America Feels Good

By SAUL PETT
AP Special Correspondent

It turned out to be a big, warm surprise party. We surprised ourselves.

There was a disposition, a hunger, to feel good. Not just well, but good. We felt good.

At long last, the grim cliches of more than a decade - "The American malaise," "The sick society" - were scarcely heard in the land, praise God.

There were, here and there, voices of protest and gloom and guilt, but they were easy to turn off or tune out this day. Can you forgive us, Jane Fonda? Were the blacks less reproachful, the Indians less militant? It would seem so. Even the increasingly assertive American Woman appeared to pause on her march to full equality and seemed less disposed to unsettle the American Male. Can you forgive them, Gloria Steinem?

In all the land, there seemed to be a kind of a truce in fights and causes. Even the cirtical young seemed less critical. Nobody profaned the cathedral. And did you see all those young people jumping with joy at the Boston Pops concert led by that loveable American square, Arthur Fiedler? Imagine, if you can, American adolescents waving flags and dancing happily to "The Stars and Stripes Forever."

Somehow, after all the ballyhoo, we had feared someone would muck it up with the black headlines or violence or a torrent of bad taste born of commercial greed. But they didn't. As the tourist said at the pageant of Valley Forge, "It is history and darned if they ain't doing it right."

Darned if we didn't.

In an apartment overlooking the Hudson River and the greatest splash of sail since Trafalgar, New Yorkers watched from boxed off terraces. Someone started singing and a contagion spread among people who could not see each other and from the whole glassy face of this soulless, modern building, from the individual warren pens of New Yorkers famous for not seeing or hearing or knowing each other, there came "God Bless America."

In the cloudbursts of wiggly flames that broke all around her, could you fail to look at the Statue of Liberty with the eyes of a frightened Russian immigrant or the heart of a boy from Iowa returning from a war that was won and was good to win?

The joy of the rockets red glare may not have given proof through the night that it would last. But for a moment, it was there, pure, spontaneous, undiluted, unashamed. Didn't it feel good feeling good?

We felt some of that when a freckled All-American boy named John Glenn orbited the earth. Some of it when Neil Armstrong walked on the moon.

In each case, the feeling soon faded. This one will go, too, but, one desperately hopes, not yet, not yet.

Big Celebration Goes Smoothly

It was all over today, and hundreds of people involved in the biggest Independence Day Celebration ever held here could take pride in the fact that three full days of activity apparently went off as planned and without a hitch.

A fireworks display in Towle Memorial Park last night brought the Bicentennial-Centennial observance to a close as thousands watched from vantage points throughout the south part of town and in the park itself.

Crowds were on hand throughout the day Saturday at the Scurry County Coliseum, site of the Pioneer Skills Festival and Old Settlers Reunion. Volunteers from the Retired Senior volunteer Program (RSVP) registered 261 old settlers from Midland, Odessa, Sweetwater, Graham, Garland, Houston, Mineral Wells, Clovis, N.M., Lamesa, Coleman and Tahoka.

Meanwhil, the Bicentennial Heritage Park was opened on the coliseum grounds and people were elbow-to-elbow most of the day inside the coliseum, and throngs visited the various booths and witnessed special entertainment events that continue into Saturday evening.

Over 1,200 persons road the special passenger train on the Roscoe, Snyder and Pacific Railroad on Sunday afternoon. The train trips were spiced by "robberies" staged between Snyder and Hermleigh. The three passenger coaches were brought here through the efforts of Roger B. Mize, president of the RS&P Railroad which joined the Chamber of Commerce and the Santa Fe in sponsoring the special train rides.

Rains fell Sunday night following special Bicentennial religious services in Towle Memorial Park, and then backed off for the Monday events in the park. Traffic was heavy on Sunday afternoon and Monday at the crafts show in the National Guard Armory and the annual July 4 Art Show in the Towle Park Barn.

There were 247 entries in the art show. Also, some 65 tractors participated in the July 4 Tractor Pull in Towle Memorial Park, and over 250 entrants were in competition in the tennis tournament which required three days to complete.

Holiday Deaths Below Prediction

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic deaths on the nation's highways during the Bicentennial weekend totaled 474, falling short of the prediction of the National Safety Council.

The safety council, noting a greater tendency by drivers to break the 55-mile-per-hour speed limit, had forecast that as many as 630 persons would die during the four-day weekend that began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Monday in each time zone.

The safety council said more automobiles than usual would be on the highways for 200th birthday of the nation. It estimated that motorists would travel 17.3 billion miles during the four days, compared with 16 billion miles last Fourth of July when there were 491 traffic fatals.

British Royalty Is Welcomed In Philadelphia

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Britain's Queen Elizabeth II made a sentimental Bicentennial visit today to the historic city where American patriots 200 years ago declared their freedom from her nation.

She is spending the day in Philadelphia on the first stop of a six-day, nine-city American tour before she goes to Montreal to open the Olympic Games.

The royal yacht Britannia docked at Penn's Landing, where William Penn, the founder of Pennsylvania, first came ashore in 1681.

More than 5,000 persons crowded along the Delaware River under heavy security to greet the queen and her husband, Prince Philip.

The welcoming group included about 50 demonstrators protesting the Bicentennial Bell, Britain's birthday present to the United States.

The protesters, led by the Rev. Carl McIntire, said the new bell should have a Biblical quotation like the old one. He said the fact there is no Biblical inscription "literally takes God out of our concept of freedom."

The Liberty Bell bears a quotation from Leviticus: "Proclaim liberty throughout the land unto all the inhabitants thereof." The inscription on the Bicentennial Bell says: "Let Freedom Ring."

The Rev. Mr. McIntire has called the new bell a phony and has said the queen should take it back.

The 10-ton Bicentennial Bell, cast at the Whitechapel Bell Foundry in London where the Liberty Bell was made in 1752, hangs in a 130-foot-high brick bell tower at the new Visitors' Center.

Mayor Frank L. Rizzo led the official welcoming party as the queen came down a long red carpet for a limousine trip 15 blocks to City Hall. She rode in President Ford's specially designed car, which was sent here for the trip.

As the royal yacht moved into the dock, helicopters flew overhead in the hazy sky and fireboats along the river turned on their hoses.

The queen is a great-great-great-great-granddaughter of King George III, the British monarch at the time of the American Revolution. She is also a second cousin, seven times removed, of George Washington.

The queen's Philadelphia itinerary includes a visit to Independence Hall; Carpenter's Hall, where the First Continental Congress met in 1774 to denounce British colonial policies; and the Liberty Bell pavillion where the famed, but cracked, Liberty Bell is displayed.

Lake Has Big Gain

Heavy rains Friday night on the Bull Creek watershed are credited with the biggest catch of water at Lake J.B. Thomas in several years.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District reported that the lake had a vertical rise of slightly over seven feet, representing nearly 20,000 acre feet of water over the weekend. All but a small part of the water came down Bull Creek and resulted from heavy rains Friday night. The Colorado River contributed a small amount Sunday.

This morning, the lake's elevation stood at 2227.70 feet above sea level, a gain from 2220.58 last Friday. The volume of water held in the lake had increased from less than 28,000 acre feet to around 47,000 acre feet.

Court Strikes Down Oklahoma Death Penalty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today struck down Oklahoma's death penalty law.

The action followed the court's ruling last Friday that the death penalty is a constitutional punishment for murder but may not be imposed generally under laws which make it mandatory.

In Friday's decision the court struck down mandatory death penalty laws in Louisiana and North Carolina.

Ruling today in six Oklahoma cases, the court set aside the death sentences of six inmates and sent the cases back to the court of criminal appeals of Oklahoma.

"The imposition and carrying out of the death penalty under the law of Oklahoma constitutes a cruel and unusual punishment" in violation of the Constitution, the court said. The Oklahoma law makes death mandatory for a limited number of crimes.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices Byron R. White and William H. Rehnquist did not join in the ruling on the Oklahoma law but merely said they favored sending the cases back to the lower court for further proceedings in light of last Friday's ruling.

In another follow-up action to Friday's decision, the court sent 33 North Carolina death sentence cases back to the North Carolina Supreme Court for action in line with the Friday ruling.

Also sent back to a lower court for further proceedings were three cases from Louisiana.

The court refused to review nine death sentences from Georgia and six from Florida. The court upheld death penalty laws in the two states last Friday.

Soviets Launch Spaceship

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union launched a Soyuz spacecraft with a two-man crew today to carry out "joint experiments" with the Salyut 5 space lab which was put into orbit on June 22, the official news agency Tass reported.

The Soyuz 21 spaceship was launched at 3:09 p.m. Moscow time (8:09 a.m. EDT) to carry out near-earth space exploration, Tass said.

The launch is the first manned space flight since the joint U.S.-Soviet Apollo-Soyuz operation last July.

The cosmonauts aboard were identified as Col. Boris Volynov, the spaceship commander, and engineer Vitali Zholobov.

They radioed back that the spacecraft's onboard systems were functioning normally and the cosmonauts have begun carrying out the flight program, Tass said.

Carter Wins Endorsement Of Democratic Governors

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — Democratic governors performed the rite of endorsement today, pledging "our support and united efforts" to elect Jimmy Carter to the White House. The former Georgia governor promised them a place in administration counsels if he wins.

About 30 of the 36 Democratic governors had breakfast with Carter and voted without dissent to pledge him their backing. Among the absentees: Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. of California, still a candidate for the Democratic nomination, and Gov. Edwin Edwards of Louisiana, who is supporting Brown.

The other governors said Carter, the virtually certain nominee, "has demonstrated his ability to heal the divisions of the past and unify our national party."

Carter told a news conference here that he would interview Sen. Walter Mondale, D-Minn., on Thursday in the second of his meetings with possible running mates. He met with Sen. Edmund Muskie on Monday.

Carter made an overnight trip to the National Governors Conference for the endorsement breakfast. He also got a Monday night briefing on foreign and security matters from CIA Director George Bush.

Gov. Reubin Askew of Florida, who once opposed Carter's nomination, presided at the caucus, and Gov. Marvin Mandel of Maryland, who had been sharply critical of the Georgian, sponsored the resolution of support.

The Democratic ritual was worked out in advance. National party chairman Robert Strauss met with the governors Monday to discuss the resolution of support, and talked to Mandel about sponsoring it. Mandel agreed. Then Strauss took the package to Carter on Monday night.

While Carter was promising cooperation and consultation with governors, he stood by his opposition to revenue sharing with the states, one of their favorite programs. He favors revenue sharing with county and local governments. But he said the governors, "very graciously," did not bring up that issue.

Carter said he favors a welfare reform plan nearly identical to one before the governors' conference, including a federally financed minimum income provision. He has said a full federal takeover of welfare expenses would be too costly.

But with the minimum income plan he endorsed, there wouldn't be much more for the federal government to take over anyhow. And Carter said he would seek to ease the welfare burden on states "as soon as that is financially feasible."

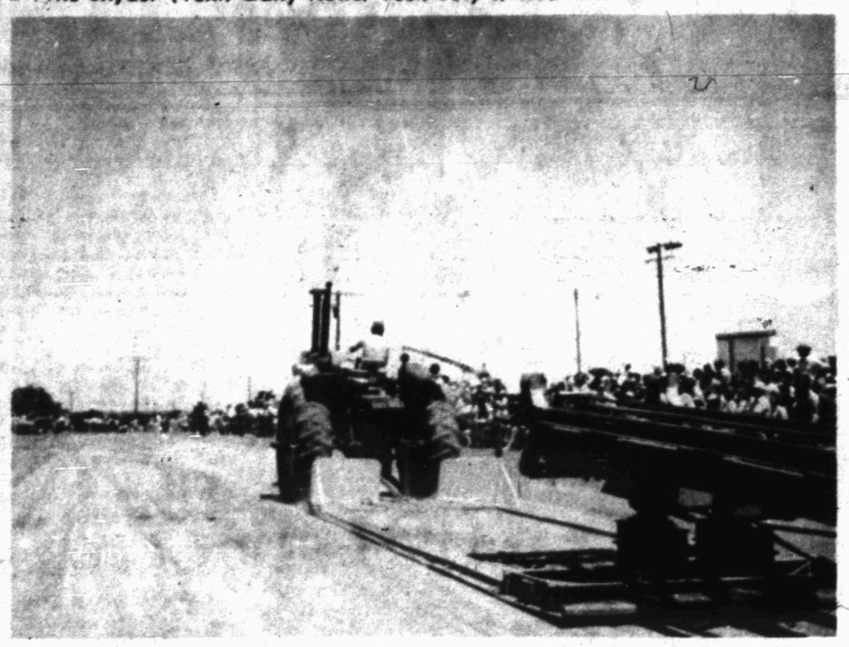

"I want to make a new partnership with the governors to evolve programs," Carter said.

Republican governors caucused, too, but they had no business to conduct so they campaigned against Carter. Gov. Dan Evans of Washington said Carter is like a skyrocket — "He's burst so spectacularly ... but he'll go down just as fast."

Carter To Interview Mondale

By LYNNE OLSON
Associated Press Writer

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — Jimmy Carter said today he will interview Sen. Walter Mondale of Minnesota as a possible vice presidential running mate Thursday. He also picked up the endorsement of about 30 Democratic governors meeting here.

Mondale is the second vice presidential possibility with whom Carter will meet. He talked with Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine on Monday.

The man who is virtually assured of winning the Democratic presidential nomination next week has said he plans to meet with at least five vice presidential prospects before and during the convention.

Carter made his announcement about Mondale at a news conference held with Democratic governors at the National Governors Conference where the former Georgia governor won near-unanimous support for his campaign for president.

About 30 Democratic governors pledged their support in a statement which was adopted without dissent at the conference. There are 36 Democratic governors.

Carter's meeting with Mondale, like the one with Muskie, was expected to be at Carter's home in Plains, Ga.

Carter also told the news conference he had met with CIA Director George Bush for a national security briefing Monday night. He said Bush gave him "an agenda of the kind of information the CIA has to provide." He said he would be meeting with CIA officials after the Democratic convention for briefings on specific areas of the world.

"I plan to spend five or six hours at the first session just letting the CIA educate me about current and unpublished relationships between our own country and other countries around the world, particularly those that might be of some threat to peace.

"I want to make sure that during the campaign itself that I'm as well informed as possible so that I don't make a statement inadvertently that would contravene the purposes of our country or might be some disruption in the search for peace or good relationships with other countries."

Carter also applauded last week's Israeli raid on the Entebbe Airport in Uganda to rescue Israeli and other hostages held by terrorists.

Violent Deaths Higher In Texas

By The Associated Press

An upsurge in accidents on streets and highways sent the violent death toll even higher than expected in Texas during the extended July 4 holiday weekend.

There were 48 traffic fatalities in an over-all total of 78, which also included 14 drownings and eight shootings, plus others from assorted causes.

The toll was recorded between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Monday.

Traffic deaths occurring during a homeward bound rush of travelers sent the number climbing above a pre-holiday prediction by Texas Department of Public Safety experts of 42 from that cause.

Concern over that situation prompted Col. Wilson Speir, the DPS director, to appeal to motorists for added caution in driving as the weekend observance drew near a close.

Speir, expressing "great personal concern that the traffic death toll has risen to such tragic proportions," ordered all state troopers on duty until midnight Monday to remove unsafe drivers from the highways.

These were among the latest deaths:

Ralph W. Rost, 52, of Pearland was killed Monday as two cars collided near there in Brazoria County.

Dr. Judge E. Page, 55, a cofounder of the first all-black Medical center in Dallas — Forest Avenue Hospital, was found shot to death Monday in a roadside ditch in the city's Oak Cliff section. Police said he often carried a large amount of money and robbery was the apparent motive.

Gayla Yvonne Williams, 19, of Kilgore died Monday night in a two-car crash on Farm Road 848 south of Tyler. Three other persons were injured.

Martha Jane Walton, 35, of Longview was shot to death with a rifle Monday, officers said, at a rural spot north of the city. A man was charged.

Five-year-old Victor Reddic burned to death and his brother and two sisters were injured Saturday when fire swept a house in the East Texas community of Pirtle, about four miles south of Kilgore. Firemen said the injured children — Randy, Tonja and Rena Reddic — were lying on a shoulder across the road from the burning house.

Dallas police said the mother of 7-year-old Yolanda Michelle Drayton found her daughter strangled Monday in an alley in the Oak Cliff section of the city. Investigators said they had no suspects.

Kevin L.McConnell, 16, died in a Dallas hospital Monday of injuries suffered two days before when a car hit the back of a truck on U.S. 75 at Allen, in Collin County.

Ronny Jennings, 32, drowned Monday at Lake Whitney in Central Texas.

Harris Rites Held Here

Funeral service was held at 10 a.m. today at the Bell-Seale Chapel for Mrs. Lillie V. Harris, 75, former Borden County resident who died Saturday in Dallas.

The Rev. Roy Haynes officiated and burial was in the Gail Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

A retired teacher, she was married on Sept. 26, 1925, in Borden County to Clifton S. Harris. He preceded her in death on Dec. 10, 1962.

Surviving are two sons, Clifton S. Harris Jr. of Dallas and Robert L. Harris of St. Paul, Minn.; three sisters, Mrs. Pauline Brigham of Laguan Hills, Calif., Mrs. Mary Sanders of Lubbock and Mrs. Ladeanne Powell of Chickasha, Okla.; two brothers, Floyd J. Cantrell of Snyder and J.L. Cantrell of Lubbock; and five grandchildren.

Murder in the rue money

Store Bombing Still Mystery

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

WILLS POINT, Tex. (AP) — It was not yet daybreak on May 12, and T. J. Boyd lingered over a second cup of coffee at a downtown cafe before reporting to work.

"I got all the time in the world," Boyd smiled as Jo Munns poured him another cup.

"It was about that time that we heard it," Mrs. Munns recalls. "I never heard anything like that. There was a deep double thud, kind of scary."

She and Boyd looked out the plate glass window and spotted flames shooting from the roof of the Brookshire supermarket, down and across the highway.

"You know what?" Boyd said calmly. "You could have saved my life." He was the store's produce manager.

Someone had rigged twin gasoline drums to a detonating device and propelled them via a stolen pickup truck through the front door of the store.

The explosion splashed flaming gasoline in all directions, engulfing the store in flames. It was leveled almost before firemen could react.

The bombing was the third and most devastating assault on a Brookshire store in less than a month, triggering widespread alarm among the 50 facilities of the Tyler-based food company.

Competitive sabotage? A private vendetta by a disgruntled employe? A shoplifter, angered by his apprehension?

"It could be anything," said Charles Cooper, security chief of the grocery chain. Puffing on a cigarette in his Tyler office, Cooper told a visitor recently:

"At this point it's definitely still a mystery. We have no educated speculation. Federal agents say it's surprising that we haven't had a letter bragging about the incident.

"We thought there might even be an extortion attempt. But nothing. We can find no reason whatsoever behind the incident."

Even as Treasury agents from the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms launched a full-scale probe, company officials stationed guards at their Texas stores.

An apparent failure to turn up clues and leads prompted the company in mid-June to offer an $8,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the bomber.

"We feel like the reward is capable of producing something, but it hasn't yet." Cooper sighed. "The Treasury people do have some leads they're pursuing."

Chu Teh Dies At 90

TOKYO (AP) — Chu Teh, considered the grand old man of the Chinese Communist armed forces, died in Peking today, Peking radio reported. He was 90.

As chairman of the standing committee of China's National People's Congress, Chu had functioned since January 1975 as the equivalent of China's head of state.

In that capacity, he had met in Peking June 22 with Australian Prime Minister Malcolm Fraser. He took over the job of meeting foreign dignitaries earlier in June after Communist party officials decided that 82-year-old Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung no longer would do so.

Chu also was a member of the inner ruling circle, the standing committee of the party Central Committee's Political Bureau.

Peking radio broadcast a joint announcement by the Central Committee, the Congress' standing committee and the state council, the equivalent of China's cabinet.

It said he died at 3:01 p.m. (3 a.m. EDT).

Demand For Water Rises During June

Continued hot dry weather has contributed to a 10 per cent increase in municipal water consumption during June and slightly more than that for the first half of the year, according to the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Water used in oil field repressuring was up slightly in June and down slightly for the first half.

Cities used 1,489,551,600 gallons of water in June, up 136 million gallons or 10.06 per cent for the month. During the initial half of 1976, deliveries to cities amounted to 6,265,617,000 gallons, a gain of 10.76 per cent.

Total district deliveries in June stood at 2,078,379,689 gallons, 193,000,000 gallons more than a year ago, or up 9.07 per cent. For the first half, the total delivered was 9,468,730,132 gallons, a gain of 540 million, or 6.05 per cent.

Oilfield deliveries amounted to 588,828,029 gallons in June, down 36 million gallons, or 6.64 per cent. For the first half, the oilfield total was 3,203,112,802 gallons, down 68 million gallons, or 2.09 per cent. The June loss was principally due to 11 million gallon declines by Sun and SACROC. About 110 million gallons of the oilfield deliveries were in brackish water.

The Continental Congress lured 5,000 Hessians from the British Army by a promise of 50 acres of land.

Outdoor Play Area Can Be Inexpensive, Fun

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

Luring your children to the backyard might be easy, but can you keep them there?

Yes, if interesting play materials are provided — at least there is less chance of boredom. And there's a bonus — the well-planned play yard can be a minivacation for parents.

A group of Chicago women, all mothers, who conduct a project, Parent as Resource, have published a number of little books on child-parent play. One book, "Backyard Vacations," has a number of good ideas for captivating the imagination of children in outdoor play.

The four women members of PAR travel over the United States to provide information to educational groups on parent-child play relationships. They also have conducted television programs on the subject.

An outdoor play area can be as inexpensively simple as large boxes, old tires, bricks, a long board, rope and some old pots and pans, the book points out. You don't need fancy equipment unless you want it. Low picket fencing may confine the area in an attractive way but it isn't really necessary.

For example, for a sandbox, fill an old tire with sand and add pots and pans, empty milk cartons, unbreakable utensils. A balance board may be made by placing a long board over it. A knotted climbing rope from a tree branch can be fun. A swing using two pieces of sturdy rope with a tire or board for a seat is another good idea.

An old barrel can become a tunnel by opening both ends or several boxes could be linked for a long tunnel.

Large packing boxes are ideal for playhouses or "pretend places" — grocery stores, school houses, fire stations or even ticket windows. A parent should help with projects which involve cutting window or door space with a knife.

"But parents really do not need to get involved much if the materials are safe. Sometimes it is a question of getting youngsters off to a good start," said Carolyn Haas, one of the PAR group, who have 15 children among them; "and we've tried practically everything we suggest with our own children," she added.

The little dollar book also tells how to conduct a backyard carnival, a pet show (any animal is welcome) neighborhood toy fair, a scavenger hunt. It also provides directions for various simple crafts.

Instructions for a cookout include simple formulae for a fire. One involves a large juice can, screening and a wire rack. An Indian-style pitfire, a shallow hole encircled with rocks or bricks is an interesting U-shaped fire.

Camping out doesn't even require a tent.An old blanket thrown over a clothes line and weighed down with rocks might be all that is necessary.

A playhouse could be a whole summer's intrigue for most kids as parents may remember from their own childhoods. It requires a group and can keep all the neighborhood children busy and also can be a great ice-breaker in a new neighborhood.

A do-it-yourself parent might build a little table and a couple of benches for use in the backyard play area. It would be a good place for children to have snacks, cookies, lemonade or whatever.

In providing a play area for youngsters, choose a partially shaded spot, one with a big tree or an overhang from the house. For small tykes, a tub of water can be a lot of fun to sail boats (made out of little cartons) and for splashing. A shower might be rigged up in the yard if there is a run off for water that will not dampen the play area. A water hose can be lots of fun if there is no shower, but a hose may need adult supervision, if there is a possibility that older, more mischievous children are likely to seize the opportunity to use the water spray as an irritant.

Stuff Great Peppers Are Made Of

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

The garden of sweet pepper is native to tropical America and was used by the Indians long before Columbus and other explorers set foot on our shores. However, this particular type of pepper got lost in the shuffle and was reintroduced to North America by European colonists. Now, sweet green peppers are favorites of home gardeners and chefs throughout the country. Stuffed peppers are extremely popular. Rice or sauerkraut are very familiar fillings but one cook swears by her mother's stuffing which combines beef, pork, potatoes and cheese while another experimented and came up with a combination of peanut butter, rice and kidney beans for a base.

STUFFED PEPPERS—Try stuffing peppers with beef, pork and potatoes for a change.

STUFFED PEPPERS
6 large green peppers
¾ pound ground beef
¾ pound ground pork
1 onion, chopped
4 large cooked potatoes, peeled and diced
2 teaspoons Angostura aromatic bitters
2 cups (8 ounces) grated sharp cheddar cheese
1½ cups milk
Salt and pepper

Slice tops from peppers and remove seeds. Drop peppers into boiling water and cook for 5 minutes. Drain and cool. In a bowl, mix beef, pork, onion, potatoes, bitters, cheese and milk. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Use meat mixture to stuff peppers. Place peppers side by side in a shallow baking pan. Add water until 1 inch deep. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 1 hour. Serve as is or if desired with your favorite tomato or mushroom sauce. Makes 6 servings.

PEANUT STUFFED PEPPERS
6 large green peppers
¼ cup butter or margarine
2 large onions, chopped
1-3 cup peanut butter
1 teaspoon curry powder
1 can (15½-ounces) kidney beans, drained
4 cups cooked rice (1-½ cups uncooked)
1 can (11 ounces) condensed cheddar cheese soup
2 tablespoons milk

Slice tops from green peppers and remove seeds. Drop peppers into boiling salted water and parboil for 5 minutes. Drain and cool. In a large skillet heat butter and saute onions until golden brown. Stir in peanut butter, curry powder, kidney beans and rice. Use mixture to stuff green peppers, heaping filling high. Place peppers side by side in a shallow baking pan. Add enough water to just cover bottom. Mix soup and milk and spoon mixture over tops of the peppers. Bake in a preheated 350-degree for 35 to 40 minutes or until piping hot. Serve with a salad of romaine leaves topped with cubes of Iceberg lettuce. Makes 6 servings.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Remember the mountain climber who wanted to climb a mountain because it was there. Some bridge players like to take finesses because they are there. Most of the time they are playing correctly, but there are a few times when they should shun a finesse like the plague.

South was one of those automatic finessers. He couldn't wait to play the jack of spades from dummy at trick one. East produced the queen and our hero won with the king and plunked the queen of diamonds on the table.

That finesse lost to East's king and a second spade was led. After this start there was no way for South to score nine tricks.

It was incorrect for South to play the spade jack at trick one. Had he played small and then taken the diamond finesse East would not have been able to clear the spades for his partner and South would have been sure of 10 tricks.

Also, after losing the spade finesse at trick one South could have recovered by leading a club at trick two. If West held back his ace South could go after diamonds; if West took the trick one spade duck would save South's goose from the cooking pot.

A Virginia reader wants to know the correct opening bid in standard American with:
♠ A K 8 6 5 4 ♥ A K 2 ♦ 3 2 ♣ A 10.

This hand should be opened with one spade. It is a mighty good hand, but with only 18 high-card points and eight probable winners it is a trifle too weak to start with a forcing two.

Writer Learns Lives Of Super Stars' Wives Aren't Super

By JOY STILLEY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "I was interested to know what kind of women are married to the men who are raised to national superheroes. Is the man who jumps higher and runs faster really super?" explains Jeanne Parr of her two-year project interviewing wives of sports stars.

"And what I found out is they're not married to a super man. They're married to a super athlete and a difficult man," added the author of "The Superwives," a book she wrote about the private lives of 29 women whose husbands are top players in every major sport.

They include Helen (Mrs. Catfish) Hunter, Marquerite (Mrs. O.J.) Simpson, Karolyn (Mrs. Pete) Rose, Winnie (Mrs. Arnold) Palmer, Mary (Mrs. Rod) Laver, Barbara (Mrs. Jack) Nicklaus and Nancy (Mrs. Tom) Seaver.

"I spent two days and sometimes more with them," Miss Parr said in an interview. "I followed them around supermarkets. I had all my antennas functioning to learn about their lifestyle, children, homes, what they had to say about the men."

And, admits the former CBS television news correspondent, since the book's publication she has gotten a lot of reaction from the wives she so candidly revealed through the tape-recorded conversations.

"I don't think anyone was unhappy over my comments — just unhappy over their own, shocked that they said what they did," she said. "Even one who came out delightful, warm and zany saw herself in print and was absolutely undone."

The women agreed to be interviewed, Miss Parr believes, because she dealt directly with them rather than through their husbands, and as a group they had not been heard from, though reams of material had been written about their husbands.

Fewer than half of the women had college degrees and she recalls only about three homes where she saw books, but more than half had been cheerleaders.

"These people are deeply entrenched in the physical world — they're out there cheering, they meet (the athlete), go together and get married. Then the guy gets lifted to the stratosphere and she's still just a cheerleader waiting for it all to be over," explained the blonde Miss Parr, curled on the gold quilted bedspread in her hotel room in a white pantsuit and champagne-colored sweater.

"The air that's rarified for him is polluted for her," she went on. "He has the limelight and she has the shadow. When he loses he's down and has to be comforted. When he wins he's out on the town.

"She has to contend with loneliness to a degree no other wife faces. Her husband is absent most of the time. She has to go to the hospital alone to have her babies because the coach won't let her husband off the field; bring up the children alone; run the household alone."

The women worry about financial security, Miss Parr pointed out, since their men are "over the hill" at 35. They worry about injuries. But their No. 1 fear is the groupies who flock around the superjock.

"But I felt a rumbling going on. There's a feeling now among women who have lived only for the guy that something is missing. She has money, a home and a name that is famous, but she doesn't have him." (Since the interviews some of the couples have separated, Miss Parr said.)

They often are not even interested in their husband's sport but prefer a different one, noted Miss Parr, a widow in her late 40s who prefers skiing to competitive sports.

"I have enough competition in my daily life," she said. Now working on another nonfiction book in her pre-Revolutionary house in Newburyport, Mass., by the sea, she hopes "some of the talent of famous writers who live around me will rub off on me. Though I think of myself as a reporter rather than a writer.

"I admire these women for coping and in that sense they are super wives doing a super job. As for me, I wouldn't marry Joe Namath if he asked," she added emphatically.

("The Superwives" is published by Coward, McCann & Geoghegan.)

Hunter, 'Bird' Head AL Staff

NEW YORK (AP) — Rookie sensation Mark "the Bird" Fidrych and five-time 20-game winner Catfish Hunter head the American League's nine-man All-Star pitching staff, announced today by Boston Red Sox Manager Darrell Johnson.

Johnson, manager of the American Leaguers for the 47th All-Star Game July 13 at Philadelphia, hopes his staff of five starters and four relievers can reverse the trend that has carried the National Leaguers to victory in 12 of the last 13 mid-season games, including last year's 6-3 triumph.

Four of the nine hurlers are All-Stars for the first time, including Fidrych, the exciting non-comformist of the Detroit Tigers, whose crowd-pleasing antics include talking to the ball and getting down on his hands and knees to smooth out the pitching mound. He leads the regular AL pitchers with a 1.85 earned run average and has a 9-1 record. The other All-Star newcomers are AL strikeout leader Frank Tanana of the California Angels, Bill Travers of the Milwaukee Brewers and relief ace Dave LaRoche of the Cleveland Indians.

Completing the staff are Boston's Luis Tiant, selected for the third time, Oakland's Rollie Fingers, also for the third time, and second-timers Rich Gossage of the Chicago White Sox and Sparky Lyle of the Yankees.

The veteran of the staff is Hunter, the New York Yankees ace right-hander who has been named for the eighth time — six times while he was with the Oakland A's. Hunter has appeared in five All-Star Games. He was tagged for two of the three runs the National League scored in the ninth inning last year, when it broke a 3-3 tie and sent Hunter to his second All-Star loss. He was the loser in the 1967 game.

The regular starters include Hunter, 10-7; Tiant, 10-5; Tanana, 10-5; Travers, 9-6, and Fidrych. Tanana and Travers are the left-handed hurlers among the group.

Tiant's two appearances on the AL All-Star staff both have resulted in losses, in 1968 when he was with Cleveland and in 1974 when he was with Boston.

The relievers on the squad are left-handers Lyle and LaRoche and right-handers Fingers and Gossage, who has doubled as a starter and reliever this season.

Playoffs Set In LL And FL

The All-Stars will be announced, and the playoffs will be played in Little League and Farm League baseball tonight.

Starting at 7 p.m., the Farm League's first and second place teams, the Giants and the White Sox, will battle.

Following the Farm League contest, the Little League's first and second half winners, the Cubs and Indians, begin action.

After Little League play, the leagues will announce their All Stars.

The Little League All-Stars begin tournament play July 19 taking on Colorado City there.

The Farm League All-Stars are divided among two teams, the Nationals and the Americans, and vie in a playoff July 9.

Workers In Rush At Olympic Site

MONTREAL (AP) — Eleven days before the opening of the 21st Olympiad, part of the east-end Games site appears far from ready as trucks and bulldozers continued to circulate within the fenced-in area.

With the Olympics due to open July 17, hundreds of athletes and journalists from around the world already have arrived to inspect the site, only to be treated to an array of barriers and barbed wire.

But workmen on the site were confident Monday the job would be completed on time and some complained that the press has not given them enough credit for their accomplishments.

During the weekend, workers were putting the last pieces of copper in place on the stadium roof, while within the stadium, electricians were completing the installation of lighting.

The first delegation of foreign athletes was officially welcomed to the Olympic village Sunday in a simple ceremony presided over by the village mayor, Yvan Dubois.

Dubois addressed about 50 Hungarian athletes through an interpreter, before presenting a key to the village to delegation head Fanos Pader.

The Hungarian national anthem was played as the country's red, white and green flag was raised on one of the 115 flagpoles provided for participating nations.

Fifteen runners involved in torch-bearing ceremonies to open the Games staged a one-hour dress rehearsal during the weekend.

Red Devils Down Angels

The Red Devils scorched the Blue Angels, 19-11, in major league girls' softball Saturday night.

Josie Rios led Devil batters, smashing two doubles and a single. Sherry Stewart and Kim Harlin each blasted a double and a single. Terri and Jerri Murphy clubbed two singles. Billie Owens and Teresa Smith cracked singles.

For the Angels, Anne Beulein and Sharon Halford chalked up a single, a double and a triple. Jane Ann Billingsley nabbed two singles. Sandy Beasley ripped off two singles. Connie Weber clubbed a double, and Vicki Chandler rapped a one bagger.

Suzanne Fisher was credited with the win, striking out seven batters. Latricia Pevehouse was charged with the loss.

DISPLAYING TROPHIES—Jerry Mankins has announced the opening up of a new business in Snyder. It's J&J Trophies and Engraving, located at 1014 Twenty-fifth Street.

Snyderites May Have Trophies Or Signs Made Here By Professional

There's a new business in Snyder. It's J&J Trophies and Engraving, owned and operated by Jerry and Jean Mankins.

J&J Trophies and Engraving is Snyder's only shop that custom makes trophies and signs. Whatever kind of trophy or sign you need made, J&J Trophies can make it for you to fit your specifications.

J&J Trophies can make single trophies to help you commemorate a special occasion or it can make trophies for clubs and organizations.

Jerry Mankins said he can make door plates, directional signs, mailbox signs, house numbers, badges, plant labels, metal plaques, legend plates, desk signs or identification signs for dogs, luggage or keys. He can also make name signs for nurses, policemen or office personnel.

Before now, many persons or clubs had to order their signs or trophies from companies in Lubbock or Dallas. Now, there is no need for that. You can have your signs made here in Snyder by a professional. In most cases, Mankins said, there is only a one day waiting period.

In addition to making signs and trophies, J&J Trophies can also make commemorative ribbons. All orders are custom designed and can be made to fit any request.

If you're a fisherman, a member of a bowling club, a tennis association or a ball club, why not order a round of trophies to commemorate your latest victory. Mankins said he can make one trophy or 30 trophies. No order is too big or too small.

Mankins said he and his wife had been making trophies for about a year just as a hobby. Then, he said, they hit on the idea of making trophies as a business. And business has never been better. Since opening J&J Trophies and Engraving on June 22, they have received orders from Amarillo, Tyler and even Hobbs, N.M. People from all over the Southwest are having their trophies made at J&J Trophies and Engraving.

J&J Trophies and Engraving is located at 1014 Twenty-fifth Street. It is open from 9 a.m. till noon and then from 1 p.m. till 5 p.m., Monday through Friday and from 9 a.m. till noon on Saturday.

EASY TO APPLY—It's a simple process to apply Johnston's No-Roach. All you have to do is brush it on areas where there is crawling insect traffic. It forms an invisible death trap for the household pests.

Don't Take Chances In Selecting Insecticide ...Buy No-Roach

The old saying "your home is your castle" should be remembered when purchasing an insecticide, according to manufacturers of high-quality Johnston's No-Roach.

"Select with great care any insecticide to be used in your home," states the manufacturer. "Be particular....avoid bug killers that contaminate the air with vapors or contain DDT. One should use only thoroughly tested, highly recommended products...and Johnston's No-Roach meets the most exacting specifications.

"When you reach the insecticide counter of your shopping place, stop and give thought to these important factors: 1. The insecticide should be easy to use. 2. It should have no insecticide odor. 3. It should provide long-lasting effectiveness. 4. It should not make powder dust or mess.

And, last but not least, it should be backed up by a well known, established manufacturer."

The one item you will see (if you don't see it, ask) which offers all of the above mentioned features is laboratory tested, scientifically proved Johnston's No-Roach. No-Roach is effective against all crawling insects - cockroaches, ants, spiders and silverfish. One application stays effective for months. It is clean and easy to use. Just brush the colorless, odorless coating where you want it. Dries quickly to form an invisible barrier that stays effective for months. Don't take chances.....take No-Roach.

Conference On Jokes

CARDIFF, Wales (AP) — Professors from 12 countries are coming to Wales on July 13 for a conference on what makes a joke funny.

The University of Wales said today it has arranged 80 lectures on the anatomy of laughter around the world, including talks on "Elephants and Marshmallows" and "Humor Among Au Pairs."

"We will be telling each other jokes and it promises to be great fun," said conference organizer Tony Chapman. "After three days my sides will be aching with laughing. But we won't be clowning around all the time. We have a lot of work to do."

Powder Puff Derby Air Race Going To Be Last

By RON ROACH
Associated Press Writer

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The 29th Powder Puff Derby air race for women is going to be the last because of rising costs to maintain a safe race and "we'd rather quit than go downhill," a spokeswoman says.

The all-woman air race has an enviable safety record since it started in 1947.

Ironically, that's a reason behind the end of one of the most famous of all transcontinental air races, male or female.

The gals want to keep it one of the safest events for either sex in the history of aviation.

"We've never had a serious accident," said Wanda Cummings, secretary of the sponsoring All-Woman Transcontinental Air Race, Inc., of Dallas.

But air traffic problems have grown so much that setting up a route is "just too complicated. In order to keep our safety record intact, we'd rather quit than go downhill," Mrs. Cummings said Monday.

A record 200 planes will take off Friday from Executive Airport, racing to Wilmington, Del., with a deadline of 8 p.m. (EDT) Monday.

This year's race is the biggest in number of entrants and the longest ever, 2,915 miles.

From Sacramento the race has stops at Fresno and Riverside, Calif.; Grand Canyon, Ariz.; Lubbock, Tex.; Santa Fe, N.M.; Oklahoma City; Little Rock, Ark., and Parkersburg, W. Va. The Riverside, Lubboek and Oklahoma City stops are mandatory; the others if planes need refueling.

"A lot of us are sorry to see it end, but there are so many problems, all of which could be cured by enough money, of course," said Mrs. Cummings.

Costs of reserving airport space and setting up towers where necessary as a safety requirement have gone up with inflation. It is costing $30,000 just for setting up the start here.

Entrants arrived Monday from 38 states, Canada, South Africa and the Bahamas, for four days of festivities and aircraft inspections before the race starts.

The race has been held every year except 1974, when it was canceled because of the fuel shortage. Officials said the economy and fuel situations are reasons for discontinuing the race after this year.

But Miriam Burcham, a spokeswoman for the race in Sacramento, said that the Powder Puff's discrimination against men also is a factor.

A male aviator filed an anti-discrimination suit last year, but it was rejected by a judge in Los Angeles, Mrs. Cummings said.

Mrs. Burcham said the Federal Aviation Administration used to help out by putting up temporary towers at airstrips so they could meet the race's safety standards.

"But now we discriminate against men," she said, adding that federal agencies don't like to cooperate with discriminatory groups.

Mrs. Cummings said, however, that getting temporary towers from the FAA is purely a "budget thing — no discrimination. We paid for one tower last year at a cost of $1,500."

Asked why the Powder Puff wouldn't allow men, even bending tradition a bit to allow husband-wife teams, Mrs. Burcham commented: "I'll be very frank with you. If we did, women would have no chance of winning."

And flying with male co-pilots or against them outright would bring in husbands as competitors, she said, and "that would be a way to increase the divorce rate. Under such tension, the race would be chaotic."

Two of this year's contestants — Pauline Glasson of Corpus Christi, Tex., and Jinny Richardson of Yakima, Wash., will be in their 23rd Powder Puff Derby.

Entrants also include five former champions, including seven-time winner Fran Bera of Long Beach, Calif., and last year's winner, Trina Jarish, Irvine, Calif.

Why Medical Bills are Like Car Payments

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: A woman wrote to say that her husband had gone to a doctor six years ago and had a complete physical examination. The doctor told him he needed an operation. She said her husband never had the operation and never went back, and he's never felt better in his life.

This reminds me of the following:

Doctor to Patient: "You're in bad shape. You should have an operation."

Patient: "How much will it cost?"

Doc: "Eight thousand dollars."

Patient: "Gee, Doc, you know I don't have that kind of money."

Doc: "I'll make it easy for you. Give me $3,000 down and pay me $100 a month until the bill is paid."

Patient: "That's just like buying a new car."

Doc: "I am."

NO DOPE IN N.J.

DEAR ABBY: I have put off writing to you long enough. I have fallen out of love with my husband. We've been married for eight years, we have two beautiful, healthy children and a nice home. I don't have to work, I have a car of my own, and from all outside appearances I have it made.

My husband is a good father, is generous and is easy to live with and I know he loves me, but I am sick to death of faking it in the bedroom. I just don't feel a thing for him romantically. I respect him and I really like him, but he's more like a big brother than a husband.

I haven't told him how I feel because I just hate to hurt him. He's such a decent guy. He really deserves better than a wife who can't return his love. We talk about everything but this. Please help me.

TIRED OF ACTING

DEAR TIRED: Tell your husband that you and he should see a marriage counselor. Then do it. If you can't work through the problems that have made you more of a "sister" than a loving wife, level with him. You're right. He deserves better. And there's much more to marriage than you're getting.

DEAR ABBY: I have something to say to HISTORY BUFF who claims that a double-wedding ring ceremony has no meaning. According to him, his old German Bible (1888) says the wedding ring signifies that a woman is no longer a free and independent person, but she's in bondage to her husband. She owes him obedience as a subject owes obedience to his master.

Well, in MY book, a double-ring ceremony joins a man and woman together in holy matrimony as equals.

So, HISTORY BUFF, stick it in your ear and blow it through your nose. For your information, I am only 12, and I plan to have a double-ring ceremony whether you like it or not!

A STRONG VIEW AT 12

DEAR STRONG VIEW: My guess is you're speaking for the second generation of women's libbers, right?

Libyan Jet Hijackers Surrender

PALMA DE MAJORCA, Balearic Islands (AP) — A Libyan airliner hijacked on a flight within Libya today landed here with 86 persons aboard and the hijacker surrendered, airport sources said.

The hijacker, identified only as a man opposed to the Libyan regime of Col. Moammar Khadafy, gave up to airport police and turned over two toy pistols and two knives to the chief of the airport, the sources said.

They said nobody was injured and the passengers were being looked after by airport authorities.

Officials in Algiers said the hijacked Boeing 727 jetliner had landed previously at Boufarik air base, 20 miles south of Algiers, after being refused permission to land at the Tunis and Algiers airports. The base is the headquarters of the Algerian air force.

Algerian authorities said the plane stayed at Boufarik only about 10 minutes, then flew on to Palma de Majorca. There was no information on whether it refueled in Algeria.

The plane was hijacked on an early morning flight between Tripoli, the Libyan capital, and Benghazi, in eastern Libya. It was assumed that most or all of those aboard were Libyans.

The pilot tried first to land at Tunis airport, but Tunisian officials refused permission and barricaded the runways.

Tunisian officials said a man aboard the plane told the Tunis control tower he had taken over the aircraft and was a member of a Libyan underground movement called Vigilant Youth that is opposed to Khadafy's regime.

Brazilians Will CelebrateSunday

AMERICANA, Brazil (AP) — About 200 Brazilians will gather at a little red brick church near Americana Sunday to celebrate the U.S. Bicentennial. And the Stars and Bars of the Confederacy will be hung prominently and proudly alongside the Stars and Stripes.

The Brazilians are descendants of Southerners who fled to Brazil after their defeat in the Civil War. They are scattered throughout Brazil and have become assimilated into Brazilian life.

But every three months they gather at the little church in the rolling hills 10 miles outside Americana to hold religious services and have a picnic dinner.

"Brazil is our mother country, but the United States is our grandmother country," says Judith McKnight Jones.

In front of the church stands the Confederate Memorial, an obelisk displaying Confederate flags and the names of the families who settled in Americana. Behind the church is a little cemetery in which many of the early immigrants are buried; the Protestant Southerners had to have their own graveyard because in those days the Roman Catholic Church would not admit them to its burial grounds.

The American Descendancy Fraternity, formed by the descendants about 20 years ago to preserve their heritage, had bad luck trying to start a museum on the church grounds.

Jimmy Carter visited here in 1972 while he was governor of Georgia and laid the cornerstone for the museum building. But heavy rains apparently weakened the foundations of the building, and part of it collapsed. The fraternity hasn't decided whether to try to rebuild.

Mrs. Jones, who wrote a history of the American settlement, says about 3,500 Southerners came to Brazil in the 10 years after the Civil War. More trickled in until the turn of the century.

Mrs. Jones estimates that some 300 descendants of the exiled Confederates still live in Brazil. About 200 usually gather for the quarterly meetings.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Many Texas consumers have decided to cool off the hot summer months by adding a home swimming pool. The National Swimming Pool Institute estimates that there are more than one million inground home pools and more than three million above-ground home pools throughout the country.

And across the country, our Consumer Protection attorneys say, a small percentage of unscrupulous sellers, contractors, and installers have caused problems for some pool purchasers.

Our Consumer Protection Division recently obtained an assurance of voluntary compliance in a lawsuit we filed against a swimming pool constructor and installer charged with deceptive trade practices. While a defendant may agree to pay restitution to consumers who complain about his work, restitution seldom is enough to compensate for the worry, annoyance, and wasted time when a contractor fails to do what he says he will.

In some cases, it has been alleged that contractors failed to finish some pools, or even to start some of them, although they had received advance money to purchase materials. Some consumers who paid for materials later found out that the contractors had not paid the suppliers. The suppliers then placed a "materialman's" or "mechanic's" lien against the homesteads, forcing the consumers to pay again for the materials or risk losing their houses.

Other types of swimming pool fraud can occur when consumers respond to advertisements showing attractive pools at very low prices. This is the "bait." The salesman then may discourage the caller from buying the advertised pool and encourage the purchase of a much more expensive one. This is the "switch." Bait-and-switch advertising is against the law in Texas, but still may occur. A consumer who ends up spending more than he wants or can afford because of bait-and-switch advertising should contact our Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division or his county or district attorney.

Another sales gimmick sometimes used to sell pools is to tell the consumer he's getting a special discount on his pool because it will be used as a "demonstrator" or "model" to display to other potential purchasers. In most instances, the pool is never displayed to anyone, and the special low price was the price charged any other purchaser.

If you've decided to purchase a swimming pool, be on guard against unscrupulous sellers or contractors. Our attorneys recommend that you ask yourself the following questions in order to avoid problems later:

-Did you get at least three estimates from different firms or contractors? Did you check their reliability by talking with persons who have dealt with them?

-Have you checked on local building and health regulations?

-Are you fully informed about maintenance requirements and what you can expect to spend for upkeep?

-Have you thought over the sales pitch at least 24 hours before agreeing to buy?

-Have you obtained a contract that spells out what will be done, what materials will be used, when construction will begin and end, and what the total price will be? Has an attorney looked over the contract?

-Do you have a copy of the contract?

Accident Claims Four

BOWIE, Ariz. (AP) — Four Los Angeles youngsters were killed in an accident involving a tractor-trailer rig and two pickup trucks on Interstate 10 about two miles east of here Monday, the Department of Public Safety said.

They were identified as Roberto Beltran, 10; Antonio Beltran, 12; Martin Beltran, 14, and Irma Beltran, 16, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Mario Beltran.

Beltran, 40, was reported in stable condition in a Willcox hospital and Mrs. Esperanza Beltran, 32, was listed in critical condition in a Tucson hospital. Ruben Chavez, 21, of El Paso, Tex., driver of the pickup was listed in stable condition at a Willcox hospital.

Investigators said the crash occurred when the two pickups, which were traveling together, slowed down and pulled towards the shoulder to stop.

The semi-truck driven by Gunther Julius Ohmstedt, 47, of Phoenix, struck the rear of a pickup truck driven by Hugo Herrera, 16, of El Paso, Tex. Herrera's truck was knocked off the road but neither he nor his two passengers were injured.

Ohmstedt's rig then rammed against the rear of the second pickup driven by Chavez and carrying the Beltran family, officers said.

Investigators said the rig climbed atop the camper carried by the pickup and traveled for 50 yards before going up an embankment under an underpass and coming to a stop.

All four youngsters were thrown from the camper truck.

3 Grass Fires Are Reported

Over a relatively quiet Fourth of July holiday, city firemen reported only three grass fires.

The first grass fire occurred at 2:28 p.m., July 4, at 1201 Twenty-fourth Street.

The second grass fire occurred at 8:50 p.m., July 4, at Hermleigh.

The last grass fire occurred on the Polar Road about 5:30 p.m. on July 5.

Burglar Has Good Taste

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The burglar who broke into a posh restaurant certainly showed discriminating taste. He chose 17 bottles of the finest vintage from a rack of 5,300 bottles of wine.

Police said Monday that a burglar made off with $3,000 worth of rare wines from the Down Under, which was closed Sunday for the Fourth of July.

"There is no question that the robber came here strictly for those wines," said Leonce Picot, co-owner of the tavern. "He ignored the money in the cash registers and in the safe upstairs. He took strictly the best."

Picot said an inventory of the wine cellar showed that two bottles of 1899 Chateau Margaux, each valued at $1,000 on the tavern's wine list, and a 1900 Chateau Margaux, were missing.

Picot said he believed the burglar was "a wine nut" or a thief who had already lined up a wine collector to buy the hot grape.

However, he added that some of the wines were too old to be enjoyed and were kept for their novelty.

Yarborough In No. 2 Money Spot

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Driver Cale Yarborough roared into the No. 2 spot in this year's National Association of Stock Car Auto racing earnings competition with his victory in the Firecracker 400 here.

Yarborough, with $169,080 to his credit, edged out Richard Petty and was pushing David Pearson for the lead in the earnings sweepstakes.

Pearson has won $179,690, including his second-place money in Sunday's Firecracker 400. Petty has won $167,715; Benny Parsons $129,945 and Bobby Allison $109,705.

Northwest Site Still On

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A giant radar dish in Arecibo, Puerto Rico, aimed at the spot chosen for Viking 1's landing on Mars, has so far failed to turn up anything that might reverse the decision.

As scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory went through the data from Arecibo Monday, Project Manager Jim Martin said: "I have heard no data that would shake our belief in the Northwest area."

The Northwest area is the flat plain — probably an ancient basin or dry lake — that became Viking's destination when the spacecraft's cameras found the original site to be inhospitable.

The cameras show the new site to be relatively free of mounds or boulders. But radar examination from earth can sometimes spot smaller hazards.

On Thursday, if the good news continues, Viking 1 will be ordered to adjust its orbit to bring it over the landing point. The landing is scheduled for July 17.

DEFINITELY BIGGEST, LOUDEST, BEST AND BRIGHTEST

Grand Bicentennial Lifted American's Spirit

By JULES LOH
Associated Press Writer

Oh, what a weekend it was.

The fuse was long, too long everyone said, but when the grand Bicentennial skyrocket went off it lifted America's spirit and uncovered its pride and, at least for the moment, crowned America's good with brotherhood from sea to shining sea.

It was as if the entire nation put aside its cares and sorrows and thought at last of its own best dreams.

"After two centuries there is still something wonderful about being an American," President Ford said, standing on Thomas Jefferson's front lawn at Monticello, and the nation answered, Amen.

"If we cannot quite express it," he said, "we know what it is. You know what it is or you would not be here."

And where were you?

Americans have a way of remembering where they were at the precise moment of national trauma: Dec. 7, 1941; Nov. 22, 1963.

But in his lifetime will Thomas Gates, the American envoy in Peking, ever forget that on the Fourth of July in the year of Our Lord 1976 and the year of the Republic 200 he ate hot dogs with the members of his staff at a Ming Tomb in the world's largest Communist country?

Will any of the million surrounding the Washington Monument, ohing and ahing at the grandest fireworks display in history, forget that when it was over that huge crowd, that happy throng, spontaneously burst into "God Bless America"?

Will any of the five million — five million! — who lined New York harbor and the Hudson River ever forget those majestic square-riggers and the glory of 10,000 sails along the flank of the first capital of the Republic?

Across the land, it was a Super Bowl of superlatives — the biggest, the loudest, the best and the brightest, a blur of extravaganzas months in preparation. But the surprise of the Bicentennial was the spontaneous warmth and gaiety and, yes, patriotism where the crowds assembled.

In Boston, they would remember bursting into "Happy Birthday" after listening to the Declaration of Independence read from the balcony where it was first read in that city in 1776.

In Lexington and Concord, where the fight for liberty began, they would remember a special cheeriness at the traditional children's games of hula-hoop spinning, bike racing and watermelon eating.

The same easy, happy spirit prevailed at other national shrines....

At Fort McHenry, at a booming rocket display at dawn's early light ...at Gettysburg where William Williams of The AP reported about a re-enactment: "They gave a war here and thousands of Americans came," 30,000 with picnic lunches ...in Washington the city everybody seemed to run against this year, where storytellers and puppets entertained laughing kids at West Potomac Park ...in Philadelphia where the President joined thousands for formal ceremonies at Independence Hall, and also where a subway rider broke into "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," and immediately the other riders, in all the cars, joined in....

And at other cities and hamlets across the nation, some celebrating traditionally, some gaudily, but all gaily:

In San Francisco, where they rang cable car bells;

In Kokomo, Ind., where a lusty parade featured a big red tractor pulling a float with a 10-foot ear of corn;

In Los Angeles, the city of excesses, where a bunch of kids had the bright Bicentennial idea of concocting — why not? — a 30-foot-long banana split;

In Shreveport, La., where Mildred Walker Scopes, widow of the man whose contribution to America's history became known as the Monkey Trial, sat down to lunch at a table dressed out in red, white and blue clothes;

In Sun City, Ariz., where Lewis Singer laid out $4,500 to rig his house with all 50 state flags, plus a red, white and blue cattle trough in his front yard that shoots water 20 feet in the air;

In Promontory Point, Utah, where they built two mock railroad engines facing each other just as the real ones did that day of Manifest Destiny in 1869 when the golden spike was driven;

In New Orleans, where they unveiled a bronze statue to Louis Armstrong, that pioneer of America's own music form;

On Little Diomede Island, that tiny Alaskan outpost on the Bering Strait a scant three miles from Russia, where all 130 residents turned out for blanket tossing and other Eskimo diversions;

And in gutsy Rexburg, Idaho, where on Monday, a month to the day after their town was nearly washed away by a flood, they borrowed enough floats from other towns to put on a parade. "We aren't so hurt that we can't show our love for our country," said Marion Forsyth, who lost his home and farmland.

Meanwhile, in the Old World...

England, which suffered a profound decline in the world's power structure while its impudent former colony rose to the top, was, as always, civil. It celebrated the American Bicentennial with more than 100 special events across the country, including fireworks, concerts, picnics, softball games and a round of furious Frisbee. Meanwhile, Queen Elizabeth, who occupies the throne the colonies broke away from 200 years before, was on her way to pay her respects to the aging upstart.

Official Russia was almost civil. President Nikolai Podgorny sent congratulations to President Ford. But Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, couldn't resist a dialectic zing: U.S. history, it said, shows the "suffering and difficulties that a society of class exploitation brings to many millions of working people."

But in the same Communist capital, dissident Soviet sources reported a poignant message from 14 Soviet political prisoners to the American people:

"Neither barbed wire, nor machine guns, nor watchtowers, nor guard dogs — nothing can prevent us...from being together with you on this great hour of world history."

BOARDING THE TRAIN—A crowd of passengers awaited the special Bicentennial passenger train as it began a series of runs to and from Hermleigh on Sunday afternoon. The special train was sponsored by the Roscoe, Snyder and Pacific Railroad, the Santa Fe Railroad and the Snyder Chamber of Commerce.

Calm Returns To Gonzales

GONZALES, Tex. (AP) — As quiet returned to the cow pasture site of singer Willie Nelson's July 4 picnic, the concert promoter of this year's event was thinking of next year.

"If Willie asks, we'll try to do it again," said Gene McCoslin of Dallas, who organized much of the work that resulted in an estimated 80,000 fans handing over $10 each for 24 hours of music.

The last of the music fans departed Monday in a river of campers, cars and pickups that overflowed some South Texas highways.

The concert ended on a wet note Monday morning when a storm dumped tons of rain on the sleepy, exhausted masses. It stopped further music by collapsing the canvas stage roof and soaking the performers' sound systems.

Highways leading out of this city of 6,000 were marked by campers and cars pulled off the road while occupants caught up on sleep missed during the 24 hours of progressive country music.

Restaurants along the routes did a booming business feeding the concertgoers. The owner of an eating place in Luling, about 25 miles from the picnic, said he had to lock his front door to prevent overcrowding.

During the three-day campout at the site nine miles east of here, some fans found more than music.

The Gonzales County sheriff's office said 130 persons were arrested during the weekend on a variety of charges, including possession of marijuana and other drugs.

A spokesman for Middle Earth, an Austin-based crisis center hired by festival promoters to provide medical services, said several hundred persons were treated for injuries ranging from stab wounds to copperhead snake bites.

Medical personnel said at least three rape cases had been reported to them.

And officials said Paul Lenden Boatright, 26, of Pasadena, Tex., drowned Saturday in a stock tank near the picnic grounds.

Willie Nelson participated in only four songs and did not sing a solo, but McCoslin said Nelson did not organize the festival for him to sing.

McCoslin said arrangements had been made to clean up the tons of trash at the cow pasture.

"Just ask any of the people in Gonzales and they will say we took care of the town," McCoslin said.

The festival caused a division among Gonzales residents when promoters first asked for a three-day permit. Citizens took strong stands on both sides before and after Gonzales County commissioners granted a one-day permit.

Controversy over low blood sugar

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I am 59 years old, 5 feet 5 inches tall with a large frame and weigh 165 pounds. Recently I had a thorough physical examination and tests. A five hour glucose tolerance test showed that I am hypoglycemic and blood tests showed that my cholesterol is elevated to 312 milligrams.

Being somewhat overweight I have been advised to lose weight and keep it off. I understand that I am to eat high protein foods to control the hypoglycemia and low cholesterol foods to bring down the cholesterol. My problem is that I do not know what to eat and still lose weight too. Can you help me?

DEAR READER—My first problem would be in agreeing with the diagnosis of hypoglycemia (low blood sugar). I do not think such a diagnosis is valid at all unless the blood test shows a low level at the same time the person is having typical symptoms. Too often a patient has a test like you had and one or more readings are low. Despite the fact the patient doesn't have one symptom that could be caused by low blood sugar he gets the diagnosis. The truth is that lots of normal people in tiptop health have intermittent low blood glucose readings. One of the more recent reports of this was in the Journal of the American Medical Assn. of a study done at Fitzsimmons Army Hospital. Healthy people had levels below 40 milligrams and no symptoms. Unless you had symptoms with your low reading I think your diagnosis is incorrect.

Assuming that you did have symptoms and that your diagnosis is correct then you will have to contruct a diet based on lean meats, lean fish, lean poultry. Cut all the fat away. Prepare by broiling, boiling (poaching) or roasting. Lean fish would include sole, cod, flounder, turbot. Young chicken and young turkey is lower in fat than larger birds. Remove the skin to eliminate fat and use only the white meat for the least fat.

For the rest of your diet concentrate on leafy vegetables that you would get in a salad and do not use fatty salad dressings. Use some of the dietetic low calorie dressings. You can use cabbage, lettuce, broccoli and bulky vegetables of this type and raw vegetables such carrots.

You need some cereal and I would suggest a bowl of Bran Buds or All Bran each day to maintain some bulk in your diet. You can reverse the order of your meals each day if you really have had symptoms of hypoblycemia. By that I mean have the meat and vegetables in the morning and at lunch. Eat the cereal at night before going to bed. Be sure to include at least seven ounces of meat, fish or poultry in your diet each day. You could eat a whole pound of lean round steak (raw weight) and it would only contain 600 calories.

Now you may not need to limit your carbohydrates as much as I have indicated if you have no sumptoms of hypoglycemia. In that case you could use a normal reducing diet. I am sending you The Health Letter number 3-9, Low Blood Sugar: Hypoglycemia. In that case you could use a normal reducing diet. I am sending you The H

Now you may not need to limit your carbohydrates as much as I have indicated if you have no symptoms of hypoglycemia. In that case you could use a normal reducing diet. I am sending you The Health Letter number 3-9, Hypoglycemia, to give you more information. Others who want information on this subject can send a long' stamped, self-addressed envelope with 50 cents for it. Send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

I suspect that if you can eliminate your weight problem your high cholesterol will take care of itself. You should also start a daily exercise program. Start with a walking routine and increase your daily walking activity.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're prone to take foolish risks today, both materially and where work or career is concerned. Leave your checkbook at home.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Guard against placing too much stock today in someone you're not sure is really deserving. You could be backing a loser!

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Make realistic evaluations today. Don't try to kid yourself or others. You still can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It would be folly to be neglectful today and put major projects off till the last minute. As time grows short, so do your talents.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 23) It's nice to be generous, but it's just plain foolish to be too open-handed and so extravagant that you indulge all your whims today.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Today, you may feel you have to come on strong to impress your friends. Being boastful does not become you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Very little will be gained today if you try to defend or expound upon issues you know nothing about. Silence can truly be golden for you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Think twice today before you lend something to one who treats his possessions carelessly. Do you think he'll handle yours differently?

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Try not to misdirect your energies today in pursuit of goals that are of small purpose. Aim towards things that really matter.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Usually you're very self-reliant. Today you may try to palm off your duties at the first opportunity.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Social gatherings you normally enjoy, ones with large groups of new faces, may not appeal to you today. It'll be tolerable if you don't expect too much.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Reevaluate your goals today. Something you have placed a high priority on acquiring may not be worth the price.

Opportunities may be available to you this year through established friends. However, if they feel you don't make the most of them, you may not get a second chance.

Reagan On TV Today

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Republican presidential candidate Ronald Reagan says he hopes his appearance on national television tonight will persuade uncommitted GOP delegates to vote for him.

"It's an important speech," the former California governor said Monday before taping the half-hour talk at a Hollywood studio.

He said President Ford's television exposure at Bicentennial events Sunday and Monday had nothing to do with his decision to present his nationwide message.

"We decided a long time ago to do this," Reagan said.

"Kansas City is drawing close and there are a lot of uncommitted delegates. I would have liked to have made the taping closer to the convention, but we had to take the time when it was available."

According to an Associated Press survey, Reagan has 976 delegates to Ford's 1,004 with 179 uncommitted and 98 delegates yet to be selected. A total of 1,130 delegate votes are needed to win the Republican nomination.

Reagan again predicted he would win the nomination on the first ballot at the August GOP convention at Kansas City, Mo.

"How can I control my air conditioning costs this summer?"

UNDERSTANDING YOUR ELECTRIC BILL

Here's a checklist of things you can do to keep your cooling costs down when the temperature is up.

☐ Have your air conditioning unit checked to be sure it's operating at top efficiency. ☐ Try a thermostat setting in the upper seventies. ☐ Keep filters clean. Check them every month. ☐ Keep air vents clear so air can flow freely. ☐ Close fireplace dampers. ☐ Keep direct sunlight out with awnings, draperies, blinds or shades. ☐ Keep doors and windows closed. Try to limit traffic in and out. ☐ Vent clothes dryers to the outside. ☐ Use kitchen and bathroom exhaust fan only to remove excess heat and moisture. ☐ Schedule cooking, washing and ironing for the cooler times of day to avoid adding excess heat to your home. ☐ Raise your thermostat at least five degrees if you're going to be away for several hours. ☐ Turn off air conditioning unit when on vacation unless there are items that might be damaged from heat. ☐ Attics should be well ventilated to prevent excess heat buildup. ☐ Make sure your insulation is at least up to the latest FHA standards. ☐ Weatherstrip or caulk around all doors and windows. ☐ Keep shrubbery trimmed back from outside units to allow good air flow. ☐ Consider cooking outdoors more this summer. ☐ Consider storm doors and windows. Think of them as insulation. ☐ Remember that a window unit is designed to cool only one room. Turn it off if that room is not being used. ☐ If buying new air conditioning, get the unit with the highest energy efficiency ratio (EER) — at least seven or better. ☐ For a free copy of our newest booklet on how to save electricity, give us a call. Or request one on the comment portion of your bill.
