Truman's Address Blankets World; Is Repeated by Radio

SAN FANCISCO, Oct. 18. (AP)—President Truman set the world stage today for an unprecedented counter-offensive to Soviet peace propaganda. He offered a full "partnership of peace" to all Asia, backed up by United States military might.

The State Department's "Voice of America" bombarded every reachable listener with a constant repetition of Truman's warning to the peoples of the Far East that Russia is trying to turn them into "colonial slaves of a new imperialism."

WOULD WAR

And the President left for the Russian politburo a bold and blunt reminder that the United States will not stop short of war to resist aggression and preserve "our free way of life."

Mr. Truman flew back to Washington shortly after delivering his major foreign policy speech last night in the War Memorial Opera House where the United Nations charter was born five years ago.

His plane landed at Andrews Field, a military airport southeast of Washington, at 19:04 a.m., EST (9:04) a.m. CST). The military airport was used because of fog over the national airport.

He left San Francisco's International Airport at 1:15 a.m., EST., on the last, eight-hour leg of a 14,000-mile round trip flight during which he talked with Gen. Douglas MacArthur on Wake Island about what, he said, were the "dangers which still face us."

The crowd applauded vigorously as the President declared "we are increasing our armed strength because Soviet policies leave us no other choice."

REDS CAN AID

If the Soviets "really want peace," Mr. Truman continued, they can prove it "by living up to the principles of the United Nations charter;" and "by joining the rest of the United Nations in calling upon the North Koreans to lay down their arms at once; and "by lifting the iron curtain and permitting the free exchange of information and ideas," and, finally, by joining with the UN to establish a system of collective security "which will permit the elimination of the atomic bomb and the drastic reduction and regulation of all other arms and armed forces."

What the United States did for Korea, he said in effect, it stands ready to do, in conjunction with the United Nations, for any peaceful country that finds its borders violated and its freedom attacked.

Discuss Law On Vendors, Solicitors

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce last night adopted for consideration and study a recommendation of the chamber's merchants committee that the organization sponsor a proposed city ordinance regulating the sale of goods by peddlers.

The driectors adopted the committee's recommendation that the ordinance be considered and studied by James Rosser, a lawyer and a member of the Chamber board, and W. W. Park, the city attorney, before being presented to the city council by the committee for the council's consideration.

PROVISIONS

As proposed, the ordinance would provide for registration and fingerprinting "peddlers, solocitors, hawkers, canvassers, itenerant merchants, and -or transient vendors of merchandise, requiring them to give certain other information and to carry a registration card."

The term "peddler" would not however, include agents or representatives of jobbers and wholesalers, calling on customers on a regular established route, according to the proposal's definition of the term.

The committee also recommended that a solicitors control be set up through the Chamber of Commerce for screening and issuing permits to those requesting donations and solicitations for special advertising, ticket sales, donations of merchandise prizes, and donations to charities of all kinds.

SOLICITORS

Details of the solicitors control measure are to be worked out and submitted to the merchants for their approval, Harold Bennett, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said.

Storm Waves Hit Florida Beaches

Dade County, Florida, Haulover beach is battered by increasing wind and waves from an approaching tropical hurricane. The storm is heading toward Palm Beach and rich citrus area after hitting Miami with 125-mile-an-hour winds.

Trailer Wife Killed in Florida Hurricane; Hundreds Homeless

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 18. (AP) — One person was known dead, hundreds are homeless and National Guardsmen were called out today to guard hard-hit areas in the South Florida hurricane area where damage was officially estimated at $5 million.

The storm, losing force as it traveled over land, moved on toward the Central Florida citrus belt, leaving destruction in its wake from 125-mile winds.

Hardest hit were the communities of Davie, West Hollywood and West Hallendale. In those towns at least 50 homes were destroyed, 79 trailers wrecked, many homes damaged and an undetermined number of persons injured.

WOMAN KILLED

Mrs. Owens Adams was killed at West Hollywood when the winds upset and smashed her trailer. Her husband, Owen, was critically hurt and their three small children injured.

Sheriff Amos Hall of Broward County made a tour of the three communities and called out the 40 men of Company C, Florida National Guard.

"Davie, a town of about 2,000, looks as though a tornado went through it," said Hall. "Substantial homes were destroyed and there isn't an undamaged house in the town."

The three communities are inland from Fort Lauderdale, resort city 24 miles north of Miami, and Hollywood, another resort between the two cities.

The tornadic nature of the storm was evidenced by lesser winds in Hollywood and Fort Lauderdale.

MIAMI HARD HIT

Miami itself was hard hit. One estimate of damage in the greater Miami area alone was as high as $8 million. About 40 persons injured there, filled hospital emergency rooms after the wind died down.

Some houses were unroofed and about 2,000 plate glass windows were shattered in the Miami area, but no fatalities were reported there. Fallen trees blocked a number of streets.

Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster, made preliminary damage estimate for the South Florida section of $5 million.

America's Appetite Is Big 'If' In Planning 1951 Farm Program

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. (AP)—Will government restrictions on installment buying and credit for houses, automobiles, television and radio sets, refrigerators and similar items send Americans on another eating spree?

Or will they tighten their belts and cut down on expenditures at the corner grocery store?

These questions are being pondered by government farm officials as they prepare the government's farm production program for 1951. The answers — if known — could save much official sweating over the possibility of shortages or surpluses, price controls and price supports.

STEP UP EATING

Officials recall how Americans stepped up their eating habits during the last war.

Many people not only increased their total consumption of food, but bought better quality diets, cook cause many people to cut down on food buying in order to meet the more rigid requirements of installment buying? If so, the present level of farm production might be large enough and perhaps too large in some lines.

Something of the same situation is developing now. Needs of the defense program threaten to cut down on stocks of electrical appliances, automobiles, houses and the like.

INCOME UP

On the other hand, national income is increasing under the influence of defense spending. Some economists predict the national income will be $20 billion higher next year than this.

The question faced by farm officials is this: Will much of the money which otherwise would have been used to buy appliances and houses and much of the increase in national income be diverted to purchase of bigger and better diets?

If so, agriculture will need to boost its production level in certain lines — particularly meats, some fruits and vegetables and possibly milk and poultry.

Or, on the other hand, will the

Invasion Route Open As French Abandon Fort

SAIGON, Indochina, Oct. 18. (AP)—France today announced abandonment of the Indochina frontier post of Dong Dang, relinquishing for the second time in 65 years her control of the main invasion route from China.

A French military spokesman said the Dong Dang garrison withdrew yesterday, presumably 15 miles southeast to the French frontier headquarters fortress of Langson.

FIFTH IN MONTH

It was the fifth post the French have given up within a month along the mountainous front stronghold of Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh's Nationalist guerrillas.

Dong Dang squarely faced the traditional invasion route from China — through the walled Chinese City of Nam Quan (Chinese gate) and a mountain pass. Except for periods of Japanese and Chinese occupation during and just after World War II, France had held the post since 1885.

The withdrawal from Dong Dang left major French frontier garrisons only at Langson, and on the western and eastern ends of the former French border defense line —at Laokay and Moncay.

GOOD SHAPE

The military spokesman said the retirement from Dong Dang had been carried out "in good order" and without unusual pressure from Vietminh forces.

Langson itself was readied for the onslaught of the Vietminh guerrillas, or perhaps for abandonment by the French, as has been increasingly rumored recently.

Russia Makes Proposal On Lie Successor

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 18. (AP)—The Soviet Union was reported today to have proposed formally that the U. N. pick a new secretary-general from veterans delegates of Latin America or Asian countries. No name was offered in the early stages of the closed-door Security Council meeting, however.

Immediately after Russia's Jacob A. Malik made this proposal in the council, is was reported, SR B. N. Rau, India, proposed that the council draw up a list of 22 names, including the names of former presidents of the General Assembly and other U. N. delegates to see if the five great powers could agree on one of them.

The United States delegate, Warren R. Austin, had not spoken an hour after the meeting began, it was said. Austin, however, went into the secret huddle determined to back an extension of term for Trygve Lie, the present secretary-general.

Malik was reported to have told the council that every attempt to find agreement should be made. He was said to have stated that it is not yet time for the assembly to act on the Lie issue. The Assembly has been called to meet tomorrow for final action on a U.S. proposal to extend Lie's term, which ends Feb. 2. However, the Assembly session will depend on the outcome of today's council meeting.

Malik indicated the Russians still are opposed to Lie. He vetoed last week a motion to reelect Lie.

The Russians were reported to have:

1. Told some Indians they would support Chief Indian Delegate Sir Benegal N. Rau.
2. Told other Indians they would back Sir Gavswame Mudaliar, former president of the economic and social council.
3. Told some Latin Americans they would support Mexico's Luis Padilla Nervo.
4. Told other delegates that, under certain circumstances they would back Lie.
5. Told some delegates they would support any Latin-American.

Lie's whole-hearted support of UN action against aggression in Korea is believed to be the basis for Russia's opposition to him.

Report Three Jet Crashes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. (AP)—Andrews Field Air Force Base reported today that three F-86 fighter planes crashed today almost simultaneously in the Washington area.

Lt. Joe Kent, public relations officer, said two of the planes went into the Potomac River and that the third had been located by air observers in a wooded area in Virginia.

He said the plane down in Virginia was inside a triangle formed by the towns of Leesburg and Warrenton, Va., and Brunswick, Md.

Kent said he had no information as to what might have caused a simultaneous disaster to the three planes.

There also was no word as to what had happened to the pilots. The F-86 is a single-seater jet plane.

He said all three were believed to have gone down about 12:15 p.m.

Shortly after the first announcement, Kent said the pilot of the plane which belly-landed on land had telephoned the base. Kent did not have this pilot's name but quoted him as saying the other two planes had "spun" into the Potomac between Leesburg and Brunswick. This is about 30 miles northwest of Washington.

The planes were from the 335th fighter-interceptor squadron.

Strawn Test On Edge Of Kelley-Snyder

Half a mile north of a recently completed one and one-quarter mile southwest extension to Strawn lime production on the southwest side of the Kelley-Snyder field, Sun Oil Co. and Humble Oil & Refining Co. will drill an 8,200-foot test.

It will be their No. 1 Eliza C. Rollins, and will be spudded 1,929 feet from the north and 1,980 feet from the east lines of section 193, block 97, H&TC survey.

It is a half mile north of the same operator's No. 1-A G. H. Arledge, the Strawn extension producer.

DAWSON DISCOVERY

Fred M. Manning, Inc., and Bay Petroleum Corp. No. 1 D. Huddle has been completed as the second Spraberry discovery for Dawson County.

It was completed for 186 barrels of 37.9 gravity oil daily. It flowed through a 16-64th inch choke from pay at 7,856-7,985 feet which had been shot with 310 quarts of nitroglycerine.

Gas-oil ratio was 625-1. Tubing pressure was 75 pounds.

No. 1 Huddle was drilled to 9,914 feet in Pennsylvanian lime where it was dry, and plugged back to 8,026 feet for completion in the Spraberry in the open hole. It topped the Spraberry at 7,538 feet with a minus datum point of 4,766 feet.

Dawson County's first lower Spraberry production was in the Spraberry deep pool, 13½ miles southeast of the No. 1 Huddle in Southeast Dawson County.

Location for the new discovery is 1,980 feet from the north and west lines of section 11, block 36, T-5-N, T&P survey and one and one half miles southwest of Lamesa.

STANDARD NO. 1 SMITH

Standard Oil Co. of Texas appears to have a new oil discovery in Central-North Dawson County at its No. 1 M. V. A. Smith.

That prospector located just south of the Lynn County line four miles southwest of O'Donnell and 660 feet from the north and 1,980 feet from the east lines of section 34, block 41, PSL survey, recovered 47.80

Fall of Pyongyang Is Imminent As Armies Race to Doomed City

Announcement Of Capture Is Premature

Climax of Spectacular 270-Mile Drive Out Of Pusan Beachhead

TOKYO, Oct. 18, (AP) — South Koreans said tonight their troops had fought into Pyongyang, doomed and nearly deserted Red capital, but there were indications the report may be premature.

Two hours after the radio at Pusan said South Korean troops had entered, a field dispatch reported Marine pilots still were attacking enemy targets in close support outside the city.

The dispatch, filed by AP Correspondent O. H. P. King after a flight over the capital, made no mention of friendly forces inside the city.

Instead it said that North Korean rear-guards were withdrawing into the bomb-blackened city before the United Nations advance.

It still was believed possible that a small advance South Korean force had crossed the Taedong River into the Red capital, as the Pusan radio said. If so it climaxed a brilliant eight-day march of nearly 90 miles.

The Pusan radio said the South Koreans also captured Pyongyang's nearby air field.

In any case, Pyongyang was in its last hours.

AP Correspondent Hal Boyle in another flight over Pyongyang said remnants enemy forces fleeing north from the city were attacked by jet planes. He said the city appeared deserted. His dispatch was filed shortly before the Pusan announcement.

ROKS WIN

The American foot troopers wanted to add Pyongyang to their string of historic firsts—Manila, Tokyo, the linkup between the two South Korea beachheads.

But the South Koreans, battling to win back the northern half of their country—wrested from them with the Russian occupation after World War II—were not to be stopped.

Along the winding mountain road southeast of Pyongyang and into the capital plains, the ROKs troops rolled forward, hardly pausing.

For days their officers had trouble restraining the South Koreans from running on toward the city.

NO STOPPING

They surged through Red Korean opposition, sporadic at times, bitter at others.

The mountain road was littered with Communist dead. The South Koreans wheeled past huge piles of abandoned Red arms and equipment.

American tanks cleared a path at least part of the way for the surging ROKs.

The thrust climaxed a spectacular northward drive out of the old Pusan beachhead, about 270 miles to the southeast.

TOUGH OUTFIT

The ROK First Division made a reputation for toughness north and northeast of the old Taegu anchor of the Southeast Korea beachhead.

When other ROK divisions recoiled there before the fury of Communist attacks, the South Korean First Division held. It would not retreat.

Pyongyang is the first capital of a Russian satellite to be entered in war by forces of the democratic nations.

On the east coast, two other important cities fell. Hamhung and Hungnam—110 miles south of the Manchuria border—were captured by ROK troops.

Part of Lamesa Schools To Half-Day Schedules

LAMESA, Oct. 18 (AP) — Part of Lamesa's school children will go to school on a half-day basis starting Monday.

Plans for the half-day sessions were approved yesterday at a special meeting of the school board. Supt. G. B. Wadzeck said the action would relieve congestion in the class rooms and give children of migratory laborers opportunity to work half-a-day in the cotton fields.

The half-day sessions are scheduled for all grades through the fourth and possibly through the sixth.

Current enrollment at schools here is at a record high of 3,300, and has been growing from 50 to 150 pupils per week since school opened.

Connie Mack, Nearly 88, Will Retire; Dykes To Succeed Him

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18. (AP) — Connie Mack, popularized as "the grand old man of baseball," retired today as manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, a post he has held since 1901 when the American League was organized.

Mack will be succeeded as field boss of the A's by Jimmy Dykes, colorful ex-third baseman for the A's and one-time manager of the Chicago White Sox.

Mack is 87 years old. His 88th birthday anniversary will be observed Dec. 23.

He had been under fire for a number of years by sports fans in Philadelphia who argued that Mack had outlived his usefulness.

The Athletics wound up last in the American League in the season just completed. Dykes acted as assistant manager and took over the field job on a number of occasions toward the end of the season.

Mack, making the announcement at Press conference, said:

"I am retiring from the active management of the baseball club but will remain as a director."

Mack had hoped to celebrate his golden anniversary year in 1950 with another pennant before retiring. But, with veteran pitchers failing to come through, the A's became mired in the second division early in the season and never were able to get going.

About mid-season, Earle Mack was replaced as assistant manager by Dykes and Cochrane moved up to general manager. But the shift didn't produce any results in the win column. Cochrane has since resigned.

There was dissension among Mac's sons with Earle and Roy on one side and Connie, Jr., on the other. Finally, Connie, Jr., and the Shibe interests offered to sell their holdings to Earle and Roy.

Mack's decision to retire from the dugout after 50 years after winning nine American League pennants and five world series was reached a few days ago after a series of discussions with Roy and Earle, two sons of Mack.

When Roy and Earle purchased controlling interest in the club last summer they announced their father would remain as manager as long as he desired.

Control Agency Ready To Curb War Economy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. (AP)—A powerful new police agency over prices and wages today tackled a series of problems affecting Americans' pocketbooks and pantry shelves.

The Economic Stabilization Agency came officially into existence yesterday, when Alan Valentine took the oath as administrator. A few hours later, another mobilization agency said it will act shortly to curtail use of rubber.

Valentine's problems were:

1. Assembling a staff. He told reporters he wants a "small but first-rate group of people" to begin with. So far, the staff consists of Valentine, Cyrus S. Ching, chairman of the new Wage Stabilization Board (WSB), and a handful of office helpers. Valentine and Ching met for the first time at yesterday's ceremony.

2. Seeking to preserve stabilization by voluntary means. Valentine said the country is in a "very, very grave crisis" and is "dengerously near the point at which the stabilization of the economy is threatened by inflation."

3. Advising President Truman on whether, and when, ceilings should be clamped on any prices and wages. Valentine said he is "proceeding on no assumptions" as to whether ceilings will be needed. He said he would agree in principle with the view that it is desirable to avoid direct controls as long as possible.

4. Administering prices and wage controls where necessary.

5. Calling labor - management conferences, whenever Valentine thinks it desirable, and working out arrangements for the settlement of labor disputes in defense activities.

Casualty List Shows 43 More As Killed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. (AP)—The Defense Department reported 43 deaths and 333 wounded in a Korean area casualty list (No. 128) made public today.

The list also showed 24 injured in combat zone accidents and eight missing in action. Two persons previously listed as casualties were reported to have returned to duty.

Imagination Can Run Wild If Fan Learns Trick Photography

Fousing Fantasy: Sid Ravitz achieved a tricky result when he put this swimmer in the fish bowl. Kitty's wondering.

By IRVING DESFOR
(AP) Newsfeatures

Trick photography has plagued many a camera fan when it popped up unexpectedly due to an accidental double exposure. It ruins two pictures and wastes one negative. However, when planned and controlled, trick shots can be ingenious, amusing and sometimes profitable.

Here are some methods which the amateur can use to produce trick pictures. 1. The planned double exposure on a single negative. 2. The combination of two negatives to make a single print. 3. The combination of two or more prints by cutting out and pasting together. This montage has to be copied. 4. Trick printing in the dark room on a single sheet of paper. The paper can be tilted to get distorted effects. 5. By unorthodox methods when developing negatives, such as solarization.

Successful double exposures require a black background and a precise placement of the lighted images to form a pleasing pattern or unusual arrangement. It is helpful to have a camera with a ground glass back, mounted on a tripod. The first image can be traced on the ground glass with a china-marking crayon. This is the technique usually used for pictures of a single person playing a double role. Subsequent images are then placed in relation to the tracing.

* * *

Recently, I follwed the progress of photographer Sidney Ravitz of Brooklyn as he used a combination of two methods listed above resulting in an eye-catching "Girl in a Fish Bowl". Sid had heard that the U. S. Time Corporation was looking for an unusual photo of a waterproof watch in action.

Sid's initial efforts concentrated on a close-up of a girl swimmer in a fish bowl. First the bowl was photographed against a black background with the water level highlighted. Then the girl was photographed in swimming position on a table, which with the wall in back, was covered with a black cloth. This left the negative transparent except for her figure. The two negatives were then sandwiched together in contact and printed.

We discussed the improvements needed to pep up the idea and agreed that the fish were essential. Also the fish bowl needed a suggestion of living room atmosphere to identify it as the household variety. A corner of a picture hanging on the wall would do it.

To establish the perspective and to add interest, I suggested a cat eyeing the 'swimmer'. It sounded like a good hunch.

Having rounded up all the props, Sid added a labor-saving device that did away with the need for super-imposing negatives later. He carefully cut out a print of a girl swimmer made previously and put it in the fish tank.

The cat's attention was assured with the help of a little catnip rubbed on the edges of the tank. The gold fishes' co-operation was voluntary. One flash, at the right moment, did the trick. . .and the result was a trick picture.

Now if you want a home assignment, how about trying this technique to show a fortune teller gazing into a crystal ball. . .which reveals a live image? You can do it for fun and experience or as a possible election campaign stunt for your school, club or party.

As a Halowe'en prank, you might super-impose a goblin or pumpkin head on the figures or friends. They'd make good place cards for a party.

Moscow Paper Makes Much Of Army Booklet

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. (AP)-A new propaganda charge that American tourists are swarming over Sweden to spy out military information apparently is based on a wartime conversation guide for U. S. soldiers.

A Stockholm dispatch to the Literary Gazette of Moscow, broadcast to Russians this week by the Soviet official radio, said the guide contains 800 "words of menace" in English and Swedish.

It cited as suspicious such phrases as "Draw a map for me" and "I am an American. Show your documents!"

CLEARED UP

Puzzled officials here were inclined to dismiss the whole thing as shear invention until the Defense Department today recalled a booklet prepared for American forces overseas in 1943. It was one of a score or more such booklets devoted to countries which American soldiers conceivably might visit.

The Swedish guide included descriptions of the country and its customs, along with the 800-odd conversational phrases in English and Swedish which Moscow termed menacing.

Except for the fact that she wore a watch in water, the picture didn't seem unusual. You couldn't tell she was in a fish bowl because no fish were visible.

The Literary Gazette's correspondent and the Moscow radio reported that the American tourist "invasion" is "accompanied by noise, shooting, and sound of broken glass."

"Thousands of military persons, diplomats, congressmen, business men, scientists, sportsmen, and gentlemen with no definite profession but with definite tasks have flooded to Sweden with the conversation textbook in their pockets," the Russians were told.

TOP PHRASE

"It has been noted that American tourists, irrespective of their profession, very often use the unequivocal sentence borrowed from the textbook 'Draw a map for me.'

"Blackmail is the basis of the whole selection of words in the textbook."

One question still puzzled officials. It is how so many copies got into circulation, if they really did. Actually the booklet was prepared for military personnel only and has long been out of circulation.

Two Arrested After Bank Robbery Fails

DALLAS, Oct. 18. (AP) — Two men were arrested here yesterday after an unsuccessful attempt was made to rob the Souht Dallas Bank and Trust Company.

Police and Dallas News Reporter Charles Murphy teamed to capture the two men, identified by bank employes as those who tried the hold-up about 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

The reporter spotted the men's car parked in front of a tavern. He was on the way to the bank when he saw it. He had heard a description of the auto, the men, and the license number, on the police radio of his car.

Lester McCalmant, teller at the bank, told officers a man came to the window, held a gun in his right hand and down on his hip and told McCalmant to be "quiet and start digging for the money."

McCalmant looked at the gun and ducked quickly behind the counter. He said the holdup man then turned and walked out.

One of the men arrested at the tavern had a toy pistol.

Bank employes said one man made the robbery demand and the other drove a get-away car.

Rayburn Praises Talk By Truman Last Night

DALLAS, Oct. 18. (AP) — Speaker Sam Rayburn today praised President Truman's policy speech last night as a "very frank and constructive statement about world conditions."

Rayburn also lashed out at Republican criticism of the speech, made on a nation-wide radio broadcast from San Francisco, Calif.

"When Republican National Chairman Guy Gabrielson dogfooed the President's speech with the statement that it was politics, I think it will go very poorly with the people who heard the President's remarks," Rayburn said.

"The Republicans are lost as usual, and grabbing at any small straw that might float in the wind."

Rayburn called the Truman speech 'a very frank and constructive statement about world conditions, especially in Asia, as well as our intentions in dealing with world problems."

U.S. Help To France May Go To $6 Billion

By JOHN SCALI
(Associated Press Staff)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. (AP)—High U. S. officials said today that France is likely to get up to $6 billion in American military aid during the next three years.

An American plan to allocate up to $2,400,000,000 of existing funds to the French is just "a first installment," these officials said.

Additional billions will be needed in FranSce to build up an army of at least 20 divisions by the end of 1952. This reportedly is one of the goals set by military planners to help strengthen western Europe against Communism.

President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson have put Congress on notice that rearming the North Atlantic pact countries and other friendly nations is a long-term job.

French Finance Minister Maurice Petsche was assured yesterday of American plans to give the French $200 million almost immediately so they can start mass production of arms in French factories in line with Atlantic Pact strategy.

This sum is to help meet an anticipated 1951 French budget deficit of $770 million, caused mainly by increased defense spending.

An authorized American spokesman told reporters the French have been told they can expect from $1,800,000,000 to $2,400,000,000 of the nearly $6 billion Congress already has appropriated for arms shipments.

The exact total the French will receive, he said, depends upon future discussions to be carried on within the 12-nation North Atlantic Treaty Council.

Rayburn Points Out Prosperity, Implies Democrats Get Credit

DALLAS, Oct. 18. (AP) — Speaker Sam Rayburn asked a group of farmers to contrast their way of living today with that of 1932—last year of Republican power—and see if they are not a lot better off.

He spoke at the State Fair of Texas at a program in honor of 200 farmers who had paid off loans from the farmers home administration.

The Democratic leader said we "would have had a depression (after the war) if it had not been for planning. But we didn't. Prices went up instead of down."

Hurricane Affects Weather in Texas

(By The Associated Press)

Skies in the extreme northeastern part of Texas were splotched with clouds and light rains today, the first noticable inclement weather in nearly two weeks.

U. S. weather officials said the east coast hurricane brought the showers.

There was just a trace of rain at Texarkana during the 24-hour period ending at 6:30 a.m. today, but as dawn cracked it was raining at Texarkana, Tyler, Longview, and Beaumont. Temperatures in these areas were in the middle 60's.

High temperature yesterday was 91 at Laredo, Alice, Victoria and Cotulla. Low maximum was 79 at Lubbock. The overnight low was 49 at Junction, low maximum 70 at Galveston.

At mid-morning today Amarillo had 57 degrees, Big Spring in the Plains country had 60-degrees temperature. In the extreme west El Paso had 58 and in the Lower Rio Grande Valley Brownsville had 72.

The bureau forecast partly cloudy skies for East Texas and occasional rain in the extreme east portion this afternoon, tonight and tomorrow. Not much change in temperature. Moderate to fresh northerly winds on the coast. West Texas was to remain fair today through tomorrow, with little change in temperatures.

Helms Addition Lots Sold in 2-Day Auction

All homesites in the Helms Addition were sold yesterday and Monday when 210 homesites were auctioned, the average lot bringing from $100 to $250.

The addition, which begins one and one-half blocks east of the Clairemont Road on Eighth Street, was open for inspection Sunday, when prospective buyers chose the lots they wanted to bid on.

Col. C. H. McCall, of Odessa, was auctioneer. The lots were offered on terms of 20 per cent of the bid price as down payment, plus a $5 auctioneer fee per lot, the balance being due on a 24-month installment basis.

Invalidate Shrimp Law

AUSTIN, Oct. 18. (AP) — The Supreme Court today struck down the state's boat-quota system of regulating commercial shrimp fishing.

The court held in essence that the law passed by the last regular session of the legislature failed to achieve its stated conservation objective. The mere limitation of the number of boats is not conservation.

The law was also held to be discriminatory.

The opinion by Associate Justice W. St. John Garwood said:

". . . We conclude that the serious restriction of individual liberty to earn a livelihood which the present law imposes, together with the . . . remoteness of its connection with its declared objective of conservation, render it inconsistent with due process under our state constitution, whatever be its effect under the federal constitution."

The Supreme Court's action dissolved an injunction obtained by the State C[illegible]sh and Oyster Commission in [illegible] District [illegible] against Chr[illegible]nd approximately 40 other fishermen to prevent them from operating in Texas waters.

The case was appealed directly to the Supreme Court. If today's decision stands in the face of additional appeals, it means the next legislature will have to try again to write a shrimp conservation law. Two recent efforts have been invalidated.

Mines in Korea Waters Sink Two Navy Vessels

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. (AP)—Two more Navy vessels, the Minesweeper Pirate and Pledge, have been sunk by mines in Korean waters.

Announcing this yesterday, the Navy placed the toll of one dead, 12 missing and 79 injured. That brought total announced casualties due to mine explosions to 12 dead, 36 missing and 96 injured.

The Navy said the Pirate and the Pledge were sunk Oct. 12 off Wonsan, North Korean port recently captured by South Korean forces. The Navy previously had announced that the Desrtoyers Brush and Mansfield were damaged by mines in late September and the Minesweeper Magpie sunk Oct. 1.

The Pirate had 39 injured and six missing; the Pledge suffered one dead, six missing and 40 injured.

Debate Block Is Attempted By Red China

LONDON, Oct. 18. (AP) — Communist China has joined its nationalist foes and Soviet Russia in opposing a projected United Nations assembly debate on the future of Formosa.

Red China's foreign minister Chou En-Lai asserted in a new China news agency broadcast from Peiping that Formosa is "an inseparable part of the territory of China" and its future is an internal question, not an international matter of UN concern.

He demanded that the Formosa question be removed from the general assembly agenda.

The Nationalists and the Russians took much the same position in opposing a U. S. resolution for an assembly debate on the entire question of Formosa, last major stronghold of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist regime. The UN general assembly, however, adopted the resolution.

The Communists previously had [illegible]d only that the UN halt [illegible]merican [illegible]gression" in Formosa. [illegible] Truman announced after the start of the Korean war, the U. S. Seventh Fleet has been o[illegible] to prevent Communist invas[illegible].

These charges of American aggression against Formosa already are scheduled for consideration by the UN Security Council after Nov. 15. Communist China has been invited by the council to send representatives to participate in the debate.

Rickey Sets Hot Stove League Boiling Over Dodger Stock Sale

Hopes to be accepted—William Zeckendorf.

Holds trump card — Walter F. O'Malley.

By FRANK ECK
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

BROOKLYN, N.Y. — There will be plenty cooking in baseball's hot stove league before long. Most of it will evolve around Branch Rickey, possibly the greatest brain baseball has ever known.

When the president and general manager of the Dodgers contracted to sell his one - fourth interest in the club, it came as a surprise to everyone.

Rickey's purchaser is William Zeckendorf, wealthy New York realty man. Zeckendorf can buy the stock only if two other Dodger stockholders pass up the chance to buy him off by dealing directly with Rickey.

The two other stockholders involved are attorney Walter F. O'Malley, Dodger vice - president and secretary, and Mrs. John L. Smith, widow of John L. Smith, millionaire penicillin manufacturer who with Rickey and O'Malley shared equally in 75 per cent of the Dodger stock. The other 25 per cent is held by Mrs. James Mulvey, daughter of the late Steve McKeever, ex-Dodger president.

Rickey will pull out with more than $1,000,000 since the Dodgers and their vast farm setup built by his brains and maneuvers is valued at $5,000,000.

Zeckendorf, who once tried to buy into the St. Louis Browns, hopes things work out in his favor. He not only would like to have a fourth of the Dodgers but more if he can make a deal like the one he made with Rickey. If he can't buy more, he hopes the other stockholders will accept him as a partner.

O'Malley holds the trump cards. He has many important items in his favor. One is that he holds a prior right to buy out Rickey. He is popular with the baseball writers, is an advisor for Mrs. Smith whose late husband was his friend from way back. Besides, he is a Brooklyn Trust Company man and had a hand in a recent bank merger.

So you have O'Malley on one side of the fence and Zeckendorf on the other, with the Mahatma of Montague Street (Rickey) straddling the fence.

Rickey undoubtedly will head directly for Pittsburgh and his longtime friend from Columbus, O., John W. Galbreath who recently bought out Frank E. McKinney of Indianapolis and now heads the Pirates.

There is speculation that Dodger manager, Burt Shotton, will leave for Pittsburgh with Rickey. However, Shotton didn't want to run the Dodgers on the field in the first place and will be glad to get back to his sunporch at Barlow, Fla.

If Rickey goes to Pittsburgh the chances are that Eddie Dyer will be brought from St. Louis. Dyer and Cardinal owner, Fred Saigh, have not seen eye-to-eye since the Cards blew the National League flag with a four - game losing streak the last week of 1949. Rickey and Dyer have been friends a long time. Dyer once worked for Rickey and each spring when asked about the pennant race, Dyer would always say:

"I fear the Dodgers most because they have Mr. Rickey and I know what he can do."

The big reason for Rickey leaving Brooklyn is the outcome of a poor Dodger season, both on the field and in the stands, and the fact that the club has been losing money. Rickey went into football in 1948 and it cost the ball club more than $500,000. Last year he tried his football interests in with Dan Topping's football Yankees and that, too, cost a pretty penny. Another costly item was a fire at Fort Worth, Tex., in 1940. The park burned and cost Brooklyn $500,000.

Rickey despises failure. Excluding the last two years he always made money for his backers either here or in St. Louis. If he didn't make it on attendance he made it by getting fabulous prices for players.

However, despite the Dodger losses over the last two years, O'Malley or Smith never shed one tear publicly. Rickey has said so himself, even admitting that he was not pressured into getting rid of Leo Durocher in 1948.

O'Malley has a good chance to get the necessary backing to buy off Zeckendorf. He could do it and could very well become the Dodgers' next president.

Ochoa Facing Hearing Today On Extradition

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 18. (AP) — George Ochoa, Laredo customs broker, was due to start today for Tijuana, Mex., for an extradition hearing on two Texas murder charges.

Telesforo Ocampo, Ochoa's attorney, said Ochoa spent last night in a detention cell in the Department of Justice building. He had been held in Mexico City's jail.

Ochoa is charged with shooting to death two men in separate rooms on different floors of a Laredo hotel last year.

The customs broker's removal to Tijuana was made possible when his lawyer withdrew a pending plea for an injunction against extradition.

Ochoa indicated that, whatever the outcome of the Tijuana hearing, he would return to the U. S. He said he did not know what would happen after the meeting.

"If extradition is denied," he said, "I guess they'll turn me loose and I can cross the border (into the U. S.). If they extradiate me I'll go just the same."

Army Player Named Lineman Of The Week By Associated Press

By TED MEIER
(Associated Press Staff)

NEW YORK, Oct. 18. — For his superb defensive play against Michigan last Saturday, defensive center Elmer Stout of Army's unbeaten and untied eleven today was named the Associated Press college football lineman of the week.

Four times the legions from Ann Arbor were thrown back in the shadow of the Army goal posts. Leading this defense was Stout, a 20-year-old junior from South River, N. J.

Thus to the 5:11, 180-pound cadet goes a major share of the credit for helping Army retain its No. 1 ranking in the weekly AP poll.

CALM AND ALERT

Stout called the defensive signals. With all but one of Michigan's threats thrown back it is evident Stout was calm and alert under pressure.

In California, Big Bill McColl, Stanford end, came through with a topnotch performance against Santa Clara that earned him second place in the lineman poll.

The 20-year-old McColl, standing 6.04 and weighing 225 pounds, played left end on defense then switched to right end on offensive. Against Santa Clara he also was used as safety man.

Stanford, favorite to win the Pacific Coast Conference, won by 10 points, but it was a tight squeeze and it took McColl's pass catching to turn the trick.

He put Stanford ahead by tackling Santa Clara behind goal for a safety. Later with Santa Clara ahead, 7-2, he snared pass in end zone for touchdown. Altogether he caught seven passes for the day.

Center Jim Wiley, of Washington, played a great defensive game against Oregon State, then to demonstrate his versatility he played fullback in the last period.

LINEMAN SCORES

Another center, 238-pound Bob Griffin, of Arkansas, came in for high praise for his work against Baylor. He was switched to tackle on defense and achieved the hope of all lineman—He intercepted a Baylor pass and ran 46 yards for a touchdown.

Said Arkansas Coach Otis Douglas: "We switched Griffin to tackle on defense because we thought he could get the job done. He did a great job. He played a fine game at offensive center, too."

Paul Williams, Texas end; and Bob Ward, Maryland guard, were two more of the 44 linesmen nominated, who came in for high praise. Williams repeatedly broke up Oklahoma's split T sweep. The 181-pound Ward inspired Maryland whenever his teammates seemed to lag against underdog Georgetown.

Linemen nominated this week included:

Tackles — Jim Weatherall, Oklahoma. Bill Crockett, Rice. Dean Smith, Oklahoma.

Centers — Bob Griffin, Arkansas. Roy Pitcock, Texas Christian. Dick Hightower, Southern Methodist.

Ends—Don Menasco, Paul Williams, Texas. Ken Watson, Hardin-Simmons. Frankie Anderson, Oklahoma.

Pampa, Lamesa In Class AA

(By The Associated Press)

Pampa meets Lamesa at Lamesa Friday night in the big game of the week in Class AA schoolboy football.

It will decide several things. One. It is a battle between two of the state's 12 undefeated, untied teams. Second: It will indicate whether Lamesa has a strong team or has just been playing weak opponents. None of the elevens beaten by Lamesa rank very high.

Pampa already has won its spurs. The Harvesters have been kicking over the best. Last week they licked Lubbock, a well-rated eleven indeed.

This tilt headlines a schedule of 36 games, 11 of them of conference nature. Ten of the undefeated, untied teams have games. Breckenridge and Port Arthur, two of the best-liked outfits in the state, rest.

TOUGH TEST

Freeport gets a tough test from Pasadena and Texarkana might run into trouble against Tyler.

Not of outstanding importance will be the battle of Amarillo and Lubbock at Lubbock Friday night. Both have been defeated but this is a traditional game and of great interest throughout the Panhandle and South Plains.

Mighty Corsicana, the only team in the state that is unscored on, plays Grand Prairie and should win with a minimum of trouble.

The week's schedule by districts:

1—Friday Bowie (El Paso) at Plainview, Ysleta at Borger.

2—Friday Sweetwater at Childress, Quanah at Hollis, Okla.

3—Friday Big Spring at Haskell, Pampa at Lamesa, Amarillo at Lubbock.

4—Friday Jefferson (El Paso) vs El Paso High (conference).

5—Friday Austin (El Paso) at Abilene, Vernon at San Angelo, Midland at Brownwood.

DISTRICT 6

6—Friday Graham at Weatherford (conference).

7—Friday Sherman at North Dallas, Cleburne at Gainesville.

8—Friday Wichita Falls at Highland Park (Dallas), Greenville at McKinney, Denison at Denton.

9—Friday Tyler at Texarkana (conference), Longview at Kilgore (conference).

10—Friday Nacogdoches at Bryan (conference), Palestine at Lufkin (conference), Henderson at Conroe (conference).

11—Friday Bishop Byrne (Galveston) at Port Neches, Marshall at South Park (Beaumont), Lake Charles, La., at Orange.

12—Friday Freeport at Pasadena (conference), Galena Park at Galveston (conference), Texas City at Baytown (conference).

13—Friday Grand Prairie at Corsicana.

14—Friday Temple at Austin.

15—Friday Robstown at Alice, South San Antonio at Laredo, Ray (Corpus Christi) at Victoria.

16—Friday Miller (Corpus Christi) at McAllen, Edinburg at San Benito (conference), Reagan (Houston at Harlingen.

Rickey May Be St. Louis Bound In Near Future

By RALPH RODEN
(Associated Press Staff)

NEW YORK, Oct. 18. — Rumors are a dime a dozen these days regarding Branch Rickey's future plans in baseball.

Reports persist that Rickey, general manager of the Brooklyn Dogers, will either buy the St. Louis Browns Inc. stock and barrel or purchase a substantial block of stock in the American League club and become its general manager.

Other observers feel that Rickey will take the general manager's portfolio at Pittsburgh at the behest of his friend John Galbreath, million dollar real estate operator and owner of the Pirates.

WON'T STAY

Few believe that Rickey will stay as general manager of the Dodgers. Rickey's contract as Dodger major domo expires at the end of the month. The Dodgers' stockholders have a meeting scheduled next Monday when Rickey's fate will be decided.

Rickey, with Galbreath acting as a go-between, sold his one-quarter interest in the Dodgers to real estate operator William Zeckendorf on Sept. 23 for over a million dollars.

The deal, however, has not been completed as two of Rickey's partners have an option to buy the stock at the same terms. Rickey and his two partners, Walt O'Malley and the late John L. Smith agreed some time ago to that arrangement. Since the deal Smith died and his 25 per cent is now held by Mrs. Smith. O'Malley also owns 25 per cent and the remaining 25 per cent is owned by Mrs. James Mulvey. Mrs. Mulvey has refused to sell to anybody.

ON VACATION

Rickey, reached at Billings, Mont., yesterday where he stopped on a vacation trip, threw little light on the situation.

"I wouldn't know what to do with myself if I retired altogether from baseball," Rickey said. "But I am not yet ready to annbunce where I may go or what I will do when the deal for my Brooklyn stock is closed."

One of the reasons why Rickey may take over the Browns is Rickey's statement that his wife wants to live in St. Louis.

Rickey, who gained fame and fortune with the front office of the St. Louis Cardinals, has maintained a home in the mound city during his eight years with Brooklyn.

It is rumored that the American League, which reportedly loaned the DeWitt brothers, Bill and Charley, enough money to buy the Browns, would like to have Rickey installed in St. Louis.

S.M.U.'s Offensive Power

These four Mustangs help put the punch in Southern Methodist University's offensive power that has gained 1,776 yards in victories over Georgia Tech, Ohio State, Missouri and Oklahoma A. & M. Left to right: are Bennie White, who has 12 passes received for 170 yards; Kyle Rote, 316 yards on 47 runs; Fred Benners, 35 of 67 passes completed for 554 yards and five touchdowns; and Rusty Russell, Jr., 10 passes received for 281 yards and three touchdowns.

Officials At Texas-Oklahoma Game Charged With Poor Job

(By The Associated Press)

The referee of the Texas-Oklahoma football game last week isn't going to get in any argument over officials' decision made on the field.

"We called 'em like we saw them," said referee Bob Miller of Kansas City yesterday.

His comment was prompted by a story written by sports editor Fred Williams of the Austin, Tex., American that movies of the game showed at least four crucial plays which he said were miss-called by the officials and helped Oklahoma beat Texas, 14-13.

University of Texas Coach Blair Cherry said he had no criticism of the officiating.

At Waco, Johnny Morrow, field judge in the game, had no comment.

Williams said the officials erred when they ruled Texas halfback Lewis Levine failed to score on the next to last play of the first half. He also said Miller was wrong when he decided Longhorn fullback Byron Townsend fumbled on Oklahoma's five-yard line, where Oklahoma recovered. Williams said Townsend's forward progress had been stopped on the 2 1-2 yard line and that the play should have been whistled dead there before he was thrown back.

An offside penalty should have been called on Oklahoma tackle Ed Rowland, Williams said, on the fourth quarter play in which Billy Porter failed to get off his punt. Oklahoma took the ball on Texas 11 and scored in two plays.

Williams asserted the officials erred again in ruling linebacker June Davis of Texas did not intercept a pass thrown by Oklahoma quarterback Claude Arnold in the fourth quarter. Furthermore, said Williams, Oklahoma should have been penalized for intentionally grounding the ball if there was no interception.

Flem Hall, sports editor of the evening Fort Worth, Tex., Star-Telegram, viewed movies of the game which were blown up to 10x14 inches and brought to a stop, frame by frame, in a viewing machine.

He wrote that in his opinion Rowland was not offside on the fourth quarter play, that Buddy Jones of Oklahoma made a clean steal of the ball from Byron Townsend on the Oklahoma four yard line. "That's legal and both teams attempted it several times," he said.

Hall said the pictures did show Levine probably was deprived of a touchdown, but he wrote

"Missed decisions are as much a part of football as dropped passes. There is nothing that can be done about either and they must be marked off as bad luck.

"The more you see of football the more convinced you become that luck rides with the good team that's always hustling; the team that has the condition and the heart to keep going full throttle to the finish; the team which has the savvy and the resourcefulness to come up with that one more scoring play when the issues is in the balance.

"Oklahoma is that kind of team."

New Braunfels, the only point-a-minute team in Class A football, has used a devastating ground game to roll over six opponents. In only one game, against Brady, did the Unicorns switch to passing to win.

For three straight years, Coach Weldon Bynum's team has been the pre-season favorite to win the state championship. In 1948, the team was beaten in the finals and last year was ousted early in the playoff. This year it is unbeaten but tied and compiling a terrific record.

Charles Burr, who keeps an amazing complete set of statistics on New Braunfels, reveals New Braunfels has gained 2,045 yards on the ground and 872 passing. It has held six opponents to seven points, 356 yards passing and 107 yards running.

The Unicorns were tied, 0-0 by Wharton three weeks ago. They bounced back to whip Yoakum, 79-0, and Luling last week, 50-0. This week they meet Lockhart in an important district tilt.

One of the feature games on this week's 106-game schedule in Class A matches undefeated, untied Arlington against unbeaten, twice tied Terrell.

There are only 18 teams out of the 22 in Class A with perfect records and only a dozen unbeaten but tied teams.

Most of these clubs are figured easy winners this week. One that may have a hard time is Olney, which tackles tough Seymour in a District Ten tilt.

Hardscrabble Women's Open Tournament Goes Into Three-Way Tie

FORT SMITH, Ark., Oct. 18. (AP) —Professional Patty Berg of Minneapolis, the champion for the last two years, and two amateurs had to break a three-way tie for medalist honors as match play started in the sixth annual Hardscrabble Women's Open golf tournament here today.

The 77's scored yesterday in qualifying rounds by Miss Berg, Betty MacKinnon of Mt. Pleasant and Betsy Rawls of Austin, Tex., were two over women's par.

But that was two strokes better than anyone else did on the difficult Hardscrabble Country Club course, where championship flight qualifying scores ran as high as 90.

The championship flight first round (qualifying scores in parentheses) also included:

Mrs. George Noble, Dallas (82); Alice Bauer, Midland, Tex., (79); Pat Garner, Midland, (87); Marlene Bauer, Midland, (81).

For a different fruit salad dressing add a quarter cup of dark molasses and two tablespoons of lemon juice to a cup of mayonnaise; mix well.

To braise pork chops brown them first in a heavy skillet, then add a tablespoon of water and cover. Cook slowly until meat is well done, about half an hour for chops that are about half an inch thick.

For more than 20 years women in this Southwest region have had several kinds of ranges to choose from. Today 96 out of 100 women who enjoy Lone Star Gas Service cook with natural gas.

Such overwhelming popularity could mean but one thing. There is nothing any range "claims" that a new gas range will not only duplicate, but, in most instances, will do better.

So . . . think twice. Get everything you've been missing, plus all the wonderful advantages only gas ranges give you. Get a new gas range.

• Gas Ranges have Quality, too—the kind of Quality that lasts a long, long time. This, today, is most important to consider when buying a new range.

TALK OF THE TOWN

By FRANCES BIOW

You don't need a top coat yet in Montreal. This piece of direct information comes from Mr. and Mrs. J. R. JOYCE's daughter who, with her auditor husband have just landed on the Texas Company job up there where it Blowsssssss.

MRS. B. K. TEMPLETON was the former Miss Ella Mae Joyce, whom many will remember here. In Buffalo for three months, the couple are now delighted with their new home in Canada, where they found an apartment and discovered "they speak everything there." Little English, though, according to Mrs. Joyce, who had just received a letter.

"Hansel and Gretel," that lovable two who have trailed their tearful little story over the pages of thousands of children's books, are in Snyder. The curtain goes up on them at 3:45 this afternoon, tonight at 7:45. The American Concert Association of New York brings the stage production here to JOE L. LOVE's Palace Theatre.

Really an authentically produced stage show, this colorful hour and 45-minute tale is being brought mainly to educational centers, school auditoriums, etc. Last night the group played to McFarland Auditorium at S. M. U. Snyder JUST HAPPENS to get a look-see as they hurry on through to El Paso and larger map points west. General prediction is it's worthwhile, rare, and you shouldn't miss it or worse yet, let your children miss it.

* * *

Parent-Teachers' Association is a time-honored institution that has functioned quite solidly ever since the first mama decided school wasn't just somewhere you put your kids from 8 until 4, and stepped in to help. But the peppiest member of the group ever observed must surely be MRS. OVID LAWLIS, the president of the primary unit, who is enthusiastic beyond belief about her new job, the potentialities of the new school P.-T.A. units, and what they can do to aid Snyder's schools.

"A penny a vote, folks! Just a penny. Step right up!" runs the propoganda out at high school with the beauty queen contest on full tilt. Five bright contestants, EVA ZAY ARNOLD, KAY WEBER ~~PEGGY LUND, JENELL DARBY~~, AND JEAN MULKY are viewing for the title to be bestowed Friday night, Oct. 27, at an all-school party in the gym sponsored by the Distributive Education Club. The D. E.'s say come at 7:30 p.m., bring those pennies.

Wallman, the rejected suitor, went on his honeymoon trip anyway—with a male friend. "I am relieved and very, very happy," she sighed.

Margaret Gives Same Answer To Perennial Question About Romance

— There is no romance in the life of Margaret Truman — for the present at least.

The President's daughter chuckled when a woman reporter put the question yesterday.

"Not at the moment," she replied, "but things can change."

Miss Truman will sing at a concert here tonight.

Asking if she found much pro or anti-Truman feeling on her tour, Margaret replied:

"I don't think so, not much. I think the politicians have rather given up using me. I won't be used in any way. I am here as a concert singer."

Cugat contended that he was not

Car Burns Today On Colorado City Road

Firemen received a call too late this morning to save a burning auto on the Colorado City Highway near the Ex-Servicemen's Club.

George Burns, who lives in a trailer there, said his 1940 Ford sedan caught fire from an unknown cause after he had pushed it down the hill attempting to start the motor and left it sitting on the side of the highway.

Firemen said the car was a total loss from the fire.

Burns is a construction worker now employed at the Beacon Lodge on the East Highway.

Result Of Blood Test For Sabu Told In Court

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 18. (AP) — A doctor has reported that on the basis of blood tests, Sabu, elephant body of the films, could be the father of a London ballet dancer's two-year-old daughter.

However Dr. Ray W. Hammack told a superior court jury yesterday that the tests neither prove nor disprove that Sabu Dastagir is the father.

Mrs. Brenda Julier Ernst, the dancer, has sued Sabu, asking that he be declared the father of her baby, Michaela. Sabu has denied paternity.

Texas League Talks Salary, Player Limits

DALLAS, Oct. 18. (AP) — A cut in the player limit and elimination of the salary limit are scheduled to be taken up at the fall meeting of the Texas League opening today.

R. W. Burnett, owner of the Dallas club, said he would seek to remove the salary limit but would oppose a move by Grayle Howlett, president of the Waco club, to put player limit from 19 to 20 and Burnett has tried before to remove the salary limit but without success. Now, he says, he doesn't personally need it since he recently formed a working agreement with Cleveland of the American League, but that he wants to help the independent club owners.

"Without a salary limit, clubs like Shreveport and Oklahoma City can compete with the chains," he declares.

Burnett has contended it is not fair to have a salary limit since curbs affiliated with the majors can get players on option with the major league club paying most of the salary, this, however, not counting in the league's limit.

The league last year raised the player limit from 19 and 20 and the salary limit from $8,500 to $10,000 a month.

Texas League directors and President J. Alvin Gardner will meet with representatives of eight other minor leagues in the southwest tomorrow to discuss realignment. The Texas League heads will be meeting only in an advisory capacity.

The realignment meeting was called by George Schepps, owner of the Greenville and Corpus Christi clubs, to talk about placing cities in their natural territory as to travel and rivalry and weeding out weak clubs. Leagues to be represented will be the Big State, Sooner, West Texas-New Mexico, Longhorn, East Texas, Gulf Coast, Rio Grande Valley and Arizona-Texas.

McCarthy To Contest Suit

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 18. (AP) — Glenn McCarthy, millionaire Texas oil man, is here to fight a $210,000 damage suit brought by a Los Angeles sports promoter.

Larence Rummans, the promoter, charges that McCarthy beat him up, falsely imprisoned him in a hotel and has withheld $10,000 which Rummans says is due him for assisting McCarthy in promoting a charity football game. Rummans said he was beaten in McCarthy's Shamrock Hotel in Houston, Texas, Sept. 22, 1949.

McCarthy gave a desposition in the case yesterday. In answer to questioning he said that he has no idea as to the size of his fortune but his income is "definitely" in excess of $1,000,000 a year.

Rummans says he was hired by McCarthy to promote an all-star charity football game in Houston, Texas, in July of 1949.

The suit is to be tried in federal court here, probably within the next two months.

Priest Is Hero After Saving Bible From A Burning Church House

SAGINAW, Mich., Oct. 18. (AP) — The Rev. Father Andrea F. Daregas was acclaimed a hero by his flock today.

The priest risked his life to save the Sacred Book from flames that swept St. Demetrios, Greek Orothdox church yesterday.

He ran into the sanctuary, grabbed the big Bible from the rostrum and emerged with it unharmed. He was dripping wet from water that firemen poured onto the flaming roof and spire.

Father Daregas cried for joy as he held up the book for all to see that it had been saved.

Damage to the 74-year-old building was estimated at $50,000. Two firemen were overcome by smoke.

Woman Leaps To Death From Office Building

DETROIT, Oct. 18. (AP) — A physician pursued a woman patient around his office for 15 minutes in a futile effort yesterday to keep her from plunging to her death from a 13th floor window.

Mrs. Jean Cogley, 41, eluded his grasp and landed on a fifth floor window ledge. She was dead on admittance to a hospital.

Dr. Harold F. Raynor said the housewife feared she was suffering from an incurable disease and threatened suicide. He had been treating her for a nervous disorder for six months.

Plane in Which 28 Persons Died

Searchers probe the wreckage of a British European Airways Dakota two-engine plane which plunged into a brick garden wall near Northolt Airport, London, killing 28 of the 29 persons aboard. With one engine dead, the airliner was trying to get back to its home base, Northolt. The plane flipped on its back, exploded and burned. The only survivor, a steward, was flung 100 yards.

Russia and Satellites Have 7 Million Arms, and Vast Reserves

(Associated Press Staff)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—When President Truman said that "the Soviet Union and its colonial satellites are maintaining armed forces of great size and strength" he presumably meant that at least 7 million men are under arms.

That is the estimated total of the ground, air and sea forces of Soviet Russia, its European satellites and Communist Asia, on the basis of authoritative information available here.

These are actual forces-in-being. They do not include the hordes of recruits or reservists with World War II battle experience who could be drawn from the almost unlimited military manpower pool which exists among the 665 million population of the Communist nations of the Occident and Orient.

TRUMAN KNOWS

In his San Frncisco speech last night, Mr. Truman said that "in both Europe and Asia, their vast armies pose a constant threat to world peace." He obviously was using the term "armies" in the broad sense of military force. The threat from Russian air and, to a lesser degree, naval strength also must be taken into account.

Russia and her European puppet states are assumed to have something over 4 million men in their armed forces. The estimates on the size of Red China's regular army range from 2,500,000 to more than 3 million the North Korean Communist army, once estimated at 150,000, now is being cut up and destroyed by United Nations forces.

The regular Soviet army is estimated at a little above 2,500,000. This is the army alone. It doesn't count in perhaps 400,000 of the so-called security force, the NKVD. Nor does it include a flexible force which is seasonal in nature —about 1 million men who are called, by age groups, for military service. The time for these men to return to civilian life normally occurs in the fall, but the Soviet army is reported holding them in service until the spring of each year.

ARTILLERY TOPS

The Russian army has excellent artillery and in quantities. It demonstrated its artillery power in World War II.

The Red army is believed to have more — and perhaps better—tanks than any of the great powers. Some guesses in military circles are that the Soviet armored force now may have more than 25,000 medium tanks, not including an unestimated number of the huge, 60-ton Josef Stalin III models. Some of the medium tanks—the T-34s — were turned over to North Korea for its invasion of the Republic of Korea, but the number probably made little difference in the total Russian tank force. Estimates of the rate of production for new Russian tanks range as high as 5,000 annually.

The number of men in the Red air force is placed at about 600,000, but in view of Soviet efforts toward expansion of its air fleet may be well above that figure.

JET EXPANSION

Russia is reported concentrating on swift expansion of her jet fighter plane force. She presumably feels she needs them as interceptors to challenge long range American bombers of the B-36 and B-29 type should she launch war and bring down retaliation on her cities. But Russia has not neglected her bomber force since World War II. It is known she is producing quantities of four-engined TU-70s, copies of the American B-29. There are only guesses as to whether the Soviet designers have tried to duplicate the huge B-36.

Among the newer Russian interceptor designs is a reported twin-jet night fighter, equipped with radar for locating enemy bombers and having a speed in excess of 600 miles an hour.

At sea, primary Soviet interest is in expanding the submarine fleet. In the past, estimates of the Russian submarine fleet have ranged up to 350. But the British naval publication, Jane's Fighting Ships, says the Soviet goal is believed to be between 760 and 1,000 long rang submarines by 1951.

SURFACE SHIPS

Although priority has been given submarines, the Red navy also is reported to have pushed ahead with surface ship building, including not only cruisers and destroyers but some radically new types. Among them, Jane's believes, are three 35,000-ton battleships to fire rockets and radio-controlled aerial torpedoes.

The great bulk of Communist military strength and equipment, of course, is in the Russian force itself. The European satellites — Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia — offer mainly ground forces. Together they number only a fraction of Russian strength. Their quality is below that of Soviet troops and they lack the masses of artillery and armor the Red army maintains.

First Letter Brings Unwanted Greetings

ATLANTA, Oct. 18. (AP) — The young man, William E. Smith, had waited a long time for his new house, but it was completed at last.

He moved in, took care of a few odds and ends and as his final chore drilled through the brick front of his home to install a letter box.

He finished just in time for the postman to leave the first letter at the new address.

It was a call to 1st Lt. William E. Smith, a Marine reserve pilot, to report at the end of the month for extended active duty.

Lumber Fire Put Out Yesterday Afternoon

Snyder firemen answered two calls yesterday afternoon.

The first was a lumber stack, which caught fire about 2 o'clock from a nearby trash fire near the home of the Rev. W. L. Kirksey, pastor of the Allen Chapel, Methodist Church for Negroes.

The second call came from 2812 Avenue V, where an insect control worker was exterminating under the house. His electrical equipment shorted, emiting smoke, and firemen were called, but no blaze resulted. The call came about 5 o'clock.

Lions Club To Hold Ladies Night Nov. 28

November 28 was set to be Ladies Night for the Lions yesterday in their regular weekly luncheon at the Country Club.

On Ladies' Night, Lions will take their wives or guests and will be hosts to visiting Lions from other cities.

Members introduced each other in the meeting to make sure all new members were familiar with the old ones.

One visitor, Jim Hayes of Lubbock, was at the meeting.

Israel Seeks Caretaker Unit

JERUSALEM, Oct. 18. (AP) — Israeli political leaders today faced the task of setting up a caretaker government pending the national elections authorized by the Knesset (parliament).

The Knesset voted yesterday to dissolve and call new elections. Earlier it rejected outgoing Premier David Ben-Gurion's proposed interim cabinet.

His suggestion that eight members of his present cabinet be retained as the caretaker group was voted down, 57 to 43, with only Ben-Gurion's Mapai (labor) party supporting it.

The constitution entitled Ben-Gurion and his colleagues to stay in office until formation of the new cabinet, but he told the knesset he could not head a cabinet that did not enjoy the confidence of parliament.

Ben-Gurion resigned Sunday after three members of the conservative religious bloc withdrew from his cabinet in opposition to a proposed cabinet shift to deal with Israel's financial problem.

President Chaim Weizmann asked Ben-Gurion to form a new cabinet, but the white-haired premier told him Monday he had been unable to do so.

F.B.I. 'Wanted' Notices Out

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. (AP)—The FBI today issued a new "wanted" notice—for subversives.

Arrestingly black bordered on white cardboard and imprinted with the penned signature of Director J. Edgar Hoover, the notice reads:

"Protect your country.

"The President of the United States on July 24, 1950, requested all law-enforcement agencies, patriotic organizations, and YOU to report all information relating to espionage, sabotage and subversive activities to the FBI.

"1. Be alert. A watchful citizen can save many American lives.

"2. Report only facts. Avoid reporting malicious gossip or idle rumors."

A footnote says "The nearest FBI office is listed on page one of your telephone directory."

The posters, about 10 by 8 inches, will appear shortly in police stations and defense plant areas across the country.

Giant Sloth Is To Be Assembled Soon

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. (AP)—Six tons of fossil bones of a giant ground sloth extinct since about the end of the ice age are being cleaned and repaired at the Smithsonian Institution.

Announcing this today, the Smithsonian said experts will attempt to reconstruct a complete skeleton of the sloth for display in Washington and will return the rest of the fossil bone collection to Panama, where it was dug up.

The sloth, of about the bulk of an elephant, once ranged from Argentina to the southern United States, the Smithsonian said, but until the recent expedition to western Panama no complete remains had been recovered outside Argentina.

The animal, called Megatherium, walked on the sides of its feet, the Smithsonian said, "and must have been an awkward, slow-moving creature."

Third Missile Will Be Tested Friday At Florida Grounds

COMOA, Fla., Oct. 18. (AP) — A third missile from the long range proving ground here will be flighted.

The missile was scheduled to be fired today but Maj. Bradford A. Evans, public information officer, said the launching had been postponed until Friday because of a necessary revision in schedule.

Newsmen will not be permitted to attend the launching because of the security nature of this flight test, Evans added.

Hanley Affair, Taft Charges Take The Political Spotlight

(By The Associated Press)

While charges and countercharges over the Hanley letter episode filled the New York air, Sen. Taft (R-O) declared today he is the target of a move to install in Washington "a labor-Socialist government on the British principle."

Taft said that "the Democratic Party is almost completely inactive" in Ohio, and that the campaign against his re-election is being waged almost entirely by the CIO Political Action Committee.

"Ohio is being flooded with literature and propoganda prepared months ahead in Washington, attempting to persuade the people of Ohio that they must eliminate some congressmen who have served their interests for years, and replace them with stooges who will take orders of the labor union bosses," Taft said.

Democrats, meanwhile, sought to make capital of the letter which Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley of New York made public Monday. In it he disclosed he was assured he would be able to pay off his "financial obligations within 90 days" if he consented to seek the Republican Senate nomination.

Hanley had previously been assured the New York governor nomination. That was before Gov. Thomas E. Dewey changed his mind and decided to seek a third term.

GOV. JOE E. HANLEY

'NEW LOW'

Hanley said last night charges he was paid off to drop out of the race were "a new low in political smears." Amid demands for a grand jury probe of the whole episode, Dewey also denied there was anything irregular.

But Dewey's Democratic opponent for governor, Rep. Walter A. Lynch, called on both Hanley and Dewey to withdraw. "There is nothing else for them in their guilt to do," Lynch said. "If they don't act quickly the anger of the citizenry of the state of New York will force them out."

Strawn Test

feet of clean 37.6-gravity oil after a five and one-half hour drillstem test in the lower Spraberry sand of the Permian at 7,928-7,972 feet.

Gas came to the surface in 17 minutes after the tool was opened. No fluid came out of the top during the test.

If tool had been open longer it likely would have flowed oil. There was no water with the oil which was recovered from the drillpipe.

Total recovery was the clean oil and 720 feet of oil-and-gas-cut drilling mud and 10 feet of salt water.

Bottom hole flowing pressure after 15 minutes was 2,700 pounds. There was a strong blow of gas throughout the test.

This project was started to go to 10,000 feet to try for production in the Pennsylvanian lime reef. Operator was preparing to drill deeper at last report.

HOWARD COUNTY

Brinkerhoff Drilling Co. No. 1 Jones, Indicated Pennsylvanian reef lime discovery in Northwest Howard County, in hte Knott community and 14 miles northwest of Big Spring, is slated to make a swabbing effort to try to kick the well off to flow.

This project, located 660 feet from north and east lines of the northeast quarter of section 18, block 34, T&P, T-2-N, had flowed oil from the Pennsylvanian after a drillstem test at 9,460-9,489 feet.

The section down to 9,501 feet was then cored and it showed good porosity and oil saturation. Operator cemented 5½-inch casing at 9,465 feet. The plug on that pipe has been drilled out and operator is back in the hole with the swab and tubing to make the test.

Vickers Petroleum Co. and Norwood Drilling Co. No. 1-B Canning, stepout to the same concern's No. 1-A Canning in Southeast Borden County, recently completed flowing discovery from the Wolfcamp of the lower Permian above total depth of 5,937 feet, is running electric log surveys at contract total depth of 7,505 feet in the Pennsylvanian reef lime and will plug back and test the Wolfcamp.

When the section in which the No. 1-A Canning is producing was drilled the No. 1-B Canning showed for some sort of production.

The prospector took a drillstem test in the Pennsylvanian at 7,255-7,267 feet, with tool open three hours. Recovery was 180 feet of free oil, 320 feet of oil-and-gas-cut mud, and 380 feet of salt water.

The No. 1-B Canning is 1,960 feet from the west and 2,002 feet from the north lines of section 142, block 25, H&TC survey, and 13 miles southeast of Gail.

Magnolia Petroleum Co. No. 1 Ryburn, one-location north offset to Humble Oil & Refining Co. No. 1 Pembrook, discovery well of the Pembrook field in Central-East Upton County, has been completed for a 24-hour potential of 303.75 barrels of 37.5-gravity oil.

Flow was natural through a three eighths inch tubing choke. Gas-oil ratio was 600-1. Flowing tubing pressure was 125 pounds. There was a packer on the casing. No water was present.

This production was from open hole in the Spraberry sand at 6,988-7,106 feet. The sand was topped at 7,039 feet which is on a datum of minus 4,325 feet. Seven-inch casing has been cemented at 6,988 feet.

Magnolia No. 1 Ryburn is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 1, block O, EL&RR survey.

Humble's No. 1 Pembrook was completed through perforations at 7,030-7,101 feet and is now making 30 barrels of oil per day on the pump, plus 12 per cent water. It is also producing from the Spraberry sand.

R. J. Carraway and associates No. 1 John Behringer was found flowing oil in the Bend conglomerate, one and one-half miles east of the Old Glory pool of Southeast Stonewall County.

It took a drillstem test in the Bend conglomerate at 5,868-5,881 feet which is the corrected total depth.

Gas came to the surface in 10 minutes. Oil started flowing in 45 minutes and the flow continued until the tool was closed. Rate of the flow was not reported. Recovery was 3,910 feet of clean oil and 90 feet of oil cut mud. Flowing pressure was 400 pounds and shut-in bottom hole pressure was 2,550 pounds in 30 minutes.

Operators ran electrical surveys and then cememted 5 ½-inch casing at 5,868 feet for completion in open hole. They consider the No. 1 Behringer to be on a separate structure from the Old Glory pool, where two producers have been completed.

Locatjon is 467 feet from south and west lines of a 316-acre tract in the G. B. Cooke survey.

PUMPING GAUGE

Humble Oil & Refining Co. No. 1 Hobgood, Clear Fork discovery in Central-North Hockley County, reported a pumping gauge of 132 barrels of fluid cut with five per cent water and 45 per cent basic sediment and 50 per cent oil.

This gauge was over a 24 hour period, and is the first reported.

Operator is continuing to pump the discovery in an attempt to eliminate the basic sediment, which is believed to be drilling mud.

Location of the No. 1 Hobgood is 660 feet from south and west lines of labor 10, league 693, State Capitol lands survey.

RUNNELS COUNTY

A completion try is scheduled for A. J. Renn, trustee, and Ray Mooney No. 1 W. A. Ashton, indicated Ellenburger discovery in South-Central Runnels County.

This venture topped the Ellenburger at 4,297 feet, elevation 1,786 feet. Heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud was recovered on a drillstem test taken over the interval at 4,203-4,289 feet.

On the test, gas showed at the surface in one and one-half minutes, with a steady flow for 50 minutes. The oil content of the recovered mud was 70 per cent.

Drilling continued to 4,324 feet where hole is now bottomed. A drillstem test from 4,297-4,324 feet recovered 10 feet of rat hole mud with no water.

Operator was running five and one-half inch oil string to be cemented on bottom. Plug will be drilled and the casing perforated in preparation for a completion attempt.

No. 1 Ashton is 1,744 feet from north and 15.4 feet from the east lines of J. H. Wilson survey 144.

15,000-FOOT TRY

Malco Refineries, Inc. staked location for No. 1 Archie Bean, a 15,000-foot wildcat in Northeast Crockett County between the shallow Betty and Vaughn pools.

Location is 330 feet from north and 2,484 feet from west lines of section 14, block UV, GC&SF survey.

Cable tools will be used to drill the test, beginning soon.

FAILURE

Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Co. has given orders to plug and abandon its No. 1-G University, wildcat in Northwest Crockett County, at total depth of 8,741 feet in Ellenburger.

The last reported operation before orders were given to abandon was a drillstem test which lasted one hour and 11 minutes at 8,621-8,741 feet.

Receiving a call that an intoxicated man was causing a disturbance yesterday afternoon, police arrested him on an intoxication charge, along with a charge of cruelty to animals.

After taking a call from the man's wife that he was drunk and trying to kill their dog, police went to the scene and found that he had been trying to cut off the dog's head with a butcher knife.

The dog is still alive and safe and the man's fine was $100.

Hansel and Gretel Cast Hits Town Late; Beloved Bus Blamed

"Too much light on that part of the stage! Lower that tree-piece of scenery."

Hill Bermont, the director of "Hansel and Gretel" tore into stage arranging at noon today. He has thick gray hair and a resounding voice and definite ideas about how the show is to go on. Versatile in all branches of theatre, he will also portray Casper, the comedy character at the afternoon and night performances at the Palace Theatre today.

Mrs. Lewis Lawton, who conceived the idea of children's plays brought right into the children's own towns, travels with and manages this cast of 15, who for five years have been taking "Hansel and Gretel", "Little Red Riding Hood", and "Cinderella" all over the country.

"We have traveled the same circuits so often that we know and recognize old patrons in many of our steps now", she said. Mrs. Lawton was once a public school teacher, and playing to children is her dream realized.

Penthouse Productions in the home office of the traveling group, located in studios in downtown New York. Last month the cast began the year's circuit in an old but esteemed bus, long the transporter of the bunch.

"One thing after another fell apart, and we had to abandon her. Now we travel in a car, a truck, and whatever else transportation reservations present themselves."

What's in the truck? "Why, the Wolf", said Mr. Bermont, racing up the aisle on some one of his innumerable arrands.

ENTER HANSEL

Calia strolled in. She's five feet tall but manages to look theatrical, and carries off the touching part of Hansel with an air. The theater's tradition is for a girl star to portray the famous character, and she tucks her blond bob under the frisky hat and it is realistic.

Her father was an opera star, and at the age of three when her sire was between acts of "Pagliaci", she was missed and turned up out front entertaining an enrapturd audience. Her career has been going full force since.

Gretel is Miss Flora Mae Thorgard, a coloratura. Ralph Kelley appeared briefly from behind the busy-looking curtain. Pianist and "the father", he seemed quite absorbed. "They all know and can fall into each other's lines at a moment's notice, as we have had to double up on parts, but most everybody makes the show. It's a point of honor".

The Witch, played by a young woman named Burnace Mortensen, was asking questions about Snyder's oil and looked utterly unperturbed about her approaching performance as the Terror of the stage. Mrs. Lawton casually explained that Miss Mortensen doesn't actually dress so witchily.

"We have brought along witches' garb so many times that this time we decided to play up her personality, with less garb. It has proved very effective. The kiddos gasp gratifyingly, and we think our scene where the Witch comes out of the oven a burnt cookie is a corker! Actually, and this let's you in on a stage secret, "A stage hand grabs this big plaster cast we made and pushes it out at the impressed kiddies".

Other play characters who passed in and out of the Palace before curthe witches' helper and a very bad tain errands were "Mr. Scratch", man, played by Ann Snyder. "Mother" was yawning due to difficulties in procuring a quiet place to sleep, last night. Beth Hawkins plays "Mother." Mrs. Lawton finally explained that never has the group had an "angel". "We have always been our own 'angel', and overall, it has proved renumerative and the fun, and the feeling of entertainnig children, who always enjoy our show, has been enriching.
