Confident • Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

The Great Promise

YEARS AGO I READ A STORY which moved me strangely. It was written by the late Ernie Pyle, the beloved war correspondent who met his death on Iwo Jima not too long after he wrote the story.

It was the day of the invasion of Normandy, the D-Day which will live long in history. Pyle, who had landed that morning with the first troops, was making his way along the beach late in the afternoon. The shore still was under fire and the sand was strewn with scattered personal belongings of boys who only a little earlier had been laughing and joking in their invasion ships safe in English harbors.

Pyle saw on the beaches a wide assortment of soldier's keepsakes: snapshots, wallets, tattered books and magaimes, letters. He even found a guitar next to the body of its owner and, nearby, stumbled on a tennis racquet. These American boys had gone into battle the same irrepressible tourists they had been in times of peace.

• • •

ALONGSIDE THE BODY OF one youngster, half buried in the sand, he noticed a khaki Bible of the type issued by the Army. Ernie Pyle picked it up and walked half way down the beach with it. Then, suddenly, he turned around, walked back, and put the Bible where he had found it.

"I don't know why I picked it up," he said later, "or why I put it down again."

It is easy to explain and to find reasons for his actions. He may have thought he could send it to the parents of the boy as a measure of comfort. Or, in returning it, he may have felt that the Book should be buried with the youngster who had lived with it. The important thing is that, in either case, there are words in the Bible that give supreme answers to the questions of life and death which concern us all.

WHY IS IT THAT THE Bible has the surest answers? It is because the Bible deals with the world of the spirit and as the great Russian writer, Dostoevski, wrote, "We are citizens of eternity."

All of us have expressed, in greater or lesser degree, some curiosity about what eternity holds for us. We watch the ever-recurring mysteries of life and death in men, in animals, in the varigated forms of life with which nature surrounds us. It is Spring now. The leaves and grass and flowers which seemingly died last Fall and vanished into earth during the Winter are blooming with new color and fragrance once more. Earth has taken a fresh hold on life; it is an ever recurring demonstration of resurrection.

That triumph of resurrection is the victory we celebrate now, at Easter. That triumph is the promise that we find in the pages of the Bible. That triumph is the power that lies in faith.

• • •

FAITH IS THE BASIC AND ultimate answer to any deep grief which may lie upon the spirit. It lifts the burden and grief and offers the promise of a new life, a changed life, a triumphant and eternal life.

As always, the Bible says it best. Here are the tremendous words that will ring out in thousands of pulpits this weekend reaffirming the great promise of faith, made first almost two thousand years ago, but still as reassuring and as hopeful today as they were when they brought life back to Lazarus then: "I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die."

Zonne, Daugherty New Trustees

EASTER PROBLEM—A young lady can get by with a skinned knee, but never with the wrong hat when she joins the Easter parade. Giving the matter serious thought, three-year-old Elaine Kay Shorck questions the face-framing value of a new straw model, left, but decides the flowers and velvet ribbon trim are definitely chic, right. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Shorck, 2605 West Storey Street.

Tornado-Like Winds Flail Texas Sector

Tornadic winds, rain, hail and blowing sand ripped across Northwest Texas Saturday night as Midlanders experienced heavy thundershowers which sent knee-deep streams swirling through residential streets.

Heavy downpours between 9 and 10 p.m. started racing torrents down Illinois, Ohio and other east-west streets of Midland. Estimates went as high as .25 of an inch. Skies were clearing late Saturday night but CAA observers at the Midland Air Terminal expected Sunday showers to dampen Easter bonnets. Temperatures were expected to remain mild under cloudy to partly cloudy skies.

The Northwest Texas winds chewed up barbed wire fences, blew down water tanks and trees and damaged some small buildings.

Hail Four Inches Deep

Only one person was reported injured, and only slightly.

The tornadic winds hit in three places near the Rivercamp community, about 15 miles north of Childress, and at Memphis, some 20 miles farther northwest.

Heavy hail piled as deep "as four inches in places," and about an inch of rain accompanied the storm at Memphis.

The tornado-like winds—blowing clouds of biting sand—hit the J. M. Crews Ranch, the L. B. Holman home and the J. B. Johnson Ranch in the Rivercamp community area.

They chewed up a barbed wire fence at the Crews Ranch and scattered water tanks, tore off the back porch of the Holman home, smashed a wagon and uprooted a tree at the Johnson Ranch.

Three Andrews Trustees Reelected

ANDREWS—Three of the six candidates seeking Andrews County School Board posts got just what they wanted Saturday: re-election. Clyde Broam, John Singleton and C. E. Carruth held top vote totals after election judges counted the 433 ballots checked here Saturday.

There were two write-in candidates who pushed the field to eight candidates. Candidates and their votes were Carruth, 207; Broam, 175; Singleton, 175; Dr. Neal Hayes, 123; Bill Hughen, 104; A. P. Sysbema, 109; and write-in candidates, D. L. Dorland, 32, and Dr. Z. W. Hutchison, 6.

824 Persons Mark School Board Ballots

James L. (Jim) Daugherty, Midland business man and civic worker, and R. J. (Bob) Zonne, an independent oil operator, were named Saturday as trustees of the Midland Independent School District.

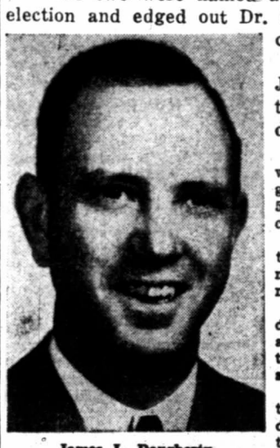

The two were named at the annual school board election and edged out Dr. Dorothy Wyvell, the third candidate in the race.

The two men will succeed Judge R. W. (Bob) Hamilton and John Cornwall, who did not seek reelection.

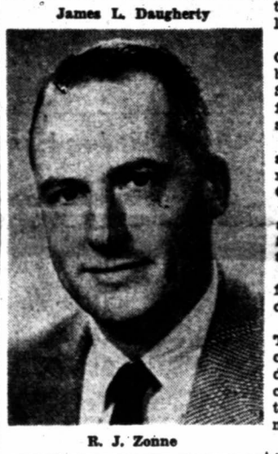

Results in the election, with a comparatively light turnout, gave Zonne 594 votes, Daugherty 544 and Dr. Wyvell 400. Ballots cast totaled 824.

The newly-elected trustees will take office at the next regular meeting of the board, scheduled the night of April 14.

Judge Hamilton, a former president of the school board, has been a trustee six years while Cornwall, the present board chairman, has served one three-year term.

James L. Daugherty

R. J. Zonne

Daugherty, a former president of the Midland Lions Club and past district governor of Lions International, has been a resident of Midland the last 17 years.

He is operator of the Excel-Sure Cleaners. Two of his children have been graduated from Midland High School, one child is now in the fourth grade and another will enter school next year.

Zonne, the father of two school-age children, has been a Midland resident since the middle of 1949.

City Election Next

A graduate of Stanford University as an engineer, he served in the Seabees during World War II with the rank of lieutenant.

The election Saturday was the first of two scheduled over a four-day period.

Midland voters will go to the polls Tuesday to select three city councilmen from a field of nine candidates. J. W. McMillen is the lone candidate for mayor and for him the election will be only a formality.

City Secretary J. C. Hudman said 40 absentee ballots had been cast by the deadline Friday night.

The voting in the city election will be carried on at four balloting places—The North Suburban Fire Station, the South Suburban Fire Station, the Midland Youth Center and the Girl Scout Little House.

The polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. Hudman said voters must bring their poll tax receipts.

Coffield, Morton Renamed At Crane

CRANE—T. R. Coffield and M. D. "Buddy" Morton were reelected Saturday to the Board of Education here. The two men were unopposed in the election.

Coffield was president of the board when his term expired Saturday.

Pecos Youth, Companion Killed By Captive Sheriff

HOT SULPHUR SPRINGS, COLO. —(AP)— Two youths, who boasted that they were wanted for murder, were shot to death Saturday by the Grand County sheriff as the climax of a bullet-punctured kidnap ride.

Sheriff Chauncey Van Pelt of Hot Sulphur Springs sat in the back seat of the kidnap car with a revolver hidden under his jacket as the youths exchanged shots with other police officers.

As the car sped toward a roadblock, Van Pelt said he distracted the two and shot them.

He said they have been identified tentatively as Harold Dean Glass, 21, Perry, Okla., and Roy Willard Kane, 23, Pecos, Texas. Identification was made from papers in their clothing.

The sheriff said they told him they were wanted for murder and he thought they said in Oklahoma.

Van Pelt said the car he found them with was reported stolen Friday night at Medicine Bow, Wyo. They were driving west on U. S. Highway 40, approximately 100 miles northwest of Denver.

With them were two other youths, Carmel Castle and Charles Peters, who identified themselves as hitchhikers. They said they had no permanent home addresses and were held for investigation.

Van Pelt said the car had gone off the road into a ditch and one of the men had hiked a half-mile to a telephone and called the town of Granby.

Van Pelt, told there was an abandoned car off the road, drove out to investigate. He said he recognized it as one reported stolen.

Conceals Pistol

Van Pelt concealed his revolver under his jacket and walked up to the car.

"I leaned in the window," Van Pelt reported, "and said, 'All right now, boys, I'm the sheriff and you're under arrest.' And the next thing I saw was two .45 caliber guns staring at me."

The two youths ordered their hitchhikers to stay where they were and ordered the sheriff over to his own car and into the back seat.

Both got in the front seat. The man identified as Kane took the wheel and the other youth twisted

Reeves County Vote Approves $400,000 Bonds For Hospital

PECOS—Three new trustees for the Pecos Independent School District were elected here Saturday as Reeves County voters also put their stamp of approval on a proposed $400,000 hospital bond issue.

Complete unofficial returns showed Byron Lackey, W. R. Bickley and T. A. Robison had been elected school trustees.

Lackey polled 450 votes, Bickley 386 and Robison 288 while the fourth candidate, Hal Brown, trailed the ticket.

The bond issue, which will provide funds to match federal funds for the construction of a hospital here, was approved by a vote of 461 to 295.

Midland Tax Rolls To Soar

Sharp increases in the assessed valuations of Midland County's three major taxing units were predicted Saturday by city and county officials.

The predictions came as the city, county and school tax collectors headed into the final month of accepting property renditions for 1953.

The deadline for all three is April 30.

But on the basis of renditions up to Saturday this is what will happen:

The City of Midland will jump from $45,000,000 to $53,000,000.

Midland County will jump from $24,000,000 to $32,500,000.

The Midland Independent School district will jump from $71,700,000 to $80,000,000.

The predictions on the city and school valuations came from W. I. Pratt, tax assessor-collector for both units, while the other figure came from J. M. Speed, Midland county tax assessor-collector.

The increases can be attributed largely to new building in Midland during 1952.

Dr. Graves, Spruill Win Kermit Posts

KERMIT—C. M. Spruill and Dr. John Graves moved to within three votes of each other Saturday to win two seats on the Kermit Independent School District Board of Education.

Graves took 217 votes while Spruill crowded him with 214 votes. D. H. Huff, only other name on the ballot, got only 50 votes. There were 241 ballots marked.

Easter Suit Shows Early

Police had little trouble Friday finding Sardell Miller's new Easter suit.

They just watched the pre-Easter parade in the negro section of the city until they spotted it.

Miller told police the suit, a flashy tie, a stickpin and $18 in cash were taken from his home at 1303 East Front Street.

Lt. Billy Patterson and Officer Willie Hill of the detective division obtained a description of the suit and finally spotted it.

"Sure this is his suit," was the only comment of Bobby Lee Simpson, who was being held Saturday in connection with the theft.

"It's good looking, isn't it?"

Readers Asked To Assist In Research Survey Of Leading Midland Businesses

You, as a reader, may think you know nothing about advertising! But did you ever stop to think that every advertisement is written for you and to you as a reader?

Actually readers are better judges of a good advertisement than anyone else. What they think makes an advertisement either a success or a failure.

"Experts" may have ideas about technical matters, but the really important question is: "Which ad will do the advertiser the most good?" You, the reader, and only you know the answer.

Advertisers know by years of experience and by the way newspaper readers buy advertised merchandise that their ads are an important service to you in your daily activities. If any improvement can be made in that service, the readers are best qualified to show what the improvement might be.

In most surveys someone calls on the telephone and asks what radio program you are listening to, or rings the doorbell and asks what soap or foods you prefer. In most surveys there is no reason for you to take the time to give a thoughtful answer.

Here, however, is a Community Survey which is different. It is for the readers' benefit. It deals with advertising information which advertisers present to the public to help newspaper readers in choosing what they wish to buy for the home and hundreds of other uses.

To justify the friendly help of Reporter-Telegram readers, $1,000 in awards will be given to readers who assist in this effort to improve the advertisements which appear in this newspaper.

One of the most interesting features of this self-helping survey is that the readers, all of them, are the judges. No so-called "experts" indicate who shall have the awards.

Each week all answers are counted just as in an election. This shows which ad in each group, each day, was selected by the most readers. This tabulation shows a majority choice of four ads each day, making 24 choices for the week. Thus is obtained an absolutely accurate, correct answer given by all who "vote," because in the final evaluation of an ad the readers are the "experts." It is they the ads are designed to help and please.

The correct answer is very important information for this newspaper's use, and it also becomes the key for making the awards. There can be no favoritism or mistakes in making these cash awards. Each week the readers whose individual answers are nearest to the selection made by the majority will receive the awards. They have shown the best judgment by indicating which ads will do the advertisers the most good.

Every day The Reporter-Telegram will publish a list of the ads to be judged that day. They will be arranged in four separate groups—large, medium, small and classified ads. The reader has only to indicate which one ad in each group, each day, he thinks will do the advertiser the most good.

It is repeated, no technical knowledge is required. You are not asked which is the "prettiest" ad. You do not have to know anything about "expert" ideas concerning advertising. The information needed is the "reader's opinion" indicating which ads will do the advertiser the most good.

You may be surprised by receiving an award! Send in your opinions, whether or not you expect to win.

Program Begins Today!

Listed below are Sunday's advertisements about which readers are urged to give their opinions. Please clip the ballot on the double-page ad appearing in Section Four of Sunday's Reporter-Telegram and use it for your record.

This week's program begins Sunday and ends Friday. There will be three awards—First, $40; Second, $25, and Third, $15. Every week is a separate survey. Remember there is nothing to write!

Bugs Is Pleased

Boys and girls entering the contest colored sketches, which appeared in the March 26, 27 and 29 issues of The Reporter-Telegram. The entry deadline was midnight Wednesday. Judging was on the basis of nice coloring and neatness.

Bugs Bunny, the lovable comic strip character, is happier than usual this Easter—thanks to the 174 boys and girls from throughout the Permian Basin Empire who submitted entries in his annual coloring contest. Entries were received from Midland, Barstow, Terminal, Stanton, Monahans, McCamey, Spraberry, Kermit, Midkiff, Andrews and Eunice, N. M.

Shanann Johnston, age three and one-half years, of Eunice, N. M., was the youngest contestant. Several four-year-olds also submitted entries. The othes contestants ranged up to 12 years of age.

One mother, in submitting the entry of her six-year-old son, wrote, "Our whole family has enjoyed this experience."

Bugs Bunny expressed appreciation to the three judges who selected the winners, and congratulated the 93 girls and 81 boys who submitted entries, upon the fine quality of their work.

Bugs wishes everyone a Happy Easter!

Crosby Skips Hope Banquet; Says He Just Wasn't Hungry

Exclusively Yours: They're still holding a reservation for Mr. and Mrs. Dean Martin on the June 3 sailing of the Queen Elizabeth to London and Dean's predicting: "We'll be back together."

Admitting reconciliation talks with his estranged wife, Dean told me: "She's a wonderful girl and I love her. There's a little stubbornness on the part of both of us, but I'm sure we'll be back together."

Latest Martin and Lewis comedy, "Money From Home," is in 3-D and Jerry's telling everyone: "In three dimensions I look handsome and Dean looks awful."

There was a chimpanzee on the set and Dean whispered:

"That's Jerry's brother. He always comes on the set when Jerry is working."

Now can be told what Bing Crosby said when asked why he didn't show up at the Friars banquet for Bob Hope in New York. Just three words: "I wasn't hungry."

It was the second time Bing failed to show at a testimonial banquet for old Ski Nose.

Dana's still a TV holdout— "I'm a motion picture actor"— but he's beaming over his syndicated radio show, "I Was a Communist for the FBI."

"I can't believe the checks I'm getting. I'm making more money out of the radio show than from movies," Dana declares.

Hey, men! Do your wives buy an evening gown, wear it once and then wail, "Oh, I COULDN'T wear that again. Everyone has seen it"?

They do, huh? Okay, here's a flash that may save you money.

Dinah Shore doesn't mind dolls who whisper, "Look, Dinah's wearing THAT dress again," when 20 million people are watching her on TV, or at an intimate Hollywood party.

"It doesn't bother me like it does most women," says Dinah. "If I've had fun in a dress I wear it again and again."

Dinah's havin' fun, in gowns she's worn before, in the second show and hailing Director Alan Hanley's production genius—"He hasn't run out of ideas yet and he never will. He's fantastic."

Her five-year-old daughter Melissa is having fun, too—joining Dinah with a dance routine in the after show for the studio audience. "I don't do a single anymore," Dinah laughed. "Melissa is in the act."

Her explanation of why her last movie, "Aaron Slick of Pumpkin Creek," with Alan Young, flopped at the box office:

"It wasn't a very good picture and I'm a girl of conservative statements."

MUSICAL TREAT—Midlanders will be able to hear beautiful piano music from the pen of Frederick Chopin and the piano of Jose Iturbi when "A Song to Remember," the romantic story of Chopin's life, returns to the Yucca Theater here April 8 and 9. Shown above are Cornel Wilde as Chopin and Merle Oberon as George Sand, feminist writer who loved and understood the young composer.

Story Of Polish Composer Returns To City April 8-9

Midland movie-goers who remember—and those who will enjoy the treat for the first time—will be pleased to see and hear "A Song to Remember" during its return visit here April 8 and 9.

The movie, story of Frederick Chopin, Polish musical genius, brings superbly played music by Jose Iturbi, one of America's greatest concert pianist. From behind the camera, Iturbi translates Chopin into a living being through the power of the famous "Polonaise" and other Chopin immortals.

The film, to be shown at the Yucca Theater, features Cornel Wild as Chopin and Marle Oberon as the feminist writer, George Sand, who loved and understood the composer. Paul Muni plays Professor Elsner, Chopin's music teacher, while George Coulouris is seen at Pleyel, the impressario who arranges Chopin's first concert.

The picture is a reprint from the original negative, hence free from scratches and crackles.

Midland Officers Locate 'Needle In The Haystack'

Constable Jack Merritt and Deputy Sheriff F. S. Buckalew felt Friday afternoon like they'd found a needle in a haystack.

Friday morning, Buckalew received a complaint from a Midland man that one of his 1953 automobile license plates had been stolen.

Friday afternoon the deputy and the constable were approaching Sterling City on a business trip when they spotted an automobile in front of them, unequipped with license plates.

They pulled the motorist over to the side of the road to question him.

As they walked around to the front of the car, they spotted a license plate—the same one reported stolen in Midland earlier in the day.

The man was being held on charges of drunkenness, driving without an operator's license and investigation of theft.

Adlai Dines On Tablecloth Despite Non-GOP Elephants

HANOI, INDOCHINA—(AP)— An embarrassed native Catholic bishop explained to his distinguished guest Saturday that the elephant was embroidered on the luncheon tablecloth because it's an animal greatly esteemed in Indochina—not because it's the symbol of the Republican Party.

The distinguished guest was Adlai Stevenson, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for the U. S. presidency.

The bishop is Lee Huu Tu, whom Stevenson and French Gen. Francois de Linares, commander of French forces in north Viet Nam, were visiting at Phat Diem, 60 miles south of Hanoi.

Stevenson, who is touring the Far East, also went to Ninh Binh, 50 miles south of Hanoi. Both places are centers of a large Viet Nam Roman Catholic population, which has sided with the French in their fight against the Communist-led Vietminh.

Stevenson Sunday will visit Combodia, another of the three associated states making up Indochina. The third is Laos.

Money Bill Writers Quit For Easter Amid Uproars Over Freedom Of Press

By BO BYERS

AUSTIN —(AP)— A House-Senate committee suddenly gave up Friday on its efforts to complete work on a compromise general appropriation bill before Monday.

The committee had been working feverishly behind closed doors to arrive at a figure—exepcted to be between 160 and 170 million dollars—on which the House and Senate could agree next week.

An informed source said clerical help had been alerted to be ready to grind out the final version, with work on the two year appropriation bill to be given top priority ahead of all other bills awaiting printing.

A committee member had said earlier it was vitally important to "get the bill out as soon as possible." Why the committee quit instead of continuing through Saturday was not known definitely. Several members said they wanted to be home for Easter.

Secret Sessions Still

Deliberations of the panel will remain secret when the five Senators and five Representatives return to work Monday afternoon, Senator Ottis Lock, Lufkin, made clear Friday.

An explanation of the colsed door policy was sought by J. Cullen Browning, chairman of the Texas Associated Press Managing Editors Association Freedom of Information Committee. The editor of the Orange Leader said the House-Senate committee was putting an "Iron Curtain of censorship around the public's business."

Lufkin Editorial

The Lufkin Daily News in an editorial Friday said there are those who believe attempts to get the committee to open its meetings to reporters are an effort to harm the effectiveness of the committee in fight between the big spenders and the economy bloc in the Legislature.

The Lufkin paper said it opposes secrecy in public affairs, but added that conference committees usually meet behind closed doors and that running coverage of such meetings has not been available in the past.

Lock issued a statement signed by himself and Rep. Smith as chairman of the House and Senate panels.

"This is our statement to cover the entire situation," Lock said.

"We regret that an issue has arisen between some members of the press and the free conference committee concerning the right of the committee to hold executive sessions.

Traditional Policy

"It has been the policy of free conference committees on appropriations bills to approach their task in this way. Exhaustive public hearings have been held by committees in both Houses, and the bill has been passed in different forms in both Houses. Our job, as we see it, is not to conduct further public hearings, but to adjust the differences between the houses.

"This is a mammoth task requiring the concentrated attention of the free conference committee. We think it i sour duty to do as thorough a job as possible in as brief a time as possible, in order that our report may be laid before the House and Senate without undue delay. If the press were invited, all interested parties would be entitled to attend and a complete new series of public hearings would result.

"We feel we are entitled to an opportunity to work without interruption, distraction, or outside pressure. It is a matter of practicability and not of secrecy; we have nothing to hide, and the results of our labors will become public property as soon as we complete them."

Death Car Driver Found Shot Fatally

WACO —(AP)— An elderly man charged with murder Friday in a traffic death was found fatally shot Saturday at his home near here.

Officers said a shotgun lay beside the body of Mark Sims, 62, retired tavern operator, in his home on the Marlin road near Waco.

Sims had been charged with murder in the death last October of Sgt. Lester Wiggins of James Connally AFB. Wiggins was injured fatally in a car wreck involving an auto driven by Sims.

Sims faced four damage suits from the wreck.

Braceros To Seek No Wage Increase

HARLINGEN—(AP)—Texas farmers this year will be able to hire imported Mexican workers for the same wages as last year, a past president of the American Agricultural Council forecast Saturday.

Jim Griffin, Mission farmer, returned from Mexico City last week after looking into negotiations between U. S. and Mexican representatives concerning contracts for legally imported Mexican farm laborers (braceros).

"We were happy to learn," Griffin said, "that the current negotiations in Mexico City do not involve any changes whatsoever in the bracero agreement and contract. They are being held to agree upon interpretations of certain phases of the contract and to work out some operating problems which have arisen in other sections during the current agreement."

AFL, CIO Again To Talk Merger

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The rival AFL and CIO are getting ready for another try at negotiating a merger, but leaders of both groups feel the odds are against success.

Several previous efforts to combine the two big union federations have collapsed in the face of bitter rivalries and conflicting views, and most of these differences remain unresolved.

But a team of top American Federation of Labor officials, headed by AFL President George Meany, is ready to get together here Tuesday with top officials of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, led by CIO President Walter Reuther.

It will be the first time the unity talks have been steered by the new labor chiefs.

State General Fund Balance Goes Down

AUSTIN—(AP)—The cash balance in the general revenue fund dropped $1,244,562 in March, but it ought to be a little better at the end of April.

The comptroller's office said occupation tax payments not reflected in the cash balance of $9,825,207 March 31 should help the fund on the next report.

Many state services are paid from the general fund.

Detective Lt. Billy Patterson said the porter disappeared the day after the money was discovered missing.

Court Grants Part Of Stoddard's Plea

FORT WORTH —(AP)— Federal Judge Whitfield Davidson has granted in part a motion for a bill of particulars by Burt Stoddard, Dallas oil man accused of income tax evasion.

The court agreed Friday with Stoddard's request that indictments against him be supplemented by a statement of the nature of funds involved.

The judge denied Stoddard's motion that he be given a detailed listing of dividends in question. Stoddard is accused of income tax evasion in 1948, 1947 and 1948.

34 Texas Postmasterships Await Republicans' Action

HOUSTON —(AP)— Recommendations have not been submitted to Washington on 34 Texas postmasterships subject to replacement, GOP national committeeman Jack Porter says.

Texas' Republican chief said Friday the Post Office Department sent him a list of 94 Texas postmasterships subject to replacement. Porter said 60 of these have been filled or had recommendations submitted.

All 94 offices, mostly in small towns, now are held by acting postmasters.

Porter did not release names of the towns where recommendations already have been made. He listed those still up for selection, including Bartlett, Blooming Grove, Marshall, Rankin, Robstown, Terrell, Texas City, Tulia and Whitney.

Some positions were made available for appointment, Porter said, by the withdrawal of full registers set up by the Truman Administration through examinations last Fall.

Republican county chairmen, he said, and state Republican executive committeemen are being notified of the 34 positions.

Anybody interested in the jobs, he added, should see the Republican county chairman and the state committeeman from the state senatorial district involved.

POST SCRIPT SAYS 'OR ELSE'

TOKYO —(AP)— Red China's radio described the Communist offer to end the fighting in Korea Saturday night as a very fair proposition and that all Chinese to a man will fight for complete victory if the Allies "spurn" an armistice.

Hoover Says Reds Intensify Efforts Toward Infiltration

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The FBI has discovered "some indications of disloyalty" in the cases of 25,748 actual or potential federal employees since 1947, the House Appropriations Committee said Saturday.

Partial figures showed 444 employes were removed or fired, 14,904 were retained by loyalty boards in their agencies, and 5,187 quit before their cases were disposed of.

The figures were given the committee in closed session by FBI boss J. Edgar Hoover, who warned that "enemy espionage rings are more intensively operated today than they have been at any previous time."

Hoover spoke of renewed Communist efforts to infiltrate certain areas, including education, youth and labor.

He said Communists have suffered "a number of setbacks" because both the AFL and the CIO "have adopted vigorous programs to try to eliminate communism from their organization."

Steelworker Dies In Freak Accident

CHICAGO —(AP)— Rimsey Hayward, 24, was killed Friday night when he tumbled from the driver's seat and his car, on a backward course, passed him and pinned him to a curb.

Hayward, a steel worker, had opened the left hand door of his car and was leaning out as he guided the machine backward in a curve. The rear wheel struck the curb and the jolt knocked Hayward from his seat. The car continued its backward course, as Hayward struggled to get free, until the front wheel reached him and forced him to the curb. The car stopped with the wheel partly resting on him.

EVEN MOSCOW RIVER ICE THAWS—

Soviet Easter Eve Actions Add To Air Of Conciliation

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW —(AP)— The release of 15 doctors once charged with plotting the death of Soviet leaders and the disclosure of a friendly Russian gesture toward the U. S. and British Embassies contributed toward making this a memorable Easter eve in Moscow.

There is an atmosphere of conciliation, of lessening tension in the warm Spring air. Even the ice jam on the Moscow River has broken. And Western observers are cautiously optimistic and hopeful at the turn in East-West relations.

In announcing release of the doctors, Premier Malenkov's young government said they had been accused falsely, that "strictly forbidden" means were used in the investigation of the case, and that the persons responsible had been arrested.

Dr. Lydia F. Timashuk, a woman physician awarded the Order of Lenin with fanfare "for assistance given the government in the matter of exposing doctor assassins" soon after the arrest of the group was announced January 13, was ordered stripped of that medal.

The doctors originally were accused of participation in a terrorist group linked with U. S. and British spying and a Jewish organization, the American Joint Distribution Committee. Nine were represented as having confessed to killing Andrei A. Zhdanov and Alexander S. Shcerbakov and plotting to kill five men high in the armed services through improper treatments.

Six of the 15 doctors were named publicly Saturday for the first time. All are medical professors. They are V. K. Vasilenko, V. F. Zelemin, B. S. Preobrashenski, V. V. Zakusov, N. A. Shereshevsky and N. A. Popova, a woman.

The first four were members of the Academy of Medical Sciences, an informed source said. Zakusov was reported once to have been a delegate to the United Nations Economic and Social Council.

The news of the new administration's action in the case was broadcast widely by the Moscow radio.

Less publicly, the word leaked out that the Soviet Foreign Ministry notified the United States and British Embassies 10 days ago that, contrary to previous requests, they need not move from their buildings near the Kremlin unless they wish to do so.

The Russian government notified the United States and Britain last year it needed the buildings their diplomats were occupying and leases would not be renewed. The British are house-hunting. The Americans are having a new 10-story building built, to include both office space and apartments.

American officials in Washington said the Soviet offer was being declined with thanks, that this country prefers to go ahead with the planned move to a new and sturdier building even though it is away from the center of town.

Anti-Semitism Theme Vanishes From Reds' Papers In Europe

VIENNA, AUSTRIA —(AP)— Since Stalin's death, there has been little or no anti-Semitism in the newspapers of Russia's East European satellites.

For months before the change of Soviet leadership, attacks on Israel and the Zionist movement had appeared almost daily in the newspapers of Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria.

Readers of satellite newspapers become conscious of the absence of the anti-Semitic propaganda Saturday following Moscow's announcement of the release of the doctors, including Jews, arrested for the alleged murder of Communist personalities.

Western diplomatic circles in Vienna believed there were two reasons for the sudden change in the Soviet attitude:

1. The bitter world reaction against Russia and the satellites and the possibility that "Soviet anti-Semitism" would be raised as an issue in the United Nations.

2. Premier Georgi Malenkov's need to avoid antagonizing the more than two million Jews living in Russia and in Eastern Europe in order to secure his own position domestically.

Creeping Deflation From U. S. Worries European Experts

LONDON —(AP)— European observers said Saturday the possibility that deflation would spread across the Atlantic from the United States appeared to them the gravest threat that could arise from an easing of international tension.

These observers, studing the new Communist peace overtures, saw a second, but less important, threat in the possibility that deflation might arise in Western Europe itself. This might come chiefly through overproduction in nations or colonies with economies based on raw materials.

Generally, European commodity markets suffered much more than thestock exchanges following news of the Korean peace moves. Many stocks made up initial losses, but in the commodity markets, Malayan tin and rubber were hard hit.

Thorez Quits USSR

MOSCOW —(AP)— Maurice Thorez, French Communist leader under medical treatment here since 1950, was believed Saturday to have left Moscow by train on his return to France.

NOMINATED — Kenton R. Cravens, vice president and director of the Mercantile Trust Company, St. Louis, has been nominated by President Eisenhower for administrator of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Leonard Hall Seen As Top Contender For GOP Chairman

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) Saturday endorsed former Rep. Leonard W. Hall of New York as signs mounted that Hall's candidacy for Republican national chairman has President Eisenhower's clearance.

Hall indicated after a White House conference Saturday he would take the chairmanship vacated by the resignation of Wesley Roberts if it is offered to him at a meeting of the national committee here next Friday.

Commenting on this, Ferguson said in an interview that Hall, former head of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, is especially well equipped to take over the national party leadership.

"I think he could do a great job, particularly in working with members of Congress, in getting the party ready for the congressional elections in 1954," Ferguson said.

Hall now is a $25,000-a-year surrogate, or judge of wills and estates, in Nassau County, Long Island.

Hall's remarks after he visited the White House on another matter indicated that if the New Yorker doesn't have Eisenhower's active backing, he at least has clearance from the President as a candidate for the job.

Stevens Verifies Ammunition Supply

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Army Secretary Stevens said Saturday the ammunition supply in Korea "was good everywhere I looked, in the forward areas."

Gen. James Van Fleet former commander of the Eighth Army in Korea, has complained of an ammunition shortage.

Stevens said he thought "the important thing is for the people here at home to keep the supplies of ammunition and other things rolling" to the troops in Korea.

U. S. Experts See Doctors' Release As Fight For Power

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Fresh evidence of a developing power struggle in the Kremlin was seen by U. S. officials Saturday in the sensational "depurging" of a group of top flight Russian doctors who, before Joseph Stalin's death, had been accused of fantastic crimes of murder and treason.

Whether this struggle involves, at this stage, Premier Georgi Malenkov and Internal Affairs Minister Lavrenti P. Beria no one here knows. But the relationship between those two men is regarded as the key one in the present Soviet regime and speculation about the contest for control tends to focus upon it.

State Department experts were intrigued and puzzled by the release of the doctors. They said the one thing which seems to make sense about it is that somehow it is a public outcroping of a secret contest for power among the men who took over and reorganized the government after Stalin died.

Beria Vs. Malenkov?

One speculation which some officials say appears to make sense is that Beria, who took over the Ministries of Internal Affairs and State Security, combining them into a single Internal Affairs Agency when Malenkov succeeded Stalin, is strengthening his own power over the secret police system. The idea here is that he could use the discrediting of the police, in connection with the announcement that the doctors were arrested on false evidence, to eliminate persons who were more loyal to Stalin—and perhaps to Malenkov—than to Beria.

Somewhat less likely, in the opinion of the analysts, is the possibility that Malenkov brought about the freeing of the doctors in order to weaken Beria's position by discrediting a segment of the police system which he now clearly controls.

The belief that a power struggle is developing among the principal men of the Kremlin is based in part on indication that the Soviet government has not yet shaken down to the point where the loyalties of party leaders and smaller cogs in the machinery of rule are firmly fixed to one person. Military men are believed to have some increased influence. The position of Molotov is thought probably to be powerful in relation to foreign affairs but weak in internal political matters.

From the point of view of the United States, the totally unexpected release of the doctors offered one object lesson in Russian relations. At any time, and without a moment's notice, the man or men in control of Soviet policies can change radically or even reverse their directions. In foreign affairs this constant threat of a turnabout in Russian policy is the major factor to reckon with.

Volunteers Pitch In To Aid Thirsty Texas Community

BYERS, TEXAS —(AP)— Water flowed into this little town's dry reservoir from a farmer's spring Saturday. The mayor said quick work by residents and friends nearby had licked a drastic water shortage.

Mayor Milton Dunn proclaimed an emergency Friday, saying the reservoir was dry and there wasn't any money to do anything about it.

So the farmer offered his spring, an oil company donated pipe and all sorts of people volunteered to help lay it.

They started work at 7 p.m. and finished the job four hours later. At midnight a flow of about an inch of water bubbled from the spring, through the pipe, into the reservoir, overhead into a tank and from there into the water main.

About 60 persons laid the pipe. They included a detail from Sheppard Air Force Base at Wichita Falls.

An auto agency and the Wichita Falls Naval Reserve unit sent lighting equipment. A couple of firms sent wreckers and winch trucks to help string out the pipe.

Ex-King Carol Of Romania To Be Interred In Portugal

LISBON, PORTUGAL —(AP)— Ex-King Carol II of Romania, 59, who died of a heart ailment early Saturday, will be interred beside the kings of Portugal at the St. Vincent National Pantheon.

Premier Oliviera Salazar gave permission to Carol's third wife, former Madame Elena (Magda) Lupescu, who was alone with the onetime playboy king when he collapsed and died in his villa at nearby Estoril.

Carol's son, ex-King Mihai, who succeeded his father on the throne the Communists since have abolished, was informed of the death at Lausanne, Switzerland. He is living there with his wife, Princess Anne of Bourbon Parma, and three young daughters.

Mihai, cool to his father for years, expressed regret but said he would not attend the funeral.

Carol was a great-great-grandson of Queen Dona Maria II of Portugal. The expectation was that Carol's body would rest in the Pantheon until such a time as his family could arrange with Romanian leaders to remove it to Bucharest—if that might ultimately be the family's wish.

Another exiled king—Umberto of Italy, one of a number of displaced royalty living in the exclusive Estoril colony—called at Carol's villa Saturday and prayed beside the coffin.

Later came Don Juan Bourbon, pretender to the Spanish throne, and officials of the Portuguese government to express condolences to Madame Lupescu, the red-haired beauty who was Carol's companion 23 years before becoming his wife.

Carol and the woman who once wore the title of the uncrowned queen of Romania had lived quietly in Portugal since 1947. He gave up the gay night life and went to Estoril's gambling casino only to see the movies.

TV Station Owner Goes To New York To Contact Networks

J. Howard Hodge, president of the company which plans to bring television to Midland, will leave Sunday for New York City where he will contact the various networks to determine the type and quality of TV programs which will be available to the new Midland station.

"It is most important that network affiliations be established in order to bring the best programs to our viewing audience," Hodge said Saturday.

"It is hoped that at least two or more network services can be obtained."

Hodge's company earlier this year was granted a permit to erect and operate a TV station in Midland. He said his earlier announcement that the station will be on the air before the end of this year still holds, in so far as he can determine.

Stolen Good Luck Piece Proves Bad Luck To Boy

A silver dollar good-luck piece was credited Friday afternoon with solving the mystery of the rifled pocketbook.

Ruby Davis, a secretary in the First National Bank Building, reported to police Thursday that while she was away from her desk, someone took $25 from her purse, including a silver dollar.

Sgt. Wayne Taylor and Officer Willie Hill of the detective division investigated.

They talked to a 17-year-old Latin American messenger boy, who had been seen in the office about the same time. He denied knowledge of the theft.

They found in his possession, however, a receipt for a deposit made on a suit of clothes at a Midland department store.

The detectives checked with the store and found that the deposit made by the youth had included a silver dollar.

Confronted with this evidence, he admitted the theft. The money was recovered and the youth was released after getting a stern lecture.

Oil Drum Aleck Turns TV Actor For Easter Program

WACO—(AP)—Aleck, the gander who's in love with an oil drum, now is a TV actor.

For three hours last week, Aleck faced the cameras. The film is to be telecast from New York as an Easter feature.

Aleck became famous when the story of his devotion to the oil drum was told a few weeks ago The romance started seven years ago.

Aleck's first wife, a goose, was killed by a car. Owner William Hayes, Jr., cremated her body in an oil drum. Aleck hasn't strayed from the drum's side since.

About all Aleck would say for the TV recording machine was "hiss." He said "honk" a couple of times, too. He knew he was the star, though. When the cameramen turned their backs on him, he nipped at their legs.

Hayes put some goslings in the drum. Hayes does that every once in a while. He tips the drum on its side, the goslings waddle out, and Aleck thinks his wife has given him another family.

This time the goslings wandered out through a hole cut in the side of the drum by the TV men. Made a better picture, they said.

"Honk," said Aleck.

Americans Seek High Places To Greet Resurrection Dawn

By The Associated Press

By the hundreds of thousands, Americans this Easter morning are seeking out the mountain summits, the peaks and plateaus, the high places under the sky.

Although many greet the dawn in churches, auditoriums, and stadiums, a large proportion of the big celebrations are high in the hills—as the sun comes up.

From the Rockies to the worn ridges of the Southwestern ranges, to the Great Smokies and to the evergreen crests of New England, there is song and prayer and pageant high above the valleys and the cities.

And on the brow of many a hill stands a cross, around which the throngs gather—symbolic of an ancient hill.

Outside Louisville, Ky., worshipers flock to the top of Iroquios Hill overlooking the city to hail the resurrection at daybreak.

Trombone choirs of the Moravian Church march into the hills around Bethlehem, Pa., to serenade the whole city with clarion, brass music of exultation.

Up to 50,000 persons climb steep trails to the top of the thousand-foot Mt. Davidson, highest of San Francisco's seven hills, to worship at the foot of an immense, floodlighted cross of steel and concrete.

50,000 At Lawton, Oklahoma

Another 50,000 were expected on a Wichita mountainside near Lawton, Okla., for midnight-to-dawn music and drama from a huge natural amphitheater.

On a high hill in Arlington Cemetery overlooking the Potomac and the nation's capitol, a crowd-swollen by thousands of Spring tourists—welcome the Easter sunrise.

In Virginia, there are services on Mill Mountain, at Roanoke, at the famed Natural Bridge, and on the Blue Ridge Parkway high in the Blue Ridge Mountains.

From the "Shrine of Democracy" on Mt. Rushmore in South Dakota's Black Hills, Rev. Carl Lockey conducts the annual ceremony which he originated nine years ago.

Other sunrise services are atop Lizard Butte, near Marsing, Idaho; on Mt. Helix at San Diego, Calif.; on Carnmore Mountain, at North Conway, N. H.; the Cathedral of the Pines, at Rindge, N. H.; on Mt. Rubidoux, at Riverside, Calif.; on the rim of the Grand Canyon, in Arizona; the Mountainside Theater, at Cherokee, N. C.; at Snake River Canyon, Ft. Shoshone Falls, Idaho; the Park of the Red Rocks, in the mountains west of Denver, and at the Garden of the Gods, near Colorado Springs.

Horsemen go on parade in Western observances at Lakewood, Colo., Wickenburg, Ariz., and San Diego, Calif.

Major Services

There are major services in Cleveland's Public Hall, at the Radio City Music Hall in New York, at Indianapolis' Monument Circle and at Marion, Ind., where 2,000 performers take part; at parks and cemeteries in Atlanta, Ga.; in Winston-Salem, N. C., where the 181st annual ceremonies are expected to draw 40,000.

At Philadelphia's biggest sunrise ceremony, millions of flowers form three huge crosses. Two big, outdoor services are at sunrise in Seattle, Wash.; a score of them in Texas, including 14 at drive-in theaters taken over by the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, and one from a floating barge on Corpus Christi's waterfront.

Major services also are at the Hollywood Bowl and Rose Bowl in the Los Angeles area, and at Dallas' Cotton Bowl.

Easter Emphasizes World Peace Hopes

By Associated Press

Christians around the world celebrated the anniversary of Christ's resurrection Sunday in an Easter full of hope that fast-moving events in the East and West may bring world peace.

Allied negotiators in Korea prepared to meet with the Communists to work out an exchange of sick and wounded prisoners as the first step in treating with the latest Red overtures for an armistice.

The Western world moved warily on surprise conciliation moves in the Kremlin. Christians interspersed their hallelujahs to Christ with prayers for fulfillment of his mission for peace on earth.

On Korean battlefront and around the world, sunrise services heralded the arrival of Easter. Eighth Army soldiers celebrated in bunkers, valleys, and on hilltops.

In an Easter message to his troops in Korea, Gen. Mark Clark said:

"Our hearts hold new hope that we may be near an honorable end of this grim but imperative task."

Climaxing the Roman Catholic celebration of Christ's victory over death, Pope Pius XII was to appear on the central loggia of St. Peter's Basilica in Rome for an address broadcast throughout the world in 25 languages.

Arabs, Jews Cooperate

In Jerusalem, Arab and Jew buried their differences to permit pilgrims to visit the holy places. Hundreds of clergy of all sects of the Western and Eastern churches crossed into the Arab-held Old City from the Israeli section. The Mandelbaum Gate was opened to them for celebration of Eastern high mass at the Church of the Holy Sepulcher and other services.

The guarded gates between Israeli and Arab territory opened Saturday to permit the ancient ceremony of transferring the holy fire from the Church of the Holy Sepulcher to the Greek Orthodox churches in the new city.

Throngs donned Easter finery for gay promenades through avenues of many of the world's cities. But not in Paris, which claims high rank as a fashion capital. Most Parisians who could afford it went out of town for the Easter holidays, streaming to the mountains, seaside and country for the first frolic of spring.

In Washington, President and Mrs. Eisenhower, like millions in the nation, planned to attend Easter service.

Eisenhower Salutes NATO As Instrument Of Peace For World

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Eisenhower said Saturday the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) is "an instrument of peace," but the Western world must be united in strength because "peace cannot be defended by the weak."

In a statement on the fourth anniversary of the signing of the North Atlantic Treaty by the original 12 nations, the President said NATO "endangers none who will respect freedom."

He added:

"It serves all who love freedom an wish to enjoy it in peace.

"We have learned from bitter and conclusive experience that peace canot be defended by the weak. It demands strength—strength of our armies, strength of our economies and, above all, strength of our spirit."

Molotov Receives U. S. Embassy Aide

MOSCOW —(AP)— Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov Saturday received the U. S. charge d'affaires, Jacob Beam. It was the first time they had met.

It was described as a courtesy call and came at Beam's request.

Beam has been in charge of the U. S. Embassy here since former Ambassador George Kennan was declared unwelcome for remarks he made last year about the Stalin regime.

Servicemen In Korea Pause In Osbervance Of Holy Day

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD

SEOUL—(AP)—In bunkers, in valleys or mountainsides, or in quiet chapels, U. S. Eighth Army soldiers will observe Easter Sunday.

Hundreds of services, from sunrise to long after dark, are scheduled.

Chief chaplains of the Army and the Air Force will hold sunrise services.

Maj. Gen. Charles Carpenter, chief Air Force chaplain, will hold a service on a mountainside in Seoul. Lt. Gen. Maxwell Taylor, Eighth Army commander, will attend.

Maj. Gen. Ivan Bennett, chief of the U. S. Army chaplains, will hold a service for men of a U. S. division on the Central Front.

Roman Catholics will hold a solemn high mass at 11 a.m. Sunday in Seoul. The Greek battalion in Korea will have a Greek Orthodox service.

In his Easter message to Eighth Army troops, Taylor said the season gives "assurance of the rudiment truimph of freedom over slavery, of right over wrong, of live over death. As I extend the greetings of this holy season, it is with the conviction that the God who sent this message to his children so many centuries ago gives us today the same assurance of final victory."

Peace Gestures Fail To Sway Budget Plan

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said Saturday a possible truce in Korea probably will not reduce military expenditures enough to balance the federal budget in the year beginning July 1.

The Senate Republican leader, who has been advocating a pay-as-you-go program, said it now appears next to impossible to prevent a two billion dollar deficit.

"However, a deficit of that kind would not be too bad because the cash budget would be balanced and inflationary pressures would be taken off," he said. "In fact, I'm much more worried about balancing the budget in the following year."

Colorful Pageantry Heralds Easter Sunday Across Texas

By The Associated Press

Easter egg hunts by thousands Sunday will be followed by widespread observances of the holy day throughout Texas.

In Dallas, an estimated 25,000 youngsters were expected to take part in a gigantic hunt sponsored by the Times Herald, an annual event. Across the state, public and private egg hunts will precede the more serious aspects of the observance Sunday of the symbolic Resurrection.

Traditional Easter fires burned Saturday night from the hilltops surrounding the pioneer German town of Fredericksburg in Texas' storied Hill Country.

The Fredericksburg fires have burned annually since 1847 on the night before Easter. To the children of the area it means that the Easter rabbit is cooking eggs in giant cauldrons and dyeing them with wild flowers.

A pageant Saturday night told the real story.

In 1847, men of the newly-founded colony made a trip into Indian country around San Saba to negotiate a peace treaty with the Indians.

While they were gone, the legend says, a mother heard her children crying because they were frightened by the Indians' signal fires on the hilltops. The mother fabricated the tale of the Easter bunny to ease her children's fears.

The men were impressed by the story when they returned and the colony's leaders vowed to burn the Easter fires as long as the treaty with the Indians remained unbroken. The Indians kept their pledge and the fires have burned each year since.

In Galveston, three dawn Sunday services are planned. One will be the ceremony at the Pleasure Pier's open stadium, a quarter mile from shore. Others will be at a large drive-in theater and the third will be at the island city's teenage stadium.

Big Egg Hunt

Thousands of children turned out Saturday morning on the island's east beach for an Easter egg hunt.

Worshippers in Corpus Christi, the coast city with the name meaning Christ's body, will line their seawall to watch Easter dawn across the Gulf of Mexico.

As the sun rises, worshippers at Corpus Christi will hear trumpeters on a barge in Corpus Christi Bay herald the day. A choir of high school student singers will send an anthem rejoicing at Christ's resurrection across the blue water.

Then a pageant, "The Last Challenge of Easter," will be put on against a huge white cross in a parkway overlooking the bay.

Sunrise services will be held in Fort Worth, sponsored by the General Ministers' Association. In Laurel Land Memorial Park, a group of 75 persons—children and adults—will present a pageant telling the story of Jesus Christ's last days.

20 Houston Services

In Houston, some 20 sunrise services are scheduled for Easter morning. Three community services will be held in Dallas. And across the state, in city and hamlet, similar services are planned.

Like Fredericksburg, Junction will not wait for sunrise to begin its observance. Some 85 persons will portray events in the last week of Christ's life on earth.

The Junction pageant will be performed on five stages at ascending levels of a natural amphitheater at Lover's Leap Mountain, east of the Hill Country town.

A cross on the mountain top will burn high above the scene.

Ike And Mamie Bring Back Biggest Egg Rolling Party

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The White House is bracing itself for the world's biggest Easter party for children Monday.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower, despite anguished groans from White House gardeners, are reviving the traditional frolic known as "egg-rolling" on the south lawn for children up to 12 years of age.

The last dyed-egg "battle"—for that is what it sometimes becomes—was held 12 years ago on April 14, 1941, when the Franklin D. Roosevelts were in the executive mansion. Then World War II halted the festivity, about which there are many legends.

Attendance at the Roosevelt's last egg-rolling set a record of 53,258 children and accompanying grownups—and at least that many are expected this year.

Monday's party will last nine hours. The high iron gates will open at 9 a.m., but before then throngs of children in their Easter finery, carrying baskets of gaily colored eggs and hugging bunnies, will be waiting.

And when they get in, judging from past performance, they'll do just about everything but roll eggs!

They'll play games, eat lunch, fall down and get patched up by doctors and nurses in a big first-aid tent. To discourage flower-pickers and tree-climbing, snow fences have been placed around the shrubbery.

Marine, 'Bride' Take Plane To Face Trial In New York

ROCHESTER, N. Y. —(AP)— Fred Eugene McManus, 18 - year - old AWOL Marine who has admitted killing five persons, came back Saturday to New York state—where there is an electric chair.

Gay and seemingly carefree, McManus stepped from a special plane at Rochester Airport at 4:05 p.m. after a three-hour flight from Dubuque, Iowa. With him was the 16-year-old bobbysoxer he calls his wife, Diane Marie Weggeland.

The young couple was whisked to the Monroe County Jail, where McManus awaited arraignment on a first degre murder charge in the car-theft killing of William A. Braverman, 19-year-old Hobart College freshman from Rochester.

McManus was arrested near Dubuque Tuesday and admitted a four-day crime spree that started near Rochester and continued through the Midwest.

Before leaving Dubuque, where he waived extradition to New York, McManus was quoted as saying he preferred going to a state that used the electric chair in capital crimes.

A newsman who was on the flight east said that when the plane passed over Niagara Falls, the teenaged pair "goggled like all honeymooners."

As they sat cheek to cheek in a lover's reunion before taking off, Diane again insisted she wanted to take part of the blame. Earlier Saturday, in court at Dubuque, she followed McManus in waiving extradition so as to speed their return to New York.

In a signed confession, McManus also has admitted double killings during holdups in Illinois and Minnesota. The entire escapade netted him less than $60 cash. He said the holdups were perpetrated because they needed funds to continue their journey.

DID STALIN DIE, OR WAS HE PUSHED?—

Coldblooded Oriental Intrigue Seen Behind Malenkov's New Dictatorship

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

The fantastic Soviet about-face in the case of the "doctors' plot" raises a serious question whether Joseph Stalin died a natural death.

By fitting pieces of the Kremlin jigsaw puzzle together, it is possible to discern what appears to be a careful laying of the groundwork for announcing the death of Stalin

There is a madness in this new development that defies all logic. After six weeks of the most violent press denunciation of the arrested Soviet doctors, they disappeared from the press at the time of Stalin's death. Now they are proclaimed innocent.

Oriental Intrigue

In Attempting to find explanations for such a giddy zigzag—which, incidentally, must leave the Soviet public sorely puzzled—it is necessary to go back over old ground and pick up the bits and pieces.

And having done this, one comes up with the startling suspicion of Oriental-like intrigue in the Kremlin involving the cold, calculating Georgi M. Malenkov, Stalin's successor as Premier, and his ruthless, coldblooded sidekick, Police Czar Lavrenty B. Beria.

The Soviet "doctor's plot" burst into print with great fury in mid-January, touching off a violent campaign against "gullibility" and for vigilance on the part of the Soviet public against spies and saboteurs.

Beria In The Know

It is utterly unbelievable that police boss Beria did not know in advance of the arrest of the nine doctors, and subsequently of the arrest of others who must have been taken secretly. The latest announcement speaks of "15 doctors." Since the Ministry of State Security, which is obliged to report directly to Beria, "uncovered" the case, Beria had to know about it.

Yet there was the astonishing spectacle of the state security organs—Beria's own — being criticized for lack of "vigilance."

Now the ministry apparently had been cleared of that charge. But Beria, at the same time, also must be responsible for the alleged error in the arrest of the doctors and for the "illegal" means of interrogating them.

Scapegoats Ready

If Malenkov, with the aid of Beria, actually plotted the death of Stalin—or at least, if they plotted to hasten the Soviet dictator's death—the arrested doctors would have constituted handy safeguard for them. If something should have gone wrong, if something accidentally had been discovered if the plans went awry in any way, the doctors would have been ready as the scapegoats.

Malenkov according to the most reliable reports from inside the USSR, shed no tears over the death of Stalin, his mentor and master for a quarter of a century. Neither did Beria. Both were quite businesslike. One source described Malenkov as "even breezy" in his appearance at Stalin's funeral, and unquestionably confident in his position as new boss.

All of this added up to grave suspicion.

Strange Sequence

Stalin was the last obstacle in the way of Malenkov's succession. Perhaps Malenkov became impatient at his ruggedness. Stalin's visitors constantly were reporting him in robust health.

This would be an extremely serious charge to make against Malenkov, but in the absence of any explanation of the strange sequence of events, there would seem to be justification for raising the question.

It seems unlikely that the release of the doctors is involved in a current struggle for Kremlin power. It appears more likely that the struggle is over and that Malenkov and Beria are hands-down winners—at least for the time being.

Curiously Gullible

The doctors no longer are needed. But the case of the doctors evidently was part of a past struggle—one which likely went all the way back to October and the Communist party congress, the scene of Stalin's swan song.

Now the party faces a curious situation. Pravda and the rest of the party press have been hammering at the theme of "gullibility" as a threat to the state's security. Now, apparently, the ministry of state control, has been gullible in the case of the doctors. The ministry reports to Beria.

Who is gullible now?

91 Crewmen Presumed Dead As Turkish Submarine Sinks

ISTANBUL, TURKEY—(AP)—Rescue workers toiled through the night into Easter Sunday to try to pry open the Turkish submarine Dumlupinar, formerly the USS Bumper, rammed and sunk in the Dardanelles narrows with a loss of 75 to 91 lives.

The office of the Turkish Navy chief of staff at Ankara said early Sunday 91 men were presumed dead and that five had survived, including the sub's skipper, Sabri Tcheliebioglu.

The five were in the conning tower when the submarine collided in Sunday's pre-dawn darkness with the 4,000-ton Swedish freighter Naboland.

Earlier reports had said only four survived. Other reports varied as to the number aboard.

The armed forces press bureau at Istanbul said 80 were aboard. Turkish reporters quoted Defense Minister Seyfi Kurtbek as saying the sub carried 78 men.

Worst Since 1939

Reports fro mthe rescue scene said two bodies crushed by pressure had been recovered from the surface. Presumably all the others still were trapped in the hull.

The loss of the British submarine Thetis in 1939, with 99 crewmen, alone exceeded the disaster to the Dumlupinar.

The U. S. destroyer Hawkins, rushed to the scene under forced draft with doctors and divers aboard, and other rescue craft continued their arduous job Saturday night in darkness and rain, even though contact had been lost. Among those on the Hawkins was Rear Adm. Francis M. Hughes, chief of the Navy group attached to the U. S. military mission in Turkey.

The Dumlupinar, a 1,526-ton craft built by the United States in 1944 and turned over to the Turks in 1950 under the mutual aid program, was a modern ship with a snorkel underwater breathing device.

Her crewmen had been trained in the United States before they brought her to Turkey.

The submarine was lying under 38 fathoms (228 feet) of swift current Saturday night three miles north of Canakkale, a fortress town near the southern end of the strategic strait and close to the scene of a recent Turkish earthquake disaster.

Divers said her badly smashed and flooded bow, where most of the crew probably met death, and the current made floating operations impossible.

Efforts were made to effect rescue through regular or emergency escape hatches, even though the submarine had only 24 hours supply of oxygen when contact was lost. Presumably the after section, too, had been flooded.

The Dumlupinar was cruising on the surface from Canakkale toward Istanbul at 2 a.m. when she collided with the Naboland in poor visibility. The Naboland, out of Goteborg, had left Istanbul late Friday.

The Swedish skipper put out lifeboats and flashed the first word of the disaster. Later he put in at Canakkale, where he was questioned by Turkish authorities.

It was not until 11 a.m. that the Turkish Navy gave out its first communique announcing the accident.

Trapped Men Send Message

The wreck was located by a buoy floated to the surface by the trapped men, and over the connecting telephone line rescuers were told: "Rescue us. We have air to last only a few hours."

First reports said 40 were alive in the still unflooded stern, but later Col. Asim Shinik, Navy chief of staff, announced there were only 22.

U. S. Vice Adm. John H. Cassady, commander of the naval support and striking force of NATO's South European Command, at once placed all facilities of the U. S. Sixth Fleet at the disposal of the Turkish Navy, and rushed the Hawkins to the scene.

Ike's 93 Beats Bob

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Eisenhower and Senator Taft kept up their team work Saturday.

The two, who have been working together closely on legislative matters, teamed up at golf at the exclusive Burning Tree Club. They lost to a pair of opponents whose names were withheld by the White House.

Eisenhower beat Taft by one stroke on the tough 18-hole course. The President had 93 and the Ohio senator turned in a 94.

Both men, who usually shoot in the 80's, were far off their game. Taft described his playing as "terrible."

Irish Attack Three British Border Units

LONDONDERRY, NORTHERN IRELAND —(AP)— Attacks on three British customs posts brought a virtual state of siege Saturday night along the Irish border.

A home made bomb was tossed into one of the customs buildings in Molenan, near Derry City, while two other huts—at Galliagh and Culmore—were set afire.

A man identifying himself as adjutant of the outlawed Irish Republican Army called Londonderry newspapers to deny the IRA was responsible for the raids.

The car roared through Hot Sulphur Springs westward with the short wave radio giving details on a roadblock being organized at Kremmling, 17 miles to the west.

"I saw a roadblock up ahead right on the outskirts of town," the sheriff said. "And I made one more attempt. I said to them, 'Boys, there's a roadblock up ahead and there's a hundred men on it. You'll never get through. Now stop this nonsense.'

Youths Laugh

"They just laughed and told me what they'd do to that roadblock. I knew it was now or never, so I suddenly yelled to look out. Glass took his eye and his gun off me for a minute. I pulled out my own gun."

Van Pelt said his first shot killed Glass and his second killed Kane. As the car veered wildly, the sheriff jumped into the front seat and slammed on the brakes.

At Denver, Sgt. Arthur Roush of the police department said that Glass and Kane were wanted at Ponca City for questioning in a slaying there two weeks ago.

Roush said the victim was identified as Harold Cruse, 44, Lamont, Okla.

Eighth Army News Officer Heads Back To Home At Snyder

SEOUL—(AP)—Maj. L. A. Breault of the Eighth Army gave his first briefing to war correspondents 18 months ago. He gave the last one Saturday.

Before the final briefing, the Army awarded the genial, 36-year-old major a Bronze Star for meritorious achievement and he in turn confessed to correspondents:

"It's time for me to go home to Texas—my little blue-eyed, seven-year-old daughter can't pick out her daddy's picture in a group photo any more."

It has been Breault's job to keep correspondents informed, 24 hours a day, of the program of fighting. He got little sleep.

Breault is a native of Auburn, Mass. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Breault, still live there. His wife and daughter live in Snyder, Texas.

He worked on two Massachusetts newspapers. He was with radio station WFAA in Dallas when he was called back into service.

Breault arrived in Korea in September, 1951.

Electricians Poised To Begin GE Walkout

CINCINNATI —(AP)— A high-ranking CIO official said Saturday a strike of 65,000 CIO electrical workers in 23 General Electric plants throughout the nation may come at "any minute."

Al Hartnett of Washington, secretary-treasurer of the CIO International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, first commented briefly on the report that 10,000 members of his union struck Friday at the GE electronics plant at Syracuse, N. Y.

He said he read of the walkout while enroute to Cincinnati, then declared:

"I can't say I was awfully disappointed. I know very little about it, but I guess the workers in Syracuse were getting an early start.

"I know this: The rest of them can be struck at any minute."

Midland Policeman Calmly Grabs Gun In Shooting Here

A Midland police officer calmly walked up to a Latin American gunman Saturday night and grabbed his revolver a few seconds after another man had been shot in the left arm.

The officers was Art Kohles, who was on routine patrol about 9:30 p.m. in the Latin American section.

"I had just turned the corner and was in the 400 block of Davis when I heard a gunshot," Kohles reported.

"I saw these two men standing there, one of them with the .45 in his hand. I walked up and grabbed the gun away from him."

The gunman, identified as Hilario Martinez Rodriguez, 28, of 508 North Lee Street, was being held for questioning. He told police he shot in self-defense when the other man pulled a knife on him during an argument.

The other man, 20-year-old Q. L. Reyes, of 403 North Lee Street, was treated at Midland Memorial Hospital for gunshot wounds.

Spraberry Shutdown Exceptions Granted

AUSTIN —(AP)— The petroleum division of the Bureau of Mines and the Atlantic Refining Company have been granted exceptions to the Spraberry Trend shutdown by the Railroad Commission.

The Bureau of Mines exception was to permit completion of pressure build-up tests inaugurated by the bureau prior to the April 1 shutdown.

The Atlantic exception was to permit continuation of water imbibition tests. The tests are designed to increase oil recovery in the area.

The commission had ordered production shut off in the area April 1 until wasteful gas flaring is halted.

Red Romania Joins Russian Pardon Spree

LONDON — (AP) — The Communist government of Soviet satellite Romania issued a sweeping amnesty Saturday night along the lines of the recent decree issued by Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov in Moscow.

In addition to pardoning convicts already serving prison sentences for certain crimes, prosecution will be dropped in Romania for many persons now awaiting trial, the Bucharest radio reported.

Romania is the first Soviet satellite to declare an amnesty since the Malenkov regime made its surprise announcement freeing many short-term prisoners on March 28.

Hope For Oatis, Sanders

Observers here immediately speculated how the new Romania edict might affect the fortunes of Ana Pauker, a former Kremlin favorite who was Romanian foreign minister.

There has been a welter of rumors as to the whereabouts of the woman Communist leader since she was fired last Spring from all her posts in the Romanian government and Communist Party for alleged deviation.

One report said she was about to be brought to trial. Another said she was recovering from a nervous breakdown in Russia.

The Romanian broadcast gave no exact description of crimes for which pardons are being issued.

The decree also touched off quick speculation in London whether other Soviet satellite countries may follow suit.

Notable prisoners in the satellites include Edgar Sanders, British businessman in jail in Hungary, and William N. Oatis, Associated Press correspondent, serving 10 years in Czechoslovakia on spy charges that have been described on this side of the Iron Curtain as trumped up.

F. Norman Hill, president of Capitol Transit Company, said buses can be ridden free from 6:30 a.m. until 1 p.m. Sunday if the customers are going to church.

"If you can't trust people on Easter, then you can't trust them at all," said Hill.

FBI Bags 10 Men In Paintings Theft

CHICAGO —(AP)— A tightening FBI net Saturday night bagged seven men in rapidly developing moves to solve the jigsaw puzzle theft of nine religious paintings believed to be worth a fortune.

In arrests in three cities—Chicago, Cleveland and Farrell, Pa.—the FBI brought to 10 the number held. Two of the men were identified as members of a convicted counterfeiting ring which dumped more than two million dollars in bogus money throughout the Midwest.

Kline Weatherford, special agent in charge of the FBI's Chicago office, said the latest arrests were made at Cleveland. They followed the seizing earlier Saturday of four men—three in Chicago and one in Pennsylvania.

The paintings—three of them attributed to old masters—were stolen from their frames last November 12 in St. Joseph's Cathedralt at Bardstown, Ky., former seat of the Roman Catholic see. They had been presented to the church by King Louis Philippe of France.

All nine painting were recovered Friday with the first arrests in the case.

The canvases, rolled and wrapped in brown wrapping paper, included the "Crowning of the Blessed Virgin," by Murillo (1617-1682), "The Playing of St. Bartholomew," by Rubens (1577-1640), and the "Descent of the Holy Ghost" by Van Eyck (1385-1441).

Bandits And Bullets Shoot Cabbies' Meter Sky High

GALVESTON—(AP)—A quick-thinking cab driver dodged four pistol bullets, then captured two men he said tried to hijack him Saturday.

He cracked one over the head with a heavy lock, snatched his gun, got the drop on the other and called for help on his taxi radio. He was holding the gun on the pair when officers arrived.

Cabbie Joseph Richards, 45, said the man told him to drive to Galveston's West Beach. There, they ordered him to pull over.

As he stopped, Richards turned to look at his fares and saw one of them pointing a pistol at his head.

Charges of attempted armed robbery and assault to murder were filed against William Ronk and James Shea, both of Houston.

Three Children, Adult Drown As Boat Swamps Near Tyler

TYLER—(AP)—A pleasure boat ride for a group of small children ended in tragedy Saturday when four persons drowned after being spilled from a speeding motorboat on a lake near Colfax.

Four other children in the boat were rescued after it capsized on Loves Lake, about 50 miles west of here.

Drowned were John Ryan Allen, 34, Dallas, who was operating the boat; his daughter, Pamela, four and one-half; a niece, Alice Graham, six, Colfax, and Louis Holliman, four, Colfax.

A 16-year-old boy in the boat, Ronald Audry, saved two small girls by grabbing them and holding on to the overturned boat until help arrived. They were his sister, Arnita Audry, 11, and Martha Myrtle Graham, seven.

Another of Ronald's sisters, Martha Mae Audrey, 12, floated to shore on a gasoline can that had been in the boat.

The accident happened about 3:15 p.m.

The Audry boy said the boat had crossed the lake and was preparing to return when it overturned while making a sharp turn at high speed.

The boy said he grabbed Martha Myrtle Graham by her hair and pulled her to the capsized craft. Then he got his sister, Arnita, to the boat. He said the weight of the three kept turning the boat over "but each time I came up I'd get the kids back on the boat."

The three managed to hold on until Tell Holliman, father of the four-year-old drowned boy, and another man reached them.

Mrs Allen said she saw her husband grab a small child, possibly their daughter, Pamela, and start swimming for shore about 200 yards away. She said he got part of the way and then disappeared beneath the water with the child.

The bodies of the three children were recovered shortly afterwards and taken to nearby Canton. A search for Allen's body continued Saturday night.

Three Feared Dead When Boat Explodes, Burns Near Beaumont

BEAUMONT —(AP)— Jefferson County officers were searching the Neches River below Beaumont Saturday night for three men believed to have been in a 23-foot cruiser found burned to the waterline Saturday afternoon.

Elmo Daunie, Beaumont, was believed to have been the boatman. The other two were listed only as Dr. Leroy and Dr. Haltom and described as chemists from Texas A&M College making a water test for a sulphur company.

The boat, rented at a Beaumont boat yard Saturday morning, was seen burning in the river Saturday afternoon and county officers were summoned.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Tommy Grant said there was evidence there had been an explosion aboard the boat. The chemists' car still was at the boat yard here late Saturday night.

Greenwood Ballot Results Delayed

Results in the Greenwood Consolidated School District and County School trustee elections will not be available until Monday, Mrs. Rosenelle Cherry, county clerk, announced.

Since the boxes are scattered, one in Terminal where no telephone service was available immediately, and another in the Amerada Camp in the Spraberry Trend area, it will be Monday before returns are compiled and brought in, she said.

Five trustees were to be elected in the Greenwood Consolidated School District and four unopposed candidates chosen as county school trustees. The election was held Saturday.

Wreckage, Bodies Of Jet Plane Crew Found In Far North

ANCHORAGE, ALASKA —(AP)— Wreckage of an F94B all-weather jet fighter, one of three lost in Alaska this week, was found late Friday atop snow-covered Mount Susitna where it had smashed into a canyon wall.

The pilot and radar observer, only men aboard, were killed outright. Their names have not been released.

The disintegrated jet vanished Thursday on a routine training flight.

Rescue planes also hunted for the F94B piloted by Lt. George Grove of French Creek, W. Va., which vanished Monday on a training flight from Anchorage.

A missing commercial flier, Sherman Krause of the Northern Consolidated Airlines, turned up safely, meantime, after being located at a trapper's cabin to which he had hiked after his plane was forced down Thursday 40 miles away.

The National Geographic Society says balseria, a sport played by Indians in Panama, is one of the world's roughest games.

Easter Brings Calm To Korea War Front

SEOUL —(AP)— Easter came to Korea Sunday on the heels of a pounding scored Saturday by Allied warplanes in strikes all across the peninsula.

Air Force and Marine fighter-bombers smashed Saturday at two Red troop and supply centers and Communist fortifications and supply lines.

Deadly American Sabre jets scored against four MIG's, probably destroying one and damaging three, the Fifth Air Force said.

Ground fighting was at standstill during the daylight hours. But before dawn Saturday American and South Korean infantrymen hurled back four Communist assaults and fought two patrol skirmishes.

Meanwhile, UN Command representatives made final preparations for Monday's start of prisoner exchange talks that could bring an armistice in the 34-month-old Korean War.

PUSHING PIGLETS EAT IN "SHIFTS"—Suspecting that his big Duroc sow has set something of a litter record, Leonard Panek, Parsons, Kan., farmer looks on proudly with his family as mama porker feeds some of her 20 piglets. The litter originally totaled 22, but two died. Ordinary litters run from nine to 12 piglets. Farmer Panek solved one feeding problem by dividing the litter into two "shifts." That way, each baby porker gets "first milk" at every other feeding.

SPORTS PARLEY

By CHARLEY ESKEW

Invariably it happens. Someone selects an all-star team. Someone complains.

And in this case, it's the selection committee which picked the North All-Stars who will play in the annual Texas Coaching School football game (in August). There's a ripple of words flowing now, little murmurs of why-isn't-Hack-the-greatest-back on the squad; and so on.

The noise and the rumble is faint, its being dim is to the credit of Tugboat Jones, Midland coach, who headed the panel of coaches nominating the all-stars.

But what about the complaints?

A sports writer to the North, way up there, has mentioned that only one player came from his area, namely Tackle Buddy Cockrell of Pampa. None others?

Why should there be? Lubbock placed two, End Mike Brady and Tackle Jimmy Gafford, the AAAA Champions being only team with that many making it. Should, then, any one who was trounced by the champs complain that he can rival them with all-stars?

• • • •

Another one, to the West, under a BOOS AND BOUQUET DEPARTMENT tag, thanks Jones and his selectors for naming a player on their local squad and then wonders why (under the BOOS) Ken Vinson, Wink quarterback, wasn't an all-star.

• • •

Vinson, of course, is one of Texas' outstanding players, no doubt about it. But, in a manner, he had two strikes, maybe three, against him when time came for all-star nomination.

First, his school's own division, Class A, gets fewer places, by pro rata, than do larger classifications (as provided by rule from the Texas High School Coaches Association).

And second, Vinson's teammate Dale Dodd, a lineman and also Class A all-starter, was a selection. That makes a difference because it has been precedent to go only to the top team of the state (Lubbock in this case) before two players from the same place ever win the selector's nods. All teams, even those as strong as Breckenridge, Terrell and Wink, naturally suffer in this respect—but doesn't it give balance to the team as far as state-wide selection is concerned?

• • •

That seems to be the purpose, picking a representative team, rather than giving a vote of approval to the press in its annual, and by the score, selection of all-staters.

There are other factors as well in whether a player makes the all-stars. Some would be (1) the type of attack a coach uses in the all-star game, (2) the boy's size, (3) competition from other players for his position, and (4) the strength of letters of recommendation.

• • •

On looking over the North club, it's apparent enough that Jones went to bat for West Texas because of eight Class AAAA picks, six happen to be from District 1-AAAA, the home front; and Dodd, Denver City's Clarence Reed, Lamesa's Alvin Smith, Littlefield's M. C. Northam and Seminole's Jackie Sparks from the immediate vicinity, also were not in the squad.

MHS Golfers Gather Third In A&M Meet

COLLEGE STATION — The Midland Bulldogs golf team put together their finest rounds of the season here Friday and Saturday to capture third place in the Class AA Texas A&M High School Invitational Golf Tournament.

After posting a 621 total Friday to go into the second 36 holes tied with Amarillo, the Bulldogs fell to 651 Saturday. Amarillo totaled 1,221, Kilgore had 1,249 and Midland 1,272.

Marcelino Moreno, of Midland, halfway medalist leader, dropped into a three-way tie with John Farquhar of Amarillo with a 72-hole total of 303. Dan Gruber of Sunset (Dallas) was medalist with 298, and Rex Baxter of Amarillo was runner-up with 301.

Pine Tree was Class B winner. Tom Driskell of St. Thomas (Houston) captured Class A medalist honors with 300 while Richard Parvine of Pine Tree took Class B medalist laurels with the lowest 72-hole total of the entire tournament —292, just 12 strokes over par.

San Marcos was Class A team victor with 1,246.

Palmer Joins Bolt At Top In Azalea Golf

WILMINGTON, N. C. —(AP)—Tommy Bolt remained atop the $10,000 Azalea Open Golf Tournament field for the third straight day Saturday, but for the second day he had company.

While the Maplewood, N. J., professional was matching par 72 of the 6,652-yard Cape Fear Country Club Course, Johnny Palmer, Canadian Open champion from Charlotte, N. C., came charging up to tie him for the 54-hole lead at 207 with a 69 Saturday.

They were only one stroke ahead of three rivals—Francis (Bo) Wininger, Ted Kroll and Jerry Barber going into Sunday afternoon's final round. Kroll shot a hot 66 Saturday, while Wininger posted 70 and Barber 72.

Four more pros were only two shots back of Bolt and Palmer, setting the stage for a whirlwind race to the wire for the $2,000 top money Sunday.

Lloyd Mangrum, Lew Worsham, Doug Ford and Fred Wampler were the quartet locked at 209. Mangrum and Wampler posted 70s Saturday, Ford and Worsham taking 71.

Bulldogs Miss Blue Ribbons As Amarillo Wins In Relays

By ABE WEINER
Reporter-Telegram Sports Staff

BIG SPRING—Old Man Adversity dealt the Midland Bulldogs a reeling blow while fate intervened on behalf of Amarillo, enabling the Golden Sandies to win the American Business Club Relays here Saturday afternoon.

The Bulldogs' wheel of fortune came up black each time they reached into the grab-bag for a lane assignment. Each time the number grabbed was No. 6—the inside lane. And the man running in No. 6 had to run six feet, two inches farther than other participants due to faulty staggering by meet officials, who —in all fairness—believed the distance to be accurately measured.

Amarillo's streak of luck came earlier in the week when pointgetter deluxe Bob Crump turned up with a bad toenail which eventually will have to be removed. Coach Frank Guess had planned to send nine of his stars to the Quarterback Relays at Corpus Christi but ditched the plan at the last moment when Crump became lame.

Thus, the Sandies' full squad was present for the meet, and it performed admirably in overcoming an early Abilene advantage on the final event, the mile relay, to edge the Eagles, 93 1/4 points to 83 3/4.

The meet took odd turns throughout as J. Frank Dougherty of Olton —the man with the story writer's initials (J. Frank Doble)—inserted a story book aspect into the carnival by clipping one-tenth of a second off Joe Childress' 100-yard dash record. Dougherty toured the oval in 9.8 in the semi-finals and then returned for a 21.7 wining effort in the 220-yard dash.

Dougherty Tops

These two performances earned him the distinction of being named the meet's "outstanding performer."

Midland's ignominous showing resulted from drawing lane 6 in the 880-yard relay preliminaries — which kept the Bulldogs from qualifying—the 100-yard dash finals, the 440-yard relay finals, the 440-yard run finals, and two laps of the mile relay.

In addition to the bad lane assignments, the Bulldogs' performances were not up to par. They failed to win an event.

However, Roy Kimsey finished second to Darrell Robbins of Friona in the 440-yard run; Robert Keesling placed sixth in the discus; Roddy Braun won fifth in the 100-yard dash; the 440-yard relay team composed of Dale Jobe, substituting for the injured Jimmy Watson, Bill Mims, Braun and Kimsey finished third; and the mile relay team with the same performers finished second to Amarillo despite a terrific anchor lap by Kimsey. Midland tied for seventh in the team standings.

Five records in all were established. Winton Thomas of Abilene went over the pole vault bar at 12-4 to break the 11-4 standard set by Isaacs of Amarillo and Davis of Lubbock.

Phillips shared in the record-breaking by shattering the shuttle hurdles relay mark of 44.4 by blazing the distance in 43.2.

Earlier, Joe Irving of Amarillo had tossed the discus 158-8 1/2 to break Jimmy Samuelson's mark of 152-6 1/2.

And Snyder completed the record-breaking by dashing out a 3:43.1 in the medley mile relay. The old record of 3:47.6 was held by Amarillo.

Ranchland Champs Prep For Tourney

A forthcoming city-wide challenge to their supremacy on Ranchland Hill Country Club Course has Bob Wortman, Kit Carson and Red Watkins busy with their games on their home layout these days.

They're former Ranchland club titlists who are entering the Reporter-Telegram City Championship Tournament, the first ever scheduled to decide the actual, under-fire best golfer in Midland.

The 1953 city tourney, set for April 20-May 3, will be played over the threesome's home course, Ranchland, and next year moved to the Midland Country Club layout. However, if these players hold an advantage this time, it hardly shows.

Pro Abe Beckman, who along with MCC Pro Boyd Huff will act as tourney directors, said Saturday that Wortman, Carson and Watkins were playing at least two rounds during each week besides practice sessions and their regular weekend games.

There's even a real rivalry among these for Ranchland honors: Wortman, the club titlist in 1950, was back to be runner-up when Red Watkins won last year's championship. Carson, the '51 champ, provides the power, for he's considered the longest hitter of the club. Then, Wortman has posted an enviable 68 on the par-72 course, considered the record among the Ranchland amateurs.

Anyone entering the city tourney will have these to answer to before taking off the medalist prize or the city championship.

Qualifying begins April 20 and ends April 26, when the medalist role will be decided. The matches run May 1-3.

Midland Country Clubbers Prep For First Golf Action

Golfer-members of Midland Country Club—about 150 in all—end their thirsting for tournament action this week in a two-day meet based on medal scores.

It's the Get Acquainted Tournament set for Friday and Saturday which the tourney committee, headed by Skeet Meadows, has labeled as the club's "season opener."

Later this Summer, the club plans two women's tournaments, two for men and two competitions for players qualifying in United States Golf Association sectionals.

A conservative roster of entries, figured for this week's play—over the 18-hole North course—par 72—would include about 150 names, for the tourney leaders have estimated that just about every golfer-member will participate.

A notable exception, however, is Bob French, club member from Odessa who won the MCC Invitational in 1951. French, one of West Texas' foremost shotmakers, has a bid to compete in the exclusive Houston Invitational next week-end.

LOPAT STINGY

ATLANTA —(AP)— Eddie Lopat demonstrated that he will be available for early duty in the American League race when he hurled six scoreless innings as the New York Yankees topped Atlanta, 8-2.

Another champion, Van Ligon, club titlist in 1952, is expected at the head of the Get Acquainted field.

The tourney committee — Meadows, Roger Evans and Fred Hogan—set down the outline for the "opener" Saturday. It's for any male member over 18 years old with champions to be decided after two 18-hole rounds.

Friday, the first day of play, an entry's 18-hole score will determine which flight he is in, then that first-day card and Saturday's will determine his final position in the flight.

The committee so far has not announced if flights would be of 16 or 32 players, leaving that to be determined by the number of entries. The entry fee is $2.

MHS FINISHES SEV ENTH—

Clyde Netmen Win Tourney

ABILENE — Little Clyde High, home of champions in schoolboy tennis, dominated a dozen teams here Saturday to win the Abilene High School tennis invitational tournament.

Midland lost all but four of its entries in first round play and wound up seventh with five points. Clyde, which has but one individual champion, scored 31 points, Amarillo 24 and Wichita Falls 21.

The girls doubles team of Dot Black-Carolyn Faris did Midland's best by beating Pyote's Griffin-Corsey, 6-4, 6-1, and Wichita Falls' Carol Glidewell-Connie McCarty, 10-8, 6-2, before losing a semi-final bout, 6-2, 6-1, to Amarillo's Ginger Owens and Althea Jacobsen.

Midland's Murray sisters, Janna and Wanda, beat Jerry Sessums and Bootsie Cook of Sweetwater, only to bow to the eventual winners, Harlene McGaugh-Betty Rogers of Clyde, 6-4, 6-4.

Singles star Ellen DeChicchis of Midland also gained the quarterfinals, edging Barbara Hale of Big Spring, 6-3, 6-2, before losing to Clyde's Barbara Driggers, 6-1, 6-1.

In Midland's boys play, John McGuigan lost to Terrell Hopkins of Abilene, 6-1, 6-0; John Galle fell before Mike Gibson of Snyder, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3; the doubles team of Clayton Tatom-Bill Vandeventer lost to R. I. Montgomery-John Cain of Sweetwater, 6-2, 6-3, and Johnny Godwin-Jimmy Garvin lost to George Payne-Jimmy Harvey of Wichita Falls, 6-2, 6-0, all first round matches.

The finals saw Billy Ed Gowan of Wichita Falls beat David Kent, Amarillo, 6-3, 6-1, 6-3; Payne-Harvey defeated Don Spenssaf-Terry Smith of Amarillo, 4-6, 8-6, 6-3 in boys play.

And in girls, Sharon Stubbs of Amarillo beat Betsy Ross, Sonora, 6-1, 6-1, and McGaugh-Rogers beat Owens-Jacobsen, 7-9, 6-3, 6-3.

Midland Colts Open 1953 Season Sunday

The Midland Colts take the cover off their 1953 baseball campaign at 3 p.m. Sunday at Indian Park against the Alpine Internationals.

Last year the Internationals handed the Colts three successive setbacks, but Manager C. B. Nunez has indicated things may be different this year.

Nunez says he has adequate hurling to go along with the rest of his well-balanced club and that Alpine had better beware.

Pecos Nine Begins With Barstow Stars

PECOS—The Pecos All Stars, co-managed by J. T. LaBaume and Dr. I. G. Lunday, open their 1953 season against the Barstow Stars on Lions Field here Sunday.

The All Stars will use Curtis Johnson, Pecos negro, pitching and Joe Tarantino, catching. For Barstow, the battery will be John Garcia throwing to D. A. Garcia.

Last year, the All Stars lost only three games and have the same members back with the exception of Dennis Card.

HIT BATTERS PROVIDE 5-4 PAY-OFF--

Austin Shades Tribe In Tenth

AUSTIN—Midland's Indians put a loss on their record alongside a "rave" notice in their clippings Saturday when they returned to Fredericksburg, their training base, and a Sunday game with the Borger Gassers.

Two uncontrolled pitches in an extra-inning on the day before meant the difference when Midland lost, 5-4, to Austin's Class B Pioneers. It was Ralph Blair, otherwise holding Austin under his thumb, who hit two batters in the tenth inning and handed out the verdict.

Until then, however, an Austin writer acclaimed Midland as one of the best to play in Disch Field this Spring, a Pioneer official wondered about the price tag on Second Baseman Roger Della Betta, a leading hitter and sharp fielder, and the whole park thought Eddie Jacome was perhaps the best fielding pitcher they've seen this season.

Midland, too, spoiled lefty Roger May's pitching bid for a complete game and embarassed the Poneers, the Big State League's Team - to-Beat, at bat.

With its lead-off men showing how, Midland smashed 14 hits to Austin's nine. First man up, Della Betta, collected three singles, second man Scooter Hughes four, the most, and clean-up Bill Brown got two singles and a double.

They paid off early, the top two greeting May with singles. Julio de la Torre pushed them up with a fly-out and Brown drove Della Betta home with another fly-out. Hughes counted on Hayden Whit's single through the box. That, though, was the last time in eight innings for Midland to score, despite a bounty of hits and 11 stranded runners over all.

SCOOTER HUGHES
. . . Four singles.

Austin, which hit Jacome for seven hits in six innings, earned a run in the first on Russ Mays' walk and a double by Billy Ashley, who hit three for three all told.

Jacome yielded the lead, 3-2, in the third as Al Jenkins singled and stole second, Mays doubled and Billy Ashley provided the go-ahead run with a one-bagger.

One of three Midland errors cost a fourth run, in the fifth, after two outs. May doubled and sat on third following an infield out, then raced home when Hughes' wild throw pulled the first baseman, Milt Wallendorf, off the bag.

Midland's top of the order ended May's good fortune in the ninth and tied the score with two runs. Gordon Tanner and Blair, who started hurling in the seventh, grounded out to bring up the lead-off batter, Della Betta, who singled. Hughes followed in the same manner and De la Torre beat out an infield hit, filling the bases.

Brown next routed May with a two-run double that screamed into right-center field and tied the score. Austin reliever George Socha, however, came on to fan pinch-hitter Art Bowland.

Neither team threatened the next two one-half innings.

Blair, yielding but a hit in three frames, gave up a second one with two outs in the bottom of the tenth, and that one, by Mays, went for a double when Right Fielder Brown tried to make a shoe string catch of it

Ashley, next up, was purposely walked but Blair's strategy boomerranged on his next pitch—one hitting Ken Mapes to fill the bases.

The Midland hurler rallied to put across two strikes on Don Mason, all for naught. He unleashed another bad toss and hit the Pioneer in the back the deciding run moving home on the force.

Sports, Birds Get Line-Ups In Top Shape

(Part of a series by the Associated Press)

SHREVEPORT:

With a few reservations dealing mostly with pitchers, Mickey Livingston has picked the Shreveport team that will go into the 1953 Texas League race as defending champion.

Two players who reported three weeks late made the Shreveport varsity without a contest. They were Third Baseman Jim Ackeret (.221) and Outfielder Harry Heslet, who hit .283 last season for San Antonio, led the league in homers with 31 and drove in 117 runs.

Infield companions of Ackeret will be Chico Garcia (.277) at second, John Jones (.329, Monroe) at first and Joe Koppe (.237) at short.

With Heslet tabbed for right field, the rest of the picket line will go this way: Joe Szekely (.301), in left; Les Layton (.243, Los Angeles), center; with Howard Martin (.309, Texarkana) as the spare.

Livingston (.274) will catch unless youngster backstops permit the skipper to retire. Behind him are J. W. Jones (.247) and Jim Martin, just out of the Army.

Four pitching veterans are back with Hugh Sooter (13-12) and Bill Tremel (10-2) looking the best. The others are Bud Lively (13-12) and Claude White (3-12).

DALLAS:

"The greatest ball club ever assembled in the Texas League."

That is what the Dallas baseball club officials are hinting about their 1953 club, and such teams as Oklahoma City, Beaumont and Houston, who have faced the Eagles, are willing to concede that owner Dick Burnett has a powerful aggregation to represent Big D.

As for being the gratest ball club ever assembled in the legue, that's to be doubted.

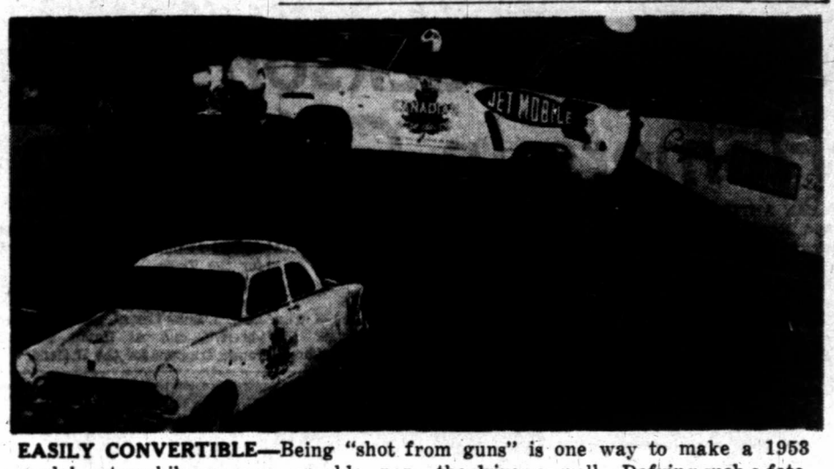

First off, the mound staff is questionable. Wayne McLeland and Howard Anderson are the only sure-fire starters. Hoot Gibson and Pete Mazar will be around for relief work. That leaves four spots to be filled.

Jose Santiago may be back, with Jim Souchecki added.

Aside from pitching, the Eagles do look potent. Phil Masi should be the class of the league behind the plate, and he has Bob Bareford and Rafael Hernandez, classy looking youngsters, working with him.

The infield will be composed of Ben Taylor, former Fort Worth star, at first; Bob Bundy, another ex-Cat and last season the spark-plug of the Eagles, at second; and Buzz Clarkson, big negro, at third. Al Stringer will be back at short and leaves little to be desired. Hernan Gomez is the utility man.

The outfield also appears set, with Willie Brown, the hard-clubbing negro, in left; Eddie Knoblauch, the old reliable, in center, and either Wilcy Moore or Wes Gibson in right.

EASILY CONVERTIBLE—Being "shot from guns" is one way to make a 1958 model automobile go snap, crackle, pop—the driver as well. Defying such a fate, however, is Bobo Canup's part of the 28-event show when the Canadian Congress of Daredevils perform Monday at the Midland Racedrome on the Garden City Highway. The performance begins at 8 p.m.

Driver Plans Stunt With One Arm After Two Wouldn't Do

The two-hour automobile stunt show to be put on by the Canadian Congress of Daredevils at the new Midland Racedrome Monday night has one performer who claims he's as good with one arm as with two.

Bobo Canup, who turns the show's top trick of riding the wheel when his car is fired more than 80 feet by a cannon, suffered a broken arm in Beaumont recently while performing the stunt.

Despite being a loser with two hands on the wheel, Canup this week told Midland promoter Woody Woodard he intends to drive here at 8 p.m. Monday and spell second-team Lucky Carl in the "rocket car leap."

Monday's show runs 28 stunts long, with the racers-stuntmen banging, crashing and smashing 1953 model sedans, convertibles and motorcycles with the abandon of a millionaire's wife.

Drivers in the show are Ellis (Buttercup) Pierce, Jack Darbison, Johnny Thompson, Suicide Smith, Singing Sammy and others.

Six TL Nines Plan Openers For April 9

DALLAS —(AP)— The Texas League opens Thursday with what is considered the strongest field since the war.

It will break from the barrier a day earlier than usual — all because of a fight and that was postponed.

The schedule called for the race to open April 10 but when the Rocky Marciano-Joe Walcott heavyweight championship fight was set for that night, six clubs decided they'd start April 9 rather than buck the nationally televised boxing show. They were Fort Worth at Dallas, Shreveport at Houston and Oklahoma City at Tulsa. San Antonio and Beaumont decided to go ahead April 10 as there would be no television in the Beaumont area April 10 anyway.

The fight was postponed until May 15, on Thursday.

President J. Alvin Gardner has said Houston, Fort Worth and Dallas appeared to be the top clubs.

Tide Water Becomes Leader In Petroleum Bowling Loop

For the first time in three and a half months, Superior Oil Company bowlers feel the insecurity of second place in games won in the Petroleum Bowling League race.

Superior held the top mark but hard-pressing Tide-Water Oil took the top spot when the Superior was blanked in three games with Stuart Photo Print. Tide Water put down Axelson Manufacturing, 3-0.

Tide Water has a good chance of staying on top this week, meeting sixteenth place Ohio Oil while Superior faces eleventh pice Honolulu Oil Thursday night.

Others contending this week are Union Oil vs. Midland Geophysical, West End Magnolia vs. Al Boring, Drillers Products vs. Seaboard Oil, Standard Oil vs. Axelson Manufacturing, Phillips 66 vs. West Texas Reproduction Company, Rotary Engineers vs. Stuart Photo Print, Core Lab vs. Tex-Harvey Oil and American Trading vs. State Exploration.

American Trading last week rolled its best game and best series of the year, 951 and 2,714, respectively, and each copped honors.

W. Phelan's 554 series and his 221 game led individuals.

Other results last week:

Phillips 66 beat Tex-Harvey, American Trading stopped Al Boring, Ohio Oil clipped Seaboard Oil and West Texas Reproduction won over Standard Oil of Texas, all by two games to one.

In sweeping three games, Midland Geophysical beat State Exploration, Union Oil stopped Rotary Engineers, Drillers Products put down Core Lab and West End Magnolia beat Honolulu Oil.

HANDICAP AFFAIR—

Bowling Tourney Assured Big Field

The Midland City Bowling Association is preparing for its biggest tournament in years, Secretary Berte Haigh revealed Saturday.

More entries have already been received than ever before for the 1952-53 Annual City Championships Tournament to be held at Plamor Lanes April 11-12 and April 17-18.

Last year, Haigh said, there were 20 five-man teams, 40 doubles teams, 69 singles entries and 62 all-events entries. This has increased to 24 five-man teams, 49 doubles teams, 80 singles entries and 70 all-events entries this year.

Although Scharbauer Hotel will not defend its team championship nor J. M. Speede his singles title, the tournament will not suffer, Haigh said.

He explained that the tournament is a handicap affair whereby a low-scoring participant actually has a better chance of winning than a high-scoring bowler—providing he is "hot."

The all-events victor last year, Bob Workman, and Kenny Jastrow and Workmen, who formed the winning doubles combination, have indicated they will be back to defend their crowns.

Entries in the tournament are limited to those bowlers who are members of the association or who have been participating with the sanctioned teams which are entered, providing they were members of the teams prior to March 15 and have established handicaps.

The tournament is sanctioned and required by the American Bowling Congress, Haigh said. By "required," he means the association must hold a tournament in order for its members to be eligible to compete in tournaments in other cities.

16 Schools Enter 65 Fighters In Tourney

POCATELLO, IDAHO —(AP)— At least 11 fighters will risk perfect ring records as they battle in a field of nearly 70 in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's boxing tournament here this week.

Sixteen schools have entered 65 boxers with more expected before the battling starts Thursday. Elimination bouts Thursday afternoon and evening will pare the total of 36—four for each weight class.

Semi-finals Friday night will leave just 18 in the lists for the Saturday night championships.

Colonial Invitational Has 27 Pros On List

FORT WORTH —(AP)— Twenty-seven golfers—including some top money-winners—have accepted invitations to play in the $25,000 Colonial National Invitation Tournament May 20-24.

The acceptances: Jerry Barber, Al Besselink, Tommy Bolt, Jimmy Clark, Charles Coe, Jimmy Demaret, Dave Douglas, Jim Ferrier, Doug Ford, Marty Furgol, Ray Gafford, Bob Hamilton, Chandler Harper, E. J. Harrison, Clayton Heafner, Ben Hogan, Ted Kroll, Lloyd Mangrum, Cary Middlecoff, Bill Nary, Byron Nelson, Ed Oliver, John Palmer, Robert Riegel, Jack Shields, Earl Stewart, Jr., and Harry Todd.

Douglas, Heafner and Riegel have accepted tentatively.

North Carolina U played its first varsity baseball game in 1897. Their foes were North Carolina State. The Tar Heels won, 34-17.

Snead Confronts Jinx, Top Field In Bid For Masters

AUGUSTA, GA.—(AP)—Sam Snead will defend his title against golfdom's greatest when the annual Masters Tournament starts Thursday.

Snead, hoping for a third victory to match the record of Jimmy Demaret, passed up the current Azalea Open at Wilmington, N. C., to get ready for the 72-hole grind over the 6,800-yard Augusta National Golf Club course.

He must buck precedent, as well as the terrific pressure such a select field generates, in seeking this year's crown. No golfer ever has won two succesive Masters since the tournament began in 1934.

Several foreign stars are in the field.

Peter Thompson, 23, Australian flash who was runner-up to Bobby Locke in the 1952 British Open, already is on the scene. Ricardo Rossi, 24, ace from Brazil, is enroute.

$25,000 On Line

Picking a winner would be difficult but there are definite favorites. Snead is among those considered most likely to walk off with the biggest hunk of prize money, which will total more than $25,000.

A lot of folk think Lloyd Mangrum is overdue.

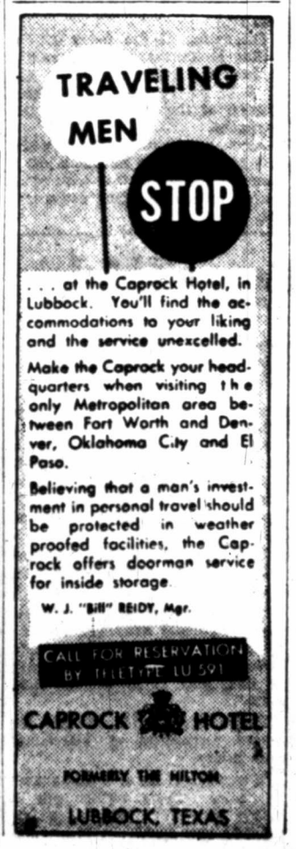

Other top-drawer entries include Ben Hogan, Cary Middlecoff, Tommy Bolt, Lew Worsham, Jack Burke, Jr., Ted Kroll, Jim Ferrier, Doug Ford and Chandler Harper.

No amateur ever has won the Masters. The best effort so far came in 1947 when Frank Stranahan tied for second. Stranahan, Harvie Ward, 1952 British Amateur champion, and Jack Westland, 1952 U. S. Amateur titlist, give the simonpures a strong representation.

Serena, Jackson Rap Homers In Cubs' Win

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—Bill Serena and Randy Jackson provided the victory margin with home runs as the Chicago Cubs downed the St. Louis Browns Saturday, 7-5.

Serena's home run, his fourth this Spring, broke a tie in the eighth and Jackson's followed. Both homers were off Mel Held, who relieved Brownie starter Don Larsen in the sixth.

Jim Dyck hit a home run for the Browns.

The Cubs now have won five games and the Browns six in the series between the two clubs.

BRAVES STOP BROOKS

CHATTANOOGA —(AP)— The Milwaukee Braves scored six runs in the fifth to overcome the Dodgers, 9-8 Saturday. It was the Braves' third win of the series, with Brooklyn having won five.

Blasting Jim Wilson for four runs in the second as Rube Walker and Duke Snider hit homers, the Dodgers opened up a 7-3 lead for John Podres. The youthful southpaw, who didn't permit an earned run in 24 innings until Saturday, was knocked out in the fifth when the Braves scored a run on two singles and as many walks.

CARDS RAMPAGE

HOUSTON—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals came up with two six-run innings to crush their Houston farmhands, 13-6, in the Redbirds' fourth straight victory over minor league opposition.

Bunching 11 of their 15 hits in the third and fourth frames, the Cardinals batted around against right-handers Bob Clear and Gary Blaylock.

First baseman Steve Bilko led the attack with a home run and double, driving in three runs.

DALLAS LOSE TO SOX

DALLAS—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox hammered 13 hits, one a homer by Sam Mele, to trounce Dallas of the Texas League, 9-5.

Mele clubbed his homer in the fourth to score Jim Rivera, who had walked. The runs gave the Sox a 4-0 bulge. When pitcher Saul Rogovin went out after seven innings the edge was 8-2.

GOODMAN PACES BOSOX

BIRMINGHAM—(AP)—Billy Goodman's grand slam home run in the eighth powered the Boston Red Sox to a 6-3 victory over the Birmingham Barons of the Southern Association.

The Sox, blanked for six innings by left-hander Fred Robbins, were still scoreless when Goodman hammered his almost 400-foot drive into the right bleachers off right-hander Clarence Ziesen.

SENS STOP REDS

COLUMBIA S. C. —(AP)— A dazzling running catch by Jackie Jensen in deep right center knocked the Cincinnati Reds out of two runs and gave the Washington Senators a 3-2 baseball victory.

Right Fielder Jensen's eighth-inning stab was one of two high points in a closely played game. The other came in the second when Wayne Terwilliger clouted one out of the park one on.

GIANTS SLAM INDIANS

WICHITA FALLS —(AP)— The New York Giants outslugged the Cleveland Indians, 14-12, in a three-hour marathon.

In making it two in a row, the Giants slammed out 18 hits to 14 for the Tribe.

Bobby Hofman, Whitey Lockman and Monte Irvin homered for the Giants. Luke Easter, who went four-or-five, and Al Rosen slammed round trippers for the Indians.

National Amateur Qualifying Slated Here September 1

Add three more dates—June 1, June 20, and September 1—to your West Texas golfing calendar if you are a junior, for one tourney, or of any age, for two others, who aspire to national honors.

Fred Hogan of Midland, sectional representative of the United States Golf Association, announced the three qualifying dates for West Texans who hope to contend for the National Amateur, the National Open and the National Junior Amateur golf championships.

One of the three, sectional qualifying for the National Amateur, will be conducted by Hogan over the Midland Country Club course—and it comes at an opportune time, September 1.

That date enables top flight shotmakers to vacation 10 golf-playing days in Midland, first to enter the sectional qualifying and then to stay for the September 3-7 Midland Country Club invitational.

Two days in advance of the Amateur qualifying, the MCC's North Course (par 72) will be reserved for competitors to take practice rounds.

Entry fee, Hogan said, is $10, with the golfers playing in 36 holes of medal play. The leaders then are qualified to enter the National tournament at Oklahoma City's Golf and Country Club September 14-19.

The number from West Texas' section entered in Oklahoma City will be determined by how many compete here.

Hogan said the other two dates were for sectional qualifying for the National Open June 1 on the Lubbock Country Club layout and for the National Junior Amateur June 20 at Hobbs Country Club. The Open championship will be held at Oakmont, Pa., Country Club, June 11-13, while the Junior Amateur is at Southern Hills, Tulsa, Okla., June 29 - August 1.

Hogan is a member of both the USGA Junior Championship committee and the USGA Sectional Affairs committee.

Bartzen-Patty Duo Advance To Finals

MONTE CARLO —(AP) —Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode, Alameda, Calif. recovered after a slow start to trounce Joan Curry, Britain, 9-7, 6-0 Saturday and advance to the finals of the Monte Carlo International Tennis Tournament.

The British girl came back to team up with Patricia Ward of Britain and win the Iliffe Trophy for women's doubles with a 2-6, 6-3, 6-1 victory over their countrywomen, Susan Partridge and Anna Schilcock.

Budge Patty, Los Angeles, and Jean-Noel Grinda, a young French player, reached the semi-finals of the men's doubles by downing Robert Haillet and Henri Pellizza of France, 11-9, 6-3. Patty, teamed with Bernard Bartzen, San Angleo, Texas, also is in the finals of the Butler trophy doubles, which is similar to the Iliffe Trophy competition for women.

Patty and Bartzen will play the final Sunday against the Belgian team of Philippe Washer and Jacques Brichant.

In the regular doubles competition, Bartzen and Washer scored an exciting victory over Jaroslav Drobny and Ladislaw Echt, the self, exiled Czechs, 6-1, 8-6.

Drobny, one of the world's best tennis players, led the way as the exiles gained a 5-2 lead in the second set after a weak first set.

At this point, however, the pair lost their touch again and Bartzen and Washer came on to win six of the last seven games.

Illini Beat Pokes In Southern Meet

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—(AP)—Records were broken all over the place Saturday as Illinois' Big Ten champions outlasted Michigan and Oklahoma A&M to take the unofficial team title in the Southern Relays.

The Illini grabbed the two-mile and 440-yard relay titles, plus a one-two finish in the 120-yard high hurdles, and numerous points in other events.

An unofficial tabulation of team points, with 12 points in relay races and nine in individual events, gave these totals for the leaders:

Illinois 32 7-12; Oklahoma A&M 26; Michigan 24 1 4; Cornell 14; Florida 14.

Joe McNulty, Illinois, set a record in the high hurdles at 14.1, erasing the old mark set by Fleming of Notre Dame in 1949.

The two-mile relay team also cracked that record, with a mark of 7:41.7, beating the mark of 7:43.8 set by Yale in 1950.

Florida's Papa Hall broke the meet high jump mark with a leap of six feet, eight and three-eighths for one of the day's top jobs. The old record of six feet, six and three-eighths was set by Neff of Tennessee two years ago.

Other records broken during the day included the half mile relay, won by Cornell in 1:27.6 to erase the 1:27.8 set by LSU in 1951, and a 9:28.6 two-mile run by Frederick Eckhoff of Oklahoma A&M, beating the old mark of 9:40.7 by Hart of Pennsylvania.

Paul Wells of the Oklahoma Aggies tied the 9.6 record for the 100-yard dash set by Paul Bienz of Tulane in 1949.

Second place in the high jump went to Elmo Branch, Mississippi State, at 6-5 1 4. There was a four-way tie for third between Les Vanover, Abilene Christian; R. Richardson, Bradley; James Wham, Illinois, and Nilt Mead, Michigan, at 6-3 1 2.

The sprint medley relay was won by Oklahoma A&M with a time of 7:27.2. Illinois was second and North Texas State was third.

Paula Myers Ousts AAU Diving Champ

DAYTONA BEACH, FLA. —(AP)— Mrs. Pat McCormick, world's foremost woman diver, was dethroned in the National AAU Women's Indoor Swimming and Diving Meet Saturday.

She hit the board earlier in the day while trying an intricate dive and lost 55 points.

Paula Jean Meyers, 18, Covina, Calif., teammate of Mrs. McCormick on the Los Angeles Athletic Club Swim Team and runner-up to her in the Nationals and Olympics last year, took the diving crown with a point total of 507.45. Mrs. McCormick placed third with 483.25.

As the three day- event ended, Walter Reed Hospital team, Washington, D. C., topped team standings with 62; and Carolyn Green, Ft. Lauderdale Swim Assn., led individuals with 18 points.

The other highlight of the final day was the swimming of Gail Peters, 22, who retained her 100-yard breaststroke title; placed fifth in the 250-yard freestyle and then swam the breaststroke to lead her Walter Reed Hospital team to victory in the 300-yard medley relay.

The dive that killed Mrs. McCormick's chance to retain her title was a difficult specialty: a half gainer with a half twist forward one and a half somersault in pike position.

She apparently took off a little too far back on the diving board and didn't get enough loft. She hit both legs as she came down, ruining the dive completely. It put her in fifth place but she climbed back to third in the afternoon finals.

Macera, Gypsy Joe In Odessa Bout

ODESSA—The main event at the Electric Street Arena Monday will be a bout between wrestlers Luigi Macera and Gypsy Joe, Pat O'Dowdy, promoter, said Saturday.

Macera and Gypsy Joe will strain under a one-hour time limit with the winner taking the tussle with two out of three falls.

A twenty-minute limit preliminary will feature a one-fall match between John Henning and Billy Weidner.

The semi-final event will find Bob Cummings and Johnny James tangling in a two out of three falls —45-minute time limit battle.

Midland Roughs Slate Broncs Of Longhorn Loop For Start

The Midland Roughnecks a team which looks more pro than semi-pro but calls itself the latter, moves into Class C competition for its first baseball game of the year.

L. C. Cobb of the Roughnecks said Saturday Midland's team would play the Big Spring Broncs of the Longhorn League in its first game. The encounter, he said, is slated at 8 p.m. in Big Spring Tuesday night.

The Roughnecks, who still seek ballplayers, almost to a man are veterans of long pro baseball experience who have but recently quit the play for pay circuit and settled hereabouts.

Cobb said the early roster can provide for a complete ex-professional starting team, most of whom Midlanders have seen play either for the Indians or with visiting pro teams.

So far, only Dee Bevins, who played for Midland High and Marine teams, is the only player listed who hasn't a background of pro ball. He recently was discharged from service.

Cobb said this probably would be the starting lineup against Hack Miller's Longhorn club Tuesday: Catcher Al Allison; Pitcher John Olson, along with Ernie Nelson Leon (Hook) Hayes, and Ralph Easterwood, First Baseman Bernard Selle, Second Baseman Eddie Melillo, Third Baseman Frank McAlexander, Shortstop Joe King and Outfielders Bob Nipp, Rob Hillin and John Howard.

Others who will go to Big Spring are Cobb, Bevins and Bob Dulaney.

The team leaves little to desire as far as talent goes, Cobb, for instance, saw duty with New York of the National League, and Easterwood with Chicago of the American.

Allison played once with Mobile, Hayes with Oklahoma City, Selle with Nashville, Howard with Fort Smith, Ark., McAlexander with Corpus Christi and King with Waco.

The others, also, got into pro ball at least as high as the Longhorn League—Melillo becoming a Longhorn all-star second baseman while playing with the Indians.

Walcott's Manager Thinks Title Fight May Be Moved

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Felix Bocchicchio, manager of former heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott, said Saturday he doesn't believe Walcott's postponed title fight with Champion Rocky Marciano will be held in Chicago May 15 as now scheduled.

Bocchicchio said he plans to ask the International Boxing Club for a $250,000 guarantee purse for his fighter because "I want to be sure we get our money." He added:

"I don't think the fight will come off on May 15."

Asked for his reasons for that belief, Bocchicchio said he just felt that way.

"This fight doesn't belong in Chicago anyway," he said. "I told that to Jim Norris (IBC president) when he put it in there. I'm sure we could draw a lot better in the East."

The Marciano-Walcott return title fight, originally scheduled for April 10, was set back to the May 15 date when it was announced that Marciano had sustained a nose injury in training. Walcott, then in Chicago for his final drills and appearances to boost ticket sales, returned to his home in nearby Camden, N. J.

In Chicago, Norris issued an immediate denial. He declared in a statement:

"Despite reports to the contrary, the heavyweight title fight between Champion Rocky Marciano and Jersey Joe Walcott absolutely will be held May 15 in Chicago Stadium."

Bocchicchio scoffed at the reported seriousness of Marciano's nose injury.

"I won't go along with that story," he said. "Every fighter gets a bloody nose when he's hit a few times in that spot."

SPRING WANDERLUST—With a sackful of supplies and a roadmap, little Robert Vukovich, who's not quite three years old, let spring get the best of him and set out for a journey on his trusty tricycle. Cleveland, Ohio, police searched for several hours before Bobby was found by an uncle.

Oklahoman Bob Kerr Warns Against Red Peace Feelers

SPRINGFIELD, MO. —(AP)— Senator Robert Kerr of Oklahoma warned Saturday night against the American people being fooled "by these so-called peace feelers" from the Kremlin.

He cited instances of previous peace feelers, and then taking a quotation from the late Russian premier, said:

"Let us remind ourselves of the stern warning of the words of none other than Joseph Stalin when he said: 'Our preparations for war are conducted under cover of paeans hymns of peace.'"

The Oklahoma senator made the remarks in an address prepared for the Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner of Missouri Democrats.

"I know there are those who would permit themselves to be lulled into a false sense of security by the present so-called peace offensive from the Kremlin," he said.

"But I remind you that it was the same voice from the Kremlin two long years ago that suggested negotiations for an armistice in Korea. Yet it was the same voice from the same Kremlin that has vetoed their negotiations each time a possible settlement was in sight."

Bill Approving Pay For Kin Of Captured Servicemen Signed

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Pay checks and family allotments can continue for more than 11,000 American missing in action or prisoners of the Communists in Korea under a bill signed Saturday by President Eisenhower.

The legislation extends from April 1 to next February 1 the "Missing Persons Act" which has operated since the start of World War II.

Prior to then the pay and allotments of military personnel ended after a brief time, if they were captured or missing in action. This was on the presumption that they were dead.

Congress, however, passed the broad authority to continue this pay and it has been extended periodically. The family allotments continue as usual and the paychecks are held for the missing men. In needy cases, the secretaries of the armed services have broad authority to give the paychecks themselves to the family.

The Defense Department representatives have testified that more than 11,000 men and officers now are listed as captives or missing as a result of the Korean War. Payments to them amount to about 20 million dollars a year.

Woman Found Dead In Houston Called Stomping Victim

HOUSTON —(AP)— An autopsy report Saturday indicated a 34-year-old woman whose battered body was found here Friday night was stomped to death by a bare-footed killer.

Dr. W. W. Coulter, county pathologist, said an autopsy on the body of Mrs. Loveta Fern Wolf showed 16 ribs broken.

"The bruises were so slight you have to look twice to see them," Coulter said. "My theory is the killer took off his shoes before stomping her to death."

The body was found in a small shack behind a Houston barbecue stand. Police said Mrs. Wolf had been married five times.

Pre-Easter Shopping Keeps Midland Shops Buzzing On Saturday

The Easter shoppers were out en masse in downtown Midland Saturday—rushing most stores in a last-minute shopping spree for bonnets, frilly dresses and the accessories which go to make up milady's Easter attire.

Traffic—both street and sidewalk—was at congested proportions throughout the day, and patrolmen were on duty to keep it moving.

Saturday appeared to be Midland's busiest shopping day of the year, as men, women and children from other Permian Basin Empire cities joined Midlanders in keeping the cash registers ringing in the busy business establishments.

Store managers were too busy to even estimate the volume of sales, but it seemed certain new records would be established in many instances.

"It was the fastest and busiest day we have had since before Christmas," one merchant declared. "I sold more hats Saturday than ever before."

Situations were similar in most Midland stores as Permian Basin Empire residents got ready for Easter.

U. S. Helps India Find Water Sources

NEW DELHI —(AP)— The United States is contributing $4,500,000 and India $2,500,000 toward a survey of the country's ground water resource.

The money was allocated from U. S. technical assistance funds announced last November.

The properties of crude oils produced in West Texas fields vary widely, according to a report released by the Bureau of Mines, Department of the Interior.

Analyses of 100 crude oils from 71 fields in West Texas are presented in the report. The analyses represent fields which produced approximately 250,000,000 barrels of crude oil during 1952. The analyses were made by the bureau's routine methods on samples collected during the period of 1948 through 1951.

The report was prepared by E. L. Garton, analytical chemist, and C. M. McKinney, chemical engineer, at the Bartlesville station.

By providing information on the kinds and amounts of petroleum products that can be obtained from oils from specific fields, the bureau's analyses perform an important service to the petroleum industry.

Included in the report are data on crude oil samples from two recent major developments in West Texas—the Scurry Reef reservoir in Scurry and adjacent counties and the Spraberry sand area of the Midland Basin. Also given are production data, year of discovery, name, age, depth and characteristics of the producing zones for most of the West Texas fields covered in the report.

Some of the differences in the properties of the various crude oils ananlyzed include sulfur content, ranging from less than 0.1 to 2.79, gravities from 72.4 to 20.2 degrees, and Saybolt viscosities from 32 to 290 seconds at 100 degrees Farenheit.

Supplementing the text are a map of the area represented by the crude oil samples analysed and a list of previous publications containing West Texas crude oil analyses.

A free copy of the Bureau of Mines Report of Investigations 4959, "Analyses of Crude Oils from Some West Texas Fields, 11. Additional Analyses," may be obtained from the Bureau of Mines Publications Distribution Section, 4800 Forbes Street, Pittsburgh, Pa. When ordering the report, identify it by both number and title.

Jack E. Bliss of Rotary Engineering Company, Midland, received the following story clipped from the Greeley Tribune, Greeley, Colo., from his family in that city.

"Oil Makes Midland Boom Town of Texas" is how the news story was headed.

"Greeley Tribune has received a copy of the Sixth Annual Petroleum Progress Edition of the Midland-Reporter-Telegram of Midland, Texas.

"The edition includes 212 pages, most of it devoted to oil activities at Midland and advertising.

"Midland has a census population of 21,713 slightly more than Greeley and the population of Midland county including the city, is only 25,785.

"More than 400 oil and oil services firms maintain offices at Midland.

"More than 3,000 houses are under construction there at the present time.

"Midland is the center of what oil men call the Permian Basin and the wells in the Midland area are from the Red Beds and the Pennsylvania, the zones being explored by Gillette No. 8 well at Grover. Wells in the area run as deep as 14,250 feet.

"Several oil authorities quoted in the edition state in so many words that the days of easy oil are ended and that deeper and deeper wells and more and more technology in developing refractory sands will be needed to keep the United States supplied with petroleum.

"Several oil operators and numerous seismograph outfits based at Midland have done work in Weld county.

Up to March 15 building permits for 1953 at Midland totalled $5,807,000. More than $2,000,000 has been spent in remodeling and enlarging one hotel.

"Most of the big companies active at Midland have acreage in Weld county. Included among these are Shell, Continental, Union of California, Skelly, Magnolia, Superior and many others."

Hunt Is Scheduled To Dig San Andres Tester In Yoakum

Hunt Oil Company of Dallas and Midland has staked location for a 5,500-foot San Andres wildcat in Northeast Yoakum County.

It is No. 1 E. A. Graham and is located 660 feet from south and east lines of southeast quarter of section 318, block D, J. H. Gibson survey.

That makes it eight miles northeast of Plains and three miles northwest of the Cobb (Clear Fork) field and five miles north of the Ownby (San Andres) field.

Rotary tools will be moved in and drilling will begin at once.

Electrical Hazards Demonstration Set For API Meeting

A demonstration on electrical hazards in home and industry will be one of the highlights of the sixth mid-year meeting of the Safety and Fire Protection Committees of the American Petroleum Institute in Galveston.

The meeting will open April 26 and will continue through May 1.

The demonstration will be given by Les Dutton, senior staff engineer, of the industrial department, National Safety Council, at a group session on April 29.

An address and motion picture on "Extinguishment and Control of Oil Tank Fires by Agitation" will be presented at the same session by J. L. Risinger of Socony-Vacuum Oil Company, New York.

Lieut. Gen. Ernest O. Thompson of the Railroad Commission of Texas will deliver the principal address on the same day in the ball room of Hotel Galvez. His subject will be "America's Petroleum Supply, Our First Line of Defense."

An API "Certificate of Appreciation" will be presented to J. Willard Lord, assistant director, Safety and Fire Protection Division, Atlantic Refining Company, Philadelphia, Pa., in recognition of his contributions to the effective work of the Safety Committee.

Jones Is To Give Oil And Gas Law Lecture Tuesday

Carl Jones, attorney for Phillips Petroleum Company in that concern's district office in Midland, will give the seventh lecture in the Permian Basin Landmens Association's and the Midland Oil Scouts Association's course in various phases of oil and gas laws in connection with land work and leasing.

The Jones lecture will be given Tuesday night in the cafeteria of the Midland High School.

The eighth and final lecture in the course will be given on April 14 when Paul L. Davis, independent oil operator, will talk on the subject, "The Landmen's Function."

The lectures are open to any person interested in oil and gas law. There are no charges for the course. A contribution by Texas Crude Company of Midland is helping defray the expenses of the lectures.

Mineographed notes are distributed at each lecture.

Denison Of Tulsa Is To Speak For WTGS Meeting

Dr. A. Rodger Denison of Tulsa, vice president of Amerada Petroleum Corporation will address the West Texas Geological members and guests in Midland Thursday night.

His subject will be, "The Williston Basin: Its Structures and Stratigraphy in Relation to Recent Oil and Gas Discoveries, and a History of its Development."

The meeting will open at 8 p.m. and will be held in the auditorium of the San Jacinto Junior High School.

Denison graduated from the University of Oklahoma in 1921. He received his master's degree from the same institution in 1925.

In 1952 he was given the degree of Doctor of Science by the South Dakota School of Mines.

Denison was president of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists in 1943-44. He has held a number of advisory positions with the association since retiring as its president.

He was employed in the geological department of Amerada in 1922. He became chief geologist of the concern in 1937 and was made a vice president in 1950.

Drilling Lag Fails To Halt

AUSTIN —(AP)— A continued slump in oil well drilling in Texas was reported Saturday by the Railroad Commission.

Completions for the week were 185 compared with 264 last week. The year's total to date is 2,642 compared with 2,921.

Two wildcats were reported. Last week the total was 11 and there had been a flurry of activity in wildcatting earlier.

Wells also are being plugged at a faster rate this year—so far there have been 1,706 compared with 1,621 in 1952.

Microwave Radio To Be Feature Exhibit At Tulsa Oil Show

TULSA, OKLA.—Microwave radio, one of the petroleum transportation branch's newest tools in controlling and operating pipe lines, will make its debut at the May 14-23 International Petroleum Exposition here in the Hall of Science and two commercial exhibits.

As one of the significant scientific developments adapted to petroleum transportation, a microwave radio-relay system will be in actual operation at the Hall of Science.

Three telephones, a teleprinter, a talking tank gauge and a telemetering pressure controller and receiver will utilize the system's six channels for the Hall of Science exhibit.

Among the 1,484 commercial organizations participating in the thirtieth anniversary exposition, both Westinghouse and General Electric have indicated plans to build their displays around microwave equipment also.

At the oil show, displays will illustrate improvements and new developments in an attempt to show how the transportation division can turn to radio and electronics to increase capacity of its pipe lines and keep track of oil from the well through gathering systems on to the refinery, and finally through distribution channels.

Recognized as the "world's fair of the oil industry," the exposition will also provide visitors a view at the summary of equipment and technical achievements by and for the petroleum industry since the last oil show was held in 1948.

Robert B. Bizal

Bizal Is Named Associate Editor Of IPAA Magazine

Robert B. Bizal has been named associate editor of The Independent Monthly, official publication of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, it was announced here by C. E. Buchner, executive manager of the association.

Bizal, who received a Fulbright Scholarship in 1951, returned to the United States last September following a year's post graduate study at the University of Paris and the University of Lyon, France.

Immediately prior to his appointment with IPAA, he served as correspondent in the Oklahoma City bureau of United Press. His newspaper experience includes that of oil reporter for The Daily Oklahoman, Oklahoma City, in 1950-51.

Business Improves

DALLAS—(AP)—The Federal Reserve Bank says business is 16 per cent better in Texas department stores now than it was a year ago.

Four More County Chairmen Named By OIIC In West Texas

Organization of the 24-county West Texas area of Oil Industry Information Committe activities is now virtually complete according to Joe T. Dickerson, chairman.

Four additional oil men have accepted appointments as 1953 county chairmen. Walker T. Dabbs, Scurry County; Carl W. Smith, Howard County; C. W. Brown, Upton County; and J. M. Sappington, Reagan County.

Heading the Scurry group is new chairman Walker T. Dabbs, district superintendent for Humble Oil & Refining Company's Snyder district. He is an active participant of civic affairs in Snyder and is a member of the Lions Club in that city. He succeeds Al Ewing as chairman.

Carl Smith of Big Spring, who is sales manager of Cosden Petroleum Corporation succeeds himself as chairman. Smith is one of the pioneer leaders in O. I. I. C. work in West Texas. Through the oil and gas committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce he has sponsored a highly successful Oil Progress Week for the last three years. A public speaking contest for high school students on oil subjects has been one interesting feature of this program. Smith is a member of the Big Spring Lions Club.

Brown In Upton

C. W. Brown will coordinate O. I. I. C. activities in Upton County again in 1953. Brown is extremely active in business and civic affairs of McCamey and the Permian Basin. He is mayor of McCamey, an independent oil operator, owner of a pipe supply company and a member of the Permian Basin Oil Show board of directors.

J. M. Sappington, vice president of Barnhart Hydrocarbon Corporation near Big Lake, has agreed to serve another year as Reagan County chairman. Sappington has been in O. I. I. C. work since inception. His suggestions on the necessity of an effective employe indoctrination program on industry principles has resulted in a state-wide adoption of a formal employe program. The Big Lake committee was the first to sponsor an essay contest in West Texas as part of the Oil Progress Week program.

Proration Helps Oil Man To Corner Needed Cash

DALLAS—Proration is the stable influence that permits the flow of cash needed for oil development. While a thorny point to some oil operators, it assures an even, economical flow of oil to justify the necessary flow of dollars from banks and financial institutions.

B. A. Cunningham, Jr., vice president of Republic National Bank of Dallas, points out this fact in his article, "Notes for Oil Operators Who Need a Loan," in the April issue of The Petroleum Engineer. "The greatest number of oil loan dollars, however, are for sale and exchange of established producing properties," he states.

Banks can not lend money unless there is sufficient return for the risks involved; and the safety factor and legality are important considerations. Bank loans based on oil or gas in the ground have "come of age." Proration now, gives a fair estimate of the length of time a loan will be outstanding and establishes a stable price structure. Technical advances in determining recoverable reserves have been substantial. Due to higher and higher taxes, many operators must sell on a capital gains basis to realize true worth, thus creating demand for oil loans.

Three Divisions

Operators desiring a loan from large banks will work with three general divisions; the oil loan officer, engineering division, and the collateral and accounts division. The oil loan officer screens applications and turns possible loans over to the engineering department for detailed reservoir and appraisal reports. If reserves appear to justify a loan, then the collateral and accounts division actually works up the legal instruments involved and the details of the loan.

From a banking standpoint, safety factor of the loan should be at least 2:1, (recoverable reserves dollar value should equal at least twice the amount of loan desired). Properties should also offer a satisfactory length of payout with interest. Usually if the safety factor is satisfactory, a satisfactory payout is automatic.

VISIT CLARKSVILLE

Police Chief Harold Wallace and his family are spending the Easter holidays with his parents in Clarksville, Texas.

M. D. Bryant

Byrant, New TIPRO President, Started Early In Oil Game

M. D. Bryant of San Angelo, recently elected president of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners' Association, went into the oil business at the age of 16, working nine and one-half years as a roughneck, derrick man and driller.

His first venture as an independent was picking up waste oil out of the creeks at Eldorado, Ark. From Arkansas, he moved to Luling and was a member of the drilling crew that brought in the discovery well there.

Since 1924 he has lived in San Angelo where he has developed extensive oil and ranch holdings.

Bryant prides himself on being San Angelo's "water boy." He is City Commissioner No. 1 and chairman of the City's Water Planning Committee. He is a member of the First Methodist Church of San Angelo and is a Mason.

He was elected TIPRO president at the organization's seventh annual meeting in San Antonio last week.

Atlantic Granted Exceptions In Trend

AUSTIN —(AP)— Two exceptions to the Spraberry Trend shutdown to permit experimental tests in the area have been granted by the Railroad Commission.

Exception was granted the Bureau of Mines Petroleum Division to permit completion of pressure build-up tests inaugurated prior to the shutdown.

An exception was granted The Atlantic Refining Company to permit continuation of water imbibition tests. The tests are aimed at increasing oil recovery.

Production shutdown was ordered April 1 until wasteful gas flaring is ended.

OIL MEN, NOT EGGS, ARE BOILED—

Easter Bunny Raises Hob With Canadian Operations

Rabbits may be the happy symbol of Easter in this country but up in Canada's North Country they're just plain pests.

The Canadian bunnies scamper across frozen lands in huge herds numbering in the thousands, hampering in many ways a vital search for oil in a vast wilderness still largely unexplored. They play havoc with sensitive oil exploration apparatus by chewing away at costly electrical wires.

Can't Eat Them

Rabbit stew appeared to be the solution to the oil men's problems, at first. Then it was learned the critters weren't edible.

The petroleum hunters' difficulties with rampaging rabbits and other obstacles encountered in Canada's Far Northwest are described in the current issue of The Lamp, publication of Standard Oil Company.

Geologists first inspect the earth's surface for clues on oil-bearing strata below the ground. Next comes the seismograph and drilling crews. Using the same kind of instrument employed in detecting earthquakes, the seismograph teams make their own quakes by drilling holes in the earth and setting off dynamite blasts. The seismograph records the shock waves as they bounce off underground rock structures and helps the geologists locate structures likely to hold oil.

Wires carrying these shock waves are particularly vulnerable targets for the North Country rabbits who gnaw on them as if they were juicy carrots.

In the meantime, the oil men there must contend with routine temperatures as low as 60 below. Machines take a heavy beating from the seismograph and drilling crews. Pilots who fly in food and other supplies never shut off their engines for fear of being immobilized by the bitter cold.

Food truck that are refrigerated in the Summer are heated in the cold months. Drilling rigs sometimes are able to complete only one hole a year when early Spring thaws isolate the equipment on Winter locations.

Conoco, Et Al, Get Big Oil Flow In Devonian At C-W Lea Wildcat

Continental Oil Company and associates have a prolific flowing discovery from the Devonian lime in sight at their No. 1 Anderson Ranch unit, Central-West Lea County, New Mexico, deep wildcat.

This prospector, 25 miles west of Lovington, flowed 162 barrels of new oil to tanks in one hour from perforated sections at 13,374-400 feet and at 13,408-474 feet.

That flow came after the two perforated intervals had been treated with a total of 1,500 gallons of acid.

After the acid injection operators swabbed a few times and the well kicked off and started flowing. It was flowed to pits for one hour to clean and it was then turned to tanks through a three-quarter inch tubing choke.

During the next 60 minutes the wildcat flowed the 162 barrels of oil. At last report it was still flowing to clean out and complete.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 11-16s-32e. It is three and one-half miles southwest of the South Saunders field which produces from the Pennsylvanian.

Flows From Wolfcamp

This wildcat had also flowed oil from the Wolfcamp-Permian to show for a discovery from that formation. That flow was from the interval at 9,750-9,834 feet.

That zone flowed 27.58 barrels of 40-gravity oil in one hour in a drillstem test.

A gas volume of 859,600 cubic feet per day was developed from that section.

No. 1 Anderson Ranch unit had some shows of gas in the Pennsylvanian, but it did not encounter any signs of commercial oil production in that formation.

Drilling at this project was held up several days during the late Fall of 1952 when it caught fire when total depth was at 12,172 feet.

Burned Several Days

The fire burned out of control for several days. It was extinguished after large financial loss had been sustained.

The wildcat drilled to a bottom of 13,775 feet in the Devonian. It made water at the total depth.

Operators then plugged back to 13,541 feet and cemented a 5-inch liner at that point, It was perforated at 13,374-400 feet and at 13,408-474 feet, the acid treatment injected and the big flow has resulted.

It probably will report completion from the Devonian in a few days.

Slight Drop Is Shown In Free World Oil Output

TULSA—A decline in output in the United States and Venezuela caused a drop of about 67,000 barrels daily in total Free World production of crude oil in January, the Oil and Gas Journal reported.

In the United States, average production decreased about 133,700 barrels daily from the December total. In Venezuela, the drop amounted to about 68,900 barrels daily. Both countries had established all-time highs in their oil output during December.

In the Middle East, however, oil production in January rose to a new record. The total of 2,252,000 barrels daily was almost 45,000 barrels daily above the previous record which occurred last June.

The sharp gain in Middle East production was accounted for mainly by increases in Kuwait and Iraq. Crude output in Iraq has shown an almost three-fold increase over the last year as a result of shipments through a new big-inch pipe line to the Eastern Mediterranean. The gain in January represented a continuation of this upward trend. Kuwait's production went above 800,000 barrels daily for the second time in its history. This small shaikhdom at the head of the Persian Gulf in January ranked as the world's fourth largest producing country—after the United States, Venezuela and Russia.

Free World oil production in January was up about 755,000 barrels daily, or seven per cent, over January, 1952. The gain in foreign fields during this period has amounted to 10.1 per cent, while the increase in the United States has been 4.6 per cent.

The Journal pointed out that total world production, including Russia and its satellites, now is approaching 13,000,000 barrels daily. Available information the publication said, indicates that Russia's own oil output now exceeds 1,000,000 barrels daily.

WASHINGTON OIL—
PAD Seeks Top Industry Man To Succeed Ed Warren

By JOSEPH HUTTLINGER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The Petroleum Administration of Defense, now counting on one more year of operation, is looking for a top industry man to be deputy head of the agency.

J. Ed Warren of Midland, Texas, present deputy petroleum administrator, has his eye on at least one Southwestern oil producer, but the man is slow to say yes until sure PAD will go on.

Unless this producer, or someone else from the industry, steps forth, the prospects are someone from within the PAD will be persuaded to stay on in the top spot.

Most likely draftee is Eugene Davis of Shell Oil Company, chief assistant to Warren.

Warren's term is up in June, and he plans to leave for a vacation in Europe on July 3. He wants to line up someone quickly in order to train him for two months.

The Eisenhower Administration indicated for the first time last week that it wants the agency to go on for at least another year when Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay of Oregon testified before the Senate Banking and Currency Committee. The secretary also is petroleum administrator for Defense.

McKay's Requests Cited

Secretary McKay asked the Congress to continue virtually all the PAD's powers over oil and gas, including powers to allocate steel and other materials, base stocks for aviation gasoline, to hire industry executives without compensation, and to encourage industry to form voluntary agreements.

The PAD said earlier it is done with allocations of oil country tubular goods, and Secretady McKay assured Congress the use of any powers would be held to a "minimum."

In fact, he saw their use only to make sure there is adequate production of aviation gasoline and jet fuels, but warned:

"The ability to allocate materials generally to the industry in the event of a sharp increase in the mobilization level is indispensable and such allocation procedures might well have to be imposed promptly."

As he concluded, Senator Capehart of Indiana, chairman of the committee, said he was in agreement with the secretary on the need for continuing the controls. They are due to expire, unless extended, in June.

While the secretary asked only for the powers, there is no reason to believe he would use them in any way but as presently, through the PAD working directly under him.

If continued, the PAD would be a stripped-down agency of about 100 persons, against 300 in the past. While the Eisenhower Administration plan is for keeping the PAD for another year, at least, the details depend upon several things. One is what the Congress does. Another is whether Secretary McKay keeps the PAD under him, or lets it go to some other overall defense agency. A third is what the new deputy to head the PAD has in mind for the agency.

Increase Of 2,000-1 In Oil Reserves Of Delaware Basin Is Envisioned By Harriss

T. F. (Jerry) Harriss, Midland consulting geologist has stimulated considerable interest in the future petroleum producing possibilities of the Delaware Basin area of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico.

That interest was developed by statements in an address delivered on March 26 at the annual meeting of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists at Houston.

In that address Harriss predicted there was approximately 1,000,000,000 barrels of oil yet to be discovered and produced in the Delaware Basin.

A Major Jump

Up to now that area has produced approximately 20,000,000 barrels of oil and it is estimated that the region has an additional 30,000,000 barrels of known, proven reserves.

The total cumulative production up to now, plus the estimated proven reserves as of the present adds up to 50,000,000 barrels of oil.

Harriss' prediction that approximately 1,000,000,000 barrels of oil will be found in the Delaware Basin would indicate that only one barrel of each 2,000 barrels of oil which he expects to be discovered in that region has been found up to this time.

T. F. (Jerry) Harriss

Delaware Basin Defined

The Delaware Basin covers the western parts of Ward and Pecos Counties, the northern part of Jeff Davis County, all of Culberson and Hudsepth Counties in West Texas and the southern parts of Lea and Eddy Counties in New Mexico.

The drilling of sufficient wells to find 2,000 times more oil in the Delaware Basin than has been found there so far will be a major activity for many years.

Harriss based his prediction of 1,000,000,000 barrels of reserves for the Delaware Basin on the geologic similarity of that region to the Midland Basin sector of the main Permian Basin.

The Midland Basin is estimated to have proven reserves up to now of at least 1,000,000,000 barrels, Harriss said.

Includes Production

That figure for the Midland Basin includes all of the oil which already has been produced in the region.

It is admitted that the Midland Basin's reserves still are far from been completely discovered and determined.

An abstract of the Harriss address at the AAPG meeting in Houston is given below. That address was titled, "Oil and Gas Prospects of the Delaware Basin, West Texas and New Mexico."

"Important petroleum discoveries are in prospect for the Delaware Basin, a buried Permian marine embayment, underlying more than 10,000 square miles of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico.

Similarity Claimed

"The Midland Basin, another buried Permian embayment, is similar to the Delaware Basin in many ways, and lies east of it, separated only by a buried shelf (the Central Basin platform). In the Midland Basin, large petroleum reserves have been found in Permian to Ordovician reservoirs.

"In the much less explored Delaware Basin, the only important production is from the so-called "Delaware sand" near the top of the Bell Canyon formation (youngest in the Delaware Mountain group of the Guadalupe series).

Recent Deep Discoveries

"Shallower Permian production, from the Rustler, Salado and Castile formations of the Ochoa series, has been negligible in amount. Deeper Permian beds have not yet yielded sustained production, but this may follow recently indicated discoveries from sands deeper in the Bell Canyon and older formations of the Delaware Mountain group.

"In 1947, a quickly depleted well produced a few hundred barrels from a tight zone in the upper part of the Wolfcamp series (and possibly lowermost Leonard series).

"Strata of approximately the same age have recently yielded interesting shows in another part of the Delaware Basin.

"To date, the only pre-Permian discovery is a shut in well reported to have tested dry gas at the rate of 10,000,000 cubic feet daily from a cherty zone of doubtful, possibly Devonian, age.

Shallow Reserves Growing

"Current exploration in the Delaware Basin is adding to "Delaware sand" reserves, particularly in the northeastern part of the Tunstill-Mason trend; and sustained production from deeper zones is imminent.

"The most important discoveries are expected to result from prospecting all pre-Permian reservoirs within reach of the drill, down to and including the Ellenburger dolomite of early Ordovician age."

Stanolind Opens New Production Office In Roswell

A new district production office has been established by Stanolind Oil and Gas Company at Roswell.

The Roswell office will be located in the new Petroleum Building. Its staff will be in charge of operations in New Mexico, Arizona and 11 counties in Southern Colorado.

These operations formerly were handled from Lubbock. The Lubbock district office will continue to control drilling and producing work in the South Plains area of Texas.

The production staff will be in addition to the exploration district office which Stanolind established in Roswell in July, 1951.

C. L. Kelley will be transferred to Roswell from Brownfield, Texas to become district superintendent. E. M. Knight will be district engineer and M. S. House has been named district clerk.

W. A. Kimbrough will be transferred from Stanolind's Tulsa general office to replace Kelley as field superintendent, and R. H. Lee Davis will succeed House as field clerk in the North Cowden area. C. E. McBurnette will be the new field clerk at Wink, succeeding Davis.

C. L. Kelley joined Stanolind as a roustabout in 1937, while completing work toward a B. S. degree at Texas Technological College. After receiving his degree in 1941, Kelley served in various engineering capacities in fields throughout Texas, and in 1952 was named field superintendent of the Slaughter area at Brownfield.

E. M. Knight, a graduate of Alabama Polytechnic Institute with a B. S. degree in electrical engineering, joined Stanolind in 1946 immediately after his discharge from the U. S. Air Corps. Knight served in various engineering capacities in the West Texas district until he was transferred to the general office in June, 1952.

M. S. House joined Stanolind in 1941, after graduation from the University of Tulsa with a B. A. degree in economics. After serving as a clerk in the area offices in Rangely, Colo.; Elk Basin, Wyo., and Edmonton, Canada, House was named field clerk in the North Cowden area of West Texas in 1952.

W. A. Kimbrough, a petroleum engineering graduate from Oklahoma A&M College, joined Stanolind in 1939. On military leave of absence from the company he served during World War II as a lieutenant in the U. S. Navy.

After his return from the service Kimbrough served in various engineering capacities throughout Louisiana, Texas and Oklahoma, until transferred to the general office in January, 1951, as a senior petroleum engineer.

R. H. Lee Davis, a 1938 graduate of Oklahoma A&M College with a B. S. degree in accounting, joined Stanolind in 1941. During World War II, Davis served as a captain in the U. S. Air Force, and returned to Stanolind in 1946. He has served as clerk in various areas in West Texas, and was located at Wink until his present transfer.

C. E. McBurnette, a graduate of Oklahoma A&M College with a B. S. degree in business administration, joined Stanolind in 1936. McBurnette until his transfer to Wink, was serving as a traveling inventory man for the company.

Fuhrman Petroleum Company No. 1-E W. T. Ford, wildcat in the Fuhrman field of South-Central Andrews County, has drilled to total depth of 12,380 feet in the Ellenburger and after making sulphur water in that section, is preparing to plug back to approximately 5,000 feet and try to complete from the Regular San Andres pay in the Fuhrman field.

Location is 760 feet from south and 2,310 feet from east lines of section 16, block A-43, psl survey ad five and one-half miles southwest of Andrews.

CITY FINANCE GOES TOO FAR

City Finance Officer Kent Moore doesn't mind being a public-spirited citizen but he had to draw the line last week.

It was costing him too much money.

Checking his monthly bank statement, Moore quickly found that his bank balance was considerably less than it should be.

Chicking further, he found that a City of Midland check, which he had signed as a city official, had been credited against his personal account instead of against the city's general fund account.

Research, Fellowship Programs Renewed By Shell For 1953-54

A 15 per cent increase in the Shell research and fellowship programs for 1953-54 has been announced. The total cost next year will be $177,500. It was $155,000 this year.

The number of fundamental research grants will increase from 12 to 14, with costs rising from $60,000 to $70,000. The number of fellowships will rise from 45 to 48, with the cost of this program increasing from $95,000 to $107,500.

Research grants, at 5,000 each, are made directly to university science departments to aid them in conducting basic research in chemistry, chemical engineering, geology, mechanical engineering, metallurgy-corrosion, physics, and engineering mechanics. Schools receiving fundamental research grants in 1953-54 are: California Institute of Technology, Carnegie Institute of Technology, University of Chicago, Harvard, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Princeton, University of Rochester, Stanford, and Yale.

Shell places no restrictions on publication of research results in this program or on the way the money is spent except that it be used directly for fundamental research in the field designated. This program was established in 1950 in recognition of the importance of basic research to industry and national defense and of the fact that although colleges and universities are well-equipped to carry on such research, they are often handicapped by lack of funds.

Matthews Named Conoco Assistant Division Geologist

Robert F. Matthews has been promoted to assistant division geologist for Continental Oil Company, with headquarters in Midland, announced D. D. Christner, Fort Worth, regional manager of exploration. He succeeds C. S. Killgore, who has been promoted to division geologist at New Orleans, La.

Matthews has been associated with Continental's exploration operations since his graduation from the University of Texas in 1948. A native of El Paso, he has served in the company's Wichita Falls and Midland offices.

Announced at the same time were the promotions of four Conoco geologists who will head newly created geological districts within the company's Midland division. They are:

C. A. Barton, for the past two years a geologist in Continental's Fort Worth and Midland offices. Barton holds a degree in geology from Millsaps College, Jackson, Miss., and studied at the University of Illinois.

Nance G. Creager, a resident of Midland for the past three years who also served as a geologist in Conoco's Denver headquarters. He is a graduate of the University of Oklahoma.

A. J. Manulik, who holds two degrees in geology from the University of Michigan, and has been a Conoco geologist at Midland since 1951.

F. L. Stead, who also has served for two years as a geologist at Fort Worth and Midland. He attended Wooster College, Wooster, Ohio, and has a master's degree in geology from the University of Texas where he later served on the faculty.

All of the new district geologists will continue to make their headquarters in Midland.

Sunray Schedules Increased Basin Activity For 1953

Increased activity in exploration, land and leasing, and exploratory drilling in the Permian Basin of West Texas and New Mexico, along with continuation of an active well development program on its extensive properties in the area, constituted the 1952 program for the Sunray Oil Corporation.

Although the company drilled wildcat Ellenburger tests in Runnels, Parker, and Knox County fields within recent months, the company has additional exploratory drilling slated in its search for new reserves.

One of the company's major operations during the past year has been the water floods of the Yates sandstone on the Dora Roberts leases near Big Spring. Water injection was started into the pilot flood on February 10, 1952. This pilot included eight injection wells and 14 affected producers on approximately 85 acres. Initial production from the 14 affected wells was about 200 barrels of oil per day with 14 barrels of water. By the first of the year the lease production had increased to approximately 1,000 barrels per day with no appreciable salt water increases.

Seven new injection wells, one new producing oil well and inclusion of seven other producing wells within the flood have been recent improvements. An estimated 105 acres remains to be developed at some later date and peak production has not yet been reached.

Among early 1953 drilling plans are five new locations, including one wildcat project.

Sunray drilled four wells in New Mexico area during 1952, all being producers. Two wells were on the Caylor lease and were drilled to the Abo formation in the newly developed Lovington (Abo) field in Lea County. Development of the Spraberry formation on the company's Sherrod Ranch lease in Upton and Reagan Counties, has practically ceased due to field-wide production decline. Several wells completed in the upper Spraberry will undoubtedly be deepened to the lower Spraberry in this area.

Oceanographers estimate that the average female cod lays 5,000,000 eggs at a time, ten surviving to maturity.

Railroad Commission Assures Supply Of All-Important Oil

By VERNEN LILES
Reporter-Telegram Special Correspondent

AUSTIN — "No plane failed to fly, no ship failed to sail, and no truck was ever delayed for want of oil." So stated Gen. George Marshall in a report made just after the close of World War II.

It is one more proud heritage of Texans that their state could furnish eighty per cent of that vitally needed oil, and that they did it completely without federal control. That accomplishment was due largely to the policy of conservation practiced by the Texas Railroad Commission over a period of many years past.

The Railroad Commission was established as a result of a long-standing demand, both state and national, for the regulation of railroads. Today, however, its duties entail many other functions having nothing to do with railroads.

These include the regulation of firms engaged in motor bus and truck transportation over the public highways, as well as companies which sell that transportation; the establishment of "reasonable" rates for gas utilities; regulation of common carrier oil and gas lines and crude petroleum storage tanks; regulation of the production of oil and gas beyond the capacity of transportation and market facilities; and the collection of the many fees in connection with the Commission's own work.

Oil And Gas Regulating

In regulating production of oil and gas, the Railroad Commission has met its toughest opposition, for its function there calls for the setting up of oil and gas allowables, as well as the regulation of the drilling, locating, spacing, operating, and production of oil and gas wells.

One of the earliest demands for a Texas Railroad Commission came in 1875 from the then-powerful Grange. When the Farmers Alliance superseded the Grange, it, too, demanded railroad regulation. The fight continued on the national level, and Congress created the Interstate Commerce Commission in 1887, just three years before Texas set up its Railroad Commission.

When the Democratic national convention of 1888 met in Dallas, one of the main planks in its platform was centered around proposed legislation to prevent railroads from charging excessive rates and making unreasonable profits. Discrimination in rates also came in for attack.

Back on the state level, one of the principal issues in the governor's race of 1890 was railroad regulation. James Stephen Hogg was elected over George Clark, and the next Legislature created the Texas Railroad Commission. Although opponents of the law carried the fight to the United States Supreme Court, the constitutionality of the Commission was upheld.

Commissioners Elected

In 1894, a revision to the act changed the offices of the three railroad commissioners from appointive to elective, with one member being elected every two years for a six-year term.

Prior to enactment of the law creating the Commission, great abuses had sprung up in connection with railroad construction and operation. Many crooked promotional deals had been put over on investors, and bonds were neither controlled nor regulated. Such practices as rebates and rate discriminations were rampant.

One of the hottest guberanatorial campaigns in Texas history was that of 1890 between Hogg and Clark. The campaign cry of Hogg's supporters was "Hogg and the Commish," while for the Clark supporters it was "Turn Texas loose."

Reagan First Chairman

When the Railroad Commission was created, Governor Hogg offered its chairmanship to John R. Reagan, who had been postmaster general of the Confederacy and was, at the time the Railroad Commission was established, United States Senator. Reagan resigned as senator and returned to Texas as the first chairman of the Railroad Commission.

Members of the Texas Railroad Commission today are Gen. Ernest O. Thompson, Olin Culberson and W. J. Murray, Jr.

Later, many additional duties were assigned to the Commission. When trucks and buses had become big factors in commercial transportation, the Legislature placed the regulation of that field in the hands of the Railroad Commission. The Commission now holds hearings on applications for certificates of public conveyance, and has inspectors all over the state to check such vehicles to see that they operate within their assigned territory and according to the grant of their certificates.

When it became necessary to regulate gas utilities in the interest of fair and reasonable rates, the Railroad Commission was handed that duty. It set up a new department called the natural Gas Division, to which all gas companies are required to report the amount of gas they sell, to whom they sell it, and what they charge. This function is called for particularly in cases where the community and the utility company cannot agree upon a fair gas rate to be charged.

An act to conserve oil and gas resources in Texas was passed in 1919. That act charged the Railroad Commission with the duty of preventing waste in the production of oil and gas, and became the basis for most of the present rules and regulations governing development and production of oil ad gas in the state.

Many of the first set of rules imposed by the Commission to con-

Monahans Man's Seismic Help Book Has Been Published

A practical book designed to aid the geophysicist in his search for oil has been published by the Colorado School of Mines.

It is titled "Wavefront Charts and Raypath Plotters," the author is Dr. Albert W. Musgrave, seismic party chief for the Magnolia Oil Company in Monahans.

Musgrave designed the Musgrave Raypath Plotter, an electromechanical device for computing and drawing commercially accurate wavefront charts, while working on his doctor of science degree at Colorado "Mines."

The machine is operated by the Colorado School of Mines Research Foundation, Inc. drawing wavefront charts for commercial oil and exploration companies.

Musgrave's book is concerned principally with the use of wavefront charts, construction of raypath plotters and mathematical developments leading to the making of wavefront charts for the assumption of the linear increase of velocity with vertical time.

The 60-page publication includes 24 figures, 4 charts, 3 tables and 5 large plates. It sells for $1.00 and may be ordered from the department of publications at the Colorado School of Mines, Golden, Colo.

Two Major Strikes End

By The Associated Press

The nation's two major strikes, making idle some 85,000 workers in steel and rubber plants, were settled Saturday.

Agreements to end the strikes considerably brightened the country's labor picture.

The first settlement was announced in the two-day strike by some 35,000 CIO United Rubber Workers against the U. S. Rubber Company in 19 plants across the country.

Union and company officials in New York signed a new two-year work contract. A company spokesman said work at all plants would resume Monday.

Two hours later, an agreement was reached in Pittsburgh ending a five-day strike of 1,500 railroad trainmen against the Union Railroad. The walkout on the connecting line had virtually halted all operations of U. S. Steel Corporation in the Pittsburgh district and had made idle 50,000 workers.

Communists To Hear Easter Sermons, Spy On Anti-Red Pastors

BERLIN —(AP)— Communist spies will attend Easter services in the Eisleben area of East Germany Sunday to check up on the pastors' sermons, West Berlins' "Fighting Group Against Inhumanity" charged Saturday.

The anti-Communist group said Protestant pastors of the area were summoned by Communist officials last Thursday and questioned about a circular letter in which their bishop allegedly instructed them to speak about the plight of East Germans in their Easter sermons.

The pastors reportedly refused to answer any questions about the letter or to turn their files over to Communist authorities, declaring that the church is not responsible to the state.

Following these fruitless discussions in the Eisleben City Hall, trusted members of East Germany's ruling Socialist Unity Communist party members were ordered to attend Easter services and report on the sermons, the fighting group said.

Two Texans Serve On UN Liaison Staff

serve oil and gas remain in effect today, and one of them is the controversial spacing law. In its oil and gas division, the Commission has divided the state into ten districts with a branch office in each. There it has engineers, inspectors and supervisors to enforce its regulations.

The Commission holds monthly hearings on oil and gas fields all over the state; at these hearings any interested person may present evidence to show that some change should be made either in the allowable or in the operation of the wells. Testimony at these open hearings is taken under oath. In making its decisions, the Commission endeavors to use the best of engineering advice and experience.

The purpose of regulation of oil and gas production in Texas is to prevent waste, either underground or above the surface. If a gas well has no current market, the Commission orders it closed until a market is found.

In oil production, some gas unavoidably comes up with the oil. One of the Commission's major interests is to prevent waste of that gas, and it estimates that today only about fourteen per cent of it is total waste.

The overall task of the Railroad Commission is largely a thankless one, particularly in the field of petroleum. Yet, when a national emergency arises, the first place Uncle Sam looks for his oil supply is in Texas. And it is chiefly due to the work of the Railroad Commission that Texas has never failed to have an unlimited supply of that all-important oil.

Frank Monroe's office, and must be in by April 15.

Dear Voter:

I am asking for a seat on the Council in Place No. 2 as a director of city affairs, and sincerely ask the voters of Midland to support me in the election to be held April 7th.

I am a native of Kansas and came to Midland in 1948. I am 52 years of age, and reside with my wife, the former Iva Noyes, in our home at 600 East Broadway. My two sons, Gordon and Max, and my step-sons, Jack and Billy Noyes, served overseas in World War II. Max and Billy are still serving in the armed forces. For twenty five years in Kansas I was a member of a real estate firm. In Midland I am actively engaged in the same field, and am a partner in Key, Wilson and Maxson.

My business background will afford the city a storehouse of information and know-how that should be invaluable as a director of city affairs. I am a property owner and the welfare of Midland is of vital interest to me. It is my opinion that real estate is one of the biggest items in the growth and development of any city and should be recognized with qualified representation. Every property owner in Midland has an interest in this election. Mistakes in city affairs can be costly.

I will appreciate your vote, and assure you that if I am elected that I will dedicate myself to represent you in the city administration to the best of my ability. I am not obligated to any group or special interest, but as an independent candidate interested in the progress of our city.

Sincerely yours,
R. C. Maxson

Midland Hall Plans Shaped

Midland Hall, soon to be built at the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation in Gonzales, will serve as the foundation's "main building" and ease crowded conditions in three other units, Roy A. Minear of Midland, a director of the foundation, said Saturday.

Work on the new building, part of a $550,000 water and construction project, is due to start late this month, Minear explained. The building will be a two-story structure, part of which, however, will be built into a hillside, thus giving a basement and one story effect.

Midland Hall will house the foundation's kitchen and dining room, recreation areas and offices for administrators and physicians. Moving these offices from other buildings will provide 35 per cent more room for the beds in the hospital, Minear said.

Recreation and treatment will go hand in hand in Midland Hall, for it is through recreation that the polio-stricken child works to regain use of crippled limbs. Therapy helps the child learn to use stricken limbs, but recreation proves an avenue through which he may gain strength and self-confidence.

Architect sketches and blueprints for Midland Hall were shown at a recent meeting, which Minear attended, in Gonzales.

3,000 Reeves Acres Planned For Cotton

PECOS—There will be approximately 3,000 acres in Reeves County planted in 1517C foundation seed, David D. Davis has announced.

Cottonseed grown from this foundation seed will be certified for planting in 1954. This process should be a great step forward in assuring better planting seed for this area each year, Davis said.

Cotton growers who plan to plant acreage in foundation seed include William Honaker, Davis, Paul Durckel, J. D. Patrick, W. T. Lattner, Jr., W. P. Mattox, Verhalen Farms, J. T. Ellis, John Harper, Carvin Passmore and Jerry Jenkins.

HIGH-PRICED CAPON—Alfred Bettley, Lone Star Brewery representative, paid $115 for the grand champion capon being held by Robert Lomax at the recent Howard County 4-H and FFA Livestock Show. Lomax, a 4-H Club member, also had the grand champ capon at last year Big Spring show.

Dirt, Squirt and Quirt

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —

For the first time in years, Midland County so far has missed its annual rabbit drive this year.

Every Spring in the past, before the weeds got too high, Midland County ranchers, farmers and anyone else interested got together to round-up thousands of jackrabbits, climaxing the event with a big barbecue.

"But nobody every got around to organizing it this year," explained County Commissioner J. C. Franklin, who has a 1,500-acre stock farm 15 miles southeast of the city.

"Elmer Bissell usually takes the lead but he still is recovering from an illness this year and no one else thought about it.

"There are lots of rabbits, too. I counted seven in one group the other morning driving to town. That might mean the drouth is over because the drouth drives them out.

"They can do a lot of damage. Fifteen rabbits can eat enough grass to feed one steer for a year."

DSQ has been on the road over the territory the last week, and believe it or not some of the country we traversed in various parts of West Texas is greener than most front lawns in Midland.

In fact, one has only to drive a few miles north on the Midland-Lamesa highway to see a green countryside. The George Glass country looks fine and the few cattle seen along the road look good.

The country on to Andrews and Seminole appears to have had some moisture recently, but it is none too green.

Then, on a swing out to Pecos, DSQ encountered plenty of sunshine, no moisture and little greenery.

Mighty Pretty Calendars

But the huge assortment of calendars on the walls of Buck Jackson's office in Pecos' Hotel Brandon are something to behold, indeed. Buck wasn't in but the door was open and we went right on in and enjoyed the "scenery." Buck Jackson, incidentally, deals in cattle and ranches. He is a former sheriff and rodeo announcer deluxe.

The greenest country we saw was in the opposite direction, in the Sweetwater-Abilene area. The country is the greenest there it has been in several years. We even saw wildflowers blooming in abundance—mighty pretty, too.

The San Angelo country, even with its heavy moisture in recent weeks, still is not too green, but it should begin to green up pretty soon, especially if additional rainfall comes within the not-to-distant future.

They Even Smile

In San Angelo, however, we even saw people smiling—something not at all common before the rains came, filling one of that city's two big reservoirs.

And one section around Garden City, down in Glasscock County, is as green as can be.

Everywhere over the territory farmers are plowing their fields in anticipation of more moisture and bumper crops this year.

Afterall, it's April and the showers are due to come our way. So, better keep that slicker handy podner!

And in Seminole, DSQ visited with a rancher, a most interesting person, whom we had not had the opportunity of meeting previously. He is A. C. Ward, who has extensive ranch holdings in the Seminole Country and in New Mexico. He started out with one cow a number of years ago over in the Abilene sector, and now has more than 3,500 head of cattle, even after selling off his steers last year due to drouth conditions. His folks used to ranch over Ector County way.

Ward says his New Mexico ranch is the greenest and prettiest he has ever seen.

He was working cattle on his Gaines County ranch early last week, hoping for rain all the time.

He is considering building a big lake, larger than many ranches, on his New Mexico country.

A. C. Ward, incidentally, made a lifelong friend of a 19-year old boy last week by lending a helping hand in an hour of need.

The Seminole rancher, visiting in the office of the Gaines County sheriff, happened to overhear the youth, who had been picked up by officers on a minor charge, telephoning someone out of the city to make bail for him. The long-distance effort proved futile and the young man turned away from the telephone in despair.

"Go ahead and have them make out the bond," Ward said to the lad whom he never had seen before. "I'll sign it for you."

Needless to say, the youth is more than grateful to his new-found friend, and we will wager Ward is not out a penny on the bond.

"I have three boys, myself," Ward explained, "one of whom is in Korea."

"Sure wish they would end that Korean fighting," he stated.

Potato growing also is being tried out on a major scale in Gaines County this year. Fred S. Barrett and Son of Hereford have purchased five sections of land from Ted Schuler of Seminole, and plan to put all of it in cultivation. One section already is in cultivation—60 acres in potatoes and the rest in cotton and feedstuffs. Four wells for irrigation have been developed on the property, 17 miles northwest of Seminole.

The Barretts, originally from Idaho, hope to get their potato crop out earlier in the South country—beating the regular season and getting in ahead of the big market.

Improvements in the irrigation system on the Midland sewage disposal farm were under way last week. Joe Heidelberg and J. Bell, operators of the farm, are rebuilding the main ditches and releveling the tabs after deep-breaking. Approximately 80 acres are irrigated with water from the sewage disposal system. The irrigation system was installed with the assistance of the Martin Howard Soil Conservation District and the Soil Conservation Service.

Irrigation ditches have been completed on a field at the Leonard Proctor ranch headquarters 40 miles southeast of Midland. Proctor and Harold Shull, who operate the ranch, intend to irrigate improved pasture from a well in the dry lakebed near the headquarters.

Sentence In CCC Grain Conversion Counts Reaffirmed

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—The prison sentence and fine imposed on C M. Henderson on charges of converting large amounts of grain to his own use has been upheld by the U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals.

The court Friday affirmed the conviction of the former mayor of Farwell, Texas.

The government charged in Henderson's trial that the grain belonged to the Commodity Credit Corporation and was valued at $1,056,199.

Henderson was convicted July 14, 1952, at Amarillo and sentenced to four years. He was fined $10,000 and placed on probation for four years.

Henderson was indicted on 58 counts, five of which were dismissed. A jury acquitted him of six and convicted him on 47.

In his appeal, Henderson contended that even though placed in Farwell and Lariat, Texas, facilities for the CCC was short, he should not have been convicted if he could have replaced it from other warehouses and elevators where he had grain stored.

The appeals court held Henderson had an "impartial trial before a good jury and a just judge."

Aid Of West Texans Keeps Cancer Clinic In Operation

Donations from West Texans and aid from the American Cancer Society for two years have kept the Midland Diagnostic Cancer Clinic a dynamic force in the fight against the dread disease. It serves 34 West Texas counties and four counties in Southeastern New Mexico.

"Clinic sessions are held each Thursday morning for the examination of patients who have been referred to by either family or company physicians," Dr. Kurt Lekisch said in telling of the clinic's work. "Midland Memorial Hospital," he continued, "has made its complete X-ray, endoscopic and laboratory facilities available to aid in the fine points of diagnosis."

After a routine laboratory checkup and chest X-ray, a physical examination of the patient is made by one of the staff physicians and his written report is submitted to the executive examiners and any consultants who may have been called in. Then a complete report of physical and clinical findings together with the diagnosis made and treatment recommended by the examiners is sent to the patient's doctor.

"Consulting professional services are voluntary and the Memorial Hospital makes its charges direct to the patient for laboratory work, X-rays and the like on a cost basis," Dr. Lekisch explained.

"If, however, the patient is unable to pay for the services, Midland Diagnostic Cancer Clinic assumes full responsibility for the expenses of all work necessary to establish the diagnosis," he continued.

Clinic workers attend monthly meetings to hear outstanding research workers or physicians report on advancements in the cancer fight. "This serves an educational purpose in keeping staff members abreast of the times," he explained.

The clinic is supported mainly by donations from citizens in this area, but the American Cancer Society provides an allotment to help defray expenses of maintaining the office. The clinic is approved by the American College of Surgeons.

Six Aspirants Seek Two Vacancies On Pecos City Council

PECOS—The Pecos City Council election Tuesday promises to be a hotly contested race with six candidates battling for two available positions.

Late announcements by Alan Propp and N. F. Chapman ran the total candidates to six. Propp, 30, is co-owner of a Pecos implement business. Chapman is in the insecticide business and has resided in Pecos for many years. He once served as city sanitation officer.

Previously announced for the two positions being left vacant by James McCain and Raymond Pouncey were Bill Turpin, Carl Holm, Mack Powell and Bill Daugherty.

All six candidates will be write-ins. No one filed for the council positions before the deadlines.

The vote turnout at the City Hill Tuesday is expected to be heavier than previous years.

'ISLES' SAID TRAFFIC AID

City Traffic Engineer Jack Keese tried something new in the way of intersection traffic control last week.

As an experiment, he installed temporary islands of sand bags at the intersection of Cuthbert and A Streets and Club Drive to facilitate the flow of traffic.

"It has worked so successfully," he reported Saturday, we are going to proceed with the installation of a permanent asphalt island there.

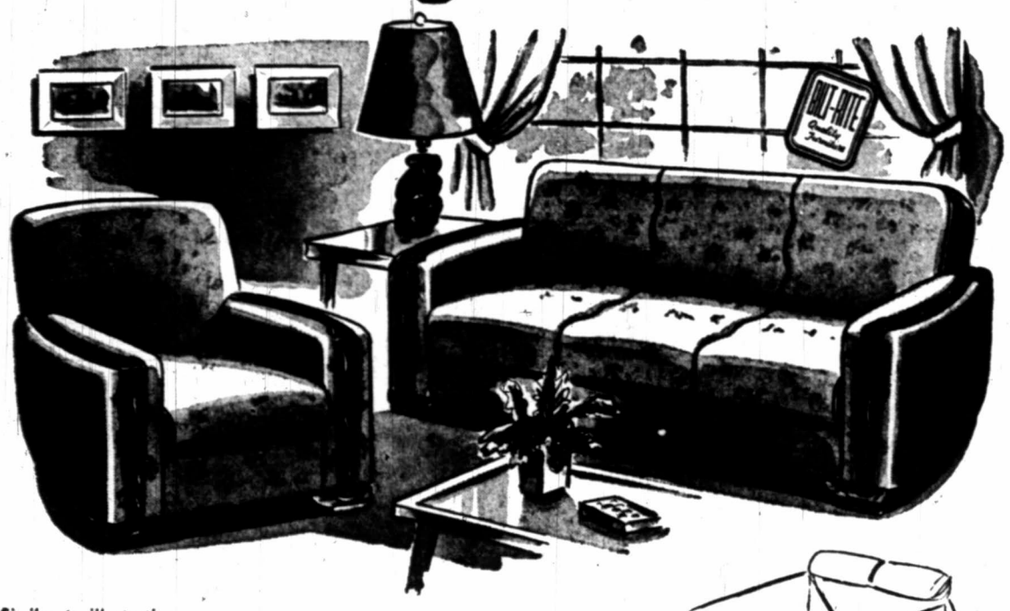

"The same thing will be tried at other similar intersections."

Velda Dee Pigg Wed To Jimmie F. Rhoads

Velda Dee Pigg became the bride of Jimmie Fred Rhoads in a ceremony at 8 p.m. Friday in the Northside Church of Christ.

When they return from a wedding trip to the Davis Mountains, El Paso and Juarez, the newlyweds will establish residence in Abilene, where they are students in Abilene Christian College.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Edgar Pigg, 3218 West Michigan Street. At ACC, she is serving as secretary of the senior class and the student council. She is a member of Ko-Jo-Kai Social Club, of the Kitten Klub, Campus Service Organization and the Press Club. She was graduated from Midland High School in 1949.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. James Floyd Rhoads of Odessa. At ACC, where he is a junior student, he is a member of the Press Club and Kat Klaw Klub. He was graduated from Odessa High School in 1950.

Minister Named

Officiating for the double ring wedding ceremony was John D. Gipson. Background music was furnished by a choir, led by James V. Lee, which also gave the traditional wedding marches. The choir hummed accompaniment for Roger Gee, who sang "Because" and "I Pledge My Love," written by Kenneth Huddleston of Abilene.

The church altar was banked with arrangements of emerald greenery, and white tapers burning in tiered candelabra. The pews were marked with arrangements of greenery tied with white stain streamers.

Attendants Listed

Honor attendants for the couple were Mrs. Bill Clanton, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, Jo Ann Ewing of Dallas as maid of honor and Ronnie Parker of Abilene as best man.

Bridesmaids included Mrs. Donna Gee of Abilene, Ruth Nell Kuykendall, Ila Kay Matthews and Jo Ann Montgomery. Serving as ushers were Bill Clanton, brother-in-law of the bride, Ray Crook of Chattanooga, Okla., Rex Nutt of Clifton, Ariz., Darrell Brawley of Odessa and Roger Gee and Don Jackson of Abilene. Junior ushers were Murphy Rhoads and De Wain Rhoads of Odessa, brothers of the bridegroom.

Harold Dee Copeland of North Cowden, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer and candles were lighted by David Copeland of North Cowden, cousin of the bride, and Freddy Cauble. Barbara Dodd was flower girl.

Wears Lace Gown

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose a gown of light ivory Chantilly lace and nylon tulle. The wide decollete neckline was filled in with a nude illusion yoke, rimmed with appliques of the lace flowers, encrusted with seed pearls and irridescent pallettes backed with a narrow ruffle of accordion pleated tulle. The long, fitted sleeves tapered to petal points over the hands and covered buttons extended down the back of the bodice to the deep V waistline marked by a narrow hand-rolled cord.

The voluminous skirt extended to the floor in front and swept into a wide fan-shaped train. It was enhanced by a godet of pleated tulle ruffles set in tiers in the front of the skirt, and a second godet of the pleated tulle at the skirt back outlined the scallop design of the lace.

The bride's only jewelry was a diamond pendant belonging to Mrs. Clanton, and she carried a white orchid and stephanotis atop a white Bible. Her fingertip veil of illusion was appliqued with lace flowers centered with rhinestones. It was attached to a crescent-shaped half hat of ivory lace matching her gown. The brim of the hat was appliqued with lace flowers and embroidered with seed pearls and irridescent pallettes.

Attendants Wear Aqua

Identical gowns for the bride's attendants were of iced aqua organdy over taffeta. The molded bodices were fashioned of tucked organdy, accented with wide square necklines and shaped, tucked flanges that covered the shoulders to form short ledge sleeves. The waistlines were marked with narrow belts of matching material and the full, gathered skirts were accented with deep bands of tucking at the hemlines.

The attendants wore crescent shaped half hats of tucked organdy matching their dresses and carried colonial bouquets of red tulips and red maline tied with red satin streamers.

Dress for the flower girl was of iced aqua organdy, fashioned similarly to that of the attendants. Her hat was a bandeau of aqua velvet and small flowers and she carried a ruffled basket of iced aqua organdy filled with rose petals. She wore a red bracelet corsage.

The mother of the bride chose a cinnamon linen dress with navy and white accessories and the bridegroom's mother was wearing a dress of pink lace and linen with white accessories. Both had corsages of white carnations.

Reception Held

Assisting the couple in receiving guests for the reception in the home of the bride's parents were their parents and the bride's attendants.

Also in the houseparty were Mrs. Laverne Jackson and Earlene Parker of Abilene, June Small of Carlsbad, N. M., Mrs. Patsy Heard of Brownwood, Mrs. F. H. Copeland of North Cowden, aunt of the bride, and Joanne Glass.

The table was covered with a beruffled white organdy cloth and centered with an arrangement of red tulips and white candles. Crystal appointments completed the setting. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bridal couple.

When the couple left on the wedding trip, the bride wore a plum colored suit with black and white accessories and white orchid corsage.

Out of city guests included Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Murphy and daughter of San Angelo, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Huffman of Odessa, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Parker of Abilene and Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Copeland of North Cowden.

Midland Girl, 9, Awarded Honors In Stamp Contest

With just two weeks of stamp collecting experience, a nine-year-old Midland girl has become a prize winner. But it was a stamp in her brother's collection that held the key to success. (He's an old-timer with a collection that dates from Christmas.)

Third prize in a stamp collector's contest sponsored by the Fort Worth Star-Telegram went to Shirley Anderle of 3113 Delano, Midland. She's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Anderle.

The contest was not so much concerned with the stamp itself, but the story behind the stamp. Shirley selected a stamp from her brother Charles' collection. He's seven.

The story of Britain Edward VIII, now Duke of Windsor, who gave up the British throne "for the woman I love" won a copy of "Stamps for Fun and Profit" for the copper-headed Lamar School fourth grader.

And Shirley doesn't stop with stamp collection. She also gathers rocks, sea shells and dolls.

Both Charles and Shirley save their allowance money to buy stamps, their mother said. And too, there's a lot of trading going on between Shirley, Charles and their stamp collecting friends.

Midlanders Named As Cheerleaders

Service League Names Workers For CT Play

Committees from the Midland Service League to assist with the coming production of the Children's Theater, were announced Saturday.

They are Mrs. C. E. Marsh, II, sound; Mrs. Leland Thompson, Mrs. Marsh and Mrs. Walter Walne, props; Mrs. Ben Black, Mrs. J. W. Starr and Mrs. Tom Houghton, costumes.

Officers and board members will be installed by Mrs. Goodwin Simpson of Colorado City, regional vice president, at a dinner dance, when Midland JayCees also will install officers. The event will be held April 10 in the Scharbauer Ballroom and music will be furnished by Kay Carter of Lubbock.

During a business session, members voted to provide the Midland Memorial Hospital with some needed equipment for the cancer clinic and an air conditioner for the emergency room. It was announced by Mrs. Hedrick that the group has donated $25 to the Community Ambassador project.

A note of appreciation was read for the moving picture screen the group presented to the Latin American Youth Center.

'Mustang Corral' To Lure SMU Exes Here Wednesday

Midland SMU alumni this week rolled along toward what they hoped will be the biggest and best "Mustang Corral" ever.

The get-together of Mustang exes will feature a talk by Clifford H. Shumaker, chairman of the Department of Industrial Engineering at SMU and director of the university's Institute of Management, and will be held at 7:15 p.m. Wednesday at the Blue Star Inn.

Corral chairman William S. Montgomery promises plenty of food and fun for the $2.50 tag exes must have. Quickest way to get reservations (and it must be done on or before Monday night) is to contact Bill Montgomery, Louis Williams, Cliff Matthews or Lloyd Campbell. There won't be any tickets, but exes will check in at the door if they've made reservations in time.

Williams is the president of the SMU Ex-Students Club here.

Schumaker is well known for his writings in the engineering field and his aid on various engineering committees. He was director of the war training program at SMU during World War II and now is director of the Ordnance Gage Laboratory and director of the Institute of Building Material Distribution at Southern Methodist.

Listed in Who's Who in Engineering, he now is regional secretary of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

The leaders attending the meeting in the courthouse will give the information from the training class to members of their own clubs.

Home demonstration clubwomen of the county have chosen clothing as one of their major demonstrations for the year.

Kermit Due New Long Distance Telephone Plan

KERMIT—Kermit's long distance telephone service will be speeded up considerably when a new operator long distance dialing system goes into operation here.

The new system will enable Kermit long distance operators to dial directly approximately 16 million telephones in some 1,600 cities across the nation without help from any other operator.

"If Kermit telephone users know the number of the out-of-town party they are calling, a long distance call should go through with almost the speed of a local call," C. E. Brusenhan, local manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, said.

For cities that are not yet using the new long distance dialing system, long distance calls will be handled in the usual manner through the out-of-town operator, the manager explained.

Lighten Your Hair Gradually; Claim New Lotion Safe To Use

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

It takes courage to suddenly appear with noticeably lighter hair than you had the day before. With a new hair lightener on the market you can make your transformation so gradually, over the weeks, that it probably won't be noticed that you're doing anything to your hair.

There's no trouble involved in using this product. You wet your hair with it, set it and let it dry. No shampooing, timing or measuring are necessary, according to the maker.

Stop using it when your hair has reached the point of lightness you like, for the degree of lightness depends on the number of times you use it. There isn't, thereore, a danger of becoming more blonde than you intended.

The makers claim that their lightener wil not irritate your scalp because it contains no alkali or ammonia. They claim further that it will leave your hair lustrous and manageable, won't stain your clothing and leaves no unpleasant odor.

This product has many beauty possibilities besides making dull blondes lighter. The makers recommend it for brightening brown hair, making light streaks by means of blocking off sections of hair, retouching bleached hair at the roots, and lightening dark hair on face, arms and legs.

Young blonde (above) turned her hair from dull to bright with new lotion intended to gradually lighten drab locks.

3D Movies Create Local Problem

The first showing of three dimensional movies in Midland caused a great deal of comment. John Henry Smythe felt that they were "interesting, but imperfect." Joe S. Doakes summed the situation up as follows, "I've been suckered." We're afraid that we have to agree with both of these commentators.

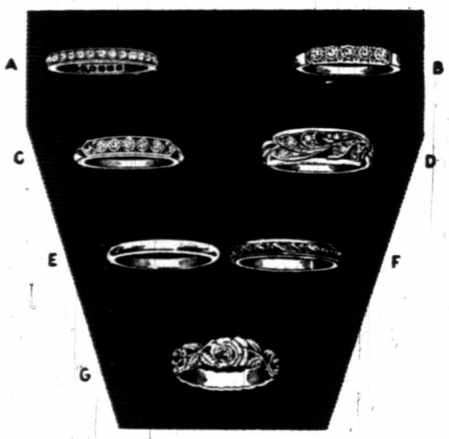

But, it did set us to thinking that we hadn't properly presented this lawn mower problem to the followers of this column. We invite you into the store to see one of these wonderful Jacobsen mowers, we can give you a three-dimensional view of it, its length, breadth, and height, but that is as far as we can go. Now, when you come right down to facts, there is a fourth, and even a fifth dimension. The three we have mentioned, which concern the physical size of the mower, and two more—TIME (which Einstein recognizes as fourth) and WORK (which he hasn't yet got around to setting up in a formula).

Our problem, therefore, is to get you to recognize that you can save dimension 4 and 5 by having one of these Jacobsen beauties on your own lawn. All y' gotta do is say "Send it."

Civic Music To Open Membership Drive

The Midland Civic Music Association, which closed its current season for concerts Saturday night, will open its annual membership drive with a cake and coffee meeting Monday, when workers kits will be distributed.

Hailed as one of the best of the year's concerts, the Saturday program was given by Leonard Warren, Metropolitan Opera baritone.

Most of the 225 workers assisting in the membership campaign are expected to be at the Monday kick-off session, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the St. Ann's cafeteria. There will be a brief address by Mrs. James Richter of New York, representing the national headquarters of Civic Music.

The membership campaign has received 2,000 subscriptions, representing the seating capacity of the Midland High School Auditorium, where the organization's concerts are held.

The subscriptions are to be sold on a first come-first served basis, officials stressed, suggesting that Midlanders interested get their memberships early, while they still are available.

Concerts for next year will be selected at the conclusion of the membership drive, when the budget has been set up. Included on this year's schedule of concerts were the Ana Maria dancers, Artur Rubinstein, the Fred Waring Festival of Song, the First Operatic Sinfonietta and Warren.

Headquarters for the membership drive have been established at West Texas Office Supply, telephone 2-5639.

Officers of the Midland Civic Music Association are Charles Henderson, president; John E. Galley, first vice president; Mrs. J. W. McMillen, second vice president; Edith Conyers, third vice president; Mrs. DeLo Douglas, fourth vice president; Mrs. Milton J. Loring, secretary, and J. T. Baker, treasurer.

Mrs. John E. Galley is general chairman for the membership drive, with Mrs. E. J. Harris as co-chairman. Mrs. McMillen is in charge of the Monday meeting, and Mrs. W. B. Hamilton is headquarters chairman.

Serving as division chairman are Mrs. George A. Kroenlin, Ted Kruger, Mrs. J. E. Beakey, Mrs. Harry J. Russell, Jr., Mrs. Charles Henderson, Mrs. Edmund Borys and Lotta Williams. The Welcome Wagon will be considered as the eighth division, officials said.

Leading Journalists To Discuss Increase In Secret Activities

DALLAS—Inez Robb, of International News Service, and Ralph McGill, of the Atlanta Constitution, will share the public spotlight May 1 as speakers at the 1953 Southwest Journalism Forum.

Both speakers will discuss recent encroachments on freedom of the press, said Tim Parker, president of the Press Club of Dallas.

The freedom-of-the-press theme, to which the 1953 Forum is dedicated, also is set up for discussion by several other key speakers. Scheduled are Roscoe Drummond, columnist and Washington bureau chief of the Christian Science Monitor; Richard H. Revere, Washington correspondent of New Yorker magazine; and Clifton Utley, National Broadcasting Company commentator.

The only session to which the public has been invited will feature McGill and Mrs. Robb. They will speak at SMU's McFarlin Memorial Auditorium.

Mrs. Robb, one of the world's best-known newspaper women, will discuss effects on freedom of the press of a New York judge's ban on press coverage of the Minot F. (Mickey) Jelke trial. McGill, who will receive a Southwest Journalism Forum award as a "crusading editor and writer," recently won a long Georgia court fight over his right as an editor to print or omit an item which a judge had ordered him to print.

Education Expert To Conduct P-TA Leadership Workshop

Dr. Per G. Stensland, head of the adult education department of Texas Technological College, Lubbock, will conduct a leadership workshop here Thursday.

Designed for Parent-Teacher Association officers, chairmen and study group leaders, the workshop is being sponsored by the P-TA City Council and Midland public schools. It will be held from 2 until 4 p.m. in Room 112 of Midland High School.

Dr. Per G. Stensland

Dr. Stensland held a conference with P-TA leaders earlier this Spring when he was in the city on a speaking engagement.

Two main problems will be considered at the Thursday workshop—an analysis of the role of the leader and how to encourage officers and chairmen on the job.

In analyzing the role of the leader, the group will discuss a personal checklist for leaders, how to decide "the person for the job," techniques of obtaining leaders and chairmen, the close understanding necessary between the chairmen and school principal, how to discriminate between important and unimportant problems, how to disagree without being disagreeable and judgment in timing.

Topics to be included in encouraging group leaders will be the definition of responsibilities of chairmen, checking activities of chairmen, building self-confidence in chairman, cooperation between the principal, leaders and teacher, development of cooperation between members and leaders, how to gently but effectively "push," and amount of responsibility and duties to be undertaken by the president of a group.

Postal Receipts In City Show Increase For March

Postal receipts in Midland for the month of March, 1953, showed a 10 1/2 per cent increase over receipts for the same month of last year, Postmaster N. G. Oates reported Saturday.

Receipts in March, 1952, totaled $39,041 and were $43,172 in March, 1953.

There also was an increase of 18 4/10 per cent in receipts for the first three months of 1953 over the same period for 1952, he said.

Receipts for January, February and March of 1952 totaled $112,952 and for the same period of this year totaled $133,709.

Semi-Southern Style Center's Ideas Are Young In Design

These youthful fashions in junior sizes are typical of the design approach in St. Louis. Photographed at the Campbell House, an ante-bellum mansion that is now a museum, they are 1953 fashions in a Victorian setting. Blazer-striped sheath in candy pink and white cotton (left) is by Mary Muffet, has pocketed stole edged in upholstery fringe. Sheer plaid crepe (center) is used by Carlye for fringe-trimmed triangular stole and full skirt. Simple sleeveless bodice has scoop neckline. Bat wing shirt dress (right) from this same house is in pure silk shantung, has tucking through sleeves and bodice. Top is creamy beige; skirt is brown.

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

ST. LOUIS—The fashions that flow steadily from this semi-Southern river city are youthful. They are young in design, fabric and feeling. For this is a city that encourages and rewards its young designers.

These youthful designers tend to develop silhouette to suit the fabric in which they're working. They have a wide choice, of course, with the many man-made fibers that include such combinations as orlon and nylon with slubbed finish or iridescent look.

Textured cottons and metallic-threaded rayons appear in the Spring-into-Summer collections here, with cottons taking on not only new appearance but a new importance.

Because the young like full skirts, sleeveless tops and lots of stoles, all three are prominent in the St. Louis collections. Both jacket dresses and costumes are strongly in evidence, with linings for both jackets and stoles picking up the print of a blouse or trim of a costume.

The sheath dress is stressed, particularly in combination with jacket or stole with the line kept straight as a streak. Tailored influence is expressed in terms of the sweater look in linen, the match-box silhouette and the boy collar.

Stoles are a story in themselves. They are cut in the shape of rectangles, triangles or shrugs, and are trimmed with raffia fringe, with ball fringe, with big pockets, glitter or angora. Many are shaped to the shoulders for snug fit; some fasten at the front and thus eliminate the desperate clutching typical of other seasons.

Generally, St. Louis designers are giving their youthful fashions a more sophisticated touch, eliminating the "junior" stamp of high waist, babyish ruffles and little puffed sleeves. These new fashions are junior in size but adult in feeling.

Lions Club Sets Anniversary Plan

The Midland Lions Club will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary at a banquet scheduled at 7:30 p.m Thursday in the Hotel Scharbauer Ballroom. It will be a ladies night affair.

Plans for the event practically are complete, it was announced Saturday by President L. V. Bassham, who said a capacity attendance is expected. The Thursday night banquet will supplant the club's regular Wednesday luncheon.

George Spence of Ysleta, governor of District 2-T-2, Lions International, will be the guest speaker.

Special entertainment will be furnished by the "MHS Sickly Six—Minus One," a group of male singers who won first-place honors in the recent talent contest staged by the Lions Club.

Charter Member Awards

TO GIVE PROGRAM—Charlotte Collins, left, and Ethel Maldonado, missionaries working with migratory laborers, will give a program Thursday for the Midland Council of Church Women.

Church Women Plan Meeting On Thursday

A program on migrant work will be a highlight of the meeting of the Midland Council of Church Women at 2 p.m. Thursday in the First Christian Church.

The program will be given by Charlotte Collins and Ethel Maldonado, missionaries working with migratory laborers. The mobile unit in which they are traveling will be on display.

Make Texas Tour

The missionaries are in the third week of a 4,000 mile speaking tour through Texas. They are visiting local Councils of Church Women throughout the state telling about the work with magratory laborers.

They are traveling in a mobile unit called the "Harvester," which carries a portable organ, movie and slide projectors, a chaplain's folding altar, Bibles, hymnals, athletic equipment and other materials used in bringing religious, educational and recreational programs to migrants.

Throughout the year "Harvester" and other similar units follow migratory laborers from crop to crop. Since March, 1952, the "Harvester" has traveled more than 34,000 miles to serve migrants in the Rio Grande Valley, Illinois, Ohio and West Texas.

Is Joint Program

The missionary program for migrants in Texas is supported jointly by communities which have migratory laborers, the Division of Home Missions of the National Council of Churches and the Texas Council of Church Women, with which the Midland Council of Church Women is affiliated.

Miss Collins is a native of Fort Worth and was graduated from Kansas State College with a degree in journalism. She joined the national church council home missions division in 1951.

Miss Maldonado joined the staff as a full time worker in December, 1952, and has worked with the project for the last four summers. She is a native of Guatemala, Central America, and was graduated from the Baptist Missionary Training School in Chicago.

A tea will be held following the program Thursday and a nursery will be provided for the meeting. All women interested in the migrant project are invited to attend.

The executive board of the Midland Council of Church Women is to meet at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the home of Mrs. C. M. Chase, 111 South M Street.

Congratulations To:

Role Of Attorney As Defense Counsel Described By Kerr

The role of a lawyer in the defense of a person charged with a crime was the subject discussed by Judge William L. Kerr of Midland at the weekly JayCee luncheon at the Scharbauer Hotel Friday.

Judge Kerr told of a survey made recently on the subject where the majority of those surveyed believed an attorney should not take a case where he believed his client guilty.

"This general belief," Judge Kerr said, "is the fault of members of the bar who have failed to present to the public the proper role of a lawyer.

It is one of the inalienable rights of a citizen who has been charged with a crime to have someone to present his side of the story.

He briefly related the events of the trial of Christ to show the injustice of no representation for a man charged with a crime.

"The right for a man to have counsel in court" Judge Kerr concluded "is the most valuable one he may possess in society."

The JayCees were presented with a second-place trophy for the recently concluded intercity basket ball league.

It was announced the JayCee installation banquet will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Scharbauer Hotel. J. P. Marchiol, president, presided.

MIDLAND PETROLEUM CLUB SETS EASTER BRUNCH

The Midland Petroleum Club has scheduled an Easter brunch from 12 noon to 2 p.m. Sunday, club officials announced.

Easter music will be furnished by Wayne Chapman.

Water Use Swells Here; Wells Rushed

Midland's water consumption continued mounting last month as development of a new supply at McMillen Field was being rushed toward the June 1 deadline.

Henry E. Nunn, city sewer and water engineer, said the city used 142,090,000 gallons of water during March, an increase of 28 percent over the amount used during that month of 1952.

This represented an average use of 4,583,000 gallons a day, well below the record daily peak of almost 11,000,000 gallons during one day last June.

Nunn said development of the new wellfield, expected to double the city's supply, will be completed by June and, with the manufacture of 30-inch pipe needed for a supply line scheduled to begin this week, it appeared certain the additional water will begin flowing to Midland by that time.

All 12 of the planned wells at McMillen Field have been completed and now await only the installation of pumps.

Construction of the two 2,000,000-gallon storage tanks is 76 per cent complete while that of the gathering lines and main pump is 44 percent complete.

Bright Colors, Flowers Dominate Spring Hats

The newest hats for Spring blossom with flowers. We show here John Frederics powder blue milan straw (upper left) with brim of blue hairbraid edged in straw. Back trimming is a cluster of bright yellow flowers. Ripple picture hat (upper center) by Laddie Northridge is beige linen straw trimmed with wreath of cherry blossoms and red cherries. Forward-tilted peaked bonnet of rasberry strawcloth has accents of matching velvet (upper right). This is a Peg Fischer design. Walter Florell uses white marabou (lower left) in a wide band on pale blue straw, sprinkles it with rhinestones for glitter. Sally Victor's great big pink picture hat (lower center) is rough straw with large rose as trim. Tiny natural milan sailor by Chanda (lower right) is set on red plateau, trimmed with black-and-red striped ribbon band, has red carnation at one side. The field is divided rather evenly between large and small hats.

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

NEW YORK—Flowered hats will bloom atop pretty heads in vibrant colors this Spring, reviving interest in trimmings that are more feminine and elaborate than in the past.

For color itself is deeper and more glowing this Spring, thanks to the coming Coronation. Bold blues, pinks, yellows, greens and a rich garnet are seen singly or even in combinations. Replacing the pallid pinks and blues of seasons gone are aqua and coral, torrid greenish-blues, and eye-catching purples.

The emphasis on color and trimming this year stems naturally from the fact that Spring ready-to-wear is essentially trimmed down, lacking in fuss or feathers. This spare silhouette makes an ideal companian for accessories that are brighter and more elaborate.

Texture is developed, too, in interesting straws that are sometimes combined with an inter-weaving of shaggy yarn for an effect that's nearly angora. Or, there are the sheer lacy straws, pleated straw casuals, yarn embroideries, small shells used effectively on smooth toyo, shiny basket-weave straws studded with white or pastel-colored souffle or woolen beads.

Silhouette stresses the small, pretty hat with some subtle changes rung on the past—narrower, longer lines from back to front in sailors; crowns that are blousier and back propeller tabs.

But there's also belief in the importance of the bigger hat for Spring. This means wide, undulating brims, big bonnets and shallow, wide-brimmed sailors. In many of these big hats, black horsehair promotes a sheer see-through look.

A fluffy, buoyant pillow that properly supports your head and neck while you sleep will help to maintain a perfect posture.

Weaver Presented Outfit For Easter

Irby Weaver, blind operator of the newsstand in the Post Office, is all dressed-up for Easter.

The new Easter outfit was presented to him Saturday by three Midland merchants.

Barnes & Company gave Irby a pair of shoes; Penny's gave Irby a shirt and a pair of trousers, and S&Q Clothiers, a new hat.

Weaver returned to Midland recently from Michigan where he trained with and obtained a Leader Dog, which now is his constant companion at the newsstand and on his daily rounds over the city. The trip to Michigan was financed by the Midland Lions Club, which also purchased the dog for Irby.

Increased Research On Bollworm Sought

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Agricultural Department has been asked to expand its research for control of the pink bollform, a cotton pest.

The pink bollworm was reported by a cotton and cottonseed research advisory committee to have spread so that it has created a virtual emergency situation in most of Texas, and in some areas of Oklahoma, New Mexico and Louisiana, where it has greatly reduced cotton yields.

Midland Heads State School Councils

The name "President of TASC" was added to the laurels of MHS on Saturday, March 28, as the Texas Association of Student Councils voted Midland its head for the forthcoming year by a large majority. This victory was due largely to the expert campaigning done by Midland delegates to the convention at Lubbock.

To give a more complete idea of the events as they happened, the Bulldog staff asked John Petty, head delegate, to give a narrative on the convention.

John reported:

"The Midland delegates to the state convention in Lubbock were Jimmy Mashburn, Robert Stubbeman, Virginia Kroenlein, and myself. Our sponsors were Miss Dorothy Perkins, and Mr. Jack Mashburn.

Attend Movie

"We arrived in Lubbock about 5:30 p.m., and checked in to the Plainsman Hotel. We ate in the coffee shop, then went to our rooms and rested and talked over the campaign. About eight o'clock we all went to a movie.

"Thursday morning we got up about eight o'clock. Coach Mashburn, Jimmy and I attended an executive meeting (we were vice-president last year) and decided to enforce the rules that only four official delegates may go to the meetings and general sessions. After that we adjourned and all of us started to put up our posters and banners. (I would like to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to all those people who helped us, both those in the council, and those not, for their excellent cooperation in making our campaign a success.)

Given TASC Kits

"At one o'clock we registered and received a manila folder with TASC (Texas Association of Student Councils) on the cover. It contained our official badge, tickets to all social events, a free pass to a Lubbock movie, a pencil and key ring with the convention motto, 'You, the creative minority, are the hope of the world' printed on it, a post card with a picture of Lubbock High School on it, two bulletins from Texas Tech, and an official program with the officers' pictures and a schedule of the meet. People had started to file in now, and we began handing out our banners and streamers.

"That afternoon late we went to another movie with our free pass. That night we went to a 'Get Acquainted Party.' We met a lot of nice kids. Here we had another chance to campaign. Jim Mashburn wore two posters, one in front and one in back, sandwich style. A real vote-getter.

Discussion Groups

"The next day, Friday, and convention got underway. At 9:30 a.m. the first general session began. Billy Scott, president of state last year, introduced all officers: me—vice-president, Nancy Shepard (Lubbock)—secretary, and Pierce Burns (Brownwood)—parliamentarian.

"We then went to the discussion groups. Robert and Virginia led one intitled 'Should There Be Requirements For Student Council Representatives.' That afternoon at 5:40 we went to the banquet where they served delicious barbecue, beans, potato salad, pickles, and cokes. It was really delicious. I served as master of ceremonies.

"That night we attended a dance in the Wreck Hall" at Tech. It was really neat. They had an orchestra and I learned a new dance, Bop, which I really liked.

The Big Election

"The next morning, Saturday, our last day, we went to the final general assembly where the voting was done. First came the nominations. We were nominated by Lynn Huff from Austin High School. Sidney Smith from W. B. Ray, Corpus Christi, seconded our nomination. One of our delegation, Robert Stubbeman, nominated Big Spring for Veep.

"Schools running included president, Midland and Freeport; veep, Pampa, Big Spring, Ysleta, Ralls; secretary, Laredo; parliamentarian, Crosbyton, Denton, Phillisp, Abilene. Winners were Midland, Pampa, Laredo and Denton. After the session we had our pictures taken, returned to the hotel, celebrated with a steak dinner, and returned home.

"We had a very good time and we are very proud of our school. Remember when you vote next year that not only will the person you select be president of this high school, but of the entire state as well. He or she should, in my opinion, be an excellent speaker, a good leader, and be well-versed in parliamentary procedure. Pick a person you can be proud of, and I think you will have the right one."

VIA THE GRAPEVINE

By MARY JANE MILLER and CAROL GARRISON

We, Mary Jane and Carol, have been very fortunate to have come thus far in life mistakeless. We are ashamed that we spoiled our record by our mistake two weeks ago about the radio station. The program from 11 to 12 p.m. is "Evening Tower" and it is broadcast from KCRS. Bob Byron is the disc jockey and he is quite a clever announcer. He gets rather lonely at that hour of the evening, so if you are roaming around with nothing of importance to do, why don't you stop by and request a few songs and chat with him for awhile?

"Ride 'em cowboy" is the theme song in Andrews every Sunday afternoon at the rodeo grounds. Quite a few MHS students are seen over there bronc riding, hair pulling, calf roping and barrel riding. Last Sunday the Midlanders over there were E. P. Birkhead, Bud Lea, Hanie Ivy, Al Cole, LeRoy Robinson, Bobby Harris, Ted Smith and Norma Gwyn.

Speaking of rodeos, May 21 and 22 there will be a high school rodeo in Andrews. This will be open to anybody in high school and you cowboys and cowgirls had better fill out your entry blanks and send them in if you intend to ride.

Balmorhea really started the season off with a big bang last weekend as many Midlanders journeyed down for a swim. Ray Miles, Barbara Cline, Betty Bolton, Ray Young, Gwyn Grisham, Nell Curran, Walt Chambers, Sharon Braswell, Clyde McCandles and Carl Baugh are a few of the kids who went.

John McGuigan and Bobby Hudson went fishing in Junction last weekend. We wonder just how big those fish were, and how many they really caught.

Mary Jo Hannon now is boasting her senior ring. As most of you know, she moved here from Pennsylvania at the beginning of the year and it has been ordered since then and last week it arrived. She sure is proud of it. Also last week the lowly juniors ordered their senior rings. Pretty soon they will have the "Big Head."

We want to wish Evelyn Hejl and "Kirk" Kuykendall a "Happy Birthday." These girls now are "Sweet Eighteen" and never been hit by a diesel engine! You thought we were going to say a red truck, didn't you?

Little Bill Mayfield just packed up and moved away Monday. He has deserted good old MHS for Austin High. We are surely going to miss him and so is the band.

Sam Pullingham is to be afoot pretty soon, if he doesn't slow his little green jet down to at least 1,000 mph.

Irvin Townsend visited in Andrews last weekend. Also out of town last weekend was Jack Shirley. He was visiting his brother who is stationed at Fort Bliss, El Paso.

Jerry Morris is boasting a big shiner as a result of a wild pitched baseball. It is rumored that Pat Greathouse threw it to protect herself.

Jack Pennington has painted Gwyn Grissham's portrait on the blackboard in Mrs. Philippus' room. It is really quite a picture, Jack.

Seen eating out at the Diamond Horseshoe Saturday night were Rose Tindall, Pat Walker and Jan Houck. Also they had a time Sunday when Pat's parents were gone.

Betty Sivalls is exceptionally excited this week. Could be that she is going to Roswell, N. M., this weekend.

Mr. McDonald, an ex-science teacher of Midland High School, is visiting in Midland this week.

Jean Hudson is making weekly trips to Lubbock lately. She must have business or else she is getting bored with Midland.

Billy Burt, Scott Gray, Jimmy Brooks, Wilburn Havner, Jerry Parker, Don Stanton, and Irvin Crissman have been absent from school lately. We surely miss you boys, please come back soon.

Dick Countiss and Jean Tucker from Andrews had a pretty dirty joke pulled on them while they were in Lamesa for a Methodist Youth Fellowship. It seems as one of their buddies' daddy was a policeman and they were hauled in jail and locked up. I'll bet you all are glad to be out.

Wayne Cooper has adopted Marilyn Dunagan's jeep. John Blackman and a whole carload of kids were seen riding around in it for the last few days.

Carol Garrison and John Petty seemed to have invented a new dance called the "Bulldog Hop." I wonder if it can compare with "Cat Dancing" or the "Bunny Hop?"

JoAnn Bassham, accompanied by Evelyn Hejl, sang for the Lions Club Wednesday afternoon.

Margie (Toots) Miller has a very unique pair of little red earrings. They are sort of "fingernail polish red." We wonder where she acquired these.

"Box and Cox" has been chosen as the contest play to be presented in Lubbock. The cast are Bill Robitsek, John Petty and Katherine Carter. Good luck kids!

Roger Coll spent a very interesting weekend in San Antonio. It must be nice to get away for a weekend with just solid parties!

Mr. Feldman was seen playing basketball in the gym Wednesday afternoon. This was his first visit to the gym since he has been in Midland. Why don't you drop by some other time Mr. Feldman?

Ask Sharon Herrell why she runs to the mailbox every afternoon. Could be she is expecting a very important letter.

Our congratulations go to Doris Floyd, an ex-MHS student, and Frankie Hatfield. They are now Mr. and Mrs. Also Larry Watts, an ex-MHS student, was married last week. He is now in the Navy and is stationed in Oklahoma City.

Most MHS students just have one locker, but Bobby Proctor has more than he can count on his fingers and toes. When he comes out of class, he just stops where he is and deposits his books.

John McGuigan spent the latter part of English class Wednesday with his nose in a circle drawn on the blackboard. Seems like grade school, doesn't it John?

Well kid's day went over with shining colors Wednesday. After the assembly, the seniors marched across the stage. Lollypops, suckers and bubble gum were all over school. We give Patsy Yeager the prize for the biggest ribbon in her hair. Quite a few pinafores were seen on the little girls. Othanna Gadberry, Shirley Green, Mary Jo Hannon, Ardith Campbell, Betty Bolton, Pat Nance, Faye Henshaw, Atrele Pace, Jean Waddill, and Lanetta Early. Barbara Whitson has little curls all over her head and she must have looked all of five or six years old.

Gaylon Hammons gets credit for having the only propeller beany in school. Dick Spencer had a darling little red bow on and little knee britches. Bill Leonard and Bobby (Red) Cast dressed like girls and the mops on their heads were very charming. Also their dresses were very sexy.

Ann Kennamar lost her little yellow duck, and that is just like taking candy from a baby. Yvonne Shain had a horrible time trying to steal a miniature baseball and bat from her little brother to carry. Seems as if he didn't want to part with his toys. I don't think anything in high school ever has happened to equal this day. Mr. Hurley, the plane geometry teacher, was playing a trick on his class giving them a test, but they all turned in their papers with "April's Fool" on them. Also Miss Boyd gave her annual "April Fool" test. She makes the students write about five or six pages of questions and then just throws them away.

Members Of Faculty Slate Trips, Other Events For Holiday

The faculty at MHS will scatter far and wide over the state during the Easter vacation, some combining business with pleasure. Among those interviewed were Mr. Cuffman and Miss Parker, who will attend conventions. Miss Parker will be in St. Louis at the National Art Association Convention. She is membership chairman for Texas in that association. Mr. Cuffman will be in Fort Worth at the Texas Vocational Convention.

Coach Jones and Coach Williams will be fishing at Lake Buchanan, and Mr. Stroh will devote his time to his garden. Mrs. Cotton will have as her guest her mother, from El Paso, while Mr. McElroy will be visiting in El Paso.

Mrs. Massey, with her husband, will join a party at Lake Buchanan for several days of fishing, and Mrs. Erickson will visit her family in Abilene.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell will visit in Tyler, as will Mrs. Wilson.

Visiting their families will be Miss Boyd, who will go to Oklaunion, Miss Klapproth to Sherman, Miss Perkins to Eastland, Miss Thurman to Ranger, Miss Isaacs to Commerce, Miss Lucy Moore to Seymour, Miss Reeves to Gainesville, Miss Gordon to Coleman, Mrs. Kiker to Abilene, and Miss DeShazo to Muleshoe.

Those remaining in Midland are Mrs. Phillipus, Miss Weaver, Miss Harris, Mrs. Anderson, and Mrs. Odom.

Mr. Mashburn will go to Corpus Christi, Mr. Johnson to Dallas, and Mr. Feldman will visit friends in Austin.

BENTLEY H.—Usually is seen with Fisher Adams and has a reputation for being one of the ficklist boys in school. You know him as Don.

MAE M.—A tall sophomore, with a distinct dislike for Latin and a dimple in her cheek. When practicing her declamation, she gives her name as Sylvia.

ALFRED P.—Always utters those welcome words, "Pass to our fifth period class." His initials were unpopular during the last war. Most people call him John.

MARIAN B.—When not working busily on her shorthand she is usually around in her little black jet. Do you recognize her? It's Grace.

VALVERIE B.—When not running to Andrews she is out in the gym eating eclairs and pestering Mrs. Blair. She calls her Ann.

BULLDOG EDITORIAL

You never can emphasize too much the fact "that money isn't everything," especially in this greedy world of ours.

Before deciding whether they want to do this or that, most people ask themselves this question, "What am I going to get out of it?" Sound familiar? Sure, it does. You've probably said it yourself sometime. In fact, too many people take that old attitude of "what's in it for me?" They don't seem to realize that wealth, talent, and time possess two entirely different values.

One value is material, you can see it, and hear it (you know, they always say money talks). But the other value is different. You know that it is there, but you can't touch it. In short, this other intangible value is an ideal—a principle, something that should be behind everything we do.

Everyone, to find which of these values he possesses, should ask himself this, "What have I done that will be remembered after I am gone?" An old question, yes. But a good one. After all, "you can't take it with you."—Don Dwight.

Reminiscent Reporter

By DON DWIGHT

One year ago six weeks tests were coming up and almost all the teachers wanted their students to show more than a passing interest in passing.

Featured in the "thumbnail sketches" were Donna Harris, Mary Ann Hill, Pat Gaines, Rip Griffith, Paula Hancock, Bobbie Elliot, Kenneth Feemster (who was, by the way, a confirmed bachelor at that time), Gay George (I thought it was supposed to be "Real George") and Kay Colwick.

The radio speech class presented its own version of the children's story, "Dick Whittington and His Cat."

The peppy football season spirit was revived when tryouts for cheerleaders were held. The five who were elected (by acclamation, no doubt) were: Othana Gadberry, Fifi Pryor, Bill Mayfield, Jim Ten Eyck and Charles Worthen.

Several students starred in "Star-Lit styles," a childrens (?) fashion show.

Most teachers were making plans to take a sentimental (or semi-mental?) journey home during the Easter Holidays. (And after this is published, we'll have to take a journey too—a nice long one).

Two years ago the stock show was held out at the Midland Fair Grounds. Although I don't take much stock in stock shows, I guess they're all right for one who feels at "home on the range." Probably the only kind of farmer I would make is a "gentleman farmer," i. e., one who never raises anything but his hat.

Though most students hadn't decided on their date, the date was decided on for the Junior-Senior banquet. It was set for April 5.

"Rub Each Other the Right Way" wasn't a handbook for masseurs, as you might think, but an article from the NEA journal on how to get along with your neighbors.

An article in the Bulldog said, "Are any of you acquainted with a 225 pound senior that has green eyes, red hair, and a pleasing personality?" According to their description, Stan Coker must have been an "all-round student."

Nancy Cooper received her own marimba and planned to play it with the MHS band.

Roy Kimsey's ambition was "to beat Odessa everytime in everything." This famous statement will probably be referred to in the future as the "Kimsey Report."

Three years ago, it was the first of April, that month, which, as you all know, brings May flowers—aided, of course, by a little spading, raking, hoeing, weeding, fertilizing, planting and watering.

Coach Gill was putting his life in his students hands because the driving part of the drivers education course had started. Speaking of driving, we believe a girl should hold on to her youth, but not when he's driving.

Bill Robitsek, who was featured in the Bulldog as the student of the week, was considered quite an actor, but he did not plan to make dramatics his life work, because he had heard that a dramatist's life was usually all work and no play.

The Bulldog staff featured an edition of the "Mongrel" for April Fool's Day. The "Mongrel" contained comic articles mocking stories which had appeared in the "Bulldog" that year. A few of the interesting items were:

"The passing of the bill to ban homework was met with violent demonstrations by LLS (Landmid Low School) students. Picket lines were formed around the administrative offices and students staged a walkout in protest to the law."

"A book review for illiterate persons contained these books:

The Home Life of an American Bowling Ball—This story tells of the home life of our loveable, lovely, little bowling ball. Also told are the habits (the bowling balls always heads for an alley), homes, and hopes as well as the answer to the $64 dollar question.

A Dog's Story—This book had 498 blank pages, because, as we all know, dogs can't write.

Dictionary—This book had very little plot. It is divided into 26 parts, each part starting with a different letter of the alphabet. May we recommend that you keep a dictionary handy, as many of the words in this book you will not know and will need to look up.

So much for the "book review," let's look at an excerpt from the "Mongrel's cafeteria munu that read:

Thursday—(in courses)—I. shrimp cocktail, II. tuna salad, III. alphabet soup (with D's and F's removed), IV. baked pheasant, V. barbecued gold fish, VI. sliced eel and pickeled pickerel's feet, VII. baked alaska and crepe (paper) suzettes, VIII. Sassafras tea (Unfortunately, no mention was made of the price, so we will just have to assume that the whole dinner was served at the usual nominal price of 35 cents).

And here's a few of the column's headings: "Athlete Feats" was called "Athlete's Foot." The "Merry Mortician" was called the "Gruesome Gravedigger." Love's Lane was called "Going Unsteady," and the "Student's Poll" was called the "May Pole" (just a month early).

Thought for the week—"If stupid people said what they thought, they would be speechless."

And, of course, we would like to take this opportunity to wish each and every one of you a "Hoppy Easter Bunny." Well, I guess we laid an egg then, but after all, it is Easter.

Have You Met...

. . . Billie Allen, a new Senior from Robert Lee?

She likes football for a spectator sport, enjoys hearing "Till I Waltz Again With You," admires Robert Mitchum and Jeane Crain, and prefers modern design in home furnishings. She is 18 and claims typing as her favorite subject.

. . . Estelle Ely, a new addition for the MHS Sophomore class? She moved here from DeLeon, like algebra, baseball, loves to listen to hillbilly music, thought "The Stooge" was a good picture, enjoys seeing June Allyson and Dick Powell at the cinema. She chooses "In The Mood" as her very favorite popular song and when she marries, wants to live in a modern dream house.

Kermit Teacher Gets University Scholarship

KERMIT—Leon Bewley, Intermediate School teacher, has been approved for a University of Texas scholarship for the Summer term, it has been announced by the University's College of Education.

He was recommended by school officials here because of his outstanding leadership qualities.

Last Wednesday all the seniors with a good sense of humor dressed up in their third grade clothes and celebrated April first as kids' day. The fun started "infantaneously."

Last week I filled out the application blanks for entrance in the University of Korea. In other words I registered for the draft.

The art classes are the Kulturites of the week for making statues, masks, etc., out of paper mache.

Now on exhibit in the case by the superintendent's office are paintings which were executed by Midland High School students that were enrolled in the recent art classes of Mr. Buckley MacGurrin.

Many Midland High School students saw the three dimensional movie showing at a theater here. All we can say is that the three dimensional effect was excellent.

Texas Tech Choir Entertains Audience

The Texas Tech choir, directed by Dr. Gene Hemmle, presented their annual Spring tour program in Midland, Wednesday, April 1 under the sponsorship of the A Cappella group. This choir, traveling to Big Spring, San Angelo, Odessa, Crane, Monahans and Wink, gave a varied performance ranging from standard and choral works to the latest popular arrangements.

The evening not only included choir numbers, but Madrigal Singers (made up of eight voices), a small instrumental organization called the Combo, and a dance team also performed.

The Texas Tech choir performed in the Midland High School Auditorium last Wednesday night. This entertainment was enjoyed by everyone in attendance.

This week's literature is "You Can't Take It With You" by Hart and Kaufman. Read this and you'll enjoy the Senior play even more.

On kids day I heard a little girl (she was 18 years old and had the cutest . . . ah . . . pinafore) say, "East is East and West is West and never the twain shall meet." Being of an inquisitive nature I asked "What would happen if the twain met?" She replied, "There would be a great twain wreck."

Infants Take Over MHS In Adolescent Reign Of Surprise

People who visited MHS on Wednesday, April 1, probably wondered what was coming off. The seniors had only reverted to their second childhoods.

Seen walking the halls carrying teddy-bears and huge suckers were infants ranging in age from a few months to seven years old. The seniors surprised everyone by proving that there is still a little life left in them after almost four years of back-breaking, brain-grinding study.

Little cowboys and Cub Scouts ran down the halls pulling little girls' pigtails and utying the sashes on the pinafores. Fights over baby-dolls and cap-pistols had to be broken up by amused teachers.

Falling right in with April fool's day, to conclude that day's assembly program all the "kids" walked across the stage for the rest of the student body to view. Robert Stubbeman presented Miss Gordon, senior sponsor, with a king-size candy sucker.

The MHS Bulldog Band presented the last of a series of concerts at the Rotary Club, Thursday, April 2. Under the direction of Ralph Mills, the band presented a very colorful program consisting of various types of music.

Well, last week we mentioned Odessa's one run jinx over Midland and no sooner said than they do it again, 9-8. The winning was supplied by Kenny Wenburg, Broncho first baseman, who poled one over the fence late in the game to erase a Midland lead. Snookie Roberts started the game for Midland and was pulled in the fourth in favor of Boyce McKnight, the losing pitcher. Jay Garland was on the mound for the Bronchoes and yielded nine hits in gaining the victory. The Odessans garnered their eight runs on 12 hits and five Midland errors.

Last Tuesday the Bulldogs played their third practice game, this time with Lamesa. In a slow played game which saw the lead change hands practically every inning, the Bulldogs won, and Snookie Roberts went all the way for the Midlanders to win, while the loss was credited to Jimmy Rose. The two teams played a return engagement Thursday at Lamesa.

Tuesday the Bulldogs open their conference season with Odessa in Indian Park. The game is to be played at 4 p.m. and everyone that can should go and support their team. Attendance at the first two games was fair but we want to see the stands full Tuesday when the Bulldogs beat the Bronchoes.

The Midland tracksteers competed in the Big Spring meet last Friday after setting a new mile relay record at the Bluebonnet Relays in Brownwood last weekend. The team was sparked by old (quote) "Ging of the quarter milers," Roy Kimsey who started well behind on the last lap but overtook the Odessa anchor man to win in a record 3:30.2. Kimsey also won the 440 yard dash in 51 seconds flat. The mile relay team is composed of Kimsey, Jobe, Braum and Bill Mims who replaced injured Robert Keisling last week. The 440 yard relayers (Jimmy Hicks, Mims, Braun, and Kimsey) placed third behind Abilene and Amarillo. In total scoring, Midland was fifth with 12 points.

Midland's golf team finished fourteenth as everyone but Marcelino Moreno had a bad day. Moreno came in one stroke behind the comedalists with a 148, five over par. The golfers traveled to the Aggie Relays Friday to compete against Texas' finest high school golfers.

The Bulldog net team journeyed to the Abilene Invitation Tournament Saturday after losing out in the Odessa tournament last weekend. Only one Midland player, Ellen De Chicchis, reached the semi-finals.

Moral Words Are Just Wasted On Tot's Spilled Applesauce

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

One day, Roy's grandma was visiting him when he lost his temper. He did not want to come in for lunch. He wanted to stay in the yard where he had squeezed himself into an old crate that was to him a speedy automobile.

Finally deposited at the table, he refused to eat. With barely half a glass of milk inside him, he was retired to his room for what his mother optimistically called his "rest" hour.

Listening to his roars of rage, his grandmother said, "You don't know how to handle him, Ella. When his father was his age, I always got him to obey by saying, 'I know you want to be a good boy and do what mother says.'"

Several days later, Roy's mother applied this advice. When he expressed disagreement over table manners, she said soothingly, "I know you want to be mother's good boy and eat with your spoon, don't you?"

• • •

He responded by shoving his applesauce dish on the floor. Then, with bland, defiant eyes, he waited curiously to see how his mother would respond to her discovery that he didn't want to be her "good" boy but her "bad" one.

She responded with bewilderment and anger.

She is a very foolish young woman to use moral terms like "good" and "bad" to a little boy who doesn't understand them.

I am not being far-fetched when I caution her to stop it. If we have any experienced respect for morality, we know that it has nothing whatever to do with the manner in which applesauce is eaten.

Our "goodness" is our ability to make the most thoughtful and delicate balances between love for ourselves and love for others. To stir applesauce with the fist is inconvenient and untidy. It is neither bad nor good. To suggest that it involves a moral issue ir far more sloppy.

• • •

If we appreciate the meaning of "goodness," we reserve this word for Roy's later struggles to love himself equally with others. Premature abuse of it already has suggested that "goodness" is suiting someone else's convenience. None of us can afford too many such mistaken impressions.

Since nobody's convenience can ever be the test of moral decisions, we begin to see what this habit of ours can lead to. Roy may grow up believing that it is "good" to permit his own children to deprive him of his needs, and "bad" to assert an inconvenient truth to an employer who has misjudged him.

If he insists on stirring his dessert with his fist, the dish should be removed. No great moral words should be attached to his untidy behavior.

Look unto Abraham your father, and unto Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone, and blessed him, and increased him.—Isaiah 51:2.

For He Is Risen!

"In the end of the sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre.

"And, behold, there was a great earthquake: for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it.

"His countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow:

"And for fear of him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men.

"And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified.

"He is not here: for He is risen, as He said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay." (St. Matthew 28:1-6.)

• • •

What a joyful proclamation—"For He is risen"—and what a meaningful revelation it has been for mankind through the centuries.

It is the story of the Resurrection—the miraculous rising of Christ—the triumph of man over death.

Easter is a day of rejoicing, an occasion for individual recognition of the fact of an ever-present and living Christ.

Consider for a moment what that electrifying statement meant to Mary Magdalene and the other Mary—"He is not here: for He is risen."

Think what it means to you and to me today and every day.

Most churches will be filled to overflowing Easter Sunday, and many churches have scheduled two morning services to accommodate the crowds. Yet on the following Sunday in many of these same churches congregations at the usual services will have dwindled in many cases even below the normal attendance.

• • •

If Easter truly were in the souls of the many for whom church-going on Easter Sunday is a formal matter, what a difference would be reflected in their lives, in their relation to the church, the Christ, and their fellow citizens throughout the year.

Everything we celebrate in connection with the life, death and Resurrection of Jesus is not to be limited to one day or season, but should be extended to every day and every season.

After all, the Resurrection of Jesus is one of the most important events in all history and the religious life of man.

Man's Christian faith is built on this miraculous belief, pointing up as it does that with God all things are possible.

• • •

Proclamations of Christian faith, however, practically are worthless unless they are backed up by consistent, daily living which is in harmony with the will of God.

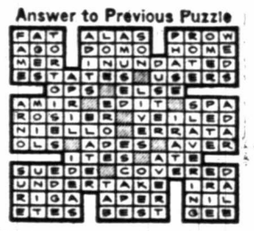

Through the centuries, the joyful tiding, "He is Risen," rings out to inspire the very souls of mankind.

If we will but bolster our faith in the Resurrection and in the promise of Jesus: "Lo, I am with you always" (Matthew 28:20), then our Easter celebration will tend to reflect the glory of communion with a living Lord.

"He is not here: for He is risen."

The Great Wall The Red Chinese Built

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1953, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Ike reminisces on Zhukov friendship; New Small Business Administration in the making; Public roads chief is pioneer in highway building.

WASHINGTON — Although the President is maintaining a once-burned, twice-cautious attitude toward the new political bosses of the Soviet Union, he tells friends he still has a warm spot in his heart for Marshal Zhukov, whom he knew during the last war.

Zhukov, who fell into disfavor with Stalin because he was considered too "soft" toward the West, was brought back to Moscow following Stalin's death and has been given a top command.

Discussing him recently, Eisenhower said that Zhukov once was spoken of by the Russian people with the same adulation with which Americans mention Washington and Lincoln. But apparently he misunderstood Stalin's strategic friendliness toward the West and became too friendly. So, when the Soviet propaganda line changed, Eisenhower said, Zhukov had to be demoted.

Ike described Zhukov as an able man with a sense of humor, capable of getting along with the West. He frequently showed up in public, arm-in-arm with Stalin. Once, Eisenhower recalled witnessing a movie depicting the capture of Berlin. Stalin and Zhukov also were present, and the President said the picture was "cooked up" to show Zhukov at various battle scenes looking through field glasses.

Joking, Eisenhower told Marshal Zhukov that if he ever was out of a job in Russia he could go to Hollywood and name his own salary. Zhukov knew Ike was kidding and seemed to enjoy the joke, but Stalin commented rather gruffly:

"The marshal will never be out of a job in Russia."

In relating the story, the President added that a man can be broken very fast in Russia and that apparently it was a simple matter to send Zhukov into obscurity, as Stalin had done.

"It was unfortunate," he added, "because I think we could have got along rather well with Zhukov."

Cabinet Luncheon

It hasn't been officially announced, but the Republicans are planning to create a brand new government bureau to handle small business matters.

The decision was reached at a private luncheon, attended by Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, Secretary of Commerce Weeks, Senators Capehart of Indiana and Bricker of Ohio, and Congresman Hill of Colorado.

Humphrey called the luncheon meeting in order to discuss what to do about the reconstruction Finance Corporation after it goes out of business June 30. Secretary Weeks suggested that a small business loans division should be set up in his Commerce Department. Humphrey agreed this would be all right with him, although it had been suggested that loans ought to be a Treasury Department matter.

However, the politically wise congressional leaders warned that it wouldn't look good for the Republicans to abolish the RFC, then put small business under the thumb of the Commerce Department. It would lay the Administration wide open to the charge that big business is taking over, they warned.

In the end, they decided the best plan would be to form an independent Small Business Administration.

Ike's Shortest Speech

One of President Eisenhower's favorite stories is about the shortest speech he ever delivered. It was a long drawn-out meeting. Five other speakers had preceded him. The audience was almost asleep. Finally, shortly before midnight, Ike was introduced.

"Every English discourse has punctuation," said Ike, "and in this instance I am the period."

Then he sat down. He got the biggest hand of the evening.

Du Pont Roads Chief

When Francis Du Pont, new chief of the Bureau of Public Roads, had his first "get acquainted" session with the House Public Works Committee, the congressmen were curious about his background.

"My home is in Delaware," said Du Pont, "and I've been interested in better roads for many years. In fact, I donated the land for the nation's first divided road through a rural area."

A startled committee member leaned over to his coleague, Cliff Davis, Tennessee Democrat, and whispered, "Is this fellow one of the Du Ponts?"

"Yes," whispered Davis. Then with a partisan smile he added, "It's simple. The Du Ponts control General Motors. And G. M. sort of runs the government these days and makes most of the autos. It's natural, isn't it, that the Du Ponts would want to control the roads all their automobiles have to travel on?"

Davis, of course, was kidding. Fact is that Du Pont's sincerity and grasp of highway problems made a big hit with all committee members. He is the son of old Senator Thomas Coleman Du Pont of Delaware, was a member of the Delaware Highway Department for 13 years, was once treasurer of the Waldorf-Astoria, Bellvue-Stratford Hotel Corporations.

Note—Retiring Road Commissioner Tom MacDonald sometimes is credited with having done more to change rural life in American than any other man alive. As public roads commissioner for the last 34 years, MacDonald has been the driving force behind the nation's vast network of hard-surface roads. Although he probably has spent more taxpayers' dollars than any other career man in history, there's been no breath of scandal attached to his operations.

Tennessee Feud

Perhaps if Gen. Jimmy Doolittle hadn't consulted a dictionary, he wouldn't have been so mad. But last week he was so enraged at Tennessee's Senator Albert Gore that he wouldn't trust himself on Capitol Hill. He was afraid of what he might do if he should run into Gore.

The two have been wrangling over the Air Force's supersonic wind tunnel at Tullahoma, Tenn. Gore started the feud by firing potshots at Aro, Inc., the engineering firm which operates the wind tunnel. This brought him into a head-on clash with Doolittle, the man who engineered the famous flight over Tokyo and who is special consultant to Air Force Chief of Staff General Vandenberg on the project.

What really caused Doolittle's blood pressure to erupt was a letter from the hard-working senator from Tennessee to General Vandenberg, charging that Doolittle's arguments were "utterly spurious." Doolittle wasn't quite sure what this meant. But he got out of his dictionary, discovered that "spurious" was defined as "of illegitimate birth," and decided these were fighting words.

As a result, he was so afraid he might lose his temper and provoke an incident that he stayed away from last week's Senate hearings on the wind tunnel in Tennessee.

Merry-Go-Round

President Eisenhower once supplied Army sulfa drugs to a desperately sick French child. Later, when the child had recovered, Ike received a note: "You saved my child's life. I was a Communist at the time but that didn't bother you. I have now quit the Communists because I realize they were lying about you and your countrymen" . . . Parking space near the Capitol Building is so scarce even Congressmen have trouble finding a location . . . Government economists agree that the cost of living will start climbing upward again in about 30 days. Chief items moving upward will be rents, coffee, milk, cigarettes, bread and such services as laundry, auto repairs, etc. . . . Democratic congressmen complain the only way they can get their picture in the paper these days is to get photographed alongside Ike.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Please solve a problem for us," requests a Seattle correspondent. "I'm sure you won't like the bidding of the accompanying hand, but the bidding is not really our problem.

"West opened the king of spades, and I won with the ace of spades. I really didn't know how to proceed, but I hit upon the idea of leading a low diamond and finesseing dummy's jack while dummy still had a trump.

"East won with the queen of diamonds and returned the three of clubs. This gave me my big problem. To finesse or not to finesse?

"I looked carefully at East, but he happened to be a very experienced player and would look just as calm whether or not he had the queen of clubs. I then looked at West, and discovered nothing from an examination of his face.

"The only thing I had to guide me was the mathematical fact that the queen is not likely to drop when the opponents hold as many as five trumps between them. For this reason I finessed the jack of clubs.

"The finesse did not turn out well, as you can see. West won with the queen of clubs and took a spade trick to set me two tricks. If I had taken the top clubs, I would have made my slam.

"Did I play the hand correctly? East laughed at the way I played the hand, but wouldn't say why he was laughing."

As my correspondent suggests, I find the bidding more weird than wonderful. Nevertheless, South should have made his slam contract.

When East returned a club there was no need to look at his face. East simply couldn't have the queen of clubs in his hand. If East had held the queen of clubs, he would have led a spade to make dummy ruff and thus prevent a trump finesse from picking up his queen.

Since East did not take this simple measure to protect the queen of clubs it should have been clear that East actually did not hold the queen of clubs.

Once South came to the conclusion that the queen of clubs was in the West hand, he would have then seen that the only chance to make the slam consisted in laying down the top clubs in the hope of dropping the queen. This maneuver would have succeeded, and South would have made his slam contract.

Government's Cook Booklets Look Silly, But Have Purpose

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Department of Agriculture has just put out a little leaflet telling the housewife how to broil a steak, cook a pot roast, fry a steak with onions, stuff a flank steak, whip up a ragout (stew, to you). Or, if you want to get real fancy, the new handout tells how to make Swiss steak—either with macaroni or tomatoes.

About the only thing missing from this new abbreviated beef cookbook is how to create hamburger. But maybe that was considered too obvious, hamburger being one of those things that people make by instinct rather than reason. Even a male cook can be trusted with hamburger—behind a counter or in the back yard.

Word from the Department of Agriculture's Office of Information is that 8,600 copies of this leaflet are being sent out, on a national basis. Newspaper food editors, farm and home magazine food editors, radio and television food editors and the branch offices of the Production and Marketing Administration all are getting this handout. And they're supposed to do something about it.

So if cooks across the country begin to be barraged with beef-dish recipes in the next few weeks or months, they'll know why.

Along with the recipes, another four-page pamphlet, "Facts About Beef," is being put out. To quote the subheadings it says, "Beef Is Plentiful, Beef Is Body Builder." It then lists sources of other information about beef, and gives all the cuts from top round to bottom sirloin, from neck to round, telling what to do about each when bringing them into contact with a hot stove.

Promote Sale Of Beef

Now behind all this hangs a tale, and not just the oxtail in the soup.

When Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson's Livestock Advisory Committee was in town recently, trying to find out what to do about falling cattle prices, one of his recommendations was that the Department of Agriculture do what it could to promote the sale of beef.

The Livestock and Meat Board out in Chicago was called on to do what it could toward the same end. Packers were to be urged to advertise beef more heavily. The whole campaign was to be aimed at increasing consumption of beef, thereby reducing the supply and thereby again raising the price.

As Secretary Benson remarked the other day, "Some people had stopped eating beef altogether." The price was too high. Now that the supply is up and the price is down, the big idea is to get people back into the habit of eating beef.

The "Seven Savory Beef Dishes" recipes, put out by the Bureau of Home Economics, and the "Facts About Beef," put out by the Department of Agriculture's Livestock Branch, are the first government publicity efforts in this direction. There will be others.

All this strikes a familiar note to old-timers in Washington.

Back in the dim, drear days beyond recall when Democrats lived in the White House, one of the favorite Republican sports was to get up and make speeches ridiculing the Department of Agriculture for the silly literature it put out.

There was a little leaflet on "How to Wash Dishes" that was always good for a gag in the Congressional Record. For, of course, everybody knew how to wash dishes and what was the sense of some home economics expert spending government money to put out a book on it?

Some department official or other was always having to go before a congressional committee to explain that this particular number on dish-washing was put out by popular demand. The demand came principally from the Western states where water was scarce, and it was important to know how to clean the plates and tableware with a minimum of moisture and by some other means than letting the dog lick them.

But answers never catch up with accusations, so the department's reputation always has been sullied by charges of wasting the taxpayers' dollars on foolishness. The same kind of complaints can be made about the Republican Administration having the nerve to tell any self-respecting American housewife how to cook steak.

In politics, of course, it's always different when it happens to you. But all this "educational campaign" stuff makes a certain amount of sense. The law creating the Department of Agriculture orders it to spread information.

In Secretary Benson's let-'em-eat-meat campaign, for instance, the idea is cheaper than a price support program for cattle. As Secretary Benson says, "Our purpose is to get surpluses out of storage and into stomachs."

XXXV

ISH could see that Jack was pleased with himself, and liked to talk. He, at least, had imagination.

"Yes," the young man continued, "I have an idea. Our Old Ones—they were the Americans—made the houses and the bridges and the little round things that we hammer out for arrowheads. But those others—the Old Ones of the Old Ones—perhaps they made the hills and the sun, and the Americans themselves."

Then, though it was a cheap trick to play on the young man, Ish could not resist talking in double meaning.

"Yes," he said, "I have heard it said that those older Old Ones produced the Americans—but I rather doubt that they made the hills and the sun."

Though he could not have understood, perhaps the young man caught the irony in the tone, and so said nothing.

"But, go on," Ish continued then. "Tell me more about the arrowheads themselves."

"Yes, about the arrowheads," the young man said, hesitating a moment, and then regaining confidence. "The red are good for shooting cattle and lions. The white are for deer and other game."

"Why is that?" Ish asked sharply, for he felt his old-time rationalism stirring at the thought of all such magic and hocus-pocus. The question, however, seemed only to surprise and confuse the young man.

"How would anyone know why? Except you yourself, Ish! This matter of the red and white arrowheads is merely something that is." He hesitated, and then the sunlight seemed to catch his attention. "Yes, it is like the sun that keeps on going round the earth, but naturally no one knows why, or asks why."

Ish said nothing more about the matter, and smiled at the young man reassuringly, and looked again at the arrow.

Another thought came to him, and he asked:

"Can you always find plenty of those little round things?"

The young man laughed merrily, as if this were a strange question.

"There are so many that if all of us spent all our time pounding out arrowheads, still we should never run short."

Ish considered. Yes, that was probably true. Even if there were a hundred men in The Tribe by now, there must be thousands and thousands of coins readily to be found in tills and cash boxes, even in this one corner of the city. And if the coins should be exhausted there would be thousands of miles of copper telephone wire. When he had first made an arrow, he recollected, he had imagined that The Tribe would revert to stone arrowheads. Instead they had taken a short cut, and were already fashioning metal. So perhaps civilization would return.

This Jack, who was of the First Ones, must be Ish's great grandson in the male line, and he was also Em's great grandson. So, as Ish looked, his heart yearned outwards, and he asked a strange question:

"Young man," he said, "are you happy?" The young man named Jack looked startled at this question, and he glanced in both directions before answering, and then he spoke.

"Yes, I am happy. Things are as they are, and I am part of them."

• • •

ONE morning months later Ish awoke with a great shock. As he focused his old eyes, he saw that the person who was shaking him was the young man named Jack, and that Jack's face was tense with fear.

"Get up! Get up quick!" Jack was saying. With the shock of the sudden awakening, Ish's mind reacted faster. He moved quickly, pulling on some clothes. Jack helped him.

Just as they reached the sidewalk, the thick clump of underbrush around the next house to the north suddenly went up in a roar of flame.

They came to two other young men who were standing there looking at the approaching flames. Then Ish remembered.

"My hammer!" he cried out. "Where is my hammer?"

• • •

THEN he was amazed to see what a tremendous impression his words had made upon the three young men. They looked at each other as if they were panic stricken. Suddenly, Jack dashed back toward the house, even though the bushes in the garden itself were now beginning to smoke.

"Come back! Come back!" Ish called after him, but his voice was not very strong, and he was half choking on account of the smoke.

This was a terrible thing, Ish was thinking to himself, that Jack should be burned in the fire about such a small matter as a hammer.

Then Jack came running out. His lion-skin cloak was singed, and he himself was rubbing at some burns where sparks had fallen on him. Otherwise he was not hurt. The other young men seemed relieved that he was carrying the hammer in his hand.

Even though the young men helped him, Ish was very tired when they got to the safety of the rocks.

Yes, he thought, it is now the dry autumn, and the time of bad fires because of dry north winds. And this is the autumn following that summer when I first came to know Jack, and talked to him about the arrowheads. Since then Jack has been the one who has chiefly taken care of me, as The Tribe at its meeting had undoubtedly ordered him to do. After all, I am a god. No, I am not a god. But perhaps I am the mouthpiece of a god. No, I know that I am not that either. But at least they give me care, and I have comfort, because I am the last American.

Film Fantasy Will Feature One Girl, Hundreds Of Fish

By ANNETTE JEWETT
NEA Staff Writer

One society in which a woman's place in life is very much prescribed is in Cuba. But a Cuban girl, Martica Alberni, decided to do something different—she now makes her living under water.

She met her husband and business partner, Bronson Hartley, five years ago, when she was 19. As part of his courtship, he took her down to a coral reef, 25 feet under the Bermuda waters. There he had made friends with a colony of fish —angel fish, parrot fish, sergeant-majors, sea horses, hogfish, snappers and many others.

Fish Know Them

To say he made friends with them is no exaggeration. They were his close associates in an unusual occupation, that of taking tourists deep under water to see strange fish and vegetation.

Bronson has been taking people under water since the age of 11, when he built his first diving helmets for himself and his friends. Now, as a young man, he makes his living at it.

He knows the fish so well—the same fish visit after visit—that they come to him when he offers them food, mainly mussels. Identifying marks on the fish are pointed out to skeptics who don't believe they ar his friends.

Roles In Movie

This familiarity with the fish has resulted in an unusual color movie, "Main Street, Under Sea."

Bronson showed some of his own film taken under water to a visiting producer, who conceived the idea of a fantasy film with the fish as characters, the coral reefs as the buildings in a town, and Martica as the only human being in the film.

For most of the film's shots, Martica wears a diving helmet with glass on three sides, in addition to a variety of attractive bathing suits.

Martica Hartley wears diving helmet that is part of her working equipment. She earns her living deep under water.

She goes under water to find a dream world but finds the fish world much the same as the human world.

Fishy Characters

A red hind plays the part of a solid citizen, an angel fish is a cabaret dancer, two sea horses are young lovers, a pink squirrel fish is a spinster, a porcupine fish is the mayor, lobsters and an octopus are racketeers and hoodlums.

The Hartleys have made thousands of undersea dives, mostly from 15 to 20 feet under.

Martica's part in the day-to-day business of showing tourists the undersea sights is to run and take care of the 30-foot boat's engine, make the tourists comfortable on board, and supervise the oxygen tank while tourists are under water. Two tourists at a time accompany Bronson down a ladder—15 to 20 feet below the surface, although with Bronson's helmets they can go as deep as 60 feet.

Elevation of the floor of Death Valley may vary from time to time, because the rough surface of salt may be floating on brine about three feet beneath. The floor of Death Valley thus may rise and fall slightly with the condition of this water table.

Choosing Proper Underthings Helps Fit Of Outer Garments

Do you know that fit in lingerie greatly can affect in outer clothing?

You want your skirts to stay put and your belts to hug your waistline. If you are to have that perfect fit with comfort, remember to wear the lingerie for the dress when your measurments are taken or when you, yourself, use a tape measure.

Otherwise, you may have the experience of a perfectly fitting skirt cutting your flesh at the waistline because of extra bulk given you by your lingerie.

Try on a petticoat or slip with the dress you want it for. Some are made with flared skirts, others with column-slender lines. Some have trimming on the skirt edge which in some cases adds bulk. There are stiff materials and clinging ones. Some slips will fit you while others will give you a misshapen figure which your carefully chosen dress can't correct.

You may ask your salesgirl for a slip cut for misses', women's or junior figures or for a bias or a straight cut. There are crepes, satins, taffetas and knitted fabrics, each suitable for different dress fabrics and cuts. Be sure to try yours in the fitting room to get the one that keeps your dress flattering.

DREW PEARSON ON
The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

(Copyright, 1953, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Treasury aide Folsom deserts Eisenhower's tax stand; Senator Duff fights losing battle for Wilson Cabinet widow; Senator Malone hurries to give away public lands.

WASHINGTON—It isn't supposed to be known, but a Treasury spokesman backed down on his chief in the White House the other day over the important question of cutting taxes.

President Eisenhower is firmly on record against cutting taxes at this time. He has made it very clear he opposes New York Congressman Dan Reed's bill to slash income taxes before the budget is balanced. However, when Undersecretary of the Treasury Marion Folsom was questioned privately about Reed's bill, he did not support his chief.

Folsom, ex-treasurer of the Eastman Kodak Company, was kept after a House Ways and Means hearing to answer questions about tax cuts.

"What position do you take on the excess-profits tax?" asked Louisiana's Congressman Hale Boggs. "Do you think it should be continued or permitted to expire "

"Our position on the excess-profits tax is that it is a very bad tax, and we would like to ge rid of it as soon as we can," replied Folsom.

This is in direct opposition to Folsom's boss, President Eisenhower, who is against wiping out the excess-profits tax before personal income taxes are reduced. Otherwise it would appear that the Republicans favored big business.

"Then what position do you take on H. R. 1?" pursued Congressman Boggs, referring to Dan Reed's bill cutting income taxes.

"We don't want to take any position now," hedged the Treasury official.

"So far you are not against it?" pressed Boggs.

"No," admitted Folsom.

Hearts And Politics

Big, gruff, Senator Jim Duff of Pennsylvania, one of the ablest solons on Capitol Hill, isn't saying anything about it, but he isn't too happy about the treatment he gets from the White House.

Duff hapens to have been the very first Eisenhower supporter. When most people were saying that Ike wouldn't run, Duff was out beating the bushes, drumming up delegates for the aloof general in Paris. He made speech after speech, all over the U. S. A., saying that Eisenhower was the only candidate who could win for the Republicans.

Since the elections, however, Duff was not appointed to the Cabinet, seldom invited to the White House. On policy matters on Capitol Hill he rarely is consulted.

The senator from Pennsylvania has said nothing, is not the complaining kind, has asked no favors.

The other day, however, Duff, who believes you should have a heart in politics, did go to the White House to ask one favor. He called on Gov. Sherman Adams to request that a fellow Pennsylvanian, Mrs. A. Mitchell Palmer, be continued in her job with the General Services Administration.

Mrs. Palmer happens to be the sole surviving widow of the Woodrow Wilson Cabinet. Her late husband, a prominent Pennsylvanian, was Wilson's attorney general, and Mrs. Palmer in latter years has held an obscure position in the General Services Administration.

When Franklin D. Roosevelt took office in 1933, the Democrats found several Republicans in sinecure jobs, among them President Harding's old secretary, George Christian, and Mrs. Harding's brother, O. M. P. Brown, both members of the Shiping Board.

At first they were slated to be axed. However, it was discovered that Christian was almost blind, could get no work elsewhere, and Roosevelt continued him. Mrs. Harding's brother also was continued.

Later, another Republican, ex-Senator Sam Shortridge of California, was found half-starving on the streets of San Francisco at the age of 65. He also was given a job by the Democrats.

But when Senator Duff, Republican, called at the White House to ask that the widow of a Democratic Cabinet member be continued in a minor post drawing $5,000, he got little satisfaction.

Sherman Adams appeared to concur; but, two days later, Mrs. Palmer was fired. Her telephone was cut off, her desk moved out, and she was told she no longer was needed.

This and various other things have led Duff to the conclusion that he'll probably run for governor of Pennsylvania next year. If so, Pennsylvania Democrats, who now control Philadelphia for the first time in 70 years, will try to send either peppery Hugh Dilworth or ex-Senator Francis Myers to Washington to take his place—and Ike may be one short on his already slim Senate majority.

Giving Away Public Land

Nevada's GOP Senator George Malone is in such a hurry to turn the public range lands over to the big Western cattle and sheep men that he actually announced the firing of the government's land management boss before President Eisenhower got around to doing it.

The official in question is Malone's fellow Nevadan, Marion Clawson, who has continued on the job, although expecting to be replaced as soon as the Republicans can find a successor.

"I see that they are firing (Clawson)" remarked Malone, behind closed doors of the Senate Interior Committee, "and that is a good start. He is from Nevada, too, but, as far as I am concerned, he is a lost soul. He doesn't have any more idea how the stockmen West of the Rockies make a living than a hog does about drinking holy water . . .

"Now, what they have done for 20 long years," the Nevada senator complained, "is that every time one of these boys is sent out from a nice agricultural school—and a lot of them would not know a south end of a cow going north—he gets up some way and he says, 'We must save this for more deer or antelope.' And the man who has been living out there, has run 700 head of cattle for 30 years, must cut down 20 per cent or 30 per cent."

Chairman Hugh Butler of Nebraska agreed that "the whole country would be better off if every acre of land that has not been reserved for public parks and things like that was in private ownership."

However, Washington's freshman Senator Henry "Scoop" Jackson warned that this is no time to be "giving away" the public lands while the federal government is still more than $270,000,000,000 in debt. If they are to be disposed of, he implied, they should be sold, not given away.

The purpose of The Community Survey is to obtain helpful information that will enable advertisers to improve their service to you readers by preparing ads the way you want them.

When you indicate which ads you think will do the advertisers the most good, it is possible to tabulate that information and give it to the advertisers for their guidance.

On the first page of the paper each day you will find a list of the advertisements to be checked that day.

All you have to do is to decide each day which Large Ad, which Medium Ad, which Small Ad and which Classified Ad you think will do the advertiser the most good . . . Just write four names on this blank each day.

Cash awards will go to those readers whose selections are nearest to what the majority of readers think. Every week is a separate survey.

YOU ARE NOT REQUIRED TO WRITE A LETTER. The awards are made to those readers whose selections are nearest to the list of ads which get the most votes. The awards are ACCURATE . . . FAIR . . . and HONEST.

You do not have to be an advertising expert! All ads are written for you readers. YOU are best qualified to indicate which ads will do the advertiser the most good.

Daddy Ringtail And Walking Shoes

Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy, really had his troubles now. This was far away in the Great Forest, not far away from the very tall tree where Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, lives up in a monkey house.

Mugwump was peeping from behind a tree. He was hoping that Huffy Tuffy wouldn't find him. Huffy Tuffy is very huffy and very tuffy. He likes to cause trouble with a trouble-stick.

Huffy had learned of Mugwump's tricks to keep the trouble from happening. Mugwump had first pretended a friendly Hannah would help him, but Huffy now knew there was no Hannah. Yes Huffy knew all of Mugwump's tricks, and so what oh what could Mugwump do? Huffy Tuffy is very huffy and very tuffy, remember.

Mugwump remembered. "Worry, worry, worry," said Mugwump to himself. He said it there where he hid behind the tree.

Then, "Squeak, squeak, squeak," came the noise of squeaky shoes a-walking. They were walking from up the Elephant Path. "Squeak, squeak, squeak." They were walking and squeaking closer and closer to Mugwump.

Mugwump peeped out and saw them. Nobody was walking in the shoes. The shoes were walking by themselves. "Squeak, squeak, squeak, squeak!"

"Phew!" said Mugwump. "I sure

"No," said one of the shoes, "there's nobody here but us shoes."

"And don't you worry, Mugwump," said the other shoe.

"If Huffy Tuffy comes along, we'll send him on his way," said both of the shoes together.

"What can you do?" asked Mugwump. "Maybe kick his legs?"

"No," said the shoes together. "We won't kick his legs. Just you watch, good friend Mugwump."

Mugwump began to do his watching, because there came Huffy Tuffy now. "Aha!" cried the great big fellow. "Now I've got you, and I'm going to cause trouble with my trouble-stick."

Huffy Tuffy raised the trouble-stick high. He was ready to hit and cause his trouble, but "squeak, squeak, squeak" was the noise of the shoes. They were walking and squeaking for Huffy to see, and he saw them.

"Help!" shouted Huffy Tuffy, because he was very much afraid of this something he couldn't understand. He turned and ran. Happy day!

Spiritual Diary for Lent

In the beginning God . . . .—Genesis 1:1.

Today's Message

Primitive man, viewing with awe the world in which he lived, sought an Eternal Cause. The inspired writer set forth the simple belief of a chosen people: "In the beginning—God!" On this simple faith he predicated his existence and built his future. Out of this faith there came the mighty men of old—men whose faith changed the course of mankind for good.

Modern man, who has been granted a larger revelation of knowledge wrought in the laboratories of mankind, has radically changed his way of living. He has turned night into day with electric power; Winter into Summer with controlled heat; the sweat of the brow has given way to the push-button; and the devout sacrifice at the altar has been replaced by the cynical brittleness of an indifferent worship. In the midst of these changes life for many people has become a "dark and barren vale between two ice-clad peaks of cold eternity." Each in his own way cries the eternal question: "What is my destiny? On what can I count?"

Once again we need to stand out under the stars, free of the weights of civilization, and learn anew the lesson that "In the beginning—God," that "in Him we live and move and have our being" and that "our souls are restless until we find our peace" in Him.

Today's Prayer

O God, in the midst of a world that seemingly has driven Thee from its heart by its failure to understand Thy workings, forgive us, and may we find the pathway back to Thee. Amen.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

BY NORTH CALLAHAN

NEW YORK—J. C. Penney tells me he has great respect for pigs. They started him out in business. When he was a small boy in Missouri, he had a bunch of porkers penned up in his backyard, feeding them from food scraps. This was Mr. Penney's first business venture and he looked forward to selling the hogs at a good profit. But their noise and "fragrance" bothered the neighbors, so the elder Mr. Penney told J. C. he would have to sell them. He did—but reluctantly. His father pointed out that it was more important for a young man to live sociably with others than to make money. Today with 1,632 stores throughout the United States bearing his name—which did a billion dollars worth of business last year—J. C. Penney looks back and is thankful to his wise father. The advice which the merchant-magnate gives to young people is: it does not take genius to succeed in life.

Ham Fisher, Bill Gargan and Dr. Frank Black got together for dinner the other evening in a local bistro. The restaurant owner who likes his little jokes rigged up an unusual motif for them: the restaurant room was decorated in tropical design with posters showing sunny beaches, waving palms, etc., and a real trout suspended behind an electric fan. Back of all this was a big sign which said: "We Can't Afford to Go to Florida."

There's only one thing I've seen that never fails to touch the hearts of hard-boiled New Yorkers. It's a baby. Often have I noticed on the subways, buses or in the midst of a crowded street when some father or mother appears lugging tiny Junior or Missie, the tough Gotham crust disappears. Dead-panned faces relax, scowls melt into smiles and the crowd gives way before the tender impact of an infant. Even the burly cops watch out for the tiny tots, blowing their shrill whistles and holding back the milling mobs—while a little child leads them.

Dan Duryea, sleek, sinister-type movie and television actor found advertising so rough he couldn't take it. At least, that was what his doctor decided. Duryea who starred in college theatricals at Cornell went into the advertising business here after graduation and after six years of it, his doctor told him he would have to rest! After taking things easy for six months, Dan was told by his doc that he could go back to work—if he'd choose something easier! So he started acting in "The Little Foxes" and he's been in this mild and relaxing occupation of "hating, shooting, fighting and killing" people ever since.

Down on the lower level of 630 5th Avenue is a wee bit o' Scotland. It is a store that is all of five feet wide and ten deep and features real Scottish wares. In this Wee Scot's Hoose one can purchase—if he so desires—kilts, plaid cloth, clan crests, tams, Butter Scotch, candy and real bagpipes. To stand and look in the window at the colorful display of imports from Bonnie Scotland is like reading a few pages from Sir Walter Scott. On one large can I read "Pudding black or mealy—verra guid."

Over on the West Side is a puppet shop run by Bill Baird who does an enterprising business—but this is not the story. The shop is housed in a one-time garage which was once the headquarters of "Dutch" Schultz, notorious racketeer of bygone days. The garage had false ceilings where illegal booze was hidden. In the days of "Dutch" it was known as the "West Side Pickle Works." Baird still gets mail addressed to this acrid name.

Gotham Gatherings: Some here are laughing at the remark reportedly made by Miss Ivy Baker Priest, new U. S. Treasurer: "It's a funny thing about money. Men get their faces on it, but women get their hands on it" . . . Pardon me while I take a bow to Everybody's Digest which recently ran a chapter of my book, "Smoky Mountain Country" . . . the sedate New York Times is getting plebeian, if a current headline on a one-column story is an indication: "Garlic and Onions Face Higher Tariff"—hold onto your nose . . . a questionable pun current here regarding subway ride price increases: "all's fare in shove and war."

Visitor From India Gathers Enthusiasm For 4-H Club Work

By SELIG S. HARRISON

BHADSON, NORTH INDIA—(AP)—At the 4-H Club youth camp near St. Joseph, Mo., they had no idea what they were starting when 21 touring Indian farm leaders paid a visit one day last September.

One of the Indian agricultural experts, 34-year-old Amirk Singh, decided then and there that organizing young farmers along 4-H Club lines could change the face of the imperverished Indian countryside and end recurrent famine.

"I had heard about the farm youth programs in America, but seeing something in action makes all the differences," Singh declared.

Sets To Work

Less than six months after his return from the Ford Foundation-sponsored tour of the United States and Japan, Singh has helped organize 24 young farmer clubs staged his first annual demonstration methods.

Now other young farmer groups are springing up in the South Indian state of Mysore and in scattered areas across the country.

Bhadson is one of the most successful model extension projects in India after slightly less than a year in operation.

Better Camp Yields

Village-level extension workers show peasants how improved seeds, fertilizers, and farming methods can increase crop yields. Through simple sanitation reforms such as filling stagnant ponds, they can quickly demonstrated better health possibilities.

Healthy poultry stock drawn from breeds expensive in India such as leghorns or Rhode Islands prove especially popular as youth projects. Poultry breeding is not widespread at present in Indian villages and could materially help ease food scarcities.

Communist strength has mounted throughout other regions of this strategic frontier state, the Patiala and East Punjab States Union. But in the Bhadson area the political winds have now shifted in favor of democratic groups.

Altogether the Ford Foundation aids 15 extension projects similar to Bhadson and 34 village workers training schools.

Cincinnati was the leading pork-packing center of the United States in the middle of the 19th Century.
