Governor Murray Takes Command Troops at Toll Bridge

SAYS HE WILL 'HOLD THE FORT' AGAINST ANY ATTEMPT FEDERAL JUDGE TO ENFORCE INJUNCTION

DURANT, Okla., July 24. (AP)—Bristling with determination and packing an ancient horse pistol, Gov. W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray of Oklahoma took the field tonight in personal command of his troops engaged in the Red river bridge war.

The fiery executive left the capitol at Oklahoma City this afternoon to come to the seat of operations in the martial law zone he laid out near here at the end of the Denison-Durant toll bridge.

DURANT, Okla., July 25. (AP)—In the dim light of a lantern, Governor Murray, active commander-in-chief of the Oklahoma national guard forces in the Red river toll bridge zone near here, tonight cried defiance to the threat of Federal Judge Neblett to cite him for contempt.

"He can't cite me for contempt—let him try it," the governor declared.

He announced he would "hold the fort" with his detachments of Oklahoma national guardsmen against any attempts of authorities of the Eastern Oklahoma federal district court to enforce an injunction issued today at Muskogee by Federal Judge Colin C. Neblett of New Mexico.

Forbids Barricade

The temporary injunction, naming Adj. Gen. Charles F. Barrett and other Oklahoma officials, but not the governor, restrained the maintenance of a barricade erected on Oklahoma soil to prevent travel over the toll span.

While Murray's military preparations went forward, it appeared that no "enemy" would show up to try a bout with the commander in chief.

United States Marshal Clark Wasson at Muskogee said no deputies would be sent to the bridge.

An autopsy was ordered after physicians expressed belief the couple died from poison. There were no marks of violence on the bodies.

Officials had uncovered information causing them to believe Stratton had secretly married two girls in this section at different times within the past six months.

A letter found in Stratton's effects from Miss Glover read: "I really can't wait 'cause I'm going to

PAT NEFF BLAMES RAIL COMMISSION FOR OIL SITUATION

Says Conditions Would Not Exist if Conservation Laws Enforced

FARISH RECOMMENDS REASONABLE CONTROL

Judge Batts Favors Commission to Prevent Physical Waste

AUSTIN, July 25. (AP)—The oil situation in Texas and the problem of proration and conservation were presented to the legislature from four viewpoints today as the house and senate continued separate investigations into the causes of chaotic conditions in the industry and how they best could be corrected.

The failure of the railroad commission to enforce conservation laws was told by Pat M. Neff, former governor and member of the commission, who appeared before the house. Neff said present conditions would not exist had the railroad commission enforced the conservation laws. He attributed the failure to enforce conservation laws to "physical inactivity; mental inertness; and a desire of the majority of the commission to work along lines of least resistance."

Favors Commission

W. S. Farish, president of the Humble Oil and Refining company, was the other house witness. He contended the state government should exercise reasonable control of the oil industry to prevent waste, conserve resources and require orderly production by coordinating production with market demand.

R. L. Batts, chairman of the board of regents of the University of Texas, the largest landed institution in the United States, advocated a commission with authority to prevent physical waste. The University of Texas has received mil-

DEATH LIST IN HOME FOR AGED BLAZE MOUNTS

Thirty-two Dead And 211 In Hospital Result Of Disaster

FOUR INQUIRIES MADE INTO CAUSE OF BLAZE

Flames Believed to Have Originated in Mop Used In Oiling Floors

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 25. (US)—The death roll marked up by the greatest fire disaster in the history of Pittsburgh, that swept the Little Sisters of the Poor home for the aged here last Friday night, stood at 32 late today. Two hundred and eleven victims are in hospitals.

Sixteen men and 16 womn, all inmates of the home, succumbed to the flames that broke the early hours of their slumber or died later in hospitals from burns, due to inhalation of smoke or shock. The death toll was expected by hospital attaches to mount still higher with the passing of a few hours.

Deputy Fire Chief Louis J. Conley and Battalion Chief William H. Davis attributed much of the loss of life to the "overly zealous" efforts of volunteer rescue workers who stampeded the burning building, making orderly recue work impossible.

Charred bodies in the morgue bore testimony to the ferocity of the flames which sprang from the basement an hour after the 280 inmates and their 16 nun attendants had retired, and wreaked their havoc among the infirm and crippled.

All of the dead were believed to be inmates, although 17 of the bodies are yet to be identified.

None of those who were being cared for at the home was under 70 years of age, many of them nearly 80.

Those who faced death in the hospitals tonight were all older inmates, some badly burned, others suffering only from a tremendous shock or exposure.

Four investigations were under way in an effort to determine origin of the fire. They were being conducted by Coroner W. J. McGregor, Fire Chief Richard L.

HOLMES WITNESS SECRET COURT OF INQUIRY AT AUSTIN

AUSTIN, July 25. (AP)—R. C. Holmes of New York, president of the Texas company, appeared today before a secret court of inquiry into possible violations of anti-trust laws in the oil industry.

The court was called by James V. Allred, attorney general, and was held before J. M. Griffith, justice of the peace. The statutes provide that such inquiries must be held either in county or justice court.

Allred had Holmes subpoenaed and questioned the major company executive about an hour and then turned the interrogation over to H. D. Bishop, assistant who has been in charge of the "trust-busting" investigation which the attorney general's department has been conducting.

While this was the first court of inquiry here, Allred said similar investigations had been conducted in other cities.

"So much has been said about the major companies violating the anti-trust laws and fixing prices that we are going to the bottom of the matter," Allred stated.

Holmes, testifying before the legislature the past three days, had stated the Texas company had not violated the anti-trust laws. He stated he was glad to go before the court of inquiry and would have been pleased if it were open.

SQUADRON DRY OFFICERS MOP UP THREE COUNTIES 'LITTLE EGYPT' ILLINOIS

BENTON, Ill., July 25. (AP)—A squadron of federal prohibition agents, said to have been the largest ever assembled in southern Illinois, mopped up three counties of "Little Egypt," once the battleground of the rival Birger and Shelton gangs, last night.

Approximately 100 persons were arrested and jammed into the Franklin county jail here. Some of them were released on bond and today the rest of them were to appear before U. S. Commissioner Ed Robertson.

Since the days of the powerful Birger and Shelton gangs, agents said, the liquor traffic in "Little Egypt" apparently has fallen into the hands of "independents." None of those arrested was described as a "big shot."

ESTIMATED 41,000,000 BUSHELS 1931 WHEAT CROP SHIPPED WITH 65 PER CENT YIELD MARKETED

Grain men, who estimate that 65 per cent of the crop has been marketed, predict a total yield of 55,000,000 bushels. Of the amount already shipped, it was estimated that 5,000,000 bushels might have come across the state line from New Mexico and Oklahoma fields.

CHANGES SUGGESTED IN HOURS IN OIL FIELDS

Communities Urged to Give Preference to Local Unemployed First

FORT WORTH, July 25. (AP)—A five-day working week, preference to married men and single women in giving jobs, hiring of local labor and a revision of the work schedule for oil field workers were among recommendations adopted by Governor Sterling's employment committee today toward solving the unemployment problem in this state.

The recommendations follow:

"That Governor Sterling call a conference of oil operators to discuss the advisability, in order to increase employment, of establishing the eight-hour day and six day week in the oil industry.

"That wherever possible, in all lines of employment that the five-day week be introduced. Your committee in making the suggestion for the five day week does not contemplate that the unit cost will be increased or changed but the five day week will be on the same hourly salary basis as they are now working; the purpose of this being to spread employment among more workers.

"That a careful study be made of employment of married women whose husbands are employed, to the end that whenever investigation justifies, single women and married men be employed instead.

"That each community give preference to its own citizens and that

Woman Student Columbia Finds Death in Rugged Canyon Instead Of Mystic Indian Lore She Sought

WHITE RIVER APACHE REServation, Ariz., July 25. (AP)—Five young Apache bucks were arrested today as three agencies of the law moved swiftly to solve the brutal killing of Henrietta Schmerler.

WHITE RIVER APACHE REServation, Ariz., July 25. (AP)—Verdict that Miss Henrietta Schmerler was "murdered with a sharp instrument" was returned by a coroner's jury today after viewing the body of the 23-year-old Columbia university research worker, found yesterday in a ravine near an Indian cemetery.

WHITE RIVER, Ariz., July 25. (UP)—Instead of the mystic Indian lore which she sought to further her study in anthropology, Henrietta Schmerler, 23-year-old Columbia university student, found death in a rugged canyon.

Her broken body, showing evidence of having been beaten and choked, was found near here late yesterday by a posse of 25 Apache Indians, seven days after she disappeared.

Authorities were undetermined as to the motive for the girl's death, but held three young Apache Indians for investigation.

The name of one of them was known today. He was Claude Gilbert, who had acted as an interpreter for Miss Schmerler during her three-week Indian stay in a cabin near the Roosevelt Apache school, while studying Apache Indian history and folk-lore.

Leaves Cabin for Dance

Last Saturday she left her cabin to attend a dance at Fort Apache. Gilbert was to have been her companion. Neither reached the fort, and Miss Schmerler was not again seen alive. Gilbert returned to his

Great Buffalo Hunt On Goodnight Ranch To Be in November

The last great herd of the "Monarchs of the Plain" is soon to disappear, unless public sentiment intervenes. The famous Goodnight herd of wild buffalos is to be sold and slaughtered.

The late Colonel and Mrs. Charles Goodnight started the famous Goodnight ranch back in 1876. It is said that there were only a few wild buffalos roaming the great plains country at that time, and through persuasion on the part of Mrs. Goodnight her famous husband went out and brought within a small corral three buffalo calves, a bull and two heifers. From this small start the herd has grown and today there are 200 head on the ranch.

For many years the surplus animals, especially young bulls, have been slaughtered. Old bulls and cows were also killed, not so much for meat as for heads and hides. The mounted heads bring fancy prices and a good hide tanned into a robe will bring as much as $300. Some of the mounted heads have sold for $500 each.

The herd now numbers 186 old animals and the present calf crop is between 16 and 20 head. The buffalos graze on a range of 12,000 acres, located just south of the little town of Goodnight, a few miles west of Clarendon.

Not only are the buffalos to be disposed of but the ranch will be broken up. There is approximately 2,000 acres of fine farming land which adjoins the Fort Worth and Denver railway. The rough land is in one body and adjoins the JA ranch. There are approximately 400,000 acres in the JA ranch, which was started by Colonel Goodnight and now owned by the estate of Lady Adair of London, England.

The buffalo herd has been more than self-sustaining. Some seasons as much as $5,000 has been received from dressed meat, mounted heads and robes.

Big Hunt in November

Present plans are to hold a big hunt on the ranch in November. The choicest specimens are to be sold to big game hunters, who will be permitted to have the meat, head and hide. Expert buffalo cowboys, who have been working

Lawmakers Agree Federal Decision Invalidating Proration Will Have Material Effect on Trend at Austin

AUSTIN, July 25. (AP)—Most of the state's lawmakers were agreed today the federal court decision invalidating the present method of oil proration would have material effect on the trend of legislation during the present special session but they were undecided what that trend would be.

Many of them withheld interpretations of the court's opinion pending additional study. They asked for copies of the decision.

The opinion was rendered by a three-judge court presided over by Joseph C. Hutcheson Jr. of New Orleans, who wrote it. It held that the East Texas proration order of April was void because it was an effort to prevent economic waste under the guise of prohibiting physical waste. The test was brought by the MacMillian corporation.

Some of the legislators thought today they might as well "fold up their tents and go home." They took the position that no protection law would stand the test unless the special federal court should be reversed. Others believed the necessary step would be to enact a law giving a commission power to prevent production above market demand. Senator Walter Woodward of Coleman, one of the authors of the administration bill, interpreted the decision as making it necessary for the legislature to pass a bill giving a regulatory commission additional powers.

The railroad commission had not decided whether it would appeal. That probably will depend on whether a new law is enacted during the present session. The appeal would go to the United States supreme court.

Robert E. Hardwicke, attorney for the central proration committee, expressed the belief that the new proration order for East Texas was valid. He said that market demand and price were not considered in arriving at that order.

TIME ADVANCED FOR LAYING OF CORNER STONE

The time for the laying of the cornerstone of the new educational building of the First Methodist church at Eleventh and Travis has been advanced to 10:25 o'clock Sunday morning, somewhat earlier than had been originally planned, according to the announcement Saturday of Dr. S. S. McKenney, pastor of the church.

The ceremonies will be charge of Bishop H. A. Boaz of Dallas, assisted by Dr. Charles A. Spragins, presiding elder, and Dr. McKenney. Special music will be in charge of Joel H. McGregor, choir director and financial secretary of the First Methodist church of Dallas, and formerly financial secretary of the church here.

As part of the program, the contents of the cornerstone of the old First Methodist church at Tenth and Lamar will be rededicated and returned to the stone, which will be placed at the northeast corner of the building. The old church was razed recently after the site had been purchased for the new federal building to be erected here. The cornerstone originally was laid in 1910.

The cornerstone of the new building will be at the corner of Eleventh and Travis.

GOVERNOR MURRAY COMMANDS TROOPS

Wins Major Objective

The bridge war turned to a clash of authority between the governor and Judge Neblett on the Oklahoma side of the Red river after "Alfalfa Bill," better known in this region as "Cocklebur Bill," won his major objective when Texas rangers threw open to travel the Denison-Durant interstate free bridge, near the toll structure.

As the Texas barrier came down, following the lifting of a federal court injunction at Houston, Texas, happy motorists streamed across the span in each direction without cost—and Murray had the satisfaction of having accomplished what he started out to do for the traveling public.

Pleads Sovereign Rights

But it rankled him to learn that Judge Neblett had interfered with what Murray considers to be the sovereign rights of Oklahoma.

He was not long in packing his clothes, assembling a staff and proceeding forthwith to the front to keep the toll bridge closed under martial law which he contends takes precedence over court orders and anything else except the executive order of the president of the United States.

The horse pistol was stuck into his luggage on the inspiration of Jake, his negro valet, who urged him to go prepared.

"I never carry a gun," Murray told Jake, "but I'll take this one."

MacDonald State Senator

MacDonald is a state senator from Durant, as well as an officer in the national guard.

Shouts of "hurrah for Bill Murray" were heard from motorists as the governor and Adjutant General Charles F. Barrett drove across the bridge to the Texas side and back again.

The governor was given an army cot in one corner of a large room in an abandoned brick building where guardsmen are quartered when he announced he wanted to stay during the night with "the boys."

After mess of liver, onions and bread, Murray drove to the approach of the free bridge for a conference with a group of Texas citizens headed by Dr. M. M. Morrison of Denison.

Doctor Morrison, Murray said, had a plan which he wished to propose and which he believed would keep the bridge open. Morrison was one of Governor Sterling's campaign managers in North Texas during the last campaign.

Will Defy Court Order

DURANT, Okla., July 25. (AP)—While Governor "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, commander of the state's soldiery, supped on liver and onions with a group of buck privates in the Red river "war zone" tonight, one of his aides, Lieut. Col. John A. MacDonald, gave notice he would defy a federal court order issued at Muskogee today.

MacDonald, confronted by Joe W. Bailey, attorney for the Red River Bridge company, seeking to open the now blocked highway to the toll bridge that has been the heart of the battle front, told the attorney he would accept service of a federal court order handed down by Judge Colin Neblett of New Mexico, sitting at Muskogee, but would "pay no attention to it."

"You mean to say you intend to defy a federal court order?" asked Bailey.

"Yes. I am taking orders from only one man, and he is the governor of Oklahoma," replied MacDonald.

Bailey then returned to the Texas side of the river, accompanied by two deputy United States marshals who brought the order.

Public Uses Quanah Bridge

QUANAH, Texas, July 25.—While other Texas and Oklahoma counties are having their troubles over the toll and free bridges across Red river, tourists through Quanah north over highway No. 51 are not having to detour, and are enjoying the privilege of using the free bridge which has recently been completed. This bridge connects Hardeman county, Texas, and Jackson county, Oklahoma.

The old toll bridge, formerly operated by Austin Bridge company, is being wrecked by the firm of Upton & Gardner of Oklahoma, who purchased it from Austin Bros. The heavy piling and lumber has been sold to county commissioners of several counties in Texas and Oklahoma to be used in bridge building in their precincts.

Paving on highway No. 51 north to Red river will probably be completed within the next two weeks. Quite a distance has already been opened to traffic.

It is expected work on paving the south end of highway No. 51 from Quanah to Pease river will start by Aug. 10. Grading and drainage structures on this road have been completed several months and contract for the concrete topping was awarded to J. P. Foty company at the May session of the highway commission.

Federal Judge Smiles

AMARILLO, Texas, July 25. (AP)—While Governor Murray of Oklahoma was en route last night to the "battle of the bridges" front at Durant, the federal judge who issued a restraining order against the Durant-Denison toll bridge barricade was passing through Amarillo.

The judge is Colin Neblett of Santa Fe, N. M. As an out of the state federal jurist he was called to Muskogee to hear the injunction proceedings brought against the Oklahoma authorities by the Red River Toll Bridge company.

Judge Neblett smiled when he read for the first time of Murray's departure for Durant to take personal charge of his militia.

"I don't think he will openly defy the federal order," said the judge, "but if he does I will cite him immediately for contempt of court."

Judge Neblett seemed much amused over the entire bridge war. He chuckled as he told of hearing a report to the effect that Governor Murray had threatened to impeach him for granting the injunction.

"The idea of a governor threatening to impeach a federal judge is most amusing," he said.

Judge Neblett will return to Muskogee Aug. 4 to hear a petition on a permanent restraining order in the controversy.

"History" Says Sterling

HOUSTON, Texas, July 25. (AP)—Gov. R. S. Sterling tonight issued the following statement concerning the controversy over the opening of the free bridge across the Red river at Denison.

"So far as I am concerned it is history now," the governor said. "I am very proud to note that the bridge was opened according to law and not by high handed methods of state authorities.

"I wish to commend the state legislature and particularly State Senator Jake Loy and Representatives Van Zandt, Adamson and Barron of Grayson county for passing without delay the bill suggested in my message Thursday morning, giving the Red River Bridge company the right to sue the state on the validity of the contract between the highway commission of Texas and the Red River Bridge company. This act resulted in the dissolution of the injunction by Judge Kennerly.

"Personally I have the very kindest feeling toward the chief executive of Oklahoma and hope that the matter has ended to the satisfaction of all. The people are now using the bridge and everybody should be happy."

Will Survey Route

GAINESVILLE, Texas, July 25. (AP)—W. D. Dockery, division engineer for the Texas Highway commission, planned to come here Monday and survey the route from Gainesville to a connection with the 1.6 miles stretch of state contracted road leading to the free bridge across the Red river.

The road is under construction but a survey of it by a state engineer was desired. Plans were made to ask for state aid in order to put a gravel topping on the road.

Ned Campbell, Nationally Known as Swimmer and Athlete, Coming Here To Conduct Red Cross Examinations

NED CAMPBELL

Ned Campbell, nationally known swimmer and athlete, will spend Monday and Tuesday in Wichita Falls, it was announced Saturday. Mr. Campbell is sent here by the first aid and life-saving service of the Red Cross midwestern headquarters at St. Louis.

The principal purpose of his visit is to examine local applicants for Red Cross life-saving certificates This examination will be conducted Tuesday at Westmoreland pool, where the applicants have been taking lessons for the past six weeks.

Campbell will participate in the water carnival at Westmoreland pool Monday evening at 8 o'clock. In addition to the high diving and swimming stunts, there will be a complete demonstration by Campbell of the approved life-saving methods. This program will be open to the public.

A native of Texas, Campbell was formerly director of first aid in life-saving work for the Tarrant county chapter of the American Red Cross. Since 1926 he has been with the St. Louis headquarters. He is a graduate of Cumberland university of Lebanon, Tenn., where he took his law degree, taking postgraduate work at the University of Colorado. His pre-law studies were at Texas Christian university, Fort Worth. During his last two seasons at the University of Colorado, Campbell was high point man in the Rocky mountain conference. He recently was elected to membership in "Porpoise," national collegiate swimming fraternity. In 1928 and 1929 he was director of the National Red Cross life-saving and first aid institute at Rockaway Beach, Lake Taneycomo, Mo. This year he served in like capacity at Bella Vista institute at Bella Vista, Ark.

POLICE CHIEF WARNS DRIVERS

Police Chief Frank Burns issued a warning Saturday night to the effect that motorists who did not come to a full stop before making a right-hand turn on a red light would be charged with violating the city traffic regulations. He explained that this part of the statute must be enforced to protect pedestrians crossing on a green light.

Chief Burns also warned merchants to quit leaving transoms, ventilators and skylights open at night as this offers an easy means of entrance for prowlers.

break the news." The letter told of wearing a ring. Mrs. E. C. Smith aunt of the youth, told officials that he had told her in secret yesterday that he and Miss Glover were married June 25.

Married Another Girl

Officials disclosed records showing Stratton had married another Houston society girl in Fort Bend county in March. Members of the family of the second girl denied knowledge of such a ceremony. A check of surrounding counties failed to reveal annulment of the Fort Bend county proceedings.

The two students were discovered by residents who were awakened by screams of the couple. Miss Glover died en route to the hospital while Stratton died two hours later. Neither made any statement. No note was found in the car or among the effects of either.

Miss Glover was one of the most popular of the first year students at the institute, having been selected for the year book beauty section. Stratton was a junior.

The couple was seen last by friends on a roof garden. They danced together a number of times but spent most of the evening in conversation.

SEVENTEEN DIE IN SOUTHWEST AREA

penetrated deeper into the Middle West today.

The temperature was rising in Chicago tonight. While 88 was the highest recorded here during the day indications were that it would be much warmer tomorrow.

There was no rain here. A few isolated showers occurred over the country, but generally precipitation was deficient.

Hot winds were reported sweeping Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota and western Iowa. It is a critical period for the corn crop in these states. There is danger that the tassel will be seared by the intense heat, stopping fertilization and resulting in immaturity, according to agriculturists.

Drouth conditions prevail in some sections of the West. Not only is surface moisture lacking, but the subsoil is so dry that springs and small streams have ceased to flow.

For the last four days temperatures have been reached from 100 to 106 degrees over parts of Montana, North and South Dakota, Colorado and Nebraska and far to the north, in Canada.

Heat and drouth is making heavy inroads on wheat in portions of the Canadian northwest, according to reports received here.

More Than Inch Rain

LINDBERGHS NOT TO BEGIN FLIGHT BEFORE TUESDAY

NEW YORK, July 25. (AP)—There were definite indications today that the start of the Lindberghs vacation flight to the Orient, scheduled for some time next week, would not be made before Tuesday at the earliest.

The only remaining preparatory step is the long distance testing of the plane's radio by the flying colonel and, more particularly, by his wife, who is to act as radio operator on the long jaunt into the northern wilds.

Colonel Lindbergh has an intense dislike for announcing definite dates for departure and then not fulfilling his promises. Realizing all the factors which might make a change of date advisable, and wishing to be perfectly free to alter his schedule as he likes without seeming to have failed in his announced intentions, he prefers to keep his exact plans to himself until the moment to act arrives.

This plan of campaign he will follow throughout the long flight. He may or may not have drawn up a schedule timing arrivals and departures at the 11 stopping places along his route, but he hasn't announced any, and he won't.

TEXAS GIRL HANGS UP PAIR WORLD RECORDS NATIONAL TRACK MEET

JERSEY CITY, July 25. (AP)—Mildred "Babe" Didrikson, golden streak from the Southwest, captured the running broad jump, the 80 meters hurdles and the baseball throw, setting world's records in the last two events, in the 10th annual running of the national women's track and field championships Saturday.

Seven new champions were crowned. Three of the titles went to Miss Didrikson and two were carried off by Lillian Copeland of the Los Angeles Athletic club. The four who retained their laurels were Stella Walsh, Cleveland, in the 220-yard dash; Jean Shiley, the Meadowbrook club, Philadelphia, in the running high jump; Evelyn Ferrara of the Illinois Women's Athletic club, in the discus throw, and Miss Didrikson in the baseball throw.

The Illinois Women's A. C. compiled 26 points to capture the team trophy again. The Employers' Casualty company of Dallas, captained by the redoutable "Babe" finished second with 19 points.

Competing under the golden colors of the Employers' Casualty company of Dallas, the versatile "Babe" heaved a regulation baseball 296 feet, 28 feet better than her previous mark, and leaped over the eight hurdles in 12 seconds flat, equalling the world's mark she established in her trial heat.

Her winning leap in the broad jump, 17 feet, 11½ inches, fell short of the record, but was close to a foot longer than her closest rival.

Al G. Barnes Dies in California After an Illness of Seven Months Was Colorful Figure in Show Life

INDIO, Calif., July 25. (UP)—Al G. Barnes, 68-year-old circus magnate, died on the Robeson ranch near here today after an illness of seven months.

Barnes, who started in the show business in 1895 with a phonograph, a pony and a picture machine in Glenwood Springs, Colo., became one of the most colorful circus men in the world.

Barnes sold his show two years ago and retired to Southern California to live after 35 years under the big top. He personally took part in the performances of his circus, leading the nightly procession into the arena mounted on the "largest elephant in the world."

The last few years of Barnes' life were marked by marital troubles.

Divorced From Two Wives

He was divorced from two wives, one in 1921 and 1923.

Death was not unexpected, as Barnes had been weak for several months after his attack of pneumonia. He was stricken while visiting at his ranch outside of Indio and died in the ranch house.

Several days ago Barnes staged one of the numerous rallies which marked his fight for life. Last night, however, he took a sudden unexpected turn for the worse.

Dr. B. G. Morris, one of the several physicians who had been attending Barnes, was called. He was at the bedside when the circus man succumbed.

Major Lung Operation

About a month ago when Barnes' illness was acute a major lung operation was performed by Dr. Russell M. Grey. Although death was expected momentarily, the operation was successful and Barnes rallied to the point of convalescence.

Barnes started in the show business with his wife, Dollie Barlow. Together they toured the country with their small outfit, which gradually grew until it contained more than 1,000 performers and hundreds of animals when Barnes finally sold out.

Dollie Barlow continued with the show until it reached the "big top." She was divorced by Barnes in 1921 and she kept their names in court for about six years with her efforts to set aside the decree. She finally was defeated by a decision in 1929.

Meanwhile Barnes had married again, but the second marriage ended in divorce in 1923.

COTTON ENTERS CRITICAL STAGE CONDITION FAIR

Weather Reports Will Have More Effect on Market Quotations

TEXAS CROP SPOTTED WITH UPPER HALF GOOD

Trade Buying Continues to Act as Prop to Current Market

WASHINGTON, July 25. (AP)—The new cotton crop is entering the critical stage of growth undoubtedly in good condition which means weather reports likely will have more effect on the market than anything else after the government forecast Aug. 8 of probable 1931 yield.

Sentiment seems to be that private estimates, which will precede the official forecast, indicate a bearish tinge with current ideas on the crop ranging from 12 million to 14 million bales.

The Texas crop is very spotted but mostly good in the upper half. There have been reports of heavy damage by rotting, excessive rain and insect infectation in South Texas but observers say a dry August could change the outlook materially. Crop progress is fair to good in Oklahoma, generally good in New Mexico, considerably boosted in Louisiana, about equal to last season in Alabama but unsatisfactory in Mississippi because of rain and weevil.

Ring Sentiment Confused

Trade buying continues to act as a prop to the market but ring sentiment is very much confused. There is a stronger disinclination to sell because the crop is right at the point where it can go one way or the other.

The immediate question facing the cotton trade is whether the domestic consumption of cotton will be of sufficient volume to absorb the weight of the coming crop, which on the surface appears at least to be average.

Exports are ahead of last year, about 60,000 bales. Port stocks are more than one million bales heavier than last season and the world's visible supply of American cotton almost two million bales larger.

July contracts went off the board at noon on July 24 and October became the spot month. During the life of the contract July sold off from a high price of 13.82 on Aug. 7, 1930, to 8.16 on June 3, 1931.

Spot transactions on the 10 markets this week amounted to only 7,534 bales compared with 24,266 last week.

ONE OF SIAMESE TWINS BORN ON JULY 7 DIES AT BALTIMORE HOSPITAL

BALTIMORE, July 25. (AP)—One of the "Siamese twins" born to Mrs. Albert Forster on July 7, died today.

The twin girls were reported to have been gaining strength following their separation by a delicate operation. The one who died always had been the weaker.

Dr. Kyle W. Golley, attending physician and Dr. Albert Passagno, the surgeon who performed the separation operation, were planning a second operation to restore the children to normalcy. Golley said the surviving child would have the second operation as soon as it had gained necessary strength.

When born the twins were joined by a common intestinal tract, which was severed in the separation. The second operation was planned to restore the colon of each to its normal position.

Mrs. Forster, mother of the twins, left the hospital several days ago and was reported in splendid condition. The conjoined twins were her first children. Each weighed four and a half pounds at birth.

KANSAS CITY, July 25. (INS)—Joseph Grego, 22, of Chicago, today was en route to Jefferson City, Mo., to begin a 50-year prison term on a plea of guilty to a charge of assault with intent to rob.

Grego Monday shot and seriously wounded Rudolph Petereck, of Topeka, Kan., who had given Grego and a girl companion, Martha Davis, 17, a ride in his car. Grego told officers he had not intended to shoot Petereck but had planned to rob him because the youth was in urgent need of money.

SECRETARY STIMSON TO BERLIN FOR 'UNOFFICIAL' WITH NATION'S LEADERS

BERLIN, July 25. (AP)—Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson arrived from London this evening on what he has described as a "purely unofficial visit."

Ambassador Frederic W. Sackett with members of the embassy staff was waiting for him at the railway station.

Ambassador Von Prittwitz und Gaffron, home from Washington on vacation, also was there.

There was a crowd about the station and in the streets nearby, but there was no demonstration.

Mr. Stimson and Mr. Sackett drove to the embassy.

Tonight the ambassador is giving a dinner in his honor with Chancellor Bruening and other members of the cabinet as guests.

Afternoon newspapers welcomed the secretary warmly with editorial comment on America's interest in Germany. Germania, organ of Chancellor Bruening's party, expressed the hope Mr. Stimson's visit means the United States will not relax its "great hearted initiative."

Mr. Stimson on Monday will meet President Von Hindenburg and leave for London immediately thereafter.

Two Arrested in Daring Cigaret Theft Saturday

Two men wanted for the theft of a case of cigarets worth $63 from a wholesale grocery house here shortly before noon Saturday were arrested by City Detectives Luke Hart and O. A. Roberson about 30 minutes after the crime was reported.

Charges of theft over $50 were filed against the driver of a truck in which the cigarets were said to have been carried away. The other man was being held in jail for investigation.

According to the story told by employes of the wholesale house a man, who had been loafing about the place, suddenly picked up a carton of cigarets and leaped on a passing truck, which sped away.

One of the clerks pursued the truck in another vehicle and truck and cigarets were abandoned by the thieves.

"The company is in excellent shape for the encampment," Captain Locke said, "and we expect to make a good showing this year, as well as having a splendid time while on the camp." The company was winner in combat firing at the camp last summer.

ENGINEER KILLED AND FIREMAN BADLY BURNED PENNSYLVANIA WRECK

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 25. (AP)—The engineer of a Pennsylvania train of express cars was killed and the fireman was seriously burned in a wreck at Conewago, 11 miles east of here, today.

The engineer was P. M. McCormick of New York and the fireman, Everett W. Walker, New Cumberland, Pa.

The wreck was believed to have been caused by an open switch at the point where a spur runs to the Mt. Gretna national guard reservation.

CHEMICALS FAIL TO SMOTHER FIRE IN KILGORE WELL

KILGORE, Texas, July 25. (AP)—Chemicals failed to smother the flaming Vitek No. 2 oil well fire at Overton today.

Streams of chemicals were shot into the flames and for a fraction of a second the fire was checked, then it roared skyward with renewed fury.

The failure was attributed to the intense heat melting part of the chemical generator and causing loss of pressure.

J. L. Martin, Jack Morehouse and Jack Elliot, deputy railroad commission supervisors, witnessed the experiment.

Martin stated that the chemical method was worth trying, inasmuch as the shooting method had proven disastrous to some wells by creating a fire hazard and shattering casings. He said the shooting method should be abandoned, except as a last resort.

B. F. DeLong, in charge of the fire-fighting work, and his assistant, Jake Dye, were praised for their success in clearing the area around the well in record time.

John M. Stevens, of Tyler, one of the receivers of the Vitek properties, said if the chemical method could quell the fire, a saving of about $150,000 would be effected.

A meeting was to be held this afternoon to consider the next steps. It was thought likely a tunnel would be dug to the well shaft below the surface to kill the fire with mud, as had been done at the recent Kilgore well fire.

EDISON BETTER AFTER HENRY FORD'S VISIT

WEST ORANGE, N. J., July 25. (UP)—Thomas A. Edison, dean of inventors, was better today following a visit of Henry Ford to the Edison home at Llewellyn Park yesterday. The men chatted for about an hour.

The inventor has not visited his laboratory for some time and there was said to be fear that he would be forced to give up his experiments. Since his return from the South he has been in a weakened condition.

Wife of Premier Postal Collector Weary of Honor

CHICAGO, July 25. (UP)—Mrs. Samuel Estes looked over her husband's collection of picture postcards, believed the largest in the world, and declared today that being the wife of an eminent postcard collector was an "empty honor."

The stacks of beautifully tinseled and embossed cards held no thrills for her, she said. Pictures of snow scenes of the 90's in Punox and Tawney, Pa., of Gibson girls in puffed sleeves; of public buildings in various parts of the country, and of native girls in far off places had brought her only woes.

A year ago, Estes told his wife his collection lacked only pictures from Elkhart, Ind., and Soviet Russia. So he set off on an expedition to Elkhart, Mrs. Estes said.

She believes the object of the Elkhart trip now has been attained because last week Estes dropped her a postcard asking that she forward his passport.

"Having a fine time," the card said. "Hope you are there. I'm off to Russia to round out a memorable monument of postcards."

Remembering that the trip to nearby Indiana took a year, Mrs. Estes was fearful that the Russian expedition might never end at all. She filed suit for divorce.

MEMPHIS.—Nellie Lucas was blue. So her boy friend borrowed $5 and now she's Mrs. Bright. The couple had been unable to save enough to get married. They appealed to Judge Camille Kelley when John Avanzi, grocer, heard their plea. He offered to loan Ernest Bright, the boy friend, the money to get the license. He also acted as best man at the wedding.

THOUSANDS GREET GRAF ZEPPELIN AT LENINGRAD FIELD

Steady North Wind Delays Giant Dirigible's Passage From Berlin

ONLY TWO AMERICANS TO MAKE ARCTIC TRIP

Ship to Cover 6,000 Miles In Meteorological and Geographic Study

LENINGRAD, U. S. S. R., July 25 (US)—To the strains of a military band and the rousing cheers of some 100,000 Russians who had waited hours in the blazing sun for the moment, the Graf Zeppelin landed at Commandansky airdrome tonight at the end of the second leg of its exploration flight into the arctic.

Five hundred of Red Russia's stalwart soldiers pulled the veteran air voyager out of the sky and moored it to earth at 8:26 p. m., (2:26 p. m. eastern daylight time).

A steady north wind had delayed the Graf's arrival from Berlin, where it started on its scientific voyage into the northern icelands early this morning. But the passing hours did not diminish the enthusiasm of the usually stolid Russian multitude.

Eagerly clutching their prized purple passes, the proletariat thronged full half of the huge airport on the banks of the gray Neva. White coated "first aids," chirpy Red Cross lassies smart in their khaki uniforms, and Russian army heroes ablaze with decorations gave the gathering Russia's approximation of a fashionable race course crowd.

Two Americans

The Graf first hovered in sight at 7 p. m., nudging its leisurely way over the city. It dropped a mail bag by parachute to the field and then gradually slanting down into the setting sun, circled the field twice before landing. Dr. Eckener said the landing had been delayed until dusk in order to give the lifting gas a chance to contract from its midday expansion.

The Graf started for Leningrad at 4:40 a. m., Berlin time, from the Staaken airfield outside the German capital, where it had been moored over night after arrival there from Friedrichshafen. Forty-six persons were aboard, 30 of them members of the crew. Lincoln Ellsworth, explorer, and Commander Edward H. Smith, of the United ice patrol, are the only Americans making the arctic flight.

When the Graf leaves Leningrad it will be fueled and gassed for an eight-day cruise of the icy wastelands above Archangel. It is expected to cover in all 6,000 miles at the leisurely speed necessary for its mission—meteorological and geographic observation.

Nautilus Takes Tests

PLYMOUTH, England, July 25. (US)—The polar submarine Natilus, which will leave within 24 hours for Spitzbergen as first stop on its projected cruise under the north pole, was being subjected to rigid diving tests today by Sir Hubert Wilkins, commander of the Wilkins-Ellsworth expedition.

The Nautilus had originally been scheduled to meet the Graf Zeppelin at the north pole, but need for repairs here after the voyage to England across the Atlantic necessitated the cancelling of the rendezvous. The Nautilus alone will proceed to the pole while the Zeppelin is now engaged in an arctic exploration voyage.

Audition Finals To Be Held Here Monday Evening

Finals in the local contest for the National Radio audition will be held in Wichita Falls Monday evening, July 27, at radio station KGKO beginning at 8:30 o'clock, according to an announcement by Mrs. Lois T. Parker, local chairman.

The contest Monday night will be the third sponsored here. Applications have been filed by 14 entrants, five of whom are women and nine men. Five out of town entrants are included in the number.

Judging will be done by seven competent and qualified musicians, according to Mrs. Parker. The singers will be presented by number and not by name, it was announced. No music in the form of jazz or blues is acceptable during the contest, and contestants must be prepared to sing one of their choice of three songs, to be selected by a musician not in contact with the applicant. It is necessary that each applicant be at the radio station with an accompanist at 8 o'clock Monday evening, Mrs. Parker said.

Winners in the local contest will go to the state contest in Dallas, to be held over station WFAA some time in November. The contest is the fifth of 20 auditions to be sponsored by the Atwater Kent Foundation.

TEXAS FLIERS DELAYED WHEN OIL CONSUMPTION BY MOTOR TOO HEAVY

SEATTLE, July 24. (INS)—Plans of Reginald L. Robbins and H. S. Jones, Texas fliers, for a non-stop refueling flight from here to Tokyo, went awry again today when they found that oil consumption in their new motor was too heavy.

An hour's test flight with the more powerful motor which was substituted after the first hop failed in refueling over Nome convinced the men that the Fort Worth would have to have another engine. They hope to get one and install it immediately, in the meantime studying the weather reports along their 4,700-mile air route over the Pacific.

RALPH CAPONE TO KEEP HIS FIGHT TO ESCAPE THREE YEAR SENTENCE

CHICAGO, July 25. (AP)—Ralph Capone apparently intends to keep up his fight to escape a three-year penitentiary sentence for income tax violations.

Although the United States circuit court of appeals yesterday upheld the federal district court conviction of the elder brother of the notorious Alphonse Capone, his attorney, George N. Murdock, said he would apply for a rehearing and that if he failed to get it he would move for a stay of execution pending an appeal to the United States supreme court.

Introduction of testimony in the $50,000 damage suit of Edward Anderson against the Texas Electric Service company neared an end before Judge W. W. Cook in the 78th district court Saturday afternoon. The case will probably reach the jury Monday.

Sleeves are more important now than they have ever been in our memory of fashions. They need not necessarily be elaborate; in fact we see less and less of the striking, romantic type of sleeves that came in when we switched to very feminine fashions. But sleeves must have style. Even in hot weather models that are smartly sleeveless, the place where sleeves ought to be is so emphasized that is usually becomes one of the chief style features of the frock. One of the explanations of this is that the pet model of the world's greatest designers is still the lithe straight woman with wide shoulders and narrow hips. Paris cables may talk about waistlines and curves, but the waistline remains a suggestion, and the curves remain slender. There are some women naturally gifted with slender wide-shouldered figures, and others who undergo a strict regime of diet and exercise to acquire them. But the vast majority are not so naturally endowed and are not willing to work very hard to seem so. They leave it to the fashion creators to make their figures appear ideal, and that is why we have frocks such as those shown here, with very skullful cut to suggest faint curves, wide hemlines to lend grace and slenderness, and shoulder lines, with sleeves or without, designed to lend an illusion of width.

The bodice of this charming summer frock is shaped to form little cap sleeves over the shoulders. pointed seamings form an attractive decoration on the bodice, and perfect the lines of the skirt, slender to the hipline and then gracefully flaring. Printed crepe, chiffon or georgette, or any of the cool crisp summer cottons would be lovely in this model. Pattern 1134 is obtainable only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 16 requires 4⅛ yards of 39-inch material.

Pattern 1094

Even little girls' frocks make a feature of the shoulder line. In this, the cape collar has a very young interpretation, slashed front and back, and becomingly rounded. Its soft flare matches the flaring lines of the skirt. There are matching bloomers with this frock, and long sleeves are included in the pattern. Dotted swiss, batiste, printed cotton or crepe are suggested as materials. Pattern 1094 is obtainable only in size 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 4, sleeveless, requires 2⅜ yards of 36-inch material.

Pattern 1109

Little cap sleeves, shaped to flare in lines that suggest the softly flaring lines of the skirt are a very becoming detail of a smartly useful frock. Color contrast is introduced in vestee, rounded at the back of the neck and shaped into a deep point in the front, following the lines of pointed seamings on the skirt. Pattern 1109 is obtainable only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 16 requires 3⅝ yards of 30-inch material, and ⅛ yard of contrasting 18-inch.

These models are very easy to make as each pattern comes to you with simple and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern ordered.

Bar and Brass Rail Found in Raid Near Here

One man and a negro woman were arrested Friday night in a liquor raid on a farm house near the Seymour road by prohibition agents and deputy sheriffs. A small amount of liquor was seized.

The officer said they found a saloon bar and brass rail in one room of the residence, with regulation equipment for mixing various drinks.

The man, proprietor of the establishment, and the negro woman, reported to be a maid at the roadhouse, were given a preliminary hearing before Melville E. Peters, United States commissioners, Saturday afternoon.

STATE'S OUSTER SUIT AGAINST SAN ANTONIO POWER FIRM POSTPONED

AUSTIN, July 25. (AP)—Trial of the attorney general's ouster suit against the San Antonio Public Service company, which supplies electricity and gas to San Antonio, was postponed today until Oct. 5.

The continuance was granted by Charles A. Wheeler, district judge, on motion of the San Antonio company, which said it wanted to take a large number of depositions.

The court dismissed cases against the American Traction and Light company and the United Power and Light company of Chicago, which, the attorney general claimed, owned control of the San Antonio company.

James V. Allred, attorney general, was seeking to forfeit the San Antonio concern's charter because it engaged in merchandising. He said the charter did not authorize such activity.

GROVES NAMED TO REPRESENT AMERICAN LINE

Details Almost Complete For Air Mail Start Aug. 1

PLAN BRIEF PROGRAM AT MUNICIPAL FIELD

Celebration at Port to Mark Observance of Occasion

Only details remained to be arranged Saturday for the formal inauguration of air mail service between Fort Worth and Amarillo via Wichita Falls Aug. 1, according to officials of the chamber of commerce.

Formal announcement also was made during the day of the appointment of J. Glen Groves, Wichita Falls aviation enthusiast, to be traffic representative here of American Airways, to which the air mail contract on the line has been awarded. The announcement of Mr. Groves' appointment followed a conference with representatives of the chamber of commerce with C. R. Smith, vice president and general manager of American Airways, and Silliman Evans, publicity director of the line, here during the week.

Mr. Groves also is representative here for the Texas-Oklahoma line which operates between Wichita Falls and Ponca City, Okla., via Lawton and Oklahoma City.

Several meetings of various committees to arrange for a fitting observance of the inauguration of air mail service here probably will be held during the week, it was said at the chamber of commerce. Among the committees are the aviation group proper, of which Judge W. N. Bonner is chairman; the committee of the senior chamber which is to arrange details for the celebration with J. L. Jackson Jr., as chairman; and the Junior chamber of commerce committee directing the campaign to urge support for the new service.

Envelopes Printed

Envelopes which will advertise the fact that air mail service has been started here can be obtained in numbers as many as five without cost at any of the banks or at the chamber of commerce by those who desire to forward letters on the first air mail plane to leave here. Those wishing more than five of the souvenir envelopes may obtain them at cost. They were designed and printed for the junior chamber.

Nothing elaborate in the way of a celebration is planned at the airport. There will be a few brief talks after the hoisting of the official air mail flag adopted recently by the postoffice department. An invitation to the public to be present has been extended.

The program will begin promptly at 11 a. m. at the airport, when a band concert will be played. The first air mail ship, bound from Fort Worth to Amarillo, is scheduled to arrive at 11:27 a. m. and to depart 10 minutes later. Closely following it will be another ship, aboard which will be air line officials, and representatives of the postoffice departments, the chambers of commerce and the press of Fort Worth and Dallas.

Glover Invited

An especial invitation has been extended to Irving Glover, assistant postmaster general in charge of air mail, and to postmasters and chamber of commerce officials in cities and towns adjacent to Wichita Falls to be present.

Following the departure of the mail plane for Amarillo, the visitors will be guests of the chamber of commerce at a luncheon, scheduled to begin at 1 o'clock, at the Wichita club. A number of short talks will be made there.

Mr. Groves, who has been a resident of Wichita Falls since February, 1919, was formerly connected with American Airways when Safeway lines were operating here, having been local representative for 15 months preceding the cessation of service here in March of last year. His interest and activities along aviation lines were credited with being instrumental, together with those of the members of the aviation committee of the chamber of commerce, in causing Wichita Falls to be named an air mail stop and the bringing back of American Airways.

Mr. Groves came here in 1919 from Mart, Texas, where he had been connected with the L. & G. N. railroad. In 1929 he became identified with the Safeway line of American Airways until March, 1930. Then he went with Braniff until April, 1931, and since that time has been representative of the Oklahoma-Texas Air lines operating between here and Ponca City, Okla.

Mr. Groves will continue his office in the lobby of the Holt hotel and will be at the Municipal airport only at arrival and departure time of the ships.

AIR MAIL FLAG TO BE FLOWN HERE

The official air mail flag adopted recently by the postoffice department which will be flown at Wichita Falls Municipal airport beginning Aug. 1 when the American Airways planes commence transporting mail and passengers, is pictured above.

The background of the flag is white with red, white and blue stripes arranged similar to those on the face of an air mail envelope. Gold wings with a center globe on which the words "U. S. Air Mail" are inscribed, are sewn on the face of the flag. The wings are a replica of the insignia which the department adopted last year as the official badge of air mail pilots.

GERMANY PREPARES FOR PAY DAY WITH SCANT READY CASH

BERLIN, July 25. (AP)—While official Germany prepared today to play host to statesmen of the United States and Great Britain, ordinary citizens worried about pay day.

At the end of the month, when pay day is supposed to come, the Reichsbank will have to meet payments of 2,000,000,000 marks (about $468,000,000). Civil servants have been informed by radio that they'll get only half their due on July 31, with the rest to follow in 10 days.

The enormous demand on the Reichsbank gave rise to universal debate about whether the cash would be available to pay off the nation. Citizens who have been skimping along with little money hope for the best.

Payments of weekly wages are to be staggered so that demands for cash will not hit the banks all together.

A week crowded with important conferences faced Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius on their return from the seven-power conference.

First they had to make a report to President Paul von Hindenburg and then get together with the cabinet about measures to keep Germany going during her period of economic stress.

In addition, the heads of the government looked forward to conferences with Secretary of State Stimson of the United States and Prime Minister MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Henderson of Great Britain.

WICHITA COUNTY WOMEN EXHIBIT CANNED FOOD HERE

Products grown in Wichita county and canned by Wichita county women are on exhibit at the main entrance to the City National bank now to prove how cheaply a family of five can live on a small farm with two cows, 60 laying hens, livestock for meat, and a one-half acre orchard, as well as vegetable gardens and other crops.

The bank is now fostering this exhibit, according to Oral Jones, vice president and cashier, to demonstrate to the public how, especially in hard times, families can thrive independently by living on the farm, growing the necessary food, and, as one slogan says, "Eat what you can, and can what you can't."

The members of the women's home demonstration clubs canned all the food shown; they are under the supervision of Miss Ethel Luise Webb, county home demonstration agent.

The women's work, which has been approved by the county 4-H club, is classified in the exhibit as to different kinds of foods. The following plan is recognized as a basis on which each family can live for six months: 100 containers of starchy vegetables, 50 containers of meats, 100 of tomatoes, 250 of fruits, 50 of jellies, 50 of reliah and pickles, and other canned foods.

The pantry encasing the containers of food was built by Andrew Hastings, the lumber being given by the Long-Bell Lumber company.

MUCH GRAIN PILED ON GROUND OVER PLAINS

QUANAH, Texas, July 25.—Ben Richardson, Quanah auctioneer, has just returned from an extended trip over the plains and West Texas. He reports in many towns wheat is being piled upon the ground, no elevator room being available. At Dimmitt he saw one pile containing more than 60,000 bushels. He stated the claim is made than the weather does not affect wheat stored in that fashion.

ALCOHOL FROM CANTALOUPES

Mr. Ford's plan to make industrial alcohol out of cantaloupes may mean the debasement of a noble vegetable, but it has some possibilities in which this section should be interested. For this section can raise cantaloupes, but when a cantaloupe is picked, there is only one thing to do with it—eat it. If it is of inferior quality and cannot be shipped, it becomes garbage quite promptly. It cannot be pickled or preserved or canned. There is no secondary market for it. If Mr. Ford's idea proves feasible, such a market may be provided.

Under existing conditions, inferior cantaloupes are turned back to the grower who brings them to the packing shed. There are buyers who will take them off his hands, but he is unwise if he disposes of them that way. In Wise and Montague counties, such buyers load the inferior melons, or culls, on trucks, and then speed them to nearby cities where they are offered at such prices as to demoralize the market for the quality melons. Wichita Falls has had a taste of that sort of thing, just recently. Wise and Montague counties have had, also; one shipment of excellent cantaloupes reached Oklahoma City, but the truck loads of inferior ones had gotten there first and flooded the market.

If Northwest Texas could turn its cull cantaloupes into alcohol it might curb an evil that is afflicting this section's cantaloupe industry.

THE REPUBLICAN LIBERALS

Among the several boomlets that have developed in Republican ranks there are two extremely modest ones that set a precedent. For the first time, we believe, in American political history, two brothers are being urged for the presidential nomination. There is a boomlet for Philip La Follette, governor of Wisconsin, and one, more nearly visible to the naked eye, for his brother, Bob, the senator. If anything in the way of opposition to the renomination of Mr. Hoover were to be taken seriously, we might expect one of the brothers to step aside in favor of the other. Not that it would make any difference.

There are, however, enough men of liberal views in the Republican party to make trouble for the administration if they could get together. But there's the rub. To imagine Pinchot, Borah, the La Follettes, Norris, Brookhart and Hiram Johnson all riding on the same band wagon is to put one's imagination under much of a strain. Some of these dislike each other almost as much as they dislike Mr. Hoover.

Quite often, that is the trouble with liberals. They are too intransigent to play with each other. In 1912, Roosevelt managed to corral them into a working organization, but it was his dynamic personality rather than any community of purpose, that put it over. There is no one among the present progressives who has either the intelligence or the force to weld the varied elements into an effective political organization.

If it could be done, we would say that one or the other of the La Follette boys would make as satisfactory a stand-bearer as any one else in the liberal ranks.

RADIO OWNERSHIP

There aren't as many radio sets in this country as officials thought there were, judging from the early tabulations of the census returns on radio ownership. These returns, covering 33 states, show that there is one radio set to each three families. If that raito is maintained for the country as a whole, the total will be considerably short of the 15,000,000 sets which it has been estimated are in use in this country.

The tabulation reveals a wide disparity in percentage of radio ownership as between one state and another. In connecticut, 54.9 per cent of families own radios; in Wisconsin, 51.1 per cent. But only 5.4 per cent of Mississippi's families own sets; Alabama's percentage is 9.5, Arkansas' 9.2 and Georgia 9.9. The large negro population in these states brings the percentage down. Figures for Texas have not been tabulated; in Oklahoma, 21.6 per cent of families have receiving sets.

The department does not believe that the figures for 1930 are accurate for 1931. Vast numbers of "midget" sets have been sold, they report, since the census was taken. At any rate, the complete figures may be expected to show that the radio market is very far from the saturation point.

A MEMORABLE WEEK

We commented the other day upon the cheerful possibilities that the past week offered. A week that witnessed the start of organized marketing of valley products and that was attended by such a manifestation of interest in the valley as Friday's tour offered was, we feel, a noteworthy week.

It started right, with the ground soaked by a timely and generous rain. That, by itself, was enough to put a better taste in folks' mouths. And then the oil companies, with the Continental taking the lead, decided that crude wasn't quite as worthless a commodity as it had been rated, and gave the price a most pleasing boost. On Friday morning, the cantaloupe crop began going to the market that had been awaiting it all these years. On Friday afternoon there was a splendid turnout for the valley tour, and the interest and enthusiasm that the trip engendered will, we are sure, mean much to the irrigation project in the days to come.

A week that brings us as much that is encouraging is a memoral one. The day may come when we can look back upon the week of July 19-26 as one that marked a turning point for better things. It will mean that if we follow up the hopeful aspects of it.

THE "FIVE-WEEK PLAN"

A copy of the American Guardian, published at Oklahoma City, brings us an explanation of the "five-week plan" for economic relief.

This plan, we find, is simplicity itself. The government gives each head of a family $100 a week for five consecutive weeks. This gift, which is called a "national dividend," is paid in emergency currency, good for all purposes for which money is used. A national sales tax of five per cent would be levied, this tax payable only in the special currency used for the "dividend." It is estimated that ten billion dollars would be required; this is on an estimate of 20,000,000 families. And that's all there is to it.

Instead of free silver at sixteen to one, as Bryan proposed, we would have free currency at 500 to 0. Jacob Coxey and Coin Harvey are no longer in the picture, but their souls go marching on.

Surplus onions are being fed sheep in Colorado. Someone, it seems, is trying to pull the wool over their eyes.

Three Kinds of Politics

By GLENN FRANK
President of University of Wisconsin and Former Editor of the Century Magazine
(Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

There have grown up around the long adventure of Christianity three distinct schools of thought, viz:

(1) The "world-renouncing" school.
(2) The "world-accepting" school.
(3) The "world-redeeming" school.

The first school believes the world to be wholly bad and that attempts to salvage it are wasted efforts. Its adherents therefore renounce the world and all its works. Actually or figuratively they run away from the world in order to be good. They nurse their goodness as a private luxury. They have no faith that society can be saved. They are content to save their souls.

The second school believes the world, however bad, to be the unavoidable stage-setting of religion and its institutions. Its adherents therefore come to terms with the world, accept it as inevitable, and make the best of a bad bargain.

The third school believes that the world is bad but redeemable. Its adherents therefore set about the tasks of social reconstruction. They do not overlook the individual. Religion is with them still intensely personal, but not exclusively personal. They feel the call of religion to statesmanship as well as to sainthood.

This array of three distinct schools of thought and action is in evidence in politics as well as in religion.

The "world-renouncing" school of politics is made up of the office-seeking practical politicians. Its adherents go out of their way to come to terms with things as they are. They lead no crusades. They never prod about the bases of obsolete politics and practices. They defend the status quo upon the slightest provocation, and damn as treasonable the faintest stirrings of the critical mind.

The "world-redeeming" school of politics is made up of the social statesmen. Its adherents are not blubbering sentimentalists or impractical utopians. They are the men and women who demand that the least we can do is to use our good sense to achieve the good life for the millions.

Of these latter is the kingdom of the future!

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

A woman when she is in travail hath sorrow, because her hour is come; but as soon as she is delivered of the child, she remembereth no more the anguish, for joy that a man is born into the world.—St. John 16:21.

A mother has, perhaps, the hardest earthly lot; and yet no mother worthy of the name ever gave herself thoroughly for her child who did not feel that, after all, she reaped what she had sown.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Our Sentiments

We own no oil outside of what
Is in our car to keep it greased;
But when the price goes up, we're not
At all displeased.

The dispatches from the Red river front say that the 32 Oklahoma guardsmen are commanded by a general, a colonel, three captains and a lieutenant. If Governor Sterling has any sense of sportsmanship he will call two of the four Texas rangers home.

Prehistoric

We have been trying to find out something authentic about a prehistoric relic that was brought to the office not long ago by a friend from Henrietta. It is a stone club, apparently, that was wielded by one of our 'way-back ancestors in the days before folks got civilized enough to shoot each other.

It has been difficult to figure out just how the club was used. The anthropologists know about such things, but we had to go home early on the day that they studied anthropology at school and didn't learn much about it. At any rate, we are going to tell the story as we imagined it happening, five or six thousand years ago.

There was Ugg, to begin with. He was the head of the family, and he lived in a fairly comfortable cave with Igga, his wife. They had been married 10 or 12 years. It was Ugg's duty, as the man of the family, to go out and kill pterodactyls and dinosauruses and other animals, for meat, and to help in the fighting every time his tribe got into an argument with some other tribe over a free bridge, or something like that. Igga had her duties, also. She had to do the cooking and cleaning, and had to tan the skins of the animals that Ugg killed, and make the clothes, if any, and a lot of domestic chores like that. In those days, woman's place was the home. That was before civilization had started, of course.

The Third Party

There were the other members of the tribe, but we are not concerned with any of them except one. That was Agga, the attractive widow of a tribesman who accidentally encountered some members of a rival tribe while out hunting by himself, and who talked when it was his turn to listen. Being without a husband was a serious matter in those days, as it has been ever since, but Agga just settled down to make the best of it. She had her own cave, which, as it happened, wasn't very far from the one in which Ugg and Igga made their home.

Among Igga's other domestic duties was that of keeping Ugg's weapons in order. She had to see to it that his spears were sharp and that his stone hatchets and clubs were in good working order, so that he could bring home some meat when he went hunting and some scalps and other souvenirs when there was a war. Igga got to where she was pretty good at keeping the weapons in fighting shape.

Well, one evening, Igga got supper ready at the appointed hour, with the biscuits all ready to put into the stove, and Ugg hadn't shown up. She knew that he wasn't out hunting or fighting, so she wasn't worried about his safety, but she thought it was time for him to be coming home. And after a little while, she went out looking for him. When she strolled along near the entrance to Agga's cave, she just happened to see him coming out.

"Why, hello, Snookums," said Ugg, in a casual and nonchalant way just as if everything was quite all right.

"Hello, precious," said Igga, real sweetly.

They walked on home together, not saying anything, but when they were seated at the supper table, Ugg spoke up, still casual and nonchalant, and said:

"Well, the widow Agga's brother brought her a nice fat dinosaurus today, and she didn't know how to skin it, so I just dropped in there for a minute to help her with it."

"That was kind and thoughtful of you," said Igga, helping herself to the spinach. Yes, they had spinach in those days. Remember, that was before civilization had started.

The Club

Next day, Igga looked over Ugg's assortment of weapons. Most of them were in good order, but there was a club, fashioned out of stone, that she had started to work on but had never finished. So she got her clam-shells and other tools and got busy on it, scraping it nice and smooth and giving it the proper heft and shape, and humming to herself, in an absent-minded sort of way.

When she was through with it, she didn't put it with the other weapons. She took it to another part of the cave and hid it.

Not long afterward, Ugg was late again for supper. And when he finally came in, he explained that he had just happened to run into the widow Agga, carrying home about half a cord of stove-wood and that she had twisted her ankle and he had gallantly come to her assistance. And Igga remarked that he was a chivalrous and big-hearted man, to help out in that way.

And next day, she got out the club and worked on it a little more. She swung it around her head a few times, to be sure it had the right balance.

The following Saturday, Ugg went hunting with the tribe. Igga, with supper all fixed, heard the other tribesmen return, but no Ugg. After a little while she went and got the stone club and went out. She went to Agga's cave. She noted, as she neared it, some familiar-looking tracks leading in that direction.

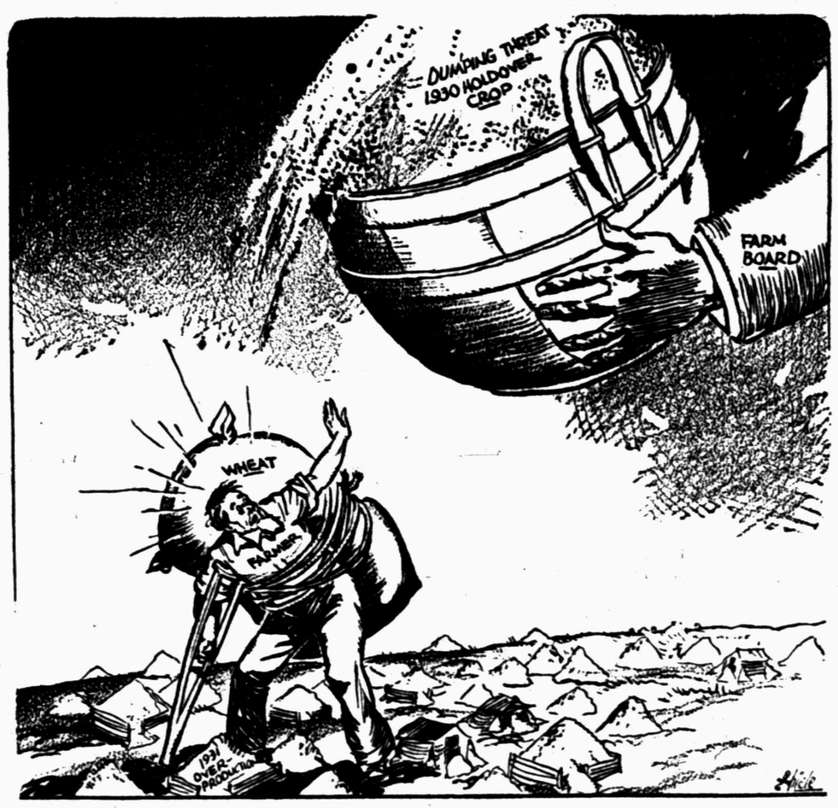

She went inside. There was Ugg and there was Agga. It seemed that Ugg had killed two pterodactyls out hunting and he had just dropped in to leave one of them with Agga. It was just a coincidence that the one he gave her was the fattest and tenderest of the two.

A little while later, Igga emerged from the cave. Ugg followed her holding his hand to the side of his head. From inside Agga's cave could be heard sobs of anguish and groans of pain. And there were blood and blond hair on the club. Agga was a blonde.

And that, dear friends, is our theory about how the stone club came into existence.

Needles and pine, blow-outs and flats, it's hard to think of Fitzgerald playing for the Cats.

A "Moratorium" Wanted Here, Too!

IN NEW YORK
with Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK.—Odds and ends, but chiefly odds . . . In an old-country cafe on East 30th street, the Turkish gents play backgammon according to a recipe taught some 2,000 years ago. And the moderns who drop in for dinner comment on "the up-to-dateness of these people." . . .

And a place that effects Algerian trimmings has corned beef hash as its specialty. . . .

There's a swinging-door spot on the east side where three old-fashioned brewmasters still turn out "musty" ale. . . . Which, if you haven't been reading your old English tales in late years, means that it is slightly soured. . . . On the walls of this place hang original programs of Harrigan and Hart's "Mulligan Guards." . . .

Keen's chop house has one of the largest collections of clay pipes to be found on this side of the Atlantic. Old-timers have pipes reserved for them and make regular visits for a puff at the good old long-stemmed clay variety.

The longest barefisted fight in history was staged in a saloon on Cherry street. . . . "Of course, that's when the boys were really tough." . . . And George Washington once had a dwelling in the same strasse. . . . So did John Hancock, who is frequently recalled by persons signing some document. . . .

Union square is credited with being the cradle of the movies, starting in a penny arcade. . . . With a gent named Zukor taking tickets. . . . And the most colorful old bookstores in this land are parked on Fourth avenue in the Union square neighborhood. . . . Those expensive studios in Washington mews and MacDougal alley were all stables of the rich Washington square folk in the early days. . . . There are people in Grove street who seem to know that Thomas Paine lived and died there. . . .

And there's at least one farmhouse in the big town. . . . It's the historic Dykeman place and dates back to the revolution. . . . It's a museum now. . . .

If it makes any difference to you where famous folk once lived, it isn't hard to find the one-time habitats of such persons as Lafayette, Captain Kidd, Washington Irving, Mark Twain, Aaron Burr, Theodore Roosevelt, William Cullent Bryant, Peter Cooper, John Jacob Astor and Poe.

The Bowery still has an old-time "mile marker" by which distance to the city hall was once figured. . . . Although but 50 feet wide, the Bush Terminal building rises almost 500 feet above the street and is credited with taking up less room than any other structure of its size. . . .

And it was none other than the elder Willie Vanderbilt who made the famous Cleopatra's needle a tourist attraction in Manhattan. . . . It cost him $100,000 to get it here from Egypt, but that was in 1881. . . . Today they'd probably fly it over. . . .

It's still against the rules to carry a camera in Central park, which never fails to astonish newcomers. . . . And is ridiculous. . . .

A lot of people who seem to be visiting the famous Grant tomb on Riverside drive are actually getting a peep at the "gingko" tree which grows near it, and which is the only gingko you're likely to see in these parts. . . .

ADDISON'S DISEASE

When your cat's hair stands on end through fright, it is because his adrenals are throwing out quantities of their secretion. It is claimed that even humans have had their hair to stand up when frightened. We are learning more each day about the function of ductless glands. If we ever learn to accurately control these glands we may look for a race of super men. The suprarenal glands or adrenals are two small capsules, one attached to the upper part of each kidney.

It has long been known that a disease of these organs produces extensive changes within the body. The most pronounced symptom of the disease is a bronzing of the skin similar to stains from walnut juice. Sometimes this stain is very faint, and can only be detected on the mucous membranes of the mouth, but it may become so extensive as to cause the skin to resemble that of a mulatto.

This disease of the suprarenal capsules has been termed "Addison's Disease" in honor of the man who first described it. The term "Addison's Disease" usually means tuberculosis of the suprarenal capsules, although Addison included any disease of the suprarenal capsules, such as cancer. The pigmentation of the skin is not always present, but it may precede or follow symptoms of indigestion.

In addition to the digestive disturbances, the patient notices a muscular weakness, chronic tiredness and langour, severe pain and tenderness in the abdominal and lower back regions. The muscles are usually not reduced in size in the earliest stages, but advanced cases may be attended by severe emaciation. The disease is accompanied by symptoms showing an irregular or deficient blood supply, such as sleeplessness, sleep-walking, headache, dizziness, ringing in the ears, neuralgic pains, muscular twitchings and, in advanced cases, epileptic-like concuisions, delirium and coma. These last three symptoms usually precede death and the symptoms greatly resemble those of patients suffering from uremia.

The disease is most frequent between the ages of 20 to 40, as in the case of tuberculosis, but there are several cases on record that have been present at birth, or that occurred in extreme old age.

The disease is most commonly found among males of the laboring classes.

Advanced cases show very low blood pressure, lack of appetite, nausea and vomiting, alternating constipation and diarrhea. Any mental or bodily exertion is followed by extreme exhaustion.

In the treatment of this disease it is considered positively dangerous to use purgatives. I believe the best results can be obtained by using the short fruit fast and dieting regimen that I advise in cases of tuberculosis. The patients must avoid wasting their nervous energy. Short periods of five to eight days of fruit fasting, followed by a diet rich in proteins and non-starchy vegetables, prove the most satisfactory dietary measure.

This treatment is also beneficial in certain cases where there is a deficiency of adrenal secretion. In some of these cases where the hair has fallen out in patches it will grow in again if the adrenal glands are quickly restored to their normal functioning through the fasting and diet treatments.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Hay Fever

Question: M. G. Asks—"Will you please state the underlying cause of hay fever?"

Answer—Hay fever is primarily caused by a condition of acidosis in the body, which comes entirely from using wrong food, or food in bad combinations. You may have a complete article on this trouble by forwarding to this office a large self-addressed stamped envelope with your request.

Greens and Milk for Child

Question: Mrs. H. Writes—"My little boy, 2 years old, has 15 teeth, but there are two milk teeth which will not come through. Should the gums be lanced?"

Answer—Do not be too quick to lance the gums. The full set of milk teeth, 28 in all, do not all come through until the child is about 3 years old. If you will give your son plenty of greens and milk he will be sure to develop a good set of teeth.

Episcleritis

Question: Mrs. S. L. Writes—"A reddening of my right eye has been diagnosed by an oculist as episcleritis. Will you please explain something about this trouble?"

Answer—Episcleritis means an inflammation of the sub-conjunctival tissues of the eye. This is similar to conjunctivitis or inflammation of the eye, or granulated lids. A strict dietetic regimen is often helpful in such conditions as this will reduce the discharge from the mucous membranes. However, you should, at the same time, go to an eye specialist who will treat the eye trouble or give you some remedy to use at home. Such troubles may become very serious if not properly treated.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

BUY BUSHELS CAMPAIGN SUGGESTED BY READER

Editor The Times: In years past much good has been done the cotton market by "buy a bale" campaigns. Every one who invested naturally became a booster of the market. And the more they boosted the better the market became. I never heard of one who bought cotton in one of those campaigns ever losing by the investment.

Now at this time wheat, one of the most important items of commerce because it contains the "makin's" of the staff of life, is the cheapest it has ever been in history. And it is as cheap, or even cheaper in Wichita Falls than in any part of the country. Why not start a wheat-buying campaign?

There are millions, and perhaps billions, of money lying around in safety deposit vaults of the rich and in stocking leg banks of the poor. They are afraid to invest, for they lack confidence that they will get their money back. Only a government bond issue that offers but 3¼ per cent per annum interests them. But with proper advertising, that the press should be willing to give gratis, the safeness as well as the profitableness of investment in wheat should be seen by the most timid investor. Immense amounts of money should at once come out of hiding and help start the ball of commerce rolling.

Arrangements can easily be made so that the buyer may buy at the the present market price with a few cents added to take care of small purchases. After the campaign gets well started I predict that the public will be running over themselves in efforts to buy wheat even at double what it is selling for on the streets of Wichitia Falls today.

VALUATIONS REDUCED ON WILBARGER COUNTY TAX ROLLS FOR 1931

VERNON, Texas, July 25.—The commisisoners court of Wilbarger county ordered a cut of five per cent in all the valuations on the county rolls for 1931. They finished their work as a board of equalization Tuesday and announced the values at $23,401,000. The cut will come on this amount. The 1930 renditions were $34,105,934.

The court gave as their reason for the additional cut the general economic condition of the county.

SERVICE STATION AT WELLINGTON DESTROYED

WELLINGTON, Texas, July 25.—Fire, originating from an unknown source completely destroyed the Sugg Service station in Wellington early Thursday morning. The blaze followed a terrible explosion which rocked the vicinity of the station and the entire building was in flames before firemen could reach the scene. This was the largest filling station and auto supply concern in Wellington, and was operated by W. W. and Calvin Sugg. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Money Ashes to Be Exchanged

CISCO, Texas, (UP)—Ashes of $60 in currency burned when the Alexander hotel was destroyed last month were sent to the treasury department at Washington by W. E. Keeter, proprietor, in an effort to regain part of his lost funds. The charred bits were identified by the treasury, which promptly ordered the First National bank here to restore to Keeter the full amount.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON. — Censorship is seldom very successful in Washington, presumably because it can't be enforced by threats of dungeons or death.

The only form of censorship that is ever really successful here is the sort imposed upon government officials who, either through loyalty or fear, do not make public such facts as their superiors may desire suppressed. But even that type of censorship often boomerangs itself and stirs up an unpleasant mess with plenty of extra publicity for the censor.

Sometimes, of course, misleading facts and figures are made public in place of those more accurate and applicable. But some one shoots holes in them sooner or later, just the same.

In other countries, such as Italy, Russia, Argentina, China and Poland, the government can make its censorship stick by incarceration, exile, suppression of newspapers or even execution. That's what makes most of our own governmental attempts seem so puny and futile.

The fate of two recent attempts at censorship her are in point. One is President Hoover's effort to suppress news about his own movements and the other is the department of commerce's attempted suppression of statistics compiled by one of its financial experts, Dr. Ray Ovid Hall.

Hoover Incensed

You find President Hoover incensed at publication of the story that he suddenly jumped into his automobile at the Rapidan camp and was driven back to Washington at very high speed. The story is not denied, but secret service men and correspondents are called in on the carpet. Newspaper men are told that news about the president must come only through authorized channels.

Nearly all the newspaper men get sore and pound out some warmly worded stories about censorship, generally with passing reference to Mr. Hoover's penchant for fast motoring over bad roads. The president then makes another fast trip to camp and a newspaper man and his wife are hurt when their car double-somersaults as they try to keep up with the Hoover party at 55 miles an hour.

Stories written about that are plainly worded and the Washington News says editorially: "The president should set a better traffic example to the nation, and more specifically, should refrain from making the highways hereabouts unsafe by giving rein to his manifest appetite for speed."

Last reports were that the White House wouldn't try to censor the newspaper men, but was determined that no person employed by the White House should slip them any news unless the president authorized it. Secret service men are being warned about the danger of friendship with correspondents. The newspaper men are continuing as before, asserting confidence that no White House censorship of any kind will ever succeed and pointing out that the latest episode has merely drawn the president some unfavorable publicity.

Dr. Hall was fired after a row over a superior officer over alleged suppression of statements and figures in his report on international trade payments in 1930. Few persons would have read the report. But now Hall is able to break into newspaper far and wide with the assertion that the department has overvalued the year's imports by $175,000,000, that it is covering up what he says was our alternative inflation and deflation of other countries and that it suppresses other "vital truths."

He also provides a springboard for Prof. James Harvey Rogers, the Yale economist, who dives into the spotlight with charges of various suppressions here traceable to political expediency, mentioning alleged Wickersham report tinkerings, ignoring unemployment recommendations by Colonel Woods, allegedly phoney statements and figures about unemployment and so on.

Those are pretty good examples of the way censorship works in this town. When newspaper correspondents themselves are deterred from telling openly all they know or think, they write books or magazine articles anonymously. Sooner or later the reading public seems to get the whole story.

MISS MILDRED SHERROD

IN THE PICTURES — Miss Julia Street of Camden, Ark., is the charming house guest of Miss Mildred Sherrod, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sherrod of this city. Many delightful social courtesies have been shown here in past two weeks, the festivities for the past week culminating with a bridge luncheon Saturday at Dixie Meadows, country home of Miss Mary Agnes Riley. Misses Street and Sherrod were roommates at the University of Arkansas, and both are members of Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Misses Laura Burnham and Nathalie Deardorff of Tulsa, Okla., are the attractive house guests of Miss Janelle Eichelberger, and the girls have furnished inspiration for numerous informal social events among members of the younger set. Miss Burnham was formerly of Wichita Falls.

Art Department Of Forum Plans Original Work

The art department of the Woman's Forum is planning an unusually interesting program of activities for the coming year. This organization, realizing that art is something to be enjoyed through the sense of sight and not of hearing, intends devoting its energy to keeping on exhibit at the forum canvases of various recognized artists throughout the year.

The first exhibit will be one of flower paintings in connection with the annual forum flower show. Artists from all neighboring communities will be invited to send pictures to this exhibit.

The Southern States Art league will send their exhibition at some time during the season. This is one of the best collection of canvases sent out on circuit. It contains work of such men as N. A. Brewer, Carl Blenner, Will Stevens, George Ennis and Olin Travis. Mrs. Luther Hoffman has a canvas in this group called "Flowers From Mammy's Garden"; it is a large study of old-fashioned flowers against a sunlit window.

The Texas Fine Arts association also sends out a splendid group of pictures each year; the forum will show this collection some time in the spring.

Miss Margaret Law, a Maryland artist of note, will have a one-man show hung in April. The exhibition of the work of local artists will be hung the latter part of April and will be left up for the president's breakfast.

Federation Prizes

A contest is always interesting and one in which art is the foundation is doubly so. The Texas State Federation's offer of $500 for the best painting on a Texas subject has inspired several artists of Wichitia Falls to enter canvases in this contest.

But painting for love of painting and hope of financial reward is not the only foundation on which members of the Women's Forum art department are basing their work for the next year. One interesting project that has been announced is to give art shows at Electra, Vernon, Burkburnett and many other small towns in the vicinity, advertising the art department of the forum and inculcating a stronger interest in art among those who attend. Short art lectures would be given at each show, put on in the early part of the winter. Among artists of this city who would enter exhibitions are Mrs. Mabel Noe, Reagan junior high school; Miss Lois McGoy, Zundelowitz junior high; Mesdames Luther Hoffman, T. M. Conrey and Anderson Kemp; Miss Dorothy Campbell and a number of others. The plans of the art department are laid in rainbow colors.

DORIS MARIE TAYLOR CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Doris Marie Taylor was honoree at a party observing her seventh birthday at her home on Eighth street.

PEGGY PIEDMONT Says

IN DECIDED contrast with the gay weeks of May and June, when the students, home from school for their vacations with their visitors filled the social calendar with interesting parties, are the days now when dullness equal to the business depression has descended upon society. There are still a few visiting girls and many informal affairs honor them each week but there is nothing big to chronicle and about the only news available is travel news with Wichitans leaving and returning from vacation trips.

MIDSUMMER weddings and affairs incident to these ever interesting events are also engaging the attention of society just now, and one of unusual interest to a large group of friends took place Monday when the attractive bride, Mabelle Moore, became the bride of Seth T. Moore at a pretty ceremony read at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Moore on Pearl street. Not satisfied with not changing her name, there were still more Moores in this wedding, the ceremony was read by the bridegroom's brother who is the pastor of the Baptist church at Abilene and his name is John G. Moore. The bride is popular in the Wichita Falls' younger set and is a graduate of the local high school and Junior college. She also attended C. I. A. and taught in the city schools here.

BUT returning to the summer visitors who are furnishing inspiration for a veritable shower of delightful informal parties, among the most popular of these are Anease Volkmann of Bernard, Texas, suitemate of Elizabeth Langford at Ward-Belmont, and her house guest, and Julia Street, of Camden, Ark., house guest of Mildred Sherrod. These two girls are being entertained at many joint parties featuring homey informal bridge luncheons as the chosen diversions. Two other girls from Tulsa, Okla., Nathalie Deardorff and Laura Burnham, who have been guests of Janelle Eichelberger for several weeks, are also doing their bit toward keeping the social ball of the younger set rolling, as is also Mary Lois Cupler, from Cumberland, Md., charming niece of Mrs. Harold M. Kelleher. Among the attractive young hostesses the past week at club and bunch affairs were Elizabeth Langford, Mildred Sherrod, Mildred Miller, Jeannette Moore, Willette Jarrell, Mary Agnes Riley, Maxine and Nell Duffy and many more than I do not recall right at this time.

POPULAR matrons moving to other cities with their husbands and families to make their homes have contributed their share of inspiration for numerous delightful small affairs such as showers and luncheons, and among these are Mrs. T. H. Lawson, Mrs. C. McFayden and Mrs. H. S. Barnes who are among the families leaving for Fort Worth to make their homes, the removal being caused by the purchasing department of the Continental Oil company taking their offices to that city, and Mrs. J. D. Bright who is leaving to make her home in Electra.

ANYWAY since it is summer time when every one is moving around, it is to the great advantage of the traveler that gas is so cheap. Just another instance when it is an ill wind sure enough that does no one any good. For don't we lament and lament over the cheapness of crude oil, which like all products in the southwest, is at it's lowest ebb. See that in East Texas a gallon of gas brings more than a barrel of crude oil. Maybe next we will hear of a grain of corn bringing more than a gallon of moonshine.

KENTUCKY papers are full of Irvin Cobb's visit recently to his old home town, Paducah, where he celebrated his 55th birthday. They point with pride that to this day he registers Paducah as his home town when traveling. The frame house where he was born was torn down a few years ago to make room for a brick. As the old building was being razed members of the family rescued portions of the stairway and had a local cabinet maker fashion a cane for Mr. Cobb as a memento.

SPEAKING of walking sticks. Do you know that most women carry them in England? Beatrice Burnaby found hers so helpful that she carried it on into Paris in spite of the haw haws of the taxi drivers.

You know that walking has been stylish in England for ages. Robert Louis Stevenson toured the island afoot; his book being entitled "Tours With a Donkey."

Mrs. Burnaby said that when a child she thought nothing of walking of a Saturday afternoon with her father from one village to another. And when Mr. Burnaby first came to Beaumont he would step out to Spindletop every morning.

When she made her last trip to Europe Mrs. Burnaby said that she walked more in London than in all the years put together in Beaumont. Once after hanging up the world's record for one day she went to a friend's for tea. This friend told about a beautiful view near by and suggested that they step over to see it. Mrs. Burnaby declined being suspicious of an English "step over" which might mean several miles.

YOU might as well get a muzzle for Tige. Not the kind that you use on your husband in a bridge game for he bites through that. Dog days will soon be here. They are really the days of the pup for his bite can be as dangerous as that of a full-grown police dog. Anyway don't act doggish around me until frost.

NOW that the English derby is over we are having derby styles. Also Empress Eugenie with second empire brim that tips down over one eye as they did in the gay 60's when she was on the throne.

Women without much hair will pin on curls. And if they wear hats like the pictures shown they will have to pin on hat pins. That will place back in the hands of the women an offensive and defensive weapon.

MEMBERS of the Manuscript club (those who have not left for the summer) enjoyed one of the most delightful meetings of the summer the past week, when they were entertained by Mrs. James P. Bowen at a morning coffee. Clever quantrain and limerick biographies of the club members furnished entertainment at the table after which the group enjoyed an interesting program in the living room. Mrs. Claude Williamson first read a story written by Marie Engle Johnson of Houston, who was formerly a resident here and member of the local club, after which Frieda van Emden read an original story woven arund a young mother and her infant, and an orphaned puppy. Ann Davis read a football story that was declared perfect by the group, also a poem that received much favorable comment. Mrs. Bentley Nelson, a dramatic free verse composition entitled "Not Self Defense" and Mrs. Mary Hindman concluded the program with a short story entitled "The Late Patron."

After the program, the group discussed the best markets for stories, prose and poetry.

Writing this letter to you Kitty, after so long a vacation from correspondence, reminds me to be careful of my accomplishments. I showed a doll dress I made when a child, explaining "This is my first piece of needlework." The friend replied, "And the Last?"

Anyway I will always have something of interest to tell you I hope and will see you sometime during dog days.

Fellowship of Church of Good Shepherd Sponsors Exquisite Romantic Comedy Operetta

With a clear, young moon sky that was studded with stars overhead; with a gypsy camp fire, the smoke of which made lovely shadows through the cedars; with a well trained cast, the rhythm of music and the beautiful coloring of gypsy costumes, the romantic comedy operetta "The Gypsy Lover," presented at the land office of the Country Club estates Thursday evening passed almost from the amateur into the professional class of work.

The structure of the building and the slope of the land with the beautiful lighting and the superb direction of the play by Mrs. Lois Parker added immeasurably to the background and workmanship of the scene. The Fellowship of the Church of the Good Shepherd sponsored the operetta and approximately 250 guests in the audience promised a splendid benefit for that group.

Sarah Virginia Bancroft, who played "Lady Constance Martendale," the leading lady, had the natural charm, poise and demureness the part required, and was a sweet and gracious lead. George Napier, the leading man, who was first "Rob" the gypsy, stolen by his nurse and who late in the play became Sil Gilbert Howe, was a startling success. When he stood on the stairs with his yellow satin blouse adding to the color of his gypsy costume, his song and carriage brought such applause that the song had to be sung again. He was a lighthearted, spontaneous genius in the part.

Joe Witherspoon fulfilled the expectations of the audience in the manner in which he portrayed "Lord Craven," an English fop. His manner and accent were marvelously true to the type. "Sir George Martindale," Lady Constance's father was played by Wilbur Cyr and was outstanding in his portraiture of the Englishman of noble birth.

Special numbers were beautifully given. Miss Thelma Moss of Electra drew heavy applause with her beautiful dramatic soprano voice; John Flynn gave a splendid rendition of "Spanish Gold," so well suited to his remarkably fine dramatic baritone voice. The duet, "Just Like a Gypsy," sung by Joan Fox and Bob Murrell was another strikingly beautiful number.

The audience gasped with real delight when the light danced on a veritable fairyland. Jo Alice Wynn, as fairy queen and Marion Miller in a fairy dance and little Patricia Coleman were too lovely to be described.

The comedy scene when the merry robbers Marto and Sinfo made members of the audience twinge at drawn daggers was splendid. William Huff and Marvin Pierce played the parts.

Special numbers on the program included a solo, "I'll Sing Thee Songs of Gypsyland," by Miss Thelma Moss; solo, "I'm Falling in Love," Charlotte Maer; solo, "Spanish Gold," John F. Flynn; duet, "Just Like a Gypsy," by Miss Joan Fox and Bob Murrell; solo, "I Don't Wanna Sing About the Moonlight," Roger Tittle; a tambourine dance by Miss Janelle Eichelberger; mixed quartet, "Faintly Tolls the Evening Bell," Bob Murrell, Joan Fox, Jean Hunter and John Flynn; solo, "Fairy Echo," Dorothy Apple; Fairy Dance, Marion Miller, and Fairy Queen, Jo Alice Wynne.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE

© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, Inc.

Late the night of the day that Sue had obtained her new position she was sitting at the window of her room, her dark curls tumbled around her face, and a rose negligee falling back from her rounded arms. She had sent Jack a long letter. The police hadn't arrested her. All in all, she was feeling pretty well. A storm was coming and she watched it.

She heard some one knock at her door and ran across the floor of the darkened room to open it.

"There's a long distance telephone call for you, Miss Merryman," the landlady's voice said rather crossly, as though she resented any one having telephone calls at an hour after she had retired.

"Thank you." Sue looked up and down, caught the cloudy pink folds a little more closely about her slim shoulders and ran down the long, dreary hall to the place where the extension telephone was located. Her family was probably calling to see how she was, she reflected.

"Miss Sue Merryman?" the operator's cool, impersonal voice asked.

"Yes."

"Los Angeles calling."

Los Angeles! Jack! For a second the telephone spun around dizzily. Then it righted itself. She was going to hear Jack's voice, Sue told herself. Out of the night, across the continent, the low, resonant, half-laughing voice would come swinging to her, Jack was calling!

Everything else had been a nightmare. After all, nothing mattered but that Jack was calling her.

"Ready with Los Angeles, Miss Merryman," the operator said again, quite as though Jack were just a great uncle or a traveling salesman with a big order to report. "Are you waiting?"

"Yes." As if she wouldn't be!

And then she heard Jack's voice. "Sue? Sue honey?" Oh that was Jack. The same old words he had used so often.

"Jack?" She sent the word, lilting and breathless, into the black mouthpiece. With the sound of his voice all of her homesickness for him, all of the pent-up loneliness, suddenly was loosened. It seemed to her that he was just beyond the wall, that somehow he must come to her, take the invisible steps between them, and be present. It wasn't enough to have just a voice in the night. She wanted to feel again how hard his strong young man arms could be. "Jack?"

Then suddenly there was a crash. A blinding flash outside the windows. The storm had come.

"Jack?" Sue called it louder now, into the mouthpiece, afraid that he might be gone. But he didn't answer. She repeated it, a little frenzied. Again and again. Very, very faint, and far, far off she heard his voice then. It was gone almost at once.

She rattled the receiver, recalling the operator. She had to get Jack again. Had to!

"I'm sorry," the crisp cool voice replied. "Hold the line, please, and I'll try to get a clearer connection." Wild rain was dashing against the window now. More lightning. Blackness and madness.

And now Jack's voice came swinging back, stronger and clearer.

"Sue, sweetheart, I wanted to tell you . . ." There was a dreadful silence as the line went dead. Quite dead.

Next: The storm.

Friday and Saturday: Buck Jones in "Texas Ranger"; also chapter No. 2 of "Heroes of the Flames," and Herring Murder Case," comedy.

Those who attended the opening performance of Ruth Chatterton's latest feature picture, "The Magnificent Lie," at the Majestic Saturday, need not be told of the greatness of this picture, but for fear that you have not heard the favorable comments, we urge that you see this feature. You will not be disappointed. The story abounds in dramatic power, filled with tense situations, with a depth of feeling that brings a catch to your throat. Of course there are sobs in "Tne Magnificent Lie," but there are laughs as well. The supporting cast includes Ralph Bellamy in the male lead. He makes a brilliant bow in his first feature role, and it was a stroke of real showmanship that placed Stuart Erwin in the cast, for he adds a note of comedy, mixed with dramatic pathos, that assures the production of well-rounded entertainment.

"The Secret Call"

"The Secret Call" featuring Richard Arlen and Peggy Shannon in a tensely dramatic picture of a clever, interesting, and at the same time topical play, "The Woman" comes to the Majestic Wednesday. It has to do with the happenings in a big city when the people are aroused to action over the rascality and grafting intrigues of the political machine in power, and decide to throw out the corrupt party "bosses." Peggy Shannon, new Paramount star, performs the part of the daughter of the "machine" man who dies in disgrace after having been made the "goat" of the organization by the "higher ups." Richard Arlen plays the part of a son who is ignorant of the shady practices of his father, who is a "higher up" in the corrupt party machine.

To accomplish her revenge, Miss Shannon gets a job as a telephone operator in a large hotel where Davidson and his crooked politicians have their rendezvous. She thus learns enough damaging secrets to scandalize the whole "machine" and to wreck their corrupt administration of the city.

Starting Saturday

The one and only Maurice Chevalier in "The Smiling Lieutenant," ably supported by Claudette Colbert, Charlie Ruggles and Miriam Hopkins, comes to the Majestic next Saturday. 'Tis enough to say that it's Chevalier in his greatest role an dthe picture that has played to standing room at every theater shown.

CANON CITY.—Three old muskets, used by Jim Fisher, pioneer Colorado trail blazer, have been presented to the Canon City museum by R. W. White of Oakland, Calif., a former Canon City resident.

Ruth Chatterton, Ralph Bellamy and Stuart Erwin as they appear in "The Magnificent Lie," attraction at the Majestic through Tuesday.

"HUSH MONEY" FEATURE AT STATE THROUGH WEDNESDAY

"Hush Money" with Joan Bennett and Owen Moore opens at the State Sunday and runs through Wednesday.

Hitherto confined to screen roles where her beauty, aristocratic air and ability to wear gorgeous clothes charmingly, were her chief assets, this picture presents a new Joan Bennett. As a young and beautiful girl on her own, Miss Bennett is taken up by a man of presumed wealth and breeding, played by Owen Moore, who is in reality a blackmailer. Circumstances force her to pose as his wife as a means to an end of his illicit game. A mixup with the police, how a detective keeps her dead past buried when she marries a man of wealth, Hardie Albright, and becomes a mother, leads up to a strikingly sensational and surprising climax. Douglas Cosgrove plays the detective and Myrna Loy and George Raft have prominent roles.

A selected Metro comedy, "Doctor's Orders"; a novelty, "Land of Long Ago" and Paramount sound news round out the program at the cool State.

"Everything's Rosie"

Robert Woolsey in the comedy scream, "Everything's Rosie" starts at the State Thursday for three days.

The cockiest, funniest little man on the talking screen is Woolsey. He has a real story, a story of a carnival faker who adopts and raises as his own a baby girl and becomes hopelessly in love with her.

"Everything's Rosie" is Woolsey's first solo starring show—the first time he has appeared in pictures without teaming with Bert Wheeler.

Anita Louise, a beautiful and charming blonde, supports Woolsey in this great comedy production.

You will also see the latest news events with Universal talking news and a comedy and cartoon.

Gary Cooper and Sylvia Sidney at Gem Three Days

A picture as colorful as its name, "City Streets," with Gary Cooper and Sylvia Sidney co-starring in the leading roles, will open a three-day run at the Gem theater starting Sunday. The story of "City Streets" is the story of the back streets of a large metropolis, where gangster and law guardian, guilty and innocent, worker and racketeer meet and mingle in a great kaleidoscopic maze of intrigue and romance.

"City Streets" was written by a man, Dashiell Hammett, who for years probed the secrets of a great city's hiding places, as a private detective in the famous Pinkerton detective force. The story,, his first for the screen, was taken from his own experience. It is a romance of the beer running racketeers of the underworld whose feuds and fights are making history in the newspapers today.

In the cast are several well-known screen players, notably Paul Lukas, William Boyd and Wynne Gibson. Guy Kibbee, seen recently with William Powell in "Man of the World," has another character role in "City Streets" which brings him forward more forcibly as one of the most promising of the heavy comedians.

Communities of Area Interested In Wichita Valley

The increased interest which Wichita Falls folks are manifesting in the irrigated valley is being reflected in other communities of this region.

W. E. Trammell and R. W. Henderson of Chattanooga, Okla., visited John Boswell, general manager of the chamber of commerce Saturday and told him that many residents of southwestern Oklahoma were becoming interested in the project. The two visitors were taken for an inspection trip over the project Saturday afternoon.

Free Wheeling Now Optional on Chrysler Sixes

DETROIT, July 25.—Announcement has been made by Chrysler sales corporation making free wheeling, or the famous Chrysler multi-range four-speed transmission with dual-high gears, available on the Chrysler six as optional equipment at slight extra cost.

Future purchasers of the Chrysler six may have their choice, according to the statement, of three distinct types of transmissions. These types are the standard three-speed with easy-shift gears; this same transmission with free wheeling, or the multi-range with dual-high gears of the same type used on the Chrysler Imperial, the Chrysler eight and the Chrysler "70" lines.

Free wheeling is not available with the multi-range transmission, it was stated, as Chrysler engineers maintain that all the good features of free wheeling, such as economy and easy shifting are already included in this transmission.

Free wheeling is offered optionally at $20 extra and the multi-range four-speed transmission at $35 extra. The constant-mesh type transmission is already standard equipment at no extra cost.

The free wheeling device offered on models of the Chrysler six line is a Chrysler engineering development. Chrysler engineers, according to the announcement, have reduced free wheeling to real simplicity, to the omission of all confusion and to easy selectivity. In other words, the drivers may make use of free wheeling or the positive gear shift independently of the other. The free wheeling is effective in all three forward speeds. When free whelinge is not in use, the positive gear shift is effective in all three forward speeds.

Could See Dandruff on Clothes. Hair Always Dry. Cuticura Healed.

"Some time ago I was suffering with dandruff. My scalp itched and burned and every place I would scratch there would be a little sore eruption. My hair began falling out and was always dry. You could see dandruff on my clothes after combing or brushing my hair and I could not part my hair without showing this mask of dandruff.

"I started using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two and a half boxes of Cuticura Ointment my scalp is clear of the dandruff. I am healed." (Signed) Miss Berdia Ann Lee, 2308 Florence St., Savannah, Ga.

FLASHES Of LIFE

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON.—A former partner of Bobby Jones is coming right along. At the sixth hole on the royal Wimbledon course the Prince of Wales hit a 220-yard tee shot. The ball rose over a ridge and trickled on to the green and into the cup for a hole in one.

LEYDEN, Holland.—The police library is in the way of getting some new books. Erich Maria Remarque, German war novelist, knocked down a lamp post with his automobile. After he settled with the municipal council for $50 he offered the police a tip. They declined so he promised to send them copies of his novels.

OTTAWA.—A law, providing a maximum of three years imprisonment, has been passed to curb nude parades by doukhobors. It defines as nude one who is so scantily clad as to offend public decency. Members of parliament asked whether it would be invoked against scantily clad bathers and theater performers. The government replied that the good sense of judges and juries could be relied upon.

LINCOLN, Neb.—Farmers are getting even with the grasshoppers that have been devouring their crops. They are packing them in preservative and selling them to fishermen for bait. They bring 20 cents a pound in Michigan.

NEW YORK.—The Delaware and Hudson railroad has complained to the public service commission that it has an average of two passengers a trip on its Ausable Valley-Plattsburg division, that some trains have had no passengers in 180 days. Norman Rockwell, artist, who led a fight to restore the service, which was once discontinued, says he is astonished to learn they have that many, considering the schedule.

LONDON.—A woman convicted of criminal libel has been saved from prison by the plea of her blind husband. When he told the court she was the only ray of sunshine left in his life, sentence was suspended.

VIOLIN VIRTUOSO TO GIVE PROGRAM COLUMBIA CHAIN

Toscha Seidel, violin virtuoso, will be heard in a program which features portions of Lalo's Symphonie Espagnole, during the Symphonic hour scheduled for 1 to 2 p. m. C. S. T. Sunday, July 26, over the WABC-Columbia network.

Although bearing the name "symphony," Lalo's work is really a concertante, as it is written for solo violin and orchestra, though in symphonic rather than concerto form. It was written especially for Sarasate, the great Spanish violinist contemporary with Lalo, who gave it its first performance, and there is abundant international evidence of its having been intended for the Spaniard to play in his native land. Seidel will be heard in the opening allegro moderato and the scherzo.

Orchestra numbers on the same program provide an arresting variety, the composers represented including Wagner, with the "Ride of the Valkyries"; Huperdinck, with two charming selections from the children's opera "Hansel and Gretel," and Moussorgsky, one of the earliest Russian composers to attempt highly nationalistic music, with the descriptive poem "A Night on Bald Mountain."

INSIDE STUFF ON POST AND GATTY—By Will Rogers

Well all I know is just what I read in the papers, and what I run into as I prowl hither and thither. I must tell you about a fine long visit I had last week with Post and Gatty the round the World Flyers. I happened to write a little piece one day complimenting the Backer of that wonderful flight, Mr. Hall of Chickasha, Okla., speaking of his modesty. Well I got a nice wire thanking me, and saying that in return he would like to bring the Boys to Claremore. Well the only way he could bring the Boys to Claremore was in an Auto, and knowing they were real Aviators I knew they wouldent come in an Auto, so I wrote and said that if they got there they would have to land in a Parachute, so the old Town got busy and in five days built one of the dandiest little Airports you ever saw, and sure enough Hall made good.

He was to bring the Boys there. Well I was sitting around our little Ranch in Santa Monica and just happened to think, why if I get up early in the morning, catch the east bound plane I can be in Tulsa tomorrow night and be in Claremore for the big doings the next morning at ten oclock. Well thats just about the way I do things. I don't ever plan ahead for anything. I don't even like to have dates ahead if I can help it. I like to do anything right now. So I grabbed the old aerial Rattler the next morning, wired to Tulsa to have a Special Plane meet me in Amarillo, Texas, and they sent a dandy one of these low wing Lockheads, with the Retractable landing gear, (that folds up under the wings when its in flight) so we really did fly to Tulsa.

Post saw it was rather scary landing.

Well they were giving them a big welcome there that night, and I got to the Banquet just in time, too late to eat, but of course had to deliver an oration, a real grammatical masterpiece—some of the old Oxford and Eton stuff.

Well you would have been proud of Claremore, even if you dident have any knowledge of it before. The little down had done a fine job. I flew over that morning in the Winnie Mae, (the ship they broke the record in). I was in the back compartment with Gatty and he was explaining all the different gadgets that he used to tell where he was. He was about eight or ten feet back of the Pilot Post, and there was gas tanks in between. They talked by a head ear phone tube. They couldent even see each other.

Now a few things they told me of the flight. They had no Parachutes; they would have taken up too much room, and been too hard to sit on, and besides if you had t ouse 'em, where would you been anyhow. They carried nothing at all of any precautionary nature. Post said, "It was make it or else."

Now all you Radio Nuts get ready for a shock. Their Radio was a flop. Gatty said they dident expect to use it only on getting the weather at the place they were headed to land at, but that it was a fliv. He says no radio has been made that will fit those particular requirements, so Radio played no part in their accomplishment.

Now about their sleep. They only got one hour a night for the first five nights, and only fifteen hours in the whole trip. They attribute their staying awake to their lack of food, as they said they always kept hungry. They never allowed themselves to eat but just enough to get them by; in that way it helped to keep them awake. They also trained for it before starting. They tried staying awake a lot.

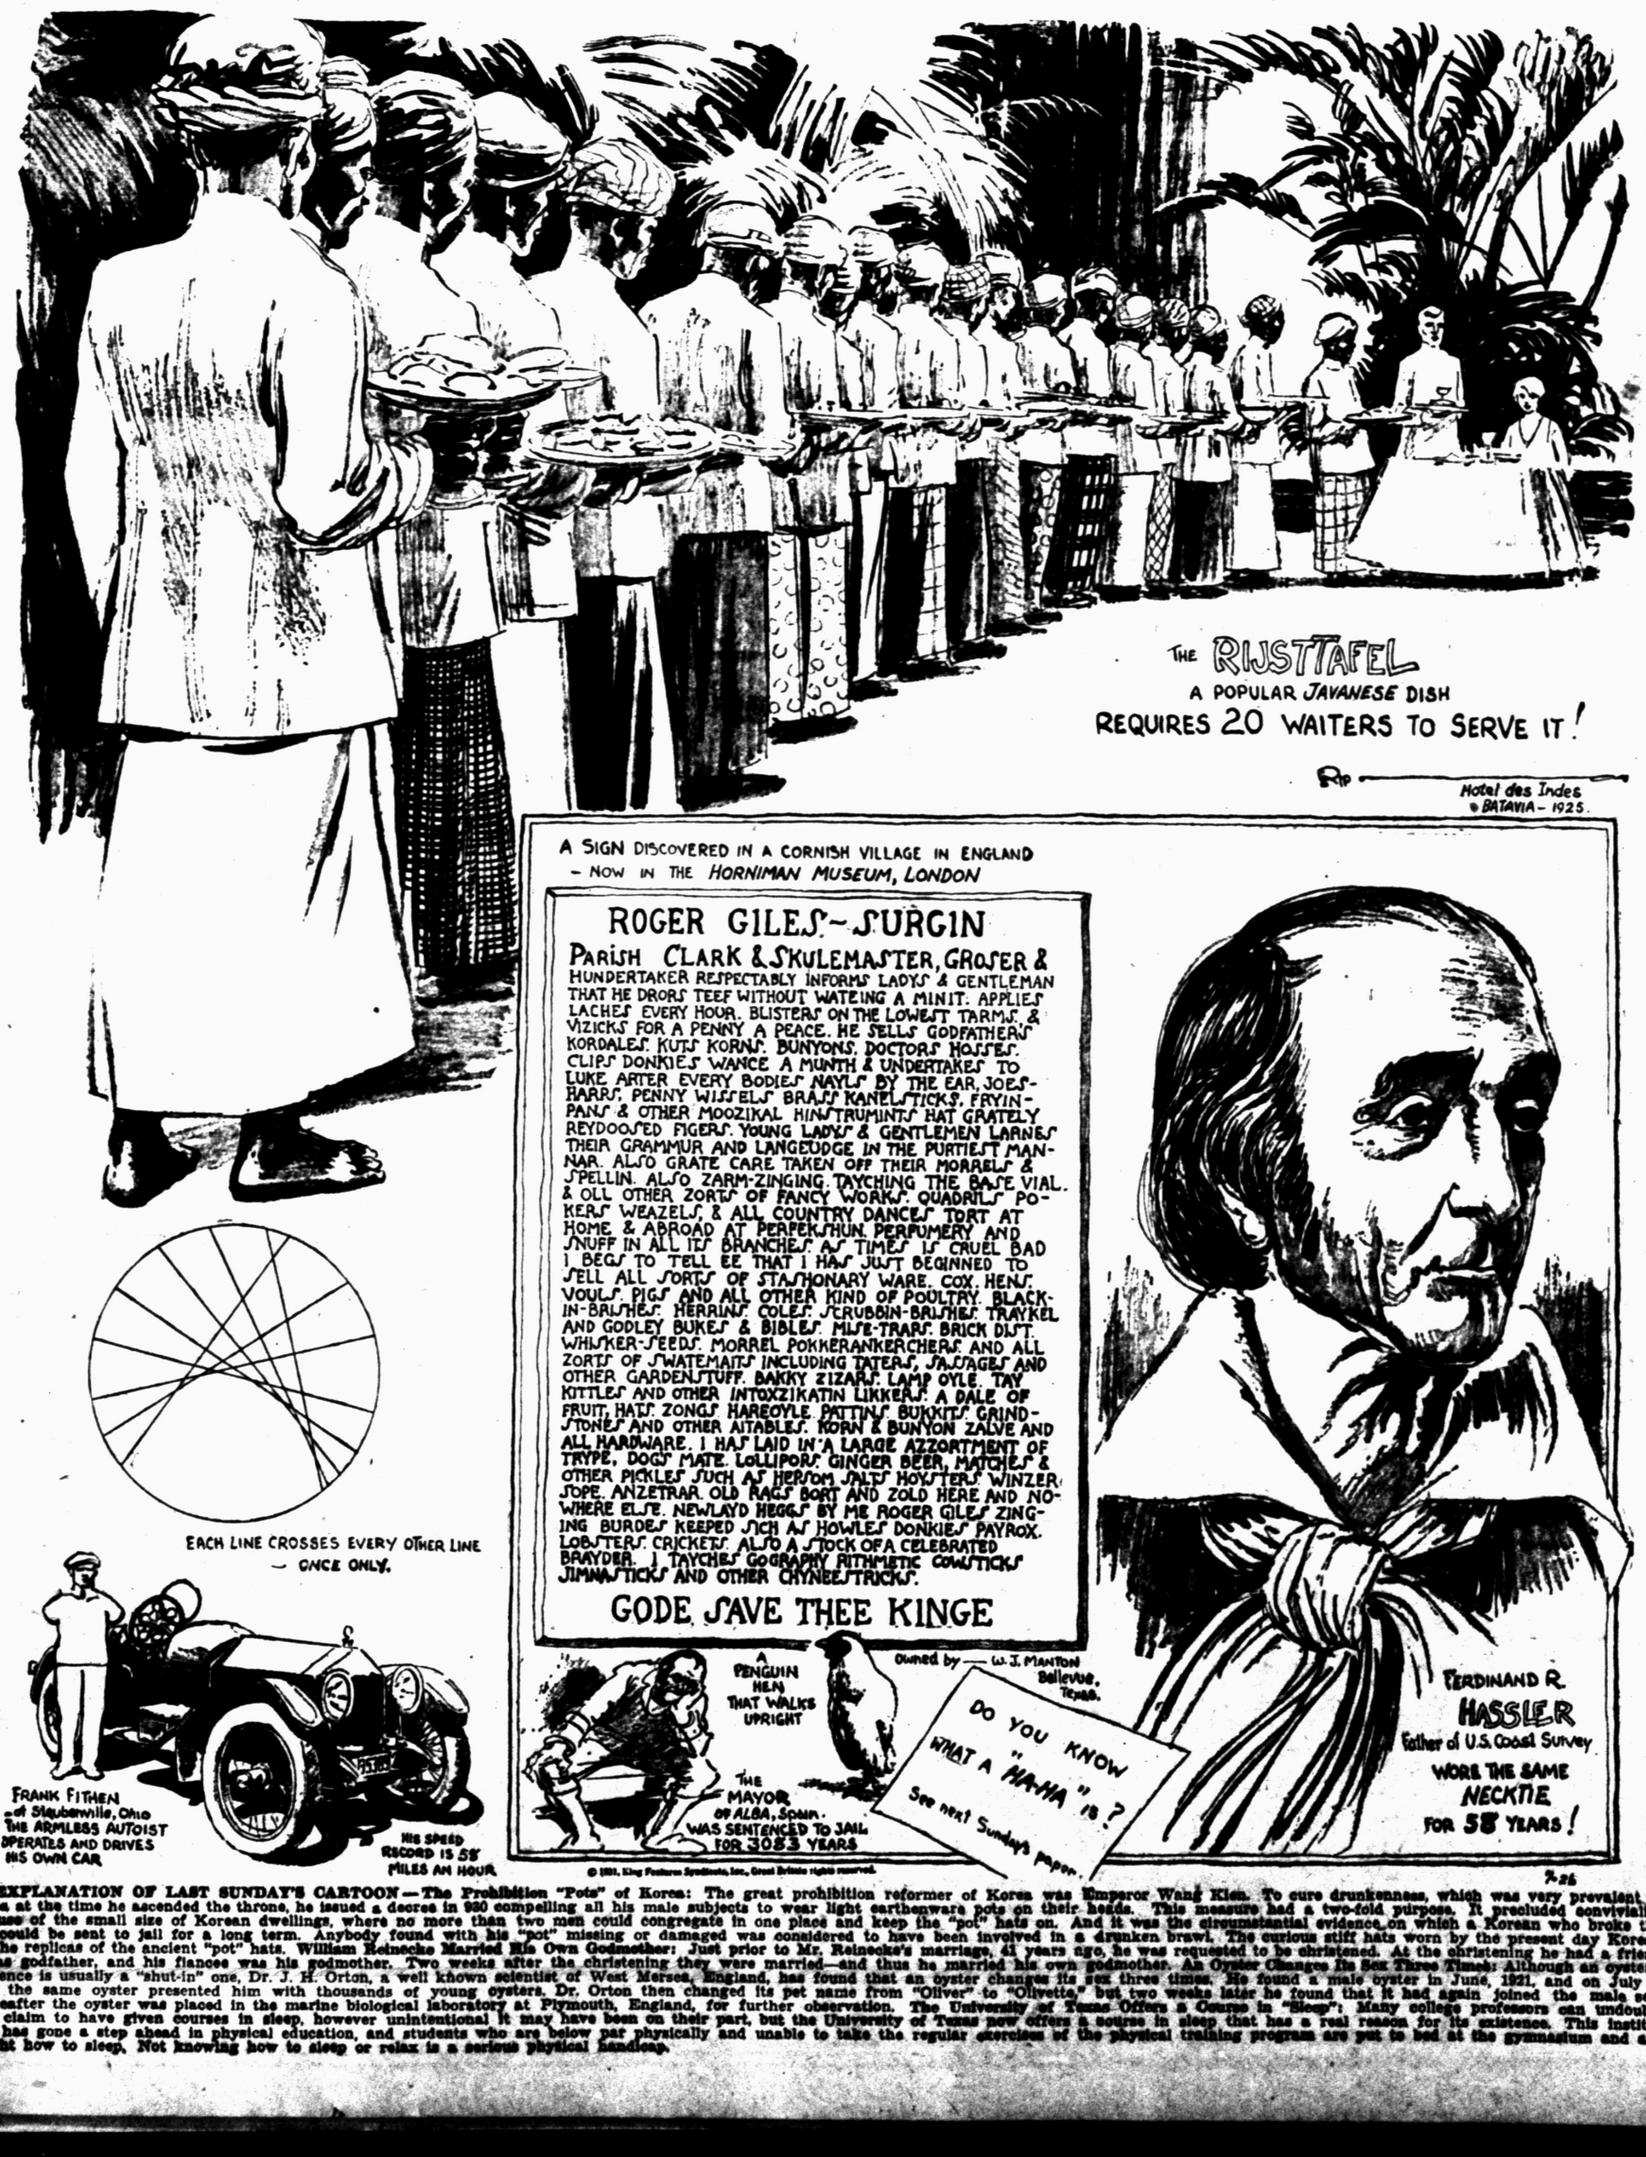

The most wonderful banquet, the finest food and the greatest assortment of wines, (they dident drink but they said they had eight different kinds served) was in Moscow, so evidently everybody is not as bad off as we hear. They said they slept in a room that must have belonged to the Czar, and that it was the most gorgeous thing they ever saw. Said the Russians were wonderful to them. Said that the Country of Russia was the most wonderful in natural resources they ever saw, also about a thousand miles of China, where it was beautiful and fertile but not a soul or a house on it. They had to land in one field in Russia where it was entirely covered with water, and they dident know how deep it was, but there was not a place where it wasent covered with water.

Post said it was kinder scary landing; the water was from six inches to a foot and a half deep on the entire field. They only changed their Spark Plugs once, and that was on account of some heavy oil they got in one place. They did not make any miscalculation in landing in Solomon, Alaska, instead of Nome. They had intended landing in Solomon, as there is where their Gas was waiting for them. They had never intended landing in Nome.

They are very unusual Boys. Gatty is the more talkative of the two, (which ain't saying much). They both have absolute confidence in each other's ability, they are still the Companions. Generally close association like that brings out all the bad in each other and they wind up wanting to eat each other up. They are mighty likable Boys. That Post is just full of determination. I would hate to tell him he couldent do anything.

Never will there be such a combination again, of ideal Flyer, Navigator, and Backer. This fellow Hall is unusual. Now those Wives, you Women would sure like them. They are like their Husbands, the most modest, quiet, retiring, and both very pretty. You know that takes a lot of nerve to let a Husbank make that trip. They are mighty brave little Women. On leaving Claremore, their husbands took off for New York. They were in another Plane leaving for the west. I went to the Plane to bid the wives goodbye; each had their handkerchiefs to their eyes. They dident want to let me see 'em crying, they rather ashamed. But darn it it just give you an idea what they have gone through. Women played a part in that flight, greater than they have ever got credit for.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT . . . . . By Robert L. Ripley

EXPLANATION OF LAST SUNDAY'S CARTOON—The Prohibition "Pots" of Korea: The great prohibition reformer of Korea was Emperor Wang Kien. To cure drunkenness, which was very prevalent in Korea at the time he ascended the throne, he issued a decree in 930 compelling all his male subjects to wear light earthenware pots on their heads. This measure had a two-fold purpose. It precluded conviviality because of the small size of Korean dwellings, where no more than two men could congregate in one place and keep the "pot" hats on. And it was the circumstantial evidence on which a Korean who broke the law could be sent to jail for a long term. Anybody found with his "pot" missing or damaged was considered to have been involved in a drunken brawl. The curious stiff hats worn by the present day Korean are the replicas of the ancient "pot" hats. William Reinecke Married His Own Godmother: Just prior to Mr. Reinecke's marriage, 41 years ago, he was requested to be christened. At the christening he had a friend act as godfather, and his fiancee was his godmother. Two weeks after the christening they were married—and thus he married his own godmother. An Oyster Changes Its Sex Three Times: Although an oyster's existence is usually a "shut-in" one, Dr. J. H. Orton, a well known scientist of West Mersea, England, has found that an oyster changes its sex three times. He found a male oyster in June, 1921, and on July 3, 1922, the same oyster presented him with thousands of young oysters. Dr. Orton then changed its pet name from "Oliver" to "Olivette," but two weeks later he found that it had again joined the male sex. Thereafter the oyster was placed in the marine biological laboratory at Plymouth, England, for further observation. The University of Texas Offers a Course in "Sleep": Many college professors can undoubtedly claim to have given courses in sleep, however unintentional it may have been on their part, but the University of Texas now offers a course in sleep that has a real reason for its existence. This institution has gone a step ahead in physical education, and students who are below par physically and unable to take the regular exercises of the physical training program are put to bed at the gymnasium and are taught how to sleep. Not knowing how to sleep or relax is a serious physical handicap.

Mozart Program To Be Broadcast Sunday Evening

Mozart's string orchestra masterpiece "Eine Kleine Nachtmusik," will be played during the Lewisohn stadium concert, to be broadcast over the WABC-Columbia network from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m. C. S. T. Sunday, July 26, with Willem van Hoogstraten conducting the orchestra of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony society.

Just how seriously the serenade was taken a 150 years ago will be gathered from the fact that Mozart wrote the "Night Music" for a minimum of five string instruments. Today it usually is played by a full string orchestra. It was not rare then for the romantic-minded to hire a group of musicians and lead them to a spot below the fair lady's window, where they would play a specially composed suite, with an opening march theme, leading into a cheerful movement; a plaintive romance; a minuet typifying the dance, and a cheery radio to close the performance, indicative of the day's optimism. None of these episodes is as popular as the one Mozart which will be heard during the program.

Also in the concert will be a selection of "dream pantomime" music from Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel," and Tschaikovsky's fantasia for orchestra "Francesca da Rimini," composed with Dante's poem in mind.

CHRISTENING OF NAVY DIRIGIBLE TO BE GIVEN OVER RADIO NETWORK

Formal christening of the mammoth U. S. navy dirigible The Akron, with Mrs. Herbert Hoover as sponsor, will be broadcast over a National Broadcasting company network from the Goodyear's airship dock, Akron, Ohio, Saturday, Aug. 8 at 1:30 p. m. C. S. T.

High government officials and leaders in aviation will attend the ceremonies and many will speak as the world's largest lighter-than-air craft receives its official name, christened by the First Lady of the Land. Part of the program will originate high on a platform erected before the ship's pointed nose and part in the luxurious cabin.

NEWSPAPER WOMAN WILL GIVE PROGRAM

Miss Ruby A. Black, one of the best known newspaper correspondents in Washington, will be the speaker in Bill Schudt's "Going to Press" program at 4 p. m. C. S. T. Wednesday, July 29.

Miss Black, operating her own news service, acts as Washington correspondent for nine publications, six of which are in Wisconsin and the others scattered from Maine to Texas.

PAT NEFF BLAMES RAIL COMMISSION

lions of dollars from oil royalties. Batts said if the physical waste was curbed, the question of economic waste would care for itself.

W. Scott Heywood, of Jennings, La., member of the oil states advisory committee and the second senate witness, said the only way to get true conservation was to pass a law declaring oil to be a public interest and giving the state the right to regulate production and to fix a minimum price of crude petroleum, based on the quantity and value in each field. Heywood charged the major oil companies had increased imports of foreign oil, decreased crude prices and advocated proration with a view of gaining control of the oil industry.

No Fear or Respect

"There has not even been an intelligent gesture looking to conservation or fair proration on the part of the railroad commission," Neff stated, adding no operator or company had any fear or respect for the orders of the commission.

He was asked if the railroad commission had suffered from lack of technical advice.

The commission has been swamped with technical advice; we are swimming in it," Neff answered. The commission also has not suffered from lack of help, he said.

Neff said intelligent enforcement of the present conservation laws for the past two years would have prevented the chaotic conditions in the oil industry and said he believed present laws were adequate.

Suggests Changes

No effort either directly or remote, has been made by the commission to enforce conservation. In issuing its proration orders, the commission has let outsiders set the allowable and then the commission oked it. All the commission has done is to cooperat with persons wanting to be prorated, Neff said.

Among the derelictions of the railroad commission, neff cited failure to enforce the ratable taking of pipe line law; failure to enforce the common purchase law; failure to set fair rates for pipe line transportation and failure to prevent gas wastage by setting an oil and gas ratio.

The commission has not been overworked during the time he has been a member of it, Neff said, but has left enforcement of its orders to agents of the companies and persons sought to be regulated.

Present conditions would have been ameliorated had the commission adopted a rule requiring property line wells to be drilled within 300 feet of property lines and that inside wells be spaced 300 or 600 feet apart. This would have frenzied drilling activity and prevent enormous wastage, Neff said. He recommended such a law.

WOMAN STUDENT KILLED IN ARIZONA

home late Thursday, and fears immediately were felt for the girl's safety.

Held on a charge of "selling beer," Gilbert denied knowledge of where the girl had been. He said he had not accompanied her to the dance.

Immediately the posse was organized by Deputy Sheriff George Woolford. The Indians followed the girl's trail to a canyon seven miles east of here.

Struggle for Life

At the edge of the canyon, the trail stopped amid a scene which indicated the girl had put up a bitter struggle for her life. Her body was found at the bottom of the declevity.

Woolford, at first believed that jealousy on the part of Indians might have led to her death.

Women of the tribe were quick to resent the intrusion of whites, particularly when they associated closely with the braves, he said.

Yet it was impossible to determine from the scant clues if a man or woman had trailed Miss Schmerler, or whether more than one person was responsible for her death.

Torrential rains which fell yesterday destroyed practically all footprints at the scene of the crime.

This part of the state is well populated with Apaches, a tribe which gave the United States army trouble in the early 1870's when Geronimo, fiercest of the war chieftains, massacred a company of scouts and soldiers rather than be confined to a reservation.

The Apaches now, however, are peaceful and good citizens. It has been more than 10 years since an Apache has killed a white man in this state.

DEATH LIST FIRE PITTSBURGH GROWS

Mop Believed Cause

The only theory so far developed was that of a mop used in oiling the floors of the home, a task which had been in progress for two or three days, ignited from spontaneous combustion and set fire to other inflamable materials in the basement. The newly oiled floor, a ready fuel for the fire, accounted for its rapid spread.

Fire Chief Smith said much of the loss of life and property damage, the latter estimated between $45,000 and $60,000, might have been prevented had the ancient building been protected by a sprinkler system.

As it was, he said, the dried timbers—the first section of the home was built in 1851—gave the flames an enormous headway before firemen arrived.

Records of the institution showed 220 inmates were quartered there.

Plans for reconstruction of the home was being held in abeyance pending the arrival of the National Mother Superior.

In the meantime, other Catholic agencies and the city department of welfare were endeavoring to arrange temporary quarters for the surviving victims.

Mrs. Enoch Rauh, head of the welfare department, said the city could care for 180 of them at the Mayview home and hospital.

Children Should Not Be Separated From Ties Essential to Character Many States Are Solving Problem

By ALFRED E. SMITH

How quickly a thing spreads once its worth is proven! For years and years, practically every state in the union treated orphan children and the widowed mother as the object of public or private charity. Upon the death of a father, the old system was to commit the children to public or private institutions by due process of law.

Al E. Smith

If the child was committed to an institution, the cost of maintenance was borne by the community or unit of government which had committed the children. In the country sections the mother applied to the superintendent of the poor. In large cities she went to a department of charities, or whatever agency was charged with their care. Many a little family has stood in the courtroom and heard a judge commit the children to an institution separating brothers and sisters and taking them away from their mothers for no other reason than poverty.

It has never been possible for me to consider children as recipients of charity. Their poverty after all is the only reason for their dependency and why they should be humiliated and separated from all those ties which are really essential in the upbuilding of character because they have had the misfortune to lose their learest relative has never seemed a humane or even an intelligent policy to me.

Missouri was the first state to enact legislation enabling widowed mothers to keep their children with them in their homes. The first bill, however, applied only to a single county but later extended to the city of St. Louis. Illinois was the first state to adopt a state-wide law in 1911. In the course of the next few years, several other states experimented with mothers' aid laws. Social workers, educators, thoughtful people generally, recognized that the simplest home with a mother's care was preferable to any type of institution. Massachusetts soon followed with a broader type of legislation. Today, all but three to us, and we welcome every return to his real field, negro comedy.

There is material for a fine historical novel in the romance of Napoleon's brother and his marriage with a wealthy Baltimore girl, Elizstates — Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina—have such laws on their statute books.

The earliest attempt made in New York state in 1913 failed, probably because it was too radical a move and its benefits were not understood. The early difficulties in the way of enacting such legislation were due to the safeguards which charitable organizations felt must surround the care of dependent children. They were fearful that if the care were transferred from these private charitable agencies, some of the evils of the old forms of outdoor poor relief would come back into it and that children and mothers would be exploited for political purposes. It was the most important part of the work of private philanthropic organizations to care for dependent children and to hand this work over to a public agency seemed too radical to most of them. But in 1915, after investigations here and abroad, it was adopted in New York state.

In most places where this law obtains, its application has gradually been widened to include other than widowed mothers, as it proved its effectiveness in the care of dependent children. In some states, the children of deserted mothers are provided for. In half the states the family is helped where the father is totally incapacitated and some provide when the father is in an institution for the insane or in a penal institution.

Some states are still hesitant to extend the full benefits of these laws because they are fearful of the economic burden which they think is involved. This is a mistaken point of view. It costs the taxpayer far more to care for dependent children who have also become delinquent through neglect or improper education, or for children who have become victims of disease or malnutrition. We are always discussing the ideal citizen. In a democracy every child is potentially that and has a right to require decent, clean home surroundings and to be left in the care of its nearest relative when she is suitable to perform such service.

The fears of the private philanthropic organizations that such laws would be exploited have not been realized. If they were given their choice today, none of them would return to the former method of solicitation of charitable funds to care for dependent children and their commitment to institutions. As a matter of fact, the nation and the various states have given the matter most careful study and have been able to develop certain standards of aid. They have even learned that it will not do to pass such laws and then not appropriate the necessary funds to carry them out adequately.

So far as the economic question is concerned, it is estimated by the department of welfare of New York state that if the 46,000 children who were aided in their own homes last year by the 48 boards of child welfare in New York state had been placed in institutions, the cost of their care would have been about $15,000,000. The cost of caring for them in their own homes was something over $9,000,000 and the cost of administration considerably less than half a million. While the saving of money is always an important consideration, if we have any regard for the taxpayers' pocketbooks, it is interesting to note that it costs less to do the best thing for the children, keeping them home under their mother's care, than it costs to make other provision for their support.

Here and there attempts are still made to bring the administration of these laws under organized charity or welfare groups. I have always firmly believed that every attempt to clothe this work with a charitable atmosphere should be discouraged. We are conserving the state's greatest assets when we aid these children and the work must be kept out of the realm of public charity because it is not charity. It is the duty of the state to reach its strong arm into the family life when the breadwinner is taken away, as the highest form of conserving and developing the best in the state.

BUFFALO HUNT TO BE IN NOVEMBER

on the ranch for many years, will accompany the hunters into the ranch to give them protection from the wild animals. The buffalo is a fierce fighter and always makes an attack when hunted.

Many young animals are to be sold to parks and zoos. It is expected that several of the animals will be purchased by old ranchmen who have been devoted to the buffalo for many years. It is also planned to have a large number of Indian braves from the Kiowa tribe attend the hunt and one of their number will be permitted to kill an old bull with a bow and arrow. Motion pictures are to be made of the hunt.

The grazing grounds of the Goodnight buffalo herd are the most scenic in Northwest Texas. The country is extremely rough, with many peaks 3,000 feet above sea level. There are canyons and gorges from 300 to 500 feet in depth. The ranch headquarters near the Goodnight railroad station will be used as quarters for the hunters.

The hunt will be in charge of Fred L. Haskett, veteran newspaper man of Childress, who has been a frequent visitor to the ranch for the past 35 years. Mr. Haskett will maintain headquarters for the hunt in both Wichita Falls and Dallas. In the Dallas office will be displayed many choice mounted heads and robes, some being as fine specimens as are in existence.

HUNDREDS OF WORKERS IMPERILED BY FIRE IN HIGH OFFICE BUILDING

CHICAGO, July 25. (INS)—Hundreds of workers' lives were imperiled today when a fire broke out in a 16-story office building.

The fire broke out in a vent shaft, sending clouds of smoke through the corridors and stairways. Building officials said that no one was hurt.

BANK OF ENGLAND SELLS $18,866,250 WORTH GOLD

LONDON, July 25. (INS)—The Bank of England today sold $18,866,250 worth of gold, most of the yellow metal going to France. The exchange rate of the pound sterling showed signs of improvement.

The French deposits in London were estimated today at $750,000,000, at their peak, and it was estimated $200,000,000 of this amount had been withdrawn during the past 10 or 12 days.

London newspapers today criticised France for initiating the gold run on the Bank of England, declaring that this action was jeopardising the success of the proposals for aiding Germany drawn up at the London seven-power conference.

It All Depends on the Point of View —By James J. Montague

But spose you was to see a kinda people you never seen before. Then how wouldya know where you was?

I'd drop a note an ast 'em who they was.

Sanford—You gotta handit to what guys?

Merton—Them guys Post an' Gatty.

Sanford—You mean them flyin' guys?

Merton—Sure. The ones that went round the woild in 10 days.

Sanford—Why shouldn't they have gone around the woild in 10 days? Should they have took 11?

Merton—Nobody ever done it before.

Sanford—Nobody never done a lot of things before that people is doin' now. Nobody ever built the biggest skyscraper before till Al Smith done it. Bein' foist in anything don't mean nothin'.

Merton—Well, Columbus got hisself a rep out of it. So did Linboig.

Sanford—Yeah, but all this boids hadda do was to climb into planes that Wright invented an' that other guys made, an' start 'em goin' till they got around the woild.

Merton—I spose it wasn't nothin' to know where they was all the time, an' where to go from there.

Sanford—Sure it wasn't nuttin'. Why should it be anything?

Merton—Suppose you was to git into a plane, if you wasn't too dumb to run one of 'em—how would you know when you took a slant down at the woild whether you was in Russia or Senegambia?

Sanford—That's easy enough. If I seen Bolsheviks in a place I'd say to myself "That's Russia, on account of them Bolsheviks bein' there. If I seen colored boys, I'd say: "That must be Senegambia on account of all them smokes."

Merton—But spose you was to see a kinda people you never seen before. Then how wouldya know where you was?

Sanford—I'd drop a note down an' ast 'em who they was.

Merton—But they wouldn't be able to read what you'd wrote in it.

Sanford—They'd take it to the city hall or somewhere an' git it translated. Then they'd signal to me the name of the town, and I'd look on the map an' locate it, an' go the right way out of it.

Merton—So you think them guys ain't got no credit comin' to 'em?

Sanford—They got credit comin' to 'em, but not like Columbus got. When he started out nobody knew the woild was even round, so he hadda know when to turn to start back if he come to the jumpin' off place.

Merton—So you don't hand them guys nuttin' hey?

Sanford—Sure I handem sompin'. They had their noive. An' noive counts. But where would they be without Wright to invent a plane for 'em, that's what I want to know?

Merton—If Wright hadn't of invented a plane somebody else would of. As soon as it gets time to invent somepin', somebody iffvents it. Look at Edison.

Sanford—Yeah. Look at Edison, an' your prob'ly wouldn't give him so much because you'd figure anybody could have invented the electric light an' the phonograph an' the movies.

Merton—Edison never invented no movies.

Sanford—Well, he must of started inventin' them, because ye never haddem before he begun to invent things.

Merton—The trouble with you is you're iggorant.

Sanford—I notice I get a raise every year, an' that's more'n anybody else in the shippin' department gets.

Merton—Well you don't read nothin'. You don't keep up to the times. Why don't you go to some night school an' find out what's goin' on in the woild?

Sanford—Lissen. I learned the shippin' clerk business in a day school. I didn't have to go to no night school because I was wokin' nights in them days.

Merton—But you ain't broadminded enough to trow a coupla flowers to two guys what starts out of N'Yawk in the mornin' an' gits home again in 10 days after havin' seen everythin' they is to see on the whole woild.

Sanford—Who said they seen everythin' they was to see? They didn't see no Chinese or Russian or Senegambian pitcher shows, did they?

Merton—I ain't sayin' they did. But they seen a lot of different countries, an' they travelled 1,500 miles, an' they got right back to the spot where they started.

Sanford—What of it? Anybody could have did that if he had just kep' his plane goin' east all the time.

Merton—Howabout winds blowin' him in different directions? How about his seen' guys in long coats an' thinkin' they was Russians when they was A-rabs? You gotta be smart to do a job like that.

Sanford—But now they done, what have they got?

Merton—A big rep, anyway. An' they have proved it can be done.

Sanford—Well, can't you telephone around the world in a coupla minutes, an' won't this here television let you see around the woild in the same time?

Merton—Yeah—but what's that got to do with it?

Sanford—Well, it shows you that these guys ain't so much after all, but start out an' fly in a straight line till they get home again.

Merton—I guess you're right, Sanford. It probably does. But I ain't never looked at it in that light before.

Sanford—That's all right. You got your good points, even if you ain't a deep thinker like I am.

THE WICHITA VALLEY FARMER

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE FARMER, DAIRYMAN, POULTRY RAISER AND FRUIT AND TRUCK GROWER

CARING FOR CREAM IN WARM WEATHER FOUND PROFITABLE

In spite of present low prices for dairy products, the dairy farmer will find that it pays him to maintain the quality of the cream he sells during the hot months. Farm and Ranch offers some simple rules for taking care of cream:

There are a few simple rules which, if followed, will greatly aid in the production and marketing of good cream. First the cows should be thoroughly clean before milking. The milker should have clean hands and clean clothes. The milk pail should be of approved type and absolutely free of dirt, made so by a thorough washing and scalding and by sunshine. It is very necessary that the cream separator be given the closest inspection. Every precaution should be taken to assure absence of grease or dirt of any kind.

After passing the milk through the separator the cream should be placed in a can, or preferably, a large stone jar and placed in a cool place, being covered to keep out the dust, insects or other foreign matter. If ice is not available, a tank of cool water will do. This cream should be stirred at least three times a day during the hot months, and when placed in a can for delivery, the can should be wrapped with a wet cloth. The cloth should be kept wet until the cream is actually delivered. Evaporation will keep it cool.

That seems to be a lot of trouble to go to at a time when prices are unattractive, but we must remember that if we keep low grade products off the market, consumption will increase, which, in turn will improve the price situation.

BLACK-EYED PEAS, CANNED IN TEXAS, ON LOCAL MARKETS

The fact that Texas black-eyed peas are now being canned and sold has attracted local attention to the possibilities of this crop. A small canning plant at Brownwood puts up the young peas, canned with their hulls like snap beans, and they are finding a ready market.

In view of the fact that the peas can be readily grown in the valley, the feasibility of a small canning plant to handle them and other local products is receiving some consideration here. It is believed that such a plant could aid valley development in several ways.

FIFTH CAMP CONCERT TO FEATURE WATER MOTIF

It will open with the orchestra playing "To the Sea" which was written by Edward MacDowell, America's great composer. TULSA LOAN COMPANY LOSES $800 IN ROBBERY

TULSA, Okla., July 25. (UP)—An unmasked bandit robbed the Majestic Loan company of $800 dollars in a daring holdup today and escaped in the traffic rush.

No trace of the bandit had been found.

Arizona Hotels Prosper

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP)—Arizona, with its population of less than half a million, enjoys an annual hotel business of more than $6,000,000, a chamber of commerce survey disclosed. A large portion of the hotel income is from eastern visitors who spend the winters in southern Arizona, with the summer business of the northern highlands swelling the volume considerably.

WISE AND MONTAGUE COUNTY CANTALOUPE SHIPPING SEASON AT ITS HEIGHT

Picture No. 1 shows the packing shed at Sunset, and the big pile of crates. Picture No. 2 shows part of a two-block line of farm trucks waiting to unload their cantaloupes at Decatur. Picture No. 3 shows the packing shed at Alvord. A scene in the packing shed at Bowie is pictured in No. 4. Some specimens of Chico's enormous crop are shown in No. 5.

The cantaloupe movement in Wise and Montague counties has been at its height during the past week, with more than 200 cars already moved out.

The total on Wednesday night was 187 cars, and several dozen cars have moved since then. The shipments up to Wednesday night were: Bowie, 16; Sunset, 9; Alvord, 19; Decatur, 30; Bridgeport, 19; Park Springs, 11; Paradise, 10; Boyd, 28; Chico, 64.

In each of these communities one may see long lines of wagons and farm trucks loaded with cantaloupes, awaiting their turns at the packing sheds. In Decatur Wednesday the line was more than two blocks long.

Most of the melons are sold on a commission basis, but some cash buyers are also in the field. Owing to the fact that many of the season's cantaloupes are going to New York City and to New England, a longer time elapses before returns are made and this has caused some dissatisfaction.

At Alvord, the first carload of watermelons was moved Wednesday. J. R. Adcock, who is largely responsible for the development of the watermelon industry in the Alvord vicinity, is handling the shipments.

Every Day Life of the Farmer's Wife

Well folks! I am going to talk to you this week about what I call farm pests and I don't mean boll weevils or pests of that sort. The pests I mean are those two-legged pests who peddle some quack remedy and call themselves agents. I am sorry to say that there are still a lot of farm folks so weak minded that they will patronize these quacks. Only last week one came to my door. He had a bottle of flavoring and a can of pie filling which he was selling for $1.60 and giving a prize to get you to buy them. The prize could be bought at any 5 and 10-cent store for 10 cents and I learned several years ago, to my sorrow, that the pie filling was nothing but corn starch, so you get the flavoring for your $1.60. I think that is pretty high for flavoring when I can go to my groceryman and get enough for 10 or 15 cents to do me three or four months. I can buy a setting of eggs from what is left from that $1.60, set them under a hen and by the time I have used my 15-cent bottle of flavoring I would have at least 10 chickens large enough to fry. If I had bought the agent's flavoring I would have had all my money tied up where 15 cents would do, and no chickens.

We farmers must learn to look out for ourselves. If we make a dime there is always somebody just around the corner with a little colored water, called flavoring, or a little mutton tallow, called salve, or some other fake scheme, waiting to get it. Now folks, let's not patronize such peddlers. If we are going to buy a thing let us go to a reliable place to buy it. When an agent comes to your door just tell him very plainly that you are not interested and there is no use in wasting his time and yours. That will usually get rid of them. Don't ever let an agent get in your door, for you may be one of those weak-willed persons whom he can hypnotize with his high powered sale talk.

One agent that it takes all my will power to keep from sicking the dogs on is one of those slick talking ones that enlarge photographs. They will use any kind of a guise to get in the house then they will almost take a photograph when you are telling them all the time they can't have it. Then when they bring the enlarged one back it will looks like it has been done with crayons and smut. The person who took the photograph to enlarge will never be the one who brings it back. They always manage to have a different man to do that. When you want any kind of photographs made go to some reliable studio and get information about the work. Don't patronize quacks.

Another kind of agent that we farm folks can scarcely ever miss is the poultry remedy agent. One came to my door about a month ago. He said he had the most wonderful remedy that had ever been discovered. It was a fluid to put in the chicken's drinking water. It would kill all the insects on them and give them such vigor that they would each lay two eggs almost every day. He probably meant the entire flock would lay two eggs if the flock was large enough. When I asked him if the county agent would recommend his remedy he said he didn't know, so I told him I would just keep on using sodium fluoride and black leaf 40 until he found out. I have not seen him since.

Now folks, for goodness sakes let us wake up and quit letting these slick-tongue visitors get half we make, for nothing. They are so scheming that they will gladly take poultry in exchange for their fake, for they know farm women hardly ever have any ready cash. The farmers of Texas are fleeced out of thousands of dollars each year by these slick tongued pests.

I want to mention another fake that takes thousands of dollars from rural people each year and that is fake advertising. When you pick up a farm paper and there is a whole page devoted to some fake ad that reads: "Find the seven faces." Or "Find the twins," don't bite. Anybody could do it, they just want to get your name and get you to take subscriptions for some unknown paper or sell some worthless article. I knew one old lady who answered one of those picture puzzles and the poor old lady worked early and late for three months trying to sell something, she walked miles every day. They were going to give her lumber for an eight-room house and a carpenter to build it, if she won the contest. They would write her flowery letters telling her she was in the lead, that the house was practically hers, but she must keep on working until the contest closed so no one would get ahead of her and about every three weeks they would send her a shining bright teaspoon. The old soul got five of those spoons for her trouble.

I must tell you of another victim of advertising, and from our own community, which happened last fall. A man with a wife and six children whose only means of support was picking cotton at 50 cents per hundred answered one of those scheming advertisements which wanted him to name something. He sent in a name, and, of course, in a few days got a lot of literature telling him that he had a good chance to win a large cash prize, but first he must get a few subscriptions to a certain paper. This poor man was uneducated, he could scarcely write his name, and he believed everything they told him. He immediately planned all the things he would do with the cash prize, and while his poor little children were in the cotton patch picking cotton he was out trying to get subscriptions. He actually believed he would get the money, in fact, he was so sure of it that he used the money his poor little children had earned picking cotton and entered several people's names from this community on his subscription list. There should be a law to protect the weak minded from such fakes as that. One way we can help protect them is when a paper comes to your home which contains a scheme like that, just write the editor a nice letter containing the advertisement clipped from the paper and tell him if he intends to run such advertisements like that you don't want his paper in your home. If an editor received about 10,000 such letters I imagine he would be more careful about his advertisements.

The man who owns the paper in which ran the fake scheme that I have just related is one whom you would all know if I should give his name. Although he is not the editor, he owns it and must be aware of the many fake advertisements which the paper contains. I have watched his periodicals for years and I have never seen so many fake advertisements to get the poor illiterate people's money.

I have heard that the man who owns this paper is to be a candidate for president on the Republican ticket in the next campaign. Every one says he is a fine man, and he does have a good public record. Of course, I am a Democrat, and if I hear of any of my Democrat friends threatening to bolt and vote for that man I will tell them the incident I have just given to you.

Daughter of Dowager Queen Marie And Prince Anton of Hapsburgh to Be Married in Rumania Sunday

SINAIA, Rumania, July 25. (AP)—The summer castle of the royal family is gay with flags and flowers—the town is thronged with visitors—everywhere big limousines—everywhere brave uniforms—for the prince and the princess will be married tomorrow.

Ileana, daughter of Dowager Queen Marie, and Prince Anton of Hapsburg, whose bride she will become, were happy and sparkling today as they welcomed their arriving guests.

Sinaia forgot everything else and gave itself over to romance. Crowd watched for every move of the wedding party, and on the slightest provocation there were shouts of "Long live Ileana, child of the people."

At the palace of Pelesch the trousseau was displayed, along with the almost countless gifts Ileana and her airman prince have received from foreign governments, ministers, friends and relatives.

A stately dinner and reception were the principal items on today's program, and at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning the wedding ceremonies will begin.

At that hour the civil marriage will be performed at the palace by the minister of justice in the presence of the royal family and the court.

An hour later, in the vestibule of the castle, the religious ceremony will be held. At noon King Carol, Dowager Queen Marie and little Prince Michael will accompany the bride and bridegroom to Prahova, where a wreath will be laid on the graves of soldiers killed in the wear.

The wedding breakfast will be held at 12:30 p. m., and immediately afterward Anton and Ileana will leave for a dreamy castle in the hills of southern Germany near Munich, where they will spend their honeymoon.

Queen Helen, sister-in-law of Ileana and former wife of King Carol, is the only member of the Hapsburg and Rumanian houses not invited to the ceremonies. She is in London.

The king, at first reported opposed to the match, has indicated his present sentiments by presenting the couple with an airplane. Anton is an expert pilot and has given lessons in flying to Ileana.

Soviets Startled By Sharp Tongues Of British Guests

MOSCOW, July 25. (UP)—Serious workers among Soviet leaders were bewildered by George Bernard Shaw, Irish wit and playwright, here on a holiday tour.

Shaw and Lady Astor, American-born member of the British parliament, listened to serious speeches by their Russian friends and their conter remarks left the Russians puzzled.

Shaw, blue eyes twinkling, for example at a Russian factory commented:

"The more I see of the proletarians, the more I thank God I am not one of them."

Later, at a garden party at the British embassy, Karl Radek, Soviet leader remarked:

"American gave the world only dentristry."

"How about the American machinery you're importing?" retorted Lady Astor, herself from Virginia.

The Soviets had expected better treatment at the tongues of their guests, for both Shaw and Lady Astor have been inclined toward liberalism.

Lady Astor commented to the United Press:

"The Russians have many fine qualities, but they seem dreadfully meek. The English proletarians are independent. They have guts and won't be driven like the Russians, even when it is good for them.

SMOKE FROM TRASH FIRE DAMAGES QUANAH STORE

QUANAH, Texas, July 25.—Several thousand dollars worth of merchandise in The Famous, dry goods and ladies' ready-to-wear store of W. L. Cook was slightly damaged by smoke Thursday night from a fire which started in a pile of trash and paper in the alley for removal by the trash man early Friday morning. It is believed a cigaret stub or match of some smoker was carelessly dropped, setting the trash on fire. Ed Hagood, city marshall, discovered the fire in passing along the front of the store on Main street. Chemicals thrown against a back window of the store broke the window and allowed the smoke to enter the building.

FIVE FORD EMPLOYES SUFFOCATE WHEN TIDE CUTS OFF AIR SUPPLY

DAGENHAM, England, July 25. (INS)—A caisson which they were sinking in the Beam river at the Ford automobile plant here today proved a death chamber for five Ford employes.

The men were engaged in sinking the caisson preparatory to commencing work on a pier for the Ford plant when the rising tide cut off their supply of fresh air. The Beam river flows into the Thames not far from its mouth.

TWO BOYS CHOSEN FOR A. & M. TRIP WILL LEAVE TODAY

Bob McDonald of Iowa Park and Edwin Muller of Burkburnett have been chosen from among the farm boys of the county to make the trip to the farmers short course, which opens at A. & M. college Monday. They will leave Sunday noon with County Agent G. C. McGown.

Both of the boys are among the contestants in the boys' feed-growing competition, and were chosen because of the excellent progress they have made in raising their five-acre plats of feed.

Miss Ethel Luise Webb, county home demonstration agent, and several members of the 4-H clubs, will also attend the short court. Supt. C. H. McDowell of the experiment station and L. E. Brooks, station horticulturist, will be among others from this county to attend.

Reports from 33 out of the 60 boys in the feed growing contest, show an average cost, up to July 1, of $2.57 per acre on irrigated lands and $1.79 on dry land. This includes land preparation, seed, planting, cultivation and irrigation, but not rental. Labor was charged at 10 cents per hour for man labor and five cents per horse-hour.

The boys chosen for the A. & M. trip are guests of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce.

OLDEST MASON IN U. S. DIES IN 106TH YEAR

CHARLTON, Mass., July 25. (UP)—Leprelet Miller Logee, America's oldest Mason, died at the Masonic home here today in his 106th year.

Until he was taken ill three weeks ago, the centenarian, nationally known, had been in remarkable health and had enjoyed strolls in the vicinity of the Masonic home almost daily.

Logee was born in Burrillville, R. I., Feb. 5, 1826. At the age of five he went to work in a cotton mill there and when 19 he became an overseer. His first week's wages totaled 25 cents but six months later he was earning $1 a week.

He became a member of the Jewett City, Conn., Masonic lodge in 1871. Later he became a member of Granite lodge of Whitinsville. He also belonged to several other fraternal organizations.

(INS)—Through tell-tale fingerprints, Elmer Beasley, 28, held here for a week by police on burglary charges, today was identified as a convict who escaped more than three years ago from prison at Canon City, Colo., shortly before he was to have been hanged for the murder of a man during an $800 holdup at Pueblo, according to authorities.

BAGGING THAT HAS MUCH COTTON IN IT BEING URGED HERE

Wichita county cotton growers are being urged to call for bagging made of cotton and jute when they patronize the gins this season. P. Loran of Rhineland, Texas, has been in Wichita Falls for several days taking the matter up with ginners and growers.

The new bagging, which is 60 per cent cotton and 40 per cent jute, will cost 11 to 25 cents a bale more than jute bagging, Mr. Loran says, but he points out that the cotton grower who has it placed on his bales is helping the consumption of cotton to an extent that far more than justifies the slight additional cost.

"This bagging, which is manufactured at Augusta, Ga.," said Mr. Loran, "used about seven pounds of cotton per pattern. The grower who has it put on his bale, at a cost of 25 cents, is really buying seven pounds of cotton for that amount.

"It has been estimated that if a normal cotton crop were to be wrapped in the cotton-jute bagging, it would require 200,000 bales of cotton to supply it. The demand for that many additional bales would have a pronounced effect upon the price of cotton. The new bagging is fully as satisfactory as any other. One advantage of it, to the grower, is that it has no salvage value, as jute and all-cotton fabrics have."

Several local ginners have agreed to cooperate in the movement and to provide the new bagging whenever it is requested.

COTTON LEAF WORM IS EXPECTED HERE ABOUT MID-AUGUST

The cotton leaf worm has made its appearance in Central Texas, according to advices received by County Agent G. C. McGown, and if it moves northward at a normal rate, will reach this section about Aug. 15.

"Farmers should be on the lookout for it," said Mr. McGown, "and start poisoning as soon as they detect any signs of it. A supply of calcium arsenate is already on hand."

PRICE BOOSTS STIMULATE OIL ACTIVITY IN WICHITA DISTRICT

Crude Rises to 3,000 Feet in Martin Well as Developments in Deep Sandy Lime of South Wichita Area Continue

By JIMMIE MAXWELL

A much needed stimulus was added to the district's petroleum industry during the past week when the Continental Oil company announced an advance for crude throughout the mid-continent fields. The boost, which raised the posted price to 40 cents after the producers for the past month had been struggling with the grocer on oil at 20 cents per barrel, was promptly met by the other majors who revised their schedules to conform to the Continental prices.

Local refiners, regardless of the changes made in the major purchasing agencies' prices, continued to pay producers 40 cents per barrel for crude. At no time had these plants lowered their schedules to the 20-cent offer made by the larger concerns. So far, enough crude is being delivered to the plants to meet the daily requirements, but with proration of the greater portion of producing leases in force and a rapid falling off in the district's production, it will be only a short time until a new source of supply to meet the demands for these plants will be necessary.

While development slowed up to some extent in a number of pools throughout the district, operations in the deep lime area of south Wichita county continued to hold the interest of the fraternity.

Six Deep Tests

Of these six deep tests, the most promising for the completion of a producer is Jack Martin and associates' No. 1, located in Kemp City townsite, which is bailing out the hole with approximately 3,000 feet of oil. This well is one mile south of the Deep Oil No. 1 Munger discovery well and is showing all the earmarks of a nice producer. The saturated lime was topped at 3855 feet about 10 days ago and showed oil and gas. Casing was set and later 24 feet of the pay was cored. Friday bailing and cleaning out commenced. Saturday reports showed the bailer within 200 feet of bottom. With the hole cleaned out, the owners plan to drill several feet more pay before completion. No estimate has been made, but indications are that its output may reach 500 to 700 barrels.

Two miles south of this test in north Archer county, Shappell Oil company's No. 1 W. P. Ferguson in the E. Patterson survey late Friday night completed its fishing job at 2430 feet and will start back in the hole. The test, a rank wildcat, picked up the limy sand at 3815 feet, about the same elevation as found in the Deep Oil Development well three miles northwest, and showed both oil and gas. Pipe was set and when ready to drill out the plug had the misfortune to have a joint collapse at 2430 feet, halting further operations. For the past three weeks, different methods were attempted to get tools back into the hole. Friday the drill cut through and the greater part of Shap's troubles were over. The hole will be cleared of the remainder of iron and a string of 5 3-16 pipe will be run to the sand and cemented.

Test Sandy Lime

Northwest of the pool's discovery well one and a quarter miles, Wayne Hammon's No. 3 J. H. Bradley in the S. Holloway survey took a five-foot core of sandy lime at 3692 feet that showed traces of oil but later passed through and picked up the hard lime which usually tops the saturated formations in this area. The well is being watched closely and progress in the next 50 to 75 feet is expected to bring forth some interesting news.

The Primrose Refining company closed a deal with the Consolidated Oil company whereby it will take over a half interest in the latter's holdings and test in block 31, Wichita valley farm lands, one and a quarter miles northeast of the Martin test. The well has been shut down for some time at a depth of 2290 feet, and the work of continuing to the 3800-foot sand will be started in the next week.

One mile due south of the Shappell test, Marshall & Lewis in S. P. R. R. survey, abstract 1148, W. P. Ferguson land, is shut down at 1686 feet waiting on the outcome of a test in the Shappell well.

Three miles northeast of the Munger producer, Mid-Continent Holding's No. 10 Burnside, in the Sharpe survey, completed its fishing job for a drill stem at 2418 feet and is drilling ahead.

Another feature in the week's development was the completion of the Brazos River Gas company's No. 1 Mrs. York south of Bryson in Jack county, flowing 800 barrels of oil and accompanied by 10,000,000 cubic feet of gas. The well, which is in the S. P. R. R. survey, abstract 552, topped the sand at 2902 and drilled three feet. The well is the best reported in the county since the extensive development of the pool north of Bryson was under way two years ago.

Low prices and proration have slowed up the greater part of operations in the shallower fields throughout the district and only a few spudder tests are in actual operation.

Pipe line runs for the week ended Saturday averaged 56,335 barrels per day, a loss of 3,279 barrels daily under the preceding seven-day figure. Shutting down of many wells, and proration of runs were responsible for the drop.

WILDCAT FINDS OIL SHOWING IN TERRELL FIELD

Crude Rises 1,000 Feet in Ward County Well

PRODUCTION GAINS FROM DEEPEST POOL

Many Operations Shut in To Await Improved Market

SAN ANGELO, Texas, July 25.—A flow by one Ward county well and rising of oil 1000 feet the first 12 hours in another, a showing of free oil in a Terrell county wildcat and an increase of approximately 4,762 barrels in daily average production by the world's deepest producers in Reagan county due to the gain upon deepening of Big Lake Oil company's No. 1-C University were among this week's oil developments in West Texas.

Shut down much of the time since it struck oil estimated at 15 to 20 barrels daily and an estimated 100,000 cubic feet of gas at 4000 feet on May 25, J. D. Wesner's No. 1 W. R. Nicks in Schleicher county deepened to 4028 feet without increase. Brown sandy lime was 26 feet thick, changing to shale at 4026, but carried insufficient oil and gas to make the county's first well. Eight and a quarter-inch casing was to have been underreamed Friday from 4006 to 4028 feet and cemented to shut off water from 2900 feet, which was leaking through a packer set 30 feet from the bottom of the pipe.

Prospects of production in Landreth Production corporation's No. 1 Alley, southwestern Gaines county wildcat, were dimmed when it encountered one-half bailer of sulphur water hourly at 4635 feet after obtaining only small oil shows from 4527-37 feet, from 4570-80 and from 5995 to 4607 feet. The water virtually had exhausted when drilling reached 4680 feet but at that depth the wildcat was 597 feet in the lime, if 4083 is accepted as the top, and 1222 feet below sea level. No. 1 Alley ran higher structurally than tests flanking it on the east and west and showed promise in striking an estimated 100,000 to 250,000 cubic feet of gas daily at 4319 feet (corrected from 4306). Location is in section 2, block A-30, public school land, 12 miles southeast of the Hobbs field in Lea county, New Mexico.

No further removal of West Texas crude from the market was reported after the plugging of 14 wells in Upton county, four in Crockett county and two in Crane county and the shutting in of five producers in Crane county and seven in Crockett county because the present price of oil—10 cents a barrel—is below the cost of production. Despite this and claims that present distressed conditions are due to overproduction, daily allowable production in the Penn pool in Ector county was raised 1,728 barrels to 5,855 barrels for the last half of July and the Penn Oil company of Dallas, of which Robert R. Penn, chairman of the statewide proration committee, is president, began moving in materials for a scheduled 5000-foot wildcat in Cochran county. This test will be No. 1 Slaughter, 1362 feet, 8 inches, north of the center of the south line of labor 80, league 129, Carson county school land. Drilling is in fulfillment of an obligation made when Penn acquired the block.

Acquire Leases

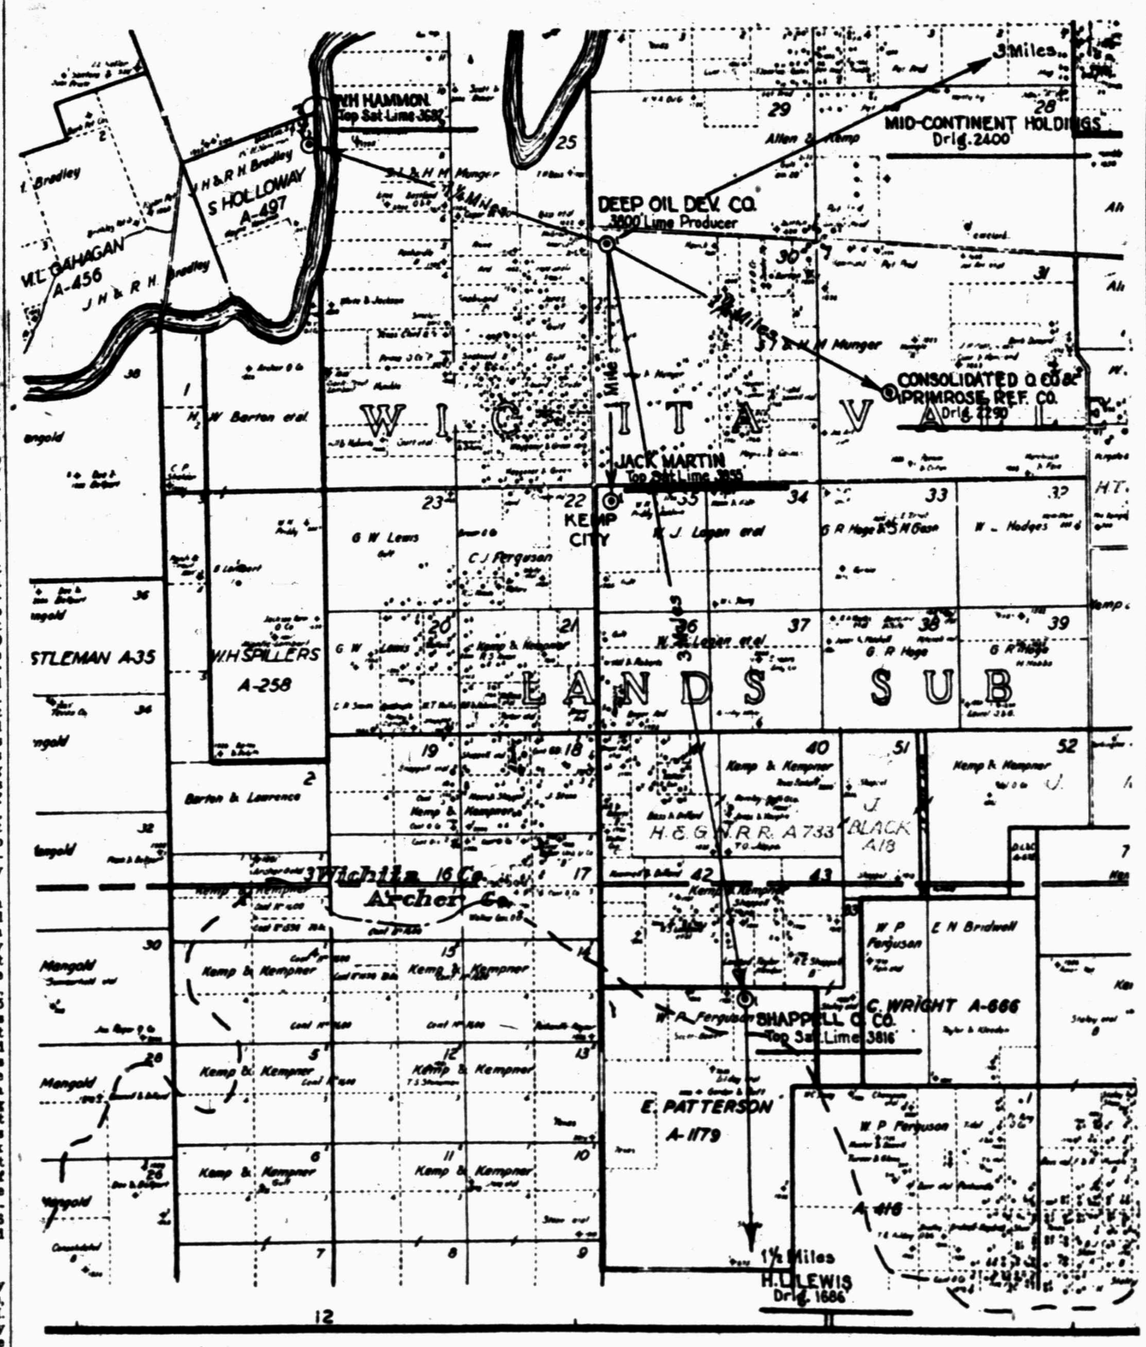

Casteel & McCurdy have acquired from Elliott Cowden of Midland leases on 1,934 acres in Ector county, part of the consideration being the spudding by Oct. 2 of a test that will be drilled to 4500 feet or sulphur water in the lime. The drilling contract is reported to have been awarded to Bert Weekley. The wildcat probably will be in the northwest quarter of section 33, block 43, township 2 south, T. & P. Ry. Co. survey, four miles southeast of Galt-Brown and Penn's No. 1 Cowden, which recently was abandoned dry at 4430 feet.

Vic Morton's No. 1 Boogher on the south edge of Grandfalls in Ward county struck 100,000 cubic feet of gas at 2104 feet, topped the pay at 2155 feet, drilled to 2160 feet and filled 1000 feet with oil in 12 hours. It was estimated good for about 25 barrels daily. The well is in east corner of section 7, block 32, H. & T. C. Ry. Co. survey. Gulf Production company's No. 2 Hutchins, in section 3, block F, G. M. M. B. & A. survey, one mile east and slightly south of Gulf No. 4 O'Brien, topped the pay at 2552 feet, drilled to 2565 feet and had made one flow into the pit. The oil tested 33.4 gravity. Cleaning out was under way after a bailer was recovered. Rector Oil corporation's No. 1 Sealy-Smith, wildcat four miles northeast of Monahans in section 22, block A, G. M. M. B. & A. survey, had drilled to 3020 feet in anhydrite and lime without shows.

Jones and others' (formerly Wooley & Jones) No. 1 Pankenham, Terrell county wildcat in section 43, block B-2, G. C. & S. F. Ry. Co. survey, picked up a showing of live oil at 2235 feet in lime, which was topped at 1690 feet, and shut down there. Elevation is 2587 feet. The test is about 16 miles north and seven miles west of Mid-Kansas Oil & Gas company's No. 1 Goode, which last February struck a flood 6,500,000 cubic feet of dry,

WICHITA-ARCHER DEEP OIL AREA

Above is a plat of the new deep producing area located in the southern portion of Wichita county and the section of north Archer county within the trend of the recently discovered saturated lime formations. This map shows the six most important deep tests now drilling, the depth at which the saturated sands were encountered and the present conditions. Distances from the Deep Oil Development company, No. 1 Munger, discovery well are indicated by arrows.

Since completion of the Munger discovery well from the sandy lime at 3800 feet three other important tests have picked up the formation and in each case indications point to important extensions to the oil bearing horizon in the field.

Map also shows location of hundreds of wells drilled in what was known as the old K. M. A. field during the hectic days of 1920-21, all producing from the 1690 to 1700-foot sands.

TWIN FORCES IN OKLAHOMA TRY TO RAISE OIL PRICES

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 25. (AP)—Two forces were aligned in Oklahoma oil circles today for a final test in the attempt to break the hold of low prices.

Attention was centered on the Sinclair Oil and Gas company, the only major purchaser of crude in the mid-continent area not meeting the 42 cent top price posted yesterday. The company remained on its own low price of 22 cents a barrel.

The allowable for the Sinclair company in the Oklahoma City field has been cleared and all wells except one work-over job were shut in and will remain closed until Aug. 1. This leaves the company without a supply of crude from Oklahoma fields.

Harry Sinclair, chief of the large corporation, was in Tulsa over the week-end, holding conferences. Oil men understood he was preparing to oppose any effort by Governor Murray to order and enforce a shutdown.

The Sinclair company has just completed a connecting pipe line to the Prairie Pipe Line trunk system from Central Texas to Chicago, and was expected to start running East Texas crude across Oklahoma to its Kansas and northern refineries.

A report by Otto Bradford, umpire of the Oklahoma City field, showed that the field had produced but slightly more than half of its allowable for the month of July, when the stringent curtailment became effective.

Of a total allowable of 3,008,548 barrels allowed to be run in July, there remained to be run 3,138,137 barrels, the report, as of July 22, showed. It was indicated that the shutdown would leave about 2,500,000 barrels under produced in the field at the end of the month.

Thirty-two of the 56 companies owning production in the pool were under produced and 14 were over produced as of July 22.

Bradford explained that companies joining the shutdown would not lose the amount of oil allowed for shutdown time. The accumulation will be carried forward until the curtailment period terminates.

Lon Development company's No. 1 A. F. Jones, located in B. B. B. & C. R. R. survey, abstract 177, in Cooke county, is shut down at a depth of 1700 feet.

Wichita District Refineries Meet Advanced Prices

WICHITA FALLS, Texas, July —Five independent refiners in the Wichita Falls district today had established prices corresponding with those posted yesterday by the Humble Oil and Refining company at Houston.

Olney Oil and Refining company, Waggoner Refining company, Dale Refining company and American Refining properties posted prices of 35 cents per barrel for oil below 36 gravity and 40 cents for oil above 36 gravity.

Panhandle Refining company quoted 53½ cents per barrel for all North Texas oil f. o. b. refinery.

Roy Ling and others' No. 1 W. T. Wade, a wildcat test located in the west 40 of the north 80 acres of block 12, Dailey survey, abstract 107, south Clay county east of Joy townsite, is drilling at 2210 feet.

Shutting of Wells for Better Prices And Proration Lower Pipe Line Runs

Pipe line runs from the different pools of the Wichita Falls district, and four counties representing the North Texas division for the week ended Saturday, July 25, registered an average of 62,170 barrels daily, a decrease of 3,330 barrels per day compared with the previous seven-day period. Proration and shutting down of many wells on the producing leases for better prices are the prime factors in the loss.

Nine counties of the Wichita Falls district averaged 56,335 barrels per day, a slump of approximately 3,279 barrels daily under the movement in the preceding week.

TATUMS FIELD STILL BUSIEST IN ITS SECTION

TEST AWAITING CEMENT EASTERN EDGE OF FIELD

Others Proceeding Toward Expected Pay Sands at Various Depths

ARDMORE, Okla., July 25.—Three drilling wells and one test shut down waiting on cement to set after reaching the pay sands, constitute the operations at the close of the past week for the Tatums district of Carter county. However, the field still leads the southern part of the state in drilling activity, as practically all other fields are shut down entirely.

The Carter Oil company, Edwin B. Cox and Jake L. Hamon No. 1 J. B. Spraggins in the northwest corner of the southwest of 19-1s-3w, on the extreme eastern edge of the field, is shut down waiting on cement to set at 1780 feet on a series of oil sands logged between that depth and total depth at 1946 feet.

Magnolia Petroleum company's No. 5 Mose Dickerson in the northeast corner of the southwest of 24-1s-3w, west offset to the Carter Oil company and others test which is now waiting on cement to set, was drilling at 1420 feet.

Frank Gouin and W. D. Oil company, Duncan, No. 1 M. E. Burton, in the center of the south half of the southwest of 30-1s-2w, approximately three-fourths of a mile south of the producing area, was drilling at 1670 feet in hard lime.

The Carter Oil company has completed derrick for No. 4 Franklin in the center of the northeast corner of 24-1s-3w, on the northeastern edge of production.

D. B. Malernee Oil company's No. 1 Wacker in the northeast of the southwest of the southeast of 24-2s-2w, near Elmore City in Garvin county, was shut down for water with total depth at 4818 feet in brown shale.

Skinner and others' No. 1 Elrod in the southwest corner of 13-2s-3w, was shut down at 1120 feet.

Shut Down at 3930

The Monarch Petroleum corporation's No. 1 Gregg in the southwest corner of 36-3s-4w, Jefferson county test a mile west of production in the old Healdton field of western Carter county, was still shut down at 3930 feet waiting on orders.

Joe Barrett and J. E. McCarty and others' No. 1 Sims in the northeast corner of the southeast of 23-2s-2w, shallow test just southeast of production in the old Ed Cox field, Carter county, was reported as drilling below 200 feet.

Mid-Kansas Oil and Gas company and Ramsey Petroleum corporation No. 6 Preston-Culp in the northwest of the northeast of the northwest of 6-5n-9w, deep test in the Cement field, Caddo county, was drilling in sandy shale at 8730 feet.

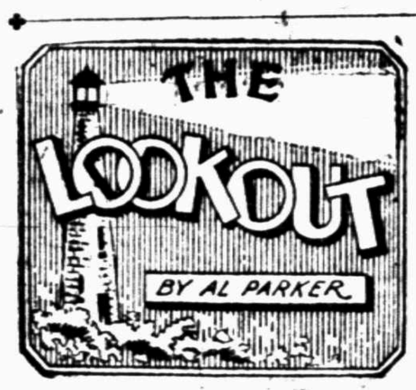

Production of the Schermerhorn interests in Southern Oklahoma and West Texas has been cut 50 per cent of proration allowance, and the company has shut in entirely its wells in Kansas. The reduction of runs cuts off about 2,300 barrels daily.

Royalty owners are reported as cooperating in an appreciable manner in the shutdown, preferring to await a better price rather than have it sold at the present low figure. In West Texas, the royalty owners are requesting operators to shut down. Southern Oklahoma royalty owners are also favoring the move.

Although Southern Oklahoma operators recently decided to await action at Oklahoma City and East Texas before agreeing to shut down entirely, individual operators may handle their production as they desire.

SPUDDERS END SWAT DROUTH TO TAKE OPENER FROM SPORTS

There may be better pitchers—we can name at least one—in the Texas league than Dick McCabe, Fort Worth's right-hander who has found a fountain of youth in Texas, but the league harbors not one who presents so beautiful a picture while plying his trade from the pitcher's rubber. But for the fact that he usually wins his game for the enemy Panthers, we'd rather watch him pitch a game than any moundster we have ever gazed upon in this or any other league. McCabe is not blessed with any particular delivery that baffles the hitters. His fast ball hasn't the steam that most of the league's pitchers employ. His curve ball is not to be compared with those of at least two Spudders, Milt Steengrafe and Lester White. His change of pace is good, but hardly as dangerous a weapon as Bob Cooney's slow one.

In one respect, however, McCabe is without an equal in this league. No rival can match his uncanny control. His game against Beaumont Thursday at Beaumont was a typical McCabe performance. He shut out the Exporters, though allowing seven hits. He didn't fan one of the opposing batsmen, but he walked only one. That's McCabe all over. He doesn't register many whiffs because he's not that kind of pitcher. He doesn't have the stuff to throw the ball past the hitter, but he does have the control to throw it where he wants it. The hitters get mighty few fat ones to swing on when McCabe is on the firing line. But his success in winning games and fooling the hitters is not the quality that makes him the ideal pitcher to watch from a seat in the grandstand.

McCabe's pitching is a picture because of its smoothness, the rhythm of every move he puts into his delivery and the speed and precision with which he goes about his work. There is neither lost motion nor lost time in this old-timer's pitching. He gets the signal from his catcher and with no frills at all sends the ball back with a dare to the batsman. And when he starts it you can bet it will be a strike or a pitch mighty close to the plate that he wants the hitter to go after. There is mighty little guesswork when you are watching him work. His games have been among the fastest in the league this year. He and Bob Cooney locked in a 2 to 0 duel early in the season that required only an hour and 21 minutes for the full nine innings. In his last start here he and Ash Hillin completed eight and one-half innings in one hour and nine minutes. The game rocked along through 11 innings and finally used up something like an hour and 40 minutes.

This Cooney is like McCabe in only one respect. He loses no time in carrying out his chores. If anything Cooney is the faster of the two and a real rival of Joe Kiefer and Carl Williams for speedy pitching. Of the three Kiefer probably is the fastest workman. We doubt if any pitcher ever lived who fired the ball to the catcher any quicker than this former Spudder. Kiefer would grab the return from the catcher, pound the ball into his glove two or three times while he impatiently awaited the receiver's signal, and fired it back with mighty little winding up. In the matter of control Cooney is the opposite of McCabe. Bases on balls usually give him more trouble than opposition hits. His game at Houston the same day McCabe was blanking Beaumont, was an extreme. He walked nine, yet allowed only one earned run. He is not in the habit of passing that many, but he does issue more than his share of free tickets.

Old Tom Estell pulled one of his favorite pitching tricks down at San Antonio the other night; a bit of strategy that is frowned upon by most of the baseball fraternity, but is condoned by others on the theory that "all is fair in love and war." Old Tom beat the Steers, 1 to 0, and this is the stunt he pulled in one of the late innings to get out of a tight spot: With runners on second and third, two out and two strikes on Leo Cotter, Catcher Heath strolled out to the box for a conference with the pitcher. When Heath returned to his position Estell whipped over a quick delivery that caught Cotter off guard. It was a third strike and Tom's troubles were over for the evening. Manager Hap Morse filed an official protest of the game, but there is not one chance in a hundred of the protest being allowed, whether or not the Dallas manager is correct in his claim that Estell had violated the rules in pitching before play was resumed officially.

One feature of the rules that the um-pirates are careless in enforcing hinges on the resumption of play after time has been called or after a dead ball. The rules distinctly state that the um-pirate is to put the ball back in play by announcing "play." Sometimes the um-pirates announce "play," but more often they do not. It leaves the thing open to such a situation as that which caused the disagreement down at San Antonio. In that particular instance the um-pirate might have called "play" and Morse merely might not have heard it, but more than likely hizzoner merely was following out tradition in taking it for granted the pitcher would not attempt to deliver the ball until the batsman was ready. As for the protest, Prexy J. Alvin Gardner has expressed himself numerous times in the past as being unalterably opposed to protests and that he will never allow one if he can find a loophole big enough to squeeze through.

Steers Sign Sandlotter

DALLAS, July 25. (AP)—Bill Atwood, Dallas sandlot graduate, was signed by the Dallas Steer management Saturday. Acquisition of Atwood brings the Steer roster up to the 18 man limit. Atwood is a catcher and outfielder.

Gerken Rings Up Three Steals as Hopefuls Win 7-5

White Bests Shreveport Brace of Chunkers; Double-Header Sunday

The Spudders at least for a day are out of their swat slump. They ricocheted a dozen hits over the turf of Athletic park Saturday, scored seven runs—more than they have amassed in a single game since July 12—and defeated the Shreveport Sports, 7 to 5, in the opener of a series of three games. The final two will be played in a double-header Sunday, starting at 3 o'clock, with Fred Vincent and Tot Pressnell the likely starting chunkers.

It was before a dignified assemblage of something over 100 paid customers; L. C. McEvoy, active head of the St. Louis American league organization, and several hundred youthful players of the city playground leagues, who were guests of the club, that the Spudders gave evidence of routing old Joe Slump and climbing back into the Texas league's pennant scuffle.

Outfielder Rip Radcliff's home run with the bases full in the fifth round constituted the major portion of the damage inflicted upon Lester White, the lanky right-hander pitching a neat enough game after his rest of the last 10 days. The homer was one of only six hits he allowed, and the lone run not scoring on the distance smack was the direct result of the team's only error.

Gerken Steals Three

here this year, stealing second twice and third once. Aside from that little display he handled five chances perfectly in center field, doubled in four trips to the plate and drove in one run with a deep fly to the outfield.

Old Oscar Tuero, a Spudder jinx of long standing, was the chief absorber of the home club's attack, yielding five runs in the first half of the game before he gave way to Pat Moulton's improved brand of chunking. Garms and Allday found both chunkers easy to solve and accounted for three hits each. Shortstop Johnny Wight plucked half of Shreveport's six hits off White.

Both clubs winked at scoring chances in the first when the two lead-off men opened with singles. Wight beat out a hit to deep short and before the inning was over Whelan and Solters had walked to fill the bases, but Geygan and Winegarner fanned and Radcliff's roller was gobbled up by Scharein. After Garms' opening single, Allday flied to left and Stanton skidded into a double play.

Tuero's single with two out in the second failed to help the Sports and Gerkin's double to open the home half likewise was wasted when Bradbury, Fuss and Scharein put more heighth than distance on their pokes.

White Starts Rally

The Sports went away in order in the third and Gerkin in centerfield did it all by himself in the fourth with only a pass to Wade to break the monotony. White broke the ice for the home club with a single with one out in the third. He hustled to third on Garms' single to right and scored on Allday's Texas leaguer to the same sector. Stanton was hit by a pitched ball and Garms counted on Gerkins' fly to deep right.

Three more in the fourth gave the Spudders a 5 to 0 lead. Fuss waited out a pass. Scharein beat out a bunt past the box and both runners took an extra base on Tuero's wild toss the bag. Euller singled past short to score both runners. He advanced on White's sacrifice and Garms' out and scored on Allday's shot past third.

The five-run lead was all but wiped out with one solid whack by Radcliff, a home run over the right field fence with the bases full. Vorhoff, hitting for Tuero, had walked, Wight had popped a single over first and Whelan had walked to bring about the embarrassing situation. White evidently let the pitch get away from him, as he had a count of two strikes and no balls on the hitter.

Error Scores One

Whitey straightened out after the long wallop and retired the next five Sports through the sixth without undue difficulty. Moulton succeeded Tuero on the mound for Shreveport and pitched two scoreless innings. Gerkin walked to start the fifth and stole second after two were out, but to no avail. Three Spudders were retired by the infield in the sixth.

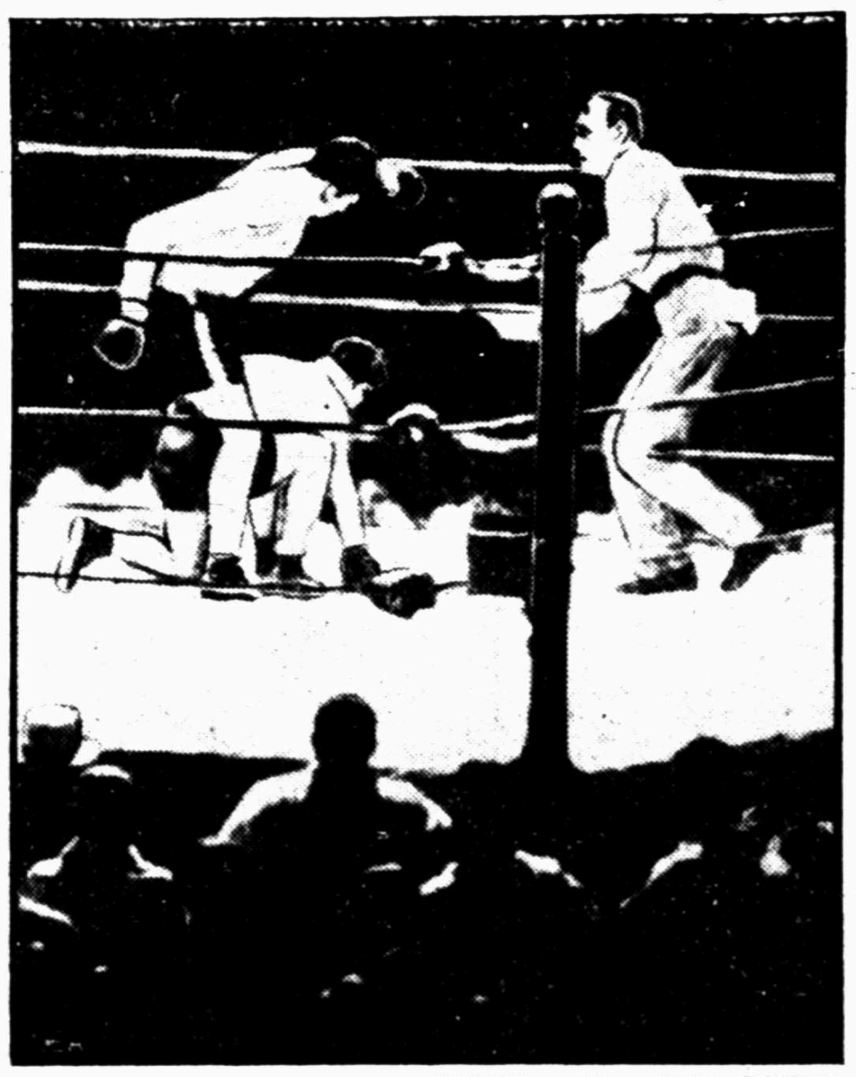

Wight opened Shreveport's seventh with a single, but Geygan bunted into a double play and Garms took Whelan's fly in the shadow of the fence. Gerken's bold thievery helped the Spudders to a 6 to 4 lead at the end of the seventh. He reached first on Wight's error after two were out, stole second and then third on the fourth ball to Bradbury, scoring on Fuss' single to center.

The big guns in the Shreveport batting order, Radcliff, Solters and Winegarner, were handled by the Spudder infield in the eighth. Garms drove his third hit into right with two gone in the last half and Allday followed suit, also his third rap. Stanton drove Garms home with a single to right.

Shreveport scored in the ninth on Rowland's single and Euller's wild chunk to first on Laveque's roller.

NEA Picture. Transmitted by Telephoto.

This picture shows a crucial bit of action as Mickey Walker, essaying the giant-killer role by facing a fighter 29 pounds heavier, was caught off balance and knocked to the floor when Jack Sharkey landed a stiff uppercut in the fifth round of their 15-round bout at Brooklyn, N. Y. Walker, however, bounded to his feet without a count and battered his way to a draw, proving that a good little man is just as good as a good big man, and ending Sharkey's hope for an early match with the champion, Max Schmeling.

Sharkey Reaps Profit From Sorry Showing

NEW YORK, July 25. (AP)—It seems as if the sounding of the curfew bell for Jack Sharkey because of his failure to beat Mickey Walker was a bit premature.

Instead of Walker, the little man, leaping overnight into an armful of golden offers and possibilities, it is the erratic sailor, discredited again by failure to finish more than even with the overstuffed middleweight in 15 rounds, who it besieged with chances to go to work.

Strangely enough, in the eyes of the big league promoters, Sharkey's value as a drawing card has taken a sudden leap because of the fact that a 170-pounder held him even in Ebbets field Wednesday night. Sharkey, they point out, has never been a popular favorite and more cash customers came through the turnstiles to see him take a beating than he ever lured to watch him win.

Now, one explanation is that the bellicose bluejacket, stripped of the aura of invincibility that surrounded him even when he lost to Max Schmeling on a foul in four rounds over a year ago in world title conflict has suddenly been reduced to the stature of an ordinary heavyweight. The faithful seem to think now that there are at least two heavyweights who can whip him, and possibly more.

Sharkey can have for the asking a bout with Tommy Loughran at Ebbets field in August and win or lose there is an opportunity waiting him to tackle the giant Primo Carnera in the same National league ball park late in September or early in October.

TED GULLIC SHIFTED TO MILWAUKEE CLUB IN LATEST TRANSFER

Ted Gullic, Spudder outfielder until several days ago when he was turned back to the St. Louis Browns, has been assigned by the latter club to Milwaukee of the American association, it was announced Saturday by L. C. McEvoy, vice president and active head of the St. Louis organization. Gullic goes to the Brewers to replace George Gerken, acquired by the Wichita Falls club to take over Gullic's old job.

Gullic was to have joined the Brewers several days ago, according to McEvoy.

The official of the Browns declared he was in Wichita Falls merely to pay his periodical call on club officials and players. He planned to remain only through the Shreveport series.

Pirates Take Two To Drop Brooklyn To Fourth Place

Giants Climb Into Second Place by Taking Pair From Cincinnati

PITTSBURGH, July 25. (AP)—The Pirates dropped the Brooklyn Robins from second to fourth place in the National league standing by winning both games of a double-header. Pittsburgh took the first, 5 to 2, behind Charley Wood's three-hit pitching, then went 14 innings to capture the second, 3 to 2. Wood's wildness caused him his only trouble in the first clash, but he made up for it by driving in two runs. Adolf Luque was the loser. Scores, first game:

FRENCH TAKE LEAD IN DAVIS CUP PLAY WITH VICTORY IN DOUBLES

AUTEUIL, France, July 25. (AP)—Henri Cochet, still the world's greatest tennis player, Saturday sent France into the final day of play in defense of the Davis cup with a commanding lead of two victories over a fighting but apparently outclassed English team.

Paired with Jacques (Toto) Brugnon, Cochet dominated the play as they swept to victory over George P. Hughes and Charles Kingsley, English doubles pair, 6-1, 5-7, 6-3, 8-6.

He meets Fred Perry, 21-year-old English public parks player, Sunday, while Jean Borotra plays England's No. 1, H. W. (Bunny) Austin.

Even the most enthusiastic English rooters can do little better than hope for the best and expect the worst in the Cochet-Perry match.

Stanton Retains Lead Despite Swat Drouth

While Frey, the Panthers' new outfielder, assumed the titular batting lead of the Texas league over week with a .370 average, Buck Stanton of Wichita Falls continued to whang away ahead of the regulars with a batting mark of .355, while Ray Radcliff of Shreveport moved back into the challenging position with .344. There was a noticeable slump among leading hitters and a corresponding improvement in the middle brackets. Other league leaders: Runs, White of Beaumont 78, Schuble of Beaumont 74, Hock of Houston 71; hits, Stanton of Wichita Falls 147, Stebbins of San Antonio 135, Brown of Fort Worth 130; doubles, Stanton of Wichita Falls 35, Medwick of Houston 31, Brown of Fort Worth 28; triples, White of Beaumont 15, Fritz of Beaumont 13, Hughes of Beaumont 10; home runs, Gullic of Wichita Falls 17, Solters of Shreveport 11, Easterling of Beaumont, Fritz of Beaumont, Winegarner of Shreveport, and Loep of Dallas 9; runs batted in, Gullic of Wichita Falls 74, Medwick of Houston 72, Brown of Fort Worth 67; stolen bases, White of Beaumont 36, Nash of San Antonio 23, Hock of Houston 22.

An unusual feature of the pitching figures is that the three strikeout leaders, headed by Dizzy Dean, 178, all work for Houston. Chagnon of Fort Worth is the only pitcher besides Dean, Carlton and Payne, to whiff more than 100 batters. Dean leads the loop in games won with 19 but the best average is that of Stoner of Fort Worth, who has won seven games and lost but one. Other pitching leaders: Games, Murray of Dallas 31; innings pitched, McCabe of Fort Worth, 206; complete games, Harris of Fort Worth, 20; control, McCabe of Fort Worth, 27 passes in 206 innings.

Wichita Falls heads club batting with .281, and is the leader in hits and doubles. Shreveport tops in home runs, Beaumont in runs, triples, runs batted in and stolen bases.

Dizzy Dean Holds Shippers to Hang Up Twentieth Win

Two Costly Errors Allow Houston to Score Off Goldstein

BEAUMONT, July 25. (AP)—Three unearned runs on a pair of errors gave Houston a 3 to 2 victory over Beaumont Saturday in the opening game of a five-tilt series to decide the first half championship of the Texas league.

A capacity crowd of 8,000 watched Dizzy Dean hang up his 20th victory of the year in a great mound duel with Izzy Goldstein, Jewish right-hander, who matched toss for toss with the great Bison star. Goldstein deserved a better fate. He twirled splendid ball, scattering nine Buff bingles, but when he really needed support, his mates cracked and the winning runs were scored on bobbles.

Many times the Baker boys had a chance to forge ahead, but timely blows were missing. In the ninth inning, after two were out Fritz plastered a triple to center. Holley walked and stole second and the stage was set with the tying and winning runs on base, but Wise skied high to Medwick in center to end the game. A triple, three doubles and three singles were made off Dean, who whiffed but three.

Buffs Take Lead

After a scoreless first inning the Buffs took advantage of Holley's costly error in the second to score their first pair of tallies. Peel walked and after Medwick skied out Sturdy walked. Carey hit an easy roller to Schuble, who made a perfect toss to Holley to start a certain double play, but Holley deflected the ball into short center and Peel scored. Sturdy taking third and Carey first. Funk then banged a one-baser to left and Sturdy scored, Carey taking third.

Fritz doubled in the second and Goldstein singled and White two-based in the third, but it wasn't until the fifth that the Exporters tied the score with a couple of runs. Holley grounded out and then Wise singled to center. Goldstein grounded out and Taylor walked. Slapping an outside pitch, Joyner White doubled down the third base line and Wise and Taylor scored with the tying runs, White taking third on the play at the plate. Schuble looked over a third strike.

Error Tells Story

Then came the eighth when the Buffs salted the game away. Selph was an easy infield out and then Peel beat out an infield hit to Schuble. Medwick hit a liner to left that Tony Boroja let go through him to the fence, Peel scoring from first on the bobble.

The second game of the series will be played here Sunday with Luke Hamlin or Whitlow Wyatt slated to face the Buffs. Tex Carleton is the Buff mound choice. Monday night the series will be resumed in Houston under the arcs. Score:

Galveston 3, San Antonio 1

GALVESTON, Texas, July 25. (AP)—Russ Cromer beat the team that once cast him off here tonight as Galveston downed San Antonio 3 to 1 in a well pitched game. He allowed the visitors five hits. Galveston collected six bingles, two of the runs being gathered in the first frame, Bell knocking in Speer with the initial tally and Cox, who had walked and gotten around to third on Bell's hit, coming home on a passed ball. Cox scored again in the sixth after he had singled, Molesworth batting him in. Moore opposed Cromer and was relieved by Stein after the seventh. Both pitched well. The score:

Grove Scores No. 20 In Defeating Indians

PHILADELPHIA, July 25. (AP)—Philadelphia ran their winning streak to 13 straight today by taking both ends of a double-header with Cleveland today. The champions won the first game 6 to 3, and putting on a two-run rally in the ninth of the second contest, won 3 to 2.

Lefty Grove had the better of Wesley Ferrell for the second time this season in the opening game.

Sergeant Connally pitched for the Cleveland Indians in the second game. He had a 2 to 1 edge going into the last half of the ninth, when the A's put over the two runs.

Yankees 10, Tigers 7

NEW YORK, July 25. (AP)—Just after the king and queen of Siam left the Yankee stadium Saturday after apparently having seen New York win a ball game from Detroit, the Tigers staged a five-run uprising capped by Charley Gehringer's homer in the ninth inning and tied the score. Two innings later Joe Sewell duplicated Gehringer's feat, shooting a homer with two on base, and gave the Yankees a 10 to 7 victory. Score:

FRANCE TAKES TWO TO ONE LEAD IN CUP PLAY BY CAPTURING DOUBLES

PARIS, July 25. (INS)—Great Britain's first challenge round bid for the coveted Davis cup since 1919 received a setback Saturday when the French team of Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon defeated George P. Hughes and Charles Kingsley 6-1, 5-7, 6-3, 8-6 in the doubles.

The victory gave the French a score of 2 to 1 and meant that Britain's only chance of snagging the trophy would be to win both singles matches Sunday, which was considered highly improbable.

Hughes and Kingsley demonstrated crafty team work during most of the match and fought bitterly to gain the needed advantage for Britain but were balked by Brugnon's terrific drives and Cochet's accurate placement shots.

Sullivan Pennant Chances at Stake In Sunday's Twin

Leading Grocerymen Tangle With Star Transfer In Double-Header

By MACK TURNER

The undefeated league leading Sullivan Grocery company baseball team of the City league will put its leadership at stake Sunday afternoon in a double-header with Star Transfer company at Katy park, with the first game called at 2:30 o'clock. Steve Franklin, the Sullivan "Iron Man," is on deck to hurl the opening game, and maybe the second. Flip Hoskins and Jack Alexander stand a chance of getting the call for the second game.

The aged arm of Gabe Harris and the youthful whip of Lefty Marvin Robertson both are scheduled to see service in the two games for Star Transfer who at present hold down second place, one and one-half games behind the flying grocerymen. A double victory by Sullivan would just about put John Ivey's nine "in" with the second half race; a split would keep things in a close huddle, while a double victory for Star Transfer would give Star a one-half game lead over the grocerymen. More than a thousand local baseball bugs are expected to witness the game if the tems get a break from the weather man.

The I. O. Boosters and Bailey-Moline Hardware company clubs hook up in a double bill on Jalenic street diamond Sunday afternoon to round out the City league's schedule. Both clubs are going to make a last brave stand in hopes of a shot at the last half crown. Either team could gain a double victory and land up in the heat of the scrap.

The Boosters made a great start, but this was wiped out in the last week by the good right arm of Smokey Franklin, Sullivan ace, while Bailey-Moline is just recovering from a poor start in the last half after tying Star Transfer for the first half honors.

With Smokey Lupher still under the weather and unable to take his place on the firing line, Red Nichols stands in line to repeat his iron man stunt of last Sunday over the Modern Woodmen.

The Boosters have McDuffy, Stovall and Glidewell all set for the pair of games Sunday afternoon. In case Nichols has to send out an SOS sometime during the day, Cy Hills looms as the only possible man to be used.

The prince made his first hole-in-one at Santos, Brazil, last spring.

Presbyterians in Lengthy Lead in Commercial Race

Leaders Play Electrics and Dixon Sign Company During Week

The Presbyterians appear to be practically in with the last half Commercial league championship now that they have a four-game lead over Texas Electric Service company and Dixon Sign company, their closest competitors, John "Babe" Horsley piloted one of the hardest hitting baseball clubs ever to enter the Commercial league through without ever giving up the league leadership after the first two weeks of play. The big question centers around second place now that the church team has all but clinched top honors.

The Presbyterians face a hard grind this week, and a pair of victories would put the race on ice. Both the second-place clubs get their chances to take a cut at the Presbyterian lead, and should both clubs be able to stop the rampage of the churchmen it will throw a far different light on the race. Monday the Presbyterians and Texas Electric Service company meet on Debus field in the first big game of the week. Malone's Beauty shop plays Noble-Little Hardware company on Harrison field Monday.

Dixon Sign will get a chance at Gib Lowery of the Empire Paper company Tuesday on Harrison field.

Dixon Sign and Presbyterians meet on Debus field Thursday in the second big game of the week while Texas Electrics take on Noble-Little on Harrison.

Malone's and Empire Paper play the Friday game on Harrison field to bring to a close the eighth week of the last half race.

Once more the league has returned to its well played brand of games and much lively interest is being taken in the games by the lovers of fast baseball. Attendance has been heavy for the past week.

Record Entry List Looms for Public Courts Tennis Tourney

Little by little the all-city public courts tennis championship tournament, scheduled to get under way Friday, probably on all the municipal courts of the city, is taking on the aspect of the biggest competitive tennis event ever staged here. Olin Harvey, tennis director of the city park department, announced Saturday that more than 50 players had entered or promised their entries in the various divisions.

The only entrance requirement is residence in Wichita Falls and competition is planned in men's singles and doubles, women's singles and doubles and junior singles and doubles. For the first time no entry fee is being charged and no prizes are to be awarded.

The men's event is divided into two classes, both singles and doubles, class A and class B, the latter group providing exclusive competition for the first time for the players of average skill. Participants in the free-for-all league and other leading players of the city are not eligible to participate in class B, while the class A entry list is not restricted.

Entry may be made by telephoning the city park department or registering with Harvey.

Among the entries received up to Saturday were the following:

Junior Singles—Paul Barnett Jr., W. A. Bachman, Steve Powers, Ted Norwood, Carlisle Norwood.

Junior Doubles—Paul Barnett Jr. and W. A. Bachman, Steve Powers and Bruce Benton, Ted Norwood and Carlisle.

Class A Singles—Burgner, Williamson, Herman Paul, Clifton Haynes, H. L. Druce, J. O. Kocher, Charles Cook, Raymond McPhail, Clifford Hall, Jack Jamison, Henderson Newman, Morrell McGregor, Al Parker.

ARMY AIR CORPS EXPERIMENTS WITH POISONOUS GASES

WASHINGTON, July 25. (AP)—The development of the use of deadly poisonous gases by airplanes in time of war is the objective of secret experiments being made by the army at Edgewood arsenal, Maryland.

The tests have been made by the army air corps and the chemical warfare service and are understood to have been so successful that military authorities believe a method of new warfare has been found that will prove most effective.

Although some experimenters have claimed it would be possible by spreading gas from airplanes to destroy armies and inhabitants of cities, war department officials made known that it is not the intention of this country to use airplanes in gas attacks on cities. Besides, others hold, equipment has not been developed for such operations.

The experiments at Edgewood arsenal have been confined largely to the use of mustard gas. The pilot was first endangered but a system of spraying the gas from the planes in liquid form was developed. When the gas strikes the air it vaporizes and settles to the ground as a gaseous substance.

The United States signed a treaty in 1925 not to use poisonous gases in warfare, but the senate did not ratify it. Twenty-seven of 47 signatory nations, however, agreed.

WILDCAT FINDS SHOWING OF OIL

sweet gas at 5606 feet and in April was shut in indefinitely at 6120 feet.

While Big Lake Oil company's No. 1-C University flowed a daily average of slightly over 6,000 barrels last week, four others of the world's deepest producers, in Reagan county, were restricted slightly more. No. 1-C was recompleted by deepening from 8729 to 8908 feet. With Big Lake No. 3-C University shut in indefinitely at 8923 feet, the Big Lake's gas-oil ratio for its three deep wells remaining on production was reduced to 3414 cubic feet of gas to a barrel of oil. Texas Pipe Line company expected to begin testing late in the week its 6-inch 27-mile line from the Big Lake field to a connection in Pecos county with its 12-inch trunk carrier from Lea county, New Mexico, to Port Arthur. The Texas company will deliver for the Big Lake Oil company a minimum of 5,000 barrels and a maximum of 25,080 barrels daily to the Republic Oil Refining company on the Houston ship channel, in which Big Lake has an interest. The carrying charge will be 32½ cents per barrel.

Week's Failures

The week's failures included Honolulu Oil company and Penn Oil company's No. 1 R. D. Webb in Pecos county nine miles west of Fort Stockton in section 105, block OW, C. C. & S. F. Ry. Co. survey. It struck a hole full of sulphur water at 3050 feet which increased to a flow at 3080-90 feet. The wildcat began plugging to abandon at 3098 feet in lime. With its passing not an active operation remains in Pecos county, where a few years ago there were scores of wildcats besides wells being drilled in proven areas.

Stanolind Oil & Gas company's No. 1 W. H. Williams, deep wildcat in southeastern Irion county in section 1196, T. C. Ry. Co. survey, began drilling plug Wednesday at 5917 feet, 33 feet off bottom, where it cemented 8-inch casing. M. L. Benedum's No. 1 Sugg, 15 miles northwest of Mertzon in section 3081, block 28, H. & T. C. Ry. Co. survey, was underreaming 10-inch casing from 1960 to 2052 feet in shale, the total depth, to shut off more water. Ellis-Flanery corporation's No. 1 J. M. Nutt in section 694, H. W. Krekenbohn survey, had drilled past 630 feet in shale. Straughn & Adkins brothers' No. 1 Jim Lee in section 792, C. Kaiser survey, resumed drilling at 296 feet after setting 12½-inch casing at 256 feet.

Eppenauer Drilling company's No. 2 Allen, a producer for several months in the Wheat deep, high gravity, sweet oil field in Loving county, prepared to shoot with 200 to 300 quarts from 4260 to 4334 feet, the total depth, after deepening from 4311 feet. It swabbed and flowed 150 barrels of oil during 24 hours ending Monday morning. Three tests in the area were scheduled to be shut down until the price of oil rises after cementing 7-inch casing this week in the lime streak above the top of the Delaware lime. Operators who favor shutting in their wells rather than sell their 40 gravity oil at 10 cents a barrel decided to delay action for at least 10 days in hopes that conditions would improve.

Lewis & Slagel's No. 1 Henderson, Loving county wildcat 25 miles northwest of the Wheat field and one-half mile south of the Texas-New Mexico line, drilled out cement to 3175 feet, within seven feet of the old total depth, decided not to shoot again and prepared to pump. The operators believed the well will make 18 barrels of oil daily from broken pay topped at 3127 feet. They have staked a location for a second test, No. 1 Johnson, one mile northeast of No. 1 Henderson and 330 feet from the north line of 1650 feet from the west line of section 6, block 56, township 1, T. & P. Ry. Co. survey.

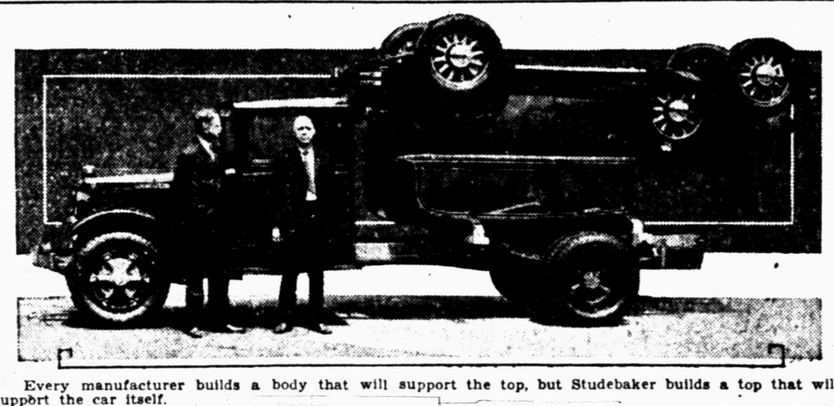

Eastland Oil company and others' No. 1 Tisdale in section 77, block LL, T. C. Ry. Co. survey, in Schleicher county, had drilled to 2940 feet in lime with sulphur water standing with 600 feet of the top.

Firms which will use the new pipe line include Cities Service company, Middlewest Utilities, Standard Oil of New Jersey and the Texas corporation.

UPSIDE DOWN CAR

Every manufacturer builds a body that will support the top, but Studebaker builds a top that will support the car itself.

To provide a graphic traveling display of the super-strength of Studebaker coach work, the Kincaid Motor company, Studebaker distributors at Champaign, Ill., mounted a stock Studebaker six regal sedan upside down on a two-ton Studebaker truck chassis. The entire weight of the car rests on its top, which is also subjected to every bump of an uneven road surface.

"We have had several instances in Champaign recently, when the lives of drivers and occupants of Studebaker cars involved in crashes have been saved by the sturdiness and resistance to shock of Studebaker bodies," said W. C. Kincaid, president of the company. "This display will have the effect of impressing the unusual strength of Studebaker body work on the public mind."

DEMAND CONSERVATIVE BUSINESS MAN NAMED TO SUCCEED FLETCHER

WASHINGTON, July 25. (INS)—The resignation of Henry P. Fletcher as chairman of the United States Tariff commission, effective Sept. 15, today brought a demand from administration leaders that a conservative business man from the East be chosen as his successor.

While no particular individual was recommended, a group of the president's advisors in congress were convinced the chairmanship should go to the industrial East, which Fletcher represented geographically. They favored such an appointment in the belief that it would keep the East friendly to the tariff commission, which is certain to become an issue in the approaching presidential campaign.

With Fletcher out, the "East"—New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New England—will have no representative on the commission. The other incumbents come from Maryland, Virginia, Indiana, North Dakota and Utah.

REGISTRATION FOR A. & M. SHORT COURSE INDICATES ATTENDANCE ABOUT 400

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, July 25. (AP)—Registration for the 22nd annual farmer's short course at Texas A. & M. college indicated that attendance would be about 400. The course was to open July 27 and end Aug. 1.

Byrd E. White, vice president of the board of directors of the college, was to welcome the visitors at the opening session. Other speakers at the opening session were to be O. B. Martin, of the extension service, and Congressman J. P. Buchanan of Brenham.

Five winners of the 1931 title of "Master Farm Home Makers of Texas" were to be honored at a public ceremonial Monday.

PRESIDENT ENJOYING REAL REST AT CAMP

HOOVER CAMP, RAPIDAN, Va., July 25. (US)—President Hoover is enjoying a complete rest at his fishing lodge here today, the first real leave he has taken since he began the debt suspension negotiations several weeks ago.

Today he received no callers, and neither sent nor received official messages. For most of the time he lounged about the camp. He did not go fishing, although the day was an ideal one for his favorite sport. He intends to continue his rest in the camp tomorrow and Monday and return to the capital early Tuesday.

The president has been to his camp almost every week-end recently, but he has always been accompanied by officials assisting him in the conduct of the moratorium negotiations, or has kept in constant touch with them over the telephone and found little time for rest.

Prophetic Bible Meeting to Open Here Sunday Eve

REV. J. C. KELLOGG

Rev. J. C. Kellogg of Tacoma, Wash., described as the "cowboy evangelist," will begin a prophetic Bible conference Sunday night at 8 o'clock at the gospel tent on Indiana between Tenth and Eleventh. Services will be conducted each night throughout the week.

Mr. Kellogg was an expert cowboy and a heavyweight wrestler before entering the ministry. At the age of 12 he began to shift for himself, working on some of the great ranches of the Middle West.

Tiring of wrestling with cattle and bronchos, he decided to wrestle with men, and after learning the fine arts of the game, so proficient did he become in this new profession that he won several state championships and soon was known as the 19-year-old heavyweight champion of the world, it was said.

Later he felt called to devote his life to the ministry, it was stated. He has been conducting campaigns throughout the United States and has just returned from a meeting in Canada.

Al Capone With 100 Guests 'Muscles In' On Sorority Banquet

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., July 25. (INS)—This fashionable Michigan summer resort was abuzz with comment today over the blustering social inclinations of Al Capone, scar-faced underworld lord of Chicago and so-called Public Enemy No. 1, who somewhat forcibly broke up a sorority dinner at the hotel here.

Backed by the power of numbers, Capone, who is reputed to be "broke" but who is described by the hotel management as a "good spender," marched into the dining hall which had been rented by the Upsilon Sigma Alpha sorority. The 100 men and women companions of the gang chief were attired in formal dress.

Capone "muscled in" as the party was starting. The gangster took over the banquet hall, the entertainers who had been engaged for the sorority affair and the table decorations for the dinner.

Public Enemy No. 1 has been a frequent visitor here for the past few weeks and until last night his visits were unostentatious.

The sorority party, organized by Mrs. J. H. Bickford of South Bend, Ind., was in progress when Capone blusteringly informed the 75 girls and women of the Sigma Alpha that they must vacate. The sorority members argued but they were forced to give way before the gang chief.

Wade Booth, a singer, and Miss Mildred Davis, a pianist, had been engaged by the sorority and had rendered one number before Capone's appearance. Thereafter they deserted the sorority party to sing and play for Capone and his guests.

The sorority dinner was assigned to a smaller dining room. The sorority members were reported as indignant but none could be reached for a comment today.

CONTESTS FEATURED IN SUPERVISED ACTIVITIES AT CITY PUBLIC PARKS

Contests were staged in public parks under supervised instruction during the past week. A boys' croquet tournament was held at Bellevue park Friday morning. The winner, Harold Thom, defeated Harold Norris, runner-up, and other participants in the contest. In the final game of the checker tournament, Dorothy Ward was defeated by Roland Thomas. Jack Ward, Marguerite Key and Velma Wright also took part.

Activities for this week will feature a girls' croquet tournament Monday morning, and a treasure hunt is being planned, the exact date to be set later.

Statement by Our Postmaster

The coming of the Air Mail to Wichita Falls is of much greater significance than one would first imagine. It not only gives us faster, more efficient mail transportation but we are placed on the air network with all the other progressive cities of the United States. I believe the time will come when a city which is not on the great air lines will be in somewhat the same position as cities used to be which were off the railroads.

Every citizen of Wichita Falls should support the air mail to the fullest extent. The merchants especially should use the air mail whenever and wherever possible and make possible the continuance of this service so essential to any progressive city.

M'KELLAR ATTACKS HOOVER'S PLAN AS BANKERS' SCHEME

Moratorium Denounced as Step to Benefit International Banks

QUESTIONS WISDOM OF U. S. AIDING GERMANY

Belittles Propaganda That Loan Necessary to Stop Communism

WASHINGTON, July 25. (US)—In denouncing President's Hoover's moratorium as a step to benefit the international bankers, Senator Kenneth McKellar, Democrat, of Tennessee, today demanded the administration devote its energies to the relief of human suffering and the restoration of prosperity in America.

The Tennesseean struck an America first note which is expected to be sounded with smashing vigor in both branches of congress when the president's moratorium comes up for ratification in December.

Not only did McKellar question the wisdom of the United States going to the rescue of Germany in the crisis, which he charged was brought about by the international bankers withdrawing their credits, but he declared the London conference had resulted in no material aid to Germany. He said:

"No new money nor credits were given as asked by Germany. She must pay her note in 90 days or go broke. Now Germany is about to ask more money of the United States. Mr. Stimson goes to another conference in Berlin to restore Germany."

Asks Source of Loan

McKellar asked pointedly if the American government was going to put up the money or whether the president was going to ask private banks to furnish it with a government guarantee against loss.

In charging that the international bankers "brought on the debacle" by the withdrawal of credits from Germany, McKellar said:

"I can see how Germany's ability to pay back these bankers will be of great benefit to this particular group of very powerful interests but how it will help the American people as a whole I am unable to understand. Neither the bankers nor the government considered the interests of our people while investing this large volume of money, estimated at $17,000,000,000, in other countries when it might have been invested in America and contributed vastly more to American prosperity."

France Unafraid

McKellar belittled the administration's propaganda that the moratorium and extension of German credits was necessary to save that nation from Communism or Fascism. He pointed out that France, Germany's nearest neighbor and largest creditor, under the reparations plan, would be the worst sufferer in the event of financial default or a political debacle in Germany.

"Yet," he added, "France does not think enough of the proposal to contribute $125,000,000 to the present German ministry's stability. If France is not alarmed about Germany's economic condition, causing the great disaster to the world that our administration speaks of, then it seems to me that we need not be so concerned about it.

"It is reported that by a strange coincidence Germany has offered or agreed to guarantee to Russia something like $400,000,000 in credits. It would be indeed a pretty pass if America joined with other nations in putting up $400,000,00 for Germany and the money should be spent in helping Russia which nation America does not even recognize as a government!"

This same charge is made in the magazine of Wall street. The article asserted that Germany "went broke trying to finance Russia and then yelled for help from the west."

WIFE NOTED WRESTLER FILES SUIT FOR DIVORCE AND ALIMONY ALLOWANCE

NEW YORK, July 25. (US)—Wladek Zbyszko, the wrestler, whose whole name is Wladek Zbysko (Yganiewicz) got so used to picking up opponents in the ring that he spent considerable time picking up women in the street, according to his wife whose divorce suit, filed in Brooklyn, became known today.

She says her husband is worth $1,000,000 and makes $100,000 a year. She asked $500 a week alimony and $10,000 counsel fees. Decision was reserved in her application.

Zbyszko denies all the charges.

EMPLOYMENT SERVICE PLACES 245,000 PERSONS IN JOBS THREE MONTHS

WASHINGTON, July 25. (US)—The U. S. employment service has placed 245,000 persons in jobs since its organization three months ago, it was learned today.

Under the direction of John R. Alpine, the service already is mapping plans for a major drive on unemployment this winter. Its function is not to create jobs, but to bring jobs and jobless together.

Much of the success of the service to date has resulted from the cutting of red tape. Its activities have been speeded up by the free use of telephone and telegraph instead of the mails.

Youth Killed by Train

PEORIA, Kan., July 25. (INS)—Bob Clark of Rock Island, Ill., was dead here today as the result of being thrown under a freight train. The youth was riding the coupling between two cars, it was reported. The coupling broke, hurling the boy beneath the wheels of the train.

THEY LISTENED—WHILE BALDWIN SPOKE

They were there to commit England to the task of "reducing the world's enormous and disgraceful burden of arms." And, shown here in thoughtful attitudes as they sat on a platform of Albert Hall, London, are Viscount Cecil (left), former Premier David Lloyd George (center) and Premier Ramsay MacDonald. These three leaders of the British empire listened carefully while—

Former Premier Stanley Baldwin, addressing an overflow crowd of 10,000 Londoners, urged his countrymen to "press for a reduction of the world's air forces . . . the most dangerous form of arms." The noted head of the British Conservative party is seen here in a striking pose during his speech. It was the beginning of England's campaign to make a success of the coming Geneva arms parley.

SERIOUS REBELLION FACES NATIONALIST GOVERNMENT CHINA

SHANGHAI, July 25. (AP)—With complete control in only three of the score of provinces in China, the Nationalist government at Nanking was confronted today with one of the most serious of the several rebellions that have plagued its four years of turbulent existence.

Commissioned by the Canton insurgent government which has ruled Kwantunk and Kwangsi provinces since late April, Gen. Shih Yu-San, northern war lord, has begun hostilities against the Manchurian Nationalists.

Thus the Nationalist regime, with power centered on the Yangtse river of middle China, has been placed between two revolutionary forces. Even in its own area the government finds itself menaced by organized armies of reds and bandits, ravaging towns and countryside.

For two months, President Chiang Kai-Shek devoted his attention to military activity against outlawry in devastated Kiangsi province, taking up headquarters at Nanchang, its capital, to command the 200,000 soldiers he asserted were being thrown against the insurgents.

But little has been accomplished and the Cantonese have announced their intention of taking the offensive against Nanking to end the asserted dictatorship of Chiang and his purpose of founding a "dynasty." They demand increased share of government and propose to establish strong rule instead of the weak and ineffective regime they charge is unable to curb lawlessness.

CHICAGO OUTSANDING CONTENDER FOR MEETING REPUBLICANS IN 1932

WASHINGTON, July 25. (US)—Chicago was regarded here today as an outstanding contender in the race to capture the Republican national convention next year.

The Windy City has an especially fine stadium building capable of seating 25,000 people.

The city has a geographical advantage being located midway between the East and far West and is also a picotal political point. The last national convention held there was in 1920 when Warren G. Harding was nominated.

Other contenders for the convention are Philadelphia and Atlantic City.

TWILIGHT LEAGUE RACE GOES INTO FINAL STAGE

With five games left to play in the first half of the close race in the Twilight league, the Katy railroaders hold a one-half game lead over the Northside and Taxman clubs, and the Panhandle Longhorns are one and one-half games behind. The games next Sunday will bring to a close the first half with the second half opening up the following Tuesday.

In order to win out in the first half, the Katy club must face a strong lineup of teams this week, drawing Taxman, Northside and Denver in succession to bring them up to their final game with Northwest Motors. Then Katy has a tie game to be played off sometime this week with the Wichita Posters.

The feature game for Sunday will be the Taxman-Katy clash carded for Scott street when this pair battle for the leadership. Northside should have little trouble in knocking over Tarry Transfer Sunday on Uncle Jo, but upsets often come in baseball. Panhandle and Denver battle on Katy diamond in another interesting tussle, Wichita Posters and Smoots store battle on Jalonic while Loafers and Northwest Motors battle on Third and Broad.

Unfortunates Aided By Milk and Ice Fund

Unemployment and illness combine in many families of Wichita Falls to make a most unpleasant situation, usually in need of charity for a remedy.

The family relief society encounters many typical cases needing aid. For instance, one family consists of a father in bad health and out of work, a mother who is weak from ill health but takes in washing, ironing, and does other strenuous labor to earn money, a 25-year-old invalid, who, before his attack of permanent ill health, did much to help the family out, a 17-year-old boy who works whenever he can at whatever he can and yet cannot find enough to do to support the family, and a small 10-year-old child who cannot be expected to earn a living.

Through the Times and Record News Milk and Ice fund, this family receives those two necessities, but the fund is growing smaller as a day goes by without contributions.

Contributions may be sent to the Times Publishing company with the following coupon:

FIND MORE 'BOMBS' AND MORE WEAPONS IN ILLINOIS PRISON

JOLIET, Ill., July 25. (US)—Discovery of more incendiary gasoline "bombs" and weapons among the convicts at the new Stateville penitentiary here today confirmed authorities in the belief that they had acted just in time to foil an attempted wholesale prison delivery.

With evidences of a widespread plot to set a disastrous fire within the prison walls, it was believed that the vigilance which uncovered the activities of a group of malcontents may have saved Stateville from a holocaust approaching that at Columbus, Ohio, on Easter Monday of last year when 322 convicts were burned to death.

In the search of cellhouses C and E today, seven new gasoline bombs were seized.

Small cans of gasoline also were found in the cells of a number of the convicts. The men asserted that they had it to clean their clothes.

Fifteen men were ordered sent to solitary because of possession of the gasoline and of knives which had been stolen, presumably from the dining halls or kitchen.

M'ADOO BROUGHT INTO PRESIDENT PICTURE BY MRS. JESSE NICHOLSON

WASHINGTON, July 25. (US)—William G. McAdoo was brought into the presidential picture today by Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson, Maryland anti-saloon leader, in an article in the August number of the woman voter.

In the same article, Mrs. Nicholson made public a reply to a letter she wrote to Owen D. Young, in which he said that "he has never been in politics and has no thought of entering that field, and therefore he would not state his views on prohibition."

The article assailed Alfred E. Smith, Franklin D. Roosevelt and John J. Raskob for their views on prohibition and added:

"With such a leader as William Gibbs McAdoo, put forward now, would attract a following that would be hard to beat the national conventions. The nomination must hot go to Smith or Roosevelt by default."

ROAR EXPLODING BOMBS WILL BE HEARD BY RADIO AUDIENCES ON AUGUST 12

WASHINGTON, July 25. (US)—The roar of exploding bombs when the steel freight Mount Shasta is sunk by army planes will be heard by the radio audience of the Columbia Broadcasting company on Wednesday morning, Aug. 12.

The bombardment, which will be conducted 40 miles at sea off Fortress Monroe, Va., will begin about 11 o'clock eastern standard time and may last for an hour.

Twenty-seven bombing planes will attack the old ship from different angles.

GOVERNOR VOLUNTARY GRAND JURY WITNESS

HOUSTON, July 25. (AP)—Gov. Ross Sterling, who said he had received no subpoena, but that he appeared voluntarily, went before the Houston county grand jury today.

He parried the efforts of newspaper men to learn the reason for his appearance before the inquisitors.

"They're figuring up evidence to indict Alfalfa Bill," Texas' chief executive chuckled. He referred to the controversy over the opening of a free span over Red river between Durant, Okla., and Denison.

The governor remained behind the closed door for 25 minutes.

Scientists Stage Search in Borneo For Missing Link

NEW YORK, July 25. (AP)—An American expedition will plunge soon into the steaming jungles of Borneo in search of a hairy, monkey-like race of men which may prove to be the long-sought "missing link" in human development.

Thirty scientists will hazard the peril-infested region up the Sampit river. The point they are to head for is hundreds of miles from the crudest civilization and has been visited only twice by white men. They will seek specimens for a group of American museums insufficiently financed to maintain their own expeditions.

Dr. Carl Lumholz, German scientist and John Nicholson, the English soldier-explorer, reported seeing members of the strange race many years ago. Dr. Harry Carpelan, head of the American expedition, said today he hopes to make motion picture records of their mode of living.

The expedition's itinerary, in addition to the important Borneo quest, will include a search for rare plant and animal specimens in Porto Rico; at the invitation of Governor Roosevelt: Haiti, the Galapagos, Samoa, Pacific Islands, Australia, Java, Sumatra, Siam, French Indo-China. It will return in 1933 to Los Angeles.

Around Town

C. A. Larson, who was seriously injured seven and one-half months ago, will go home Sunday from the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital. He is getting along fine and will be glad to see his friends at home, 2809 Hollywood.

Charles Gorman Larson is home from the University of Texas where he went to summer school.

Jerry Vinson, a past president of the Junior chamber of commerce, who underwent an operation for the relief of appendicities at the Wichita General hospital Wednesday, has improved sufficiently so that he probably will be permitted to receive company Sunday, according to the report of friends.

Miss Eula Lee Gribble, 1512 Tenth street, is reported resting well after an appendix operation Friday morning at the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Dubose and small daughter, Patsy Ruth, on the Iowa Park road, will leave Sunday for Nara Visa ranch near Tucumcari, N. M., where they will be members of a house party.

Hobert M. Powell of the city water department has gone to East Texas for a week's trip. He will pass through Fort Worth, Dallas, Mount Pleasant, and Paris.

FUNERAL SERVICES MRS. ROBERT C. GUY TO BE HERE SUNDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Robert C. Guy, former Wichita Falls girl who was burned to death in a disastrous oil field fire at Mount Pleasant, Mich., last week, will be held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon from the First Church of Christ with Rev. Burton Coffman, assistant pastor officiating. Burial will be in Rosemont under the direction of the Merkle Undertaking company.

Active pallbearers are to be Morris Lee, Tom Beaty, Laverne Malone, Robert Clayton, Donald McHam and Earl Hutchinson.

Honorary pallbearers will be members of the Beeman Sunday school class of the First Church of Christ, of which she was a member before removing from Wichita Falls 18 months ago.

Mrs. Guy was before her marriage Miss Helen Bittick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Bittick, 2007 Fillmore. A school romance resulted in her marriage to Robert C. Guy, and both were popular students of the high school here. Guy was prominent in athletic activities at the school.

The fire which took Mrs. Guy's life also resulted in the death of her mother-in-law, Mrs. E. G. Guy, also formerly of Wichita Falls. Funeral services for Mrs. E. G. Guy were held at Erie, Kan.

The husbands of both received serious burns, as did some 12 or 15 other workers and spectators when the wildcat well blew in and suddenly caught fire.

Besides her parents, Mrs. Guy is survived by a sister Miss Opal Bittick, and two brothers, Quillen and Marvin Bittick, both of Wichita Falls.

FIVE-DAY WORKING WEEK IS PROPOSED

the first preference be given to men of families; we further recommend that this be observed by all municipalities, political units and contractors.

Native Labor

"That on all public construction work not less than 90 per cent of native labor be employed.

"That employers and employes, wherever possible, deal directly with the United States department of labor offices and we recommend that the United States employment service be extended as rapidly as possible.

"That the state of Texas and all of its political units, business institutions and citizens, so far as possible, purchase only Texas products, manufactured and raw.

"We request the governor of Texas to issue a proclamation requesting all unemployed people not to leave home to seek employment unless definite arrangement or promise of employment elsewhere has been received and that the governor be requested to petition the president to issue a like proclamation for the nation.

"That all communities discourage donations without service rendered, as far as possible, and in lieu thereof that work created and provided for the dependents of communities and in the development of this new work, we recommend that care be used to see that regular workers are not deprived of employment.

Clubs to Help

"That beginning wfth Dec. 1 every member of every service club in the state of Texas furnish extra employment for at least three men one day per month for the months of December, January, and February."

The body of men, which was made up of city officials and chamber of commerce and welfare representatives from numerous Texas towns, spent all of this morning delving into the ramifications of unemployment and hearing plans that many Texas towns have employed to alleviate the situation.

It was from this mass of plans that the 10 measures were extracted and drawn up by a committee of five, appointed by Ernest Alexander, chairman. The committee: H. G. Graeser, Marshall; Mayor B. W. McKenzie, Denton; Harvey W. Draper, Houston; Mayor Lee R. York, Abilene; Mayor Walter Nelson Jr., Wichita Falls; C. W. Woodman, Fort Worth and Alexander.

LAWRENCE TIBBETT AND WIFE HAVE SEPARATED

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., July 25. (AP)—Mrs. Grace Mackay Tibbett tonight announced her separation from her husband, Lawrence Tibbett, metropolitan opera and motion picture singer, with the comment that "fame and family happiness are not consistent."

The Tibbett twins, 10, are at a mountain vacation camp near here. Tibbett returned a week ago from New York.

PARLEY CALLED ON PLANS FOR U. S. BUILDING

Herbert R. Voelcker and Jesse G. Dixon, members of the Wichita Falls architectural firm of Voelcker & Dixon, received a message Saturday which had been expected for several days requesting them to be in Washington during the early part of the week, presumably for a conference in regard to plans drafted by the local firm for the new federal building to be erected here.

They planned to leave for Washington at 4 p. m. Sunday, accompanied by C. C. Herd, who assisted in drawing the plans for the heating system.

The specifications for the building were completed several weeks ago and forwarded to Washington. The call to the national capital, it was explained, was an anticipated development for a final checking over of the plans.

Opinions were expressed by leaders here that the call marks another forward step toward the actual construction of the building.

The architects originally were instructed that when their plans were submitted for final approval, their presence in Washington would not be required until federal architects had checked the specifications.

Belief was expressed here that in the ordinary course of events, the plans will now receive the final approval of federal officials in the next few days and that bids for the actual construction probably will be opened about Sept. 1.

JUDGE PERFORMS 1000TH CEREMONY

MANGUM, Okla., July 25.—County Judge Jarrett Todd, 82 years old, this week performed his thousandth marriage ceremony in Greer county, Okla. No record is avilable as to the number he performed while Greer county was a part of Texas.

Many of the couples he has married now have grandchildren Only two of the bridegrooms have failed to pay the marriage fee required by law.

Judge Todd, though small of stature, is hale and hearty and has never worn glasses. He says, "If I can't see without 'specks' it isn't big enough to amount to anything."

DR. HUGO KARL SCHILLING FOUND DEAD IN HIS HOME

BERKELEY, Calif., July 25. (US)—Apparently stricken with a heart attack a week ago, Dr. Hugo Karl Schilling, professor emeritus of German language and literature at University of California was found dead in his home today.

An internationally known philologist, he had been a member of the German department at the university for 30 years and professor emeritus since 1929.

James A. McDonald, county juvenile officer, was confined to his home by an attack of illness Saturday.

FOUR WOMEN HURT WHEN STREET CARS COLLIDE IN DALLAS

DALLAS, July 25. (AP)—Four women passengers were injured when two street cars collided on the new $500,000 street car viaduct.

Mrs. C. A. McDonald, Miss Kathryn Harrington, Mrs. A. J. Bridgeman and Miss Pansy Wells, all of Dallas, received cuts and bruises. Mrs. McDonald was severely cut about the head.

Both cars were headed toward Oak Cliff, a suburb, using the west track of the two track crossing. The first car was brought to an abrupt stop when its trolley flew off the wire. The second car plowed into the rear vestibule of the first car.

Both cars were heavily loaded with passengers. The force of the impact almost catapulted the first car off the viaduct which is 77 feet above the river valley at that point.

It was thought the glare from the sun blinded the motorman of the second car.

SENATOR JOE ROBINSON CHALLENGED BY WATSON TO NAME TARIFF RATES

WASHINGTON, July 25. (US)—Ap open challenge to Senator Joe Robinson, Democratic leader, to designate the tariff rates which he proposes to revise downward in the next congress, was hurled today by Senator Jim Watson, Republican leader.

Robinson recently announced that the Democrats would make an "earnest effort" to bring about tariff reduction when congress reconvenes. Watson declared the Republicans were against all "tariff tinkering."

In asking what rates the Democrats will lower, Watson called Robinson's attention to the duties on long staple cotton, bauxite, rice and vegetable oils, all products of Arkansas, Robinson's home state.

Watson's statement was issued through the Republican national committee, indicating that the committee approves his stand against all tariff reform.

C-C ENVELOPES GOOD ONLY FOR FIRST AIR MAIL

The special envelopes being provided by the Junior chamber of commerce for the use of those who desire to include letters in the first air mail from Wichita Falls on Aug. 1 are for use on that date only, according to the reminder Saturday of O. P. Maricle, postmaster.

Envelopes have been supplied local banks and are being distributed from them and from the chamber of commerce without charge.

Despite the fact that the envelopes, bordered in the air mail colors of red, white and blue, bear the wording in large lettering, "History in the making, our first air mail," several of them already have been placed in the mail. All such envelopes, Mr. Maricle explained, will be held until Aug. 1 and be placed on the proper air mail ship of that day.

Occupying the entire face of the envelope, with the exception of an oblong space for the address, is a picture of the skyline of the business district. Other wordings on the envelopes are, "Wichita Falls, Texas Wonder City," and "From the City that Faith Built."

In addition, all letters will bear the imprint of a large rubber stamp supplied by the postoffice department which further details that the letters were placed on the first air mail plane out of Wichita Falls. The picture of an oil derrick occupies the center of the imprint.

Several thousand self-addressed and stamped envelopes will be included in the first mail. Most of them were sent here by stamp collectors.

WILL MAKE EFFORT TO PAY GRAVEL CLAIMS OF OKLAHOMA ROAD WORKERS

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 25 (UP)—A new effort to procure payment of gravel claims to road workers will be made Monday when Highway Commissioners Lew Wentz and Sam Hawks return here, it was announced today.

State Auditor Frank Carter first brought attention to the time now being taken by the state in paying small workers' claims and accused employes of the state highway department of working in interest of persons who purchased the claims.

John McKeel, third member of the commission, charged the delay was in the auditor's office.

TIMES' MARKET REPORT

COTTON DROPS TO NEW LOW LEVELS JULY QUOTATIONS

NEW YORK, July 25. (AP)—Cotton declined to the low point of the month today.

The October position advanced early to 9.11, eased to 9.01, closing at 9.02, or 6 points lower, while the general market closed steady at 5 to 10 points net lower.

The opening was steady, 1 point higher to 3 points lower, and for a time the market displayed a fair amount of stability owing to further complaints of too much rain, especially in the lower Mississippi valley, which seemed to bring about a fair amount of covering and some scattered buying. The weather map failed to show as much rain as had been anticipated, however.

Offers increased on the advances and it was quite evident that recent private advices on the progress of the new crop had created a very favorable impression and it was the concensus of local traders that private crop estimates, which are due during the coming week, will probably indicate a yield in excess of what the trade at present believes will be needed to supply the demands during the coming season. Houses with foreign connections were identified with the selling during the day and there was also more or less selling by spot interests and houses with southern connections which suggested operations against the coming new crop movement.

Liverpool cabled that the market there had declined early under liquidation and Bombay hedge selling, but had rallied partially on trade calling. Cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the close of the week was reported at 68,570 bales, against 24,572 a year ago.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, July 25. (AP)—The cotton market was comparatively quiet during today's short week-end session. Prices, after a steady opening despite unfavorable cables, turned somewhat easier in sympathy with stocks and a forecast for generally fair weather during the coming week. There was moderate week-end liquidation.

After gaining 3 points in the early trading, prices eased off 11 to 12 points from the highs. There was a slight recovery of 2 points at the end on a little covering and the market closed steady, showing net declines for the day of 6 to 7 points.

Liverpool cables came in as due to 2 penny points worse than due and private cables said there was further liquidation in the market and hedge selling by Bombay. Manchester cabled that there was small business in cloths and yarns.

Port receipts 1,677, for season 8,901,301; last season 8,782,644; exports 8,209; for season 6,662,693; last season 6,627,025. Port stock 2,834,931; last year 1,570,052. QUINN BACK IN JAIL TO AWAIT DECISION ON CHANGE OF VENUE PLEA

NEWKIRK, Okla., July 25. (UP)—Earl Quinn, suspected murderer of two Oklahoma school teachers, was back in jail today, his motion for a change of venue of his trial under advisement of District Judge John Berger.

Quinn, charged with killing Jessie and Jexia Griffith on a lonely road near Tonkawa last December, contended he could not receive a fair trial in Kay county. Judge Berger will rule July 30 on his motion.

MARKET DULL AND MOST OF PRINCIPAL STOCKS GO LOWER

NEW YORK, July 25. (AP)—Interest in financial markets was dormant today and aside from a dull decline in foreign bonds changes were small on all sides.

Stocks closed with small losses for most of the principal issues in a turnover of 419,010 shares, which compared with last Saturday's five-year-record low volume of 367,170 shares. Normal midsummer lethargy was accentuated by the reluctance of professional traders to take much part in the market until next week's steel meetings have been heard from.

Selling pressure against U. S. Steel relaxed and the stock was off at a net decline of ⅜. Wide circulation of the report that the dividend would be reduced has given the market ample opportunity to discount such action with the result, brokers pointed, that actual news of a cut might will be received calmly.

Sterling exchange continued its advance here and was also firmer against the French franc.

With few exceptions, losses in active stocks were fractional. National Biscuit attracted attention by its weakness, touching its low for the bear market and showing a net decline of 1⅜.

Issues down about a point included Bethlehem and National Steels, American Telephone, Eastman Kodak and Allied Chemical. American Can was off ⅜. New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Union Carbide, Kennecott and International Telephone averaged half a point lower. Firm spots included: Studebaker, Stewart Warner, North American, Union Pacific and Public Service of New Jersey.

BEARISH FACTORS DOMINATE TRADING IN GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, July 25. (AP)—Extreme weakness of wheat prices at Winnipeg, with reports of adverse financial developments there, had an unsettling effect on all cereal markets today. Net losses on wheat at Winnipeg were 2⅞@3⅛c a bushel. Other bearish factors included fresh import restrictions on wheat in France, and it was flatly denied that the United States farm board was negotiating a sale of government financed wheat to Germany on a long term credit.

New low price records for the season were reached by corn and oats.

Wheat closed unsteady in Chicago at the day's bottom level, ⅞@1⅛c under yesterday's finish. Corn ¼@⅝c down, oats ⅝@⅝c off, and provisions unchanged to a decline of 2c.

Weakness of the Chicago wheat market was accentuated by word just before the close that the largest owner of wheat in Winnipeg had let go of his holdings, and that in two days Canadian wheat prices had collapsed 4⅛c.

Corn and oats gave way with wheat and as a result of reports of splendid growth of the new corn crop. Some apprehension was apparent, however, in regard to likelihood of crop damage from high temperatures, no rain being indicated.

Provisions were affected by grain weakness, but rallied on account of upturns in hog values.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—July 50c, bids; Sept. 50½@50¼c, 52⅛c; Dec. 54½@54⅝c, 56⅝@56⅝c. Corn, July 55⅝c, 59c; Sept. 48¼@48⅝c, 50⅝@50⅝c; Dec. 43⅛@43¼c, 44⅝@44⅜c.

CALIFORNIANS CONTRIBUTE TO EXPENSES OF SENDING DRUM CORPS TO EL PASO

V. V. Musick, of the city health department and a member of Pat Carrigan Post of the American Legion is much elated over the receipt of two checks for $25 each from his brothers in California, to apply on the expenses of the local drum corps to the state legion convention in El Paso.

Clyde Musick, A. M. M., second class, U. S. S. Saratoga, San Pedro, Calif., visited his brother in this city some time ago and learned that the local post was the leader in membership for the state, and also of the trip to El Paso to get the 1932 convention.

Upon his return to his ship he forwarded his check for $25, and also informed his other brother, M. E. Musick, 582 N. Berendo street Los Angeles, what he had done, thereby making possible the second check that was received by Mr. Musick in this city.

CHINESE BANDITS ROB THREE AMERICAN WOMEN

PEKING, July 25. (US)—Three American women missionaries, all of Los Angeles, Calif., narrowly escaped injury and possible death today when while motoring they were fired upon by bandits who robbed them near the great wall outside this city.

The missionaries, Mrs. Edmund Locke and the Misses Catherine and Carrie Palmer, were forced to give up their money, jewelry and watches, but were permitted to return to Peking. Several bullets fired by the bandits pierced the body of their automobile.

DOWNWARD TREND CURB QUOTATIONS AND SALES LIGHT

NEW YORK, July 25. (AP)—The curb market dozed through an uneventful short session today. Prices showed a drift to the downside, but net changes were fractional. The turnover approximated only 90,000 shares.

Standard Oil of Indiana, heavily sold on Friday in response to unconfirmed rumors concerning the safety of the present $2 annual dividend rate, turned over rather actively considering the general dullness of the market, but was steady. Gulf Oil, however, dropped 2 points and Cities Service touched a new low for the current decline before recovering. Vacuum dipped below 43 and was off half a point net. Solar Refining also eased.

Fluctuations in the utilities were very narrow. Electric Bond & Share was offered in fair volume during the first hour, sagging under 37, but it ended the day unchanged. Brazilian Traction and United Light "A" made small gains.

Specialties were quiet and many of the favorites did not appear on the tape.

Investment trusts were lifeless.

BOND MARKET DULL AND PRICE CHANGES IN NARROW RANGE

NEW YORK, July 25. (AP)—The bond market had two characteristics today—dullness and narrow irregular price changes. Sales on the stock exchange totaled $3,479,000, the smallest aggregate for a short session since Feb. 28, when the turnover amounted to $3,400,000.

Foreign obligations were generally lower and railroad loans declined irregularly, but the bulk of industrial and public utility issues held steady. The trading was so dull that no sales of any sort occurred in a large number and variety of bonds and the turnover in most issues of all sorts consisted of a few small transactions.

German issues proved much less vulnerable than recently and their volume was sharply reduced. Weakness in Argentine obligations featured the foreign group, the losses among them ranging upward to 5 points.

United States government loans were easy on a small volume, but dull with the exception of the liberty fourth 4¼s.

BANKING EXPERT GIVES REASONS FOR FAILURE 7,000 BANKS IN U. S.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., July 25. (AP)—Professor Roscoe B. Turner banking expert of the Yale School of Law, today gave the North Carolina Bar association reasons why 7,000 banks in the United States have failed since 1920 and suggested remedies for banking ills.

Professor Turner said a large part of the explanation for bank failures in this country could be laid to the "development of chain stores, the merger of large corporations, the growth of farmer cooperatives and the modern facilities of transportation.

These advancements, he said, have tended to work a hardship on small banks in small communities with small capitals.

In order to provide security "in any event for those depositing their savings" Professor Turner recommended that both national and state banks be required to set aside the money from such accounts and invest it in approved securities to provide maximum protection.

"For the greater protection of commercial deposits," he suggested banks be prohibited from accepting deposits "aggregating more than 10 times their capital stock and surplus."

OKLAHOMA WILL ELECT DELEGATES TO MEETING UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 25. (INS)—Mass meetings will be held in several hundred Oklahoma cities and towns Monday to elect delegates to the state convention here next Friday to formulate a plan for state-wide unemployment relief.

Each community will survey its own unemployment situation at Monday's meetings with a discussion of tax levies possible for improvements on which unskilled labor particularly may be used.

Cicero I. Murray, chairman of the governor's special state relief committee, is endeavoring to induce other states to join in a movement leading to a concerted plea to President Hoover to call a special relief session of congress early this fall to appropriate funds to match state funds which become available.

CALLES BEGINS WORK OF RESCUING MEXICAN PESO

MEXICO CITY, July 25. (AP)—The work of rescuing Mexico's sinking silver peso got under way today when Gen. Plutarco E. Calles, dominant political and military figure, took charge as president of the Bank of Mexico.

A plan to cope with the situation will be made public Monday. This plan, already approved by the cabinet, was to be submitted today to congress and to a meeting of bankers and industrialists.

The plan was reported to call for revision of the monetary and banking laws and a special tax on all financial operations effected in foreign money.

The silver peso, Mexico's common tender, has fallen from a normal exchange rate of 3 per cent under gold to 40.

New Process Using Natural Gas May Revolutionize Zinc Industry Results From Three-Year Study

WASHINGTON, July 25. (AP)—The zinc industry may be revolutionized by a discovery that natural gas can be used to smelt the metal more easily and cheaply than present processes, says the bureau of mines.

The new process, using natural gas instead of coal gas to remove zinc from the ore, was developed by Charles G. Maier, metallurgist of the Pacific experiment station of the bureau. It resulted from a three-year study of ways to improve the quality and reduce the cost of production of zinc.

In Maier's process the zinc ore is placed in a large tube, heated by an electric furnace to about 1,000 degrees centigrade. The natural gas, purified, is fed in from above. The chemical action of the natural gas transforms the zinc in the ore into a gas also. The combined gasses pass on into a condenser, where the zinc is deposited as metal that is 99.99 per cent pure.

Originated by Chinese

The Chinese are believed to have originated zinc smelting before 600 A. D. This is the first radical improvement in the process since then, the bureau of mines says.

The Maier process, it is explained by bureau officials, permits more economical use of fuel and requires less heat than existing methods. It permits use of larger reduction units, which can operate continuously, ash being removed from below and new ore added from above without interrupting the smelting process. The smelters now in use must cease operation from time to time for cleaning.

More and better zinc is recovered with the new process, the bureau officials say. Less labor is required and maintenance costs in general are reported to be lower.

Zinc is widely used for roofing because weather has little effect on it compared with some other metals. It is used as a coating for "galvanized iron" to prevent rust. Brass is made from a combination of zinc and copper.

Missouri, Oklahoma and Kansas are the largest zinc-producing states, but it is also mined in Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, New York, New Jersey, Tennessee, Utah and Virginia.

Greer County Officers Maintain Reputation for Speedy Captures After Bank Robbery at Brinkman

MANGUM, Okla., July 25.—Greer county officers maintained their record for speedy capture of bank robbers, Saturday morning when two suspects were arrested and the stolen funds recovered within two hours after the daring robbery of the First National bank at Brinkman.

West Holland, cashier; Vernon Hardy, assistant cashier; and W. F. Griffis, a customer, were in the bank when the bandits entered. The bandit car, a Ford coach, was reported seen to stop in front of the bank. Two men got out and went into the bank, while the third remained in the car. One of the bandits forced the two bank officials and the customer to stand against the wall while the other man gathered up the money from the tills. He first took the cash from the tills, then searched the vault and took all the money he could find. The amount taken by the bandits was $1,229.25. A $50 liberty bond and a package of travelers checks were also taken.

After the robbery, the two men jumped into their car and started east. The sheriff's office here received a report of the robbery within a few minutes, and officers rushed to Brinkman and to roads which it was thought likely the bandits might take. Sheriff H. T. Tittle telephoned dozens of officers in Western Oklahoma and kept in cloe touch with developments from his office.

Two Youths Held

Two young men giving the names of Hubert Hale and Neil Graham, each claiming to be 19 years old, were captured by A. B. Williams, deputy sheriff at Granite; Lem Willis, employee of the state reformatory; Ed Moore, sheriff of Kiowa county, and John Hall, Kiowa county jailer.

The capture was made near the Orient railroad bridge south of Lugert dam, after a thrilling chase of 75 to 100 miles. Hale, Graham and another young man abandoned their car when they reached the river and found they could go no farther. They started running toward the nearby mountains but two of them stopped when the officers started firing at them. The other man did not stop but ran into the mountains. A search was immediately started for him.

Hale and Graham were brought to Mangum by Officers Williams and Willis and placed in the county jail. Hale said the third member of their party was a boy named Blair. He said he did not know his first name and had only known him for a very short time. Graham told officers that his mother, a widow, lives in Oklahoma City but that he does not know her address there. Hale said he does not know where his relatives live and that he has no home. Both youths said they had been working in the East Texas oil fields, in the vicinity of Henderson.

Several sacks of money left in the bandit car were recovered by the officers and delivered to Sheriff Tittle.

Third Robbery

The robbery today was the second for the Brinkman bank. The first robbery took place on June 9, 1926, when several thousand dollars in cash was taken. Arthur Bliss, Buck Manuel and Rupert Spencer were arrested that night in the rough country south of Eric by a possee lead by E. M. Green, then sheriff of Beckham county. All of the bank's funds were recovered except $10. Bliss, a former employe of the state reformatory was sentenced to serve 25 years in the penitentiary. He escaped from the institution at McAlester only a few weeks ago and is still at liberty. Manuel was given a five-year sentence, served his time with allowances for good behavior and was discharged. He now lives at Littlefield, Texas. Rupert Spencer was given a 10-year prison sentence. He is out under parole.

The other bank robbery in Greer county was at Willow, on Aug. 14, 1929. The robbers, G. T. James and Paul Brooks, were arrested during the night, after the holdup, on a train at Iowa Park, Texas and the bank funds recovered. James pleaded guilty and was given a 35-year penitentiary sentence. Brooks was convicted by a jury and his punishment fixed at a term of 25 years in the state prison.

ought my will be revised?

As often as there are important changes in your family or property conditions. You should read it over at least once a year and consult your lawyer if a change is desired. Prudent men revise their wills about once every three years.

YOU can appoint us as your executor and trustee in a newly-made will, or simply by adding a codicil to your present will. In either case your lawyer should prepare the will, or codicil.

City National Bank

"WHAT EVERY WOMAN KNOWS"

SHE knows what it costs to run her house because she does most of the buying. And she tells us, she can get along more comfortably if she knows exactly how much income to plan on.

If this is true, isn't her need for regular income even greater when the husband is no longer here to provide it? For this reason we recommend Life Insurance Trusts.

Under this plan the husband makes his policies payable to us as trustee. We invest the funds and send his wife monthly remittances to meet monthly expenses. If there is urgent need for extra money, part of the principal can be made available.

We strongly urge you to think of your life insurance in terms of income. Carry ample life insurance. Place it in trust.
