; issue, the Democratic state executive subcommittee directed that Georgia party officials deny negroes the right to participation in that state's July 4 primary, in which interest will center on the bid of Senator Walter George for renomination.

Georgia Case Cited

The Georgia group held that the Supreme court's opinion opening Texas Democratic primary to negroes does not affect Georgia because the latter's election rules are party-made and not set by statute.

In New Mexico, mounting returns showed the renomination of the state's two congressmen, Clinton P. Anderson and Antonio M. Fernandez, and Governor John J. Dempsey. They are Democrats. Carroll G. Gunderson, Republican, will oppose Dempsey, while Mayer Manuel Lujan and Ben F. Meyer won the Republican nominations for Congress.

Heart Attack Fatal For Dallas Executive

DALLAS, June 8 (U.P.) — Frank Mattox Moulton, 44, of Dallas, president of Allied Underwriters, Inc., was dead today following a heart attack and a head-on crash into a streetcar yesterday.

Police said his death would not be counted as a traffic fatality because witnesses reported seeing Moulton slumped over the steering wheel of his car before the crash.

Moulton had suffered two heart attacks earlier in the day and was on the way home from a physician's office when the accident occurred.
