OKLAHOMA JURIST ACQUITTED BY SENATE COURT

Senate Confirms O. B. Colquitt For Pat Neff's Post On Rail Labor Board

FORMER TEXAS GOVERNOR GETS FEDERAL JOB

Senate Approval of Texan Ends Long Fight On Appointee

OPPOSED BY DEMOS

'Hoovercrat' Drew Fire Of 'Loyal' Party Men In Home State

WASHINGTON, May 10. (AP)—The senate today confirmed the nomination of Oscar B. Colquitt, former Texas governor, to be a member of the railway board of meditation.

Colquitt's confirmation for the realway labor board post came after an extended fight against him by Democratic party leaders in Texas who revived the Sulphur Springs brewery case in an effort to prevent his selection. Colquitt supported Herbert Hoover for president against Al Smith in the November election although previously always aligned with the Democratic party under whose banner he had been elected state railroad commissioner and governor in former years.

Colquitt succeeds Pat M. Neff, former governor of Texas, on the railway mediation board. Neff's renomination for the board by President Coolidge in the late days of his administration was upset by Earle B. Mayfield, retiring senator from Texas, who declared Neff's nomination personally objectionable to him.

There was some discussion of the Texan's nomination at the executive session today but no record vote was taken. The interstate commerce committeeman called Colquitt to answer protests which related to evidence in an old law suit to the effect that he had been offered a $25,000 loan by the Texas Brewers' association in 1916. He denied this charge and the committee endorsed him.

TEXANS TAKE APPROVAL VARIEDLY

Special to The Record News.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Confirmation by the senate today of O. B. Colquitt, former governor of Texas, to a place on the U. S. Board of Mediation, carrying with it a salary of $12,000 a year for a term of five years, has been accepted by members of the Texas delegation in congress with divided emotions.

Had it been possible for a Democrat to have obtained the appointment there would have been resentment, for both of Governor Colquitt's predecessors in this office have been of the minority party. However, there was no chance of this since the law does not specifically provide that the board of mediation shall be a bipartisan body and with the vast number of hungry henchmen seeking place. Had Colquitt been re-

Puts $1,100 in Stove Cache; Finds Ashes

YORK, Pa., May 10. (UP)—W. H. Snyder put $1,100 in bills in a gas stove for safety after the banks had closed for the day. He saw only ashes.

Hambone's Meditations

'Dead' Men Almost Die of Shock When They Meet On City Street

KOHLER, Wis., May 10. (US)—Two "dead" men met here today.

The shock of the meeting almost proved fatal to both because each had seen, actually seen, the other "killed" during the Soissons drive in 1918.

The men, Sergt. Elmer K. Jerome of this city and Sergt. Julius Clause of Allentown, Pa., were members of an advance unit of the seventh field artillery during the first drive on the Marne. Further than that they were "buddies."

On July 18, 1918, they were ordered back during the Soissons drive and were sent out to reconnoiter. One of the enemy's shells landed in the midst of the detachment and exploded, leaving a crater fully six feet in the ground.

It was here that Clause was severely wounded and believed killed by his companions. And it was here too that Clause in his last conscious moment saw his friend slain by the same shell. However, both spent months in various hospitals and finally came back to the United States.

Today Clause was driving through this city and while halted by a traffic light noted a familiar figure swinging along the sidewalk.

"Jerry!" yelled Clause, "Jerry!" Fearing almost to hope.

The figure stopped, turned, and sought a face to match with that voice tone he remembered so well. He found it.

"Santa, why Santa you old scoundrel," roared Jerome as he made a mad dash for the machine.

Needless to say traffic was tied up for some time but who cared—not the crowd—because the reunion of two "dead" men will never be forgotten here.

Hagen Takes British Open Trophy Fourth Time as Yanks Lead Field

Peerless American Golfer Again Tops Famous Tournament While Farrell and Diegel Follow

By HENRY CAVENDISH

MUIRFIELD, Scotland, May 10. (US)—The peerless Hagen reigns supreme again!

Walter, the sauve, thrice king of British golfdom and rightful defender of his English crown, brushed aside all comers today, swept into the bunkers of old Muirfield, winning the famous British open trophy for the fourth time. He carded a total medal score of 292, distancing Johnny Farrell, American runner-up, by six strokes.

The Americans were in the van, placing Hagen, Farrell, with 298, and Diegel, with 299, in the first three places. None of the stalwart Britons could get under the 300 wire, with both Abe Mitchell and Percy Alliss being handcuffed at the even figures.

After the police had scoured Muirfield's terrain for Walter when the tournament was declared over, the ruler of the British fairways was brought to the clubhouse to be presented with the cup that symbolizes the great battle of the game's notables.

The trophy was presented to the smiling American by Robertson Durham, captain of the Muirfield club team.

"Well," Walter smiled, as he hestled the cup in the crook of his good right arm, "we brought two cups over with us, and lost one of them.

"It's certainly nice of you to give us this one to take back. We'll cling to it, too.

"Vardon had six championships, and Braid five, while I have only four. That means I'm down, and I'll have to come back again.

"Everything went smoothly for me. This is the steadiest win

HOOVER GIVEN ANOTHER SLAP

Senate Denies President Right to Fix Salary

WASHINGTON, May 10. (UP)—President Hoover lost another skirmish in the farm relief war today when the senate adopted an amendment denying him the right to fix the salary of the proposed farm board's chairman.

The amendment, presented by Senator Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma, arbitrarily fixes the salary at $12,000 a year. The president had asked that the salary be left to him in order that a man of the highest calibre could be induced to accept the position but Thomas contended this would give the president too much power.

Virtually the same group of Republican Independents who joined the Democrats earlier in the week to defeat Mr. Hoover on the debenture provision voted for the Thomas amendment, and with the Democrats, carried it by a comfortable margin.

One of the notable exceptions was Senator Fess, Republican, Ohio. He criticised Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, and other for voting against Mr. Hoover on the debenture amendment but himself voted against the president on the Thomas amendment.

Chairman McNary of the agriculture committee, who also voted against the debenture plan, voted for the Thomas amendment, explaining that congress has always before specified the salaries of executive officials and saw no reason for changing that policy now.

The senate defeated 66 to 11 an amendment by Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, eliminating fruit and vegetables from operations of the bill and 63 to 19 another by Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, excluding pears and apples only.

Administration forces decided at cloak room conferences today to vote against the farm bill as a protest against retention of the debenture plan. The bill is expected to pass, however, with the support of Western Republicans, Democrats and a few of the administration senators who voted against the debenture plan.

House Republicans Fail to Agree In First Caucus on Tariff Measure

WASHINGTON, May 10. (AP)—The first of a series of conferences among house Republicans looking to an agreement on a rule to govern consideration of the tariff bill for amendment broke up today after a two-hour session, with no decision reached.

Statements after the conference, however, indicated that many of the protesting groups within the party would be given opportunity to suggest changes in the rates in which they are interested once the bill is taken up for amendment.

Representative Tilson of Connecticut, Republican leader, announced that Chairman Snell of the rules committee had submitted a tentative rule similar to that of 1922 for consideration of the present Fordney-McCumber law, but leaving out the particular controversial items on which special votes would be permitted.

Until further conferences and the final form of a rule is agreed on, it will not be known what proposed new duties in the pending bill are to be put to test.

Chairman Hawley of the ways and means committee said it may require two or three conferences to agree on a rule.

The rule proposed would call for close of general debate on the bill

BAPTISTS KEEP HOME MISSIONS

New Orleans Wins 1930 Convention of Church

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 10. (AP)—The Southern Baptist convention gave its home missions board a vote of confidence today, and by deciding overwhelmingly against proposals to abolish it and combine it with the foreign missions board, agreed to continue the work jeopardized last year by the defalcations of the board's imprisoned treasurer, Clinton S. Carnes.

A special committee appointed to consider various suggestions for reorganizing the board recommended adoption of the board's official report. The report asked that the board be continued, that its expenditures be sharply reduced, and that no change be made in the present methods of handling home missions.

The vote on the board proposals was taken despite an unofficial ruling by President George W. Truett that one of the defeated plans was unconstitutional because of conflicts with clauses which provide for separate boards.

Opening the argument for his plan, Dr. F. H. Tripp of St. Joseph, Mo., charged that the special committee "shut its doors in my face" and did not allow him to appear at its hearings.

Dr. M. T. Andrews of Texarkana, Texas, chairman of the committee replied that "the board shut its doors in nobody's face" and said Dr. Tripp, so far as the committee knew had not asked a hearing.

The convention decided to hold its 1930 convention at New Orleans, beginning Wednesday, May 14.

Power Trust's Activities In Southern Journalism Are Presented

'EDITORS' TESTIFY

Two Young Men Given Unlimited Bankroll To Buy Dailies

WASHINGTON, May 10. (US)—A weird carnival of newspaper buying in the south, with power trust interests putting up every penny of nearly $1,000,000 that went into four papers, and standing with an unlimited bankroll behind dickerings with a score of others, was chronicled before the trade commission today.

William Lavarre, a smooth young man of 30 with a high pressure manner and Harvard background, told how he and another embryonic publisher made a grand tour of the southern states with the $600,000,000 International Paper and Power company financing them.

Unlimited Funds

The International company promised them funds to buy the papers without restricting either the number of papers to be bought, or the total amount they were to spend, Lavarre testified.

It actually put up $555,000 in cash to buy out the former owners of the Columbia, S. C., Record, the Augusta, Ga., Chronicle, the Spartanburg, S. C., Herald and the Spartanburg Journal.

Neither Lavarre nor Harold Hall, the partner who followed him on the stand, disclosed the possession of any capital but a bold front and some newspapers and business experience.

Both admitted that neither had invested a dime to make their debut, as newspaper publishers.

$1,250 Per Month

Instead, they testified, the International company has been paying them $1,250 a month salary each since Nov. 15. It allowed them thousands of dollars for expenses while they were travelling about deciding what papers they would like to have. It even put up $15,000 to meet operating expenses of the Augusta Chronicle when, as Lavarre admitted, there was no cash on hand to run it.

The International company sent down $400,000 to pay for the Spartanburg papers, so unencumbered, Lavarre testified, "that I could have taken it and gone to Europe if I had wanted to." Five thousand dollars was handed over to them by the company's lawyers on another occasion, after their first scouting trip through the south, without an acknowledgment or receipt.

Lavarre explained that Archibald R. Graustein, president of the International company, seemed "rather paternally interested" in giving them a start.

The International company "took all the risk," Lavarre admitted. The International company is to take over the stock in the newspapers as security for $585,000 of loans, and he "supposed" the International company could call at any time the notes representing those loans.

Hamilton to Seek Delayed Trial Date at Court Hearing Today

First Skirmish in Judge's Battle for Life on Murder Charge Promised at Arraignment

AMARILLO, Texas, May 10. (UP)—The first legal skirmish in the case of Judge R. H. Hamilton, indicted slayer of his son-in-law, Tom Walton Jr., was expected to come tomorrow with the arraignment of Hamilton and the setting of the trial date.

Hamilton remained in jail tonight, with no effort being made by his attorneys to secure his liberty on bond. If he is arraigned tomorrow, when the two days required by law after the serving of indictment papers have elapsed, it is thought he will make a plea for bail at that time.

Hamilton was indicted late Wednesday on a charge of murder for the fatal shooting of Walton, who had come to his office to tell him of a secret marriage with his daughter, Theresa.

District Attorney Edward W. Thomerson tonight was marshaling his forces for a severe legal fight, expected tomorrow when the prosecution will ask for an early trial date. Thomerson will also contend that the case is not bailable.

Sentiment, which has been aroused among Amarillo people is expected to cause the defense to fight bitterly for a delayed trial date.

C. S. Storms, president pro-tem of the senate, predicted upon completion of the voting that all charges pending against C. W. CONSTITUTION CHANGE URGED

Wisconsin Wets Seek to Ask Calling of Convention

MADISON, Wis., May 10. (UP)—Wet forces in the Wisconsin senate renewed their attack on the eighteenth amendment today when Sen. John Cashman introduced a resolution asking congress to call a constitutional convention.

Senator Bernard Gettelman of Milwaukee, who drafted the resolution, said the purpose of the convention would be to repeal the eighteenth amentment.

The resolution calls upon congress to perform its "mandatory duty" under article five of the constitution. Article five provides in part that congress shall call a convention for proposing amendments to the constitution when petitioned by two-thirds of the states.

According to the resolution, legislatures of 35 states, three more than the necessary two-thirds, have filed formal application with congress for such a convention since 1833.

Lieut. Gov. Henry A. Huber, presiding officer, referred the proposal to the committee on state and local government for a public hearing.

Gettelman said the following legislatures have petitioned congress to call a constitutional convention: Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Delaware, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington and Wisconsin.

Moody's Aide Relaxes By Tending Chicken Ranch

AUSTIN, May 10. (AP)—Mark Wigington, secretary to Gov. Dan Moody, keeps fit in a most difficult and diplomatic job by feeding chickens and gathering eggs during his spare moments.

His desk is in the outer office. He cannot afford to scowl, ever. He must smile, always. It is Wigington who must weigh all the requests and then decide if the matter can be attended to without worrying the governor.

Back to Wigington's hobby: He has 625 hens on his place, not so far from the capitol. Last month he sold 13,000 eggs and his March sales set a record, 14,000. In addition he and members of his family eat many eggs.

"It's great recreation," Wigington said.

Pharmacy School Expects Increase

The college now has 65 students, 11 of whom are candidates for a degree in June. Three others will be graduated at the close of the summer term, in which several courses of the pharmacy curriculum will be offered.

Beginning next fall, students may enter the college for either a three-year or four year course. Those finishing the three year course may elect to take sufficient additional subjects to complete the longer course and obtain an adidtional degree.

HAGEN TAKES BRITISH OPEN

Peerless American Golfer Again Victorious

America has had in a British championship tournament."

Percy Alliss, the British pro who had taken the lead with a 69 on the first day after the qualifying round, said:

"The Americans won on sheer merit."

The finishing of Uncle Sam's golfers in one-two-three order is not without precedent, however. In 1926, when Bobby Jones reeled off some of his greatest shots, Al Watrous, Hagen and George Von Elm, the Detroit amateur, followed the great Robert Tyre in that order. But both Farrell and Diegel played great golf to finish in second and third. Diegel was the victim of the wind, while Farrell's spurt was that of purely wonderful shot-making, and at his finish, the American open ruler was applauded with an ovation surpassed only by that which greeted the Haig.

The evidence that the tournament was America's is found in the list of the first 20 scores, eight of the dozen leaders being Americans.

Bobby Cruickshank followed the two Britons with 301, and trailing him came Jim Barnes with 303 and Al Watrous and Gene Sarazen knotted at 304. Tommy Armour was next with 305. Arthur Havers and Archie Compston, two of the foremost Britishers, then follow with 306 and 307. This made the sixth consecutive time the title has been shipped across the Atlantic to rest with the United States.

Hagen's score yesterday was 142. His today's score follows:

Hagen—
Out . . . . . 444 344 455—37

Members of the sheriff's department, armed with a search warrant, Friday afternoon interrupted an industrious beer-capper as he sat at a work bench in the kitchen of his home, neatly finishing off the last 100 bottles. The raid was conducted on a Lamar avenue home and the worker, albeit a little taken aback, welcomed his unheralded visitors with a grin.

The 100 bottles, the capper, a supply of mash, a siphon, and the laborer himself were seized by the raiders. GANG REPRISAL VICTIMS RICH

Aunt of Scalise Reveals His Fortune

CHICAGO, May 11. (UP)—Huge revenues for which gangsters sacrifice their lives, brought wealth to at least one of the three victims in the latest flare-up of the beer war in Chicago, it was revealed today when arrangements for their funerals were made by relatives.

John Scalise was reported by police officials to have accumulated $250,000 and at the time he was slain by rival gangsters, was preparing to return to Palermo, Sicily, his native city.

A silver and bronze casket costing $5,000 was ordered in which the body of Scalise will be taken back to his native land for burial. The casket was ordered by Mrs. Antonia Mangalordo, an aunt of Scalise, who disclosed to authorities the extent of her nephew's wealth.

Scalise's inseparable companion, Albert Anselmi, who met his death at the same time and in the same manner, also had considerable money. Relatives ordered a $6,000 casket and his body probably will lie alongside Scalise's on the trip across the sea.

Elaborate funeral services are being planned for Joseph Giunta, third victim, who had succeeded to the leadership of the Unione Siciliane, a position which cost the lives of his two predecessors in the past year.

The services to be held tomorrow morning will be in keeping with his position as head of the Sicilian organization. A great silver and bronze casket held the body at an undertaking parlor today and numerous huge floral designs surrounded it.

Authorities of Hammond, Ind., and Chicago continued their effort to run down the slayers. The accepted theory was that followers of "Bugs" Moran had killed the trio in revenge for the massacre of seven Moranites here on St. Valentine's day.

It was believed the men were killed in Chicago and the bodies taken across the Indiana line near Hammond where they were found Wednesday morning.

SENATE OKEHS O. B. COLQUITT

Approval Given Former Governor of Texas

jected, the position undoubtedly would have gone to some other state. Thus, on the score that he is a Texan there is gratification in the delegation over the senate's action.

Flood of Protests

Then there is a feeling that whatever his sins of commission or omission may have been during the last days of his administration as governor these should hardly be held against Colquitt now. Some 12 or 14 years later.

While there was a flood of protests received by Senators Connally and Sheppard from many people in Texas against confirmation of Colquitt, few of these made specific allegations but were general in character, most being content to declare him "unfit" without saying in what particular. Neither of the senators had endorsed Colquitt and he was the personal selection of Presiden tHoover, with the approval of Col. R. B. Creagor, Republican national committeeman from Texas, and of the Hoover-Democrat organization in that state headed by Alvin Moody of Houston. It was this fact, more than any other, which reconciled members of the Texas delegation in congress to the confirmation of former Governor Colquitt. It is felt that his selection will not be especially popular in Texas but that if there is any resentment over a man of Colquitt's qualifications being given what is expected to be the prize appointment of this administration. So far as Texas is concerned, the responsibility for it must rest with President Hoover and the "Hoover-crat" organization in that state. Considerable doubt is expressed that any political or other advantage will accrue to the administration through this appointment.

In a statement which he issued Senator Connally pointed out that he had never supported Governor Colquitt in any of his campaigns and had not endorsed him for this position but that he could not honestly say the appointment was personally obnoxious to him and thus had no grounds for carrying on a fight against the former governor, after the commerce committee had reported favorably on his nomination.

John Gilbert and Bride Refuse to Let 'Old Loves' Spoil Happiness

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., May 10. (INS)—Lost loves? Pouf! Pouf!

John Gilbert, screen Lothario, and his bride, the former Ina Claire, New York stage comedienne, wouldn't even discuss the subject today.

Serenely happy in their hilltop mansion, the famous newlyweds refused to permit the slightest cloud to be cast over their honeymoon by reports that their elopement to Las Vegas, Nev., had blasted the romances of Greta Garbo, Swedish film star, and Gene Markey, New York artist-writer.

"I don't care to discuss that at all," Miss Claire declared sternly in waiving aside the question of whether she had been engaged to marry Markey, reported to be broken-hearted over her marriage to Gilbert.

"I don't care to discuss that," Gilbert frowned when asked if it were true that he had been engaged to Miss Garbo before he met the winsome Ina three weeks ago.

"We are both happy and we hope everybody else is happy. We are on our honeymoon. I don't think this is the proper place to discuss past romances," he added in terminating the interview.

Another lovely party complimenting Miss Annie Laurie Long, whose marriage to Dr. R. P. Johnson of Tchula, Miss., was announced on Thursday, was given by Mrs. Grover C. Bullington. Misses Marguerite and Grace Haynie, at Mrs. Bullington's home on Friday afternoon. The house was lovely with pink roses and larkspur.

A mock wedding began the program, with the following guests taking part: Mrs. W. A. Miller, bride; Mrs. W. J. Daugherty, groom; Mrs. D. J. Carithers, Mrs. P. F. Lesh, flower girls; Miss Grace Haynie, ring bearer; Mrs. E. B. Lehrack, bride's mother; Mrs. K. B. Dodge, bride's father; Mrs. Wayne Somerville, and Mrs. A. C. Dulaney, bridesmaids; Mrs. E. F. A contest followed that was a ridiculous burlesque on advice to the bride. Each guest offered something, but Miss Annie Laurie Long, with "Let Him Go if He Wants to Go" won the prize, a child's smoothing iron.

The shower of lovely gifts was presented to the honoree in a rose colored hamper.

The refreshment plate emphasized the lovely color scheme with a pink rose on each plate. Those present were Mesdames H. A. Pendleton, Homer Lee, A. W. Karrenbrock, C. B. Haynie, H. M. Evans, A. C. Oh, These Women

By LEOLA ALLARD

NEW YORK, May 8. (US)—A hand organ in the park this morning, covered with oilcloth. Maybe spring is due tomorrow.

Women do odd things, but never did I see one letting a poor little monkey support her, by grabbing up pennies off the sidewalk.

A woman who used to have a tea room and wanted to get rich, started a speakeasy in New York. She buried her liquor in the back yard, and had to dig it up as she needed it: But the snoopers found her, watched her dig a hole to bury some one night, and grabbed her. Now she is out a bit of her profit and all through trying to make whoopee in the shadow of the snoopie. She says anyone who does it is goopie.

Two uniformed nurse maids in New York wheeling smart baby buggies to Central park. They crossed fifth avenue, and made eyes at the handsome police officer who held traffic for them to get across.

But another nurse maid was wheeling her charge down the walk, and there was a fine collision. Three baby buggies, and a few choice words by the one nurse who had her mind on her business.

And the police officer, seeing that there was only a spill and no one hurt, brushed an imaginary feather off his coat sleeve, and smiled happily.

From the University of Chicago comes the glad news that restless sleep is nothing to worry about. That folks who sleep "like a log" are sure to be "half dead" next day. You should turn over many times so that the blood pressure will not be cut down on either side of the body.

That's one less excuse for the girls to have breakfast in bed. "A bad night" is a "good night" only they didn't know it. But now the family knows it, thanks to the University of Chicago.

A lady in San Francisco had a husband who boasted of his conquests with women. She led him into court and took $600 a month permanent alimony away from him.

She boasts best who boasts last.

A national bureau of economic research says that women never set a better table than now when they buy food ready to serve or at least partially cooked. The report says "women are no longer housekeepers in the old time sense."

The "old time sense" is what's missing.

Judges throughout the country (last week there was one in California, one in Illinois and one in Nebraska), are ruling that the husband's first duty is to his wife. His mother comes second.

May 12 is Mother's day and all the rest are wives' days. Which doesn't leave any days for dads or husbands. So if they take an evening for themselves now and then there shouldn't be any trouble about it. There probably wouldn't be so much, if it didn't cost anything.

Self-Supporting Girl Need Not Wait Three Years to Marry Her Man

Why a Self-Supporting Girl Need Not Wait Three Years for Marriage—Must a Husband Be a Social Light? Futility of Trying to Cure a Man of Being Noble.

Dear Miss Dix—My sweetheart and I have a problem to solve and wish to ask your advice. Here is our story:

He is 22. I am nearly 21. He does not want to marry until he is established in his profession and has $1,000 in the bank. We figure it will take three years to accomplish this, and during all of this time we will be separated, as his work takes him away from where I live. Now three years seem an eternity to me. I have given up everyone for him and will be very lonely when he is gone. Besides, I think that in three years' time we will have grown away from each other; that we will not be interested in the same things; that we will have got used to being separated, and that our love may be somewhat cooled.

I do not think we need $1,600 to be married on and I would be willing to endure a few hardships in order to be married sooner and to be with him. I have a good profession and am willing to go on with my job and I do not see how it will cost more for us both to live if I am working also. And we could wait to have children until we got on our feet.

Now please tell us what you think is best to do, wait three years until everything is all set to get married if we are still of the same opinion and want to get married, or risk it, anyway? My sweetheart has been married and divorced and has a child and has to pay $7 a week alimony. H. C.

Answer—Your sweetheart, who has been married, is the one who has developed cold feet when it comes to rushing into matrimony with empty pockets. Perhaps his experience has made him cautious, and he has found out that the old, poetic love-is-enough theory is the bunk, and that after marriage a man and woman can no more live on bread and cheese and kisses than they can before marriage. As a diet it lacks vitamines and variety and you get fed up on it mighty soon.

Perhaps, also, your young man, when he thinks back upon the disaster of his first marriage, realizes that it might not have gone into bankruptcy, if it had been properly financed, and as he doesn't wish his marriage with you to come to the same unhappy end, he wants to wait to build his new home until he can put it on a more secure foundation.

Consider that, my dear, when you are urging on your young man an early marriage that is against his better judgment and also consider whether you will be a handicap or a hindrance to him in his career if you marry before he is ready to marry.

Sometimes a wife, no matter how good a wife she is nor how thrifty nor helpful, is a drawback because she ties her husband down when he should be free to go where fortune calls him. Sometimes she keeps him from success by taking his mind off his work, and by demanding that he spend his time making love to her instead of hustling to get business.

However, this might not be the case with you. You probably would make one of the wives who help their husbands to do better work by taking care of them and who are a spur in the sides of their ambition.

Of course, if you had not a profession and were not able at least to support yourself, there would be no question of the folly of such a marriage as you contemplate, but the fact that you are not only a bread-maker but a bread-winner changes the whole aspect of the situation and makes your marriage merely a question of playing safe or taking a little added risk in an always risky game.

The modern girl is truly Cupid's ally and because she not only lights the love fires in a man's heart but stokes the family cook stove afterward, she makes it possible for young people to marry while their romance is still fresh and beautiful and untarnished and their hearts still thrill and palpitate with passion.

For it is true, as you say, that long engagements do get dull and drab and frazzled out around the edges and lovers grow tired of each other in their long-drawn-out waiting and even love perishes of anemia, it has so little to live on.

So I think you and your sweetheart, inasmuch as you are able to support yourself, might risk it. Of course, when a girl had to be supported she had to hesitate about wishing herself on a man, but when she makes her own living and helps him, it is another story.

Dear Dorothy Dix—My husband and I are both graduates of an eastern college and are interested in books, the theater, sports, etc., and enjoy being with one another better than with any one else. When with me he is witty, sympathetic, full of understanding and entertaining, but when he is with other people he is dull and uninteresting and they are plainly bored. Of course, I am ambitious for him and want people to like him, but what can I do to make him companionable with others? When I talk over this delicate subject with him he grows sulky and defends himself by explaining that it is the result of his home training. Does it matter whether he is a bore or not?

A PERPLEXED WIFE.

Answer—Certainly it is much more important that your husband should be an interesting companion to you than it is for him to be a spellbinder to the outside world. The chief thing that is the matter with matrimony is boredom, and if you have a husband who keeps you entertained and amused, thank God for it, and don't bother about whether he is the life of the party or not when he is out with a crowd.

And for heaven's sake have enough sense, woman, not to rub it in on your husband that he is dumb and tiresome. Probably shyness is at the bottom of his trouble, anyway, and the way to make him still more self-conscious is to make him realize that he is dull and tedious and that nobody wants to listen to him.

Encourage him to talk. Be this press agent when you are out in company. Draw him out. Repeat his little witticisms. Ask him to tell over again that interesting story that he told you last night, etc., and you will gradually break down his reserve and get him to chattering with other people as he does with you.

Drag him out in society all you can, because he needs social contacts. Probably his mother was one of those foolish women who believed that children should be seen but not heard and shut him up every time he tried to say something, so he never learned to express himself.

And don't worry if he doesn't talk much. The world is overfull of talkers and in dire need of listeners, and none are more popular than those who are willing to sit quietly by and lend an ear while others babble on.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am married to one of the best and kindest men, but his virtues have become faults because he spends all of his time running charities and taking up collections for the poor, etc. When I remonstrate he says that some one must do it and that some one is he. He is never at home at night. He is always off doing good. Is there any way to cure a man who has the committee bug?

LONELY WIFE.

Answer—None. He is hopeless. Absolutely hopeless. You see it is the form his vanity takes. It turns the spotlight on him. It makes him feel important and self-righteous, and he gets a kick out of it that no domestic life will ever supply.

I have known men like that who would head subscriptions to give loving cups and send delegations and build memorials, etc., when their own families were lacking food. I know one man who is letting his own boys grow up absolutely neglected while he looks after waifs.

You might tell your husband that charity begins at home and it is more his duty to comfort you than it is to comfort some stray widow, but it won't do any good.

Sometimes a wife can reform a drunkard and domesticate a rounder, but there is no curing a philanthropist. DOROTHY DIX.

Texas Woman Does Brilliant Work As Impresario of Pacific Coast

By MRS. L. N. CASON
Record News Society Editor

Texas has produced many women who do great things—artists, writers, musicians, philanthropists, workers in every field. Wichita Falls has her quota. It would be difficult to name the women of this city whose fame has gone abroad as representative in their lines.

Of interest to these women and to women of the state is the work on the Pacific coast of one of Texas' native daughters, born and reared in Denison. Particularly so because the mother of this woman, Mrs. Mary P. Harnest, a much loved woman, has made her home here and her sister, Mrs. B. C. Nicholson, is now a resident of the city and is prominent in club and social life.

In society columns, this lady's name reads Mrs. E. G. Herzinger, wife of Lieut. Com. Herzinger. But she is best known on the coast as Flora Herzinger; and the work that has made her so well and so favorably known, is that of impresario—the very same work which Mrs. G. B. Smedley handled so well in this city a year ago.

The San Diego Union says of Flora Herzinger that she has put foundations under her "air castles and built up their walls in brick."

She was born for the stage; has a lovely singing voice, charming initiative and real acting ability. The Orpheum circuit wanted her; she has had many operatic offers and was wanted for concerts. She has given many recitals of her own in Philadelphia and New York. But when offers of concert and operatic work came, her husband was in the thick of submarine convoy service and she was selling Liberty bonds and doing Red Cross work.

Through all this, she had the desire to own her own theater. She knew that in everyone was an inherent love of the beautiful and this knowledge made her work a success.

She started with local operas and they achieved an immediate financial and artistic success. Later managers began to seek her out and she drew a long breath, rented a theater and the "Gros' Marionettes" was her first venture.

She did not fail. Sometimes she made a great success; sometimes she just came out even. But she kept on, and now, Flora Herzinger is building in San Diego, a $500,000 theater of her own.

ALAMO SCHOOL WINS OPTIMIST CLUB CUP IN SPELLING MATCH

TEAM MAKES PERFECT SCORE

Ben Franklin and Fannin Tie for Second

Repeating its victory of 1927, the Alamo school Friday afternoon took honors in the annual elementary city schools spelling contest with a perfect score, regaining possession of the Optimist club silver cup which for the last year has rested with the Fannin school.

The Ben Franklin and Fannin schools were tied for second place Friday afternoon, each scoring 299 out of a possible 300 correctly spelled words. Austin and Huey schools also divided honors for third place, with a score of 298. So close was the contest throughout that a third tie occurred in the race for fourth place, Carrigan and Crockett schools each making a grade of 296.

WORDS MISSED

In the papers turned in by the Ben Franklin and Fannin school representatives in the elementary school spelling contest Friday afternoon, only one pupil of each group misspelled one word, giving each team a score of 299.

The word missed by the Ben Franklin school pupil, who is in the fourth grade, was "metal," written on the pupil's list as "medal," although sentences illustrating the use and meaning of the words were given before they were spelled. The other error, from a fifth grade pupil of Fannin school, was on the word "parade." The mistake was said to be one of improper formation of a letter. One of the rules governing the contest, it was explained, requires that each letter of each word must be so written that by itself it stands as a correct transcript of the letter intended.

Sixty-six Compete

The fourth, fifth and sixth grades from each of the 11 contesting schools were represented by two pupils each, making a total of 66 students competing. The Alamo team, going through the three rounds without one word being misspelled, was composed of the following entries: fourth grade, Nancy Lou Jamison and William Junnell; fifth grade, Kathleen Jackson and Dorothy L. Young; sixth grade, Lorena Janeway and Julia Brady. The test was written, each pupil writing the 100 words from dictation.

Of the 66 members of the 11 competing teams of best spellers, 45 were girls. The theory of quicker development of the feminine mind was supported in the presence of 16 girls among the 22 pupils representing the fourth grade. In the fifth and sixth grades, the boys captured eight of the 22 places representing each grade. The nine teams winning the first four places comprised a total of 42 pupils, 27 of whom were girls.

The following persons acted as judges in the contest Friday: fourth grade spelling, Misses Eloise Kimbell, Fannie Vance and Elizabeth Turnbaugh of Zundelowitz Junior High school; fifth grade spelling, Misses Belle Tibbetts, Annie Laurie Smith and Jenkie Collins, of Reagan Junior High school; sixth grade spelling, Misses Lola B. Sorrulell, Lorena Friend, and Orville Headrick, of the Junior college. The contest was supervised by R. E. Park, principal of the Alamo school.

Annual Match

The cup given by the Optimist club for the annual spelling match was won in 1925 and 1926 by the Austin school.

The following pupils, in addtiion to the six named from the Alamo school, participated in the meet Friday: Austin, Mary Palm Fuqua, Clyde Haggard, Reese Carter, Colin Moore, Jess Haggard and Fairy Fay Chandley; Barwise, Allison Yancy, Marguerite Hassebander, Mary Bredik, Arthur Theis, Melba R. Baumgartner, and Jack Atnip; Benjamin Franklin, John Hoffman, Antoinette Adams, Peggy Ross Runyan, Elizabeth Perkins, Mary Lynn Herald and Josephine Sullivan; Bowie, Melba Pratt, Wilma Ray, Ina Morris, Wyvonne Bussey, Carrie M. Riddle and Dorothy Baumgartner; Carrigan, Dorothy Michael, Byrl Moren, Wesley Anderson, James McMurry, Mary Lane Mosby and Mary Kohutek; Crockett, Porter Oakes, Kenneth Thomas, Robert Woodson, Betye Ann Morrison, Ruth Alice White and Patti Gene McDaniel; Fannin; Ruby Yeakley, Ruby Kennett, Olen Thomas, Lois Conn, Rosa Lee Shearon and Russ Pullin; Huey, Tom Palmitier, Opal Heart, Weldon Walker, Kathryn Scott, Dewey Palmitier, Fred Bidelspacher; San Jacinto, Rachel Gregory, Helen McCullah, Mary Batson, Emma Garrett, Louis Browning and Guy Beard; Travis, Jennie Roberts, Annie McDanald, Charles Buster, Juanita Hollingsworth, Ora D. Deputies Arrest Two on Indictments In Blast at Iowa Park Power Plant

One night, about a week ago, two men who had forced entrance into the Iowa Park power plant were pouring gasoline from a large tank into their own portable can. One of them struck a match to see how things were getting along.

They escaped with their lives in the resulting blast, but one of them was seriously burned about the arm.

Friday C. D. McWilliams and Noah Caldwell, the latter with his arm in a sling, were arrested in Electra by Deputy Sheriffs Charles Gant and Dick Morris, who were armed with indictments returned a few hours previously by the Wichita county grand jury which charged McWilliams and Caldwell with burglary in connection with the fiery episode.

To top things off, the deputies raided an Electra residence, securing about 40 bottles of the first beer brew of the season, but arresting no one. The dwellers were not at home at the time of the road.

Reign of Terror Inspired by Cops' Free Gunplay, Bared in Virginia

ABINGDON, Va., May 10. (US)—A vertible reign of terror, inspired by the indiscriminate gunplay around Abingdon, was brought to light today as an aftermath of the slaying of young J. M. Kendrick by dry raiders who fired upon the car in which he and two other college students were riding.

At least three other instances of such gunplay have come to the attention of the authorities. Two occurred on the same night that Policeman McReynolds and his deputies, James Crowe and J. H. Worley, shot down the Emory and Henry college student. The other occurred last June.

The three officers now under bail in the Kendrick killing were definitely linked with the gunplay last June, Commonwealth's Attorney Fred Parks stated today, adding:

"I warned the officers at that time that they must stop using their guns. I told them that they had no right to shoot, even at tires."

Meanwhile feeling against the three officers was running high. Obviously fearing to fan the existing bitterness against them by appearing on the streets, they have taken refuge with friends in the mountains many miles away.

Modern Religion Getting "Flabby Muscles," Moreland Says at Revival

"Being a member of the church these days is an easy thing," Rev. Patrick Dacus Moreland, pastor of the Grant Street Methodist church, said in his revival sermon Friday night.

"We have grown fat denominationally; we have huge churches and great congregations, but two-thirds of the members never attend services. We are entering into an era of prosperity denominationally, but little by little we have let down the standards of Christianity, and our religtion is getting flabby muscles.

"All people do now is to join the church, come occasionally and contribute little. It is mighty easy to be weak-kneed, chinging persons, but it takes real backbone sometimes for a man to do his duty. How few people do we find in this town who are willing to get out and work for the Lord.

"The man or woman who is afraid of hardships will never get very far in the kingdom of God. If there is one quality that makes a real man or woman, it is ernestness, or faithfulness. If a man grows inwardly and lives for himself, his soul will perish away.

"I never did prescribe an easy prescription for a man to go to Heaven. I want a man who is willing to run a good race and fight a good fight. A man has to make his own decision, carry out his own duty. A Christian must be willing to take up his cross and carry it for Jesus. If you follow Jesus you will find that bloody feet have trod that road, that weary hearts have trudged along it, but as you go on, my friends, that cross gets more and more precious. No man can enter through those gates of gold and silver unless he is bearing his cross."

MOODY SIGNS MINOR BILLS

Governor Keeps Pace With Legislators

AUSTIN, May 10. (AP)—Governor Moody was up with his work tonight. The three bills and two resolutions ground out by the special session of the legislature in the 19 days it has been on the job, were cleared of his desk, approved.

The resolutions were:

Invitation to President Hoover to visit Texas.

Authority for friends of the late U. S. Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey to erect a monument to his memory on the capitol grounds.

The bills were the following:

Knocking one "L" out of "Zavalla" name of South Texas county.

The bill providing for expenses of members.

The house adjourned today until Monday after listless consideration of the bill creating a pardon and parole board. Twice during the afternoon Speaker Barron instructed Sergeant at Arms White to wake up "sleeping members," in order that a quorum might vote.

The senate knocked off yesterday until Monday and most of the membership left tonight for the Rio Grande valley, piloted by Senator Parr of Duval county. A stop will be made at Kingsville to inspect the Texas College of Arts and Industries. Several members of the house appropriations committee will accompany the party.

There are only eight working days remaining in the special session period. Utilities regulation and the Mauritz income tax bills were postponed indefinitely, meaning that they have been virtually killed, and the only interest centers in the outcome of the prison concentration legislation and the fixing of a gasoline tax and automobile registration fee.

General Gregory announced that the second structure of the three buildings program will will start within a few months and the third shortly afterward.

TARIFF CAUCUS GETS NOWHERE

G. O. P. Solons Fail To Agree on Changes

Thursday with a final vote May 23. Some Republicans suggested that amendments proposing changes in the tariffs proposed for sugar, hides boots, shoes, cattle, lumber, brick and cement be permitted, Tilson said, while one member whom he did not name requested that the whole bill be thrown open to amendment.

Representative Dickinson of Iowa, one of the farm group leaders, indicated he was satisfied to rest his case in the hands of the ways and means committee, in view of the sentiment which he said had been manifested in favor of certain changes since the bill came out.

The Iowa member, who headed a 10-state movement in favor of changing some of the agricultural rates, said he was uncertain whether another conference would be held of members participating in the movement.

There is a feeling among some Republicans on the committee and other Republicans in the East, particularly from New York, that the agricultural sections might be treated a little more liberally and the indications are that the westerners will propose their amendments through the committee. While gaining support of the Republican delegation from Pennsylvania, the tariff bill was attacked again in the house by some members of both parties, the principal differences centering on the proposed schedules for sugar, leather, hides and boots and shoes.

The senate also experienced another flareup over the bill the proposed increase to 2.40 cents a pound on Cuban sugar drawing the fire of Walsh of Massachusetts, and Copeland of New York, both Democrats.

In the house Representative Hudspeth, Democrat, Texas, asked why hides were left on the free list and Timberlake, the Colorado member, said he was in the ways and means minority on that item during the formulation of rates. He promised to support the cattle raisers in their effort to obtain a tariff on hides.

Representative McKeown, Democrat, Oklahoma, criticized the failure of the measure to impose a tariff on hides, copra, jute, and crude oil.

'Johnny Jack's' Case In Hands of Jury

HOUSTON, May 10. (AP)—Instructed to return a sealed verdict in federal court tomorrow, a jury was locked up tonight to deliberate the case of John L. Nounes, (Johnny Jack) and George Musey, charged with conspiracy to violate the liquor laws.

The case grew out of the seizure, nearly a year ago, of two launches, the Lena and the Imperator, in the Houston ship channel. The boats were loaded with liquor valued at $70,000.

The case has been on trial several days and was marked by sensational testimony on liquor running from Galveston bay into mainland cities.

SINCLAIR GETS PRIVATE CELL

But Radio Fails as He Tries For Race Broadcast

WASHINGTON, May 10. (US)—Things broke good and bad today for Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil man, who is spending an enforced vacation in Washington.

A good break was when he was assigned an individual cell by Maj. Will L. Peak, superintendent of the district jail.

A bad break was when the jail radio failed just as Sinclair was standing by for a broadcast of the Preakness handicap, at the Pimlico race track in which his Leucite was an entry.

And then, whether good or bad, the ban on reporters covering Mr. Sinclair's sojourn at the grim stone building was lifted. The news gatherers may now see the noted prisoner if they want to, provided he wants them to. So far, he hasn't wanted them to.

Up to today, Sinclair had been quartered in the jail dormitory, along with some 60 other prisoners. Many of the cells were being "redecorated" when he arrived to serve his 90-day sentence for contempt of the senate, and none was available for him.

But with the comings and goings of the district's guests, a cell was left unoccupied today, and it was promptly assigned to him. It is a roomy six-foot by twelve affair on the third floor of the jail, and only a few steps away from the jail pharmacy where Sinclair spends his time rolling la grippe pills. It will afford him considerably more privacy than was possible in the crowded dormitory.

Happy Dallas Lifer Anxious to Go to Pen

DALLAS, May 10. (AP)—Tom Hernandez is anxious to begin serving his 99-year sentence for the murder of Mike N. Garcia.

"Gudge Grover Adams I except my 99 years sentence & don't paying any attention to what my lawyer say I am ready to be transfered to the Huntsville pen. Tom Hernandez."

The Baers were married in Chicago, April 13, 1925.

Houston Murders Remain Unsolved

HOUSTON, May 10. (AP)—Although officers today continued their search for the slayer of Olena Wunsche and Edward Stone, whose bodies were found Monday near Aldine, the killings apparently were destined for a place in the realm of unsolved crimes.

Every lead had led nowhere. Belief was expressed tonight that the secret of who killed the pair had been buried in the prairie with the victims.

Two men held for questioning were eliminated from calculations of officers today and Sherif Binford announced that two negro women held in San Antonio have no connection with the murders.

The Romance of Danger

DUE to some queer quirk in human nature, it is hard for us to consider any trade or calling really interesting unless it has a fair element of danger in it.

Disaster and sudden death are great stimulants to the imagination. A good half of the average man's interest in the sea, for instance, is undoubtedly due to the fact that ships occasionally leave port and are seen no more. Take away all trace of danger from any trade and you make of it something prosaic.

There was a striking example of this just the other day, when a destructive gale ravaged shipping on the great lakes.

A passenger steamer, disabled by a cracked steam pressure chest, drifted for two days close to a lee shore, with 135 people aboard.

A 500-foot steel freight steamer, loaded deep with iron ore from the Lake Superior mines, went ashore in Lake Erie and was hammered by the waves for days before her crew could be rescued.

In Lake Huron a smaller steamer, coming down from Georgian bay with pulpwood, was strained by the storm so that her seams opened. She foundered a short time after the coast guard, by heroic exertions, had managed to take off her officers and men.

This sort of thing, for some reason, puts a tinge of romance into the ordinarily unexciting business of great lakes shipping.

The men who are engaged in it cease to be ordinary workmen, following an ordinary trade, and become men whom it is possible to invest with the aura of daring and adventure.

All of us like to read about the old days of Mississippi river steamers. The old-time packet boats are the colorful furniture of a bygone day. Any novel whose action is laid in that scene is sure of an audience.

This is partly due to the natural tendency to romanticize anything that is of the past. But a good deal of it, certainly, must be due to the fact that the old river boats were rather risky affairs. Their boilers had a tendency to blow up; and the picturesque men and women who traveled on them could never be quite certain that they were not going to be blown sky-high in the middle of the night.

It is the same way with everything. Nothing is really attractive unless it gives a man at least an outside chance of losing his life.

This makes one look to the future with melancholy. Every day things are being made safer and safer. Even aviation, some day, will be safe and sane. The sea is getting safer yearly. The risks of railroading are diminishing rapidly.

What will our grandchildren do for their thrills?

A Week Without Murders

FOR the first time in 20 years, the city of New York has passed an entire week without one homicide being reported within its borders.

Probably this just happened. We haven't heard that the New York police have suddenly grown more vigilant and efficient than usual. What makes the thing worth noticing at all is the mere fact that it is so unusual for a large American city to go that long without any murders.

London, on the other hand, would not consider such a record in any way out of the ordinary. London, you see, has a police force which is divorced from political interference and which is operated by the very best brains available. It also has the advantage of a legal system in which there are precious few loopholes for the escape of a culprit.

Until we can copy such features on this side, we will continue to think a homicide-less week a notable achievement.

Chicago Begins to Clean Up

SIGNS are not wanting that Chicago is beginning to turn the corner in its long, painful fight for suppression of its underworld.

To begin with, it is apparent that genuine progress is being made in the police investigation of the St. Valentine's day murders—and that is something that couldn't always be said of a Chicago investigation of a gang killing.

On top of that, there is the indictment of a raft of politicians for grafting in the drainage canal funds. A fearful story of waste and corruption has been told; Chicago's prosecutor deserves credit for dragging it out into the open.

Chicago has a long way to go, of course. But at least it is getting a start. Which, after years of official complacency, is something.

Why New York Stays Wet

A CITIZENS' committee in New York, formed for the purpose of drying up the metropolis, issues a statement charging that the speakeasies of New York pay at least $20,000,000 a year for protection.

The city, they add, holds at least 32,000 such places.

If the graft payments cited by the committee are anywhere near correct, it is not hard to see why New York remains so wet. Twenty million dollars will grease a lot of palms.

Apparently, before the country can be made dry, some way will have to be discovered of combating wholesale bribery.

Broadway Chatter by Grant Dixon

NEW YORK, May 10.—This story, which comes to me via Paul Swinehart, concerns John Barrymore. It seems the actor with the famous profile went into a haberdasher's store to get a supply of shirts, ties, etc. The clerk asked him his name.

"Barrymore," said John.

"What's that? Will you spell it, please?" said the clerk.

John spelled it.

The clerk then asked: "What's the first name."

The Barrymore family, by the way, has been lost to Broadway except for Ethel. While John is profiling in front of cameras and Lionel is directing in Hollywood, only Ethel maintains the family traditions of the stage.

Recently a theater was opened in New York in her honor. It bears not the name "Barrymore Theater" but the Ethel Barrymore Theater. She has frowned upon the movies, and Broadway, still prejudiced toward what is archaically called the legitimate stage, honors her for it. John and Lionel it would seem have been forgotten.

The old Greenroom club, famous and exclusive theatrical organization, has passed out of existence and has been supplanted by a new club called "The Tormentors." The membership list will be limited to 400 and when you realize there are some 30,000 actors and would be actors in New York that ought to prove the club's exclusiveness.

I don't know what the significance of the title is, unless the members plan to torment each other with talks of their achievements on the stage. I know a good many writers in town, particularly in Greenwich Village, who like to talk so frequently about their art that they might well join such a club—only they might better name it "The Pests."

For a long time the Actors Equity association paid no attention to the practice of actors giving benefit performances on board ships. Lately, however, Equity took cognisance of the situation and posted on its bulletin board a notice requesting that all members refuse to appear in benefits on ships unless Equity gets a "cut."

Aside from the fact that this gives testimony to the autocratic powers assumed by Equity, as a master of the destiny of actors it is also interesting because it draws attention to a great transatlantic pastime. On most of the outgoing ships there are daily performances and usually, you may be sure, there is professional talent on board.

Only the other day, on the Ile de France, some Broadway notables did their bit. They included Antonio Moreno, Noel Coward, Katherine Ray and Harry Carey. Sometimes ocean travelers are able to be entertained, through the payment of a significant sum—and often free of charge—with "all star" casts.

There is another feature of oceanic traveling, however, that is not so pleasant. I refer to the professional card sharks, who travel back and forth across the ocean, looking for "suckers."

This practise, of course, is well known, but I mention it here for the purpose of appending a little apologia for the card sharks, no less. Harry Acton, premier ship news reporter, tells me that contrary to public opinion (or suspicion) the "sharks" are not necessarily crooked. That is to say, they do not depend upon tricks to get cash from babes-in-the-woods who travel to and from Europe. They rely entirely upon their own skill and because they know their business, they win the money—and earn their living that way.

Derby hats continue their vogue in New York, even though they are more or less taboo in the remainder of the United States. . . . I remember the time when the New York Giants drew a bigger gate than the New York Yanks—er, I mean than Babe Ruth. . . . Babe Ruth's wife is prettier than her photographs. . . . Albert Ulmann, the broker has discovered the financial meaning of the term "bears." In an edition of Swift's works published in 1750 he found a footnote explaining that the word derives from an old proverb: "Don't sell a bear's skin before you've caught the bear." . . . In a window of a prominent department store, featuring "Proper Clothes and Accessories for the Formal Wedding" were shown, among others, the best man's appointments. And these included a silver pint flask.

He will let his auto look like the answer to a junk dealers' prayer, allow the wall paper to drop off his home, make his wife wear the same old coat for six winters, ignore the fact that his children do not wash behind the ear, and go to business in the suit his grandfather slept in, but he will fight anybody who suggests that he let the sloop Lydia Z. hit the waves with a grease spot on the hatch-cover.

You don't know what fussiness is until you have seen the owner of an 18-foot catboat get her into what he considers fit condition for launching.

A yachtman is, in most cases, a man who spends March, April and May doing everything to see that his yacht will look immaculate and then spends June, July and August doing everything to see that it doesn't. You just can't explain it!

In the spring a boatman's fancy
Turns to varnish and to paint—
And he strives to make his yacht look
Like the very thing she aint.

IT'S A TOUGH LIFE

And he sent me back three!"

What more can you expect?

The prisons of New York state are to abandon the old-fashioned dining tables and substitute the cafeteria system. Problem: How long will convict 865, a frail little fellow doing two years for phoney bookkeeping, dare hesitate between the steaming pans of goulash, frankfurters, and lamb stew before making a choice when he knows that in line directly behind him is No. 766, sent up for life as a mankiller?

OKLA.-KANSAS TRUCE NEARS

Guerilla 'License War' to Be Settled

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., May 10. (UP)—The Oklahoma chieftans of the legal guerilla warfare on motorists existing along the Oklahoma-Kansas boundary will meet Monday to formulate a truce compact, the United Press learned at the state house today.

Attorney General Dabney said he had assured Governor Reed of Kansas that he would meet with Governor Holloway upon his return to the state house in an effort to form some reciprocal program so that arrests of interstate commercial cars may be stopped. He talked with Governor Reed last night over the phone and told him of the Oklahoman's plans.

After this conference, he said representatives of the two states likely would meet to finally decide the matter.

It was predicted here today that the special session of the legislature convening here May 16 will be asked to amend the present auto license tag law to allow commercial cars to bear their residence license to avoid confusion in border towns.

Kansas began arresting Oklahoma commercial cars after Oklahoma had started arresting commercial cars bearing Kansas license. The "freebooting" tactics has handicapped business in border towns.

On the other side of the paper was a vague message referring to "supreme intelligence and psychic Grogan." The question "what is death?" headed the message. The note was mailed from New York.

MAN GOT RID OF BILLIOUSNESS

Felt Good and Could Work After Taking Thedford's Black-Draught.

Temple, Ga.—"I have been a user of Thedford's Black-Draught for about five years," says Mr. J. G. Bradley, of this place. "I first started taking it for headaches which gave me a lot of trouble, and I found it splendid. It seemed to cleanse the system and ease my head very quickly.

"When I would get bilious, I seemed to feel dull, lifeless, and my mouth tasted bad. My eyes would burn. I did not feel like doing anything, but after taking Black-Draught a few nights, I would feel as good as new and could do my work easily."

Last winter, when he was overworked because of many cases of illness around him, Mr. Bradley says he made a special effort to keep from getting sick. As a precaution, he says that he took Thedford's Black-Draught regularly during an epidemic of illness. That he succeeded in keeping well "is a wonder," he asserts. "I had to stay up and had so much to do."

SCHOOL TEACHER GAINS 15 POUNDS AND NEW HEALTH

"I suffered for four years with stomach trouble, nervousness and general weakness. Medicines did me little, if any good. Then, I tried the Sargon treatment, gained 15 pounds by the time I had finished the fifth bottle, and feel as well and good as I ever felt in my life.

MRS. J. H. BURFORD

"For a long time before starting the treatment, nothing I ate agreed with me, and after meals I was in such distress, and so extremely nervous, that I was afraid I would have to give up my occupation as school teacher. I lost weight, strength and energy failed me, and I was listless, unstrung and generally indisposed. Then, constipation came on and I was nearly always very bilious.

"I didn't dream that any medicine could build back my strength and energy as quickly as Sargon did. It seemed to me I could just feel myself tingle with new strength and vitality. Now, I enjoy my meals and am never bothered with the least indigestion. I sleep splendidly, arise rested and refreshed, my nervousness is gone, and I enter into my day's work with genuine pleasure.

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills stimulated my liver and ended my constipation and biliousness without shocking or upsetting in the least, and I want my friends to know all this marvelous treatment has done for me."

The above grateful statement was recently made by Mrs. J. H. Burford, of 1313 Main street, Fort Worth, who has taught school in Fort Worth for the past 15 years, is a member of the Eastern Star and the Baptist church and is highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends.

Sargon may be obtained in Wichita Falls from the Renfro Drug Co., Eighth and Scott streets, No. 1 main store, and Seventh and Indiana, No. 2; in Electra from Lough's Drug store; and in Burkburnett from Burkburnett Pharmacy.—Adv.

WAR'S OVER

But U. D. of C. Display Bitterness Toward 'Father Abe'

NEW ORLEANS, May 10. (AP)—The Old South clashed with the new yesterday in the Louisiana division, United Daughters of the Confederacy, over the greatness of President Abraham Lincoln and southern homage to the memory of the emancipator.

The daughters of the southern cause declined to adopt a resolution of Mrs. Jefferson Davis Weir of New Orleans expressing regret that Louisiana school children made a trip early this year to another state and recited "Lincoln at Gettysburg" at a Lincoln memorial celebration. Many members did, however, frown upon the trip and a compromise motion was adopted urging discouragement of Lincoln's birthday observance in the southern public schools.

Practically the entire corps of instructors was retained, three exceptions being that of Edward S. New 'Panorama Film' Device May Revolutionize Movie Industry

By DAVID P. SENTNER
(Copyright, 1929, by International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 10.—Rumblings of a new moving picture device which may prove as revolutionary in its effects upon the industry as the "talkies," were recorded today by members departing from the convention of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers.

The "panorama film" has been perfected and a certain leading motion picture production company plans to introduce it publicly within a short time, International News Service was informed exclusively from several unrelated sources.

The "panorama film" will more than double the scene range recorded by the field camera with double the visual effect when projected on the screen.

Back Seats Good

"It will mean that a moving picture patron in the back row of an average theater will see the scene on the screen about as if he were sitting in the front row," it was said.

And it was emphasized that the resultant projected image will not be as if the picture were magnified but will be a natural reproduction as the eye would see the scene. In "magnified" pictures, it was pointed out, objects are "coarse-grained" and disfigured.

The eventual results from raising the size of pictures through the "panorama film" were predicted to include the following:

Use of larger screens.

Building and leasing of larger theaters.

Revolutionize projecting equipment.

Change technique of "shooting" original scenes.

Projection Smaller

The research departments of various motion picture companies have been working on the idea of enlarging the natural picture for the past 10 years, experiments along these lines were intensified by the influence of the "talkies."

The sound track, consisting of an Indian file of perforated holes on each side of the film, has decreased the size of the projected picture. Where once the "frame"—or picture segment on the film—was rectangular now it is square, due to the one-tenth of an inch loss in space on each edge.

The "panorama film" will have a proporation of eight to ten instead of three to four as at present, one engineer explained technically.

He explained a sample foot of "panorama film" to the writer. It was a row of film segments showing Niagara Falls and was approximately two and one-half times as wide as ordinary film. While this piece of celloloid meant nothing much to a layman, the engineer treated it like radium and commented upon it in a whisper.

SPUDDERS OPEN 16-DAY HOME STAND TODAY WITH PANTHERS

SANTONE WINS IN NINTH, 4-3

Indians Sweep Three-Game Series by Rallies

Special to The Record News

SAN ANTONIO, May 10.—The Spudders failed to hold a two-run lead today and the Indians swept the series by taking the final, 4 to 3. It was the fourth straight win for the tribe.

The Wichita Falls club headed home tonight, to open a 16-day stand at Athletic park Saturday, in which 18 games will be played. The Fort Worth Panthers will be first adversaries of the Spudders on their long home stay, with a double-header Sunday in addition to Saturday's opener.

After the Panthers' visit, all four clubs of the southern end of the circuit will invade Spudderville. Waco, San Antonio, Houston and Beaumont playing three days each in that order. Shreveport concludes the Spuds' extensive home stay with a single game Saturday, May 25 and a doubleheader the following Sunday.

Disastrous Trek

The Spudders ended their road trek today, not as the pennant favorites they were of critics on preseason forecasts, but a ball club fighting to stay in the first division. Five victories were won and seven reversals sustained on this trek.

It started with a win over Dallas in a one-game series. Then Houston and Beaumont took two out of three each. The Spudders rallied to take two straight from the fading Waco Cubs, and then ran into disaster with the tailenders here.

Today's game was a headache for the Spudders. Leading 2 to 0 in the last of the fifth, they saw the Indians tally one in their half of that round and though Galloway's men went ahead in the sixth with their last run, the Tribe came back in the seventh with two more and the winning run in the ninth.

Galeria Routed

Chick Galeria gave up three runs and nine hits and was replaced by Cy Smith in the seventh after one was out. Smith yielded four blows and the winning tally.

Messenger kept the Spudders' nine knocks well scattered. Bennett and Fitzgerald led the Wichita Falls attack with two knocks apiece.

Chief Nason was the batting leader of the day with four hits, including two doubles and a triple.

The Spudders played errorless ball for their second consecutive game.

Baldwin Looms As Track Star

Leo Headed for High Honors in Finals Today

DALLAS, May 10. (AP)—Claude Bracey, Rice institute flier, is due to have his hands full with a certain sophomore sprinter from Texas Christian university in the southwest conference track carnival here tomorrow.

Breasting a strong wind, Cy Leland, Horned Frog dash sensation, set a faster pace than Bracey in the preliminary heats of the 100-yard event today and equalled the time of the Owl celebrity in the 220. Running in different heats, Leland was clocked in 10.2 seconds for the century, while Bracey registered 10.3. Both led their heats in the 220-yard in 22.9 seconds.

Neither of the sprinters extended himself against the wind.

Outside of the two dashes, athletes from Texas university and Texas A. & M. predominated among the winners in today's heats. The farmer team, one of the favorites, placed at least one man in each of the five events requiring eliminations. Baylor placed only one man in the finals, McElreath running third in his heat of the 220-yard low hurdles. Southern Methodist had a similar record, Donnally qualifying in the low sticks. Arkansas placed men in both hurdle events.

Big Leo Baldwin of Texas, gave an outstanding performance in winning his heat in the high hurdles. His time of 16.5 was five seconds better than that set in the rival heat and there appeared an excellent possibility the Longhorn star would capture the event. As he practically is conceded victory in the discus and shotput, he appears headed for individual scoring honors.

Harlan of the Aggies set the fastest pace in the low hurdle prelims, winning his heat in 26.8. Mondrick of Texas, won in the opposite bracket in two-tenths of a second slower time. The Longhorns and farmers also promised to fight it out in the 440-yard. Daniels of Texas and Tracey of the Aggies, winning their respective heats, Tracey was clocked in 51.8 seconds, Daniels in 52.2.

Lambert, Arkansas university's four-letter star, qualified in both hurdles, and his teammate, Dixon, placed in the highs, winning his heat.

ST. EDWARD'S WINS

AUSTIN, May 10. (AP)—St. Edwards university closed its baseball season today with a 3-2 victory over Texas Tech in a game called in the eighth on account of rain. The victory gave the Saints both contests of a two-game series.

Another Invasion

Miss Glenna Collett and Miss Helen Wills are heading another invasion of Europe, Great Britain in particular, where the opening volley will now be fired in a few days.

But their chances are nothing like the same. It is hardly possible that any European tennis player is going to stop the charge of Helen Wills, while Glenna Collett, among others, has the redoubtable Joyce Wethered in her path.

Helen Wills is still far and away the best woman tennis player in the game today. But Glenna Collett, with all her brilliancy, has yet to show the all-around ability of Miss Wethered, who has been pronounced by a flock of experts to be the best woman golfer in the history of the game. The rush and tumult of the crowd and the strain of a tournament week drove the English star from the championship field for several years, but she has been playing fine golf again this spring, opening her first tournament campaign with a 74.

Glenna Collett at her best is a match for any woman star. The only trouble has been that so far she hasn't been at her best as often as Joyce Wethered has been at hers. Yet if these two should meet it will be a star contest and one of the most exciting competitions of the season. It will be something to see in the way of hard hitting and low scoring if the weather is even halfway decent. There is nothing temperamental about either.

Helen Wills has no such competition to meet and beat off. She outclasses her opponents and should be able to win about as she likes. If Suzanne Lenglen had remained eligible there would be another battle worth talking about, but leading tennis stars come along at more infrequent intervals. Which is proved by the way Tilden and Johnston ruled the game for six years and by the way Cochet and Lecoste are ruling the game today.

The Rise and Fall of a Champion

My Dear Rice: The other night I witnessed the saddest spectacle it has ever been my misfortune to see in sports—the ghose of Paul Berlenbach scuffling into the ring to wallow around with one of the trained elephants. Memories flashed of Berley opening the new garden with Delaney; alive, eager, healthy in body and mind—Delaney and Berley at Brooklyn—the Stribling massacre—and all the others that you probably witnessed also. Then before a crowd of less than three hundred "razzberry" artists, in a little dump on the first floor of a business block—and Berlenbach—I won't say it. Why—because he was willing to fight—willing to give the fans their money's worth and disdained the antics of the various waltzing "uncrowned" champions who are too well known to mention.

The cynics may sneer that it is no one's fault but his own—but still there is something that touches the heart. Where is the justice? Do you know?

It's my first peek at this side of boxing. I'd like to hear any comments you have to make along these lines. One of your tributes to Berley in the Sportlight would certainly not be amiss now, or any other time.

Berlenbach's dash to fame was one of the most sensational turns in sprt. His drp was almst as fantastic.

It may be that some of the present-day, so-called champions have been watching the aftermath of Punch 'em Paul. The ring has never known a champion as willing to meet all comers, as willing to give everything he had at every start. His collapse was almost as sudden as his rise.

Just what happened to a clean living, powerfully built young fellow around 26 is still something of a mystery. Why he should have to face the type of sporting party referred to after all the money he made in a short while is another mystery.

Last July the Yankees were 13 games in front of the pack. And this lead was almost shot away. Whatever happens they will no such lead to protect any late season slump this campaign, with the pitching Dr. Huggins has at hand to send out against hostile bats.

40,000 See Dr. Freeland Take Renewal of $50,000 Preakness

By DAMON RUNYON

(Copyright, 1929, by Universal Service)

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Md., May 10—Suddenly came a burst of vivid pink out of a swirling, whirling wheel of color in which no one color had been distinct to the eye.

For an instant 40,000 spectators, eagerly watching the running of Maryand's greatest horse race, the $50,000 Preakness, stood motionless and mute. The burst of pink had come so swiftly out of rolling smear of color against the dull drab brown of the Pimlico track that few could immediately discover that it was the silk jacket on the skinny body of Louis Schaefer of Havre De Grace, on the chestnut colt called Dr. Freeland.

It wasn't more than 200 yards from the finish of the journey of a mile and three-sixteenths. The pink jacket had been far back most of the trip.

But when the burst came, it went shooting off by itself leaving the scramble of color spread out behind it all over the track. For a third time, Walter J. Salmon, a very rich New York real estate man, had won the Preakness and the bit o' silver brick-a-brack known as the Woodlawn Vase that goes with the victory.

Salmon won with a horse called Vigil in 1923 and with Display in 1926. It was the fourth Preakness for the Salmon trainer, Tom Healey. Minotaur was second today, a length and a half back, and African two lengths back of Minotaur.

African owned by R. T. Wilson Jr., president of the Saratoga race track, is also trained by Healey and African and Dr. Freeland ran coupled in the betting.

The entry was favorite and paid about $3.85 to 1 in the mutuels. You got $9.70 for a $2 ticket on the entry, $5.60 for second and $6.10 for third. It is rather freakish for a price to pay more for third than second but it happens.

Good Mothers

"What is wanting," said Napoleon one day to Madam Campan, "in order that the youth of France be well educated?" "Good mothers," was the reply. The emperor was most forcibly struck with this answer. "Here," said he, "is a system in one word."

We are coming more and more to realize that early home training is the most important factor which controls the development of character and ability in later life. The close attachment of the child to its mother and, therefore, close association, makes the mother's duty and responsibility of vital importance.

The mother who is well educated can no doubt assist a great deal in the child's education, but perhaps the most important requirement for the mother to have in this new age is a knowledge of the newer facts of child psychology and information regarding the simple healthful habits for a child.

The good mother of today knows that fear should play no part in the child's training, and that love is the greatest force which she has at her disposal. The old negative command, "Don't do this, because it will hurt you," should give way to the newer, positive one, "Do this, because it is good for you."

The good mother should never be untruthful to her child. Lying and deceit should have no part in the child's training.

How easily the child learns of the seemingly good results which often come from telling a lie. He learns to get what he wants, and to avoid punishment in this way. Teaching the child to lie by example is giving him a real force to use which will always, in the end, bring about disastrous consequences.

The good mother will not teach her child to exaggerate those things which she considers either good or bad. It is so important that the child learn to put the proper emphasis upon important things, but without exaggeration.

The good mother must feel her responsibility in teaching her child how to form good eating habits. This, again, can best be done by the priceless training of setting a good example. There is little difference between the kind of food which the mother and child should use, but if certain food is bad for the child, it will also be bad for the mother. The adomination that such and such good is "not good for little children" doesn't carry much weight when the child sees his mother eating the same unwholesome food.

The good mother will encourage her child to play vigorous, healthful games and not coddle him too much with fear of possible injury which probably would not happen and from which he would doubtless recover just as other children do.

The good mother will show her deep interest in her child's education by studying along with him as much as possible, trying to keep at least a little ahead so that her council and advice will be respected.

The good mother should take advantage of all the wonderful ideas which are being developed by the teachers of child psychology.

The good mother of today can learn all of the clever little tricks with which it is so easy to influence the immature mind of the child.

Nagging, bullying, fault-finding and training with "don'ts" should be replaced by the helpful teaching which can only come from a study of those newer methods employed by the thousands of teachers of child psychology who are devoting their lives to this work.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Nightmares

Question—W. W. writes: "I have a brother who raves every night—jumps out of his sleep screaming that someone is going to kill him. I have taken him to several doctors, had his adenoids and tonsils removed, which the doctors told me was the cause. He is about 24 years old, his work is not hard, and he does not eat on going to bed. What should be done, as I am afraid he will be killed in a fall through the window?"

Answer—Your brother no doubt suffers from indigestion from eating the wrong kind of food or wrong combinations of food at his evening meal, and if he is making dietetic errors he is liable to have the most trouble from 5 to 10 hours after eating dinner. Nightmares occur at from 1 to 2 o'clock in the morning, after the stomach has become exhausted through hours of battling with incompatible food mixtures.

Sulphured Fruits

Question—R. H. S. asks: "Is sulphur, used in the drying of fruits, injurious to one's health? How can it be removed? Why is sulphur used for this purpose?"

Answer—It is better to use fruits which have not been prepared by sulphur fumes, as this method often leaves the fruits containing some sulphuric acid which is injurious. Most dried fruits are not prepared in this manner at the present time. The sulphur was formerly used to kill the worms and eggs which might be in the fruit, and also for bleaching purposes.

Callous Behind Ear

Question—Miss G. C. writes: "I have a callous behind my ear and it is very painful. It is caused from wearing glasses. I will appreciate it if you will tell me a way to cure this."

Answer—You will probably have to get new bows that do not press on the particular spot where the callous is at present. Possibly some local treatments by a doctor who uses actenic light would be beneficial.

Africans Get 'Bad Impression' From Moving Pictures

LONDON, May 10. (INS)—Premier Stanley Baldwin, of England, fears that moving pictures are giving the Africans and Asiatics a poor impression of western civilization.

Speaking at the conference of the Internactional Council of Women the premier had some very harsh things to say about the majority of present day movies.

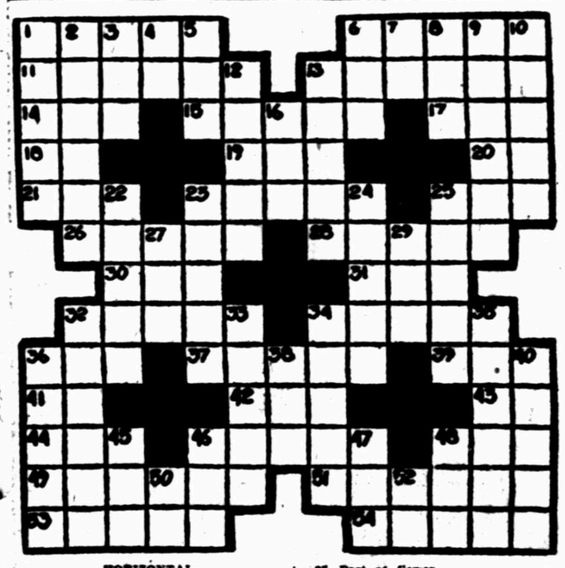

"There are a great many films at large in the world which are a gross travesty of our western civilization," he said. "The display of these films throughout the world constitutes, to my mind, one of the greatest dangers to which our western civilization is subject today."

The premier said he had suggested the question of films as one for serious consideration at the last imperial conference and hoped it would be considered at the next imperial conference.

R. survey, abstract 1164, Archer county, is drilling deeper into the sand at 1,580 feet after running a tester that showed a small amount of oil. The well is located a short distance north of the United Producers-Brown wildcat in W. H. Taylor land that is a much better well than its first showing indicated, late reports showing the well swabbing 190 barrels.

SPUDDED IN TEST

Miss Thelma Wells has spudded in on her No. 1 W. T. Waggoner test located 150 feet south and east of the northwest corner of southeast quarter of southeast quarter of section 9, block 4, H. & T. C. R. R. survey, Wilbarger county, to the east of the Melat production in section 10.

Kemble Scores Prison Board

AUSTIN, May 10. (AP)—Members of the state prison board were scored for maudlin sentiment in their conduct of affairs of the state penitentiary in an attack today by Representative George C. Kemble of Fort Worth, against the Wallace-Duvall bill creating a three-member board of pardons and paroles to replace the present state board of pardons.

Kemble charged that Col. R. H. Baker, Houston, recently resigned from the board "because there was too much sentiment."

J. H. B. Holderby of Fort Worth and Rabbi Henry Cohen, Galveston, members of the board, are "good men but sentimentalists," the Fort Worth solon asserted in leveling an attack at the measure which he said would set back law enforcement in Texas 25 years if it passed both houses and was signed by the governor.

The measure would be the means whereby more than 500 worthy prisoners could be paroled from the penitentiary, Representative John F. Wallace, Teague, told the house. Wallace said the governor did not have time to investigate cases of model prisoners, who were forced to serve their full sentences at added expense to the state.

Coleman Grand Jury Urges Jail Repairs

We are assured that the commissioners court stands ready to do what the people of the county wish to have done and it is our opinion that the people need only to become acquainted with the true conditions as they exist and they will be willing to do what ever is needed to meet present day requirements."

360 Eggs Fall 750 Feet And Not One Is Cracked

LAFAYETTE, Ind., May 11. (US)—Three hundred and sixty eggs fell 700 feet today and not a one was cracked—or broken, either.

Wait a minute before you start calling names, it was like this: Gov. Harry G. Leslie shipped a case of eggs to the twenty-first annual Purdue University Egg show today by plane. Arriving over the Purdue campus Pilot Dick Arnett eased the eggs overboard and down they came. All of a sudden there was a flutter—

One moment! These were fresh eggs, and please don't get ahead of the story.

All of a sudden there was a flutter and the crate parachute opened and the eggs landed safely.

And, anyway, who started calling Indianans "Hoosiers?"

GENERAL GAIN IN OIL WORK

Mid-Continent Fields Show Greater Activity

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., May 10.—The quickening that has developed in oils lately and which has stimulated a lot of gossiping about higher prices, lifting of the lid and so on, is reflected in an increase in first reports from over the Mid-Continent district.

There were 74 new wells starting in Oklahoma oil areas; 50 in Kansas; 12 in the Panhandle of Texas, and 10 in West Texas, a total of 146 for the fiscal week in review.

Bulk of the new Sooner state wells were in the Greater Seminole oil district, with Pottawatomie having 23 and Seminole 18. The other 33 first reports were scattered over 15 other counties.

Up in Kansas, Sedgwick continued to lead with 19 new wells, leaving the other 31 to be in 11 other counties.

So far this year there has been started 1,027 wells, to 336 in Kansas.

Oklahoma had 75 "official completions" the fiscal week just ended, with 42 of them oil wells with an initial production of 24,033 barrels. Of the new wells, 25 were in the Greater Seminole field and accounted for 22,290 barrels, leaving but 1,743 barrels for the other 17 wells in 12 counties. Seminole county's 11 wells made 18,515 barrels initial and the 14 in Pottawatomie county produced but 3,775 barrels.

There were nine gas wells in Sooner areas, accounting for an open flow of 108,250,000 cubic feet of gas. In addition there were 24 failures.

The Sunflower state had 13 completions, with seven being oil wells that produced 957 barrels initial. There were no gas wells and six dry holes.

Malt Syrup Tax Urged by Solon

AUSTIN, May 10. (INS)—Representative Sam Gates of Runge today introduced a bill in the house proposing an occupation tax on wholesale dealers in malt syrup and Coca Cola syrup. The bill proposes a tax of 25 cents a gallon on these syrups.

Malt syrup is used in the manufacture of home brew. Gates estimated that the enactment of the bill would yield a million dollars annually in taxes. The bill was referred to the house committee on revenue and taxation.

After considerable wrangling the Tillotson house bill providing for a four-cent tax on gasoline and a reduction of about 28 per cent on automobile registration fees was recalled from the house committee on motor and highway traffic and referred to the committee on revenue and taxation. The vote was 69 to 35.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, May 10. (AP)—Some uncertainty as to week-end weather, together with bullish private figures on domestic consumption for April and reports of a firmer spot basis in the south, led to rallies from an opening decline in cotton today. The demand tapered off in the later trading, however, and after selling up from 18.47 to 18.64, July declined to 18.50 under renewed realizing or liquidation. The general market closed steady, net unchanged to 4 points lower.

The opening was steady at a decline of 4 to 8 points under liquidation and some local and Wall Street selling inspired by a fairly favorable view of the early weather map, relatively easy Liverpool cables and the standard cloth statistics. May declined to 19.27 and December to 18.70, but at these prices the market evidently attracted covering. There was also some buying on a private report placing domestic consumption of lint cotton for April at 635,000 bales compared with 633,000 for March and 524,000 for April last year. Offerings were comparatively light after the initial selling and there appeared to be a little more trade buying on the advance at midday.

For a time the market showed considerable firmness, with May selling up to 19.42 and December to 18.88, or 8 to 13 points net higher, but the demand tapered off around these figures.

Closing quotations showed declines of about 10 to 14 points from the best. Exports today 15,014, making 7,452,318 so far this season. Port receipts 5,984. U. S. port stocks 1,258,802.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 10. (AP)—The cotton market fluctuated comparatively narrow today but was somewhat steadied under buying and covering on less favorable crop views and a bullish private consumption total. An early decline of 4 to 6 points was followed by a moderate rally which carried prices up 15 to 16 points from the lows but the market encountered some realizing in final trading and July contracts which had recovered from 18.45 to 18.61, eased off and closed at 18.52, one point net up. The general market closed steady at net gains of 1 to 3 points.

The market opened easier in sympathy with disappointing Liverpool cables and there was some selling in early trading on the bearishly construed textile statistics, issued yesterday. However, active positions sold off only 4 to 6 points below yeesterday's close with July and October at 18.45, and December 18.57.

Less favorable crop advices and a private April consumption estimate of 635,000 bales, construed as bullish, brought out enough demand to check offerings at the small decline and, although there was a slight reaction at one time on a bearish construction of the weekly statistics, the market ultimately sold up to levels 15 to 16 points above the lows. At the highs October traded at 18.60 and December 18.72.

There was more or less realizing in late trading and final prices were 8 to 10 points off from the best with October at 18.52 and December 18.62.

Pardon Advisors Under Discussion

AUSTIN, May 10. (INS)—When the house adjourned for the afternoon, the Wallace house bill changing the name of the board of pardon advisors to the board of pardons and paroles, and increasing the personnel of the board to three members, was under consideration.

The third member of the board would be known as the supervisor of paroles and his duties would be to make investigation of convicts eligible for paroles and provide employment for such paroled convicts.

Wallace said there were about 500 convicts who would be eligible for parole under the terms of the bill.

Representative Petsch of Fredericksburgh offered an amendment that life-termers would not be eligible for parole. The house refused to table the amendment and it was pending when the house adjourned.

DUN'S REVIEW

NEW YORK, May 10. (AP)—Dun's review tomorrow will say:

"With various evidences of a sustained high level of commercial activity, there also are indications of increasing irregularities that reflect the presence of restraining forces. The latter differ in character and are somewhat more numerous, yet basic conditions disclose supporting features that are distinctly reassuring. After the impressive industrial expansion of the early months this year, some subsequent slackening would be wholly natural, but it may be longer deferred than usual in certain of the major lines. Such a status exists even now in the great steel trade. The best results in the retail field have not been achieved, however, because inclement weather over a large area of the country has arrested the movement of seasonal merchandise.

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, May 10. (US)—Collapse in the call money rate rallied the stock market today. From a renewal of 10 the rate dropped to an official low of six per cent, while several loans were made outside of regular channels at five per cent. Speculative sentiment had been bolstered by the favorable showing in the reserve reports and the comparatively small gain in loans last week.

When the call rate dropped steadily accompanied by widespread brokerage advices of easier money ahead outside demand increased and active industrials gained from two to six points. Commercial Solvents jumped 14 and Case Threshing closed 15 points higher. Railroads moved steadily forward with the Van Sweringen stocks in the lead, gaining from two to five points for the session. Standard of New Jersey led a more active and stronger Oil list while the Coppers lagged behind the rest of the list. Turnover increased to near the 4,000,000 share level.

When the call rate drops from 14 to five per cent in 24 hours there is more reason for nervousness than when it advances. Such a sharp drop is generally accepted that the high rates were the result of the rawest kind of manipulation ever witnessed and when those in control of credit adopt such practices there is no means of telling what the next procedure will be. The five per cent rate proved that there was plenty of funds available. That the banks permitted such a rate when the loans carry over to Monday indicated that the recent high charge had attracted so much money from out of town that the local money powers had temporarily lost control of the market. The low rate raised the mistaken cry that the money strain was all over. On Wednesday, however, there are dividend and interest payments to be made. While they are not large it would be no surprise if the occasion was taken advantage of to again manipulate an advance.

The more aggressive sponsors of the stock have not evidenced over much faith in the market during recent sessions. It is known that they were optimistic on Motors but doubtful of the outlook for several other stocks in the group while at the same time fearing the result of continued manipulation in the money market. It is expected that Motors' earnings this quarter will break all further records while the line of new cars planned for the fall, it is stated, will make all competitors step lively. Important developments in the Willys Overland situation are expected early next week.

Pittsburgh Coal added to its gain under influence of further reports of good earnings and expectation of closing of important deal with the Steel Corporation. Radiator continued in favor due to knowledge of prospects for increased earnings and merger plans which have been outlined here in recent weeks. Murray Corporation again reflected the crowded short interest that finds difficulty in covering due to continued reports of favorable earnings. Underwood enjoys quiet but steady investment demand as the current quarter is likely to show further progressive increase. International Match, it was reported, would issue favorable earnings report in the near future.

Utilities and Power stocks continued to enjoy the spotlight. Outstanding strength of Consolidated Gas was credited to buying for the account of interests affiliated with the United Corporation. In turn some of the buying of that stock has been reported for those who are identified with Electric Investor.

TEXAS LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, May 10. (AP)—While the total number of cattle yarded here today was light, it was in line with the number that came for Friday's market of last week and the corresponding day of last year.

Cattle values a little slow, but about steady with yesterday's trading. Hogs cleared fairly early at around 10 cents lower, while sheep fairly active at steady to strong prices.

Slaughter steers confined to one load of good heavy cattle in the northern division that averaged a little better than 1,300 pounds and sold at $13.25, or about steady. One load of steers in the southern division unsold at the noon hour.

Very few bulls offered. Better heavy bulls sold around $8.50; bulk of the common light bulls sold at $6.50 and $7.25, with an accasional one down to $6.00

No slaughter yearlings or heifers of any consequence offered in today's receipts. Values considered steady, quality considered.

Cows a little slow and uneven with buyers threatening to take off in spots. Most early sales about steady. About half load sold at $9.25; bulk of canners and cutters sold at $5.00 and $6.25. Two loads cows unsold at the noon hour.

Calves about steady with Yesterday's decline. Trade slow and draggy with carlots at $10.75 and less. Cull calves sold at $7.00 and $8.00.

Stocker cattle about steady with early sales of yearling steers at $12.00 and heifers at $11.00.

An early clearance had in the sheep division at steady to strong prices. Aged fat wethers sold at $7.50 and $7.90; ten decks at latter price; 2-year-old fat wethers at $8.50; shorn fat yearlings at $10.50 and $11.75.

Hogs sold around 10 cents lower, with best rail butchers at $10.60 and outside buyers paid up to $10.10 in the truck division. Bulk of the 175-250-pound butchers sold at $9.75 and $10.60; packing sows at $8.50 and $9.00.

MIDWESTERN REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, May 10. (AP) (U. S. D. A.)—Moderate activity developed around the 11-market circuit on fat lambs at firm to 25c higher prices. Aged stock in limited supply and no price changes registered. Strict, choice California spring lambs in Omaha scored $17.25 while best fed wooled lambs and clippers at Chicago cleared at $18 and $14.90, respectively. Total arrivals were around 34,200 as compared with 28,234 last Friday and 33,247 the corresponding day a year ago.

Hog trade at most of the river markets fairly active at prices unevenly steady to 20c lower, but at Chicago a decline of 10c to 40c was enforced. Chicago had an early top of $11.40. The supply approximated 62,700, a decrease of 6,000 from a week ago and 12,800 less than a year ago.

Aggregate receipts of cattle were estimated at 10,850 against 11,318 a week ago and 13,456 a year ago. Trade at most points was the usual Friday cleanup with prices steady. Choice heavy steers in Chicago reached $14.65. Trade this week was marked by a fairly broad demand for light weight steers and yearlings but the outlet for steers averaging 1,200 pounds and above was very narrow. Eastern dressed beef markets reported a sluggish demand the first three days of the week while the past two days the tone was considerable improved. Country demand for stocker and feeder classes continued slow but with supplies light, generally firm. Prices have been maintained.

CHICAGO REVIEW

CHICAGO, May 10. (US)—Local wheat prices finished practically unchanged today after an erratic session. Higher early on strength at Winnipeg and the mildly bullish crop report, the market again met with heavy liquidation and sold off sharply. A rally to around the previous close was made on short covering and then prices held to a narrow range.

On the early break July and September wheat went to new low prices on the crop, while May and December touched the previous bottom figures. An early dip in corn brought out buying and the market rallied to above the previous close.

Final quotations showed wheat prices ⅛c lower to ⅝c higher. Corn was ⅛@⅝c higher; oats ⅛@⅝c lower, and rye unchanged to ⅝c off. Winnipeg wheat futures closed ½@1½c higher, while Liverpool finished 1@1¼d lower.

Strength at Winnipeg, a rally at Liverpool and the government crop report estimating the winter wheat crop at 23,000,000 bushels less than the private experts led to early buying. In addition, there was a general expectation that the market should rally some technically after the sharp break the previous day. But once again the firmer prices brought out heavy liquidation and values broke to new lows.

Other news continued bearish and after the break there was not much demand for wheat except from shorts. When prices rallied from the break advances above the previous close met opposition from early buyers discouraged over the market's weakness.

Corn's relatively high price level compared with wheat continues to attract pressure on all the firm spots, but the market rallied today on short covering, commission house and cash interest buying. The active cash market, with good shipping demand, forecast for unfavorable weather and sales of 240,000 bushels for export served to hold bearish sentiment in check.

DRYGOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, May 10. (AP)—Cotton goods values were steady and unchanged today. Burlaps showed no change on cables from Calcutta and opened the day quietly. Spot silk was 5 cents lower.

Schacht Allowed To Revise Report

PARIS, May 10. (UP)—The reparations conference of experts took a new turn today when it was decided to permit Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, chief German delegate, and Sir Josiah Stamp of Great Britain, to collaborate on a revised final report in which the German reservations to the Young compromise plan will be put in writing.

It was anticipated that the decision would prolong negotiations of the experts almost another week. The final report—on which there were more hopeful signs of agreement this afternoon—will be turned over to the permanent reparations committee.

VEAL DEMAND BOOMS PRICE

Desire for Fancy Cuts Aids Beef Market

The increasing insistence of a large body of American meat eaters upon having very young veal is an important factor in the prevailing high price of all beef cuts, according to retail meat salesmen in Wichita Falls.

The comparative shortage of beef cattle experienced during the last few years, it was said, is due in part to the actual decrease in acreage devoted to pasturing, and the consequent material reduction in the herds raised in the cattle-growing sections of this country. A considerable factor also in the decrease of available supplies of beef during this period, according to the information given, is the killing of large numbers of calves only a few weeks old, weighing from 35 to 50 pounds each, to meet the demands of the many who pay the high price necessary to procure regularly such succulent chops. The effect of the removal of thousands of calves annually for veal from the potential beef supply is a marked shortening of the supplies of meat taken from older animals, which because of its lower price is purchased by the great majority of customers.

The decrease in ultimate beef production by extensive slaughter of baby veal, it was pointed out, can best be estimated by figuring that each of the calves killed when only a few weks old would weigh on the average of 500 to 600 pounds if allowed to live to the baby beef stage or to an age of about a year. The cost of feeding the animal during the 10 or 11 months of growth, it was stated, is so small when compared with the manifold increase in weight that the price per pound can be reduced far below that which the animal would have brought as baby veal.

It was stated also that the months of March, April and May invariably bring the highest retail beef prices of the year in this section of the country, because few cattle growers are selling. With the new pastures ofering forage which will put thousands of pounds of flesh on a herd during the coming few months, with practically no expense, and with many new calves which came this spring to pick up hundreds of pounds during the same season, few sales are being made. Although a percentage of the present price on live beef will be sacrificed by holding until late summer and fall, it was said that most herds will be held practically intact until that time, the owners placing their faith in greater weight to offset the predicted reduction in prices.

It was said that this cycle through which prices of beef have swung regularly for years has been showing a low point annually one cent or more above the low point of the preceding year, reflecting the gradually increasing shortage of the beef supply.

8 INDICTMENTS VOTED BY JURY

Wright Billed for Trial As Habitual Criminal

An indictment charging C. A. Wright with a third burglary offense, bringing the case against him within the limits of the Texas habitual criminal law, was one of eight true bills returned by the 30th district grand jury, recalled in special session, before its final adjournment here Friday afternoon.

Upon the recommendation of the district attorney's office, Wright's bond was fixed at $10,000.

Two Other Convictions

Conviction of the offense as described in the indictment necessarily calls for a 99-year prison sentence, Mike Anglin, assistant district attorney, explained. The indictment cites Wright specifically with the burglary of a private residence at night. The defendant is charged with burglarizing the home of W. P. Killingsworth on the night of March 16, 1929.

The previous convictions alleged in the indictment against Wright include one for the burglary of the J. W. Peters Dry Goods store in Hastings, Okla., on Jan. 13, 1920; and a second for grand larceny in the theft of an automobile in New Orleans, La., in January, 1927. Wright was convicted in Oklahoma under the name of J. C. Wilson, the bill recites.

No date for the trial of the case has been set, Mr. Anglin said late Friday. The indictment is the tenth returned following the investigation of a series of recent burglaries here. Two other bills are on file against Wright in connection with the burglaries. T. O. Cagle is named in six of the indictments; and Mrs. Mae Hart is accused in two bills of receiving and concealing stolen property. Cases against both Cagle and Mrs. Hart are set for trial during the week of May 20.

Other Indictments

Other bills returned Friday afternoon include theft charges against F. W. Bentley, alias Curtis C. York, involving a second offense accusation; burglary charges against A. D. King and Jack Stewart in connection with the robbery of the Wooten Grocery company Monday morning; and burglary charges against C. D. McWilliams and Noah Caldwell following an alleged burglary of a pump station on an oil lease near Iowa Park, last week. The defendants named in indictments charging driving while intoxicated, forgery, possession of whisky, and transportation of whisky are not yet under arrest.

Judge W. W. Cook accepted the report of the grand jury and dismissed it for the term.

Frazee to Select Legion Teams Today

All boys between the ages of 13 and 17 years interested in joining the American legion baseball league were urged Friday to meet in the offices of C. C. Bunnenberg, city park superintendent, Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

The four teams which are to be in the league will be picked by C. C. Frazee, city recreational director, and plans for the beginning of the season will be made, Mr. Bunnenberg said.

The league is being sponsored by the Pat Carrigan post of the American legion. The winner of the league here will be sent to the district meet, and the winner there to the state and to the national meet. The team winning the final tournament will be given a trip over the country with the winning team of the National league.

BUILDING PERMITS

Two building permits totaling $2,663 were granted Friday by the city engineering department.

A permit for construction of a $2,500 residence at 303 Travis street was granted to W. L. Ansohn.

J. T. Highsmith was granted a permit for $163 for repairs to a residence at 1414 Sixteenth street.

Collegians Complete Program For Senior Week Round of Pleasure

Festivities of Graduates to Open Monday; R. O. Jonas, Sponsor, to Give Sunrise Breakfast

"Senior Week," set aside each year by members of the graduating classes as a gala occasion in which all class activities for the school year are brought to a close, will be formally opened Monday morning by the senior class of the Wichita Falls Junior college, according to plans for the event made Friday morning by the college graduating class.

The week will open on Monday morning and will continue each day throughout the week and will be brought to a close Friday night by the annual senior class banquet and dance, scheduled to be held at the Wichita club.

Thursday morning, the class will attend a sunrise breakfast, given by Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Jonas. Mr. Jonas has been sponsor of the college graduating classes for several years and has played a leading part in class functions. He was elected sponsor of both college classes at the opening of the school year, but was forced to decline the freshman offer because of the fact that the senior invitation was issued first.

Officers for the graduating class of the 1928-1929 school year are as follows: Gordon Fulcher, president; Marjorie Hines, vice president; Edna Bobo, treasurer and Mark Walker, secretary.

The complete program for the week and the chairman of each event has been announced as follows by Fulcher:

Monday night—Hayride at the Decker farm on the Archer City road. Bernice Decker, chairman.

Tuesday morning—Street car ride over city in a chartered car from the Traction company. Bill Duncan, chairman.

Tuesday night—Class attends the annual high school play at the Junior college auditorium in a group. Arrangements in charge of R. O. Jonas, class sponsor.

Wednesday—All-day picnic at the Magnolia pump station. Edna Bobo and Alice Hartman, committee heads.

Wednesday night — Swimming party at Westmoreland park. Arrangements in charge of Jim Tom Barton.

Thursday morning — Sunrise breakfast given by Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Jonas, assisted by Rita Bob Turner.

Thursday night—Class night, under direction of Mack Thomas and Marjorie Hines.

The graduating class this spring totals 61 prospective graduates, the highest in the history of the Wichita Falls Junior college. The previous record was attained last spring when 54 students graduated from the local institution.

Mother Files Kidnaping Charge As Son of 13 Joins Minstrel's Tour

Charges of kidnaping were filed Friday afternoon in the office of the district attorney against a wandering show man who has played pied piper to a 13-year-old Wichita Falls boy.

A spring wanderlust, inspired by glamorous tales of the open road, took the boy away from his home to follow the trail of the trouper, his mother told officials.

The show man stopped for a season in the family hotel managed by the boy's mother, she explained. He told his stories while the lad, wide-eyed, idled at his work. With the spring, the man was on his way. He was willing to take the boy along, but the mother kept him with her.

Faced with the dull business of going for groceries to the corner store, while the tales of the wanderer still rang in his ears, the boy two weeks ago tore up his list of supplies, took French leave of his job, and started on foot to overtake the showman.

The mother located him once in Nocona. Boy and man alike refused to return. The show moved on, the boy, playing a harmonica in one of the acts and learning new tricks as a comedian, moved with it. His mother, desperate, entered her complaint Friday afternoon and a warrant for the arrest of the strolling player has gone out.

$18,000 Suit Against County Set For June 17

The second trial of the $18,000 suit for delinquent tax commissions brought by Guy C. Raley, tax collector, against the county, was set for June 17 in the 78th district court Friday afternoon by an agreement of the attorneys.

The original trial, completed in April, resulted in a hung jury. A similar suit, brought by M. L. Tittle, former collector, Monday afternoon brought a $13,000 award to west Texas clinic about 4 o'clock ly gave notice of appeal. Both plaintiffs are represented by T. R. Boone, attorney. Harvey Harris has been employed as special counsel for the county.

CITY REMODELS OLD BUILDING

Many Repairs Provided For Police Station

The city will have the central police station and corporation court room in first-class condition for business within the next three weeks, according to W. B. Ward, city purchasing agent, who began Friday receiving bids on an overhauling of the building.

The greater part of the repairs will be made in the courtroom with the walls being given a coat of plastering, and the breaks in the floor patched. The wood work and walls of the room will be painted a cream color while new screens over the doors and windows will be placed.

Seventy five new seats will be placed in the courtroom which was enlarged early last fall at the time the city built the police garage in the adjoining building. A linoleum covering will be placed on the courtroom floor.

The building will be rewired and general repairs to breaks in the walls and floors are provided.

The large room behind Chief of Police Frank Burns' office will be partitioned into two rooms which will be used by the city detectives in making their investigations.

All bids should be in by Monday and work probably will begin Tuesday morning, Mr. Ward declared.

City Renditions Of Property Open Today

One more chance will be given to taxpayers who have not rendered their property for the current tax assessing period and renditions will be accepted Saturday, according to W. R. Hyer, city and school tax assessor and collector.

The board of equalization, composed of J. N. Prothro, J. M. Baber, and Roscoe Stayton, will hold its first meeting Monday, Mr. Hyer said.

The board will be recessed after its meeting and taxpayers whose valuations are changed will be given opportunities to appear at later sessions for protest.

Improvements Made At Weeks Park Club House

General house cleaning and redecorating of the Weeks Park Municipal golf club is being done this week.

New draperies are being hung in both the large and small lounges while the floor of the ballroom is being worked over.

CLARA SCHOOL VOTE TODAY

Patrons to Decide On District Plan

The proposed creation of an independent school district for the community around Clara will be voted upon in a special election called for Saturday. Polls will open at the school house at 8 o'clock Saturday morning. A light vote, with little opposition to the measure, is anticipated by Burl Bryant, county school superintendent.

The ballot will include the names of seven candidates for election as trustees of the new district, should it be created. The candidates are unopposed. The change in the district is proposed in an effort to meet financial difficulties, the superintendent explained.

11 TO ATTEND CREDIT MEET

Wichita Delegation Off To San Benito Today

At least 11 Wichita Falls residents expect to leave Fort Worth at 10:30 o'clock Saturday night with a large body of delegates to the annual convention of Texas credit men to be held at San Benito May 13, 14 and 15.

Honoring John E. Phillips of Fort Worth, president of the Associated Retail Credit Men of Texas, a large number of North Texas delegations will convene at Fort Worth Saturday night to board the special Pullman section which will join at Cleburne with the Dallas section to form a special train to San Benito, according to W. H. Bailey of this city.

The organizations holding the joint convention at San Benito are the Retail Merchants' association of Texas, the Associated Retail Credit Men of Texas, and the Texas Retail Credit Bureau. One of the important items of business which will come before the convention, it was said, will be the proposal to consolidate these three organizations into one, under the name of the Retail Merchants' association of Texas. Present working units of the different organizations will be maintained, under the proposed consolidation, but field and executive personnel would be centralized, it was stated.

Guy H. Hules of St. Louis, Mo., secretary and educational director of the National Retail Credit association, will be one of the principal speakers at the San Benito convention. W. H. Bailey, credit manager of the P. B. M. company, will make two appearances on the program. He is chairman of the association's committee on credit systems, and will discuss a display of more than 400 plans showing the methods of prominent business concerns of this country in handling credit business. Later in the convention Mr. Bailey is assigned to speak on the subject: "Why Retail Stores Should Use Accounts Receivable Analyses."

The following persons were announced as comprising the delegation which will go from Wichita Falls: George Soesby, E. L. Buelow, Homer Bennett, Arthur Buchanan, J. G. Dixon, John W. Thomas Mrs. Atchie Huffines, Miss Dot Russell, E. B. Burger, J. T. Yeargan.

FIRE HOSE BIDS

The city of Wichita Falls will accept bids on 4,000 feet of hose which will be purchased for the local fire department until May 20, according to W. B. Ward, city purchasing agent. The hose must meet the National Fire Underwriters requirements and be of the two and one-half inch double jacket rubber lined type, specifications stated.

MOTHER'S DAY
"'Mother!'—the first cry of infant lips, the last of strong men upon the battlefield of life! Mother—the necessity of children, the strong desire and most enduring love of man! Mother—the acme of heroism, the paragon of virtues, the apotheosis of self-sacrifice and devotion! God bless the mothers of the land and make their name a greater praise through all the earth."—The Rev. William Carter.
