Board Asks Chamber Manager's Resignation

Colorado City Area Chamber of Commerce Manager Starr Greenblatt resigned Tuesday evening at the request of the chamber board of directors.

In a special called session of the board to considered the chamber manager, 10 of the current 13 member board met and after lengthy discussion, voted to request Ms. Greenblatt's resignation.

Ms. Greenblatt will remain as consultant to the chamber for a period of one month at a salary of $1,100 in order to make the changeover less complicated for the chamber board.

Present and voting for the resignation were Joe Kirschbaum, Jack Perkins, Loyd Ledbetter, Barbara Gray, Chris Hubbard, Betty Williams and Van Mills.

Voting against the resignation were Shirley Delaney and Carl Beery Moore. President Brad Rose was present but was not required to vote.

Absent from the meeting were Travis Cawthron, Drew Ballard and Dr. Richard Schaffer.

General discussion during the meeting included comments from Ledbetter that the chamber membership was "uptight and divided" over the chamber manager's leadership.

He noted the chamber is a volunteer organization and without the "People's" support, ineffective.

Kirschbaum said the chamber board appeared to be divided into two parts with one half positive on the chamber and chamber manager and one half negative on the issues.

He commented be believes the "chamber is being dragged down by this."

Ledbetter said before hiring Ms. Greenblatt, it had been stressed that she should contact every businessman in town. He said several had reported to him that they had not met Ms. Greenblatt.

Ledbetter noted he had not been attending board meetings for the past few months therefore felt "funny" saying "these things."

He said the divided board has taken the "zip" out of the chamber and "something needs to be done."

Ledbetter commented

COLORADO CITY VOLUNTEER FIREMEN poured thousands of gallons of water on an acid spill which resulted from a one vehicle accident at about 2 a.m., Monday. The water diluted the acid, allowing it to flow into the clay banks of the Colorado River without poluting the river.

No Injuries Reported In Accidental Acid Spill

Colorado City experienced and acid spill early Monday morning when a truck hauling about 120 barrels of 28 per cent hydrochloric acid and brine water failed to negotiate a turn at the foot of the hill on Second and Hickory Streets.

As the truck decended the hill, it gained momentum and the driver attepting to make a right turn said he felt the load shift and had only a few seconds in which to prepare himself for the impact as the truck lay over on its side.

James Leland Beggs, 33, of Snyder received only minor scratches and bruises in the incident although the cab of the truck which he was driving was crushed on impact.

Beggs was traveling with two other trucks and stated he was unsure of their destination.

Normally a mechanic, he said he had been hired to to deliver the load of acid because H & L Services was short handed Sunday night and he held a license and was familiar with the truck.

He noted he had recently moved from Graham to Snyder with his wife and five children and had only been employed by the company for about three weeks.

Wolves To Play Old Rival, Ballinger

Colorado City's Wolves will return home Friday night to face an old nemesis, the Ballinger Bearcats, but this time it will be in a non-district contest due to the realignment of districts.

The game will get underway at Wolf Stadium at 8 p.m. Friday.

The Wolves are an 11-point favorite going into the contest, according to the Harris Rating Survey, the first time the Wolves have received the favored rating going into a contest.

The Bearcats have a better record than do the Wolves as they have won two games while just losing once while the Wolves have only won one game and lost twice.

The Bearcats downed Winters 15-12 in the first game of the season and then whomped Wylie 27-8. Last week, they jumped out in front of Wall but lost the game 46-21.

The Wolves lost to Slaton 33-0 and to Post 7-6 before coming back to defeat Denver City 21-0 last week.

The Bearcats will be playing without the services of their best running back, Manley, according to the Wolves Head Coach and Athletic Director Tom Ramsey.

However, they have another speedy back in Escobar and a real fine quarterback. On offense, the Bearcats run the Straight T. On defense, Ballinger will be in a 4-3.

The Bearcats are about the same size and of comparable speed to the Wolves, Ramsey noted. He added that Ballinger is real quick.

The Wolves game plan going into the contest is to have a wide open offense and plans are to throw the ball a lot, Ramsey noted. Your game plan has to depend on who you are playing, Ramsey pointed out as last week the Wolves stayed on the ground most of the time, throwing only six passes as they believed that is what they could do best against Denver City.

On offense, the Wolves are basically healthy but that isn't true on defense. Five starters are out, one, Dane Powell, for the season after he injured a knee and had to undergo knee surgery.

Dennis Heredia will miss the game with broken bones in one hand, Gary Rowe is still suffering from a back injury, Todd Neff has a badly sprained ankle and Doug Johnson will not play on defense because of the shoulder injury he suffered against Slaton. However, Johnson will see action of offense.

In the Harris Rating System, here is the way teams the Wolves have faced or will face are rated in comparison with Colorado City:

–1. Breckenridge.
–3. Slaton
–5. Stamford.
–78. Colorado City.
–79. Coahoma.
–84. Post.
–138. Denver City.
–142. Ballinger.
–149. Coleman.
–174. Abilene Wylie.
–184. Clyde.

Last week, the Wolves were rated No .132 in the state.

he has been working, tired and not feeling well. However, he noted he had attended meetings earlier under the same circumstances and believes he just has lost interest in chamber work in recent months and attributed it to the chamber leadership. He said people don't want to be involved where there's controversy.

Mills said he felt the chamber has become the laughing stock of the town. He said he was dissatisfied because the Arts and Craft Show was not to be held this year.

He said he was also dissatisfied because tickets for the farm tour which he brought into the chamber offfice to be printed on Monday or Tuesday had not been printed by Friday.

He also stated that he was concerned because the board had lost a couple of directors recently. He said he did not believe the situation was handled properly. "We as directors are not working right."

He said the board had lost strength during recent months.

Barbara Gray said leadership seems to be lacking because of the lack of knowledge of the by-laws and what actions should take place.

She said she had called the office several time to speak with Ms. Greenblatt and when she was not able to locate the chamber manager she was given "funny answers" by the secretaries.

She explained that on the occasion of the rodeo, posters were to have been placed in businesses around the town on a certain day and they were not.

She said the chamber has been set back 20 years by the gossip people have repeated about the chamber manager.

She said she believed this gossip was the result of "flagrant misuse of position."

Moore said he had had no complaints from the public about the Chamber Manager.

Ledbetter said he was displeased with the amount of time Ms. Greenblatt had been spending working and indicated she was not putting forth enough.

Kirschbaum said he believes Ms. Greenblatt has done good on several chamber affairs and done "lousy on others."

He said he thinks personalities became involved in chamber matters and critized the general appearance of the office and attitudes of the employees. He noted there was a lack of discipline in the staff.

Rose asked each member present at the meeting, but not present during the last regularly scheduled meeting, to state why they had not attended the previous meeting.

Mrs. Gray said she had been working. Mrs. Delaney said she had attended a company function. Moore said he had been at play rehersal. Perkins stated he had been ill.

Kirschbaum said, "The question is, are we getting our money's worth?"

Ledbetter noted, "Looking at last month's financial statement, it looks like we better do something."

Moore commented he would like to hear Ms. Greenblatt's side of the story.

She said she had felt the confrontation coming for some time. She said she believed each board member was talking from conviction, but pointed out that she had been working hard attending chamber functions and meetings four or five evenings a week from six until midnight most of the time for the past six months.

She commented if the board members did not believe how hard she had been working, "just read your newspaper or go in the office and read the stack of clippings about the events the chamber has been sponsoring."

She said this was the first time the chamber had ever had a Fiesta Day and it made about $1,100 and was very successful. She said this was the first time a teachers' luncheon had ever been held and she pointed out how active the Ambassadors have been this year.

She said the financial statement looked the way it did because the chamber has a completely renovated rodeo arena worth $30,000 and the only outstanding debt against it is a $3,600 note at the bank.

She said she understood that the publicity for the rodeo was to be handled by the Business and Professional Women's Club. She said a CETA worker was to have placed the posters. He went out with the posters, spent several hours and returned. She said the next day she had visited the businesses and found the posters were not placed and saw that they were placed immediately.

She explained there would be no arts and crafts show because the chairman had been appointed prior to her coming here. She said she had talked to the chairman since her arrival and was assured everything was all right. Then at the last moment the chairman had withdrawn.

Mrs. Gray said she did not blame Ms. Greenblatt for the Roundup not being held this year and confirmed the explanation as did Rose.

Mrs. Williams said she had always gotten along well with Ms. Greenblatt and believed most people in town did. She said on every project suggested by the chamber, the board had always gotten complete co-operation from Ms. Greenblatt. "The issue is not your work, it's your personal life."

Kirschbaum noted the issue is whether the board can support Ms. Greenblatt 100 per cent or not.

He said "if the majority votes against the resignation then the board should give Ms. Greenblatt 100 percent support."

If not, the board should request her resignation, he noted.

firemen arrived at the accident scene only minutes after the accident occured.

Both the hatch on the brine water and the hatch on the acid compartment fell open upon impact, sending acid and brine into the street.

Firemen washed the escaping liquids into the clay banks of the river where it disipated and, accroding to the Department of Public Safety emergency disaster team in Midland, was diluted sufficiently not to polute the water in the river.

The accident occurred at about 2 a.m. Firemen were on the scene until 5:15 a.m.

Colorado City Police Officer Johnny Slough and Assistant Chief of Police Jimmy Roundtree stayed at the scene to divert traffic and assist firement throughout the morning.

Junior Varsity Losses To Stamford 24-7 Thursday

Benny Arocha made the only touchdown of the game, as he broke a quick opening play for 97 yards.

Stamford scored and the two point conversion attempt was good leaving the score 8-7 at halftime.

There was no score for Colorado City in the second half, but they were successful in running the veer.

"The main goal for the Wolves was to keep the ball running," said Coach Mike Hart.

"The offensive line did extremly well," said Hart. The offensive line includes Chris McKinny, Lynn Williams, Ron Potts, Tracy Tarter, Jamie Bailey, Tim Beights, Willie Martinez, Ruben Luera, James Blackwell and Richard Ligon.

The team will play Ballinger, there at 6 p.m.

Wolves Win 1st District Game

Second game high points was Carolyn Green with 15, again the score was 15-0.

This leaves the Wolves with a five win, two loss record in matches.

A match is made up of either two or three games. If the first two games played are won by the same team, then there is no need to play a third. But in the event that each team has one win each, another game, a tie breaker, will be played.

First games won are three for the Wolves losses are four. Second game wins are six and losses are one. Wins for third games are two and losses are only one.

Girls' individual scores are combined in a total as follows: Points scored: Kim Hardegree-51, Sidney Stewart-23, Karla Herm-23, Diana Castillo-19, Della Ausbie-11, Stacey Hamrick-32, Pam Wilson-, Carolyn Green-38, Rachael Lujan-5, Tomika Randle 2, and Mona Molina-5.

Kim Hardegree has 5 Ace serves, Sidney Stewart 1, Stacey Hamrick 2, Carolyn Green 1 and Mona Molina 1.

Set-ups have been made by Kim Hardegree 1, Karla Herm 72, Diana Castillo 1, Della Ausbie 24, Stacey Hamrick 3, Pam Wilson 7, Carolyn Green 1 and Mona Molina 1.

Coach George Martin's comments to the team about the Clyde games are "This match was against a not too fundamentally sound team. You did a great job of not taking anything for granted. We'll have to scrape for our lives in the Lone Wolf Tournament so let's get after the workouts with a lot of enthusiasm."
