RYSCO Builds Biggest Boat

The Rockport Yacht and Supply Co., Inc., has just finished building the largest non-fishing vessel in its history.

John P. Mitchell, Jr., announced that the boat built for local owners, is approximately 90 by 23 feet and is a combination crew and cargo vessel.

"It will be operated in the Gulf of Mexico off the coast of Louisiana," Mitchell said, "and will be used to service a LeTourneau-built, three-legged oil drilling rig capable of drilling in water 250 feet deep."

The main propulsion for the boat will be supplied by two 12-cylinder General Motors diesel engines which have proven capable of driving the vessel at a speed of over 15 statute miles per hour.

The boat is completely air conditioned and has a crew of three men. It was designed by Albert B. Silchenstedt, RYSCO's vice president in charge of design and production.

Salvation Army, VFW Send Boys to Camp

Sunday morning six Rockport boys left for the Salvation Army Camp at Midlothian.

A joint venture by the Rockport unit of the Salvation Army and the Stewart-Wendell Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 8904 resulted in these boys being able to attend camp.

Boys were selected on their need to have a regulated summer program. At the camp the boys will have plenty to do—swimming, hiking, crafts programs and plenty of exercise.

Commander H. C. Mullinax of the VFW post and Commander-elect Bob Hewes stated that this is only one of the many activities planned by the VFW for the community in the coming year.

In behalf of the Salvation Army, Mrs. Roy Lee Harz, chairman of the camp committee wishes to express special thanks to Chief of Police Hewes for his fine cooperation in assisting the boys off to camp.

He registered the boys, took them to a doctor for physical examinations, shopped for their clothing and picked them up on Sunday to meet the bus.

TEAL SHOOT IS SET FOR SEPT. 10-18

Austin.—Texas will participate in a special nine-day experimental teal hunting season again this year, Sept. 10-18, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

This will be the second state-wide season conducted in order to evaluate the effects of an increased harvest on teal that normally pass through Texas prior to the opening of the waterfowl hunting season.

The hunting season will be open to hunters holding a "teal hunting permit" one week later than the 1965 hunt.

The daily bag limit will be four teal with a possession of eight.

The number of permits will be unlimited and will be issued through Aug. 8 upon application to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin. Each applicant should submit his name, complete address and county of residence. Application can not be accepted after Aug. 8.

Each hunter participating in this special season will be required to have the regular Texas hunting license and Federal duck stamp, in addition to the "teal hunting permit."

The Department pointed out that the primary purpose of the experimental season will be to determine if teal can stand the additional hunting pressure, to study the effects of the shoot on other ducks and to collect information concerning the hunter's ability to identify various waterfowl.

Identification of the teal will be absolutely necessary as the season on other waterfowl will be closed and possession of other species will be considered a violation of the law.

New Trial In Poodle Case Denied By Judge

County Judge John D. Wendell this week denied a request for a new trial in the case of "Who owns the charcoal poodle called Lucky Lady by its present owners and Sheri by the people who claim it used to be theirs?"

It was opposed by Attorney John J. Pichinson of Corpus Christi representing Mr. and Mrs. Curley Hunter who live on Highway 35 about a mile south of Rockport.

At the conclusion of the trial, in which a jury found in favor of the Hunters on May 2, 2, Mrs. Hunter admitted that Pichinson was receiving a fee "in the neighborhood of $2,000."

General Metals Shop At High School Now Two-Thirds Complete

The new general metals shop now under construction at Aransas County High School is approximately two-thirds completed at the present time.

The contract for the structure was awarded by the School Board to Chas. T. Pickett Lumber Co. which submitted the low bid of $20,385.

A subcontractor, Mesco Buildings Co., erected the metal prefabrication for the building, using attractive green and white panels. Brick veneer trim at the front will add to the appearance.

The building is 75 by 50 feet and is located north of the high school across the street from the existing industrial arts building.

When the building is completed and ready for fall classes, the high school for the first time will offer a metals vocational course.

Supt. of School J. D. Gray said two three-hour classes will be offered to a total of from 32 to 40 boys (16 to 20 in each class) in:

- 1) General metals course with emphasis on welding.
- 2) Machine shop.
- 3) Sheet metal.

495 NABBED FOR LACKING FISH PERMIT

Austin.—The "hard luck" sports who can't do anything right are moving from outlaw hunting to good old summertime fishing but with the same negative results.

That is, the latest Texas Parks and Wildlife Department arrest report swings the emphasis from hunting in closed seasons, hunting at night and such to fishing without a license.

The gunning bracket included only 59 cases yet no-fishing license violations totalled 495. Individual fishing licenses cost $2.15. The fines usually start at $27.50 plus costs.

There also was an upswing in selling fish without a license with a total of 63 cases.

Licenses to sell fish, in several categories, ranges upwards from $3.

Some of the outriggers tried to get theirs the easy way and were fined on netting in closed waters.

The tariff got rough in a few instances, like the Houston man who paid a $200 fine plus costs for killing a doe deer out of season in Wharton County.

One fish netter paid a $50 fine and costs and another $25 and costs. Both were in Morris County.

Water safety violations included 24 for lacking life jackets for each person in boats. Fines and court costs for the month totalled $16,578.47.

Two Stolen $100 Travelers Checks Cashed

Merchants and motel operators in this area are warned to be cautious about cashing American Express Co. Travelers Checks after it became known that two stolen and forged $100 Travelers Checks had been cashed here.

One was cashed at Georgia's Package Store, Market Street and Highway 35, and the other at Roe's Food Store.

Charles LaBounty, executive vice president and cashier of First National Bank, said he had learned from the American Express Co. at Dallas that the checks were two of eight $100 travelers checks stolen recently from a safe in Bay-side.

LaBounty cautioned local business people to not only insist that travelers checks be signed in their presence but also to ask for identification.

Lt. Col. Oril A. Cawthon, (ret.) owner of Georgia's Package Store, said the man who passed the forged check at his store was tall, stocky and had a thin face.

"He was neat looking, wore a fisherman's hat and sports clothes," Cawthon added. He also recalled that the check was cashed late in the evening at a busy period "in my store, which I imagine is a technique of such operators."

American Express agents and local authorities are investigating.

Three Men To Attend Fire School July 17-22

The City of Rockport will send three members of the Rockport Fire Department to the Texas A&M Fire School at College Station, July 17-22.

By sending two men to the school, Rockport will have an insurance key rate saving of five percent on $100 valuation, plus another five percent for sending the fire marshal.

COL. TEDDER NAMED SALES MANAGER OF MARINELAND CENTER

Lt. Col. (ret.) Pete Tedder of the U. S. Air Force has been appointed sales manager of Marineland Boat Center, Highway 35 North.

Colonel Tedder was a commander of the 815 AC&W Squadron when it operated the Radar Station here. He and his wife, who have lived here more than three years, have Force and the others in Aransas County High School.

Senator Robert F. Kennedy, of New York, was in the news recently when he visited South Africa, at the request of a student group, and branded the nation's policy of apartheid as one of the great evils of the world. Apartheid is the rigid separation of the races. Many observers believed the address to be the most important by a visitor to South Africa.

'The Big Tree' Publicized

Since being named champion, "The Big Tree" at Goose Island State Park and the Rockport area are getting lots of publicity.

The latest example is an article in "Town Crier," Orlin Brewer's column in "The Vernon Record," Vernon, Texas. Writes Brewer:

Who owns Wilbarger County's "champion tree?" Maybe most folks couldn't care less, but there's probably somebody who would be extremely proud if it were only established that his tree is the largest in Wilbarger County.

Okay, so you didn't know that people ever get concerned about the size of trees, or that "champion trees" are named any place.

Mrs. Byron Smith of 3139 Yampatika can tell you they are.

Mrs. Smith, who along with her husband maintains a home here and another in Rockport, 30 miles north of Corpus Christi, tell us that "The Big Tree" at Goose Island State Park is now officially the state champion.

The tree is an old friend of hers.

"Oh, yes, I've seen it many times," she smiles. "I've made pictures of it, although I don't have any right now."

Bill J. Williams, park attendant at Goose Island State Park, received congratulations and a citation stating:

"Big Tree Certificate presented to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department on whose land is growing the largest tree specimen of its kind (live oak) in Texas as of this date, June 1, 1966, presented by the Texas Forest Service, a part of the Texas A&M University System."

Measurements of "The Big Tree," which is a fenced tourist attraction that draws cars across the bay's causeway to the island park are:

89-foot crown spread; circumference of 32 feet 8 inches at four feet from the ground; and a height of 43 feet six inches.

The Big Tree, besides being the state champion, is an estimated 2,000 years old.

20 Local Girls Enjoy Camp Copano

Five local girls are trying out for the next Girl Scout "roundup," an activity which has special requirements such as living in tents and doing their own cooking. The girls are Rose Ann Elliot, Cynthia Gurley, Veronica LaBorde and Junie and Parkie Ledbetter.

Camp Copano was built in 1956 and has been in session every summer since that time. It is the property of the Whooping Crane Girl Scout Council and is located on Copano Bay, nine miles north of Rockport, in a natural setting of woods, bays and lakes.

It is directed by Mrs. H. J. Bielenberg of Sinton, the Council's executive director. She is assisted by Mrs. C. J.

Janet Tisdale Weds Walter S. Falk, III

Marriage vows were pledged by Miss Janet Elva Tisdale and Walter S. Falk, III, on June 17 at the Timberland Drive Church of Christ in Lufkin, Texas.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Tisdale of 1005 Reen Drive, Lufkin. The groom is the son of Major and Mrs. Walter S. Falk, Jr., of 1506 Shadyside Drive, Rockport.

The double ring rites were performed before an arrangement of white chrysanthemums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length sheath accented by lace tiers. Her shoulder-length veil fell from a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white daisies and stephanoties.

Miss Mary Love attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a flamingo crepe street-length flared dress featuring a scooped neckline; she carried a single pink rose.

Mrs. Tisdale, mother of the bride, wore a rose pink suit accented by matching accessories, and a corsage of white gladioli. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Falk, Jr., wore a beige sheath with matching accessories. Her corsage was also of white gladioli.

A reception immediately following the ceremony was held at the bride's home. The bride's table was covered with a hand-made lace tablecloth and centered with an epergne covered with white daisies and the bride's bouquet. The white double tiered wedding cake was served by the wedding couple. The punch was served by Miss Patricia Anne Falk, the bridegroom's sister.

The bride is a 1964 graduate of Lufkin High School. She is presently attending Stephen F. Austin State College and will return to the University of Texas this fall as a junior.

The bridegroom was graduated from Aransas County High School in 1963. He, too, is attending Stephen F. Austin State College and will return this fall to The University of Texas as a senior. He is a member of Delta Sigma Phi and Alpha Phi Omega.

Hospital Insurance Under Medicare

This is the second in a series of articles from H. M. Cleveland, district manager, Social Security Administration, Corpus Christi, Texas, on how medicare will work when it begins in July. The information is based on "Your Medicare Handbook," the guide that will be issued to all medicare beneficiaries during June.

By: H. M. Cleveland District Manager.

There are two kinds of health insurance under medicare: Hospital insurance, which helps for certain covered hospital and hospital-related services; and medical insurance, which helps pay your doctor bills.

To participate in the medicare program, hospitals must meet specified standards which demonstrate that they provide high quality health care.

Hospital insurance payments will be made directly to the hospital furnishing the services, by one of the organizations, such as Blue Cross or a private insurance company to handle such claims. If your doctor decides you need to go to a hospital, you will ordinarily show your health insurance card when you are admitted and will probably be asked to sign a form the hospital can use to make its claim for payment. You will also make arrangements to pay the first $40 and other items not paid for by medicare.

You will be notified whenever payment has been made for services you have received. The notice will also show the number of days of care you have left in that "spell of illness."

Benefits under the hospital insurance program are paid during a certain period of time, called a "spell of illness." This does not refer to any particular illness you may have, nor does it refer to a single stay in a hospital.

Your first "spell of illness" begins on the first day (after June 30, 1966) you receive covered hospital services. It ends when you have not been in any hospital for 60 consecutive days. The new "spell of illness" can begin the next time you receive covered hospital services.

Most people will not have to bother about trying to keep the details of this rule in mind. Usually, if you enter a hospital you will not stay long enough to use all of your benefits. When you use hospital benefits, the Social Security Administration will keep track of you "spell of illness" for you and give you information on how many "benefit" days you have left.

The next article will describe what services are covered when you go to a hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Bissett of Kingsville spent the weekend with his grandmother, Mrs. Stanley Bissett.

New Rations Readied For Whooper Set

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has learned that further experiments are planned to supplement the diet of wintering Whooping Cranes and countless other migrating wild birds on the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge near Austwell.

Two years ago first steps were taken to augment available crane food on Blackjack Peninsula because of habitat shrinkage in the marshes.

The initial 98-acre inland test plot was planted two years ago. Last fall another plot was provided. Now further expansion and refinement are planned.

Bob Shields, refuge manager, told the Department the experiments actually amount to pioneering in new farming techniques. Crops cannot be planted until early fall if they are to survive the usual heat, weed, and insect plagues, and other adverse conditions.

In what Shields refers to as "backward farming," peanuts and cow peas are planted after ordinary agriculture pursuits in the area are concluded for the season.

Now, he will attempt to root break the plots so that the crops may be cultivated in a bid for a higher yield. Not the least of the problems is the sandy soil.

The Whooping Cranes, now summering at the Great Slave Lake nesting grounds, have adopted the experimental plots, which also plays mealtime hosts to sandhill cranes, wild geese and assorted moochers, according to Shields.

The supplemental food program was begun by Shields because marsh areas were being increasingly affected by siltation, pollution and other man-made perils. The undertaking has been so enthusiastically indorsed by the entire refuge population that a tall deer proof fence is needed to protect the crops. The fence also has required strong reinforcing at the bottom to keep out different varmints, particularly the myriad raccoons.

VOCATIONAL-TECHNICAL INSTITUTE OPENS DOORS TO STUDENTS THIS FALL

The James Connally Technical Institute, a part of the Texas A&M University system, will offer courses in 15 areas of study when its doors open for the first time in September.

The institute was created by an act of the Texas Legislature in April 1965. The legislation authorized the board of directors of Texas A&M University to establish "a coeducational institution . . . which may offer courses of study in vocational and vocational-technical education for which there is a demand within the State of Texas."

Information on the new educational facility, located near Waco, is now available at the offices of all county agents.

The instructional programs of the Institute are designed for training and retraining youth and adults so they may join the state and nation's work force as skilled workmen or technicians. A major objective of the Institute is to provide occupational training needed by Texas business and industry and for which there is sufficient demand by students.

Persons desiring to enroll must submit applications for admission. High School graduates can be admitted as regular full time students. Mature individuals who have not graduated from high school will be permitted to register if they furnish evidence that their preparation is substantially the same as required of other applicants and have the ability and desire to profitably pursue their desired course of study.

Copies of the Institute's general catalogue for 1966-67 may be obtained by writing Roy W. Dugger, director James Connally Technical Institute, Waco, Texas.

In the Hill Country north and west of Austin and San Antonio are many attractive inns, dude ranches, summer camps and other tourists magnets.

Income Tax Tattletales

Last year, Uncle Sam collected an extra $13 million in income taxes because somebody tattled for pay.

Most tips about income tax fraud come in anonymously, from people seeking no reward beyond the satisfaction of doing their duty—or of getting even with someone they don't like.

But in 1965, a typical year, 4,000 informers filed formal claims for a reward. And the government paid out $600,000 for their information.

The practice of paying money for tax tips has existed ever since the early days of the republic. In each year's budget Congress sets aside a specific sum for this purpose.

There are those who condemn the whole idea. They argue that tattling is unsportslike, not in keeping with our traditions. Certainly, generous American readers have as Tom Sawyer. And, as one brother Sid for tattling on Tom and Aunt Polly.

On the other hand, tax cheaters are not as endearing as Tom Sawyer. And, as one court put it:

"It is the duty of every citizen to communicate to his government any information which he has of the commission of an offense against its laws."

The Internal Revenue Service takes no position on fine philosophical grounds. Its job is simply to collect all the money that the government has coming—and informers are a big help. Using them not only puts the IRS on the track of cheaters but also helps to keep many a tempted citizen honest.

How much can an informer collect? Up to 10 percent of what the government recovers, which can be considerable. However, the exact amount is left largely to the discretion of the IRS.

In one case an informer sued the government, complaining that he wasn't paid as much as his information was worth. But he got nowhere. The court said the IRS is obliged to make an honest evaluation of services rendered, but is not obliged to pay what others may consider a fair sum.

In another way, too, the IRS has the last word. For the informer, having won his reward, must then pay income tax on it.

In fact, there have even

Motel Publication Promotes Rockport

A deluxe, hardback publication called "Your Host in South Texas and the Coastal Bend," which is found in outstanding motels and hotels, contains an article and photographs pertaining to the local area.

The article states: "Rockport is a picturesque town sheltered by wind-deformed ancient live oak and salt cedar trees, but it is a beehive of activity with its thriving tourist trade, and fish, shrimp and oyster industries."

"Like most of the other towns in the Gulf Coast area it has had a checkered past although it is not nearly as old a settlement as some of its neighbors. The Rockport-Fulton area is booming as a recreational and retirement community."

"Everywhere on the sandy beaches and tree shaded bays, homes of every description are going up, from plush modern structures planned for year-round occupancy to small weekend cottages for fishing and hunting enthusiasts."

"And this is truly a fishing and hunting paradise. All native varieties of salt water fish abound in the waters of the bay or the nearby Gulf of Mexico, and in the fall hunters come from all over the country to try their luck with the vast flocks of migrating ducks and geese that winter here."

"A unique Fulton-Rockport attraction is the Paws and Taw Club — a square dance club "with a difference."

"Members of this group have pitched in and built their own club house on a bayfront lot donated by one of the members."

"The Rockport-Fulton area is a favorite spot for northerners and the square dance facility has a special appeal for many who have acquired homes in the vicinity."

been cases in which informers themselves were fined for failing to pay the tax on their reward. No doubt Tom Sawyer would have a phrase for that:

Poetic justice.

OPTIONAL METHOD FOR REPORTING FARM INCOME UNDER SOCIAL SECURITY

Changes in social security give farmers a more liberal method of reporting farm income beginning in 1966, H. M. Cleveland, district manager of the Social Security Administration in Corpus Christi says.

Since 1955, farmers have paid social security taxes and they have built social security protection for themselves and their families.

Now a change has been made in the optional method of reporting for farmers whose net earnings are less than $1,600 a year. In that case, he may report either:

(1) His actual net gain or loss from farming; or
(2) Two thirds of his gross farm earnings, with a limit of $1,600 to be reported under this method.

Under the optional method of reporting, a farmer with gross income as low as $600.00 can obtain social security credit and build insurance protection for himself and family against a loss of earnings in retirement, disability and death, Cleveland said.

Texas offers the most convenient gateway to Mexico for many residents of the United States. Highway, rail and air transportation make it easy and inexpensive to combine a tour of Texas with visits to the Republic of Mexico and other Latin American nations.

Two Divorces Granted Here

Two divorces were granted in district court Thursday and Friday.

With Judge John H. Miller of Sinton presiding in 36th District Court, Lula Derrough as cross plaintiff was granted a divorce from J. D. Derrough.

In 156th District Court presided over by Judge Joe Wade of Beeville, Hazel McCoy Campbell obtained a divorce from Walter Campbell, Jr.

In a writ of habeas Corpus action brought by Mimi Laird Cassel against Robert Cassel, the plaintiff was granted custody of her baby, James Richard Cassel. Custody of Robert Alan Cassel and Katherine Ann Cassel was granted to the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Cassel.

In another case heard by Judge Wade, filed by B. M. Palmer against Henry McElwee in connection with operation of Arkansas County Airport for private planes, McElwee was temporarily enjoined from the renting and servicing private planes at the airport. Robert D. Mosier was appointed auditor for this case.

With both district courts in session on Friday, it was necessary for Judge Wade to hold court in the Commissioners Court room and Judge Miller to hold court in the regular courtroom.

A lady called up and said, "I have an idea for your column about an annoying practice of some people after they get their mail at the post office."

"They park their cars in the diagonal parking spaces on either the north or east side of the post office, go in and get their mail, and come out and get back in their cars."

"Then, believe it or not, some inconsiderate and boorish people calmly sit back and leisurely read every bit of their mail, taking up a parking space that many other busy folks would like to use and are entitled to use."

"Those thoughtless people should take their mail and go home or someplace and read it, but not in a post office parking space."

I think the lady is right. I asked her who she was and if I could put her name in the paper.

She said, "certainly. I'm Mrs. William Ricer and I believe very strongly in what I just told you."

A friend of mine, admitting to human frailty, says the following prayer helps him:

"Lord, I shall be very busy this day. I may forget Thee, but do Thou not forget me."

My friend said, "This prayer was offered by Sir Jacob Astley before he led the British troops to victory at the Battle of Edge Hill."

To me, theologian Reinhold Niebuhr's widely quoted prayer represents a fine philosophy for peace of mind and the good life. It goes as follows:

"God, give me the serenity to accept things I cannot change, the courage to change things that I can, and the wisdom to know the difference."
