VOLUME XXXI

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS 76252 APRIL 12, 1968

NUMBER 21

As negotiations toward peace in Vietnam appear to be getting nearer, many people of this country are getting more concerned over the terms that will be adopted.

Anxiety on that point is definitely in order because the conflict appears to have reached a stalemate, as a result of which neither side can deal from a position of strength and the only conceivable solution is an exchange of concessions. We give in on one point and they on another until both sides are satisfied with the compromise.

A gratifying development in the situation so far is President Johnson's decision to have a preparatory meeting with top officials of the SEATO countries. Now that the chips are down those people find themselves compelled to face realities they have ignored before. They have the opportunity to stand and be counted on the side of freedom or continue their hands off policy with grim realization that their own days are numbered.

A firm stand by those people can add great strength to US and South Vietnam at the bargaining table. Weakness on their part can put freedom's side at a severe disadvantage.

Despite discouraging reports on the war in recent months, there are reasons to think that reds are as eager to end it as we are. They can be expected to go the limit on bluff and bluster, of course. But they can be calmed down if bluntly told that the war will be lots hotter if it has to go on — especially if SEATO countries will commit themselves.

If, in spite of that, the reds refuse to be impressed by the newly strengthened alliance, if the peace effort fails and war has to continue, we have the comforting thought that odds would lean more strongly to our side.

All this may seem like mere wishful thinking. But there are good reasons to think it can be developed. First of all because the countries concerned know very well what can happen later if they falter now. Secondly because their knowledge of communist ways should sharpen their determination to avoid the red takeover. Word gets around. They know what has happened to other people.

An inkling of conditions they must be aware of is revealed in recent comments by Rear Admiral James W. Kelly, Chief of Chaplains, U.S. Navy, who has daily contact with the war. He says "My observation of the morale of the troops is that it is very high. Phenomenally high, and stable and consistent. But why?"

"The essential difference between high and low morale is found in the combat troop's perspective. He sees all around him evidence of what Viet Cong terrorists have done to the South Vietnamese people in the hamlets. No one needs to tell him about the terrible suffering of South Vietnamese people at the hand of terrorist gangsters. No one can tell him it doesn't happen or isn't serious or is not as bad as it is depicted. He knows because he sees.

"Any course which would lead to abandonment of a desperate people in their hour of need seems to him unthinkable and unAmerican. All the sophisticated arguments in the world will not alter the truth of the situation he himself sees."

These words go a long way toward explaining why American troops believe in what they are doing and want to see the right kind of end to the conflict. These words also explain why South Vietnamese, after first reports of peace feelers, said they will go it alone if US decides to pull out. Likewise they tell why South Vietnamese announced a massive new mobilization.

These words, furthermore, reveal a condition that is well known to the other countries of Southeast Asia — a condition that can and will be imposed on themselves if they don't act to prevent it while they still have time.

The Navy chaplain's comments present a good basis for optimism in the war's outcome, especially in relation to the announced talks with

Pipes Added To SH Organ

Richer and stronger tones on the organ of Sacred Heart Church will probably be heard for the first time during Easter services. Installation of a set of pipes, which has been in progress since Tuesday, should be finished before Easter, according to Father Alcuin Kubis, pastor.

The pipes will not replace any part of the organ's mechanism, he said. They make up an additional sound system which will add to both the quality and the volume of the organ's music.

Operation of the pipes is electronic rather than by wind and their size is much smaller than the wind operated pipes. Longest of these is about 48 inches.

All the pipes are assembled into two clusters, one installed at each side of the choir balcony on the back wall of the church, and at the level of the balcony.

Organist Anthony Luke said this sound will be nearer the congregation, allowing a more accurate accompaniment in congregation singing. In the old arrangement sounds came from the rooms at either side of the choir room and collide going over the balcony to the main part of the church.

The set of pipes completes the Conn organ which was installed almost a year ago. The addition was planned when the main unit was purchased but delivery was postponed.

Lindsay Signs Loan Contract for Sewer System

Lindsay's proposed sewer system moved a big step forward Monday afternoon when the contract for a federal loan and grant were completed with the Farmers Home Administration under its Community Services Loan Program. The loan was for $108,210 and the grant for $47,590.

Signing of the contract took place in the Community Room of the First State Bank in Gainesville with Mayor Joe Bezner and City Secretary Rudy Dieter representing Lindsay while John D. Cunningham, FHA administrator for Cooke and Montague Counties, represented the federal agency. Also present were J. C. Threadgill and Dan Dowdy of Dallas, consulting engineers, and O. C. Shellenberger of Sherman, contractor.

Plans of the system provide for service to the city's 108 families plus anticipated population increase.

Cunningham said that this loan is the first from his office for a sewer plant, but several have been made for water systems of the area.

Sam J. Pedigo, 68 Of Saint Jo, Dies

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 in Saint Jo for Sam J. Pedigo, 68, who died Sunday morning at his home in Denton. He had been ill since last October following surgery.

Final rites were conducted in the First Presbyterian Church by the Revs. Fred Walker of Denton and Jerry Walker of Fort Worth. Burial was in Mountain Park Cemetery where Masonic graveside rites were conducted.

Pedigo was a native of Saint Jo, a well known druggist and civic leader. He sold his business interests in Saint Jo in 1965. Since then he and his wife had resided in Denton.

Other survivors include a son, Dr. S. J. Pedigo of Denton, two grandsons and a sister, Mrs. Irb Bateman of Gainesville.

Sister Gerarda to Math Convention

Sister Gerarda, math teacher at Sacred Heart High, will leave Saturday by jet for Philadelphia, Pa., to attend the annual convention of the National Council of Mathematics Teachers, April 16-20.

Enroute she will stop at Louisville, Ky., for a visit with relatives. She has two sisters there.

Grewing, Tuggle Start New Terms In City Council

Members of the Muenster City Council at their meeting Monday night swore in Richard Grewing and A. T. Tuggle for two more years and then held a short meeting featured mostly by planning for the months ahead.

Mayor Fisher said that the council's principal action was approving the purchase of two cast iron grills for the picnic area of the city park and also approving addition of two more blocks to the coming pavement project.

He said the council intends to ask for bids within a few weeks and expects to have its paving work done during mid summer when the best results are expected. In the meantime, he said, about 5,000 feet of curbing needs to be finished before the projects can qualify for pavement. About 30 blocks are scheduled for complete paving jobs or resurfacing.

Regarding its sewer project the city is currently at a stand still. It has been notified of federal aid for its plant expansion but still has not received authorization to contract for the construction.

MHS Takes Third In Senior Division Of District Track

Muenster High's Hornets took third place with a score of 67 1/5 points in the senior division of District 18-B track meet at Saint Jo last Friday.

Sicking also shared with Kindiger of Era in setting new 18-B records. He ran the 330 yard hurdles in 32.2, Kindiger ran the 440 dash in 51.8.

Voting Is Light on No-Contest Ballots

In very light balloting last Saturday the voters of Muenster gave their okay to unopposed candidates for the city council, the school board, the hospital board and the county school board.

The only choice offered to voters was on the ticket for regents of Cooke County Junior College. There were three nominees for two positions and the local vote was Paul Campbell 68, Boyd Ware 52, W. E. Levell 22. Voters elsewhere in the county favored Campbell and Ware and elected them to the college board.

Official results of the three elections here were as follows. For the Muenster City Council Richard Grewing received 52 and A. T. Tuggle 54. Both were unopposed on the ballot but two ballots received one write-in each.

Election judge Clive Goble said that neither of the write-ins could be counted because of improper voting procedure. He said several ballots were lost because voters failed to mark an X beside the candidate's name. Election Judge Charles Cash said votes were similarly lost in

Don Flusche Named New Commander of Muenster VFW Post

Don Flusche has been elected new commander of Muenster Veterans of Foreign Wars Post. The annual election Monday night put seven new names on the official roster and kept one officer for another year.

Serving first terms with Flusche will be John H. Wimmer, senior vice commander; Henry Pels Jr., junior vice commander; Tommy Dankesreiter, chaplain; Ray Voth, judge advocate; Donald Hennigan, surgeon; Virgil Henscheid, three-year trustee. Herbie Herr continues as quartermaster. Holding trustees are Bernard Hesse and Ray Walterscheid.

Other business conducted by Virgil Henscheid, retiring commander, included contributions of one hundred dollars to each of the two local schools. Sister Roberta, principal at Sacred Heart, said the donation will go for library books; at Muenster Public School it will help purchase a world globe, according to Superintendent L. B. Bruns.

Members also voted a contribution to TET Offensive which helps the homeless and destitute of Vietnam. It was explained that this movement was started by servicemen in Vietnam and is under supervision of General Westmoreland. VFW members throughout the nation are striving for $150,000.

It was announced that the District I Convention will be hosted by Gainesville members on May 4 and 5, and that local Cub Scouts will have use of the VFW Hall the last Monday of each month for meetings.

Officers elected Monday night will be installed in May and take office in June. Forty attended the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Gremminger had as their guest Tuesday and overnight his cousin Francis Gremminger of Tulsa, Okla., who also visited Mrs. Tony Gremminger. He was on his way home after visiting relatives in Olney, Windthorst and Wichita Falls.

The tour was arranged by Ernest Jaska, club sponsor, who accompanied the students. Mrs. John Mosman science teacher accompanied the group and so did Charley Hellman who drove the bus.

At the April meeting, held in TP&L Community Room, Gerald Murphy of Gainesville, petroleum engineer for Standard Oil Company, was guest speaker. He talked about petroleum engineering including interesting points of the time he spent in Africa on the job.

After the meeting refreshments were served to 22 including Mr. and Mrs. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Mosman and Mr. and Mrs. Jaska.

Tornado Season Near, DPS Warns

With the tornado season approaching, department of Public Safety has prepared a circular of safety rules. In general, DPS advises: seek safety in a strongly-reinforced building — preferably in a basement; stay away from windows; if out doors when the twister hits, lie flat in the nearest depression, ditch or ravine.

Last year Texas led the nation with all time record of 232 reported twisters.

To help warn the community in case a tornado is spotted in this area the city firemen and City Manager Steve Mosier have decided to sound three long blasts on the city's fire siren.

Most pointed out that the signal will be definitely different from the fire alarm, which is a long continuous sound. The tornado alert will consist of three separate blasts.

As usual the picnic is intended to appeal to young and old. There will be rides, games, concessions, cold drinks, sandwiches and ample seating in the shade for visiting with old friends.

Saint Jo's Return To Basketball Loop Being Protested

As of now Saint Jo is back in the old basketball loop, designated as District 30-B, however the switch is being protested and the final decision has not been made.

An announcement from Austin a few weeks ago revealed that 30-B members for next year are Muenster, Lindsay, Era, Valley View, Alvord, Forestburg, Krum and Slidell.

Saint Jo and Callisburg, formerly in the loop, were assigned to two other districts. Saint Jo asked to be transferred to 30-B and other members by a vote of 6-2 agreed to accept them.

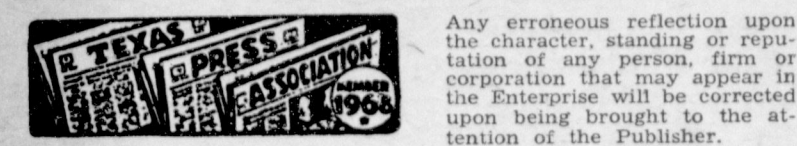

Since then Superintendent L. B. Bruns has received a letter from Interscholastic League headquarters of Austin indicating reassignment of Saint Jo to the local loop. However the two members that opposed Saint Jo's reassignment have protested, and the district now awaits the last word from Austin.

The Circe won the "battle of the bands" recently in a contest in Denton. Members of the group are Jerry Kneupper, Mickey Pierce, Pat Hennigan Jr., Don Jones and Dan Frost.

HIGH FINANCE EXPLAINED

The head of the foreign aid program appeared before the House Foreign Affairs Committee a few days ago to testify on the $3.1 billion foreign aid budget proposed by the President. A careful reading of the hearings makes it possible to print here, in a few inches of type, a simplified lesson in high finance. If you've had trouble understanding high finance in the past, bear with us. It is all very simple, really.

If you pay 6 percent, or some such rate of interest on the money you have borrowed to pay for your car, or your house, you will appreciate the economy that foreign governments realize in being able to borrow money from the International Development Association at less than 1 percent. The actual interest rate is 3/4 of 1 percent. Keep that 3/4 of 1 percent interest rate in mind. It is the foundation of our quick lesson in high finance.

Now a million dollars is a lot of money. Some of us work a lifetime without accumulating that much. But in high finance it's pocket-money. Vice Presidents of the United States have been known to promise $100 million in US aid money over breakfast coffee. Technically of course, the $100 million is a loan. So let's use that convenient round figure as our example.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation that may appear in the Enterprise will be corrected upon being brought to the attention of the Publisher.

The head of a "developing" country borrows $100 million; the interest rate is 3/4 of 1 percent — $750,000 a year interest.

But Washington doesn't have the $100 million in hand. It has to sell government bonds to raise the money. And it pays at least 4.65 percent interest in the bonds. Any fool can see that there's a loss on the deal. Uncle Sam pays $4,650,000 in interest in the $100 million, but recovers only $750,000 when he puts it out on loan. You can go broke doing that. Right? At the rate of $3,900,000 a year. But as we mentioned, the foreign aid budget is $3.1 billion, not $100 million. So Uncle Sam plans to go broke faster.

You see? High finance is simple. The banker who pays 4.65 percent on money he borrows, and who loans the same money at 3/4 of 1 percent, is going to be very popular. He'll have a waiting list of clients who want to borrow money. But it developed in the hearings that last year banker Uncle Sam paid out $465 million in interest in government bonds to "foreign official institutions and international organizations." What government? That is "highly confidential" information.

Is it possible, you ask, that some foreign governments borrowed money at 3/4 of 1 percent interest, invested in US government bonds which pay 4.65 percent, and pocketed the difference? Could be. Nobody can find out.

FUNNY BUSINESS

It's really, I think, a scandal that if an American businessman trades with Rhodesia, he's fined $10,000. If he trades with South Africa, he receives a letter from the State Department discouraging him.

But if he trades with the Soviet Union, the government encourages him and gives him every cooperation and finances the whole project, with a guarantee that he will be paid whether or not anyone on the other side pays, and he will be paid by the taxpayers. —The Independent American

WHERE THE MONEY COMES FROM

It's time we took a long hard look at the "everyone-else-is-getting - it - so - let's - get - our - share" attitude concerning federal aid.

There was a time — as recently as the early part of this century — when the Federal Government didn't arbitrarily take part of a man's earnings every year in the name of "income tax."

This form of legalized robbery came into being in the United States on March 1, 1913, with the 16th Amendment to the Constitution.

Before that, the Federal Government had a budget, but it didn't have all that money to throw around supporting those who won't work, running the schools, and generally getting involved in almost everything that was then and should be now handled by private enterprise.

The income tax levied in 1913 was termed "temporary" by the powers in Washington, and almost every increase since that time has carried the same label.

Now, 55 years later, that "temporary" tax has turned into a bureaucratic monster that devours increasingly larger chunks of the pay check of the working individual.

Good old Uncle Sam is financing everything from a $33,000 study of crickets to a large number of so-called poverty programs, most of which are nothing more or less than breeding grounds for malcontents and a semi-legal method of paying known crooks.

One of the primary reasons for the continual wallet blood-letting appears to be the "need" of federal money in every state, county, city and community in the nation.

In recent years, the states and more than one of the cities have decided their "needs" for federal money were so great that they turned the old business adage "you've got to spend money to make money" around, and started using it on the taxpayers.

The state and city governments, themselves supported by the taxpayers, are taking tax money and setting up lobbyists in Washington — for the express purpose of getting more of the federal aid drained into their own kitty.

The taxpayer catches it from both sides.

In 1966 the lobbyists managed to siphon a record $17.5 billion in domestic federal aid into state coffers.

This, of course, also came from the taxpayer.

President Johnson has proposed levying a 10% surcharge on the already staggering income tax.

One of the reasons he gives for this is to help finance more domestic aid — Great Society — programs.

Huge chunks of this money will go to the states and cities whose "needs" are so great that they have to pay out millions every year to see that they get "their share."

One lobbyist from New York City recently summed up the apparent feelings of the states and cities when he bemoaned the fact that "there isn't enough money to go around."

THAT WE MIGHT LIVE

Maybe if everybody climbed off the federal bandwagon and quit sending lobbyists to Washington to get more of what "there isn't enough of," the government's deficit spending would slow down enough to give some of it back to the taxpayers.

After all, the "there-just-isn't-enough-to-go-around" bit starts with the guy who's financing all this stuff to begin with — the taxpayer.

SH First Graders Stage Program for Parents, Rest Home

Sister Genevieve's class of Sacred Heart School first graders presented a short Easter program Sunday night in the grade school auditorium and charmed their audience with speeches, singing and folk dancing. A large part of the applauding audience was made up of parents and grandparents.

Wednesday afternoon Sister Genevieve took the youngsters to Golden Years Rest Home for a repeat performance.

Kevin Hess gave the welcome and the class sang "Were You There?" to Sister Maureen's guitar accompaniment. The class joined again in a choral recitation of an Easter story, then swung into a Texas Schottische, followed with a Virginia Reel and then a square dance and ended with a song.

The little girls wore pastel checked gingham skirts and blouses and matching solid color, open crown picture hats of crepe paper. The little boys had checked shirts to tie in with the theme.

Dancing the Virginia Reel were Janelle Hellman, Dick Dangelmayr, Robin Walterscheid, Wilfred Luttmeyer Jr., Laura Hermes, Jesse Walterscheid, Carol Grewing, Kent Fuhrman, Lisa Krahl, Neil Rohmer, Joan Miller and Kevin Hess.

In the square dance were Jesse Walterscheid, Sharon Grewing, Jeff Hess, Genevieve Sicking, Gregg Wilde, Donna Fisher, Dick Dangelmayr and Laura Hermes.

Others participating in the choral recitation and songs were Mike Bayer, Karla Sicking, Lisa Trubenbach and Billy Haverkamp.

The wedding will be solemnized May 11 at 4 p.m. in Sacred Heart Church.

Attending the couple will be her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Koelzer, and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tischler of Pilot Point.

An anxious father stopped his son who was on his way to a party.

"Son, when Abe Lincoln was your age, he was busily studying law every night."

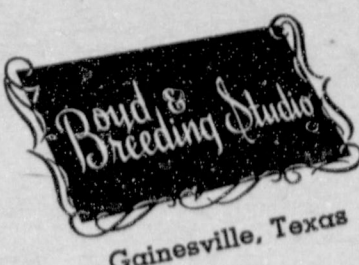

"Yeah," said the unimpressed boy, "and when he was your age, Dad, he was President."

Two reckless drivers were up before the judge for having been involved in an accident.

"I wish to commend you two careless men," said the judge, for having run into each other instead of some innocent person. If this sort of thing can be encouraged, we may have hit upon the solution to a serious problem."

Clive Gobble Is Guest Speaker at Garden Club Meet

Muenster Civic League and Garden Club had Clive Gobble as guest speaker at the April meeting Monday night to discuss the use of insecticides.

He talked about the use of insecticides in the battle of the bugs in flower and vegetable gardens and answered questions from the floor.

Members met in the home of Mrs. Larry Yosten with Mrs. Al Schmitt as co-hostess. Fourteen attended and three guests were present: Mmes. Jake Wolf, Bernard Wolf and Joe Sicking.

Mrs. Pat Stelzer, president, conducted the business session. She read an invitation from Wichita Falls Council of Garden Clubs to attend their Flora-rama — and to enter exhibits. It will be held at Notre Dame High School on April 20-21.

Mrs. Schmitt told members that a drive out of town on the highway west is rewarding for anyone who likes wild flowers.

The hostesses carried out an Easter theme in refreshments and on the serving table. Lavender lilac and tulips were the floral complement. Members helped themselves to finger foods from a three-tier tidbit tray and to bite-size fresh fruits from another tray. The hostesses poured coffee.

Next month's meeting will feature Tulu Hickerson of Gainesville as guest speaker on outdoor lighting and "Show and Tell" Exhibit by members who will display something from their yards and tell about it.

Tigers Lose Two To Gainesville B

Tom Williams and his Sacred Heart Tigers are still looking for their first win after playing four of their seven game baseball series with Gainesville B.

Last Friday's was a 3-2 game settled in the sixth inning on a walk, a steal to second then a hit through short and left field. Earlier Gainesville scored in the first, Sacred Heart went ahead in the third and Gainesville tied it in the fourth.

Lee Roy Hess pitched all the way allowing 4 hits and 3 walks while fanning 7. Two Gainesville hurlers allowed 7 hits and 3 walks and fanned 5. Tiger hitters were Stan Endres and Paul Hoedebeck 2 each, and Steve Hess, Kenny Schmitz and Tim Endres.

Gainesville's lineup for the Monday game included several of the Leopards who started by giving the Tigers trouble. They got all of their seven runs in big first and third innings, due to a rash of Tiger errors. After that the game went scoreless.

Tom Hess pitched for Sacred Heart giving up 4 walks and 4 hits and striking out 3. Three pitchers for Gainesville allowed 1 hit and 6 walks and struck out 5. The lone Tiger hitter was Kenny Schmitz.

Next action for the Tigers will be at home, meeting Lindsay Tuesday at 2.

Coach Williams has also added two games with Saint Jo to his schedule, there on April 26, here on May 1. In addition he has 3 games with Gainesville, 1 with Lindsay and 3 with Callisburg.

A hillbilly was injured in an accident and, when a doctor began to take care for him, the agitated wife asked:

"What's the stuff you're giving my husband?"

"An anesthetic," explained the doctor. "After he takes this he won't know a thing."

"Then don't bother," said the wife. "He doesn't need it."

A businessman was in some trouble and went to see his lawyer about it. But to make sure he wasn't wasting his money, he said to the lawyer: "I'll tell you the facts and then if you feel there are any grounds for legal action, I'll pay you. The lawyer agreed and the businessman went on to explain the case.

After hearing him out, the lawyer said: "The case is absolutely airtight. Why, the other guy hasn't a leg to stand on. My fee will be five hundred dollars, and if you wish, I'll start proceedings tomorrow."

"In that case," said the businessman, "forget the whole thing."

"Because I gave you the other guy's side of the story."

Windthorst Boasts New Phone System

Windthorst Community is one of the first rural communities in the state to offer all subscribers a private line since Community Telephone Co., Inc., had "cut-over" day March 27, and went from an eight-party system to a private line system.

"Cut-over" day was marked by the cut-over from the old overhead telephone lines to an underground cable system.

Jake Horn, formerly with Muenster Telephone system, is owner-operator of the Windthorst system which has come a long way since the first magneto system. It was replaced by the dial system in August 1958.

Others associated with the company include Jerry Schroeder, office manager, Floyd Humpert, superintendent, and Wade Schrieber, repair man. The system also serves Scotland, Blue Grove, Joy and Shannon with telephone service.

A philosophy professor wrote on the blackboard, "Is Life Worth Living?" He then told his class to write a paper on this subject as this was their final exam. One student completed his paper in half a minute and received an "A" for the course. His answer was, "It depends on the liver."

Over 30 Billion Barrels of Crude Produced in State

Texas crude oil production, recorded for the past 73 years, surpassed the 30-billion-barrel mark in 1967, according to projections based on a study by Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

The state's crude total to January 1, 1967, was 29.46 billion barrels, and the state annual production in recent years has averaged a billion barrels or better.

With 199 of Texas' 254 counties producing oil, income averaging about $3.4 billion a year is distributed widely over the state, making oil production an important part of the commercial scene.

Cooke County, which has had recorded production since 1926, has had a total crude oil output of 218,360,704 barrels up to the beginning of 1967. Cooke County production in 1966 was 10,339,104 barrels at the rate of 28,491 barrels a day.

The state has 36 counties which produced at the rate of 25,000 barrels or more per day. The three largest are: Andrews, 215,000 barrels per day; Ector, 175,304 barrels per day; and Crane, 130,000 barrels per day. Gregg County, which still produces 75,000 barrels per day, is the only county to have produced more than two billion barrels of oil.

3,367 Texans Died In Traffic in 1967

Traffic deaths in Texas last year totaled 3,367, according to latest Department of Public Safety tabulations.

This was a decrease of 1.15 per cent (first in seven years) from 1966 when a record 3,406 fatalities from auto accidents were recorded.

DPS noted that there was a five per cent increase in vehicle miles traveled in the state last year, for a death ratio of 5.8 persons killed for each 100,000,000 miles of travel. This is a decrease in death rate from 6.2 in 1966.

Total of 885,268 traffic accidents were reported in the state during 1967, with economic loss estimated at $793,000,000 and 205,000 injuries.

Overheard at a recent social. First Guy: "How did you get those marks on the bridge of your nose?"

Second Guy: "From glasses."

First Guy: "Ever try contact lenses?"

Second Guy: "Yes, but they don't hold enough beer."

Before shelling out a bill to the panhandler, his benefactor inquired kindly: "Tell me, old chap, how did you get yourself in such circumstances?" "Simple," replied the beggar. "When I had the world by the tail, I let go to reach for the moon."

Billy Ray Hill Is Candidate for State Legislature

Billy Ray Hill, Cooke County business and civic leader, announces his candidacy for the state legislature from Cooke and Denton Counties.

Hill, formerly a partner in the realty firm of Osborne & Hill, says: "I believe that my experience in business as employee and employer, in the military as enlisted man and officer, and in labor and management gives me sound qualifications to search out the facts in all issues and effectively and efficiently represent the people of Cooke and Denton Counties."

"I am particularly interested in public education, the continued expansion of first-class highway facilities in our district, and the dedicated pursuit of 'clean' industry for our thriving two-county area," Hill says.

"With North Texas State University and Texas Woman's University in Denton and Cooke County Junior College in Gainesville, we are in an enviable position in the educational field," he said. "But there is no time for complacency. We must seek continued improvement, support and encouragement of better education at every level."

Hill is serving as president of the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce for 1968. He was first vice president of the organization in 1967 — a year in which the Chamber enjoyed significant success in bringing new industry to Cooke County, while encouraging already established industry to begin expansion programs.

Hill is also vice president of the Gainesville Board of Realtors, a director of the Gainesville Boys Club, a member of the Texas Real Estate Association and a member of the Hillcrest Church of Christ. Hill enlisted in the National Guard in 1948 and rose to commanding officer of his unit in 1966. He and his wife, Maggie, have three young children. Hill has served twice in the US Army and attended former Gainesville Junior College after graduating from Gainesville High School in 1949.

Average Income of American Family Was $7,400 in '66

American family income has reached a new peak. The median income of all families in 1966 was $7,400, a 7 percent increase from 1965.

Although prices have risen, too, Extension home management specialists at Texas A&M University say real consumer purchasing power gained about 4 percent. Prices rose about 3 percent between 1965 and 1966.

The number of low-income families has decreased and the number of high-income families has increased. The percentage of families with incomes of less than $3,000 dropped from 16 percent in 1965 to 14 percent in 1966. The percentage of families receiving $10,000 or more increased from 27 to 20 percent.

The 1966 median income more than doubled the 1950 figure, the specialists say.

This income growth is attributed to several factors. Rising productivity of the American economy and working wives are two primary ones.

In 1967, 35 percent of all wives were in paid jobs. In 1957, the percentage was 27.

The median income of husband-wife families in which the wife was a paid worker was $9,200. This was 30 percent higher than the median income of $7,100 for families in which the wife was not in the paid labor force.

He that is of the opinion money will do everything may well be suspected of doing everything for money.

ELECTRICITY.

Lucky families who are cooking on electric ranges are discovering how clean kitchens can be. They don't have to repaint as often. Kitchen curtains keep their freshly-laundered look longer. Even cooking utensils need no scouring because the bottoms of pots and pans stay shiny meal after meal. And electric ranges have never been easier to care for than they are today.

All in all, electric ranges are eliminating hours of dreary housecleaning and saving money, too. Add that to the perfect-recipe performance of electric controlled-heat cooking and TP&L's low-cost electric service, and you know why more and more families are cooking electrically every day.

FHA Loans to Cooke-Montague Over $5.7 Million

A total of $5,730,840 in loan funds has been used in Cooke and Montague Counties to support family farms since the Farmers Home Administration was expanded six years ago, John D. Cunningham local supervisor for the rural credit agency said.

Approximately $1,208,120 was advanced in 1967.

Currently 118 farmers in Cooke and Montague Counties are using the supervised credit services of the FHA. The supply of FHA credit, which supplements the credit supplied by banks and other private credit sources is one of the measures recommended by President Johnson to provide family farmers an opportunity to earn parity of income.

"These loans have enabled farmers to stay in business who would otherwise have had to give up and go to the city. They have helped young farmers get established.

FHA loans can be used to buy land, refinance debts, acquire livestock and equipment, pay fertilizer and fuel bills and pay other expenses connected with acquiring, improving, and operating farms.

The incomes of farmers using FHA credit in Cooke and Montague Counties in 1967 totaled approximately $1,000,000. Typical of the progress made

Passengers arriving at Cleveland's Hopkins International Airport will soon be able to go directly to an underground terminal, step aboard one of these rail rapid transit cars, deposit their luggage in special racks provided at one end of each car and take a seat for the 20-minute, 60 mph ride to an underground station in the heart of the city's business center. Built by Pullman-Standard for the Cleveland Transit System (CTS), the new cars are the first of their type built for airport-to-downtown service. The 80-passenger, air conditioned, 60 mph electric-powered cars may well be the solution to a problem faced by major U.S. cities: it frequently takes longer to get to and from the airport than it does to fly to a city such as Cleveland, where surface transportation to and from downtown can take as long as an hour in peak traffic. CTS is now completing a project to extend rail service from an existing commuter station to the airport, and when the new system is in operation, Cleveland will be the first American city to provide mass rapid transit service to and from its airport. Cleveland-based Republic Steel Corporation is a major supplier of stainless steel used to sheathe the sides and roof of the 20 new CTS cars, which are scheduled to begin service on the airport run sometime in late 1968. Cleveland was the first city in the nation to request and qualify for Federal assistance to provide mass transit rail facilities to and from its airport. The project is being financed through a 1/2 Housing and Urban Development (HUD) grant which was matched by a combined 1/4 City-County fund, achieved through the sale of bonds. Other major cities, including New York City, are studying Cleveland's airport-to-downtown rail transportation concept.

with the aid of the supervised program is the record of the Billy E. Dobbs family of Woodbine Community. Mr. Dobbs established himself in the Grade "A" Business in early part of 1967 by purchasing a Dairy and securing a long time lease for the farm. He secured additional cows and has increased his production and has developed a sound dairy management program. At this time his operations are successful and without FHA assistance he could not have gone into business for himself. His is an example of many families that are staying on the farm with better program by having had FHA assistance.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

A year ago when erosion had made a field unproductive to cultivate, the field was turned out to pasture. To some people, grass was grass and it didn't make any difference about the quality of grass.

In recent years, times have changed. Successful livestock men in the Upper Elm-Red Soil and Water Conservation District know their grasses. They know the different kind of grasses, how grass grows and what the grass needs to produce the maximum high quality forage.

Soil Conservation Service Technicians state that grasses grown on soils that are low in fertility are also low quality grasses. Soils low in fertility will require four times as much water to produce a pound of grass as a soil that is high in fertility.

In order for the grass to take advantage of the maximum amount of moisture, the soils must have the necessary mineral nutrients. In most soils, that would mean applying the nutrients in the form of fertilizer. "Most soils in this area are deficient in nitrogen, phosphate and some sandy soils are also low in potash," according to Cecil Chaney SCS Technician.

The question is often asked, how much fertilizer should I apply on my grass? In most cases, to answer the question several factors must be considered. As the type of soil, available moisture, how much forage the individual wants to produce, how much livestock the individual plans to carry and the kind of grass he has. The Soil Conservation District Supervisors state, "This is the time of year to fertilize pasture grasses. We would recommend to district cooperators to contact the Soil Conservation Service technicians for assistance in planning and managing pasture grasses."

If you make a right turn from the left lane, you're probably just careless and reckless — and not what the fellow behind you called you.

A farmer, looking over his melon patch, found that some of his melons had been stolen. To prevent further stealing, he put up a sign which said: "One of these melons is poisoned."

The next morning he found another sign which said: "Now, two of these melons are poisoned."

other concerned countries. They know this is their affair and it's time for them to become involved. Good judgement demands that they stand and be counted.

One of the great blunders of this war was our country's failure to get their support long ago. Now that the eleventh hour has arrived perhaps we and they will both see the advisability of working together.

President Johnson deserves the nation's praise and confidence for choosing to talk to those people before talking to Hanoi. Their support, as vital to them as to us, can
