

Spirit of Hollybush May Lead to Better U.S.-Soviet Relations

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The spirit of Hollybush, as the spirit of Camp David in 1959, was marked "perishable" from its inception.

But from the American viewpoint Hollybush was a valuable testing ground. It could lead to better U.S.-Russian relations, though the process will be slow, largely undramatic and require patience and understanding on both sides. Such are the considered afterthoughts in high level Washington following the unusual meetings last Friday and Sunday between President Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin at Hollybush, the home of a state college president at Glassboro, N.J.

Positive Aspects
Quite aside from such basic issues as the Mideast and Vietnam on which no change by either side ever was expected, there were from the U.S. standpoint some positive results in the 10 hours of conversations between the two leaders and their chief advisers:

The President and the Soviet leader came to know each other personally and thus, in future long distance dealings, should be better able to appraise each other's statements and actions.

—Despite Kosygin's hardline statements for public consumption, most of which were anticipated by Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk, the Russian's Hollybush demeanor was firm, but not bellicose or vituperative.

—Kosygin was more than willing to keep the talks going beyond the first Friday session. He must have anticipated that this would be a cause for criticism and suspicion within the Soviet sphere of influence, but he was willing to chance it.

This was taken by U.S. officials to mean that he had firm backing and authority from Moscow for what he was doing, and that he was confident he could counter intramural criticism in the Communist world.

—Hollybush undoubtedly strengthened the relative positions of the two ambassadors involved, Russia's Anatoly F. Dobrynin in Washington and America's Llewellyn E. Thompson in Moscow. These, after all, are the men on the ground. In many ways, their roles are more sensitive at times than their superiors, Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Negative Side
Also, there were negative

aspects of Hollybush:

—Summitry of this sort carries with it the inherent danger of the public expecting too much from it, despite all official warnings.

—The Russians may have been less than pleased by the presence at Hollybush of Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara since no Soviet counterpart was on hand. Yet the Americans felt McNamara made a valuable contribution with his crisp size-up of the antiballistic missile situation, a highly complicated field that McNamara reduced to plain, pointed talk.

—While a new high-level line of communications was established between Johnson and Kosygin, there was some doubt as to how much it would be used once Kosygin returns to the Kremlin and reviews Hollybush in something less than grandfatherly terms.

To many Americans, it may have seemed that what Johnson called "the spirit of Hollybush" (See SPIRIT, Page 3)

AWAITING ACTION — A Ferris wheel and many other amusement rides of the Pampa Jaycee's Community Fair were still waiting for action today as mud, the result of the weekend's rain, stifled attempts to finish setting up equipment for the scheduled opening last night. The fair is expected to be in full operation tonight. (See story, page 3.)

Council Approves 15-Cent Increase In Taxicab Fares

A 15-cent per zone increase in taxicab fares was authorized today by the Pampa City Commission at the request of James Lewis, owner of Yellow Cab Co. The current rate is 50 cents for one person plus 15 cents for each additional passenger from downtown to the 1500 block north. This will increase to 65 and 20 cents. From downtown north to 23rd St. the present fare is 65 cents for one plus 15 cents for each additional fare. This will increase to 80 cents plus 20 cents. From downtown north past 23rd St. the fare will be $1 plus 20 cents for each additional passenger.

Zone fares from downtown to the south part of the city will have similar increases from 50 to 65 cents and 65 cents to 80 cents with a 20-cent charge for each additional fare. The 80-cent rate will be the maximum from downtown south because of shorter distances.

Lewis told commissioners there has been no increase in Pampa cab fares since 1957. Increased maintenance costs and wages were given as the reason for seeking the fare boost.

City Atty. Bob Gordon was in favor of the rate ordinance which will get its following routine procedure of rate legislation, the new taxicab fares will not be put into effect until Aug. 1, one week after final reading of the rate ordinance July 25.

In other business today the council granted permission to Claude Robinson to tie onto the city water system from outside the east city limits.

Renewal of a rental agreement with the State of Texas was approved for railroad commission offices in City Hall. The action was a formality since no rental fee was involved.

Refugees Pose Problem in U.N.

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The plight of countless refugees from Israeli-occupied Arab territory today posed an urgent problem for the United Nations. The harsh fact of tens, perhaps hundreds of thousands of human beings wandering homeless, hungry and frightened in the Middle East was expected to become one of the world organization's paramount concerns.

The more academic question of who should be blamed for this month's Israeli-Arab war continued to fill the assembly chamber with rhetoric and the U.N. corridors with diplomats seeking a behind-the-scenes compromise resolution between those who would brand and punish Israel as the "aggressor" and those who would not.

Several of the nations scheduled to speak today were expected to deal with the refugee problem, one so grave that it prompted Assembly President Abdul Rahman Pazhwak of Pakistan to warn of a "vast new tidal wave of human misery."

He said the problem has overtaken the resources of "both governments and of the U.S.N. Relief and Works Agency (UNRWA) for Palestine refugees."

Draw was on today's list of speakers. This was one of the countries which Israeli Prime Minister Levi Eshkol referred to Monday when he asked in a Jerusalem interview with UPI why other Arab countries could not take some of the Palestinian refugees who have lived restlessly in Jordan and the Gaza Strip since 1948. Eshkol pointed out that Israel took hundreds of thousands of Jewish refugees from Arab countries. But the Arabs gave little opportunity to be refugees from Israel.

Even as Jordan's King Hussein addressed the General Assembly Monday, his government closed the Allenby Bridge across the Jordan River and refused to accept any more Arab refugees from Israeli-occupied territory. "We cannot possibly absorb any more refugees," an announcement said.

LBJ, King Hussein To Discuss Mideast

Visit With Jordan's Ruler Set Tomorrow

WASHINGTON (UPI) — King Hussein of Jordan will visit President Johnson tomorrow at the White House, it was announced today.

The Arab monarch will come here from the United Nations "for an exchange of views" with Johnson, the White House announcement said.

The meeting is scheduled for 2:30 p.m. CDT Wednesday.

Hussein, first Arab leader to see Johnson since the Mideast war, told the U.N. General Assembly Monday that unless the U.N. condemns Israel as an aggressor and forces return of Arab lands, the war will be renewed and prolonged.

There had been reports Monday from New York that Hussein would be visiting Johnson, and this had been described from the outset as the king's intention when he came from Amman. But this was the first White House confirmation.

The meeting with Hussein will follow by three days the completion of Johnson's summit talks with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin at Glassboro, N. J.

Johnson and Kosygin have agreed in principle on future summit meetings but set no time or place for them.

Johnson revealed the agreement that additional conferences were needed in a briefing for congressional leaders Monday. White House Press Secretary George Christian confirmed the reports from the congressmen.

KING HUSSEIN plans visit

In his U.N. speech Monday, Hussein declared that despite its military setback "Jordan will still survive... and with us will arise the Arab nations."

Christian said Monday that Johnson and Kosygin "agreed to have direct contacts. They did not agree on a specific date for a future meeting, and no one said they proposed a specific date."

B52s Reply To Attacks

SAIGON (UPI)—A thundering Communist artillery barrage killed six U.S. Marines and wounded 96 more today just below the North-South Vietnam border. American forces replied with massive B52 raids that shook the jungle-covered battlefield.

U.S. spokesmen said North Vietnamese gunners fired 146 artillery, rocket and mortar rounds at Leatherneck base camps at Gio Linh and Khe Sanh and Marines patrolling near Hill 981 which the Communists lost in a recent battle that killed hundreds of them.

A short time after the last Communist shell burst in the pre-dawn attack, the U.S. Air Force B52 Stratofortresses—the weapon the guerrillas and North Vietnamese fear the most—were dumping hundreds of tons of bombs.

The bombers, which fly so high their bomb explosions are their only visible sign, hit infiltration routes, storage areas and foxhole-ridden areas near south and blasted the jungles

Kosygin, Castro Go Sightseeing

HAVANA (UPI)—Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, who received a polite but restrained welcome when he arrived Monday, went sightseeing today with Premier Fidel Castro.

The Soviet news agency Tass said Kosygin toured Havana and the adjacent districts of Havana Province but gave no other details.

Havana newspapers, meanwhile, said nothing about the purpose of Kosygin's visit. They printed only a short official note that he arrived and mentioned part of his entourage.

Although Kosygin is the first Soviet premier to visit the Communist isle, he was greeted by none of the fanfare usually accorded to visiting dignitaries.

There were no banners or welcoming signs. Security was tight. Havana Radio reported the arrival in a few words.

(Diplomatic informants in the United States and elsewhere said Cuba was annoyed at the Soviet trade agreements with democratic Chile, Cuba's most powerful ideological enemy in Latin America, were reported to be a primary source of disagreement.)

Salvation Army Fund Raising To Continue Here

Salvation Army Advisor Board members and the Army divisional commander decided in a called meeting here yesterday the Pampa Salvation Army "hasn't failed in its fund raising campaign. It's just going to take longer."

Board members, Capt. Robert Tritten, Pampa unit commander and Lt. Col. Paul Thronburg of Dallas, the Army's divisional commander, agreed the Development Fund's building committee should meet with Gene Holla, the fund's architect and draw new plans to fit minimum need now and possible expansion.

The new plans would allow for expansion later as money is available. The Salvation Army started a $131,000 development fund campaign organized in January and has raised about $30,000 in cash and $35,000 in pledges.

Board members agreed the campaign had not received a many large ($5,000 and up) pledges as it expected.

Most of the $30,000 cash raised in first year pledges of the three-year payment program has been spent for the building's lot on S. Cuyler, campaign expenses, and a house for the Army commander. Cash in the bank currently totals about $6,000.

Building fund committee members who will meet between now and August with Holla are Charles Cook, Chairman; Dr. (See FUND, Page 3)

PRESIDENTS SPEAK

Two City Industries Enjoying Progress

About 60 Pampa Chamber of commerce board members heard progress reports yesterday from two local industrial presidents, Paul Crouch of Panhandle Packing Co. and Cliff Everhart of Mid-West Chemical and Processing Company.

During the GOC luncheon at Coronado Inn, Crouch said his industry has grown from three employees in 1944 to 34 employees in 1967. It ended last year with $3 million in sales and produced 7,950,000 pounds of meat.

Since 1945 the company has been located in its present quarters near Pampa's east city limits on U.S. Highway 60.

A 1966 estimate of raw products costs were $750,000 in swine and $1,250,000 in cattle. Payroll in 1966 totaled $271,396.38.

Crouch explained the industry gets 15 per cent of its business from Pampa, covers 20 counties and buys as much raw products and services in Pampa as possible.

The company is expanding in two areas, an increase in the number of cattle killed and automation of its inedible department.

department expansion, which would double the department's size and put one extra man to work. The building is about ready to go up," Crouch said. Automation of the cattle killing department would employ about 20 more people and permit the plant to kill 40 cattle an hour, or 320 a day in an eight-hour shift, Crouch said.

It is designed to work two shifts daily and kill 640 cattle daily. Currently, packers use 35 per cent of the beef grown in this area. The other 65 per cent is sold on the hoof and processed elsewhere, he said.

Everhart, a district chemist for Skelly Oil Co. for 18 years retired from the company in 1964 and started his own business as Evaco Chemical Co. in Pampa. It was later incorporated into Mid-West Processing Co. and since February, 1965, has been operating as Mid-West Chemical and Processing Co.

Its two plants are located at 820 W. Brown and 745 W. Foster. The four plant divisions are (See CITY, Page 3)

BOTTLES, ANYONE -- Mrs. Robert Fick, 1004 E. Browning, stands besides part of the '98 different bottles she has on display in her house. Collecting bottles for only a year, she has other bottles stored in the garage and around the house, and plans to continue collecting them. She has found many of the bottles in dump grounds, and others have been given to her by friends.

Pampa Woman Saves Bottles That Others Discard as Junk

By LARRY HOLLIS
News Staff Writer

Most people have little use for bottles. After the contents have been used, they throw the bottles away.

But some, like Mrs. Robert Fick, 1004 E. Browning, save bottles, particularly the prettier or more unique ones, and even go to the extent of gathering up the bottles that others have discarded.

As a result, she now has 98 bottles on display in her house, and she plans to have more.

At the moment she has other bottles (the plain ones, she said) stored in her garage and around the house.

"I've only put the prettiest and more different bottles on display," she said.

And some of them are very interesting.

Three bottles, shaped like a flask, are made of a dark gray

Kansas.

"I've only been collecting bottles for about a year," Mrs. Fick said.

She explained that she became interested while on vacation in Oklahoma with her sister. Her sister was collecting bottles and Mrs. Fick was helping her. Whenever they found two bottles that were alike, Mrs. Fick kept one. Thus her collection began.

"I've continued it ever since," she said. "I collect bottles wherever I find them. And now that many people know I collect them, a lot of my friends have been giving me bottles."

Mrs. Fick has found bottles in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas, "here and there."

"I read that the best place to find many older bottles is in old dump grounds," Mrs. Fick said. And that's where she has found many of her bottles.

Most of the bottles, as far as she knows, are from the United States. But some were made in Scotland, Italy and possibly Portugal, she said.

Lately Mrs. Fick has been reading articles on bottles. "Most of them deal with the very old and rare bottles though, which I'll probably never see," she said.

"I can't place a value on my collection," she continued. "They're probably valuable only to those who are interested in them."

In addition to bottles, she also has collected some old fruit jars. Many of them are the older types having glass lids. One of them is dated July 14, 1908. The ones having dates are more valuable, she explained.

Mrs. Fick plans to continue collecting.

"Come back in three years and I'll have a lot more to show. I don't know where I'll find them all, though. I'll probably hide away all but the prettiest."

material that has the texture of fine sandpaper. Each has a different reproduction of a painting, done in color and also having the sandpaper texture.

Another bottle, which looks more like a vase, is of white ceramic. On the front is a blue and pink painting of clipper-like ships at sea. And another, made of Regal China, is in the shape of an eagle.

Others are made of green, brown or clear glass, some without designs but having delicate curvaceous shapes or embossed portions. Others are engraved with designs of gold, green, red and silver.

The one having the most interesting history — that Mrs. Fick knew of, anyway — is a bottle that her uncle picked up for her in California. Over a foot tall, it has a triangular body of clear glass. The description is not more unique than that of a number of other bottles. However, it has the distinction of being from the house of Cecil B. deMille, the late movie director.

Another bottle has been fashioned to look like the stump of a small tree. Pieces of real wood have been attached to a bottle covered with some type of plaster to give it the appearance of wood. It was found in

Lurleen May Need Surgery

By RANDOLPH PENDLETON
United Press International...

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—Gov. Lurleen B. Wallace said Monday night that she has a "malignancy" that may require surgery next week at a famed cancer hospital in Houston, Tex.

There was no immediate word on how long Mrs. Wallace, a 40-year old mother of four children, would be hospitalized.

The Alabama Constitution provides that Lt. Gov. Albert Brewer would become acting governor if Gov. Wallace stays out of state longer than 20 days.

Mrs. Wallace, wife of former Gov. George Wallace, now her No. 1 adviser, remained secluded in the executive mansion with her husband after the mimeographed announcement was released by her secretary.

"After tests made last week when she entered St. Margaret's Hospital for a 'routine physical checkup,' the statement said, 'I have been informed by my doctors that I have a malignancy which may require surgery.'

On the recommendation of my doctors, I am going to the M.D. Anderson Hospital in Houston, Tex., for further examinations, tests and possibly surgery next week."

The honey blonde, former dimestore clerk underwent an operation in 1965 after receiving radium treatment for a malignant tumor of the uterus. Doctors reported they found "no evidence of any malignancy or other disease."

Mrs. Wallace, Alabama's first woman governor and only the third female chief executive in the nation's history, said she would continue her regular duties until her departure for Houston.

Headed by incoming president David Tucker, new officers and directors will be installed at the banquet today at 7 p.m. in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn.

Tucker will succeed Lee Fraser, who will serve as vice president of the organization during the coming year.

Raymond D. Mitchell, of Dallas, will deliver the banquet's keynote address. He is manager of the Fireman's Fund American Insurance Co. Known in service club circles throughout the state, his topic will be "Along Life's Way."

Other new officers are Ben Sturgeon, secretary and Al Doucette, assistant secretary.

Directors for 1967-68 are Bill Atkinson, Bob Curry, Kay Fancher, Milo Carlson, Jim Thompson and Paul Payne, as well as Tucker and Fraser.

Installing officer will be Cameron Marsh, a past president of the club.

Police Chief Warns Of Fines For Setting Off Firecrackers

Pampa Police Chief Jim Conner asked parents today to caution their children on setting off firecrackers inside the city limits.

"Youngsters should have supervision when they are playing with the firecrackers," Conner said, adding, "because they are dangerous."

Conner said his department received seven calls Sunday and Monday from persons wanting the firecracker shooting stopped in their blocks.

"Persons annoyed by this can file a complaint and a fine of $50 can be assessed," the chief said.

Community Fair To Open Tonight

Wet ground from Sunday's rain prevented the opening of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Munity FAIR LAST NIGHT. The fair located at Recreation Park is scheduled to open tonight and continue through Saturday, according to Everett Blackwell, general fair director.

Sonny Stafford Shows of Hereford was not able to set up the midway and concessions until yesterday afternoon because of the mud. The delay prohibited the scheduled opening last night.

A talent contest, open to all amateur talent, will be conducted Thursday and Friday, with finals on Saturday. Performances will be a 12 p.m. Thursday and at 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday. A top prize of $25 will be given to the winner of the contest. Persons wishing to enter may sign up at the Jaycee office at Recreation Park.

Two performances of automobile and motorcycle stunts will be presented a 10 and 8 p.m. Friday. Each show lasting an hour and fifteen minutes, will include automobile head-on and onside crashes, ramp driving and other stunts by Auto and Motorcycle Stuntmen of Houston, according to Jim Barton, awards and means director. Admission will be $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for child.

Commercial exhibits will be on display in the National Guard Armory, according to Ed Rowntree, commercial and fine arts director.

Exhibits include those of Sears-Roebuck Co., Purl Meaker Refrigeration Service, Civil Air Patrol, Sharp's Motorcycle Sales, Keel's Rock Shop, John Parker Motors, Epperson Camper Sales, Ogden and Son, and Leonard's Furniture Store. M. S. Eugene Leigh, handwriting expert, will also have an exhibit.

Barious individuals will have paintings, sculptures and other handicrafts on display for the fair and crafts exhibits. Rowntree said.

Game booths will be operated by Knights of Pythias, Pythian Sisters and the XiBetaChi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

Mid-West has nine employees, expects to add two more in about two months and forecasts about 20 more by 1968. A new plant is on the drawing boards, but a site has not yet been selected.

According to Everhart, it would combine all operations into one plant and would be located outside the Pampa city limits, but would serve Pampa and surrounding areas.

Its research division is working on four new products, including a new cosmetic item which will be released July 15. In addition to supplying United States distributors, Mid-West ships to Canada. Until the crises disrupted trade with the Middle East, one of the company's Oklahoma distributors for drill pipe inhibitors had shipped to the Mid-East.

Spirit

(Continued From Page 1) was more perishable than the atmosphere produced by their summit conferences. In less than two hours after leaving Johnson, Kosygin was hammering away at the United States on television.

This was expected by U.S. officials even before the first meeting on Friday. But it would not have helped matters diplomatically for official sources to have announced their expectations in advance.

Consider Soviet Pressures. One official said before the Sunday meeting:

"Don't forget—the chairman (Kosygin) has his constituents, too; his own people and colleagues in the Kremlin, in Hanoi, the Red Chinese, the Arabs, the East Europeans. I can't imagine his leaving here without letting us have a fairly stiff parting shot much along the lines of his speech to the U.N. General Assembly."

Another official said: "It is next to impossible for us as Americans to appreciate what a burden the Russians have in their relations with mainland China. Peking is more than a monkey on their backs—it is a clawing, snarling tiger."

"Try to imagine how we would feel, for example, if there were 700 million people in Canada armed with thermonuclear weapons and screaming constantly for our scalps. We'd be worried, too."

Perhaps it represented wishful thinking on the part of some U.S. officials familiar with the interlude at Hollybush, but they felt one beneficial result might be this: The place and degree of Soviet-American interreaction might be slowed.

This came out of a discussion of the advantage to both countries of reducing expenditures for arms. The principals seemed to accept the idea that each country might have developed a habit of overreacting to statements and actions of the other.

Obituaries

Dick Land
Funeral services for Dick Land, 38, will be at 4 p.m. today in the Carmichael - Whatley Colonial Chapel with the Rev. Joe Haw, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, officiating.

Mrs. Land, born Jan. 16, 1879, in Pie Long, Ga., died at 1:20 p.m. yesterday in Highland General Hospital.

He was married to Lillian Reed on Feb. 17, 1915 in Estaline. He was a member of the East Pampa Baptist Church.

He came to Hall County in 1891 and he lived in Montana and Miami before moving to Pampa 30 years ago.

He is survived by his wife, Lillian of the home, 945 Love; two sons, Beales D. of Murfreesboro, Tenn., John A. of Sherman; one daughter, Mrs. Stella Mae Laure of Little Rock, Ark.; 12 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Burial will be in the Miami Cemetery.

Sales Clinic To Continue Tonight

About 275 Pampan registered here yesterday for the first of the three-part series on improving customer relations and sales, taught in Pampa High School auditorium by Frank A. Patterson of Phoenix, Ariz.

Two other classes are scheduled at 7:30 p.m. today and Thursday.

Patterson told his class one formula for profits in sales is ideas plus plans times activity. He said 15 per cent of the successful people get their success with technical training, but the other 85 per cent must depend upon their own personal qualities to be successful.

According to Patterson, primary goals of a "star salesman" are to have the proper attitude, to organize his thinking, know what is customers want, and believe in his product, his services, his company, himself and others.

In his class tonight, Patterson will explain proper telephone techniques, ways to quote prices, suggestion selling, methods of closing a sale, and overcoming sales resistance and objections.

Civil Case Still In Session Here

The civil case of Texas Employers Insurance Association vs. Mildred L. Clauder was still in session here today in 31st Judicial District Court. Jurors selected yesterday have heard testimony from six plaintiff witnesses.

The case is a claim for death injury under workmens compensation Act. The deceased, Louis Clauder of Gray County, an oil company employe died after a car wreck while on his way home from work.

The question is whether this is covered in the Workmens Compensation Act. District Judge Grainger McIlhany said.

TONTO GUESTS

HOLLYWOOD — Jay Silverbeels, for many years the Lone Ranger's pal Tonto, will guest star in an early episode of the new television series "Gentle Ben" starring Dennis Weaver.

could not afford to meet President Johnson in Washington or at Camp David, where his predecessor, Nikita S. Khrushchev met in 1959 with President Eisenhower. Also U.S. officials were convinced that the Russian leader wanted to see something of the countryside.

Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey had suggested several places in his state when he was asked about possible college sites.

Glassboro State College in southeastern New Jersey, just off the Jersey Turnpike and only minutes away by helicopter from the big Philadelphia airport, was a natural.

And so it was that this small town and small college became another Potsdam or Yalta or Camp David with the two top sitting in a small den; testing, probing and wondering.

Hollybush will never be the same again. And the same might be said for President Johnson and Premier Kosygin. Whether their meetings made any definitive contribution toward development of world peace is, of course, another matter.

Gala Celebration Planned by Lions

Evening Lions Club plan a gala dual celebration for 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Fellowship Hall of First Baptist Church, according to Tom Snow, president.

The Evening Lions are celebrating the 40th year of Civic service in Pampa and the Golden Anniversary of its international organization.

District Attorney Alto Griffin of Lubbock, vice president of the Lions' Crippled Children's Camp at Kerrville, will be guest speaker. Griffin is past president of the Lubbock Lions Club.

New officers will be installed by Ralph Randel of Panhandle, past district governor and international adviser of Lions' International.

Taking office Thursday evening are Jim Morris, president; J. C. Roberts, vice president; Harold Dougherty, second vice president; J. E. Gunn, Lion Tamer; and Joe Donaldson, Tail Twister.

Entertainment will be provided by "We Three" accompanied by Mrs. Maxine Milliron.

2 Arrested On Charge of DWI

Two men were charged here with driving while intoxicated and aggravated assault, and were released on bonds of $500 and $1,000.

Miles William O'Loughlin, 55, of Miami was released from city jail today after posting a $500 bond.

O'Loughlin was arrested for driving while intoxicated about 9:40 p.m. Monday by city policemen Stanley Belt and Preston Bailey.

O'Loughlin was arrested on E. Frederick and Highway 60 and arraigned before Justice of the Peace Ed Anderson.

Fred Carroll, 36, of Stinnett was released on a $1,000 bond here last night on an aggravated assault charge. Carroll was arrested in Stinnett by Hutchinson County Sheriff deputies and brought to Pampa by Gray County Sheriff deputies last night. Judge Anderson set the bond here.

Commissioners To Discuss New Retirement Plan

Gray County Commissioners will meet here at 9 a.m. Saturday to pay salaries and discuss the county employes' retirement plan, recently passed in the state legislature.

The plan, recently signed by Gov. John Connally, would cover all county and state employes who are not already included in a state retirement program, County Judge S. R. Lenning Jr. said.

Lenning will meet with other county officials and representatives of state organizations in Austin July 18-19 to discuss the bill.

The bill, labeled House Bill 85, was co-sponsored by Gen. Roy Harrington and Rep. Lee Duggan, according to a letter Lenning received from Carl S. Smith of the Texas Federation of District, County and Precinct Officers.

The H.B. 85 would authorize payroll deductions for employes and counties to match the deductions in like amounts. A commissioners' court in each county would determine how much the county would pay, Lenning said.

Gray County Commissioners will also meet here July 12 for a regular session.

A missile combat crew from the 381st strategic missile wing from McConnell AFB, Kan., launched the missile in a pre-dawn test, the Air Force said.

LONG BALL

CHESTER, N.J. (UPI)—The longest softball game in history continued for a fourth day today with the Nighthawks leading the Daydreamers as the teams approached the 400th inning.

The 20 players from West Morris Regional High School began the game at Far Hills fairgrounds for the benefit of the American Cancer Society Saturday and were expected to continue until late today.

Monday they broke their longevity record of 210 innings for a game set last year and decided to go for the 400 mark. As of the 316th inning the Nighthawks were leading the Daydreamers 351 to 301 with more than 400 hits recorded.

NO FISH STORY

DENVER (UPI)—Mrs. Olive L. Thomas, 41, of Lakewood, insisted it was no fish story. She said she bit into a roll at a coffee shop and caught a fishhook in her tongue.

A district court jury believed her and awarded her $5,000.

Designers Bring Shape Back For Fall

By HELEN HENNESSY
Women's Editor

Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — The New York fashion showings for Fall 1967 have that it would be safe to break down daytime clothes into the once-reliable categories of coats, suits and dresses.

Coats look like dresses. Dresses look like coats. And suits are made of everything from tulle to tulle to three or four pieces of costumes.

The fashion tale must be told in stands for fall. There are two categories—daytime and evening.

Mid-long (mid-calf) and mini-short hemlines are an accepted fact. Skirts are here to stay for another year or two. The mini coat with the mini skirt may figure importantly, when cold weather is a lot more practical than blue knees and chil-

COLORS ARE BRIGHT for fall daytime wear. Yellow wool gabardine dress (left) has double row of buttons and tabbed pockets. Neckline scarf is red Paisley. Dress and coat costumes in purple contrasting dress.

Suits with vests, worn with turtlenecks or shirts and ties are also important on the daytime scene.

Color combinations include such starters as plum with lemon, acid green and orange, and bright plaids, stripes and argyle.

Important fabrics are wool and flat gabardines. Newest are bulky tweeds, fleeces and chin-truits, dress shirts, coat and jacket shirts are in the collections. And hard is on everything - big gers, big galosh buckles, grips - all are used on as- tric or double-breasted things. And belts, from metal to leather, are a must for the fall season.

Coats are either large tents or small and controlled at the top with wide hems. And some version of the trench coat turns up at every showing.

New is the Spanish look (a la Jacqueline Kennedy). There are black velvet pantsuits

Appliance Industry Urged To Produce Dependable Gadgets

BALLAS (UPI) — A former editor of two women's magazines Sunday urged the home appliance industry to produce better and more dependable equipment voluntarily to avoid government regulation of the industry.

Herb Mayes, former editor of Good Housekeeping and McCall magazines and presently a director of the McCall Corp., spoke at a luncheon preceding the American Home Economics Association convention which opens today.

Mayes said consumers dissatisfied with appliances might seek government remedies because appliances often represent a major investment.

Consumers cannot simply overcome appliance's deficiencies by not buying the article again he said.

"Home economists should compel the services and products to which consumers are entitled," Mayes said.

Mrs. Bill Price Hostess To WMU

SKELLYTOWN — The WMU Circle of the Skellytown First Baptist Church met recently in the home of Mrs. Bill Price. Mrs. Bill Thompson opened the meeting with prayer. The prayer calendar was read by Mrs. Leroy Allen with a special prayer for missionaries led by Mrs. Price.

Mrs. Kay May gave a review of "Churches from a convention from Utah and Idaho". Participating in the program were Bernice Bewley, Jean Allen, Neima Mercer, Bill Price and Bill Thompson.

Others attending were Kay May, O. G. Grant and one visitor, Miss Billie Price.

Mrs. Huckins Has Family For Dinner

SKELLYTOWN — Mrs. Gertrude Huckins entertained recently with a family reunion dinner in her home.

Attending were her sister, Mr. Stella Layton and daughter Debbie of Nampa, Idaho, Curtis Wilson, Fairview, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Rhodes of Amarillo; Mrs. Hunter Boughton, White Deer; Mr. and Mrs. Norvel Huckins and children, Mr. and Mrs. Gerold Huckins and daughter Donna, all of

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem which I am sure I am not alone in. I have the sweetest, most wonderful girl in the world, and we're thinking of marriage, but when we're together, I'm the one who has to start everything. Like taking her hand to hold it, or putting my arm around her to draw her closer so I can kiss her.

She's not cold or uncooperative, once I make the first move, but I sure wish she would make the first move once in a while. How can a guy get this across to his girl with out turning her off? Some guys like a little encouragement.

DONNIE: DEAR DONNIE:—And some guys feel that for a girl to take the initiative in such matters is un feminine, and it turns THEM off. (Maybe she thinks you are one of those guys.)

Skellytown: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Houston and children Vicki and Frank, White Deer.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069.

FOOT TWO AND FEELING BLUE: No matter what your past has been, you have a spotless future.

Mrs. Martha Carter was reported in the Worley Hospital. Am sure she would enjoy cards and visits.

Mrs. F. W. Shotwell and Mrs. A. D. Hills attended the Red Cross CST meeting at Plainview Tuesday June 20th.

Roy Bell, nephew of Mrs. Mollie Hethcock, was a visitor in the Hethcock home Tuesday.

Your reporter had a very nice surprise Thursday when my grandson, H. W. Martin from Ventura, Calif., called from the local airport and said, "Grandmother, I am out at the airport". You can imagine the rush out there to pick him up! So I got to see his new airplane, but did not have time to take a ride, as he wanted to spend the night, so was late getting down to the Center on Thursday.

The Governor's Committee for the Aged met in the First Christian Fellowship Hall for a covered dish supper recently; not as many attended as we had hoped, but a start has been made to complete a working organization.

Bo Alford of the Texas Furniture was master of ceremonies. Frank Hogsett will be the first president. Committees will be appointed and working plans formulated. Mr. Alford explained how the various groups can be useful in the community as well as making new friends with similar interests. Misses Candy Gill, Mona Williams and Linda Hunt of the church waited tables. Thanks so much girls.

"YOUR FREEDOM NEWSPAPER"
Serving the Top O' Texas 60 Years

There is no chance of having the two women do it together because the groom's mother is much too bossy.

How can this be handled?

INNOCENT BYSTANDER: DEAR BYSTANDER: Since Grace's mother is "the kind who prefers to sit back and let the other woman do it rather than make an issue of it," knowing that traditionally the bride's mother provides the cake, I say, let her sit back.

I wouldn't presume to "handle" anything which is so obviously none of my business. And if you do, prepare to end up with egg (or cake) on your face.

DEAR ABBY: As an ecumenical brother to the Ohio minister, I, too, have swallowed my pride after officiating at a wedding or funeral, when someone asks me, "How much do I owe you?"

Rather than set an hourly rate for services rendered, in the case of a boor who would ask such a question, I put a return question, "How much was it worth to you?"

Who is the INDEPENDENT?

How he can save you money at the supermarket!

By H. W. Galloway
General Manager, Shurfine-Central Corporation, Northlake, Illinois

There is probably no word that has been bandied about more before the American consumer these last two decades than the word, "independent!" It has been used, mis-used, over-worked and over-lauded into our shopping vocabulary until it has lost its meaning — if, indeed, it had one in the beginning. Its most often intended inference seemed to be that here was some poor little All-American guy beset by legions on all sides and unable to survive without our sympathetic patronage. No wonder most of us associate the word "independent" with the size of the store.

Funny thing is that in most communities the largest supermarkets are very often the "independents" — supermarkets owned by individuals, families or partnerships operating one or more stores in a relatively small geographic area. These supermarkets are truly "independent" of the dictates of far-away management and rigid operational policy. Their "independence" in their decisions as to whom to sell, what to sell, how to sell, services and products that you in your community prefer. Their "independence" in their decisions as to who will supply them, has allowed many of them to join together in the ownership of their own warehouses, producing the lowest cost of food possible at the supermarket.

No it is with the 2000 supermarket owners who comprise Shurfine-Central Corporation. Their stores are diverse in size, size and appearance, but they have three common denominators: they are "independent" in the best sense of the word for you; they have Shurfine brand on their shelves, and June 26 to July 4th, they will be celebrating your "freedom from high prices" with their own Shurfine "Independents Days Sale." Then you've heard nothing of Cobalt being found in Utah, Sheriff?

Ahead, not! Who's the fella who keeps saying "you thru' th' window"?

I don't recall ever seeing him before!

Well, he must think he's known you some-where!

Don't be import the vast amount of Cobalt now used in American industry?

Yes, sometimes our supply runs short! At home would be a godsend! Huh! That chaff's following me!

Captain Easy

Well, I must say—this is a fine way to start a day!

...one of the better ways to start one of my better days. I was going to gay!

I heard you!

Oh, oh! Jake's dunking his board! An' he's no more than even money to swim out of a bathtub!

Go, baby, go!

Which way, Pop?

Short Ribs

Do you realize how long we've been at sea?

Yes, we've really seen the world.

What's the first thing you're going to do when we land?

Ask the king to transfer me out of the navy!

I bought this pie here this morning.

My husband says it's the worst cherry pie he's ever tasted.

Well, what happened to the rest of it?

My husband eats all past; it was half gone because he realized he didn't like it.

Blondie

Alright, let's go see what ol' Buzz has got to say.

Well, okay.

Gentlemen... hi!

It's time has come for us to seek a more enlightened means of settling our differences.

Alley Oop

Where you going, Pop? That's the way home!

I know, son... I know...

But I just decided to take the scenic route!

The Flintstones

Now have you got your travel bags, shoes and passports?

And remember, this was just a lucky break! Don't get too big for your boots!

Jan is busy with heres! She's so thrilled to have her own independence as the different dresses!

It's as big a breakthrough to the different dresses!

Some difference? Youghta call 'em the crossword twins—down an' across!

Jackson Twins

Tom said Phil is driving this bus to the bus station—to meet the ex-wife from Ohio!

Yes! She sent another letter saying just when she arrives!

You think $100 will more than cover what you owe her?

Oh sure! And you can bet she'll take the next bus back!

You really goofed, lady—when you let him get away! He's a man in a million!

Well, I never make the same mistake twice!

Mickey Finn

When Carlyle and I get married, will you be my bridesmaid, Priscilla?

Sure!

And Hollyhock, will you come as my maid of honor?

I'd be delighted, Jenny! I!

Now if only we can get Carlyle to show up!

Priscilla's Pop

I didn't mean to hit him!

Quickly... get a towel... I'll deal with you later, Jimmy!

The poor little guy!

But look how he just sits there with the emotionless expression he always has.

If he'd only cry... then at least I'd feel he's human!

NATIONAL LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Cards Rookie Given Ovation

By United Press International Jim Cosman, who was all wound up inside, certainly didn't let it show.

That's because the rangy St. Louis rookie, making only the second start of his brief major league career, headed a "dream" by Coach Billy Muffett and pitched without a only four hits in 8 1-3 innings...

Cosman gave the San Francisco Giants nightmares, yielding as the Cards registered a 3 and driving in the winning run as the Cards registered a 3 League lead to 3 1/2 games.

"Billy had a dream the other night when I came up from Tulsa," grinned Cosman, "and he told me he saw me winning without using a windup. I think I was around the plate most of the night. I've thrown a few on the backstop in my life but I didn't tonight."

Allows One Run Cosman, whose only previous start in the big time resulted in a two-hit shutout over the Chicago Cubs on the last day of the 1966 season, issued seven walks but was in command throughout, allowing only an unearned run in the fourth before he weakened in the ninth...

The manager usually chooses the runners up in the voting, but is not bound to do so. Commissioner Eckert expressed the wish that New York Yankee slugger Mickey Mantle be named to the squad...

The award, given annually by Ray Hickok, the Rochester, N.Y. sportsman and manufacturer to the outstanding professional athlete of the year, was presented to Willis in 1962 when he stole 104 bases.

Last June 14, a U.S. tax court ruled that Willis must pay taxes on the $10,000 diamond and gold belt.

Willis, joined by Hickok, are taking the issue to the Federal Court of Appeals.

They feel the ultimate decision of whether an athlete must declare his awards, trophies and medals as "taxable income" could influence not only professionals but also amateur athletes in golf, tennis track and even in the Olympic Games.

shutting out the Reds on five hits while chalking up his 10th triumph, tying him with Juan Marichal for the NL lead. Willie Davis tripled in one run and scored another on a sacrifice fly in the third and Ron Hunt's homer in the seventh accounted for the Dodgers' final run.

The Cubs extended their winning streak to seven games, their longest in 13 years, on the strength of back-to-back homers in the first by Billy Williams and Ron Santo and strong relief pitching. Cal Koonce and Chuck Hartenstein hurled scoreless ball over the final four innings, saving Rich Ney's sixth win.

The Mets tied the game on Ken Boyer's two run homer in the eighth and topped the Pirates on pinch hitter Ed Charles run-scoring single in the ninth. Ron Taylor picked up his second win in relief.

The White Sox have now played 30 one-run games this season, winning 18 of them.

While the White Sox haven't generally been taken seriously as pennant contenders, they could make it a runaway if they keep rolling for two more weeks. Between now and the All-Star break, the Sox play seven more games with Baltimore, four with Minnesota and three with Detroit.

Since Berry was bothered by an eye infection and entered the game as a defensive replacement, Stanky had already waived J.C. Martin in from the bullpen to pinch-hit — but changed his mind when Berry pleaded for a chance to hit.

Berry came through with a two-run single off Miller that gave Chicago a 5-4 victory, left Miller with a 16 record this season and boosted the White Sox' lead to 4 1/2 games over idle Detroit.

Quick Decision "I was 98 percent sure I'd use Martin," Stanky said, "but on his way in, Berry came to me and insisted he could see all right. The determination in his eyes prompted me to leave him in there."

Elsewhere in the American League, Minnesota edged Boston 2-1, New York topped Kansas City 5-2 and California edged Washington 4-3.

Willis had three hits in the game but the Dodgers lost it, 3-2, anyway and later went on to lose a playoff with the Giants.

AMERICAN LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Stanky Hunch Pays Off

By United Press International in there." The look in Ken Berry's eye won Eddie Stanky's heart and beat Stu Miller's arm Monday night.

Stanky gambled on Berry's determination when the league-leading Chicago White Sox were trailing the defending champion Baltimore Orioles 4-3 with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth inning in one of the most dramatic moments so far this season.

Since Berry was bothered by an eye infection and entered the game as a defensive replacement, Stanky had already waived J.C. Martin in from the bullpen to pinch-hit — but changed his mind when Berry pleaded for a chance to hit.

Berry came through with a two-run single off Miller that gave Chicago a 5-4 victory, left Miller with a 16 record this season and boosted the White Sox' lead to 4 1/2 games over idle Detroit.

Quick Decision "I was 98 percent sure I'd use Martin," Stanky said, "but on his way in, Berry came to me and insisted he could see all right. The determination in his eyes prompted me to leave him in there."

Elsewhere in the American League, Minnesota edged Boston 2-1, New York topped Kansas City 5-2 and California edged Washington 4-3.

Bucs Like 'No Tools' Willis

NEW YORK (UPI)—They've hung a new nickname on Maury Willis in the Pittsburgh clubhouse and it's precisely the type one ballplayer would pin on another.

They call him "No Tools." Pete Miklesen, the big Pirate reliever, started it and in no time at all the rest of them picked it up.

For years the greatest thing that could possibly be said about any ballplayer was that he had "all the tools." It was probably the most overworked cliché in the game but it was the supreme compliment nonetheless.

That gives you a rough idea what kind of meaning a nickname like "No Tools" would convey.

Neither Millesen nor any of the other Pirates call Willis that because they actually believe he doesn't possess the necessary tools of his trade. The reason they call him that is because of a recent article by Buzzie Bavasi in a national magazine.

Basic Tools Missing In the article, Buzzie spoke of Maury's days with the Dodgers, good and bad. He undoubtedly meant it to be complimentary to Willis when he referred to him as a ballplayer with none of the basic tools but all the desire in the world.

Willis, however, looks upon Bavasi's description of him as "a back-handed compliment."

Moreover, he feels Buzzie hurt him by certain statements in the article.

"He made it sound as if I'd go around sulking or even ask to be rested, using my knee as an excuse, any time I was being criticized," said Willis. "He made it sound as if I were a discursive force on the club."

"After Buzzie's article I'm afraid to try to exert any leadership here on this Pittsburgh club. I'm afraid it might be misinterpreted."

Says Still Friends Willis makes it clear he and Bavasi still are friends although he believes a basic misunderstanding took place between them during the final days of the 1962 pennant race when the Dodgers had a four game lead with six games remaining but still lost.

With only three games to go, Willis' right leg was a mess from all the sliding he had done that year.

"It was so red, raw and ugly from the knee all the way to the hip that the other's players didn't even want to look at it," recalled Willis.

"We had one final three-game series left with the Cardinals and I had stolen 100 bases even up to that time. Buzzie walked up to me in the clubhouse before we went out to play the first game with the Cardinals and said, 'Okay now that you've got your 100 stolen bases, when are you gonna start playing baseball?'"

"Maybe he was kidding. All I know is I never was so hurt in my life. I was so startled and shocked I hung my head near my locker. I'll admit it, I nearly cried."

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Why Not 'Bell' Careless Drivers?

Of all the factors contributing to the highway accident toll, one of the most difficult to eliminate is the irresponsible who crashes his merry way along, racking up a string of citations and convictions, causing property damage and injuries, if not death, and who is often not stopped until he finally kills himself.

Every state has laws for dealing with the careless driver, but for a variety of reasons, these have not proved adequate to deal with the problem.

With the automobile a necessity for most people today, judges are reluctant to revoke licenses, especially when a defendant's livelihood is involved. A jail sentence or a canceled license may punish a whole family. And in many cases, offenders continue to drive even when their licenses are under suspension or revocation.

If the bad driver can't be removed from the highway, asks R. G. Chicott, vice president of Nationwide Insurance, should not society at least know who he is? Should there not be some way of identifying the driver who regularly breaks traffic laws?

He suggests that habitual offender be issued license plates bearing a warning like LIMITED USE or RESTRICTED. Or possibly the plates could merely be of a distinctive design or color readily identifiable to other motorists.

Such plates would not mean the elimination of possible jail sentences. They would be a final warning. A serious violation could result in an automatic penalty—jail—even if it meant putting the driver's family on relief, which might be cheaper in the long run.

The plates would mean what they say. The driver could use his car for a few essential purposes, such as driving to work or to the doctor, but he would not be out of bounds on the highway for any other reason.

"Limited use" plates would not solve the problem, Chicott admits. Some incorrigibles would continue breaking the law even if their cars were painted red, white and blue.

There is also the objection that "limited use" plates would be unfair to other members of a family who use the same car. Why should a housewife, for example, have to bear the stigma of her husband's traffic offenses?

A good question, says Chicott. But would she rather have her husband in jail? Would restricted plates for six months of a year be worse than having her husband barred from driving altogether?

It is this very stigma that could make the idea work, he thinks. Family pressures for all members of a household to behave behind the wheel—to avoid restricted plates—might be more effective than anything.

"Limited use" plates are only an idea and not a new one. But with 52,000 deaths and two million disabling injuries recorded on the nation's highways last year, any idea, old or new is worth exploring.

The Deficit Goes Ever Upward

Raising the price of stamps won't cure the perennial problems of the United States Post Office Department. Indeed, its budgeted deficit of $1.2 billion next year will be enlarged if Congress approves the latest plan from President Johnson. He is asking for a one-cent hike in the cost of each 5-cent stamp, each 8-cent airmail stamp and each 4-cent stamp for a postcard, starting July 1. This would yield an estimated increase in revenue of $800 million a year.

In the same breath, Mr. Johnson proposed pay hiker averaging 4.5 percent, effective next Oct. 1, for all federal civilian workers and members of the Armed Forces. The cost would be more than $1 billion annually—$200 million more than the intake from higher postal rates. Two more steps in federal pay scales in 1968 and 1969, would add about $2.5 billion a year to the national budget.

These cost increases, as we understand the plan, contemplate a few if any additions to the present force of 700,000 postal workers wrestling with 80 billion pieces of mail this year. Extra hands, even if they could be recruited, can hardly be hired fast enough to match the growth of the mail mountain.

Only nine years ago, a first-class letter was being delivered for just 3 cents. Doubling that price as proposed by the President won't guarantee better mail service. On the contrary, using the extra money to cover less than one-third of the three installment pay raises for federal payrolls will be one step forward and two backward into the sea of red ink.

A Dough-ty Twist

Here's good news: "Despite the sober facts of creeping inflation, inadequate labor supply, increases in labor costs and an economy under the growing strain of war, the quality of pretzels will be maintained," says an editorial in the organ of the National Pretzel Bakers Institute.

Every pretzel manufacturer is committed to hold the line on high quality, the editorial declares, adding that "there will be no deterioration of this fine snack food that has persisted to entice and delight the consumer throughout all the stresses of all the wars and disturbances since A. D. 610."

Something to chew on.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

A survey by the Census Bureau, taken in 1966, showed that of all households having television, 13 per cent had color sets. In 1965, the figure for color sets was 7.4 per cent. The 1966 survey also showed that 93.4 per cent of all households had one television set and that 25 per cent of these had two sets.

Students for Democratic Society Convention May Reveal Bitterness of 'New Left' Splits Caused By Russia's Arab Partisanship

ROBERT ALLEN PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The impending national convention of the militant leftist Students for a Democratic Society is attracting more than usual attention as a result of the recent Middle East war and the Kremlin's violent castigation of Israel and its support of the Arabs.

This has caused heated fissures in communist and other radical ranks, and the SDS meeting will be closely watched for revealing indications on how deep and serious this inner confusion and dissension is.

The SDS convention is taking place at the University of Michigan this week. It will be immediately followed by a July 1-2 session of the organization's National Council, also at Ann Arbor. Originally, both affairs were to be held at Antioch College.

Yellow Springs, O., but authorities there withdrew consent on second thought.

SDS officers say "up to 500 delegates" will attend. They claim more than 150 chapters on campuses throughout the country, and that "about 30,000 young Americans consider themselves members of these chapters. Over 6,000 have National SDS membership cards."

The convention agenda, as sent out over the name of Neil Buckley, national correspondent, calls for workshops, discussions, papers and proposals on the following question: the quality of life, sex, drugs, etc.; electoral politics; the new working class and professional the poor.

While significantly Buckley's list does not include the explosive Middle East strife, it is virtually certain vigorous efforts will be made to raise the question of the Soviet's bellicose pro-Arab stand. This policy is known to have evoked vehement denunciation in some eastern SDS chapters.

RED FRONT — While characterizing itself as the "front runner of the New Left," the Students for a Democratic Society makes no bones it has Communist members and ties. Prominent among them is Bettina Aptheker, a self-admitted Communist who has long been active in SDS affairs. She is the daughter of Herbert Aptheker, theoretician of the U.S. Communist Party. He and a Yale faculty member made an illegal trip to North Vietnam last year.

Noting SDS communist connections, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover described the organization as "a militant youth group which receives support from the Communist Party and which in turn supports communist objectives and tactics." Hoover cited the statement of Gus Hall, Communist general secretary, who referred to SDS as an organization the party has "going for us."

Shortly thereafter, "New Left Notes," official SDS weekly, published an article stating: "J. Edgar Hoover is right. There are communists in SDS. Every reader of 'New Left Notes' must be fully aware of that fact, and he must also know that some of these communists have openly admitted their membership in both organizations."

Thomas Hayden, credited by SDS as the chief architect of its "Port Huron Statement," the "Bible of the organization, accompanied Communist Herbert Aptheker to Vietnam. A highlight of this lengthy ideological preaching is the following: "Our pugnacious anti-communism and protection of interests has led us to an alliance inappropriately called the 'Free World'... An unreasoning anti-communism has become a major social problem for those who want to construct a more democratic America."

"Our paranoia about the Soviet Union has made us incapable of achieving agreements absolutely necessary for disarmament and the preservation of white... White, like might, makes right in America today."

Nicholas Egleson, 1966 graduate of Swarthmore College, Pa., president of SDS, has been in the forefront of the anti-Vietnam war agitation. At a big rally in New York in April, he glowingly acclaimed some demonstrators who burned their draft cards and shouted, "Refuse to go to war. Join us in acts of disobedience if the war continues."

SDS vice president is Carl Davidson, 1964 graduate of Penn State University and an instructor at Nebraska University, where he organized and headed an SDS chapter.

National headquarters is on West Madison Avenue, Chicago. DRAFT DODGING — Main SDS interest and activity has focused on opposing the Vietnam war and the draft.

Throughout, it has followed the Communist Party line on that.

The February 3, 1967, issue of "New Left Notes" contained an article spelling out in detail how to evade the draft. Its author was Mark Kleiman, who dropped out of high school in Evanston, Ill., in 1966, and is now in California functioning as an SDS organizer.

In Kleiman's article, he boasts there are "numerous ways of messing up draft boards. Some are only harassment techniques, while others may be good for organizing." Following are some of his "helpful" suggestions.

"You have a right to see the file your (draft) board has on you if you make an appointment. Under most circumstances, there is nothing to prevent you from absconding with all or part of your file, or possibly, inserting new data."

"It might also be good to simply send your board a card saying, 'I appeal,' and leave it up to them to find out precisely what it is that you are appealing. A beneficial side effect to this form of harassment is that you cannot be drafted while anything relating to your draft status is on appeal.

"It is possible to register people who do not exist. You can get a photostat of a birth certificate for a deceased individual... go to a draft board and register under a false name and address. The fun ensues when this mythical person does not respond to any mail, and fails to report for a physical or induction."

"It is possible to fake a IV-F without using drugs to wreck yourself. You could go to a doctor, and complain of ulcer symptoms (sickness after drinking alcohol, sickness if you don't eat, burning sensation if you do, etc.). He will tell you to come back for an X-ray. The night before the X-ray, take some peanut butter, roll it into a ball 1/4 inch in diameter, and leave it out to harden overnight. The next day, swallow it just a few minutes before the X-ray. It will show up in your stomach as a duodenal ulcer. At this point, it shouldn't be too hard to get a letter from the doctor stating that you have this condition."

"At the physical itself, you could keep a straight pin on the inside of your shorts, and prick your finger lightly when asked for a urine sample, so that a drop of blood becomes mixed with your urine, which would look very much like kidney trouble."

"One thing which is very important to remember is that these centers rarely on federal property, in which case orders from soldiers should be resisted firmly and as loudly as possible. At the very worst, the police might be summoned to arrest you for disturbing the peace."

A poster on the front page of the March 13, 1967 issue of "New Left Notes" features a caricature of Secretary Rusk, with labels referring to him as "scum of the earth," "boob," "bum," "bald-faced liar," "youth corrupter," "child of Satan," "dirty clod."

The Communists notoriously indulge in this sort of frenetic vituperation.

PREDICTIONS — Both the Republican and Democratic national conventions will be held in Chicago. Long the favorite convention city of both parties, the Midwest metropolis has been quietly agreed on by leaders for 1968. Decisive factor in this backstage understanding was the TV networks, which exerted their combined pressure for the choice... The gross national product, after lagging in the first quarter, will show quite a bit of improvement in the second. Preliminary compilations strongly indicate that... Vice President Humphrey will go to Alaska sometime this summer to bolster sagging Democratic forces there, and to boost Senator Ernest Gruening, D., who faces a tough reelection fight next year.

While the administration and Congress wrestle with trying to find a solution for the long threatened railroad strike, two leading labor negotiators are entering this month. They are James (Doc) Wolfe, who has long represented railroad labor in bargaining, and Joseph Ramsey, vice president of the Machinists, one of the six shop-craft unions involved in the protracted dispute. Both have been hard-line negotiators, and their retirement for age may improve the chances for a settlement... Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black, 81, will undergo a second cataract operation. He has no intention of quitting the bench, and after he is fitted with glasses, will make a trip to Europe with his wife... A series of lectures Justice William O. Douglas was to deliver at Hebrew University, in Jerusalem, has been suspended because of the war. They may be rescheduled later this summer, depending on peace developments.

CONSTITUTIONAL PRINCIPLES

Most Americans probably would agree that the condemnation of taxation without representation is the foremost, therefore the Number 1, principle of the U.S. Constitution promulgated at the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia in 1787.

It would be interesting to see how present day authorities and historians of the Constitutional Convention would list Number 2, Number 3, Number 4, and so on, fundamental principles in the order of their importance. A consensus of their opinions could determine the place on this list of the Electoral College system. The finding of the experts might determine if it is practical, or even thinkable, that the Electoral College system should be abolished as proposed by those who advocate the direct voting plan of electing the President.

Direct voting would change a fundamental tenet on which our Republic is based. The Founders of Freedom provided that Congress and the presidency would have a dual constituency consisting of the people and the states. Abolition of the Electoral College would mean election of the President without the states being involved as individual entities.

Reform, not abolition, of the Electoral College system is badly needed. It can be accomplished by adoption of a constitutional amendment setting up the Congressional District Plan. This has none of the disadvantages of the direct vote plan. It would preserve the voting sovereignty of the states in presidential elections, while the nominee for presidential elector chosen by people close to him and personally acquainted with his record would give them an important voice in the election. Resolutions proposing the necessary constitutional amendment are now before both houses of Congress.

ANTI-CRIME MEASURES

Aware of increasing public concern about crime in America, the Johnson administration is pushing hard for enactment of a safe streets and crime control bill. As usual, the Great Society is trying to solve problems of human behavior with vast expenditures. It proposes that $1.35 billion be spent on grant-in-aid programs to the cities of the nation. These grants would be used for anti-crime research and improving police facilities.

Now it is certainly true that police facilities need updating. U.S. towns and cities long have erred in failing to devote sufficient attention and funds to police forces. American police men, in most communities, are poorly paid. The result is that law enforcement is not attractive employment.

The solution to this problem and it is developing in well-managed communities is for the towns and cities themselves to spend more on police functions. Upgrading the police does not require vast federal outlays. In fact, one can be sure that if the federal government starts financing the local police, then it is only a matter of time before the U.S. has a national police force. Such a force is not the kind of tool that should be given to Big Government. The FBI, under director J. Edgar Hoover, has wisely resisted efforts to turn the bureau into that kind of national police agency.

Even if the federal expenditure on police facilities are justified, the administration plan is deficient in one serious area. That is, the governors of states haven't any voice in saying how the federal funds are to be spent.

Republicans on the House Judiciary Committee have tried to give the governors an advisory voice in matters affecting the states, but the administration backers have resisted this proposal.

The GOP representatives are on the right track, however. Governors, after all, are the chief magistrates in the states. They have the ultimate responsibility for the public peace. It is wrong, therefore, for the administration to deny them a voice in planning for police facilities in the states. Moreover, in police problems in one community usually have a bearing on police problems in other communities. Thus state government has a legitimate concern for the overall pattern of law enforcement in towns and cities.

Thus, at the very least the administration anti-crime bill should make allowance for the responsibilities of the governors. Indeed it would be wise and proper if the bill were changed so as to give the governors authority to veto anti-crime proposals which they know to be hurtful to the best interests of law enforcement in their states. The states should not be subjected to any federal guidelines on law enforcement.

Fighting crime, however, can be done in other ways. Specifically, the police need to have their authority upheld — authority which has been sharply eroded by decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court. The federal judiciary is making it harder and harder for the police to protect American communities or for prosecutors to prepare an adequate case.

Recently, however, Sen. John McClellan (D-Ark.), chairman of the subcommittee on criminal laws of the Judiciary Committee introduced a much needed bill, S. 674. This bill provides that any confession shall be admitted in evidence if it's voluntarily given. Trial judges would determine whether a confession is truly voluntary in character.

This Senate bill is designed to correct the U.S. Supreme Court decision in the notorious Miranda case, which made it virtually impossible to secure a conviction of self-confessed criminals in cases where the prosecution must rely upon voluntary confessions of guilt. By its act, the Supreme Court virtually assured the freedom of murderers, for example, who killed without observers and who didn't leave any fingerprints or other evidence.

Passage of the McClellan bill and similar reform measures is the best way to conduct an anti-crime crusade in this country. What is needed is a strengthening of the law, plus greater local and state police action. Crime cannot be fought simply by vast expenditure of dollars from the U.S. Treasury.
