

Bodies of Three Soldiers Due to Arrive Soon

Three county families during the last week received word that the bodies of soldiers who died in action overseas are being returned for reburial.

S-Sgt. Wallace O'Rear Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace O'Rear of the Rolla community have been notified that the body of their son, Staff Sergeant Levi Wallace O'Rear Jr., is being returned to the United States for reburial.

Sgt. O'Rear, 24, was killed in action in Italy in October, 1944.

No funeral arrangements have been made other than that the Kelson Funeral Home will be in charge of the burial, which will be made here.

Sgt. O'Rear's survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O'Rear, and these brothers and sisters: S. A. O'Rear of Rising Star; Mrs. Jack Hammes of Albany, N. Y.; William O'Rear, Mrs. Billy Useton, Mrs. Dick Chestnut and Miss Barbara O'Rear of Wellington.

Sgt. Billie Walker By MRS. C. W. FRITTS

Barney Walker of Samnorwood was notified Sunday, November 7, that the body of his son, Sgt. Billie Walker, who died in action in the Italian campaign, is due to arrive in the United States within the next few days.

Reburial will be in the Plymouth Cemetery.

Definite arrangements for the reburial service have not been made at this time, awaiting notice of the date the body will reach here.

Pfc. Glenn Roy

The body of Pfc. Glenn Roy, who was killed in action in Italy September 10, 1944, is being returned to the United States for reburial, his wife, Mrs. Marjorie Roy of Wellington has been notified. The date of arrival is not yet known.

Mrs. Roy said that funeral services will be held at Clarendon, where the young soldier grew up, and burial will be here. The Ellis Funeral Home will be in charge of local arrangements.

Pfc. Roy was 22 years at the time of his death. He was awarded posthumously the Silver Star for bravery and the Purple Heart.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by two children, Sharon and Raymond, the latter born after he went overseas; and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Roy of Clarendon.

Mrs. Roy is the former Marjorie Willard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Willard.

C. E. Killingsworth Completes Course

C. E. Killingsworth Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Killingsworth of Wellington recently graduated from the Palmer School of Chiropractic at Davenport, Iowa, where he has been a student for the last three years.

He will leave next week for 30 days in Lubbock, after which he will announce his plans for establishing an office.

Dr. Killingsworth lived here as a child and attended the local school in the lower grades. He graduated from Lubbock high school and later served in the Seabees during the war. He entered school shortly after he was released from service.

The Palmer school, he said, is the oldest of its type in the United States.

Big Bobcat Killed In Seale Area

A bobcat that became so bold as to rob a chicken house only a few yards from his home was killed recently by David Armstrong on the W. W. McClaskey farm in the Seale community 8 miles north of Wellington.

Mr. Armstrong shot it standing near his back door, but not until it had made away with three hens.

He later found a cave on the farm in which he believes there is a litter of young cats. In addition there are quite a few bobcat tracks, chicken feathers and rabbit fur around the opening.

The bobcat weighed around 30 pounds, but was not especially fat. Mr. Armstrong, who is the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. McClaskey, grew up in Louisiana, where bobcats are fairly common, and he reported that this is the largest one he has ever seen.

SOIL CONSERVATION SPEAKERS

These three men, who know as much about the soil problems of Texas as any in the state, will be the speakers at the Soil Conservation tour meeting in Wellington Thursday, November 18. H. M. Bell, left is Zone Conservationist of the United States Soil Conservation Service, Fort Worth. O. Dooley Dawson, center, is vice president and manager of the agriculture department of the Second National Bank in Houston. He has traveled into every part of the state in the last few years discussing with farmers their soil problems. Dr. Roy L. Donahue, supervisor of the Tennessee Valley Authority Program, A&M College of Texas Extension Service, College, is the third speaker.

Rockets-Irish to Play Traditional Armistice Game Here Thursday

The Rocket-Irish football game, long a traditional event of Armistice Day for Wellington and Shamrock, will be played this year at Powell Field, the game beginning at 2:30 p.m.

Both teams have declared a half-holiday and every football fan in the trading area of Wellington and Shamrock is expected to be on hand, filling all space available, including that behind the goal posts.

This will be the last scheduled game of the season for both teams, but one of the most brilliant played on the local field this year, both coaches and fans predict.

On paper, the Rockets hold a slightly underdog position. But that paper work doesn't show any of the enthusiasm which the boys of the red and white have worked up since their upsetting loss to Lefors Friday night.

Coached by Scott McCall, Rocket mentor before the war, and assistant coach Clarence Morris, the Irish have come through the season to date with seven wins, two losses and no ties. The Rockets have five wins and four losses.

Lefor was the stumbling block of both teams in conference play.

The weekly Amarillo News-Globe rating of Class A football in the Panhandle places Shamrock sixth and Wellington ninth, although the rank in District 2-A would be Lefors, Shamrock and Wellington. The same Amarillo News-Globe, however, predicts that John Bray's excellent Skyrockets are certain to rebound from their disappointing loss to Lefors and play a thrilling game against Shamrock on Armistice Day.

Looking at the scores of the Irish, they won over the Canadian Wildcats 47-0; took on the Memphis Cyclone 19 to 0, eked out a

Girls Organize to Play Football Game Here on Friday Night

Twenty two girls, backed up by some two dozen others, will invade the last stronghold of the Wellington boys when they put on helmets and padded uniforms to play a game of football on Powell Field, Friday night, November 12.

The game is sponsored by the High School and Junior High P. T. A. Mrs. J. C. Ward, president, has announced. Playing will begin at 7:30. Proceeds from the game will go toward the PTA payment on the curtain for the auditorium stage.

bought last year.

The public is invited and even if the rules of football are stretched here and there to accommodate the situation, and some of the fast dashes for touchdowns and power-house blocking that Powell Field is used to giving its fans, may be missing, the girls guarantee more laughs than a Skyrocket game usually offers.

Captain of the Skylark team is Saradel Liljedahl, while John Bray is coach.

The Dodgers are headed by Joyce McPherson, with Frances Sue Lawrence as co-captain. Billie Joe Keller is coach and an assistant will be chosen.

Members of the Dodgers team—they haven't picked a first string yet—are Cecilia Elbert, Peggy Riley, Shirley Agee, Bonnie Hively, Earlene Harrison, Frances Sue Lawrence, Peggy Jeffers, Louise Alexander, Joe Evelyn Hackler, Morene Amerson, Mona Jean Tarter, Galyea Needham, Vada Cook, Peggy Langford, Patsy Harper, Peggy Fulcher, Juanel Wolf, Jeanette Fenley and Joyce McPherson.

Mrs. Jess Young Painfully Burned

By MRS. C. W. FRITTS Mrs. Jess Young suffered painful burns Tuesday night, November 2, at her home three miles south of Samnorwood when her kerosene refrigerator caught on fire.

She was taking one of the blazing oil tanks outside the house when the flames burst up into her face and also burned both arms and hands.

Mr. Young and their daughter, Miss Jeanette Young, drove up from Norwood just as the accident happened and extinguished the flames.

Mrs. Young was rushed to Wellington for medical treatment, where her burns were found to be painful but not serious. Later, however, her condition grew worse, and she was brought to St. Joseph's Hospital Saturday for further treatment.

Youth Revival Planned at Dodson

During the week end of November 12, 13 and 14, the Dodson Nazarene Young People are sponsoring a "Community Youth Revival" at the Dodson Nazarene Church, the Rev. Chas. C. Montandon, pastor, has announced.

The Rev. Donald Moore, a youthful 18-year-old student of Bethany Peniel College, will be the speaking evangelist. Miss Peggy June Doing, also a student of Bethany Peniel College, will be in charge of the music.

"Rev. Moore is considered a dynamic young speaker, and Miss Doing has an outstanding record that will inspire every person that comes," Rev. Montandon said.

"A great youthful 'singspiration' will precede each service which will begin at 7:00 p.m. Just three nights and one Sunday. If you come once, you will come again," he declared.

General Election Votes Double Number Expected

With voting among the heaviest of any general election, if not the heaviest, Collingsworth County gave President Harry S. Truman 1779 votes to 198 for his nearest opponent, Republican Thomas Dewey, and 98 for Governor Strom Thurmond, Dixiecrat candidate.

Like Lyndon Johnson, candidate for a place in the United States Senate, received 1753 votes to 287 for the Republican candidate, Jack Porter.

Approximately twice as many persons voted as was anticipated by county election officials, and because of this, counting the vote in the South Wellington box, largest in the county, could not be completed until after noon Wednesday. Ordinarily, it would have come in before midnight Tuesday (Continued on Page Eight)

Farmers and businessmen of the Wellington trade area who have long known that the prosperity of this area does, and possibly always will, depend on its soil, will gather to hear top ranking officials of the Burlington Lines, the Second National Bank of Houston, Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, and the United States Soil Conservation Service when they come to Wellington Thursday, November 18, to talk about soil conservation. There will be a general meeting at 1:30 p.m. Thursday afternoon at the community building, and it is urged that every farmer and business man in the county attend. Three leaders of the tour, Dooley Dawson of Houston, Hershel Bell, Fort Worth, and Dr. Roy Donahue of College Station will speak, motion pictures pertinent to soil conservation will be shown, and brief talks will be made by representatives of farm and allied agencies of Collingsworth County.

The Soil Conservation tour, the third sponsored by the Fort Worth & Denver and the Second National Bank, has its local sponsors the Wellington banks and the Wellington Chamber of Commerce.

A field tour is scheduled for the visitors from 9:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. and lunch will be served in Wellington.

Led by R. Wright Armstrong of Fort Worth, vice president, Fort Worth and Denver City, and The Wichita Valley Railways, the Burlington Lines group will consist of A. J. Horton, vice president, Colorado and Southern Railway, Denver, and A. K. Hepperly, agricultural agent, and J. C. Prude, assistant general livestock agent, also of Denver.

In addition to Armstrong, the Fort Worth offices of Burlington Lines will be represented at each of the meetings by W. O. Frame, general manager; C. S. Edmonds, (Continued on Page Four)

Beam Re-elected WTCC Director

At the annual meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Cameron Beam was reelected this week director of the organization for the 1949 year. A full day of progressive activity, being undertaken by the West Texas organization, was reported on by committee heads.

Among resolutions adopted, of interest to Wellington, was one directing the executive board to form a municipal water rights committee, charged with the responsibility of defeating any and all legislative efforts in invalidate or de-cloud the prior rights of municipalities to water.

Homer Hunter, consulting engineer for the organization, reported that preliminary drafts and surveys for the region costing over $40,000 point to West Texas as having aboard field for industrial development. Studies made thus far, he enumerated, include cotton textile, the industrial potential of sorghum grain, wool, leather goods, and the full feeding of cattle. "The things do not just happen," he cautioned, "we must make them happen."

Paul Carrington, Dallas attorney and President of the Texas Commercial Association, reported at the luncheon on the analytical study now being made of the need for revision and streamlining of the Texas Constitution. He pointed out that there have been 115 amendments voted since the constitution was adopted 72 years ago.

Virgil W. Johnson, manager of the Wellington Chamber of Commerce also attended the meeting.

New Telephone Rates Announced For Wellington

Announcement of necessity for new telephone rates at Wellington were made today by R. L. Brewer, District Manager for the Southwestern Associated Telephone Company.

Greatly increased costs of furnishing telephone service make it necessary for the telephone company to place new rates into effect immediately. Mr. Brewer states that he plans to go before the City Council at an early date to explain the need for new telephone rates here.

The present rates for telephone service were established in 1938. Since that time, the telephone system in Wellington has grown from 422 telephones to 1045. "We are proud," Brewer said, "that in these ten years we have been able to provide more and better telephone service without increasing rates. However, the pyramiding effect of higher costs of operations—higher wages, taxes, equipment and supplies—make new rates necessary despite every possible economy that could be used."

Brewer said that while revenues had increased, expenses had increased at a much faster rate. The Company's net revenues had dropped until today the Company is losing approximately $1,137.14 per year.

"The new rates are reasonable and are necessary to help pay the cost of furnishing telephone service. We do not seek big profits, but are asking only for rates that will provide enough earnings so that we can continue to expand and improve service," it was stated.

For residence telephone users the new rates represent an increase of less than two cents per day for four-party service, and approximately 2 1-2 cents per day for individual line service. For business users it is approximately four cents per day.

Accident Fatal to Former Dozier Man

Friends and neighbors of the Francis family, who lived in the Dozier community for several years and only last year moved to Kress, were shocked by the tragic death, recently of Robert Howard Francis, who was burned to death when his butane truck he was driving overturned.

The accident occurred near Kress and his body was burned beyond recognition.

His wife was the former Miss Betty Stevens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Stevens. Both Mr. and Mrs. Francis were former students of Samnorwood. They were the parents of two small children.

Mrs. Francis is now visiting with her parents.

Matt Johnson New C of C Director

Matt Johnson, owner of the Johnson Motor Company, has been elected a director of the Wellington Chamber of Commerce, replacing Deskins Wells, whose term expired.

This election comes under the plan of having the term of one director expire each two months.

1948 WEARERS OF THE IRISH GREEN AND WHITE

Mrs. C. H. Weaver, Quail Resident 40 Years, Passes

Mrs. C. H. Weaver, who came with her husband to Collingsworth County about 40 years ago, died Monday, November 1, at the age of 76 years, 10 months and 9 days. Funeral services were held at Quail, and burial was in the Quail cemetery under the direction of the Murphy-Spicer Funeral Home of Clarendon.

Pall bearers for the service were Jack Lancaster, Wren Hartman, Charley Amerson, Buford Graham, Fletcher Adams and Wayne Patchell. Honorary pall bearers were R. E. Graham, R. E. Farmer, Bert Weaver, Pete Hartman, Murel Lacy and J. A. Lancaster. Flower girls were Louise Lancaster, Wanda Lou Hartman, Barbara Bess Weaver, Reba O'Hair and Wanda Sue Vaughn.

Mrs. Weaver was born in Cherokee County, Alabama, in 1871. She was converted and united with the Baptist Church at the age of 15, and had lived a devoted Christian life.

As a young woman she came to Fannin County, Texas, and there she was married to C. H. Weaver. He preceded her in death in 1939.

To this union was born three boys and two girls, Mrs. J. L. Dollar and O. J. Weaver of Wellington; O. R. Weaver of Morton; L. H. Weaver of Almgord, N. M.; and Mrs. M. Green of Pampa. Twenty-four grandchildren, five great grandchildren, a brother and two sisters also survive. The latter are Mrs. B. L. Atkinson of Wellington, Mrs. J. L. Weaver and J. H. Hubbard of Hamlin.

Hold Dodson Carnival Friday

The Dodson high school carnival will be held Friday night, November 12, beginning at 7:00 p.m., Miss Jimmie Wynn of Dodson reported this week.

The senior class is sponsoring the entertainment. The highlight of the evening will be the crowning of the high school queen.

"There will be plenty of food and entertainment for the whole family. Come and enjoy the largest and best carnival of the year," Miss Wynn said.

Quail School Reopens Nov. 22

The Quail school will take up following cotton picking on Monday, November 22, Noah Cunningham, superintendent, announced this week.

Plans will be made during the early weeks of the school session for the organization of a Parents-Teachers Association, designed to bring the parents and the teachers closer together, and to work for the educational advantage of the school program.

Caking Pays Dividends as Grass Matures

Protein pays large dividends in added gains on beef cattle when fed to supplement mature pasture grasses during late summer and early fall months, Experiment Station results and practical experience prove, according to A. L. Ward, Educational Director, National Cottonseed Products Association.

Cottonseed cake costing $5 per hundred pounds returned $18 worth of beef when fed to steers valued at $24 per hundred pounds in trials at the Kansas Experiment Station, he points out.

Cattle on pasture that received 1 1/2 pounds of cottonseed cake, daily per head, for 88 days gained 152 pounds per head during the period in the Kansas test. Cattle that did not receive the protein supplement gained only 56 pounds. Each pound of cake fed resulted in a gain of approximately 3-4 of a pound.

During July and August, most farm pastures and ranges begin to cure out or become "burned." Protein is the first nutrient to become deficient, the protein content of grasses frequently dropping 50 per cent or more as they mature.

A protein concentrate, such as cottonseed meal, pellets or cubes, is the only supplement for grass needed by cattle under most conditions during the summer and fall. In the Kansas test, the addition of ground, shelled corn to the daily ration was not profitable during the feeding period, August 1 to November 1.

When grazing is short, some dry roughage should be fed; but grains are needed only when fattening cattle to a high finish for slaughter, or when grazing is so short that it will not furnish enough energy feed, Ward said. Protein concentrates are profitably fed in amounts exceeding those needed in balancing the protein content of dry forage when they are relatively cheaper than grains, as under present conditions.

Vitamin A supplements, such as alfalfa or bright grass hays, are necessary when feedlot cattle have not had access to green forage for two to three months. In order to satisfy beef cows, herd bulls and calves should have access to green pasture, bright grass hay or a legume hay and should not be held off those Vitamin A feeds for periods longer than a few weeks.

carry more weight and bloom and will be in better condition to gain rapidly in the feedlot if they receive 1 1/2 pounds to 2 pounds of cake, per head daily, on the grass as it begins to become dry and mature. Calves and steers which are to be marketed from the grass as slaughter cattle need 3 to 7 pounds of cake, per head daily, depending on the quality and amount of forage and the desired rate of gain. Brood cows will carry more flesh into the fall and winter season and will be in condition to produce larger, healthier calves and a better milk flow if they receive 1 to 2 pounds of cake as the grass becomes dry. These dry amounts are for cattle on pasture where normal season maturity occurs. During severe droughts and critical shortage of pasture forage, more protein is necessary.

Why New Telephone Rates Are Necessary at Wellington

NO BUSINESS CAN long survive and charge less for its products and service than it costs to furnish them.

GREATLY INCREASED COSTS of furnishing telephone service makes it necessary for the telephone company to place new rates into effect at Wellington.

PRESENT RATES for telephone service were established in 1938. Since then, the telephone system at Wellington has grown from 422 telephones to more than 1045. We are proud that in these ten years we have been able to expand and improve our service without increasing rates. But the pyramiding effect of increased costs of operation — higher wages, taxes, materials and equipment make new rates necessary despite the use of every possible economy consistent with sound business management.

EXPENSES ARE GREATER THAN INCOME

During and since the war, the demand for telephone service has been tremendous. While revenues have increased, the costs of furnishing service have increased much faster.

During 1947, we furnished telephone service in Wellington at a loss of $1,137.14.

The cost of almost everything that goes to make good telephone service—and almost everything is needed—has increased sharply since 1940. For illustration:

Payroll (wages) our biggest expense, is away up. Five general wage increases have been granted employees since 1940. The cost of telephone poles is up 110 per cent, switchboards as much as 139 per cent, and lead-covered cable, 119 per cent.

NEW RATES ARE REASONABLE

The new rates are reasonable and are necessary to help pay the cost of furnishing telephone service. We do not seek big profits, only reasonable rates that will provide enough earnings to place the system on a sound financial basis, and which will enable us to expand and improve service.

ADEQUATE EARNINGS ARE ESSENTIAL

To carry out its expansion and improvement program, the company must spend many thousands of dollars for new plant and equipment. This money must come from the savings of people who want to invest in something that will bring them a reasonable, regular return. A sound financial business with reasonable earnings is essential to attract new money necessary to expand and improve telephone service.

NEW RATES

The new schedule of rates for Wellington is given below. Federal taxes which apply are not included.

Class of Service	Rate Per Month
	Wall	Desk	Handset
BUSINESS:
Individual Line Service	$5.50	$5.75	$5.75
Two-Party Service	4.25	4.50	4.50
Extension Service	1.25	1.50	1.50
RESIDENCE:
Individual Line Service	3.00	3.25	3.50
Two-Party Service	2.50	2.75	2.75
Four-Party Service	2.00	2.25	2.25
Extension Service	.75	.75	.75
RURAL:
Business (Metallic)	3.50	3.50	3.50
Business (Grounded)	3.00	3.25	3.25
Residence (Metallic)	2.50	2.50	2.50
Residence (Grounded)	2.00	2.25	2.25

For residence telephone users the new rates represent an increase of less than two cents per day for four-party service, and approximately 2 1/2 cents per day for individual line service. The increase is approximately four cents per day for business telephones.

Compared with increases in prices you must pay for other things — food, clothing, automobiles and almost every other item in the family budget — the increase in telephone rates is moderate.

The Wellington Leader had company Saturday. Sixty-six visitors in fact, members of the Panhandle Press Association who were here for a newspaper clinic.

And everyone of them could hardly believe their eyes when they saw the community building, where the meeting was held. "We don't have anything half this nice at home, was the general comment." Some of them remembered other things too. I SAW

Forrest Weimhold, publisher of the Hockley County Herald, Levelland, and President of the Panhandle Press Association, recalling that when he was a very small boy he was going from Shamrock to Duke, Okla. He came to Wellington on the mail hack and had to stay all night here. A local family took him into their home and were so nice to him that he has grown up impressed with Wellington's hospitality.

Bill Cone of the Ochiltree County Herald, Perryton, remembering when he was in Casa Blanca during the war, and for a long period of time they had received no mail. Then one day he saw a copy of The Wellington Leader blowing across the airfield. He'd been a more or less regular reader of The Leader when he was a journalism student at West Texas State.

Mrs. Clyde Warwick of Canyon saying this was her first visit here in quite a while and she was glad to get back . . . and Ann England of Morton remembering she stopped for coffee in Wellington one time on her way to Shamrock.

Virginia Rogers of Canadian—of three Virginias connected with The Leader at the same time several years ago, phoning Nora Drake and Allyn Nix to meet her for a cup of coffee.

And the other dozen who have formerly lived here, acting as if they were mighty glad to be back again.

And before the meeting, Jack Gibson inquiring where The Leader was going to put all those visiting editors, and when he heard it was the community building, adding: "You know, Wellington has sure progressed in the last 10 years. You can remember when we didn't have any place but the Methodist Church to hold meetings, and

South Plains Farms Grow Carrots, Too

COLLEGE STATION — The Rio Grande Valley of Texas isn't the only place where carrots are grown. Way up at the other end of the state in the South Plains big time truck farming operations have come to Floyd county, reports County Agent A. L. Hartzog.

Ransom Walker, who has lived at Vernon and Lubbock, brought his Valley-trained "Spanish-Americans" to Floyd county to do something about the slack carrot season during September and October. This group of truck farmers are part of Parish Farms, Inc. in the Rio Grande Valley.

It's Walker's idea to put carrots on the market at a time that is now a dead spot on the production calendar. He is starting out with 300 acres of irrigated wheat land, and hopes to branch off into bell peppers and baby lima beans after he gets his carrot production going. Parish Farms doesn't run on a "guesswork" proposition. These big scale carrot farmers figure 110-to-120-day growing period for their crop, and have invested much time and money to grow carrots in Floyd county. But there has been one big loss already. One large carrot planting of 110 acres was washed out this summer.

Weeds don't give Walker much trouble. He sprays naptha over the whole crop. The naptha makes a quick kill on the weeds, without bothering the carrots.

The first carrots were planted in May, and are moving to market now. Planting in 59-acre plots two weeks apart allows a staggering maturing date and assures a smooth harvest once the carrots are already on the market.

Walker says plans call for tilling and grading in the field, and arrangements have been made for a packing shed in Floydada to complete final preparations for packing.

If you are wondering about the water situation in Floyd county, that's all been taken care of. Walker and his crew brought along a giant portable irrigation spraying unit to be used if things got too dry. The carrot crew has used the spray rig only once this summer on a 60-acre tract.

"It caused some crusting, but it wasn't bad," Walker said. The spray carries a half mile of line covering a strip 80 feet wide.

Pepper seed planted on a 15-acre plus the labor and water came to $25 an acre. Walker says that's a pretty tidy investment to make before one penny starts coming in. Ransom Walker and his Parish Farm crew from the Rio Grande Valley have brought truck farming to the South Plains of Texas, says Hartzog.

the Kiwanis Club met in the Ritz Theatre.

Frank Anderson, Southern Methodist University ex, before the Texas-SMU game, telling of a bet with his Texas-alumni-neighbor-across-the-street, Bobo Castleberry. "I didn't make this bet, my wife did," Frank explained. If Texas wins, I get a good dinner, but I have to pay for it. If SMU wins, I get a good dinner and Bobo Castleberry pays for it. And we agreed to include James Sullivan either way it went."

Van Bonneau Chickens Prize Winners Through Middle West

Raising chickens as a hobby "and to eat" has brought Van Bonneau of Dodson ribbons and recognition from the poultry divisions of some of the Middle and Southwest's biggest State Fairs this fall. His latest winnings are seven ribbons from the State Fair of Texas. Earlier he won three ribbons at the Ohio State Fair and three, plus a grand championship, at the New Mexico State Fair.

Mr. Bonneau is a minister of the Church of Christ, engaged in evangelistic work. His hobby has been carried on for around 15 years, even during the war years when he took on the duties of a school teacher also.

He declares he doesn't give the prize winning chickens any special care, but admits that he spends quite a lot of time just fooling around with them.

The first show entered this year was the Ohio State Fair at Columbus in August, where he entered five Partridge Plymouth Rock pullets and won first, fourth and fifth prize.

"In this show I came up against the greatest competition in the East," he commented.

The following month, he entered five pullets in the New Mexico State Fair at Albuquerque and again won a first, fourth and fifth place. The first place winner also was chosen grand champion pullet of all breeds in the show.

The New Mexico show had been designated by the Partridge Plymouth Rock Breeders Association as the club show of the Southwestern area, and competition in this breed was especially strong.

His winnings at the State Fair of Texas included first, fourth and fifth in the pullet division, second, third and fourth on hens, and first on his young trio.

The chickens take all this traveling and exhibiting in their stride, and some of the hens keep right on laying, Mr. Bonneau said.

Asked how many ribbons he had won during the 15 years he has raised fine chickens, Min. Bonneau shook his head.

"I don't know. Several hundred," he replied.

He hatched about 600 chickens this year between March and May. Part of these he kept at home, but since his space is limited, he now has 100 choice pullets which he will carry over for next year.

A big chicken, the standard weight for a Partridge Rock hen is seven and a half pounds and for a cock nine and one-half pounds.

"I don't recommend them as layers, though," Min. Bonneau said. "They're primarily a meat chicken."

By MRS. JACK LOWRY

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Lowry had as their guests on Saturday night, Mr. and Mrs. Bill McAdams and Mr. McAdam's sister, Mrs. Wittie, all of Muleshoe. They were en route to Tennessee to visit relatives. On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Lowry's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Williams and children of Wichita Falls visited them. Mr. Williams is stationed in the Army there.

The Missionary program at the church presented by students from Wayland Saturday night was enjoyed very much.

CARD OF THANKS

By this means we wish to express to all those who were so thoughtful and kind during the illness and death of our wife and mother, Mrs. S. L. Qualls, our sincere appreciation.

We especially thank Mrs. Abernathy, who so tenderly nursed her, and to all the good neighbors and to everyone from the Baptist Church who sent food or flowers, or who in any other way tried to make our hour of grief lighter.

Your thoughtfulness and sympathy has remained to us a bright light in our hour of sadness.

Farm Tour -

freight traffic manager, Robert L. Hoyt, general passenger agent; and B. A. Wilhite, secretary to Mr. Armstrong.

From the Second National Bank of Houston, O. Dooley Dawson, vice president and manager of its agricultural department, who is to be one of the three principal speakers at each meeting, will be accompanied by Tom J. O'Brien, vice president, and one other officer of the bank, yet unnamed. L. R. Bryan, Jr., the bank's president, and C. M. Malone, vice chairman of the board, are expected to accompany the group for a portion of the West Texas trip, if business pressure prevents them from going all of the way.

The Texas A&M Extension Service is to be represented by P. G. Haines, Soil and Water Conservation Specialist, and Dr. Roy L. Donahue, Supervisor of Tennessee Valley Authority Program, both of College Station, Texas. Dr. Donahue is to be one of the three experts to address the meetings; his subject will deal with soils, forestry, and forest soils.

Paul Walsler, State Conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, Temple, and H. M. Bell, Zone Conservationist of the United States Soil Conservation Service, Fort Worth office, will be with the official party. Bell will talk at each meeting on "How to Know the Condition of a Range and What to Do About It."

Also to be included in the official group are agricultural writers from the Houston Chronicle, Houston Post, Fort Worth Star-Telegram, Fort Worth Press, Dallas Morning News, and Wichita Falls Times and Record News. Other newspaper publishers have been asked to send agricultural columnists to report on these meetings.

W. A. King, manager, Agriculture and Live Stock Department for Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, and Henry D. Mitchell, vice president, The Central Bank and Trust Company of Denver, Colorado, will travel with the railroad, bank, and newspaper group to each meeting.

First stop on the field tour is at the John Brim farm, south of Wellington, where the visitors will inspect Mr. Brim's syrup pan teracing system. From there they will go to the Rufus Sweat and C. R. Leggett farms north of town to see the yield of cotton which follows crops of legumes, and grass, supplemented by fertilizer.

Virgil Johnson, county chairman in charge of local arrangements, will be in charge of the afternoon meeting. Five minute talks will be made by George Taylor, district conservationist; Jake Tarter, president of the Farm Bureau; Alex Coleman, chairman of the county Production Marketing Administration.

The soil discussions by Mr. Dawson, Mr. Bell and Dr. Donahue, and the pictures will follow.

"These institutions—a railroad and a Gulf Coast Bank, are making this tour through Texas because they are interested in seeing that the soil of our state becomes no further depleted, because they believe that the welfare of the farmers of Collingsworth County and the Wellington trade area is important to the welfare of the state as a whole, and indirectly to themselves," Mr. Johnson declared.

"It is a rare thing for so many people who know so much about our land to be together at one time, and it is a real privilege that we can have them all in Wellington."

It is pointed out that the seating capacity of the community building is sufficient for all who want to attend.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the meeting includes J. W. Thomas, county agent; Virgil Johnson, manager of the Chamber of Commerce; Deskins Wells, editor of The Wellington Leader; Olin Alexander, Memphis Production Credit Association; James Doneghy, president of the City State Bank; Dick Wiley, president of the First National Bank; L. A. Manzer, president of the Wellington State Bank; Dr. J. M. Orr, president of the Kiwanis Club;

Jack Gibson, pres.-elect of the Kiwanis Club; Dr. E. K. Jones, secretary of the Rotary Club; C. R. Leggett, pres.-elect of the Rotary Club; J. E. Roberts, agent for the Fort Worth & Denver; Jake Tarter, chairman of the Farm Bureau; Orval Couch, manager of the Greenbelt Rural Electric Co-op; Andy Bell, the Wellington National Farm Loan Association.

Joe Grigg, Soil Conservation Service; Millard Brown, the AAA; John Coleman, co-ordinator of the Veterans Agricultural Vocational Administration; Jesse L. Robinson, instructor in the Veterans Vocational school; C. A. Crawford, instructor in the Veterans Vocational school; Bennett Goodloe, Vocational agriculture instructor of Wellington high school; George Taylor of Childress, the Soil Conservation Service;

Alex Coleman of Dozier, chairman of the Production and Marketing Administration; Wood Coleman of Dozier, instructor in the Samnorwood Veterans Vocational School; Billy Joe Peggram, instructor in the Quail veterans vocational school; Monty Mitchell, instructor in the veterans vocational school; Quail; Frank Kennedy, vocational agriculture instructor at Quail; and Mr. Jones, vocational agriculture instructor at Samnorwood.

Mrs. A. Y. Bell brought back some persimmons from a recent trip. She seemed surprised to learn that my Mother has been growing persimmons in her yard for the past twenty years. No fruit stayed on the tree for the first twenty years. After that a sprout came up from a cut root. When the second tree was of some size both started bearing persimmons.

The telephone company plans to ask for a raise in rates. This is necessary to make improvements that must be made to give adequate service according to the telephone people. As far as I am concerned this increase in rates is o. k. with me provided they will give better service. The switchboard will have to be enlarged to take care of two new positions. This will eliminate the waiting you have been doing in getting central, they say. In addition, they plan to increase their service to take care of many rural homes not served by telephone at the present time. The rate increase is modest enough. There will be delays because of materials and stockpiling by the Government of certain materials. I am inclined to favor the moderate rate increase provided it will give us the better service, which is needed so urgently. But if the rate increase is granted and better service is not forthcoming in what seems to be a reasonable time then the people will have another song to sing. Improved service cannot be expected in a few weeks or a few months; so lets give them a fair chance and see what they do.

Telephones have increased from 422 in 1938 to 1,045

Signs of growth: Bill Burden, the Coca Cola mogul writes to say that his company has made a check of the population of Wellington and finds it to be over 5,000. Therefore this paper will receive a larger advertising schedule for 1949. Well, that is good news in two different ways.

The editors who were here last week were most complimentary of our community building, our town in general and the hospitality of the Chamber of Commerce.

Thursday is the big football day in Wellington. Even though each team will be playing for second place in the district, the annual clash of the Rockets and the Irish is something to see. All business firms will be closed during the afternoon; so do your shopping early.

F. O. Masten phoned from Sudan to find out the date of the formal opening of the Jones-Watkins Clinic. It will be Saturday, November 20, and the visiting hours will be between 3 and 6 P. M.

Here is a copy of a letter written a Republican to all branch managers and salesmen of his printing machinery company.

To every faint-hearted man of business, whether manager or salesman, I say "Hats off to Harry S. Truman!"

Three months ago, at the Democratic Convention, Mr. Truman stood completely discredited in the community, almost vilified by the opposition press, disavowed by his own party, and conceded by everyone no slightest chance of the Presidency. Surely no man ever could have had more reason to quit.

Today, Mr. Truman is President again—overwhelmingly. He has carried to power even the scoffers and antagonists of his own party. Surely no greater epic of personal triumph and salesmanship has ever been recorded anywhere.

We of the business world can be downhearted at the outcome—or we can be grateful for a great lesson. With the very same qualities—courage, enthusiasm, and hard work—we can make ourselves individually happier, our businesses bigger, stronger and more prosperous, and our great country mightier than ever before, to the infinite benefit of every citizen, Democrat or Republican alike.

And so gentlemen, let's take a page from Mr. Truman's book and put real enthusiasm, real courage and real confidence into our work—and let's start doing it now.

At least one man took a clear-cut stand in the 1948 campaign. He was an Englishman, the correspondent of a London newspaper, who was traveling on President Truman's far-ranging campaign special. It was his first trip across the United States and it was an experience he will never forget. Along about the tenth day, after journeying through the industrial areas, the corn-and-hog belt of the Midwest, the plains country, and the breath-taking Pacific Northwest, the Englishman was looking out on California's lush Sacramento Valley when he suddenly exclaimed:

"Damn King George the Third!"

Marion Baumgardner and Miss Barbara Baumgardner, students at Texas Tech, Lubbock, are active in Wesley Players, the religious drama organization of the Methodist Church and the only national organization of its kind in existence.

The Tech group is composed of approximately 100 members, and plans are already under way for a number of plays to be presented. Miss Baumgardner is secretary of the group.

They are the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Baumgardner of near Wellington.

Ritz Offers Novelty and "Discovery"

Not since motion pictures began to talk or assume color has there been anything so new and unusual as the all-family entertainment to be found in the dual attraction of "Bill and Coo" and "Discovery" being presented on the screen of the Ritz theatre in Wellington Friday, Saturday, Nov. 12-13, according to enthusiastic announcements made today by Manager Emmett Passmore.

A clean, wholesome, enlightening and thoroughly enjoyable attraction for every age group, and a program which mothers and fathers need have no hesitation of sending or taking their children to see, is being brought here by special arrangement and at regular admissions.

In Truecolor, "Bill and Coo" is a feature-length novelty film, and with the exception of a brief prologue, there are no human beings in the cast, the acting roster being made up entirely of more than 200 love birds, a crow, a guinea pig, two horned toads and numerous monkeys, kittens, chipmunks and baby alligators.

Admiral Richard E. Byrd's second Antarctic expedition is proof, if proof was ever presented, that truth is stranger than fiction, for in feature-length "Discovery" the weird life of the explorers, the eerie wilderness in which they worked and fought for privation in the interest of science, all tax the imagination.

"Together, the pictures are something on celluloid that are definitely fresh, original and surprising," Showmanager Passmore said.

Mrs. C. L. Casey underwent minor surgery in St. Joseph's Hospital this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Morgan of Lawton, Oklahoma, visited friends here Sunday.

Girls Forget Fears, Thanks To 2-Way Help

What to do for woman's oldest problem, functional monthly pain? Many a girl and woman has found the answer in CARDUI's 2-way help. You see, CARDUI may make things lots easier for you in either of two ways: (1) started 3 days before "your time" and taken as directed on the label, it should help relieve functional periodic pain; (2) taken throughout the month like a tonic, it should improve your appetite, aid digestion, and thus help build up resistance for the trying days to come. CARDUI is scientifically prepared and scientifically tested. If you suffer "at those certain times", get CARDUI today.

"Zero-Zero" to "CAVU"

By BILL HUGHES

Is it not wonderful that the scientific measurers of public behavior and the professional analysts of coming events could be so wrong? Somehow it gives heart to hope and adds prestige to the saying that "The game is never over until the final whistle is blown."

Nor was the Rocket's unrewarded exception that proves the rule. The Lefors-Wellington game was a "nip and tuck" battle where the team making the least number of vital errors won. Had Lefors' determination been any less, they would have lost. Had Wellington's will sagged, the margin would have been greater.

The point is that determination will carry on to victory more often than it will ever succumb to defeat. In the long run it will hurdle all temporary defeats and come out on top as long as it remains strong and consistent. Congratulations, Rockets, Johns—Bray, Batchelor, and Lee.

You have done a splendid job and this good job, though not headlines in defeat, is still a splendid job. Today's win depends upon this good work and not on the momentary heartbreak of yesterday's errors.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Strong of Hollis visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Strong during the week end.

Six Area Students In Wayland School

PLAINVIEW — Six students from Collingsworth County are among 541 enrolled at Wayland College, President J. W. "Bill" Marshall announced today.

They are Zo Dell Austin, Fredia Blasingame, Edwin Van Bonneau, Julia Camilla Coleman, Bobbie Jean Harris and John T. Winters.

Miss Austin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Austin, is a freshman majoring in speech and is planning to teach. Miss Blasingame, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Blasingame, is a sophomore planning to be a teacher. She is a member of the Volunteer Mission Band and Young Women's Association.

Bonneau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Van Bonneau, is a freshman. His father is a minister. Miss Coleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Coleman, is a freshman majoring in education.

Miss Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Harris, is a junior planning to go into business. She is a member of the Volunteer Mission Band. Winters, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Winters, is a freshman ministerial student majoring in speech.

The Wayland student body of 541 numbers about 30 more than were enrolled here at the same time last year, the registrar's office stated. There has also been an increase in the faculty and staff, from 28 last year to 51 this year.

Improvements on the campus include a new science building, with plans nearing completion for the erection of a new dormitory for girls to match the new boys' dorm, McDonald Hall.

Rye Grass Makes Lush Winter Lawns

COLLEGE STATION — A green winter lawn brightens the home grounds. It stands out in lush greenness against the bare, brown background of winter. It catches the eye of passers-by, and makes them say, "That family grows green grass in the wintertime."

Italian rye grass makes a good winter lawn for this area. It's easy to grow, and does not injure Bermuda or any of the other summer grasses. It takes up in the fall where the summer grasses leave off, and dies out in the spring when they are ready to start in again.

This grass is well-known among stockmen as a good winter pasture grass, and can be bought from feed stores, seed companies and nurseries.

This is the time of year for the people in North Texas to seed Italian rye—about the middle of September. Around the first of October is the best seeding time for Central Texas, and those further south should wait two weeks or a month later. Seeding rate for this grass is a pound and a half to two pounds for every thousand square feet of lawn area.

It's possible to wait later on into the winter, but there's a risk there. Cold weather slows up seed sprouting, and some of the seed may not come up until next spring. On the other hand, if you plant too early—before the cool season starts—young plants are likely to be killed by the heat. Italian rye thrives in cold weather.

Before sowing this winter grass, mow the lawn grasses to at least an inch and a half. When the Italian rye comes up, mow it just like any other lawn grass. Seed will come up in about three days if moisture conditions are right.

Keep the young plants moist until the roots have a good start in the ground, and water the grass as it begins to grow. Italian rye doesn't make seed until it gets about 18 inches tall, so you'll have to replant it again next year.

Miss Hatfield says another reason why it has to be replanted is because the roots die out every summer.

AS 250 MILL IRON CALVES WENT OUT TO BUYERS OF 15 STATES

The efficiency that is a hallmark of the big ranches of today could find better illustration than was seen at sale of the 1948 crop of bull calves by the Mill Iron Ranch at its Estelline corrals October 25. These pictures tell something of that story. The cattle were routed from large pens to small, then through the alleys to a marking chute and finally to waiting transportation. Note the chain neck-piece complete with an identifying number being attached to the chuted calf. The battery of clerks, sitting high on the perch, keep records of each calf as it passed through the Mill Iron Corral. High point of the sale was selection of calves by 70 buyers, some of them shown at upper center. The long-range picture of the corral reveals the expanse of the famed Mill Iron establishment at Estelline. At right, Lafayette M. Hughes, owner of the Mill Iron, chats with one of the visitors, John C. Caine, famed general manager of the National Western Livestock Show at Denver, Colo.

Newspaper Clinic Draws 66 Editors Saturday

Sixty-six newspapermen and women from all parts of the Panhandle were in Wellington Saturday, November 6, when The Wellington Leader was host at the newspaper clinic of the Panhandle Press Association.

The meeting was held in the community building.

As the name implies, this was a meeting in which the editors talked about their problems and exchanged ideas. The subject of this clinic was "Newspaper Make-up"—which to the reader means what greets his eye, or how the stories and pictures and advertising is placed on the pages.

Deskins Wells, who presided at the meeting, pointed out that through the war years and those immediately following, many papers because of manpower shortage, newsprint shortage, or because they could get by with it, had let the quality of their papers slip. Now they are looking toward improving their publications.

Papers analyzed by Prof. F. L.

McDonald of the Department of Journalism, Texas State College for Women, Denton, from the standpoint of both faults and outstanding qualities, were discussed by their owners.

The visitors were welcomed by Ralph Stowell, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, and the luncheon was given the newspaper people by the Chamber of Commerce.

Approximately a dozen of these were former Wellington residents, most of them connected with The Leader at one time or another.

Heading the list were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Combs and sons of Memphis; Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Gillentine of Hereford, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Rogers of Canadian and Lester Campbell of McLean.

The largest number from a single paper, eight, came from The Hockley County Herald, Levelland, and included Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Weimhold, A. E. Grote, Tom Holmes, Don Bryant, Leroy Flinn, Lois H. Vestal and Eugene Martin. Six were from the Ochiltree County Herald: Van W. Stewart, publisher; O. W. Dunkle, C. E. Cone, Jack Payne, Harold Hudson, and Raymond Overby.

Others registering were Mr. and Mrs. Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Combs, Adrian and Billy Combs of The Memphis Democrat; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Warwick, Mrs. Gladdis Samples and Charles R. Hillier of The Canyon News. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ezzell, Norman Bryant, Vince Lockhart, and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Rogers, The Canadian Record; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Hodges, the County Wide News, Littlefield; Arval Montgomery, Curtis Harrell and Chas. Slemmer, the Shamrock Texan; J. C. Howell of The Wheeler Times;

Mr. and Mrs. Carl England, The Morton Tribune; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kunkel Jr., The Groom News; Mr. and Mrs. Lester Campbell, The McLean News; Paul Allingham and Harry Hoare, The Globe-News, Amarillo; Phil Steen and Kenneth V. Rimmer, The Floyd County Hesperian, Floydada; Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Gillentine, The Hereford Brand; Mrs. Winifred Foltz, The Quanah Tribune Chief; Mrs. Eula Kennedy, the Chillicothe Valley News, Chillicothe; Karl Broad-

ley, The Higgins News; Vernon T. Sanford, manager, The Texas Press Association, Austin;

Virgil Johnson, Ralph Stowell and Miss Priscilla Chase, Wellington; Mr. and Mrs. Deskins Well, Miss Diane Wells, Miss Dorothy Robertson, Mrs. Nola Bain, Miss Virginia Robey, J. K. Porter, James O. Miller, Billy E. Wallace, Billy Joe Keller and Farrel Kent of The Wellington Leader.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of expressing our appreciation for the many words of sympathy, the beautiful flowers and the food sent at the death of our son and brother, Bill Canada.

HIGH AND LOW BLOOD PRESSURE SUCCESSFULLY TREATED

H. M. Thompson of Lakeview, Says

I was brought to the hospital on a stretcher. I couldn't walk or turn over in bed. This medicine gave me entire relief. I didn't take medicine before I took this and I have never had to take any since. Before I took it I couldn't get out of bed and now I'm working for the County Bridge Gang, and now I am entirely cured. Before taking Boza's tablets I had a blood pressure of 176 or 98, accompanied by headaches, pains in the back of the neck and in the regio n fthe heart. After using Boaz's Tablets under the direction of a physician and for a period of ten days, I was relieved of these pains and my blood pressure dropped to 132 over 70.

I have taken no other medicine during this time and feel it was the use of Boaz's tablets which helped my condition.

SCOTT FARMALL TRACTORS INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER TRUCKS
TRUCK & TRACTOR CO.
Wellington, Texas

The little rain the other day started wheat drills all over the territory. G. L. Jones, R. B. Scott, A. V. Mote, E. C. Clement, T. H. Harris, and many others were in during the week to get repair parts for their McCormick-Deering wheat drills. Wish we had had some of those drills to sell to some of the folks who wanted them.

Shop was busy all week. A few, anyway, are not going to get caught in the rush that will come along after a while when everybody wants his tractor overhauled at the same time. Amos Phipps had an F20 in the shop for a ring job; L. C. Hill sent his W-9 in for some work; George Lewis had the transmission in his Farmall H overhauled; A. W. Atkinson Jr., brought in a magneto and R. L. Mayberry a generator for overhaul; K. C. Lindley brought his F20 in for overhaul; C. E. Roberts sent his Farmall M for a small job.

Truck work is picking up too. Of course because this is the busy season for trucks. Fred Yarbrough brought his K7 International in for motor overhaul; J. M. Tindall sent his K7 to us for repairs; Lee Minyard brought in his International Pickup, and Horton & Harwell brought three of their trucks in for small jobs during the week; Percy Lofton brought his K5 to us, and Eddie Smith his International pickup.

A. M. Oldham took a look at the weather forecast and bought a Comfort-Cover for his Farmall H the other day. This fits all around the engine, up beside the driver, and provides a windshield. The hot air from the engine is driven by the fan right back in the driver's lap. If you insist on working on a cold day, one of these covers will save you a lot of misery.

Binders and combines slowing down. C. E. Simpson bought some binder parts last week; E. W. Anglin a couple of sacks of binder twine; R. R. Hightower, and W. P. Girbreth got binder parts. A. W. Atkinson Jr., was in after some parts for his combine.

NOW IS THE TIME!

PUT YOUR FARM MACHINES IN SHAPE AHEAD OF SEASON

Pick up your phone and call us—or come in and see us. Make a date with us to put your tractor and other farm machines in shape AHEAD OF SEASON.

You will save money two ways: You'll avoid breakdowns in the field, which mean costly delays. And your overall service cost will be less because the work will be done in our shop under ideal conditions—when we've plenty of time to do the job just right.

You depend on your farm machines to make you money. The better shape they're in, the better job you can do.

Our trained mechanics, working with precision tools and genuine IH Parts in our fully equipped shop give you factory-approved Farmall service.

Call us or see us. We'll come get your tractor or other farm machine, bring it to our shop, put it up in shape and bring it back to you. This pick-up and delivery service adds only a little to the bill, saves you time and trouble.

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER SERVICE

Passing out tractor and truck repair parts have kept us pretty well occupied the last few days—to Dudley Phipps, H. L. Tollett, H. E. Lowrie, M. D. Needham, Steve Owens, Lon Wellborn, J. A. Coleman, and many, many others.

Lewis Patterson bought two 14-inch moldboard bottoms here last week, in preparation for next year's work.

R. L. Karnes is forward-looking; he remembers that last year there were times when we didn't have the parts he needed. So when he found a new batch of Farmall lister parts in stock the other day, he bought what he was going to need next spring.

Don't forget to watch your tractors, trucks and cars as cold weather sneaks up on us. Drain 'em or get anti-freeze in 'em. We only enjoy putting on new heads and blocks when they are WORN out.

Your Bank Can Help You Expand

Without farm products any nation would be lost. In these expansive times the demand for bigger and better farms is the cry all over the world. Expansion usually takes financial assistance and our bank is always anxious to assist the farmer with any money problems he may encounter. For efficient service call on us today . . . we will gladly give confidential advice on any money matters.

Mrs. Jack Lowry Selected Wellington Leader Correspondent for Lutie Area

(Editor's note: This week introduces Mrs. Jack Lowry as the correspondent for The Wellington Leader in the Lutie community. Both Mrs. Lowry and The Leader want to get all of the news from this area and will sincerely appreciate each person contacting Mrs. Lowry to report their news.)

(Intended for Last Week) Friday was a reminder of a few years ago. Not a very pleasant reminder round these parts. The wind and dirt were terrible. Wheat fields, where the wheat isn't up, blew like deserts. There was a great deal of damage to other crops. Several thousand dollars of feed was blown down. Some of the feed was being harvested, while some was hardly ready to be gathered.

The voters turned out very good for the election on last Tuesday. Mrs. Joe Rountree and daughter, Joan, visited Mrs. Rountree's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Deger, in Fort Worth this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Earl Seale and son of Weatherford visited last week end in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Seale.

Mrs. Ruben Rountree and Mrs. Ace Rainey made a trip to Amarillo this week. Mrs. Rainey received medical treatment while there.

Bride Mrs. Marvin Walton was before her marriage in Amarillo Thursday, November 4. Miss Jean Owens of Amarillo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Owens of Wellington. She and her groom will make their home in Perryton.

Clay-Langley Rites Set for November 28

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. (Bill) Clay of Quail have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Mildred Clay, to Loyl Curtis Langley, son of Jim Langley of Quail.

The wedding will take place in the Quail Methodist Church Sunday, November 28, at 6:00 o'clock in the evening.

Both the bride and groom elect graduated from high school at Quail in 1946. Miss Clay attended Texas Technological College at Lubbock last year, studying vocational home economics.

Mr. Langley attended Hardin College at Wichita Falls for two years, studying business administration.

The young couple is well known throughout the area.

Fresno Church Group Surprises Pastor

Fifteen members of the Fresno Baptist Church drove to Lefors Friday evening, November 5, to surprise their pastor and his family, the Rev. and Mrs. R. C. McCurley Jr. and children, with a covered dish supper.

Highlight of the evening came when Rev. McCurley was presented with a gold wrist watch by the Fresno group in appreciation of his work.

Singing followed the supper and presentation.

Going from Fresno were Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Clement, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Kesler, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Harwell, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Harwell, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. King, Mr. and Mrs. Loal King and Bob-brow and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Morrow.

Jewel-Pin Ceremony For Quana Group

The Beta Zeta Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha conducted the formal Jewel-Pin Ceremony for the Quana chapter Monday night, November 8, in the Community Hall at Lake Pauline.

Sorority colors of blue and gold were carried out in the decoration. Flowers and candles decorated the table.

Miss Dora E. McClaskey, president of Beta Zeta Chapter, Wellington, was installing officer, with Mrs. Willie B. Harwell, Miss Lucille Bennett and Miss Anna Lee Graham assisting. Seven pledges from Quana received the pins.

After the ceremony a social hour was enjoyed, with the Wellington members as honor guests. Punch and cookies were served.

Those attending were Misses Lura Finley, Barbara Wilkins, Anna Lee Graham, Dora E. McClaskey, Lucille Bennett, Mrs. Clara Terry, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harwell, Rufus Johnson and Bobo Castleberry.

Members of Baptist W. M. U. Enjoy Covered Dish Luncheon Monday

The Baptist W. M. U. Circle Two met in the home of Mrs. L. W. Brummett Monday, November 8, for a covered dish luncheon.

Mrs. Chas. Slay presided at the session. Mrs. L. A. Moore had charge of the Bible lesson.

Flowers decorated the rooms and orchid chrysanthemums formed the centerpiece for the table.

Those present were Mmes. J. C. Whisenant, C. C. Bishop, Chas. Slay, Floyd Nipper, Fred LeDerer, L. A. Moore, F. M. McColey, of Perce, Oklahoma, Orval Couch and the hostess, Mrs. L. W. Brummett.

Bridge Party Honors Two on Wednesday

Mrs. Henry Sullivan and Mrs. Pink Sullivan were hostesses at an afternoon bridge party honoring Mrs. Vernon Ratzlow and Mrs. Dan McCaskill, Wednesday afternoon, November 3, in the home of Mrs. Henry Sullivan.

Mrs. Ratzlow, whose home is in Phillips, was a guest last week in the home of her mother, Mrs. Pink Sullivan. Mrs. McCaskill, a former resident, has returned to Wellington to make her home.

Dainty refreshments were served to Mmes. Calvin A. Hurst, Reese Norman, O. D. Holton, John Holton, A. J. Fires, J. M. Moore, Earl Clark, Raburn Holton and the hostesses.

Joyce Hightower of TSCW, Denton, visited home folks over the week end.

Fred Perry of San Diego, California, is visiting friends and relatives here.

Miss Jean Owens Becomes Bride of Marvin Walton in Rites Spoken At Amarillo

In a ceremony read at San Jacinto Methodist Church in Amarillo, Thursday, Nov. 4, Miss Jean Owens, 407 Mississippi, Amarillo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Owens of Wellington, became the bride of Marvin Walton, Perryton, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Walton of that town.

The Rev. Edgar T. Neal, pastor of the church, read the vows before an altar decorated with salmon gladioli, white chrysanthemums and lavender and white stocks. Palms and lighted candles in tall holders completed the decorations.

As a pre-nuptial concert, Miss Marilyn Leggett played "I Love You Truly," and "Because," and the traditional "Wedding March" as the bridal party entered.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a grey suit with navy accessories and an orchid corsage. Her maid of honor was Miss Fay Tension who was dressed in a fuchsia suit with grey accessories. Her corsage was of gardenias.

Serving the groom as best man was Dean Bartel of Oklahoma City. Mrs. Walton graduated from Carey High School in 1943 and was employed at the First National Bank as a bookkeeper until her marriage.

Mr. Walton is a graduate of Amarillo High School and is employed by the Stewart Printing Company at Perryton.

Reception A reception honored the young couple in the church parlor. The bridal table was decorated with candles and centered with the three-tired wedding cake, topped with miniature bride and groom. After the bride and groom had cut the first slice, the guests were served by Mrs. Carl Hopf, while Miss Helen Quayle presided at the punch service. The guests were registered by Mrs. Josephine Laird.

Immediately following the reception, the couple left for a week's trip to Denver, Colo., after which they will return to Perryton to establish their home.

Guests at the wedding and reception included Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Leard, Mrs. J. A. Leard, Mr. and Mrs. John Chase Jr., Mrs. E. W. Rowland, Mrs. Adcock, Mrs. Alfred Daniel, Mrs. Homer Long, Bob Gilliam, John Gilliam, Mrs. J. H. Courtney, Miss Quayle, Billy E. Martin, Miss Juanita Miller, Miss Ethel Collins, Miss Nora Mae Roberts, Miss Marjorie Wyr, Miss Marian Schultz, Miss Dorothy Johnson, and Miss Tension, all of Amarillo.

The parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Owens of Wellington; Mr. and Mrs. Walton of Perryton, parents of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cone of Perryton; Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Adcock and Neil Owens of Wellington; Mrs. Henry G. Bartel of Balco, Oklahoma; Tommie Ford of Canyon and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Owens of Clovis.

The next meeting will be an all day meeting at the home of Mrs. L. A. Moore, Tuesday, November 23.

Miss Dora E. McClaskey Hostess to Members of Epsilon Sigma Alpha

The Beta Zeta Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha met Thursday evening, October 28, in the home of Miss Dora E. McClaskey. Mrs. Jim Terry was in charge.

A social hour followed the business meeting. Refreshments were served to Mmes. Ernest Harwell, Jim Terry, Misses Dorothy Robertson, Lucille Bennett, Barbara Wilkins, Anna Lee Graham and the hostess.

Demonstration Club at Fresno Studies the United Nations

"United Nations" was the topic of study for the Fresno Home demonstration club, which met in the home of Mrs. A. B. Hicks, Tuesday, November 2.

An exchange of gift ideas was enjoyed during the social hour. Refreshments were served to Mmes. Elliott Wynn, W. A. Morrow, W. C. Harwell, C. A. Kesler, E. C. Clement, Betty Club, H. B. Lowrie, Misses Inez Clement, Mabel Clement, and the hostess, Mrs. A. B. Hicks.

Attending Visitation Evening at the Eastern Star in Hollis Monday evening, November 8, were Mr. and Mrs. Orval Couch, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Williams, Mrs. J. B. Floyd, Mrs. Hattie Clifton, and Mrs. H. B. Lamkin.

Lefors Victory Drops Rockets from District Top Place

By PRISCILLA CHASE
Lefors' Pirates raided the Skyrockets line for the prize of a 14-0 victory that extinguished Wellington's hopes of a district championship in a tussle in Lefors last Friday night.

The Skyrockets flared in the first quarter as Kenneth Strickland and Gaston Williams alternated ball-carrying duties that piled up four consecutive first downs. However, this spark was extinguished as a pass was intercepted on the 10-yard line by a Pirate and he ran it back to the 45-yard line.

Both touchdowns were made in the second quarter of the game. The first came from a 50-yard drive and this touchdown was set up by a quick pass from Fred Newsom to Joe Pafford. Newsom rammed through from the 1-yard line a few plays later for the tally.

Bad luck for the Wellington eleven originated the plays that set up the second Pirate touchdown. On the kickoff following the first touchdown, Strickland returned to the 20-yard line where he lateraled to Bobby McCutchen who lateraled to Walter O'Neil. This was ruled a forward pass setting the Skyrockets back, and fumble was recovered by the Pirates on the Wellington 4-yard line.

Newsom once more rammed over for the touchdown and he also jammed the line for the extra point. It was Lefors ball game at the half at a 14-0 score, and the score stood unchanged the remainder of the game.

Starting for the Skyrockets were Walter O'Neil, Pat Riley, George Schoff, Jerry Strickland, Jimmy Brock, Johnny Clark, Lynn Wright, Bobby McCutchen, David Baumgardner, Gaston Williams and Kenneth Strickland. Substitutes included Gene Moore, Bill Plank, Boone Eads, Lindell Norman and Ed Hajek.

First Sunday Singers Hold Meeting at Church of Nazarene

The First Sunday singing will be held at the Church of the Nazarene in Wellington Sunday, November 7, beginning at 2:30 p.m. A number of out of county singers have promised to attend, W. S. Brewer said. All people who like singing or who like to sing are invited to attend.

DOZIER

(Intended for Last Week)
Mrs. Alex Coleman went to Plainview Friday and brought her daughter, Camilla, home to spend the week end. Miss Coleman is a student of Wayland Baptist College. Miss Lois Harris of Dimmitt, roommate of Miss Coleman, came with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Henry Wischkaemper of Amarillo, Edd Wischkaemper of Abilene and Miss June Wischkaemper of Canyon were here Sunday to attend the funeral of their uncle, Henry Wischkaemper, of Quail.

Misses Mary and Dorothy Phillips, students of West Texas State College, Canyon, spent the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Phillips.

Willie Caperton died in an Amarillo hospital Thursday and was buried in the Shamrock cemetery Saturday. Mr. Caperton was a brother of C. H. Caperton and grew up in the Dozier community.

Mrs. Fred Massey has been seriously ill and is in the Shamrock General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Bounds and children of Altus, Okla., were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sechrist, this past week end.

Haskell Kemp of Amarillo brought B. A. Neece home Thursday. Mr. Neece has been in an Amarillo hospital recovering from a major operation.

Mrs. Bob Willoughby is in Tulsa, Okla., visiting her parents, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Ode Lang of Denver, Colo., visited in the Jim Clark home this week. Mr. Lang is an uncle of Mrs. Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Kemp of Amarillo are parents of a son, Dennis Wayne. Mrs. Kemp is the former Miss Josephine Neece, who grew up in the community and graduated from high school at Samnorwood.

Mrs. Earnest Robertson and small boys of Lefors are guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood Coleman are driving a new Chevrolet car and pickup, and the J. D. Throckmorton's have a new GMC pickup.

Mrs. Pat Bradley is visiting relatives near San Antonio this week.

NEW LOOK FOR FIRE FIGHTERS

Three volunteers advance on a flaming pit fired by 200 gallons of gasoline at the Wright-Patterson Air Force Base at Dayton, O., to test various types of fire-fighting clothes. The new lightweight aluminum foil suit at left was found to give the most comfort and protection. Designed by the Air Materiel Command's Aero-Medical Laboratory, it reflects the heat and helps the wearer retain a relatively low body temperature.

Magazine to Hold Rural Life Contest

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — The solving of problems of farm living is the theme of the second annual Rural Life Contest sponsored by Southern Agriculturist. The first and second prize winners will receive an all-expense paid 5-day trip by air to Washington and New York, plus $100 to the first-prize winner and $50 to the runner-up. Addition prizes will be $40, $35, $30, $25, $20, $15, plus 10 prizes of $10 each.

There will be two divisions to the contest this year, the Student and the Teacher.

First and second prize winners in the Teacher's Division will receive $200 and $100 respectively. Teachers are to write a short play or pageant illustrating the solution of some problem in rural living. To the teacher sponsor of the first prize winner in the Student Division goes $50.

Judges are the Editors of Southern Agriculturist and their decisions will be final. Contest entries must be in by March 1, 1949. The entries in both Divisions will be judged as follows:

1. 50 points for subject matter.
2. 25 points for logic.
3. 15 points for literary composition.
4. 10 points for neatness.

The articles in the student division are not to exceed 500 words and must be approved by a teacher.

HOW A PIPE LINE WENT TO Sea...

Underwater crossings of rivers and swamps are all in the day's work for builders of United Gas pipe lines... but one project called for utilization of all their ingenuity and ability. That was the submarine crossing of Lake Ponchartrain, just north of New Orleans. A 14-inch steel pipe line was laid 25.5 miles across this vast body of water—to provide more adequate natural gas service to a score of cities and towns along the Gulf Coast. Construction of pipe lines is only one of many functions of the United Gas organization, all of which have the ultimate purpose of providing a continued dependable supply of natural gas for our customers.

2,000-foot sections of pipe were shoved out into the lake, where tugs towed them to anchored barges.

Cranes lifted each new section of pipe to a position on the barges where it could be welded to the section already laid

Joints were carefully water-proofed, then the pipe was lowered to the bottom and the barges moved to their next location.

A & M Studies Using Sun's Heat to Warm the Home

COLLEGE STATION, A device that would extract a portion of the sun's heat from the earth and pump it into the home is a project under way at Texas A & M College. The heat pump, as the device is known, would also pump the heat into the earth, cooling the home.

Donald M. Vestal, Jr., research engineer, Engineering Experiment Station, A & M College, outlined the project this week before the College Station Kiwanis club.

"We have here everywhere around us this great natural resource, the sun's heat," Vestal pointed out. "Part of it is not being used for anything and it would seem very desirable that this vast resource be utilized to the fullest extent. The heat pump is a device which will help us conserve by making more efficient use of the natural resources still available to us," he said.

There are five types of heat pumps, the engineer declared. "The fifth is the ground coil or buried coil type heat pump, it is hoped, will have the most universal application. This type of heat pump involves digging up your backyard, burying a horizontal coil in the ground at a depth of from three to ten feet and then extracting heat by means of the coil from that backyard and delivering that heat in your home. And, vice versa in the summer, heat is extracted from your home and is returned to your backyard," he said.

"The coil may be copper tubing of about 5-8 inch outside diameter and it may be anywhere from 200 to 500 feet long. This type of heat pump is undergoing intensive development. I suppose every college in the country has a graduate project or two working on some phase of its development. In addition, there are several full time research projects working to develop this type of heat pump, one of which is at Texas A & M College.

"The application of the heat pump are not limited to household and commercial installations, however. In industrial applications it is possible by the use of the heat pump idea to obtain simultaneous heating and cooling of two different rooms. For example, an industrial plant may desire to have a cold room. By means of the heat pump, it is possible to extract heat from that cold room and then deliver that heat to some space to be heated, for example, the office space, in the winter.

"Of course in the summer, if no other use can be found for the heat, it must be dissipated to the atmosphere by means of a cooling tower, as is usually done now the year around. But the saving of the winter heat would be effected.

"There are also rural applications for the heat pump," Vestal said. "The farmer has plenty of ground in which a buried coil could be placed. He may even have a tank near his home where he could bury a coil or could pump water out of the tank and use a surface water heat pump. If the farmer desires a cold room he could use the heat pump idea and use the heat which is extracted in cooling that room to heat his home or his barn. He might even use it to heat a chicken brooder."

The cost of installing a heat pump in the home today, Vestal said, would be $2,000 to $2,500.

"If the heat pump is out of reach today," Vestal queried, "how does it affect each one of us? It may affect us in this way: By the use of the heat pump it is possible to deliver to a space to be heated three to four times as much as the heat equivalent of the electric power which it takes to operate the heat pump. Thus, the heat pump is three to four times as much as the efficient in heating.

"I do not mean to say that the heat pump creates energy. It does not; it merely makes use of this so-called free heat from the ground or from water, and it does perform useful work with it."

Vestal pointed out that the buried coil type of heat pump which can be used in the mass market has not been developed completely.

The five types of heat pumps are first, the air-to-air, "the one which is probably in most widespread use today," Vestal said. "By the use of this heat pump it is possible to extract heat from the atmosphere surrounding your house and to pump that heat into the interior of your house, heating it as desired in the winter and to extract heat from your house to cool it in the summer and to pump that heat back to the surrounding territory.

"The second type of heat pump uses well water as heat source. Water is pumped from the well.

Heat is extracted from the water by the refrigeration machine, which amplifies the heat and delivers it to the house. The well water may or may not be used as a receiver of heat extracted from the house in summer cooling. If not, the heat extracted would be delivered to the atmosphere as is the case with the ordinary air-to-air pump.

"The third type of heat pump involves digging a well, some 200 to 500 feet deep. A U-tube is placed in the well and fluid is circulated through the U-tube. The fluid picks heat from the subterranean formations and delivers that heat to the refrigeration machine, which amplifies it and delivers it to the space to be heated.

"The fourth type of heat pump is that which extracts heat from surface water: If you have a lake or river near your house, you can extract heat from that lake or river by either of two ways: By pumping water to the refrigerating apparatus or by burying a coil in the mud underneath the body of water. The heat extracted is delivered to the refrigerating apparatus, where the heat is amplified and delivered to the house."

Vestal said that in Switzerland there is an installation of this type "by which an entire university is heated by means of such a heat pump. The university consists of 12 major buildings. They have a river flowing by and they use the heat in the river water for their winter heating."

The four types of heat pumps outlined are in use today," Vestal said. "They can be designed economically. In Portland, Oregon, there are two multi-story buildings being constructed, each of which is about twelve stories high. Their only heating and ventilating apparatus is a heat pump using well water. The only limitation on the four types of heat pumps is the limitations imposed by locality. Every one doesn't have a lake or river nearby nor can everyone afford to have a deep well drilled."

The project at Texas A&M College has been under way for 18 months. Technically, it is "seeking information on the basic thermal properties of soils for use in conjunction with the design of the buried coil for the buried coil type heat pump."

University of Texas Workers Explore Indian Cave Home

AUSTIN — Work continues in a Uvalde cave in the home of some Indians who were terrible housekeepers.

The University of Texas Memorial Museum and the Anthropology department have staff members working daily, removing and analyzing debris left in the cave by Indians who may have lived there anytime before 1500 A. D. The project is expected to require another month or more.

September Farm Income Up Fourth Over August

AUSTIN — Texas farm cash income totaled $230,550,000 in September, climbing 24 per cent above August, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported.

In comparison with September 1947, farm income slid 5 per cent, reflecting decreased sales of cotton, wheat, hogs, sheep, and mohair.

Farm income stepped up sevenfold from August in Trans-Pecos, and more than doubled in Red Bed Plains and Southern High Plains.

On the other hand, farm income decreased sharply from August to September in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, Southern Texas Prairies, South Texas Plains, and Coastal Prairies.

Cotton brought Texas farmers $120,063,000 in September, for the greatest source of income. Second, cattle sales totaled $27,466,000.

The Grand Prairies District turned in $30,416,000 in September, and the Red Bed Plains' income, totaling $26,721,000, was second highest in the State.

From a year earlier, farm income stepped up from 2 to 45 per cent in the Trans-Pecos District; East Texas Timbered Plains, Red Bed Plains, Western Cross Timbers, and Black and Grand Prairies. Other districts turned in decreases from a fractional dip in Edwards Plateau to an 85-per-cent drop in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

For the first nine months of 1948, farm income totaled $1,110,949,000, or 5 per cent below a like period in 1947. Declines were recorded by Southern High Plains, 43 per cent; Red Bed Plains, 21 per cent; Western Cross Timbers, 7 per cent; and Lower Rio Grande Valley, 4 per cent. Other districts turned in gains from 1 per cent in Southern Texas Prairies to a 25-per-cent rise in South Texas Plains.

Handling Money Hardest Problem Of Young People

COLLEGE STATION — One of the hardest problems that face young married people is that of "How to Handle the Family Income."

Mrs. Eloise Johnson, extension family life education specialist of Texas A. & M. College, says that a recent study made by Michigan State College found that spending the family income in the wisest way was a problem that took the longest time for families to work out. Half of the people interviewed were able to work out a satisfactory arrangement, but the other half said it took months or years—and some never did agree.

Mrs. Johnson believes that the reason lies in the fact that often young people are not taught the wise use of money while they are young, and then are faced with the problem when they marry, at a time when they are confronted with many other problems of adjustment.

"It takes most of us a lifetime to learn the basic principles of earning, saving, spending and enjoying money," she says. "So the earlier one starts to learn, the better. Too many young people grow up without any independence in using money. Some are kept entirely dependent upon their parents, not only for money, but for every decision as to how the money is to be used. Such dependence is poor background for mature judgment when young people leave home."

She points out that children can be included in the family plans for the use of money at a very early age. They can be helped to understand that things cost money and that they have a share in the family money, just as they have a share of the family food and the family home. "Their judgment in the use of money at the age of three, for instance, is not the best, but they learn from example and even more from experience," she says.

"They'll make mistakes and waste their money," she concludes, "but such mistakes are less serious than those that might be made when the children are older. Wise money habits can be built, if children understand and actually take part in the planning for earning, spending, saving and sharing the family money."

Editorial

The editors of the Panhandle country have come and gone. Their visit may seem like a casual event to the merchants who were so busy on the day that they were here. Thanks to the Chamber of Commerce and especially to Virgil Johnson, its manager and to Ralph Stowell the vice-president, the meeting was most significant in terms of giving other people an appreciation of the advantages of living in Wellington. They did an excellent job of representing our city before a group that will influence the thinking of literally thousands and thousands of people.

The editors were most favorably impressed with the hospitality of the Chamber of Commerce, the excellence of the food, the magnificence and the utility of the Community Building and you may rest assured that they will go back to their respective papers and give some of this impression to their readers.

Under the direction of Virgil Johnson, the Chamber of Commerce did an excellent job last Saturday. Since we have such an ideal meeting place, why couldn't the same sort of district meetings be held for automobile dealers, tractor dealers, hardware merchants, doctors, lawyers and teachers and any other group that has a need for group meetings.

As The Leader salutes the Chamber of Commerce for the job they did for the editors, we invite them to think of doing the same thing for other groups. Wellington has the facilities and the hospitality.

Buck Creek Philosopher

Editor's note: The Buck Creek Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Buck Creek probably is taking a small-visioned view of the problem he discusses this week, which is typical of him. Dead editor:

I picked up a copy of the Amarillo News which the norther blew in over the week-end and took it home to save to start fires with this winter but since supper wasn't ready and I didn't have anything else to do I opened it up and read where an expert has announced that farming is going to be mechanized more and more but that we ain't got nothin to worry about as it won't cause unemployment.

Now I certainly ain't got no objection to mechanizing farmin, and any time anybody can invent a machine that'll take work off of me, I'm in favor of it. In fact, they can't go too far in this direction for me, a machine that would crank itself up around January 1, plan a crop and prepare the land and plant the seed and cultivate the stuff and harvest it and honk a horn when it passes my front porch in the spring or summer on the way to market, would suit me all right, although there wouldn't be no need in havin the machine cash the check, I could do that. No use in a man gettin entirely stale.

But what puzzles me is why the expert has to assure us machinery ain't gonna cause unemployment.

Thunder. That's what a machine's for. If we're gonna have more and more machines and still have more and more work, I'd just as soon leave things like they are. What I want is a machine that does more and more work and produces more and more unemployment, for me at least.

As a matter of fact, I ain't never made up my mind about machines yet anyway, which is one reason I ain't bot more out here. The other reason is I exhausted my credit. There is some folks who argue the amount of work it takes to make enough money to buy a electric water pump and buy the electricity to run it and put it in your house adds up to more energy that it would take to just draw your water with a bucket and rope, but I don't know, although if I could find somebody who'd sell me a electric pump on credit, I'd be willin to test the theory out. I already know how much energy it takes to draw water by hand. Ain't a day passes my wife don't tell me how hard it is.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Hi School Debate Subject Chosen

AUSTIN — Texas high-school debaters have already started research on this session's University Interscholastic League debate topic: Resolved, that the State of Texas should increase the severance tax on its natural resources, announces Bruce Roach, speech director.

Last year approximately 3,000 teams, representing 6,000 high school students, participated in the debate contest of the League, arguing the pros and cons of the query which dealt with arbitration of labor disputes in major industries.

"We are expecting at least a 20 per cent increase in debate participation this year," says the League contests and the importance of the question is attracting considerable attention this year.

In the past years League debat-

C. Z. Ratliff Tells of Modern Farming in His Native State

By MRS. B. E. RATLIFF
C. Z. Ratliff, formerly of this county, is visiting in the home of his son, B. E. Ratliff, of the Cottonwood community.

farm" and are proud of their good fall garden. Mrs. Ratliff, who remained in Fort Worth to help her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Cook, in moving to a new home which they have recently purchased, will soon join her husband to visit here with friends and relatives.

Tech Experiment Station Planned At Pantex Plant

LUBBOCK — Research on sorghum grains and flour made from grains produced in Texas' south plains area is being resumed by the foods and nutrition department at Texas Technological college.

Shallu, which produces a fine grain white flour, and Martin maize, producer of a coarser darker flour, are the two grains which will be tried in the new experiment.

Mr. Ratliff, known to many here as a model farmer, has many compliments to pay the people in his native state on their modern practices in scientific farming. While practically all of the farming is still done by horse and mule drawn implements, the methods are new. The land which once was beginning to wash away, even in that vicinity of little rain, is now terraced and farmed right to the top of the mountains. The use of commercial fertilizers to furnish plant food, and chemicals such as DDT to control insects, particularly the tobacco worm, has increased the yield of crops as tobacco, corn, clover and some wheat.

He and Mrs. Ratliff were entertained royally during their stay, and enjoyed observing the many quaint customs among the Kentucky mountaineers. The roads are good, they report, mostly paved, and the homes are good. Their rural electric situation is about the same as it is here—many posts but no wire as yet. They enjoyed the old-fashioned church services, the family get-togethers, the rambles on the creeks and up among the pine trees where wild game is abundant. There is still evidence of moonshine and some crops are surely evaluated as so many "gallons to the acre."

Even though Count Zendorf Ratliff is a native of "Old Kanetuck," he is a true Texan. He is a descendant of James C. Collingsworth, judge of the first Supreme Court of Texas and for whom this county is named. He and Mrs. Ratliff lived here for about thirty years. They now live in Fort Worth and find that it's a small place when it comes to locating friends. They live near Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Bengue who moved to Fort Worth from Wellington several months ago. The Ratliffs have a "back yard

During that year some work was done in use of flours from coarser maize in hot breads," Mrs. Michie said. Since Shallu has been developed, indications are that, because of better milling properties of this grain, it will be possible to make finer textured and more acceptable products from the flour, and also that this flour will be more suitable for use in wider range for flour mixtures.

Extensive investigation into sorghums' possibilities at Texas Tech has been made possible through the co-operation of Mr. R. E. Karper, agronomist, in charge of sorghum investigations by Texas Experiment Station, who has made available sufficient amounts of the grains. The department of milling industry at Kansas State College at Manhattan, Kans., is turning the grains into acceptable flour types.

Dr. Mina Lamb, associate professor of foods and nutrition, and Miss Faye Hattox, instructor, are working with Mrs. Michie in direction of the experiment. A number of graduate assistants are assisting in the tests. Results of the experiments will be announced next summer. Research will be continued, however, two years to substantiate findings.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, states, "Few persons need to be warned that rabies is a fatal disease yet proper precautions against its spread are often neglected. Stray dogs should be humanely destroyed or impounded, and all household pets should be vaccinated. Annual vaccination efficiently practiced will stamp out rabies in Texas."

The State Health Officer stressed this fact as important: A dog suspected of being rabid should not be killed at once, but should be kept confined for ten days, since this is the infective period before death of the animal. If the dog does not develop rabies within ten days, the individual bitten is safe as far as that particular bite is concerned. Further observation of the animal should be at the discretion of the veterinarian since many other conditions resemble rabies.

The head of the suspected animal should be packed in ice and sent to the State Health Department for examination. Freezing the brain, or killing the dog prematurely or in such manner as to injure the brain may make correct laboratory findings impossible.

Mere handling of a rabid animal is not sufficient reason for treatment, as scratches by the animal's paws ordinarily do not constitute exposure. It should be understood that rabies is transmitted only through exposure to saliva which gains entrance into the body wound, ordinarily through a bite.

When You Cook With A

Chambers

COOKS WITH THE GAS TURNED OFF

You can enjoy easy, foolproof cooking, with no failures, when you cook with the gas turned OFF in a Chambers Range. Pot-watching and guesswork are eliminated, and you can have two extra hours daily in complete kitchen freedom. Besides, the new Chambers Overt is a masterpiece of engineering...bakes unusually large quantities of cakes and pastry by straight heat control, without shifting of pans for even browning. It is "bride-proof", yet costs little.

Chambers Ranges are made ESPECIALLY FOR NATURAL GAS or BUTANE. Chambers will not allow us to convert them; because it is dangerous to do so. Buy a stove that is made especially for the fuel to be used.
