

GYMNASIUM GRANT IS APPROVED

Fair Grounds Project Assured; Meeting Called Tonight

OFFICERS TO BE ELECTED; LAND PURCHASE BEGINS

Incorporation Steps Expected to Be Started Soon

Stockholders of the Midland fair will meet at 8 o'clock this evening to perfect an organization and take steps toward incorporation.

At a meeting this afternoon at 2 o'clock, it was found that sufficient funds had been raised and paid in for stock to assure completion of the project. Consequently the organization committee voted to deposit the checks to the credit of the Midland Fair Association, and a committee composed of A. C. Francis, E. B. Dickenson and Roy Proctor was instructed to proceed at once to buy the 100 acre Elkin tract on the east highway for which an option had been held for the past few weeks.

Stockholders, or those who had subscribed for shares, were being notified to meet this evening at a for election of officers.

The project calling for capital stock of approximately $30,000, of which about $25,000 was paid in, calls for purchase of the 100 acre tract north of and adjoining the highway, just east of the stockpens crossing. A new race track, probably a mile in length, rodeo arena, sales pavilions, livestock and exhibition buildings, stables and other equipment, also first class grandstands, will be new from the ground up, according to the committee's plans.

Started only a few weeks ago, the project grew substantially from week to week until today, when the committee made a final drive, the organization committee consisted of C. Francis, Roy Proctor, Fred Turner Jr., Clarence Scharbauer, Roy Parks, E. B. Dickenson, Tom Nance, Harvey Sloan, R. M. Barron and John E. Butler.

The meeting tonight will be at 8 o'clock at the chamber of commerce office, immediately following the meeting of the chamber's board of directors.

Camera Bares Two Souls' Agony

All the remorse and self-loathing of a murderer, and all the horror and pity of his sister on hearing the details of his terrible act were recorded by the camera in this grim photo. Daniel W. Neilds, left, who has confessed that he killed his sweetheart, seems trying to bury his shame in his rough workman's hand, while the face of his sister, Mrs. W. S. Wilson, is deep-etched with terror and horror as she listens to the testimony of the murderer's brother, Harry.

The photo was made at the inquest into the death of Francis E. Conklin, SERA secretary, who was found shot to death in a Los Angeles park.

TWO CHILDREN DIE IN WHITE FACE FIRE

Go to Death When Flames Destroy Home Today

LEVELLAND, July 8. (P).—Norma Ruth, 4, and Geraldine, aged nine months, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lyons, farm couple residing near White Face, perished in a fire which destroyed their home today.

The parents were outside when the house burst into flames. Lyons brought out the youngest child who died in a physician's office. Norma died in bed. The fire was believed to have been the result of an explosion of an oil stove.

BEGIN WORK ON STORE ADDITION

Work was begun this morning on breaking ground for the 40-foot addition to the Perry Bros. variety store building. The new construction will extend the store back to the alley. It will include a 16-foot storage room and the remainder will go into counter space.

Perry Stonehocker has the contract for the work.

In addition to the building at the rear, a new front will be put on the store, new fixtures will be installed, and the interior will be re-finished.

It is estimated that the improvements will be completed by Aug. 15, Manager Geo. H. Hulton said this morning. It will be necessary to close the establishment for two or three weeks during the progress of the work.

Cotton Cultivation Estimate Is Given

By Associated Press

Cotton in cultivation on July the first was estimated at 29,666 acres, 104.6 percent of the crop last year. No estimate was made in the production or condition of the crop for the first of this month.

The area in cultivation included 357,105 acres in Texas and 128,910 in Louisiana.

Pirates Board Ship, Escape With $32,000

LONGBEACH, Calif., July 8. (P).—Five pirates boarded the gambling barge Montecarlo today, chained the crew, and escaped with what was estimated as thirty-two thousand dollars in cash and jewelry.

TO HOT SPRINGS

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. King and daughter Miss Anna Lee King, will leave Tuesday for Hot Springs, N. M., where they plan to remain for three weeks. They will be accompanied by Mrs. T. J. Miles, Sr.

LONG IS GIVEN POWER OF KING IN LOUISIANA

No Government Left Except What Huey Desires

BATON ROUGE, July 8. (P).—The Louisiana legislature, in a special session approved early today 25 measures giving Senator Huey P. Long virtually every remaining power in the state.

The new laws take care of odds and ends that were not acted upon in six other special sessions held since last August.

They left the state almost no government except that dictated by Long.

The rights given to the Senator's organization included: the control of elections, command of an army, authority over all non-elective employees for the state, hiring and firing privileges over all school teachers and the power to spend state money for any purpose.

HAILE SELASSIE ISSUES CALL FOR MORE TROOPS

(Copyright, 1935, by United Press.)

ADDIS ABABA, July 8.—Emperor Haile Selassie conquering lion of Judah, Sunday answered Premier Benito Mussolini's promise of war on Abyssinia with a new call to arms.

Tall bearded blacks anxious to fight, rushed from their huts for training by Belgian and Swedish officers retained by the King of Kings.

Hill tracks were alive with hurrying men as petty chieftains collected their own following in groups of from fifty to 500. Warriors loaded their donkeys with rations for a month's march, and hurried to their shoulders and went off to military encampments after calling their servant girls to follow.

Foreigners' Calm

Foreigners throughout the country remained calm, although United States Charge d'Affaires, William P. George, advised his nationals to prepare to evacuate. The 125 Americans, mostly missionaries, in Abyssinia, with few exceptions, indicated they would remain, relying upon Haile Selassie for protection. Other governments have not warned their nationals.

Addis Ababa assumed an unfamiliar appearance as the war menace increased. Squadrons of soldiers, worked hard by drillmasters, tramped through the streets to the staccato shouts of "gira gagna, gira gagna" left right, left right.

Employees of the Ministry of Interior surrendered their dinner hour to military drill. The Imperial Guard was clothed in khaki resembling uniforms of United States soldiers. Tunnies and breeches fit well.

Soldiers Barefooted

Officers and men except cavalry officers—marched barefooted, assuring catlike activity over hills.

Abyssinian soldiers called splendid fighting material by foreign military observers, are well equipped. They carry modern rifles, bayonets and full canvas packs.

Credit for the army's smartness belongs to the Belgian military mission, which has been in the country six years. But the training of officers and the organizing of a general staff has been left to Swedish officers.

It is difficult to estimate the strength of Haile Selassie's army. The new call to arms is expected to double the infantry, which was 16,000 strong a month ago. Cavalry, artillery, aviation and Red Cross units are being increased.

To Hold Chamber of Commerce Meet at 8

Chamber of commerce directors will meet at 7:30 o'clock this evening for a brief business session. It was announced by Dr. W. E. Ryan, president.

Plans for better securing and expending relief funds will be discussed with R. O. Taggart, administrator, who will meet with the board.

Reports on fair grounds and other community projects will be heard.

Three Patients Return to Homes

One birth and the discharge of three patients were items included in the report of a Midland hospital today.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Yeager are the parents of a daughter, Patsy Aldine, born Sunday. Mother and child are reported doing well.

Mrs. R. W. Patterson and baby, R. W. Jr., and Mrs. D. L. Del Home and baby, Daniel Locke, were removed to their homes from the hospital Saturday.

Bill Hogsett, operated upon for appendicitis Saturday, is doing well.

O. W. Whitfield, from Odessa, was discharged from the hospital Sunday following an operation.

Albert McReynolds, from one of the Scharbauer ranches, is undergoing hospital treatment for an eye injury.

Dealers Disclaim Sales Statements

A warning is issued by local merchants against the representations of two out-of-town women who are conducting a house-to-house canvass selling an off-brand line of cosmetics, which they say are on sale at Rexall stores and recommended by Rexall dealers.

Local representatives of the Rexall company disclaim all knowledge of this line of goods and advise citizens not to be misled by such statements.

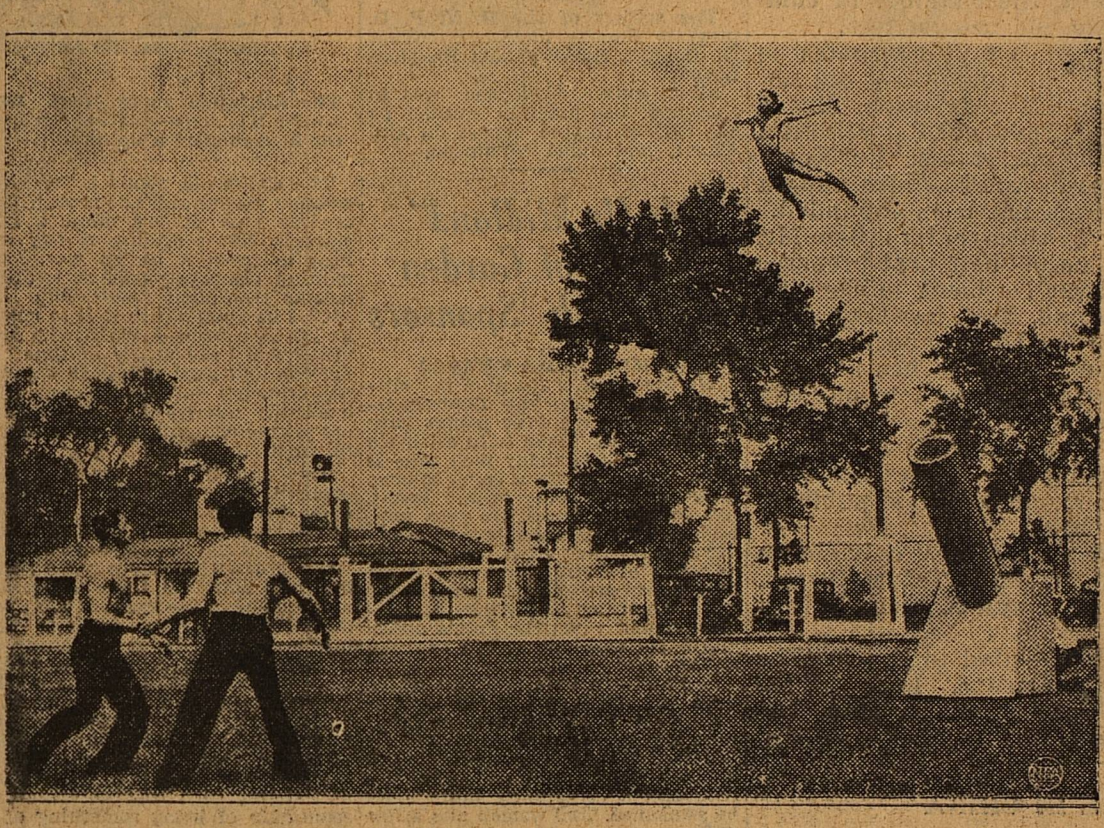

HODGES TO COAST

Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Hodges are leaving today on a month's vacation to the Western coast States. They will visit at the Exposition in San Diego, and in the film studios in Hollywood. They will then go up the coast to Seattle and Vancouver and back to the Yellowstone National Park and Salt Lake City.

YANGTSE RIVER SWEEPS OVER CHINA AFFECTING MILLIONS

NANKING, July 8. (P).—The Yangtse river's mad rampage swept over central China today as the government reported that millions of persons were affected.

It is estimated that the property damage will reach a staggering figure as official advices stated that 13 counties in the Hunan province and 10 in the Kiangsi were flooded.

The river crushed the dykes at Shasi, important port in the southern province Hupeh, and fears were expressed for the population of the city of Shasi lies below the level of the ordinary river and it was feared that the rampaging waters would sweep over the town.

Anyone wishing information on the aims and methods of the loans may call at the office of Chas. McGlinch, chairman of the local board, 115 S. Main street, where Soniat will explain details and help with the making of applications.

The En Page man said that prospects for the future of the loan administration here "look pretty good" and that the project had been going over nicely in other areas.

"Title 1" loans are being pushed, he reported. These are short time loans made for repairs and modernization of homes, churches, schools, and business firms. The original maximum $2,000 on these loans has been retained for homes, Soniat said, but has been raised to $5,000 for business firms.

"Title 2" loans are long term mortgage loans, not for repair or modernization, but for new construction and financing.

MAN SENTENCED TO DIE COMMITS SUICIDE IN JAIL

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 8. (P).—Richard Darraff, 24-year-old bandit, under sentence to electrocution for the slaying of a policeman, Sunday killed himself in the county jail with a gun he had wrested from a warden in a desperate break for liberty.

Darraff and Wesley Vincent, 19, convicted with him of the murder of Patrolman F. J. Harris in an attempt to hold up a Roosevelt birthday ball, staged their attempt to gain liberty shortly before noon.

With a small knife they had concealed they overpowered Deputy Warden J. D. Russom, who had come into their cell, and dashed for the jail kitchen on the seventh floor of the courthouse.

Armed with two butcher knives they had seized there, the pair ran to the jail corridor where a warden was overpowered and disarmed. As the pair took the pistol, the escape alarm rang though only after officers said Darraff who had the gun turned it on himself.

Abell's Brother Is Student Pilot

Walter Abell of Royalty, brother of George T. Abell of this city, received his student permit as a pilot today after his solo flight at Sloan field.

Abell received only 4 hours and 50 minutes of instruction in the air from "Little George" McEntire and then made his solo. He made a perfect take-off and landing in the Curtiss Robin, which is a sister ship to the one used by the Key brothers in their recent record-breaking endurance flight.

McEntire said that Abell's flying ability is far above the average.

CONNALLY WIRES OF PRESIDENT'S APPROVAL TODAY

Action Follows Two Year Campaign of School Board

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 8. (P).—President Roosevelt today allotted $5,110,689 of the work relief funds to cover 45 percent of the cost of 40 non-Federal public works projects, including Midland county independent school district, $31,860.

Approval by President Roosevelt of a PWA loan and grant for a physical education building at Midland was announced today in a telegram from Senator Tom Connally to Dr. John B. Thomas, president of the board of trustees of Midland Independent School District No. 1.

Application for the loan and grant was first filed almost two years ago when government works programs were initiated in the campaign to end unemployment and restore recovery.

Step by step the application was approved until it reached the final stages, but district officials agreed to approve the fund provided the school district would pass a resolution to order a bond election to cover the amount of the government loan.

School officials here, however, were seeking the loan and grant on the grounds that the physical education building, including a gymnasium where district meets, basketball and track tournaments could be held, would be revenue bearing that the loan would be self liquidating.

The campaign was continued by the local school board. Changes in the PWA act-up were followed constantly. Senator Connally and Congressman R. E. Thomason gave all possible aid and kept the local board posted.

For some time it had been known that the application had been passed with reference to its financial, engineering and legal phases, needing only final action of federal officials to complete it. Dr. Thomas, on a recent stop in Washington, conferred with government officials and was expecting early advice when he received today's message from Senator Connally.

The project, expected to cost approximately $68,000, comes under the PWA system whereby a grant of 30 per cent would be made, with the balance to be paid in cash by the school district and the remainder to be in the form of a long term, low interest federal loan.

Japs Have a Word For It—Economy

OREGON CITY, Ore. (U.P.)—Breakfast in bed may be only for wealthy Occidentals, but in Japan it is an economy measure, reports Miss Frances B. Clapp, Congressional missionary, just back from Kyoto, Japan.

Fuel shortage makes it cost about 50 cents to build a fire, so many Japanese eat breakfast in bed to keep warm, said Miss Clapp.

John D. Rockefeller 96 Years Old Today

LAKEWOOD, N. J., July 8. (P).—John D. Rockefeller, who is 96 today, hasn't felt better in many years, his son, John D. Rockefeller Jr., said Sunday at the close of a family dinner at the Rockefeller estate.

The frail little man who possesses one of the world's great fortunes did not attend the service because of the heat and humidity.

The nonagenarian's son arrived Sunday at Golf House, the Rockefeller estate, and attended the service with Miss Katherine Hinsdale, librarian of the Lakewood Public Library, who later was a luncheon guest at the Rockefeller home, and Mrs. Hattie Evans, housekeeper at Golf House.

Rockefeller said his father does not plan to talk to the press today, but that he is not in poor health.

Dr. Max A. Goldstein of Lakewood, who has examined Rockefeller's teeth annually for eight years, said the old man made his annual visit on June 25, accompanied by John Yord, his valet, and spent almost a half hour in the dental chair. Rockefeller still has nineteen of his original teeth, all of them in good condition. The dentist said he found no need for filling, drilling or extracting.

During the examination, he said, Rockefeller chatted with him about the weather, and asked him how his business was.

Rockefeller spent most of the day in his new summer house.

Costly Water Becomes Cheap

BEAUTIFICATION FOR MIDLAND

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce this year is trying to get 150 West Texas towns entered in the Centennial Inter-Community Beautification contest. Midland has been entered in the contest by the local chamber of commerce. The small town has the same opportunity as the larger ones, as the rating will be based upon population, according to Mrs. Carl Covington, chamber of commerce secretary, who writes as follows:

"We want you to help Midland win this contest which will be judged at the Amarillo convention to be held in May 1936. It is up to every citizen to help the women's garden club, just being organized, the chamber of commerce and other organizations to win this contest.

"Roswell, N. M., the winner of last year's contest is the result of 25 years of effort. The community did not start in 1910 preparing for the 1935 convention. But it did through the late R. H. Kemp, prominent Roswell civic leader, start on the road of city beautification. Mr. Kemp offered some prizes for the best roses. The idea caught and through the years the program has been expanded.

"Why can't Midland have some citizen like Mr. Kemp? Why not give a prize for the 'best kept premises regardless of size,' the most attractive block in the city. Midland people love their yards and much has been done in the past few years to beautify the homes and premises.

"The highway beautification committee has begun a campaign to beautify the highways leading into our city and every citizen is urged to support the project as an enormous increase of tourists is expected to come through and visit our city next year during the Centennial celebration. Nothing can give us so much favorable publicity as a clean city with trees and shrubs.

"In the 1935 WTCC beautification contest only eleven towns entered, El Paso, Midland, Lubbock, Tatum, Slaton, Brownfield, Colorado, Post, Seymour and the winner, Roswell.

"We are all proud of Midland—glad to live in 'The Most Ambitious City Between the Oceans.' Let's get behind our beautification projects and make Midland 'The Most Beautiful City Between the Oceans.'"

FACING TROUBLE IN CHINA

Foreign intervention to restore order in North China has been suggested. Various Chinese factions have been fighting in and about Peiping, and Japanese military authorities are reported to be preparing to consult other foreign military commands on united international action, as provided in the Boxer protocols.

The United States has the 15th regiment of regular infantry garrisoned at Tientsin—has had it there since the Boxer uprising of 1900—and this would be one of the foreign units to go into action if the Japanese plan were carried out.

Tientsin is a long way from home, and it is hard for the average American to get very excited about what happens there. But it is 100 to one that American sentiment favors keeping the 15th regiment strictly in its own barracks. If the powers want to draw cards in the current Chinese mess, let them do it without Uncle Sam's help.

There will probably be a slackening of demand for Scotch liquor following the newest appearance of the Loch Ness monster.

Appeal to White House brings Arkansas woman set of false teeth and job to pay for them. The PWA will be glad to consider other self-amortizing bridge projects.

Twilight Musical Program Presented By Midland Women

Mrs. Lee Cornelius and Mrs. Rawlins Clark presented a twilight musical program at the First Christian church Sunday evening. They have been requested to repeat the program and will probably do so or present a similar group of numbers during the next few months.

Preceding the program, Mrs. Clark read a group of quotations by Martin Luther, Wagner, and Auerbach, paying tribute to the enriching qualities of music.

The following two-piano numbers were presented:
Pathetique Sonata—Beethoven
D Minor Concerto—Mozart
Old Refrain—Kreisler
Saar arrangement
Firebrands—Leslie Lohr
Saar arrangement
C Minor Etude (Revolutionary)—Chopin.

"Tidy Up Midland" Is Plea of Garden Club Sponsors

By MISS ELMA GRAVES
We wonder how many of our citizens have noticed how Centennial-minded our large daily papers have become? That Texas is to celebrate her hundredth birthday next year is a settled fact. Texas is going to have company and many of her towns like good housewives are even now beginning to set their houses in order against that great and notable day. We are still wondering if we Midlanders are going to prepare for the company, or simply take our embarrassment when the guests arrive and begin with one accord to make excuses.

Midland can be a most attractive little city, but not without concentrated effort. Everyone must help; each one do his part.
Before much can be accomplished, public opinion, local self-consciousness and a community pride must be awakened. Two women and a few welfare workers cannot make our town over no matter how hard they work. But two hundred women and as many men can bring about such a change that within one year, we ourselves will stand amazed at the progress we have made.

As a starting place, we would suggest our highway, for it is our main artery of travel. It speaks louder our public spiritness than any other thing else. Tourists can't see all our homes with their lovely lawns and beautiful flowers. What they do see is vacant lot after vacant lot covered with weeds dry and brown. Couldn't these lots be cleared and planted with something suited to our soil and climate that would lend charm to the entire landscape? Incidentally such improvement might tend to said lots being sold. No one will buy a bare canvas, but cover it with certain colors and the picture will bring a fair price in any market.

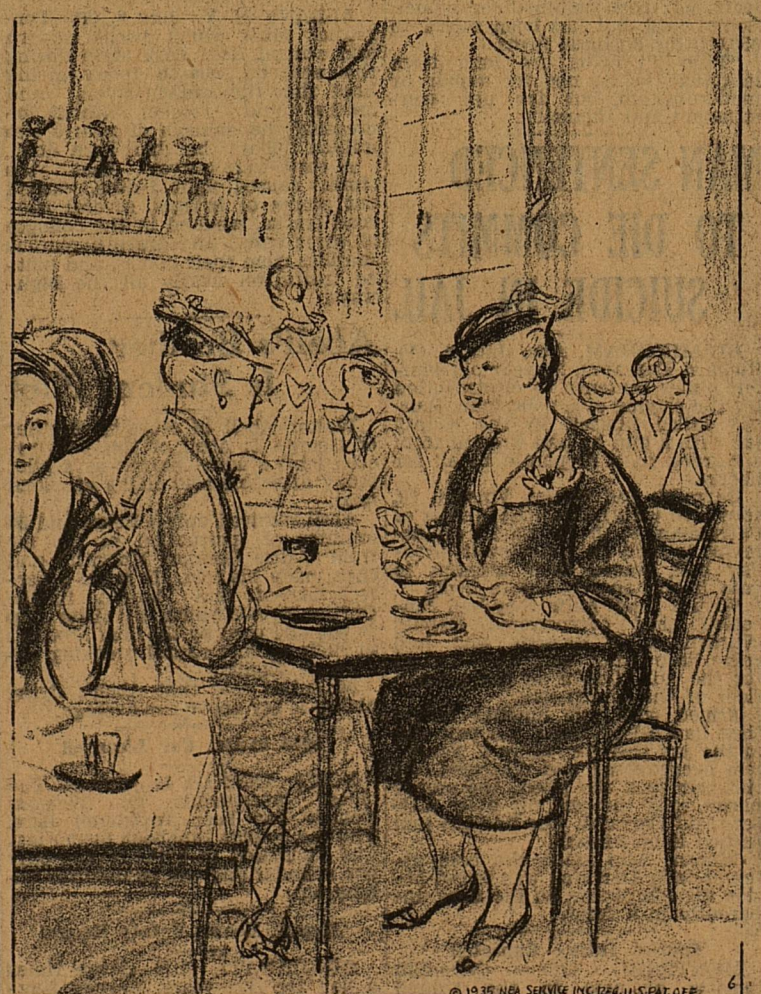

How shall we begin to improve our highway? Couldn't our Lions club, our Rotary club, our Chamber of Commerce and our Literary Clubs be enlisted in putting over the task—and as a final step—couldn't a Garden Club be organized for the sole purpose of making our city beautiful be the head of this momentous undertaking? Can't every man, woman and child join hands to make Midland a town with a personality?

GARDEN Gossip

The California poppy does not mind a late start—providing it has the heat to start it on its way.

The California poppy is a hot weather grower and like most plants of this type doesn't mind a late start in life providing it has the heat to speed it on its way. Like most of the poppy tribe it is difficult to transplant successfully so should be sown where it is to spend its life and thinned so that the survivors will have plenty of time to develop and send out their sprawling branches sprangled with the brilliantly colored cups. The finely-cut gray-green foliage is ornamental in itself.

The orange types are the most brilliant for masses in the garden enlivened with occasional splashes of the scarlet and crimson varieties. In combination with blue cornflower the yellow California poppies make beautiful bowls for table decoration and are one of the finest of the mid-summer annuals for cutting. The poppies have a habit of closing at night but the closed flower, which often has a different coloring on the outside of the petals, is attractive.

The California poppy has the advantage of flourishing in hot dry situations that are too much for many of the more tender annuals and shares with the portulaca the reputation of being something of a salamander among plants. It is one of the flowers in the cutting garden that no gardener wants to be without.

In favored localities and with good protection, it sometimes survives mild winters and breaks into early bloom but it cannot be wintered reliably, although some garden writers recommend that it be treated as if it is easily grown as an annual that it is not worth the trouble.

HEALTHY Cooked By MRS. ADDISON YOUNG

You have heard, no doubt, that this "fast age" has unfitted mothers for nursing their babies; that the nervous stress, and strain under which the mother lives causes the baby to be upset if it nurses mother's milk. Here is what Dr. Tom C. Bobo, local physician, has to say about it:

"If mothers could realize the handicap they place in the way of their children's health by refusing to nurse them in their infancy, I do not believe they would be so ready to put their babies on an artificial feeding. The ability of a mother to give proper nourishment for her infant depends upon her own desire to do so. If she wants to nurse her baby she can do it."

Dr. Bobo explained that the mother has the desire, she will regulate her life so that her baby will have the best chance for health and happiness. He admitted that sometimes the doctor has a great deal to do with the mother's decision to give her baby artificial feedings. There are still a few doctors who think they can manufacture a food better for the human infant than that which nature provided. Some argue that the average baby raised on a cow's milk formula is larger than the average breast fed baby. But there's a reason: Milk produced by the cow was intended to nourish a calf which grows to maturity within 18 months, whereas the human mother's milk was meant to nourish an infant who will reach maturity only at the age of 18 years.

Duet Sung as Special Number At Naomi Class

Not only is mother's milk the best adapted to the needs of the human infant, but it is the cheapest and the healthiest. Statistics show that the death rate for bottle fed babies is much higher than for breast fed babies, particularly in the summer months and among the poorer classes of people. Mothers' milk gives the baby an immunity to certain diseases, and prevents infection by others, such as bovine type tuberculosis, and infectious diarrhoea. Sickness of long duration, and of infectious nature, on the part of the mother is the only real reason for taking a baby off breast feedings, according to Dr. Bobo.

This country produces approximately 500,000 pounds of cheese annually.

Miss Alma Lee Hankins spent the weekend at Lubbock with her parents and brother.

Miss Aline Ford of Lubbock arrived Sunday. She is employed at King's Jewelry.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

If the women of the town don't appear more beautiful than usual this week, it won't be the fault of the beauty demonstrators. With two of them offering free facials at the stores, there should certainly be some increase in feminine pulchritude in the citizenry.

Personally, we always like to hear good advice on beauty treatment. Whether or not we follow the advice as we should is something else again.

After hearing Dr. C. Q. Smith of McMurry college speak, we can understand why that institution has made such a splendid record in clearing up financial obligations. A man who believes in "keeping on keeping on," who has an unshakable faith that things CAN be done, will somehow, no matter what the difficulties, get those things done.

To most people perseverance may be an ordinary, garden variety kind of virtue but to us it ranks high among the list of characteristics which determine the ultimate success or failure of a person in life. "Without perseverance nothing" is a maxim that will prove true in the majority of cases in life.

More things we wonder about in old moments: Why bath sponges are two-colored; why the cake of soap always breaks at the wrong moment; why humanity is cursed with the necessity of ever polishing its shoes; why it is so hard to get what you want when you want it, and so easy to get the same thing when you don't want it; why a woman always enjoys hearing flattering speeches, even when she knows perfectly well that they are more flattering than true; ditto on the same proposition for a man.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Jimmie Harrison left today for a visit with relatives at Greenville.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Harrison returned Saturday night from a trip to Oklahoma.

Ernest Shepherd and family are here enroute from Imperial, Calif., to San Antonio where they will make their home. They formerly lived in Midland.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Turner Jr. have returned from a vacation trip to California. They spent most of their time in Los Angeles. They also visited the exposition at San Diego while away.

A. D. Gill goes to McCombs today where he will remain for several days on business.

T. C. Harmon spent Sunday at Iran.

Miss Madge Bradley of Tulsa is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Nettleton Jr., 1010 S. Big Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. James Love and daughter are here from Odessa today.

Reserve District No. 11

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything).

Texas with the man-power and livestock available around here.

I know one man who has a bright yellow horse stabled at the edge of town and it wouldn't surprise me to see him paraded on the local streets any day, with an attractive girl rider in the saddle. The Stamford show wasn't the only place for cowgirls to parade.

Sheriff Francis wears a pretty satisfied look on his face after seeing his Kentucky fillies win a couple of second places at Brady. And it took a Waggoner colt and a Looklear colt, heavily trained for several months, to beat him. Rumor has it that Fred Turner will reestablish his training stables at Cowboy park soon. He has had his work carried on at his big barn west of town for the past few weeks. Those who saw his little Bagen-passage filly and his little bay Mere play filly run while they were being trained are expecting some of the keenest competition this side of Kentucky under his colors. And what if the grey horse, Westy's Fox, comes to the track?

And the calf ropers might as well be getting the twine unlimbered, because there will be calf roping break-aways and all that sort of thing to worry about soon. All I want is the price of a season ticket when the fair opens this fall.

Free—One Swarm of Bees

Prisoners Flee Sheriff's Wife

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (U.P.)—If you want to go into the bee business, J. R. Tevis of this city will give you a swarm for a starter. The bees arrived about two weeks ago and set up business in Tevis' home. All Tevis wants is someone to take the bees away.

LEBANON, Mo. (U.P.)—The next time Mrs. Sam Allen, wife of the sheriff, answers the knock of prisoners, she is going to proceed with caution. The last time two inmates knocked on the door asking for food, Mrs. Allen opened it. The pair escaped.

Mortgages to Feed Bonfire

Relief Workers Choose Queen

LOGAN, Ia. (U.P.)—Here is one bonfire that will attract more than usual attention. Harrison County authorities are going to gather up thousands of chattel mortgages more than five years past due, stamp them "released" and then burn them.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (U.P.)—Not to be outdone by schools, colleges and festivals, workers on FERA rolls here have chosen a queen. She is blonde-haired Mildred Simpson, 20. Enthronement took place at a dance of the American Workers' Union.

BY JESS RODGERS

With a choke-up here, a choke-up there, a choke-up hereabouts and everywhere, the Gulf softballers were soft pickings for the Pecos All-Star team there the night of the Fourth.

We have seen players choke but never as many as did in that game. Woods, Girdley, Hill, Whitmire and part of the others acted as if it were the first time that they had ever played before a crowd. They have larger crowds here every night for the games than they did for that one. (The fact that the management of the Pecos team charged spectators two-bits per inch in all probability cut down on the attendance figures.)

Adamson did not have his usual stuff on the ball and the Pecos batters were quick to take advantage of it. However, all the home team had to do to get the men on base was to hit one to the Gulf infield. About the only thing that they caught during the game was a few pop-ups, and a large amount of boss from the Pecos rooters.

Before we forget it, the score was nine to two.

The game was the first of its kind that we have seen played in the daytime in several years and it looked as slow as a terrapin race.

Baseball, where it is played in the daytime, need not ever worry about the ten-man game affecting its crowds. It just does not appeal to the masses.

Understand that there has been some softball games played here the last few nights but it is the same old story. No scoreboard brought in.

Why don't the league managers get smart and get a scorekeeper that can be depended upon to score the games correctly and consistently and let this office know a little bit of what happened?

Commendation to Luther Tidwell and Fred Girdley for the manner in which they settled the dispute arising from the scorekeeping error made by this department the other night. In settling it with President Ticknor each said, "What ever you say will be alright, I want to do what is right." The league need have no apprehension of losing out with the public as long as such men have executive positions in it.

We never knew until lately that Prexy Ticknor was a disciple of Huey P. Long. However, his share-the-wealth scheme, adopted in an effort to help out the week sisters of the circuit, Continental and Cox Motor, sounds much like Huey's share-the-wealth program.

Huey has no more ability to control his legislators than Ticknor does the managers of the league. He has never had one of his suggestions thrown back at him by the managers.

time, but an old man—for baseball—proved June 23 that age sometimes has it on youth. Tiny Osborne, 42, once a hurler for the Brooklyn Dodgers and Atlanta Crackers, came to Jackson, June 23, to watch his son, Tiny Jr., pitch for the Senators. Mickey O'Neill, Jackson's veteran catcher who once caught the elder Osborne at Brooklyn, suggested the "old man" try his hand against the Pine Bluff Judges and he consented to work in the seven-inning nightcap of the double-header. Tiny Jr. pitched the first game against the Judges and lost, 3 to 1. Then Tiny Sr. went to the mound and shut out the conquerors of his son, 2 to 0, allowing only three scratch hits.

Hack Wilson, former home run king of the National League will seek the Fountain of Youth on the Pacific Coast slopes the balance of the season, having been purchased by the Portland Beavers from Albany of the International League. Hack found the going difficult this season, because of the backward spring in the East, but hopes the climate on the Coast will favor his comeback.

Had Freddie Lindstrom been able to reach two inches more, Roy Henshaw, Chicago Cubs' recruit southpaw, would have gained a ninth hit game over the Pittsburgh Pirates, June 28. Mace Brown, relief pitcher for the Cubs, hit a long fly to right-center in the sixth inning and Lindstrom, running at full tilt, managed to put his glove against the ball, but could not hold it. As a result, Brown was credited with a double, the distance of a hit made off Henshaw. The Cubs won, 8 to 0.

When Vito Tamulis turned back the Cleveland Indians, 4 to 1, on June 27, it was the third time in a row the New York Yankee southpaw recruit had trimmed Walter Johnson's team.

Moaning and desperation by the ineffectiveness of his pitchers in the June 27 game in New York, Manager Bucky Harris of the Washington Senators finally sent Ralph (Red) Kress, utility infielder to the mound in the eighth inning and perhaps discovered a new flinging sensation. Myril Hoag, the first batter to face Kress, singled, but Red then began exhibiting a hope-ping fast ball and famed Frank Crosetti, Red Ruffing and Jess Hill in a row. The Yankees had slugged Bob Burke, Ed Line and Babe Beane for 18 hits and 15 runs before Kress came on the scene.

Manager Walter Johnson of the Cleveland Indians unlimbered his 47-year-old right arm, June 27, when he took his team to Butler, Pa., for an exhibition with the little farm club of the Pennsylvania State Association and pitched a ball during the five innings he worked. Only three hits and one run were made off the Big Train and his speed surprised the Butler youngsters. Lloyd Brown, who took over the pitching in the sixth, was touched for seven hits and four runs, but the Indians managed to win out 6 to 5.

Editor, Reporter-Telegram

Dear Sir:

Referring to John T. Flynn's articles.

In my opinion Mr. Flynn shows a lack of elementary economic knowledge. Perhaps he is a statistician? Yet even a mediocre statistician (regardless of politics) should know that the rate of 90 is an increase, and shouldn't be considered as a point of negation.

In the first place Flynn does not consider the residential building proper consideration. In fairness to him, some of the following statistical information has been released since his articles were written.

Since the beginning of 1935, residential building, according to F. W. Dodge Corporation amounted to $184,119,900, a gain of almost 60 per cent over the total of $113,464,900 for the like period of 1934. The total of $25,799,200 for the first 15 days of June in 37 states, was almost equal to that of the entire month of June, 1934.

For the initial half of June non-residential building contracts aggregated $29,292,000, as compared with $21,591,000 in the corresponding 1934 period.

Contracts covering all types of construction in 37 states amounted to $66,338,200 for the first half of June, a gain of about 5 per cent over a year ago. These figures represent a considerable reduction in Government building and an increase in private and corporate. It is not nearly as bad as Mr. Flynn would have us believe.

He writes: "oddly enough while the trend of business activity has been down" et cetera, yet according to Federal Reserve index numbers, quoted by Mr. Flynn, employment, payrolls and production increased from the depression lows. Who was it that wrote, "consistency thou art a jewel!"

Mr. Flynn lamentably writes of the fact of prices rising faster than

LABOR UPHEAVAL SEEN BY OFFICIALS

WASHINGTON, July 8. (AP)—The fight between industrial and craft unionists today threatened an upheaval within American Federation of Labor ranks in the next few months.

A drastic change in the federation executive council's policy was said in authoritative labor sources to be now set up. In fact, some quarters said plans for organization of a new federation of industrial unions already are in the making.

The fight over whether industrial workers should be organized by industry or by craft has grown increasingly bitter within the last few years.

This bitterness reached a high pitch last Spring when the executive council allotted to craft unions several hundred employees at Anaconda Copper Company mines in Montana. These employees were claimed by the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, an industrial union.

Only two of the council's 18 members, George L. Berry of the printing pressmen and John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers, supported the mine union. The council's third industrial unionist, David Dubinsky of the Ladies' Garment Workers, was not at the meeting.

At its January meeting, the council had struck another blow at industrial unionists in writing the charter for the United Automobile Workers. The charter stipulated that machinists in machine shops and maintenance men were to be organized by craft unions, not by the industrial union.

Since those meetings, the machinists have attempted to take coal mine machine shop employees out of the United Mine Workers. Several craft unions also have made efforts to organize shipyard workers at the New York Ship Building Company's Camden, N. J. plant, despite the organization of an industrial union there.

The courses which disclosed the possibility of a rift, declined to name the unions which might seek withdrawal from the A. F. of L.

Its principal industrial unions are the United Mine Workers, the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, Ladies' Garment Workers, United Textile Workers, United Automobile Workers, Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, Petroleum Workers, Brewers and the Amalgamated Association

It is an economic fact, that prices precede wages. Rising prices indicates recovery from subnormal conditions. If you do not believe this, let your vote travel back to 1929, you will recall that wages followed the stock market and commodity prices.

Thomas A. Edison made a statement which I believe answers the professional pessimist. In closing I quote him, "Be courageous. I have lived a long time. I have seen history repeat itself again and again. I have seen many business depressions. Always America has emerged from these hard times stronger and more prosperous. Be brave as your fathers were before you. Have faith. Go forward."

Yours truly,
Edward P. Lamar

Stories in STAMPS
By S. Klein

THE MAN WHO FIRST FLEW

FAR back in the days of Greek fable, Daedalus, a famous architect and sculptor, built a labyrinth for King Minos of Crete. He soon incurred the enmity of the king and was thrown into the labyrinth. Seeking to escape, Daedalus fashioned wings for himself and his son, Icarus, and fastened them to their shoulders with wax. Over the sea to Sicily they flew, but Icarus rose too close to the sun, the wax melted, the wings fell off, and he was drowned. Daedalus, the story goes, arrived safely.

Symbolic of this first flight of man, some of the nations have issued airmail stamps representing Daedalus in flight. The stamp of Hungary is shown here. The latest issue of this type is the new Canadian airmail stamp.

Rest for Lungs Is Important In Cure Of Tuberculosis

"One of the most promising modern means for further control of tuberculosis is collapse therapy which involves several methods for giving the sick lung rest by artificial means."

In making this prediction, Dr. L. Waldo Leggett, County Health Officer explained that the belief rests on the greater opportunity afforded the patient to recover and the increased value of the sanatorium in the battle against tuberculosis.

This statement was made in connection with the current campaign of the Midland County Health Board to acquaint the people of the community more fully with the modern methods of fighting tuberculosis and Dr. Leggett said further:

"Through the last fifty years rest for the body has come to be accepted quite generally as the basis for arresting and curing the disease. At the same time it was found that rest in bed is often insufficient to halt the progress of the disease and that more rest for the affected lung was needed. With the lungs active even in deep sleep it was necessary to devise means for enforced rest. One lung will supply all the air required, especially if the body is at rest. Several ways are used to give the lung a lung rest. The most common method is pneumothorax whereby air is forced into the chest cavity. When this is not possible or advisable other surgical means are used. (These various methods will be more fully explained in a later article.)

"The desirability of giving a lung enforced rest and the method to be used is based entirely on a study of each individual case. The penetrating eye of the X-ray is of invaluable aid to a doctor in reaching a decision. The lung should be collapsed by a physician skilled in this treatment and the best place is in a hospital or sanatorium.

"A patient's condition is generally quickly improved by successfully providing enforced rest for the lung. This is explainable by the fact that the disease destroys parts of the lung and leaves cavities filled with the germs and dead tissue.

"The rest given the diseased part of the lung closes the cavities and the patient is relieved of much

Hot Oil Continues To Flow in State

AUSTIN, (AP)—Texas' "hot oil rebellion" continues after four years of battling.

"Hot" oil in field parlance, is oil produced in excess of that permitted by state regulation. Proflation of production began in Texas in 1927 upon discovery of the Yates field in Pecos county, which included the world's record well.

"Hot" oil became a problem in East Texas shortly after that field was discovered. Makeshift restriction orders were passed in rapid succession as courts, both state and federal, struck them down.

The first order to be held valid by both courts was issued Oct. 17, 1933.

Since then, new rules have been devised and new laws passed as leaks were discovered through which "hot" oil flowed. Last stop-gap requires truck drivers to display manifests for all oil products that they move out of the big field.

This manifest law gives enforcement officers a new weapon. Oil products found moving without a manifest can be confiscated.

The manifest is a shipping certificate. Manifests for products must show the course of the oil from which they were produced.

In addition to its numerous courthouse battles the "hot" oil war has had actual conflicts, its fortress and soldiers in action.

At Gladewater a well was protected by a concrete dugout with the only means of access to the well through a dwelling protected from invasion by the state constitution.

Hidden pipelines and mislabeled valves were more favored plans to outwit the soldiers placed in the field by Former Gov. Ross S. Sterling.

Lately the courthouses have again become the battlefields of the war. Right of the state to confiscate "hot" oil is contested. Sale prices for confiscated oil are criticized; oil receivers' fees protected.

Strictness of the regulation makes the rebellion long lived. Each of more than 16,000 wells in East Texas is allowed to produce daily in July only 33 per cent of what it could produce in one hour.

"Suppose Wall Street trading were restricted for a whole day's stock exchange session to transfer of 33 per cent of an average hour's trading," the oil field "rebels" say, "Would brokers obey such law?"

Big companies say that unrestricted oil production will wreck oil prices in the industry. The "rebels" reply that big companies are importing foreign oil at prices less than "hot" oil brings.

When driving herds of cattle through the dangerous tsetse fly belt of northern Rhodesia, Africa ranchers sometimes protect each animal with a close-fitting suit of khaki, smearing its only exposed parts with wagon grease.

the means of restoring many persons to health and saving lives. As one of our newer weapons in fighting the age-old disease—tuberculosis—it holds much promise for the future."
