Hopson Death Held To Be Accidental At Inquest Wed.

Judge Raymond Horton, at the end of the inquest in the death of Russell Hopson, ruled that his death by gunshot was accidental.

Hopson, a partner in the Hopson-Johnson Wholesale Company, was found dead in a storage room of his business Wednesday, April 3. The investigation has been under way by Sheriff John Rainey during the week.

Five persons who were closely associated with Hopson, and who took the lie detector test in Amarillo, were cleared completely. These were Cecil Johnson, his partner; Maurice Hopson of Amarillo, his brother; A. W. Nowlin and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Roberts.

Testimony at the inquiry was given by W. W. Hilton, Sheriff John Rainey, Deputy Sheriff Kenneth Hodge, Dr. Carter Holcomb, County Attorney Paul Spillman and Maurice Hopson. This testimony was ruled by Judge Horton to indicate that Russell Hopson's death came accidentally.

Officers had considered both the possibility that Hopson took his own life and that he had met with foul play, Sheriff Rainey said. They had been unable to obtain a clear set of fingerprints from the gun, he also said.

Funeral services for Russell Hopson were held at the First Baptist Church Friday, April 5, with the Rev. Russell Pogue, pastor, officiating.

Pall bearers were W. R. Franks, Fleet Pruden, Paul Brewer, George Roberts, Cal Sugg and Pete Scott. Burial was in the West Wellington cemetery under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Born in Fordyce, Ark., June 30, 1911, Hopson came here with his parents, C. D. Hopson and the late Mrs. Hopson in 1929.

He was associated with the Nowlin Wholesale many years and more recently was co-owner of the business.

He was a veteran of World War II with service in the Pacific.

He was a member of the First Baptist Church and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

He is survived by his father of Amarillo; one brother and one sister, C. M. Hopson of Amarillo and Mrs. E. E. Michel of San Francisco, Calif.

First Soil Bank Payments Amount To $52,354; Total Near Million

The initial payment of the 1956 Conservation Reserve annual payments, amounting to $52,354, has been made the Collingsworth county farmers, the first of almost a million dollars they will draw as Soil Bank payments in 1957. Added ACP payments will take it over the million dollar mark.

The total soil bank payments to county farmers and ranchers is $942,628.01. The total including ACP payments is $1,009,128.01.

Millard Brown, ASC secretary, announced the payment of this money Tuesday, April 9.

The total 1956 Conservation Reserve annual payment will be $97,- 468, and the balance is due to arrive within a short time.

This is payment on land taken out of cultivation under the 5 year or 10 year soil bank programs.

The average payments on the farms amounts to $763, Mr. Brown said, although the individual amounts vary up to $5,000.

Mr. Brown warned that Monday, April 15, is the deadline for signing applications on the 1957 Conservation Reserve program.

As soon as grass seeding and other practices in this program are carried out, farmers will begin receiving payment to cover their expenses in putting these conservation measures down on their land under conservation reserve.

Brown estimated this would be about two months, and the payments will amount to $202,058.31.

Conservation Reserve annual payments for the 1957 program will be $344,347.

Payments under the acreage reserve, or one year soil bank programs, are not due until fall, after compliance on all allotments is checked.

Wheat farmers will draw $128,854.80, while cotton farmers will receive $169,899.90 from the Soil Bank.

ACP payments this year will amount to $66,500.

Bell Receives Annual Goodyear Farm Award

A. Y. Bell, veteran livestock farmer, received a plaque, designating him as the outstanding farmer under the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company awards program, Thursday night, April 4, when supervisors of the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District and the Staked Plains SCD held a joint meeting here.

The presentation was made by Jim Noble of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company. He also presented plaques to each of the supervisors of the district.

Mr. Bell's award was on a national basis.

One other speaker was featured on the program, O. F. Armstrong, Abilene, Field Planning engineer for the State Board of Soil Conservation Districts.

"We must preserve our land so we can stay in business tomorrow," Noble told the group in making the award presentation to Bell. "We must believe in saving and improving our soil, so that our youth will have something as our nation lies in their hands."

Armstrong praised the supervisors for their efforts in carrying the load of soil conservation, in giving their time and money for its promotion. He then gave equal praise to the equipment dealers and bankers for their services to soil conservation.

"The question is not production but production at a profit," Armstrong said pointedly. "And it is not just for the producer, but so that those who buy will profit from better quality products at a more reasonable price. We don't have surpluses, we have stockpiles that are economically too high for the consumer."

Armstrong reminded the group of their precious heritage — the land and the democratic way of life.

Tom Cunningham, chairman of the Salt Fork SCD supervisors, presided at the meeting.

Attending were Cleo Hubbard of Goodnight, J. R. Nicholson of White Deer, Armstrong, Bell, Noble, Fred Squires, Frank Coleman, Orville Vaughan, I. G. Vaden, Zook Thomas, Cunningham, J. C. Yearly, Ed Thomas, Lynn Courtney, John R. Henard Jr., and Harold Keller.

Supplement from County Funds

Gribble Opposes Bill To Up Judges' Salaries

Judge Luther Gribble in a letter to three members of the Texas House of Representatives Sunday, April 6, announced his opposition to a bill which would provide that Commissioners Courts may supplement the salaries of the District Judges of the 31st, 69th, 84th and 100th judicial districts up to $2,900.

Judge Gribble is presiding judge of the 100th District Court, one of those that would be affected, and also presiding judge of the Ninth Administrative Judicial District.

The letter was addressed to Representatives Grainger, McIlhany of Wheeler, Will Ehrle of Childress, and Ted B. Springer of Judge Gribble pointed out that he first learned that H. B. 697, covering this proposal, had been introduced when he read in daily papers Sunday morning that it had passed the House.

Neither Judge Lewis Goodrich of the 31st District nor Judge Harry Schultz of the 69th District, whom Judge Gribble contacted by phone, had heard of it.

His letter continues:

"In my humble opinion there is not a Commissioners Court in the 100th Judicial District foolish enough to supplement the salary of the District Judge of this District out of county funds. If there were such, I would not accept it."

"Our constitution provides that salaries of District Judges shall be paid by the State. If I become dissatisfied with what the State of Texas pays, I still have the right to resign."

"I am writing Senators Andy Rogers and Grady Hazelwood asking that this be killed when it reaches the senate. If by any chance it should pass the senate, I will be asking Governor Daniel to veto it."

Copies of Judge Gribble's letter were sent to the county judge of each of the counties in the 100th judicial district and to each newspaper in the district.

The House appropriations bill has been prepared and it does not include anything for this, The Leader was told, although it is hoped the Senate will take on enough to carry the program.

State Representative Grainger McIlhany and State Senator Andy Rogers are working for the program, but they need the support and backing of the people of the two counties.

A letter to each of them will give evidence that the program is wanted by the people here.

Dodson Voters Re-Elect Three

Dodson voters last week re-elected three members of the city council, from a field of five announced candidates and three additional write-in candidates.

Marvin Wynn received the largest number of votes, 25, while Buster Fillpot got 22 and Robert Tablor 14.

Others were Jesse Robertson, 10; C. B. Balch, 12; Paul Ford, 2; Clinton Norman, 4; and John Holcomb, 5. The latter three were not candidates.

City Trustees Returned After Write-In Drive

Wellington's two school board members were returned to their offices in the Saturday election, but not before a surprise one-hour write-in campaign by a group of women brought out almost 125 voters, some supporting the two women whose names were being written in, and others the two incumbents.

When the voting was over, Velman Warrick and Frank Campbell, board members, had 137 and 136 votes respectively; Mrs. L. C. Hill 17; Mrs. Rufus Sweat 13; and Mrs. Dick Sweat 1.

The expected light vote prevailed through the day; five at mid-morning, less than a dozen at noon, and 25 a short time before 6 p. m., when an election official admonished a voter to "go out and send us up a few customers."

The women's vote became apparent a few minutes later and as word of their plan spread, other voters trooped to the polls. At 6:30 people were standing in line waiting to vote.

At 7, when the polls closed, 154 ballots had been cast.

Dodson Returns Three Trustees

Dodson voters abandoned their traditional method of electing school trustees, and for the first time voted by what one observer called "according to Hoyle."

Returned to the school board were Floyd Teutsch, with 30 votes; Ed Crowder, 24; and Buster Fillpot, 20. Two other names were on the ballot, Carl Crosnoe, who received 17 votes, and Noel Burge, 4.

Heretofore, anyone who wanted to put up a candidate for trustee wrote his name on the blackboard in the school room where the election was held. Usually eight or ten candidates were involved before the day was over.

But with pressing school problems of a serious nature apparent in all smaller districts, Dodson decided to elect its school board members in a way that could not be challenged legally.

Dear Editor:

I see where some young male citizens of Iowa gave themselves Yul Brynner haircuts the other day and got thrown out of school for their trouble.

This drastic meddling with the boys' civil rights to look ridiculous if they want to was maybe justified on the theory that people are apt to act like they dress.

I guess the school authorities were afraid that making up like the movie version of a bush league king might start the fellows wanting to accumulate 50 wives and go on state visits to Washington for Cadillac money.

I see where Texas legislators are working up a Code of Ethics for themselves, so they can tell Right from Wrong. Seems some of them

TEXAS CANCER CONTROL MONTH
Governor Price Daniel is shown above as he signed a proclamation designating April as Cancer Control Month in Texas while Travis T. Wallace of Dallas, State Crusade Chairman for the American Cancer Society's April Crusade looks on. The Governor noted in his proclamation that more than 10,000 Texans are expected to die from cancer during 1957 and called on each citizen "to join in the crusade to control this disease" by heeding the message to the Society to have regular health checkups.

have heretofore been a little confused on this point.

But they are not putting in any drastic penalties for violation of this code, such as jail sentences, or having to give the money back.

Which shows good sense. Kids at the little country school where I used to learn sometimes got sent down to the creek after willow switches, but only the more stupid ever brought back a real stout one.

I see where the Oscars have been given out for this year to everybody in the movie business from the Best Actor to the Best Studio Janitor.

There ought to be another Oscar for Most Faithful Customers, too. Peggie and I would be strong contenders for this trophy.

On account of whereas our rich neighbors can huddle up in the comfort of their homes and watch TV every night, we can't afford one of these, and have to go out to the drive-in to see old movies.

I see where President Ike says his $72 billion budget was "intelligently" devised, which I guess is just a back-handed way to say that any sorehead who objects to it is non-intelligent.

Mr. E., gets pretty irritated at the way a lot of people are criticizing his budget and his driving speed and his golf these days, but he will just have to take this as one of the drawbacks to being President.

He is not the first Chief Executive who has noticed that the longer a man stays on this job, the stupider everybody else gets.

I see where some non-union working men are picketing a picket line where a union has stopped work on a construction job.

Which I guess is fair and reasonable as I have never heard that unions have any patent on the art of picketing.

But this sort of thing could go on and on if the union now decides to meet this emergency by setting up another picket line to picket the picket-pickers.

I see where the U. S. Navy has stumbled onto an economy model rocket missile which costs only $150 a shot.

Which don't seem likely to prove very popular with the armed brass on account of it will be hard for them to believe anything could be much good at that price.

But my hard-pressed neighbor says he wishes there was more inventive genius at work trying to develop something cheap to fight wars with.

Rains Show Value Of Ground Cover On Rangelands

College Station — The depth to which recent rains penetrated into the dry rangelands of the state depended to a large measure upon the amount of cover on the ground. G. O. Hoffman, extension range specialist, says a check made in West Texas after a slow five inch rain showed that moisture penetrated only five inches deep on bare soil. On a nearby grassed area, which had been grazed rather short, the moisture penetrated to a depth of 15 inches.

Normally, he says, enough rain falls in Texas to cover the state to a depth of 30 inches with water. Unfortunately, he adds, only about 14 percent of this 30 inches is utilized, the other 86 percent is lost to runoff or evaporation. For most effective use, Hoffman emphasizes that the water must be held on the ground where it falls for a considerable period of time.

Recently made observations showed that pits on hard soil materially increased the amount of water stored in the soil; that net wire terraces held up lots of water and greener grass showed along these terraces; that fallen trees and brush also effectively slowed runoff and held enough moisture to permeate and start growth of native grasses and that this brush on the ground protected young seedlings, permitting them to become better established. Areas on which brush was controlled had four times more water available for grass growth than did areas still covered by brush, said Hoffman.

The specialist believes that a ton of plant material left on the ground per acre will materially retard runoff and increase water penetration. Too, he says, a ground cover in the summer holds down both evaporation and soil temperatures. Last summer temperatures were checked on grassed and bare soil areas. The difference was 40 degrees . . . cooler, that is, under the grass cover.

Hoffman recommends deferred-rotation grazing, brush control, re-seeding, good soil and water conservation and proper stocking as practices for getting and keeping a grass cover rangeland.

Handling of Union Funds Should Be Regulated by Law

The Senate investigation of racketeering by union bosses has brought to light many disturbing and disreputable actions of labor bosses. But one of the most startling disclosures was the fact that there is no Federal regulation and practically no state regulation as to how union funds shall be handled.

We have laws strictly regulating banking, insurance and other corporations that handle vast sums of money; but there is practically nothing to say as to how union funds will be handled except the constitution and by-laws of the union itself. Apparently some of the union bosses consider themselves to be a law unto themselves.

The spectacle of an angry egotistical blatant Dave Beck bellowing out his refusal to answer questions as to how funds of the Teamsters union were handled has shocked the general public and millions of conscientious, hard-working union members. Time after time Beck refused to testify on the constitutional grounds that it might incriminate him. In so doing he did give emphatic testimony to the fact that he considered the welfare of Dave Beck as above and beyond the welfare of the members of his union.

Beck has been suspended as a vice-president of the AFL-CIO and the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee has been directed to investigate the Teamsters union and find out whether or not it is dominated by corrupt influences. But there is nothing in these actions that will prevent the same thing from happening again either in this union or some other.

There should be a legal manner of having union books inspected by an impartial agency not connected with the union at regular intervals just as there is in the case of banks.

Wayland Head to Preach Sunday

Dr. A. Hope Owen, president of Wayland Baptist College, Plainview, Texas, will be guest speaker at First Baptist Church at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. o'clock, on Sunday, April 14, the Rev. Russell Pogue, pastor, has announced.

Dr. Owen, who is an uncle of Mrs. Pogue, has been president of Wayland Baptist College since 1953 and under his leadership the college launched a 5-Year-Program of Progress that has already resulted in the college's plant valuation going from $1,599,606 to $2,104,826 at the close of the fiscal year in 1956. Currently under construction are a men's residence hall, Brotherhood Hall, and the Van Howling Memorial Library, which are expected to be ready for opening of the fall semester September 14. Bessie Fleming Hall, residence hall for women, was completed after the close of the 1956 fiscal year. Even with this program of plant expansion the capital endowment has been doubled in the past four years.

Perhaps one of the outstanding accomplishments of Dr. Owen's presidency is the college's accrediation in 1956 by both the Southern Association of Colleges and the Association of Texas Colleges. This is considered an unusual accomplishment in educational circles.

Dr. Owen went to the presidency of Wayland from 30 years as a pastor in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Kentucky and with a reputation as a builder of church plants. He had served for five years on the Board of Trustees of Oklahoma Baptist University, from which he received the B. Former Missionary At Workshop

Miss Mary L. Scott, for 7 years a missionary to China, will conduct a workshop at the Church of the Nazarene Friday at 2 p. m., for churches making up the Wellington Zone, the Rev. John R. Ferguson, pastor, reported.

The evening meal will be served at 6 p. m., to be followed by a rally service Friday night.

The public is invited, Rev. Ferguson said.

She has served as executive secretary for the Nazarene Foreign Missionary Society of the Church of the Nazarene since 1950.

Miss Scott sailed to China for her first term in September, 1940. Here she served in Hopei province in North China until captured by the Japanese in December, 1941. She was held until August, 1945, most of the time in the internment camp at Weihsien, Shantung.

After a brief furlough in the United States, Miss Scott sailed again in 1947, this time for Kiangsi province in South China. However, because of the political upheaval she was forced to return to the States in 1949.

DODSON SENIOR SERIES

ANN AARON
Beauty and brains go together in the case of Ann Aaron. She was high school queen during her sophomore year, and took the lead in the senior play, "M'Liss, My Western Miss". She is salutatorian of the senior class.

Ann started to school at Quail. She attended one year at Wellington. All of her junior high and high school education has been received at Dodson. Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Aaron of Vinson, Oklahoma.

Sports have always interested Ann. She was captain of the basketball team this year. She has played basketball and volleyball all four years. She is a member of the Science Club. She served as editor-in-chief of the 1957 annual "The Mustang".

Recently Ann decided that she wants to attend West Texas State College. Dramatics and science seem to be her chief interests. If she graduates from college, she plans to teach.

JESUS HERNANDEZ
The high-point man on the basketball team for four years has been Jesus Hernandez. He has made the all-tournament team four times during his high school career. When he enters a college in the fall, he plans to continue playing basketball.

Jesus has had the honor of being president of his class during his freshman and senior year. He was voted the most popular boy during his sophomore and senior years. This year his crowning honor came when he was selected by the faculty as the best all-around boy. Jesus has been in both the junior and senior plays. His latest role was the part of the school master in "M'Liss, My Western Miss".

Jesus was born December 8, 1937, to Mr. and Mrs. Vincente Hernandez. Most of his grade school work was done in Del Rio. He came to Dodson when he was in the sixth grade.

Because of his dependability, integrity, and loyalty, Jesus has won the respect of both students and faculty members in Dodson School.

BARBARA LENNON

The most versatile girl in the senior class is Barbara Lennon. Although regular school work always comes first with Barbara, she has found time to be in five plays since she has been in high school. She is valedictorian of her class with a straight "A" average.

Barbara was crowned high school queen last fall. When she was a sophomore, she represented Dodson as an Irish colleen at the St. Patrick's Celebration. She had the honor of being the best all-around girl two years; she was also voted the most popular girl in high school for two consecutive years.

Club work has always interested Barbara. She is a member of the Science Club. She has belonged to the Music Club and 4-H Club since she has been in high school. Sports have not been neglected. She loves volleyball and basketball. She has been on the volleyball team all four years of high school. She has been active on the annual staff for four years.

A new honor came to Barbara last week when she was voted as the most outstanding senior by the Dodson Civic Club. Her name was entered in a contest sponsored by the Texas Federated Women's Clubs to choose the "Youth of the Year".

For the past year, Barbara has been employed as part-time stenographer at the First State Bank in Dodson. During her junior year, she worked at the Farmer's Gin.

Barbara is the seventeen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Lennon. She was in the second grade when her family moved to Dodson. She had begun her school work at Ozark, Oklahoma.

College is Barbara's goal. She plans to attend West Texas State this fall. Because of the inspiration her parents have given her, Barbara plans to be a teacher.

SANDRA BRANUM

The vivacious blonde with beautiful hazel eyes is Sandra Brannum. Before coming to Dodson in her sophomore year, she attended Amarillo Junior High. Most of her grade school education was done in Amarillo, but one year was spent in Raton, New Mexico.

Sandra was class queen during her junior year. She was also president of her class. Her dramatic abilities were manifest in both the junior and senior plays. Sandra has had a wide variety of interests since she has been in high school. She has been the reporter for her class and has worked on the annual. She is a member of the Science Club.

Sandra has made definite plans for the future. She wants to attend West Texas State College. Social work seems to be her choice in careers.

Sandra was born in Amarillo on April 27, 1938, to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brannum.

The teachers and students of Dodson School are wishing Sandra the best of luck in life.

Going to Pampa Monday to attend a School of Instruction for the Eastern Star, were Mrs. Paul Starr, Mrs. R. T. Savage, and Mrs. George Jones.

Mrs. Doe Tennison of San Saba is here visiting with her mother, Mrs. H. I. Cagle and sister, Miss Daisy Cagle.

A 462-pound sturgeon, taken from the Sacramento River near Fremont, Calif., contained an estimated 17 million eggs.

Early Editors a Heroic Group

AUSTIN — The frontier newspaper editor was "every bit as heroic as the most intrepid U. S. marshal; he was as daring and fearless as the wildest cowboy," a study of 1866-1885 Texas newspapers affirms.

"Notes on Frontier Editors and Newspapers" is one of the articles in a recent issue of Southwestern Historical Quarterly, published at the University of Texas by the Texas State Historical Association. The author is Eddie Weems of Waco, a journalism teacher at Baylor University.

"Taking his chances of being called wrong — or worse, of being shot or beaten up — the frontier editor took sides on almost every issue, and he had no hesitancy about voicing his opinions," Weems reports.

Early Texas newspapers cited in the article include the Star and the Tomahawk, Albany; the Livestock Champion and the Northwest, Amarillo; the Weekly State Gazette, Austin; the Banner and the Sentinel, Brownwood; the News and the Texas Eagle, Buffalo Gap; the Clarendon, Callahan; the Courant and the Telegraph, Coleman; the Chief, Comanche; the Weekly Herald, Dallas; the Monitor, Denton; the Review, Eastland; the Echo, Fort Griffin; the Wing Chief, the Democrat, the Daily Post and the Daily Journal, all at Fort Worth; the Advance, Gatesville; the Watchman, George town; the Frontier Echo, Jacksboro; the Empire, Stephenville, and the Guard, Vernon.

Recently, Purina research workers asked poultry staff men in 9 leading poultry states to estimate the total amount of feed required—on the average—to grow a pullet in their states. Shown here is the average of the figures they supplied, compared with Purina feed requirements based on records of thousands of pullets raised at the Purina Research Farms.

	FEED REQUIRED TO GROW OUT PULLETS*
	Light Breeds	Heavy Breeds
9-state average.....	23.1 lbs.	28.0 lbs.
Purina Program average..	19.3 lbs.	23.8 lbs.
Saving per pullet on Purina	3.8 lbs.	4.2 lbs.
Saving per 100.....	380.0 lbs.	420.0 lbs.

*From day-old to laying here's how to grow 100 sturdy, big-framed Purina pullets on 250 pounds less feed

Most poultry raisers recognize that Purina Growing Chows have the quality and ingredients to grow sturdy, big-framed pullets. But not all realize that Purina Chow efficiency often makes it much lower in feeding cost than feeds with cheaper price tags.

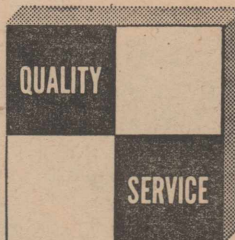

The table above shows the important difference in number of pounds of feed needed to grow out Purina pullets, compared with the average in 9 leading poultry states. The Purina Research staff rounded off the figures to 250 pounds less Purina Chow for light breeds, and 400 for heavy breeds.

This saving of feed increases the value of Purina complete Growing Chows by 30¢ to 40¢ per bag (50 lbs.)... or 60¢ to 80¢ a bag more for Growing Chow fed with scratch grain.

Thousands of poultrymen have found that they can use high-quality feed... and make money doing it. We know this. And, we're anxious to show you how you may cut feed costs with your pullets.

Pullet Health Hint—Now, with Purina Liquid Poultry Wormer, you can worm each 100 pullets for less than 25¢! Best time is when they are 10 to 12 weeks old, with a second treatment just before housing if your ranges are used heavily. It takes only one dose in the drinking water. PICTURES OF GRATITUDE—Citizens of Springfield, Ill., are becoming accustomed to Fred Martinelli's mobile picture gallery. Martinelli, shown with his portrait-decorated auto, came to this country from Italy as a young man, and worked as a miner until his retirement in 1951. To express his gratitude for the good things he has enjoyed in his adopted land, he has had his car decorated with portraits of many of the presidents and vice presidents as well as other public figures and symbols such as the American eagle.

Bible Comment:

God's Great Mercy, Hosea Tells Us, Is Our Best Hope

PROPHETS who denounce social injustice, and warn of the sure judgment of God against evil men, are necessary. Amos was such a prophet. But there is another aspect of truth—the mercy of God who is full of kindness and forgiveness toward those who repent and seek His ways. In the prophecies of Hosea, the note of appeal is uppermost. His message is God's forgiving love. It concerns the God whose justice rebukes sin but whose love restores and heals.

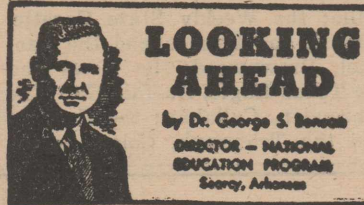

Like Amos, Hosea represents God as desiring goodness. The knowledge of Him is more than burnt offerings. Even in the formal observance of religion, without the reality of good characters and deeds, Hosea saw the backsliding of the people whom God had chosen.

But he says that God will heal this fault. He loves them freely and His yearning for them to return is greater than His anger.

This is a high point in the progress of Old Testament teaching concerning God. From the idea of vengeance—"an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth"—we are progressing toward the idea that will find its full expression in the New Testament—that only through good can evil really be overcome and that only love and grace can bring salvation.

As the way of selfishness and sin is the way of folly, so the way of return to God, the acceptance of His mercy and the dependence on His power is the way of wisdom.

"Who is wise," asked Hosea, "that he may understand these things? Prudent, that he may know them? For the ways of Jehovah are right and the just shall walk in them; but transgressors shall fall therein."

GOVERNMENT — HELPMATE OF PROGRESS

The hardy, courageous pioneers who settled and colonized this new world, and the founding fathers who years later built its unique political and economic system, knew that government could be a help or a hindrance to progress. The wrong kind of system at the Jamestown and Plymouth colonies carried the people to the verge of starvation before it was changed. And the Declaration of Independence testifies eloquently to the hindrance and injury which came to the harsh, autocratic government administered from England in the mid 1700's.

At Jamestown and Plymouth Colony the communal, or collectivist system was first used, with the government held responsible for the citizens' economic welfare. Within a few years this was changed to a system of citizen responsibility and private enterprise. A century later the 13 colonies, now progressing toward the status of a nation, were virtually paralyzed by heavy taxes enforced without recourse by the government of Great Britain.

RECORD OF HINDRANCE

The record of government's hindrance or help to a people's prosperity and progress can be found throughout history. Throughout Asia and Europe I have seen firsthand the great burden imposed on a people's struggle to advance, in nation after nation. In some parts of China I saw autocratic government imposed on sometimes a million people by a single man who happened to be the leader of the most powerful bandit gang in the region.

In Western Europe I saw various forms of socialism retarding a people's progress; and in Eastern Europe the tentacles of Marxist Communism reaching out from Russia, confiscating privately owned property, and establishing communal farms like the one that brought Jamestown and Plymouth colonies to the brink of starvation. Wherever government has played the BIG part, and the citizen has been insignificant, human progress has sooner or later stagnated.

TWO GREAT NEEDS

The American pilgrims and the early statesmen of an infant nation had found through experience that two great ingredients of human happiness and progress were individual freedom and individual responsibility. So they wanted to create a government that would protect freedom and require citizen responsibility and self-reliance. Thomas Jefferson wrote in the Declaration of Independence that all men have certain inalienable rights such as life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. Governments, the Declaration said, are instituted to safeguard those rights.

The U. S. Constitution, created out of the open forms of the Constitutional Convention, has been recognized for 170 years as primarily an instrument for safeguarding human freedom. It stands as a great challenge to free man to make the most of his God-given talents, to develop his highest capabilities, to dream, and to make his dreams come true.

INSTRUMENTS OF PROGRESS
Under the U. S. Constitution and the enabling laws that have grown out of its basic principles, the American people have changed all previous concepts of material well-being. Today America produces more wealth than the next best 10 nations combined, and the average citizen's living standard is three times better than his counterpart's in Europe, and from five to 20 times better than living standards in Asia.

The key to our enormous production of goods and services, and thus to the prosperity of every citizen, is freedom of the individual and the fullest development of self-reliance. In order to be self-reliant a person must develop his latent capabilities; and in doing this many Americans find that their capabilities go beyond mere self-reliance. These are the builders of our productive system and our prosperity. And tens of thousands of new builders are developing each year.

One word of warning: In recent times a tendency has been encouraged by some politicians away from self-reliance and toward government dependency. This is the road away from freedom and prosperity. We must be wary of such demagogic "medicine men".

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Sam Thompson, the postman, is something of an expert in budding and grafting fruit and nut trees. The other day he came over to borrow a few switches from my old paper shell pecans to bud a native pecan in his back yard. I talked him into budding a young tree in my own yard that came up volunteer, and he did an excellent job. This tree came up from a paper shell pecan; but the ag experts such as Lefty Thomas tell me that they are just like peaches. They revert back to the old native stock when they come up volunteer and must either be grafted or budded if it is to bear desirable nuts.

The same thing can be done with the black walnut trees that are growing here. Quite a number of people have them well established in Wellington, but the nuts are too small and too hard to try to bother with cracking them and picking out the meat. There is, however, a giant black walnut on the market which cracks in whole halves and can be taken out in that proportion. One such tree would enable you to bud all of your native stock in time.

Planting nut trees won't mean much to a person past fifty years old, but it could be a source of pleasure to your children and grandchildren. And nut trees make beautiful shade trees before they start bearing. They will grow here in splendid fashion if you will keep the ground wet the first three years while they are getting the tap root down deep. After that pecans will do well on normal lawn watering and grass can be grown right up to the trunks without damage. On sandy soil the native black walnuts have lived in Collingsworth for the past 50 years on our normal rainfall.

Here is a letter from D. E. Pedigo, certified public accountant, who now lives in Chicago. Mr. Deskins Wells, Editor The Wellington Leader Wellington, Texas

Dear Mr. Wells: I think you publish a very fine paper but there is one little thing about which I would like to register a complaint.

When I went to school, Mr. L. A. Wells didn't hesitate a minute to tell me when I got out of line. He even went so far as to use a pointer on me. Of course, I had it coming, for swinging at a boy for some unprovoked reason.

You have a heading that reads, "Oil and Gas News", and all of these are registered by section and block. You can readily see that by reading these descriptions I don't know whether or not these leases are getting close to my place or not. This is the point at issue.

Sincerely yours,
D. E. Pedigo

Duncan, still owns the old Pedigo farm south of Wellington that is farmed by A. C. Shipley.

I am sending Mr. Pedigo a map of the county so he can figure out the leasing area for himself. We do publish the location and distance north of Wellington when an actual producer is brought in. Incidentally a large three foot square map of the county can be purchased from Wells & Wells at a nominal cost—in fact just what the map maker charged them. This is by far the better map for people owning land in the county. However, The Leader will be glad to send a letter size map giving block and section numbers to any out of town subscribers requesting one, and send it free of charge.

There continues to be considerable leasing and some drilling in Collingsworth but practically all of it is north of Salt Fork; but one crew is making a gravity test of the entire county.

The last hour write-in campaign of the women did not elect a woman to the school board; but it may have done considerable good in focusing attention on school elections. The write-in campaign was not aimed at the incumbents. It was aimed at voter apathy. The ladies learned that only seven votes had been cast up to noon and three of these were by the officials who were conducting the election. Evidently they thought they ought to vote in order to earn their pay. The women decided on a write-in campaign and to keep it on the up and up they contacted Mrs. L. C. Hill and Mrs. Rufus Sweat and secured their promise to serve if elected. The campaign did not start until 5:30. Only twenty-eight votes had been cast up to 6:00. The word of the write-in campaign spread and by one hour later the total vote was 154, which is considerably a more representative vote than the measly seven that had voted at noon. The campaign succeeded in two ways. It called attention to the fact that if voter apathy continued such tactics could be used to elect a most undesirable member of the board in the viewpoint of the people as a whole. It also gave notice that quite a number of women are serious in wanting at least one woman on the board.

We have another Sunday morning breakfast cook in our family. My eight year old son and I can't cook breakfast jointly without quarrels; so we have agreed that if one of us starts first, then the other will "keep his cotton picking hands off" (his words learned from TV) of the management until the breakfast is finished. Last Sunday he had a field day. I heard the pots and pans rattling about 7:30 and an hour later there was the prettiest breakfast on the table you can imagine, toast, coffee, jelly, orange juice, sausage, and eggs scrambled easy. Any woman can cook beautiful eggs up provided she starts them over a slow fire and puts a cover over the pan; but it takes a man to scramble eggs easy in sausage grease and make them look and taste just right. Any rebuttal comments from the ladies whose husbands do occasionally cook breakfast?

Farm Bureau Has Re-Opening of Blue Cross Group

Wallace O'Rear, president of the Collingsworth County Farm Bureau has announced a special re-opening of their Blue Cross-Blue Shield Group. Application for a special re-opening was voted by the Board of Directors in a recent meeting. Approval of their application has been received and Farm Bureau members who are not now enrolled may join during the next 30 days.

The Texas Farm Bureau Board of Directors approached Texas Blue Cross several years ago with a request that a special group plan be developed to offer to the various County Farm Bureaus throughout Texas. A program of benefits and rates was prepared and presented to the State organization for study and approval.

Today, Blue Cross - Blue Shield groups are found in most of the counties of Texas that have Farm Bureau organizations. Membership in Blue Cross-Blue Shield and C. I. E. (Catastrophic Illness Endorsement) is offered to each farm and ranch family when they join Farm Bureau. The present special campaign is designed to permit those who belong to Farm Bureau, or who join during the Blue Cross-Blue Shield campaign, to enroll for Hospital and Doctor prepayment without serving the usual 6 months eligibility period.

Mrs. J. W. Thomas is Blue Cross representative for the county and George Richardson, who now lives at Wheeler, is service agent.

Court Grants Franchise to El Paso Gas

The Commissioners Court, in a meeting Monday, April 8, canvassed the two special elections, granted a franchise, and took the first steps toward carrying out the financial policy laid down for it.

The Court approved a franchise granting El Paso Natural Gas Company the right to lay and maintain pipelines for the transportation of gas, water and oil, and for the erection of power and telephone lines necessary for their operation, as they might go across or along roads and highways controlled by the county.

The franchise is for a 25 year period. It specifies the depth to which the pipe must be buried, and that the Gas company must pay for the cost of relocation in case of road widening or construction.

Transfers of money were made which County Attorney Paul Spillman said were in line with the recommendations by the advisory finance committee to get county finances straightened out.

One of these orders closed the Road and Bridge Special Fund and transferred a balance of $11,079.38 to the County Motor Vehicle Registration Account. This is a new account and all future net registration fees will be placed in that fund.

The other order then transferred $2,769.84 from the County Motor Vehicle Registration Account to each of the Road and Bridge Precinct funds. Salaries of the four commissioners were taken off the salary fund and the salary of each placed in the Road and Bridge fund of his precinct. In this manner, each commissioner will be paid out of his own precinct fund. The change is effective as of April 1.

The court also changed its fiscal year back to its former status of

Combs Retires From City Staff

W. O. Combs, pumper at the City Water Wells for 17 years, resigned that job effective April 1, and he and Mrs. Combs have moved to San Diego, Calif., to make their home.

Their younger son, S. A. Combs, and his family live in that city.

Mr. Combs passed the retirement age for city employees several years ago, but he remained to care for the city's plant east of Wellington.

With his retirement, City Manager Bura Handley announced that the plant is being converted to automatic equipment and the regular city service personnel will handle the pumping in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. Combs are longtime residents of the county. They have two other children, Herschel Combs, co-owner of The Memphis Democrat, and Mrs. Odell Holley of Albuquerque, N. M.

Mr. Combs tenure of service as pumper covered the city's most critical period in furnishing water to its residents. This was brought about by a falling water level, exhaustion of the shallow wells and extensive drilling to lower strata, the installation of two large storage units, one at the well site and the other near the standpipe, and the increase of water consumption to over a million gallons per day corresponding with the calendar year. In a recent meeting the court had approved an order to have the fiscal year start in September.

The county clerk was instructed to write a check for $1,399.87 to the Greenbelt Electric Cooperative, Inc., to cover the cost of moving utility poles on the Lillie-Salt Fork road.

In another order, the county attorney was authorized to institute legal proceedings when requested by each commissioner, for the protection of county roads. This is aimed at persons who plow the bar ditches full, who plow into the roads or who damage the roads by driving onto them to turn around.

In the remaining order, the court approved 80 bills and rejected payment on three.

The court will convene again Monday, April 15.

Unless Congress Acts

Saturday Closing of Post Office, Delivery Service Begins This Week

Postmaster R. T. Savage said Tuesday that restrictions on postal service announced by the Post Office Department in Washington will go into effect here Saturday, April 13, unless Congress appropriates additional money for the department before that date.

Here are the orders the Wellington post office has received.

The Post Office will be closed to the public all day Saturdays and Sundays, beginning Saturday, April 12.

All city and rural delivery service will be discontinued on Saturday except special delivery messenger service. This also starts Saturday, April 12.

Window service will be limited to 8½ hours per day beginning Monday, April 15. These hours probably will be 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Two other orders are effective Monday, April 29:

No third class mail will be accepted except certain medical items. Very little third class mail originates here except merchandise weighing less than eight ounces, Savage said. This order includes much of the advertising matter about which there has been complaints in the past.

After April 29, issuance of money orders will be suspended at all first and second class offices. After that date, persons wishing to send money orders will buy them at banks.

Savage pointed out, however, that mail will be worked into boxes on Saturday, just as it is on a holiday, and Sunday mail will continue to be worked as usual.

Former Dodson Woman Buried There April 1

Funeral services were held at Dodson Methodist Church Monday, April 1, for Mrs. B. F. Gibson, 80-year-old former resident of that town.

Since 1947 she had lived in Amarillo, and her death occurred there Saturday, March 30.

The Rev. Fred Brown, pastor, and the Rev. Bill Hendricks, pastor of South Baptist Church, officiated.

Burial was in the Dodson cemetery.

Mrs. Gibson moved to Dodson from Verona, Mississippi, in 1920, and made that her home until going to Amarillo.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Myrtle Henderson of Lamesa; Miss Gussie Gibson and Mrs. Willie Ora Wade of Amarillo; Mrs. Benja Arms of Lemon Grove, Calif.; and two sons, Thomas Gibson of Friona and Darrell Gibson of Amarillo.

Britain plans to triple production of commercial nuclear energy by 1965. The ambitious program will cost an estimated $2,573,200,000.
