Operations Are To Be Resumed After Walkout

Demands For Hike In Wages Are To Be Negotiated

(By The Associated Press)

AFL bus and trolley operators who struck yesterday for higher wages voted almost unanimously to resume work in Washington today.

The end of the strike that had tied up the capital's transportation system came as 273,000 other workers were off the job in scores of labor disputes over the nation. The newest major walkout involved 10,000 rubber industry workers in Akron, Ohio.

Agreement Is Accepted

An agreement in the Washington strike was accepted at a mass meeting of the 4,000 union members involved. The plan was proposed after a reconciliation conference.

Under it, workers will go back to their jobs with the Capital Transit company at once and negotiations over increased pay will be begun tomorrow. Rep. Randolph, (D-W Va), chairman of the House District of Columbia committee, said the agreement guaranteed no disciplinary action against the strikers.

Randolph also said he had been assured taxi cab drivers would not take a threatened "holiday." Busy even in normal times, the cabbies were hard pressed during the transit lieup that deprived 1,500,000 daily fare-payers of their usual mode of travel.

Production Is Halted

The dispute in Akron was at the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., where production was halted at its two main plants as CIO workers refused to pass picket lines in a dispute involving the rescheduling of 1,600 maintenance and engineering employes from a six to an eight-hour day.

The executive boards of three labor councils in the San Francisco bay area planned to meet today to decide whether some 40,000 members made idle by a strike of 12,000 AFL and CIO machinists will continue to observe picket lines. The strike, in its ninth day, started over demands for 30 per cent wage hikes.

Truman Policy Is Lauded By Wartime Chief

Declares Britain Should March At The Side Of U. S.

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 7. — Winston Churchill expressed conviction today that Soviet Russia would not share the atomic bomb secret if she alone held it, and urged Prime Minister Attlee in his forthcoming Washington talks to bring no "pressure" on the United States to divulge the bomb's production details.

"I am sure," Churchill said, "that were the circumstances reversed and we or the Americans asked for similar access to Russian arsenals, it would not be granted."

Assistance Mentioned

The former prime minister mentioned assistance furnished the Russians during the war, including radar "and other matters," and said he was "not conscious of any considerable reciprocity."

But he declared in almost the same breath:

"Any idea of Britain deliberately pursuing an anti-Russian policy or taking part in making a combination to the detriment of Russia is thoroughly opposed to British thought and conscience.

"Nothing but a long period of marked injuries and antagonisms could develop any such matter again in this land."

Stalin Is Praised

Opening Common's first full dress debate on foreign policy since Britain's labor government assumed power, Churchill, as leader of the conservative opposition, praised Generalissimo Stalin as a "great man," and said the Russian leader "is still strongly holding the helm and steering his tremendous ship."

Churchill expressed the hope that Britain would adhere to the 12-point American foreign policy program enunciated by President Truman in New York Navy day.

"We should make clear to the United States," Britain's war time prime minister said, "that we will march at their side in the cause President Truman has defined. This is our chance of survival and it may even be of safety and, with safety, a vast extension of prosperity."

Churchill's statement came a

They're Not Satisfied With A Mere 602 Mile An Hour Clip—

Jet Plane Sets New Speed Record At 606

HERNE BAY, Eng., Nov. 7. (U.P.) —A Royal Air Force jet-propelled plane, piloted by Eric Greenwood, chief test pilot for the Gloster Aviation company, set a new world's speed record of 606 miles an hour today, shortly after another pilot had raised the mark to 602 miles an hour.

Greenwood made the 606-mile average in his "Yellow Meteor" in four official runs over the Herne Bay course, hitting a high of 612 miles an hour on one.

Was Broken Earlier

He broke the record within an hour after his friend Group Captain Hugh Wilson had streaked another jet-propelled ship "Britannia" over the same course for a record of 602 miles an hour.

Both pilots flew the course in conformity with rules of the Federation Aeronautique governing official speed tests for aircraft.

It had not yet been decided whether Greenwood's time would be submitted to the federation for certification.

Further speed trials were expected.

The twin test flights broke the accepted record of German Pilot Fritz Wendel who flew a Messerschmitt at 481.4 miles an hour in 1939.

Greenwood and his colleague decided to make the test flight this morning although they were advised weather conditions were not perfect.

For the last two weeks they had been making trial runs over the course in identical planes.

Each pilot took his plane up about 400 feet, circled and sent it shooting past the towers and into the course at the required height of 100 feet.

The runs appeared effortless with the comparative noiselessness of the jet power belying the fact they were traveling 10 miles a minute.

Behind the planes long pencils of vapor trailed from the twin-engined meteors.

News Blackout Is Ordered By Army Quarters

Americans Refuse Comment; Several Reported Freed

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Nov. 7—The reported seizure by Chinese Communists of several American crewmen from a Liberty ship in the Chinwangtao area today brought a prompt news blackout in U. S. Army headquarters in Shanghai.

Newsmen, dependent on British sources, were told some seamen were seized by the Chinese Communists but some were released with apologies.

No Details Given

American Army spokesmen refused to discuss the matter and the United States consul general's office here said only that "vague" reports had been received.

Inquiries were referred to the Tientsin consulate, from which replies were unavailable.

The known facts are the presence in North China of American Marines and the operation of several Liberty ships, arousing considerable resentment among the Communists.

This has produced an anti-American propaganda campaign and at least two minor shooting incidents in which there were no casualties.

COMMUNISTS CLAIM VICTORY IN FIGHTING

CHUNGKING, Nov. 7 (AP) — Chinese Communists declared today their forces had decisively defeated 70,000 government troops in fighting along the Peiping-Hankow railway during which they recaptured the rail Hopeh province junction of Tzehsien on Oct. 25.

The Communists said the government forces consisted of eight divisions, including three "equipped with American arms and noted for their combat powers."

The Communist claims, if true, meant that the movement of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's armies along the Peiping-Hankow railroad toward North China and Manchuria had been smashed.

O'Dwyer Victor In New York Voting

Demo Leaders See Good Times Ahead; GOPs Are Silent

(By The Associated Press)

Democrat William O'Dwyer swamped two major opponents and won election as mayor of New York City yesterday.

His vote far exceeded the aggregate of his opposition. It prompted Democratic leaders to see good things ahead for the party in the state and nationally. They saw in it a decline in the political fortunes of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Republicans withheld comment for the time being.

In the second municipal scrap that captured more than local attention in yesterday's first post-war voting, Mayor Edward J. Jeffries was elected to a fourth term in Detroit's hot non-partisan mayoralty race against Richard T. Frankensteen, CIO union leader.

Frankensteen had the backing of the CIO's Political Action committee.

Other Demos Elected

Democrats elected these mayors elsewhere: David L. Lawrence, national committeeman for Pennsylvania, in Pittsburgh; incumbent Thomas A. Burke at Cleveland, and Rep. James M. Curley for a fourth term, not consecutive, at Boston. The Curley victory was in a non-partisan race involving six registered Democrats.

Republicans won the mayoralties of Syracuse and Buffalo with Frank J. Costello and Bernard J. Dowd, respectively, but Democrats showed considerable strength in other upstate New York cities.

In the only congressional contest of the day—the 4th New Jersey—Republicans apparently were retaining control of the seat vacated by Rep. D. Lane Powers. Frank A. Mathews, jr., organization GOP candidate, was running well ahead in a three-man race.

No Major Opposition

The 24th Illinois district also elected a Republican to Congress —Roy Clippinger—but he had no major opposition. Clippinger succeeds the late Rep. James D. Heidinger, Republican.

A Mathews victory in New Jersey would make the House line-up: Democrats 241, Republicans 191,

Demos Threaten No Rest As Bitterness Grips Congress

Action Sought On Employment Bill Before Recess

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7—Congress was wrenched today by fresh outbreaks of bitterness and dissatisfaction.

Democratic leaders said the House will get no year-end vacation unless it takes action on the "full employment bill' supported by President Truman.

The Pearl Harbor investigating committee, now two months old, was parading its violent internal dissension before the House and Senate.

Should Abolish Draft

A Republican senator, Chapman Revercomb of West Virginia, told a reporter that if the Army and Navy don't stop drafting men "this week," Congress should immediately abolish selective service.

H. Struve Hensel, assistant Navy secretary, comes back before the Senate military committee today to argue further against merging the War and Navy departments. He told a news conference that on Oct. 24 the joint Army-Navy chiefs of staff recommended postponing merger proposals pending further study.

Lawmakers were still discussing yesterday's battle in the Senate over President Truman's legislative program. The flare-up was started by Senator Alexander Wiley, a Republican from Wisconsin, who declared that the Truman program "sounds like a CIO handout."

Demos To Defense

Democrat senators rose hotly to the president's defense, and a Republican, Wayne Morse of Oregon, joined them in praising the course Mr. Truman has taken in

British Troops Ordered To Be On Alert As General Uprising Threatens To Sweep Over Java

BY JOHN BOWER
United Press Staff Writer

BATAVIA, Nov. 7 — British troops throughout Java have been alerted against a general Indonesian uprising, informed sources said today, following the flat rejection by Nationalist leaders of a proffered "partnership" in the Dutch empire.

An uneasy calm prevailed early today in the two main trouble centers — Batavia and Soerabaja —but it was learned that the British commanders had issued standto orders to all their widely-dispersed forces on the island.

Prepare For Action

Emergency rations and equipment were being distributed to all British units in apparent preparation for major action, and reliable informants said plans had been drawn up to cope with a full scale insurrection by the Nationalist forces.

An official British announcement said "numerous" native extremists blamed for the recent bloody disorders had been arrested.

Meanwhile, official advices from the interior said looting was increasing in Bandoeng and that large numbers of armed natives were massing near the town of Magelang, where British planes dispersed one rebellious force last week.

The new crisis apparently traced to the breakdown in negotia-

Wage Dispute Is Explosive

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (U.P.) The labor-management conference headed today toward a possible explosion today over wages.

The Congress of Industrial Organizations accepted a challenge from other labor forces which were prepared to battle against inclusion of the wage issue on the conference agenda.

Would Broaden Agenda

As the conference executive committee met for its initial session, CIO President Philip Murray told reporters the CIO would ask that the agenda be broadened to include wages.

He said the CIO wanted the conference to go on record as saying "that there is now room" in the wage-price structure for higher pay.

At the same time, President William Green of the American Federation of Labor reiterated AFL opposition to the proposal. He insisted that wage questions must be settled in plant-or-industry bargaining. He told reporters the function of the conference was to set up procedure for handling wage questions on those levels.

Could Halt Unrest

Murray, however, said he believed current industrial unrest would end "if employers would

Baby Girl Is Born After Mother Dies

ROCKFORD, Ill., Nov. 7 (AP) —A baby girl, delivered prematurely by Caesarian section after its mother died of infantile paralysis, was reported "doing well" today at Winnebago county hospital.

Mrs. Hazel Sherman 32, mother of six other children was brought to the hospital Saturday after a physician diagnosed her ailment as infantile paralysis. Her eldest son, Glen, 14, also suffering from the disease, entered the hospital with her.

Mrs. Sherman died two days later and physicians operated immediately in an effort to save her unborn child. The girl, who weighed 4 pounds, 14 ounces, was placed in an incubator and physicians said there were no signs indicating that she had contracted the disease.

Adjustment Of Wages Offered

DETROIT, Nov. 7 (AP) — General Motors Corp. offered today to adjust the wage rates of certain classifications of its employes so that resultant increases would be in proportion to the cost of living increase since 1941.

The corporation, in a counter proposal to the 30 per cent wage rate boost demanded by the CIO United Automobile Workers union, said it was making its offer on the basis of President Truman's wage-price policy as given in his recent speech.

Maintain Standard

"This means," the corporation said in a statement over the name of C. E. Wilson, president, "that the standard of living of our factory employes will have been maintained in spite of the war and the difficulties of postwar reconstruction.

"Whether or not the cost of living and basic wage rates can be kept in line in the future will depend on whether or not the people of our country are willing to work for the things they would like to have."

The corporation issued the statement just before the start of today's wage negotiations with the union.

Padre Island Case Settled

AUSTIN, Nov. 7 (AP) — The Supreme court today finally closed the door on the state's claim for title to Padre island in long drawn out litigation involving validity of a land patent issued by the king of Spain about 1800.

The court by a vote of 6 to 3 overruled the state's motion to reconsider the case. This left in effect a decision with a writtten opinion by Judge C. S. Slatton about a year ago, confirming validity of the title which the state had attacked in a suit brought against Alberto Balli and 245 other persons in Nueces county.

Island 110 Miles Long

Padre island, originally known as the island of Santiago, is the 110-mile long, low-lying strip of land lying offshore in the Gulf of Mexico between Corpus Christi and Brownsville.

The Supreme Court's original decision had upheld lower court decisions adverse to the state's claim, and today's action confirmed this original decision.

Chief Justice James P. Alexander and Associate Justices John H. Sharp and Gordon Simpson each wrote opinions dissenting from the majority's refusal to reconsider the case.

HIROHITO CALLS DIET

Tokyo Police Being Ousted

TOKYO, Nov. 7 (AP) — Japan gave its once-domineering police system another rough shakeup today by firing more than 5,800 enforcement and surveillance personnel, and announcing it would appoint civilian advisory boards in major Tokyo police districts with unprecedented power to criticize public actions of officers.

Some time ago the nation's infamous thought police and military police organizations were dissolved on Allied orders and their leaders imprisoned for questioning.

Prisoners Released

Also at the command of General MacArthur, the Japanese government released 507 political prisoners and discontinued "protection and surveillance" over 2,026 other individuals.

Elsewhere on the occupation front:

The ministry of education abolished from schools Samurai-flavored courses in glider training, judo, jiu jitsu, fencing and military drill.

A new political party, the Japan Renovationist party, came into existence, advocating elimination of feudalism and liberalization of economy.

A labor legislation committee was appointed by the welfare ministry to frame a law to encourage development of labor unions and provide for mediation of labor disputes.

Ex-Prisoners May Receive Discharge

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP) — The War department today authorized immediate honorable discharge from the army of soldiers who were prisoners of the enemy for at least 60 days.

The action, making the Army policy in this matter uniform with that of the Navy and Marine corps, was made to apply to all soldiers who were out of U. S. control in enemy or enemy-occupied territory under honorable conditions for as long as 60 days. Discharge points will not figure at all.

The department estimated 25,000 men would be eligible for such discharges.

Yankee Captain Finds That Jap Secretary Can Be Too Efficient In Obeying Orders

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

TOKYO, Nov. 7.—Japanese secretaries can be too efficient in their desire to obey orders.

Capt. Ward W. Ward of New Orleans, wanted to throw a fish fry for several fellow officers and asked his secretary if she could manage to buy four good-sized fish for him.

"Will try sir," she said.

When Ward arrived at his office next morning he found considerable commotion.

Plenty Of Fish

"There was an excited Japanese fisherman there with four full barrels of fish, enough to feed a company of men," he said, "and the fish were so fresh they were still flopping. I had to tell him to cart them away again."

Then Ward gave his over-enthusiastic secretary a brief English lesson on the difference between four fish and four barrels of them.

Annoyed At Music

A colonel playing cards in the lobby of a Tokyo Army hotel became annoyed at the music from a nearby radio, called the desk clerk who was an enlisted man, and said sharply: "Turn that thing off."

When the soldier complied, another colonel immediately came over bristling and declared: "Turn that radio back on."

The soldier explained the other colonel had ordered him to turn off the music whereupon the colonel replied: "My date of rank is (such and such). Please go over to the other colonel and ascertain his time in grade."

The soldier, caught in the middle of this "battle of the brass," went off and returned with a well-hidden grin.

"Sir," he said, "the radio stays off. He outranks you."

Latest High Frequency Radio Equipment For Blind Landings Planned In Texas

FORT WORTH, Nov. 7 (AP) — Municipal airfields at Fort Worth and Dallas will have the latest high frequency radio equipment for blind landings installed by late December, A. C. Blomgren, 4th regional superintendent of the Civil Aeronautics administration said here Tuesday.

Installation of the instrument approach system localizer in each of eight cities in the fourth region was included in a plan for which Congress passed a continuing appropriation bill in 1944.

Other cities in this region where localizers will be installed are Amarillo, Brownsville and Tulsa. Plans fo rinstallation of a localizer at Houston were cancelled because of high contract prices, Blomgren said.

Others Completed

The CAA has already completed for the Army installation of localizers at Biggs field at El Paso; Clovis Army Air field at Clovis, N. M., Barksdale field at Shreveport, La., and Ellington field at Houston, Blomgren said.

Heralded as a milestone in aviation because it will lower the landing ceiling from between 300 and 400 feet to around 100 feet, the localizer system will also make flying safer, Blomgren declared.

Static interference which sometimes drowns out signals to the pilot in bad weather is absent in the high frequency system.

Each localizer, completely installed, will cost an estimated $80,000. The seven airfields where they are being installed are jointly used by military and commercial or private planes.

Ship ahoy!...Have a Coke

...refreshment joins the family reunion

It's a far cry from shipboard to the family fireside. But in both places your sailor finds friendliness and Coca-Cola. The words Have a Coke have a special meaning for him. They say You're one of us. The sparkling refreshment of ice-cold Coke reflects the friendly American spirit... has made the pause that refreshes a national custom.

DEDICATED TO THE ADVANCEMENT OF PROFESSIONAL EYE CARE

Suppose you were summoned into court. Would you go out and buy a batch of legal forms and some law books?

No! You'd seek legal advice—you'd go to a professional man—a lawyer.

Legal forms and law books are important. But the protection of your legal rights depends largely upon the education, training and knowledge of the professional man you consult. You know this, of course.

But are you as wise about your eyes?

When your eyes trouble you, do you say to yourself, "I'd better buy some glasses"?

That's as illogical as buying legal forms or law books when you need the services of a lawyer.

What really counts most when your eyes need attention is the professional skill and services of your Ophthalmologist, Optometrist, Ophthalmic Dispenser.

Glasses are important, of course, but your eye comfort and visual efficiency depend upon the professional and technical skill with which your eyes are examined and refracted; your glasses prescribed, your prescription interpreted, your glasses fitted, re-evaluated and serviced.

And remember, the fee you pay is "for professional services rendered." Many people mistake this fee for the price of a pair of glasses, but glasses alone can't correct faulty vision.

Don't be satisfied with anything less than thorough eye care. Seek the professional skill—the services that your priceless sight demands.

Invest in eye care—not glasses at a price.

Seek professional advice—not glasses at a price.

Van Heflin Says Actor-Veteran Sometimes Receives Raw Deal

BY BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 7 — Van Heflin suggests that the actor-veteran sometimes doesn't get a fair deal when he returns to his job.

He wasn't beefing about his own situation. Van returned to MGM at three times his salary before he entered the Army. But he told me some actors get poor treatment due to the unique nature of their work.

"An actor doesn't have a regular job," said Van, who is working in Hal Wallis' "Love Lies Bleeding." "He is dependent upon the roles which are given him. Sometimes when an actor returns to work after three or four years in the service he is assigned inferior roles because the studio claims his popularity has to be built again."

Also, Van declared, the studio often wants to sign a new long-term deal to make up for the contract lapse during his service. Often the salary is fixed before the player has a chance to show his value at the box office.

The actor-vet returns to a crowded profession, Van said, but no more crowded than it ever was. New names have been created by a new type of audience—the bobby soxers. But guys like Taylor, Power, Gable, Stewart and Fonda don't have to worry, he added.

After all, bobby soxers have to grow up.

ORSON IS CHANGED

There is a lot of talk in Hollywood these days about Orson Welles being a "changed man." He is directing and acting in International's "The Stranger" and is so far ahead of the production schedule that the set builders are having trouble keeping up with him. And it is a happy picture — little temperament and much co-operation.

"Do you think you have changed since you first arrived in Hollywood?" I asked him.

"Not a bit," he answered.

"But didn't you have a rough time when you first came here?"

"I'm still having a rough time. It took two and a half years before I could direct a picture on my own terms. The studios thought I was expensive and temperatmental. Now they're all coming to me with offers."

But Orson is turning them all down. He'd rather work for himself.

Air Extensions Being Sought

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 7 (AP) — Representatives of Braniff Airways Inc. and Eastern Air Lines met in occasionally heated cross-examination Tuesday as a Civil Aeronautics board hearing considered proposed extensions of air service in Texas.

Charles E. Beard, Braniff vice-president, spoke in support of his company's proposed New Orleans to Houston route, saying it would give New Orleans through one-company service with 7,000,000 people in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Colorado.

He pointed out also the proposed route would connect the seaports of Galveston and New Orleans, adding that the Houston-Galveston line, so far not operating at a profit, would be strengthened by New Orleans traffic.

Recess Is Ordered

In cross-examination, E. Smythe Gambrell, Eastern Airlines general counsel, said Eastern had asked approval of a Houston-Galveston route. Argument developed as to which line would better serve Texas, and Ferdinand D. Moran, CAB examiner, ordered a recess.

Beard cited the close relationship between cotton, brokerage, banking and other firms in New Orleans and the southwestern cities served by Braniff. He said 61 per cent of the cotton received in New Orleans came from Texas.

Beard also testified on the merits of a Dallas-Little Rock-Memphis air route, for which Braniff has applied.

He said the company would start air freight service on some of its routes at the beginning of next month.

M. M. Frost, vice-president of Eastern Airlines, said in an interview special freight-carrying planes will figure prominently in his company's future program, but added that freight transportation is not new to Eastern.

"Eastern has started making extensive studies and experiments in handling citrus fruits and vegetables grown in the gulf coast area for northern and eastern markets," he added.

The Nation Today—

Truman, After Trying Sugar, Is Beginning To Talk Tougher

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7—President Truman, after trying sugar, is beginning to talk a little tough here at home. It's still not very tough. And it's too soon to tell whether he'll get tougher.

From the time last April when he went into the White House—where President Roosevelt found rough-and-tumble tactics very helpful although they made him enemies—Mr. Truman used sweetness on the homefolks.

See What Happens

It was as if Mr. Truman upon entering the White House had said to himself: "I'll be nice and friendly. I'll ask people, including Congress, to do things instead of telling them what to do. Then I'll see what happens."

Take a look at the contrast.

Mr. Roosevelt often belabored Congress unmercifully when kidding and charm and all else failed. He didn't hesitate to appeal to the people over the head of Congress.

But Mr. Truman started out by going up to the capitol to lunch with his old friends in Congress. He had been one of them. He made recommendations to Congress and then left them up to Congress.

Mr. Roosevelt, great friend of labor, cracked down savagely on labor and management at least once when, during a dispute between the two groups, he called down a "plaque" on both their houses.

Petted Them Along

But only a couple of weeks ago while down south, Mr. Truman still was trying to stroke the bristling hair of labor and management for, in the midst of bursting labor trouble, he said nothing more harsh than something like this:

Let's all stop this foolishness and get down to work.

(Some newspaper editors reacted pretty sourly to this statement. They boxed Mr. Truman's ears in print. One of them, without mentioning names, suggested it was time for some people in Washington to get down to work.)

Now suddenly, within a week's time, Mr. Truman has taken a healthy poke at Congress and given labor and management an icy warning to get down to cases and cut out unnecessary argument.

In a radio speech he hit directly at two congressional committees for bottling up two pieces of legislation which he recommended and considers prime: More pay for the unemployed and the "full employment" bill.

And at the opening of the labor-management conference he told the representatives there to find a solution to their woes or the public would.

They Went To Work

The labor-management men kept mum and went to work. But we'll have to wait for the end of the conference before seeing how much they took Mr. Truman's words to heart.

The reaction in Congress was a little sharper. Some congress cracked back at the president but not too harshly.

But yesterday one of his old colleagues, Senator Wiley (R-Wis), got up and said: "The president pleads for a program which out-New Deals the New Deal, which item for item sounds like a CIO handout."

The program Senator Wiley had in mind was the 21-point program which Mr. Truman handed to Congress early last September. The president has had slow action from his old chums on that program.

Of the 21points, 13 were derived directly from President Roosevelt.

Of the 21, Congress has passed only two: A bill revising taxes and a bill on surplus property disposal.

One of the 21 was for Congress to keep the U. S. employment service under federal control another year or so. Both House and Senate have knocked this on the head.

The "full employment" bill (a Roosevelt idea) and the higher-pay-for-employed bill (a Truman idea) were part of the 21.

John Smith, about 25, paid a fine of $100 and county court costs late Tuesday after pleading guilty of liquor law violation, a judgment filed this morning by Judge Walter Davies showed.

Gestapo Hounds Are Beginning To Bay; All Claim Innocence

BY SIDNEY B. WHIPPLE
Scripps-Howard Staff Writer

KARUIZAWA, Japan, Nov. 7 — The gestapo hounds who are now in custody of our counterintelligence authorities are beginning to bay at each other.

In an effort to escape responsibility for participation in an espionage ring reaching from Japan to Shanghai, Bangkok and Berlin, they are daily informing against each other.

Dr. Karl Kindermann, most mysterious of the lot, already has given many details of the gestapo organization but he has the faculty of lying glibly about his own operations. He admits working for J. A. Meisinger, commonly called "the butcher of Berlin" and more recently head of the gestapo in Tokyo. Through Meisinger, information picked up here was transmitted to Berlin by German naval radio and through German Army intelligence.

Leaders Are Named

Kindermann has named one Hueber as chief operative at Bangkok, a man named Kahner at Kobe and Alarich Mosaner as head of the Karuizawa district. Mosaner has been arrested.

Documents captured at his house show he was intimately associated with Fritz Wiedemann, notorious Nazi official at Tientsin now in custody in the U. S., and an elusive figure known as Richard Carl whose right name is Carl Richard Riedel of Shanghai. Riedel appears to have been paymaster for the ring.

Kindermann says Meisinger turned over at least 70 innocent Germans and Jews to the Jap police, declaring they were dangerous.

First indication of Kindermann's importance in the spy ring was discovered in a letter from Goebbels' office in 1943 showing that he was connected with anti-Russian spying. Later he was arrested in Russia and jailed there until he was exchanged for Communists arrested after the reichstag fire.

Furnished Information

Kindermann admits he furnished information to Gen. Afred Kretschner, a former German military attache in Tokyo.

Karl Hamel, who began working with the gestapo at Stettin in 1935, says Kindermann lies about some important phases of his work, among which was his connection with the Japanese Black Dragon society.

Hamel also says Kindermann had the nerve to get a job with the Russians, but worked only one day before his identity was discovered and he was fired.

Kindermann is a strange combination of brilliance and dumbness. He is clever at twisting phrases, avoiding personal history in any phase which might endanger himself and at the same time giving the impression that he is frank and honest.

Insist On Innocence

Of course most of the petty spies in our custody insist they were innocent. Ludwig Kopp, for instance, denies he was ever a storm trooper, but his most treasured possession appears to have been a photograph of himself in a brown shirt standing behind the ambassador and heiling.

Our intelligence agents are now looking into operations of the Auslanddeutsche Fruenschaft, which was the Nazi women's auxiliary designed to keep hausfraus under control and in cooperation with a Japanese women's organization for promotion of world-wide Fascistic doctrines.

Reason For Rise In Housing Is Given

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP) — Removal of price controls over new homes has resulted, Rep. Patman (D-Tex) said today, in a sharp rise in housing costs.

Declaring that a "real estate lobby" here is misleading the public and minimizing the housing shortage, Patman declared that their purpose is to avoid control and increase profits.

"If they are successful," he said in a House speech, "they will be in a position to use up supplies of scarce building materials for high-priced, high-profit homes, rather than to build low-cost homes for veterans."

The Texan said he had heard reports that the housing situation in Chicago is so severe that people watch death notices in the newspapers and besiege bereaved relatives to rent quarters left vacant by the deaths.

GUTTED BY BOMBS of the mighty American Air Force, homes of the defeated "ancestors of the sun" lie in useless ruin. With the cessation of war, homeless Japs came out of their dens in the hills and crept back to the charred Main Street of "Shanty Town" Tokyo. Here, with the battered bricks of a once proud building, with the shredded roofing from a merchant's store, with the burned beams of a demolished school house, the Japs build makeshift homes. Horse-drawn carts haul rubble away.

TO KEEP ARSENAL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP) — The Army is going to keep its huge, sprawling Rocky mountain arsenal in Denver — just in case.

Parts of the plant may be leased, but a portion will be maintained on a standby basis, ready for any future war need, it was learned today. None of the 23,000 acres of arsenal land is expected to be sold.

Two Are Charged After Shooting

LINDEN, Tex., Nov. 7 (AP) — Herman Wilson of Linden and his sister, Mrs. Jewell McDonald of Mount Pleasant, were charged with assault with intent to murder in the shooting of Wilson's wife, Wyble Wilson, here.

Mrs. Wilson was wounded in the arm and abdomen in the shooting at a beauty shop she operated here. Her condition was reported as critical at an Atlanta, Tex., hospital.

Sheriff V. L. Hawkins of Cass county said Wilson, whose legs were amputated five years ago, was driven by Mrs. McDonald to his wife's beauty shop before the shooting.

He said the couple had been separated.

Charges were filed by Sheriff Hawkins in the court of Justice of the Peace W. C. Blaylock here.

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 7. (AP)—Canadian Labor Minister Humphrey Mitchell today continued efforts to end the eight-weeks strike at the Ford Motor company, Ltd., while unionists maintained a 1,500 car barricade near the concern's plant.

Mitchell after a rapid series of conferences Tuesday, including meetings with Henry Ford II and and top Canadian officers of the United Auto Workers (CIO), called another labor-management meeting for today.

An announcement was expected momentarily from the UAW's policy committee, which met Tuesday night to discuss the lifting of the automobile blockade that has clogged streets for a mile around the Ford plant.

20,000 Are Idle

Some 20,000 workers have been idle since 30 industrial plants were closed Monday in sympathy with striking local 200 of the Ford company.

They have sent thousands of pickets to mass before the closed plant against any attempt by provincial or federal authorities to force an entrance.

Members of 27 AFL locals in the city have indicated a willingness to join in the strike in the event of a clash between pickets and police.

The walkout, which began Sept. 11, has threatened to spread across Canada, and, according to Ford officials, has already affected Ford plants in every part of the British empire.

May Use Force

Ontario's attorney general and provincial labor minister, Leslie Blackwell, has termed it Canada's "biggest strike," and has repeatedly warned that he is prepared to use force, if he deems it advisable.

He said Tuesday that a state of "insurrection" prevails in the city.

The union has accused Blackwell of sending an "expeditionary force" of provincial police into Windsor to attempt to crack picket lines and permit entry into the plant of company protection men.

One hundred provincial police and an equal number of Royal Canadian Mounted police were brought into the city last weekend to augment the Windsor police force.

Mayor Arthur Reaume of Windsor, only recently recovered from an illness, has urged repeatedly that police action be withheld. However, he has warned the union that maintainance of the automobile barricade may force such action.

The 38-year-old mayor has described the situation in Windsor as "a mess." He estimated that 75 per cent of the city's industry is paralyzed.

Reports Given On Surpluses

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP) — Two sharply conflicting reports on sale of surplus Army and Navy goods to veterans and civilians were placed before the Senate war investigating committee late today.

William S. Bradley, recently resigned head of the agency selling critical civilian goods, described sales of surplus autos and other goods to veterans as a "hopeless and impossible task."

W. Stuart Symington, Surplus Property administrator and until recently Bradley's boss, described Bradley's statements as a "confession of the incompetency of his own agency."

Lot Of Theories

Symington, who set policies for the agencies which do the actual selling, added that he had recently shifted these surplus sales from the Commerce department to the Reconstruction Finance corporation because "over in commerce they had a lot of theories but they go very little selling done."

"We're not going to throw up our hands and quit," Symington said with reference to sales to veterans. He expressed confidence that such sales could be worked out through the 31 RFC regional agencies. He conceded that some of the trucks and autos first offered veterans were without tires, lacked batteries and "had grass growing where the engines should have been."

Bradley, initial witness at the hearing, testified that he had been able to carry out only 20 surplus selling programs of critically needed civilian goods because of failure of the army and navy to carry out agreements.

He said the Army announced it would have some 50,000 surplus rolls of new poultry netting, a critical civilian item, available and Bradley set up a nationwide disposal program. Later it was learned that much of the "chicken wire" had rusted while stored outside and a big share was full of "burlap, feathers and wool strips for camouflage."

The witness said he planned a similar program for sale of surplus book matches which the Army said had some advertising on them. When the matches were found to carry printed warnings "on veneral diseases" and the program was abandoned.

Senator Mitchell (D-Wash) presiding, asked if top Army and Navy leaders had failed to cooperate.

Replying in the negative, Bradley said there was much cooperation "at the top" but lower echelons failed to carry out these agreements.

Senator Kilgore (D-WVA) said it was the responsibility of Army, Navy and other depot commanders to turn over surplus goods in proper condition.

"Snatching a few depot commanders bald-headed might cure this trouble," he said.

TELEPHONE FACTORIES ARE WORKING FOR YOU
Now...

More than 246,000 people in the Southwest have had to wait for telephone service for one reason:
Telephone factories were working for war.
Now those factories are turning from war to peace. All the facilities and know-how that did the war job are beginning to produce the mountains of telephone equipment—switchboards, dial apparatus, cable, wire, and instruments—needed here at home.
The task ahead is not easy. In the next 12 months we expect to be able to add one telephone for every 10 now in service. They will serve most of those who are waiting. For others, in localities where heavy construction and installation is necessary, it may take longer.
But we've made a start; we're on our way. Now all our efforts are aimed at making the wait just as short as possible—to provide telephone service to all who want it, when they want it.

Jap Prison Called "Starvation Camp"

(By The Associated Press)

MANILA, Nov. 7—The Japanese operated Santo Tomas civilian prison camp under a "planned program of starvation" for approximately 4,000 internees, Magazine Editor A. V. H. Hartendorp testified today at the war crimes trial of Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita.

At least eight internees died of starvation or malnutrition in the last four months of Japanese occupation, he stated.

The Japanese commandant refused to hear internees' complaints because he said Japan did not recognize the Geneva convention.

Permitted Brutalities

Hartendorp told the U. S. military commission hearing charges that Yamashita permitted wholesale brutalities by his command that his own weight dropped from 170 to 106 pounds and that the average weight loss of all internees was 30 pounds.

He said conditions became steadily worse, with the Nipponese commandant making progressive cuts in internees' rations. In October, 1944, the internees rations were reduced to "only two meals a day, which further endangered our health, particularly that of small children and older people."

On cross-examination, the former editor said "the Japanese ration was better than ours, I'm certain, because they looked much better than any of us."

Got Three Packages

Hartendorp, long-time American resident of the islands and who edited the prewar "Philippine Magazine," said Santo Tomas internees received only three Red Cross packages—the last on Christmas, 1943.

A bill of particulars covering the Santo Tomas case from Oct. 9, 1944, through the liberation Feb. 2, 1945, charges the Japanese with wilful failure and refusal to provide food and medical supplies to more than 3,000 civilian internees. It also specifies that internee Ford Wilkins, former city editor on the Manila Bulletin and New York Times correspondent, was beaten and tortured, and charges the execution "without cause or trial" of more than six internees for "minor infraction of rules."

Wage Dispute

meet with representatives of organized labor and proceed forthwith to negotiate, in good faith, settlements affecting wages."

Murray had raised the wage issue at the opening public session Monday, only to meet opposition from management delegates as well as from the AFL.

The CIO point of view was supported, however, in a first-day address by Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace who said industry could raise wages substantially without boosting prices.

He Has No Vote

Wallace's support will not directly help the CIO in the fight it is now undertaking, however, because he has no vote in the conference proceedings.

Murray reiterated his belief that the delegates cannot avoid coming to grips with wages.

"The shadow of wages is constantly hanging over this conference," he said.

Asked how management delegates would react to the CIO's efforts, Eric A. Johnston, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, said he would "cross that bridge when I come to it." Other management spokesmen however, have sided with Green.

Washington Strike

000 AFL lumber workers in the Pacific Northwest appeared no nearer settlement. Indications were that any CIO lumber workers' acceptance of the compromise 12½ cents hourly pay boost would create a new stalemate in negotiations between the striking AFL union men and operators.

The first break in the strike of textile workers in New England states came as a CIO union official said 1,000 of the strikers at three Connecticut plants of Powdrell & Alexander, Inc., would return to work today.

He said an agreement effected by a federal conciliator gives the strikers a closed shop, an hourly minimum of 65 cents, an eight cents general increase, seven cents hourly premium for third shift workers, and other benefits. About 17,000 other workers in Maine, Rhode Island and New Hampshire are striking for 30 per cent wage hikes and the closed shop.

Negro Youth Is Held For Killing Friend

HOUSTON, Nov. 7 (U.P.)—Police today filed a charge of murder against Charles Blacknell, 19, negro, who they said admitted killing a friend, Anderson Scott, during a football game at a high school stadium.

Blacknell said he and Scott got into an argument Oct. 10 about a bottle of wine. The bottle was broken in the scuffle, he said, and he hit Scott with it. The jagged glass cut Scott's juglar vein.

Scott ran to an ambulance near the stadium and died on the way to a hospital.

Stock Market

HIGHEST LEVEL IN YEARS

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP) — Buyers entered today's stock market in strength after the election day layoff yesterday and boosted steels, motors and assorted industrials fractions to around 4 points —highest levels in 4½ years.

Volume for the session was one of the largest since June, approximating 2,500,000 shares against 1,650,000 Monday.

At new yearly peaks were American Telephone, General Motos, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Sears, Roebuck and National Distillers.

Factors in the advance were the pressure to invest idle funds, prospects for an improved tax situation in 1946 for some industries and the possibility of limited inflation through increased wages and prices.

Gaining were U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, U. S. Rubber, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, Western Union "A," Public Service N. J., International Nickel, American Can, Dupont, Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak, Santa Fe and Standard Oil (N.J.).

Bonds rose sharply on broad investment demand.

Flashes Of Life

(By Associated Press)

GENEROUS

KANSAS CITY. — William B. Moorhead, police reporter on the Kansas City Star, returned from talks given before 400 Atchison, Kas., high school students and the Atchison Rotary club with a traffic violation ticket.

"You're supposed to put a penny in the parking meters there every fifteen minutes," he explained. "How would it have looked for me to break into my speech at its most exciting points to dash out and put another penny in the meter?"

BARGAIN

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Mrs. Albert Wike arrived a little late at the rummage sale sponsored by the Luther Memorial church, tossed off her coat and pitched in to help the women.

After the last garment was sold, Mrs. Wike couldn't find her coat but one of the sales clerks remembered selling one Mrs. Wike described as hers for $2.50.

Mrs. Wike is looking for the purchaser. Her garment, she said, was comparatively new.

PAGING PIED PIPER

LONDON — The Netherlands radio said "there are no cats left in Holland, and that in Limburg province mice are playing havoc with crops."

HUNTERS

OREGON CITY, Ore. — At the age of 85, C. E. Lynn emitted what is perhaps the loudest yell of his life.

On his hands and knees searching for a section corner marker, Lynn looked up into the muzzle of a deer rifle.

His hearty yell scared the hunter, who leaped into his car and drove away.

ORLANDO, Fla. — Archie Deserable had no readjustment to make when he was discharged from the Army Air Forces this week.

A chief warehouse clerk under Civil Service in civilian life, Deserable was placed back in his old job by the Army. Once again in civvies, he simply dusted off his old nameplate, set it on the same desk, and continued the work he had never left.

COURT HANGOVER

ST. LOUIS. — Twenty cases of whisky didn't seem like too much to Druggist Thomas Levin. Especially when the customer told him the whole town was invited for the affair.

However Judge George H. Moore threw the romantic angle out the court room window and ruled that there is a limit on the amount of whisky to be sold in one retail lot. The ruling was made after finding Levin guilty of selling whisky wholesale without a license.

His sentence was 30 days in jail and a $200 fine.

Boost In Congress Pay Said Needed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP) — Attorney General Tom Clark called urgently today for higher pay for Congress members, saying that they "possibly are the most grossly underpaid" people in government.

Also, he said, "we're losing judges every day" because the government doesn't pay enough to keep many good men out of greener pastures in private fields.

Man's Death Verdict Affirmed By Court

AUSTIN, Nov. 7. (U.P.)—The Texas court of criminal appeals today affirmed a Harris county death verdict against Joseph Van Hodge for killing Arthur Thomas. The decision held that the oath taken by Texas legislators need not be the same as the oath prescribed in the U. S. constitution.

The Van Hodge appeal contended that no such court as criminal district court No. 2 of Harris county existed, because the court was created by act of a legislature whose members had failed to take a valid oath.

News Briefs

Theft of a tire, tube and wheel valued at $15 from W. E. Dickson, was reported today to police. Santos Bustillos, a Mexican of 103 Ave. M, reported theft of a radio and record player valued at $40 from his residence.

The ways of two youths, 13 and 14, parted in juvenile court this morning. Both admitted a parallel course of illegality—burglarizing approximately 15 residences in the last two months. But Judge Walter Davies of county court committed the older one to go to a state reform institution at Gatesville, the younger paroled, pending good behavior, to his parents. John W. Wilson, juvenile counsellor of the city and county, said practically all loot taken by the youths had been recovered, including pistols, opera and field glasses and fountain pens.

tions between Dutch authorities and the Nationalist leaders.

The Dutch Aneta news agency said Dr. Soekarno, president of the "Indonesian republic," had publicly rejected the Netherlands government declaration providing for native partnership in the empire.

"I am not in the least impressed," Soekarno was quoted as saying. "It is only a going-over of the old, familiar statement of the queen."

Soekarno referred to Queen Wilhelmina's oft-repeated promise that the Dutch East Indies would be given semi-dominion or full dominion status after the war.

Charge Is Repeated

He reiterated the Nationalists' charge that the Dutch are trying to restore their old colonial system in the Indies.

Other spokesman for the Indonesian government indicated, however, that they might be willing to participate in a plebiscite to determine whether the people of Java wished to remain in the Dutch empire.

Statement On Wages Receiving Challenge

DETROIT, Nov. 7 (AP) — A Commerce department report asserting that the automobile industry could increase wages by 25 per cent over the next two years and still make "high profits" stood challenged today by both the industry and the workers' representatives.

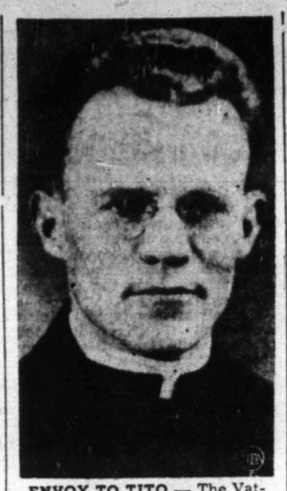

The Automobile Manufacturers' association disclosed it had addressed a letter to Secretary Henry Wallace challenging the soundness of all conclusions contained in the Commerce department's wage-price-profit statement of Nov. 2.

Action Is Here On Housing Problem

CHICAGO, Nov. 7. (U.P.)—The era of predictions about postwar housing has ended and the period of testing and performance has begun.

This was pointed out by the U. S. Savings and Loan League, which comprises 3,625 home financing institutions throughout the United States.

"The effective discussions about the housing question will now move from the economics classroom, the governemnt bureau and the business office to the breakfast and dinner table of the average citizen's family," the league said.

"While the wartime restrictions were on, the predictions about postwar housing demand, miracles of improvement, and the building of a million to a million and a half houses a year, had their heyday," said Morton Bodfish, Chicago, executive vice president of the league.

Starting now, we will find out what the American people are really going to do with the dollars they have saved up and with the billions of credit at their disposal in savings and loan associations, co-operative banks, and other lending institutions.

"The chances are that they will do many things which have not been foreseen either by the economists, the housing planners and government officials, the savings and loan institution managers, the builders or the architects.

"About the only thing we can be certain about as this new era or performance instead of prediction dawns upon us is that an American home is looked upon as a prime investment these days and that the building, buying or remodeling of one is going to be discussed, at least, over more breakfast and dinner tables in this land than has been the case since any of us can remember."

Victory Drive Gains Impetus

(By The United Press)

Texas' Victory loan bond drive was abetted Wednesday by a beautiful movie star, Linda Darnell, who made a bond sale as soon as she had stepped from an airliner to the ground of her home state.

With open season declared on the bonds whose names have run the gamut of baby, defense, war and now Victory bonds, sales salvoes took many forms.

Principal First Customer

In Dallas, Miss Darnell, a pretty high school student before Hollywood called, used the ten-gallon hat handed her when she landed to collect bond orders, and her first customer was her old school principal, Y. T. White, now superintendent of Dallas schools.

The brunette star will participate in a bond parade Wednesday afternoon and in the evening, at the world premiere of one of her pictures, will help auction to the highest bond bidders two leather bound volumes of facsimilies of the German and Japanese surrenders, as well as an autographed Frank Sinatra recording.

Halsey In Houston

A leading war leader, Admiral William F. (Bull) Halsey will appear in Houston later during the drive to aid that city's campaign.

Already Houston has turned up with the novel idea of giving $25 Victory bonds to the first two sales clerks who suggested that they would be the best gifts for Christmas.

Meanwhile, Texas War Finance Committee Chairman Nathan Adams of Dallas announced that a special Victory loan train with picked combat-tested military personnel aboard would tour the state, stopping at 14 cities to demonstrate equipment—some of it never shown before—which won the war.

Cities where stops will be made during the Nov. 21-Dec. 3 trip are Port Arthur, Beaumont, Texarkana, Marshall, Longview, Palestine, Houston, San Antonio, Austin, Temple, Waco, Dallas, Fort Worth and Denison.

Hammond Back From Recruiting School

Resuming duties as head of the U. S. Army recruiting sub-station in the post office building, Capt. Richard T. Hammond, 1917 Twenty-second, has returned from a recruiting school at Fort Oglethorpe, Tenn., attended by 150 officers and 150 enlisted men from the Army's service command in the nation.

The school was held from Oct. 19 until Nov. 2 and emphasized benefits to enlisted men who enlist or reenlist in the Army under circular 310.

The officer reminded veterans of World War II that Nov. 21 is the deadline for men discharged from May 12 to Nov. 1 to reenlist and retain the rank they held upon discharge.

STILL TOUGH — Still grimly defiant, Irma Grese is pictured at Calle, Germany, where she is on trial for war crimes allegedly committed while she was in charge of death cells at infamous Belsen "murder" camp.

An ingenious early American enterprise was the shipping of ice from New England to the tropics. The ice was packed in white pine sawdust, according to Ships magazine, and the Americans promoted its sale by showing the natives how to make ice cream and iced drinks.

"Bohemian Girl" Is Presented In City

"The Bohemian Girl," presented Tuesday night at the Lubbock High school auditorium by the North Texas State Teachers college School of Music, was greeted with rousing enthusiasm by an overflow audience.

The opera, adapted for use by the college voices by Mary McCormic, assistant to the head of the school of music, and staged under suprevision of Dr. Wilfred C. Bain, head of the school, presented five outstanding voices, and pleasing orchestration, also under direction of Dr. Bain.

Anne Weeks of Longview, a tiny blonde, and Helen Hunter, attractive brunette from Wichita Falls, sparkled in the lead feminine roles. Both plan careers in light opera.

Joseph Truncale of Port Arthur, Earl Tom Keel of Fort Worth, and Bill Reynolds, also from Fort Worth, were equally well received by the audience. Also holding much attention of the audience was E. C. Richards of Jacksboro, in a humorous role as a frustrated lover.

A chorus of 22 members supported the singing stars in a story laid in Hungary in the 18th century, and centering around experiences of royalty with a roving band of gypsies.

A dancing team of eight, and five tumblers, added spice to a well rounded three hours of entertainment, and prolonged applause greeted finale of the presentation.

Star Football Card Offered

Lubbock, Pampa Will Open Show

The Lubbock Westerners and Pampa Harvesters will blast the lid on the year's top football weekend Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in Tech stadium, battling with the collegiate battle of Saturday for grid color that makes up the program for Lubbock fans.

The latest development in the battle of color was announced Tuesday night by E. J. "Pinky" Lowrey, athletic director of Lubbock schools, who said that final arrangements had been completed for the staging of a downtown parade on Friday.

Pampa Sets Show

The parade will be Pampa's show, and the Harvester fans plan to move into the city enmasse for the crucial battle. Pampa will come to town, band, pep squad, noise and all.

The Lubbock High school band will join in the parade, Lowrey said. The line of march will start from the City hall, move south on Texas Avenue to Broadway, then west on Broadway to Avenue Q. Starting time has been set for 1 o'clock Friday afternoon.

The demand on tickets for the Pampa-Lubbock game has been brisk, Lowrey reported, but there are still a few more tickets left. Indications are that the two football games here this week will draw the largest weekend attendance to Tech stadium since the Japs bombed Pearl Harbor, and the seating capacity of Tech stadium will be strained for two days in a row.

It was also reported over the weekend that many Amarillo fans will be in Lubbock Friday for the Pampa battle, and drop back to Plainview on Saturday to see their Bandies battle the pass minded Plainview Bulldogs in the meeting of undefeated leaders in the district race.

There are eight teams in the Class AA picture in the state with unblemished records, and two of them are hogging the picture in the District 1-AA show. These two teams are Pampa and Plainview.

Respectfully submitted by Doctor John Odell Morgan as the best cartoon of the year as he prepares for Saturday's game against T. C. U.

"Sometimes I think we should change our colors to Black and Blue."

All Reserved Tickets Are Sold For Saturday's Tech-Frog Tilt

Lubbock grid fans have started frantic searches for tickets for the Texas Tech-Texas Christian grid battle Saturday afternoon at Tech stadium in Tech's homecoming event, but Morley Jennings, athletic director says very little is left to offer hopes. Every available reserve seat has been sold.

The only ray of hope that Jennings could hold out for fans was his announcement that some tickets would be on sale on the day of the game for endzone seats in the north end, and standing room only. These ducats will go on sale at the north gate Saturday afternoon.

It was reliably reported Tuesday night that scalpers were asking, and likely getting, as high as $9 for tickets of a choice kind, and some selling as low as $6.

Injuries Still Hurt

Injuries continue to plague the Red Raiders, while the Horned Frogs report they will not only be in top shape for the game, but like every school on the Tech schedule to date, will add additional strength to be hurled at the Red Raiders.

Walter Schlinkman, the bruising fullback of the Red Raiders, who is now the bruised fullback, is still favoring his injured shoulder, and reported that it was reinjured in the Rice game last week, and shows no hopes of getting into top shape soon.

Coach Dell Morgan had hoped to have his team in top shape for homecoming battle Saturday afternoon, but indications are now that he will have the lineup well dotted with substitutes, and some of those regulars who will see action, may be forced to see only limited service in the game.

Morgan worked the Red Raiders behind locked gates again Tuesday afternoon, putting the stress on offense with a bruising scrimmage session.

The showing being made by little Jack Hinson, former San Antonio Tech star, was heartening to the coaches during the workout, and the 165 pound back was ripping off some nice gains on running plays, and very likely will be given plenty of chance Saturday to try the same thing against the Frogs.

Ed Robnett, Walt Schlinkman, Gene Hardey and Jack "Spider" Dillon were working together on the timing of their plays, but taking no part in the rugged work of the scrimmage session.

Three Bouts Offered On Wrestling Card

Wrestling will again take over the local spotlight tonight at the Lubbock Horse and Mule Auction arena, starting at 8:30 o'clock, with Promoter Pete Hallas offering three bouts on the second card of the season.

Headlining the card will be the return match between George Hackenschmidt and Milt Olsen, with Olsen seeking to even the score after losing last week's battle on the semi-final of the opening card of the season.

The main event will be for the best two out of three falls, with no time limit.

Tony Ross, another of the battlers on last week's card, will be back again this week, facing Johnny Atkins on the best two out of three falls, or a 45 minute time limit semi-final of the card. Atkins is making his first appearance here. Ross won a referee's decision last week over the Hood, when Referee Babe Ritchie disqualified the Hood for roughness.

The Hood is also back again this week, the masked grappler meeting Charley Trijo in a one fall opening preliminary, with a 30 minute time limit on the match.

Tickets are on sale at the Busy Bee cafe. Ritchie has been named as the third man in the ring again this week.

Dyer May Get Cardinal Job

Texan Expected To Follow Southworth

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 7 (AP) — Soft-spoken Eddie Dyer of Houston, is number one choice today to succeed Billy Southworth as manager of the power-laden 1946 St. Louis Cardinals.

A former top-ranking executive in the vast Cardinal farm system, Dyer resigned a year ago to enter the oil business with his three brothers in Texas. However, he kept his finger in baseball by representing the Red Birds at meetings of the suspended Texas league.

APPOINTMENT ANNOUNCED

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 7 (AP) — The appointment of Eddie Dyer as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals to succeed Billy Southworth was announced today by Sam Breadon, president of the Cardinals. Dyer was given a two-year contract.

Refuse To Comment

Both Owner Sam Breadon and Dyer refuse to comment on the possibilities, but sporting circles here freely predict that the deal was closed prior to yesterday's announcement that Southworth was going to the Boston Braves.

The Boston offer was made during the World series a month ago and it was believed here that Breadon asked that announcement be delayed until he had filled Southworth's job.

Dyer, now in his middle forties, once performed as pitcher for the Cards in the early 1920's, but found his greatest success as a minor league manager.

He Discovered Pollet

In 1941 while Houston was coasting to the Texas league pennant by a ridiculously large margin, Dyer furnished the parent Red Birds with Howie Pollet, one of the best lefthanders ever to don the Cardinal uniform. Pollet, now civilian bound from the Army, was personally discovered and developed by Dyer.

When the Texas circuit folded up for the duration, Dyer moved to Columbus and guided the Red Birds to the Little World series championship.

Dyer took over an executive post early in 1943 as director of the Cardinals' double A farm clubs, a job he held until his retirement. When the genial Texan left, Breadon said it was with regret that he let him leave baseball and that if he ever wanted to come back, there would be a job open in the Cardinal system.

Consensus here is that Dyer will now fill that job.

Denver City Meets Sundown Nov. 22

The Denver City Mustangs and the Sundown Roughnecks will take their crucial football along with their Thanksgiving turkey, and the battle between these two schools, scheduled for Nov. 16, has been moved back to 2:30 p. m. on Nov. 22 at Denver City.

The game was scheduled for Nov. 16, but the agreement for the change in the date was reached last week by officials of the two schools

Sundown, beaten only by Andrews this season, is the last major hurdle for the Denver City club, which has held all opposition to six points this season, this in a 6 to 6 tie with Levelland, the only blot on the Mustang record. Denver City has rolled up 148 points in eight games, while holding the opposition to six.

Sundown has played six games, winning five, and losing to Andrews, 13-0. The Roughnecks have scored 90 points to 25 for the opponents.

Both have games this week. Denver City plays at Post, and will close the season with Sundown.

Sundown faces a big test this week in the invasion of Seminole, a veteran club that made a slow start, but has been going strong in recent weeks. Sundown also has Slaton to play on Nov. 30.

He's "Mr. Texas Tech Of 1945-46"—

You Wouldn't Take Him To Be A Football Player, But Big Walt Schlinkman Is A "Whiz"

By CLAUDE RAMSEY
United Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON, Nov. 7—Big, silent, crippled Walt Schlinkman isn't a fellow you'd take to be a football player, but he is the "one-man team" of the Texas Tech Red Raiders, a free lance outfit that specializes in strong opponents.

With his shoulder numb and his right arm limp for the past four games, the "Tech Wreck" has piled up more than half the team's yardage to lead all Texas backs as a ball toter.

Just Pounds Through

He's an old school football player, this bashful Dumas, Tex., back. None of this fancy bobbing, weaving and slipping through the other team. He just rares back and pounds through the middle. On defense he has acquired a knack of tackling other ball carriers without leaving his feet and when he is toting the hogs-hide himself he has a technique of brushing off would-be tacklers before they know it. When he does go down, he is back on his feet before the play is over.

Schlinkman, who weighs 190 pounds, ran into the bench in the Tech-Tulsa game a month ago and jerked his collar bone loose. But that didn't stop him. Since then his arms has been heavily taped or plastered when he is playing and in a sling when he is off the field. He saw enough action to kick the tying extra point against Baylor and to score the two touchdowns that beat West Texas State Teachers.

Eats And Sleeps Football

The arm injury hurt more than physically. Last year he made All-America honorable mentions and this year he was hopeful that he might do better yet. He eats, sleeps, and lives football and says "to heck with girls, sports writers, and coaching offers."

Lubbock socialites were dismayed when they threw a big reception for the Raider squad and Schlinkman, the co-captain and star was the only absentee. He said he just couldn't see where fancy talk and pretty girls concerned him, a football palyer.

Yet he isn't any shrinking violet. He is senior class president and "Mr. Texas Tech for 1946." He has had several coaching offers for jobs in the strong Texas high school field. But he says he plans to play pro-ball and is interested in the new All-America league.

Injuries have plagued him and caused his discharge from the Navy in 1943 when he suffered a broken ankle. He is not likely to see more than limited action this week against Texas Christian and that's too bad because Tech officials always try hard to make the best showing possible against Southwest conference teams since they openly are trying to get into the circuit.

Playing independently, the Red Raiders have one of the toughest schedules in the Southwest. They play five of the seven Southwest conference teams and four of last year's bowl game representatives, Tulsa, Oklahoma A. and M., New Mexico and Texas Christian. With Schlinkman on hand for the full game, Tech would have a chance to top T. C. U., but without him will be a definite underdog.

Tony Elizondo New Middleweight Champ

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 7 (AP) — Texas had a new middleweight champion today — Tony Elizondo of Corpus Christi, who knocked out Paul Altman of Houston in the first round of a 10-round fight here last night.

Elizondo weighed 160 and Altman 150. Elizondo, with less than a dozen professional fights in his record, slugged it out with Altman from the start. The final punch was a right to the chin.

NEWSBOY MILLICH WINS

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Nov. 7 (AP) — Newsboy Millich, 198, Sacramento scored an upset three-round knockout victory over Abe Cestac, 220, Argentine heavyweight hope, before a capacity house of 5,000 fans here last night. The bout was scheduled for 10 rounds.

RIOS DROPS DECISION

HOUSTON, Nov. 7 (AP) — Tony Rios, 137 pounds, of Monterrey, Mexico, holder of the Texas lightweight championship, dropped a 10-round decision to Nick Camarata, 135, of New Orleans, in a non-title scrap here last night.

THE idea of Texas Tech's taking over the sprawling Pantex Ordnance plant property and operating it as an adjunct of the college Division of Agriculture is, admittedly, in the "dream stage." Some may feel that it is even in the "pipe-dream" stage.

Yet the possibilities connected with the project are so vast and so intriguing and, in the abstract, so promising, that they cannot be shrugged off.

The idea is a gigantic one, and like all gigantic ideas leaves one breathless when first contemplated.

But the mere fact that it is gigantic and entirely without precedent doesn't mean that it can't be made to work.

Of course, it is entirely possible that the Reconstruction Finance corporation will not see fit to dump a property originally costing $35,000,000 into the lap of Texas Tech.

It also is entirely possible that even if the RFC gives the 16,000-acre property, lying 17 miles northeast of Amarillo, to the college that funds to set it up and operate it efficiently cannot be made forthcoming from the state legislature.

But if these hurdles can be taken, Texas Tech will have an opportunity to do something that no other college has ever done before—and for the benefit of the type of student too frequently overlooked by those who chart our over-all plan of education.

SAY what you will about oil and gas, about wholesale distribution and retail business, but the fact remains that the foundation stone of the economy of the Panhandle-Plains area—and for many miles surrounding it in every direction—is the soil and what it will produce.

Farming first, and stock-raising second, are what make the Panhandle-Plains "tick." Without them the area would still be populated largely by buffaloes and occasional transient bands of Comanches.

If Texas Tech can use the Pantex layout to supplement its classroom instruction here it will be contributing to the economic future of the entire Great Plains section. It will be "placing a chunk," as it were, under the over-all economic structure of the southern end, at least, of the nation's breadbasket.

On the vast Pantex layout it would be possible for advanced students of agriculture to experiment, under proper supervision, in any and all lines of farm operation.

Former service men and younger generations of Southwesterners intent upon remaining with the soil will be able to learn, under actual farming and ranching conditions, every minute angle of the business from running and repairing tractors; handling mule teams and planning crops to keeping the right kind of records from the actual job, itself.

The Pantex project could give the capping climax to the classroom theory by making available the practical, every-day activities of farming and ranching.

The plan has much to recommend it.

OF importance, too, is the fact that tying in more closely the vast Plains region to the North of us would bring added political strength to Texas Tech—something it sorely has needed since its inception.

In the scramble for appropriations at Austin, our own representative and senator would have active aid from their counterparts in the whole North Plains-Panhandle area. We could use that aid and securing it likely would open up a new era in Tech activities and importance.

As all know, Tech never has had the financial support from the State of Texas that its services demand. And it won't get that support until some kind of change is made.

An expanded Agriculture division, offering something unavailable elsewhere, would be a boon, too, to future Tech enrollment.

In fact, if the Pantex deal can be worked out, it probably would be the most important thing that has happened to Tech since the institution's doors first were swung back in the fall of 1925.

THE biggest industry in the State of South Dakota is pheasants and by far the greatest business of that sparsely settled state comes from the relaxation-seeking gentry who annually descend upon it from all directions to glean a share of the birds.

The current pheasant season of 90 days is by far the greatest in South Dakota history and by the time the curtain is rung down on January 26, no less than 200,000 out-of-state pheasant-shooters (we use "shooters" instead of "hunters" because there is no hunting involved) will have paid a total of $4,000,000 for the privilege of banging around the countryside by day and romping about the funspots by night.

Now $4,000,000 ain't hay, but that sum is just a starter when it comes to what South Dakota makes out of its pheasants.

In addition to the $20 license, each shooter drops considerably more dough on incidentals—both essential and otherwise.

Under the South Dakota law, an out-of-state shooter can kill 40 birds per person—but he can't kill more than eight a day. Therefore, he's gotta stay in South Dakota for at least five days and spend at least $10 bucks per day on living and playing.

On top of that, it costs him 40 cents per bird for cleaning, packing and shipping—which figures $16 for his 40 birds—and nobody could fail to get the 40-bird limit in five days of pheasant shooting, even if he were one-eyed and using a pea-shooter.

So the average shooter drops around 86 bucks in the shooting area of South Dakota alone—and that doesn't include how much money he may spend elsewhere inside the state's borders traveling to and from the shooting section.

Thus, at the very minimum, South Dakota's "take" from pheasants will run in excess of $17,200,000 this shooting season.

* * *

LAST year out-of-state shooters shipped home a total of 6,500,000 pheasants, a figure that is certain to be topped this year. That means, however, that the number of pheasants actually killed by out-of-state hunters will be at least 25 per cent greater than the number shipped out, since many dead birds are lost in the vegitation, or quickly gobbled up by animals. Just a few weeks ago, Bert Wallace, who lives down in Kent county and who was with a group of Lubbock shooters, left a bird unretrieved for 20 minutes, and when he returned to get it there was only the skeleton left. Some animal had "beaten him to it."

At least 50 Lubbockites have shot South Dakota pheasants this year which means that well over 100 have journied there from the South Plains section.

An Abilene group the other day chartered a plane, killed the limit and flew back to Abilene in a little more than six days time.

Feminine Viewpoint

BY RUTH MILLETT

(Copyright, 1945, For The Journal)

IT has finally been revealed that husbands of bridge-playing women were rejected for work on the atomic bomb.

MILLETT

Why? Because, according to Dr. Joseph C. Morris of Tulane University, who aided in the recruiting of workers, it was feared "the bridge-playing wife would worm the secret of her husband's job from him and then inadvertently let that secret slip out over the bridge table."

They were wise men who foresaw that potential threat to military secrecy.

For if private matters that should remain private ever come out anywhere—it is over the bridge table when a bunch of women start trying to out-do each other in proving how much they know that the others don't know.

Competition for center of the stage in a strictly feminine gathering does something to women that makes them tell things they know they haven't any business telling.

A MATTER OF PRIDE

AND it isn't hard to imagine that the wife on an atomic bomb worker—forced to listen during bridge game after bridge game to other women bragging about their husbands overseas — might one day weaken and say defiantly, "Well, George isn't in uniform but . . ." And then go on to impress the other women with the importance of George's civilian job.

For women just can't be bested at bridge-table gossip—and what a women knows is fully as important to the enjoyment of the game as the cards she holds and how she plays them.

Another thing this sad old world needs is a new incentive for living.

Today's Journal Editorial

THE CASE FOR RENT CONTROL

The OPA has yielded to real estate groups and tentatively has agreed to elevate rent ceilings on new dwellings. While the projected hike may be rationalized on the basis of higher material and labor costs and as an incentive to building, it is to be hoped that the agency does not yield a second time and undertake to raise the lids on existing rental property.

Without controls, rents in Lubbock and throughout the nation probably would jump 30 per cent, or more. With the campaign for higher wages in industry making progress, an additional increase in the cost of living is in the offing. The average budget, in which rent is already a substantial item, would be hard-pressed to meet such a boost.

The OPA has indicated that it intends to maintain rent ceilings in certain areas until the need no longer exists. But, having given in to new rent property builders, it has shown that it is not immune to pressure on this score.

It will probably take years to build houses for all who need them. There are more families than before the war and the demand will grow steadily greater as service men come back to join their wives or to establish a family.

Rent control should not only be maintained to next June 30, when the rent regulation act expires, but extended for at least another year.

The period immediately following World War I gives us a lesson in uncontrolled rent. Then, rents zoomed upward 46.5 from the Armistice to the end of 1921.

Landlords, with logic, claim the war has brought higher maintenance and repair costs. On the other hand, they have not had to worry with vacancies; their income has been steady and uninterrupted.

Rent control probably has been the most popular and successful of wartime restrictions.

The housing situation, which is nation-wide in its severity, will not allow the general removal of ceilings for sometime to come. It would be foolish, and disastrous, to take that step now. Anyone acquainted with the tight housing situation in Lubbock can appreciate the danger.

Clear Picture Of Pre-Pearl Harbor Events

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—In an earlier column it was revealed that the Army board probing Pearl Harbor had written a supplemental report marked "top secret," not hitherto published. Among other things it discloses that a secret Jap message was received and decoded on November 20, 1941, two weeks before Pearl Harbor. The decoded message read if Tokyo broadcast the phrase "east wind rain" it was to mean war with the United States at any moment. "West wind clear" was to mean war with Great Britain.

PEARSON

This "winds" message is part of the file which Republican members of the Pearl Harbor committee claim is missing. Six copies of the decoded "winds" message were made and distributed to different branches of the government, but the original copy made by the Navy has disappeared from the files, and some insiders now contend that this advance warning never was received.

The "winds" message in Navy file "No. 7001," contained the logs of three Navy monitoring stations which turned in on Jap short-wave broadcasts. This entire file has disappeared.

ARMY'S SECRET HISTORY

HOWEVER, ample information remains in the files to get an all-too-clear picture of what happened inside the War-Navy departments when the advance Jap warning was received. It is given in detail in the secret report of the Army's Pearl Harbor investigating committee.

On December 4, three days before Pearl Harbor, Tokyo sent out the "winds" message notifying Jap embassies and all Jap ships that war would come any moment. Rear Admiral Leigh Noyes, chief of the naval communications section, phoned this information to Col. Otis K. Sadtler of Army intelligence at 9:30 a. m. December 5.

Colonel Sadtler immediately notified Gen. Sherman Miles, head of military intelligence and Col. R. S. Bratton, Army intelligence expert on the Far East. The secret Army report then states that Sadtler was instructed to call Admiral Noyes back and get the exact text of the "winds" message. However, Noyes refused to talk to him.

The admiral explained that he was in conference and "too busy," but would attend to the matter later.

"That may be too late," Colonel Sadtler frantically reported to General Miles.

Miles promptly contacted Gen. Leonard Gerow, chief of the War Plans division, suggesting that Army leaders in Hawaii be advised at once of the Jap war messages. Colonel Sadtler also talked to General Gerow, stating: "War is coming and coming quickly."

However, he got nowhere. General Gerow took the position that military chiefs at Hawaii already had "plenty of information."

PEARL HARBOR WARNED

IN this connection it should be noted that on November 27, one week before, Adm. Husband Kimmel in Pearl Harbor had received a message reading: "This dispatch is to be considered a war warning. Negotiations with Japan have ceased and an aggressive move by Japan is expected within the next few days." A similar warning had been sent to General Short by the War department. Other warnings had been sent on Nov. 28 and Nov. 30. This was why the Roberts report pinned the blame on Short and Kimmel.

Meanwhile in Washington, the secret Army report reveals that another ominous Jap war message was intercepted. This was a note from Tokyo to its Berlin embassy for transmission to Hitler. Sent on November 30, the message assured Hitler of continued cooperation and characterized as "insulting" Secretary Hull's final peace proposal of November 28 requiring the Japs to break with the Axis and remove their troops from China. The message to Hitler further stated that the United States considered Japan, "along with Germany and Italy, as an enemy."

Colonel Sadtler next appealed to Col. Bedell Smith, now a lieutenant general on General Eisenhower's staff in Germany, but then secretary to the general staff and right-hand man to Chief of Staff Marshall.

Smith also was unreceptive to suggestions that further warnings be given Army leaders in Pearl Harbor, according to the secret Army report. When he learned that the matter already had been taken up with the War Plans division, he "declined to discuss the matter further."

Finally Colonels Sadtler and Bratton induced General Gerow of the War Plans division to have naval intelligence in Washington inform naval chiefs in Pearl Harbor of the recent messages with the idea that the Navy in turn would inform General Short. However, this round-the-bush scheme never went through.

Reason behind this involved plan, presumably, was the fact that Admiral Kimmel, not General Short, was responsible for the main defense of Pearl Harbor. Under Army-Navy rules, Army planes were not permitted to fly out over the water from Pearl Harbor more than 100 miles and it was up to the Navy to do long-range scouting for the enemy. Admiral Kimmel, despite the war warning given him on November 28, was not sending out scouting planes.

RED TAPE IN WASHINGTON

ON December 6, one day before Pearl Harbor, came the final chapter in the fantastic drama. Late that night, Tokyo sent another coded message to the Japanese ambassador in Washington giving Tokyo's reply to Hull's peace proposal of November 28.

The lengthy message was in 14 parts and flatly rejected Hull's terms. The fourteenth part was received by Ambassador Nomura just after midnight and informed him that another important message would be forthcoming in a few hours.

Meanwhile, our own code experts were at work on the message and decoded it almost as fast as it was received by the Jap embassy. And according to the Army's "top secret" report, when they got to the fourteenth part of the message, the tone was considered so hostile and unequivocal as to be a virtual declaration of war.

Early in the morning of December 7, Ambassador Nomura received his final message. It was an instruction to present the long 14-point reply to Secretary Hull.

This was the hour of the Pearl Harbor attack.

WASHINGTON DELAYS

AT about 8:30 Sunday morning Colonel Bratton tried to reach General Marshall. The chief of staff was out horseback riding. He did not return until 11:25. So, at about noon, Marshall finally sent a message to General Short which went by RCA and did not reach Pearl Harbor until 22 minutes before the Japs struck. It was not decoded and handed to Short until after the day's fighting was over.

Tip-off to the mistake made by General Marshall and others was that he phoned General MacArthur in Manila, whereas he sent the message to General Short by slow cable. This was the mistake also made by the Navy and by Admiral Kimmel. The Navy's war warning to Kimmel on November 27 suggested that the Japs might attack "the Philippines, Thai, the Kra peninsula or possibly Borneo." It directed the admiral "to execute an appropriate defense deployment."

However, when Capt. Edwin T. Layton informed Kimmel on December 2 that four Jap airplane carriers had broken away from the rest of the fleet, were unlocatable, and might even be rounding Diamond Head of Pearl Harbor, Kimmel took no steps to scout for them or to be on the alert. These were the carriers from which, five days later, were launched the planes that sank the backbone of the U. S. fleet at Pearl Harbor.

An impartial reading of the facts, both those still secret and those hitherto published, shows conclusively that Kimmel and Short received ample warning—even as early as October 16—that Japan might attack the United States. U. S. policy was that "it was desirable for Japan to commit the first overt act, in case hostilities could not be avoided." Finally, it is clear that everyone, both in Washington and Hawaii, expected Japan to attack the Philippines or the Dutch East Indies.

No one expected the attack to come at Pearl Harbor. And when Franklin Roosevelt, who had taken such pride in building up the Navy, received the crushing news the afternoon of Sunday, December 7, he put his hands to his head and said: "My God, my God, how could it have happened?"

"Try And Stop Me"

By Bennett Cerf

MOST of the anecdotes concerning President Coolidge, "Honest Cal," relate to his taciturnity and respect for his bankroll.

In Northampton one day his wife fell for the blandishments of a traveling book salesman and bought one of those 1800-page "home medical advisers" for something like fifteen dollars. Misgivings assailed her the moment the salesman's hypnotic presence was removed. "What will Calvin say?" was the thought that plagued her. "How am I going to tell him?"

Finally, she decided to put the book down on the center of the library table, and await the explosion when her husband discovered it. To her amazement he said nothing about it at all—either the first evening or for several days thereafter. Mrs. Coolidge couldn't understand it—until one morning she opened the book and found that he had written a note on the fly-leaf. "I have looked carefully through all 1800 pages of this work," it read, "and find no cure whatever for a sucker."

Another day Mr. Coolidge fell asleep while the presidential yacht was cruising down the Potomac. He awoke with a start, grinning sheepishly at his guests and remarked drily, "Is the country still here?"

ON BROADWAY

(Copyright, 1945, For The Journal)

THE First Nights: The Broadway vultures perched on the aisles pounced on the new entries this week. One casualty was Mary Chase's "The Next Half Hour," starring Fay Bainter. It died after only eight performances. The author's first play effort ("Harvey") celebrated its 1st year the same week. "Next Half Hour" received such glowing reports and critical hand-clapping in Washington where it was premiered — that some people thought Bilbo had just been defeated for re-election . . . "Beggars Are Coming to Town" turned out to be a ganagster folderol with more bark than bite. The reviews ranged from so-so to so-what. Critic Ward Morehouse diagnosed: "Its effective moments come only in occasional flashes" . . . To date the Broadway show season has hung up something of a record for quick closings . . . In fact, things are so tough with one actor we know — that he is wearing last year's high hat.

WINCHELL

The Cinemagicians: Alf Hitchcock's latest thriller-chiller is "Spellbound." It is a psychological frightmare and it goes over with a shriek. Portraying a psychiatrist, Ingrid Bergman is lovely enough to give anyone in long britches a Bergman-complex . . . "And Then There Were None" also juggles suspense like an expectant father. This is a meaty tingler — all gooseflesh . . . Lauren Bacall's trouping in "Confidential Agent" rates three patty-cakes and four hugs. Lauren-Meets-Boyer in this sturdy meller, and their romanzing is a high spot . . . "This Love of Ours" hits the emotional target. Merle Oberon is the eye-filler-diller . . . "Vigilantes Ride" could put sheep to sleep by counting actors . . . "Easy to Look At" ain't.

The Broadway Lights: Nevada Smith, show girl at the Diamond Horseshoe, has had her photo published in Stars and Stripes (overseas) thrice in the past month . . . Nan Blakstone's autobiog will be named: "How Many Eyebrows I've Lifted" . . . Ray Perkins (in both World Wars), after a brilliant record, is en route home . . . Jerome Zerbe is pondering society editor berths on two N. Y. gazettes but wants to do a book . . . Fred Rodgers, who was in the original cast of "The Red Mill," is now a ticket-taker at the Ziegfeld where it is a click again.

THE Story-Tellers: This should have your temper pulling at the leash: A reviewer grumbled that "America was too tough with Nazi war prisoners" . . . The same week Gen. Eisenhower reported to the White House that the Germans were becoming a menace to GI's in Germany, with most of the trouble-makers being returned prisoners of war! . . . Many top mag editors have notified literary agents that any article or story dealing with the war won't even rate a first reading . . . Bill Mauldin's speech at the Forum this week was a corker. He should be sent on tour with it. The favorite cartoonist among GI's is a mightly ally in the war at home against the Gerald L. K. Smiths, Rankins, Bilbos, et al . . . "The Bleak Years" by Robert McLaughlin is delightful fiction — accurately portraying familiar midtowners. The author's style is easy on the eyes.

Fantasy! When Woodrow Wilson went to Heaven he met many of the great idealists of the past — men who tried to help struggling humanity . . . Among them was Moses — who, after welcoming Wilson into the Pearly Gates, remarked: "So you are the man who tried to put over the 14 point plan for world peace? Please accept my sympathy for the way the people pushed you around."

"Oh," said Woodrow, "that's nothing. You oughta see what they've done to your Ten Commandments!"

THE Press Box: After some experiments in atomic energy were completed at Columbia university (in 1940), John J. O'Neill, science editor of a local paper, penned a yarn predicting the future of atom power. His newspaper refused to run it because "your forecasts are too fantastic." During the past month all of them were confirmed. In sum, his paper muffed one of the greatest scooper-doopers in history . . Colyumist Strunsky wrote: "The very fact that the Russian czar's police were violating freedom of the press by suppressing 'Pravda' shows, of course, that considerable freedom of the press existed" . . . Huh???

Quotation Marksmanship: Thomas Fuller: "They say so" —is half a lie . . . Rolly Rolls: The best way to keep a following is to keep your rivals following you . . . Samuel Johnson: No man was ever great by imitation . . Nestor Chayres: On Broadway it's not the know-how — it's the know-who . . . Anon: Heredity is something every father believes in until his children start acting like fools . . . Howard W. Newton: Watch your step — others will watch your mis-step . . . Owen Meredith: Genius does what it must — talent does what it can . . . J. Edgar Hoover: I have elephant blood; I never forget . . . Vera Caspary: She was an unforgettable chapter in his unregrettable past . . . Robert Robbins: The baby wakes up in the wee-wee hours of the morning . . . M. E. Morton: It is the exceptional woman who goes out of a man's life without banging the door.

Destruction Wrought By Atom Bomb Too Fantastic To Believe

Youth Paints Vivid Word Picture Of Nagasaki

By MARQUIS CHILDS
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — One of the atom bomb scientists, trying to convey to a congressional committee something of what the discovery means to mankind, suddenly paused with a kind of humorous despair. It was so difficult, he said, to give any idea of what the new force could do unless you had seen the destruction it had wrought.

The other day, a father here in Washington received a letter from his 20-year-old son in the service just after the boy had been on a sightseeing tour of the bombed area at Nagasaki. Because it conveys the sense of destructiveness with greater power than anything in print thus far, here are the descriptive passages of the letter.

"Well, now I've seen it! I've seen what very few men who have fought in this war will ever see: I've seen that which is, in reality, merely a preview of 'that which is to come.' What I saw was 'here,' the atomic bomb hit in the city of Nagasaki—or rather, what would be a city.

At Loss To Describe It

"We started out in our trucks and soon reached the area, although it's quite difficult to discern where the actual range of the explosion started, because everything is too messed up. And now I am practically at a loss to try to describe it to you.

"For an area of three square miles, approximately, virtually everything was flattened. It wasn't razed as Berlin was, with its walls charred and having empty windows, for those walls were still standing. This was flat. Here and there you could see a battered barber chair, a bicycle frame bent double, a skull and some bones, a teapot, a steel helmet, rubbish, wreckage, junk —all this in a section at one time more densely populated and with narrower streets than F street in Washington.

"AS we rode block after block, mile after mile, I found that I became more and more incredulous that all this was done by a bomb, one bomb weighing but 40 pounds. Webster, complete as he is has not one word which even comes close to rescribing it. Chaos, shambles, havoc, devastation, utter waste—they all seem so insignificant when applied to this. It is the kind of thing you have to actually see with your own eyes to actually believe it and, even then, you don't really 'get it.' It seems so impossible, and yet it's there.

"As we drove along the narrow, dirty roads with water-filled ruts, once their Constitution avenue or Pennsylvania avenue, we saw lots of differently dressed Japanese women and children. . . . They gazed at us with burning hatred —never have I seen such expressions; with a kind of dumb bewilderment, or with a gaze of one looking through something.

See Utter Desolation

"As to what I felt, what emotions I experienced as I drove down the streets of Nagasaki in the early morning sunlight, it is hard to put into words. You see the utter desolation, the devastation, the chaos; but as you continue, block after block, it begins to seem utterly impossible that one bomb of only 40 pounds could have done all this, and as you travel further this incredulity grows. . . . Even though you see it with your own eyes, you tend to fail to believe or even to comprehend it.

"Yet while this feeling of disbelief steadily grows, there is in the back of your mind, mine at least, a voice, a realization which seems to hammer home—'if only 40 pounds of that stuff can do this, what would be the result of a mere thousand pounds?' As I say, even seeing it, one tends to evade the actual realization, tends to shake his head, muttering, 'nope, nope, it can't be!' Yet how can you avoid facing that which is fact, pure, simple and all too real!

"TO put down a final word on Nagasaki: Not many fellows who fought in the war will see what I have seen; a sight which is in reality merely a sneak preview, an infinitesimal demonstration of a 'thing' which can mean either life or death for our entire civilization. That may sound dramatic, but so are the miles of havoc, chaos, devastation it wrought."

That is the reaction of an average young American. Even as he saw it, he wanted to disbelieve. It was too unreal, too terrible.

Yet we cannot shut our eyes. Why shouldn't the special Senate committee named to study atomic energy visit Nagasaki and Hiroshima? They might learn more on the spot than from the second-hand accounts of a thousand witnesses.

Today's Thought

And there shall ye remember your ways, and all your doings, wherein ye have been defiled; and ye shall loathe yourselves in your own sight for all your evils that ye have committed.—Ezekiel 20:43.

Red Army Chief Warns That Russia Must Continue Seeking Perfection For Peace

LONDON, Nov. 7 (AP) — Gen. Alexei Antonov, Red Army chief of staff, told a cheering crowd in Moscow today that Russia had "entered the period of peaceful development" but warned that the Soviet armed forces must "continue to perfect themselves" instead of resting on their laurels.

Antonov's address, broadcast by the Moscow radio and recorded in London, was a highlight of the celebration of the 28th anniversary of the Red revolution.

Reliable Bulwark

"The Red Army in the future will be a reliable bulwark of the freedom and independence of the socialistic motherland," Antonv declared. "It stood and will stand in the first rank of the United Nations in defense of the peace and security of the peoples of the democratic countries."

Marshal Alexander M. Vassilevsky and Admiral of the Fleet Nikolai Kuznetsov, previously had issued orders of the day in which they declared that Soviet forces played "a decisive role" in the defeat of the Axis.

Stalin Is Praised

Antonov said the Soviet victories were the result of the "organizing and inspiring role of the Bolshevik party, the result of the correct and wise leadership of the Soviet government and our great leader and commander of genius, Comrade Stalin."

He asserted that "in the period of peaceful reconstruction" upon which she already has embarked Russia will achieve "a new blossoming of the national economy and culture and will still further consolidate the economic and military might of the state."

A wild burst of cheers greeted Antonov, the Soviet monitor said, as he concluded with the cry:

"Long live our beloved leader and commander, generalissimo of the Soviet union, Comrade Stalin."

Sailors Learn The Real Meaning Of Monkey Business

LARAMIE, Wyo., Nov. 7 (AP) —Boatswain's Mate 2-C Robert Bruce Cruzen of Laramie learned the real meaning of "monkey business" when the ship on which he served picked up 300 of the creatures in India to be brought to the States for experimental purposes.

Fourteen of the monkeys died during the long trip. Each time it was necessary to open the cage and take out the body. That was what the others had been looking for, and they all escaped.

All the animals were rounded up by a weary crew after considerable time. Meanwhile, the "monks" had been tearing things up in general on the ship.

State Rests In Drunk Driving Case In 99th

The state had rested early this afternoon in the second-offense drunk driving charge against Joe Parsons, and the defense was about to commence presenting evidence before Judge G. V. Pardue and a 99th district petit jury.

It was planned to try Curtis Shedrick, 24, and Stylish Ridley, 29, Slaton negroes, later this afternoon on forgery and passing indictments. Their counsel had not indicated whether they would demand a jury.

Lish Dansby, 31, a negro, was found guilty of assault with intent to murder Eva Barnes, by a jury that reported about 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night. Dansby did not waive a statutory two-day period for accepting sentence, and Attorney Ben Kucera did not indicate to court officials whether he would appeal the conviction after sentence is passed.

The petit jury panel will be dismissed after the day's trials. A panel will report back Nov. 15, when a forgery case naming L. T. Crawford is specially set. A grand jury will be impaneled by Judge Pardue Nov. 19.

Churchill Speaks

day after Soviet Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov told the Russians in a Moscow address that the atomic bomb could not be kept secret and that the Soviet union would have "atomic energy and many other things."

Still Holding Helm

Britain's wartime prime minister told Commons that Generalissimo Stalin "is still strongly holding the helm and steering his tremendous ship," the Soviet union.

In his role as minority leader Churchill expressed the hope that "we shall adhere to the policy declared by President Truman to keep the knowledge and processes of the atomic bomb as a sacred trust, as a deterrent to aggressive war."

Oppose Disclosing Methods

Churchill told Britain's lawmakers that what the United States did not wish to disclose was the practical production methods of the bombs "developed at enormous expense and on a gigantic scale."

To be effective for Russia, he said, the disclosure would have to take the form of a visit by Soviet specialists, engineers and scientists to United States arsenals.

"I am sure," he added, "that were the circumstances reversed and we or the Americans asked for similar access to Russian arsenals, it would not be granted."

To Get Information

(C. D. Howe, Canadian munitions minister, said in Ottawa two months ago that the United States was the only nation which knew all the details of the atomic bomb, but that the information would be made available to Britain and Canada if they should ask for it. He said both Britain and Canada had decided for reasons of security not to seek complete details).

Churchill referred to the Russian leader as that "great man, Marshal Stalin."

"It is the profound desire of the House that those feelings of comradship and friendship which have been developed between the British and Russian peoples should not only be preserved but should be rapidly expanded," Churchill said.

Speculation Widespread

Churchill's statement came in the midst of widespread speculation in the British press over Stalin's whereabouts. Stalin was not present either yesterday or today at the Moscow celebrations marking the anniversary of the Red revolution.

The leader of Britain's conservative party opened Commons' first full dress debate of foreign policy since the labor government assumed power. He declared laborites and conservatives were "still united" in matters of foreign policy although divided domestically.

Churchill declared that the "world outlook is, in several respects, less promising than after the German capitulation of 1918," and added:

Supply Solid Grounds

"It is our duty to supply the solid grounds on which the hope (for the end of all wars) may rise again and live."

Terming President Truman's 12-point foreign policy program, proclaimed in a Navy day speech Oct. 27, a "dominant factor in the present world situation," Churchill said:

"Such a declaration at any time between the two wars would have prevented the second.

"It would have made the League of Nations a world league strong enough to prevent the rearmament of Germany which has led us all through so much tribulation and danger and Germany herself to punishment and ruin."

In the only gubernatorial contest, Lieut. Gov. William M. Tuck was elected governor of Virginia by better than two to one over two opponents. He carried his ticket with him, including Lewis Preston Collins for lieutenant governor, and A. P. Staples, reelected as attorney general.

Commenting on former Brig. Gen. O'Dwyer's victory over Dewey-backed Judge Jonah J. Goldstein, Republican-Liberal-Fusion, and Newbold Morris, "no deal" candidate supported by retiring Mayor LaGardia, Chairman Robert E. Hannegan of the Democratic national committee said in a statement:

Has Important Bearing

"The landslide for General O'Dwyer—and Tuesday's vote was truly a landslide—has a direct and important bearing on both the 1946 and 1948 election prospects.

"It not only attests to the growing strength of the Democratic party, but proves the popular will for a government pledged to carry on, under President Harry S. Truman, the policies and program of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Paul E. Fitzpatrick, New York Democratic state chairman, said O'Dwyer's victory "marks the beginning of the end of Gov. Dewey's influence as a political figure in New York state."

Dewey is expected to run again for governor next year. Democratic chieftains contended Goldstein's crushing defeat might hurt Dewey's chances and strengthen the Democratic ticket in the state for the congressional and presidential campaigns ahead.

dent of the CIO automobile workers union, asked President Truman to delay any price increases on 1946 automobiles "pending a review by the office of war mobilization and reconversion."

Reuther suggested in a telegram to the president that labor and management should be heard by government agencies dealing with the price ceiling program.

He had been advised, Reuther's tefegram said, "that proposed increase of ceiling prices on automobiles is computed on a formula which assumes production at 1941 levels," although the industry estimated a 50 per cent increase over 1941 production.

The "full employment" bill, approved by the Senate but held up in the House expenditures committee throughout long hearings, provides: :

1. That the federal government shall undertake a broad program of helping private industry to provide jobs for all.

2. That if, despite this program, private industry can't swing it, the government itself shall spend money to create jobs.

Democrat leaders said they were determined that the House consider the bill before taking a holiday from Thanksgiving through New Year's, as planned.

Encouragement For Peace Seen In Soviet Minister's Speech

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst

There is much encouragement for peace and international cooperation to be found in Russian Foreign Minister Molotov's speech marking the 28th anniversary of the Red revolution.

The average person probably will find the high-light in his call for international collaboration. One likes to look on this as the keynote of his address, especially in view of the sharp differences which have arisen among the big three in recent weeks.

Not A One Man Thing

The important point about collaboration is that it isn't a one-man thing. Here is what Molotov says about it:

"Only by the joint efforts of the three powers (Russia, Britain and America) who carried the burden of the war can we secure the victories of the Democratic countries over Fascism. Only such collaboration can promote success in the work of the new international organization for lasting peace.

Expressions of good intentions are not sufficient for this. Such intentions must be proved in ability to carry out this type of collaboration in the interests of all the peace-loving states."

Pledge Is Offered

Then Molotov offers this pledge: "The Soviet union has been and will continue to be a reliable bulwark in the defense of peace and the security of the peoples, and is ready to prove this, not in words but in deeds."

The atomic bomb is, of course, a bone of very considerable contention and Moscow is insisting on knowing all the facts.

Undoubtedly the atomic bomb presents a problem which will have to be ironed out in the interest of international relations. President Truman, Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada and British Prime Minister Attlee are to discuss atomic energy at their forthcoming meeting in Washington. Presumably they will consider the international policy with respect to the bomb, and after they have agreed there will be a conference with other nations.

Molotov is the first high Soviet official to suggest that America and Britain share their practical knowledge of atomic energy as a means of warfare.

One of Molotov's high peace notes came when he said that the failure of the recent London conference of foreign ministers was a warning of pitfalls ahead, and then added:

"But difficulties arose before, too. The coalition, however, always found a solution in the interests of all.

Methodist Session Slated At Abilene

ABILENE, Nov. 7 (AP)—An attendance of 600 laymen and ministers is expected here tonight for the formal opening of the 36th annual session of the Northwest Texas Methodist conference.

Bishop Charles C. Selecman of Dallas, who will preside at the conference, met here yesterday with his cabinet of nine district superintendents to consider 300 ministerial assignments which will be announced at the meeting's closing session Sunday.

Paper became available to the western world in the eighth century and the Chinese are credited with using it 1,000 years before that.
