

Darvin Nix Dies Thursday in Oklahoma City

Darvin R. Nix, Wellington farmer and livestock raiser, died in the Veterans Hospital in Oklahoma City at 11 a.m. Thursday, May 25, after undergoing major surgery the preceding day.

He entered the hospital about three weeks ago, but most friends here were not aware of the critical nature of his illness, and his death came as a shock to the community. He was 51 years of age.

Mr. Nix came here as a youth 35 years ago.

For a number of years he was associated with his father-in-law, the late E. W. Blain, in extensive farming and ranching enterprises in a wide area. Lately his son had joined him in these enterprises.

In recent years, Mr. Nix became interested in fruit raising, and operated one of the largest commercial orchards in this area.

Mr. Nix was born May 31, 1909, in Quay County, N.M., the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. (Continued on back page)

Farm Bureau Sponsors Talk on Farm Bill

D. M. Womble of Morse, district director of the Texas Farm Bureau for District 1, will speak in Wellington Thursday, June 1 at 8 p.m. in the district court room.

Womble will discuss the omnibus farm bill, Dee Burba, Collingsworth county Farm Bureau manager reported.

"This meeting is of interest to every farmer, and some pertinent information pertaining to it will be brought out," he continued.

"We urge all farmers, whether they are members of Farm Bureau or not, to attend. This will give you an insight on what you may expect."

Following Womble's talk, there will be a showing of the picture, "Unchained Frontier," showing the last Wheatheart Tour of Canada.

Quail 4-H Share the Fun Team to Round Up

By Kathryn Potter

Collingsworth County will be represented at the State 4-H Club Round-Up, June 6 and 7, at College Station.

The Quail Bobettes will go as one of the District I contestants in Share-the-Fun.

The group was named alternate at the District contest in April. The first place winner is not going, so Collingsworth was next to go. The girls will sing "High Hopes."

Going from Collingsworth County are Sue Saunders, Alcie Holliman, Lonetta Neeley, Diane Moseley, and Shirley Horton. Mrs. Lowell Wells, accompanies the group on the piano.

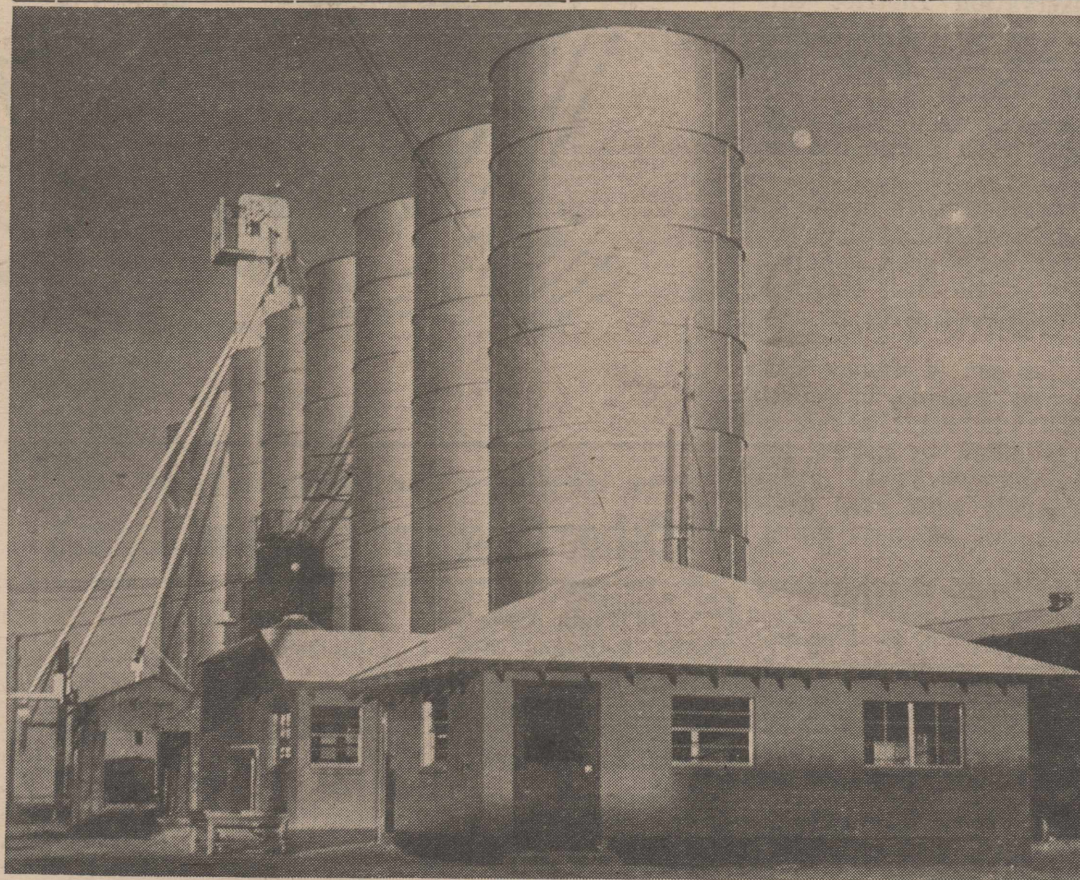

Others going from this county are Mr. and Mrs. Herman Moseley and Betty Moseley of Quail, Miss Kathryn Potter, county home demonstration agent, and Mrs. A. M. Saunders, adult leader of the group.

The group will leave Wellington Monday, June 6, and return Thursday, June 8.

Cotton Acres Assigned

County cotton farmers released 446.8 acres of cotton allotment, and this, along with 75 additional acres received from the state, were reallocated among other cotton growers.

Another Good Wheat Harvest Opens With Delivery Friday

NEW WARRICK FEED STORE OFFICE

This new office was recently completed by Warrick Feed Store, in keeping with a constantly expanding program of this company. The 32 x 36 foot haydite block building has a main lobby and two private offices, one for Velman Warrick, owner, and the other for the bookkeeping department. New scales also were installed.

Collingsworth's second good wheat harvest in a row opened Friday, May 26, when two small loads were marketed, one in Dodson and the other in Wellington.

Both were a little green, buyers said.

By Tuesday evening, however, approximately 25,000 bushels had been delivered at the two points, and the crop is due to be well under way by the end of this week.

Delivering the first load in Dodson at four o'clock Friday was Glenn Lewis, who farms on the east edge of the county. He had 197 bushels, and the yield was estimated at 33 bushels per acre. The moisture content was 17, but the test was described as good.

Approximately two hours later, D. R. and D. M. Shanks brought a load of 50 bushels to Warrick Feed Store from their place in the Houselog community. This wheat tested 58 and had a moisture content of 16.

Robert Barjenbruch, who was cutting the wheat, estimated it was making about 25 bushels per acre.

Sunday night, May 28, Louis Allred delivered the first load of the season to Singley Mill & Elevator. This was grown on his place south of Wellington and averaged 29½ bushels per acre. It tested 59 and had a moisture content of 18%.

Optimism soared on the part of both buyers and growers as harvesting started, as yields are considerably higher than any estimate made since the dry spell set in.

Elevator men point out that it is impossible to make an accurate guess, but they believe the county average this year may be as high as 20 bushels. Last year's bumper crop averaged approximately 25 bushels. There will be a considerable acreage, especially on irrigated farms, which is expected to yield 35 to 40 bushels per acre.

Quality of the grain is excellent, buyers report, although the test will run a little lighter than last year.

Except for being a little wet all the wheat delivered so far is No. 1 grain, and most of it has tested above 60. There has been a little to test as high as 64 pounds.

No Solicitors, Says School

Quail Superintendent Herman Moseley has announced that his school does not give approval to, nor does it cooperate with out of town solicitors who ask local business firms for funds which are supposed to benefit the school.

"We have had solicitors go to town and say they are selling ads to go on song books or book covers or some other item to be given the Quail school. We do not approve of this and we ask that Wellington merchants not patronize them," Supt. Moseley declared.

1961 Cotton Seed Loan Rate $49

The loan rate for the 1961 cotton seed crop has been set at $49 per ton, basis grade (100) for farm stored cotton seed. The direct CCC purchase price is $45 per ton to the farmer.

Salt Fork SCD Will Honor Co-operators With Banquet

Salt Fork Soil Conservation District will honor all co-operators and their wives at a banquet Saturday evening, June 10, the first of its type in the state, so far as is known.

It will be held in the community building beginning at 8 p.m. Plans for the event were announced this week by Fred Squyres, work unit conservationist of Soil Conservation Service.

L. L. Males, president of the Security State Bank of Cheyenne, Okla., and a leader in soil conservation in that state, will be the guest speaker.

Invitations to the approximately 500 co-operators and friends of the district went out this week. Reply cards indicating the number from each family who will attend must be returned by June 5.

In holding this entertainment Salt Fork SCD is believed to be setting precedent in the state. A number of other districts in various parts of Texas have held dinners or banquets, but so far as is known, the co-operators have always paid for their own plates, Squyres said.

It is also believed to be the first co-operators' banquet held by any SCD in this part of the state.

The banquet is being paid for out of the District "trust fund," money that it has earned. This comes from the sale of grass seed of types not handled locally, and from other business enterprises in which the district is engaged.

Here again Salt Fork SCD sets precedence. Most districts depend on the donations of banks and other business firms for their trust fund, Squyres said.

Mrs. A. V. Lowrie and her daughter, Miss Dona Lowrie, are in charge of the banquet itself.

In presenting Males as guest speaker, the SCD is bringing to its co-operators one of the southwest's leading workers in water-shed work, and a state leader in all phases of soil conservation.

He is also widely known as (Continued on back page)

Auxiliary Scrapbook Wins State Award

The scrapbook compiled by St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary recording its activities during the past year won first place in the state in its category, Mrs. L. C. Hill, president, was notified.

Scrapbooks were judged at the annual meeting of the Texas Association of Hospital Auxiliaries in Dallas May 21 through 24.

Mrs. Clyde Drake was scrapbook chairman and she was assisted by Mrs. A. L. Elliott.

Pictures, newspaper clippings, and articles record the scope of the work the Auxiliary has carried out in behalf of the hospital.

These are mounted in permanent form, and each sheet is plastic covered in order that the book may be left on display in the hospital lobby. All persons wishing to look are invited to do so.

This scrapbook was entered in the group for those representing hospitals of 50 beds and under. Last year, St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary placed second in the state.

Friday Paper Pickup Day

Friday, June 2, is the day for the regular old newspaper pick-up, Mrs. John Coleman announced this week.

Mrs. Jake Leach has resigned as chairman of this work, and Mrs. Coleman said that volunteers are needed to take over the job.

Anyone willing to work in this position is asked to contact her.

TO BOYS AND GIRLS STATE

The two representatives to Boys and Girls State and an alternate are shown here. Bob Sanford, left, will leave Monday for Boys State in Austin. Sponsored by the American Legion, it gives youths an opportunity to learn about the operation of government, from city through the state level. The following week, Betty Moseley, of Quail, right, will attend Girls State, also in Austin. Andrea Carter, center, is the alternate to Girls State, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary. Pete Smith of Samnorwood, alternate to Boys State, was unable to be present for the picture. Dr. E. W. Jones of Lubbock, formerly of Wellington, will be the doctor for Boys State.

In Election Saturday

Voters Reject 30¢ Tax, Choose Blakley for Senate

County voters Saturday, May 27, rejected a continuation of the 30¢ ad valorem tax for an additional four years, in the local issue at stake, then approved William L. Blakley for United States Senator over John Tower.

The vote in the tax election was 471 against continuing the tax and 343 for it.

In voting for Blakley, Collingsworth went against the vote of the Panhandle and of the state as a whole. Blakley received 508 and Tower 368.

The difference of about 60 in the number of votes cast in the two elections came about because of the property owning requirement in the tax election.

Voters rejected the tax in the South and North Wellington and Quail boxes, and the Absentee box, but approved its continuance in Marella, Dodson, Dozier, Samnorwood and Lutie boxes.

Blakley carried the South Wellington, North Wellington, Marella, Dodson, Dozier, Samnorwood and Lutie boxes, but Tower led in the Absentee and Quail boxes.

The Commissioners Court met Monday, May 29, to sit as an equalization board, and County Judge C. C. Bishop said nothing was done about the 30¢ ad valorem tax, which was included in this year's budget, but which, according to a ruling of the attorney general's office, cannot be collected as the tax expired in 1960.

This will mean, he said, that the county will be about $23,000 short of the expected revenue.

Voting on the tax measure was as follows:

W. E. Franks is principal. Other teachers are Lorenzo Person, coach; Miss Mary Alice Houston, Mrs. Winnie Franks, Mrs. Martha L. Simons, and Mrs. Christine Y. Thomas.

Salt Fork SCD Will Say Thank You to Its People June 10

A distinguished Soil Conservation District this week announced a new enterprise by way of saying "Thank You" to its co-operators, the people who really make the success of any SCD.

On June 10, the board of supervisors of Salt Fork SCD will honor its co-operators with a banquet, at no cost to the latter.

In several ways this sets precedence. It is one of the few times in the entire state of Texas that the co-operators of an entire district have been honored, along with their wives, and it is the first time, so far as is known, that it has been done with no cost to them.

The banquet is being paid for out of money that the district has earned itself, and this too, is unusual. Most soil conservation districts get the money for their trust fund, as this is called, by asking for donations. Salt Fork SCD did otherwise. It sold grass seed of kinds that do not compete with local dealers and engaged in other forms of business transactions to make money.

This is a gracious way for the board of supervisors to say "Thank You" to its people.

But the appreciation should be mutual. Besides the invaluable help in the way of soil improvement and soil conservation that is directly the result of the Soil Conservation District and Soil Conservation Service work, these agencies have brought recognition to the area, that is not only state-wide but is also nation-wide.

The banquet would be a good time for the co-operators to say "Thank You" to the men who form the board of supervisors and who give so much of their time, without pay, to its work, and also to the personnel of the Soil Conservation Service work unit here, for their outstanding leadership.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I note that our new FCC chairman, Mr. Minow, is going to bear down on TV to cut out the programs people like and give them the kind he likes.

My self-adjusted neighbor says he is thankful for the "off" button on his TV, but is still more obliged to Fate because he is not a born people-warden.

Says it must be a rough life—feeling the Call to reform everybody in your own image, while all the time running into nests of old die-hards who still want to pick their own brain-stuffing and spend their own money.

I see where science has worked out a new type of stopwatch that will measure spaces of time as brief as 1/100,000,000 of a second.

My short-waiter neighbor says this will be a very handy device for timing such items as the interval between a pay raise and an attack of new-car fever.

Also for recording about how long a U.S. general gets to keep on generalizing after some McCarthy-spooked typewriter triggerman tags him as anti-communist.

I see where the Internal Revenue men took a Pennsylvania farmer's work horses away from him and sold them to pay up his social security premiums.

Seems he don't think he needs this insurance, as he was using these horses in his fields and aiming to stack up enough old-style folding security to finance his old age.

But my New Order neighbor says the people pushers just can't let some chronic self-provider stand in the way of social progress, and they figure that taking away whatever he has got will cure him of independence.

During the rain storm Tuesday night, lightning knocked the brick flue off Mrs. Service's house.

A. V. Cocke attended the gun shoot at Amarillo first of the week. He was for the past year holder of the loving cup.

My tired-brain neighbor says he would just as soon not undergo any more of this talk and writing on the subjects of communism and anti-communism.

Says this matter is beyond understanding, anyhow, on account of practically every American is anti-communist and finding fault with everybody else who is.

He is even thinking of turning communist, on the grounds that it ought to be easy to win a contest where the enemy is so busy shadow-boxing himself to death.

I see where all over the country our schools are making special efforts to bring faster enlightenment to what they call the slow learners.

My tax-tuckered neighbor says this is mighty fine, but we also need a crash program to put more fizz in the brains of some slow learners we have got in Washington.

Like, for instance, Presidential brother-in-law Smith, who dawdled in the State Department 30 or 40 days before he got his diploma as an Expert on Asian Affairs.

I see where it is about cut-and-dried that Congress will give Washington world-wardens a new license to dump more foreign aid money into Russian satellite countries.

My copeless neighbor says this is a sample of our sportsmanship kick, which calls for bankrupting ourselves to help underprivileged enemies, so it will be a fair war.

Says, though, some non-progressives think this is running courtesy into the ground, and that with the overstock of brains we have got in Washington, somebody ought to think up a cheaper way to commit national suicide.

Soil Conservation Means Better Living

(Printed here is the essay "Why I Believe in Soil Conservation," for which Vicky Allen was named one of the ten winners in the Save the Soil and Save Texas Awards essay contest. There were more than 5,000 entries from students over the entire state, and in each of the five regions, the top 10 were chosen. Vicky was the only winner to come from this part of Region I.)

By Vicky Allen

I believe in soil conservation because in my school and among my friends I see firsthand the great difference between living on a good farm and living on a poor farm. My friend who lives on a farm which is run down and has poor soil is not able to afford and enjoy all the things she needs and wants. Even though her parents work hard, they are unable to make what we call a "good living." Truly, poor soil has made them poor people.

On the other farm adjoining this poor farm, I have a friend who seems to be able to have all the necessities of life and even some of the luxuries. Her father works no harder than the man on the poor farm, yet he makes a good living. They have TV, a new car, and a beautiful home. His land never blows away during our high winds.

His pastures are never overgrazed. He does not allow wash-outs in his fields. He builds small dams and terraces and has a small drainage lake for excess water. He uses fertilizer, both commercial and that produced in his feed lots. In the fall of the year, I see green plants growing between the rows of feed and cotton on his farm.

This man rotates his crops each year and sometimes he doesn't even plant anything on a field; he just plows it and keeps down the weeds. Some people say he is lucky and has rich land; but actually this man's land was once as poor as the land across the fence. But because of soil conservation it is now rich and fertile.

The example of these two families has convinced me that the practice of soil conservation means better land, a better living and most of all—happiness for all!

Top Producers Named in Grain Sorghum Tests

College Station.—Jim Shearhart, a Deaf Smith county 4-H Club boy with a knack for doing things well, today was named state champion in the 1960 Texas Hybrid Grain Sorghum Program. His yield of 7,892.9 pounds from an acre of Texas RS610 was produced under irrigation. He applied 150 pounds of anhydrous ammonia before planting. His acre was planted June 6 using 9 pounds of seed in 30-inch rows. Three irrigations were used.

The top dryland yield—a new record—was posted by Albert P. Sulak, Route 2, Itasca, Hill county. The yield, a whopping 7,155.3 pounds per acre, was also from RS610 with only a preplanting application of 50 pounds of anhydrous ammonia. Sulak planted his fine yielding crop on March 15 and used 7½ pounds of seed per acre.

The complete list of winners as released by Ben Spears, extension agronomist, included five 4-H Club entries in the dryland class for West and Northwest Texas Extension districts. Four of them were from Ochiltree county. They were Bobby and Dale Githens with a yield of 4,077.6 pounds per acre; Sammy and Kay Judice, 3,896.3 pounds; Larry Swink, 3,123.7 pounds and Don Savage 2,492.8 pounds. The fifth place winner was Richard Jungman, a Knox county 4-H clubber with 2,398 pounds per acre.

In the irrigated production class for the same area, Jim Shearhart was followed closely by Harold Shearhart with 7,635.1 pounds an acre. Bill Cole also of Deaf Smith county and a 4-H member was third with 1,103 pounds and two Castro county 4-H members ranked fourth and fifth. They were Donald Smithson, 7,087.5 pounds, and Johnny Collins with 6,774.1 pounds.

In the dryland division for Extension Districts 4, 5, 8 and 9, Sulak was the top winner, followed by a Milam County 4-H boy, Henry Tomasek with a yield of 6,840.4 pounds.

The only award in the irrigated class for the eastern half of the state was a fifth place to Joe Mueck, a Milam county 4-H member, who posted a yield of 3,498 pounds.

Area winners will receive cash awards ranging from $5 to $50. The state champion, youthful Jim Shearhart, will receive an additional $50 as overall state winner and a plaque as irrigation division winner. Sulak will receive the area award and a plaque as dryland division winner.

While grain sorghum production in Texas set an all-time high in 1960, the average acre yield was only 40 bushels or 2,240 pounds an acre.

Spears said approximately 85 per cent of the state's grain sorghum acreage for 1960 was planted to hybrids.

CHEAP FLYRODS

Avoid buying cheap flyrods. Among obvious drawbacks is the fact that they do not have enough guides to control the line properly.

But if you already have such a rod, it can be improved by re-spacing the guides and adding a few of your own. These can be bought at any sporting goods store for about the cost of a cigarette each.

Be Alert to Plant Invaders

COLLEGE STATION.—B. J. Ragsdale, associate extension range specialist, reports that he has received many inquiries regarding certain poison-out plants which have created serious rangeland problems in other states and countries. Two of these plants, Halogeton and Alfombrillo, have received much attention lately, and many questions have been asked about them.

Halogeton has been reported in the states of California, Nevada, Idaho, Wyoming and Colorado. It is found on salty soils of semiarid regions, especially where the soils have been disturbed and the native plant cover reduced. Sheep are the most frequent sufferers of Halogeton poisoning, but cattle may be affected. Livestock seldom eat toxic amounts of this plant if other desirable forage is available, Ragsdale says.

Ranchers of northern Mexico consider Alfombrillo to be their greatest poisonous plant problem, continues Ragsdale. This plant is reported only in the states of Chihuahua and Sonora, Mexico. It has been found within 7 miles of Antelope Wells, N.M., 85 miles southwest of El Paso, and 20 miles south of the Arizona border, but there is no known record of it north of the border. Alfombrillo requires a slightly acid soil and according to research conducted to date, the soils in the border areas of Texas are alkaline.

To date, neither Halogeton nor Alfombrillo presents any problem to Texas ranchers. But, Ragsdale concludes that ranchmen should be on the alert for range invader plants. Local county agents should be notified of findings.

Search Begins for America's Top Homemaker

The search for America's top homemaker, the annual Mrs. America competition, has officially begun, according to Lone Star Gas Company, co-sponsors of the event.

Mrs. America, the chosen representative of the nation's homemakers, is judged on cooking and baking, menu planning, table setting, child care, community service, church activities, poise and appearance, and personality.

The national finals of the contest will be held in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Nov. 27 to Dec. 9, 1961. Contestants from the 50 states will meet and vie for the coveted title, and the valuable prizes that accompany the honor.

Lone Star is conducting the search for Mrs. Texas. Plans call for regional contests to be held in Fort Worth, Dallas, Greenville, Abilene and Waco during the week of Sept. 18, 1961. The five regional winners will then meet in Dallas for the state finals Nov. 2-3 to determine the Lone Star state's representative in the national finals.

Clubs and organizations are provided an added incentive to sponsor an entrant, according to Lone Star. Organizations successfully sponsoring a Mrs. Texas contestant will receive cash bonuses for their participation. A club sponsored entrant selected for the regional contests will mean $25 for the organization. If the contestant is selected as a regional winner, the club receives an additional $75. The organization sponsoring Mrs. Texas will receive another $100.

Mrs. Texas will receive an expense-paid trip, courtesy of Lone Star Gas Company, to the national finals. She will receive other prizes, including a major gas appliance and a wardrobe.

Any married woman, 21 years or older, who is a citizen and permanent resident of the United States, may enter the contest, except employees of organizations associated in conducting the contest and women under contract with business managers or other agents. She must be a res-

Students Should Apply for Social Security Numbers

Hal Geldon, manager of the Amarillo Social Security office noted today that "vacation time for some students may mean 'work' time for others." With the end of the school term, young people all over the Panhandle will begin the exciting adventure of looking for their first job.

Geldon said that the student can get started in the right way by having his social security account number card with him when he applies for that job. The employer needs the number from his card to properly report the wages paid. Failure to show the card to the employer may mean the student will lose some future social security protection.

Youngsters who have worked before, even part time, probably had a social security card. If they have lost the card, they should get a duplicate with the identical number that was on your original card. Having more than one number causes confusion and delay. "Remember—one social security number lasts a lifetime," Geldon said.

If the student never had a card, or if he needs a duplicate card, he should visit his local post office to obtain the necessary application blank for one.

Winton Improves from Heart Attack

Winton suffered a light heart attack on May 5 and was hospitalized several days. He is now convalescing at home and doing as well as possible, Mrs. Winton said.

ident of her state at least three consecutive months immediately prior to entering the contest. Previous contestants are eligible providing they did not win state titles and compete in any of the previous national finals.

Official entry blanks for the Mrs. America competition may be obtained from Lone Star Gas Company after June 1.

White-Davis Rites Held

Mr. and Mrs. James L. White are now at home in Lincoln, Nebr., where they live at 1933 B Street, after spending their honeymoon in Estes Park, Colo.

Their wedding was solemnized in Colorado Springs, Colo., on April 2, Easter Sunday, at 4 p.m. in the Glen Eyrie Chapel. The Rev. Lorne Sanny officiated.

The bride is the former Jerri Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley L. Davis of Fairbanks, Alaska, who were present for the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon White of Vernon, formerly of this county, are the bridegroom's parents, and he is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Jess White of Wellington and Mrs. O. D. Hill of Hollis.

Mr. Davis gave his daughter's hand in marriage. Her floor length gown of imported Dutch bridal satin was styled with overskirt of embroidered lace. The neckline was scalloped and the sleeves were long and pointed. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion was held in place by a pillbox cap trimmed with fluted silk lace and pearls. Her bouquet was of pale and deep pink sweetheart roses.

Her sister, Mrs. Shirley Athearn from Hawthorne, Calif., was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Delores Moen of Chicago; Miss Helen Ashker of Denver, and Miss Vera Van Cleve of Glen Eyrie. All wore dresses of cerise peau de soie, styled with bell-shaped skirts, with matching veils and headbands, and carried baskets of pink carnations and white Easter lilies.

Phillip Gray of Pasadena, Calif., acted as best man, and the ushers were Ken and Keith White, twin brothers of the bridegroom, from Dallas; and Carl McCutchan of Lincoln.

The bride's mother received guests at the reception which was held in the Gray Room of the historic General Palmer Castle at Glen Eyrie.

Mrs. Kenneth Hodge honored her daughter Phyllis with a party on her eighth birthday, May 23.

Favors of horns and jars of colored bubbles were given to each guest as they arrived and games were played outside during the afternoon.

Effects of Fumigants on Seeds Studied

College Station.—Many seed men have had damage claims filed against them because of the failure of fumigated seed to germinate. This failure could have resulted from poor field conditions, or it could have been the result of fumigant damage. The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station conducted a study to determine the effect that specific fumigants have on germination and vigor of seed and the conditions under which they may be most injurious.

For the tests, seven fumigants were used to treat seed of barley, oats, wheat, rice, cotton and two varieties of corn and sorghum.

Because previous research has indicated that moisture content and temperature of seed during fumigation affects the possibility of fumigant injury, the seed for these tests were fumigated at three different moisture and temperature levels. It was found that high moisture content and high temperature usually interacted to produce extensive injury to the seed.

The fumigants included in these tests were classified into three groups on the basis of their effects on seed germination. Hydrogen cyanide and carbon tetrachloride in the first group had relatively little effect on seed germination. Germination was not affected immediately after fumigation with these materials, but after 12 months storage of fumigated seed, reductions occurred in some crops without regard to temperature or seed moisture during fumigation.

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station has published a complete report on this test. This publication, MP-448, may be obtained from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

COOL CANTEN

To insulate your canteen and keep the water much cooler, carefully wrap the canteen with one thickness of tire tape. The tape makes the canteen easier to handle, yet it will slip in and out of the cover instantly.

British Wait for Surgery

At the end of 1958 there were 443,000 persons waiting to enter Great Britain's socialized hospitals, the chamber of commerce of the United States reports. They had to wait from 53 to 70 days for general surgery.

Connecticut is sometimes called the Land of Steady Habits.

1960 Texas Births Second Highest

While the total number of live births for a single year was the second highest in history, the Texas birthrate continued its slight decline over the past few years.

There were nearly 249,000 live births in 1960. However, there were 7,200 infant and 4,200 fetal deaths during the same period.

Future Farmers Honor Fathers at Banquet

Wellington Future Farmers honored their fathers and other guests with a chicken barbecue recently, in which outstanding chapter members were honored and the year's work concluded.

The Rev. Glenn Hickey was guest speaker.

Keith Jesse introduced the guests, who were local citizens who have helped the chapter during the year. Charles Floyd gave the invocation, and following the dinner, Danny Garcia, instructor, presented the awards.

Charles Floyd received the public speaking and dairy farming awards; Calvin Tyson, farm mechanics and farm electrification; Kenneth Patterson, star greenhand; Gary Holliman, chapter star farmer; Granvel Killian, DeKalb accomplishment award and chapter service award; Kyle Lindley, soil and water award.

Ray Null presented a gift to Jennifer Singley, FFA Sweetheart, on behalf of the chapter.

A musical program was presented by the High-Notes, a vocal quartet composed of Mrs. Rufus Sweat, Ollie Wilson, W. S. Brewer and Judge Raymond Horton. Miss Patsy Falk was accompanist.

The opening and closing ceremonies were by the chapter officers, including Killian, president; Jimmy Bowen, vice president; Floyd, secretary; Jesse, treasurer; Tony White, reporter and Kyle Lindley, sentinel.

The banquet was held in the school cafeteria and served by members of the Future Homemakers chapter.

Earl Gibbs and his daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Alexander, Monda and Dorina, of Amarillo, Mrs. Rodel Byers and Marilyn, were in Denton over the week end to see Mrs. Earl Gibbs receive her bachelor of science degree during the graduating exercises at Texas Woman's University Sunday morning.

Cheryl Wilson Wins Civic Oration Contest

Cheryl Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Wilson and a junior in Wellington high school, was judged winner of the Civic Oration Contest on May 23. Her subject was "My Country, A World Citizen."

Second place winner was Charles Floyd, a sophomore. Judges were C. T. Hubbard, Tommy Hayes and Miss Louise Fulcher.

From a possible 100 points, Cheryl was given 95 points by the judges and the runner-up scored 90 points. Engraved plaques and gold medals were presented to the winners by Mrs. Ben Ratliff.

A permanent trophy, presented to the school, will be inscribed with the name of this year's winner and may be used for similar contests for the next four years.

Other high-ranking contestants included Judi Bailey, third place winner, and Elsa Romo and Muriel Stephens, who tied for fourth place. All three are sophomores.

The contest, supervised by Mrs. Ratliff, was sponsored by Modern Woodmen of America and was the fourteenth such competition held on a national basis.

Dried Honey Now on Market

College Station.—Dried honey, a new product resulting from a drying process devised by U. S. Department of Agriculture research engineers, gives bakers and candy makers an opportunity to use this wholesome sweetener to a greater extent than ever before.

When reconstituted with water, dried honey has substantially the flavor of fresh liquid honey, and its free-flowing granular form provides new convenience and economy in handling. This product is expected to increase the use of honey, especially in baking. The stickiness of liquid honey and its tendency to crystallize have so far limited its use by bakers.

Dried honey may also be used in packaged baking mixes, for extra sales appeal and to give homemakers a convenient means of using honey in baking. Honey adds to the flavor, color, texture, aroma and keeping quality of baked goods.

The process used to dry the honey is essentially the same as that for preparing full flavor fruit juice powders. It consists of vacuum-dehydrating liquid honey rapidly, in a mechanically agitated thin-film evaporator, to yield a molten mass nearly free of water. This molten material is then fed between two chilled metal rollers, which squeeze it into a thin sheet while cooling it to room temperature.

The sheet is taken from the chilling rolls in the form of brittle flakes, which are ground into a coarse powder suitable for packing in sealed containers. Because the drying process requires only a few seconds, most of the original honey flavor is retained.

Storage tests show that dried honey will retain its flavor and color for a year at normal room temperature. Caking occurs at higher temperatures, but it can be retarded by mixing sugar with the honey before drying, or by keeping the moisture low with a desiccant in the package.

Honey "essence", a by-product, is obtained by condensing and collecting the water removed from the honey, then distilling from it a liquid with highly concentrated flavor. In making fruit juice powders, the essence is added to the powders to restore full flavor, but since dried honey has adequate aroma and flavor, the honey essence can be sold separately as a natural flavoring material.

County Student in Top Honor

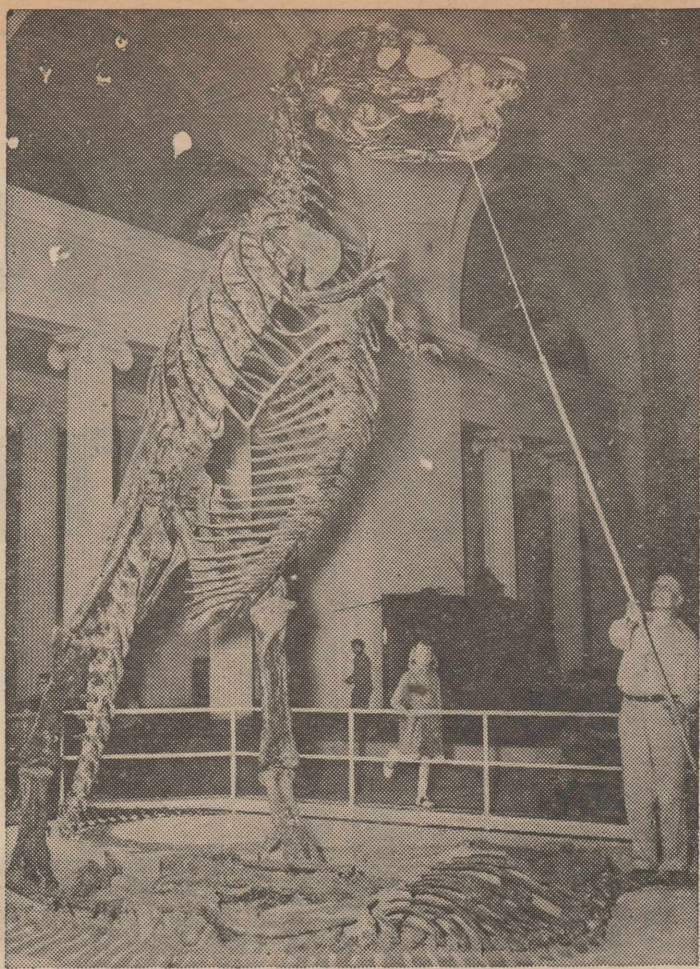

Dean Abel of Clarendon Junior College in announcing the list of students who were selected to the Dean's Honor Roll for the second semester of this year, listed Margaret Oldham of Samnorwood as the highest ranking student with a straight A average.

Other students from Collingsworth county achieving the selection of the Dean included Carroll Nunneley of Wellington; Neal White of Quail; Albert Motesbucker of Dodson, who was also the valedictorian of the 1961 graduating class; and Alice Johnson of Samnorwood.

Record Supply of Meat for Consumers in '61

College Station.—The estimated 1961 meat production will provide consumers of the U. S. with the largest supply of meat in history, both in total and per person. If the estimates prove correct, Lloyd Bergsma, extension livestock marketing specialist, says consumption of red and poultry meats would exceed 200 pounds per person for the first time in history.

Bergsma says livestock producers will be faced with a generally downward trending market during 1961. Prices during the first half of the year will not feel the effect of increasing supplies as much as those for the last half. He expects slaughter cattle to average near 1960 levels during the earlier months of 1961 but increasing supplies of grass cattle and more competition from expanded hog production are expected to have their effects by late summer.

The greatest price drops are forecast in the lower grades of cattle.

The specialist expects a continuation of the herd build-up which started in 1958. But, he adds, weather conditions can play a mighty important role. Cattlemen can be expected to react quickly to changes in crop and pasture conditions, as cattle numbers on the farms and ranches of the nation are now at an all-time high.

On the brighter side, Bergsma says consumers have, partially at the expense of other meats, increased their consumption of beef and he sees a continuation of this strong demand. This trend should help ease the downward pressure on prices resulting from the expanded supplies. The increased domestic supplies of stocker and feeder cattle will continue to reduce the level of cattle and beef imports, says Bergsma.

Lower cattle prices do not necessarily mean that profits will be absent in cattle enterprises. But, Bergsma suggests to producers they study the price indicators when planning their operations.

Rev. Nunn Publishes Book about Texas

The Rev. Roy Nunn, who completed high school at Wellington in 1915 has signed a contract for the publication of his first book, "Texas by Choice."

Set in and around Wellington during the years the author lived in Wellington (1905-1917), "Texas by Choice" is a book pervaded by a tone of relaxed informality, relating as it does the struggles, disappointments and successes of Tip Nunn, a man who chose to leave his native Arkansas and adopt the state of Texas.

The Rev. Mr. Nunn, the son of Tip, has written the story of his father's life with emphasis on the common customs prevalent in the days when Texas offered an immense challenge to those hardy pioneers who chose to rein in and channel its natural resources. "Texan by Choice" published by the Naylor Company, San Antonio, Texas, is factual from beginning to end. The protagonist, Tip Nunn, serves to enhance and dramatize, rather than dominate, the narrative.

An ordained Presbyterian minister, the Rev. Mr. Nunn's clerical appointments have included pastorates at Kingfisher, Tecumseh, Meeker and Enid, Okla.; Mt. Vernon, Greenfield and Everton, Mo.; and Seymour, Texas. In addition, to these posts, the Rev. Mr. Nunn served as missionary to the Cherokee Indians at Park Hill, Okla.

The author attended Trinity University in San Antonio, where he earned his bachelor of arts degree; San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo, Calif.; and McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago, where he earned his bachelor of divinity degree.

In his spare time the Rev. Mr. Nunn enjoys golf, gardening, reading, map reading, and traveling. This latter interest developed, no doubt, as a result of his extensive coverage of the United States. He has visited every state in the union, with the exception of Alaska and Hawaii.

The minister-author makes his home in Greenfield, Mo., with his wife and daughter.

The Rev. Mr. Nunn has attended several ex-student reunions here, including the one in 1960.

There will be a meeting in the District Court Room this Thursday June 1 at 8 o'clock in the evening that every farmer and businessman should attend. At that time, D. M. Womble, district director of the Farm Bureau, will explain the omnibus farm bill of the Kennedy administration. That is, he will if anybody can, explain this monstrosity of regimentation of American Agriculture. At least he will set forth the attitude of the Farm Bureau which has more members than all of the other farm organizations put together.

SCD Banquet

Males will speak on some form of soil conservation and will show slides to illustrate his talk, Squyres explained.

There will be other numbers on the program of a purely entertainment nature.

The district is urging all co-operators to attend. A co-operator, it was explained, is anyone who has signed an agreement with the district to carry out conservation practices, and who has a conservation plan.

It was stressed that if any eligible person does not receive an invitation, it is an oversight and that person should consider himself invited.

Chairman of the board of supervisors, which is in charge of the plans, is John Robert Henard, and other members of the board are Frank Coleman, Pat Bradley, Zook Thomas and Orville Vaughn.

Mr. Nix

He attended the Wellington schools and was graduated from high school here.

On July 27, 1930, he was married to Miss Allyne Blain. Mr. Nix served in the Army during World War II.

Funeral services were conducted at the First Baptist Church Sunday at 2:30 p.m., by the Rev. J. M. Fitzgerald, pastor of First Methodist Church at Crowell, and formerly of Dodson.

Pall bearers were C. E. McKinney, N. M. Higdon, H. E. Lee, Ray Peoples, Alvin Horton and Brodie Smith of Erick, Okla.

Burial was in West Wellington Cemetery under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Surviving Mr. Nix are his wife, of the home, and one son, Jerry Nix of Wellington. A brother and three sisters also survive: Mannon Nix of Shamrock; Mrs. Thelma Garrett of Richmond, Calif.; Mrs. May Taylor of Norman, Okla.; and Mrs. Tollie Vickers of Altus.

A report from the Plains says Miss Effie Childress of Muleshoe retired from teaching at the end of this term, and a big party was given for her. Her sister, Miss Zeffie Childress, retired last year. It is reported they have a cabin in Colorado, near Alamosa, and plan to spend some time there. Both taught in Wellington for a number of years before going to Muleshoe about 15 years ago.

Nora and Clyde Drake recently went up to the Dord Fitz art exhibit. This unusual exhibit is held each year in a one-room school near Mr. Fitz' ranch between Higgins and Arnett, Okla. Paintings of his students are on display and everyone who goes takes a basket lunch and spreads it at noon. He has a studio in Amarillo and has classes at other points. Nora and Eugene Sherman have studied with him.

When Vicky Allen went to Lubbock to receive her Save the Soil and Save Texas essay award, she learned that more than 50,000 students in Texas had entered; that there were only 50 winners in the state, and she was one of the ten from Region 1.

Her grandfather, P. E. Starr was an award winner, too, the only time two members of a family have won in separate contests. Mr. Starr, for more than 50 years a farmer here, also was a longtime banker, serving as chairman of the board of Wellington State Bank 38 years. We said last week he was president, but it should have been chairman of the board.

Biggest attraction in town has been the remodeling job at C&H Pharmacy, which operated somewhat as usual while the store was enlarged from 25 to 50 feet wide. Customers sipped coffee and watched such things as a new low ceiling go in, re-wiring, painting, laying a tile floor, etc. Sometimes it was noisy, and one day when a pneumatic drill was going, a customer of long standing asked Jim Cochran to charge her purchase. Thinking she said something else, he solemnly shook his head.

Early County Resident Dies

Funeral services for Marvin Walker, 65, of 2802 Province Lane, Dallas, a retired employee of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railway, were held on Monday, May 29, in Dallas.

The Walker family lived in Wellington in the early 1900s and Mr. Walker attended school here.

Mr. Walker died Friday in a McKinney hospital after a long illness. He was born in Whitesboro, Grayson county, and had lived in Dallas since 1945. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge, the Knights Templar and the Methodist Church.

Survivors are his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Ray Jones of Roswell, N.M., and a brother, Elmer H. Walker, of Everett, Wash.

Ray Henry is home from West Texas State College to spend the summer months with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Henry. He will be employed by Greenbelt Electric during the summer.

Texas Mayor Writes Book on Arrow Heads

AUSTIN.—A Texan who has collected more than 40,000 arrow heads in the last 25 years has written a book under the title of "Arrows Over Texas."

The author is R. S. Reading, mayor of Corsicana. He is a retired public utility executive, who started his interesting hobby in El Paso some 25 years ago. Since then, he and his family have hunted arrow heads and Indian artifacts all over the southwest.

His present collection, numbering 45,000, has been classified and mounted. They occupy a large room in the Navarro Junior College at Corsicana. He presented the collection to the college, and it is studied by students and archaeologists interested in early-day man.

Don Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Moore is home from Bethany College for the summer months. He plans to help his father with farming this summer.

Rudy Picked for Greenbelt

Ronnie Rudy, Skyrocket tackle, has been picked to play in the Greenbelt Bowl football game in Childress August 12. Jeff S. Henderson, executive secretary, has announced.

He was the only boy from Wellington to be picked. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Rudy, and graduated from high school this year.

Less Unpaved Highway Mileage

There has been a steady decrease of unsurfaced roads and unpaved roads on the state highway systems in the last 15 years as paving machines continue to nibble away at this outstanding mileage.

The 1959 figures showed a total of only 36,000 miles of unsurfaced, primitive roads — about one-third of the total two decades ago. There were 107,000 miles of stone and gravel surfaced roads on the state networks in 1959 as compared with 158,000 miles 20 years ago.

Dr. Floyd Golden, educational consultant for Emmett F. and James F. Rittenberry and Associates, Amarillo architects, was a business visitor here Thursday. Dr. Golden, former president of Eastern New Mexico University, is a nephew of Mrs. A. T. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Forrester of Portales, N.M., were here over the week end visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Eron Forbis and with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Brisbin. Both Mr. and Mrs. Forrester will work in Portales this summer and he will attend Eastern New Mexico University there again next year.

John Alvin Horton is home this week from North Texas State College, Denton, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Horton.
