PREDICTED FALLOUT BELT—Shaded area on each side of the U. S. nuclear test sites in the Pacific—Christmas and Johnston Islands—illustrates the expected tropospheric fallout belt around the globe in the early stages of the nuclear tests. Prevailing wind patterns in the equatorial regions of the islands indicate tropospheric fallout will extend 1,000 miles north and 1,000 miles south of Christmas and Johnston Islands as it drifts around the earth. Darker area indicates fallout overlap. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Scientists Checking Data On First Blast

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Scientists today checked preliminary data from the first blast in the new U. S. nuclear test series to see if it yielded significant information on improving the efficiency of American atomic weapons.

The new series got under way Wednesday over remote Christmas Island in the Pacific with the explosion of a research and development device, rather than a finished atomic weapon. A similar device likely will be used for the second blast—expected in a few days—as the United States pursues one of the major goals of the new test series: greater weapons efficiency.

Reaction in the wake of the opening blast was as expected. In Congress, Democratic and Republican leaders reacted with surprise and been no alternative but to test again in the atmosphere, the Soviet Union issued a vehement attack on the United States and from other nations there was a mixed chorus of denunciation and approval.

Some U. S. officials predicted anew that Russia would now follow through—and soon—with another test series of her own.
Informed sources suggested that the leadoff U. S. device in Operation Dominic, the name given to the first U. S. atmospheric tests in almost four years, probably rocked the Pacific waters with the blast equivalent of 100,000 to 500,000 tons of TNT. In a terse announcement, similar in style to those that followed 29 announced underground tests, the Atomic Energy Commission described Wednesday's blast as "in the intermediate yield range." Other sources said word from Task Force 8 in the test area was that the firing was successful.

The device apparently was 5 to 25 times more powerful than the bomb that leveled Hiroshima toward the end of World War II. But it was weak in comparison with some of this country's hydrogen bombs, rated at an explosive equivalent of 20 million tons of TNT.
The opening test device, was dropped from an airplane, probably a B3 or B4 bomber. This indicated the explosion may have occurred below 30,000 feet—a relatively low level blast.

Child Revived By First Aid

First aid treatment administered by Bolger ambulance attendants Quaid Richburg and Junny Ivson is credited with possibly saving the life of a three-year-old Snyder girl at 2:15 p.m. yesterday.

The child, Bonnie Hoyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoyle, showed signs of strangulation at the home four miles north of Snyder. According to Hoyle, the little girl's eyes became glassy and convulsions started during the noon meal.

The father carried the child into the building where Richburg and Ivson immediately administered oxygen. Bonnie had started to turn blue, but with the oxygen, she started to revive immediately. She was then taken to Goodall Hospital by Bolger Ambulance Service.

A doctor at the hospital diagnosed the problem as tonsillitis. Bonnie's fever was 103.
Bonnie Hoyle's condition this morning was reported as "good."

Estes Facing 8 New Indictments

PECOS (AP)—County grand jury indictments charging Billie Sol Estes $828,576 added to troubles of the West Texas once known as a genius of farm finance.

They accuse Estes, 37, of bilking farmers here in his home county through faked mortgages and notes, phony leases and legal conditional sale agreements.

Reeves County grand jurors returned the eight indictments Wednesday night.
A federal grand jury at El Paso indicted Estes and three other men earlier on fraud and conspiracy counts involving about $24 million in mortgages on liquid fertilizer tanks.

Before turning over multiple interests to a federal court receiver, Estes was considered the region's biggest dealer in anhydrous ammonia, the fertilizer, and his storage elevators held millions of bushels of government grain.

Dist. Judge J. A. Staley fixed bond at $22,500 on the new charges, and Estes' lawyer arranged for it to be posted at once. The judge said he did not require more bail because Estes already is under $100,000 bond on the federal charges.

Complainants and the amounts they accuse Estes of taking in the state cases are Allen Hoelf, $309,615; $49,608 and $38,294; Thomas H. Bell, $162,144; L. G. Worsham, $104,900; W. J. Worsham, $76,464; Travis Lattner Jr., $55,211; and Jack Bradley, $31,370.

Another federal grand jury at Dallas, now in recess, has called store clerks who testified at Estes' expensive clothing on shopping trips with Agriculture Department officials.

Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has said he expects to file charges of state anti-trust law violations based on evidence obtained at six courts of inquiry dealing with Estes' affairs.

Webb Rites Set Friday

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Friday for Mrs. Voliga Bell Webb, 71, Mrs. Webb died at her home at 2705 Avenue T at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Born Jan. 5, 1891 in Arkansas, Mrs. Webb had been a resident of Snyder for the past 11 years.
Services will be conducted at the Calvary Baptist Church where Mrs. Webb was a member officiating at the services will be the Rev. T. Gerald Cates, former minister of the church. He will be assisted by the Rev. Cecil Wagner, present minister. Burial will be in the Hillside Memorial Gardens, under the direction of Bolger Funeral Home. Grandsons of Mrs. Webb will serve as pallbearers.

Mrs. Webb is survived by her husband, Calvin Webb; her stepmother, Mrs. Molly Armstrong of Waco; three daughters, Mrs. Ruby Smith Hickman of Snyder, Mrs. Ruth Simenon of El Paso and Lula Mae Clark of Eldorado, Tex.; two sons, Thomas Webb of Cleburne and James H. Webb of Colorado; two sisters—Mrs. Allie Beckwith of Dallas and Mrs. L. G. Worsham of Lompasas; five brothers, Stony Armstrong and Don Armstrong of San Antonio, Charles Armstrong of Houston, Billy Armstrong of Weatherford, and Draphus Armstrong of Waco. Also surviving are 23 grandchildren and 14 great grandchildren.

Crippled Ranger 4 Crashes On Moon

BULLETIN
By RALPH DIGHTON
GOLDSTONE, Calif. (AP)—The United States scored a major advance in space today when the crippled spacecraft Ranger 4 crashed-landed on the far side of the moon.

It was this country's first success in seven attempts to land a piece of hardware on the moon and virtually duplicated the feat of Russia's Lunik II which hit the moon Sept. 14, 1959.

A space official called the feat another of the long strides in space made in the past year.
James E. Webb, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told newsmen Ranger 4 was much more complex than anything the Soviets have attempted.

Dr. William Pickering, director of NASA's jet propulsion laboratory which built Ranger 4, said that despite the failure of a key electronic system in the spacecraft the fact that it hit the moon "gives us confidence we can send instruments to the moon with the accuracy needed."

He said another Ranger to take close-up television pictures of the moon's surface will be launched by the end of the year.
The crippled Ranger 4 zipped behind the moon at 4:47 a.m., PST (7:47 a.m. EST) and the scientists tracking it calculated that it impacted on the far side two minutes later.

Although there was no way of seeing the actual impact, scientists said Ranger 4's trajectory before passing behind the moon assured that it would land in the predicted area.

The 700-pound vehicle, launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Monday, made the 231,466-mile journey to the moon in 68 hours.

It passed the sunlit left half of the moon at an altitude of about 400 miles, aimed at a spot one-fourth of the way around on the back side.

Scientists calculated its speed at impact at 3,963 miles an hour. Electronic failures kept Ranger 4 from completing most of its missions. It carried several scientific instruments, including a television camera to take close-up pictures of the moon's surface. But a timer designed to operate these devices went haywire shortly after launch.

Scientists at the jet propulsion laboratory, where Ranger 4 was built, tracked its faint radio beacon at the Goldstone tracking station on the Mojave Desert 50 miles north of Barstow, Calif.

The first light of dawn was spreading across the desert as Ranger 4 neared its target. A flashing red light at the base of the huge antenna warned ground personnel that Operation Moon Track was in progress.

In a building at the base of the antenna, observers watching a closed-circuit television screen saw the cross-hairs of a simulated gun sight slowly approach the left side of the moon.

The cross-hairs indicated Ranger 4's position as it streaked through space. The seven-foot-long vehicle itself was, of course, too small to be detected visually.

Then the cross-hairs of the gun sight touched the edge of the moon.

The impact area is on part of the moon never seen from the earth. The moon always keeps the same side toward this planet.

So the only way to look at the back side is to go there.

The area was photographed in 1959 by a Russian Lunik television probe relayed to earth which showed the area to be a rough upland, devoid of the great, flat areas called seas—visible on the moon's front side.

Ranger was supposed to do much more than just smash into the moon.
Its big job was to take television pictures of the moon's surface. It also carried instruments to measure the temperatures on the moon (believed to range from 250 below to 260 degrees above, on the Fahrenheit scale) and to measure moonquakes. Readings were to be radiated to earth.

Saturn Following Timetable

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The great Saturn rocket is on schedule on a timetable to boost the three-man Apollo spacecraft into orbit in late 1964—an important step toward placing the craft on the moon in this decade.

The Saturn rocket, built by the Boeing Co., is a massive structure of aluminum and steel. It is 225 feet tall and weighs 13 million pounds. It is the largest rocket ever built in the United States.

The Saturn rocket is designed to carry a crew of three men to the moon. It will be launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., in late 1964.

Fred Lowery To Appear Here Tonight

Fred Lowery, long-time holder of the title "King of Whistlers," will appear here tonight under sponsorship of the Snyder High School A Cappella Choir.

The program will begin in the high school auditorium at 8 p.m. Several years ago, Lowery was a violinist, but discovered that his hobby of whistling was unusual.

This led to a career in entertainment that led to acclaim as the world's foremost whistling artist. He has appeared with such people as Bob Hope, Steve Allen, Ed Sullivan, Jackie Gleason, Edgar Bergen, Bing Crosby, Stan Kenton, Paul Whiteman and Vincent Lopez.

For several years he was featured artist on the Horace Heidt show. Lowery's many hit recordings are known the world over. His records, such as "Indian Love Call" (which sold two million copies), "The High and the Mighty," "Theme from the Proud Ones," and countless others have reaped fantastic successes.

Admission prices for tonight's performance here are 75 cents for adults, 50 cents for junior and senior high students, and 25 cents for elementary school pupils.

Zorin Raps Tests; Doesn't Walk Out

GENEVA (AP)—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin angrily charged today that the new American nuclear tests were an aggressive act directed against the whole world which has pushed us closer to the abyss of inevitable war.

Zorin told the 17-nation disarmament conference the Soviet Union was now compelled "to take the necessary measures to protect its security"—presumably a new series of Soviet atmospheric tests.

But neither Zorin nor any of the other four Soviet bloc delegates walked out of the conference, as they threatened last week to do if the United States launched its new test series. Western officials believe the Soviet government is anxious to conduct more atmospheric tests and has only been waiting for the start of the American series to provide a convenient propaganda pretext.

U. S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean assured the conference that a quick and permanent ban on nuclear testing remains a "prime objective" of United States policy.

'Friendly' Votes Surge

More nominees have been logged in the campaign to name Snyder's "friendliest, most courteous" employee.

Voting, of course, is still underway by official ballot which is published daily in The Snyder Daily News.

The "friendliest, most courteous" woman employee and the "friendliest, most courteous" man employee each will receive a $50 savings bond.

The latest nominees follow: Danny Aycock, Piggy Wagley; O. R. Brown, Lone Star Gas Co.; Estelle Gray, Fair Store; Lottie Morton, Lad & Lassie; Kenneth Owenby, Safeway; Joyce Plummer, Drayden's Shoes; Francis Pace, Ed Neve Furniture Service; Clyde R. Ead, Higginbotham-Bartlett; Frances Robertson, Jessie's Hair Styles; Jim Skiles, Piggly Wiggly; Kent Sterling, Piggly Wiggly; Gerald Shook, Lone Star Gas Co.; Rosie Underwood, Clark Lumber Co.; Wayland Walton, Higginbotham-Bartlett Co.; R. E. Webber, Clark Lumber Co.

Reminder Issued On Political Posters

Divided Republicans Battle Regime's Public Works Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Divided Senate Republicans fought a rear guard action today against a $2.6 billion public works proposal they called a raid on the Treasury and a potential presidential political weapon.

The tactical difficulty faced by the six GOP members of the Senate Public Works Committee—and it was shared by most of their party colleagues—lay in opposing the administration's "no-strings-attached" program without being tagged as opponents of public works.

Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-N.H., who forecast possible effective opposition to the program, promised to come up with an alternative when the committee-approved measure is laid before the Senate later.

likely to be in the form of an amendment to limit presidentially directed expenditures to $600 million for chronic unemployment areas and to projects already authorized by Congress.

The Republicans generally approved the plan, but they were divided on the question of opposing a long range program under which Kennedy would be authorized to spend up to $2 billion on projects he would select—without a ceiling on the amount of money that could be spent. The political implications of this were not lost on Prouty who called the proposal in a statement of individual views "the longest reach for executive power I have ever witnessed."

GOP Hopefuls Join For Pokes At Demos

Bomb Scare Sends Panel Into Street

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A bomb scare sent members of the House Committee on Un-American Activities hurrying into the street where 150 persons were picketing.

An anonymous caller telephoned the switchboard at the federal building yesterday and said a bomb had been put in the building and will go off in 25 minutes. "It'll blow you to kingdom come," the caller said.

All 2,100 of the building's employees, 700 visitors and the four congressmen were removed. All fled back after authorities searched the place.

The committee heard 11 witnesses Wednesday, including Ben Dobbs, secretary of the Communist Party in California; and John Despal, administrator of Local 2058, United Steelworkers of America.

Dobbs said he refused to testify and invoked the First and Fifth Amendments of the Constitution. The hearings are closed and the committee has declined to disclose its proceedings.

Picketing was orderly. There were about 150 marchers, compared to 400 Tuesday.

Officials estimated that about 100 pickets were against the committee and 50 in favor of it.

Malinda Churton, 26, head of one of the picketing groups, at first declined to permit Dorothy Healey, chairman of the California Communist Party, to join his marchers.

Common Cold May Be Space Hazard

Marshall Formby, courting voters in Dallas, said he had found in traveling about the state that Texas was a change, they don't want any Washington domination in state politics and nearly half still are trying to decide how they'll vote.

Formby also said he favors a constitutional amendment limiting the state sales tax to 2 percent as a protective measure against wastefulness and excess.

Walker scheduled stops Thursday at San Angelo, Brownwood and Abilene.

Connally meanwhile wound up two days of stumping in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. At Edinburg he repeated a pledge for elevating Pan American College to a four-year, state-supported school.

In a dig at Gov. Price Daniel, Connally said he knew of no business "that would hire a man, keep him five and half years, wind up $50 million in the hole and then put him on the head and say 'stick around, we need a man like you.'"

Connally went stumping Thursday in suburban areas between Fort Worth and Dallas. He arranged to deliver a speech over 23 television stations in the evening.

Daniel attended a political reception given by the Houston Classroom Teachers Association Wednesday evening and inspected the new space flight center being built near Houston.

To a questioner who asked why he sought a fourth term, Daniel replied: "I want to keep our state run by Texans here in Texas."

The governor said Texas leads the nation in new industrial plant location and "the rate of growth and prosperity in our state today is unmatched in its history."

He continued to campaign in the Gulf Coast area Thursday.

Common Cold May Be Space Hazard

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—America's astronauts may survive radiation; meteors and other hazards only to die of common colds during space flights, an Air Force scientist says.

The Air Force is concerned enough to have ordered extensive studies of probable effects of virus-caused ailments during space voyages.

The studies at the School of Aerospace Medicine at Brooks Army Airfield, Texas, are headed by Dr. Seymour S. Kaler, head of the virology laboratory.

A few of the larger and more complex viruses — which cause colds — are affected by antibiotics, Kaler said. Others, such as polio, can be checked by preventive inoculations. But doctors have no specific weapons against most viruses.

Radiation causes mutations in living things, Kaler said. These changes could turn a normally harmless virus into a killer, or a killer into a harmless virus.

Reacting to stress, the body releases two kinds of hormones — inflammatory and anti-inflammatory. They act to control, each other, but can get out of balance. Inflammatory hormones cause inflammation of the vascular (blood-circulation) system and joints, raise the blood pressure and cause gout.

Anti-inflammatory hormones decrease the body's resistance to infection.

This is why some scientists fear common colds or other relatively harmless ailments could turn into killers in space.

Effects of the stresses of space on the astronauts carrying the viruses.

Distress Call Of Plane Labeled Hoax

NEW YORK (AP)—The Coast Guard says a purported distress call from an aircraft over the Atlantic Ocean was a hoax.

A "Mayday" message, received Tuesday night at Pease Air Force Base in Portsmouth, N.H., gave the position of the "plane" as several hundred miles east of Boston.

The Coast Guard sent planes and cutters into the area Wednesday. No aircraft had been reported overdue.

Later, the search was discontinued.

Two guilty pleas heard in court.

Distress Call Of Plane Labeled Hoax

NEW YORK (AP)—The Coast Guard says a purported distress call from an aircraft over the Atlantic Ocean was a hoax.

A "Mayday" message, received Tuesday night at Pease Air Force Base in Portsmouth, N.H., gave the position of the "plane" as several hundred miles east of Boston.

The Coast Guard sent planes and cutters into the area Wednesday. No aircraft had been reported overdue.

Later, the search was discontinued.

Two guilty pleas heard in court.

SCHOOL OPERETTA—One hundred second grade students of the West Elementary School presented an operetta "Wedding of the Flowers" Wednesday morning to teachers and other students of the school. The colorful wedding costumes are authentic and present great talent in creating. The parents of the students will be special guests Thursday evening when the group will give their second performance of the show.

MRS. LIDA RHOADES

Mrs. Rhoades Receives Scholarship

Mrs. Lida Rhoades, chairman of Selective Recruitment of Teachers, Alpha State Delta Kappa Gamma International Honorary Society for women teachers, has been named the recipient of the Lela Williams summer scholarship at Texas Technological College. Mrs. Rhoades has a B.S. and M.A. from the college and has done extensive post-graduate work there. She also studied at the University of Texas, and the University of Hawaii in Honolulu. In presenting the scholarship, Miss Yvette Rosenthal of Galveston, chairman of the state committee said in part: "Please accept this scholarship with the sincere good wishes of the committee for a pleasurable and profitable experience. Also, my personal good wishes added for good measure. May you derive as much pleasure from serving as an ambassador of Delta Kappa Gamma as we have in knowing that our Society will be well represented on the campus of a really thriving college." Mrs. Rhoades will enroll and study creative writing and the short story preparator to writing a series of books for elementary boys and girls. Of the 16 men who have served as president of the African republic of Liberia, nine were born in the United States.

Actor Walks Out On Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Actor Burt Lancaster, who walked out on a television show, says he felt that Mike Wallace, his TV host, "was more interested in sensationalism rather than the area of discussion agreed upon." The taped interview, walkout and all, was shown Tuesday night on the program "PM" over WNEW-TV. Lancaster flared at Wallace's questions and left the stage. Wallace asked Lancaster about reports that he has a quick temper. Wallace said it was the first time a guest ever had walked out on him during a show. Lancaster said Wednesday that he and Wallace had agreed before the taping that they would discuss a new motion picture in which the star was appearing. Lancaster added: "I never lost my temper. I never raised my voice. I feel I acted within my rights as an individual and with dignity." Carnations, violets, geraniads and tuberous-rooted begonias absorb water through their petals. Therefore, you can dunk them in water or spray them. Never crowd flowers into a container and handle them as little as possible. If you must lay flowers on the table, have the heads extend over the table edge.

Woman's Culture Club Has Program On Famous Women

The Woman's Culture Club met at Martha Ann Women's Club Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Warren Sturgeon as hostess. Mr. Badger Robertson and his guest, Mr. Ray Williams gave a brief talk and invited the club women to become members of the Scurry County Musical Association. They told of some very special programs that are lined up for the coming year. Mrs. Jodie Bynum, president, called the meeting to order and Mrs. S. A. Tibbetts gave the opening prayer. The club voted to donate a book to the library in memory of Mrs. Edith Elliott. Leader for the meeting was Mrs. Claude Tucker, Sr., with Mrs. Lora Miller and Mrs. Lyman Wren, reading several papers. The program was titled "Famous Women of the United States." Part one was given by Mrs. Tucker, who said in part: "For a beginning I would like to tell you a story of the making of famous women. Let's take the First Lady of the land, Martha Washington. She was famous for unlimited hospitality to the many visitors attracted by her distinguished husband after his retirement. Bred to high social position with every advantage of wealth, she presided over the executive mansion in New York and Philadelphia with great grace and dignity. She was referred to as 'Lady Washington'. To me this was the beginning of women in politics. "We also have the fourth president's wife, the famous-Dolly Madison, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and our present First Lady, Jackie Kennedy who is doing an outstanding job." Mrs. Miller gave the second part on noted personalities and famous women of America. She said: "For our famous actresses we have Mary Pickford, Marjorie Dressler, Helen Hayes, Bette Davis, Greer Garson, Jane Wyman and Ingrid Bergman. Some of these were of foreign countries but they gained their fame in America. "One of our great ladies in the actress field was none other than Charlotte Saunders Cushman. She appeared in opera and as Lady Macbeth. She played roles in Romeo and Juliet, her sister Susan, played the great role of Juliet. She was also a great dramatic reader. "We shall always remember Margaret Mitchell, for it was her great novel 'Gone With the Wind' that overnight became famous. "For the educational field we have had famous women whose names are as follows: Elizabeth Peabody, Alice Freeman Palmer, Elizabeth Seton and Emma Willard. For our religious leaders—Mary Eddy Baker and Arine Hutchinson. "Social and economic field, Jane Adams, Lucretia Mott and Lucy Stone. American novelists and playwrights—Louisa M. Alcott, Mary Catherine Wood, Marjorie B. Cooke, Marion F. Crawford, Margaret Deland, Mary Mapes Dodge, Dorothy C. Fisher, Mary Freeman will be remembered for her effort and great success in establishing seminars for girls throughout the United States. "As we close I wish to leave you with this thought, 'We are all famous women of America, for we indeed do our part for our country and our loved ones.' Refreshments were served to 17 members.

Staten Island Ferry Offers This Era's Best Nickel Buy

By PIERCE LEHMBECK
NEW YORK (AP)—What can you buy with a nickel? In this mecca of the high-priced, you can buy an escape from the thundering throng, fresh air, sea breezes, a spooning spot, and views of the Statue of Liberty and the most impressive skyline in the world—all at one time.

You drop the nickel into a slot as you pass through a turnstile to board a Staten Island ferry boat, an odd-shaped, barn-red craft that looks like a barge with three dance pavilions stacked on top.

Nine—sometimes 10—of these vessels daily ply between Manhattan's lower tip and St. George on Staten Island, five miles to the southeast. They move across the busiest harbor in the world, past scores of barges, lighters, chugging little tugs and graceful ocean liners.

It's easily the busiest water-borne passenger service in the world. In 1961, 25,694,244 persons and 1,712,240 vehicles were transported on almost 33,000 round trips. For 40,000 residents of Staten Island, it's the only direct link to jobs.

But the Staten Island Ferry is more than a passenger line. It's one of metropolis' major tourist attractions, a get-away-from-it-all haven for the city's tired—a stage, the ferry crewmen say, where a hundred dramas are played daily.

When a ferry churns out of a U-shaped slip at Manhattan's Whitehall Terminal, it's pointed directly at Governor's Island, so named because the king's representative in the colonial days resided there.

Less than 100 yards out, the ferry swings southward. At its rear, the financial district spires rise above the rolling green of Battery Park. Up the East River, the Brooklyn and Manhattan bridges hang suspended, often barely visible in a fog or haze.

Orange Hair For Pupils Ruled Out

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Orange hair is improper for school, 17 high school boys here were told. The principal, J. Earl McCall, sent them home earlier this week when they returned from Easter vacation with their hair dyed various shades of orange.

He told them to get their hair dyed its original color. For some, it meant a trip to a beauty parlor.

McCall said bleached hair "is one of the things the Knox County Board of Education frowns on as not being a good morale builder."

Close to 3,000 persons cram aboard each ferry during the morning and evening rush hours and the craft depart each terminal every 10 minutes. Comes the spring with the tourists and the daytime loads increase until they reach a peak in the late summer. Last August, for instance, 2.5 million persons took the ride.

The spring also brings out a universal character—the romantic. Through the long spring and summer nights, the ferry decks are dotted with strolling couples. Often, they come directly from college or high school proms, still wearing white jackets or billowing dresses. To them, the harbor is a world apart from that seen by the daytime rider.

Babies have entered the world on ferries, and once a long-legged collegian left a skeleton on one. It was returned by the lost and found department, which also has returned dental plates, cats and dogs, and a horse and even autos.

The ferry has a sad side, too. It's a place for suicide attempts and a dozen are successful each year. Many are caught before they clear the railing, still others are pulled alive from the waters.

In 1928, a rush-hour crowd crushed forward as a ferry entered St. George Slip. The bow sagged and a wave swept over the deck, carrying off five passengers, three of whom drowned. Today, the bow is roped off to passengers during the rush hour.

In the 1870s, the boiler on a steam-powered vessel blew up just as it was about to leave the Manhattan side. Nearly 100 persons died.

The Staten Island Ferry's history goes back more than 200 years. In the 1660s, with wind and muscle the pushing forces, the trip took three hours. Today it takes 25 minutes.

Lancaster Says Life To Be Used

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—"You can't protect yourself by trying to hide from life," said Burt Lancaster. "Life is movement. Life is something to be used. That's what it's there for. I agree with Bernard Shaw who said, 'Waste life—but waste it wisely.'"

Burt has lived by his own credo that a man should throw himself into the deep water young and swim hard.

He left college as a sophomore to become a $3-a-week circus acrobat. Before becoming an actor he spent three years in the Army and worked as a janitor in the lingerie section of a department store, a haberdashery salesman, and a fireman in a Chicago meat packing plant.

Lancaster is a cheerful, ruggedly aggressive man with the stubborn "take-charge" instinct of a natural athlete in any situation.

He didn't rise to stardom. He bounced there from the impact of one brief Broadway play and his first movie.

The fact his mere appearance in a film soon gave it a million-dollar edge at the box office didn't satisfy Burt. He moved quickly into the producing end also, and he intends to go right on producing.

"When I make something, I want it to have the stamp of my personality all the way. That is the exciting thing—to be in on something creative from its birth."

Lancaster believes more actors and writers will become producers.

"What defests most people in life is believing false gods—fame, money or public approval," he said. "What anyone really should seek most is his own self-approval."

"There's a big danger in becoming too nice and agreeable a guy. You can lose your own character that way—and your purpose," he says.

It is perhaps no coincidence that Burt Lancaster is considering starting in a film on the life of Gen. George S. Patton. He shares much of the personal philosophy of "Old Blood and Guts."

Tragedy Ends Honeymoon

TORONTO (AP)—Two Canadian couples were touring the east coast of Canada today, unaware that their children's brief marriage had ended in tragedy.

Annette Battaglia, 19, and Joseph Longo, 21, were married in Toronto Monday and left for a honeymoon motor trip.

After the wedding festivities, Annette's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Battaglia, left by car for a vacation in Washington, D.C.

Joseph's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Longo, took a bus for Virginia Beach, Va., to spend a holiday at the seashore.

The honeymooning couple's car ran off the road six miles north of Port Henry, N.Y. Wednesday and smashed into a tree. Annette was killed and Joseph was taken to a hospital in Burlington, Vt., in serious condition.

Rhinoceros Born In Detroit Zoo

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Zoo is accepting congratulations on a new birth—a rhinoceros named Harvey.

Harvey, weighing 75 pounds, was born April 19—the fifth rhinoceros in U.S. zoo history to be born in captivity.

Junior Editors Quiz on THE CALENDAR

QUESTION: When was the first calendar made?

ANSWER: The calendar, like the clock, is an attempt to measure time. It is almost impossible to pinpoint the very first calendar. Every culture developed its own calendar, early in the culture's history. It was noticed that it was cold, then plants began to spring up, then it was hot, and then the plants died, and then it was cold again. The number of times the new moon appeared in these periods was counted. Thus, the seasons and the months were determined. An early farmer knew that he saw a certain number of new moons after the plants died and it was a good time to plant again. Everyone's calendar differed. Some early calendars were based upon the moon and some upon the sun. Some cultures wrote their calendars down. The Egyptians, Babylonians and Chinese were pioneers in this. The calendar we use today was developed by the Romans and has been revised many times. If we had only 28 days every February, in a few centuries it would be cold in June and hot in December. The addition of an extra day every four years helps keep our calendar on the right track. Some cultures had an extra month from time to time for the same reason.

FOR YOU TO DO: Work out your own calendar. Start totally from scratch. Find a natural phenomenon, such as the full moon or the positions of the stars, and use it as a base. What will you call the period between full moons? What will you name your other time sequences?

Spring Hits Students At Columbia

NEW YORK (AP)—Two thousand Columbia University undergraduates invaded the campus of Barnard College, Columbia's female branch, early today. They were quickly repulsed. "It's just spring," said a university official. The students assembled along the broad walkway that traverses the campus. They were clad moodily in Bermuda shorts and crew neck sweaters. Some threw firecrackers and chanted slogans. Shortly after midnight they surged across Upper Broadway to the Barnard campus, blocking Broadway traffic for 15 minutes. Some got into the high-walled campus, but none entered the buildings. Girl undergraduates, in night clothes, hung from the windows of Barnard dormitories. A police sergeant, who happened to pass in a radio car, summoned a squad of eight patrolmen and the male students were quickly herded from the Barnard campus. The students then surged to the east side of the campus, toward Johnson Hall, the graduate women's dormitory. Police circled the campus in radio cars and stopped the crowd. About 1,000 students made another try in the direction of Barnard, but lost interest when they heard police summon fire trucks. "The hopes will discourage them if nothing else will," the sergeant said.

Caroline On School List

FARMINGTON, Conn. (AP)—Caroline Kennedy, 4, has her educational future partly mapped out for her. Hollis French, headmaster of the truck school here, said Wednesday night an application for admission had been submitted in behalf of the President's daughter. Caroline's mother is an alumna of Miss Porter's, which accepts girls between the ages of 14 and 18. The First Lady entered at the age of 15 after attending finishing schools in Washington, D.C., and New York City. French emphasized that Caroline's application by no means assures her admission. He said it was filed more than a year ago. "People sort of think it's fun to get their daughters names down," French said. "It doesn't mean, however, that they'll go to the school, just that they'll be considered at the proper age." Caroline is on a list with hundreds of other names. She still has to meet her scholastic qualifications.

Friendly Visit Has Violent Climax

HARRODSBURG, Ky. (AP)—Farmer Ed Higginbotham invited his visit to a neighbor's farm by climbing into his truck, waving so long and driving away. Behind him lay his host, Allen Woodard, 31, injured when the truck struck him. Woodard's brother, J. C., said the injured man, who later was hospitalized, had been sitting in front of the truck while the man talked and apparently Higginbotham didn't see him there when he left. "Nobody got a chance to tell Higginbotham, 50, of the mishap. He was killed about 20 minutes later when his truck ran off U.S. 68 and overturned Wednesday.

The average widower is 72, about four and one-half years older than the average widow.

Lawyer Falls From Window

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—Otis Nelson Jr., 40, prominent lawyer, fell from a window of his firm's eighth-floor office in a downtown building late Wednesday. Nelson landed on his head and did not regain consciousness before dying at a hospital. He left no notes. "Dr. James Scofield, county medical examiner, ruled the death as suicide. Nelson had been the object of a wide search earlier this year. He left his office for home the afternoon of Feb. 5 and was not seen again until he was found driving his car toward Wichita Falls on Feb. 9. After a stay in a South Texas hospital, he returned to law practice with his father, Otis Nelson Sr., and a brother, Keith, about a month ago. His mother, wife and three small children also survive.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

OCHUC, Mexico—It is a curious thing but everyone who dies in this region of Chiapas State goes to the Underworld. I hasten to add that the Chiapas Underworld is not inhabited by such citizens as Mr. Al Capone or Mr. Legs Diamond.

It is an operation where folks are refiled for the next stretch of living and the dead do not really die. At least that is the story. Besides, if what Senor Antonio Ichlick says is true, persons who die in this region of Chiapas State go to a good brain-washing when they reach the Underworld. And they are solid law-abiders when they return home.

Senor Ichlick settled down in the shade of a mango tree and sipped sugar cane brandy while contemplating the merits of this interesting system. He was suspicious of reporters who tried to check up on established institutions like Death. But let it be said that Antonio, properly fortified with this brandy which is rated at around 10 megatons, was a reasonable hombre.

"All right," he said finally. "You wish to know about the underworld. I will inform you of this place.

There was a fellow named Jose whose wife died a few years ago and he became very sad. Nobody to cook for him, nor wash his clothes, Jose was in such a bad way that he began eating with neighbors.

"So one night, my friend Jose was sitting beside his senora's grave asking her tearfully, 'Why did you leave me uncared for and with so many problems? Where are you, anyhow?' when someone tapped him on the shoulder.

"Jose looked up and there stood a fellow dressed in city clothes. 'You are raising quite a fuss, son,' the city man observed. 'What goes on?'

"So my friend gave him the story," said Antonio, "and the city fellow nodded with one of those you-asked-for-looks."

"Very well, Jose, the man said. 'You are indeed curious and this is not good for people. But I will let you see your Missus. Kindly shut your eyes.'

"This, Jose did, and when he was told to look around, there they were in the Underworld. And gazing at Jose was the god of death. Jose said the Underworld boss, 'Walk over, thataway until you come to the river and you will see a group of ladies washing clothes. Ask which one is a horse and she who admits to it is your wife.'

"Off he went and a couple of minutes later he was back leading his wife, who explained things in a general sort of way. It seems that Senora Jose became a woman in the mornings so she could go to the river for her washing. Then she changed into a spirited filly so she could haul wood to keep the fires burning. As soon as the wood hauling was accomplished, the Underworld boss changed her into bones which were dropped into the fire."

This seems like a rather complicated circle but apparently, that is the way the Underworld operates.

"And after I become ashes, the chief converts me back to a wo-

East German Tanks Drill

BERLIN (AP)—East German tanks and heavy guns rattled through the empty streets of East Berlin at dawn today, practicing for the annual May Day parade.

At one point they were only a few yards from the Communist wall. East Berlin's May Day parade regularly includes heavy military equipment despite the Soviet-Western occupation agreement banning German military equipment from Berlin. The Western powers usually protest the violation.

On the other side of the wall, West Berlin planned its own big May Day demonstration. Hundreds of thousands are expected to gather to hear speeches by West German President Heinrich Lübke and Mayor Willy Brandt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, winding up his mission as President Kennedy's personal envoy, will appear.

Family Ties Are Subject of Study

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—A Menninger Foundation psychologist says the difference between families that thrive and those that go downhill seems to be a matter of finding things that are satisfying to each and yet involve all of them.

Dr. Lois Murphy told a marriage counseling workshop for Methodist ministers Wednesday a study of 60 normal children found that in their family backgrounds there was less moving and fewer divorces. Two-thirds of the families were active members of churches.

There is one doctor for every 2,000 persons in the world. The United States averages one doctor for every 790 inhabitants.

man again so I can get the washing done," said Missus Jose.

"All this burning business seems a mite inconvenient, my love," observed the agonized husband.

"It is severe but necessary," the lady mentioned. "I must suffer here because you did not beat me when we lived up yonder on earth."

"Of course, Jose proposed to treat her more kindly and beat her every day if she would only come back home, but this is not the way it works. After a prescribed amount of punishment, the Underworld boss goes back upstairs and live a new life until it is time for the treatment again.

"Anyhow," said Antonio, "one day, or maybe one night, since no one really knows whether it is day or night down there, Missus Jose tells her husband that he behaved badly by paying her a visit, for he has seen the Secret. So he must go back home and die in 13 days."

"All this was told to me in confidence by my friend and that is exactly what happened. Jose flipped in exactly 15 days."

The information was as startling as the sugar cane brandy was potent. And Senor Ichlick added that he had lost all contact with his friend Jose, who may well be a horse hauling wood for his own fires these days.

"Only one thing has me really puzzled, where does the Underworld Man get the oats to feed his herd?"

WAXCROSS, Ga. (AP)—Dresses made of paper and disposable paper shirts will be worn within a few years, a forestry expert predicts.

R. E. Allen, manager of the woodlands division of the Union Bag Corp., told the fifth annual Ware County Forestry Festival Wednesday that paper shirts will be on sale at computerized machines in the near future.

Vegetables Plentiful

By The Associated Press
 Increased shipments of cabbage, carrots, greens and green onions, radishes, spinach and yellow squash have shown up in Texas food markets. All deserve the "best buy" label this week.

Other vegetables in excellent supply at reasonable wholesale prices include potatoes, turnips and rutabagas, says the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Generous supplies of Florida grapefruit and oranges, lemons and fresh pineapples from Mexico are available in most areas.

Harvest of fresh strawberries in Louisiana is increasing and prices are much lower in that state but buyers will prefer to buy locally. Lower wholesale prices also prevail on asparagus, cantaloupe, pea, onions, squash and pineapple. Higher than last week are apples, avocados, green beans, sweet corn, cucumbers, eggplant, lettuce, peppers, sweet potatoes and tomatoes.

Eggs, hares, frays, kees and dairy foods remain plentiful and economical. Most cuts of red meats also are abundant.

Students and faculty at Michigan State University have contributed 1,500 books to the University of Nigeria, where the Michigan State conducts an advisory assistance program under financing by the Agency for International Development.

Reactions To Test Resumption Vary

By The Associated Press
 America's resumption of nuclear tests in the air brought three small demonstrations in foreign countries, thousands of expressions of dismay, indignation, concern, tolerant understanding from friends, bitter denunciation from the Communists.

Mixed with fear was the underlining but faint hope that an all-out nuclear race between the United States and the Soviet Union still might be averted before it gets out of hand.

In London, 14 Americans—most of them students in England—marched up and down all night before the U.S. Embassy with anti-nuclear placards. A mass meeting was planned for tonight by the British anti-nuclear organizations.

About 50 ban-the-bomb demonstrators sat on the sidewalk outside the U.S. Embassy in Copenhagen. A Soviet commentator charged President Kennedy's statement last March that he did not want tests had been shown up as "the biggest lie of all the false assurances made by anyone in the West."

"With the explosion at Christmas Island, a new round in the nuclear arms race has been started," the commentator said. "No propaganda maneuvers will help Washington erase the fact that it committed the greatest crime before all of humanity."

Soviet critics at the U.N. told anti-nuclear marchers in New York that the "balance" of nuclear strength they claimed after the Soviet tests last fall "the balance was equal" and gave strong indications the Russians were planning a new round of tests of their own.

Many West European agreed the United States had no choice but to go ahead after the 1961 series of giant Russian tests. But regret was general.

A West German government spokesman in Bonn said the Americans had made every effort to obtain a controlled test but treaty even though the Russians went back on their word in breaking the earlier moratorium.

Rome's independent daily Il Messaggero said the American tests were "no less worrisome" than the Soviet series and produced: "Years of discussions and interminable conferences have been unable to make a single advance toward moderation and re-

International Launch Set

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The world's first international satellite, a product of the United States and Great Britain, was ready for launching today.

A Thor-Delta rocket was set for the 11:00 a.m. attempt to hurl the 132-pound Anglo-American payload into an orbit ranging from 200 to 600 miles above the earth to study the ionosphere and cosmic radiation.

The shot originally was scheduled for April 10 but was called off six minutes before the intended launching time when major trouble developed in the second stage of the three-stage booster.

The United States built the satellite structure, and provided the rocket, power, tracking and radio equipment for the experiment. British scientists developed the six scientific measuring devices and will analyze data derived from them.

A member of the Canadian delegation at Geneva said Canada sympathizes with the United States but added: "We are against any nuclear tests in any environment."

In the United Arab Republic, Cairo's daily Al Akhbar said: "Our belief in positive neutrality will find an echo among peace-loving nations when world peace remains at stake. Let's hope the Geneva disarmament conference makes a step forward and saves the world from the terrible nightmare of nuclear tests."

Swedish Premier Tage Erlander said the American tests confirmed his government's fear that the Soviet Union's earlier resumption of tests might lead to a "reckless arms race in the field of nuclear armament."

Norway's Foreign Minister Halvard Lange declared: "The news (of the American tests) will be received with regret in wide circles in this country."

In Geneva, there was speculation whether the Russians might walk out of the 17-nation disarmament conference. Soviet negotiator Semyon K. Tsarapkin Wednesday night brushed aside all questions with: "no comment."
