Mrs. Ferguson Wins Fight Against Sterling Appointees

SENATE GROUP WILL ALLOW WITHDRAWAL

AUSTIN, Jan. 23. — Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson appeared today to have won a test of strength with anti-Ferguson forces in the Texas senate. She will be allowed to withdraw former Gov. Sterling's unconfirmed nominees to the state board of education and name her own appointees, according to members of the senate's nominating committee. Sterling nominations to be withdrawn are Ben S. Tiesinger, of Garland; C. H. Chamrosky, of Houston, and Tom Garrard, of Lubbock. They are present members of the board. Had their reappointment been ratified by the senate the new governor would have had no friend on the board of education. Gov. Ferguson's new selections have not yet been announced.

400 HUMBLE EMPLOYEES AT SAFETY MEET

More than 400 officials and employees of the Humble Oil and Refining company and the Humble Pipe Line company in west Texas gathered at the Country Club Saturday evening to celebrate a banner year of accident prevention and to prepare for an even greater drive against carelessness. In the entire Humble Pipe Line organization last year said R. B. Rooper, head of the safety department who was one of the speakers on the program following a chicken barbecue, there were only 64 time loss accidents.

The trophy for the best safety record in the division during the past six months was presented to I. J. Pettey, McCamey district foreman, whose district did not have a single time loss accident. This district, gained possession of the trophy over J. E. Caffrey's Breckenridge district only by virtue of having more "man hours" to its credit, since the Breckenridge district has not had a time loss accident within a year.

Presentations were made by F. D. McMahon, west Texas division superintendent. Jack C. Jones was toastmaster and J. W. Thomas, superintendent of the northwest Texas division, welcomed the visitors. The invocation was pronounced by the Rev. J. Stuart Pearce, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here.

Other speakers on the program were Mr. Pettey, who responded to Mr. McMahon's presentation; G. A. Lee, assistant division superintendent, stationed at McCamey; M. C. Foley, district foreman from Longview, Texas; F. H. Slink, Winkler district foreman; J. F. Caffrey, Breckenridge district foreman; M. L. McGannon, Cisco district foreman; G. N. Irvine, chief gauger for the Cisco and Breckenridge districts; and C. C. Newby, Breckenridge, of the Humble sales department. Mr. Newby had on display a booth of Humble products.

California Held In Grip of Storm

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—Rain, snow and high winds continued over most of California today as a new Alaskan storm swept down from the northwest. Deep snows covered the mountain regions, hiding the fate of three missing persons. At least three other persons have lost their lives in this area since the storm began.

Hermits See World; Prefer Caves

When hermits, all of whom have shunned civilization for at least 35 years, visited Omaha for a "convention," they took a hasty look and went back to their caves. At top is Henry Morris, 78, vice president; left, "Dynamite Pete" Everett, secretary, and right, Clark Watson, 91, president of "Hermits, Ltd."

BALZAC MUSEUM IN PARIS IS RAPIDLY CRUMBLING IN DECAY

By LAMAR MIDDLETON United Press Staff Correspondent PARIS, Jan. 23.—Crowded by modernistic apartment buildings and its ancient foundations rocked by rumbling trucks filled with mortar for adjoining new buildings, the old Musee Balzac is literally crumbling into dust. The three-story gray structure, the only one existing today in which the author of the "Comedie Humaine" lived, has the external appearance of an abandoned barn. In Balzac wrote between 1840 and 1847, much of the "Comedie Humaine," and in it remain many of his original manuscripts and proofs, his coachman's coats and his now dusty books. The majority of Parisians long have forgotten the Musee Balzac in outlying Passy, situated in a quarter where reside chiefly Americans, Russians and British. Recently, however, the curator, M. Chancelier, interested the Figaro, literary newspaper, in the ultimate fate of the museum.

3.05 PER CENT BEER OKEHED BY COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The senate judiciary committee today recommended that congress legalize 3.05 per cent beer and wine. Amendment of the Volstead act removing all penalties for manufacture, sale and transportation of beverages of that alcoholic content was reported favorably to the senate. The committee adopted an amendment forbidding advertisement of the legalized liquor in states which choose to remain dry. President-elect Roosevelt in conference last week with democratic leaders put the beer bill among the measures he wanted enacted at this session of congress.

'LAME DUCK' AMENDMENT IS RATIFIED

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 23.—Missouri today ratified the lame duck amendment to the federal constitution. Missouri thereby won the honor of being the 36th state to ratify the amendment and make it a part of the federal constitution.

PROVISIONS OF NEW AMENDMENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The death sentence for lame duck sessions of congress was sealed today. The famous Norris lame duck amendment has been ratified by 36 state legislatures and now becomes part of the constitution. The new amendment will— 1. Convene newly elected congresses on January 3 following an election instead of 13 months later. 2. Abolish the hold-over short session. 3. Change the date of presidential inaugurations from March 4 to January 20. These provisions become effective October 15 under the terms of the amendment. This means that Mr. Roosevelt's term will end January 20, 1937, instead of March 4 of that year. His term will be 43 days shorter, meaning a loss of $10,954 from his salary. Terms of senators and congressmen serving in the next congress will be cut from March 4 back to January 3. This will mean a reduction of 59 days and a loss of $1,617.60 for each senator and congressman. This arrangement will make the 73rd congress just coming in unique in history. It will have only one regular session. Mr. Roosevelt is expected to call it into extra session in April, but its first regular session will begin January 3, 1934.

BOOTLEGGING CONCERNED U.S. GOV'T IN 1833

FORT UNION, Mon., Jan. 23.—One hundred years ago the federal government was concerned with bootlegging, rum running and illegal sale of intoxicating liquor. The bootlegger of 1833 dealt with Indians. Generally he was a fur trader, for that gentry held that no deal with an Indian could be concluded without the assistance of potent whisky or some alcoholic drink. The admitted purpose of the liquor was to befuddle the Indian so completely that he would trade perhaps an entire season's catch of valuable pelts. The traders favored pure alcohol for this purpose, since smaller and less easily discovered shipments of the liquor could be brought in, yet the Indians made more irresponsible with a few drinks.

False Bottoms False bottom cups, filled in with an inch or so of tallow, were commonly used to serve up the alcohol and water. A large thumb thrust into the cup aided in cutting down the dose. The common practice was to pour the Indian a "stiff one," then cut down the alcohol as he grew intoxicated, until soon he would barter furs for nothing but water. The government made strenuous efforts to halt such practices, and forbid importation of all intoxicating liquors.

Boatmen along the Missouri river succeeded, however, in smuggling in large quantities by concealing casks in flour barrels, molasses barrels and beneath cargo or lumber. Corn Whisky Kenneth McKenzie, representative of the American Fur Co., conceived the brilliant plan of installing and operating a corn whisky still at Fort Union in 1833. Parts were shipped, and soon the still was in operation. Eventually, company's franchise to trade was nearly revoked when agents discovered the still, but McKenzie excused his action by saying the still had been temporarily operated while held in storage for a friend. "Fruits of the country" were used to make a "palatable wine," he claimed.

End of the Run

Charles Smith always said that stretch of track at Beverly Curve with the setting sun visible through a small grove, was "the most beautiful spot in the world." Every time he took No. 8152 over it he admitted it, and he knew he was near the end of his run and the day's work. Engineer Smith's will directed that his ashes be scattered there, along the Pennsylvania's busy right of way just east of Chicago. Engine 8152, that Smith had piloted in his last of 43 years' service, made a special run. Its whistle sounded the requiem as 8152 swung around Beverly Curve. Engineerman Herman Seibold leaned from Smith's old place in the cab, carried out his friend's last orders.

Higher Rates Spur Income Tax Payers To Take Advantage of All Deductions

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The sharply higher rates effective on this year's income taxes are spurring taxpayers to take increased advantage of all possible deductions permitted by law. Money paid out in 1932 on state and federal taxes may be deducted from incomes reported on federal returns which must be filed by March 15. In previous years many taxpayers did not take advantage of these deductions, informal revenue officials said today. But because of the new rates and sharply decreased earnings, wage earners and professional deductions alike are now studying the amounts deductible are difficult to estimate, since no two people spend their incomes exactly the same way and people living in different states are effected by varying rates and types of taxes. An unofficial estimate for one married man who has a child and an income of $3,000 and owns his home, shows that deductions for federal taxes paid would average about $75.45, while taxes paid to states would be approximately $163.70. Taxes paid the federal government on amusements, cigarettes, gasoline, cosmetics, candy and chewing gums, along with the telephone excise taxes which became effective last June, are deductible from incomes. Likewise, money paid to states on income taxes, gasoline and lubricating oil, sales taxes, licenses and property may be substituted. Deductions are also allowed on gifts to religious, educational and charitable institutions. The following table, said to be conservative by a treasury expert, shows some of the deductions which a married man who has one child and an income of $3,000 might make on his income tax return for a full year under existing rates:

MERCHANTS PREPARE TO BATTLE TAX

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 23.—All was quiet along the "sales tax front" in the first two weeks of the 1933 Pennsylvania Legislature, but embattled merchants of the state were "minute men," awaiting a call to action to suppress an attempt to extend the measure. The 1932 special session adopted a one per cent sales tax to raise $12,000,000 for unemployment relief. The tax expires Feb. 28. Reports certain legislators planned to renew the tax to provide new revenues aroused the merchants. They circularized the public and the legislature. They appointed committees. They circularized the public and the legislature. Then Governor Pinchot, in his legislative message, called for abolition of the tax. He claimed certain tax reforms would provide the money needed for unemployment relief. Vigilance of the merchants relaxed somewhat. But the association they had formed—the Correlated Retail Organizations—would not have it so. The "minute men" were instructed to be ready at a minute's notice to rush here to protest should the legislature disregard the governor's recommendation and seek to continue the tax, which the merchants claim adds five per cent to their operating expenses annually.

Oil Field Worker Killed by Steam

HOUSTON, Jan. 23.—John Sandrich, oil field roustabout, was killed and another man burned painfully today when a steam pipe broke near a rig in the oil fields south of here. REQUESTED PAMPHLET. HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 23.—The State Council for the Blind has received a request for its recent pamphlet on keratomalacia—a disease causing total blindness in infants—from Dr. Kinichi Ide, of the Ide Hospital, Tokio, it was revealed by the Council.

3 Students to Tell Of Fatal Shooting

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 23.—Three 18-year-old high school students, one of whom is known as the "prettiest girl in Tech high" were to testify today before the grand jury investigating the fatal shooting of Constance King, their school friend. The girl died Friday night after her companions had removed her from a room they had rented at a house operated by a Mexican woman. The rooming house proprietor and her daughter were held by police on charges of operating a disorderly house. One man was detained by police as having sold one of the youths a half pint of whisky which was taken to the room.

Cyclone Death Toll Reaches Four Today

MANCHESTER, Tex., Jan. 23.—The final death toll from last weekend's cyclone appeared to be four today. All the fatalities were among negroes. The bodies of two unidentified negroes were found near here Saturday night after the bodies of a negro woman and her baby were found in a wrecked home.

Pilot's Body to Be Sent to S. Dakota

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 23.—The body of Ray Fuller, airmail pilot killed when his plane crashed into a hill near Boerter, will be sent to South Dakota for burial. Fuller was found dead seated in the cockpit of his plane in top of a hill after a 37-hour search for him. He failed to land here as per schedule on his regular flight from Big Spring. Foggy weather and the fact that the hill into which he flew was 100 feet higher than the ground around it were blamed for the crash.

Flora Belle Moore Dies of Diphtheria

Flora Belle Moore, 12, daughter of W. O. Moore, died early this morning at the residence 15 miles northwest of Cisco, a victim of diphtheria. She had been ill since Wednesday. She attended the Moran school. Survivors include her father, five brothers, and a sister. An attempt will be made to have all take the diphtheria serum who were exposed, both in the family and pupils of the school, according to Dr. W. P. Lee, city health officer. Plans for the funeral could not be learned at noon today.

Neice of Mrs. John Chesley Succumbs

Miss Evelyn Brewster, neice of Mrs. John Chesley, died at Columbus, O., after an illness of several weeks following an operation. It was announced here today. Miss Brewster was secretary to the dean of the Ohio State university at the time of her death. She spent several months in Cisco in 1919 and will be remembered by some of the older citizens.

Oil Warehouse at Big Spring Burns

BIG SPRING, Jan. 23.—A property loss of $2,500 was sustained here when fire destroyed the Great West Refining company's oil warehouse Sunday. For more than an hour the flames licked around a tank containing 10,000 gallons of gasoline which did not explode.

HAD ANNIVERSARY

MARSHFIELD, Ore., Jan. 23.—January 1 was more than New Year's day to Coos Bay residents. It was the 31st anniversary of the founding of its first newspaper—the "Coast Mail." Printed in 1902, all type in the five column sheet had to be set by hand. CLAIMED MONEY DELANO, Cal., Jan. 23.—Claims for $170 each for time and expenses lost while they were held in jail in connection with the accidental shooting of a woman, were presented to the city council here by Kenneth Scott and Terry Cummings. They claimed they were exonerated of blame in the affair and should be reimbursed for time spent in jail.

OVERPOWERED AT STATION BY 3 GUNMEN

TULLIA, Texas, Jan. 23.—Three bandits overpowered J. C. Mosely, 49, veteran Swisher county sheriff, in a hand to hand battle here today, shot him to death at close range and took one of his guns from his body. Then they forced Jake Ward, filling station operator nearby, to service their car for escape. No trace of them had been found at noon. Descriptions of two of the men resembled that of those who killed Malcolm Davis, Fort Worth deputy sheriff at Dallas early in January. Mosely was called from bed by F. O. Goen, his deputy, who had chased the unidentified trio from a filling station at Happy, Texas, where they attempted a robbery. Mosely met the trio north of Tullia and chased them through the city. He cornered the men at Ward's filling station after firing three shots to make them halt. Powder burns on his face and hands indicated he was killed at close range. Two night watchmen raced to the scene but were held off by the gunmen while Ward was forced from bed, made to hand over $17 in cash and fill the automobile's tank with gasoline. The trio escaped either west or north of Amarillo.

SMALL BOY IS KILLED WHEN SWING FALLS

Funeral services for Robert Howard Brown, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brown, of Blake, who was fatally injured when a swing fell upon him at the Country Club Saturday evening, were held at May, Texas, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock with burial in the May cemetery. The child, in company with other children, was swinging himself on the playground equipment at the country club while the Humble company's west Texas safety meeting was in progress in the club building. No authentic account of how the accident occurred was available, but from the statements of other children it was understood that several of them were swinging vigorously in unison when the iron rack supporting the swing became over-balanced and toppled, its heavy bar striking the child across the upper part of the chest and pinning him to the ground on his back. The company safety team of the Humble company worked over the boy until the arrival of a physician who said death was probably due to a broken neck. The body was taken to Rising Star Saturday night in a Green ambulance. Besides his parents three brothers survive. They are Charles James, 15; William Wayne, 12, and Weldon Buford, 10. The mother of the child had just returned to her home from the Gorman sanitarium where she had been confined with a serious illness. The oldest boy had remained at home with his mother while the father and the other three sons came to Cisco for the safety meeting.

Seaman Is Held in Slaying on Ship

HOUSTON, Jan. 23.—A Galveston seaman was held by government officers today as a suspect in the fatal shooting of Daniel Elko, about 40, aboard in oil tanker as it steamed down the ship channel. The shooting occurred in a washroom of the vessel after it had left its port here. Capt. S. O. Morgan, master of the tanker, reported he heard a shot and ran below to find Elko wounded in the back and another man requesting to be put in frons.

"PAY AS YOU GO" PLAN FOR TEXAS.

Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson in her first message to the 43rd legislature declared for the sales tax. Explaining the proposal, she said that the United States department of commerce estimates that the net commercial sales for Texas in the year 1929 were $2,074,164,554. She reminded the lawmakers that the year 1929 was one of reasonable prosperity, and the abilities of the Texas people to purchase were very different from conditions in 1933. Therefore, she suggested a tax of three per cent on all commercial sales with but few exceptions. She frankly stated there is some uncertainty as to the total amount of purchases by Texas people and a liberal rate must be levied to obtain sufficient taxes to meet all the obligations of the state government. Her argument: "If we collect too little, it would lead to confusion and disappointment and financial distress. Whereas, if we collected a few million too much it could be used in reducing next year's appropriation." An explanation for the edification and the information of all the people: "The recommendation which I make presupposes an average of $39 on 1,000,000 families in Texas. It would range, of course, from the small purchases of $400 of the small wage earner or farmer to the $5000 of the well-to-do people of the country. It would represent a tax of three per cent on $400 minimum of $12, to $150 on the purchase of $5000 for the rich and well-to-do families. Really, the tax would not be burdensome. With a population in round numbers of 6,000,000 people in Texas and of the entire $45,000,000 which a three per cent tax would yield it would be an average of only $7.50 per capita."

Governor Ferguson reminds the Texas public that the principle of the sales tax is not a new idea to the people of Texas in any sense of the word. This is true, but permit the governor to tell it in her own words: "We now collect a gasoline tax which is nothing but a sales tax. We collect a cigarette tax which is a sales tax. No informed person would repeal these taxes, and the sales tax law is just an expansion of the same principle which we have tried with success." It would be well for all the people who are able to read to scan the message from foreword to finish. All the people are protected by the strong arm of government. Government is the one powerful guarantee for the protection of life as well as the property of the humble as well as the opulent. All men and women should do their part and contribute their share of expense, minimum or maximum, to the cost of government with all the boons and blessings which they enjoy under the flag of the commonwealth.

It is for the lawmakers of the commonwealth to face the issue and to seek to do justice to all the people in the taxation laws which are to be enacted before the close of the regular session. Government should go on forever, but there should be no waste of tax money; and if a 25 per cent reduction in the cost of government is necessary all along the line, then the job should be tackled by senators and representatives and the people given a breathing spell and a chance to go forward by the removal of unjust or oppressive burdens of taxation from the top, which is the federal government, down to a minor unit in precincts.

COLLEGE PROFESSORS AND THEIR PROGRAMS.

College professors and their programs are bobbing up daily. Now a group of University of Chicago professors advise the government to obtain by taxation only sufficient revenues to pay normal operating expenses. Very timely and to the point. These university economists and political scientists stated that borrowing "should be resorted to for funds needed for unemployment relief, loans, investments, costs of public works and debt retirement." All these views evolved around table discussion appeared in a booklet called "Balancing the budget" and mailed to Pres. Hoover. Pres-Elect Roosevelt, members of congress and governors of every state. Of course these important personages declared salaries should not be further cut unless steps were taken at the same time to accomplish "all other possible economies in the public service." Well, when happy days return, it will be very easy for an advancement of salaries which were necessary in the very prosperous World war period and the great gambling era which followed in its wake. There is no reason why salaries should not be reduced all along the line in the public service as they are in the industrial life of the nation. Indeed, it would have been impossible for business corporations covering all the field of endeavor to have survived the crisis if they had not cut overhead expenses, reduced their working forces, as well as cuts in the salaries paid to employees. Of course, it is a nerve-wracking proposition to ask wage earners or public service employees to make the sacrifice, but sacrifices are necessary in all departments of government as well as in all departments of human activity where employers and employees are facing the real realities of a continuous stagnation of business which came in with the crash of a bygone year.

LAME DUCK AMENDMENT ON THE WAY.

The American people are to be congratulated. Sen. George W. Norris is to be showered with flowers while he is living. Thirty-three states, only 3 less than the required number, have completed ratification of the constitutional majority changing the terms of the present members of congress. As soon as 36 states have ratified the amendment and certifications have been deposited with the secretary of state in the city of Washington, it will be proclaimed part of the constitution, to become effective Oct. 15, following such proclamation. Texas lawmakers are grinding. There is a new administration holding the reins of government. Why shouldn't Texas be the 34th to ratify the Norris amendment?

TEXAS AND THE HOOVER VETO.

Pres. Hoover's veto message of the Philippine bill was overwhelmed. One democrat, Copeland of New York, voted to sustain the message. Sens. Sheppard and Connally of Texas voted against sustaining the veto. They are for freedom for the Filipinos in 1943. It is a long road to Tipperary—at least for the little brown brother. In 1943 Japan may be the ruler of the Far East and the Filipinos may be begging for the protection of the strong arm of Uncle Sam.

In the Political Arena

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD

Texas democrats, or rather the organization of Texas democrats which made history on the banks of Lake Michigan last summer when a New York governor was picked as the national standard bearer and a Texas speaker of the house was named as his running mate—are getting ready for plom picking time. It is known that the national committee established branches of the national organization in all the states. Ralph W. Morrison of San Antonio was one of the largest contributors to the democratic campaign chest. He is not only the personal but the political friend of John Nance Garner. He never held office and never sought an office, according to those who are close to him. According to letters which are being sent to democrats in all districts and precincts of Texas, Mr. Morrison has had extensive connection with commerce, both in America and abroad and "is one of the best qualified men in America to be a member of Pres-Elect Roosevelt's cabinet." Furthermore, the circular letter reads "he not only devoted his entire time from August to November working untiringly on behalf of the party, but he was the largest contributor from the entire South and one of the largest contributors in America to the fund which was necessary to finance the successful campaign."

Ralph W. Morrison, the recipient of the letter is reminded, was vice-chairman of the national democratic organization during the campaign, and now the organization leaders are determined to draft him for the position of secretary of commerce, a cabinet position which enabled Herbert Hoover to make or get his first cleop of American politics and the leaders of the people of the major parties of the nation. Texas democrats who are being circularized are asked to write Pres-Elect Roosevelt and National Chmn. James A. Farley requesting that the Texas be made a member of the Roosevelt cabinet. This is the clincher as to the availability of the Alamo City ranchman and financier. "As you probably know, Mr. Morrison's energy and advice was one of the important factors in helping put over this wonderful victory and I would ask that you kindly incorporate these facts in your letter to Pres-Elect Roosevelt and Chmn. Farley...since this matter is going to be attended to at an early date I would ask that you kindly write these gentlemen on receipt of this letter. It would be a wonderful thing for Texas and the nation to be honored by having such an outstanding gentleman as Ralph W. Morrison in the cabinet of the incoming administration."

Pres. Hoover appointed John W. Philip third assistant postmaster general of the United States. Philip goes out with Hoover March 4. Now there is a Texan, a newspaperman originally from Fort Worth, who is being pushed for the Philip place by his friends. Incidentally, he was in charge of the publicity campaign in the East for the Garner-for-President organization. His place of residence is New York City. There is a Dallas man, John M. Spellman, who is anxious to be appointed commissioner of patents and there is an Austin educator who is seeking the place of federal director of public education. Yes, plom picking time is coming and, as the New York Times said recently, National Chmn. James A. Farley has 125,000 jobs to be given 22,000,000 democrats the nation over. Some huge job for the chairman.

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, Jan. 23.—Blue shirts have taken the Texas legislature by storm. Senators top blue shirts off with a red neck tie. Wearers deny that there is any significance. They say no organization like the black shirts has been formed and that the great number of blue shirt wearers is due to personal fancy. Some admit that it helps keep down laundry bills. Senator Walter Woodul appeared in a blue shirt at the inauguration. Next day, Speaker Coke Stevenson presided over the house blue shirted. A count showed 30 blue shirts in the hall.

Furore raised in the legislature about amending election laws to permit democratic primaries "so John Garner's successor will be a democrat" is not due to fear of the democratic leaders that a republican will be elected but that the "wrong democrat" will get in. Republican candidates are just a side issue in the political affairs of the district. The real enemy aimed at by the democratic leaders is a "good government" candidate.

Gordon Griffin of McAllen is the specific candidate. He was declared defeated for district judge four years ago when the Hidalgo county commissioners court rejected the entire vote from a Weslaco box. Then the Griffin faction organized a good government party for Hidalgo county. Last November they named all county officers and by a write-in campaign elected two district judges and State Representative Homer Leonard, McAllen editor.

Now Griffin is an announced candidate for congress. Leonard, who is Griffin's close friend says Griffin will enter the democratic primary. "He has always voted the democratic ticket, except for the county races the past four years. He is a democrat. He was born in Tennessee, is the son of a Confederate soldier and assistant judge advocate of the Sons of the Confederacy."

There are many interesting angles to the preliminaries for the race.

Kentucky Man Tells Why He Prefers Black-Draught

"I have tried other medicines, but haven't found any of them that has given me the satisfaction that I have found in taking Black-Draught," writes Mr. W. N. Futrell, of Hickory, Ky. "About three years ago, I began suffering from constipation that made me feel dull, tired and worn-out. I did not feel like I could keep going. I tried remedies but not anything that gave me the satisfaction that Black-Draught has given, and I have laid them all aside for Black-Draught. I am truly glad to recommend it to others, for it is a good medicine for constipation." Thousands of men and women rely on this famous medicine when they need a laxative. Sold everywhere.

Leonard is chairman of the house committee on elections. Rep. Milton West of Brownsville, who presented a bill to the committee to speed an election and permit a double democratic primary in the district, is a candidate to succeed Garner. Many believe the run-off will be between West and Griffin. Griffin is from Hidalgo county which has 30 per cent of the vote of the congressional district. West is from Cameron county. Between them the two Lower Rio Grande Valley counties can control the district.

Leonard challenged any representation that Griffin is not a democrat when the bill came before his committee. West replied: "That can be settled at the 'proper time.'"

Democratic Senator Archer Parr of Bonavides, political chief of the territory, denied here that any attempt is planned to keep Griffin out of the democratic primary.

Rep. W. E. Pope of Corpus Christi has already become famous in the Forty-third legislature with his bills to abolish state bureaus. He gets a lot of fun out of it as well as being serious about it.

Recently he asked Claud Teer of Granger, chairman of the state board of control and a former house leader, to help him draft a bill. The bill was one "to abolish the board of control."

Mrs. Susie Rudasill of Austin has become the "Betsy Ross" for the house of representatives. Beautiful regulation size national and Texas flags now float over the speaker's platform as a result of nine months needle work on her part. They replace two smaller flags which have been in use for years. Mrs. Rudasill has been warrant clerk of the house for a number of sessions.

Presentation of the flags was marked by a patriotic protest against a member's reference to the old flags as "unsightly."

The member hastened to explain that he felt sure everyone knew he referred to the physical condition into which the years have brought the material of the old flags.

STOCK PRICES MOVE WITHIN NARROW RANGE

In its weekly review of business and financial conditions 'The Wall Street Journal' says:

Developments having a vital fundamental importance on the future course of security prices took place at the end of the past week in Washington, but the security markets gave no immediate response to their announcement. Stock prices ended the week at a level slightly under that which prevailed at the conclusion of the preceding week's trading. Throughout the six days of trading, the markets drifted in a narrow price range, with trading in small volume, and prices moving largely as result of professional operations.

Another conference between President Hoover and President-Elect Roosevelt produced definite results. The incoming administration committed itself to reviewing the British war debt payments question shortly after it goes into office. In addition, the representative of the British government, who will take up debt matters with the United States, will discuss ways and means of bringing about a betterment in the world situation generally.

The statement issued after the conference between Mr. Hoover and Mr. Roosevelt was couched in the most cautious language. Perhaps for this reason Wall Street did not grasp the fundamental significance of the results.

On domestic matters, too, Mr. Roosevelt clarified his stand. He gave every indication that he was shifting from a passive to an active position. He was portrayed as being particularly eager for passage of a domestic allotment plan of farm relief, covering only four important commodities, and in enactment of the so-called Bankruptcy Bill.

The markets had little to feed on in the shape of constructive business news. Reductions in crude oil prices in the mid-continent area; shading of steel prices, and no important changes in either the utility output figures or the railroad carloadings gave it little nourishment. The general level of business still is now, but weekly indices portrayed a slight improvement. Whether the spring upturn in business will be of seasonal proportions cannot yet be estimated.

As far as the railroad securities are concerned, they have met persistent buying on all reactions. This has been particularly true in the case of junior railroad bonds, reports for 1932, which are just beginning to appear, reflect the poor conditions under which the railroads were operated last year. One good report, that of the Chesapeake & Ohio, was turned in last week, but it did not stir the general railroad list in any way.

Tobacco Earnings
Tobacco stocks derived a good deal of nourishment from the appearance of earnings reports. Both Reynolds and Liggett & Myers turned in excellent statements for 1932, with earnings only slightly under those for the previous year. In view of prevailing conditions, and the heavy competition suffered from the 10-cent cigarette makers, tobacco companies did unusually well last year.

The price cuts depressed the oil stocks. At the present level, profit possibilities for the industry as a whole are scant. However, this is normally the time for price reductions due to reduced consumer demand. Normally, prices stage a comeback in the spring.

Motor stocks were neglected all week. The New York Automobile Show failed to give the usual fillup to the motor group, with Wall Street awaiting figures on purchases of the new models.

The steel industry started last week at 16 1/2 per cent of capacity, compared with 15 1/2 per cent a week earlier. United States Steel Corp. was at 15 per cent, against 14 1/2 per cent the week before and independents at 17 per cent against 16 per cent in the earlier week.

Price Cutting
Moderate expansion in output, however, was accompanied by drastic price cutting in many steel products, notably sheets, sheet bars and wire products. In some instances, consumers demanded concessions of as much as $2 to $6 a ton, claiming they could obtain similar price cuts from other steel producers. Under these circumstances major steel companies were forced to meet the competition or lose their regular customers.

It has been a common practice for certain interests in the steel trade to cut prices drastically for a time until some tonnage is on their books, and attempt to firm quotations after they have a moderate backlog. The initial price cuts, however, are extremely disturbing to the industry and make it difficult to establish higher prices later.

Thus far, operations have been lifted as a result of automotive buying and can-makers' requirements for tin plate. The trade is interested to see how the new motor car models affect public buying, for a seasonal upswing in steel demand rest largely on this type of business. As yet railroads have ordered little or nothing and their business is badly missed.

The week's range of the Dew-Jones averages follows:

	High	Low	Last
30 Industrials	$61.75	$60.36	$61.63
20 Railroads	28.06	26.98	28.06
20 Utilities	27.95	27.51	27.69
20 Bonds	80.34	79.62	79.90

RANKED FIRST
HELENA, Mont., Jan. 23. — The Montana State National Guard units ranked above those of all other states during 1933 in point of readiness for combat, according to records of the United States War Department. A rating of 89 per cent was given the Montana units, compared to an average of 78 per cent for all other states.

SPOTLIGHT

BEGIN HERE TODAY
SHEILA SHAYNE, 18, whose parents were well known vaudeville entertainers, is a dancer. After weeks out of a job she is hired to substitute for DAISY GLEASON, another dancer, who has sprained her ankle. While rehearsing at JOE PARIS' song shop Sheila meets DICK STANLEY and TREVOR LANE, both rich. Dick is much attracted by Sheila and urges Lane to include her in the program of entertainment at a party he is giving. Sheila declines to come but later accepts.

At the party she meets GORDON MANDRAKE, well known producer. She sees Dick frequently after that. Daisy returns to the show and Sheila again hunts a job. Then Mandrake offers her a part in a new play. Rehearsals begin at once. Sheila becomes friendly with JIM BLAINE, one of the principals in the play.

They go to Atlantic City for the tryout week. There newspapers uncover the fact that Jim is the son of a wealthy family and has gone on the stage in opposition to his father's wishes. Critics give Sheila more praise than MARION RANDOLPH, the star. Sheila reaches the theater just in time to hear Miss Randolph scolding that Sheila be discharged.

CHAPTER XV
JIM and Sheila stood motionless. Then for the first time Jim showed that his feeling for the girl was more than casual interest. His hand closed over hers protectively. She nodded, smiling gratefully.

But Sheila's face was grave again. There was no doubt about the fact that Marion Randolph's position in the show was vastly more important than her own. Miss Randolph was the star. People would come to see the show because she was in it.

AND for a time nothing did happen. Reviews of the show in the evening newspapers praised Miss Randolph extravagantly. There was reason for this because the actress really was skillful. It was also true that an admirer of Miss Randolph's was the "angel" backing the production financially. Things hadn't gone any too well with Mandrake recently for all his fame. Like others, he had to secure capital where he could get it.

There was a pause and then a hardly perceptible sigh traveled over the wire.

20 Mexican Families Offset Depression

EDINBURG, Jan. 23. — Twenty Mexican families numbering 101 persons have offset the depression and paved the way for aid to other worthy persons through a novel farm experiment in Hidalgo county.

Each family was given two acres of land to work, with various governmental units furnishing seed, irrigation water and plows. The land was planted to carrots, broccoli, cabbage and lettuce.

Each family head was allowed to market his crop in any manner he saw fit and will be allowed to use his two-acre tract as long as he cultivates it properly and plants seasonable vegetables.

The total cost of the project has been 63 cents per acre, of which 19 cents per acre was borne by the persons aided.

"The small amount of assistance given these 20 families has enabled them to become virtually self-supporting," said O. W. Curry, Edinburg, who acts as overseer and offers suggestions. "With a little more help, they would become independent in a small way."

"A little cooperation has prevented them from becoming dependent on charity for existence. Sooner or later they will be able to care for themselves and will become useful employes on some farm."

Land used in the cooperative gardens was loaned by Dr. F. M. Olmstead, Brownsville, and Mrs. Eleanor M. J. More, Kokomo, Indiana.

Bugs Unwelcome Library Patrons

HOUSTON, Jan. 23. — Miss Elnora Edgar, Harris County librarian, wishes Willie the cockroach and all his relatives could be persuaded to let all literature strictly alone.

Willie and the rest of his tribe, including moths, bugs and all sorts of worms, are just about the most consistent customers libraries have and their patronage might be appreciated if they would just read the books and not eat them.

"Bugs," said Miss Edgar, "present a constant problem. We are not troubled so much here in the central library but out in the county branches it is terrible. The bugs get in the books and damage them so badly we have to repair them or discard them."

The bugs, said Miss Edgar, are especially fond of the paste that goes into the makeup of a book, eating it voraciously.

PARIS STYLES

By MARY KNIGHT
United Press Staff Correspondent
PARIS, Jan. 23. — When Parliament opened in London Madame Fleuriau, wife of the French Ambassador to the Court of St. James, wore a Worth costume in her favorite shade of blue satin called "Dans la Nuit" — "In the Night." It was a copy of the brown satin evening gown shown in the mid-season collection, which had the criss-cross draped decollete in the front with a rather high decollete in the back and four small diamante buttons just below. There is no decided waistline to the dress, but it fits the figure snugly. With it Madame Fleuriau wore a long mink coat.

An evening gown from Worth's called "Argetan" has been a great success from the smart woman's point of view. It is made of a heavy black pebbly, crepe and makes a straight, form-fitting silhouette. It has a square decollete in front with gold and silver rings at the beginning of the shoulder straps, and a bolero effect in the back, leaving a triangular cut-out that is very alluring. A jade green velvet coat, hip length, should be worn with this gown—a new length for evening wraps incidentally—and its only trimming is a shaped band of silver fox around the bottom.

LIQUOR FOR FIVE CENTS.
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 23. — The "five-cent" drink is a reality in Rankin, a suburb, Federal court learned when Pasquale Cuccaro was arraigned on charges of selling liquor. He was sentenced to a month in jail after prohibition agents testified he dispensed liquor at five cents a drink.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By EDSON R. WAITE
Shawnee, Oklahoma.

Newspaper advertisements are mighty hunters. They go into every home and hunt out the thrifty buyers and deliver their messages to them.

In Italy the government allots a yearly credit for the assistance of hotels that cater to tourists. I commend this to Florida and California hotel men. The tourist business is a recognized industry which brings big money to every community that invites it and treats the tourist well. The different states should pay some attention to the hotels who bring so much business to their states.

Every city has many pessimists—little men with little minds who watch envy the progressive men of their city.

I have heard that a little worry is an excellent tonic. Most of us are getting an overdose of that kind of tonic.

To those who do not know a city, it does not exist. So it's up to all cities who wish to parade in the March of Progress to advertise their opportunities not once in a while but all the while so the world cannot forget them.

Some self-appointed Economy leaders lead only themselves. Nobody else pays any attention to them.

Your city should be a self-starter. Leave no chance for it to become a self-stopper.

Many products are being produced today at a loss and, as a vast majority of the world's workers re engaged in producing them, it seems obvious that there cannot be a return of prosperity for any country until there is a general rise in the value of their products.

DUPLICATE DISPLAY
HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 23. — The University of Edinburgh, Scotland, has constructed a duplicate of the Hamilton Health Board's display, showing how diphtheria has been eliminated locally through immunization. The arrangement adopted by Scottish authorities follows the exact pattern of the Hamilton display.

A New Oral Antiseptic By Makers of Vicks VapoRub Introduces New Economy

A quality antiseptic mouth-wash and gargle—at less than half the usual price—is doubly welcome now. Especially to the millions who find such a product a daily necessity—for halitosis (bad breath), oral hygiene, and other antiseptic uses.

The New Vicks Voroatone Antiseptic—by the makers of Vicks VapoRub—brings this unique advantage. Born in a depression year, it is priced accordingly. Aided by record low prices on raw materials—and Vicks facilities for mass production—Vicks Chemists have produced a large 10-ounce bottle—a usual 75c value—that is priced regularly at only 35c.

The name, of course, guarantees high quality. It is simply the best oral antiseptic Vicks Chemists could produce . . . and they were aided by bacteriologists and pharmacologists of their 16 allied organizations, here and abroad. Mild enough to use daily with perfect safety, Vicks Antiseptic is strong enough to do everything an oral antiseptic can and should do.

Unusual Trial Offer.
Of course, the only real proof of its quality—and its economy—is in actual use. To furnish this proof, five million bottles of a special trial size are being supplied druggists everywhere at less than cost of manufacture. A 25c value, these trial packages are priced at only 10c—while the supply lasts.—Adv.

WALKED 230 MILES

MERRILL, Wis., Jan. 23. — Thirteen-year-old Gordon Hinkley walked 230 miles to skate with friends. His father refused to permit him to skate at Merrill, so Gordon, with his skates slung over his shoulder, set out on foot for Genesee 230 miles away, where he formerly lived. He traveled for two days and two nights before reaching Genesee, but found his old friends and organized a hockey game. The sheriff returned him to Merrill.

ICE STORED FOR SUMMER

LIVINGSTON, Mont., Jan. 23. — To permit train passengers the luxury of ice water during the warm days of next summer, approximately 21,000 tons of ice, or 600 carloads, have been placed in storage in ice houses reaching from Livingston, Mont., to Wallace and Paradise, Idaho, this winter. The ice was harvested from a special pond near Helena, more than 200 miles distant then shipped to the ice houses for storage.

There are other good cigarettes, of course.

To tell you that Chesterfield is the only good cigarette . . . that the makers of Chesterfield Cigarettes are the only ones who can buy good tobaccos and manufacture cigarettes scientifically . . . would be nothing short of foolish.

For all tobacco is sold in open auctions—where anyone can buy if he will pay the price. Even the machines on which different cigarettes are made are alike.

This much, however, is true: By using the right kinds of Turkish and Domestic tobaccos in just the right proportions . . . by blending and cross-blending them together in the most careful way . . . we make Chesterfield what smokers say it is . . . a cigarette that's milder, that tastes better. Just try them.
