Rebels And Federals Clash In Mexico; Many Killed Senate Passes Car License Fee Reduction Measure

Action Gives 50 Per Cent Slash In Registration Fees

Amendment Limiting The Amount To Be Retained By Any County to $200,000 Is Adopted

Adjourn Thursday

Country-City Fight Appears As Amount Is Stated To Attempt Return Of Amendments Today

(By Associated Press) AUSTIN, Mar. 13.—The senate finally passed the house automobile license fee reduction bill 19 to 9 late today.

An amendment limiting the amount to be retained by any county to $200,000 instead of $300,000 was adopted.

Senator Woodward of Coleman, a proponent of the bill, later sent up a resolution asking the house to return the measure so that the senate might take off the amendments it inserted.

Woodward was unable to get a two-thirds vote to bring up the resolution before the recess until tomorrow. He intended to make another effort then.

Woodward offered his resolution because he and others of the bill's backers were afraid the house never would muster a quorum to vote on concurrence in the senate amendments late today but it was evident that a quorum was not present and they were withdrawn.

Amendment Corrective Senate supporters of the bill were more interested in getting some license fee reduction statute than in the two amendments added by the senate, one of which merely was corrective.

Despite the majority that favored the bill's final passage, the senate reconsidered the vote by which the measure was engrossed yesterday in order to insert the $200,000.

Two Blasts Wreck Buildings In St. Joseph, Missouri; Theory Advanced As Work of "Racketeers"

(By Associated Press) ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Mar. 13.—Two explosions here early today wrecked two buildings, killed three persons and wounded nine others. Authorities tonight admitted they were without definite clues to the cause of the blasts.

Both buildings housed groceries on the first floor and apartments on the second. They were hit a block apart. The first blast occurred at one o'clock, and two hours later, while crowds surrounded the scene, the second building was shattered.

Might Be "Racketeers" Four theories were advanced. "Racketeers" were charged with the destruction by some officials. Others attributed the havoc to natural gas explosions.

The dead, all killed in their apartments, are Mrs. Mary Leu, 64; her grandson, Charles Donald Nolan, 9; and Dorothy Glogner, 9. The first two were killed in the first explosion, the third in the second.

Automobile Speed Trial Claims Lives Of Two Men

Suspended Term Is Given Slayer

SAN ANTONIO, March 13. (P) Bexar county's four-way murder case in which Pete Montiel was charged with killing Pedro Esparza last November by shooting, by beating with a blackjack, by beating with a blunt instrument, and by beating with an iron pipe, ended abruptly today when Montiel pleaded guilty and was given a suspended sentence. It was testified in the trial that Esparza's death came from none of the four ways named in the indictments, but that he was struck over the head with a loaded quirt and that he was suffering from a chronic ailment believed to have been the real cause of his death.

Montiel, 28, a policeman and student flyer fell to death in Pool's plane here today.

Pool, owner of a creamery here, had been flying his own plane for several months and Dunwoody, a captain of the Amarillo traffic squad, had been taking flying lessons. Today the men made a short flight and after being aloft about half an hour apparently started to land. Just as the plane was over the English-Bivens airport, ready to drop to the field the flyers apparently changed their minds and zoomed upward, stalling into a crash at 300 feet. They were killed instantly.

Pool is survived by his widow and two children. Dunwoody was single. Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

Brownwood Bank Robbed Wednesday

Two Unmasked Young Men Escape With Between $5,000 and $6,000; Employees Locked In Vault

(By Associated Press) BROWNWOOD, March 13.—The ease with which two unmasked young men held up and robbed the First National bank here of between $5,000 and $6,000 today led officers to believe tonight the offenders were experienced and probably had cleverly concealed their trail.

Due to the fact that seven employees of the bank were locked in the vault before the robbers made their leisurely escape, there was no one to tell in what manner they left the city. Posses searched this part of the state since Brownwood without finding a trace of them.

Occurs At Opening. The robbery occurred when the bank was opened for business. Two young men were sauntering in front of the building when the door was unlocked. One forced early arrivals into the rear, while his companion stood guard at the door, sending each employe back to the vault methodically.

When N. A. Locks, assistant cashier, reached the bank he was forced to open one of the two safes in the vault, from which the money was taken. Then the seven employes were locked in the vault.

Thirteen-Year-Old Girl Calls Chief Justice Taft To Account For Making Mistake In Quoting Oath To Hoover

(By Associated Press) WALDEN, N. Y., Mar. 13.—People exercising a public duty must be much more careful now because of the radio. Chief Justice William Howard Taft told 13-year-old Helen Terwilliger.

He made this remark in replying to a letter from the girl in which she called him to account for misquoting the oath of office when he administered it to President Hoover.

"One cannot speak to the whole United States without having his words closely examined," Chief Justice Taft wrote Helen. "You are quite right that the words of the oath mentioned in the constitution are 'preserve, protect and defend,' but my memory is not always accurate, and one sometimes becomes a little uncertain, so that the variation from 'protect' to 'maintain' was a departure from the text but not from the meaning."

(By Associated Press) JUAREZ, Mexico, Mar. 13.—Seven hundred Federal troops were captured and many killed and wounded by revolutionists in a battle near Saltillo late today according to advices received at rebel military headquarters here tonight from General Marcelo Carveo former governor of Chihuahua, commander of revolutionary troops at Chihuahua City. At the same time Carveo reported that federal troops under General Carrera Torres had been routed in another engagement with revolutionists in the same vicinity and that General Torres was killed in the fight.

The first battle occurred at Artega, some 150 miles from Torreon, when rebel forces under General San Martin and General Raul Madero met a federal force which included the 7th and 8th cavalry, said to be a portion of the command under General Calles. Lovington-El Paso Rail Route Looms As Next Extension

Activities of Surveying Crew of Frisco Railroad Through Territory Gives Cause For Opinions

(Special To The Avalanche) LOVINGTON, N. M., March 13.—With a surveying crew of engineers working in New Mexico, between El Paso, Texas, and this city, during the past several days, employed by the Frisco railroad, and citizens of this city anxiously awaiting word from the Interstate Commerce Commission as to when a hearing will be called on applications from the Santa Fe and the Texas and Pacific railway companies, an extending their lines in this direction, Lovington's chances of getting rail connection seems not far distant.

The Frisco surveyors being here leads some observers to think that system is to extend its line of the Quanah, Acme and Pacific, from Floydada, Texas, to El Paso, by way of Lubbock, Lovington and other cities. The survey that is said to have been made, or that is now being made, by this crew, runs from Lovington west to Artesial, Hope and Alamogordo.

Some are wondering if the Frisco system is not contemplating the use of the Santa Fe lines, extending the few miles from Floydada to Ralls and running over the Santa Fe from Ralls to Lubbock and on down to Seagraves and, if the Santa Fe extension is made from Seagraves to Lovington, over that route to this city. Then, traversing its own lines to Cloudcroft, or Alamogordo, they would use the Santa Fe lines on to El Paso.

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton

©1928 by NEA Service, Inc.

Do you interrupt your children and prevent them from finishing something they have begun? Most of us do that very thing and it never occurs to us that it is a breach of good manners. For it is just as possible to be rude with our children as it is with our friends.

"Come here, Ben." "Mother, I just have half a page to finish this chapter, May 17." "Certainly not. When I call, you must come instantly. Little boys mustn't make mothers wait."

"I've said it dozens of times myself, to my children, in the days before we began to think of children as human beings, and study out this question, not only of their behavior toward us, but our behavior toward them. "Drop everything the minute I speak!" The Great-I-Am commands. "My word is law. When I speak, jump!" Isn't it the truth that this is what we've been doing to children? It sounds funny when put in to print, but really, it is not comical, quite the reverse. The absolute monarchy has disappeared from home government just as it has vanished from the courts of nations.

Cooperation is the basis of good government everywhere. And if parents want cooperation they must do as they would be done by. If they want considerate children they must be considerate themselves.

This matter of interrupting, now! "Ben, I want you. When you come to a place you can stop, will you please come here?" "And I think you won't have so long to wait for Ben. His reaction probably will surprise you."

"Dorothy, come here. I want you to set the table." "Mother, this record is just about finished and the last part is the prettiest. Please may I finish it?" A minute or two more won't make much difference to the table-setting but her mother fears that Dorothy's answer smacks of disobedience and she bridges instantly.

"No, young lady. Shut that off and come right away." If Dorothy's mother was constantly interrupted at things she wanted to finish, she would soon cherish a feeling of resentment toward her tormentor. It follows that children must feel the same way.

How to Achieve Beauty

Spring is coming! And we must prepare for it if we would keep step with nature, whose plans are made so far in advance.

What will you do to make ready for spring? If you are a housewife, you'll think first, perhaps, of spring house-cleaning. Closets to clear, and clothes to air. Painting to do, and new curtains to hang. Furniture to redecorate. So many things to do if you're a housewife.

And if you are a mother as well there are the children's spring clothes and spring tonics. Tonics for all the family! Sulphur and molasses, figs and senna. Whatever it is that you have found helpful in clearing out tired winter systems and freshening them for the spring, you'll think about it.

But if you are a wise woman, as well as a mother and wife or business person, you will also think of beauty. Spring clothes for yourself and a thorough spring house cleaning for your good looks to get them ready to meet the new season.

Winter plays such devastating tricks on feminine health and beauty. So many parties with late hours and rich food! So little exercise in the open air and sunlight. Houses too warmly heated and outdoor winds too cold and harsh to keep a complexion at its best. What can you do to restore your nice face to its loveliest spring freshness? You know that it can be done, but how will you go about it?

First, take an inventory. Simply take stock of your beauty. Study yourself frankly for failures and flaws so that you can plan wisely how to be rid of them. And be sure that not one is left out. Spring is very busy time to make a fresh start, to renew and revivify and replenish. The time for a personal clearance sale and a completely perfect restocking.

Best to begin, I think, with your skin, because it is a clever index to your whole physical condition. Almost all the body's troubles, inside, outside, show up in your expressionistic skin. Is it sallow, sraglish, lined, a little roughened here and there—perhaps especially at the elbows and the knees—and are the pores of your nose and chin clogged or tired-looking? If so, you need exercise to wake up your sleepy circulation. And a different diet, with more stock and vegetables in it and plenty of rich milk. And you must drink at least eight glasses of water daily and get at least eight hours of sleep at night.

The beauty of your skin—as well as of your hair and eyes—is based on the health of your blood and circulation. Good blood to feed the tissues and good circulation to take it to them for their continuous feeding and the removal of impurities. First, then, plan diet and exercise. After that, we must think about skin tonics and stimulants, clearing and bleaching creams. The way to take care of your hair and hands and those tiny, tired lines around your eyes.

The Morning Avalanche Menu for the Day

BREAKFAST — Orange juice, cereal cooked with raisins, cream, crisp broiled bacon, cornmeal, pancakes, syrup, toast for children milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON — Scalloped oyster plant, celery and apple salad, baked custard, milk, tea.

DINNER — Baked bluefish, scalloped sweet potatoes and pineapple, pepper and cottage cheese salad, steamed cherry pudding, milk, coffee.

When a salad is served to small children be sure that the material is very finely shredded and use a simple dressing of olive oil and lemon juice. Olive oil is an excellent food for children since it is an easily digested fat. In our endeavor to keep too rich foods from children there is danger of giving them a diet rather lacking in fat.

Scalloped Oyster Plant Two bunches oyster plant (salad), 3 hard cooked eggs, 2 tablespoons butter, 1-2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 1-2 cup vegetable stock, 1-2 cup bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons grated cheese, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper.

Cut off tops from oyster plant. Scrape and drop immediately into cold water to which 2 tablespoons vinegar has been added. Cut in slices one-half inch thick keeping vegetable in acidulated water until all are ready to use. Steam 20 minutes. Melt butter and brown slices of oyster plant quickly first on one side and then the other. Arrange in a baking dish in alternate layers with eggs cut in slices. Stir flour into butter remaining in pan after sauteing safely. When perfectly blended slowly add liquid ingredients, stirring constantly. Bring to the boiling point and pour over vegetable in baking dish. Cover with crumbs and cheese and bake in a moderate oven until cheese melts and top is brown. Serve from baking dish.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Parrish and little daughter, Doretta, of Cone were business and shopping visitors Wednesday in Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Reed of Post were Wednesday shoppers here.

Two More Cases Filed In Court

Equity Suits Eight And Nine Brought Into Federal Court Here; Cattle Suit Entered

Two more cases have been filed in the United States district court, Lubbock division, northern district of Texas, it was learned Tuesday, these being cases number 8 and 9 in equity.

The first is that of M. Witmark and Sons, music publishers, versus Oscar Korn, of Slaton, operator of a chain of moving picture theaters, complaining of an infringement of copyright on a publication of theirs, "That's My Girl," in the Rex theater, Plainview. The publishing company is joined in the suit by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

The other case is that of Frank E. Brown, of Holbrook, Navajo county, Ariz., versus John S. McMurtry, et al. Brown claims that McMurtry, a resident of Bailey county, Texas, and E. L. Thompson, of Sierra county, N. M., and the First National Bank of Hot Springs, N. M., swindled him out of $13,647.10.

He contends that he sold 260 head of one-year-old steers to Thompson, for a cash consideration of the amount named, which was paid by a draft on the bank, also named, and that the bank refused to honor the draft because of insufficient funds. He says the cattle were shipped to Texas and that he has never received any consideration or the promise of consideration and claims "falsity and fraud, cheating and swindling."

Damages asked by Brown are the money due for the cattle and six per cent interest from November 12, 1928, when they were sold.

When counsel for the defense withdrew its announcement of "ready for trial," the $50,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. James E. Sanders against the Panhandle and Santa Fe Railway company, in the Ninety-ninth district court, Wednesday, Judge Clark M. Mullican continued the case until the next term.

The suit grew out of the death of James E. Sanders, fireman for the railroad and husband of Mrs. Sanders, near the city of Canyon, and had occupied about two days of the court's time.

George R. Bean, local attorney, is in Austin on legal business.

LUBBOCK FARMER WAS ON VERGE OF GIVING UP WORK

After 19 Years Of Suffering He Was In Despair—Orgatone Ends All Troubles

"A medicine that will play such a remarkable part in one's life as Orgatone has in mine certainly deserves the highest praise," said J. M. Copp, of rural route 5, Lubbock, Texas.

"It was about nineteen years ago," he continued, "that I began having indigestion and the trouble soon got to be serious. Nothing seemed to agree with me and I lost weight and strength rapidly. Gas would form on my stomach after eating and keep me in misery for hours. I would get bloated badly and at these times my heart would palpitate so that it greatly alarmed me. I suffered from liver trouble, and had severe intense pains, and it seemed as if I just hurt all over. I had heart burn and was very dizzy, and bilious. I got so I could neither eat nor sleep but little. Had no energy and it just seemed that my whole life had been changed completely around. I felt so miserable I could hardly get around and everything I did or said was an effort. I was so weak, nervous and run-down that I could hardly do my work, and just felt as if I would have to quit trying.

"A friend of mine recommended Orgatone to me, and it was a lucky day for me, thus I decided to try it. I am getting wonderful results and I feel better now than I have in nineteen years. I do all of my work, and feel fine every minute of the day. I eat anything without it bothering me in the least. I sleep soundly every night, and I'm not bothered with pains in my abdomen any more. The gas and dizzy spells are a thing of the past now, and in fact, I just feel like a different person. I'm not nervous and restless as I was, and my constipation is entirely relieved. I've taken a lot of different medicines but Orgatone has done more for me, than all the others I have taken in 19 years. It is a wonderful medicine and I am glad to recommend it to my friends."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Lubbock, exclusively by the Bowers Drug Store, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative who is meeting the public daily. Out of town customers are being supplied by mail upon receipt of price one bottle $1.25 or six bottles for $6.25. Adv.

Cramming Is On Exams In Vogue On Tech Campus

The old and battered "wrecks" of cut-down drivers and what-not are not to be seen so often about the streets of Lubbock during this week, because of many Texas Technological College students being compelled to "cram" for exams.

Not only is the last-minute "cramming" responsible for less gas and more midnight oil being burned, but social activities in college circles are practically at a standstill. This condition will continue through Friday, it is thought, when examinations will cease. Saturday will witness a holiday in between the mid-winter and the spring terms at the college.

Monday will witness registration for the spring term, regular classes scheduled to start at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Three Men Held In Narcotic Raid

EDINBURG, Mar. 13. (P)—Three men, one of them a Mexican, were held here today in default of bond on narcotic charges growing out of a raid by United States narcotic agents on the Cantu store in Hidalgo, Texas, where $24,000 of narcotics, at bootleg prices, were seized.

H. B. Westover, United States narcotic agent, directed the raid in which Vicente Cantu, owner of the store, Rafael Cerda, an employe and Juan Sanchez, owner of a drug store in Reynosa, Mexico, were arrested. Bond for Sanchez was set at $5,000 and for Cantu and Cerda at $15,000 each.

Westover said that authorities had been searching for the leak by which narcotics were entering the country in a steady stream, for more than a year.

Federals

in disorderly retreat as vanguard skirmishes of what is expected to be the decisive battle of the revolution were fought.

General Saturnino Cedillo, commanding the federal army advancing on Torreon from the south, reported he had captured 4,000 rebel soldiers on four troop trains and was in contact with the forces of General Gonzalo Escobar, defending General Torreon.

Calles Moves On Secretary of war, Calles, also was moving on Torreon from the south and General Otero from the east, and momentarily expected to make contact with the rebel forces.

Federal army aviators, exploring the country between Saltillo, which the federals reported Wednesday they had taken but which was disputed by the rebel leaders, and Torreon said rebel troops had abandoned their trains because of lack of fuel, the aviators said.

Conditions along the border were quiet but conversations between Governor Abelardo Rodriguez of the northern district of Lower California, and General Augustino Olachea, who deserted the rebels and seized Naco, in the name of the government last week, led to surmises that an attack was planned on Nogales, Sonora, now held by the rebels. It is just across the border from Nogales, Arizona.

Joint Land and Air Attack Planned In Sonora NOGALES, Ariz., March 13. (P)—The possibility of a sudden switch in the revolutionary situation in northwestern Mexico appeared today with events pointing to a concerted effort by two governments to drive rebels out of their border headquarters in Nogales, Sonora, opposite here.

A joint land and air attack on Nogales was reported planned by Governor Abelardo Rodriguez of Lower California and General Augustino Olachea. The latter yesterday took possession of Naco, border rail town, some 60 miles east, with about 1,000 Indian troops who turned from the revolutionary column to the government.

000 amendment, which received a majority but not the two-thirds necessary for adoption on third reading.

The age-old "county-city" fight was evident in the discussion of the $200,000 amendment, Lieut. Gov. Bary Miller of Dallas left the chair to join with Love of Dallas in protesting adoption of the amendment.

They asserted that Dallas county and other large counties were entitled to $300,000 for use on their lateral roads because of the large sums their motorists spent for gasoline and license taxes.

Love Renews Stand After the amendment had been adopted, however, Love renewed his stand for the bill.

Witt of Waco, Wirtz of Seguin and Cousins of Beaumont spoke for the amendment, offered by McFarlane of Graham.

The bill provided for counties retaining all up to $50,000 and half of that over $50,000 and up to $300,000.

Williamson took no sides on the amendment controversy from the floor and Wood of Houston voted for it, taking the position that the highway department needed the money worse than Harris county, starting off the afternoon session with an executive session, the senate confirmed a number of appointments by Governor Moody. Opponents of the license fee bill were reported to have filibustered in the secret session. So far as was learned, no appointment was rejected.

Among the nominations confirmed were the following: commission of appeals, court of criminal appeals, George E. Christian, Burnett county, and A. B. Martin, Hale county, and Dr. H. H. Blankmeyer, San Patricio.

Prof. H. C. Henniger, of the foreign language department of the Tech, received a letter this week from Mr. Otto Rupp, of Stuttgart, Germany, telling of the receipt of a Tech bulletin.

Mr. Rupp told of the interest shown in the bulletin and the college stating that the bulletin is to be placed, translated, in the college there for the benefit of the students.

"The bulletins of Texas Technological college have aroused great interest among my acquaintances," Mr. Rupp writes, "as I have a friend connected with a large sewing machine factory in our locality, in the same establishment I have another acquaintance who is manager and inventor of many textile machines."

"I myself, and my parents, immediately recognize you in the group picture of one of the booklets. I will take the bulletins to the local college to be translated for the benefit of both sexes."

FORT WORTH, Mar. 13. (P)—Eighty-four head of blooded Hereford cattle brought $37,735 at the annual auction sale of the Texas Hereford association held today at the Southwest Exposition and Fat Stock show.

Fifty selected head of bulls and females brought an average price of $59 a head in the "blue ribbon" sale. In addition a carload of bulls went to one buyer at a price of $220 a head.

As usual, practically all of the Herefords will remain in this state for 73 of the 84 head went to Texas buyers.

Slammed On Brakes Witnesses said Bible probably slammed on his brakes and attempted to swing the machine back into control but in doing so turned the steering wheel too far. The machine went out of control, spun around twice on the beach and turned over. It bounced high into the air, going into a barrel roll and smashed into the dunes with a terrific impact. Traub, standing on the beach taking pictures of the race, attempted to get out of the way, but the machine struck him so fast, Traub was struck squarely by the car just before it crashed into the dune. His body was managed.

Body Hurled From Machine While the car was turning over, just before it struck the dunes, Bible's body was hurled from the machine onto the beach. Witnesses said he attempted to sit up, gasped and fell back on the sand dead.

The Triplex, which held the world's record of 297 miles an hour before Major H. O. D. Segrave, of England booster the mark up to 231 Monday, was demolished.

Bible never had driven a race car, except at a few small dirt tracks in Florida and the middle west, and had staked his life on the opportunity to make a name for himself.

Municipal Airport of City To Be Used By Western Air Express Planes; To Have Complete Service

(Special To Avalanche) AMARILLO, Mar. 13.—Amarillo has been designated as one of the two regularly-scheduled stops between Los Angeles and Kansas City on the Western Air Express route, according to James G. Wooley, of Los Angeles, vice-president of the Western Air Express, who was in Amarillo making arrangements for the stop-over of the daily passenger and express planes here.

Tobruk, Ariz., is the other stop-over. This divides the trip into three approximately equal sections. "Flag stops" also will be made at Albuquerque and perhaps two or three other cities to discharge and receive passengers only. The planes will stop at Amarillo and Hobbrook for 15 or 20 minutes to discharge and receive passengers and to refuel.

The Municipal Airport will be used and it was announced by Mr. Wooley that the Western Air company have purchased the latest model tri-motored Fokker planes for the Kansas City line.

Luncheon will be served in the air. Each ship will be equipped with latest conveniences and comforts for air travel.

It is probable that one of the planes will be based in Amarillo for emergency service. It is the plan of the company to maintain six ships on the line, one at Los Angeles, one at Kansas City, and one each at Amarillo and Hobbrook, while two are in the air.

Complete cooperation with the railroads, bus lines and transport lines will be offered.

Rebels

Federal General Saturnino Cedillo, governor and military commander of San Luis Potosi, advanced on Saltillo from the south. His forces occupied Agua Nueva, where the Coahuila and Pacific railway meets the national railways.

Official advices said that General Cedillo pursued the rebels for nearly ten miles. The aviators reported they saw near Agua Nueva, or about 28 miles from Saltillo, a locomotive and four cars which had been turned over by the retreating rebels in order to obstruct pursuit.

The fliers also reported seeing five rebel trains halted at General Cepeda station. They watched the rebel soldiers leave their trains and enter automobile trucks which started toward Torreon.

The aviators said they had dropped bombs on the train and also on rebel encampments near Agua Nueva. The rebel garrison at Saltillo was commended by General San Martin.

Miss Edgar Mae Mongole, Tech student, left yesterday to visit with her parents in Clarendon for several days.

Mrs. Linden Sprull of Falls was a guest Wednesday of Mrs. Mabel Smith, 2305 Ninth Street.

Nurmi Goes In For Spectacular On Eve Of Busy Season

Borota Predicts France And U.S. Will Fight For Tennis Title

WESTERNERS STRUT
Lubbock football fans who saw the Westerners in action Tuesday afternoon in the intra-squad contest were given a fair example of what to expect when the locals open their campaign next fall. Although the outlook at the present time is little brighter than at this time last year, the Black and Gold warriors have already started pointing their efforts to Amarillo, Vernon, Wichita Falls and Electric. Any one of these teams can be expected to have a contender when the 1929 season opens. Reports from the various camps indicate Amarillo and Vernon will be the strongest teams in District One.

Loss of Barton, Wilson, Buckingham and Castleberry from the strong forward wall of last season has presented Coaches Morgan and Frnka with the task of developing football players. Green candidates who knew nothing whatever of line play before the beginning of spring training. The shoes of Earnest Dowell in the backfield will be equally as hard to fill. Dowell was used at half during the early part of last season and later shifted to quarter where he proved more effective. His consistent gains through the line proved one of the main threats of the Westerner attack.

The crying need for more beef is again heard from the high school mentors. The majority of the new candidates reporting for spring training belong to the featherweight class and will have to show works of speed if they hope to be effective against Class A competition. A few hunkies are in camp but these are not numerous enough to bring the team's average far above 140.

ANOTHER TEAM SHINES

Art Shires, former Waco first sacker, has been named field captain of the Chicago White Sox team by Manager Lena Blackburn. Although proved a sensation on his first trip to the big show last season, Shires is still considered a rookie and his position gives one an idea of the impression Shires has made in the Windy City. He is the type of ball player the major leaguers are looking for. E. S. Barnard, president of the American League, said last fall that "this boy is the most colorful player to break into the American League since Ty Cobb made his debut."

NEW YORK, Mar. 12.—(AP)—It may turn out to have been only a little static but the radio references credited to Tommy Loughran hardly can be classed as music to soothe the savage spirit, if any, of the heavyweights now jockeying for position in the big championship derby of 1929.

Tommy avers he will turn his attention to these "bums"—or, more specifically, Max Schmeling, Jack Sharkey and Paulino Uzcudun—after attending to the more familiar business of fighting Mickey Walker, Leo Lomski and James J. Braddock in defense of the world's light heavyweight title.

Davidson Urges Veto of Bolters Bill by Governor

Houston Political Leader Says Measure Crystallizes Hoover Democrats Into Powerful GOP Machine

(By Associated Press)
DALLAS, Mar. 13.—Lynch Davidson of Houston, in a telegram to Governor Moody urging veto of the Bolters bill, said the measure, if not "killed" would crystallize Hoover democrats into a powerful republican political machine in Texas, "seemingly dry but actually wet."
"As ring leaders of the harmony democrats we are not without responsibility for republican success in Texas," the message said. "While we stuck to our democratic guns and voted the ticket straight, a tide against Smith was started that could not be turned when his nomination was forced upon us."
"I have no sympathy with people who do not keep their political or party pledges, but the preservation of solidarity of the party is of primary importance."
"The bolters bill would read a quarter of a million people out of the democratic party in Texas who have done no more than has been done numerous times before by many of the self-same people who now complain. It might destroy our party in Texas and only serve to gratify vengeance on supposed bolter leaders, who in truth were not leaders at all but crafty enough to get in front of the parade."

Johnston Defends His Relations To Former Secretary

Kight Leads Questioning of Suspended Governor About Circumstances; Testimony of Executive Is Ended

(By Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Mar. 13.—Henry S. Johnston, suspended governor of Oklahoma, concluded two days of his cross-examination late today and was submitted to re-direct examination. This will conclude Johnston's appearance in his own defense for five and one-half days upon the witness stand.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Mar. 13.—(AP)—Cross examination in his impeachment trial by one of his chief political enemies, Henry S. Johnston, suspended Governor, today defended his relations with Mrs. O. O. Hammonds, his former confidential secretary.

H. Tom Kight, representative from Rogers county, and one of the organizers of the attempted impeachment session of 1927, took over the examination of Johnston this morning, as a member of the house board of managers which is conducting the prosecution.

Admits Circumstances
Under Kight's questioning, Johnston admitted that circumstances in the early part of his administration, which gave rise to rumors concerning the governor and his secretary, were unconventional.

Governor and Mrs. Johnston occupied a hotel suite which had a common hall with the suite of Mrs. Hammonds, Johnston said. The apartments were separate otherwise, he testified.

On one occasion, the suspended governor said, he had breakfast brought up for himself and Mrs. Hammonds, and they ate together. They are alone only one time, he testified at another stage. There was some heedlessness at first, Johnston said, of the effect which the free access of one apartment to the other might produce upon his critics, but this condition was corrected.

THIS HAS HAPPENED "HANDSOME HARRY" BORDEN, promoter of dubious stock companies, is murdered some time between half-past one and four o'clock on Saturday. His body is found sprawled on the floor of his private office Monday morning by his pretty secretary, RUTH LESTER. Ruth is engaged to JACK HAYWARD, whose office is just across the narrow airshaft from Borden's.

Ruth runs to Jack's office to tell him of the tragedy and, finding him out, searches for his pistol which he had purchased at the same time he had bought an identical weapon for her to keep in her desk. His gun is gone! Ruth then recalls his increasing behavior of the past Saturday and his angry threat against Borden.

Jack comes in and accompanies Ruth back to Borden's suite. While he phones for the police, Ruth, fearing Jack shot Borden across the airshaft, hurries into the private office to close the window. She gasps with relief, for it is already closed! Ruth tells DETECTIVE McMANN of Borden's two Saturday morning visitors: RITA DUBOIS, night club dancer, and MRS. BORDEN, his wife and mother of his two children, who called for her monthly alimony check. Mrs. Borden comes in during the questioning and McMANN mercilessly accuses her of the murder. She says she left Borden alive and saw only one person near his office: MINNIE CASSIDY, the secretary.

NIELSON, medical examiner, arrives. When search is started for a weapon, Ruth tells of the pistol in her desk. McMANN looks for it but it, too, is gone. While McMANN is questioning MICKY MORAN, elevator operator, a black pigeon flies plump against the window pane. McMANN looks out the window and his ejaculation of surprise startles his listeners.

McMANN finds the tiny footprints of a pigeon in dried blood on the window ledge and on the floor near the body, which indicates the window was open when Borden was shot. Ruth's fear for Jack increases, McMANN questions Moran, the elevator boy, who is afraid Ruth killed her employer.

Suspicion fastens on Ruth until McMANN points to the office across the airshaft and asks who rents it. Jack admits it is day-laborer McMANN. McMANN questions the elevator boys and learns that Saturday afternoon passengers to the seventh floor were BENNY SMITH, Borden's office boy, Mrs. Borden, Rita and Jack Hayward.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XVII "Well, Hayward," McMANN opened the attack with his short bark of a laugh. "You've had plenty of time to figure out why it took you at least 10 minutes to find those theater tickets."

"Not exactly," Jack answered evenly. "I was pretty well knocked out by the time I got from the insurance company, since I'd counted on the commission to get married on, so I sat at my desk for two or three minutes, trying to get hold of myself before seeing Miss Lester again. I didn't want to spoil her day—the first of our engagement!" He drew a quick, sharp breath, then smiled down at the girl who was clinging to his arm. "Needed money pretty badly, didn't you, Hayward?" McMANN interrupted significantly. "I was sorry to lose the commission, because it might mean a postponement of our marriage," Jack admitted curtly. "Then it occurred to me that since I'd lost the commission I'd better be lining up other business, so I packed my briefcase with work to do over the week-end. It took me several minutes to find a list of prospects I wanted to work on, for I'm not familiar with my secretary's filing system. Well, Hayward, I had found it. I left the office and rejoined Miss Lester at the hotel."

WHITNEY'S INVENTION One hundred and thirty-five years ago today, on March 14, 1794, Eli Whitney secured a patent on the cotton gin and laid the foundation for the Civil War. No single factor in our history has had a greater effect upon the political and economic life of the nation than the invention of this mechanical means to separate the seed from the cotton. Before his invention were required to clean one pound of cotton. Since one field hand could produce about 2,500 pounds in a good season, it took 25 slaves working 100 days to get his output ready for market. Hence, no cotton was exported before the introduction of Whitney's gin. The year after, however, 1,500,000 pounds were exported and the year following, about 5,250,000 pounds. The south soon found cotton growing to be its most important industry. Slaves became increasingly in demand to grow it and thus began differences between the north and south which resulted in the Civil War.

Another First "Touch" Of Spring

SO THINK WE

We think it will be a very wise thing to keep the garage doors locked, and the car too, from the number of thefts of cars being reported in the city these days.

We think most people would welcome the fifty percent slash in the car license bill that is proposed in the senate. Most any relief will be welcomed by most of the car owners.

We think that there will be a splendid exhibition of automobiles when the auto show is given March 28 and 29. It will be worth the time of the people to attend this show and see the many new cars that the dealers are showing this year.

We think possibly this is a kind of off year for the Tech stock judging team. All schools have them occasionally. The class is a good one however, and there is no need to become discouraged just because they did not get first prize at the Fat Stock Show.

We think the peace officers should have the hearty cooperation of the people of this city in their efforts to clean the town of the drunks, bootleggers and vags. It seems that there are plenty of them yet, but a few more raids like the one Monday night will soon give them a scare, and possibly result in much good.

We think in the death of M. C. McCummen, Lubbock has lost a very valuable citizen, and one that has done much for the upbuilding of the city.

We think that Lubbock has a great opportunity to make some good trade friends in making the highways better to the west. This is greatly needed, and Lubbock wants that part of the country to come this way to do their trading.

We think it is a shame that the road between Lubbock and Idalou should be so badly neglected. We probably are not familiar enough with the conditions, but we do know one thing: the road is in a mighty sorry condition, and may bluff plenty of people from coming here to do their trading.

We think that Lubbock cannot lose anything in helping to build better roads to all of the towns and communities in every direction. People will go where the roads are good and they are not so particular about the distance. Distance is no hindrance these days. It is the condition of the road bed that makes the decision for the car driver.

We think with the wheat crop looking good at this time, rain will likely come soon enough to save the crop, and even make a good yield. The condition of the South Plains wheat this year is much better than last year at this time.

We think the reason some people are so extravagant is because their neighbors are, and their neighbors are extravagant because the other fellows are. It is just a chain case of one trying to outdo the other, and neither one is able to be extravagant.

We think that President Hoover does not lose much time in getting action in time of war. When the rebels broke loose down in Mexico, President Hoover at once told his cabinet that it was our business interests and duty to lend support to the Mexican government in preference to encouraging the rebels or even appearing indifferent in the matter. He at once start munitions

On the Firing Line at the Nation's Capital

HOOPER WON'T GO ASTROLLING WITHOUT ATTRACTING NOTICE

BY CHARLES P. STEWART Washington Correspondent for Central Press And The Morning Avalanche

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Calvin Coolidge is an inconspicuous individual. He is neither very tall nor very short; neither fat nor decidedly lean. There is nothing particularly striking about his features, and his complexion is neutral. In age he is middling. He is almost a perfect average—it is hard to avoid saying "was" as if he were dead—and consequently blends so well with practically any background as hardly to show at all.

As president, Mr. Coolidge could and did, go for many a ramble right through the busiest part of the capital at the rush hour in the late afternoon, and much more frequently than not got back to the White House without being recognized.

The Washington police are hopeful that President Hoover will not develop, his predecessor's penchant for strolling around town unannounced, because President Hoover is as noticeable as ex-President Coolidge is otherwise, and it mortifies the police to have the president bothered by crowds, tagging after him, even though he comes to no harm.

It is more especially the duty of his secret service escort than of the city police to guard the president's person. Nevertheless, it is up to the police to see that the chief magistrate is not embarrassed by becoming the center of a traffic jam, to clear the street crossings for him, and to save him from being run down by lawless automobiles.

President Hoover never will be able to proceed leisurely through the retail district, window shopping like Mr. Coolidge, without attracting attention. For one thing, his face, once seen, is not likely to be forgotten. Handsome or not, it is noticeable.

Mr. Hoover also has bulk, and moves ponderously. He is not an easy pedestrian to adapt to a hurrying throng on a sidewalk. Something like a man-of-war, he leaves smaller craft rocking in his wake as he passes.

For the new president to get far along S street will be impossible, without having several thousands of people pointing him out to several thousands of others, and then the thoroughfare will be tied up tight, as long as he stays there.

However, his obviousness may be a protection to him against motor cars. Mr. Coolidge, taking a walk, barely escaped being run over once. The reckless driver, arrested and fined, complained bitterly of the injustice of his punishment. No such howl would have been raised, he said, not untruthfully, if had been an ordinary mortal—and how was he to know it was the president? Autists will know it, in Mr. Hoover's case.

It is the early part of each administration that worries the police most—before the White House tenant has become accustomed to such constant watching, and before his habit of walking has been practically abandoned his incognito excursions.

The police force will not feel safe until after President Hoover has undergone a similar probationary period and they decide they can depend on him to give them the high sign before venturing out for a constitutional.

HEART DISEASE EXACTS HUGE NATIONAL COST

BY DR. MORRIS FISHERIN Editor Journal of the American Medical Association And of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

As recently pointed out by Dr. Haven Emerson, in 1921 tuberculosis was costing the people of the United States $7.96 each annually.

The cost per patient was $1,262 annually and the total loss due to tuberculosis for one generation was more than $27,000,000,000 dollars.

The overwhelming majority of men in the United States are near to the $2,500-a-year income class. With this fact in mind, Doctor Emerson has attempted to estimate the cost to this country of heart disease, which is among the leading causes of death among our people.

Billions In Lives. The deaths from heart disease in 1928 are estimated about 221,809. The value of these lives would be more than $1,000,000,000 and the cost to the people of the country is represented at $12.65 per capita.

It is estimated that in 1928 heart disease caused a reduction in the average length of life of 1.66 years for men and two years for women. Figures on the basis of the complete lives of such people and loss to the country, the cost is estimated at $23,000,000,000.

Thus heart disease is more expensive than cancer, although less expensive than tuberculosis. In 1922, the annual cost of tuberculous patients was about $3.15 per capita and the cost for heart disease 75 cents per capita.

The difference in these costs is due to the fact that there is a greater adequacy of provision for the or tuberculosis? A—There is no scientific evidence to indicate that eating meat has anything to do with causing cancer or tuberculosis. care of the tuberculous because of the infectious nature of their disorder, and sanitary supervision, which are not required for heart disease.

Burdens On Wage Earners. However, the burden of heart disease falls more heavily on the people in terms of loss of livelihood. Because of its duration, heart disease constitutes a heavier burden on the wage earner than any other disease, except tuberculosis, mental diseases and certain forms of chronic rheumatism.

These facts should cause increasing attention to problems of heart disease and a greater willingness to aid in these steps in early life that are known to be efficient in preventing heart disease, namely, the proper care of acute infectious diseases and the removal of infections of the nose, throat and teeth.

BOND FOR AIRPORT

That Lubbock is in need of an airport and that the directors of the Board of City Development are of this opinion, is evident from the action they took in a meeting yesterday when they unanimously recommended that the city commission should call a election for the purpose of asking for $100,000 in bonds for the purpose of establishing a modern municipal airport for the city of Lubbock, and pledged its support to the issue when the election is called.

Lubbock is no doubt in need of an airport, and this seems to be the most logical way of getting it. The city commission, we understand, will meet this afternoon for the purpose of considering this matter, and in all probability will take some action in the matter.

For some time the committee on the Board of City Development has been studying the situation here, and it is only after a thorough investigation of conditions that their decision to ask for the election was finally agreed upon as the proper course to pursue to obtain the much needed facilities of this nature.

Everyone knows that Lubbock is far behind the procession in the matter of air ports. Many towns of much less importance and much smaller in size have air ports already, and have been designated as important points on the continental lines because of the fact that these ports have been secured, and are now available. The establishment of a modern airport in Lubbock will be a long step in the direction of getting Lubbock on the air map in good shape, and with the progress of air transportation no one will deny that it is one of the coming means of transportation that will be uppermost in the development of the nation.

It has been figured out by the committee that not less than a section of land should be procured for this purpose, and they have also figured out that $100,000 in bonds should be issued to take care of this proposition in the proper shape.

CLEAN UP

There is always at this time of the year more or less agitation about cleaning up and even though Lubbock is probably a cleaner town than many others, at the same time it would seem that there is still some people who are neglecting their duty in the matter of keeping the trash hauled away from their premises. Lubbock on the air map in good shape, and with the progress of air transportation no one will deny that it is one of the coming means of transportation that will be uppermost in the development of the nation.

It has been figured out by the committee that not less than a section of land should be procured for this purpose, and they have also figured out that $100,000 in bonds should be issued to take care of this proposition in the proper shape.

HOOPER TO KEEP FAITH WITH THE FARMERS

During the campaign, and in his acceptance speeches Herbert Hoover, now president of the United States, pledged the farmers of the United States that he was going to give them relief in some sort of way, and it would seem that Mr. Hoover is not going to break faith with his people in this matter. He has called a special session of congress for that purpose and also to make some minor corrections in the tariff laws. The farmers and the laboring class of people are entitled to much consideration, and we are glad to see the president of the United States recognize this fact. This class of people are worthy of the consideration of the leaders of the nation, we think, in preference to the big money powers of the nation. If President Hoover will give the service to the nation he will be one of the most worth while presidents in the history of the nation. And who knows that he will not.

STREET MARKERS

There is a real demand, in Lubbock for a thorough system of marking the streets, and renumbering of the houses in many parts of the town. There is no really well marked streets in the city, and it is difficult to people who are not familiar with the names and the numbers of the streets to find any place by the house numbers, especially when many of the houses are incorrectly numbered, and no system of numbering is used. We presume that some work may be under way on this particular line of improvement in Lubbock, but it has been several months since we have heard anything about street numbers and markers, and lest we drag on the job we would suggest that the committees, if any get busy and let us complete the job of marking the streets, and then begin on the matter of numbering the houses.

MARCH FIFTEENTH

Friday, March 15, is an important day with many people in the United States, for it is the last day for the filing of income tax reports. It is important that your reports be in the office of the tax collector or at least in the mail before midnight of March 15, while it is not done by that time it will carry a penalty, and might cause a lot of trouble and embarrassment.

her," Jack answered evenly. "But I believed Miss Lester when she assured me that she had hurt her lip against the door."

"Yes you did! You believed her so firmly that you came back to kill Borden!" McMann shouted banging his fist upon the desk. "Come clean, Hayward, you own a gun yourself, don't you? You didn't spend good money—hard up as you are—to protect Borden's offices from hold-up men and neglect your own safety—did you?"

Again, when she most needed it, courage from some unseen, beneficent source sustained Ruth Lester just as sickening waves of nausea began to pour over her brain.

"I own a .38 caliber Colt's automatic, exactly like the pistol I gave Miss Lester," Jack answered steadily. "You will find it in the bottom drawer of my desk, unfired. I have never used it."

As he spoke, Ruth stared at him in terror she was powerless to conceal, wanted to clap her hand over her mouth to hold back that damning admission.

"Why, he doesn't know the gun is gone," she realized, with almost hysterical joy. "He doesn't know! How stupid I've been! Of course he'd have cleaned it and put it back if he had killed Borden. He had plenty of time—"

McMann rose. "As you say, Hayward, I'm open-minded! I'll have a look at that gun, and then, still open-minded, I'll wait for Pederson's report on whether it's been fired or not. Pederson's our firearms expert, and if he says it's never been fired, I'll take his word for it—but not yours. Pretty clever of you to admit possession of a gun, but you knew damned well that the record would show when and where you purchased it."

He strode to the communicating door, opened it, flung it wide, and addressed the detective who was talking over the telephone: "Back in a minute, Birdwell. Keep an eye on this couple for me, won't you? Come on out—both of you!" and he motioned to Ruth and Jack, who still stood beside Borden's desk.

Flushed but with heads held high, they obeyed, silently taking seats at the large table in the center of the reception room, where every word they uttered could be heard by Birdwell, who had taken possession of the unaccountably missing office boy's desk.

"I haven't scattered the reporters yet, sir," Birdwell volunteered. "Been busy on the phone. The water's coming right on."

"Well, guess I'll have to give 'em a minute," McMann conceded, with feigned reluctance, smoothing his hair and adjusting his tie, as he opened the outer door.

A barrage of questions halted him on the threshold.

"No, nothing for you yet, boys," the massive detective told them, raising his hand impressively for silence. "Just say the murder of Henry P. Borden, known as 'Handsome Harry' Borden, promises to be one of the biggest crime sensations of the year, and that Detective Sergeant Thomas H. McMann, in charge of the investigation, expects to make an arrest before the day is over..."

News photographers pressed forward, cameras were aimed, flashlight powder, already prepared, exploded, while the flattered detective posed in the doorway.

"Is it true, McMann, that the widow is under suspicion?" a reporter asked, when the photographers had finished.

"Mrs. Borden's testimony is of the highest importance. She is being detained for further questioning," McMann answered. "But really, boys—"

"Just a minute, chief," another reporter insisted, using a title that could not fail to flatter the detective sergeant. "What about Borden's secretary—Ruth Lester? Headquarters tells us that she is a daughter of the late Colby Lester, the big criminal lawyer. That right? Is she being grilled, too?"

Ruth uttered a low, strangled cry and her sweetheart's arms closed about her, as McMann closed the door upon whatever answer he made to the importunate reporters. "Don't mind so terribly, sweet," Jack pleaded. "He's just a blundering fool—"

"Oh, don't!" Ruth shuddered. "Try not to antagonize him, darling! Listen—" and her voice dropped to a whisper as she glanced over her shoulder fearfully.

Birdwell's weary but watchful eye was upon her. She knew then that it was useless to try to warn Jack. Totally unprepared, he would have to face McMann when the detective returned—empty handed, gloating over the disappearance of his latest suspect's gun...

Prices Go Higher Wednesday On New York Stock Board

Abundant Supply of Call Money and Pleasing Business Developments Send Many Shares Forward

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial writer
NEW YORK, Mar. 13. (AP)—Prices achieved higher levels throughout the list on the stock market today, but widespread nervousness over the possibility of higher federal reserve discount rates kept trading at a moderate pace.

An array of pleasing business developments, and an abundant supply of call money gave impetus to the forward movement, but with the New York federal reserve bank meeting tomorrow and holding out the threat of a higher rediscount rate, and the prospect of another flurry in call money with the mid-month shifting of balances Friday, the rank and file declined to be drawn into the market.

There had been some talk of a rise in the Boston reserve bank's rate today, but Wall Street was not surprised that it was left unchanged, as that bank's reserve ratios has recently risen from around 50 to more than 70 per cent.

An increase in broker's loans is expected despite the reduced stock market activity and the recent sag in prices. Predictions of the higher loan total were based on the fact that the new radio common stock, previously traded on a when issued basis, had to be paid for this week. Call money again renewed at 7 per cent and fell to 6, but time money was scarce at its abnormally high rates. Little was available under 8 per cent for the 30-day maturity.

The weekly steel trade reviews reported increasing pressure for deliveries, despite the fact that mills are operating practically at capacity. Inability of mills to keep up with demands has in some centers handicapped makers of finished products. March promises to set another new record, both for daily and monthly output. Further favorable dividend actions and earnings statements were reported.

American Sugar Refining reported 1928 earnings of $7.60 per share, against $1.49 in 1927, although conditions in the industry remain unsettled. Michigan Central paid a $100 dividend, against $40 previously. Stocks, copper and utilities led the advance. The old radio stock sold up more than 12 points at one time, and the new stock was accumulated heavily, a block of 15,000 shares changing hands at 94, up more than 2 points, just before the close.

Cotton Market Is Slow Wednesday; Fluctuations Wide

NEW ORLEANS, Mar. 13. (AP)—Despite considerable buying on the unfavorable weather in the belt the cotton market made little headway today due to continued long liquidation and rather free profit-taking by recent purchasers. Price fluctuations were fairly wide but the close showed comparatively little difference compared with yesterday's final. May contracts after advancing to 20.65 eased off to 20.40 and closed at 20.45 compared with 20.43, yesterday's closing figure. The general market closed steady net unchanged to 2 points up.

The market opened firm at an advance of 8 to 11 points. Relatively steady Liverpool cables and official reports of unfavorable weather over the belt with prospects for continued early steadiness. Soon after start May sold up to 20.60, July 20.65 and October 20.32, or 16 to 17 points above the previous close.

The weekly weather and crop report was more favorable than expected and brought on a renewal of long liquidation and some selling by ring traders to force a reaction. These offerings coupled with considerable realizing proved sufficient to carry May down to 20.40, July 20.46 and October 20.16, or 16 to 20 points down from the highs and unchanged to 3 points down compared with the previous close.

May closed at 20.45, July 20.51, and October 20.16, or 2 points net higher on the near positions and unchanged on October.

Receipts Short On Texas Market

FORT WORTH, Mar. 13. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Slaughter yearlings and mixed butcher classes formed bulk of the short receipts of cattle on the livestock market here today. Slaughter steers were too scarce to permit a test of values only one load of slaughter steers being received. This carlot sold at a quotable steady price of 10.85.

Demand for slaughter yearlings appeared active at prices that were strong to around a quarter higher. Most sales measured the quarter advance. Good to choice fat yearlings in carlots reported up to 12.25 and as high as 12.75; one load of mediums selling at the latter price. A two car shipment of light weights averaging around 540 pounds sold at 12.25, other sales of slaughter yearlings from 10.65 to 12.00.

The short receipts slaughter calves made a good early clearance, packers buying fairly good averages around 11.00 to 11.25, other averages mostly at 9.50 to 10.50. Cull sorts at 7.00 to 8.00 generally. With 2,000 hogs received for today, the market receded, showing declines of ten to 20c. Price losses were more severe in the Carlot division than in the truck division. Smooth butchers in carlots topped at 10.65 and bulk medium to good at 10.65; best truck hogs sold at 9.85; packing sows held steady, mostly at 8.25 to 9.25 and feeder pigs at 7.50 to 8.00, also steady.

Prairie Dog War Has Good Success

According to County Agent D. F. Eaton, the county-wide prairie dog extermination campaign, which began on March 1, is going forward with speedy dispatch. A check of the entire county is being made by Eaton and R. J. Powell, state field assistant, to determine the progress made.

Monday Eaton and Powell visited the Estacado community and Tuesday at Posey, Slaton, Acuff, Monroe, Shallowater, Caldwell and Center. In an effort to completely eradicate these pests, a follow-up drive and the use of poison dust will be had.

Farmers who desire to get rid of prairie dogs, and who have not yet secured their share of the poison, which is being given them by the county agent, are requested to call at the courthouse for it.

"Dressmaker" TAILORING

In the New Frocks and Ensembles Presented Here for Easter!

The Ensembles are feminine and soft of line—yet so trim they will take your breath away. That is the secret of the new "dress-maker" tailoring which has simply taken Paris by storm. In all the new fabrics—new colors—and in a wide variety of styles.

The Frocks are suave and sophisticated—yet just with a hint of that feminine grace that typified "dressmaker tailoring." In crepes, georgettes and lightweight tweeds—all colors, of course.

Wilkins Welcomed In Gotham Tuesday

Official Greeting Extended To Explorer Of Antarctic In New York; Has Chief Discovery

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Mar. 13.—Returning from his aerial exploration of the Antarctic, Sir Hubert Wilkins is to be the city's guest at an official welcome yesterday.

Arriving on the Pacific liner Ebro he will be met at Hoboken by the mayor's committee for the reception of distinguished guests and escorted to city hall.

Others in the Wilkins expedition are Lieut. Carl Ben Eielson, his chief pilot; Joe E. Crosson, second pilot, and Orville H. Porter, mechanic.

The chief accomplishment of the expedition was the discovery that Graham Land is a series of islands and not part of the Antarctic continent as heretofore believed.

EXPECT GOOD TOTAL

LITTLEFIELD, Mar. 13. (U.P.) Cotton compress here reports compressing 25,500 bales to date. The gins are still running and it is expected 30,000 bales will be handled by the end of the season. There is more feed in the country now than ever in its history, and numbers of train loads of feed have been shipped out.

START PLANTING

Wet Weather Delays Work In Orange Truck Fields

ORANGE, March 13. (P)—Delayed by at least five or six weeks by wet weather, Orange county farmers have started the planting of mustard and turnip greens. Under good weather conditions growers realize three cuttings from greens, but the late start this season is expected to reduce the total to two cuttings.

Farmers in this section have planted the crop in such a manner that it can be cut with a mowing machine. Greens sell here for an average of $30 per ton.

Carries Old Book

Oklahoma Man Has Ancient Bible

MIAMI, Okla., March 13. (P)—When Magnus Paul Granat, zinc miner, goes to church with his bible under his arm every Sunday, he carries the same holy book that his ancestors carried back and forth with them in Sweden 226 years ago. Although Granat knows little of his family history, he remembers being told by his mother that the Bible has been in the possession of his family since 1703.

The book, bound with leather, wood and brass contains the history of the Granat family. On the title page, printed in old Swedish in old German type, are the words, translated into English, "Bible, the Holy Scripture, by Order of Charles the Twelfth, King of Sweden, Published in the year 1702."

John Lind, Granat's grandfather, was a Swedish soldier in 1812 when Napoleon's General Bernadotte went to rule Sweden in place of the deposed Charles XIV, and fought with the allied French forces in the disastrous invasion of Moscow. Lind was one of the handful of men of the original 600,000 who returned alive.

Granat, 81 years old, first came into possession of the Bible when it was given him by his sister in 1868.
