Dawson And Lynn Counties In Regulated Zone Drys Condemn Ferguson "Search and Seizure" Law

Measure Branded As 'Protection' To Texas Criminals

Demand That It Be Made Impossible for "Wet" To Become President Heard At Convention.

CHARGE $20,000,000 FUND BY WET FORCES

Say Al Smith in the White House Would Be Worse Than Days When Saloons Flourished

(By the Associated Press)
DALLAS, March 16.—The Ferguson "search and seizure" law was attacked in a resolution adopted at the state convention of dry forces here Friday as "an undue protection to the criminals at the expense of good citizens. Another resolution declared that "it has been judicially determined that no test prescribed by a party in its convention or primary elections can legally bind a sovereign voter in the exercise of his franchise at the ballot box in the general election."
Other resolutions adopted at the meeting of some 300 dry leaders of the state sought otherwise to strengthen the position of the dry forces in the coming elections, state and general.

One asked that it be made "impossible for a person opposed to the Eighteenth amendment to be elected president of the United States." Another declared in favor of a dry plank in the national party platform and still another declared in favor of sending instructed delegations to national conventions to vote as a unit of all those in favor only of candidates for president and vice president openly opposing prohibition committed to the effective enforcement of the prohibition laws and only those whose acts and statements show him to be in hearty accord with the laws.

Wet Allegations
Declarations that Al Smith is elected president of the country will be "infinitely worse off than when there was a licensed saloon on every corner," charges that foreign liquor interests have a $20,000,000 fund for the purpose of electing Al Smith.

Attack On Leasing Laws Is Unleashed

Millions of Dollars Worth Texas Oil Lands Are Held Under Two Measures Which Draw Fire

(By the Associated Press)
AUSTIN, March 16.—Attack on the University of Texas upon the two laws under which millions of dollars worth of its West Texas oil lands are leased, was opened late Friday before the supreme court by Dexter Hamilton, special counsel for the University board of regents.
His oral argument was a part of the submission of the many-sided litigation involving the validity of practically all existing state land lease regulations. These include the "retroactive" act under which state lands have been bought, supposedly with fifteen-sixteenths of the mineral rights, and later leased to oil companies.

Both "unconstitutional"
Mr. Hamilton pointed the University's position that both the 1917 and 1925 legislative acts regarding leases and prospects are unconstitutional—that both fail to provide the outright sale of lands which he said the Constitution calls for. The 1925 act provides for leasing to the highest bidder with a right of first refusal reserved to the University. The 1917 act provides for mineral pro-

'Whipping' Penalty Father Fined $500; Given Pen Term

WHITING, Ind. March 16 (AP).—For whipping his 18-year-old daughter, Mary, with a belt, Paul Lunacek, 43-year-old Whiting oil company employe, today was fined $500 and costs and sentenced to serve eight months on the state penal farm at Pendleton.
The father admitted he whipped the girl last Wednesday when he said, he had discovered she was incorrigible. She immediately left her home and stayed with friends who advised her to consult the police. They advised her to swear out a warrant, charging him with assault and battery, which she did.
At today's hearing in city court, which she did, the father, who sided with her daughter, and two physicians testified saying the lashes from the belt left large black and blue marks over the girl's body. The father offered no defense except that he had the right to punish his daughter.

Nicaragua Policy Is Given Defense From President

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 16.—President Coolidge believes that the United States can still be helpful to Nicaragua by assisting the people of that country to choose its government, in spite of the action of the Nicaraguan house in rejecting a few days ago the McCoy bill providing for the suspension of the coming election by the Marine corps.
This view was reflected late in the day by an announcement from the navy department that two additional battalions of marines had been ordered, to the little Central American republic to enforce the 17,000 already on duty there.

To Oversee Election
Commenting on this development, Secretary Wilbur said the additional marine forces were to be used primarily for overseeing the coming elections and not for action against General Sandino, although the troops may be employed to further the general activities of the marines in Nicaragua.

RUMOR SINCLAIR SALE Think Control to Pass from Present Head

Sales today totaled 238,400 shares at 24-3/4 net, an advance of 2 3/4 and record high for the year.

Inquiry at Shumway's home elicited the information that he has been out of the city for several days and was expected to return early next week.

Report of Strange Plane Stirs Hopes For Missing Fliers

Possibility Arises That Aviator and Girl Passenger Might Have Fallen in Wild Maine Hills.

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, March 16.—A faint hope today that the Honorable Elsie MacKay and Captain Walter Hincheliffe reached these shores for which they set out in the plane "Endeavor" from England early Tuesday morning.
The hope depended solely on reports from several persons in the vicinity of Greenville, Me., that an unidentified plane had been heard and sighted at 6 o'clock yesterday morning flying in a northwesterly direction.
If this were the British craft, it was the limit of its fuel supply and a forced landing would have plunged it into a wilderness broken only by lumber camps and a few very small settlements. Deputy Sheriff Adolph E. Rogers failed to find anyone who could identify the plane. The Canadian government was reported to be considering sending an investigating plane and Washington officials were endeavoring to locate an army plane in the vicinity to have it take part in the search.
So many rumors following on the disappearance of this and other transatlantic aircraft have proven groundless that aviators here hesitated to place much credence in the Greenville reports.

A light snow fell at Alpine, where a temperature of 30 above was recorded. Val Verde county also reported a light snow. Even the Rio Grande valley shivered, although frost was not expected. Four Texas Solons Seek Action On Resolution For Investigation Into Dallas Reserve Bank.

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 16.—Discrimination in loan redcounting against small country banks in favor of large city institutions was charged today to the policy of Governor Lynn P. Talley, of the Dallas Federal Reserve Bank by four Texas Democratic representatives before the house rules committee.

The four representatives included Williams, Black, Garner and Johnson.
A declaration that the federal reserve board in Washington after studying the situation "believed Talley's conclusions had come to an end," was made by Garner. He said that the discrimination had "been decided to the benefit of the large banks which had forced the small country institutions to borrow from city correspondents at higher rates than the federal reserve interests charge."

S. Rodgers related in original verse a talk, "Meditations on Today." Mrs. J. E. Hamilton told of a trip through the Holy Land, and Mrs. J. M. Hinkins spoke on "Wanderings of Ulysses."

As musical numbers, Mrs. R. D. Motley played a piano solo, "The Young Bu Bunch," and Mrs. L. F. Holland sang "Indian Love Song" and "Me and My Little Banjo." Mrs. T. A. White read "The Only Way." Invocation had been said by Mrs. Ernie Studeman and the program closed with the singing of Delphian songs in Italian.

Tables for the banquet were arranged as a triangle in keeping with the organization's three-point insignia. Red and black runners, candles in black bows and miniature gifts completed the attractive table appointments. About sixty attended the banquet.

—THE— WOMAN'S DAY

By Allene Sumner

At a recent golden wedding anniversary the host decreed that every woman should sit with his own wife. Said host he didn't care whether it was according to Etiquette with a capital or not. He wanted to sit beside his own wife even if he had had a steady 50-year dose of her company, and he didn't see why other husbands didn't feel the same way.

WIVES AND HUSBANDS

Sometimes this rule that no husband may take his own wife to a formal dinner seems rather silly. Fewer husbands would dread dinner parties than do if they knew they would be relieved of the strain of carrying on a sprightly conversation with their own wives. And fewer wives would care to go at all if they knew they weren't to have the opportunity to dazzle some unknown male.

You note the golden wedding dinner quoted doesn't say what his wife thought about it.

REFUSES KEY

All their lives Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Eastman of Harlem had planned on their son's education. Their fondest wish was to see him wear a Phi Beta Kappa key, the badge of high scholarship. The other day Charles Allen Eastman Jr., a senior at Dartmouth, was offered the significant little gold key. He refused it. "He said his conscience would not permit its acceptance, as he believed college grading systems did not show the real ability of a student. The father and mother are evasive and heartless and unfeeling."

OLD AND NEW

Just another little story of misunderstanding and utterly alien viewpoints between the older and younger generation. The parent generation had never had college for themselves. They idealized it for their son. But the idealization of inexperience came up against the disillusion of experience. Young Eastman learned to match college shortcomings with his parents' ideal of college perfection. As a matter of fact, many parents who really know college systems would be prouder of their sons' courage and clear-sightedness in refusing the standardized symbol of standing in distinction than of his wearing of the golden key.

WHERE'S "FANCY WORK"?

What has become of the old-fashioned woman who always "took her fancy work" when she went calling? They don't embroider towels and pillow cases and buffet sets and dresser scarfs any more—at least, not much. Why should they when there are so many more interesting things to do nowadays, and when much prettier "ready-made" fancy work can be bought in most any store?

JUST LOOK AROUND

We have much to say about today's H. C. of L. but just wander aimlessly through a big department store one day, not looking for anything in particular, and just see the charming things you can buy for a song which once upon a time meant several dollars. Linen breakfast sets and towels, for instance, for less than a dollar—and time was when just a plain white linen towel ran into dollars. Cash-

Fascist Electoral Law Voted In Italy

Lone Opponent to Measure Rises in Opposition Like Horatio; Makes Italy One Constituency.

(By The Associated Press) ROME, March 16.—The new Fascist electoral law, which virtually makes Italy a one constituency country, was adopted by the chamber of deputies almost unanimously this evening. There were two votes against it.—The 17: Vigorelli, Giolitti, former premier and Marcellino Sobrero, former minister of war and finance. The two other members of the Giolitti group, constituting the only survival of opposition to Premier Mussolini, were absent.

Ex-Premier Giolitti is the only member of the majority of the chamber, and he has missed a sitting during the 40 year, since he first was elected. He has occupied the same seat at which always is reserved for him, and he made his last stand this evening on the side leader opposing the fascist regime like Horatio at the bridge.

Only Opposing Speaker The doctory warrior of the old liberal school was the only speaker to counter the government measure, and he succeeded in having an article heard despite noisy interruptions by the majority members.

Like Premier Mussolini, Giolitti is a knight of the Supreme Order of Annunziata, which entitles him to the rank of cousin to the King.

For instance, can be bought much more cheaply than made, and here is the housewife who makes her own quilts or curtains these days when curtains may be bought for $1.95 a pair. Artificial silks have done much for our homes and pocketbooks.

With his usual calm, impassive tone, the veteran standing upright six feet 4 inches, began amidst a breathless silence.

"With this bill," he said "the government recognizes that a great civilized country like Italy must have among the constitutional organs of state a national representation, but the method suggested for the formation of the new chamber seems to me cannot constitute a true and proper national representation."

Nobly interruptions where the members of the majority sat began noisy interruptions. But Giolitti, denouncing the uproar, continued:

"In order that the assembly may represent the entire nation I believe it necessary that its members be elected in full liberty."

Shouts louder than before again interrupted the speaker, while from all sides fascist members cried: "which liberty? That of 1919?"

This was an allusion to when Giolitti as premier was accused of allowing the socialists, communists and anarchists to seize the factories throughout Italy.

Giolitti imperiously resumed: "The deputies must be elected directly by the voters, according to the electoral law as prescribed by Article 33 of the Constitution."

Pete Donahue, Texan, Is Lone Holdout In Major Ranks

Waite Hoyt Signs Contract As 1928 Yankees Member

Rookies' Days Are Numbered, Teams Prepared to Start Trek Northward, As Season Begins Soon.

(By Associated Press) ATLANTA, Ga., March 16.—The holdouts, so far as baseball veterans were concerned, has been narrowed down to Pete Donahue, Cincinnati pitcher, tonight with Waite Hoyt, Yankee hurler, the last to sign his contract.

Hoyt signed today, after considerable dickering with officials of the New York Americans, while Rube Bressler, erstwhile Redleg performer, has joined the Brooklyn Robins after having bought his release from Cincinnati.

Hoyt's new contract is understood to call for $20,000 annually, for two years.

Ty Cobb, veteran outfielder, who has been doing his conditioning at his home city Augusta, Ga., joined his teammates the Philadelphia Athletics today when they went to Augusta, to play the Giants an exhibition game.

At Avon Park, Bill McKechnie, St. Louis Nationals manager, announced that Danny Clark, 31 year old infielder, had been released to Houston of the Texas League.

E. S. Barnard, president of the American League, assisted Bradenton, Fla., citizens during the day in honoring Bill Doak, Brooklyn pitcher, who is a citizen of that town.

Curfew for Rookies. With all of the slow contract signers now in the fold except Pete Donahue, the remainder of the training season, with only a few days to run before the clubs begin to head northward, will be marked by departure of many rookies to the minors.

All of the ten clubs training in Florida were engaged in exhibition games today, the Athletics being the only squad to leave the state for a game.

A light drizzle interfered with practice in the San Antonio camp, of the Detroit Tigers, but Manager Moriarity managed to get in a good batting drill.

The Cleveland Indians worked lightly today, in preparation for an exhibition game against the New Orleans Southern Association club tomorrow. The Indians expect to start trimming their squad tomorrow.

Pirates Are Defeated. MONTEREY, Calif., March 16.—The Pittsburgh Pirates, playing the first of a long string of exhibition games after breaking spring training at Paso Robles, were defeated here today by the San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast league 11 to 7.

Too Cold For Panthers. PORT WORTH, March 16.—The Fort Worth Panthers stayed by their firesides Friday, their game with the Chicago White Sox called off because of cold. It will be played Monday.

Mackmen Defeat Giants. AUGUSTA, Ga., March 16.—Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics packed too many guns for the New York Giants today and romped away with a 5 to 2 victory over their National League rivals. Mack's batsmen could do little with the slants of either "Lefty" Grove or Eddie Ronder while the Athletics pounded Barnes, Fitzsimmons and Paullner for 12 hits.

Phillies Rout Baltimore. WINTERHAVEN, Fla., March 16.—The Philadelphia Nationals hammered three Baltimore International pitchers for 15 hits today and defeated the Orioles 10 to 5. Each side used three hurlers.

Brooklyn Wins First Game. BRADENTON, Fla., March 16.—The Brooklyn Dodgers gained their first victory of the spring training season today, defeating the Boston Red Sox 7 to 3. Ed Murta and Bennett, nominated for Red Sox pitching duty, were slammed for 13 hits, two of them home runs by Bissonette and Al Tyson.

Stomach Disorders First Revealed by Coated Tongue

Your tongue is nothing more than the upper end of your stomach and intestines. It is the first thing your doctor looks at. It tells at a glance the condition of your digestive system—and physicians say that 99% of all sickness starts with stomach and bowel trouble.

A coated tongue is a danger signal of those digestive disorders which lead to so many kinds of serious illness. It tells why the least exertion tires you out; why you have pains in the bowels, gas, sour stomach, dizzy spells.

Coating on the tongue is a sign that you need Tanlac—the medicine which has helped thousands who were physical wrecks from stomach and bowel troubles—who had "tried everything" in vain and about given up hope.

Tanlac contains no mineral drugs. It is made of herbs, barks and roots. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

The Yankees' Brother Act

Our quaint friend Waite Moore (right) in an equally quaint fashion pointed out a tall raw-boned recruit in the Yankees' training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., and told NEA photographer Frank Morris that the young man was his brother, Nick also a pitcher. Brother Waite says Brother Neely (left) eventually should make good as a major leaguer. He also tells the world there are three more little Moores coming along who also may b with the Yankees. Neely like his brother, is well known in West Texas baseball circles. Pitching for Amherst here last year, he lost a fast game to the Lubbock Hubbers at Merrill Park. Neely has hurried for several semi-pro clubs in this country, including Muleshoe and Baileyboro.

(By The Associated Press) FORT WORTH, March 16.—Judges completed their task shortly after noon today of handing out ribbons and prize awards to winners in the various livestock and other exhibits at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat-Stock Show.

All honors of the 1928 Exposition and show have been distributed and the exhibitors are counting their success.

Oklahoma Stallion Wins Grand champion stallion award for the Percherons was bestowed on "Dillon" entered by Oklahoma A. and M. college, which also won the senior Reserve championship in this class was won by Charbonneau on "Dillon." The Charbonneau drove of Percherons held their own in the sharp competition for honors. His animals were pitted against the blooded animals from the A. and M. colleges of the two states.

Charbonneau is one of the largest breeders of the Percheron type in the United States. His farm is located northwest of Fort Worth near Lake Worth.

News Scooter Honors. The Oklahoma A. and M. college won first place in three high awards among Percheron mares. On "vesta" the junior championship was won. The senior championship was won on "Beaut," which animal a few moments later was named grand champion mare of the class. On "Eloise," Texas A. and M. college won the reserve championship for the senior class. The Texas institution also won reserve championship of "Jupovia" in the junior class.

J. W. Shepard and Son, Plano, won the sweepstakes in the Jack and Jennet class. His entry, "John B. Davis," won the jack championship. In the mule division of the livestock show C. B. Teams, Fort Worth, won the highest honors by exhibiting the champion pair of mules, "Mary and Maud." The same exhibitor's entries, "Jane" and "Lou," also were placed in the reserve championship class.

Yankees Take Drubbing. AVON PARK, Fla., March 16.—The New York Yankees took a 6 to 3 beating from the St. Louis Cardinals here today. It was the third straight defeat for the World's champions in as many exhibition games. They lost two games to the Boston Braves earlier in the week.

WINNING A WAR Some of the big events in world history go almost unnoticed at the time they take place. Often it is not until long afterward that people generally realize the importance of what has happened.

For example: Between 1910 and 1928 British and American doctors did something that probably will prove more important to the Far East, in years to come, than the world war itself; yet their exploit got almost no space in the press, and went almost unnoticed except among scientific circles.

The deed that is referred to is the discovery of an apparently sure cure for leprosy, scourge of the Orient.

Leprosy has been a plague since Biblical times. Everyone who has gone to Sunday school can recall the horror in which the ancient Israelites held the disease.

Lepers were driven out of the cities and towns and compelled to subsist miserably in rocky caves. They were "unclean"; no one, on pain of death, could have anything to do with them. The disease was incurable; it condemned the sufferer to untold agony and a lingering death, worse than even the ingenious eastern emperors could devise in their torture chambers.

Now, however, Sir Leonard Rogers, British scientist, declares that new developments in the use of hydriocarpus oil in treating the disease make it possible to cure practically all except advanced cases. He believes that eventually leprosy will disappear from British and American possessions everywhere.

In the United States the disease is exremely rare, of course. But in the Orient it is common. Some believe there are 1,000,000 cases in Indian alone. Sir Leonard is right, and leprosy can be wiped out. It will be one of the greatest things for the Far East that ever happened.

A RECORD THAT IS WONDERFUL

In 10 cities of the United States, the four weeks ending February 25, last, saw not a single death due to traffic accidents. This is disclosed in a survey just made public by the department of commerce.

That is a record of which each of those cities may be proud. The time is not far distant, we believe, when a low traffic death rate will be one of the first things a city will boast about.

We believe that honor roll ought to be printed. Here is the list: Cambridge, Mass.; Canton, Ohio; Des Moines, Ia.; Duluth, Minn.; Erie, Pa.; New Bedford, Mass.; Oklahoma City, Okla.; Somerville, Mass.; Waterbury, Conn., and Wilmington, Del.

Let's hope that list can grow to more than 10 cities in the next survey.

TWELVE FLIERS

Twelve fliers, trying to cross the Atlantic, have fallen victims to the more or less foolhardy effort. The luck that was with Lindbergh, Byrd and Ruth Elder seems not to have played such a fair hand with those who sought to make the more difficult western passage, and now Captain Hinchliffe and the Hon. Ellen MacKay seem to have joined that other noble band whose service was brought to untimely end.

It is rather hard to contemplate with equanimity the continuance of airplane tragedies that take from us our skilled pilots, either in ocean crossing or in the accidents that happen often in cross-country flying. The death of young Harry Brooks, pilot of Ford's flivver plane, is one of the recent losses to this country.

We can ill afford to lose men of his type even as England cannot afford to lose fliers of the heroism and ability of Captain Hinchliffe.

Crossing the Atlantic has been accomplished before. Even the fame that one could attain in the success of it would die in time.

Yet no war is won without casualties. Mankind today is fighting for the mastery of the air, yet dangers seem to offer a challenge that finds its takers. Many splendid men have died in this war with air, and many more doubtless will die before it is won. By their deaths these men are advancing our knowledge, bringing nearer the day when man will be free to follow the eagle's trail.

There is a degree of safety in flying over land, but little remains in 3000 mile flights over water. We may admire the courage of those who try it, rejoice with them in their success, suffer a tinge of sorrow in their passing, and see little of gain in development of aviation in a failure that leaves their findings a secret.

Quitting land to fly across the world's vast oceans is a bid to great eternity. Seeking to develop aviation with whatever safety it provides in its experimental stage offers the only sane method of combatting the air, over which we will be continuing for many years to gain the mastery.

LINDBERGH, CAPITALIST

Without capitalizing his name or selling a single testimonial, Colonel Lindbergh has now accumulated a fortune estimated at near one million dollars—all within a space of less than 12 months.

Most of this immense fortune he made at the controls of his beloved "Spirit of St. Louis." His book, which he wrote out himself in longhand, is still a best seller and has netted him about $200,000.

Newspaper stories have brought him about $150,000. His all-American tour last fall brought in $224,000. There is an annuity valued at $100,000, a $25,000 gift from the Woodrow Wilson Foundation, $25,000 for having made the flight to Paris, and various other sums showered upon the youthful colonel.

French scientists have made up a purse of $200 which will be given to the man making the most interesting contribution to the problem of interplanetary navigation.

The Queen of the Fat Stock Show, however, was slim. Smith of Illinois continues his one-man relay race for the Senate.

SO THINK WE

We think that trouble with a platform promise seems to be that it has no due date.

We think that maybe the reason why the woman pays and pays, is for the reason that she buys on the installment plan.

We think that another conception of a pessimist is the man who judges the unemployment situation by the number of persons who are preparing to run for office this year.

We think that higher freight rates and electric power development is bound to relocate the industries of the country—and the southern states or city not alive to this fact and planning for it will not share in the benefits.

We think that the recent charges made by Captain Frank A. Hamer, of the Texas Rangers, states that a "murder machine" has been constructed in this state for the purpose of "framing" bank robbers and collecting the rewards offered by the Bankers association.

We think that the frequent offense we are of the opinion that the reward should not only be offered for dead robbers but live ones as well.

RUSSIAN DISARMAMENT

The Russians have stated their disarmament proposals in a 15,000 word memorandum for consideration by the disarmament commission at Geneva. They propose to destroy all armaments and practically all military organization, leaving only a small police force on land and sea, under international control, to maintain order and prevent piracy and the slave trade.

YOUR HEALTH

BY DR. MORRIS FISHER Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, The Health Magazine

Medical science is beginning to accumulate more and more information about the glands and the manner in which they and their secretions affect the general condition of the body.

When it first began to be realized how important were the functions of such tissues as the thyroid, the hypophysis, the parathyroid, the pancreas, the adrenals and other glandular organs, philosopher physicians began to develop all sorts of queer notions regarding the importance of these tissues to the human body.

After the first flights of fancy passed, however, research workers in laboratories began to study similar problems and to discover real facts of importance in understanding these mysterious glands.

For instance, the glands known as the adrenals, which lie just above the kidneys, are sometimes destroyed by serious disease. With this occurs, the person is likely to develop a condition known as Addison's disease, in which there is usually great weakness, dizziness, shortness of breath, loss of weight, soreness of the joints, and gradual breaking down of the human body.

Usually the skin becomes pigmented and turns to a sort of bronze color. In the absence of the secretion of the adrenal glands, the person is likely to die.

The hypophysis is a small gland lying near the brain. Its overgrowth may be associated with peculiar changes in the structure of the body. Gigantism and dwarfism are not infrequent in relation to changes in this gland.

The pancreas secretes the substance that is important in the handling of sugar by the body. Destruction of portions of the cells of the pancreas results in diabetes.

The thyroid gland is associated with goiter. Changes in the sex glands result in anomalies being developed which are of great interest.

RAILROAD HUMBLES

There is going to be a big railroad building in the Panhandle-Plains counties within the next year, is an opinion expressed by most men who are connected with the railroads that operate in this section of the state.

The Katy is perhaps going to be a real contender. They are now scheming to get above the caprock. It would not be a surprise to see the Katy extend its line from Wellington into Pampa or Amarillo. However it will be difficult to enter Amarillo as it must wedge its way between the Denver and Rock Island lines, being just a few miles from either line with no towns to serve.

The Santa Fe is going to be the railroad that will kick the others in the air. The Santa Fe presents the rights of others to ignore upon its territory. They are a lordly set of fellows but are not the rock-of-the-wall that they assume themselves to be. They are hard fighters, have one of the best railroads in the world and service with it is just as natural as a duck taking to water. The Santa Fe is a railroad of the first water.

Santa Fe officials do not talk much about their plans but strike like a rattlesnake. They are going to protect their business and would drive every railroad from the Panhandle-Plains if they could. They forget the Denver Road was above the caprock long years ahead of them. The Denver Road is the Childrens of Pictures. One of the problems of the past ten years that has arisen to be solved by authorities and guardians is the matter of censorship of pictures. The picture show and the pictures have come to be so much a part of the life of every community in the land, and so much depended upon by youth as a part of the amusement or pastime of every week, that the kind of pictures the boys and girls see, naturally are a part of the worry that every mother has, in the same manner as the matter of companions, of books and other amusements.

To suggest that any idea of censorship be abandoned is the same as suggesting to parents that they cease to be solicitous as to the welfare of their offspring; on the other hand, there is a danger of too much censorship. Too many cooks spoil the broth, and too much censorship is a mistaken idea, of course. The likelihood is that the happy medium is somewhere between the puritanical extreme that would delete everything but the picture of Niagara Falls and the other extreme that would allow anything and everything.

Prohibition Not An Issue

Whether Al Smith is or is not the nominee of the Democratic party, prohibition is not an issue in the coming campaign.

That question is settled, for all time to come. It is sure that both political parties will guarantee, as far as platform pledges can be a guarantee, that the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act are to be enforced and rigidly enforced. It is also sure that no Congress for many years to come will change or modify either the act or the amendment.

And it is sure that no president, however powerful he might be, can change or alter this law or fail or refuse to enforce the law.

This is the position of the House and of the Senate. It is the position of Al Smith's candidacy or for against any one who aspires to the presidency, but to keep the issues which are alive before the people.

The two parties are exactly agreed on prohibition and prohibition is overwhelmingly endorsed by both parties.

Not is the tariff any longer an issue between the parties—there are differences of opinion within each party concerning the tariff.

Both parties are agreed now that the tariff is to be lowered, and that the protection and protection of nations—no Democrat or Republican either would be willing to repeal the tariff laws.

Issues have narrowed down to the smallest difference between the Democrats and Republican parties. Farm aid is a live issue, but both parties claim to favor farm aid, and in fact, a majority of both parties in Congress voted for the McNary-Huggen bill, and are thereby committed to that policy.

Both parties stand for tax reduction and are sincerely trying to bring it about. But a reduction of taxes does not comport very well with larger expenditures for flood control, federal aid, increased army and navy appropriations and air plans, war facilities and such matters as are utterly pledged to these expenditures.

The disposition of Muscle Shoals is an issue, but neither party is committed to plan for its disposal. These things being true, the next campaign is going to center around men and not measures.

Of course the Democratic party will review its allegiance to Wilson and his peace policies, but it didn't stand by him as a party when he and his peace policies were both alive. It is true a majority of the Republican party opposed his plans, and a majority of the Dem-

THE TALKS OF GETTING MARRIED

By Edgar A. Guest So you would marry him and very soon? A lovely day in early May or June? Weddings, my dear, make very pretty scenes.

But have you really thought what marriage means? Here is a saloon at the open sea. The breeze is just as gentle as can be.

If never a cloud should fret that opal sky. We'd safely get to Europe, by and by.

I wouldn't venture out on such a trip; For we arrived a storm would sink our ship.

The journey is too far for youth's trail. Only the sturdiest hulls can leave a gale.

Well, marriage is a journey through the seas. You start with smiles, but time will bring the seas.

Is yours a love which quickly can be unloved? Or can it brave the storms you meet?

Be wise, my dear, and think it out with care. Will he be true when days are not so fair? Can you be true when hopes are dim? Or will you sail, although the stormy sea.

Aged Texan and Clerk of Primitive Baptist Church Take Stand In Suit For Share of Tobacco King's Wealth

Claims of 109 Seeking Part Of Fortune Get Setback As Texan Says Grandfather Had No Brother.

(By Associated Press) SOMERVILLE, N. J., March 16.—From the seclusion of rural Georgia and from Texas came some of the witnesses today who added their testimony in the litigation by which 109 persons hope to obtain shares in a $2,000,000 fund bequeathed by James B. Duke.

The case for the claimants, which hinges on the proof that the Rev. Thomas B. Duke and Washington Duke, father of the late tobacco magnate, were brothers, was dealt severe blows this afternoon, first by an aged man from Texas and then by a clerk in the Hopewell Primitive Baptist church of Carroll County, Georgia.

Aged Texan Testifies
Continually stroking his long white beard, Charles Thomas Duke, 75 years old, of Pittsburgh, Texas, his feet cocked up in front of him, said that the Rev. Thomas Duke was his grandfather and that the minister had three brothers, David, Samuel and John, but none of the name of Washington.

On the stand he said that he had served part of a term in the Texas penitentiary and was given a full pardon after fourteen months by the then Governor "Ma" Ferguson. He said he had been convicted of a murder he "had to do."

Calls For Waiver
During his stay on the stand, the 75-year old witness called loudly for water several times.
The attack on the plaintiff's case then was centered on the yellowed records of the Hopewell Primitive Baptist church of Carroll County, Ga., which had been introduced in the original hearing to show that the Rev. Thomas Duke's designation application had been signed by Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Duke, who were parents of Washington.

Hard Shell Baptist
William A. Jennings, whose blue working shirt, open at the neck showed his tanned throat, told the court that with his wife he had pored over the records of the church on rainy Sundays while he was clerk and never saw the application. He ridiculed the idea that an application had to be made by a prospective preacher of the Primitive Baptists.

"Such a thing ain't in keeping with the rules and practices of the church," he said. "When the church sees that there is the gift of public talking in one of its members, there is a motion to license him and the church calls him to preach."
Thomas Duke, also a former clerk of the church, had testified for the plaintiffs and said that the records were genuine.

Stocks Again On A Wild Jamboree

Average of Twenty Leading Industrial Shares Set New High Record For All Time In Tradings.

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, March 16 (AP)—The stock market went off on another wild jamboree today in which the average of 20 leading industrial shares, compiled by the Associated Press, set a new high record for all time. The day's sales fell just short of 3,000,000 shares, or within 12,000 shares of the record breaking total established on Monday.

General Motors, which advanced $6 a share to a new high record of $160, and New York Central with a gain of more than 67 a share at $172.50, the highest price since 1901, were in the forefront of the advance. The days appreciation in the quoted values of these two stocks was approximately $125,000,000 nearly $1,000,000,000 of which was in General Motors alone.

The board advance in prices, although here little relation to the day's news and was considered as the result of an increase of more than $50,000,000 in brokers' loans, of which previously had been a source of much speculative activity.

There are indications that the younger generation is not as bad as some would have us believe. Not long ago, a leader in the Boy Scout movement said that one of the faults of the modern youth was that he was too "soft" and not used to the rough-and-tumble life of his preceding generation. Yesterday, however, in the space of an hour were three old-fashioned, genuine "scraps" by newboys who were waiting for their papers near the Avalanche-Journal office. The old-time "scrap" as an institution has not wholly perished.

Registration of new automobiles is soaking along at a breakneck rate. At this time, twenty-three new cars had been registered in Lubbock up till noon yesterday for the week. This brought the March total to 66 cars. Two hundred and fifty-four new automobiles have been registered since January 1. Since people don't buy new cars unless they are feeling rather prosperous, this is generally taken as an indication of prosperity.

The cotton market traveled upward to the extent of about $1.50 a bale yesterday, a study of the cotton market reveals. The market has been generally on the upward trend for several weeks. It seems that the congressional investigation into cotton market "manipulation" has had a generally healthful effect.

Prorating Plans For Winkler Pool Are Decided Upon

Approval of Railroad Commission Will Be Asked Today; Division of Production Provided.

(By Associated Press) FORT WORTH, March 16.—A plan for prorating oil production in the Winkler pool adopted by the Winkler county producers, will be presented to the railroad commission's advisory committee here today. The request that it be embodied in the state order.

Market outlet for Winkler county was found to be 165,000 barrels per day, and it will probably remain there for the next six months. It is estimated that the total potential will soon be twice that.

Forty acres was taken as the producing unit, and it was found that 65 are now on production. The unit portion of allowed production would be found by dividing this number of units into the market outlet of 165,000 barrels. All wells on the 40 acres would produce a pro-rata part of the allowed production. The number of production units are to be revised at frequent intervals.

By prorating the outlet, producers drawing from a common supply will be enabled to produce only the amount of oil moving to market, making storage building unnecessary, except in special instances. It will also remove incentive for drilling unnecessary wells, it is believed, and will induce use of back-pressures on producing wells, which will make for gas conservation and retard water encroachment, producers believe.

Adoption of the plan for six months proposed, would mean it would remain in effect until the first of September.

Boll Worm

stituents in other sections of the cotton belt.
Scores Political Maneuvers. Chairman Farris declared that the pink boll worm commission is seeking to protect the interests of the cotton-growing South and expressed the opinion that Governor Moody is not appreciative of the pressure that he declared had been applied in some quarters to have a special session of the legislature called for the purpose of passing "pet measures" dealing with the worm situation.
Mr. Farris criticized Texas politicians who, he said, have urged creation of a non-cotton zone in the West Texas infested area after the commission had recommended a regulated zone. The recommendation was made after due consideration of the whole situation, he declared.
Zone Not Practical. A non-cotton zone would not be practical at this time, said Mr. Farris. No danger need be feared by cotton growers anywhere as long as farmers in the infested area comply with regulations of the commission, he said.
The meeting here was characterized as of different nature to previous meetings in the old and newly-infested areas in that the spirit of entire cooperation prevailed throughout the meeting, all farmers pledging their support to the commission to comply with the regulations of the restriction.
Farmers Organize. Some five hundred farmers from all parts of the lower South Plains met in the district court room this morning to hear the last official meeting of the pink boll worm commission. An organization was perfected by the general farm committee of Dawson county in which three men from each school district of the county will be appointed to see that every farmer in the section actually sterilizes his seed now on hand. A one hundred per cent cooperation will be had in Dawson county.
Recent "Zone" Demands. The sentiment of the meeting here this morning was that so far as this section is concerned the east need not fear further spread of infestation and that they should no longer listen to honor-seeking politicians who are crying for a non-cotton zone in this section. The farmers of Dawson county expect to continue to raise cotton, as much per acre as they can, for as long as they had never found for it as if worm and at the same time cooperate to the fullest with the regulations now on them.

Pampa Verified New County Seat

Records of Election Are Canvassed and Pampa Is Upheld As Future Capital of Gray County.
(By Associated Press)
PAMPA, March 16.—Pampa is the new seat of Gray county. Returns in the county election of March 9 were canvassed Friday and removal from Lefors, an inflamed community was officially recorded, whereupon the records were brought to Pampa in six large trucks.
District Judge Newton P. Willis Friday denied a motion that Pampa be restrained from moving the county records pending an election contest, on the ground that the evidence introduced failed to indicate that the election was irregular or that enough votes were illegal to invalidate it.
The records were temporarily placed in the basement of the Baptist church under guard.

Marsh, New York cotton exchange member, hammered away in amplification of his charges against the firm of Anderson, Clayton and Company of Houston, which he holds responsible not only for the 1927 crash but for repeated "corners" in cotton futures in previous years, but squeezed competitors out of business.
"There is no other big cotton firm now," Marsh said to Senator Russell, Democrat, Louisiana, when the latter asked if any other concerns had been engaged in the practices charged against the Houston house.
He did bring in the name of George McPadden and Brother, Philadelphia, however, once leader in the cotton trading world, but declared that in his opinion this company had not violated anti-trust laws in its market operations as he charged the Clayton firm had done.

Waiter Tells of Hearing Teapot Oil Deal Discussed Over Luncheon Table At New York Club When on Stand

Heard Discussion About Leases and Liberty Bonds But Was Unable to Get All of Conversation.

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, March 16.—Although it failed to find further trace of the Sinclair Liberty bonds used to help extinguish the republican party deficit in 1923, the senate Teapot Dome sub-committee today heard two rather interesting stories from three of the thirty-six witnesses it questioned at morning and afternoon sessions.

One was that Harry F. Sinclair, James E. O'Neill and two unidentified men discussed the Teapot Dome lease, Liberty bonds, Albert B. Fall and the Continental Trading company at dinner at a club in New York City early in 1923. The other was that the late Fred W. Upham, then republican national treasurer, and Wilbur W. Marsh, the democratic national treasurer, entered into an agreement in 1923 not to make a report to congress on receipts and contributions for that year.

Ex-Waiter Gives Story
The story about Sinclair's lease of Teapot Dome, O'Neill, a missing witness in the Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy trial, and the two unidentified men was given to the committee by Edward Buckley now of Chicago, but who said he was a waiter in the Bankers club in New York in 1922, when Sinclair obtained the lease.

Telling the committee that he waited on the four men on the day in question, which was either in the spring or early summer of 1922, Buckley said he heard Sinclair tell the others that the secretary of the navy was objecting to the lease of the Teapot Dome and another conference would have to be arranged with Fall.

Talk About Bonds
The witness also said there was talk of $85,000 or $125,000 in Liberty bonds, but it was not clear from the parts of the conversation he overheard as to what was to be done with these bonds. He also testified that there was some talk of the Continental Trading company, the Liberty bond profits of which the senate investigators are seeking to run down.

O'Neill was quoted as having said that $100,000,000 would be made, but it was not clear as to what it was to be made out of.

Sinclair, Buckley said, told the others that from that time on each man would have to look out for himself, but that if he got in trouble the Consolidated Oil would "take care of it," while O'Neill said "the Standard Oil company would take care of it."

League Armament Combine, Rumor

Some Commotion In Ranks Of Men Assembling At Geneva; Stories Link Russian, German, American.

GENEVA, March 16.—There was some commotion in the ranks of old-time league disarmament workers when the preparatory committee of the disarmament conference met today for the second time. This stir was caused by rumored designs of Maxim Litvinoff, head of the Russian delegation, Count Von Bernstorff of Germany, the Turkish delegates and Hugh S. Gibson.

American ambassador to Belgium, and head of the American delegates.

The Russians were represented as ready to fall back on Secretary of State Kellogg in case their disarmament scheme was rejected and to ask the committee to adopt the American Secretary of State's proposal for a general agreement to outlaw war. Maxim Litvinoff maintained an enigmatic smile, but remained silent.

Count Von Bernstorff admitted that he would press the committee to act on the proposal that all countries must publish annually a full list of their armaments.

Ambassador Gibson, it was said, would insist on action being taken on the uncompleted draft of the disarmament convention, drawn up last year and left over for the powers to think about. The ambassador said that the American delegation was here to cooperate with the others; he saw nothing to be gained by trying to force things, if the other delegates thought that the pace ought not to be quickened.

Turkey is a newcomer. What it has in mind is not definitely known. The old league disarmament workers, after six years of effort, displayed some alarm at the idea that they might be forced out of their stride. They seem to agree that a year when general elections are to be held in several of the most important countries interested is a bad one to complete this kind of work.

Supervision Plan Okehed by Miners
Federal Control In The Coal Industry Is Approved By President Of United Mine Workers.

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Federal supervision of the coal industry, as tentatively suggested by Senator Gooding, republican, Idaho, was endorsed on behalf of the United Mine Workers today by John L. Lewis, president.

The union leader, who has informed the senate investigating committee that his organization is ready to meet with operators representatives to suggest legislation for stabilization of the industry, said that his associates were awaiting the resumption of the coal inquiry Monday with interest.

"The next move must come with operators," he explained, "having an expectation that the union stand on behalf of a conference will bring a response from the operators."

Lewis declared that the union would be "practically unanimous" in supporting federal control of coal production and marketing, because the Gooding proposal is the most constructive made to date. The coal commission idea has been endorsed also by several coal operators during the inquiry, but others refused to commit themselves.

Here is the latest picture of Capt. Walter Hinchliffe, former British war ace and since the war one of England's most famous fliers, who is yet unreported after an effort to fly from London to Philadelphia. Miss Elsie Mackay, daughter of an English nobleman, was with Hinchliffe on the flight.

PROBE TOWER FALL Say Explosives, Not Ravages Of Time, Cause

SAN ANTONIO, March 16 (AP)—Evidence that explosives and not the ravages of time wrecked the two century old tower of San Jose Mission, which collapsed here March 9, was turned over to Lamar Seeligson, district attorney today.

Workers clearing debris preparatory to rebuilding the tower found what they took to be a piece of fuse. Father M. S. Garriga, in charge of the work turned this over to the district attorney who described it as "a small rope wrapped in black paper."

Although no one could advance any explanation of why the tower should have been blasted, other bits of evidence strengthened the belief.

Wilbur Presence For Naval Debate Argument Topic

Had to Sit in Silence As Members Condemned or Upheld His Presence For Program Discussion.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 16.—Secretary Wilbur sat in a front row seat in the house today and listened in forced silence to a heated debate over the propriety of his presence on the floor during the consideration of the $274,000,000 new warship construction program.

Prevented under the house rules from rising to his own defense, the secretary first looked one way and then the other as members rose here and there to either condemn or defend his presence. Mr. Wilbur listened to it all and made no move to quit his seat.

THE CANARY MURDER CASE

By S. S. VAN L. NE AUTHOR OF THE BELL MURDER CASE

CHAPTER LIV

Spotswoode opened the book and began reading in a voice whose very fervor held us all silent.

"I brought about my own downfall. No one, be he high or low, need be ruined by any other hand than his own. Readily as I confess this, there are many who will, at this time at least, receive the confession sceptically. And although I thus mercifully accuse myself, bear in mind that I do so without offering any excuse.

"Terrible as is the punishment inflicted upon me by the world, more terrible is the ruin I have brought upon myself. In the dawn of manhood I recognized my position. . . . I enjoyed an honorable name, an eminent social position.

"Then came the turning point. I had become tired of dwelling on the heights—and descended by my own will into the depths. . . . I satisfied my desires whenever it suited me, and passed on. I forgot that every act, even the most insignificant act, of daily life, in some degree, makes or unmakes the character; and every occurrence which transpires in the seclusion of the chamber will some day be proclaimed from the housetops.

"I lost control of myself. I was no longer at the helm, and knew it not. I had become a slave to pleasure. . . . One thing only is left to me—complete humility."

"He tossed the book aside. "You understand now, Mr. Markham?"

Markham did not speak for several moments.

"Do you care to tell me about Steel?" he at length asked.

"That swine," Spotswoode sneered his disgust. "I could murder such creatures every day and regard myself as a benefactor of society. . . . Yes, I strangled him, and I would have done it before, only the opportunity did not offer.

"It was Steel who was hiding in the closet when I returned to the apartment after the theater, and he must have seen me kill the woman."

"Had I known he was behind that locked door, I would have broken it down and wiped him out then. But how was I to know? It seemed natural that the closet might have been kept locked—I didn't give it a second thought. And the next night he telephoned me to the club here."

"He had first called my home on Long Island, and learned that I was staying here. I had never seen him before—didn't know of his existence. But, it seems, he had equipped himself with a knowledge of my identity—probably some of the money I gave to the woman went to him. What a muck-heap I had fallen into.

"When he phoned, he mentioned the photograph, and I knew he had found out something. I met him in the Waldorf lobby, and he told me the truth, there was no doubting his word. When he saw I was convinced, he demanded so enormous a sum that I was staggered."

"Spotswoode lit a cigaret with steady fingers. "Mr. Markham, I am no longer a rich man. The truth is, I am on the verge of bankruptcy. The business my father left me has been in a receiver's hands for nearly a year. The Long Island estate on which I live belongs to my wife."

"Few people know these things, but unfortunately they are true. It would have been utterly impossible for me to raise the amount Steel demanded, even had I been inclined to play the coward. I did however, give him a small sum to keep him quiet for a few days, promising him all he asked as soon as I could convert some of my holdings."

"I hoped in the interim to get possession of the record and thus spike his guns. But, in that I failed; and so, when he threatened to tell you everything, I agreed to bring the money to his home late last Saturday night."

"I kept the appointment, with the full intention of killing him. I was careful about entering, but he had helped me by explaining when and how I could get in without being seen. Once there, I wasted no time. The first moment he was off his guard I seized him—and glared in the act. Then, locking the door and taking the key, I walked out of the house quite openly, and returned here to the club—That's all, I think."

Vance was watching him musingly.

"So when you raised my bet last night," he said, "the amount represented a highly important item in your exchequer."

Spotswoode smiled faintly. "It represented practically every cent I had in the world."

"Antoinette!" And would you mind if I asked you why you selected the label of Beethoven's Andante for your record?"

REVOLTERS REDUCED

Only 25 Men Composed Force of Priest

MEXICO CITY, March 16 (AP)—El Universal Grafico, on the strength of information which the newspaper says it received from a secret service agent, states that only 25 men composed the "Revolutionary Army" of the Roman Catholic priest who, with five companions, was executed at San Luis Potosi. The newspaper informant has just returned from San Luis Potosi. He is quoted as saying that the priest recently took the field as the leader of this armed band in an attempt to start an uprising against the government. Federal troops pursued them and all but five of the insurgents deserted the priest.
