Krush Threatens To Build Missile Bases

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev threatened again Saturday to build missile bases in the mountains of Albania and Bulgaria unless Italy and Greece forget about plans for Western missile installations on their territory.

"I believe that the governments of Italy and Greece will be sensible and will not agree to subject their peoples to danger," Khrushchev said in a plea for a "rocket-free, nonatomic zone under mutual control" in the Balkans.

"To put rocket installations into motion means to start a world war, to plunge the peoples of peaceful countries into its abyss."

Beaming and suntanned, the Kremlin chieftain drove straight to the Sports Palace in Lenin Stadium for a rally of 20,000 people after arriving home from a 12-day visit to two Soviet bloc states, Albania and Hungary.

In several speeches in Albania he hammered repeatedly on the threat to counter missile bases in Italy and Greece with Soviet launching pads in Albania.

Italy has agreed to the building of NATO bases for American intermediate range missiles on her territory. Greece has announced no such agreement.

Khrushchev, in his 45-minute speech, said conditions in Albania and Bulgaria "are exceptionally favorable for the setting up of rocket. There are high mountains, deep gorges, there is enough room for rocket sites."

He asked this question: "If rockets are to be set up against us in the territory of Greece and Italy, why should we fire on them from a long distance (from Soviet bases) when we could destroy the opponents' bases with small rockets from the territory of Albania and Bulgaria?"

The Soviet Premier said Yugoslavia as well as other Communist countries had supported a Romanian suggestion for an atom-free Balkan zone.

"But unfortunately these sensible peace-loving Romanian proposals did not meet with the support from the governments of the non-Socialist (non-Communist) countries of the Balkan peninsula," Khrushchev continued.

"If this proposal meets with no support and the aggressive policy of the Western powers is carried on in the Balkans, the Soviet Union, together with all the countries of the Warsaw Pact, will be forced to set up rocket bases closer to the bases of the aggressors."

Khrushchev said the people of Albania are convinced "neither the Greeks nor the Italians, nor anybody else, would now dare attack Albania" because she is backed to the hilt by other Communist countries in the Warsaw Pact.

Italy and Greece are behaving unreasonably about permitting rocket bases on their soil, he said, because:

"It is impossible to believe seriously that little Albania intends to attack Italy or Greece.

"Neither has the Soviet Union such intentions—the Soviet Union which borders neither Italy nor Greece."

These Western-aligned nations are in favor of the bases he added, "in order to get up steam for carrying on the cold war. To provide no opportunity for lessening international tension or melting the ice of the cold war."

SNYDER SPOTLIGHT

By WACIL McNAIR

The weather hit the headlines again Wednesday morning, and Snyder was in the thick of it. The unexpected storm here was one of the most destructive to strike the area in many years. Although there has been no definite confirmation, there is evidence aplenty that twisting winds were responsible to much of the damage here.

It is difficult to imagine that straight winds could cause some of the "freak" devastation that existed here Wednesday morning. There were areas where wreckage was blown in four directions within a small radius, and there were instances where large, heavy objects were moved, or dislodged, while smaller and lighter objects by their side were left unharmed.

So, the blow goes into our books as a tornado.

* * *

Farm land down the middle of the storm's path gave grim testimony to the intensity of the rainfall. In many cases huge terraces did not "break" — the water simply poured over them in sheets from end to end.

Snyder continues to build in 1959. A tabulation of building permits issued by the city shows a strong construction trend here for the first five months of the year. The total estimated cost of construction projects, as listed on the building permits, is $1,135,285, which is the third highest figure in history for the January-through-May period. As usual, a big portion of the new construction is going into the residential area, although commercial building is on the upgrade, too.

Speaking of gains, the Snyder Post Office apparently sets a record every time it opens its doors. Postal receipts for the first five months of the year totaled $67,301.49, a new record and a 35 per cent increase over the same period last year. The postal rate increase which went into effect last summer was expected to reflect a 25 per cent gain, but the increase here has been above that figure consistently.

The summer recreation program for girls is ready to move, and indications are that several hundred youngsters will be involved in the program. This activity brings the full summer program for youngsters into action, since the kid baseball leagues have already launched their operations. Overall, there could be close to 1,000 children participating in the various activities before the summer ends.

Rains Move Into Deep South Texas

Bright sunshine prevailed in the Snyder area Saturday as most of Texas dried out from storms that lashed the state from end to end for a week.

Heavy rains Friday caused flooding in Central Texas, and the Snyder area had more showers Friday evening before the clouds rolled back. The official measurement in Snyder was .36 of an inch, although some areas of the county, particularly to the west and northwest of town had heavier rains ranging up to an inch and a half.

Saturday, reports indicated that most of the rains had moved to deep South Texas. Heavy showers fell in parts of the lower Rio Grande Valley during the day. Mc-Allen received 1.03 inches, and Brownsville .25. Weathermen said radar observations indicated that as much as three inches of rain may have fallen in isolated areas.

Swollen streams carried away the surplus from crop-damaging rains which fell Friday in Central Texas, which ranged up to 12 inches for the week at Brownwood.

The Trinity River was rising rapidly at Trinidad, 55 airline miles downstream from Dallas, but no damaging floods were expected. The river at 18.42 feet was up more than 10 feet at Trinidad, but still 10 to 11 feet below flood stage.

Rains in the hill country pushed the Colorado River up more than 17 feet, but the floods rolled harmlessly into a chain of reservoirs above Austin.

Krush, Aide Stand Firm

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union pressed on two fronts Saturday its demand that the Western Allies get out of West Berlin.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko kept up his pressure in a fruitless Big Four secret session here.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev added the weight of his views in a statement in Hungary.

Khrushchev said "if no agreement is reached at the Geneva conference of foreign ministers, agreements will undoubtedly be reached at a summit conference."

But he declared the Soviet Union "will not consent to an agreement which would perpetuate the occupation regime in West Berlin."

Khrushchev added that the international situation is better now than two or three years ago. His statement was made to Hungarian newsmen before he returned home to Moscow after a visit to Albania and Hungary. It was considered mild in comparison with some of his recent speeches denouncing the Western position in the foreign ministers talks here.

Gromyko's stand on the Soviet demand that the Western Allies abandon their occupation of West Berlin was said to have drawn this response from the West: "Never, and there will be no compromise on this issue."

Gromyko met with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd in a two-hour session at Lloyd's red brick town house.

After the meeting, responsible Western informants reported: "No sign of a break in the Berlin deadlock."

Gromyko showed no tendency to accept the Western plan for reaffirmation of Allied rights in West Berlin, a freeze on the size of Western troop garrisons there, and an all-Berlin curb on inflammatory propaganda and subversive activity.

What little optimism persisted among Western ministers was based upon the view that Gromyko has avoided slamming the door on an eventual approach to the Western position.

Hints of impatience were cropping up among the Western ministers. Outside the conference room there was some talk of imposing a deadline on the dragging four-week-old talks. But nobody was suggesting an imminent breakdown.

Herter was pictured as keeping in mind instructions from President Eisenhower that every prospect of an honorable settlement must be explored thoroughly and patiently.

West Berlin officials openly expressed concern, however, that protracted negotiations might sap the will of their citizens to withstand the Communist threat.

The East German press hinted that a retaliatory "temporary" blockade might be imposed on West Berlin if the West German Electoral Assembly meets there July 1 to name a new federal president.

Eisenhower and the Western foreign ministers repeatedly have assured the 2,200,000 West Berliners they will never be abandoned. But Western talk in Geneva of even symbolic cuts in the Western garrisons has stirred uneasiness among West Berliners.

One Communist source close to the Soviet delegation ridiculed private suggestions by Western delegations that Gromyko was marking time in Geneva while awaiting new instructions from Khrushchev.

Cleanup Drive Opens June 15

Snyder's annual cleanup week has been scheduled for June 15-20, according to Stanford Land, cleanup campaign chairman for the Jaycees.

The Jaycees, which annually promote the campaign, working with the health and sanitation committee of the Chamber of Commerce, solicit the aid of other civic organizations in town to help with the cleanup program.

Letters have gone out to civic clubs in town giving them assignments for areas in which they will be responsible for pickup of trash cleaned up in the campaign. The clubs are to be responsible for manpower and transportation for the pickup.

Land said the Jaycees have scheduled the first two days of the week, June 15 and 16, as paint-up and fix-up days.

The next two days, June 17 and 18, will be cleanup days.

Pickup day will be June 19. The workers will not pick up garbage but will get trash, small bundles and containers and brush cuttings left at the alley or regular trash pickup place by residents who clean up their property.

Nicaragua's Trouble Far From Settled

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Nicaragua's troubles Saturday appeared far from settled, although officials from the President on down insist the government is in control throughout the nation.

It has been a week since the first small bands of rebel invaders landed by plane. Unconfirmed reports say there have been more planeloads of rebels flown in than the government has admitted.

A state of siege still is in effect but it may be lifted in the calmer parts of the country next week.

The government admits small groups of rebels are loose in Nicaragua's wild western sector, roaming the swamps and jungles. They are without food and lack arms, the government says, but some sources report the rebels are getting aid from local sympathizers.

In the capital, firecrackers tossed into two movie theaters touched off momentary panic Friday night.

Reports from the nation's second largest city, Leon, site of the national university said students are on strike and have threatened to stone firms that open for business.

Gen. Anastasio Somoza, brother of President Luis Somoza, and head of the nation's armed forces, has said air patrols are covering the coastal areas thoroughly and ships and planes have been warned to give full identification at regular intervals to avoid trouble.

The general also admitted that the rebels may have been joined by a handful of sympathizers but he insisted their number is small.

The government officially acknowledges planes landed last Sunday and Monday bringing fewer than 100 men from foreign training bases. It is now believed here more than the two reported planeloads of rebels were brought in.

Graham Gets Big Welcome

LONDON (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham came back to London Saturday and walked into the sort of welcome that would make a movie star envious.

More than 1,000 hymn-singing Britons nearly mobbed him at Victoria Station. They were a youthful bunch and the hymn they sang loudest was the American evangelist's favorite "This Is My Story, This is My Song."

Graham emerged from the Paris boat train explaining that he will not be preaching in England this time but is taking a vacation.

South Texan Found Guilty Of Murder

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — A jury Saturday convicted David Guardiola, 38, of McAllen of murder and set his punishment at life imprisonment.

Guardiola was charged with the fatal shooting of three members of his family.

Atlas Fails To Travel

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Air Force's giant Atlas rocket exploded shortly after launching Saturday, jolting U.S. hopes for an operational intercontinental-range ball tic missile by this summer.

It was the fifth straight time an Atlas missile failed to travel an intended 5,000-mile path down the Atlantic. Four of the rockets exploded, including the last three.

In all, the Atlas has blown up 10 times in 25 flight tests.

The 82-foot rocket lifted from its launching pad in a pool of fire and smoke Saturday and darted into the sky in what appeared to be a perfect launching.

After 70 seconds, the missile's blunt nose cone arched high in the air and the rocket raced toward the southeast at an altitude of some 80 miles. Its speed was about 15,000 miles an hour.

Tax Case Handed To Federal Jury

HOUSTON (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Allen Hannay handed the Farnsworth corporate income tax evasion case over to the jury Saturday. The panel recessed until Monday.

The jury spent only 70 minutes in deliberation before requesting the recess. It reported it did do "some work" toward reaching a decision.

Final arguments ended Friday in the nine-week-old trial of Richard Farnsworth Sr. and his son, Alan.

Invasion Of Normandy Re-Enacted

By HARVEY HUDSON

SAINTE MERE EGLISE, France (AP) — American paratroopers floated down into the fields of Normandy again Saturday and marched into the village of Sainte Mere Eglise in symbolic re-enactment on this 15th anniversary of D-Day.

The American flag floated in front of the town hall of Sainte Mere Eglise by 4:30 a.m., June 6, 1944. The village claims to be the first French community liberated by American troops.

This time they dropped in broad daylight before the admiring gaze of several thousand inhabitants of the region. They were welcomed at the entrance to the village with soft drinks instead of murderous enemy fire.

The drop was made by 24 members of the 505th Airborne Infantry Regiment, now stationed in Germany. On D-Day, the 505th was part of the 82nd Airborne Division. Sixteen of those jumping Saturday made the invasion leap into Normandy. Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, wartime commander of the 82nd, was on hand for the commemoration ceremonies.

Several parachutists were trapped Saturday by trees and hedgerows but there was no damage. Two mares who were suckling foals sittered nervously about an adjoining field. Everyone landed in the drop zone.

It wasn't like that in 1944, the veterans recalled. The troops were badly dispersed during the massive drop in the halflight just before dawn. Some were hung up on trees and cut down by German fire before they could be released.

Two airborne divisions—the 82nd and 101st—were dropped before H-hour on D-Day. Gen. Gavin recalled that in the first 33 days of fighting, about 60 per cent of the 82nd Infantry group had been killed, wounded or listed as missing.

Those returning Saturday paid their solemn respects to fallen comrades in ceremonies at the town hall and at the monument to the 82nd Division in the tree-lined village square and at the local cemetery where the victims were first buried.

Earlier in the day, memorial services were held at the American Cemetery on the bluffs overlooking Omaha Beach and on the beach at the monument marking the spot the 116th Infantry Regiment of the 29th Division landed.

Members of all the American divisions which made the initial assault mingled with the crowd at both ceremonies.

Huge Demand For Oil Seen

By MAX B. SKELTON

NEW YORK (AP) — Oilmen around the world have no fear of the current surplus of petroleum. They are preparing for a demand boom that will dwarf present requirements.

Members of the World Petroleum Congress are confident scientific progress holds the answers to new sources of supply and new products.

The international oil forum clearly outlined last week the industry's plans for four years. Oil explorations will be pressed in an unprecedented manner throughout the world. Research will seek new uses for petroleum and new cost-cutting production and processing equipment.

Many experiments under way or planned involve increased use of nuclear power made its first major appearance on the agenda of the congress this week. It will play an even more important role at the next congress in Germany, probably in 1963. But oilmen are confident nuclear power is years away from becoming a serious competitor to petroleum in the race to supply the world with energy.

Sir Stephen Gibson, new chairman of the permanent council of the congress, believes world demand for petroleum will nearly triple in 20 years. Dr. E. V. Murphree, the retiring chairman, believes new markets must be found so the industry's actual and potential excess capacity can be put to good use.

Gibson, a member of the British Institute of Petroleum, says the industry is approaching drastic changes in drilling equipment.

"This will make it possible to drill 30,000 feet and beyond," he said. The world record of 25,320 feet was set last year in West Texas.

Legislature Starts 8-Day Race Against Clock Monday

AUSTIN (AP)—The Legislature starts an eight day race against the clock Monday. Its hard-to-reach goal is solution of a staggering state money crisis.

There were some faint signs this week of a growing push among legislators to put on all steam needed to approve a tax bill and pass a spending bill within the 30-day limit of the special session. It ends automatically June 16.

Gov. Price Daniel's extraordinary personal appearance as a witness for his bill before the Senate State Affairs Committee was a highlight of the weeklong hearings on the measure.

Another was the mass of argument for a general sales tax. This came from spokesmen for natural resources and business groups who would be hardest hit by part of Daniel's proposed 149 million dollar two-year budget balancer.

Daniel indicated a willingness to yield on any tax point but a general sales levy. This he has consistently opposed. His bill would bring in new state money from natural gas and business taxes and from specialized sales taxes. The proportion is about 50-50.

The tax bill was sent to a subcommittee. It was instructed to report to the full committee Monday. Sen. Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Angelo, chairman, said he hoped floor debate in the Senate would begin Monday or Tuesday.

The subcommittee is regarded as conservative on both spending and taxing.

Any bill it reports, or any bill that comes out of the whole committee, will be subject to full debate in the Senate. If the administration is strong enough there, a finance bill might be passed and sent back to the House at midweek.

That would leave only a few days for the mopup operation. Despite some optimism that the job can be finished before time expires for the 30 day session, most seasoned observers still do not think so. They expect another special session.

The House adjourned over the weekend without final action on an abandoned property bill urged by Daniel as a means of taking care of part of the general fund deficit.

The House tentatively approved one bill this week aimed at helping with future state college finances. It would increase student fees at the 19 state supported colleges. Final action on it is expected Monday.

The House also may take up the abandoned property bill Monday.

Lightning Hits Picknickers

NEW YORK (AP)—A picknicking family group, seeking shelter under a tree in Central Park during a brief thunderstorm, was struck by a bolt of lightning Saturday. Two children were killed and four other persons were injured.

The dead were identified by police as Roslyn Caporale, 11, and her 12-year-old brother, Christopher.

Injured were the mother, Mrs. Rose Caporale, 4... two other Caporale children, James, 10, and Barbara, a twin of Roslyn, and the children's uncle, Nick Kambourakis, 49.

Christopher and Roslyn were dead on arrival at Roosevelt Hospital. Hospital officials described the condition of the injured as not serious. They were being treated for shock.

OIL ROUNDUP

Search Goes On For New Items

By MAX B SKELTON

NEW YORK (AP)—The search continues for new household products made from petroleum.

Growth of the petrochemical industry is levelling off but many new products are being developed. Manufacturers believe they have only scratched the surface in finding new uses for such popular items as plastics and synthetic fibers.

A U.S. manufacturer says building materials offer phenomena and attractive possibilities.

Italy is developing plastic paper and substitutes for aluminum and leather.

Petrochemicals hold a major position on the agenda of the World Petroleum Congress this week.

Immediately after the war the oil and gas industry looked upon petrochemistry as a convenient outlet for rather troublesome and undesirable byproducts. The outlet quickly developed into a valuable source of income. Plant facilities for production of petrochemical gas materials have been expanded tremendously to keep pace with demand.

A trend toward integration is well under way. Oil companies are acquiring interests in end product plants. Manufacturers of petrochemical products are expanding the interests to include sources of raw materials.

The industry has been one of the most active in acquisitions and mergers, said J. H. Forrester, president of Amoco Chemicals Corp. at Chicago.

"Integration will continue."

Petrochemical output in the United States amounted to only 150 000 pounds in 1925.

Last year's chemical industry output in the United States was 150 billion pounds. Petrochemicals accounted for 42 billion or 28 per cent.

Chemical production for 1958 had a total value of 9.2 billion dollars. Petrochemicals claimed 5.2 billion or 57 per cent.

Wildcats Ahead Of Last Year

AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission reported Saturday oil wildcats are now running ahead of last year.

It said 3 oil and 4 gas wells were completed last week in unproven territory. This upped the oil wildcats to 190 for the year and gas to 29, compared to 174 and 40 last year. Sixty two attempts were dry.

There were 240 oil and 32 gas well completions during the week. For the year, 5,111 oil and 876 gas wells have been brought in, compared to 5,914 and 1,036 in 1958. There were 107 dry holes.

The commission said the average calendar day oil allowable Saturday showed a 334,224 barrel decrease this week. The average was 2,876,651 barrels.

A total 165 wells were plugged.

Caps Awarded To Student Nurses

Twenty-three student nurses received their caps and will begin floor duty as further training in Cogdell Memorial Hospital following "capping" ceremonies held by the Snyder Vocational School of Nursing last night.

The capping ceremony was held in the First Baptist Church at 8 o'clock.

Tomorrow they will begin eight hour shifts of duty on the floor of the hospital and will be graduated as Licensed Vocational Nurses in February, 1960.

Following the capping ceremony the student nurses were guests of honor at a reception in Fellowship Hall of the church to which the LVN's of the hospital were hostesses.

Presiding over the ceremony last night was Dr. E. A. Rogers, chief of staff of the hospital, and the invocation was by the Rev. Harry Vanderpool, pastor of the First Methodist Church.

The main address was by Bill Newsom, administrator of the hospital.

Caps were presented by Miss Louease Stinson, school instructor. candles were presented by Mrs. Maurice Smith, director of nurses at the hospital, and the candles were lighted by Miss Ellen Shelburne, assistant director of nurses.

Billy Joe Poe sang two solos, accompanied by Mrs. Thomas Lynn during the ceremony, and the benediction was by the Rev. G. M. Cole, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Student nurses receiving their caps last night were: Elaine Armstrong, Nelda Bills, Johnnie Butler, Pearl Caley, Dorothy Cox, Clella Flowers, Martha Floyd, Joy Green, Maxine King, Margaret Kruger, Jane Kuss, Gail Landers, Muckie Palmer, Dian Pate, Shirley Price, Vivian Rentro, Margaret Ridley, Ruth Rodgers, Dixie Rogers, Jewel Smith, Opal Stoltz, Marjorie Tyer and Hazel White.

Business, Union Politics Due Probe

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate rackets probers are lining up a potentially explosive probe of what roles big business and big labor unions play in political campaigns, if any.

The objective is to show whether either side is flouting the federal corrupt practices law. This forbids unions and corporations from contributing to the campaign funds of candidates for federal office. Many critics contend the law is full of loopholes.

The committee's original entry into this field of inquiry last year erupted into a name calling row between Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, and Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.).

That fracas split the committee into party line factions. The group is composed of four Republicans and four Democrats. Among them is Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) who is regarded as a likely contender for his party's presidential nomination in 1960.

Many Republicans contend powerful labor unions at least stretch the law to support Democrats for political office, while many Democrats profess to see powerful business interests acting similarly to back conservative Republican candidates.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD), the rackets probers vice chairman, confirmed that Goldwater and Sen. Frank Church (D-Idaho) have been assigned to do spade-work on the projected new probe. He said this was done at an unannounced closed door committee meeting.

Mundt said the two senators will seek tentative agreement on such controversy-laden issues as what preliminary instructions the committee staff should receive, what investigators to assign, and, as Mundt put it, "what areas of activity to go into."

Egg Test In Space Is Successful

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—The Army announced Saturday that it has proved that life cell development can continue under space conditions.

The Army announced results from its egg fertilization experiment flown in the Jupiter intermediate - range ballistic missile nose cone last week with the two monkeys, Able and Baker.

Dr. Richard S. Young, biologist in the Army Ballistic Missile Agency's research projects laboratory at Redstone Arsenal said the result of the experiment was generally encouraging.

The experiment, using sea urchin eggs, was one of five test tube experiments flown in addition to the monkeys. All were recovered successfully.

The experiments were conducted under sponsorship of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Six vials were launched containing sea urchin eggs in fertilized and unfertilized conditions. The eggs in two vials were fertilized when they were placed in the cone about eight hours before the rocket was fired. The eggs in the other four vials were fertilized by a trigger action during the acceleration.

Alarcon Service Is Held Saturday

Funeral services were held for Mrs. Ramona B. Alarcon, 44, who died at her home at 1911 Twenty-third Street at 5:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, at 10 o'clock yesterday morning in the Guadalupe Catholic Church.

The Rev. John Mogana officiated in the services, and burial was in Snyder Cemetery under direction of Bolger Funeral Home.

Mrs. Alarcon, a resident of Snyder about a year, was born Feb. 28, 1915, in San Antonio. She was a member of the Guadalupe Catholic Mission here.

Survivors include her husband, Joaquin B. Alarcon; four daughters, Mrs. Pauline Zarrazies, Eva Alarcon, Helen Alarcon, and Susie Alarcon, all of Snyder; four sons, Frank Alarcon, Joaquin Alarcon, Jr., Raymond Alarcon, and Johnny Alarcon all of Snyder; and her father, Nicholas Barranes of Potect.

Mrs. C. L. McQuaid was taken from Young Medical Center, Sweetwater, to her home in Hermleigh by Bolger ambulance at noon yesterday.

Open House At Beauty College Today

Formal open house will be held at Jessie's Beauty College, 2207 Avenue S, from 1 to 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The public is invited to attend during these hours and see the facilities and meet instructors and students in the college, Mrs. Jessie Hampton, owner, said.

The college is divided into two parts, a junior department for beginning beauty students, and a senior department for more advanced students.

Hair and beauty care is offered to the public in the senior department, which has several students who transferred to Jessie's Beauty College from other beauty colleges they had attended several months. All work in the college is done at one-half the regular price for such beauty care.

We believe that we have one of the most modern and complete beauty colleges in the state, and we welcome everyone to come see it today, or to visit the college for beauty care anytime," Mrs. Hampton said.

In addition to Mrs. Hampton, the instructors are Thelma Clark and Modena Wilson.

Nudist Camp Is Planning Open House

NEW HOPE, Tex. (AP)—The manager of the nudist camp which started all the legislative hullabaloo this year promises to hold open house in July.

But the operator didn't say whether the open house will be with or without clothes.

Ron Campbell, former Fort Worth aircraft worker who shed his aircraft tools and clothes at the same time, said that when the swimming pool is completed and a couple of other improvements readied, he wants to hold open house.

"It probably will be the last of July," Campbell told John Cliff of the Denison Herald.

"We'll let you know in plenty of time so you can help us get the word out."

"Maybe when the public sees what kind of a place we're running, and accepts some of our literature and reads up on why we are nudists, they'll be less concerned about prosecuting us."

The Legislature considered a bill to ban nudist colonies but the measure failed to pass.

"I feel that the Texas Legislature defended a person's individual rights when it defeated the nudism bill," Campbell said.

We are family groups devoted to the health benefits derived from the sun. You'd be surprised how quickly you can get accustomed to others around you following the same practice.

We allow no drinking, no profanity, and nothing in the way of magazines that would depict anything immoral. I feel there is a lot more wrong with the locked door stag parties held with girlie shows than with any display of family nudism."

C. R. Scrivner Dies Saturday

MIDLAND — Cecil R. Scrivner, 52, former Scurry County resident, died at 6:30 a. m. Saturday in a Midland Hospital. Mr. Scrivner had been in failing health for about two years. Death was attributed to a heart ailment.

He was born on May 17, 1907, in Scurry County, moving from there to Mineral Wells, and then to Midland in 1937. He was a carpenter by trade.

Survivors include two sons, Bert and Cecil Scrivner, both of Midland; a daughter, Mrs. Opal Covington of Flippen, Ark.; and six grandchildren. He also leaves several relatives in Scurry County.

Funeral arrangements were pending late Saturday at the Ellis Funeral Home in Midland.

Million Americans To Help In Cancer Society Survey

By JOHN BARBOUR

NEW YORK (AP)—This fall one million Americans will help answer this question. What elements in your daily life can lead to cancer?

The six-year project is the largest medical statistical study ever attempted in the United States, the American Cancer Society announced Saturday.

It aims to test some theories and suspicions about cancer, such as:

The possible relationship between some jobs and cancer, whether cancer strikes some families more than others, whether some other diseases set a person up for cancer, whether childbirth is associated with cancer or whether failure to breast feed a child leads to breast cancer, whether cigarette filters are effective in holding down lung cancer.

If you are chosen, you may be asked questions like these:

How much exercise do you get?

Do you often add salt to your food? Pepper? Catsup, mustard or spices? Mayonnaise or salad oil? Do you often eat ham? Pork? Hot dogs? Smoked or salted fish? Potatoes? Cooked vegetables? Fruit or fruit juices?

How many cups of coffee or tea do you drink each day? How many glasses of milk, soft drinks or beer? How many drinks of wine, whiskey, gin?

How often do you take regular or buffered aspirin, vitamins, sleeping pills, tranquilizers, laxatives or antiacids?

Do you or did you smoke? How much did you smoke and what did you smoke? Cigarettes, cigars or a pipe?

The study is based on a theory that most cancers are caused by factors in the environment, things people come in contact with day by day, said Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, the cancer society's chief statistician.

Some everyday things like cig arettes are suspected cancer causers. But many of the items mentioned in the study are only pieces of the whole picture, not known cancer-causing elements. Some are shots in the dark. Some are not suspected at all.

Truman To Speak At Dallas Demo Rally

DALLAS (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman has accepted an invitation to speak at a mass rally in October to kickoff the 1960 Dallas County Democratic campaigning.

The former president was invited by Dan R. Patton Jr., a Democratic precinct chairman who is critical of County Chairman Ed Drake's conduct of county Democratic affairs.

"Mr. Truman is delighted to come here to revive Dallas County Democrats. He is the fighting Democrat that we need to inspire Dallas' fighting Democrats," Patton said.

Thousands of Women Read KELVINATOR'S Eye-Opening Facts About Automatic Washers In the READER'S DIGEST

Advertisement

Confused by claims for automatic washer features? Thousands of women are. KELVINATOR clears up this confusion.

Plain Facts You Should Know Before Buying Any Automatic Washing Machine

IN THOUSANDS of homes today, women are still hand-scrubbing clothes, even though they own shiny new automatic washers.

Why? First, because their machines can't get out ground-in dirt without hand-scrubbing. Secondly, many women won't trust fine fabrics to a jerky, back and forth agitator action.

Is it impossible, then, for an automatic washer to get clothes really clean with complete safety?

Kelvinator engineers knew that clever features could not make up for a lack in the washing action itself. Research proved the answer must include an automatic pre-scrub . . . something impossible in existing agitator washers because they're too rough on clothes.

More research, more experiments, developed a new rotating agitator motion that met every cleaning test and safety standard and ended hand pre-scrubbing.

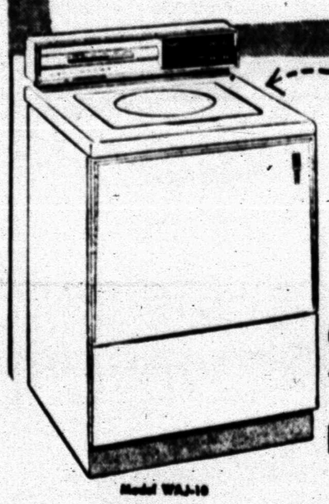

They call it EnerJETic Action. This thorough yet gentle washing action provides an automatic pre-scrub known as the "Magic Minute Dirt Loosener" . . . the most effective way to get out ground-in dirt ever known.

For one minute, clothes are first pre-scrubbed in a small amount of water, with the full amount of detergent to loosen all dirt, grease and grime before regular washing starts.

Then the water fills to the normal level and EnerJETic Action keeps turning clothes over and over . . . while thousands of jet streams shoot suds deep into every fibre. As a result, Kelvinator gets out every bit of soil . . . and it washes filmy lingerie, new "synthetics," even Wash-N-Wear fabrics in perfect safety.

Today, there are many washers studded with many features. The truth is, Kelvinator has every one of real convenience . . . like the automatic lint filter, different cycles, and rinse additive dispenser. However, Kelvinator alone has developed the kind of washing action homemakers need for cleaner, easier, safer washing.

And Kelvinator owners can't have a $70 repair bill for replacing a worn-out or leaky gear drive mechanism . . . because EnerJETic Action, unlike all other washing actions, is built without gears. KELVINATOR, Detroit 32, Michigan.

Economy Gets Big Boost From Oil Drilling Activity

A drilling rig can mean many thousands of dollars in economic benefits to a community when it moves in and starts drilling, and Snyder is getting a nice share of those benefits.

Statistics made available to the Chamber of Commerce oil and gas committee by Bill Fry of Schlumberger Well Surveying Corp. show there are now some 14 rotary drilling rigs operating in Scurry County, which is about average for the past several months.

An average rotary rig has a total crew of three drillers, 12 roughnecks and one toolpusher, according to G. S. Taylor, head of a local drilling firm, and the monthly payroll of such a crew runs in the neighborhood of $10,000.

With 14 rigs operating in this county, that means Snyder is getting the benefits from a monthly payroll of about $140,000 from rigs in Scurry County alone. Schlumberger figures show that in May there were 31 active rigs in this area, including Borden, Kent, Howard, Mitchell and Scurry Counties. Some of the drilling crews operating rigs in other counties are living in Snyder, as well as most of those on Scurry rigs.

Local income, retail sales and bank deposits are all affected by the presence of drilling crews. The families of the drilling crews spend money on rent, groceries, clothing, gasoline and numerous other things while living here.

Economic benefits in connection with the drilling of oil wells are more far-reaching than the payrolls of drilling companies. Having the drilling rig here means possibly $5,000 monthly in drilling supplies, including drilling muds, cements, rockbits, oil and grease, lumber, rags, rope, soap, paint, nails, road construction and repair, well logging, acidizing, welding and many others. Most of these services come from Snyder firms. Just the rig's fuel bill is a big item, as is the trucking bill for moving the rig.

The benefits start even before the drilling rig is moved in, such as many thousands of dollars paid to landowners for lease bonuses and rentals, most of which is retained in the county. Payrolls of geophysical crews, which precede drilling, are also in advance benefits.

Oil well completions mean money to the royalty owners, as well as a larger local payroll ultimately. Schlumberger figures show 16 rotary completions in Scurry County alone during May, while there were 17 in April, 18 in March, 14 in February and 17 in January.

New well completions in the five-county area ranged from a low of 37 in February to a high of 60 in January. There were 54 in May. The area had from seven to 13 dry holes each month.

A. E. Chester, vice president in charge of Magnolia Petroleum Co.'s oil production department, recently said in discussing the benefits of an oil drilling operation to an area that a community benefits in more ways than economically.

"The social benefits are just as important as the economic benefits to a community. Today's roughneck is a family man and solid citizen, a far cry from the rough and tumble tradition built up in the 1920s."

Chester cited as an example a 20-man crew surveyed on a rig near Fort Stockton. The crew had 29 children, 21 of them in school. Nine of the wives were active in Parent - Teacher Associations, and three of the men belonged to local lodges. Most of them belonged to churches.

$1-Million Error Goes By Auditor

WASHINGTON (AP)—A million dollar error in an Air Force contract went right by the Air Force's auditor general.

It wasn't discovered until a year later, when Congress' General Accounting Office went over the contract.

House investigators listened to the story Friday in open awe. "Fantastic," muttered Chairman F. Edward Hebert (D-La.) of the Armed Forces Investigations subcommittee.

The $15,400,000 contract was with Avco Mfg. Corp., Crosley Division, Cincinnati, Ohio. It was for fire control systems in the B52 bomber.

The error came when extra components, which belonged to another contract and had been accounted for in it, were mistakenly charged to the control systems contract.

When the error was discovered, Avco immediately acknowledged the mistake and refunded the money. It said it was sorry and would tighten up its own procedures.

90th Division Opens Camp

AUSTIN (AP)—The 90th Division was the first army reserve organization to attend summer camp this year.

The division opened two weeks of "active duty for training" at Ft. Polk, La., Saturday.

The 90th's 7,500 Texans come from cities and towns as far north as Amarillo and as far south as Brownsville.

The division has units in 64 Texas cities from Odessa on the west to Jasper on the east.

Since the division will be the first reserve unit to train under the Army's latest concept of infantry division organization, many important visitors are expected attend the 90th encampment.

In April, the 90th was reorganized along pentomic lines of the Army's new infantry division concept. The 90th was until then organized as a traditional three-regiment division.

Maj. Gen. Earl Rudder, vice president of Texas A&M, is commander.

Desert Yields WW II Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Sahara Desert has cast up a mystery as deep and baffling as any recorded in the annals of the seas.

A World War II B24 bomber which had a crew of nine has been found in the waterless waste of Libya, 380 miles south of Bengazi. It was last seen 16 years ago when it took off from a Libyan base for a bombing raid on Naples, Italy.

The bomber lies there on the sand, scarcely damaged, preserved almost perfectly in the hot, arid desert air. Its radio still is in working order.

For 16 years the plane rested there and was seen by no one. Or, if some desert nomad came across it, he told no authority. It was found a short time ago by a team of exploring geologists.

The U.S. Air Force sent a plane crew to see the wreck and photograph it from the air. And it is sending experts overland to examine it more closely.

Counsel Training Offered At H-SU

ABILENE — Hardin - Simmons University has been authorized to offer training for persons in counseling and guidance by the State Board of Education Dr. E. L. Bowden, head of the department of education, reports.

Approval by the state agency enables the university to offer training to students which will lead to certification as counselors in Texas public schools.

The program, which requires 36 semester hours of work on the graduate level, provides for a major in education and a minor field in psychology, Dr. Bowden explained.

In order to qualify for the training, applicants must have taught at least three years, it was pointed out.

Swimming Classes Scheduled

Registration for swimming lessons at the Towle Memorial Park swimming pool can begin today, D. A. Porter, who operates the pool with associates, said.

The swimming lessons will be offered for beginners, advanced swimmers and beginning and advanced divers, Porter stated.

Classes will be restricted to not more than 15 pupils at one time, and will be held two days each week for five weeks.

Boys' and advanced swimmers' lessons will be held from 9:30 to 10:30 o'clock two days each week. The girl's recreation program sessions will be held from 10:30 to 11:30 o'clock two mornings each week.

Each swimming student will be assigned to a class to fit age, ability and sex. No mixing of boys and girls in the same classes will be done, Porter said.

Price for the lessons will be $4 for all 10 lessons for beginners and intermediates, $7 for the 10 lessons for advanced swimmers, and $3 for beginning divers.

Adult classes will also be offered from 6 to 7 o'clock at night, with the fee being $7 for 10 lessons.

All fees for swimming lessons include admission to the pool.

Twelve life guards at the pool passed swimming test yesterday to become teachers in the swimming classes.

The week-long lessons taught the guards were instructed by C. D. Snell, water safety director and instructor for Abilene.

Season pass books containing 25 passes to swim in the pool are being offered to save swimmers money, Porter said. The pass books cost $5 for the 25 swimming sessions for students under 14 years of age, and $7.50 for students over 15 years of age.

Circus Signs Lion Lover

DUDLEY, England (AP) — Edward France, the butcher's boy who prefers the company of live lions to dead mutton—and who climbed into a lion's cage to prove it—has finally got himself a job with a circus.

He snapped up an offer to become a junior elephant-minder Friday, an hour after he was fined by a stern magistrate for bending the bars of the lion's den at Dudley Zoo and joining two lions, much to the consternation of onlookers.

France, 17, escaped being snapped up by the lions because they had just been fed and apparently weren't hungry any more. He admitted he'd been stupid, but told the magistrate:

"I would like to be a lion tamer. I must work with animals to be happy."

He got his wish. Soon after he left court—and after parting with $60.76 in fines and court costs—he met circus boss Dick Chipperfield, who told him: "You're a young fool. You can start among the elephants next week. The first chance I get I'll move you to the lions."

Jim Ferguson of Oklahoma City won the 1959 National AAU 174-pound wrestling title. He attends Michigan State.

Adlai Says System Faces Grave Trial

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Adlai Stevenson said Saturday that "The American system is on trial for its life" and "our society must be adjusted to some tough realities."

He told an audience of businessmen that in a world where "government big enough to meet its responsibilities is a condition of survival," the concept of rugged individualism is an illusion.

The Soviet Union and Red China, he said, are using government as their major weapon in their campaign of economic world conquest. In the United States, a familiar contention of businessmen is that "any government supervision spells socialism and the ruin of free enterprise."

Private enterprise, he said, needs the complement of intelligent government in action in competing with the Communists to solve major problems.

The greatest problem, he said, was the disparity in living standards measured by an average income of $2,000 in North America as against $100 or less in more than one-half the world's population.

Other problems to whose solution Stevenson gave high priority are: How are we going to provide the huge social capital requirements at home for education, housing, health, urban renewal and resources development, and can we control inflation without causing a despression?

Time Is Running Short For West

GENEVA (AP)—Time is beginning to run against the Western powers at Geneva.

The longer the conference with the Soviet Union goes on as it has the more the basis of their position in West Berlin may be damaged by an erosion of confidence among West Berliners.

Despite repeated assurances to the contrary, there is a nagging fear—known to the delegations here—that the Western ministers may weaken the protection of the exposed city, or inadvertently open the door to gradual Communist infiltration.

This is one of the human realities behind the confusion of issues of the facade of smiles which have combined the last four weeks to becloud what the present meeting is all about.

At the heart of the problem is the fate of 2,200,000 people, whose welfare and security have been made by the Western powers into a symbol of their resolve to resist the massive pressures of Soviet communism. Hardly less involved is the future of the 52 million people of West Germany.

Now, at the end of the fourth week of the meeting, West Berlin concern about talk of concessions and compromise is beginning to make itself felt in the Western delegations. U.S. Secretary of State Christian Herter and his Allies in consequence are faced with a dilemma involving both timing and policy for the rest of the conference.

The points of the dilemma are these:

1. The Geneva conference was forced on the Western powers in the first place by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's demand that they abandon West Berlin to a vague free city status and by his follow-up threat to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany.

The Western aim in coming to Geneva was to divert Khrushchev from these purposes, if possible, and, in any case, to stall off a showdown over Berlin with all the dangers of a military clash which that might involve. Prolonged negotiations suit this purpose. While Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko is at the conference table, Khrushchev, it is felt, is unlikely to spring a trap on West Berlin.

2. Negotiations, however, inevitably bring talk of concessions and a feeling of uncertainty about what the shape of the future will be for the people directly involved. The longer the conference goes on without results, the greater the uncertainties and tensions it creates.

This evidently is one of the considerations which has given rise to talk among Western leaders here of trying to fix a deadline for winding up the conference, perhaps in another week or two.

Mental Patient Is Blamed In Deaths

PINEVILLE, La. (AP)—A patient in the violent ward of the state mental institution here, under restraint with leather cuffs around his wrists hooked to his belt, apparently kicked and beat two others to death in the same ward.

Names of the patients, all males, were withheld pending notification of next of kin. The victims were reportedly aged 61 and 53, the assailant 40.

An attendant in the Central Louisiana State Hospital found the bodies Friday in a day lounge.

Officials said the victims apparently didn't resist the attack.

OUT OF THE ROUGH

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

THE FEATURE ATTRACTION at the Snyder Country Club each year is coming in this weekend. [illegible] Invitational Tournament sponsored by the local club.

Play begins Friday and concludes Sunday. Friday is the qualifying day with match play set for Saturday and Sunday.

The tournament will have a new look this year. An old man's flight will be formed for this year's tournament. All men 45 years of age and up are eligible to compete in this flight to be called the "Senior Flight".

The Senior Flight will play 18 holes per day starting Friday with [illegible] to be determined on a daily basis.

The purpose of the Senior Flight mainly is to enable the older fellows who can't walk 36 holes per day to enjoy the tournament. In all other flights two matches per day will be played as long as the contestants in the tournament.

Wednesday's storm did considerable damage to the local course. The rain stones battered the greens and for a day or two they were plenty rough. But the caretakers at the course have done a good job in restoring the greens back in playable condition although they're not yet back to normalcy.

However, club officials say the greens will be back to normal by tournament time next weekend.

Chances are good for the best turnout in the tournament's five-year history for this week's tournament. There doesn't appear to be any great conflicts with our tournament although one of the Lubbock clubs and the Wichita Falls Country Club are holding their invitationals this week.

The Lubbock tournament may hurt the turnout here but not a great deal. The Wichita Falls tournament probably will deprive a former champion here from competing. Frank Freer, formerly of Lamesa and now residing in Wichita Falls, won the title here in 1956. Freer is expected to stay at home in WF to compete in the tournament there.

A member of the state Class B golf champion played the course here yesterday. He was Jackie Blackwelder, a member of the Wink golf team this spring who won the state crown in the Class B division.

Blackwelder was the second low medal shooter in the state tournament. Blackwelder was playing the course yesterday with several other Wink athletes who are here to attend a wedding.

Blackwelder said he liked the course here and that he just might come back next week for the tournament.

J. L. Harney is the winner of the Men's Ringer Tournament. Just recently completed Harney finished with a 57.

Next in line were Hollis Jones with 58 and Dr. R. J. Kidd and John Pickering with 59s.

Dr. W. N. Boochet Sooner Jones improved his qualifying score the mostest at 40 strokes.

Thirty men entered the Ringer Tournament.

This is the final day to take part in National Golf Day. Amateurs across the country are competing against the winner of the Dow Finsterwald-Tommy Bolt match being played Saturday.

It costs only $1 to enter this contest and the money certainly goes for a good cause. A portion of the money goes for caddie scholarships programs.

National Golf Day was introduced seven years ago and the money raised prior to this year amounted to $660,000. The caddie scholarship program realized $179,930 from this National Golf Day fund.

In addition to the caddie scholarship programs, other organizations who have benefited from National Golf Day are the USO, the Red Cross, the turf research and education program, the War Memorial Fund of the Jaycees, the National Amputee Golf Assn., the PGA Educational Fund, the Blind Golfers Assn., and others.

So, if you don't win an "I Beat The Champ Medal" don't feel badly about losing your dollar.

If you want to participate in this special golf program, you can register at the pro shop at the Country Club today. All amateurs, of course, will receive handicaps.

SCOREKEEPING SCHEDULE

sports 2-14 Scorekeeping Schedule

This week's scorekeeping schedule for Little League, Pony League and Graduate Pony League is as follows:

LITTLE LEAGUE

Monday — Dale Walton, first game; Joe Williamson, second game.

Tuesday —Mrs. Mutt Herod, first game; Bill Williams, second game.

Thursday — Mrs. Skipper Joyce, first game; Mrs. Fred Bullard, second game.

Friday — Brad Holt, first game; Lacy Boles, second game.

PONY-GRADUATE PONY

Monday —Roy Meador, first game; Mrs. Speedy Moffett, second game.

Tuesday — Mrs. Amon Weaver, first game; Buck Francis second game.

Thursday — Dub Everett, first game; Rex Miller, second game.

Friday — Frank Weaver, first game; Shelby-Coker, second game.

Dick Sisler's record for his first two years as Nashville baseball manager shows 159 victories and 147 defeats. His team was third in the Southern Assn. in 1957, fifth in 1958.

WINS IN A BREEZE—David Gan, Snyder, breezes home well ahead of the field to win the 220-yard dash in the Intermediate Division of the State Boys Club track and field meet at Tiger Stadium yesterday. Ygnacio Benetez, also of the Snyder club, ran second to Gan. (Lee Watson photograph)

Snyder Easily Wins State BC Track Title

The Snyder Boys Club swept to an easy victory in the 1st annual State Boys Club track and field meet yesterday at Tiger Stadium.

The hosts rolled up 183 points to better the combined totals of the other five clubs entered.

The Panther Boys Club of Fort Worth finished a distant second with 62 points, followed by Abilene with 37½, Wichita Falls with 24½, Odessa with 14 and San Antonio with 2.

Amarillo, Laredo and two other clubs from San Antonio, who had filed entry blanks, failed to show for various reasons.

Snyder furnished the high point in three of the four divisions. Z. B. Rinehart of the local club won the Midget Division high point man prize with 12½ points. Robert Foree of Snyder was high point man in the Junior Division with 12½ points, and Gene Roe of the hosts scored 15 points to win high point honors in the Intermediate Division.

Bill Robibison of Abilene won the Senior Division high point honors, the only high pointer not won by Snyder.

Roe entered three events in the Intermediate Division and won first place in all three. He was the only triple winner in the meet.

Yesterday's running events had to be run on the football field as the track was too wet following several hard rains throughout the week, the latter falling on Friday.

The relay events were run in shuttles rather than using the batons. Times for the running events, of course, were much slower than the usual performances of yesterday's contestants.

Snyder won first place in four of the five events in the Midget Division, five of seven first places in the Junior Division, six of seven blue ribbons in the Intermediate Division, but the locals failed to win a single first in the Senior Division.

Robert Foree of Snyder was a double winner in the Junior Division, and Bill Robinson and Bill Robinson of Abilene won two blue ribbons in the Senior Division, the only double winners in the individual events.

All winning performances yesterday will go down as state records, this being the first of what is planned to be an annual affair.

Fifth Annual Country Club Invitational Starts Friday

Qualifying begins today for the 5th annual Snyder Country Club Invitational Tournament slated for next Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

All players who do not intend to shoot for medalist honors may qualify anytime between now and Friday, pro Bob Henderson has announced. To be eligible for the tournament medalist prize the contestant must qualify on the official qualifying day — Friday.

Donald Ray Scott, who became the second local player to win the tournament in last year's tourney, will be back to defend his title. Scott bested Judge R. H. Weaver of Big Spring in last year's finals, 2-1.

Scott probably will be the only former champion in this year's field. Dr. Dean Strack, then of Snyder and now of Houston, won the first invitational tournament here in 1955.

Frank Freer, formerly of Lamesa and now of Wichita Falls, captured the title in 1956. Bill Carlson of Abilene Christian College and Austin won the big prize in 1957; and then Scott won it last year.

Ed Free and Max Dyer are co-chairmen of the tournament. Jay Kimbrough will serve as official starter.

After qualifying ends Friday, match play will be conducted Saturday and Sunday. Two rounds will be played Saturday with the semi-finals and finals slated for Sunday.

A new flight is being added to this year's tournament, the "Senior Flight". This flight will take in golfers 45 years and up who do not desire to participate in the regular tournament.

The Senior Flight title will be based on medal play for 54 holes. The Senior flighters will play 18 holes per day starting Friday.

More than $1,200 in golf merchandise will go to the various winners. Prizes will go to the champion, runnerup and consolation champion in each flight and to the tourney medalist.

Winner of each flight will receive a set of irons while the runnerups will win a set of woods. Consolation winners will win a golf bag.

Entry fee for the tournament is $12. This covers the green fees throughout the tournament and the barbecue and dance to be held Friday night.

Leading Chisox Bow To Bosox, 4-2

CHICAGO (AP) — A brace of two-run homers by Boston's Vic Wertz and Frank Malzone cooled off the first-place Chicago White Sox 4 to 2 Saturday.

The winner was rookie southpaw Ted Wills, although he was chased in the eighth when the White Sox filled the bases with one out, but failed to score.

Wills was replaced by Mike Fornieles who got pinch hitter Harry Simpson, the hero of Friday night's 5-2 victory over Boston, to hit into an inning-ending double play. Friday night, Simpson slammed a three-run pinch double in the eighth.

Wills now has notched two triumphs in his first two major league starts.

Both Red Sox homers—Wertz in the first and Malzone's in the sixth—came off loser Ray Moore, who suffered his fourth setback against one victory.

Wertz's No. 4 homer of the season after Pete Runnels walked gave Boston a 2-0 lead in the first.

Malzone's homer after Wertz singled in the sixth was the Red Sox third sacker's eighth of the season.

South San Dominates All-State 3A

AUSTIN (AP) — South San Antonio's Bobcats predominated on the 1959 Class AAA all-star state high school baseball team.

They landed five players on the team selected by the Texas Sports Writers Assn. After the school-boy tournament here. They took three unanimous choices.

The Bobcats, who defeated Corsicana 11-3 to win the 1958 title, whipped Ector (Odessa), 7-1 for the 1959 championship.

Third baseman Mike Shaddox, outfielder Raul Cerda, a repeater from the 1958 team, and pitcher Robert Zamora were unanimous choices.

Other Bobcats selected were pitcher Bobby Lara, who beat Ector, and catcher Doug Lightsey.

Ector landed one boy on the first team, pitcher Mike Kropp. Third place Nederland got two and fourth place Nacogdoches three.

Fred Neely of Nederland was the first baseman and outfielder Edward Bellow was the other Nederland representative. Nacogdoches, which appeared well on the way to victory in both games only to lose, placed second baseman Keith Prince, shortstop James Shirley and outfielder Larry Franks.

Honorable mentions included these Ector (Odessa) players: Stanley Petrey, c; Gary Everett, 1b; arry Weaver, 2b; and Gerald Henry, outfield.

Cincinnati Manager Mayo Smith calls rookie Vada Pinson "a Richie Ashburn with power." Smith managed Ashburn while with the Phillies.

Dodgers Trip Braves, 3-2

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers exploded for two runs on four straight singles in the eighth to beat the Milwaukee Braves 3-2 Saturday and hand right-hander Bob Rush his first loss of the season.

Junior Gilliam, with four singles and a walk, scored two of the Dodgers' three runs and boosted his batting average to .293. He shared the spotlight with veteran relief pitcher Clem Labine who came on in the eighth to hurl two hitless innings and save the game for left-hander Sandy Koufax, now 2-1 for the season.

Koufax yielded 8 hits in 7 innings but both runs off him were unearned. Wally Moon drove in the winning run for the Dodgers.

Henry Aaron provided the only bright spot for the Braves. The National League's batting leader singled to left center in the seventh inning for the 1,000th hit of his major league career. It was his second hit of the game and his 86th of the season.

Tigers Beat Sens Behind Foytack

DETROIT (AP)—Paul Foytack pitched his second straight complete game after 10 failures to finish, and started the Detroit Tigers' winning rally with an eighth inning single in a 4-1 victory over the Washington Senators Saturday.

The hard-throwing right-hander, working on a no-hitter through the first four innings, scattered six hits for his fourth victory. With two out in the eighth inning and the score tied 1-1, Foytack laced a two-out single to right field and then scored the winning run.

Eddie Yost kept things going with a single off the glove of Reno Bertoia, and Harvey Kuenn drove both of them home with a double to left center. Charlie Maxwell's single scored Kuenn with the final run.

The only damaging blow off Foytack was Faye Throneberry's second home run. It was an upper deck blast in the eighth inning and pulled the Senators up to a 1-1 tie.

The Tigers had scored in the fifth inning.

Giants, Clobber Redlegs, 13-3

CINCINNATI (AP)—San Francisco's Giants pounded 4 of 6 Redleg hurlers for 18 assorted hits Saturday to win 13-3 behind the eight hit hurling of Sam Jones.

They opened the bombardment early when, with two away in the first, Leon Wagner got to starter Bob Purkey for his fifth homer of the year to score behind Willie Kirkland who had doubled and Orlando Cepeda, who singled.

Every man in Bill Rigney's lineup hit safely. Only Hal Jeffcoat, who pitched the third, and Tom Acker, who became the Reds' sixth hurler in the seventh, were able to retire them in order — Acker turning the trick in the ninth.

Only in the third inning was Mayo Smith's crew able to crash the scoring column, their entire output for the day, all unearned.

Cubs Pound Pirates, 8-2

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Moe Drabowsky, backed by a six-run Chicago first inning, beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-2 Saturday — the first time he's gone the distance in 17 starts.

The victory for the 23-year-old right-hander was his fourth. He scattered seven hits and struck out two. Bennie Daniels, the first of four Pirate hurlers, was the loser.

Solo home runs by Ronnie Blackburn, his first in the majors, in the seventh and one by Roman Mejias in the ninth accounted for the Pirates' runs.

Eleven Cubs paraded to the plate in the first inning onslaught. The big blows were Ernie Banks' triple and a two-run homer by Walt Moryn, his seventh.

A pair of singles by Tony Taylor, a single by Bobby Thomson and a double by Sammy Taylor plus two walks also figured in the Cubs' first inning binge.

The Cubs added single tallies in the third and fourth innings.

Two-Way Tie For Lead In Eastern Open

By GEORGE BOWEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dave Ragan, 23-year-old pro seeking his first golf tourney victory staged a sensational rally Saturday to tie front-running Gene Littler for the Eastern Open third round lead at 203 strokes.

Ragan, a Florida golfer playing out of Chattanooga, Tenn., made up six strokes on Littler on the back nine holes to pull even going into Sunday's final 18.

Ragan, former Southern Intercollegiate champion, reeled off five straight birdies in his late drive for a 66, six under par.

Littler, 28, from Singing Hills, Calif., was fading at the same time after leading through the first two rounds. He bogeyed three times in a row and saved himself a tie with a birdie on the last hole to wind up with a one under par 71.

Ed (Porky) Oliver of Denver, who had tagged Littler by a stroke during the first two rounds, fell back into a three-way tie by taking 73 strokes. Don Whitt of Borrego Springs, Calif., shot 69 and Henry Ransom of St. Andrews, Ill., 70 to tie Oliver at 206.

Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Texas, was next with a 70 and 207 total. Ragan and Littler were a total of 13 strokes ahead of par.

Finsterwald Fires A 67

OMAHA (AP) — Dow Finsterwald, the 1958 PGA champion, shot a 67 to edge Tommy Bolt in the National Golf Day target match Saturday.

He was four under par and one stroke better than Bolt, the National Open champ, whose putting was off most of the afternoon.

Golfers across the country were playing their own courses in an effort to better the low score — Finsterwald's 67 — in the match between the two pros playing Omaha's Happy Hollow Club course.

Those who did will get medals from the Professional Golfers Assn. of America.

At Baltimore, the oldest touring professional golfer in the Eastern Open, Henry Ransom, was the only one out of 116 to better Finsterwald's score. Ranson shot a 66.

Cardinals Hit Bottom As Phils Win 4-3

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies climbed out of the National League cellar over St. Louis Saturday as they defeated the Cards 4-3 in a 10-inning game. A bases-loaded pinch single by Dave Philley won the game.

Richie Ashburn, who collected four of the 10 Phil hits, scored the decisive run which gave Robin Roberts, big right-hander who went all the way, his fourth win against four defeats.

Lindy McDaniel (3-8), the Cards' third pitcher, was charged with the loss.

The Phils had been in the cellar since May 15.

Ashburn opened the 10th with a double. Two walks, sandwiched between a sacrifice, set the stage for Philley's slash off a 3-2 pitch.

Roberts gave up 10 hits, struck out 7, walked only 1.

Turley Pitches Yanks Past Tribe

CLEVELAND (AP)—Bob Turley pitched the New York Yankees to a 2-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians Saturday to give the Indians their seventh straight defeat.

The 28-year-old right-hander gave up 6 scattered hits, struck out 9 batters and walked 4 in his first appearance against Cleveland this season. The victory was his fifth against six defeats.

The only run off Turley was a pinch hit homer by Tito Francona, over the right field fence in the ninth inning.

Southpaw Don Ferrarese suffered his third defeat in seven decisions.

The victory was the fourth straight for the Yankees and their eighth in nine games. Cleveland now has lost nine of its last 10 games.

The Yankees got an unearned run in the fifth inning to break a scoreless deadock and added an other in the eighth on a leadoff single to center field by Hank Bauer, a sacrifice by Elston Howard and a single to center by Mickey Mantle.

MVC Golf Tourney Commences Monday

TULSA (AP)—A field of 33 tees off Monday in the Missouri Valley Conference golf tournament which runs through Wednesday at Tulsa's mohawk course.

Top seeded in the 72-hole play is the University of Houston, both NCAA and Valley champion for three years. Competing for team and individual titles will be Tulsa, North Texas State, Bradley, St. Louis, Drake and Wichita.

Powering the Houston drive are Bob Pratt, Valley runnerup last year, and Jacky Cupit, who is running a string of five straight second-place tourney finishes.

Pitchers were David Baldwin of Arizona, Percy Sanderson of Texas A&M and Norman Popkin of Arizona.

5 Arizonans All-District

HOUSTON (AP) — Arizona, which won its way to the NCAA baseball tournament at Omaha by beating Texas A&M in two straight games, placed five players on the all-District 6 team announced Saturday.

Dell Morgan, Rice baseball coach and chairman of the district selection committee, made public the team picked by coaches.

Alan Hall of Arizona was picked as catcher, Mel Corbo of Baylor first base, Charles Franklin of TCU second base, Richard Kristinik of Rice third base, Charley Shoemaker of Arizona shortstop, Mathew Encinas of Arizona left field, Glynn Gregory of SMU center field and George Myers of Texas right field. Every player hit over .300 with Kristinik leading with .422.

Pitchers were David Baldwin of Arizona, Percy Sanderson of Texas A&M and Norman Popkin of Arizona.

Peter Pan Race Won By Black Hills

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK (AP) — King Ranch's Black Hills, ridden cleverly by Eddie Arcaro, upset Preakness winner Royal Orbit Saturday in the $28,200 Peter Pan Handicap and became a colt to reckon with in the Belmont Stakes next week.

A Belmont Park crowd of 36,48 backed Mrs. Helena Braunstein's Royal Orbit down to 1-2 favoritism but the big California-raced chestnut finished third.

Black Hills, who missed the big races this spring because of colic, went under the wire two lengths ahead of Howard B. Keck's Bagdad, another California campaigned colt. It was another 2½ lengths back to Roy I Orbit.

Wheatley Stable's The Irishman, only other horse in the race for 3-year-olds, was last. All four are eligible for the $120,000-added Belmont, final jewel in the Triple Crown which includes the Kentucky Derby and Preakness.

Black Hills paid $13.10. Because of the small field, there was win betting only.

Black Hills, son of Princequillo-Blackie 2nd by Congreve, ran the 1⅛ mile in 1:49. His purse was $18,030, his biggest of the year.

Black Hills pulled alongside Bagdad, the pacesetter, with three-fourths of a mile to go. Royal Orbit trailed in fourth.

At the far turn with half a mile to go, Black Hills opened up a half-length lead. With one-quarter of mile left, Bobby Ussery sent Bagdad into the lead.

Then Arcaro applied the whip Black Hills zoomed through on the rail to take a lead at the eighth pole. Then he drew clear.

Teen-Age Singers Dodge Matrimony

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What would happen to the career of a teen-age singing idol if he got married?

"It'd kill me," says Frankie Avalon, latest of the rock 'n' roll sensations to invade the movies.

He's backed Bob Marcucci agrees.

"A big part of the appeal of pop singers today is the fact that they are single," says Marcucci, who also manages Fabian. Every teen-age girl likes to believe that she could be Frankie's girl friend."

Frankie cited the example of Eddie Fisher, whose popularity nose-dived with the younger set after his marriage to Debbie Reynolds.

"The same thing would happen to Elvis Presley if he got married," the boy said.

There remains one glaring exception to the rule: Pat Boone. "But he was already married and had kids before he became a star," Frankie argued.

The palpitating Avalon fans don't have to worry about him. He hasn't the slightest intention of getting married. Aside from the danger to his career, he doesn't have time for romance.

"I figure I've been home to Philadelphia about five or six days in the past three months," he said. "And when I'm there, I don't have much time for dating. I like to spend as much time as possible with my family."

Shed no tears for Frankie. He's leading the life he likes and making a mint as well. Besides his records—he's had five hits, including the 1½-million sellers "Venus"—he is breaking into the movies as an actor.

PYROTECHNIC PULCHRITUDE — Screenland's champagne blonde, Cindy Robbins, above, will be a Fourth of July sparkler on the Hollywood horizon with the release of her debut film, "This Earth Is Mine," starring Rock Hudson, Jean Simmons, Dorothy McGuire and Claude Rains. Born in Hammond, La., Cindy started her entertainment career as a child dancer in Ken Murray's "Blackouts."

Rich To Riches Story Interesting

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's always refreshing to come across a riches-to-riches story, the kind that makes a bum out of Horatio Alger.

Consider the success saga of George Hamilton, a good-looking, rangy socialite from Palm Beach, Fla., who came here with polo mallet and 20 suits of clothes, including three formal. In just a year, he is well on his way to starring ranks and has bought his first Rolls Royce.

George is a dark, likable lad who talks with the ease of one who has never known want. Born in Memphis, Tenn., he has lived most of his 19 years in New York and Palm Beach with stops in 25 different schools.

The last was Palm Beach High School, and that's where he won "best actor" honors in a dramatic competition.

"I think I won because I was the only one who didn't have a Southern accent," he grinned. "Anyway, it encouraged me. I guess I had always wanted to be an actor, but I had the idea it would take years of training. I couldn't see taking acting lessons for as long as it would take to become a doctor or lawyer."

George decided to assault Hollywood.

A year later, he has earned enough to buy a five-bedroom house in Florida and a Rolls Royce once built for the British royal family. "Wonderful car," he mused, "but not very practical. I'll have to buy another one to drive around town in."

George hit it rich with an artistic little picture called "Crime and Punishment, USA." It was made for $100,000 by two young graduates of UCLA, Terry and Dennis Sanders, who took a chance with the unknown, unschooled actor.

MGM tabbed him as a comer and signed him to a contract. The studio had to send for him in Venezuela, where he was enjoying a leisurely tour and studying the bullfights.

Rooneys Are Expecting

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mickey Rooney and the blonde starlet he said he secretly married in Mexico are expecting a baby in October.

"I'm so happy I could bust!" the actor said by telephone Friday from Las Vegas, where he is appearing.

Rooney, 38, said he married Barbara Thomason, 22, Dec. 1 after a quickie Mexican divorce from Elaine Mahnken, his fourth wife. She divorced him in Santa Monica, Calif., May 18, but the decree won't be final in California for one year.

Rooney said the coming birth announcement, only two days after his announcement of the Mexican divorce and remarriage, made this week "kind of hectic."

He said his wife told him about the baby three months ago, while their marriage was still secret.

Rooney has three children, Mickey Jr., 13, and Timothy, 12, by Betty Jane Rase, and Teddy, 9, by Martha Vickers. Ava Gardner was his third wife.

Twining Back Home

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is back home again after a lung cancer operation May 12 at Walter Reed Army Hospital. He left the hospital Friday. The Pentagon reported he was making excellent recovery.

Money Is Snatched By Three Robbers

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Police today were hunting three robbers, one of whom snatched an envelope containing more than $18,000 from the arms of an insurance company employe at a busy intersection Friday.

Miss Eleanor Maloney, 35, said a man approached her, grabbed the package and fled through traffic as she shouted for help.

The envelope contained $7,964 in cash and $10,602 in checks.

Old Stuff Due On Summer TV Fare

NEW YORK (AP) — The summer season is coming to television. There's more of what's old than what's new on the network channels. In the coming week you'll find:

Perry Como offers his last show of the season on NBC Saturday. His guests will be Tony Bennett, Teresa Brewer and the Four Lads, the stars of the summer replacement musical variety show, "Perry Presents," which begins in this time spot a week later.

There is something new when "Brenner" makes its debut on CBS Saturday. This is a dramatic series revolving around the experiences of a dedicated New York police detective, with Edward Binns and James Broderick in the leading roles. In the opening show, Lt. Roy Brenner (Binns) sets out to crack a numbers racket in the precinct of a fellow officer and thereby antagonizes his policeman son, Broderick, and blights a budding romance.

The Sunday interview panel shows are continuing. Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) is questioned about his labor bill on "College News Conference" over ABC. Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.) is interviewed on "Meet the Press" over NBC.

Steve Allen's guests on NBC will be Ginger Rogers, Steve Lawrence and Ingemar Johansson. Ed Sullivan's guests on CBS will include comedian Jack Carter, singer Al Martino, violinist Maria Neglia.

Monday on ABC "Shirley Temple's Storybook" will present "Dick Whittington and his Cat." This is the story of the orphan boy who went to London, to seek his fortune and became Lord Mayor.

A sure sign of summer television is the fact that the perennial Mike Stokey's "Pantomime Quiz" goes night-time again on ABC.

"Goodyear Theater" presents "Christabel," a comedy about the wonderful world of James Thurber on NBC.

On the Red Skelton Show Tuesday over CBS Anna Sten is Skelton's guest.

"Armstrong Circle Theater" offers "The Monkey Ride" on CBS Wednesday.

"Project Immortality" is the offering of "Playhouse 90" on CBS Thursday.

Gisele MacKenzie and John Forsythe star in "The Miss and Missiles" on "Lux Playhouse" over CBS Friday.

Young Wife Routs Negro

HOUSTON (AP) — A plucky young wife grabbed a hammer and routed a Negro who molested her and a neighbor girl, 12, in her home early Saturday.

Mrs. Jerry Marie Perkins, 26, said her husband is in Fort Worth visiting relatives. She asked Wanda Mae Wallis, 12, to spend Friday night with her.

About 2 a.m., she said, she awakened to find the Negro bending over her. She said she screamed and the Negro began beating her with a shoe. When Wanda Mae came to her assistance, the prowler turned on the child.

That's when Mrs. Perkins snatched the hammer from beneath her bed, placed there for just such an emergency, and began striking the prowler. He ran through the living room and dove head - first through a window screen, she said.

Savings Bond Sales Listed

Savings bonds sales for the first four months of 1959 in Scurry County totaled $100,044, H. W. Cargile, county savings bond chairman, has reported.

The sales for the first four months of the year amounted to 23.3 per cent of the county's goal for the year. April sales in the county were $16,000.

Sales for the first four months of the year in the state totaled $58,105,381, or 31.8 per cent of the year's goal of $182,500,000.

"Savings bond purchases play an important part in the U. S. Treasury's task of wise debt management," said Cargile. "Each individual who buys a bond is helping to provide for his country's future security as well as his own."

East, West Converge In Quiet Town

BERLIN (AP) — On the superhighway just outside an obscure town called Helmstedt, East meets West Germany.

They meet — but they do not merge.

As if to point up the difference, two buildings stand beside the autobahn.

One is a little cafe. Its bright juke box blares the latest rock 'n' roll from America.

A few hundred yards east, on the other side of a white and red striped barrier, stands a little wooden shack. From it issues a completely different kind of music, soldier choruses from the Soviet Union and high-pitched music from the People's Republic of China.

The shack is the control post for the Soviet army on the main highway between Berlin and West Germany. The music comes from a radio tuned to the Soviet station in East Germany.

The Soviet Union announced last Nov. 27 that within six months—by May 27—its soldiers would be withdrawn from the highway and East Germany given control over the Allied military traffic that rolls to and from isolated West Berlin, 110 miles to the east of Helmstedt.

If this ever happens, Helmstedt (population 28,700) is likely to become front page news throughout the world.

The Western allies refuse to recognize the East German government and to have any dealings with it. They contend the Soviet Union has no right unilaterally to turn its occupation duties over to the East German regime. Whether the Allies would accept the East German border guards as legal agents of the Soviet Union is uncertain.

So far, the Soviet Union has made no move to withdraw its soldiers. Soviet and American guards continue to stand watch on either side of the autobahn barrier.

What's it like to live and work where East meets West? Reactions of members of the 23-man American unit at Helmstedt range from liking to loathing.

The commander of the unit, Capt. Lojis Jennings, 32, of Bangor, Maine, says:

"It's interesting work — there's always something new. Sure, this place is isolated but we are well received by the local people. The marriage rate here is on par. Soldiers and the local girls is quite high. We've had about seven marriages during the past year."

But a disgruntled private, who refuses use of his name, has a different viewpoint.

"Pulling duty here is like being buried alive. I'd rather be off guarding a flag pole somewhere."

The main duty of the American unit is to check all American military personnel traveling to Allied-occupied West Berlin and make certain their papers are in order. Otherwise, the travelers would be turned back by the Soviets or perhaps held and questioned. The French and British units do the same for their travelers.

Michener Sticks To Pacific Area

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—As Rudyard Kipling celebrated British Empire Indian, James A. Michener has taken the western Pacific for his special province of fiction and fact.

Now the Pulitzer Prize-winning novelist is writing an adventure drama television series, called "Adventures in Paradise," which will reach the home audience via ABC-TV beginning next September.

The filmed hour-long weekly dramas, to be produced by Martin Manulis, concern the adventures of a young American sailing his schooner in the South Seas and along the Asian coast.

"This is a true marriage of Manulis's television experience and my writing experience," Michener said on a visit to New York.

Calm, thoughtful and modest, Michener says that the stories he writes for the series will be adapted by television craftsmen.

"My craft is to write stories," he said. "The chances of my suddenly becoming an extraordinary television craftsman are very remote. I've had good luck with dramatics, but my work has been adapted by others."

Everyone knows, of course, what happened to the musical "South Pacific," based on his Pulitzer Prize-winning "Tales of the South Pacific." Three other books of his have been movie successes — "Return to Paradise," "The Bridges of Toko-Ri" and "Sayonara."

So it's interesting to hear Michener say: "I have doubts that I could make a living solely by writing books. Actually, I've never had a really top best-seller."

What he meant was that the big money in a novelist these days comes from movies, the theater, television, foreign rights and reprints.

Michener continues to travel widely in the Pacific. He just came back from Southeast Asia and the South Seas gathering material for "Adventures in Paradise" and may return soon. When working at his home in Bucks County, Pa., he writes from 7:30 in the morning until noon.

He continues to write primarily about the South Pacific and Asia, he says, because I have a great affecton for the area. It has a natural way of life that appeals to me."

Lake Catches Some Water

Although heavy downpours skipping about the West Texas area somehow missed the Lake J. B. Thomas watershed last week, the big Colorado River Municipal Water District reservoir did catch a substantial volume of water.

Elevation of the water level increased from 2251.15 at the start of the week to 2251.45 at the end of the week, or an increase of .3 of a foot.

In terms of volume, this was approximately 1,980 acre feet or about 660 million gallons of water. The new level of the lake is 6.35 feet under the spillway level.

Junior Editors Quiz on MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

QUESTION: Where were the first violins used?

• • •

ANSWER: Like many other instruments, the violin was not invented but rather developed from another instrument called the viol.

However, it can be said that the violin reached perfection in the town of Cremona, Italy, in the 17th Century when Nicola Amati and his more famous pupil, Antonio Stradivari, began turning out instruments unmatched even in the present day.

Stradivari alone made more than 1,500 violins and some of them still are in existence. The history of each is carefully recorded and, when they are not being played at concerts, they are stored in fireproof vaults. Their values range up to $80,000.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: The violin is a member of the viol class of stringed instruments. Other members of the class are the cello, the viola and the bass viol. See if you can find out how each of these differs from the violin.

• • •

Stock Market Registers A Sharp Decline

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market's long-waited correction came this week—the sharpest decline for any week since the week ended Dec. 21, 1957.

An estimated $5,800,000,000 was knocked from the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the decline in the Associated Press average.

The AP 60-stock average dipped $4.50 below its historic high reached at the close of the previous week, closing at $225.80.

The market break was robbed of any aspect of panic or a rush to unload, however. Volume slipped to 14,785,735 shares from 14,872,535 the week before. It was the lightest trading since the week ended Aug. 30, 1958 when the total was 13,577,760 shares.

This was the third straight week of declining volume. It reflected extreme caution based mainly on the fear that stock prices had already discounted a good portion of the increased earnings resulting from the vigorous business recovery. The business and economic news remained quite good but there was nothing very new and flashy to freshen interest in Wall Street.

A new element of uncertainty was introduced early in the week, however, and haunted the stock market atmosphere for most of the trading sessions. This was the apparent determination of the national administration to ask Congress to either increase the 4½ per cent interest rate ceiling on U.S. government bonds or to abolish it.

U.S. government bonds joined corporate securities on the down side this week.

It was a switch for the government market after two weeks of very slight gains. It was more of the same, however, for corporates—their 10th consecutive week going downhill.

Trading volume came to $27,850,000 par value on the New York stock exchange, compared with $28,323,100 for the previous week and $24,722,400 for the corresponding week a year ago.

Six Scurry Youths Off To Boys State

Six Scurry County boys left at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning to attend the American Legion Boy's State in Austin next week.

The youths will be part of the delegation of more than 500 Texas boys from high schools throughout the state who will participate in all categories of state government in Austin.

Some will be elected to the state legislature, while others will serve on different commissions, and some will serve in the executive offices of the state during the week. One boy will be elected governor.

Frank D. Stephenson, sergeant at arms for the American Legion Department of Texas, said that the Boy's State activities is one of the most effective ways of beginning boys' interest in state government al affairs, and of teaching the facts of the state government.

Several Snyder civic clubs assist the local American Legion post in sponsoring the annual delegation from Scurry County to the Boy's State.

Those organizations this year are the Veteran's of Foreign Wars, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Downtown Lion's Club, the Kiwanis Club and Rotary Club.

S. A. Tibbetts, commander of the Snyder American Legion post, said, "we sincerely wish to thank these other clubs for their support in helping make this worthwhile project a success for Scurry County boys."

Delegates from Scurry County are Ronnie Beaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Beaver, Fluvanna; Ray Lashaway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy V. Lashaway, Snyder; Douglas Vice, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Vice, Snyder; Mickey Winter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Winter, Hermleigh; Richard Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Robinson, Snyder; and Ronnie McGrew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McGrew, Snyder.

Polio Threat Appears Again

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP)—Polio threatens to explode again this year.

Down but still dangerous, it has paralyzed nearly twice as many children so far this year than at this time in 1958.

Despite Salk vaccine, it could claim 12,000 or more victims in 1959.

That would be more than the annual toll in each of 29 of the 44 years since 1915, when parents first began dreading the approach of summer with its cruel, crippling disease.

Now there is a defense, the Salk vaccine. It is 90 per cent effective.

But 98 million Americans haven't had a single shot. Nearly one-third of children under 5 have had no vaccine.

Last year in Detroit, earlier in Chicago and Boston, many were prey to polio. This year many others could be hit hard, warn officials of the National Foundation and U.S. Public Health Service.

On April 12, 1955, an anxious world cheered when the Salk vaccine was pronounced safe, potent effective.

Parents scrambled for scarce vaccine, impeded only for a time by unfortunate issuance of some vaccine whose virus had not been completely killed.

For five years, 1950-1954, polio averaged nearly 39,000 child and adult victims each year.

Cases in 1955, including both paralytic and nonparalytic, numbered 29,000.

But in 1956 there were 15,000 cases and in 1957 only 5,485, as Salk vaccine began to build a wall of defense.

Then, in 1958, came a warning signal. Polio hit 6,061 persons. Worse, there was a 44 per cent increase over 1957 in the number of paralytic cases, reports Gabriel Stickle, director of the foundation's statistical service.

Hardest hit were children under 5—as in the old pattern of years ago.

"Once again, it begins to look like infantile paralysis," a foundation official remarked.

Polio is taking its main toll among the poorest people. They account for a major share of non-vaccinated persons.

There's serious reason for concern.

By May 16, this country had 446 cases of polio, against 309 at the same time last year. Ominously, this included 301 paralytic cases, 88 per cent more than in 1958.

"Polio could jump to double the amount last year," Stickle warned. "There is danger especially in the soft spots—the areas where many unvaccinated people are clustered."

The best defense is vaccination before the summer gets hot and dangerous. Two shots are given spaced six weeks apart, a third at least seven months later.

Lack of money, apathy, failure to hear of the vaccine and its protection, are listed by experts as reasons why millions remain unprotected.

Some see a curious psychology at work, too. People feel polio no longer is dangerous—because a weapon exists, overlooking the fact the vaccine is powerless unless used.

Stenographer Is Burned

HOUSTON (AP)—An unemployed stenographer was near death Saturday, critically burned over her entire body in an explosion and fire that destroyed her garage apartment before dawn.

A second stenographer, who lived across the hall, suffered shock but escaped injury or burns.

The thunderous explosion, followed by flames, occurred at 2:30 a.m. in the apartment of Miss Elizabeth Landrum, 34. Doctors said her condition was "hopeless."

She was trapped inside the flaming apartment and escaped by leaping from her second floor window.

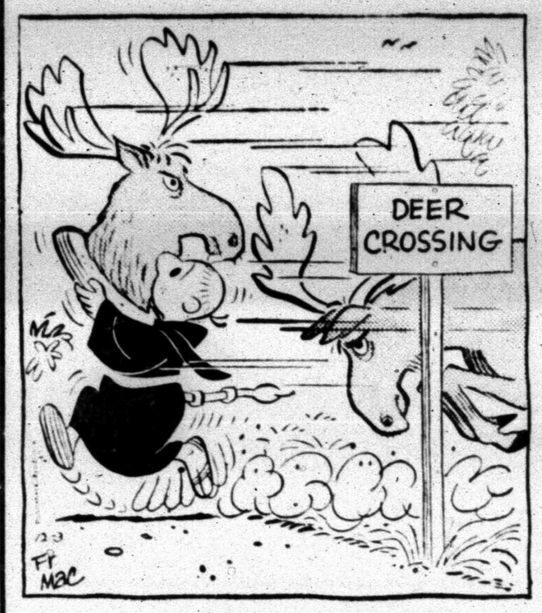

She told detective J. H. Jones that the explosion was set off when she flicked on a bathroom light switch.

Miss Alice Mraz, 34, said the explosion threw her out of bed and tumbled furniture in her apartment.

299 Girls Sign For Recreation Program

So far 299 girls have signed up for the Scurry County Girl's Summer Recreation program to begin here tomorrow, Mrs. Janet Wesson, director, said.

The program will be held in facilities in Towle Memorial Park, the Snyder High School gymnasium and Central Elementary School gymnasium.

Of those signed so far, 133 have signed up to take swimming lessons and 118 have signed up to take tennis lessons. Four girl's softball teams are being organized. Some girls are working out for track, and a track meet is being planned for girls here in Scurry County.

Although the program begins tomorrow, late registration will be permitted for girls who did not register earlier. Girls may register at either the high school or central school gymnasiums. They may register either tomorrow, or any day during the program.

Girls who have already signed up for swimming lessons are to go to the swimming pool at the time signed to take lessons, and girls who signed to take tennis are to go to the tennis courts in the park.

Girls from the third grade through high school age are elibible to participate in the program, with the registration fee being 25 cents, and swimming lessons being $2 for 10 lessons.

The schedule for the high school gymnasium is as follows:

9 to 10 o'clock each morning, third and fourth grade girls.

10 to 11 o'clock each morning, fifth grade girls.

11 to 12 o'clock each morning, sixth grade girls.

2 to 3 o'clock each afternoon, seventh and eighth grade girls.

3 to 4 o'clock each afternoon, ninth and tenth grade girls.

4 to 5 o'clock each afternoon, eleventh and twelvth grade girls.

Schedule for the central gymnasium:

9 to 10 o'clock each morning, third grade girls, croquet, trampoline, tumbling, confourth grade girls.

11 to 12 o'clock each morning, fifth grade girls.

2 to 3 o'clock each afternoon, sixth grade girls.

3 to 4 o'clock each afternoon, seventh grade girls.

4 to 5 o'clock each afternoon, eighth grade girls.

The girls are to be grouped as of grade placement for September 1959.

Activities in the gymnasiums include badminton, horse shoes, 10 to 11 o'clock each morning, ditioning, volleyball, ping pong, shuffleboard, table games, and several other activities.

Water Use Continues To Increase

The water consumption curve for May continued up, records of the Colorado River Municipal Water District show.

The district delivered a total of 788,351,000 gallons of water to the member cities of Odessa, Big Spring, Snyder and other customers during the month. This was 18 million more than for April, the previous peak month of the year. So far in 1959 the CRMWD has delivered 3,368,275,000 gallons as compared with 2,761,360,000 for the first five months of last year. This amounts to a 22 per cent gain, said O. H. Ivie, production engineer.

Cities are carrying the heavy end of the increase, according to Ivie. Odessa's increase for the five months period is about 35 per cent. Big Spring 30, Snyder 18, Sharon Ridge, with an adjustment in allowables, is taking 50 per cent more for repressuring. SACROC is about the same, and Lion Oil is up around 20 per cent.

For May, water deliveries were: Odessa 310,908,000; Big Spring 187,862,000; Snyder 56,212,000; SACROC, 147,699,000; Sharon Ridge 50,823,000; Lion Oil 30,966,000; Texas Gulf Producing 3,000.

Navy Photographs Soviet Submarine

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy not only sighted a Soviet sub south of Iceland, it photographed same.

The Navy, which made the picture public Friday night, said the Red submarine was of the "Z" class, a long range type but powered by conventional diesel and battery motors.

A U.S. submarine and a Navy plane spotted the sub loafing on the surface last week about 180 miles south of Iceland. The picture showed no deck structure such as might be used to launch missiles. Some of the "Z" subs are believed to be equipped for missiles.

Grain Futures Work Out To Light Gains

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market bucked a succession of mildly bearish influences this week but managed to work out a few moderate gains on the board of trade.

Oats and old crop corn contracts withstood the lower trend and held fractional gains despite a general decline Friday which knocked new crop soybeans down sharply.

Indecision about market positions in wheat held that grain on a rather narrow course all week but there appeared to be no doubt about the outlook for soybeans, particularly the 1959 crop months.

Broker opinion appeared to be about evenly divided in wheat trade. On one hand, there was a well known belief that grain from the 1959 winter crop now being harvested in the Southwest will move into commercial channels in heavy volume so long as prices hold above those of a year ago.

One commission house reminded that a year ago the grain was sold rather freely at prices well below current levels and below the government price support loan. First arrivals from this year's harvest have brought prices equal to or above the loan.

On the other hand, some commission houses contended that much of the selling last year was more or less forced because of the lack of storage facilities for the record high yield. Since then, storage is reported to have been increased about 15 per cent.

Wheat finished the week ⅛ cent a bushel higher to ⅛ lower; July $1.83⅛-83; corn ⅛ higher to ⅜ lower, July $1.25⅝-½; oats ⅛-¼ higher, July old type contract 63⅞; rye ⅛ higher to ⅛ lower, July $1.20-20⅛; soybeans ⅜-3⅜ lower, July $2.24⅞-¾.

Knives, Guns Wound Five

HOUSTON (AP) — Knives flashed and pistols roared in a tavern Friday night. Five were wounded, three seriously.

The big event in the Silver Dollar No. 3 was a pistol duel between a dissatisfied customer and a bartender.

Each armed with an automatic, the duelers fired off 9 or 10 shots, injuring each other as well as three bar patrons not involved in the quarrel.

This was a case in which the unhappy customer, after an earlier argument in which he had been slashed on the arm with a broken beer bottle, went home and got his pistol.

The irked patron, Albert Jones, 28, wound up with bullet wounds in the chest and stomach.

Two patrons hit by bullets were Mrs. Charsie Singleton, 32, shot in the left shoulder, and A. D. Freeman, 25, shot in the right side.

Bartender C. L. Jones, 32, escaped with a bullet scratch on the left arm. Grazed on the right arm was another patron, Miss Louise Boyd, 22.

New Firemen Are Added To Department

One paid fireman and one volunteer fireman have joined the Snyder Fire Department in the past few days, D. A. Porter, fire chief, said.

The new paid fireman is Bill True, 22, who has been a volunteer fireman here and at Eastland. His father is a paid driver for the Eastland Fire Department.

True will be a driver with the Snyder department.

The new member of the volunteer department is Bill Hodges, who is employed by Snyder Community Antenna Television, Inc.

Miss Mary Ann Doak Marries Harold Van Hooks Saturday

Miss Mary Ann Doak and Mr. Harold Van Hooks were united in marriage in a double-ring ceremony at 8 o'clock last night in the First Methodist Church here.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Doak, 3101 Avenue W, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Phillips, 600 Twenty-ninth Street.

The Rev. Harry Vanderpool, pastor, read the vows.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Doak was attended by Miss Gayle Brown, Irving, Tex., maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Jane Joyce, Snyder; Miss Betty Gates, Kerrville; Mrs. Paul Williams, Booneville, Ark.; and Mrs. Robert Sterling, Germany, Houston.

Best man was George Herring, Snyder.

Ring bearers were Guy Gamble, Abilene, and Clark Skiles, Arlington.

Ushers were Robert Dabbs, Snyder; Norman Grimmett, Abilene, and Jerry Hale, Snyder.

The church was decorated with fern palms, baskets of majestic daisies backed by white Gloxhoff and candles. The candles were lighted by Keith Skiles and Jerry Roe.

Wayne Pitner was organist, and the soloist, Mrs. Bob Womack, sang "Beside Me Always," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride wore a formal gown by Priscilla of Boston in pearl white pure silk organza and hand-chipped flower - patterned French Chantilly lace. The molded bodice had a deep yoke of the lace with a scalloped bateau neckline. Tiny puff sleeves covered the upper arms and were complemented by wrist length French kid gloves. The carriage skirt had a wide flat front panel of lace extending from bodice to hemline and a wide band of scalloped lace encircling the hemline. The skirt fullness extended from either side of the panel sweeping into a brush train.

A many layered silk illusion veil was caught to a matching organza shell appliqued with cut out flower motifs.

For her bouquet the bride carried a cascade bouquet of white tea roses and stephanotis.

The maid of honor's dress had neckline and sleeves of fabric folds, a midriff yoke accented with a soft bow and the skirt flat paneled in front with back-swept fullness to coordinate with the silhouette of the bridal gown. Her bouquet was a colonial nosegay of yellow Esther reed daisies and marguerites.

The ring bearers were dressed in white coats and black trousers.

A reception at Martha Ann Woman's Club followed the wedding. The couple was assisted in receiving by the mother of the bride, mother of the groom, and the bride's attendants.

The bride's table had silver appointments and a centerpiece of yellow roses, and a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with white roses with yellow tips.

The table cloth was white organdy floor length, with eyelet embroidered trim.

The groom's table was covered with a beige linen cloth, silver appointments, and a centerpiece of bridesmaids bouquets of esther reed daisies.

Other decorations included baskets of majestic daisies.

Rice bags were passed to guests by Wade Skiles, cousin of the bride. Guests were present from Glenwood, Arkansas; Lubbock, Kermit, Midland, Abilene, Arlington, Houston and Dallas.

After a wedding trip the couple will be at home in Snyder until August, when they will return to College Station where Mr. Hooks will resume his studies at Texas A&M College.

For the wedding trip the bride wore a traveling outfit with white accessories and a corsage of white tea roses.

Mr. Hooks is an engineering student at Texas A&M. Mrs. Hooks is a graduate of North Texas State College, Denton.

Atheistic State Supports Church

By JOHN BAUSMAN

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Graceful church spires hold newly gilded crosses against Budapest's skyline. Red, neon-outlined stars top Communist government buildings.

Here an atheistic state and still influential churches exist together obliged to tolerate each other.

The situation produces paradoxes. A government of nonbelievers uses taxes to support religion. Leading clergymen take oaths to the godless state.

The government does not disguise its opposition. It sponsors lecturers, films and reading material to discredit religion. Official newspapers call for a big effort to root out "religious superstitions." But with memories of Hungary's 1956 uprising still fresh, the government is not anxious to stir up trouble.

Imre Miklos, vice president of its church affairs office, explained the official position this way:

"An important part of the population is religiously minded and wants to go to church. It is a demand that must be satisfied. Our state anti-church ideology does not exclude help to the church. As long as people need religion, then it should be given to them.

"Communists are convinced that after a certain period the people automatically won't need religion any longer."

In the meantime, he said, the Communists are keeping up the annual church subsidy of 70 to 80 million forints ($2,800,000 to $3,200,000) paid from a chronically strained state treasury.

The churches live under strict controls.

Government and police keep a close watch to make sure clergymen do not become a rallying point for anti-Communist activity.

Miklos said: "We give the churches every freedom to communicate their ideas.

"But one thing they cannot do is undermine the system. They would not be able to do it, of course, but we don't even let them try."

The churches give no sign of making trouble. In last fall's election both Catholic and Protestant governing bodies endorsed the Communist sponsored list of candidates.

The old anti-Communist fighters are gone. Josef Cardinal Mindszenty lives in refuge and silence at the U.S. legation. Lutheran Bishop Lajos Ordass, who once gave the Communists trouble by not stepping out of office when they wanted him to, is in retirement.

The state aid, plus money from congregations, has given the churches an appearance of prosperity that sometimes surprises visitors to Budapest.

Sunday attendance varies. In many villages it is low. Some Budapest churches are overcrowded week after week. Other churches are not so well attended.

Double-Ring Ceremony Unites Miss Mooty, Buddy Everett

Miss Linda Faye Mooty became the bride of Mr. Buddy Everett in a double-ring wedding ceremony in Colonial Hill Baptist Church here at 8 o'clock last night.

The bride is the daughter of Mr and Mrs. L. L. Mooty, 3722 Austin Avenue, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Everett, Wink.

Officiating minister was the Rev. Jimmy Nelson, pastor of the church.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Her costume was a full length chantilly lace over satin dress with chapel train. Satin bustle appliqued with medallions outlined with seed pearls accented the dress.

She carried a white Bible topped with white rose buds.

The maid of honor was Dianne Evans, cousin of the bride from Nerphlet, Ark. Her costume was orchid cotton satin dress worn with a nosegay of white stock.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Kenneth Bowen, of Midland, dressed identical to the maid of honor.

Bridesmaids who also wore identical costumes to the maid and matron of honor, were Sharron McDaniel, Midland, Lou Nell Burgess and Louise Cate, both of Snyder.

Flower girl was Luann Hubbard, Wink. She wore an orchid cotton satin dress. The ring bearer was Stevie Tatum, Wink, who wore a white dinner jacket and black trousers with black bow tie.

Candles were lighted by Margie Everett, sister of the groom from Wink, and Bobby Mooty, Snyder, brother of the bride. Her costume was white eyelett embroidery, and he wore a white dinner jacket and black trousers.

Best man was David Everett, Wink, brother of the groom.

Ushers and groomsmen were Biddy Roark, Dwight Dow, Billy Allen and Jesse Blackwelder, all of Wink.

The church was decorated with a candlelabra on each side of the altar and candles on the pews reserved for the family. Baskets of gladiola flanked each side of the altar. The couple used a white kneeling bench during the ceremony.

Mr and Mrs. Joe Devenport sang a duet of "Wedding Prayer," and "Whither Thou Goest," accompanied by Mrs. Ralph Wesson.

A reception in the fellowship hall of the church followed the wedding.

The bride's table was covered with white lace tablecloth over orchid, with a three-tiered cake which was served by Mrs. Devenport.

The bride's white book was presided over by Mrs. Kenneth Crook.

For their wedding trip to Ruidoso, N. M., the bride chose a red sheath with jacket and white accessories.

The couple will make their home in Kermit for the summer, and return to Abilene next fall.

The bride is a graduate of Snyder high school and attended Draughon's Business College, Abilene. The groom is a graduate of Wink High School and is a student in Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene.

Out-of-town guests included persons from El Dorado, Ark., Wink, Odessa, Midland and Lubbock.

WHAT'S GOING ON

"Throw in the ball," crackled the announcer as I fished it out of the chili stew-pot and handed it over to a bubble gum customer. I retrieved a bit of onion, lodged in my hair, and peering through sweaty eyebrows, watched him lob it onto the Pony League field stretching away below the concession stand as green and embattled as Gettysburg.

A Courthouse Tiger bought a hot dog, and a small boy inquired the price of an orange sucker. Spinning a quarter into the muffin pan which served as the treasury, I dodged Mrs. Niliazzo, who bore down on me with a gallon crock of mustard.

"Are you too short to reach those buns? Get more dogs out of the refrig. Good grief, there goes my earring into the dish water! What do you want, little girl? No, they're a nickel."

"Catch that fly", shrieked a lady customer, emptying her coke into the Butterfingers. She twisted around. "Here's the dime. Don't run, you fool. Put him out! Put him out!' She swiveled into the peanut container.

The high school girls kept requesting free straws. They did something to ears with them. "The only way you stop it", advised Mrs. Morrow, "is to put the box in your handbag". In that buldging receptacle already resided my small daughter's shoes, my son's disk, and my husband's cigarettes. There wasn't room for my lipstick, but by the fourth inning of the second game, that refuge would have been useless, anyway as we looked like Grey ladies who had succored the Civil War wounded.

Red snow cone juice, than which there is nothing redder. Why, then doesn't Revlon name a nail polish after it?" coursed down the length of my arm. As the requests flew in for these fiendish sweets, ("Ax put more syrup on mine"), the blues, the root beers, and the limes rivered over your person so that, to the Pony League public you presented a rainbow which would have more than reassured Noah's landing party.

Wielding a can opener, I looked over my shoulder. My six-year-old, face pinioned against the meshed wire, addressed the shortstop of the family, who next up to bat, rubbed his nose on his blue sleeve and plowed the air executing imaginary homers.

"Daddy said hit one, Brucie. Which is your girl, Brucie? Look at me climb this, Brucie." The great Casey ignored him and swung up to bat. Bunting one, he wound up in a swirl of dust, gripped in the embrace of two Phillies. Sorely limping, he made for the cage before which strode a young man, the manager, in a sport shirt, frenziedly working dead cigar. Brucie disconsolately slumped onto the turf beside a swimming and planning partner of the summer, who also licked his wounds.

Paring knife in hand, I searched the bleachers for acquaintances. Mrs. Everett rescued her pony-tailed tike from the sidewalk. Mrs. Long and Mrs. Logan prepared to leave . . . A lady in a gold sun dress accepted a cold drink from her husband . . . small fry clambered over the planks fingering castaway containers. A bottle was withdrawn and furnished an infant . . . A young blonde brooded over Seventeen Magazine, eyes lifting to the field after she studied each picture."

"Be sure to turn the oven off. We ground 200 pounds of ice tonight. I think . . . Is this dishrag clean? Wish I had the coffee concession here . . . No, hon, he left her. Nobody knows if they'll make it up . . . Yes, dear, throw them on the floor, everybody does . . . Oops, emptied the dirty water on my feet . . . No, you will just march out to the car until Mother's thru . . . Reach me that padlock . . . Pull the light string . . . Good night, hon, see you June 7, remember, first game."

Little girls also can be cantankerous at bath time. Quiet a little charmer by suggesting she bathe her washable doll as you in turn give her a nightly scrubbing. She can learn to bathe herself by bathing the doll.

Game Night At Ira Set

A game night will be held in the Ira Community Center Thursday night.

At the same time a committee will be organized.

Everyone is urged to attend and bring card tables, dominoes and playing cards.

Where to place a stirring spoon without messing up the stove or counter is always a problem. An extra lid or dish helps. An easier device is to use a clean sponge on which to rest a spoon. Then just squeeze sponge through suds after using.

Bulletin boards take a beating, surface. Then wipe off the dust at home or in an office. Refresh a discolored cork bulletin board with sanding. Use a very fine or use a vacuum cleaner attachment to remove it. Coat with sandpaper to remove the dirty shellac.

Miss Lynn Reedy Marries Wayne Forrest Bethel Jan. 2

The Rev. and Mrs. John Raymond Reedy of Trinity, Tex., have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Lynn Reedy, to Mr. Wayne Forrest Bethel.

The wedding took place in the Little Church of the West Wedding Chapel in Las Vegas, Nev., Jan. 2, 1959.

Mrs. Bethel, a graduate of Baylor University, is a music teacher in the Snyder Public Schools.

Mr. Bethel attended Hardin-Simmons University and the University of Oklahoma, and is now associated with his father in business here.

After a brief trip to Arizona the couple will be at home at 3733 Highland Drive in Snyder.

Geese Don't Like Water

CHARLESTON, Mo. (AP) — Farmer Armont Oliver's geese are wary of water.

They waddled into a farm pond recently — and sank.

Oliver waded in and rescued the bewildered flock. Then he tried to figure out what happened.

Farmers in southern Missouri use domesticated geese to clear their cotton fields. The geese range down the rows, eating weeds and grass.

But while the flock was doing its stuff, a plane piloted by Oliver passed over, spraying the field and the geese with insecticide.

When the geese entered the shallow pond, they sank to the muddy bottom, right up to their long necks.

The spray contained an agent that dried out oil sacs in their skin.

Clothes Dryer

If you are planning to buy a clothes dryer this year, one feature you'll want to consider is the "wash and wear" setting. With the increasing role of these garments, that feature will become more important in years to come. Some models provide automatic setting for "wash and wear" garments which includes a short cool-off period of tumbling without heat.

Police Now Have Enough Of Flowers

MAYWOOD, N. J. (AP)—Roses are red, violets are blue. But police here have had enough of flowers, thank you.

A week ago the local weekly newspaper advertised for persons with garden troubles to call the county agriculture extension service. But the ad carried the police phone number by mistake. About 120 persons called headquarters with horticultural complaints.

The police hope a correction in the paper will get them off the hook.

Robin Almost Gets A Ride On Airliner

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A robin which built its nest inside the engine cowling of an American Airlines Convair almost got a free ride to Houston, Tex., and delayed the flight 31 minutes.

Capt. N. E. Linneen, the pilot, spotted the robin flying from the heat shield of an engine cowling while preparing to take off from Greater Pittsburgh Airport Thursday.

A ground crew removed the cowling from the engine and pulled out the nest, built of straw and twigs.

Easy Mousse

Melt ½ cup chocolate chips over a very low flame. If you have an automatic top burner heat control, set it at the lowest setting. When the chocolate is melted, turn out the burner. Add 1 cup sour cream, 1-3 cup powdered sugar, a pinch of salt, and 1 cup crumbled macaroons. Spoon into individual paper cups or souffle dishes and store in the freezing compartment of the refrigerator.

Shopping Tip

If you are buying a new house this year, be sure to check into the air conditioning possibilities. Ask the builder or seller for a certified letter stating that the duct system and registers are sized and placed so a future cooling system installation will operate efficiently.

Pungent Snack

Slice cervelat sausage in paper-thin slices and spread the slices on several thicknesses of paper towels on a cooky sheet. Turn the oven heat control to 400 degrees and bake the slices in the oven for 10 to 15 minutes. The fat will be absorbed onto the paper towels and the resulting chips will be crisp and peppery. Cervelat chips will keep several days without deteriorating.

Garden Flavors

Can anything compare with the garden fresh flavor of new peas, asparagus or new potatoes. Don't let one whiff of it escape through careless cooking. Use the inner circle of flame on the gas burner to keep flavor from boiling away. Once the boiling point is reached the flame should be turned down promptly.

Monkey's Body To Be Put On Exhibit

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)— The body of Able, the space-flying Rhesus monkey, will be mounted by a Rochester taxidermy company for use in armed forces exhibits.

The Ward's Natural Science Establishment, Inc., said Thursday the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology in Washington had asked it to stuff and mount the seven-pound astronaut.

Able soared into space in the nose cone of a Jupiter missile last month with another monkey, Baker.

Old River Road Noted Landmark

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — Drive out U. S. 281 westward out of this border city and you're traveling in history's footsteps, more familiarly known as the Old River Road.

Or, because Zachary Taylor and his men used it during the Mexican War, some people still call it the Military Highway.

Off the the left loom the high levees along the American side of the river.

Along the road, even before you come to the first community — La Paloma — huts of mud and sticks thatched with palm leaves give an exotic touch to the landscape.

Cross-crowned churches are frequent. Just east of the little town of Santa Maria stands an old, time-worn chapel in which people have worshiped for over 135 years.

Across the road is El Rancho Blanco which, according to legend, was once a Mexican fort. U. S. troops occupied it after the Mexican War. Then it served as a stage stop. Today it is a home.

Its mellow, brown bricks of native clay were molded on the premises at the same time as those for the church, and the story goes that the ranch house and the chapel were once connected by a tunnel.

Through this the ranch owner and his family could cross to worship without being exposed to raiding Indians.

On the river bank, behind the house, puffing stern-wheelers tied up before the railway days and were loaded with corn and cotton for Brownsville and Matamoros.

Just at the edge of Santa Maria to the westward, an irrigation canal leads off to the south. Follow its levee and you will come to a long, low stone building, shaded by mesquite trees and set in the midst of a cotton patch.

Once occupied by Gen. Taylor, brown-eyed, smiling children have taken the place of his dragoons and Texas Rangers.

From Santa Maria the Old River Road leads through the Tip of Texas-that Magic Vally of incredibly fertile land where crops seem to shoot up overnight, and a second, a third, and even a fourth can be planted almost as soon as the preceding one is harvested.

On either side of the road, an ordered rows, march vegetable gardens and truck farms.

Another scene is a hallmark of the Valley — long rows of palms, with feather-duster tops — that march and countermarch across the horizon like well-drilled troops, always in perfect alingment, bringing a touch of the tropics to Texas.

No Action Due On Depletion Tax Allowance

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional action on proposals to reduce the tax depletion allowance for the oil and gas industry appears unlikely in this session.

All indications are that Congress will put off serious consideration of the subject until the House Ways and Means Committee completes a study of the entire tax code. That study is scheduled to begin in November, after Congress has adjourned.

Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis) let it be known this week that he is not willing to wait for the committee's study. One of a group of senators seeking to cut the depletion allowance, Proxmire said he would do his best to get action this session on a bill calling for a graduated allowance in place of the present flat rate of 27½ per cent.

The committee's study will include a review of depletion benefits, as related to drilling and exploration costs.

Rep. Frank Ikard (D-Tex), a committee member, said he felt the study would "preclude any action this year by Congress" on proposals to cut the present 27½ per cent allowance.

Tinted Shrimp Are Released In Gulf

AUSTIN (AP)—Tinted shrimp have been released near Galveston to track the movement of shrimp in the gulf, the Game Commission said Saturday.

The commission said the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has planted 24,000 shrimp with blue and green heads near Galveston. Earlier the service dropped 12,000 tinted shrimp off Florida.

Governor Is Opposed To Pay Raise

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Gov. Ralph Brooks of Nebraska wants the Legislature to take back a pay raise it gave him.

It's for $3,000.

Brooks says he doesn't want it because he is opposed to any increase for himself until a systematic and orderly wage scale is adopted for all employes of the state of Nebraska.

The Democratic governor and the non-partisan Legislature, most of whose members are Republicans, have been skirmishing over salaries for several weeks.

The argument began when the Legislature passed a salary increase bill for some state employes serving under various elective boards and offices.

The governor vetoed that bill and said he was doing it because he thought the people of Nebraska had taken a stand on state pay increases when they defeated in the 1958 election a constitutional amendment providing for legislative pay increases.

But the Legislature passed the bill over the veto.

Shortly afterwards, Brooks notified the Legislature he had taken a new view on some salary increases and would sign a bill increasing judicial pay, but hoped the Legislature would strike out a provision raising his pay.

The Legislature left the section in and passed the bill sending the governor's salary from $1,000 to $14,000 and raising supreme court judges from $12,000 to $13,000 and district court judges from $10,000 to $11,000.

Brooks signed the bill.

Late Thursday he sent the Legislature a new bill.

It takes away his $3,000 hike.

Artificial Fishing Reef Is Completed

AUSTIN (AP)—The Game Commission said Saturday a new artificial fishing reef built of 600 old car bodies has been completed in the gulf near Freeport.

It flanks a natural reef about six miles off shore.

Work began this week on lowering another 600 car bodies off shore from Port Isabel. A third reef of 600 car bodies is near Port Aransas.

OUR VIEW

Campaign Against Filth

The U. S. Post Office Dept. is doing a booming business in one field which it would prefer to vacate. However, as the Postmaster General, Arthur E. Summerfield points out, only public support can get the department out of unwanted coalition.

Mr. Summerfield refers to the huge mail order business in pornographic and obscene material now being carried on through obscene mail dealers. The Post Office Department's efforts to curb the flow of such materials has come to public attention frequently in recent months, and now the department apparently is waging an all-out campaign.

The most objectionable factor in the businses is the selection of the targets.

Obscene films, books and pamphlets are made available to all age groups, but most of them are aimed primarily at the youth of our country. This has been determined by postal officials who have confiscated tens of such materials.

Mr. Summerfield says the Post Office Dept. has established new records in criminal prosecution of the "merchants of filth" during the past year, but so far the efforts have failed to make a dent in the tremendous trade.

The Postmaster General recommends that each citizen appoint himself a committee of one to report every piece of objectionable material to the local postmaster. The postmaster, in turn, will present the matter to the Post Office Department's inspection service.

Aside from the moral and social implications in this "trade," there is a whale of an economic impact. The Post Office Dept. estimates that the mail order business in pornographic and obscene material now totals half a billion dollars a year. Legitimate businesses could use this income.

'Welfare War' Is Hinted In Nation

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Associated Press Writer

There is talk of a "givers' revolt" and evidence of a "welfare war." Yet Americans gave more last year to philanthropy than ever before—more than seven billion dollars.

This is almost [illegible] was considered enough to keep [illegible] up among [illegible] ben's budget.

What then [illegible] volt of the [illegible] there is no evidence that Americans are tightening their purse-strings. Last year the nation's 2,100 Community Chests and United funds raised almost 425 million dollars. Last year 40 of the big independent national health organizations and the Red Cross raised well over 200 million dollars.

There are, however, hints of trouble. The cause of the trouble is an old sore, too many organizations, too many appeals for funds, too many outstretched hands.

A community service organization in a suburban area surveyed [illegible] on the charity-solicitation [illegible] One rich man estimated he receives at least 150 appeals a year—by personal visit, telephone and mail. A middle-income middle-class housewife rattled off names of 31 organizations which had asked her for funds within 12 months.

The welfare war has been in progress for several years between advocates of independent fund drives and proponents of the once-a-year, one-shot campaign.

Both sides have adherents. The independents, most of which have strong emotional appeals, believe they can raise more money and educate the public better with a campaign of their own.

Federated fund boosters argue that overlapping and multiple appeals harry contributors and tire volunteers.

In some places contributors are taking matters into their own hands. A couple of years ago, women in Gates Mills, Ohio, organized and collected money for a lot of health organizations. Then they offered the money to the agencies. One, the National Foundation, refused the money. The others took it, many reluctantly.

But the idea proved epidemic, spreading through the Cleveland area. Today, funds-raisers everywhere know "what happened in Cleveland," and many don't like it a bit.

Plagued by solicitations inside plants and offices, which had become so frequent they were disrupting production, labor and management teamed up in Los Angeles to form a contributors' organization. Donors may pick the philanthropies they choose to give to, and the funds are forwarded.

When the contributors set themselves up in business and start telling philanthropy what they will do, a revolutionary situation is in the making.

Soviet Collegians Dislike Provinces

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet colleges and universities are sending 340,000 graduates out into the world this year and some of them don't want to go too far from the old alma mater.

Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, protested today that some of the graduates are grumbling about taking jobs in the provinces, where life is tougher.

Students get salaries while attending Soviet institutions of higher learning, and are expected to work for several years wherever the government assigns them after graduation.

Parr Appears On Way Back

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Staff Writer

George Parr, staggered by federal, state and bankruptcy courts, proves today that they can come back.

Parr once was Texas' only real political boss. He hated the label. But it fit. He held a group of counties in South Texas under complete domination.

Then came a 5-year state prison sentence, a 10-year federal prison sentence. Rated a multi-millionaire, he went through a bankruptcy wringer.

His political foes took over his private dukedom—Duval County. His power in surrounding counties drifted away.

"Write him off," said the politically wise ones. "He's through."

Today the chunky, red-faced Parr appears on the way back. Not financially, perhaps, but politically.

The 5-year prison sentence is written off the books.

The 10-year federal sentence crawls through appeals procedure.

Bankrupt, he lives in a palatial home and drives a long, expensive car.

And when he walks up and down the Duval County courthouse corridors he can smile and wave. For his men sit at the desks there, and wear the guns, for his Old Party dominates county politics again.

The secret of his comeback?

It's really no secret at all. The Parr family rose to power 47 years ago when a courthouse massacre shook the county. The Parrs sided with the confused, sometimes intimidated, citizens of Mexican descent who predominate in this area.

The Latin Americans never forgot. They strayed once, but they're back with Parr again.

George Parr now, as before, is the "patron" of the dominant element of the population. Actually, he inherited the mantle from his father.

And when George passes on, it appears his nephew, County Judge Archer Parr, will carry on. Archer Parr is in his mid-30s.

There is no question but that Parr's wings have been clipped.

But for Parr it isn't a bad life at 57.

He was a fine home, a good car, many friends, power, and a teenage wife, daughter of a Latin American former janitor at the Duval County Courthouse. Persons who know Parr's wife call her a "living doll."

He still is seen regularly around San Diego. He wears a business suit except in hot weather, when he sheds the jacket. His beautiful young brunette wife travels with him almost everywhere.

Parr had things his own way until the middle 1950s, and then seeming disaster crashed about his empire.

State Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd swore to shear Parr's power. And a then little-known prosecutor, Sam Burris, helped him by prosecuting vigorously Parr and some of his political cronies.

That they cleaned out Parr politically and financially is without question.

But they failed to crush him. This never was better demonstrated than the elections of 1958, when Duval County elected Parr sheriff. So far he has been refused the office. But a member of his Old Party now wears the badge.

The first, severe blow—it appeared on the surface—was a state prison sentence of 5 years for theft of school funds, handed down at New Brunfels.

But before Parr's case could get very far on appeal, authorities found that the statute of limitations had run out on the case. Parr was free.

Then the federal government took over.

A Houston trial resulted in a 10-year sentence for mail fraud involving $220,000 in Benavides School District tax funds. Only last April, the New Orleans appeals court upheld the conviction. But the case has a long way to go yet—pleas for another appeal, then to the U.S. Supreme Court, and still further appeals.

George turned what once had been persuasive power of the family into almost absolute force. His request of an officeholder was equal to a command.

He obtained money from the Duval County road and bridge fund to buy the 57,000-acre Dobie Ranch. This sum, the government contends, amounted to about a half million dollars.

Parr also obtained $172,000 from the county to pay back income taxes said state and federal authorities.

The United States sought to charge Parr with the money as income on which taxes were due. He contended it was loans. The federal government filed charges against him on both civil and criminal income tax counts.

Caught between state claims for repayment of the money and federal claims for income taxes, Parr took bankruptcy.

The civil and criminal income tax cases still are stalled awaiting outcome of the federal mail fraud appeals.

Parr once told a court after his 1957 bankruptcy he lived on money borrowed from friends and relatives.

In spite of damaging stories told in court, the voters elected Parr sheriff in 1956. His political enemies won a majority of seats on the Commissioners Court. The commissioners then refused to certify him, holding that a man who owed the county money could not be sheriff.

J. P. Stockwell, who ran second to Parr, was appointed sheriff.

Then in last fall's election, a strange occurrence for even strange Duval County politics took place.

County Judge Dan Tobin Jr. fought Parr with all his strength. But Tobin was eliminated in the first Democratic primary in his bid for re-election.

Instead of joining with the Freedom Party candidates who, like Tobin, fought Parr, the judge threw his support to the Parr slate.

Thus the Old Party just about swept the boards clean.

To show it wasn't a freak incident, Parr's Old Party candidates won all the city offices in the April 7 election this year in San Diego and Benavides. The contests weren't even close.

93,000 Braceros

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Interior Ministry officials said today 95,000 Mexican braceros have crossed the border so far this year to work under contract on U.S. farms.

Bumper Texas Crops Still In Making

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Prospects for a bumper crop year in Texas were brightened further last week, the Agricultural Extention Service said Saturday.

"Crops, ranges and pastures all are reported by district agricultural agents as making fast growth," said director John Hutchison. "Rains which dotted the state brought needed moisture to much of West Texas. Hail did considerable damage to cotton and other crops in the South Plains. The Edwards Plateau still needs a general rain."

Cotton varies from blooming in South Texas to planting in the Panhandle. Insect damage is reported in most sections. Many farmers are applying poisons.

Corn is tasseling and silking in South Central Texas. Early grain sorghum is blooming and heading in the lower coastal area, and the oat harvest is on in North Texas. The wheat harvest is general in the Rolling Plains.

Showers interrupted hay baling and cultivating in many sections. But far West Texas ranges improved. The Edwards Plateau needs a good general rain even though ranges and crops still are making growth.

Cattle have plenty of grazing on most ranges and pastures, but are increasing in both sheep and cattle. Calves are moving to market at good prices. Most sheep have been sheared, and some lambs are being marketed.

Stockwater is still short in tanks in the Edwards Plateau, parts of the South Plains and Rolling Plains.

Hail did considerable damage to young cotton, especially in the Lubbock area. Possibly not more than 10 to 15 per cent of the total acreage will need to be replanted. Not much sorghum has been planted.

Wheat yields on the Rolling Plains varies from 12 to 15 bushels an acre in Jones County to 10 to 30 bushels an acre in winter and spring hurt. The wheat harvest in the Panhandle begins around June 20. Grain sorghum planting there is well underway.

North Texas wheat yields are about 8 to 12 bushels per acre, and oat yields vary from 25 to 50 bushels.

Northeast Texas farmers are baling much oat, vetch and bermuda grass hay. Commercial vegetables are making good growth.

Some early peaches have been harvested in deep East Texas. The quality is good, but the yield is about 50 per cent below normal. Watermelon marketing has begun in the lower Rio Grande Valley where cotton is in excellent condition and the prospects for sorghum are good.

All the Gulf Coast rice crop is planted and up, but some fields are plagued with grass and weeds.

Central Texas crops are described as very good. Peanut planting continues. Corn is shoulder high, most cotton is planted, up and being cultivated, and livestock and ranges are in good shape.

Hoppers Can Run Damage Into Millions

COLLEGE STATION —Every year grasshoppers destroy crops in some parts of the State. During severe outbreaks, the losses run into millions of dollars.

About 5 million acres of rangeland was infested with grasshoppers in the Panhandle area of Texas in 1958.

Of the infested rangeland only about one million acres was sprayed, leaving four million acres of infested land that received no control. Valuing the grass destroyed at the figure of $1.25 per acre, ranchmen in the Panhandle alone lost about five million dollars worth of grass. Most of the grass could have been saved at a nominal average cost of about sixty cents per acre by spraying at the proper time.

As an aid to farmers and ranchmen, entomologists of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service have prepared a leaflet titled, "Grasshoppers Common to Texas."

The leaflet discusses the different species of grasshoppers found in Texas and their identifying characteristics. Also included is a discussion of the life cycle of grasshoppers from the time the females lay the eggs to maturity.

This leaflet can be obtained from your local county agent along with information on best control measures, or by writing the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Ask for L-429.

Department Store Sales Rise Again

DALLAS (AP)—Texas department store sales increased 1 per cent in the week ended May 30 the Federal Reserve Bank said today. Houston sales were up 14 per cent and Dallas 7. San Antonio sales slumped 11 per cent from the previous week. El Paso 10 and Fort Worth 2.

State 4-H Roundup Set This Week

COLLEGE STATION — One of Texas' best known roundups will be held at Texas A&M College on June 9 and 10. It is the State 4-H Roundup and an estimated 2,000 4-H members, adult leaders, county extension agents and others interested in this great youth organization will attend.

The big day will be June 10 when state winners in 25 judging and team demonstration contests will be named. Those participating in the contests have won that opportunity by first being county winners and then by taking first or second place honors in their respective districts. Several of the state winners will have the opportunity of representing Texas in national contests later in the year.

The first general assembly scheduled for the evening of June 9, will feature an address by Dr. Kenneth McFarland, educational consultant and lecturer for General Motors, Topeka, Kansas.

No roundup is complete without its chuckwagon and barbecue and the 4-H one is no exception. Everything is in readiness for the Texas 4-H Club Recognition Committee's Chuckwagon Barbecue scheduled as the opening feature of the second evening's program. A general assembly will follow the barbecue.

May Was Biggest Month In Rain Til June Came Along

May was a big month in moisture compared to the four months previous to it, but June has already become a bigger rainfall month.

Total rainfall measured in Snyder during May was 2.46 inches or more than the total of all the previous four months of 1959, which had 2.21.

There had already been 3.59 here by the third day of June.

While May was a favorable freak in weather, will have early month, moisture-wise, for most farmers here many lost the benefit of it when their crops were wiped out by hail and high water early last week.

A large part of this area, however, was not damaged by the storm and has reaped benefits from the rains of May and early June.

Many farmers in this area, barring another hailstorm or other

Weeds Are Able To Cut Yields By Half

COLLEGE STATION — Weeds often cut improved pasture and hay yields by 50 per cent or more. This says E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist, is the reason why weeds should be controlled in improved pastures.

Weeds cut yields by stealing moisture, plant nutrients and light from the pasture or hay plants, and some weeds prevent grazing and lower hay quality.

Prevention is the best means of weed control. Pastures that are properly grazed and fertilized usually do not have a severe weed problem, said Trew. Fencerows and roadsides should be kept clean and weed seed should not be brought in by combines and other machinery, in feed or in planting seed.

Mowing is an effective means of pasture weed control when properly timed. All weeds should be mowed before they produce seed. Some weeds, such as eastern bitterweed and yankeeweed will rquire at least two mowings in one season, he said.

One spraying of 2,4-D with ground equipment costs about the same as one mowing, but if the spraying is properly done it is often as effective as three mowings. One properly timed application of 2,4-D often gives control for the entire season.

Weeds should be sprayed when they are in the young, rapid growth stage. When crops susceptible to 2,4-D are nearby, pasture spraying may have to be done before these crops are planted; the specialist said. When pasture legumes, such as clovers, are to be protected, spraying may be delayed until the legumes have formed enough hard seed in insure a volunteer stand the next fall.

For spraying unproved pastures in areas of 30 inches annual rainfall, use 1 pound of 2,4-D amine to 10 to 25 gallons of water per acre. Add ½ to 1 cup of liquid household or laundry detergent per 100 gallons of spray mixture as a wetting agent.

For stands of such grasses as buffel and blue panic in areas of less than 30 inches rainfall, use 1 pound of 2,4-D amine or low volatile ester, with a wetting agent, he said. For summer temporary pastures of Sudan and the like are ½ to ¾ ponud of 2,4-D Amine in 10 to 25 gallons of water per acre. Do not use a wetting agent on these grasses.

Boomptype sprayers give the most accurate placement of the spray but are more troublesome, Trew said. Boomless-type sprayers using a single nozzle or a cluster of nozzles are faster and less trouble, and they have a minimum of 15 gallons of mixture per acre for good coverage. Airplanes may be used effectively with spray output at 5 gallons per acre.

Rural Church Meet Scheduled June 22

COLLEGE STATION — "The Rural Church Serving the Changing Rural Community, will be the theme of the 14th annual Rural Church Conference to be held in the Memorial Student Center of Texas A&M College on June 22-24.

The Conference is sponsored by Texas A&M College in cooperation with the Texas Rural Church Conference, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Rev. R. R. Lloyd, president, Texas Rural Church Conference and a member of the Texas General Baptist Convention staff, will be in charge. Council members represent several denominations.

A task force presentations by professors at A&M, plus Dr. J. H. Jones, Jr., extension rural sociologist at Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, a., will be among the features of this conference.

The rural minister of the year will be honored and items such as architecture for the rural church, landscaping, teaching techniques of closed circuit television and agribusiness will be discussed at the meeting.

10,000 Census Takers Will Be Needed To Count Texans

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press
Special Service

WASHINGTON. — More than 10,000 Texans will be needed to count fellow Texans and their property in two approaching censuses.

The agricultural census, taken every five years is scheduled for next fall. It determines the farm population, and such data as the size of farms and how many cows and horses and sheep and tractors are owned by each farmer.

The regular population census, taken every 10 years, starts next April 1. It also will show the kind of housing Texas folk have, how many sleep to a room and what kind of conveniences they enjoy or lack.

The farm census will require 2,000 enumerators in Texas. They will work under 134 crew leaders, who will get their directions from six field assistants to the Census Bureau's regional director in Dallas.

The population and housing census will require 8,500 enumerators working under 525 crew leaders. These crew leaders will take orders from 21 supervisers who will answer to the Dallas regional director, James W. Stroud. Some of the population census workers probably will have worked on the farm census.

A Census Bureau spokesman said the enumerators will be paid on a "piece basis" so that a diligent worker should earn $12 to $13 per day. Crew leaders will be paid about $15.50 a day, supervisors and field assistants about $24 daily. The exact amounts are yet to be determinded.

Farm census workers must have a car at their command and will get 7 cents a mile for its use.

The enumerators in the farm census are expected to be busy two to three weeks, crew leaders will work a week or so more and field assistants still a little longer. Population census enumerators will be busy three to five weeks.

All the workers except Stroud, a career employe of the bureau, will be appointed by Census Director Robert W. Burgess.

Practically speaking, however, the jobs will be filled by the Republican party organization in Texas. It's the same for each state and already many party leaders at local levels are beginning to line up the head counters.

Appointment of the farm census workers will take place late in the summer. Those to take the regular population census won't be named until late in the year or early next spring.

If the Democrats were in power they would name the census takers.

The political system actually saves money for the taxpayers, one Census official said, explaining that if regular employment channels were used for filling the temporary jobs the cost would be greater.

Except for a wide area in South Texas, the farm census in the state will begin Nov. 18. Because of winter crops, it will begin earlier in the lower section.

The farm census will begin Oct. 7 in these counties:

Cameron, Hidalgo, Willacy, Starr, Jim Hogg, Brooks, Kenedy, Kleberg, Jim Wells, Duval, Webb, La Salle, Zapata.

It will begin Oct. 14 in these: Maverick, Dimmit, Zavala, Atascosa, McMullen, Live Oak, Nueces, San Patricio, Refugio, Aransas, Bee, Karnes, Wilson, DeWitt, Gonzales, Comal, Guadalupe, Goliad, Victoria, Calhoun, Jackson, Matagorda, Lavaca, Fayette, Colorado, Austin, Brazoria, Wharton, Galveston, Ft. Bend, Chambers and Waller.

Books Of Varied Interests Arrive At County Library

A number of new books received at the Scurry County Library recently will interest the readers.

In history is the book of "Elizabeth I" by Donald Barr Chidsey. The politics of royal matrimony are the central thread of the life of the Virgin Queen. But this vidid portrait of Elizabeth I encompasses the extravagant, exuberant age to which she gave her name, as well as her personal life. Figures in the pageant are her father, Henry VIII, Mary Stuart, Philip of Spain, her great courtiers and favorites, Essex, Drake, Raleigh, and the rest; and her many enemies.

The "Undiscovered Self" by C. G. Jung, in Philosophy. He asks the question, "What are the unconscious forces within society today which are working to divide the world into two armed camps? Why, in a world of towering organizations does the individual seem forgotten, a forlorn member of a 'lonely crowd'?" For an answer Dr. Jung, who is universally accepted as the world's greatest living psychiatrist, bids us look within ourselves. Dr. Jung studied medicine and psychiatry in Zurich, and at the age of eighty-two he still practices in Zurich.

In Bible section the new book "Warriors of God," written by Walter George Nigg which deals with the lives and thoughts of the founders of the great monastic and other religious orders of Christianity and the growth or decline of those orders down to our time.

Mystery, Three Detective novels by John Dickson Carr, "The Arabian Nights Murder," and "The Problem of the Wire Cage," and "The Burning Courts," have been combined in one book. For those who have read them and will be delighted to become reacquainted and for the fortunate new readers enjoying them for the first time, these three novels are here collected and reissued.

Also the new book title "Encyclopedia of Archery" by Paul C. Hougham. The mechanics of Archery, the oldest sport known to man receives a new and comprehensive treatment in all-embracing book. The three major components of Archery set, the bow, the bowstring, and the arrow, and the role each plays in relation to each other, the author defines the basic rules of the game and illustrates the proper techniques and practices.

A biography of "Africa of Albert Schweitzer" — the author lived during its preparation at Dr. Schweitzer's forest hospital at Lambarene sharing the daily life of the doctor and his hospital family. The result is a memorable record, in vivid photographs and equally descriptive text, of the hospital in its jungle setting, the patients and the workers, the details of the organizations and the settlement, and above all the activities of Schweitzer himself in the hospital that the founded forty-five years ago and has directed ever since.

For the ones that love horses, the new book, "The American Quarter Horse" by Jack Widmer, and he puts in order what up to now has been chaos in recording the history of the Quarter Horse breed. He writes on the uses of the breed, and the method of training.

In fiction "Danger! Marines At Work!" by Robert G. Fuller — the marines were sent to New Caledonia recreation area to overcome their battle fatigue. Before long they have overcome nearly everything in sight-vegetable, mineral and female.

Club Sandwich

Trim crusts from 12 slices of bread and toast the slices on both sides in your broiler. Melt ½ pound sharp cheddar cheese over a low flame. Add 1-3 cup milk slowly, and stir until smooth. Season with ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and a pinch of dry mustard. Spread the toasted bread with mayonnaise and place a slice of tomato, some strips of broiled bacon and shreds of lettuce on each. Cover all with the hot cheese sauce and serve with a simple fruit dessert for a summer lunch.

Roasting

You need no arsenal of long handled tools, mitts, shovels or tongs when you cook meat in the oven of a gas range. You can start cooking the minute the heat is turned on. Gas ovens are insultated to confine the heat. The oven thermostat guards against high temperature and drying out. And if you have a range that has won a "Gold Star" designation, you have many other features such as a clock-timer that turns off the heat when the roast is done.

Gravy Flavor

Cooking meat with a generous amount of seasoning, such as poultry seasoning, onions, mustard, peppercorns, celery and parsley, will intensify gravy flavor. Use bouillon cubes or canned consomme if you are making a large quantity. Water from mild flavored vegetables, milk and pureed soup will help to boost gravy flavor, too.
